

Epiphanius, Panarion (Adversus haereses)

About This Translation

The English translation included here was created on 2025-05-23 using gpt-4.1-mini. This diglot edition was created on 2025-05-25. The index of names and places is drawn from named entity recognition using UGARIT/grc-ner-xlmr, available from HuggingFace. A sentence-level semantic similarity check was performed between the source text and translation using bowphs/SPhilBerta, also available from HuggingFace. In addition to the sentence-level semantic similarity check, the text-to-translation length ratio was evaluated for each verse to locate and review possible hallucination.

Disclaimer

Please note, as indicated above, that this translation is a machine-generated translation. There are several older works, like Epiphanius's Panarion (Adversus haereses), that are either not available in English or only available in old and difficult to read translations. This translation is an attempt to provide a readable and fairly literal modern English translation of the source text. It is provided in a diglot format so the source text can be appealed to by readers if they run into sticky spots. The process that created this translation has done its best to mitigate hallucinations, but there will still be translation issues.

Introduction 1a

Section 1

praef1a.1.1 | Ἦρκει μὲν ἡ θέα τῆς σῆς θεοσεβείας, πάτερ, ἐμπλήσασα πνευματικῶν ῥημάτων καὶ ἐμφυτεύσασα τὸν τοσοῦτον πρὸς ἡμᾶς πόθον γεγεονότα <τοῖς> τῆς σῆς αὐτοψίας μεταλαβοῦσιν.

praef1a.1.1 | It is enough, father, that the sight of your godliness, having filled me with spiritual words and having planted such a great desire toward us, has come to those who share in your own vision.

praef1a.1.2 | ἀλλ' ἐπειδὴ πρόδρομος φήμη μαθητοῦ τοῦ σωτῆρος κηρύττουσα τὴν τῆς εὐωδίας τῶν ῥημάτων καὶ πράξεων ὁσμὴν ἄγχει καὶ λέξεων καὶ νοῦ κορεσθῆναι, ἔδει μὲν αὐτοψίᾳ ἐλθόντας μεταλαβεῖν τῆς ἐκ θεοῦ σοι δοθείσης χάριτος ὡς τοῖς ἀποστόλοις.

praef1a.1.2 | But since the forerunner report of the savior's disciple, proclaiming the smell of the sweetness of words and deeds, urges both words and mind to be filled, it was necessary for those who came by sight to share in the grace given to you by god, just like to the apostles.

praef1a.1.3 | ἀλλ' ἐπειδὴ ἡ ὁδὸς ἐπεσχέθη ὑπὸ τῆς ἀρρωστίας τῆς σωματικῆς κη(καὶ τῆς ταλαιπωρίας, οὐκ ἰσχύσαμεν αὐτοὶ γενόμενοι πρὸς τοὺς σοὺς πόδας προκυλινδούμενοι ἀκοῦσαί τε καὶ μαθεῖν τὰ ἐκπορευόμενα πνευματικὰ ἅγια βήματα ἐκ τοῦ σοῦ στόματος.

praef1a.1.3 | But since the way was stopped by the sickness of the body and also by the suffering, we ourselves, being weak, could not roll forward to your feet to hear and learn the holy spiritual steps coming from your mouth.

praef1a.1.4 | πιστεύομεν γὰρ ὅτι εἰ ἤμεν ἄξιοι ἀνελθόντες τε καὶ ἀκούσαντες ἐστηριζόμεθα τὴν πολιτείαν ἣν προβεβλήμεθα, εἰ ἐσμὲν ἄξιοι τὸ τέρμα ταύτης καταλαβεῖν.

praef1a.1.4 | For we believe that if we were worthy, having gone up and heard, we would be established in the citizenship we have been given, if we are worthy to reach the end of this.

praef1a.1.5 | τῆς οὖν ἀρρωστίας καταλαβούσης δεόμεθα τῆς τοσαύτης σου θεοσεβείας, μὴ φθονήσης μεταδοῦναι ἡμῖν ἀπὸ τῶν δεδωρημένων σοι ἀληθῶς ὑπὸ praef1a.1.5 | Since the sickness has taken hold, we ask for your great godliness not to be jealous to share with us from the gifts τοῦ σωτῆρος.

truly given to you by the savior.

praef1a.1.6 | ὁμολογοῦμεν γὰρ οὐ μόνον ἡμεῖς, ἀλλὰ καὶ πάντες οἱ ἀκούοντες, ὅτι ἐν ταύτῃ τῇ γενεᾷ νέον σε ἀπόστολον ἤγειρεν ἡμῖν καὶ κήρυκα ὁ σωτὴρ, Ἰωάννην νέον, τοῦ κηρύσσειν τὰ ἀφειλόμενα φυλάττεσθαι ὑπὸ τῶν τὸν δρόμον τοῦτον προβαλλομένων.

praef1a.1.6 | For we confess not only we, but all who hear, that in this generation the savior has raised up for us a new apostle and preacher, a new John, to preach that what is taken away should be guarded by those who set forward this path.

praef1a.1.7 | τοῦ οὖν κοινοῦ ἀδελφοῦ Μαρκέλλου ἐπὶ τῇ τοσαύτῃ φήμῃ ἀγχομένου καὶ ἐλκομένου τῇ ποθήσει τῆς σῆς θεοσεβείας, ἄντος τε καὶ τῆς ἡμετέρας μάνδρας, αὐτόν τε ὑπηρέτην ἐσχηκότες τῆς τοσαύτης ὁδοῦ, καὶ νεοκατηχήτου ὄντος, ἐπετρέψαμεν Ε; τὴν τοσαύτην ἡμῶν τόλμαν τῶν ἀμαρτωλῶν πρὸς τὸν μαθητὴν δε τοῦ σωτῆρος.

praef1a.1.7 | Therefore, since our common brother Markellos was pressed by such great fame and drawn by the longing for your godliness, and also by ours, and since we had him as a servant of this great way, and as a new catechumen, we entrusted Ε; with such boldness of us sinners toward the disciple of the savior.

praef1a.1.8 | ὃ δὲ ἀξιοῦμεν, τῶν ρηθέντων σοι πρὸς τινὰς ἀδελφοὺς εἰς παιδείαν δωρήσασθαι, ὅπερ σοὶ μὲν τῷ δικαίῳ ἀβάρές, ἡμῖν δὲ τοῖς ἀμαρτωλοῖς μεταλαβοῦσιν εὐφρανθῆναι ἐν κυρίῳ. ἐμπλησθέντες γὰρ σου τῶν πνευματικῶν ρημάτων ἐπικουφίζομεθα τῶν ἀνομιῶν ἡμῶν.

praef1a.1.8 | But we ask that what was said to you to give as instruction to certain brothers, which is light for you, the just one, may bring joy to us sinners who share in it in the lord. For filled with your spiritual words, we are helped against our sins.

praef1a.1.9 | ἠκούσαμεν δὲ ἐπικληθέντα ὀνόματα ὑπὸ τῆς σῆς τιμιότητος ταῖς αἰρέσεσιν, ὧν ἐκάστης θρησκείας ἀξιοῦμεν τὴν σὴν θεοσεβείαν διαρρήδην ἡμῖν δηλῶσαι τὴν αἵρεσιν. <οὐκ> ἴση γὰρ ἀπάντων ἡ δωρεά.

praef1a.1.9 | We heard names called by your honor against the heresies, and for each religion we ask your godliness clearly to show us the heresy. For the gift is not equal for all.

praef1a.1.10 | And we ask that a prayer be made for the just one, to the lord, for all who long for you and await the gift from you.

praef1a.1.11 | In fasting and prayer we gladly welcome our common brother received by your honor, and bring the gift given by you, and so send up the usual prayers to the father and son and holy spirit.

praef1a.1.12 | All the brothers hope to be strengthened by the prayer made by you for them. We ask you not to hesitate to share the divine grace that the apostles had.

praef1a.1.13 | All the little ones in the flocks send a prayer to the stronger one to receive from your godly reverence a spiritual gift. May you stay strong in the lord and cheerful in Christ, and in the holy spirit, until the throne given to you and the divine gift, up to the crown waiting for you.

Introduction 1b

praef1b.1.1 | Προοίμιον εἴτ' οὖν λαλιάν, ἐπιγραφὴν ὥσπερ διαγράφοντες παλαιοὶ συγγραφεῖς διὰ τοῦ αἰνίγματος ὑπόφασιν ἐδείκνυν πάσης ὑποκειμένης πραγματείας. ὅθεν καὶ αὐτοὶ τῷ αὐτῷ praef1b.1.1 | So, a preface or introduction, just like the old writers used to mark off by a title, showed the meaning of every subject through a riddle. Therefore, we also use the same mark to begin for you, dear ones, κεκρημένοι χαρακτηρί προοιμιαζόμεθα ὕμιν, ἀγαπητοί, τὰ] τῆς κατὰ αἱρέσεων † αἰτήσεως ὑμῶν ἐν ὀλίγῳ τὴν δύναμιν ἀνακεφαλαιούμενοι.

briefly summing up the power of your request about heresies.

praef1b.1.2 | ἐπειδὴ γὰρ μέλλομεν ὑμῖν τό τε ὀνόματα τῶν αἱρέσεων δηλοῦν τὰς τε παρ' αὐτοῖς ἀθεμίτους πράξεις ἀνακαλύπτειν, ὥσπερ ἰοὺς καὶ δηλητήρια ὄντα, σὺν αὐτοῖς δὲ ἅμα καὶ ἀντιδότους ἐφαρμόσαι, ἀλεξητήρια τῶν δεδηγμένων καὶ προκαταληπτικὰ τῶν μελλόντων εἰς τοῦτο ἐμπίπτειν, τοῖς φιλοκάλοις διαγράφομεν αὐτὸ τοῦτο τὸ προοίμιον, Πανάριον εἶτ' οὖν κιβώτιον ἱατρικὸν τῶν θηριοδῆκτων ἐρμηνεύοντες, ὅπερ ἐστὶ διὰ βιβλίων τριῶν συγγραφέν, <περι>έχον αἱρέσεις ὀγδοήκοντα, εἰσι θηρίων εἶτ' οὖν ἐρπετῶν αἰνίγματα.

praef1b.1.2 | Since we are about to reveal to you the names of the heresies and the illegal actions among them, like poisons and venom, and at the same time apply antidotes, remedies against those already bitten and protections against those about to fall into them, we write this preface for those who love what is good. Whether a medicine jar or a healing box against beast bites, explaining it, which is written in three books, containing eighty heresies, they are riddles of beasts or reptiles.

praef1b.1.3 | »μία δὲ μετὰ τὰς ὀγδοήκοντα« ἢ τῆς ἀληθείας βάσις ἅμα καὶ διδασκαλία καὶ σωτήριος πραγματεία καὶ Χριστοῦ νύμφη ἁγία» ἐκκλησία, οὐσα μὲν ἀπ' αἰῶνος, διὰ δὲ τῆς ἐνσάρκου Χριστοῦ παρουσίας κατὰ τὴν διαδοχὴν τοῦ χρόνου μέσον τῶν προειρημένων αἱρέσεων ἀποκαλυφθεῖσα

praef1b.1.3 | »One more after the eighty« is the foundation of truth, teaching, and saving work, and the holy bride of Christ, the church, which has existed from eternity, but through the incarnation of Christ's coming, revealed over time among the heresies mentioned before.

praef1b.1.4 | καὶ ὑφ' ἡμῶν ἐν ὑπομνήσει διὰ τοῦ κηρύγματος χριστοῦ ταχθεῖσα καὶ πάλιν μετὰ πάσας τὰς τῶν αἱρέσεων τούτων μοχθηρίας εἰς ἀναψυχὴν τῶν τὸν κάματον τῶν αἱρέσεων διὰ τῆς ἀναγνώσεως διελθόντων ὑφ' ἡμῶν μετ' ἐπιτομῆς τοῦ λόγου κατὰ τὴν τῶν ἀποστόλων διδασκαλίαν σαφῶς ἀπαγγελεῖται.

praef1b.1.4 | And by us, placed in a reminder through the preaching of Christ, and again after all the evils of these heresies, for the refreshment of those who are tired from going through the heresies by reading, with us giving a summary of the word clearly told according to the teaching of the apostles.

Section 2

praef1b.2.1 | 2. Παρακληθήτε δὲ πάντες οἱ φιλοκάλως ἐντυγχάνοντες τῷ τε προοιμίῳ καὶ ταῖς μετέπειτα αἰρέσεσι καὶ τῇ ὑπὲρ τῆς ἀληθείας ἀπολογίᾳ τε καὶ διδασκαλίᾳ τῆς ἀληθείας καὶ πίστει τῆς ἁγίας καθολικῆς ἐκκλησίας, συγγνῶναι ἡμῖν ἀνθρώποις οὖσι καὶ μετὰ πόνου καὶ ζήλου θεϊκοῦ φιλοτιμουμένοις ὑπὲρ θεοσεβείας ἀπολογεῖσθαι, praef1b.2.2 | εἴ τι ὑπέρογκον * εἰς αὐτὸ τὸ πανάγιον καὶ πανσεβάσμιον ὄνομα θέλοντες κατὰ τὴν ἰδίαν δύναμιν ὑπεραπολογεῖσθαι, τοῦ θεοῦ συγχωροῦντος τὰ ὑπὲρ δύναμιν ἢ πραγματεία.

praef1b.2.3 | καὶ ἔτι παρακληθήτε <συγγνῶναι ἡμ>ῖν, εἴ που εὖροιτε <ἡμᾶς> καίτοι γε μὴ ἐν ἔθει ὄντας ἐπισκώπτειν τινὰς ἢ ἐπισκωμματίζειν, διὰ δὲ τὸν πρὸς τὰς αἰρέσεις ζῆλον καὶ εἰς ἀποτροπὴν τῶν ἐντυγχανόντων εἴ που παροξυνόμενοι λέξωμεν, ἢ ἀπατεωνάς τινας καλοῦντες ἢ ἀγύρτας ἢ ἀθλίους. αὐτὴ γὰρ ἢ ἀνάγκη ἢ πρὸς τοὺς λόγους τοῦ ἀγῶνος παρασκευάζει ἡμῖν τὸν τοιοῦτον ἰδρῶτα δι' ἀποτροπὴν τῶν ἐντυγχανόντων καὶ ὅπως δείξωμεν παντελῶς ἀπηγορευμένας τοῦ ἡμετέρου φρονήματος τὰς ἐκείνων ἐργασίας καὶ μυστήρια καὶ διδασκαλίας, ἵν' ἀπὸ τῶν λόγων καὶ τῆς ὀξύτητος τῆς ἀντιλογίας καὶ τὸ ἡμέτερον ἐλευθέριον ἀποδείξωμεν καὶ τινὰς ἀπὰ τῶν αὐτῶν ἐκκλίνωμεν καὶ διὰ τῶν δοκούντων βαρυτέρων λόγων.

praef1b.2.1 | 2. You are all invited, who love what is beautiful, to pay attention to both the introduction and the later heresies, and to the defense and teaching of the truth, and to the faith of the holy universal church, to forgive us, being human and trying hard with godly zeal to defend godliness.

praef1b.2.2 | If we have gone beyond in defending this most holy and most revered name, wanting to defend it beyond our own strength, God will forgive the effort that is beyond our power.

praef1b.2.3 | And you are also asked to forgive us, if you find us, though not being ones who usually mock or joke at anyone, because of the zeal against heresies and to stop those who come across us, if we speak sharply, or call some tricksters or beggars. For this very need for the fight's words makes us sweat like this, to stop those who come across us and to show completely forbidden the works and secrets and teachings of their mind, so that from the heat and sharpness of argument we show our freedom and also turn some away from them, even by words that seem harsher.

praef1b.3.1 | 3. Καὶ ἔστι τὰ ἐν τῇ πάσῃ πραγματείᾳ διὰ τῶν προειρημένων τριῶν βιβλίων, πρώτου καὶ δευτέρου καὶ τρίτου, ἅτινα τρία βιβλία εἰς ἑπτὰ τόμους διείλομεν, ἐν δὲ ἐκάστῳ τόμῳ ἀριθμὸς τις αἱρέσεων καὶ σχισμάτων ἔγκειται, ὁμοῦ δὲ πᾶσαι εἰσὶν ὀγδοήκοντα, ὧν αἱ ὀνομασίαι καὶ αἱ προφάσεις αὐταί· praef1b.3.1 | And in the whole work through the three books mentioned before—the first, second, and third, which three books we divided into seven volumes—there is in each volume a certain number of heresies and schisms, and altogether there are eighty, whose names and reasons are these:

praef1b.3.2 | πρώτη Βαρβαρισμός, δευτέρα Σκυθισμός, τρίτη Ἑλληνισμός, τετάρτη Ἰουδαϊσμός, πέμπτη Σαμαρειτισμός.

praef1b.3.2 | First, Barbarism; second, Scythianism; third, Hellenism; fourth, Judaism; fifth, Samaritanism.

praef1b.3.3 | ἐκ τούτων αἱ καθεξῆς· πρὸ Χριστοῦ μὲν τῆς ἐπιδημίας, μετὰ δὲ Βαρβαρισμὸν καὶ τὴν Σκυθικὴν δεισιδαιμονίαν αἱ ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἑλληνισμοῦ φύσασαι αὐταί· ἕκτη Πυθαγόρειοι εἴτ' οὖν Περιπατητικοί, διὰ τῶν περὶ Ἀριστοτέλην διαίρεθεῖσα· ἑβδόμη Πλατωνικοί· ὀγδὴ Στωϊκοί· ἑνάτη Ἐπικούρειοι.

praef1b.3.3 | From these, in order: before Christ's time, the epidemic ones; after, Barbarism and the Scythian superstition, which came from Hellenism; sixth, Pythagoreans or maybe Peripatetics, divided through the things about Aristotle; seventh, Platonists; eighth, Stoics; ninth, Epicureans.

praef1b.3.4 | εἴτα ἡ Σαμαρειτικὴ αἵρεσις ἡ οὔσα ἐκ τοῦ Ἰουδαϊσμοῦ καὶ ταύτης τέσσαρα ἔθνη· δεκάτη Γοροθηνοί, ἐνδεκάτη Σεβουαῖοι, δωδεκάτη Ἑσσηνοί, τρισκαιδεκάτη Δοσίθεοι.

praef1b.3.4 | Then the Samaritan heresy, which comes from Judaism, and from this four nations: tenth, the Gorotheni; eleventh, the Sebuai; twelfth, the Essenes; thirteenth, the Dositheans.

praef1b.3.5 | εἴτα ὁ αὐτὸς προειρημένος Ἰουδαϊσμός ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἀβραὰμ τὸν χαρακτῆρα εἰληφώς καὶ διὰ τοῦ δοθέντος νόμου τῷ Μωυσῇ πλατυνθεὶς καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἰούδα υἱοῦ Ἰακώβ τοῦ καὶ Ἰσραὴ διὰ Δαυίδ τοῦ βασιλεύσαντος ἐκ τῆς τούτου φυλῆς τὸ praef1b.3.5 | Then the same mentioned Judaism, having received its character from Abraham, and having been expanded through the law given to Moses, and from Judah, son of Jacob, also called Israel, through David who reigned from this tribe, ἐπώνυμον τοῦ Ἰουδαϊσμοῦ κληρωθεῖς.

having been given the name of Judaism.

praef1b.3.6 | καὶ ἀπ’ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Ἰουδαϊσμοῦ ἑπτὰ αἵρέσεις αὐταί· τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτη Γραμματέων, πεντεκαίδεκάτη Φαρισαίων, ἑκκαίδεκάτη Σαδδουκαίων, ἑπτακαίδεκάτη Ἡμεροβαπτιστῶν, ὀκτωκαίδεκάτη Ὀσσαίων, ἑννεακαίδεκάτη Νασαρίων, εἰκοστὴ Ἡρῶδιανῶν.

praef1b.3.6 | And from this Judaism, seven sects themselves: fourteenth, the Scribes; fifteenth, the Pharisees; sixteenth, the Sadducees; seventeenth, the Day-Baptizers; eighteenth, the Ossaeans; nineteenth, the Nazarenes; twentieth, the Herodians.

Section 4

praef1b.4.1 | 4. Ἐκ τούτων τῶν αἱρέσεων καὶ μετέπειτα κατὰ διαδοχὴν τῶν χρόνων ἐπεφάνη ἡ σωτήριος τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ οἰκονομία ἡγουν ἡ ἔνσαρκος αὐτοῦ παρουσία καὶ εὐαγγελικὴ διδασκαλία τε καὶ κήρυγμα βασιλείας, ἣτις μόνη ἐστὶ πηγὴ σωτηρίας καὶ πίστις ἀληθείας τῆς καθολικῆς καὶ ἀποστολικῆς καὶ ὀρθοδόξου ἐκκλησίας.

praef1b.4.1 | From these sects, and then in order through the years, appeared the saving plan of our Lord Jesus Christ, that is, his bodily presence and the good teaching and preaching of the kingdom, which alone is the source of salvation and the faith of truth of the universal, apostolic, and right-believing church.

praef1b.4.2 | ἐκ δὲ ταύτης περιεκλάσθησάν τε καὶ ἐσχίσθησαν ὄνομα μόνον Χριστοῦ ἔχουσαι, ἀλλ’ οὐχὶ τὴν πίστιν, αἵρέσεις αὗται·

praef1b.4.2 | But from this, they were broken off and torn apart, having only the name of Christ, but not the faith—these are the sects.

praef1b.4.3 | πρώτη Σιμωνιανοί, δευτέρα Μενανδριανοί, τρίτη Σατορνιλιανοί, τετάρτη Βασιλειδιανοί, πέμπτη Νικολαῖται, ἕκτη Γνωστικοί οἱ καὶ Στρατιωτικοί οἱ Βαρβηλῖται, ἑβδόμη Καρποκρατῖται, ὀγδόη Κηρινθιανοί οἱ καὶ Μηρινθιανοί, ἑνάτη praef1b.4.3 | First, the Simonians; second, the Menandrians; third, the Saturnilians; fourth, the Basiledians; fifth, the Nicolaitans; sixth, the Gnostics, also called the Militarists, the same as the Phibionites; among some, the Secundians; among others, the Socratians; among others, the Zachaeans; among some, called the Coddianists, also Borborites and Barbelites; seventh, the Carpocratians; eighth, the Ναζωραῖοι, δεκάτη Ἐβιωναῖοι, ἑνδεκάτη Οὐαλεντῖνοι, δωδεκάτη Σεκουνδιανοί, οἷς συνάπτονται Ἐπιφάνης καὶ Ἰσίδωρος, τρισκαίδεκάτη Πτολεμαῖοι·

Cerinthians, also called the Merinthians; ninth, the Nazarenes; tenth, the Ebionites; eleventh, the Valentinians; twelfth, the Secundians, to whom Epiphanius and Isidore connect; thirteenth, the Ptolemaeans.

praef1b.4.4 | τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτη Μαρκῶσιοι, πεντεκαίδεκάτη Κολορβάσιοι, ἑκκαίδεκάτη Ἡρακλεωνῖται, ἑπτακαίδεκάτη Ὀφιῖται, ὀκτωκαίδεκάτη εἰκοστή δευτέρα Μαρκίωνες, εἰκοστή τρίτη Λουκιανισταί, εἰκοστή τετάρτη Ἀπελλιῖανοί, εἰκοστή πέμπτη Σευηριανοί, εἰκοστή ἕκτη Τατιανοί· praef1b.4.4 | Fourteenth, the Marcosians; fifteenth, the Colorbasians; sixteenth, the Heracleonites; seventeenth, the Ophites; eighteenth, the Cainites; nineteenth, the Sethians; twentieth, the Archontics; twenty-first, the Cerdonians; twenty-second, the Marcionites; twenty-third, the Lucianists; twenty-fourth, the Apelleans; twenty-fifth, the Sevirans; twenty-sixth, the Tatianites.

praef1b.4.5 | εἰκοστή ἑβδόμη Ἐγκρατῖται, εἰκοστή ὀγδὴ κατὰ Φρύγας, τῶν καὶ Μοντανιστῶν καὶ Τασκοδρουγιτῶν· οὗτοι δὲ πάλιν οἱ Τασκοδρουγῖται διηρέθησαν εἰς ἑαυτούς, εἰκοστή ἑνάτη Πεπουζιανοί οἱ καὶ Πρισκιλλιανοί καὶ Κυῖντιλλιανοί, οἷς συνάπτονται Ἀρτοτυρῖται, τριακοστή τριακοστή Τεσσαρεσκαίδεκατῖται οἱ τὸ πάσχα μίαν ἡμέραν τοῦ ἔτους ποιοῦντες, τριακοστή πρώτη Ἄλογοι οἱ τὸ εὐαγγέλιον τεσσαρακοστή Ἀγγελικοί, τεσσαρακοστή πρώτη Ἀποστολικοί οἱ καὶ Ἀποτακτικοί, τεσσαρακοστή δευτέρα Σαβελλιανοί, praef1b.4.5 | Twenty-seventh, the Encratites; twenty-eighth, according to Phrygia, those also called Montanists and Taskodrugites; these Taskodrugites again split into their own groups. Twenty-ninth, the Pepuzians, also called Priscillians and Quintillians, to whom the Artotyrites are connected. Thirty-fourth, those who celebrate Passover on one day of the year.

Thirty-first, the Alogi, who do not accept the gospel and the revelation of John.
Thirty-second, the Adamites. Thirty-third, the Sampsaeans, also called Elcesaeans.
Thirty-fourth, the Theodotians. Thirty-fifth, the Melchizedekians. Thirty-sixth, the Bardesanes' followers. Thirty-seventh, the Noetians. Thirty-eighth, the Valensians.
Thirty-ninth, the Cathari, also called the Naivites. Fortieth, the Angelics. Forty-first, the Apostolics, also called the Apostates.
Forty-second, the Sabellians. Forty-third, the Origenists, also called the obscene ones.

τεσσαρακοστή τρίτη Ὀριγένειοι οἱ καὶ αἰσχροποιοί, τεσσαρακοστή τετάρτη Ὀριγένειοι οἱ καὶ τοῦ Ἀδαμαντίου·

Forty-fourth, the Origenists, those of Adamantius.

praef1b.4.6 | τεσσαρακοστή πέμπτη Παύλου τοῦ Σαμοσατέως, τεσσαρακοστή ἕκτη Μανιχαῖοι οἱ καὶ Ἀκουανῖται, praef1b.4.8 | Fifty-seventh, the Dimoirites, who do not confess the full incarnation of Christ, also called Apollinarians; fifty-eighth, those who say that holy Mary, the ever-virgin, joined Joseph after the Savior was born, whom we called Antidicomariotes; fifty-ninth, those who offer a collyrium in the name of the same Mary, called Collyridians; sixtieth, the Massalians, to whom are connected the Martyrians from the Greeks, and the Euphemites and Satanianoi.

praef1b.5.1 | Returning again and going through these by book, I will show in this summary of mine how many of these eighty heresies are in the first book, and one after another in the second up to the third, and also for each of the seven volumes arranged in the three books, how many heresies are contained in each. And it is like this:

praef1b.5.2 | In the first book, three volumes, there are forty-six heresies, along with the <mothers and prototypes> of these names, I say also of Scythianism, Hellenism, and Judaism; and in the second book, two volumes, twenty-three heresies; and in the third book, two volumes, eleven heresies.

praef1b.5.3 | In the first book, first volume, there are twenty heresies, which are these: Barbarism, Scythianism, Hellenism, Judaism. Differences among the Greeks: Pythagoreans, then either Peripatetics, Platonists, Stoics, Epicureans. The Samaritan heresy, which comes from Judaism; four Samaritan nations like this: Gorothenians, Sebuaians, Essenes, Dositheans. Seven heresies of the Jews like this: Pharisees, Sadducees, Hemerobaptists, Ossaeans, Nazarenes, Herodians.

praef1b.5.4 | In the second volume of the first book, likewise, there are thirteen heresies like this: Semonian, Menandrian, Saturnilian, Basilidian, Nicolaitan, Gnostic, Νικολαῖται Γνωστικοί, οἱ καὶ Στρατιωτικοὶ καὶ Φιβιονῖται οἱ αὐτοὶ δὲ παρὰ τισι Σεκουνδιανοὶ παρὰ δὲ ἄλλοις Σωκρατῖται παρὰ δὲ ἑτέροις Ζακχαῖοι καλούμενοι καὶ Κοδδιανοὶ καὶ Βορβορίται καὶ Βαρβηλίται, Καρποκρατῖται Κηρινθιανοί, οἱ καὶ Μηρινθιανοί, Ναζωραῖοι Ἐβιωνᾶοι Οὐαλεντῖνοι Σεκουνδιανοί, οἷς συνάπτονται Ἐπιφάνης καὶ Ἰσίδωρος, Πτολεμαῖοι.

who are also called Militarists and Phibionites; the same are called by some Secundians, by others Socratists, and by others Zachaeans, also called Coddian, Borborite, and Barbelite; Carpocratians, Cherinthians, who are also called Merinthians; Nazoraeans, Ebionites, Valentinians, Secundians, to whom Epiphanius and Isidore connect the Ptolemaeans.

praef1b.5.5 | ἐν δὲ τῷ τρίτῳ τόμῳ τοῦ αὐτοῦ πρώτου βιβλίου αἱρέσεις | δεκατρεῖς οὕτως· Μαρκῶσιοι Κολορβάσιοι Ἑρακλεωνῖται Ὀφῖται Καϊανοὶ Σηθιανοὶ Ἀρχοντικοὶ Κερδωνιανοὶ Μαρκίωνες Λουκινισταὶ ἀπελληῖανοὶ Σευηριανοὶ Τατιανοί. αὕτη ἡ ἀνακεφαλαίωσις τοῦ πρώτου βιβλίου τῶν τριῶν τόμων.

praef1b.5.5 | In the third volume of the same first book, there are thirteen heresies like this: Marcionites, Colorbasians, Heracleonites, Ophites, Cainites, Sethians, Archontics, Cerdonians, Marcionites, Lucinists, Apelleans, Severians, Tatianists. This is the summary of the first book of the three volumes.

praef1b.5.6 | Τοῦ δὲ δευτέρου βιβλίου τόμοι δύο. καὶ ἐν μὲν τῷ πρώτῳ τόμῳ τοῦ δευτέρου βιβλίου, τετάρτῳ δὲ ὄντι κατὰ τὴν ἀπ' ἀρχῆς ἀκολουθίαν τοῦ ἀριθμοῦ, αἱρέσεις δεκαοκτὼ οὕτως· Ἐγκρατῖται κατὰ Φρύγας, οἱ καὶ Μοντανισταὶ καὶ Τασκοδρουγῖται· οἱ δὲ Τασκοδρουγῖται διηρέθησαν ἀπὸ τῶν προειρημένων, Πεπουζιανοὶ & οἱ καὶ Πρισκιλλιανοὶ & οἷς συνάπτονται Ἀρτοτυρίται, Τεσσαρεσκαίδεκατῖται οἱ τὸ πάσχα μίαν ἡμέραν τοῦ ἔτους ποιοῦντες, Ἄλογοι οἱ τὸ εὐαγγέλιον Ἰωάννου καὶ τὴν ἀποκάλυψιν μὴ δεχόμενοι, Ἀδαμιανοὶ Σαμψαῖοι, οἱ καὶ Ἐλκεσαῖοι, Θεοδοτιανοὶ Μελχισεδεκιανοὶ Βαρδησιανισταὶ Νοητιανοὶ Οὐαλήσιοι Καθαροὶ Ἀγγελικοὶ Ἀποστολικοὶ, οἱ καὶ Ἀποτακτικοὶ, οἷς συνάπτονται οἱ καλούμενοι Σακκοφόροι, Σαβελλιανοὶ Ὀριγενιανοὶ οἱ αἰσχροποιοὶ Ὀριγενιανοὶ οἱ praef1b.5.6 | The second book has two volumes. And in the first volume of the second book, which is the fourth according to the original order of the numbers, there are eighteen heresies like this: the Encratites in Phrygia, who are also Montanists and Taskodrugites; the Taskodrugites split from the ones mentioned before, the Pepuzians, who are also Priscillians, to whom the Artotyrites are connected; the Fourteeners, who celebrate Passover on one day of the year; the Alogoi, who do not accept the Gospel of John and the Revelation; the Adamites; the Sampsaeans, who are also Elcesaite; the Theodotians; the Melchizedekians; the Bardesarians; the Noetians; the Valensians; the Cathari; the Angelics; the Apostolics, who are also called the Renegades, to whom the so-called Sackbearers are

praef1b.5.7 | ἐν δὲ τῷ δευτέρῳ τόμῳ τοῦ αὐτοῦ δευτέρου βιβλίου, πέμπτῳ δὲ ὄντι κατὰ τὸν ἀριθμὸν τὸν προειρημένον. αἱρέσεις πέντε οὕτως· Παύλου τοῦ Σαμοσατέως Μανιχαῖοι, οἱ καὶ Ἀκουανῖται, Ἱερακῖται Μελιτιανῶν τῶν ἐν τῇ Αἰγύπτῳ σχίσμα Ἀρειανοί. αὕτη καὶ ἡ τοῦ δευτέρου βιβλίου τῶν <δύο> ἀνακεφαλαίωσις.

praef1b.5.7 | In the second volume of the same second book, which is the fifth according to the number mentioned before, there are five heresies like this: the Manichaeans of Paul of Samosata, who are also called Aquanians; the Hieracites; the Melitians; the schism of the Arians in Egypt. This is also the summary of the second book of the two.

praef1b.5.8 | Likewise, in the third book there are two volumes. In the first volume of the third book, which is the sixth according to the number we mentioned before, there are seven heresies like this: the Audiani, who are a schism; the Photinians; the Marcellians; the Semi-Arians; the Pneumatomachians, who blaspheme the holy spirit of God; the Arians, followers of Aetius the Anomoios, with whom Eunomius, also called Anomos, joined.

praef1b.5.9 | ἐν δὲ τῷ δευτέρῳ τόμῳ τοῦ αὐτοῦ τρίτου βιβλίου, ἑβδόμῳ δὲ τόμῳ ὄντι καθ' ἣν εἶπαμεν τῶν τόμων τοῦ ἀριθμοῦ διαίρεσιν, ὅς ἐστι τόμος ἑβδομος καὶ τέλος τῆς πραγματείας, αἱρέσεις τέσσαρες οὕτως· Διμοιρῖται, οἱ μὴ τελείαν τὴν Χριστοῦ ἐνανθρώπησιν ὁμολογοῦντες οἱ καὶ Ἀπολλιναρῖται, καὶ οἱ τὴν ἁγίαν Μαρίαν τὴν ἀειπάρθενον μετὰ τὸ τὸν σωτῆρα γεγεννηκέναι τῷ Ἰωσήφ συνῆφθαι λέγοντες, οὓς ἐκαλέσαμεν Ἀντιδικομαριαμίτας, καὶ οἱ εἰς ὄνομα τῆς

praef1b.5.9 | And in the second volume of the same third book, which is the seventh volume according to the division of the volumes by the number we said, and which is the seventh and last volume of the work, there are four heresies like this: the Dimoiritai, who do not confess the complete incarnation of Christ, also called Apollinarians; and those who say that holy Mary the ever-virgin joined with Joseph after she gave birth to the savior, whom we called Antidicomariamites; and those who apostolic church. This is the summary and title of the whole work against heresies, eighty treatises and one defense for the truth, that is, of the only catholic and orthodox church, arranged in three books and divided into seven volumes.

Introduction 2

Section 1

praef2.1.1 | Ἐπιφανίου ἐπισκόπου κατὰ αἱρέσεων τὸ ἐπικληθὲν πανάριον εἴτουν κιβώτιον. Ἀρχόμενος πίστιν τε καὶ ἀπιστίαν, εὐδοξίαν τε καὶ ἑτεροδοξίαν ἀναγγεῖν τε καὶ λέγειν μνησθήσομαι τῆς ἀρχῆς τῆς τοῦ κόσμου καταβολῆς καὶ ἀκολουθίας, οὐ διὰ τῆς ἑμαυτοῦ δυνάμεως οὐδ’ ἀπὸ ἰδίων λογισμῶν ὀρμώμενος, ἀλλ’ ὥς ὁ θεὸς ὁ πάντων δεσπότης καὶ ἐλεήμων ἀπεκάλυψε τοῖς ἑαυτοῦ προφήταις καὶ δι’ αὐτῶν ἡμᾶς τῆς τοῦ παντὸς γνώσεως κατὰ τὸ ἐγχωροῦν ἀνθρωπεῖα φύσει κατηξίωσε.

praef2.1.1 | Of Epiphanius the bishop, against heresies, called Panarion or Little Chest. Beginning with faith and unbelief, and also with right belief and wrong belief, I will tell and declare from the beginning of the world’s foundation and order, not by my own power or from my own thoughts, but as God, the master and merciful one of all, revealed to his prophets and through them taught us the knowledge of everything, according to the human nature allowed.

praef2.1.2 | καὶ ἀρχόμενος περὶ τούτων εὐθὺς διασκοπεῖν πρῶτον μὲν οὐκ ἐν μικρῷ ἀγῶνι καθίσταμαι, ἀλλὰ καὶ σφόδρα δέδια ἐπιβαλλόμενος ἔργῳ οὐ τῷ τυχόντι καὶ ἐπικαλοῦμαι αὐτὸν τὸν ἅγιον θεὸν καὶ τὸν μονογενῆ αὐτοῦ παῖδα Ἰησοῦν Χριστὸν καὶ τὸ ἅγιον αὐτοῦ πνεῦμα, ὅπως καταυγάσῃ τῆς ἡμετέρας εὐτελείας τὸν νοῦν πρὸς φωτισμὸν τῆς περὶ τούτων praef2.1.2 | And beginning to examine these things, at first I do not stand in a small struggle, but I am very much afraid as I take on the task, not by chance, and I call upon the holy God and his only Son Jesus Christ and his holy spirit, that he may shine the mind of our lowliness toward the light of knowledge about these things.

praef2.1.3 | οἱ μὲν γὰρ τῶν Ἑλλήνων συγγραφεῖς ποιηταὶ τε καὶ λογογράφοι ἐπιβαλλόμενοι τινι μυθῶδει συγγράμματι Μοῦσάν τινα ἐπεκαλοῦντο. οὐ γὰρ θεόν· δαιμονιώδης γὰρ παρ' αὐτοῖς ἡ σοφία καὶ »ἐπίγειος καὶ οὐκ ἄνωθεν κατερχομένη« κατὰ τὸ γεγραμμένον.

praef2.1.3 | For the writers of the Greeks, both poets and speech-makers, by imposing some kind of mythical writing, called it a Muse. For it is not a god; for among them wisdom is demonic and "earthly and not coming down from above," according to what is written.

praef2.1.4 | ἡμεῖς δὲ ἐπικαλούμεθα τὸν τῶν ὅλων ἅγιον δεσπότην ἀντιλαβέσθαι τῆς ἡμῶν πτωχείας καὶ ἐμπνεῦσαι τὸ ἅγιον αὐτοῦ πνεῦμα εἰς τὸ μηδὲν παραπεποιημένον εἰς τὴν τῆς ἐπαγγελίας γραφὴν συντάξαι.

praef2.1.4 | But we call upon the holy master of all to take hold of our poverty and to breathe his holy spirit into the writing of the promise, which has been made nothing.

praef2.1.5 | καὶ αὐτὸ τοῦτο αἰτησάμενοι, τὴν ἑαυτῶν ἀνικανότητα γινώσκοντες »κατὰ τὸ μέτρον τῆς πίστεως καὶ κατὰ ἀναλογίαν« δωρήσασθαι τὸν αὐτὸν ἡμῖν παρακαλοῦμεν.

praef2.1.5 | And asking for this very thing, knowing our own weakness, we beg that he grant to us the same "according to the measure of faith and according to proportion."

Section 2

praef2.2.1 | 2. Ἐστω δὲ ὁ σκοπὸς * τῷ ἐντυγχάνοντι περὶ παντός του ζητήματος, ὅτι τῶν καιρῶν ἐστὶ καὶ χρόνων τὰ ἐφευρήματα, ὅσα ἡδυνήθη ὁ σμικρὸς ἡμῶν νοῦς ἐξασκηθεῖς καταλαβέσθαι, καὶ οὐ πάντως που ἐπαγγελλόμεθα πάντων τῶν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ ·

praef2.2.1 | Let the aim be for the one who is dealing with every question to know that these are the inventions of the times and years, as much as our small mind, trained, was able to grasp, and we do not at all claim to know everything in the world.

praef2.2.2 | ἄφατα γὰρ ἐστὶ καὶ φατά. ἀμύθητά τε καὶ ἐν ἀριθμῷ μὴ καθιστάμενα καὶ ὅσον μὲν εἰς ἀνθρώπους ἤκεν ἀνέφικτα, μόνῳ δὲ τῷ τῶν ὅλων δεσπότη praef2.2.2 | For there are things unspeakable and spoken, countless and not able to be counted, and as far as it has come to humans, impossible, but known only to γινωσκόμενα.

praef2.2.3 | τὸ δὲ ἐπάγγελμα ἔχει περὶ διαφορᾶς δοξῶν τε καὶ γνώσεων, ἐπαγγελμάτων τε] πίστεώς τε θεοῦ καὶ ἀπιστίας, αἱρέσεών τε καὶ κακοδόξου γνώμης ἀνθρωπείας ὑπὸ πεπλανημένων ἀνδρῶν ἐν κόσμῳ ἐσπαρμένης, ἐξότε ἄνθρωπος ἐπὶ γῆς πέπλασται ἄχρι τοῦ ἡμετέρου χρόνου τουτέστι βασιλείας Οὐάλεντινιανοῦ καὶ Οὐάλεντος ἐνδεκάτου ἔτους καὶ Γρατιανοῦ ἐβδόμου.

praef2.2.3 | The statement is about the difference of opinions and knowledge, and of promises, both of faith in god and of disbelief, of heresies and of wrong human beliefs sown in the world by mistaken men, from when man was formed on earth up to our time, that is, the reign of Valentinian and Valens in the eleventh year, and Gratian in the seventh.

praef2.2.4 | Of the things about to come to our knowledge concerning heresies and divisions, some we know from love of learning, others we have learned by hearing, and some we met with our own ears and eyes; and of some we have trusted to give the roots and teachings from exact reports, of others some part of what happens among them. From these, some through the orders of old writers, others through hearing people we trusted exactly, we have come to know according to our understanding.

praef2.2.5 | τοῦτο δὲ τὸ πᾶν συνηγάγομεν φρόντισμα οὐ δι' ἑαυτῶν ἐπιβαλλόμενοι οὐδ' ἐπεντριβέντες ἐπαγγελίαις ὑπερβαινούσαις τὴν ἡμῶν βραχυλογίαν. καὶ γὰρ καὶ αὐτὸν τοῦτον τὸν λόγον, ὃν συνθεῖναι ἠύδοκήσαμεν θεοῦ βουλήσει, ἐξ ἀνδρῶν φιλοκάλων *, ἄλλοθι ἄλλως καὶ ἄλλοτε ἄλλως νυξάντων τὴν ἡμῶν ἀσθένειαν καὶ βιασαμένων ἡμᾶς ὡς εἰπεῖν παρελθεῖν εἰς τοῦτο, ὡς ἡ ὑμῶν τιμιότης γράφουσα διὰ προσηρητικῶν γραμμάτων ἤτησεν, ὡ τιμιώτατοί μου ἀδελφοὶ καὶ

praef2.2.5 | This whole care we gather not by imposing it for ourselves, nor by rubbing ourselves with promises going beyond our short speech. For even this very speech, which we decided to put together by god's will, comes from men who love beauty, who in different places and times have joined our weakness and forced us, so to speak, to come to this, as your honor writing through introductory letters asked, oh my most honored brothers and lovers of beauty, Akakios and φιλοκαλώτατοι, Ἀκάκιε καὶ Παῦλε, συμπρεσβύτεροι.

Paul, fellow elders.

praef2.2.6 | ἐπεὶ οὖν πανταχόθεν οὐκ ἄθεεῖ διασκοπήσας τὰς ψήφους τῶν αἰτήσεων διὰ τὴν ὑπερβάλλουσιν τῶν τοῦ θεοῦ δούλων ἀγάπην εἰς τοῦτο παρελθεῖν κατηξίωμαι, οὐ δι' εὐεπείας λόγων οὐ στωμύλοις τισὶ φθογγαῖς, ἀλλ' ἀπλῇ τῇ διαλέκτῳ ἀπλῶ τῷ λόγῳ, ἀκριβεῖα δὲ τῶν ἐν τῷ λόγῳ δηλουμένων ἄρξομαι τοῦ λέγειν.

praef2.2.6 | Since then, having carefully examined the votes of the requests from all sides, not without god's servants' great love, I have been deemed worthy to come to this, not through smooth words or clever sounds, but with simple speech and simple words, I will begin to speak with exactness about what is shown in the speech.

praef2.3.1 | 3. Καὶ Νίκανδρος μὲν ὁ praef2.3.1 | 3. And Nikandros, the writer, made the knowledge of the natures of wild animals and reptiles, but other writers made the materials of roots and plants, like Dioscorides the woodcutter, Pamphilos and Mithridates the king, Kallisthenes and Philon, Iolaos the Bithynian and Herakleidas the Tarentine, Krateuas the root-cutter, Andreas and Bassos the Tyrian, Nikeratos and Petronios, Niger and Diodotos, and some others.

praef2.3.2 | τῷ δὲ αὐτῷ τρόπῳ καὶ ἡμεῖς praef2.3.2 | In the same way, we also, trying to reveal the roots and opinions of the sects, do not want to harm those who meet with us.

praef2.3.3 | ἀλλὰ καθάπερ τοῖς writers mentioned before, not to mark evil, but for fear and safety of human nature, to power of god, by paying attention and not mixing with such poisons when encountered, and when attacked by such things either by breath or bite or sight, those same writers, caring for the same things, also prepared remedies of roots and plants to cancel the harm of the mentioned reptiles, —

praef2.3.4 | So also our work, for the warning about the mentioned things and for you, most dear, is to reveal the shapes and poisons and deadly bites of terrible reptiles and beasts.

praef2.3.5 | But against these, as much as we can in short, if one or two words, to push back their poison, we will offer like antidotes to anyone willing or unwilling who has fallen into the same reptile-like teachings of the sects, after the main opinion.

Book 1

Section 1

1.1.1 | <A.> Καὶ γὰρ ἀπ' ἀρχῆς Ἀδὰμ τῇ ἕκτῃ ἡμέρᾳ πλασθεὶς ἀπὸ γῆς καὶ λαβὼν τὸ ἐμφύσημα ἐζωογονήθη οὐ γάρ, ὥς τινες οἴονται, ἀπὸ πέμπτης ἤρξατο καὶ τῇ ἕκτῃ ἐτελειώθη· ἔσφαλται γὰρ ἡ τῶν λεγόντων τοῦτο διάνοια), ἀπλοῦς τε ἦν καὶ ἄκακος, οὐκ ὄνομά τι κεκτημένος ἕτερον, οὐ δόξης οὐ γνώμης οὐ βίου διακρίσεως ἐπὶ κλησιν

1.1.1 | And indeed from the beginning Adam, made on the sixth day from the earth and receiving the breath of life, was made alive; for not, as some think, did he begin on the fifth and was finished on the sixth; the mind of those who say this is mistaken. He was simple and harmless, not having any other name, nor having gained a κεκτημένος <ἀλλ’> ἢ Ἀδὰμ μόνον κληθείς, τὸ ἐρμηνευόμενον τούτῳ πλάττεται ἐξ αὐτοῦ γυνὴ ὁμοία αὐτῷ, title of honor, opinion, or life distinction, but was called only Adam, which means that from him a woman was formed like him.

1.1.2 | ἐκ τοῦ αὐτοῦ σώματος, Ε; τοῦ αὐτοῦ ἐμφυσήματος. παῖδες δὲ γεννῶνται τούτῳ ἄρρενές τε καὶ θήλειαι. καὶ βιώσας ἑτη ἐννακόσια τριάκοντα τὸ χρεὼν ἀπέδωκε.

1.1.2 | From the same body, and from the same breath. Children are born to him, both male and female. And having lived nine hundred and thirty years, he paid what was owed.

1.1.3 | τούτου παῖς Σήθ, υἱὸς δὲ τούτου Ἐνὼς, καὶ κατὰ διαδοχὴν Καϊνάν, Μαλελεήλ, Ἰάρεδ. ὥς δὲ ἡ παράδοσις ἡ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐλθοῦσα <περι>έχει, ἐντεῦθεν ἤρξατο ἡ κακομηχανία ἐν γίνεσθαι, καὶ ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς μὲν διὰ τῆς τοῦ Ἀδὰμ παρακοῆς, ἔπειτα δὲ διὰ τῆς τοῦ Κάϊν ἀδελφοκτονίας, νῦν δὲ ἐν χρόνοις τοῦ Ἰάρεδ καὶ ἐπέκεινα φαρμακεία καὶ μαγεία, ἀσελγεια, μοιχεία τε καὶ ἀδικία.

1.1.3 | His child is Seth, and his son is Enos, and in succession Cain, Mahalalel, Jared.
But as the tradition that has come to us says, from here began the evil to happen, first from Adam’s disobedience, then from Cain’s killing of his brother, and now in the times of Jared and after, there is witchcraft and magic, lust, adultery, and injustice.

1.1.4 | οὐ γνώμη <δέ> τις ἑτέρα, οὐ δόξα μετηλλαγμένη, ἀλλὰ μία γλῶττα γένος ἐν ἐπὶ γῆς κατ’ ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ ἐσπαρμένον.

1.1.4 | No other opinion, nor changed belief, but one language, one kind on earth, spread at that time.

1.1.5 | τούτῳ δὲ τῷ Ἰάρεδ γίνεται παῖς τοῦνομα Ἐνὼχ, ὃς »εὐηρέστησε τῷ θεῷ καὶ οὐχ ἠὺρίσκετο· μετέθηκεν γὰρ αὐτὸν ὁ θεός· καὶ « καὶ » οὐκ εἶδεν θάνατον. Ἐνὼχ δὲ γεννᾷ τὸν Μαθουσάλα, Μαθουσάλα τὸν Λάμεχ, Λάμεχ τὸν Νῶε.

1.1.5 | To this Jared a child is born named Enoch, who pleased god and was not found; for god took him away, and he did not see death. Enoch then fathered Methuselah, Methuselah fathered Lamech, Lamech fathered Noah.

1.1.6 | καὶ ἡ τοῦ θεοῦ δικαιοκρισία κατακλυσμὸν ὕδατος ἐπενέγκασα τῇ οἰκουμένῃ πᾶσαν σάρκα ἀνθρώπων τε καὶ

1.1.6 | And god’s just judgment brought a flood of water over the whole world, wiping out all flesh, both humans and the others. But he kept Noah safe in an ark by command, who pleased him and found favor, both Noah himself, who was foretold, and his three sons, Shem, Ham, Japheth, and his own wife, and the three wives of the three sons.

1.1.7 | ὥστε ἀνθρώπων ψυχὰς ὀκτὼ ἐν τῇ τότε λάρνακι διασεσῶσθαι ἀπὸ τοῦ ὕδατος τοῦ κατακλυσμοῦ, καὶ ἀπὸ παντὸς γένους θηρίων τε καὶ ζώων, κτηνῶν τε καὶ τῶν ἄλλων τῶν ἐπὶ γῆς πρὸς σύστασιν πάλιν τῆς ἐν κόσμῳ πάντων ὑποστάσεως ἀπὸ τινῶν μὲν δύο δύο ἀπὸ δὲ ἄλλων ἑπτὰ ἑπτὰ.

1.1.7 | So eight human lives were saved in that ark from the flood waters, and from every kind of wild beast and animal, cattle and the others on earth, to rebuild again the whole world's living things, two by two from some, and seven by seven from others.

1.1.8 | καὶ οὕτως παρήλθε δεκάτη γενεὰ ἐτῶν δισχιλίων διακοσίων ἐξήκοντα δύο. καὶ ὁ κατακλυσμὸς πέπαυται καὶ Νῶε καὶ ὁ αὐτοῦ οἶκος λείψανον τῷ κόσμῳ γεγέννηται.

1.1.8 | And so the tenth generation passed, two thousand two hundred sixty years. And the flood stopped, and Noah and his household became a remnant for the world.

1.1.9 | οὐπω δὲ οὐχ ἑτεροδοξία, οὐκ ἔθνος τι διαφερόμενον, οὐκ ὄνομα αἰρέσεως, ἀλλ' οὐδὲ εἰδωλολατρεία. ἐπειδὴ δὲ ἕκαστος ἀνθρώπων ἰδίᾳ γνώμῃ ἐστοίχει νόμος γὰρ οὐδὲ εἰς ἐτύγχανεν· ἕκαστος γὰρ ἑαυτῷ νόμος ἐγένετο καὶ τῇ ἰδίᾳ γνώμῃ ἐστοίχει, καθὼς παρὰ τῷ ἀποστόλῳ ἡ χρῆσις, οὐ μόνον Βαρβαρισμοῦ, ἀλλὰ καὶ τῶν ἄλλων· φησὶ γὰρ »ἐν Χριστῷ Ἰησοῦ οὐ βάρβαρος, οὐ Σκύθης, οὐχ Ἕλλην, οὐκ Ἰουδαῖος«), Βαρβαρισμὸς τότε ἐκαλεῖτο ἐν ταῖς δέκα γενεαῖς τοῦ χρόνου τὸ ἐπώνυμον.

1.1.9 | Not yet was there any different belief, no nation that was different, no name of a sect, not even idol worship. But each person lived by their own opinion, for there was no law even then; each became a law to themselves and lived by their own opinion, just as the apostle says about use, not only of barbarians, but also of others: he says, "in Christ Jesus there is no barbarian, no Scythian, no Greek, no Jew." Barbarian was then the name given in the ten generations of time.

Section 1

2.1.1 | <B.> Μετὰ δὲ τὸν κατακλυσμὸν ἐπιστάσης τῆς λάρνακος τοῦ Νῶε ἐν τοῖς ὄρεσι τοῦ Ἀραράτ ἀνὰ μέσον Ἀρμενίων καὶ Καρδοπίων ἐν τῷ Λουβάρ ὄρει καλουμένῳ, ἐκεῖσε πρῶτως κατοίκησις γίνεται μετὰ τὸν κατακλυσμὸν τῶν ἀνθρώπων κάκεῖ φυτεύει ἀμπελῶνα Νῶε ὁ προφήτης, οἰκιστὴς τε γίνεται τοῦ τόπου.

2.1.2 | γίνονται δὲ τοῖς αὐτοῦ παισὶν (οὐ γὰρ ἔτι αὐτὸν ἐμφαίνει γεγεννηκέναι) παῖδες καὶ παίδων παῖδες ἕως πέμπτης γενεᾶς ἐτῶν ἑξακοσίων πεντήκοντα ἑννέα, πάρεξ τοῦ Σήμ. κατὰ ἀκολουθίαν δὲ τοῦ ἐνὸς υἱοῦ διέξειμι τὴν γενεαλογίαν· Σὴμ τοίνυν γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀρφαξάδ, Ἀρφαξάδ τὸν Κηνᾶ, Κηνᾶ τὸν Σάλα, Σάλα τὸν Ἑβερ, εὐλαβῆ καὶ θεοσεβῆ, Ἑβερ τὸν Φαλέκ.

2.1.3 | καὶ οὐδὲν ἦν ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς οὐχ αἵρεσις, οὐ γνώμη ἑτέρα καὶ ἑτέρα, ἀλλ' ἢ μόνον ἄνθρωποι ἐκαλοῦντο, »ἐνὸς χεῖλους καὶ μιᾶς γλώττης«. ἦν δὲ μόνον ἀσέβεια καὶ εὐσέβεια ὁ κατὰ φύσιν νόμος καὶ ἡ κατὰ φύσιν ἐκάστου θελήματος οὐκ ἀπὸ διδασκαλίας οὔτε ἀπὸ συγγραμμάτων [συγγραφῶν] πλάνη, οὐκ Ἰουδαϊσμός οὐχ Ἑλληνισμός οὐχ αἵρεσις ἑτέρα τις, ἀλλ' ὡς εἶπεῖν ἡ νῦν πίστις ἐμπολιτευομένη ἐν τῇ ἄρτι ἀγίᾳ τοῦ θεοῦ καθολικῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ, ἀπ' ἀρχῆς οὕσα καὶ ὑστερον πάλιν ἀποκαλυφθεῖσα.

2.1.1 | After the flood, when the ark of Noah came to rest in the mountains of Ararat, between the Armenians and the Kardopians, on the mountain called Loubar, there was first a settlement after the flood of people, and there Noah the prophet planted a vineyard and became the founder of the place.

2.1.2 | To his children (for he no longer appears to have been alive), children and children's children are born up to the fifth generation, for six hundred fifty-nine years, except for Shem. Following the line of one son, I will tell the genealogy: Shem then fathers Arphaxad, Arphaxad fathers Cainan, Cainan fathers Shelah, Shelah fathers Eber, who was devout and God-fearing, and Eber fathers Peleg.

2.1.3 | And there was no heresy on the earth, no different opinion or other, but only people were called, "of one lip and one tongue." There was only impiety and piety, the law according to nature and the will of each according to nature, not from teaching or writings, no error, not Judaism, not Hellenism, not any other heresy, but, so to speak, the faith now practiced in the holy catholic church of God, existing from the beginning and later revealed again.

2.1.4 | τῷ γὰρ βουλομένῳ φιλαλήθως * ἰδεῖν * ἀρχὴ πάντων ἐστὶν ἡ καθολικὴ καὶ ἀγία ἐκκλησία, ἐξ αὐτοῦ τοῦ σκοποῦ. Ἀδὰμ γὰρ Ε; πρωτόπλαστος πέπλασται οὐκ ἐμπερίτομος, ἀλλ' ἀκροβύστης μὲν τῇ σαρκί, οὐκ εἰδωλογάτρης δὲ ἦν καὶ ᾔδει πατέρα θεὸν καὶ υἱὸν καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα· προφήτης γὰρ ἦν.

2.1.4 | For whoever wants to see the beginning of all things truthfully, it is the catholic and holy church, from that very point. For Adam, the first man, was made not circumcised, but uncircumcised in the flesh; he was not an idolater and knew the Father God and the Son and the Holy Spirit; for he was a prophet.

2.1.5 | οὐκ ἔχων τοίνυν περιτομὴν οὐκ ἦν Ἰουδαῖος, ξόανα δὲ μὴ προσκυνῶν ἢ ἄλλο τι οὐκ ἦν εἰδωλολάτρης· προφήτης γὰρ <ἦν>· ὁ Ἀδὰμ καὶ ὅτι ὁ πατὴρ εἶπε τῷ υἱῷ ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον«. τί οὖν ἦν, μήτε περιτομὴν ἔχων μήτε εἰδωλα σέβων, ἀλλ' ὅτι τοῦ Χριστιανισμοῦ τὸν χαρακτήρα ὑποφαίνων ἐδείκνυτο;

2.1.5 | So, not having circumcision, he was not a Jew; and not worshiping idols or anything else, he was not an idolater; for Adam was a prophet and that the Father said to the Son, "Let us make man." So what was he, neither having circumcision nor worshiping idols, but showing the mark of Christianity?

2.1.6 | οὕτως καὶ ἐπὶ τοῦ Ἀβελ καὶ ἐπὶ τοῦ Σήθ καὶ ἐπὶ τοῦ Ἐνῶς καὶ ἐπὶ τοῦ Ἐνῶχ καὶ ἐπὶ τοῦ Μαθουσάλα καὶ ἐπὶ τοῦ Νῶε καὶ ἐπὶ τοῦ Ἑβερ ἄχρι τοῦ Ἀβρα]αμ διαληπτέον.

2.1.6 | So also concerning Abel and concerning Seth and concerning Enos and concerning Enoch and concerning Methuselah and concerning Noah and concerning Eber, up to Abraham, it must be noted.

2.1.7 | ἐνήργει δὲ τότε εὐσέβειά τε καὶ ἀσεβεία, πίστις καὶ ἀπιστία· πίστις μὲν ἐπέχουσα τοῦ Χριστιανισμοῦ τὴν εἰκόνα, ἀπιστία δὲ ἐπέχουσα ἀσεβείας τὸν χαρακτήρα καὶ παρανομίας, ἐναντία τοῦ κατὰ φύσιν νόμου, ἕως τοῦ προδεδηλωμένου χρόνου.

2.1.7 | At that time, both piety and impiety were active, faith and unbelief; faith held the image of Christianity, but unbelief held the mark of impiety and lawlessness, against the natural law, until the time that was revealed before.

2.1.8 | πέμπτη τοίνυν γενεᾷ μετὰ τὸν κατακλυσμόν, πληθυνόντων ἄρτι τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἀπὸ τῶν τριῶν υἱῶν τοῦ Νῶε, κατὰ διαδοχὴν παίδων παῖδες καὶ τούτων παῖδες γεγόνασιν ἐβδομήκοντα δύο τὸν

2.1.8 | In the fifth generation after the flood, when people had now increased from the three sons of Noah, children were born in succession, and from these children seventy-two became leaders and chiefs in ἀριθμὸν ἐν κόσμῳ ἀρχηγέται καὶ the world.

2.1.9 | ἐπεκτεινόμενοι δὲ καὶ πρόσω βαίνοντες ἀπὸ τοῦ Λουβάρ ἄρους καὶ χώρας γίνονται ἐν πεδίῳ Σεναάρ, ἔνθα που Σεναάρ νυνὶ ἐν χώρᾳ τῇ Περσίδι· ἦν δὲ πάλαι Ἀσσυρίων.

2.1.9 | Stretching out and going forward from the land of Lubar and the borders of Armenia, that is Ararat, they came to the plain of Shinar, where they chose a place; this Shinar now lies in the land of Persia; long ago it belonged to the Assyrians.

2.1.10 | ἐκεῖσε τοίνυν συνδυάσαντες συμβούλιον λαμβάνουσι μετ' ἀλλήλων πύργον καὶ πόλιν οἰκοδομῆσαι· ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ κλίματος τοῦ πρὸς Εὐρώπην εἰς Ἀσίαν κεκλικότες ἐπωνομάσθησαν χάντες κατὰ τὴν τοῦ χρόνου ἐπὶ κλησιν Σκύθαι.

2.1.10 | There, then, having come together, they took counsel with each other to build a tower and a city; and from the region turned from Europe toward Asia, they were called Khans, and over time they were named Scythians.

2.1.11 | κτίζουσι δὲ τὴν πυργοποιίαν καὶ οἰκοδομοῦσι τὴν Βαβυλῶνα. καὶ οὐκ ἠύδοκῃσεν ὁ θεὸς ἐπὶ τῷ ἔργῳ τῆς αὐτῶν ἀνοίας· διεσκέδασε γὰρ αὐτῶν τὰς γλώττας καὶ ἀπὸ μιᾶς εἰς ἑβδομήκοντα δύο οὔτοι κέκληνται διὰ τὴν μεμερισμένην φωνήν, καὶ τὸν πύργον ἀνέμων βολῇ κατέστρεψεν.

2.1.11 | They build the tower work and build Babylon. And god was not pleased with the work of their foolishness; for he scattered their tongues and divided them from one into seventy-two, according to the number of men found then, and from there these are called Meropees because of the divided speech, and the tower was destroyed by the blow of the winds.

2.1.12 | ἐμερίσθησαν γοῦν ἐπὶ πᾶσαν τὴν γῆν δεξιὰ τε καὶ εὐώνυμα, οἱ μὲν παλινόρσοι ὅθεν ἐκβεβήκασιν. ἄλλοι δὲ ἐπὶ τὰ πρόσω τῆς ἀνατολῆς κεχωρηκότες, ἕτεροι δὲ τὴν Λιβύην κατειλήφασιν·

2.1.12 | They were scattered indeed over all the earth, both right and left, some returning to where they had come from.
Others went toward the face of the east, and others took hold of Libya.

2.1.13 | ὥς καὶ περὶ τούτων τὴν ἀκρίβειαν

2.1.13 | So, if anyone wishes to learn the exact details about these things, they would find for each of those who went forward a certain homeland that they received as their share. For example, Mistrēm took the share of Egypt, Chous took Ethiopia, Psous the Axomite regions, Regma and Sabakatha and †Thouian and †Loud the lands near Garamōn. And so that I do not make the introduction too long here, I will return again to what comes before and, in order, take up the rest of the story.

Book 3

Section 1

3.1.1 | <Γ̣̣> Μεταξὺ γοῦν τοῦ Ῥεβερ καὶ τοῦ Φαλὲκ καὶ τῆς πυργοποιίας καὶ πρώτης πόλεως μετὰ τὸν κατακλυσμὸν υἱὸς τοῦ Χοὺς τοῦ Αἰθίοπος,

3.1.1 | Between Eber and Phalek, and the building of the tower and the first city built after the flood, there begins from that building a start of gathering counsel and tyranny. For Nebrod rules, son of Chous the Ethiopian,

3.1.2 | ἐξ οὗ Ἀσοῦρ γεγέννηται. τούτου ἡ

3.1.2 | from whom Assur was born. His kingdom was made in Orech and in Arphal and Chalanne; and he also founded Theiras and Thobel and Lobon in the land of the Assyrians. The children of the Greeks say that this man is Zoroaster, who, having gone eastward, became the founder of Bactria.

3.1.3 | ἐντεῦθεν τὰ κατὰ τὴν γῆν παράνομα διανενέμηται· ἐφευρετὴς γὰρ οὗτος γεγέννηται κακῆς διδασχῆς, ἀστρολογίας καὶ μαγείας, ὥς τινὲς φασι περὶ τούτου τοῦ

3.1.3 | From there, unlawful things were spread across the land; for this man became the inventor of bad teaching, astrology, and magic, as some say about this Zoroaster; but, as the truth shows, this was the time of Nebrod the giant, and both Nebrod and Zoroaster lived far apart in time.

Ζωροάστρου· πλὴν, ὥς ἡ ἀκρίβεια περιέχει, τοῦ Νεβρώδ τοῦ γίγαντος οὗτος ἦν ὁ χρόνος, πολὺ δὲ ἀλλήλων τῷ χρόνῳ διεστήκασιν ἄμφω, ὃ τε Νεβρώδ καὶ ὁ Ζωροάστρης.

3.1.4 | Phalek then fathered Ragau, Ragau fathered Serouch, whose name means “stirring up,” from whom began among people both idol worship and Hellenism, as the knowledge that came to us shows. Not yet were there images or statues made of stones or wood or silver or gold or any other material, but only through colors and pictures did the human mind find for itself evil, and through free will and reasoning and mind, instead of goodness, it invented the unlawful.

3.1.5 | γίνεται δὲ τῷ Σερούχ παῖς ὁ Ναχώρ, Ναχώρ δὲ γεννᾷ τὸν Θάρρα. ἐντεῦθεν γέγονεν ἀνδριαντοπλασία ἀπὸ πηλουργίας καὶ κεραμικῆς ἐπιστήμης ἐκ τῆς τοῦ Θάρρα τούτου τέχνης. περιέστη δὲ ὁ αἰὼν εἰς εἰκοστὴν γενεὰν ἕως τούτου, ἐτῶν τρισχιλίων τριακοσίων τριάκοντα δύο.

3.1.5 | Serouch had a son named Nahor, and Nahor fathered Tharra. From the skill of this Tharra came the making of statues through the knowledge of pottery and ceramics. The time reached the twentieth generation up to this point, three thousand three hundred thirty-two years.

3.1.6 | καὶ οὐδεὶς πώποτε τῶν προτέρων πρὸ πατρὸς υἱὸς ἐτελεύτα, ἀλλὰ πατέρες πρὸ παίδων τελευτῶντες τοὺς υἱοὺς διαδόχους κατελίμπανον καὶ μή τις λεγέτω περὶ τοῦ Ἀβελ· οὐ γὰρ θανάτῳ ἰδίῳ τέθνηκεν).

3.1.6 | And never before did a son die before his father, but fathers died before their children, leaving their sons as heirs; and let no one speak about Abel, for he did not die by a natural death.

3.1.7 | ἐξότε δὲ Θάρρα ἀντίζηλον τῷ θεῷ προεστήσατο διὰ τῆς ἰδίας πηλουργίας τεχνησάμενος, τὰ ὅμοια οἷς ἔπραξαν ἀπὸ

3.1.7 | But Tharra set himself against god through his own skill in pottery, copying the things that others had done from

τῆς δίκης ἀπέληφε καὶ αὐτὸς παραζηλωθεὶς διὰ τοῦ ἰδίου τέκνου.

justice, and he himself was made jealous because of his own child.

3.1.8 | ὅθεν θαυμάσασα ἡ θεία γραφὴ ἐπεσημήνατο λέγουσα καὶ ἀπέθανεν Ἀρράν ἐνῶ πῖον θάρρα τοῦ πατρὸς αὐτοῦ ἐν τῇ τῆς τῆς γεννήσεως αὐτοῦ.

3.1.8 | Therefore, the divine writing, having marveled, marked it by saying, and Arran died while Tharra, his father, was still alive at the time of his birth.

3.1.9 | ἕως τούτου ἔμεινε Σκυθικὴ τις διαδοχὴ καὶ ἐπικλήσις. οὕτω δὲ ἦν τις αἵρεσις, οὕτω μηχανὴ τις ἑτέρα ἢ μόνον » <πρώτη>; πορνεία, εἰδώλων«. καὶ ἐνθεν ἐθεοποίησαντο ἢ κακοδαίμονας τυράννους ἢ γόητας φαντάσαντας τὴν οἰκουμένην, τιμήσαντες τὰ τούτων μνήματα,

3.1.9 | Up to this time, there was a Scythian line and name. There was not yet any sect, nor any other trick except the first prostitution of idols. And from there, they made gods either evil spirits, tyrants, or sorcerers who appeared in the world, honoring their memorials.

3.1.10 | καὶ μετέπειτα πολλῶ τῷ χρόνῳ τοὺς περὶ Κρόνον καὶ Δία ῥέαν τε καὶ Ἥραν καὶ τοῖς ἀμφ’ αὐτούς, ἔπειτα δὲ Ἀκινάκην σέβοντες οἱ τε τῶν Σκυθῶν Σαυρομάται τὸ γένος κατάγεται Φρυγῶν· ὅθεν καὶ Θραῖκες ἀπὸ τοῦ Θήρας ἐπικλὴν τοῦ ἐν τῇ πυργοποιίᾳ γεγεννημένου καλοῦνται.

3.1.10 | And afterward, after much time, those around Kronos and Zeus and Rhea and Hera and those with them, then honoring Akinakēs, both the Sauromatai of the Scythians and Odrysos, the ancestor of the Thracians, from whom the race of the Phrygians comes; hence the Thracians are also called by the name of Thēras, who was skilled in tower-building.

3.1.11 | περιέστη δὲ πᾶς ὁ χρόνος ἐντεῦθεν λαβούσης τῆς πλάνης ἀρχὴν εἰς τὸν προδηλούμενον καιρόν, * φύρων λοιπὸν τὰ τῆς φαρμακείας καὶ μαγείας ἠυρέθη.

3.1.11 | And all the time stood around from then on, taking the beginning of wandering into the foretold time, wandering the paths afterward; and writers and historians from there, having searched from the Egyptians, caught the wandering of the nation, from where indeed the things of witchcraft and magic were found.

3.1.12 | μετηνέχθη δὲ ταῦτα εἰς Ἑλληνας ἀπὸ τῆς ἡλικίας Κέκροπος. καὶ ἦν μὲν κατὰ τοῦτον τὸν καιρὸν Νίνος ἐν Ἀσσυρίοις καὶ Σεμίραμις, σύγχρονοι ὄντες τῷ Ἀβραάμ, Αἰγυπτίων δὲ ἐκκαιδεκάτῃ | δυναστεία· οἱ ἐν Σικυῶνι P9 δὲ τότε μόνοι ἐβασιλεύοντο, ἥς βασιλείας ἀρχὴ γέγονεν Εὐρώψ.

3.1.12 | These things were passed on to the Greeks from the time of Kekrops. And at that time, Ninus was in Assyria and Semiramis, living at the same time as Abraham, in the eighteenth dynasty of the Egyptians; and in Sicyon, only then did they rule, whose kingdom began with Europs.

4.1.1 | <Δξ.> Καὶ ὁ θεὸς ἐπιλέγεται τὸν Ἀβραάμ τῷ αὐτῷ χαρακτηρὶ τῆς ἀγίας καθολικῆς ἐκκλησίας ἐν ἀκροβυστίᾳ πιστὸν καὶ ἐν εὐσεβείᾳ τελειότατον, ἐν γνῶσει προφήτην ἐν βίῳ εὐαγγελικὴν κεκτημένον ἀναστροφὴν.

4.1.1 | And the god is called Abraham, faithful in uncircumcision and most perfect in piety, with the same character of the holy universal church, having gained in life a prophetic and gospel way of living.

4.1.2 | οἴκοι γὰρ γέγονε πατέρα τιμῶν, καλούμενος <δξ.> ὑπὸ τοῦ λόγου καὶ τῶν οἰκείων ἀπετάσσετο, πειθόμενος δὲ] τῷ καλοῦντι, ὥσπερ οἱ περὶ Πέτρον καὶ Ἀνδρέαν καὶ Ἰάκωβον καὶ Ἰωάννην.

4.1.2 | For he was a father honoring his household, but he refused the word and his own people, yet obeyed the one calling, just like those around Peter and Andrew and James and John.

4.1.3 | καὶ ἵνα μὴ πόλιν μηκύνω τὸν λόγον, συνελὼν ἑρῶ εἰς ἔτη γὰρ ἐλάσας οὗτος ὁ πατριάρχης ἐνενήκοντα ἐννέα ὑπὸ τοῦ θεοῦ χρηματίζεται εἰς περιτομὴν καὶ ἄρχεται ἔνθεν ὁ χαρακτήρ τοῦ Ἰουδαϊσμοῦ μετὰ τὸν Ἑλληνισμόν· καὶ ἦν <ἀπό> τῆς τοῦ κόσμου καταβολῆς εἰκοστὴ πρώτη γενεά, ἔτη τρισχίλια τετρακόσια τριάκοντα ἕν.

4.1.3 | And so that I do not make the story too long, I will say briefly: for this patriarch, having lived ninety-nine years, was instructed by God to be circumcised. From this comes the mark of Judaism after Hellenism; and he was the twenty-first generation from the foundation of the world, in the year three thousand four hundred and thirty-one.

4.1.4 | Σκυθισμὸς γὰρ ἀπὸ τοῦ κατακλυσμοῦ ἄχρι τοῦ πύργου καὶ τοῦ

4.1.4 | For from the flood until the tower and Seruch was Scythian culture, and from Seruch until Abraham was Hellenism, but from Abraham there was not yet a named sect, only the name of his own piety; so those from Abraham were called Abramites.

4.1.5 | παῖδες γὰρ ὑπῆρξαν τούτῳ ἀκτῶ, Ἰσαὰκ δὲ ὁ κληρονόμος μόνος ἦν, διότι καὶ κατὰ γνώμην πατρὸς ἐβίου θεοσεβεία προσανέχων καὶ κατ’ ἐπαγγελίαν θεοῦ τῷ πατρὶ ἐδεδώρητο.

4.1.5 | For he had eight children, but Isaac alone was the heir, because he lived according to his father’s belief in God and was given to his father by God’s promise.

4.1.6 | ἴσχε δὲ πρὸ τούτου τὸν Ἰσμαὴλ ἀπὸ παιδίσκης τῆς Ἄγαρ, Χεττούρα δὲ τούτῳ τίκτει παῖδας ἕξ, διμερίσθησαν δὲ οὗτοι ἐπὶ τὴν εὐδαίμονα Ἀραβίαν λεγομένην Ζεμβράν καὶ Ἰεζάν καὶ Ἰεσβὸκ καὶ Σωυὲ καὶ Ἑμαδὲμ καὶ Μαδία.

4.1.6 | Before this, he held back Ishmael, from the slave woman Hagar, and Hethura bore him six children. They were divided over the land called blessed Arabia: Zembran, Iezan, Iesbok, Soue, Emadem, and Madia.

4.1.7 | καὶ ὁ τῆς παιδίσκης Ἰσμαὴλ δὲ ὡς ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ. τούτῳ παῖδες γίνονται δεκαδύο τὸν ἀριθμόν, ἕξ ὧν αἱ φυλαὶ τῶν Ἀγαρηνῶν τῶν καὶ Ἰσμαηλιτῶν, Σαρακηνῶν δὲ τανῦν καλουμένων.

4.1.7 | And Ishmael, the son of the slave woman (as I said, that was his name), took over and founded the city called Pharan in the desert. He had twelve children, from whom came the tribes of the Agarenes and Ishmaelites, now called Saracens.

4.1.8 | γεννᾷ δὲ Ἰσαὰκ δύο παῖδας, Ἡσαῦ τε καὶ Ἰακώβ, καὶ ἐκαλεῖτο τότε τὸ γένος τῶν θεοσεβῶν Ἀβράμιοι τε καὶ Ἰσάκιοι.

καλουμένην.

4.1.8 | Isaac had two sons, Esau and Jacob, and then the family of the God-fearing was called both Abram’s and Isaac’s. When Esau was given the land of Idumea, lying south of Canaan, Seir became the settler and founded the city Edom, called Rocoh and Petra.

4.1.9 | γίνονται δὲ τούτῳ παῖδες καὶ ἡγεμονεύουσιν ἐν τῇ Ἰδουμαίᾳ ἕκαστος κατὰ διαδοχὴν, οἳ καὶ ἐκαλοῦντο ἡγεμόνες Ἐδώμ. ἕξ οὐπὲρ πέμπτος κατὰ διαδοχὴν ὁ Ἰώβ, ὑπεξαίρουμένου τοῦ Ἀβραάμ τοῦ ἀριθμοῦ τούτου, ἀπὸ δὲ Ἰσαὰκ ἀριθμουμένου·

4.1.9 | He had children who ruled in Idumea one after another, each called a prince of Edom. From these, the fifth in line was Job, counting from Isaac, not including Abraham.

4.1.10 | Ἰσαὰκ γὰρ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἡσαῦ, Ἡσαῦ τὸν Ῥαγουήλ, Ῥαγουήλ τὸν Ζαρά, Ζαρά τὸν Ἰώβ, πρὶν μὲν καλούμενον Ἰωβάβ ὕστερον δὲ κληθέντα Ἰώβ, ὀλίγον ἔμπροσθεν πρὸ τοῦ γενομένου αὐτῷ πειρασμοῦ. ἦν δὲ περιτομὴ πολιτευομένη.

4.1.10 | Isaac had Esau, Esau had Raguel, Raguel had Zarah, Zarah had Job, who was first called Iobab and later named Job, shortly before his trial happened. He lived under the law of circumcision.

4.1.11 | Ἰακώβ δὲ ἀποδιδράσκει ἀπὸ προσώπου Ἡσαῦ τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ διὰ μῆνιν αὐτοῦ κατὰ συμβουλίαν πατρὸς καὶ μητρὸς ἐπὶ τὴν Μεσοποταμίαν Φαδάν, ἐπέκεινα τῆς Μεσοποταμίας Σουβά· ὃς ἄγεται ἐκεῖθεν τῆς ἰδίας συγγενείας γαμετὰς τέσσαρας τὸν ἀριθμὸν καὶ κυΐσκουσιν αὐτῷ παῖδας δεκαδύο, τοὺς καὶ πατριάρχας ἐπικληθέντας.

4.1.11 | Jacob ran away from his brother Esau's anger, following the advice of his father and mother, to Padan in Mesopotamia, beyond Mesopotamia to Sube. From there, he brought four wives from his own family, and they had twelve sons, who were called the patriarchs.

4.1.12 | παλινδρομοῦντι δὲ αὐτῷ ἐπὶ τὴν Χανανίτιν γῆν πρὸς τὸν ἴδιον αὐτοῦ πατέρα Ἰσαὰκ καὶ μητέρα Ῥεβέκκαν γίνεται τις αὐτῷ ὄπτασία ἐκ θεοῦ παρὰ τὰς τοῦ Ἰορδάνου διεκβολὰς Ἰαβὼκ δὲ τὸν χειμάρρουν καλοῦσιν), ἔνθα πού ἐθεάσατο παρεμβολὰς ἀγγέλων.

4.1.12 | When he was going back to the land of Canaan to his own father Isaac and mother Rebekah, he had a vision from god near the crossings of the Jordan River (called Jabok stream), where he saw camps of angels.

4.1.13 | »καὶ ἰδού, φησὶν, ἄνθρωπος ἀφ' ἑσπέρας καὶ συνεπάλαιεν αὐτῷ ἄχρι τῆς ἕως, ὃν ἄγγελον ἐπεσημήνατο ἡ γραφή· ὃς

4.1.13 | "And look," it says, "a man came from evening and wrestled with him until dawn," whom the scripture marked as an κατ' εὐλογίαὺν δίδωσι τῷ Ἰακώβ ἀξιώματος ὄνομα τὸ Ἰσραήλ.

angel; who by blessing gave Jacob the honorable name Israel.

4.1.14 | διαναστὰς δὲ ἐκεῖθεν Ἰακώβ ἐπωνόμασε τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ τόπου εἶδος θεοῦ. ἐπειδὴ <δὲ> ὁ πρὸς αὐτὸν διὰ τῆς εὐλογίας »οὐκέτι κληθήσεται τὸ ὄνομά σου Ἰακώβ, ἀλλ' Ἰσραήλ κληθήσεται* καὶ διέστειλε λέγων ὅτι ἐνίσχυσας μετὰ θεοῦ καὶ μετὰ ἀνθρώπων δυνατὸς ἔσῃ, ἀπὸ τούτου τοῦ χρόνου Ἰσραηλῖται καλοῦνται.

4.1.14 | Getting up from there, Jacob named the place “the appearance of god.” Because the one who blessed him said, “Your name will no longer be called Jacob, but you will be called Israel,” and he sent him away saying, “You have struggled with god and with men, and you will be strong.” From that time on, they are called Israelites.

Section 2

4.2.1 | 2. Καὶ ὁ Ἰσραήλ μετὰ τὴν τοῦ Ἰωσήφ εἰς Αἴγυπτον κάθοδον κάτεισι καὶ αὐτὸς σὺν παντὶ τῷ οἴκῳ αὐτοῦ υἱῶν τε καὶ ἐκγόνων, γυναικῶν τε τῶν προειρημένων καὶ ἄλλων, ἐν ἑβδομήκοντα ψυχαῖς τὸν ἀριθμόν.

4.2.1 | And Israel, after the going down of Joseph into Egypt, went down also himself with all his household, sons and descendants, and the women of those mentioned and others, in seventy souls in number.

4.2.2 | διατρίβει δὲ τὸ γένος τοῦ Ἰσραήλ ἐν τῇ τῶν Αἰγυπτίων χώρᾳ γενεὰς πέντε.
Ἰακὼς γὰρ γεννᾷ τὸν Λευὶ καὶ τὸν Ἰούδαν καὶ τοὺς ἄλλους δέκα πατριάρχας. Λευὶ γεννᾷ τὸν Καάθ, Ἰούδας γεννᾷ τὸν Φαρές· Καάθ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀμράμ, Ἀμράμ γεννᾷ τὸν Μωυσέα· Φαρές γεννᾷ τὸν Ἑσρώμ, Ἑσρώμ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀράμ, Ἀράμ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀμιναδάβ, Ἀμιναδάβ τὸν Ναασσών.

4.2.2 | The family of Israel lived in the land of the Egyptians for five generations. Jacob had Levi and Judah and the other ten patriarchs. Levi had Kohath, Judah had Perez; Kohath had Amram, Amram had Moses; Perez had Hezron, Hezron had Aram, Aram had Aminadab, Aminadab had Nahshon.

4.2.3 | ἐν χρόνοις Νωυσέως καὶ Ναασσῶν πέμπτη γενεὰ κατὰ τὸν Λευὶ ἔξεισιν Ἰσραήλ ἐκ τῆς Αἰγύπτου διὰ τῆς ἐρυθρᾶς θαλάσσης ἐν θεοσημείοις καὶ στρατοπεδεύει ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ Σινᾷ.

4.2.3 | In the days of Moses and Nahshon, the fifth generation from Levi, Israel goes out of Egypt through the Red Sea by signs from god and camps in the desert of Sinai.

4.2.4 | καὶ χρησμῶν δοθέντων ἐκ θεοῦ τῷ θεράποντι αὐτοῦ Μωυσῇ ἀριθμήσασθαι ἀπὸ εἴκοσι ἐτῶν καὶ ἕως πενήκοντα ἄνδρας δυναμένους σπάσασθαι ῥομφαίαν καὶ λαμβάνειν ὅπλα πολεμικά, εἰς ἑξήκοντα δύο μυριάδας καὶ ἄκτακισχίλους πεντακοσίους ἤϋρεν.

4.2.4 | And with oracles given from god to his servant Moses, to count from twenty years old up to fifty men able to wield a sword and take war weapons, he found sixty-two ten-thousands and eight thousand five hundred.

4.2.5 | ἦν δὲ κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ Ἰναχος παρ' Ἑλλήσι γνωριζόμενος, οὗ θυγάτηρ Ἰώ, ἡ καὶ Ἀτθὶς καλουμένη, δι' ἣν καὶ ἡ νῦν Ἀττική· ἐξ ἧς καὶ ὁ Βόσπορος, οὗ ἐπώνυμος πόλις Βόσπορος ἐν τῷ Εὐξείνῳ πόντῳ καλουμένη· καλοῦσι δὲ αὐτὴν Αἰγύπτιοι Ἰσιν, ἣν καὶ ὡς θεὰν προσκυνοῦσιν. ὁμώνυμος δὲ τούτῳ καὶ ποταμός ἐστιν Ἰναχος οὕτω καλούμενος.

4.2.5 | At that time there was a man named Inachos known among the Greeks, whose daughter was Io, also called Attis, after whom the land now called Attica is named; from her also comes the Bosphorus, a city named Bosphorus on the Black Sea; the Egyptians call it Isin, and worship her as a goddess. There is also a river with the same name, Inachos, called so.

4.2.6 | ἐκεῖθεν ἀρχὴν ἴσχεν τὰ παρ' Ἑλλήσι μυστήριά τε καὶ τελεταί, πρότερον παρ' Αἰγυπτίοις καὶ παρὰ Φρυγί καὶ Φοίνιξι καὶ Βαβυλωνίοις κακῶς ἐπινενοημένα, μετενεχθέντα δὲ εἰς Ἑλληνας ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν Αἰγυπτίων χώρας ὑπὸ Κάδμου καὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Ἰνάχου, Ἀπιδος πρότερον κληθέντος καὶ οἰκοδομήσαντος τὴν Μέμφιν,

4.2.6 | From there began among the Greeks the mysteries and rites, earlier badly invented by the Egyptians and by the Phrygians and Phoenicians and Babylonians, but brought over to the Greeks from the land of the Egyptians by Cadmus and Inachos himself, who was earlier called Apis and built Memphis.

4.2.7 | ἀλλὰ καὶ παρ' Ὀρφέως καὶ ἄλλων τινῶν τὴν ἀρχὴν λαβόντα καὶ εἰς αἰρέσεις συσταθέντα ὕστερον ἐν Ἐπικούρῳ καὶ Ζήνωνι τῷ Στωϊκῷ καὶ Πυθαγόρᾳ καὶ Πλάτῳ· ἐξ οὗπερ ἤρξαντο χρόνου

Ἱεροσολύμων τὸ πρῶτον καὶ Ναβουχοδονόσορ αἰχμαλωσίαν καὶ Δαρείου καὶ τῶν κατὰ Ἀλέξανδρον τὸν

4.2.7 | But also from Orpheus and some others it took its start, and later was formed into sects in Epicurus and Zeno the Stoic and Pythagoras and Plato, from whom it began to grow strong over time until the Macedonian times and Xerxes the king of the Persians after the capture of Jerusalem first, and Nebuchadnezzar's captivity, and Darius's, and the times of Alexander the Macedonian.

Μακεδόνα χρόνον.

4.2.8 | Πλάτων γὰρ κατ' ἐκεῖνον τὸν καιρὸν ἐγνωρίζετο καὶ οἱ πρὸ αὐτοῦ Πυθαγόρας τε καὶ Ἐπίκουρος ὁ μετέπειτα. ὅθεν δὴ ὡς προεῖπον τὴν πρόφασιν εἴληφεν καὶ εἰς κατάστασιν ἦλθε τὰ παρ' Ἑλλήσι συγγράμματα καὶ μετὰ τοῦτον τὸν χρόνον αἱ βοώμεναι αἰρέσεις τῶν φιλοσόφων,

4.2.8 | For at that time Plato was known, and before him Pythagoras and later Epicurus. From there, as I said before, the writings among the Greeks took their reason and came into order, and after that time came the so-called sects of the philosophers.

4.2.9 | πρὸς ἀλλήλας τῇ μὲν πλάνῃ συνάδουσαι καὶ ὁμόστοιχον γνῶσιν συνυφαίνουσαι εἰδωλολατρείας τε καὶ ἀσεβείας καὶ ἀθεΐας, τῇ δὲ αὐτῇ πλάνῃ εἰς ἑαυτὰς συγκλόμεναι διαφέρονται] ἑτέρα πρὸς τὴν ἑτέραν.

4.2.9 | Against each other, some join in error and weave together the same kind of knowledge of idol worship and impiety and godlessness, but others, caught in the same error, turn inward and differ from one another.

5.1.1 | Καὶ Στωϊκοὶ μὲν φρονοῦσι περὶ θεότητος τοῦτο· φάσκουσιν εἶναι νοῦν τὸν θεὸν ἢ παντὸς τοῦ ὁρωμένου κύτους, οὐρανοῦ δέ φημι καὶ γῆς καὶ τῶν ἄλλων, ὡς ἐν σώματι ψυχὴν.

5.1.1 | And the Stoics think this about godhood: they say that god is mind or the soul of the whole body that is seen, and I say of the sky and the earth and the others, as one soul in one body.

5.1.2 | μερίζουσι δὲ οἱ αὐτοὶ τὴν μίαν θεότητα εἰς πολλὰς μερικὰς οὐσίας, εἰς ἥλιον καὶ σελήνην καὶ ἄστρα, εἰς ψυχὴν καὶ ἀέρα καὶ τὰ ἄλλα·

5.1.2 | And the same ones divide the one godhood into many partial beings, into the sun and the moon and the stars, into soul and air and the others;

5.1.3 | μεταγγισμούς τε ψυχῶν * καὶ μετενσωματώσεις ἀπὸ σώματος εἰς σῶμα, καθαιρομένων <ψυχῶν ἀπὸ> > σωμάτων ἢ δ' αὖ πάλιν εἰσδουουσῶν καὶ

5.1.3 | They also say there are soul transfers and changes of body from one body to another, with souls leaving bodies and then again entering and being born ἀνάπαλιν γεννωμένων, διὰ πολλῆς αὐτῶν πλάνης ταύτην τὴν ἀσέβειαν παρυφαίνοντες. μέρος δὲ θεοῦ καὶ ἀθάνατον τὴν ψυχὴν ἡγοῦνται.

again, through much error hiding this impiety. They think the soul is part of god and immortal.

5.1.4 | ἔσχον δὲ Ζήνωνα ἀρχηγὸν τῆς Στοᾶς, περὶ οὗ πολὺς θρυλεῖται λόγος. οἱ μὲν γὰρ αὐτὸν ἔφασαν Κλεάνθου<ς> τινὸς * τοῦ ἀπὸ Τύρου ἄλλοι δὲ φάσκουσιν αὐτὸν Κιτιέα τῆς Κύπρου νησιώτην, ἐν Ῥώμῃ δὲ βεβιωκέναι χρόνον, ὕστερον δὲ ἐν Ἀθήναις προστησάμενον τοῦτ' ὁ δόγμα ἐν τῇ Στοᾷ οὕτω καλουμένη, τινὲς δὲ φασὶ δύο Ζήνωνας εἶναι, τὸν τε Ἐλεάτην καὶ τὸν προειρημένον· ὅμως οἱ ἀμφοτέρωι ἴσως ἐδογμάτισαν, εἰ καὶ δύο εἶεν.

5.1.4 | They had Zeno as the leader of the Stoa, about whom much talk is told. Some said he was a certain Cleanthes from Tyre, others say he was a man from Kition on the island of Cyprus, and that he lived in Rome for a time, then later set up this teaching in Athens in the place called the Stoa. Some say there were two Zenos, the Eleatic and the one just mentioned; still, both perhaps taught, even if there were two.

5.1.5 | φάσκει οὖν καὶ οὗτος τὴν ὕλην σύγχρονον εἶναι τῷ θεῷ, ἴσα ταῖς ἄλλαις αἰρέσεσιν, εἰμαρμένην τε εἶναι καὶ γένεσιν, ἐξ ἧς τὰ πάντα διοικεῖται καὶ πάσχει.

5.1.5 | so this one also says that matter is the same time as god, equal to the other sects, and that it is fixed and has a birth, from which everything is ruled and suffers.

5.1.6 | πόσα τοίνυν ἰσχύει ἡ σύντομος ἡμῶν αὕτη σύνταξις, πρὸς τὴν τούτου φαιλότητα ἀλεξητήριον φάρμακον διεξέναι καὶ οὐχὶ μᾶλλον εἰς ὄγκον πολὺν ἐλάσω τῆς πραγματείας τὸ ἐχέγγυον· ἀκροθιγῶς δέ, ἵνα μὴ ἐν παραδρομῇ γένωμαι, πρὸς τοῦτον ἐρῶ.

5.1.6 | so then how strong this short summary of ours is, as a protective medicine against his badness, and not rather a cause for much swelling of the discussion, is the guarantee; briefly, so that I do not go off track, I will speak against him.

Section 2

5.2.1 | 2. Πόθεν εἴληφας, ὦ οὗτος, τὴν τῆς διδασκαλίας ὑφήγησιν; ἢ ποῖον πνεῦμα ἅγιον οὐρανόθεν λελάληκέ σοι περὶ τῆς σοῦ πλάνης; δύο μὲν γὰρ ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ σύγχρονα, ὕλην καὶ θεόν, βεβιασμένως

5.2.1 | 2. where did you get, oh you, the guide to your teaching? or what holy spirit from heaven has spoken to you about your error? for you say two things at the same time, matter and god, forcedly;

λέγεις·

5.2.2 | πεσεῖται γάρ σου ὁ λόγος καὶ ἀσύστατος ἔσται. ὁμολογεῖς μὲν γὰρ τινα εἶναι δημιουργόν, ὃν καὶ παντοκράτορα φῆς, τοῦτον δὲ μερίζεις εἰς πολυθεΐαν. τίνας δ' ἂν εἴῃ δημιουργός, εἰ σύγχρονος εἴῃ ἢ ὕλη; ἔσται γὰρ καθ' ἑαυτὴν ἑαυτῆς δεσπόζουσα ἢ μὴ ἀπὸ αἰτίου τινὸς λαβοῦσα τὴν ἀρχὴν καὶ οὐχ ὑποτασσομένη.

5.2.2 | for your argument will fall and be unstable. for you admit there is a creator, whom you also call almighty, but you divide this one into many gods. who could be a creator if matter is simultaneous? for matter will be master of itself, having no cause for its beginning and not being subject to anything.

5.2.3 | εἰ δὲ ὁ δημιουργὸς παρὰ ταύτης λαμβάνει, προβολὴν ταύτην εὐράμενος, ἀδράνεία τις ἂν εἴῃ καὶ ἔρανος δι' ἀπορίαν τῷ προσπορισαμένῳ οὐκ ἀπὸ τῶν ιδίων ἀλλ' ἐξ ὑποκειμένων ἀλλοτρίων; ὅπως τὸ ἴδιον ὑποστήσεται δημιούργημα.

5.2.3 | but if the creator takes from this, having found this support, there would be some weakness and a lack because of the trouble for the one who got it, not from his own things but from other things under him; how could what is his own stand as a creation?

5.2.4 | and about the pouring of souls, much is the foolishness of your twisted mind, pretending to be wise and promising knowledge to people. for if part of god exists and is immortal, and bodies are pitiful, i would not only say this, but you join beasts and reptiles and ugly creatures, bad in their nature, to the essence owned by god according to you. and what could be worse than this?

5.3.1 | 3. Εἰμαρμένην δὲ παρεισάγεις, ὥς ἐξ αὐτῆς γίνεσθαι τὰ τῷ ἀνθρώπῳ συμβαίνοντα καὶ ἄλλοις. ἐξ ἐνὸς δὲ ῥητοῦ δι' ἐπιτομῆς τοῦ λόγου ἀνατραπήσεται ἡ δὴ μυθοποιία. εἰ γὰρ εἰμαρμένης τὸ 30 σοφίζεσθαι τὸ συνετίζεσθαι τὸ λογικόν

5.3.1 | and you bring in fate, as if what happens to a person and to others comes from it. but from one clear statement, by cutting the speech short, the story will be overturned. for if fate makes wise, makes sensible, makes rational, and also irrational γεννᾶσθαι καὶ ἄλογον καὶ τὰ ἄλλα πάντα, παυσάσθωσαν νόμοι· ἐπικρατεῖ γὰρ ἡ εἰμαρμένη μοιχῶν τε καὶ ἄλλων· δίκην δὲ μᾶλλον τίσουσιν οἱ ἀνάγκην ἐπιτιθέντες ἀστέρες ἢ περὶ ὃ ἀναγκαζόμενος δρᾶσαι τὸ ἐπιχείρημα.

and all the rest, then laws should stop. for fate rules over adulterers and others; but the stars that force necessity pay more for justice than the one forced to act, the argument says.

5.3.2 | but also still more about these things i will say: let the debates stop, let the sophists and speakers and grammarians stop, and doctors and other sciences of rough crafts, countless in number, and let no one be educated anymore, if the knowledge of the sciences comes by fate and not from learning letters by nature to humans. for if fate prepared the educated and most reasonable person, let no one learn from a teacher, but let the fates who spin the threads take knowledge by nature, according to the speech of your proud deception through words.

6.1.1 | ἀλλὰ ταῦτα πρὸς Ζήνωνα καὶ τοὺς Στωϊκοὺς μοι λελέχθω. Πλάτων δὲ ἅμα καὶ αὐτὸς κατὰ τὰ αὐτὰ φερόμενος, τῇ μετενσωματώσει καὶ μεταγγισμῷ τῶν ψυχῶν καὶ πολυθείαις καὶ ταῖς ἄλλαις εἰδωλολατρείαις καὶ δεισιδαιμονίαις *, οὐ περὶ τῆς ὕλης πάντῃ ἴσως κατὰ Ζήνωνα καὶ τοὺς Στωϊκοὺς ἐφρόνησεν.

6.1.1 | but let these things be said about Zeno and the Stoics. and Plato himself, also going along with the same ideas, about the transmigration and transfer of souls and many gods and other idol worship and superstitions, did not think everywhere about matter in the same way as Zeno and the Stoics.

6.1.2 | οἶδεν γὰρ αὐτὸς θεόν, τὰ δὲ γεγενημένα πάντα ἐκ τοῦ ὄντος θεοῦ

6.1.2 | for he himself knows god, and that all things that have come to be came from γεγενῆσθαι· εἶναι δὲ πρῶτον αἴτιον καὶ the being god; and that there is a first cause and a second and a third; and the first cause is god, the second cause came from god some powers, and from him and the powers came matter.

6.1.3 | φάσκει γὰρ οὕτως· »οὐρανὸς ἅμα χρόνῳ γεγένηται, ὁμοῦ ὅρα καὶ λυθήσεται«, τὰ πρότερα ἑαυτοῦ τὰ περὶ ὑλῆς ἀνασκευάσας. εἶπε γάρ ποτε καὶ σύγχρονον εἶναι τῷ θεῷ τὴν ὕλην.

6.1.3 | for he says this: “the sky was born together with time, and at the same time it will be seen and destroyed,” changing his earlier ideas about matter. for he once said that matter is the same age as god.

οὗτος δὲ τέλος ἐν τῇ Μηδίᾳ τὸν βίον 7.1.1 | before this, Pythagoras and those who call themselves Peripatetics describe god, but they put up with other philosophies and those who practice philosophy. to these, they hold the same views again about the unlawful opinion and the most impious, about the souls’ immortality and reincarnations and the decay of bodies, he and those with him say these things. but in the end, he ends his life in Media.

7.1.2 | σῶμα δὲ λέγει εἶναι τὸν θεόν καὶ τὰ ἄλλα ὥσπερ ἐν ἀνθρώπῳ, ἥλιον καὶ σελήνην καὶ τὰ ἄλλα ἄστρα καὶ τὰ κατ’ οὐρανὸν στοιχεῖα.

7.1.2 | he says that god is a body, that is, the sky, and that its eyes and the other parts are like in a human, the sun and the moon and the other stars and the elements under the sky.

Section 1

8.1.1 | Ἐπίκουρος δὲ καθεξῆς μετὰ τούτους ἀπρονοησίαν τῷ κόσμῳ εἰσηγήσατο· ἔξ ατόμων δὲ συνεστάναι τὰ πάντα ἢ δ' αὖ πάλιν εἰς ἄτομα χωρεῖν καὶ ἔξ αὐτοματισμοῦ εἶναι τὰ ὅλα καὶ τὸν κόσμον ὑφεστάναι, αἰεὶ γεννώσης τῆς φύσεως ἢ δ' αὖ πάλιν δαπανωμένης καὶ ἔξ αὐτῆς πάλιν ἐπιγινωμένης, μηδέποτε δὲ ληγούσης, ἀφ' ἑαυτῆς φουομένης καὶ εἰς ἑαυτὴν συντριβομένης.

8.1.1 | Epicurus, right after these, introduced carelessness about the world; he said that everything is made of atoms and again breaks apart into atoms, and that everything exists by chance, and the world stands by itself, always being born by nature and again being used up and coming into being again from itself, never ending, growing from itself and breaking apart into itself.

8.1.2 | εἶναι δὲ ἔξ ὑπαρχῆς ὥοῦ δίκην τὸ σύμπαν, τὸ δὲ πνεῦμα δρακοντοειδῶς περὶ τὸ ὥον ὡς στέφανον ἢ ὡς ζώνην περισφίγγειν τότε τὴν φύσιν.

8.1.2 | the whole universe is like an egg from the beginning, and the spirit, like a dragon, wraps around the egg like a crown or a belt, holding nature together then.

8.1.3 | θελήσαν δὲ βιασμῶ τινὶ καιρῷ περισσοτέρως σφίγγει τὴν πᾶσαν ὕλην εἴτ' οὖν φύσιν τῶν πάντων οὕτως διχάσαι μὲν τὰ ὄντα εἰς τὰ δύο ἡμισφαίρια καὶ λοιπὸν ἐκ τούτου τὰ ἄτομα διακεκρίσθαι.

8.1.3 | they wanted by some force at a certain time to squeeze all the matter more tightly, or so nature of all things split the beings into two halves, and then from this the atoms were separated.

8.1.4 | τὰ μὲν γὰρ κοῦφα καὶ λεπτότερα τῆς πάσης φύσεως ἐπιπολάσαι ἄνω τουτέστιν φῶς καὶ αἰθέρα καὶ τὸ λεπτότατον τοῦ πνεύματος, τὰ δὲ βαρύτερα καὶ σκυβαλώδη κάτω νενευκέναι, τουτέστι γῆν (ὅπερ ἐστὶ τὸ ξηρόν) καὶ τὴν ὑγρὰν ὑδάτων οὐσίαν.

8.1.4 | for the light and thin parts of all nature float above, that is, light, air, and the thinnest part of spirit, but the heaviest and dirty parts sink down, that is, earth (which is dry) and the wet substance of waters.

8.1.5 | τὰ δὲ ὅλα ἀφ' ἑαυτῶν κινεῖσθαι καὶ δι' ἑαυτῶν ἐν τῇ περιδιθήσει τοῦ πόλου καὶ τῶν ἄστρον ὡς ἀπὸ τοῦ δρακοντοειδοῦς

8.1.5 | and all things move by themselves and through themselves in the spinning of the pole and the stars, as if still driven by a dragon-like spirit. and partly about these things we have spoken; but in the same way, these four schools must be overturned. * for the sake of reading briefly.

Section 2

8.2.1 | 2. Ἐντεῦθεν ὡς καὶ ἀνωτέρω λοιπὸν ἔφην ποιηταὶ λογογράφοι ἱστοριογράφοι ἀστρονόμοι τε καὶ οἱ τὰ ἄλλα τῆς πλάνης εἰσηγησάμενοι οἱ παρασκευάσαντες τὸν νοῦν ἐπὶ μυρίας κακὰς αἰτίας καὶ ἀγωγὰς ἐσκότωσαν καὶ ἐθόλωσαν τὴν τῆς ἀνθρωπότητος ὑπόληψιν. καὶ γέγονεν αὕτη »πρώτη πλάνη ἐπίνοια εἰδώλων« καὶ κακοδαίμονία διδασκαλίας.

8.2.1 | from here, as i said above, poets, story writers, astronomers, and those who introduced other errors, having prepared the mind for countless bad causes and paths, darkened and confused the understanding of humanity. and this became the first error, the invention of false images, and the bad spirit of teaching.

8.2.2 | ἦν δὲ τὰ πάντα μεμερισμένα Ἑλληνισμός τε καὶ Ἰουδαϊσμός· Ἰουδαϊσμός δὲ οὐπω πρότερον καλούμενος, ἀλλὰ διὰ τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ τὸ ἐπώνυμον τῆς θεοσεβοῦς θρησκείας ἐπικεκτημένος, ἕως ὅτε &εξ> διαδοχαὶ γεγένηνται.

8.2.2 | and everything was divided into hellenism and judaeism; judaeism was not yet called by that name before, but through israel it had gained the title of god-fearing religion, until when successions came to be.

8.2.3 | ὁ γὰρ Ναασσὼν ὁ ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ γεγινὼς φύλαρχος τῆς φυλῆς Ἰούδα γεννᾷ τὸν Σαλμών, Σαλμών γεννᾷ τὸν Βοόζ, Βοόζ γεννᾷ τὸν Ὠβήδ, Ὠβήδ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἰεσσαί, ἔτι τῶν θεοσεβῶν Ἰσραηλιτῶν καλουμένων, Ἰεσσαὶ γεννᾷ τὸν Δαυὶδ τὸν βασιλέα, ὃς πρῶτος ἐβασίλευσεν ἐκ φυλῆς Ἰούδα· ἐξ οὗ λοιπὸν οἱ κατὰ διαδοχὴν βασιλεῖς ἐκ τοῦ σπέρματος αὐτοῦ, υἱὸς διαδεχόμενος πατέρα, καθεξῆς συνεστήκασιν.

8.2.3 | for Naasson, who became a leader in the desert of the tribe of Judah, fathered Salmon, Salmon fathered Boaz, Boaz fathered Obed, Obed fathered Jesse, still among the god-fearing Israelites, Jesse fathered David the king, who first ruled from the tribe of Judah; from him onward, the kings in succession from his seed, son following father, stood one after another.

8.2.4 | ἦν δὲ πρὸ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Δαυὶδ ὁ φύσει

8.2.4 | before David, the first king by nature

Κεὶς ἐκ φυλῆς Βενιαμὴν, * καὶ οὐκέτι αὐτὸν διεδέξατο υἱός, ἀλλὰ μετέστη τὸ βασίλειον αὐτοῦ εἰς Δαυίδ, διὰ δὲ Δαυίδ πρῶτον εἰς τὴν φυλὴν Ἰούδα.

to rule in Israel was Saul, son of Kish from the tribe of Benjamin, and no son succeeded him, but his kingdom passed to David, and through David first to the tribe of Judah.

8.2.5 | πρῶτος γὰρ τῷ αὐτῷ Ἰακώβ παῖς γίνεται Ῥουβὴν, δεύτερος Συμεών, τρίτος Λεβὶ, τέταρτος Ἰούδας, ὅθεν Ἰουδαῖοι καλοῦνται διὰ τὴν φυλὴν Ἰούδα, τοῦ γένους τῶν θεοσεβῶν εἰς τὸ ὄνομα τοῦτο μεταπεσόντος. ἐκαλοῦντο γοῦν Ἰσραηλῖται καὶ Ἰουδαῖοι.

8.2.5 | for to the same Jacob, first became son Reuben, second Simeon, third Levi, fourth Judah, from whom the Jews are called because of the tribe of Judah, the family of the god-fearing having fallen into this name. they were indeed called both Israelites and Jews.

Section 3

8.3.1 | 3. Ἔως τούτου τοῦ χρόνου συνήφθησαν αἱ τέσσαρες γενεαὶ τῆς γῆς, τῶν τεσσάρων τμημάτων τούτων διαιρεθέντων κατὰ τοὺς Πρώην χρόνους ἕως τοῦ καιροῦ τούτου τοῦ ἐνταῦθά μοι δεδηλωμένου καὶ ἐπέκεινα·

8.3.1 | until this time, the four generations of the land were joined together, and these four parts were divided according to earlier times up to this time, which is shown to me here and beyond;

8.3.2 | τουτέστιν ἀπὸ Ἀδὰμ ἕως τοῦ Νῶε Βαρβαρισμός, ἀπὸ τοῦ Νῶε ἕως τοῦ πύργου καὶ τοῦ Σερούχ μετὰ δύο γενεὰς τοῦ πύργου ἡ Σκυθικὴ δεισιδαιμονία καὶ μετέπειτα ἀπὸ τοῦ πύργου καὶ Σερούχ καὶ τούτου καὶ μετέπειτα θεοσέβεια συναπτομένη τῷ αὐτῷ Ἀβραάμ, ἀπὸ τοῦ κατὰ διαδοχὴν σπέρματος αὐτοῦ τουτέστιν τοῦ Ἰούδα Ἰουδαϊσμός·

8.3.2 | that is, from Adam to Noah was barbarism, from Noah to the tower and to Seruch after two generations of the tower was Scythian superstition, and then from the tower and Seruch and Aram to Abraham was Hellenism, from this and after was god-fearing joined to the same Abraham, from the line of his descendants, that is from Judah, was Judaism;

8.3.3 | ὡς ἐπιμαρτυρεῖ μοι ὁ πνευματοφόρος καὶ ἅγιος τοῦ θεοῦ ἀπόστολος Παῦλος ὧδέ πως λέγων ὅτι »ἐν Χριστῷ Ἰησοῦ οὐ βάρβαρος, οὐ Σκύθης,

8.3.3 | as the spirit-filled and holy apostle Paul of God testifies to me, saying something like this: “in Christ Jesus there is no barbarian, no Scythian, no Greek, no οὐχ Ἕλλην, οὐκ Ἰουδαῖος, ἀλλὰ καινὴ κτίσις, ἐπειδὴ ἐξ ὑπαρχῆς, ὅτε ἔκτιστο ἡ κτίσις, καινὴ οὕσα οὐδέν τι διαφορώτερον ἴσχεν ὄνομα.

Jew, but a new creation,” since from the beginning, when creation was made, being new it had no different name.

8.3.4 | συνωδὰ δὲ τούτοις πάλιν ἐν ἑτέρῳ τόπῳ λέγει οὕτως »ὀφειλέτης λέτης εἰμί Ἑλλησί τε καὶ βαρβάροις, σοφοῖς τε καὶ ἀνοήτοις«, ἵνα δείξῃ σοφοὺς μὲν τοὺς Ἰουδαίους, ἀνοήτους δὲ τοὺς Σκύθας. καὶ φησιν »ὀφειλέτης εἰμί*»,

8.3.4 | and along with these things, again in another place he says like this: “I am a debtor both to Greeks and to barbarians, to the wise and to the foolish,” to show that the Jews are wise, but the Scythians are foolish. and he says, “I am a debtor.”

8.3.5 | ἐντεῦθεν τὸ πᾶν γένος τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ Ἰουδαῖοι ἐκαλοῦντο ἀπὸ χρόνου τοῦ Δαυὶδ καὶ διήρκεσεν ἐπωνύμως καλούμενον ἐπὶ κλησιν] τὸ πᾶν γένος τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ ἀπὸ τῶν χρόνων τοῦ Δαυὶδ καὶ τοῦ υἱοῦ αὐτοῦ Σολομῶντος καὶ υἱοῦ τοῦ Σολομῶντος, φημὶ δὲ τοῦ Ῥοβοὰμ τοῦ μετὰ τὸν Σολομῶντα βασιλεύσαντος ἐν Ἱερουσαλήμ.

8.3.5 | from here on, the whole nation of Israel was called Jews from the time of David, and it lasted being called by name both Israelites and Jews, having the title; the whole nation of Israel from the times of David and his son Solomon, and the son of Solomon, I mean Rehoboam, who ruled after Solomon in Jerusalem.

8.3.6 | ἵνα δὲ μὴ ἐν παρεξόδῳ γένωμαι, παρερχόμενος τὰ κατὰ τὴν τῶν Ἰουδαίων θρησκείαν καὶ μὴ ὑποσημαινόμενος τῆς κατ’ αὐτοὺς δόξης τὴν ὑπόθεσιν ὀλίγα ἀπὸ πολλῶν παραθήσομαι. πᾶσι γὰρ ὥς εἶπεῖν φανερώτατα ὑπάρχει τὰ κατὰ τοὺς Ἰουδαίους. διὸ οὐ πάννυ κάματον ἀναδέξομαι περὶ ταύτης τῆς ὑποθέσεως κατὰ τὸ λεπτότατον διηγήσασθαι, ἀλλ’ ὅμως ἢν ἀναγκαῖον ὀλίγα ἀπὸ πολλῶν ἐνταῦθα παραθέσθαι.

8.3.6 | so that i may not go off track, passing over the things about the religion of the Jews and not explaining the story of their belief, i will give a few things from many.
for everything about the Jews is clear to all, so i will not take much trouble to explain this story in detail, but still it was necessary to put here a few things from many.

Section 4

8.4.1 | 4. Ἰουδαῖοι τοίνυν οἱ ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἀβραάμ κατὰ διαδοχὴν ὑπάρχοντες καὶ τὴν

8.4.1 | 4. so the Jews, who come from Abraham in a line and have received his σώματος δὲ φέρειν σφραγίδα ὑπομνήσεως πατρὸς αὐτῶν θεοσεβείᾳ.

worship of God, have the circumcision of Abraham, which he took by God's command in his ninety-ninth year. and this has the reason I said before, so that his seed, living as strangers in a foreign land, would not turn away from the name of God, but would carry on their body a mark as a reminder and proof to keep the worship of their father.

8.4.2 | ὁ δὲ τούτου παῖς Ἰσαὰκ ὀκταήμερος περιτέμνεται, ὡς τὸ τοῦ θεοῦ εἶχεν θέσπισμα. καὶ ὠμολόγηται μὲν ὅτι ἐκ προστάγματος θεοῦ ἡ περιτομή τότε ὑπῆρχεν, τύπῳ δὲ ἦν αὕτη διατεταγμένη τότε, ὡς κατὰ ἀκολουθίαν προβαίνοντες ὑστερον περὶ τούτου δείξομεν.

8.4.2 | and the son of this man, isaac, was circumcised on the eighth day, as was the law of God. and it is agreed that the circumcision then was by God's command, but it was a symbol at that time, as we will later show in order.

8.4.3 | διήρκεσαν τοίνυν περιτεμνόμενοι καὶ θεοσεβεῖα προσανέχοντες οἱ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Ἀβραάμ κατὰ διαδοχὴν παῖδες, ἀπ' αὐτοῦ φημι καὶ καθεξῆς Ἰσαὰκ καὶ Ἰακώβ καὶ οἱ τούτου παῖδες, ἔν τε τῇ Χανανίτιδι γῇ, Ἰουδαία καὶ Φυλιστιεῖμ οὕτως κληθείσῃ τότε, τανῦν δὲ Παλαιστίνῃ καλουμένη, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν Αἰγύπτῳ.

8.4.3 | so the children of Abraham, in a line, kept on being circumcised and worshipping God, I say from him and in order isaac and jacob and their children, both in the land of the Canaanites, then called Judea and Philistia, now called Palestine, and also in Egypt.

8.4.4 | Ἰακώβ γὰρ ὁ καὶ Ἰσραὴλ κάτεισιν ἅμα τοῖς ἑνδεκα αὐτοῦ παισὶν εἰς Αἴγυπτον. ἔτος κατὰγων ἑκατοστὸν τριακοστὸν τῆς αὐτοῦ ζωῆς. Ἰωσήφ δὲ ὁ ἕτερος αὐτοῦ υἱὸς ἦδη ἐν Αἰγύπτῳ προὑπῆρχεν βασιλεύων, πραθεὶς ὑπὸ τῶν ἀδελφῶν αὐτοῦ διὰ φθόνον. ἡ δὲ τοῦ θεοῦ οἰκονομία τὰ ἀγαθὰ συνεργοῦσα τῷ δικαίῳ, εἰς θαυμασμὸν μετήγαγεν τὴν κατὰ τοῦ αὐτοῦ Ἰωσήφ ἐπιβουλήν.

8.4.4 | for jacob, also called israel, went down with his eleven children into egypt. he was one hundred and thirty years old. joseph, his other son, was already in egypt as king, sold by his brothers because of jealousy. but god's plan, working good things for the just, turned the plot against joseph into wonder.

8.4.5 | κάτεισι τοίνυν ὡς προεῖπον ὁ Ἰακώβ εἰς Αἴγυπτον καὶ οἱ αὐτοῦ υἱοὶ καὶ γυναῖκες καὶ ἔκγονοι ἐν ἑβδομήκοντα πέντε ψυχαῖς ἀριθμηθέντες, ὡς περιέχει ἡ πρώτη βίβλος τῆς κατὰ τὸν Μωυσέα πεντατεύχου, περὶ τούτων πάντων σαφῶς δηλοῦσα.

8.4.5 | so then, as i said before, jacob went down into egypt, and his sons and wives and children were counted as seventy-five people, as the first book of the pentateuch by moyses clearly shows about all these things.

8.4.6 | διετέλεσαν δὲ ἐκεῖσε ἐπὶ πέντε γενεαῖς, ὡς καὶ πολλάκις εἶπον, νῦν δὲ ἀνάγκη ἔσχον ταῦτα δευτερῶσαι. ἔμειναν γὰρ ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἰακώβ αἱ γενεαὶ ἀριθμοῦμεναι διὰ τοῦ Λευὶ, ἐξ οὗπερ οἱ ἱερεῖς κατέστησαν, καὶ διὰ τοῦ Ἰούδα, ἐξ οὗ μετὰ χρόνον ὁ βασιλεὺς ἦρξε Δαυίδ.

8.4.6 | they lived there for five generations, as i have said many times, but now i had to say this again. the generations counted from jacob were through levi, from whom the priests came, and through judah, from whom king david ruled later.

8.4.7 | καὶ ὁ μὲν Λευὶ γεννᾷ τὸν Καὰθ καὶ τοὺς ἄλλους, Καὰθ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀμράμ, Ἀμράμ γεννᾷ τὸν Μωυσέα καὶ Ἀαρὼν τὸν ἀρχιερέα. οὗτος ὁ Μωυσῆς ἐκβάλλει τοὺς υἱοὺς Ἰσραὴλ ἐν δυνάμει θεοῦ ἐκ γῆς Αἰγύπτου. ὡς ἔχει ἡ δευτέρα βίβλος κατὰ τὴν νομοθεσίαν.

8.4.7 | and levi fathered kaath and the others, kaath fathered amram, amram fathered moyses and aaron the high priest. this moyses drove out the sons of israel by god's power from the land of egypt. as the second book according to the law says.

Section 5

8.5.1 | 5. Τίς μέντοι γε ἦν ἡ τῶν υἱῶν Ἰσραὴλ πολιτεία ἄχρι τούτου τοῦ χρόνου, οὐ πάνυ σαφῶς κατὰ τὸ φανερώτατον ἔστιν εἰπεῖν ἢ μόνον ὅτι ἐν θεοσεβείᾳ καὶ περιτομῇ ὑπῆρχον· εἰ καὶ γέγραπται ὅτι ἐπληθύνθησαν οἱ υἱοὶ Ἰσραὴλ ἐν γῇ Αἰγύπτῳ καὶ χυδαῖοι ἐγένοντο». πάντως γὰρ πού ὁ χρόνος τῆς αὐτῶν παροικίας καὶ ἐπιμιξίας διὰ ῥαθυμίας τὸ χυδαῖον εἰργάσατο.

8.5.1 | 5. but what kind of government the sons of israel had until this time is not very clear to say, except only that they lived in god-fearing and circumcision; although it is written that the sons of israel grew in number in the land of egypt and became common people. for surely the time of their living there and mixing with others brought about their commonness through laziness.

8.5.2 | τίνων μέντοι γεύεσθαι ἢ τίνα ἀπαγορεύειν ἢ τάλλα ὅσα κατὰ διαστολὴν τοῦ νόμου φυλάττειν προσετάχθησαν, οὕτω κατὰ τὸ φανερώτατον ἐπεσημῆνατο.

8.5.2 | but whose laws to taste or what to forbid, or the other things that by the law's distinction they were commanded to keep, has not yet been clearly pointed out.

8.5.3 | ἐξιόντων δὲ ἐκ γῆς Αἰγύπτου ἐν τῷ δευτέρῳ ἔτει τῆς αὐτῶν ἐξόδου νομοθεσίας θεοῦ καταξιοῦνται διὰ χειρὸς αὐτοῦ τοῦ Μωυσέως.

8.5.3 | and when they went out from the land of egypt, in the second year of their exit, they were made worthy of god's law through the hand of moyses himself.

8.5.4 | but the law given to them by god, like a tutor (for the law was a tutor, limiting the body but having hope for the spirit), taught them to be circumcised, to keep the sabbath, to give a tenth of all their crops and everything born among them, from people to animals, to offer first fruits, and to observe the fiftieth and thirtieth years, and to know only god and worship him alone.

8.5.5 | so in the monarchy the name was proclaimed, and in the monarchy the triad was always announced and believed by their most important people, that is, prophets and holy ones. and they offered various sacrifices and worship to the all-ruling god in the desert, in the worship of the holy tent under moyses, shown to him by types, made by god.

8.5.6 | ἐδέξαντο γοῦν οἱ αὐτοὶ Ἰουδαῖοι καὶ προφητικὰς φωνὰς περὶ τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἐρχομένου, λεγομένου μὲν προφήτου ὄντος δὲ θεοῦ καὶ ἀγγέλου μὲν κληθέντος υἱοῦ δὲ ὄντος θεοῦ, μέλλοντος δὲ ἐνανθρωπήσειν

8.5.6 | the same jews accepted also prophetic voices about the coming christ, said to be a prophet but actually god, called an angel but actually son of god, about to become human and be counted among his brothers, as all the holy scriptures say, especially the fifth book of deuteronomy according to the law, and in order.

Section 6

8.6.2 | first, Genesis; second, Exodus; third, Leviticus; fourth, Numbers; fifth, Deuteronomy; sixth, the book of Joshua; seventh, Judges; eighth, Ruth; ninth, Job; tenth, the Psalms; eleventh, Proverbs of Solomon; twelfth, Ecclesiastes; thirteenth, the Song of Songs; fourteenth, First Kings; fifteenth, Second Kings; sixteenth, Third Kings; seventeenth, Fourth Kings; eighteenth, First Chronicles; nineteenth, Second Chronicles; twentieth, the Twelve Prophets; twenty-first, Isaiah the prophet; twenty-second, Jeremiah the prophet with his Lamentations and letters, and Baruch; twenty-third, Ezekiel the prophet; twenty-fourth, Daniel the prophet; twenty-fifth, Ezra the first; twenty-sixth, Ezra the second; twenty-seventh, Esther.

8.6.3 | αὗται εἰσιν αἱ εἴκοσι ἑπτὰ βίβλοι ἐκ θεοῦ δοθεῖσαι τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις· εἴκοσιδύο δὲ εἰσιν ὡς τὰ παρ' αὐτοῖς στοιχεῖα τῶν Ἑβραϊκῶν γραμμάτων ἀριθμοῦνται διὰ τὸ

8.6.3 | these are the twenty-seven books given by god to the jews; but there are twenty-two, as the hebrew letters count them, because ten books are doubled and διπλοῦσθαι δέκα βίβλους εἰς πέντε λογιζομένας.

counted as five.

8.6.4 | περὶ τούτου δὲ ἄλλη που σαφῶς εἰρήκαμεν. σίσι δὲ καὶ ἄλλαι δύο βίβλοι παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐν ἀμφιλέκτῳ, ἡ Σοφία τοῦ Σιράχ καὶ ἡ τοῦ Σολομῶντος, χωρὶς ἄλλων τινῶν βιβλίων ἐναποκρύφων.

8.6.4 | about this we have said clearly somewhere else. there are also two other books among them in doubt, the wisdom of sirach and that of solomon, apart from some other hidden books.

8.6.5 | πᾶσαι δε αὖται αἱ ἱεραὶ βίβλοι τὸν Ἰουδαϊσμὸν ἐδίδασκον καὶ τὰ τοῦ νόμου φυλάγματα ἕως τῆς τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ παρουσίας.

8.6.5 | all these holy books taught the jewish faith and the rules of the law until the coming of our lord jesus christ.

8.6.6 | καὶ καλῶς ἐφέροντο παιδαγωγούμενοι ἐν τῷ νόμῳ, εἰ ἐδέξαντο τὸν Χριστὸν τὸν ὑπὸ τοῦ παιδαγωγοῦ, φημί δὲ τοῦ νόμου, αὐτοῖς προκηρυχθέντα τε καὶ προφητευθέντα, ἵνα δεξάμενοι αὐτοῦ τὴν θεότητα καὶ τὴν ἑνσαρκον αὐτοῦ παρουσίαν μάθωσιν οὐ κατάλυσιν νόμου, ἀλλὰ τὴν τοῦ νόμου πλήρωσιν, ἐπειδὴ οἱ τύποι ἐν τῷ νόμῳ ἦσαν, ἡ δὲ ἀλήθεια ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ.

8.6.6 | and they behaved well, being taught in the law, if they accepted christ, who was announced to them by the teacher, i mean the law, both proclaimed and foretold to them, so that by accepting his godhood and his coming in the flesh, they might learn not the ending of the law, but the fulfillment of the law, since the types were in the law, and the truth was in the gospel.

8.6.7 | ἐκεῖ γὰρ περιτομὴ σαρκική, ὑπηρετήσασα χρόνῳ ἕως τῆς μεγάλης περιτομῆς, τουτέστι τοῦ βαπτίσματος τοῦ περιτέμνοντος ἡμᾶς ἀπὸ ἁμαρτημάτων καὶ σφραγίσαντος ἡμᾶς εἰς ὄνομα θεοῦ.

8.6.7 | for there was a fleshly circumcision, serving for a time until the great circumcision, that is, the baptism of the one who circumcises us from sins and seals us in the name of god.

8.6.8 | καὶ ἦν ἐκεῖ σάββατον κατέχον ἡμᾶς εἰς τὸ μέγα σάββατον, τουτέστιν εἰς ἀνάπαυσιν Χριστοῦ, ἵνα ἐν Χριστῷ σαββατίσωμεν ἀπὸ ἁμαρτημάτων.

8.6.8 | and there was a sabbath holding us back until the great sabbath, that is, until the rest of christ, so that in christ we might keep sabbath from sins.

8.6.9 | καὶ ἦν ἐκεῖ πρόβατον ἄλογον θυόμενον, καθοδηγοῦν ἡμᾶς εἰς τὸ μέγα πρόβατον καὶ ἐπουράνιον ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν καὶ» ὑπὲρ ὅλου τοῦ κόσμου» τυθέν.

8.6.9 | and there was there a senseless lamb being sacrificed, leading us to the great lamb and heavenly one, who was sacrificed for us and for the whole world.

8.6.10 | καὶ ἦν ἐκεῖ ἐκεῖ ἀποδεκάτωσις ἀσφαλιζομένη, ἵνα μὴ λάθῃ ἡμᾶς τὸ ἰῶτα, ἡ δεκάς, τὸ πρῶτον στοιχεῖον τοῦ Ἰησοῦ ὀνόματος.

8.6.10 | and there was there a tithe being secured, so that the iota, the tenth, the first letter of the name jesus, might not escape us.

8.7.1 | 7. Ἐπεὶ οὖν τῷ τύπῳ ἤχθησαν καὶ εὐαγγελίου. πάντα γὰρ αὐτοῖς τὰ δικαιώματα κατήρηται, ἐκάστης μαρτυρίας τοῦτο λεγούσης, ὡς ἔχει ἐν πάσῃ γραφῇ.

8.7.1 | 7. since then they were brought to the pattern but did not reach the perfection of what was proclaimed through the law and prophets and others and the whole book, they were thrown out of the farming and the nations entered, those no longer able to be saved, unless they turn back to the grace of the gospel. for all their rules have been canceled, each testimony saying this, as it is in every scripture.

8.7.2 | συντόμως δὲ ἀπὸ μιᾶς μαρτυρίας τὸ ἀνυπέρθετον καὶ ἀπαράβατον τῆς κατ' αὐτῶν ἀποφάσεως ἐροῦμεν, ὡς ἔστιν ἰδεῖν

8.7.2 | briefly, from one testimony we will say the unchangeable and unbreakable decision according to them, as it is right to see clearly their vote, as it says, "whoever soul does not listen to that prophet will be destroyed from that tribe and from israel and under the sky."

8.7.3 | ὡς τοῦ κυρίου μέλλοντος τὰ διὰ τοῦ νόμου μυστικῶς παραδοθέντα τελείως καὶ

8.7.3 | that the lord will fully and savingly confirm what was secretly given through the law, but that the one who does not ἀκούοντα αὐτοῦ καὶ μὴ ἀνεχόμενον μὴ ἔχειν σωτηρίαν, κἄν τε τὸν νόμον ποιήσῃ, τοῦ νόμου μὴ δυναμένου τελειοῦν τὸν ἄνθρωπον διὰ τὸ σωματικῶς τὰ ἐν αὐτῷ δικαιώματα γεγράφθαι καὶ ἐν Χριστῷ ἀληθινῶς πληροῦσθαι.

listen to him and does not endure him will not have salvation, even if he follows the law, because the law cannot perfect a person since the rules are written physically in him and are truly fulfilled in Christ.

8.7.4 | Ἐως τούτου μοι λελέχθω περὶ τοῦ Ἰουδαϊσμοῦ. καὶ γὰρ ὀλίγων ἐμνημόνευσα εἰς τὸ μὴ τὸ πᾶν αὐτῶν παρασιωπῆσαι, ἀλλὰ ἐν μέρει ὑποδείξαι. πᾶσι γὰρ ὥς εἶπεῖν πρόδηλός ἐστιν ἡ κατ' αὐτοὺς ὑπόθεσις καὶ ὁ πρὸς αὐτοὺς ἔλεγχος.

8.7.4 | let this be said to me about Judaism up to this point. for i have remembered a few things so as not to leave all of them silent, but to show in part. for the case according to them and the charge against them is clear to everyone, so to speak.

8.7.5 | ἐδείξαμεν δὲ καὶ τὴν ἀρχὴν, πόθεν ἔσχον τὴν εἰσαγωγὴν, ὅτι ἐξ ἀρχῆς ἐκ τῆς τοῦ Ἀβραάμ τοῦ πατριάρχου θεοσεβείας > καλοῦνται > θεοσεβεῖς διὰ τὸ εἶναι αὐτοὺς ἐκ σπέρματος αὐτοῦ, ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ ἐγγόνου αὐτοῦ, φημὶ δὲ Ἰακώβ τοῦ καὶ Ἰσραήλ, Ἰσραηλῖται·

8.7.5 | and we have also shown the beginning, where they got their introduction, that from the start they are called god-fearing because they come from the seed of Abraham the patriarch, and from his descendant, i say Jacob, who is also Israel, they are Israelites;

8.7.6 | ἐξ ἡμερῶν δὲ Δαυὶδ τοῦ βασιλεύσαντος ἐκ φυλῆς Ἰούδα ἐκαλοῦντο Ἰουδαῖοί τε καὶ Ἰσραηλῖται πᾶσαι αἱ δώδεκα φυλαὶ καὶ ἕως Σολομῶντος τοῦ υἱοῦ Δαυὶδ καὶ ἕως τοῦ Ῥοβοάμ, υἱοῦ Σολομῶντος, ἐγγόνου δὲ τοῦ Δαυίδ.

8.7.6 | from the days of David who ruled from the tribe of Judah, they were called both Jews and Israelites, all twelve tribes, and until Solomon the son of David, and until Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, a descendant of David.

8.7.7 | καὶ κατὰ ἐπιτίμησιν θεοῦ καὶ ἀναξίότητα τοῦ Ῥοβοάμ ἐσχίσθησαν αἱ δεκαδύο φυλαὶ καὶ γεγόνασι δύο ἡμισυ μετὰ τοῦ Ἰούδα τουτέστι μετὰ Ῥοβοάμ καὶ ἐννέα ἡμισυ μετὰ Ἱεροβοάμ.

8.7.7 | and because of God's punishment and the unworthiness of Rehoboam, the twelve tribes were split and became two halves: one half with Judah, that is with Rehoboam, and the other half with Jeroboam.

8.7.8 | ἐκαλοῦντο δὲ αἱ ἐννέα ἡμισυ Ἰσραηλιταί τε καὶ Ἰσραήλ, βασιλευόμεναι ὑπὸ τοῦ Ἰεροβοάμ υἱοῦ Ναβὰτ ἐν Σαμαρείᾳ· αἱ δὲ δύο ἡμισυ εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ Ἰουδαῖοι ἐκαλοῦντο, βασιλευόμεναι ὑπὸ Ῥοβοάμ υἱοῦ Σολομῶντος.

8.7.8 | and the nine and a half were called both Israelites and Israel, ruled by Jeroboam son of Nebat in Samaria; but the two and a half in Jerusalem were called Jews, ruled by Rehoboam son of Solomon.

8.7.9 | καὶ γεγόνασι πάλιν διαδοχαὶ βασιλέων· Ῥοβοάμ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀβιά, Ἀβιά γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀσά, Ἀσά γεννᾷ τὸν Ἰωσαφάτ, Ἰωσαφάτ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἰωράμ, Ἰωράμ γεννᾷ τὸν Ὀχοζίαν, Ὀχοζίας γεννᾷ τὸν Ἰώας, Ἰώας γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀμεσσίαν, Ἀμεσσίας γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀζαρίαν τὸν καλούμενον Ὀζιαν, Ἀζαρίας ὁ καὶ Ὀζίας γεννᾷ τὸν Ἰωάθαμ, Ἰωάθαμ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀχαζ, Ἀχαζ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἐζεκίαν· ἐν χρόνοις δὲ Ἐζεκίου καὶ Ἀχαζ ἠχμαλτεύθησαν φυλαὶ ἐκ τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ εἰς τὰ ὄρια Μήδων.

8.7.9 | and there were again successions of kings: Rehoboam fathered Abijah, Abijah fathered Asa, Asa fathered Jehoshaphat, Jehoshaphat fathered Joram, Joram fathered Ahaziah, Ahaziah fathered Joash, Joash fathered Amaziah, Amaziah fathered Azariah called Uzziah, Azariah also called Uzziah fathered Jotham, Jotham fathered Ahaz, Ahaz fathered Hezekiah; in the days of Hezekiah and Ahaz, tribes from Israel were taken captive to the borders of the Medes.

8.7.10 | μετὰ τοῦτο Ἐζεκίας γεννᾷ τὸν Μανασσῆ, Μανασσῆς γεννᾷ τὸν Ἀμών, Ἀμών γεννᾷ τὸν Ἰωσίαν, Ἰωσίας γεννᾷ τὸν Ἰεχονίαν, τὸν καὶ Σελοὺμ καλούμενον, ὃς καὶ Ἀμασίας ἐλέγετο. ὁ Ἰεχονίας οὗτος γεννᾷ τὸν Ἰεχονίαν τὸν καλούμενον Σεδεκίαν καὶ Ἰωακείμ.

8.7.10 | after this Hezekiah fathered Manasseh, Manasseh fathered Amon, Amon fathered Josiah, Josiah fathered Jeconiah, also called Shealtiel, who was also called Amaziah. This Jeconiah fathered Jeconiah called Zedekiah and Jehoiakim.

8.8.1 | 8. And let no one doubt about this, but rather wonder at the exact wording, placed here usefully for those eager to learn well, who want to grasp the exact words of the scriptures. They will be forced to be thankful right away for the benefit, having gained what some ignorant people lost in the gospel through doubt, as if a clear statement was erased by correction.

ἀμφιβολίαν ὡς κατὰ διόρθωσιν ἀφανισθὲν ῥητόν.

8.8.2 | τριχῶς γὰρ ἀριθμήσαντος τοῦ ἁγίου Ματθαίου τὰς γενεάς, ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἀβραάμ μέχρι τοῦ Δαυὶδ φήσαντος γενεάς δεκατέσσαρας καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ Δαυὶδ ἕως τῆς αἰχμαλωσίας γενεάς δεκατέσσαρας καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς αἰχμαλωσίας ἕως τοῦ Χριστοῦ γενεάς δεκατέσσαρας, οἱ δύο ἀνώτεροι ἀριθμοὶ σαφεῖς εὐρίσκονται, μηδεμίαν ἔλλειψιν ἀριθμοῦ περιέχοντες· ἵως γὰρ τοῦ Ἰεχονίου περιέχουσι τοὺς χρόνους·

8.8.3 | ὁ δὲ τρίτος ἀριθμὸς οὐδέτι δεκατεσσάρων γενεῶν εὐρίσκεται κατὰ διαδοχὴν ὀνομάτων ἔχων τὸ πλήρωμα, ἀλλὰ δεκατριῶν, ἐπειδὴ τινες εὐρόντες Ἰεχονίαν ἅμα Ἰεχονία ἐτέρω ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ ἐνόμισαν τὸν ἀριθμὸν δεδισσολογημένον.

8.8.4 | οὐκ ἦν δὲ δισσολογία, ἀλλὰ ἀριθμὸς σαφής. εἰς ὄνομα γὰρ πατρὸς ὁ παῖς ἐπεκέκλητο Ἰεχονίας τοῦ Ἰεχονίου. ἀφελόμενοι οὖν τινες ὡς κατὰ φιλοκαλίαν τὸ ἔν ὄνομα, ἀγνοίᾳ φερόμενοι, ἔλλιπῇ ἐποιήσαντο τῆς ὑποθέσεως κατὰ τὴν ὁμάδα τοῦ ἀριθμοῦ τῶν δεκατεσσάρων ὀνομάτων τὴν ὑπόσχεσιν καὶ τὸ πολὺπειρον τῆς σχέσεως ἠφάνισαν.

8.8.5 | Γίνεται γοῦν ἐντεῦθεν ἀπὸ τοῦ χρόνου Ἰεχονίου ἡ αἰχμαλωσία ἢ εἰς Βαβυλῶνα. ἐν τούτῳ τῷ χρόνῳ τῆς αἰχμαλωσίας προσῆλθον οἱ πρεσβύτεροι τῷ Ναβουχοδονόσορ ἐν Βαβυλῶνι, παρακαλοῦντες ἀποσταλῆναι τινὰς τῶν ἰδίων αὐτοῦ ἐγκαθέτους εἰς τὴν Ἰσραηλῆτιν

8.8.2 | For Matthew counted the generations in three ways: from Abraham to David he said there were fourteen generations, and from David to the exile fourteen generations, and from the exile to Christ fourteen generations. The first two numbers are found clearly, containing no missing number; for they include the years up to Jeconiah.

8.8.3 | But the third number is no longer found as fourteen generations in a row having the full count, but thirteen, because some, having found Jeconiah together with another Jeconiah at the same time, thought the number was counted twice.

8.8.4 | It was not a double counting, but a clear number. For the son was called by the name Jeconiah, after his father Jeconiah. So some, removing one name as if for beauty, carried ignorance, and made the count incomplete according to the group of fourteen names, hiding the promise and the deep meaning of the connection.

8.8.5 | So then, from the time of Jeconiah begins the captivity to Babylon. At this time of captivity, the elders came to Nebuchadnezzar in Babylon, asking that some of his own officials be sent to the land of Israel, so that the land, having grown γῆν, ὅπως μὴ ἡ χώρα ὑλομανήσασα ἐρημωθείη.

wild, would not become deserted.

8.8.6 | καὶ ἐδέξατο τὴν παρ' αὐτῶν παράκλησιν (οὐ γὰρ ἀνεβάλλετο) καὶ ἀποστέλλει μὲν τῶν ἰδίων τέσσαρα γένη, τούς τε Κουθαίους καλουμένους καὶ Κουδαίους, Σεπφαρουραίους καὶ Ἀναγωγαυαίους, οἵτινες ἅμα τοῖς αὐτῶν εἰδώλοις ἀναβάντες κατῴκουν τὸ τηνικαῦτα τὴν Σαμάρειαν, ταύτην ἐπιλεξάμενοι ἑαυτοῖς τὴν γῆν διὰ τὸ εἶναι πίονά τε καὶ γονιμωτάτην.

8.8.6 | And he accepted their request (for he did not delay) and sent four of his own groups, called the Cuthites and the Chaldeans, the Sepharvites and the Henaeanes, who, going up with their own idols, lived then in Samaria, choosing this land for themselves because it was more fertile and fruitful.

8.8.7 | χρόνῳ δὲ οὗτοι ὑπὸ τῶν θηρίων διασπαρattόμενοι, λεόντων τε καὶ παρδάλεων καὶ ἄρκων καὶ τῶν ἄλλων πονηρῶν θηρίων, ἀποστέλλουσιν εἰς Βαβυλῶνα, παρακαλοῦντες καὶ ὑπερβολῇ θαυμάζοντες τὴν <τῶν> κατοικησάντων τὸ πρὶν ἐγκαθέτων διαγωγὴν, πῶς ἠδύναντο ὑποστῆναι τὴν τῶν θηρῶν ἀρπαγὴν τε καὶ βίαν.

8.8.7 | But in time, these people were torn apart by wild beasts, lions and leopards and bears and other evil animals, and they sent messengers to Babylon, begging and greatly amazed at how the former settlers could survive the attack and violence of the beasts.

8.8.8 | ὁ δὲ βασιλεὺς μεταστειλάμενος τοὺς πρεσβυτέρους ἤρετο τὴν αὐτοῖς γενομένην ἀγωγὴν & τῆς ἐν τῇ Ἰουδαίᾳ καθέξεως, πῶς τε διελάνθανον τὴν τῶν θηρῶν ἀρπαγὴν, τοσαύτης θηριοβολίας καὶ λύμης κατὰ τὴν γῆν ἐκείνην ὑπαρχούσης.

8.8.8 | But the king, sending back the elders, asked about the life they had there in Judah, and how they escaped the attack of the beasts, with so much wildness and destruction in that land.

8.8.9 | οἱ δὲ τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ νομοθεσίαν αὐτῷ ἐδείκνουν καὶ μετὰ συνέσεως αὐτῷ ἀπεκάλυπτον τῆς εὐλόγου γνώμης τὰ καθεξῆς, φήσαντες μὴ δύνασθαι ἐκεῖσε ἔθνος καθέζεσθαι, εἰ μή τι ἂν τὸν νόμον τοῦ θεοῦ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ τὸν διὰ Μωυσέως δοθέντα ἐπιτελέσειεν· εἶναι εἶναι τὸν θεὸν

8.8.9 | But they showed him the law of god and wisely explained to him in order, saying that no nation could live there unless it obeyed the law of god of heaven given through Moses; that god was the protector of the land, and he would not allow violations there by foreigners of ὑπερασπιστὴν τῆς γῆς, μὴ βούλεσθαι δὲ παραβάσεις ἐν αὐτῇ παρὰ Μνῶν ἄλλοφύλων γίνεσθαι εἰδωλολατρείας καὶ τῶν ἄλλων.

idolatry and other things.

8.8.10 | ὁ δὲ ἐπιμελόμενος καὶ πειθόμενος τῇ τῶν ἀναδιδαζάντων ἀληθεστάτῃ ἐρμηνείᾳ ἀντίγραφον τοῦ νόμου ᾗτησεν. οἱ δὲ ἀφθόνως δεδωκότες μετὰ καὶ τοῦ νόμου Ἔσδραν τινὰ ἀποστέλλουσιν παιδευτὴν τοῦ νόμου ἀπὸ Βαβυλωνίας πρὸς τὸ παιδεῦσαι τοὺς ἐν τῇ Σαμαρείᾳ καθεσθέντας Ἀσσυρίους (τοὺς προδεδηλωμένους Κουθαίους καὶ <τοὺς> ἄλλους) τὸν νόμον τὸν Μωυσέως.

8.8.10 | But he, caring and trusting the most true explanation given, asked for a copy of the law. And they freely gave it, and also sent a certain Ezra, a teacher of the law, from Babylon to teach the law of Moses to those Assyrians settled in Samaria (the ones previously called Cuthaeans and others).

8.8.11 | γίνεται δὲ τοῦτο ἐν τῷ τριακοστῷ ἔτει πλείω ἐλάσσῳ τῆς τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ καὶ Ἱερουσαλὴμ αἰχμαλωσίας. ἐπαίδευε τοῖνυν Ἔσδρας καὶ οἱ μετ' αὐτὸν τὸ γένος τὸ ἐν τῇ Σαμαρείᾳ καὶ ἐκλήθησαν Σαμαρεῖται οἱ τὸν νόμον διὰ τοῦ Ἔσδρα τοῦ ἀπὸ Βαβυλῶνος ἦκοντος ὑποδεξάμενοι. διῆλθεν δὲ χρόνος ἑτῶν τεσσαράκοντα ἄλλων καὶ ἡ αἰχμαλωσία ἀνέθη καὶ ἀνῆλθεν Ἰσραὴλ ἀπὸ τῆς Βαβυλῶνος.

8.8.11 | This happened in the thirtieth year, more or less, after the captivity of Israel and Jerusalem. So Ezra taught the people in Samaria, and those who accepted the law through Ezra, who came from Babylon, were called Samaritans. Forty more years passed, and the captivity ended, and Israel returned from Babylon.

Section 9

8.9.1 | 9. Ἐπεισι δὲ θαυμάζειν πῶς συμβέβηκε κατὰ τὰ τέσσαρα ἔθνη καὶ τέσσαρας αἰρέσεις ἐν αὐτῷ τῷ ἔθνει γενέσθαι, φημὶ δὲ πρῶτον Ἑσσηνῶν δεύτερον Γοροθηνῶν τρίτον Σεβουαίων τέταρτον Δοσιθέων. ἐντεῦθεν ἀρχὴ μοι γίνεται τῆς τοῦ ἐπαγγέλματος κατὰ αἰρέσεων πραγματείας καὶ τὸ αἷτιον ὅπως * διασαφήσω ἐν βραχεῖ [ἐρῶ].

8.9.1 | Then it is amazing how it happened that among the four nations, four sects arose in that very nation. I say first the Essenes, second the Gorothenes, third the Sebuaite, fourth the Dositheans. From here begins for me the study of the promise according to the sects, and the reason why I will explain briefly.

8.9.2 | τί δέ ἐστιν ἄλλο ἢ ὅτι <ὥς> ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν γλωττῶν πολυφόρου ἀλλοιοφωνίας φυλαὶ γεγόνασιν, κατὰ δὲ ἐκάστην φυλὴν τε καὶ πατριαρχίαν ἔθνη διάφορα προέστη, πᾶν δὲ ἔθνος ἑαυτῷ προεστήσατο βασιλέα εἰς κεφαλὴν, συμβέβηκε δὲ ἀπὸ τούτου πολέμων εἶναι ἔνστασιν καὶ συμπληγάδας Μνῶν ἔθνεσι συρρηγνυένων, ἐκάστου βιαζομένου τὸ ἴδιον θέλημα προτιμᾶσθαι, εἰς ἑαυτὸν δὲ τὰ τῶν πέλας ἀποφέρεσθαι διὰ τὴν ἐν τῷ βίῳ ἐν ἡμῖν πᾶσιν ἀκόρεστον πλεονεξίαν, —

8.9.2 | What else is it but that, because of the many different sounds of tongues, tribes have come to be? And according to each tribe and family group, different nations came to rule. Each nation set up its own king as leader. From this came wars and conflicts, like rocks crashing among nations breaking apart, each one forcing its own will to be chosen, and taking away from its neighbors because in life we all have an endless greed.

8.9.3 | οὕτω καὶ ἐν τούτῳ τῷ καιρῷ τῷ προδεδηλωμένῳ μεταπεσούσης τῆς μιᾶς τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ θρησκείας καὶ τῆς κατὰ τὸν νόμον γραφῆς εἰς ἕτερα γένη *, φημὶ δὲ εἰς Ἀσσυρίους ἐξ ὧν Σαμαρεῖται οἱ ἐγκάθετοι), συμβέβηκε καὶ τὴν γνώμην διχονοηθῆναι.

8.9.3 | So also at that time, the one religion of Israel and the law of the scriptures changed into other kinds (I say into Assyrians, from whom the Samaritans who settled came), and it happened that their opinion was divided.

8.9.4 | καὶ λοιπὸν ὥρμησεν ἡ πλάνη καὶ ἡ διχόνοια ὑποσπεῖρειν ἀπὸ τῆς μιᾶς θεοσεβείας εἰς πολλὰς παραπεποιημένας γνώμας, καθὼς ἐκάστῳ ἔδοξε καὶ ᾤηθη τῷ γράμματι ἐνασκεῖσθαι καὶ φράζειν ἕκαστος κατὰ τὸ ἴδιον θέλημα.

8.9.4 | And then error and disagreement began to spread from the one true worship into many false beliefs, just as each one thought it was right to interpret the scripture and explain it according to their own will.

Book 9

Section 1

9.1.1 | Σαμαρεῖται μὲν οὖν ἀρχὴ τῶν αἱρέσεων ἀπὸ γραφῆς θεϊκῆς ὁρμωμένων μετὰ τὰς προειρημένας ἄνευ γραφῆς θεϊκῆς Ἑλληνικὰς αἱρέσεις ἀπ' ἰδίων λογισμῶν ἀνθρώποις † ἐμβροντηθείσας

9.1.1 | The Samaritans, then, are not the beginning of heresies that come from divine scripture; after the ones mentioned before, there are Greek heresies without divine scripture, made up by people confused in their minds from their own ἀπὸ διανοίας.

9.1.2 | πᾶν τοίνυν τὸ γένος Σαμαρειτῶν ἐκαλοῦντο. ἐρμηνεύονται δὲ Σαμαρεῖται φύλακες διὰ τὸ ἐν τάξει φυλάκων τετάχθαι ἐν τῇ γῇ ἢ ἀπὸ τοῦ φύλακας αὐτοὺς εἶναι τῆς κατὰ τὸν νόμον Μωυσέως διατάξεως.

9.1.2 | So, the whole race was called Samaritans. And Samaritans are explained as guards because they were set in order as guards on the land, or because they themselves were guards of the law of Moses' arrangement.

9.1.3 | ἐκαλεῖτο δὲ καὶ τὸ ὄρος ἔνθα ἐκαθέσθησαν Σομόρων, ἅμα δὲ καὶ Σωμήρ, ἀπὸ ἀρχαίου τινὸς Σομόρων φησὶ υἱοῦ Σωμήρ, οὕτω τοῦ ἀνδρὸς καλουμένου.

9.1.3 | And the mountain where the Somorans settled was also called Somer, from an ancient Somoran son named Somer, who was called by that man's name.

9.1.4 | ἦν δὲ οὗτος ὁ Σομόρων υἱὸς ἐνὸς ἀνδρὸς τῶν ἀπὸ γένους τῶν Φερεζαίων καὶ Γεργεσαίων, οἱ κατῴκουν τὸ τηνικαῦτα τὴν γῆν, ἐκ διαδοχῆς ὄντες παῖδες τοῦ Χαναάν τοῦ τὴν γῆν ταύτην ἀρπάξαντος τὴν νῦν Ἰουδαίαν ἢ Σαμάρειαν καλουμένην, οὗσαν τῶν υἱῶν Σὴμ, μὴ οὗσαν δὲ αὐτῶν ἰδίαν διὰ τὸ αὐτὸν τὸν Χαναάν εἶναι υἱὸν τοῦ Χάμ πατραδέλφου τοῦ Σὴμ.

9.1.4 | This Somoran was the son of a man from the families of the Pherizites and Gergesites, who lived then in the land, being descendants of Canaan, who took this land by force, now called Judah or Samaria. They were sons of Shem, but not their own children because Canaan was the son of Ham, the brother of Shem.

9.1.5 | καὶ συμβέβηκε τὸ ὄνομα ἐκ διαφορῶν προφάσεων καλεῖσθαι Σαμαρείτας ἕκ τε τοῦ Σωμήρ ἕκ τε τοῦ Σομόρων ἕκ τε τοῦ φυλάττειν τὴν γῆν ἕκ τε τοῦ φυλάττειν τὰ παιδεύματα τοῦ νόμου.

9.1.5 | And the name came to be called Samaritans for different reasons: from Somer, from Somoran, from guarding the land, and from guarding the teachings of the law.

Section 2

9.2.1 | 2. Διαφέρονται δὲ οὗτοι Ἰουδαίοις κατὰ τοῦτο πρῶτον, ὅτι οὐκ ἐδόθη αὐτοῖς προφητῶν τῶν μετὰ Μωυσέα γραφὴ ἢ μόνον ἡ πεντάτευχος ἢ διὰ Μωυσέως τῷ σπέρματι Ἰσραὴλ ἐν τῇ ἐξόδῳ τῆς ἀπ'

9.2.1 | These differ from the Jews in this way first: that no writings of prophets after Moses were given to them, but only the Pentateuch, given through Moses to the seed of Israel during the Exodus from

Αίγύπτου πορείας δοθεῖσα, φημί δὲ Γένεσις Ἔξοδος Λευιτικὸν Ἀριθμοὶ Δευτερονόμιον ἐν δὲ τῇ Ἑβραϊδὶ διαλέκτῳ οὕτως καλοῦνται, Βρεσὶθ Ἐλλεσιμῶθ Οὐϊκρά Οὐϊδαβήρ Ἐλλαδδεβαρίν.

Egypt. I mean Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy. And in the Hebrew language, they are called Bereshith, Ellesimoth, Uikra, Uidaber, Elleaddebarin.

9.2.2 | καὶ ἴσπαρται μὲν ἐν ταύταις ταῖς πέντε βίβλοις ἀναστάσεως νεκρῶν τὸ σημεῖον, οὐ μέντοι γε τηλαυγῶς κεκήρυκται, καὶ ἴσπαρται ἐν αὐταῖς περὶ τοῦ μονογενοῦς υἱοῦ τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ περὶ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος καὶ κατὰ εἰδώλων· τὸ δὲ τηλαυγέστερον ἐν αὐταῖς <τὸ> περὶ μοναρχίας ἔχει τὴν ἐν δὲ τῇ μοναρχίᾳ πνευματικῶς ἡ τριάς καταγγελλομένη ἐστίν.

9.2.2 | And in these five books, the sign of the resurrection of the dead is scattered, though not clearly proclaimed. And scattered in them are things about the only-begotten son of God, about the holy spirit, and against idols. But the clearest is about the monarchy, and in the monarchy, the Trinity is spiritually announced.

9.2.3 | οἱ δὲ δεξάμενοι τὸν νόμον εἰς τὸ μετατεθῆναι τῆς εἰδωλολατρείας καὶ τὸν ἕνα θεὸν ἐπιγινῶναι ἐσπουδάσθησαν, οἷς οὐ γένονεν ἐπιμέλειά τις τὸ ἀκριβέστερον ἐπιγινῶναι. σφαλέντες δὲ οἱ τοιοῦτοι καὶ μὴ τηλαυγῶς τὸ πᾶν μέρος τῆς πίστεως καὶ τῆς ἡμετέρας ζωῆς τὸ ἀκρίβασμα κατειληφότες ἠγνόησαν μὲν νεκρῶν ἀνάστασιν καὶ ἀπιστοῦσιν, πνεῦμα δὲ ἅγιον οὐ παραδέχονται· καὶ γὰρ ἠγνόησαν.

9.2.3 | But those who accepted the law tried to change idol worship and to know the one god, though no one cared to know the exact truth. These people went wrong and, not clearly understanding the whole part of our faith and life, they ignored the resurrection of the dead and did not believe it. They also do not accept the holy spirit, because they ignored it.

9.2.4 | καὶ αὕτη ἡ αἵρεσις ἀθετοῦσα μὲν νεκρῶν ἀνάστασιν, ἀπωθουμένη δὲ εἰδωλολατρείαν, ἐν ἑαυτῇ δὲ εἰδωλολατροῦσα κατ' ἄγνοιαν διὰ τὸ ἀποκεκρύφθαι τὰ εἰδῶλα τῶν τεσσάρων ἐθνῶν ἐν τῷ ὄρει τῷ παρ' αὐτοῖς Γαριζὶν σεσυκοφαντημένως καλουμένῳ.

9.2.4 | And this heresy, while rejecting the resurrection of the dead and pushing away idol worship, still worships idols in ignorance because the idols of the four nations were hidden on the mountain near them, called Garizin.

9.2.5 | τῷ γὰρ βουλομένῳ ἀκριβῶς περὶ τοῦ ὄρους Γαριζὶν ἐρευνᾶσθαι ἰστέον ὅτι

9.2.5 | For whoever wants to know exactly about the mountain Garizin should learn πρὸς τῇ Ἱεριχῶ κεῖνται τὰ δύο ὄρη, τό τε τοῦ Γαριζίν καὶ τὸ τοῦ Γεβάλ, πέραν τοῦ Ἰορδάνου πρὸς τῇ ἀνατολῇ τῆς Ἱεριχώ, ὡς ἔχει τὸ Δευτερονόμιον καὶ Ἰησοῦ τοῦ Ναυῆ ἡ βίβλος.

that near Jericho lie two mountains, both Garizin and Gebal, on the other side of the Jordan to the east of Jericho, as Deuteronomy and the book of Joshua say.

9.2.6 | εἰδωλολατροῦσιν οὖν ἀγνοοῦντες ἐκ τοῦ πανταχόθεν προσέχειν πρὸς τὸ ὄρος ἐν τῷ αὐτοῦς εὐχεσθαι * δῆθεν ὅτι ἡγίασται. ἀδύνατον γὰρ τὴν γραφὴν ψεύσασθαι φάσκουσιν »ἔμειναν ποιοῦντες τὸν νόμον καὶ προσκυνοῦντες τὰ αὐτῶν εἰδωλα ἕως τῆς σήμερον ἡμέρας«, ὡς ἐμφέρεται ἐν τῇ τετάρτῃ τῶν Βασιλειῶν.

9.2.6 | So they worship idols, not knowing that they always turn their prayers toward the mountain, as if it were holy. For it is impossible for the scripture to lie when it says, "They stayed keeping the law and worshipping their own idols until today," as it appears in the fourth book of Kings.

9.3.1 | 3. Ἐλέγχονται δὲ οὗτοι πανταχόθεν περὶ νεκρῶν ἀναστάσεως· πρῶτον ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἀβελ, ὅτι μετὰ τὸ ἀποθανεῖν τὸ αἷμα προσδιαλέγεται τῷ δεσπότῃ. αἷμα δὲ οὐ ψυχὴ τυγχάνει, ἀλλ' ἐν αἵματι ἡ ψυχὴ, καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν »ἡ ψυχὴ βοᾷ πρὸς με«, ἀλλὰ »τὸ αἷμα βοᾷ πρὸς με« δεικνὺς ὅτι ἔστιν ἐλπίς ἀναστάσεως τῶν σωμάτων·

9.3.1 | They are proven wrong everywhere about the resurrection of the dead; first from Abel, because after he died his blood spoke to the master. But blood is not the soul; the soul is in the blood, and it did not say "the soul cries out to me," but "the blood cries out to me," showing that there is hope for the resurrection of the bodies.

9.3.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ Ἐνὼχ μετετέθη τοῦ μὴ ἰδεῖν θάνατον καὶ οὐχ ἠὺρίσκετο· ἀλλὰ καὶ Σάρρα μετὰ τὸ νεκρωθῆναι αὐτῆς τὴν μήτραν καὶ τὴν πηγὴν τὴν κατ' ἐθισμόν ξηρανθῆναι αὖθις ἀναζωογονουμένη εἰς καταβολὴν σπέρματος καὶ ἡ πρεσβῦτις κυίσκουσα τέκνον κατ' ἐπαγγελίαν διὰ τὴν ἐλπίδα τῆς ἀναστάσεως·

9.3.2 | But also Enoch was taken away so that he would not see death and was not found; and also Sarah, after her womb and her usual source dried up because of death, was made alive again to the root of seed, and the old woman, pregnant with a child by promise, because of the hope of the resurrection.

9.3.3 | οὐ μὴν δὲ ἀλλὰ καὶ Ἰακώβ ἐπιμελόμενος τῶν ἰδίων ὀστέων ὡς οὐ περὶ ἀπολλυμένων ἐνετέλλετο· οὐ μόνον δὲ

9.3.3 | And not only that, but Jacob, caring for his own bones as if they would not be destroyed, gave orders; and not only him, ἀλλὰ καὶ Ἰωσήφ τῇ αὐτῇ ἀκολουθίᾳ ἐντελλόμενος τῆς ἀναστάσεως ὑπέφαινε τὸ εἶδος.

but Joseph also, in the same way, showed the hope of the resurrection by his instructions.

9.3.4 | οὐ μὴν δὲ ἀλλὰ καὶ ἡ ῥάβδος τοῦ Ἀαρὼν ἡ βλαστήσασα ξηρὰ οὕσα αὐθις καρπὸν ἤνεγκεν εἰς ἐλπίδα ζωῆς, τὰ νεκρὰ ἡμῶν σώματα ἀναστήσεσθαι σημαίνουσα καὶ εἰς ἀνάστασιν φέρουσα· καὶ τοῦ Μωυσέως ἡ ῥάβδος ὁμοίως ἡ ξυλίνη κατὰ θεοῦ βούλημα ἐμψυχουμένη καὶ ὄφιν γινομένη ἀνάστασιν ἐδήλου.

9.3.4 | And not only that, but also the rod of Aaron, which having sprouted while dry, again brought fruit as a sign of hope for life, showing that our dead bodies will rise and bringing hope of resurrection; and likewise the wooden rod of Moses, made alive by God's will and becoming a serpent, showed resurrection.

9.3.5 | ἀλλὰ καὶ Μωυσῆς εὐλογῶν τοὺς περὶ Ῥουβὴν λέγει »ζήτω Ῥουβὴν καὶ μὴ ἀποθανέτω«, τὸν ἀπὸ πάλαι τελευτήσαντα
*. ἵνα δείξῃ ζωὴν εἶναι μετὰ θάνατον, κρίσιν δὲ δευτέρου θανάτου εἰς καταδίκην. διὸ δύο εὐλογίας αὐτῷ ἐπιτίθησι, τὸ »ζήτω« λέγων ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει καὶ μὴ ἀποθανέτω· ἐν τῇ κρίσει, οὐ θάνατον τὸν διὰ σώματος ἀπαλλαγῆς λέγων, ἀλλὰ τὸν διὰ καταδίκης.

9.3.5 | But also Moses, blessing those around Reuben, says, "Let Reuben live and not die," the one who died long ago. To show that there is life after death, and a second death as judgment for punishment.
Therefore, he gives him two blessings, saying "Let him live" in the resurrection, and "and not die" in the judgment, not meaning death as the body's release, but as punishment.

9.3.6 | ἀρκέσει γοῦν τὰ ὀλίγα πρὸς ἀντίθεσιν τούτων. ἔχουσι δὲ καὶ ἄλλα τινὰ ἀνοίας ἔμπλεα, οὕρῳ κλυζόμενοι, ἐπὰν ἀπὸ ξένης ἔλθωσι <ὥς>· μεμιασμένοι δῆθεν· ὕδατι ἱματίοις βαπτιζόμενοι, ἐπὰν ἄψωνται ἐτέρου τῶν ἀλλοεθνῶν. μiasmὸν γὰρ ἡγοῦνται τό τινος ἄψασθαι ἥτοι θιγεῖν ἄλλου τινὸς ἀνθρώπου ἀπὸ ἄλλου δόγματος. πολλή δὲ ἡ τούτων φρενοβλάβεια.

9.3.6 | A few things are enough to oppose these. They also have some other foolish ideas, being tossed about like waves, whenever they come from a foreign place as if they are polluted; they are baptized with water on their clothes, whenever they touch someone from another nation. For they think it is pollution to touch or come near another person from a different belief.
Their madness is very great.

Section 4

9.4.1 | 4. Πῶς δὲ εὐθυέλεγκτος ἡ αὐτῶν

9.4.1 | 4. But how clearly their foolishness ἄνοια γίνεται, ἐπίστησον τὸν νοῦν, ὡς θαυμασιώτατε, καὶ εἴση. νεκρὸν μὲν γὰρ εὐθέως βδελύττονται, αὐτοὶ νεκροὶ ὄντες τοῖς ἔργοις. μαρτυροῦσι γὰρ οὐ μία μαρτυρία, ἀλλὰ πολλαὶ τῷ μὴ εἶναι τὸν νεκρὸν ἐβδελυγμένον, ἀλλ' ὅτι αἰνιγματωδῶς ὁ νόμος ἔλεγεν.

is shown, pay attention, most wonderful one, and you will understand. For they immediately hate the dead, while they themselves are dead in their actions. They give not one testimony, but many, that the dead is hated, but because the law said it in a mysterious way.

9.4.2 | οὐκέτι γὰρ δύο ἢ τρεῖς μαρτυρίαι εἰς τοῦτο ἡμῖν ἐπιμαρτυροῦσιν, ἀλλὰ μυριάδες ἑξήκοντα δύο αἱ ἡριθμημέναι ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ * καὶ ἄλλαι τοσαῦται καὶ ἐπέκεινα καὶ ἔτι πολὺ πλείους αἱ τῇ σορῷ τοῦ Ἰωσήφ ἐπακλουθοῦσαι τῇ διὰ τεσσαράκοντα ἐτῶν βασταζομένη ἐν ὅλῃ τῇ παρεμβολῇ καὶ μὴ βδελυττομένη μήτε μολυνούση.

9.4.2 | For no longer two or three testimonies bear witness to this for us, but sixty-two thousand are counted in the wilderness, and just as many more beyond that, and many more still follow the coffin of Joseph, carried for forty years throughout the whole camp, neither hated nor defiling.

9.4.3 | ἔλεγε δὲ τὰ ἀληθῆ ὁ νόμος, ὅτι »ἐάν τις ἄψηται τοῦ νεκροῦ, μένει βέβηλος ἕως ἑσπέρας καὶ λούσεται ὕδατι καὶ καθαρισθήσεται«. ἦν δὲ τοῦτο αἰνιττόμενος εἰς τὴν τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ νέκρωσιν κατὰ τὸ ἔνσαρκον αὐτοῦ πάθος.

9.4.3 | The law spoke the truth, saying, "If anyone touches a dead body, they remain unclean until evening, and they must wash with water and be made clean." This was a hidden way of referring to the death of our Lord Jesus Christ in his human suffering.

9.4.4 | ἀπὸ γὰρ τοῦ »τοῦ« ἄρθρου τοῦνομα τῆς διακρίσεως ἔστιν σημαῖναι. ὅπου γὰρ τὸ ἄρθρον κεῖται, ἐπὶ ἐνὶ τινὶ ὠρισμένῳ καὶ διαφανεστάτῳ ἐστὶν ἡ βεβαίωσις διὰ τὸ ἄρθρον· ἄνευ δὲ τοῦ ἄρθρου ἐπὶ ἐνός του ἀορίστως ἐστὶ ληπτέον·

9.4.4 | For the word »τοῦ« is the name of distinction. Wherever the article lies, the certainty is on something specific and very clear because of the article; but without the article, it must be taken indefinitely about one thing.

9.4.5 | ὡς οἶον εἰπεῖν ἐὰν εἴπωμεν βασιλεύς, ὄνομα μὲν ἐσημάναμεν, ἀλλ' οὐ τηλαυγῶς τὸν ὀριζόμενον ἐδείξαμεν· βασιλέα γὰρ λέγομεν καὶ Περσῶν καὶ Μήδων καὶ Ἑλαμιτῶν. ἐὰν δὲ μετὰ προσθήκης τοῦ ἄρθρου εἴπωμεν ὁ βασιλεύς, ἀναμφίβολόν

9.4.5 | For example, if we say "king," we have named something, but we have not clearly shown who is meant; for we say "king" of Persians, Medes, and Elamites. But if we say with the article "the king," what is meant is without doubt clear; for "the king" ἐστι τὸ σημαινόμενον· ὁ γὰρ βασιλεὺς ὁ ζητούμενος ἢ ὁ λεγόμενος ἢ ὁ γινωσκόμενος ἢ ὁ τοῦ τινος βασιλεύων διὰ τοῦ ἄρθρου ὑποδείκνυται.

means the king who is sought, or spoken of, or known, or the one ruling over something, shown by the article.

9.4.6 | καὶ ἐὰν εἴπωμεν θεὸς ἄνευ τοῦ ἄρθρου, τὸν τυχόντα εἴπαμεν θεὸν τῶν ἐθνῶν ἢ θεὸν τὸν ὄντα. ἐὰν δὲ εἴπωμεν ὁ θεός, δῆλον ὡς ἀπὸ τοῦ »ὁ« ἄρθρου τὸν ὄντα σημαίνομεν, ἀληθῆ τε καὶ γινωσκόμενον, ὡς ὡς καὶ ἄνθρωπος καὶ ὁ ἄνθρωπος.

9.4.6 | And if we say “god” without the article, we have said a god by chance of the nations or a god who exists. But if we say “the god,” it is clear that from the article »ὁ« we mean the one who exists, true and known, just like “man” and “the man.”

9.4.7 | καὶ εἰ μὲν ἔλεγεν ὁ νόμος »ἐὰν ἄψησθε νεκροῦ«, κατὰ πάντων ἐξεφέρετο ἢ ψῆφος καὶ ἀπλῶς <ἐπὶ> παντός νεκροῦ ἢ ἐπικειμένη ἢ τοῦ ζητήματος ὁπότε δὲ λέγει Πάν ἄψηταί τις τοῦ νεκροῦ, ἐπὶ ἓνα τινὰ φέρει τὴν ἀγωγὴν, φημὶ δὲ ἐπὶ τὸν κύριον, ὡς ἄνω μοι προεδείχθη.

9.4.7 | And if the law said “if you touch a dead body,” the penalty applied to everyone and simply to any dead body involved in the case. But when it says “if someone touches the dead body,” it brings the charge against one person, and I say it is against the owner, as has been shown to me above.

9.4.8 | ἔλεγε δὲ τοῦτο αἰνιγματωδῶς ἅρα ὁ νόμος διὰ τοὺς μέλλοντας χεῖρας ἐπιβάλλειν ἐπὶ τὸν Χριστὸν καὶ σταυρῶ παραδιδόναι, ὅτι χρεῖαν εἶχον οὗτοι καθαρισμοῦ, ἕως δύνῃ αὐτοῖς ἡ ἡμέρα καὶ ἀνατελεῖ αὐτοῖς ἄλλο φῶς διὰ τοῦ βαπτίσματος τοῦ ὕδατος, τοῦ »λουτροῦ τῆς παλιγγενεσίας«.

9.4.8 | The law was saying this in a riddle, then, because those about to lay hands on Christ and hand him over to the cross needed cleansing, until the day could come for them and another light could rise for them through the baptism of water, the “bath of rebirth.”

9.4.9 | γενεσίας« ὡς καὶ ἐπιμαρτυρεῖ μοι ἐνταῦθα Πέτρος λέγων τοῖς Ἰσραηλίταις τοῖς ἐν Ἱεροσολύμοις τοῖς λέγουσιν αὐτῷ »τί ποιήσωμεν, ἄνδρες ἀδελφοί;«, διὰ τὸ εἰρηκέναι αὐτὸν αὐτοῖς ὅτι »τοῦτον τὸν Ἰησοῦν, ὃν ὑμεῖς ἐσταυρώσατε« καὶ κατανυγεῖσιν τὴν καρδίαν εἶπε

9.4.9 | “Rebirth”; as Peter also bears witness to me here, speaking to the Israelites in Jerusalem who say to him, “What shall we do, brothers?” because it was said to them, “This Jesus, whom you crucified.” And deeply moved in heart, he said, “Repent, brothers, and let each of you

be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ our lord, and your sins will be forgiven, and you will receive the gift of the holy spirit.”

9.4.10 | οὐ περὶ νεκροῦ τοίνυν λέγει ὁ νόμος· εἰ δὲ καὶ περὶ νεκροῦ, ἀλλὰ περὶ ὀριζομένου λέγει ὁ νόμος. <περὶ γὰρ οὐχ ὀριζομένου> λέγει γὰρ ὅτι »ἐὰν παρέλθῃ νεκρός, κλείσατε τὰς θύρας καὶ τὰς θυρίδας ὑμῶν, ἵνα μὴ μολυνθῇ ὁ οἶκος«, ὥσει ἔλεγεν περὶ ἀκοῆς ἁμαρτίας ὅτι ἐὰν ἀκούσης φωνὴν τῆς ἁμαρτίας ἢ εἶδος παραπτώματος, κλείσον τὸν ὀφθαλμόν σου ἀπὸ ἐπιθυμίας καὶ στόμα ἀπὸ κακολογίας καὶ οὐς ἀπὸ ἐνηχήσεως πονηρᾶς, ἵνα μὴ νεκρωθῇ ὅλος ὁ οἶκος τουτέστιν ψυχὴ καὶ σῶμα.

9.4.10 | So the law is not speaking about a dead body; but if it is about a dead body, the law speaks about one that is defined. For it says, “If a dead body passes by, close your doors and your windows, so that the house will not be defiled,” as if it were speaking about hearing sin, that if you hear the voice of sin or see a kind of wrongdoing, close your eyes from desire and your mouth from slander and your ears from evil talk, so that the whole house—that is, soul and body—will not be killed.

9.4.11 | Therefore the prophet also says, “Death has gone up through the windows,” and he is not always speaking about these windows; for if closing the windows meant never dying, we would have that. The windows we have are the senses of the body—sight, hearing, and the others—through which death comes to us if we sin through them.

9.4.12 | ἐνεταφίασε γοῦν ὁ Ἰωσήφ τὸν Ἰσραὴλ καὶ οὐκ ἐβδελύξατο, καὶ μετὰ θάνατον ἐπίπεσὼν ἐπὶ πρόσωπον κατεφίλησε. καὶ οὐ γέγραπται ὅτι ἐλούσατο, ἵνα καθαρισθῇ.

9.4.12 | Joseph at least buried Israel and did not refuse; and after death, falling on his face, he kissed him. And it is not written that he washed him to be made clean.

9.4.13 | ἐνεταφίασαν οἱ ἄγγελοι, ὥς ἡ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐλθοῦσα παράδοσις ἔχει, τὸ σῶμα

9.4.13 | The angels buried, as the tradition that came to us says, the body of holy Μωυσέως τοῦ ἁγίου καὶ οὐκ ἐλούσαντο, ἀλλ' οὕτε ἐκοινώθησαν οἱ ἄγγελοι ἀπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου σώματος.

Moses, and they did not wash it, but the angels were not made unclean by the holy body.

Section 5

9.5.1 | 5. καὶ δέδια πάλιν μὴ εἰς μῆκος ἐλάσω τὴν τοῦ ζητήματος ἐπίλυσιν. ἀφ' ἐνὸς δὲ ἢ δευτέρου λόγου δοθήσεται τῷ σοφῷ τὸ σοφισθῆναι ἐν κυρίῳ κατὰ τῶν δι' ἐναντίας.

9.5.1 | And again i fear that i may not stretch out the solving of the question too long. But from one or two reasons, the wise person will be given to be made wise in the lord against those who argue against him.

9.5.2 | εἰ δὲ καὶ περὶ τοῦ πνεύματος ἔσται μοι ἐν ἐπιτομῇ τὸ λέγειν, οὐκ ὀκνήσασμι ἄν. διαρρήδην τοίνυν εὐθύς ὁ κύριος λέγει τῷ Μωυσῇ »ἀνάγαγέ μοι εἰς τὸ ὄρος ἐβδομήκοντα πρεσβυτέρους, καὶ λήψομαι ἀπὸ τοῦ ἐπὶ σοὶ πνεύματος καὶ ἐκχεῶ ἐπ' αὐτοὺς καὶ ἀντιλήψονται σου«.

9.5.2 | And if i will speak briefly about the spirit, i would not hesitate. For straightaway the lord says to Moses, "Bring up to me seventy elders on the mountain, and i will take from the spirit on you and pour it on them, and they will share your power."

9.5.3 | περὶ δὲ τοῦ υἱοῦ ὅπως γινώμεν, <ὁ> πατὴρ λέγει »ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον εἰκόνα ἡμετέραν καὶ καθ' ὁμοίωσιν«· τὸ δὲ »ποιήσωμεν« οὐχ ἐνός ἐστι σημαντικόν, καὶ »ἔβρεξε κύριος ἐπὶ Σόδομα καὶ Γόμορρα πῦρ καὶ θεῖον παρὰ κυρίου ἀπ' οὐρανοῦ«.

9.5.3 | But about the son, how we may know, the father says, "Let us make man in our image and likeness." And the "let us make" is not a sign of one alone, just as "the lord rained fire and sulfur from the lord out of heaven on Sodom and Gomorrah."

9.5.4 | περὶ δὲ προφητῶν *, ἐπειδὴ ἔφθη αὐτοῖς δοθῆναι > ἢ πεντάτευχος καὶ οὐκέτι ἄλλαι γραφαί, ἐστοίχησάν <τε> μόνῃ τῇ πεντατεύχῳ καὶ οὐχὶ τῇ ἀκολουθίᾳ. κἂν τε αὐτοῖς εἴπη τις νυνὶ περὶ τῶν ἄλλων, φημί δὲ περὶ Δαυὶδ καὶ Ἡσαΐα καὶ τῶν καθεξῆς, οὐ παραδέχονται, κατεχόμενοι παραδόσει τῇ προαχθείσῃ παρ' αὐτοῖς ἀπὸ τῶν ἰδίων πατέρων.

9.5.4 | But about the prophets, since the Pentateuch was given to them and no other writings, they arranged themselves only by the Pentateuch and not by the rest. And if someone now speaks to them about the others, I say about David and Isaiah and those who come after, they do not accept it, holding fast to the tradition handed down to them from their own ancestors.

9.5.5 | καὶ ἕως ὧδε ἔστω μοι ἡ περὶ Σαμαρειτῶν ὑφήγησις, ἐν βραχεῖ μὲν τῷ λόγῳ εἰρημένη, δι' ὃν προορῶμεν φόβον μὴ ἐκτεῖναι εἰς πλάτος τὴν ὑπόσχεσιν τῆς συντάξεως.

9.5.5 | And let the explanation about the Samaritans be to me up to this point, spoken briefly in the word, through which we foresee the fear not to stretch the promise of the law too wide.

Book 10

Section 1

10.1.1 | Εἰς τέσσαρας μὲν οὗτοι αἰρέσεις ἐτμήθησαν, τὰ ἴσα φρονοῦντες ἀλλήλοις <περὶ> περιτομῆς καὶ σαββάτου καὶ τῶν <ἄλλων τῶν> νόμῳ, ἐν βραχεῖ δὲ καὶ ἐν τινὶ ποσῶς ἕκαστος τῶν τριῶν πρὸς τοὺς πέλας διαφέρεται, πλὴν τῶν Δοσιθέων μόνον.

10.1.1 | They were cut into four groups, thinking the same about each other concerning circumcision and the sabbath and the other laws, but briefly and somewhat each of the three differs from those near them, except only the Dositheans.

10.1.2 | ἐνέμειναν γὰρ οἱ Ἑσσηνοὶ τῇ πρώτῃ ἀγωγῇ μηδὲν ὑπερβαλλόμενοι· μετὰ τούτους Γοροθηνοὶ διεφώνησαν πρὸς ἀλλήλους διὰ σμικρόν τι, ἐπειδὴ περ ἀντιλογία τις ἀνὰ μέσον αὐτῶν γεγένηται, φημὶ δὲ μέσον Σεβουαίων καὶ Ἑσσηνῶν καὶ Γοροθηνῶν.

10.1.2 | For the Essenes stayed with the first way, not going beyond anything; after them, the Gorothenes disagreed among themselves over a small matter, since a dispute arose between them. I say it was between the Sebuaians and the Essenes and the Gorothenes.

10.1.3 | ἡ δὲ ἀντιλογία τοῦτον ἔχει τὸν τρόπον· ὁ νόμος ἐκέλευεν ἐκ πανταχόθεν τοὺς Ἰουδαίους συναθροίζεσθαι εἰς τὰ Ἱεροσόλυμα, πολλάκις μὲν οὖν <καὶ> κατὰ τρεῖς καιροὺς τοῦ ἔτους, τε τὸν τῶν Ἀζύμων καὶ κατὰ Πεντηκοστὴν καὶ κατὰ Σκηνοπηγίαν.

10.1.3 | The dispute is like this: the law ordered the Jews to gather in Jerusalem from everywhere, often at three times of the year, namely the time of Unleavened Bread, and at Pentecost, and at Tabernacles.

10.1.4 | ὥκουν δὲ Ἰουδαῖοι διεσπαρμένοι

10.1.4 | The Jews lived scattered even in καὶ ἐν τοῖς τέρμασι τῆς Ἰουδαίας καὶ Σαμαρείας. συνέβαινε δὲ αὐτοῖς διὰ τῶν Σαμαρειτῶν τὴν ὁδοιπορίαν πολεῖσθαι the borders of Judea and Samaria. It happened to them that the Samaritans fought against those traveling through on the way to Jerusalem.

10.1.5 | ἐπεὶ οὖν συνετύγχανον ἐν ἐνὶ καιρῷ τὸ ἄθροισμα ἔχοντες τοῦ ἑορτάζειν, ἐντεῦθεν συμπληγάδες ἐγίνοντο· ἀλλὰ καὶ ὅτε ὠκοδόμει Ἑσδρας τὴν Ἱερουσαλήμ μετὰ τὴν ἐκ Βαβυλῶνος ἐπάνοδον, συνοικοδομῆσαι καὶ ἀποτραπέντων παρ’ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Ἑσδρα καὶ τοῦ Νεεμίας·

10.1.5 | So when they met at one time, having the gathering to celebrate, there were clashes; but also when Ezra was rebuilding Jerusalem after the return from Babylon, the Samaritans asked to help the Jews and to build together, but Ezra and Nehemiah refused them.

11.1.1 | τότε οἱ Σεβουαῖοι διὰ μῆνιν καὶ ὀργὴν τοῦ Ἑσδρα, δεύτερον δὲ διὰ τὴν προειρημένην πρόφασιν τὴν εἰς μάχην προκαλουμένην αὐτοὺς διὰ τῶν παριόντων.

11.1.1 | Then the Sebaites, because of anger and rage, changed the times of the festivals mentioned before, first out of anger at Ezra, and second because of the excuse mentioned before that led them to fight through those who came by.

11.1.2 | τάττουσι δὲ οὗτοι τὸν νέον μῆνα τῶν Ἀζύμων μετὰ τὸ νέον ἔτος, ὅπερ γίνεται ἐν τῷ μετοπώρῳ, τουτέστι μετὰ Αἰγυπτίοις Γορπιαῖος δὲ παρὰ Μακεδόσι παρ’ Ἑλλήσι δὲ Ἀπελλαῖος.

11.1.2 | These set the new month of the Unleavened after the new year, which happens in the late summer, that is, after the month Thesri, which the Romans call Augustus, the Egyptians call Messori, the Macedonians call Gorpaios, and the Greeks call Apellaios.

11.1.3 | ἀπεντεῦθεν οὗτοι ἀρχὴν τοῦ ἔτους make the Pentecost, and they celebrate their Tabernacles when the Jews celebrate the Unleavened and the Passover. Yet they did not obey the Sebaïtes.

Section 1

12.1.1 | Γοροθηνοὶ τε καὶ οἱ ἄλλοι. Ἐσσηνοὶ δὲ ἐγγὺς τῶν ἄλλων γινόμενοι μενοὶ τὰ ἴσα ἐκείνοις πράττουσι· μόνοι δὲ Γοροθηνοὶ καὶ Δοσίθεοι τὴν φιλονεικίαν εἰσὶ πρὸς Σεβουσίους κεκτημένοι.

12.1.1 | The Gorothenes and the others. The Essenes, being near the others, do the same things as them; only the Gorothenes and the Dositheans have a quarrelsome spirit against the Sebusians.

12.1.2 | καὶ ποιοῦσιν αὐτοὶ τὰς ἑορτάς, φημὶ δὲ Γοροθηνοὶ καὶ Δοσίθεοι, ὅταν οἱ Ἰουδαῖοι ἐπιτελῶσι, τῶν τε Ἀζύμων καὶ Πάσχων, Πεντηκοστῆς τε καὶ Σκηνοπηγιῶν καὶ νηστείας τῆς παρ' αὐτοῖς νομιτευομένης ἡμέραν μίαν. οἱ δὲ ἄλλοι οὐχ οὕτως ποιοῦσιν, ἀλλὰ ἰδιαζόντως ἐν μηνὶ οἷς προειπαμέν.

12.1.2 | And they themselves celebrate the festivals, I say the Gorothenes and Dositheans, when the Jews finish the Unleavened and Passover, Pentecost and Tabernacles, and the one day of fasting that they observe. But the others do not do this, but keep their own months, as I said before.

Book 13

Section 1

13.1.1 | Δοσίθεοι δὲ τούτοις διαφέρονται κατὰ πολλοὺς τρόπους. ἀνάστασιν γὰρ ὁμολογοῦσι καὶ πολιτεῖαι παρ' αὐτοῖς εἰσιν· ἐμψύχων ἀπέχονται, ἀλλὰ καὶ τινες αὐτῶν ἐγκρατεύονται ἀπὸ γάμου μετὰ τὸ † βιώσαι, ἄλλοι δὲ καὶ παρθενεύουσιν·

13.1.1 | The Dositheans differ from these in many ways. For they agree in the resurrection, and they have their own laws; they avoid spirits, but some of them control themselves by not marrying after they have lived, and others even remain virgins.

13.1.2 | ὡσαύτως τε περιτομὴν καὶ σάββατον καὶ τὸ μὴ θιγγάνειν τινὸς διὰ τὸ βδελύττεσθαι πάντα ἄνθρωπον ὁμοίως ἔχουσι. νηστείας δὲ τοὺς αὐτοὺς φυλάττειν καὶ ἐξασκεῖσθαι εἰσάγει ὁ λόγος.

13.1.2 | Likewise, they keep circumcision and the Sabbath, and not touching certain things because everyone finds them disgusting, all in the same way. The teaching also says that they keep and practice the same fasts.

13.1.3 | ἡ δὲ πρόφασις τοῦ τὸν δοσίθεον φρονῆσαι ταῦτα αὕτη· οὗτος συνεμίγη ἀπὸ Ἰουδαίων ὁρμώμενος εἰς τὰ τῶν Σαμαρειτῶν ἔθνη, ἐν παιδεύσει δὲ <τῇ> κατὰ τὸν προήκων δευτερώσεσιν τε ταῖς παρ' αὐτοῖς, θηρώμενος δὲ τὰ πρωτεῖα καὶ ἀποτυχῶν καὶ μὴ ἀξιωθεῖς τι παρὰ Ἰουδαίοις νομισθῆναι, ἐξέκλινέν εἰς τὸ Σαμαρειτικὸν γένος καὶ ταύτην τὴν αἵρεσιν προεστήσατο.

13.1.3 | The reason for the Dosithean thinking this way is this: he mixed himself, starting from the Jews, into the nations of the Samaritans, and in education both followed their earlier customs and their later ones. But, seeking the top positions and failing and not being considered worthy to be accepted by the Jews, he turned away to the Samaritan people and led this sect.

13.1.4 | Somewhere, withdrawing into a cave because of too much wishful thinking, he died in vain and in a fake way, fasting, as the story goes, from lack of bread and water, supposedly by his own choice. After a few days, some people came to check on him and found the body smelling bad, full of worms, and covered with a cloud of flies. So, having wasted his own life in this way, he became the cause of their sect, from which those who copy him are called Dositheans or Dosithaeans.

Section 2

13.2.1 | Καὶ αὐταὶ μὲν αἱ ἐλθοῦσαι εἰς ἡμῶν τὴν γνῶσιν περὶ τῶν προειρημένων τεσσάρων αἱρέσεων διαφοραί, αἵτινες ἀνατραπήσονται διὰ τῶν κατ' αὐτῶν εἰρημένων.

13.2.1 | And these same ones who have come to our knowledge about the four sects mentioned before are differences, which will be overturned through what has been said against them.

13.2.2 | ἐπάνειμι δὲ αὖθις τὰς κατὰ

δ. Ἰουδαϊσμός λοιπόν. ὁ δὲ Ἰουδαϊσμός ἐμερίσθη εἰς αἱρέσεις ἑπτὰ·

13.2.2 | I will return again, gathering the intrusions and pastures of error through the course of time, and making a counter-argument against them, aiming to reveal their tricks and quickly expose the proof of the poison of these bad and destructive snakes. The sects of the Samaritans are full.
Now, Judaism was divided into seven sects;

14.1.1 | The sects again, after those mentioned of the Samaritans and probably the above of the Greeks, are shown to be seven in number among the Jews before the coming in the flesh of Christ, both in Judea and Jerusalem.

Section 2

14.2.1 | 2. Πρῶτοι Σαδδουκαῖοι, ἀπόσπασμα ὄντες ἀπὸ Δοσιθέου τοῦ προλεγεμένου. ἐπονομάζουσι δὲ οὗτοι ἑαυτοὺς Σαδδουκαίους, δῆθεν ἀπὸ δικαιοσύνης τῆς ἐπικλήσεως ὀρμωμένης· Σεδεκ γὰρ ἐρμηνεύεται δικαιοσύνη. ἦν δὲ καὶ Σαδδούκ τις τοῦνομα κατὰ τὸ παλαιὸν τῶν ἱερέων.

14.2.1 | 2. First, the Sadducees, being a group separated from Dositheus, who was mentioned before. They call themselves Sadducees, supposedly from the name of justice; for Zadok is interpreted as justice.
There was also a man named Zadok among the old priests.

14.2.2 | ἀλλ' οὐκ ἐνέμειναν οὗτοι ἐν τῇ τοῦ ἐπιστάτου αὐτῶν διδασκαλίᾳ. ἠθέτησαν

14.2.2 | But they did not stay in the teaching of their leader. For they denied the μὲν γὰρ οὗτοι νεκρῶν τὴν ἀνάστασιν, ὅμοια Σαμαρείταις φρονοῦντες· οὐ παραδέχονται δὲ ἀγγέλους, ὅπερ Σαμαρεῖται οὐκ ἄθετοῦσι· πνεῦμα δὲ ἅγιον οὐκ ἴσασιν, οὐ γὰρ εἰσι τούτου ἡξιωμένοι· τὰ πάντα δὲ ἴσα Σαμαρείταις φυλάττουσιν.

resurrection of the dead, thinking like the Samaritans. But they do not accept angels, which the Samaritans do not reject. And they do not know the Holy Spirit, for they are not worthy of it. And in all things, they keep equal to the Samaritans.

14.2.3 | οὐκ ἦσαν δὲ οὗτοι Σαμαρεῖται, ἀλλὰ Ἰουδαῖοι. ἐν Ἱεροσολύμοις γὰρ ἐθυσίαζον τὰ τε ἄλλα πάντα Ἰουδαίοις συνέπραττον.

14.2.3 | But these were not Samaritans, but Jews. For they sacrificed in Jerusalem and did all other things together with the Jews.

14.3.1 | And they themselves will be turned away from the trustworthy voice of the lord, which they twisted for themselves through the solving of the question, when they came to him saying, 'Can there be a resurrection of the dead?' And that seven brothers were born, and the first married a woman and died childless, and the second took her, Moses commanding to marry the wife of the brother who died childless and to lead her to the brother, to raise up seed in the name of the one who died. So, the first took her, he says, and the second, and they died, likewise all seven. But in the resurrection of the dead, whose wife will she be, since all seven knew her?

14.3.2 | But the lord said, "You are mistaken, not knowing the scriptures nor the power of god. For in the resurrection of the dead, they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels. And that the dead will rise, Moses will teach you, αὐτῷ ἐχρημάτισε λέγων, ἐγώ εἰμι ὁ θεὸς Ἀβραάμ καὶ ὁ θεὸς Ἰσαὰκ καὶ ὁ θεὸς Ἰακώβ· θεὸς δὲ ἐστὶ ζώντων καὶ οὐχὶ νεκρῶν». καὶ »ἐφίμωσεν αὐτῶν τὸ στόμα«. εὐάλωτοι γὰρ οὗτοι καὶ μὴ δυνάμενοι ἀντιστῆναι μὴ μίαν ὥραν πρὸς τὴν ἀλήθειαν.

since god spoke to him saying, 'I am the god of Abraham and the god of Isaac and the god of Jacob.' But god is the god of the living, not of the dead." And he silenced their mouths. For they were caught and could not resist even for one hour against the truth.

Book 15

15.1.1 | Μετὰ τούτους τοὺς Σαδδουκαίους Γραμματεῖς γεγόνασιν, ἀνὰ μέσον τοῦ χρόνου ἢ καὶ σὺν αὐτοῖς τὴν ἡλικίαν κατὰγοντες· οἵτινες ἦσαν δευτερωταὶ τοῦ νόμου ὡς γραμματικὴν τινα ἐπιστήμην ὑφηγοῦμενοι, τὰ μὲν ἄλλα πράττοντες τῶν Ἰουδαίων περιττὴν δέ τινα δῆθεν σοφιστικὴν ὑφήγησιν εἰσηγοῦμενοι, 15.1.1 | After these, the Sadducees became scribes, living in the middle of the time or even with them in age; who were second in the law, leading some kind of grammatical knowledge, doing the other things of the Jews and introducing some kind of extra, supposedly clever teaching.

15.1.2 | οὐ κατὰ νόμον μόνον βιοῦντες, ἀλλὰ περισσότερον ζεστῶν βαπτισμοὺς «φυλάσσοντες» καὶ ποτηρίων καὶ πινακίων· καὶ τῶν ἄλλων σκευῶν τῆς ὑπηρεσίας, ὡς δῆθεν ἐπὶ τὸ ἀκραιφνὲς καὶ ὅσιον διακείμενοι, πυγμῇ μὲν τὰς χεῖρας νιπτόμενοι, πυγμῇ δὲ καὶ μολυσμούς τινας δι' ὑδάτων καὶ λουτρῶν ἀποσμηχόμενοι,

15.1.2 | Not living only according to the law, but more carefully keeping warm baptisms and cups and plates and the other vessels of service, as if they were set apart for pure and holy use, washing their hands with a fist, and also washing away some impurities with water and baths.

15.1.3 | ἔχοντες δέ τινα »κράσπεδα« σημαντικὰ τῆς αὐτῶν πολιτείας εἰς ἐπίδειξιν κόμπου καὶ ἔπαινον τῶν θεωμένων· καὶ »φυλακτήρια« παρ' ἑαυτοῖς ἐπὶ τὰ ἱμάτια ἐπετίθεντο τουτέστι πλατέα σήματα πορφύρας.

15.1.3 | Having some »fringes« important to their way of life as a show of pride and praise to those watching; and »amulets« they put on their clothes, that is, wide marks of purple.

15.1.4 | νομίση δ' ἂν τις, ἐπειδήπερ καὶ ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ τοῦτο ἐμφέρεται, μὴ ἄρα περὶ περιάπτων λέγει, ἐπειδὴ καὶ εἴωθόν τινες τὰ περιάπτα φυλακτήρια ὀνομάζειν.

15.1.4 | Someone might think, since this is also mentioned in the gospel, that it is not about amulets, because some people used to call amulets »amulets«.

15.1.5 | The story does not at all concern this. But since such people put on robes, either outer garments or dalmatics, or short cloaks made from broad-striped purple silk, those who were careful used to call the purple marks »amulets«. Because of this, the lord called them amulets according to those people.

15.1.6 | The context also shows the meaning of the name, »and the fringes of the clothes«. For the fringes, he means the tassels, and the amulets, he means the purple marks. He says, »Make your amulets wide, and make the fringes of your clothes large.«

15.1.7 | Each of the four wings of the spinning wheel had little ribbons tied from the spindle, at the time when a girl was practicing her virginity. For each one, setting a time marked a season of purity or self-control, and these originals showed to people the promises made by them, so that no one would touch what was sacred.

15.2.1 | Δευτερώσεις δὲ παρ' αὐτοῖς τέσσαρες ἦσαν μία μὲν εἰς ὄνομα Μωυσέως τοῦ προφήτου <φερομένη>· δευτέρα δὲ εἰς τὸν αὐτῶν Ἀκίβαν οὕτω καλούμενον ἢ Βαρακίβαν· ἄλλη δὲ εἰς τὸν Ἀδδᾶν ἢ Ἄνναν τὸν καὶ Ἰούδαν· ἑτέρα δὲ εἰς τοὺς υἱοὺς Ἀσαμωναίου.

15.2.1 | There were also four others among them: one carried the name of Moses the prophet, a second was for their Akiba, also called Barakiba; another was for Adda or Annas, also called Judah; and the last was for the sons of Asamonaeus.

15.2.2 | ἐκ τούτων τῶν τεσσάρων δευτερώσεων ὅσα παρ' αὐτοῖς νενόμισται οἴησει σοφίας (ἀσοφίας δὲ τὰ πλεῖστα), αὐχεῖται καὶ ᾄδεται καὶ ἐν τάξει προκριτέας διδασκαλίας βοᾷται τε καὶ φημίζεται.

15.2.2 | From these four others, as many as are considered wisdom among them (but mostly foolishness), he boasts and sings, and in order of the best teachings, he shouts and is spoken of.

16.1.1 | Ταύταις ταῖς δυσὶν αἰρέσεσιν κατ' ἀκολουθίαν συνῆπται ἡ τῶν Φαρισαίων αἵρεσις ἄλλη τις· οἵτινες τὰ αὐτὰ τούτοις ἐφρόνουν, Γραμματεῦσι δὲ φημι τοῖς ἐρμηνευομένοις νομοδιδασκάλοις· συνῆσαν γὰρ αὐτοῖς καὶ οἱ Νομικοί.

16.1.1 | After these two sects in order, another sect of the Pharisees joined; those who thought the same things as these, and I say the scribes who interpret the law teachers; for the lawyers also joined with them.

16.1.2 | But the Pharisees also thought other things different from these, having greater rules. For some of them, when they practiced and set a period of ten years or eight years or four years, similarly of virginity or self-control, constantly praying, they kept up this struggle more often because they pretended not to suffer or lose anything bodily, working out a foul flow of the body through dreams.

16.1.3 | καὶ οἱ μὲν σανίδα ἑαυτοῖς ἐφιλοκάλουν σπιθαμῆς μόνης τὸ πλάτος καὶ ἐπὶ ταύτην ἑαυτοὺς ἐτίθεσαν κατὰ τὴν ἑσπέραν, ἵν' εἰ ὑπνώσειέν τις καὶ καταπέσοι πέσοι εἰς τοῦδαφος αὐθις ἐγείρηται εἰς εὐχὴν, διὰ τὸ ἄγρυπνον ἔχειν τὸν βίον κατὰ τὸ δυνατόν.

16.1.3 | And some called a board for themselves only a span wide, and on this they laid themselves down in the evening, so that if someone fell asleep and fell to the ground, they would rise again to prayer, to keep their life as sleepless as possible.

16.1.4 | ἄλλοι δὲ κόχλακας συλλέγοντες ἑαυτοῖς ὑπεστρώννουν εἰς τὸ νυττομένους μὴ ὑπῶω βαθεῖ φέρεσθαι, ἀλλὰ βιάζεσθαι γρηγόρησιν ἑαυτοῖς προσπορίζεσθαι· ἄλλοι δὲ καὶ ἀκάνθας στρωμνὴν εἶχον διὰ τὴν αὐτὴν ὑπόθεσιν.

16.1.4 | Others gathered shells for themselves and spread them under where they lay down, so that they would not be carried away by deep sleep, but forced themselves to stay awake; others even had a bed of thorns for the same reason.

16.1.5 | ἐνήστευον δὲ δις τοῦ σαββάτου, δευτέραν καὶ πέμπτην· ἀπεδεκάτουν δὲ τὴν δεκάτωσιν, τὰς ἀπαρχὰς ἐδίδουν, τριακοντάδας τε καὶ πεντηκοντάδας, τὰς τε θυσίας καὶ τὰς εὐχὰς ἀσφαλέστατα ἀπετίννουν.

16.1.5 | They fasted twice on the Sabbath, on Monday and Thursday; and they gave a tenth of a tenth, offering first fruits, and also gave thirtieths and fiftieths, paying off sacrifices and prayers very carefully.

16.1.6 | τῷ δὲ προειρημένῳ σχήματι τῶν Γραμματέων προήρχοντο, διὰ τοι τῆς ἀμπεχόνης καὶ διὰ τῶν ἄλλων σχημάτων καὶ γυναικικῶν ἱματίων ἐν πλατείαις ταῖς κρηπῖσιν καὶ γλώτταις τῶν ὑποδημάτων προϊόντες.

16.1.6 | They went ahead in the shape of the scribes mentioned before, wearing their outer robes and other clothes and women's garments, walking in the wide streets along the edges and tongues of their sandals.

16.1.7 | ἐλέγοντο δὲ Φαρισαῖοι διὰ τὸ ἀφωρισμένους εἶναι αὐτοὺς ἀπὸ τῶν ἄλλων διὰ τὴν ἐθελοπερισσοθησκεῖαν τὴν παρ' αὐτοῖς νενομισμένην· Φάρες γὰρ κατὰ τὴν Ἑβραϊδα ἐρμηνεύεται ἀφορισμός.

16.1.7 | They were called Pharisees because they were separated from the others, due to the self-excessive religion that was established among them; for 'Pharisees' means 'separated' in Hebrew.

Section 2

16.2.1 | 2. Ὁμολόγουν δὲ οὗτοι ἀνάστασιν νεκρῶν, ἐπίστευόν τε ἀγγέλους εἶναι καὶ πνεῦμα, ἠγνόησαν δὲ υἱὸν θεοῦ ὡς οἱ ἄλλοι.

16.2.1 | They agreed on the resurrection of the dead, and they believed that angels and spirit exist, but they ignored the Son of God like the others.

16.2.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ εἰμαρμένη καὶ ἀστρονομία παρ' αὐτοῖς σφόδρα ἐχρημάτιζεν. αὐτίκα γοῦν τὰ Ἑλληνικὰ ὀνόματα τὰ ἐκ τῆς τῶν πεπλανημένων ἀστρονομίας κατὰ τὴν Ἑβραϊκὴν διάλεκτον ἐτέροις ὀνόμασι παρ' αὐτοῖς μετωνόμασται·

16.2.2 | But fate and astronomy were also very important among them. At once, the Greek names that came from the mistaken astronomy, according to the Hebrew dialect, were changed by others among them into different names.

16.2.3 | οἷον Ἥλιος ἡμὰ καὶ σέμες, Σελήνη ἱέρεε καὶ ἀλβανά, ὅθεν καὶ μῆνη καλεῖται (ἱέρεε γὰρ ὁ μὴν λέγεται, μῆνη δὲ ἡ σελήνη, καὶ παρ' Ἑλλήσι διὰ τὸν μῆνα), Ἄρης χωχέβ ὀκβόλ, Ἑρμῆς χωχέβ ὀχομόδ, Ζεὺς χωχέβ βάαλ, Ἀφροδίτη ζερούα ἤτοι λουήθ, Κρόνος χωχέβ σαβήθ λέγεται δὲ παρ' αὐτοῖς καὶ ἄλλοις ὀνόμασιν, οὐκ ἠδυνήθην δὲ ἀκριβῶς τὴν τούτων ἐπωνυμίαν ἐκθεῖναι).

16.2.3 | For example, Helios is called hem and semes, Selene is called hierē and albana, from which comes the word month (for hierē means month, and Selene means moon, and among the Greeks it is called month because of the moon), Ares is called hem okbol, Hermes hem ochomod, Zeus hem baal, Aphrodite zerua or loueth, Cronos hem sabeth; and they are also called by other names among them, but I was not able to explain their names exactly.

16.2.4 | ἀλλὰ καὶ τὰ ματαίως νομιζόμενα εἰς ἀριθμὸν στοιχείων παρὰ τοῖς πεπλανημένοις ὀνόματα, ἃ ζῳδία καλοῦσι * καὶ ἀθεμίτως τὸν κόσμον εἰς ἀσέβειαν ἐπλάνησαν, οὕτω πάλιν Ἑβραϊκῶς [αὐτὰ] καλοῦσι· τελά σῶρ θωμίμ σαρατὰν ἀρί βεθουλά μωζανή&μ&g> ἀκράβ κέσετ γαδί δαλλι οἵτινες τοῖς Ἑλλήσι μάτην, λέγω δὴ οἱ Φαρισαῖοι,

16.2.4 | But also the names of the elements, which the mistaken ones wrongly think about, and which they call zodiac signs, and wrongly led the world into godlessness, they call these again in Hebrew: tela, sor, thomim, saratan, ari, bethula, mozanem, akrabb, keset, gadi, dalli, who among the Greeks, I say, are the Pharisees in vain.

16.2.5 | ἀκολουθήσαντες μετωνόμασαν εἰς τὴν Ἑβραϊδα τὰ αὐτὰ ὀνόματα οὕτω· Κριὸν δὴ τὸν παρ' ἐκείνοις λεγόμενον τελά,

16.2.5 | Following this, they changed the same names into Hebrew like this: Aries, which they call tela; Taurus, sor; Gemini,

Ταῦρον σῶρ, Διδύμους θωμίμ, Καρκίνον σαρατάν, Λέοντα ἀρί, Παρθένον βεθουλά, Ζυγὸν >, Σκορπίον ἀκράβ, Τοξότην κέσετ, Αἰγόκερων γαδί Ὑδρηχόν δαλλί, Ἰχθύας δεγγίμ.

thomim; Cancer, saratan; Leo, ari; Virgo, bethula; Libra, [missing]; Scorpio, akrabb; Sagittarius, keset; Capricorn, gadi; Aquarius, dalli; Pisces, deggim.

Section 3

16.3.1 | 3. Ταῦτα δὲ μοι οὐκ εἰς στρόβησιν τῶν ἐντυγχανόντων κατατέτακται οὐδὲ ἵνα τὴν χυδαιολογίαν τῶν τὴν ἀσύστατον καὶ φρενοβλαβῆ μωρολογίαν τῆς ἀστρονομίας τῷ βίῳ παρειαξάντων συστήσω· ἐλήλεγκται γὰρ αὕτη ὑπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας ἀσύστατος οὔσα καὶ ἐσφαλμένη.

16.3.1 | 3. But these things are not arranged by me to confuse those who listen, nor to add the rude talk of the unstable and foolish nonsense of astronomy into life; for this has been shown by the truth to be unstable and wrong.

16.3.2 | εἴρηται δὲ ἡμῖν ἐν ἄλλοις λόγοις πολλὰ πρὸς ἀνατροπὴν τῶν γένεσιν καὶ εἰμαρμένην νομιζόντων, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῷ προοιμίῳ τούτου τοῦ συντάγματος ἐν ὀλίγῳ ἡμῖν κατὰ τῶν αὐτῶν πεπραγμάτευται· διὰ δὲ τὸ μή τινα νομίσαι κατὰ συκοφαντίαν ἡμᾶς κατὰ τινων φέρεισθαι καὶ μὴ τὰ ἀληθῆ ἐκ παραδόσεων ἀκριβώσαντας ἐκθέσθαι ταῦτα ἡμῖν καὶ ὀνομαστὶ εἴρηται.

16.3.2 | It has been said to us in other speeches many things against those who believe in fate and destiny, but also briefly in the introduction of this work, we have dealt with the same things; and so that no one thinks we are accused by some and do not set forth the true things carefully from traditions, these things have been said to us clearly.

16.3.3 | ἐσχάτη δὲ αὐτοῖς ἀπορία καὶ ἡλιθιότης οὐχ ἡ τυχοῦσα, τοῖς καὶ ἀνάστασιν ὁμολογοῦσιν καὶ κρίσιν δικαίαν ὀριζομένοις. πῶς γὰρ δύναται κρίσις εἶναι καὶ εἰμαρμένη;

16.3.3 | But to them, the last thing is confusion and foolishness, not by chance, for they also agree on resurrection and set a just judgment. For how can judgment and fate be at the same time?

16.3.4 | δυοῖν γὰρ ἀνάγκη θάτερον, ἢ γενέσεως ὑπαρχούσης μὴ εἶναι κρίσιν διὰ τὸ τὸν πράττοντα οὐκ ἄφ' ἑαυτοῦ πράττειν, ἀλλὰ κατὰ ἀνάγκην ἐπικρατείας

16.3.4 | For with two things there is a need for one or the other: either, if birth exists, there is no judgment because the one acting does not act by himself, but by the τῆς πεπρωμένης,

power of the fixed fate,

16.3.5 | ἢ ὅτι] κρίσεως ὑπαρχούσης καὶ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ ἐπαπειλουμένης καὶ νόμων δικάζοντων καὶ τῶν τὸ πονηρὸν δρώντων δίκην ὑπεχόντων — νόμου τε ὁμολογουμένου δικαίου καὶ κρίσεως θεοῦ ἀληθεστάτης — ἀργεῖν τὴν πεπρωμένην καὶ μὴ ἔχειν ὅλως σύστασιν τὸ παράπαν·

16.3.5 | Or that, with judgment existing and truly threatened, and laws judging, and those doing evil suffering punishment — the law being agreed to be just and the judgment of god most true — the fixed fate is idle and has no power at all.

Section 4

16.4.1 | 4. ὁπότε διὰ τὸ δύνασθαι ἁμαρτεῖν καὶ μὴ ἁμαρτεῖν τὸν μὲν διὰ τὰ ἁμαρτήματα δίκην ἀπαιτεῖσθαι, τὸν δὲ ἔπαινον ἀπεκδέχεσθαι διὰ τὸ εὖ πεπραχέναι ὥριστα καθ' ἑκατέρων τὸ διάφορον.

16.4.1 | 4. Since it is possible to sin and not to sin, it is decided that the one who sins should be punished for the sins, and the one who does well should receive praise, each according to their difference.

16.4.2 | ὡς καὶ μιᾷ φωνῇ † δικαίᾳ λέγειν συντόμῳ ἀληθείᾳ <τῇ> διὰ Ἡσαΐου τοῦ προφήτου ἐκ προσώπου κυρίου εἰρημένη »ἐὰν θέλητε καὶ εἰσακούσητέ μου, τὰ ἀγαθὰ τῆς γῆς φάψεσθε· ἐὰν δὲ μὴ θέλητε μηδὲ εἰσακούσητέ μου, μάχαιρα ὑμᾶς κατέδετα.

16.4.2 | Just as with one voice, justly, in brief truth, through Isaiah the prophet, spoken from the Lord's presence: "If you are willing and listen to me, you will enjoy the good things of the land; but if you are not willing and do not listen to me, the sword will eat you up."

16.4.3 | τὸ γὰρ στόμα κυρίου ἐλάλησε ταῦτα«. ὥστε παντὶ τῷ δῆλόν ἐστι καὶ σαφὲς καὶ ἀναμφίβολον, ὡς τὸ αὐτεξούσιον παρέσχετο ὁ θεὸς <ὁ> δι' αὐτοῦ τό »ἐὰν θέλητε καὶ ἐὰν μὴ θέλητε«, ὡς περὶ τὸν ἄνθρωπον εἶναι τὸ ἀγαθοεργεῖν ἢ τὸ φαύλων ἐφίεσθαι πραγμάτων.

16.4.3 | For the mouth of the lord spoke these things. So it is clear and plain and without doubt to everyone, that god gave free will through himself in the words "if you are willing and if you are not willing," about how a person can do good or desire bad things.

16.4.4 | ἄρα τοίνυν ἔσφαλται ἡ διάνοια τῶν

16.4.4 | So then, the thinking of those who γένεσιν εἶναι νομισάντων καὶ μάλιστα Φαρισαίων· οἷς ἐπιφωνητέον ἐστὶ πυκνότερον καὶ πολλαχῶς, οὐ διὰ μιᾶς φωνῆς ἀλλὰ πολλακίς τὰ παρὰ τοῦ σωτῆρος πρὸς αὐτοὺς εἰρημένα »οὐαὶ ὑμῖν, Γραμματεῖς καὶ Φαρισαῖοι ὑποκριταί, ὅτι καταλελοίπατε τὰ βαρέα τοῦ νόμου, τὴν κρίσιν καὶ τὸν ἔλεον, καὶ ἀποδεκατοῦτε τὸ ἄνηθον καὶ τὸ ἡδύοσμον καὶ τὸ πήγανον, καὶ καθαρίζετε τὸ ἐκτὸς τοῦ ποτηρίου καὶ τοῦ πίνακος, τὸ δὲ ἐντὸς ἐστὶ μεστὸν ἀκαθαρσίας καὶ ἀκрасίας.

believed in creation, especially the Pharisees, was wrong; to them it must be said again and again, not with one voice but many times, the things the savior said to them: "Woe to you, teachers and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you have left out the important parts of the law, judgment and mercy, and you tithe dill and mint and cumin, but you clean the outside of the cup and the plate, while inside they are full of dirt and wildness."

16.4.5 | καὶ δοκιμάζετε δίκαιον εἶναι ὀμνύναι ἐν τῷ ἐπάνω τοῦ θυσιαστηρίου, τὸ δὲ ἐν αὐτῷ τῷ θυσιαστηρίῳ παρ' ὑμῖν τοῦ ὄρκου λέλυται, καὶ τὸ ἐν τῷ οὐρανῷ ὀμνύναι οὐδὲν εἶναι φατε, ἐὰν δέ τις ὁμόση ὑπεράνω τοῦ οὐρανοῦ, τοῦτο δεδικαίωται. οὐχὶ τὸ θυσιαστήριον βαστάζει τὸ ἐπικείμενον καὶ ὁ οὐρανὸς θρόνος ἐστὶ τοῦ ἐπ' αὐτῷ ἐπικαθεζομένου;

16.4.5 | And you test it right to swear by what is above the altar, but the oath on the altar itself is broken by you, and you say that swearing by heaven means nothing, but if someone swears by what is above heaven, that is justified. Does not the altar hold what is on it, and is not heaven the throne of the one who sits on it?

16.4.6 | ἢ ὅτι λέγετε, ἐὰν τις εἴπῃ πατρὶ καὶ μητρὶ κορβάν, ὃ ἐστὶ δῶρον ὃ ἐξ ἐμοῦ ὠφελήθησιν, οὐκέτι μὴ τιμήσῃ τὸν πατέρα, καὶ ἡθετήσατε τὴν ἐντολὴν τοῦ θεοῦ διὰ τῆς τῶν πρεσβυτέρων ὑμῶν παραδόσεως.

16.4.6 | Or because you say, if someone says to father and mother 'corban,' which means a gift dedicated to me, then they no longer must honor their father, and you have set aside the command of god because of the tradition of your elders.

16.4.7 | καὶ κυκλεύετε θάλασσαν καὶ ξηρὰν ποιῆσαι ἓνα προσήλυτον, καὶ ὅταν γένηται, ποιεῖτε αὐτὸν υἱὸν γεέννης διπλότερον ὑμῶν».

16.4.7 | And you go around the sea and the dry land to make one proselyte, and when he becomes one, you make him twice as much a son of hell as yourselves.

16.4.8 | Τί τοίνυν περιττότερον τῶν ἁγίων ρήσεων προβάλοιτό τις πρὸς ἀντίθεσιν τῶν προειρημένων; ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀρκεῖσθαι

16.4.8 | What then is more unnecessary than to put forward holy sayings against what has been said before? But I think it is μᾶλλον ἡγοῦμαι ταῖς τοῦ σωτῆρος σοφαῖς καὶ ἀληθιναῖς λέξεσι, πρὸς ἃς οὐκ ἡδυνήθησαν ἀντωπῆσαι οὔτε πρὸς τὸ βραχύτατον.

better to be satisfied with the wise and true words of the savior, against which they could not oppose even the smallest part.

Book 17

Section 1

17.1.1 | Ταύταις δὲ συνέπεταί τις αἵρεσις Ἡμεροβαπτιστῶν οὕτω καλουμένων, μηδὲν μὲν παραλλάττουσα τῶν ἄλλων, ἀλλ' ἴσα τῶν Γραμματέων καὶ Φαρισαίων φρονοῦσα, οὐ μὴν ἐξισουμένη τοῖς Σαδδουκαίοις ἐν τῇ τῶν νεκρῶν ἀναστάσεως ἀρνήσει, ἀλλὰ τῇ ἀπιστίᾳ τῇ

17.1.1 | To these is joined the heresy of the so-called Hemerobaptists, who change nothing from the others, but think the same as the Scribes and Pharisees, yet they do not equal the Sadducees in denying the resurrection of the dead, but in their unbelief...

17.1.2 | ἐν τοῖς ἄλλοις. τοῦτο δὲ περιττὸν ἢ αὕτη κεκτημένη ἡ αἵρεσις, ὥστε ἐν ἔαρί τε καὶ μετοπώρῳ χειμῶνί τε καὶ θέρει πάντοτε καθ' ἡμέραν βαπτίζεσθαι, ὅθεν καὶ Ἡμεροβαπτιστῶν εἴληφε τὴν ἐπωνυμίαν.

17.1.2 | In other things, they are unbelieving. This heresy was especially strange because it kept on baptizing every day, in spring and autumn, in winter and summer, which is why they got the name Hemerobaptists.

17.1.3 | ἔφασκε γὰρ αὕτη ἡ αἵρεσις ἄλλως μὴ εἶναι ζῆν ἀνθρώπῳ, εἰ μὴ τι ἄρα καθ' ἐκάστην ἡμέραν βαπτίζοιτο τις ἐν ὕδατι, ἀπολουόμενός τε καὶ ἀγνιζόμενος ἀπὸ πάσης αἰτίας.

17.1.3 | For this heresy said that a person could not live otherwise, unless someone was baptized in water every single day, washing and being made pure from every fault.

Section 2

17.2.1 | 2. Πρὸς ταύτην δὲ καὶ αὐτὴν ἐξ ἐνὸς λόγου ἡμῖν ἀνατροπὴ γενήσεται, ὅτι ἀπιστίας παρ' αὐτοῖς μᾶλλον ἢ πίστεως οἱ λόγοι. ἐλέγχει γὰρ αὐτοὺς ἡ συνείδησις αὐτῶν καθ' ἐκάστην ἡμέραν

17.2.1 | 2. But against this one reason will overthrow them for us, because their words show more unbelief than faith. Their own conscience proves them wrong, as they are baptized every single day, showing βαπτιζομένων, ὥς ὅτι ἡ ἐλπίς τῆς χθὲς ἡμέρας παρ' αὐτοῖς τέθνηκεν, ἡ πίστις τε καὶ ὁ ἀγνισμός.

that their hope from yesterday has died, along with their faith and purification.

17.2.2 | εἰ μὲν γὰρ ἐνὶ βαπτίσματι ἐστοίχουν, ἄρα ἐθάρρουν τούτῳ ὡς ζῶντι καὶ ἀθανάτῳ ὄντι εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα· ὁπότε δὲ σήμερον μὲν ἐλούσαντο, οὐχ ἕνεκεν πλύσεως σώματος ἢ ρύπου, ἀλλ' ἕνεκεν ἀμαρτημάτων, ἄρα κατ' αὐτοὺς ἐκαθαρίσθη· αὐτοὶ δὲ τῇ ἐξῆς πάλιν λουόμενοι ἀπεφήναντο τὸ παρελθὸν ἐν τῇ χθὲς τεθνάναι βάπτισμα. εἰ μὴ γὰρ τὸ πρὸ μᾶς ἐτεθνήκει, οὐχ ἂν εἰς τὴν ἐξῆς ἑτέρου ἐπεδέοντο πρὸς καθαρισμὸν ἀμαρτημάτων.

17.2.2 | If they stood by one baptism, then they would have confidence that it was for a living and immortal one forever; but when they washed today, not for washing the body or dirt, but for sins, then they were purified according to themselves; and again, washing the next day, they showed that the baptism from yesterday had died.
For if the one before had not died, they would not need another the next day for the cleansing of sins.

17.2.3 | καὶ εἰ ὅλως οὐκ ἀπέχονται τοῦ ἀμαρτάνειν, νομίζοντες ὅτι τὸ ὕδωρ καθαρίσει τοὺς ἐνδελεχῶς καθ' ἐκάστην ἀμαρτάνοντας, μάταιος αὐτῶν ἡ ὑπόνοια καὶ τὸ ἐπιτήδευμα φροῦδον καὶ ἔωλον.

17.2.3 | And even if they do not stop sinning at all, thinking that the water will cleanse those who keep sinning every single day, their suspicion is useless and their practice is empty and pointless.

17.2.4 | οὔτε γὰρ Ὡκεανὸς οὔτε πάντα τὰ ρεῖθρα καὶ πελάγη, ποταμοὶ τε ἀέννοιοι καὶ πηγαὶ πᾶσά τε ἡ ὀμβροτόκος φύσις συνελθοῦσαι δύνανται ἀμαρτήματα ἀφανίσαι, ἐπειδὴ περ οὐ κατὰ λόγον οὐδὲ ἐκ προστάγματος θεοῦ γίνεται· μετάνοια γὰρ καθαρίζει καὶ τὸ ἐν βάπτισμα διὰ τῆς τῶν μυστηρίων ὀνομασίας.

17.2.4 | For neither the Ocean nor all the streams and seas, nor the endless rivers and springs, nor all the rain-giving nature gathered together can wipe away sins, since it does not happen by reason or by God's command; for repentance cleanses, and the one baptism through the name of the mysteries.

17.2.5 | παρελεύσομαι δὲ καὶ ταύτην, αὐτάρκως ἡγησάμενος τὸ ἐν ὀλίγῳ τὸ ἀλέξημα τῆς αὐτῶν φρενοβλαβείας ὑποδείξας, ὥς ἐνταῦθα τοῖς ἐντυγχάνουσι συντέτακται.

17.2.5 | But I will pass over this also, thinking it enough to have shown briefly the defense against their madness, as it is arranged here for those who meet.

Book 18

18.1.1 | Ἐξῆς δὲ ἐπιβαλοῦμαι διηγέσθαι τὰ κατὰ τὴν αἵρεσιν τὴν μετὰ τοὺς Ἡμεροβαπτιστὰς καλουμένην τῶν Νασαραίων, οἵτινες Ἰουδαῖοί εἰσι τὸ γένος, ἀπὸ τῆς Γαλααδίτιδος καὶ Βασανίτιδος καὶ τῶν ἐπέκεινα τοῦ Ἰορδάνου ὀρμώμενοι, ὡς ὁ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐλθὼν παρίεχει λόγος, ἐξ αὐτοῦ δὲ τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ οὖσα, ἥτις τὰ πάντα ἰουδαΐζεν, μηδὲν περαιτέρω φρονοῦσα σχεδὸν τῶν προειρημένων.

18.1.1 | Next, I will go on to tell about the sect called the Nazarenes, which came after the Baptizers. They are Jews by race, coming from Galaditis and Basanitis and the lands beyond the Jordan, as the one who came to us says. They are from Israel, which kept all the Jewish ways, thinking almost nothing beyond what was said before.

18.1.2 | περιτομὴν γὰρ ὡσαύτως ἐκέκτητο, σάββατον τὸ αὐτὸ ἐφύλαττεν, ἑορταῖς ταῖς αὐταῖς προσανεῖχεν, οὐ μὴν εἰμαρμένην παρεισήγεν οὔτε ἀστρονομίαν.

18.1.2 | For they also kept circumcision, they kept the same Sabbath, they celebrated the same festivals, but they did not add fate or astrology.

18.1.3 | καὶ πατέρας μὲν ἐδέχετο τοὺς ἐν τῇ πεντατεύχῳ ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἀδὰμ μέχρι Μωυσέως, τοὺς ἐν ἀριστείᾳ θεοσεβείας διαφανεῖς ὑπάρξαντας, φημὶ δὲ Ἀδὰμ καὶ Σῆθ καὶ Ἐνὼχ καὶ Μαθουσάλα καὶ Νῶε καὶ Ἀβραὰμ καὶ Ἰσαὰκ καὶ Ἰακώβ, Λεὺί τε καὶ Ἀαρὼν καὶ Μωυσέα καὶ Ἰησοῦν τὸν τοῦ Ναυῆ, αὐτὴν δὲ οὐ παρεδέχετο τὴν πεντάτευχον, ἀλλὰ ὡμολόγει μὲν τὸν Μωυσέα καὶ ὅτι ἐδέξατο νομοθεσίαν ἐπίστευεν, οὐ ταύτην δέ, φησὶν, ἀλλ' ἑτέραν·

18.1.3 | And it accepted as fathers those in the Pentateuch from Adam to Moses, who were clearly godly in excellence. I say Adam and Seth and Enoch and Methuselah and Noah and Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, also Levi and Aaron and Moses and Joshua son of Nun. But it did not accept the Pentateuch itself; rather, it agreed that Moses was a leader and believed he received a law, but not this one, it says, but another.

18.1.4 | ὅθεν τὰ μὲν πάντα φυλάττουσι τῶν Ἰουδαίων Ἰουδαῖοι ὄντες, θυσίαν δὲ οὐκ ἔθουον οὐδὲ ἐμφύχων μετεῖχον, ἀλλὰ ἀθέμιτον ἦν παρ' αὐτοῖς τὸ κρεῶν μεταλαμβάνειν ἢ θυσιάζειν αὐτοῖς.

18.1.4 | So, they kept all things of the Jews, being Jews themselves, but they did not offer sacrifice or take part in animal offerings. It was unlawful for them to eat meat or to sacrifice it. For they said these ἔφασκον γὰρ πεπλάσθαι ταῦτα τὰ βιβλία καὶ μηδὲν τούτων ὑπὸ τῶν πατέρων γεγενῆσθαι.

books were made up and that none of these things came from the fathers.

18.1.5 | αὕτη ἦν ἡ τῶν Νασσαραίων διαφορὰ πρὸς τὰς ἄλλας, ὥς καὶ πρὸς αὐτοὺς ὁ ἔλεγχος οὐκ ἐν ἑνὶ τόπῳ, ἀλλὰ ἐν πολλοῖς ἐστὶ φανερός.

18.1.5 | This was the difference of the Nazarenes from the others, so that the proof against them is not in one place, but is clear in many.

Section 2

18.2.1 | 2. Πρῶτον μὲν <ἐν> τῷ ὁμολογεῖν αὐτοὺς τοὺς πατέρας καὶ πατριάρχας καὶ Μωυσέα· ἄλλης τῶν πατέρων ὀνομασίας καὶ ἀριστείας, εἰ μὴ ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν γραφῶν τῆς πεντατεύχου;

18.2.1 | First, in agreeing that the fathers and patriarchs and Moses are theirs; is there any other name or honor of the fathers except from those writings of the Pentateuch?

18.2.2 | καὶ πῶς οἷόν τε ἐν ταύτῳ εἶναι ἀληθές καὶ ψεῦδος καὶ ἐν μέρει τὴν γραφὴν ἀληθεύειν, ἐν μέρει δὲ ψεύδεσθαι,

18.2.2 | And how is it possible for the same thing to be true and false, and for the scripture to be true in part, but false in part,

18.2.3 | τοῦ σωτῆρος λέγοντος »ἢ ποιήσατε τὸ δένδρον ἀγαθὸν καὶ τοὺς καρποὺς ἀγαθοὺς ἢ τὸ δένδρον σαπρὸν καὶ τοὺς καρποὺς σαπροὺς«· »οὐ δύναται γὰρ δένδρον ἀγαθὸν καρποὺς σαπροὺς ποιῆσαι, οὐδὲ δένδρον σαπρὸν καρποὺς ἀγαθοὺς ποιῆσαι«.

18.2.3 | the savior saying, "Either you make the tree good and the fruits good, or the tree rotten and the fruits rotten," for "a good tree cannot make rotten fruits, nor can a rotten tree make good fruits."

18.2.4 | μάταιος τοίνυν αὐτῶν ἡ διάνοια καὶ ἡ εἰσῆγησις, ἐκ πολλῶν ἔχουσα τὴν ἀνατροπὴν, ὥς ἄχρι τῆς δεῦρο οὐ μόνον τὰ ἐν ταῖς γραφαῖς ᾄδεται, ἀλλὰ καὶ οἱ τόποι τῆς δεῦρο οὐ μόνον τὰ ἐν ταῖς πρῶτον ᾄδου τὸ πρόβατον Ἀβραὰμ προσέφερε τῷ

18.2.4 | Their mind and teaching are useless, having many mistakes, because until now not only what is in the scriptures is sung, but also the places until now not only where Abraham first offered the sheep to God, θεῶ,

18.2.5 | ὄρος Σιών ἄχρι τῆς δεῦρο οὕτω καλούμενον, ἀλλὰ καὶ ὅπου ἡ δρυς τῆς Μαμβρῆ, ἐνθα τοῖς ἀγγέλοις παρετέθη ὁ μόσχος. εἰ δὲ Ἀβραὰμ ἀγγέλοις παρέθετο κρεῶν τὴν ἐποιμασίαν, ἀποδέων οὐκ ἦν αὐτὸς τῆς τούτων μετοχῆς.

18.2.5 | the mountain called Zion until now, but also where the oak of Mamre is, where the calf was set before the angels. And if Abraham set before the angels the preparation of meat, it was not necessary for him to share in these things.

Section 3

18.3.1 | 3. Ἀλλὰ καὶ τοῦ προβάτου <τοῦ> τυθέντος ἐν τῇ τῶν Αἰγυπτίων χώρα ἔτι παράγαθόν καρ' Αἰγυπτίοις τυγχάνει ἀδομένη ἢ παράδοσις καὶ παρὰ τοῖς εἰδωλολάτραις.

18.3.1 | But also the sheep that was killed in the land of the Egyptians still happens to be sung as a bad thing by the Egyptians and by the idolaters.

18.3.2 | For at the time when the Passover was made there (and this is the beginning of spring when the first equinox happens), all the Egyptians, out of ignorance, take red ochre and anoint the sheep, and they also anoint the trees, the fig trees and the others, saying and claiming that fire once burned the world on this day; and the shape of the red blood is a protection against such a great and such a kind of plague.

18.3.3 | πόθει· δὲ οὐκ ἔχομεν δεῖξαι περὶ τῆς ἀκολουθίας, ὥς ἔτι καὶ δεῦρο τὰ λείψανα τῆς τοῦ Νῶε λάρνακος δεικνύται ἐν τῇ τῶν Καρδυαίων χώρᾳ.

18.3.3 | We have a desire, but we do not have to show about the order, that even now the remains of Noah's ark are shown here in the land of the Kardians.

18.3.4 | καὶ πάντως δὲ εἰ ἐπιζητήσει τις καὶ ἀνερευνήσῃ, καὶ τὰ λείψανα τοῦ θυσιαστηρίου (ἐπεὶ περ ἀκόλουθόν ἐστιν)

18.3.4 | And certainly, if someone searched and looked carefully, they would find the remains of the altar (since it follows) in the εὗροι ἂν ἐν τῇ ὑπωρείᾳ τοῦ ὄρους, ὅπου ἔμεινε Νῶε ἐξελθὼν ἀπὸ τῆς κιβωτοῦ καὶ προσενέγκας ἀπὸ τῶν ζώων τῶν καθαρῶν καὶ τῶν στεάτων κυρίῳ τῷ θεῷ [ὅτε] ἤκουσεν »ἰδοὺ δέδωκά σοι τὰ πάντα ὡς λάχανα ἀγροῦ, θῦσον καὶ φάγε».

foothills of the mountain where Noah stayed after coming out of the ark and offered from the clean animals and the fat to the Lord God [when] he heard, "Look, I have given you everything like plants of the field; sacrifice and eat."

18.3.5 | παρελεύσομαι δὲ καὶ ταύτης πάλιν τὸ ἐπέισακτον καὶ ἡλίθιον τῆς αἰρέσεως, ἄρκεσθεις ταῖς προειρημέναις ὀλίγαις λέξεσιν, ἐνσπαρείσαις ὑπὸ τῆς ἡμῶν βραχύτητος ἐνταῦθα πρὸς ἀντίθεσιν τῆς πλάνης τῆς προειρημένης αἰρέσεως.

18.3.5 | I will pass over again this added and foolish part of the heresy, being satisfied with the few words said before, scattered here by our shortness, as a reply to the error of the heresy mentioned before.

Book 19

Section 1

19.1.1 | Μετὰ ταύτην πάλιν ἄλλη τις αἵρεσις ταύταις παραπελεγμένη, ἡ τῶν Ὅσσαίων καλουμένη. Ἰουδαῖοι δὲ οὗτοι ὡς καὶ αἱ προειρημέναι, ὑποκριταὶ τὸν τρόπον δεινοὶ τὴν ἐπίνοιαν.

19.1.1 | After this, again another heresy mixed with these, called that of the Ossaeans. These are Jews, like the ones mentioned before, skilled in deceitful ways of thinking.

19.1.2 | ὠρμῶντο δὲ οὗτοι, ὡς ἡ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐλθοῦσα περιέχει παράδοσις, ἀπὸ τῆς Ναβατικῆς χώρας καὶ Ἰτουραίας, Μωαβίτιδος τε καὶ Ἀριηλίτιδος, τῶν ἐπέκεινα τῆς κοιλάδος τῆς ἁλυκῆς οὕτως ἐν τῇ θείᾳ γραφῇ κληθείσης ὑπερκειμένων χωρῶν· ἔστι δὲ αὕτη ἡ νεκρὰ καλουμένη θάλασσα.

19.1.2 | They set out, as the tradition that came to us says, from the land of Nabatea and Ituraea, also Moabite and Arielite, those beyond the valley of the salt sea, so called in the holy scripture, the lands lying above; and this is the sea called the Dead Sea.

19.1.3 | τοῦτο δὲ τὸ γένος τῶν Ὅσσαίων ἐρμηνεύεται διὰ τῆς ἐκδόσεως τοῦ ὀνόματος στιβαρὸν γένος.

19.1.3 | This race of the Ossaeans is explained by the meaning of the name as a strong race.

19.1.4 | συνήφθη δὲ τούτοις μετέπειτα ὁ καλούμενος Ἡλξαῖ ἐν χρόνοις βασιλέως Τραιανοῦ μετὰ τὴν τοῦ σωτῆρος παρουσίαν, ὃς ἐγένετο ψευδοπροφήτης· συνεγράψατο δὲ οὗτος βιβλίον δῆθεν κατὰ προφητείαν ἢ ὡς κατὰ ἔνθεον σοφίαν· φασὶ δὲ καὶ ἄλλον τινὰ Ἰεξαῖον εἶναι ἀδελφὸν τούτου.

19.1.4 | Then the one called Helxai joined with these, in the time of king Trajan after the coming of the savior, who became a false prophet; and he wrote a little book, supposedly as prophecy or as inspired wisdom; they say also that another named Iexaios was his brother.

19.1.5 | γέγονε δὲ οὗτος ὁ ἄνθρωπος πεπλανημένος τὸν τρόπον ἀπατηλὸς τὴν γνώμην, ἀπὸ Ἰουδαίων ὁρμώμενος καὶ τὰ Ἰουδαίων φρονῶν, κατὰ νόμον δὲ μὴ πολιτευόμενος, ἕτερα ἀνθ' ἑτέρων παρεισφύρων καὶ [τὴν] ἰδίαν αὐτῷ πλάσας,

19.1.5 | This man became deceived, misleading in his way of thinking, driven by the Jews and thinking like the Jews, but not living according to the law, introducing other things instead of others and shaping his own ideas.

19.1.6 | ἅλας καὶ ὕδωρ καὶ γῆν κοὶ ἄρτον καὶ οὐρανὸν καὶ αἰθέρα καὶ ἄνεμον ὄρκον αὐτοῖς εἰς λατρείαν ὀρισάμενος· ποτὲ δὲ πάλιν ἄλλους μάρτυρας ἑπτὰ ὀρισάμενος, τὸν οὐρανὸν φημι καὶ τὸ ὕδωρ καὶ πνεύματα, <ὡς> φησιν, ἅγια καὶ τοὺς ἀγγέλους τῆς προσευχῆς τὸ ἔλαιον καὶ τὸ ἅλας καὶ τὴν γῆν.

19.1.6 | He set salt and water and earth and bread and sky and air and wind as oaths for them in worship; and once again he appointed seven other witnesses, saying the sky and the water and spirits are holy, and the angels of prayer, the oil and the salt and the earth.

19.1.7 | ἀπεχθάνεται δὲ τῇ παρθενίᾳ, μισεῖ δὲ τὴν ἐγκράτειαν, ἀναγκάζει δὲ γαμεῖν· φαντασιώδῃ δὲ τινα ὡς δῆθεν <ἐξ> ἀποκαλύψεως παρεισφύρει, ὑπόκρισιν δὲ διδάσκει,

19.1.7 | he hates virginity, he hates self-control, and he forces marriage; he brings in some strange ideas as if from revelation, and he teaches hypocrisy,

19.1.8 | φήσας μὴ εἶναι ἁμαρτίαν, εἰ καὶ <τις> παρατύχοι εἶδωλα καιρῷ ἐνστάντος διωγμοῦ, ἐὰν μόνον ἐν τῇ συνειδήσει μὴ προσκυνήσῃ.

19.1.8 | he said it is not sin, even if someone happens to worship idols during a time of persecution, as long as only in their conscience they do not worship.

19.1.9 | καὶ ὃ τι δᾶν ὁμολογήσῃ στόματι, ἐν δὲ τῇ καρδίᾳ μή. 2. μάρτυρα δέ τινα παρεισφέρων οὐκ αἰσχύνεται ὁ ἀπάτεων, λέγων Φινεὲς τινα ἱερέα τῶν ἀπὸ γένους Λευὶ τε καὶ Ἀαρὼνφ καὶ τοῦ ἀρχαίου Φινεὲς ἐν τῇ Βαβυλῶνι ἐπὶ τῆς αἰχμαλωσίας προσκυνήσαντα τὴν Ἄρτεμιν ἐν Σούσοις διαπεφευγέναι ὄλεθρον θανάτου ἐπὶ Δαρείου τοῦ βασιλέως· ὥστε εἶναι αὐτοῦ τὰ πάντα ψευδῆ καὶ μάταια.

19.1.9 | and whatever he may confess with his mouth, but not in his heart. 2. and the trickster is not ashamed to bring in some witness, saying that a certain Phinehas, a priest from the family of Levi and Aaron, and the ancient Phinehas, during the Babylonian captivity, worshiped Artemis in Susa and escaped death by King Darius; so that all his things are false and empty.

19.2.1 | 2. Οὗτος μὲν οὖν <ὡς> ἄνω <εἴηται> συνῆπται τῇ αἰρέσει τῇ τῶν Ὀσσαίων καλουμένη, ἥς ἔτι λείψανα καὶ δεῦρο ὑπάρχει ἐν τῇ αὐτῇ Ναβατίτιδι γῇ τῇ καὶ Περαιᾷ πρὸς τῇ Μωαβίτιδι· ὅπερ γένος νυνὶ Σαμψαίων καλεῖται. φαντάζονται δὲ δῆθεν καλεῖν | τοῦτον δύναμιν ἀποκ'εκαλυμμένην, διὰ τὸ ἥλ καλεῖσθαι δύναμιν, ξαί δὲ κεκαλυμμένον.

19.2.1 | 2. so this one, then, is said to be a follower of the heresy called the Ossaeans, whose remains still exist here in the same land of Nabathaeans and Peraeans near the Moabites; this group is now called Sampsaeans. and they claim, apparently, that this power is called hidden, because it is called “el” power, but it is actually hidden.

19.2.2 | ἡλέγχθη δὲ τὸ πᾶν τοῦ ἐπιτηδεύματος φρύαγμα καὶ εἰς μεγάλην αἰσχύνην ὑπέπεσε παρὰ τοῖς δυναμένοις τὰ ἀληθῆ κατανοεῖν τε καὶ ἀκριβοῦν *. ἔτι γὰρ καὶ δεῦρο ἐπὶ τῶν ἡμερῶν Κωνσταντίου τε καὶ τῶν νῦν βασιλέων *.

19.2.2 | the whole practice was exposed and fell into great shame before those able to understand and judge the truth. even now, in the days of Constantine and the current kings.

19.2.3 | ἕως μὲν γὰρ Κωνσταντίου ἐκ τοῦ γένους αὐτοῦ τοῦ Ἡλξαῖ Μαρθοῦς τις καὶ Μαρθάνα δύο ἀδελφαὶ ἐν τῇ αὐτῶν χώρᾳ ἀντὶ θεῶν προσεκυνοῦντο, ὅτι δῆθεν ἐκ τοῦ σπέρματος τοῦ προειρημένου Ἡλξαῖ ὑπῆρχον. τέθνηκεν δὲ ἡ Μαρθοῦς πρὸ ὀλίγου τοῦ χρόνου, Μαρθάνα δὲ εἰς ἔτι

19.2.3 | until the time of Constantine, from the family of that Helxai, two sisters, Marthous and Marthana, were worshiped as gods in their land, because they were said to come from the seed of the mentioned Helxai. Marthous died a short time ago, but Marthana was still alive even δεῦρο ὑπῆρχεν.

19.2.4 | ὧν καὶ τὰ πτύσματα καὶ τὰ ἄλλα τοῦ σώματος ρύπη ἀπεφέροντο οἱ πεπλανημένοι αἰρετικοὶ ἐν ἐκείνῃ τῇ χώρᾳ, δῆθεν πρὸς ἀλέξησιν νοσημάτων. οὐ μὴν ἐνήργουν· ἀλλὰ τὸ πεπλανημένον σοβαρὸν αἰεὶ καὶ πρὸς ἀπάτην ἔτοιμον· τυφλὸν γὰρ ἡ κακία καὶ ἀσύνετον ἡ πλάνη.

19.2.4 | of which the droppings and other filth of the body were carried away by the mistaken heretics in that land, supposedly to protect against diseases. but they did not work; rather, the mistaken mind is always serious and ready for deception; for evil is blind and error is senseless.

19.3.1 | 3. Καὶ ἕως ποῦ κατατρίβομαι τὰ περὶ τοῦ γόητος τούτου φθεγγόμενος ὅσα τε κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας κατεψεύσατο,

19.3.1 | and how long shall i keep rubbing over the things about this sorcerer, speaking out all that he falsely said against the truth,

19.3.2 | πρῶτον μὲν διδάσκων ἀπαρνησιθεῖαν καὶ ὑπόκρισιν, βδελυρῶν θυσιῶν τῆς εἰδωλολατρείας μετέχειν ἀπατᾶν τε τοὺς ἀκούοντας καὶ ἀρνεῖσθαι τὴν ἰδίαν πίστιν στόματι καὶ μὴ ἔχειν ἁμαρτίαν φάσκων· ὥς εἶναι ἀθεράπευτον τὸ αὐτῶν λάθος καὶ μὴ δυνάμενον διορθωθῆναι.

19.3.2 | first, teaching denial of faith and pretending, hating sacrifices of idol worship, taking part in them, deceiving those who hear, and denying one's own belief with the mouth, claiming to have no sin; saying that their error is incurable and cannot be corrected.

19.3.3 | εἰ γὰρ τὸ στόμα τὸ ὁμολογοῦν τὴν ἀλήθειαν προετοιμάζεται εἰς ψεῦδος, ἀρὰ γέ τις αὐτοῖς ἂν πιστεύσειε τὴν καρδίαν μὴ ἔχειν ἡπατημένην; ὁπότε διαρρήδην ἐκφωνεῖ ὁ θεῖος λόγος διδάσκων ἐν πνεύματι ἀγίῳ ὅτι »καρδίᾳ πιστεύεται εἰς δικαιοσύνην, στόματι δὲ ὁμολογεῖται εἰς σωτηρίαν«.

19.3.3 | for if the mouth that confesses the truth prepares for falsehood, who would believe that their heart is not deceived? whenever the divine word openly proclaims, teaching in the holy spirit, that "with the heart one believes for righteousness, but with the mouth one confesses for salvation."

19.3.4 | ἀλλὰ καὶ πάλιν δῆθεν μὲν Χριστὸν ὀνόματι ὁμολογεῖ, λέγων ὅτι Χριστὸς ὁ

19.3.4 | but again, he seems to confess Christ by name, saying that Christ is the μέγας βασιλεύς· οὐ μὴν πάνυ γε κατείληφα ἐκ τῆς αὐτοῦ δολερᾶς καὶ παραπεποιημένης συντάξεως τῆς βίβλου τῆς αὐτοῦ ληρωδίας εἰ περὶ τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ ὑφηγήσατο· οὔτε γὰρ τοῦτο ὀρίζει, Χριστὸν δὲ ἀπλῶς λέγει, ὡς ἐξ ῶν κατειλήφαμεν τινὰ ἕτερον σημαίνων ἢ προσδοκῶν.

great king; yet I have not fully understood from his deceitful and twisted arrangement of the book of his nonsense if he has explained about our lord Jesus Christ; for he does not define this, but simply says Christ, which from what we have understood means something else or something expected.

19.3.5 | κωλύει γὰρ εἰς ἀνατολὰς εὐξασθαι, φάσκων μὴ δεῖν προσέχειν οὕτως, ἐπὶ τὰ Ἱεροσόλυμα δὲ ἔχειν τὸ πρόσωπον ἐκ πάντων τῶν μερῶν, τοὺς μὲν ἀπὸ ἀνατολῶν εἰς δύσιν προσέχειν τῇ Ἱερουσαλήμ, τοὺς δὲ ἀπὸ δύσεως εἰς ἀνατολὴν τῇ αὐτῇ, τοὺς δὲ ἀπὸ ἄρκτοῦ εἰς μεσημβρίαν καὶ ἀπὸ μεσημβρίας εἰς ἄρκτον, ὡς πανταχόθεν τὸ πρόσωπον ἄντικρυς εἶναι τῆς Ἱερουσαλήμ.

19.3.5 | for he stops people from praying toward the east, saying it is not necessary to do so, but that they should face Jerusalem from all directions; those from the east should face west toward Jerusalem, those from the west should face east, those from the north should face south, and those from the south should face north, so that the face would be directly toward Jerusalem from every side.

19.3.6 | καὶ ὄρα τὴν τοῦ ἀπατεῶνος φρενοβλάβειαν. ἀναθεματίζει μὲν γὰρ θυσίας καὶ ἱερουργίας ὡς ἀλλοτρίας οὐσας θεοῦ καὶ μήτε ὅλως θεῶ ἐκ τῶν πατέρων καὶ τοῦ νόμου ποτὲ προσενηχθείσας κοί λέγει ἐκεῖ δεῖν εὐχεσθαι εἰς Ἱερουσαλήμ, ὅπου ἦν τὸ θυσιαστήριον καὶ αἱ θυσίαι, <ὁ> ἀρνούμενος τὴν παρὰ τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις σαρκοφαγίαν καὶ τὰ καὶ τὸ θυσιαστήριον τό τε πῦρ ὡς θεοῦ ἀλλότριον,

19.3.6 | and see the madness of the deceiver's mind. for he curses sacrifices and rituals as belonging to another god and never offered to god by the fathers and the law, and he says that one must pray there in Jerusalem, where the altar and the sacrifices were, denying the meat-eating among the Jews and also the altar and the fire as belonging to a god who is foreign.

19.3.7 | τὸ δὲ ὕδωρ εἶναι δεξιὸν πῦρ δὲ ἀλλότριον εἶναι φάσκων διὰ τούτων τῶν λέξεων· ἐστὶ τὸ τοιοῦτον. ὁρᾷς γάρ, φησὶν, αὐτὸ ἐγγυτάτω καὶ ἔστιν ἀπὸ πόρρωθεν· μὴ πορεύεσθε πρὸς τὸ εἶδος αὐτοῦ, πορεύεσθε δὲ μᾶλλον ἐπὶ τὴν φωνὴν τοῦ ὑδατος.« καὶ πολλὰ ἐστὶ τὰ αὐτοῦ

19.3.7 | but he says that water is the right fire and fire is foreign, because of these words: 'it is like this.' for he says, 'you see it is very near, but it is from far away; do not go toward its form, but rather go toward the sound of the water.' and many of his μυθολογήματα.

stories are like this.

Section 4

19.4.1 | 4. Εἴτα δὲ διαγράφει Χριστὸν τινὰ εἶναι δύναμιν, οὐ καὶ τὰ μέτρα σημαίνει, εἰκοσιτεσσάρων μὲν σχοίνων τὸ μῆκος ὡς μιλίων ἑνενηκονταῆς τὸ δὲ πλάτος σχοίνων ἕξ μιλίων εἰκοσιτεσσάρων, καὶ τὸ πάχος ὁμοίως τερατευόμενος καὶ τοὺς πόδας καὶ τὰ ἄλλα μυθολογήματα.

19.4.1 | 4. Then he writes that Christ is a power, which the measures also show, the length being twenty-four cubits, like ninety-six miles, the width six cubits, like twenty-four miles, and the thickness also being exaggerated, and the feet and the other stories.

19.4.2 | εἶναι δὲ καὶ τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα καὶ αὐτὸ θήλειαν, ὅμοιον τῷ Χριστῷ, ἀνδριάντος δίκην ὑπὲρ νεφέλην καὶ ἀνὰ μέσον δύο ὀρέων ἐστός. καὶ τὰ ἄλλα σιωπήσω, ἵνα μὴ εἰς μυθολογίαν φαντασιάσω τὴν ἀκοὴν τῶν ἐντυγχανόντων.

19.4.2 | and the holy spirit is also female, like Christ, standing like a statue above a cloud and between two mountains. and i will keep silent about the rest, so that i don't turn the hearing of those present into a story.

19.4.3 | but later in the book he deceives with words and empty sounds, saying, "let no one seek the meaning, but only say these things in prayer," and he claims to have taken these from the Hebrew language, as we have partly shown, but the things imagined by him are nothing. for he says, "abar anid moib nohile daasim anē daasim nohile moib anid abar selam," which, when explained, has this meaning:

19.4.4 | »παρελθέτω ταπεινώσεις <ή> ἐκ τῶν πατέρων μου τῆς κατακρίσεως αὐτῶν καὶ καταπατήματος αὐτῶν καὶ πόνου αὐτῶν, καταπατήματι ἐν κατακρίσει διὰ τῶν πατέρων μου, ἀπὸ ταπεινώσεως

19.4.4 | "let humility pass from my fathers, their judgment and their trampling and their pain, trampling in judgment through my fathers, from humility having passed in the sending."

παρελθούσης ἐν ἀποστολῇ

19.4.5 | τελειώσεως· ἐπ’ αὐτῷ δὲ πάντα πληροῦται ταῦτα. κεκένωται γὰρ αὐτοῦ ἡ δύναμις καὶ ἡ πλάνη. εἰ δὲ ἐν ῥῆμα πρὸς ἐν θελήσει τις κατὰ λεπτολογίαν ἀκοῦσαι ἐρμηνευόμενον, καὶ τοῦτο οὐκ ἂν ὀκνήσαιμεν ποιῆσαι, ἀλλ’ εἰς καθῆκον κατὰ πάντα τῶν βουλομένων λεπτολόγως ἀκοῦειν αὐτὰ δὴ τὰ ῥήματα αὐτοῦ καὶ τὰς αὐτῶν ἐρμηνείας ἄντικρυς παραθησόμεθα, καὶ ἔστιν οὕτως· ἀβάβ, παρελθέτω· ἀνίδ, ταπεινώσεις·

19.4.5 | “completion.” on him, all these things are fulfilled. for his power and deception are emptied. but if anyone wishes to hear one word after another carefully explained, we would not hesitate to do it, but properly listen to all who want to hear carefully, and we will set down clearly these words of his and their meanings, and it is like this: abar, let it pass; anid, humility;

19.4.6 | μωῖβ, ἡ ἐκ τῶν πατέρων μου· νωχιλέ, τῆς κατακρίσεως αὐτῶν· δαασίμ, καταπατήματος αὐτῶν· ἀνή, καὶ πόνου αὐτῶν· δαασίμ, καταπατήματι· νωχιλέ, ἐν κατακρίσει· μωῖβ, διὰ τῶν πατέρων μου· ἀνίδ, ἀπὸ ταπεινώσεως· ἀβάβ, παρελθούσης· σελάμ, ἐν ἀποστολῇ τελειώσεως.

19.4.6 | moib, from my fathers; nohile, their judgment; daasim, their trampling; anē, and their pain; daasim, trampling; nohile, in judgment; moib, through my fathers; anid, from humility; abab, having passed; selam, in the sending of completion.

Section 5

19.5.1 | 5. Αὕτη γοῦν ἡ αἵρεσις ἡ τῶν Ὀσσηνῶν ἄνω προειρημένη, ἡ πολιτευομένη μὲν τὴν τῶν Ἰουδαίων πολιτείαν κατὰ τὸ σαββατίζειν τε καὶ περιτέμεσθαι καὶ τοῦ νόμου ποιεῖν τὰ πάντα· μόνον δὲ ἡ τῶν βίβλους καὶ Μωυσέως· ὁμοίως τοῖς Νασαραίοις σχίσμα [δὲ] αὕτη, διαφορομένη πρὸς τὰς ἄλλας ἕξ τούτων τῶν ἑπτὰ αἱρέσεων.

19.5.1 | 5. This sect, the one of the Osseans mentioned above, lives by the Jewish way, following the Sabbath, circumcision, and keeping all the law; but only in the books of Moses, like the Nazarenes. This is the only division, different from the other six of these seven sects.

19.5.2 | ἀρκέσει γοῦν εἰς ἀνατροπὴν ταύτης τὸ εἶναι αὐτὴν ἄλλοτρίαν θεοῦ *, τοῦ κυρίου σαφῶς λέγοντος ὅτι »οἱ ἱερεῖς

19.5.2 | It is enough to overthrow this sect by showing that it is foreign to God, since the Lord clearly says, “the priests in the ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ βεβηλοῦσι τὸ σάββατον· temple desecrate the Sabbath.”

19.5.3 | ἡ δὲ βεβήλωσις τοῦ σαββάτου τίς αὕτη ἀλλ’ ὅτι ἔργον οὐδεὶς εἰργάζετο ἐν τῷ σαββάτῳ, ἐν δὲ τῷ ἱερῷ οἱ ἱερεῖς θυσίαν ἐπιτελοῦντες ἔλυον τὸ σαββατον, βεβηλοῦντες διὰ τὴν ἐνδελεχὴ τῶν ζώων θυσίαν;

19.5.3 | But what is this desecration of the Sabbath except that no one worked on the Sabbath, yet in the temple the priests, performing the sacrifice, broke the Sabbath, desecrating it because of the continuous animal sacrifice?

19.5.4 | Καὶ παρελεύσομαι καὶ ταύτην τὴν αἵρεσιν. συνῆπται γὰρ οὗτος πάλιν ὁ Ηλξαὶ τοῖς μετὰ τὸν Χριστὸν Ἐβιωναίοις, ἀλλὰ καὶ τοῖς Ναζωραίοις τοῖς μετέπειτα γεγονόσι.

19.5.4 | And I will pass over this sect as well. For this Elxai joined again with the Ebionites after Christ, but also with the Nazarenes who came later.

19.5.5 | καὶ κέχρηται αὐτῷ τέσσαρες αἱρέσεις, ἐπειδὴ θέλγονται τῇ αὐτοῦ πλάνῃ· <ἡ > Ἐβιωναίων τε μετέπειτα <γεγονότων καὶ > Ναζωραίων, Ὀσσαίων τε τῶν καὶ σὺν αὐτῷ καὶ Νασαραίων τῶν ἄνω μοι προδεδηλωμένων.

19.5.5 | And four sects have used him, since they are charmed by his error: the Ebionites who came later, and the Nazarenes, also the Ossaeans who were with him, and the Nasaraeans mentioned before.

19.5.6 | Αὕτη δὲ ἡ <ἔκτη > αἵρεσις τῶν ἐπτά τῶν ἐν Ἱεροσολύμοις, αἵτινες ἐνέμειναν ἄχρι τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ παρουσίας καὶ μετὰ τὴν τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἔνσαρκον παρουσίαν ἄχρι τῆς τῶν Ἱεροσολύμων ἀλώσεως, ἥτις γέγονεν ὑπὸ Τίτου βασιλέως, ἀδελφοῦ Δομετιανοῦ υἱοῦ δὲ Οὐέσπασιανοῦ, ἐν τῷ δευτέρῳ ἔτει τῆς τοῦ πατρὸς αὐτοῦ Οὐέσπασιανοῦ βασιλείας.

19.5.6 | And this is the sixth sect of the seven in Jerusalem, which lasted until the coming of Christ and after the bodily presence of Christ until the capture of Jerusalem, which happened under Titus the king, brother of Domitian, son of Vespasian, in the second year of his father Vespasian’s reign.

19.5.7 | μετὰ δὲ τὴν τῶν Ἱεροσολύμων ἄλωσιν ἐπέμεινεν ἡ τε αὕτη καὶ αἱ ἄλλαι ὀλίγῳ τῷ χρόνῳ φημιζόμεναι αἱρέσεις, Σαδδουκαίων φημι καὶ Γραμματέων, Φαρισαίων τε καὶ Ἡμεροβαπτιστῶν

19.5.7 | After the capture of Jerusalem, both it itself and the other sects that lasted a little while remained, which I call the Sadducees and the Scribes, the Pharisees and the Day-Baptizers, the Ossaeans and

Ὅσσαίων τε καὶ Νασσαραίων καὶ Ἡρωδιανῶν, ἄχρις οὐ κατὰ καιρὸν καὶ κατὰ χρόνον ἐκάστη αὐτῶν διασκορπισθεῖσα διελύθη.

the Nasaraeans and the Herodians, until each of them was scattered and ended in its own time and season.

Section 6

19.6.1 | 6. Ἀρκετῶς δὲ ἔχει ἀπ’ αὐτῆς τῆς αὐτῶν φρενοβλαβείας καὶ τῶν ῥημάτων τοῦ κηρύγματος τοῦ δηλητηρίου ἰοῦ ἀλεξητήριον ἐαυτῷ πάντα νουνεχῇ κατασκευάσαι, καταγνόντα τῆς συρφετώδους αὐτῶν διδασκαλίας τε καὶ λαλιᾶς,

19.6.1 | It is enough to make for oneself a shield against their madness and the poisonous words of their preaching, protecting every sensible mind, despising their disorderly teaching and talk,

19.6.2 | καὶ μάλιστα τοῦ κυρίου εὐθύς λέγοντος ἐν τε τῷ νόμῳ καὶ ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ »οὐκ ἔσονται σοι θεοὶ ἕτεροι« »οὐ λήψῃ ὄνομά τινος ἐτέρου ἐπὶ ὄρκῳ«, καὶ πάλιν ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ λέγοντος »μὴ ὀμνύναι μήτε τὸν οὐρανὸν μήτε τὴν γῆν μήτε ἕτερόν τινα ὄρκον, ἀλλ’ ἦτω ὑμῶν τὸ ναὶ ναὶ καὶ τὸ οὐ οὐ· τὸ περισσότερον γὰρ τούτων ἐκ τοῦ πονηροῦ ὑπάρχει«.

19.6.2 | and especially of the lord who says straight away both in the law and in the gospel, “you will not have other gods,” “you will not take the name of another in an oath,” and again in the gospel saying, “do not swear by heaven or by earth or by any other oath, but let your yes be yes and your no be no; for anything more than this comes from evil.”

19.6.3 | ἐγὼ δὲ περὶ τούτου νομίζω θεσπίσαι τὸν κύριον διὰ τὸ μέλλειν τινὰς λέγειν ἐν ἄλλοις ὀνόμασιν ὄρκον προβάλλεσθαι· πρῶτον μὲν οὖν ὅτι οὐ δεῖ ὀμνύναι οὔτε αὐτὸν τὸν κύριον οὔτε ἄλλον τινὰ ὄρκον· <ἐκ> τοῦ γὰρ πονηροῦ ἐστι τὸ πονηρὸς δὲ ἄρα καὶ ὁ ἐν τῷ Ἡλξαΐ λαλήσας,

19.6.3 | but about this i think the lord spoke a law because some will say that an oath is made by other names; first, then, that it is not right to swear either by the lord himself or by any other oath; for the evil comes from evil, and so the one who spoke in helxaï is also evil,

19.6.4 | ὁ καταναγκάσας οὐ μόνον ἐν θεῷ ὀμνύναι, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν ἀλὶ καὶ ἐν ὕδατι καὶ <ἐν καὶ> ἐν αἰθέρι καὶ ἐν ἀνέμῳ καὶ ἐν τῇ γῇ καὶ ἐν οὐρανῷ. δὲ ὡς ἐν παρόδῳ διὰ

19.6.4 | who forced not only to swear by god, but also by salt and by water and by the air and by the wind and by the earth and by the sky. but as a side note, through τῶν δύο λόγων πρὸς ἀντίθεσιν τῆς αὐτοῦ πλάνης ἀντιδότην χρήσασθαι τὸν βουλόμενον ἰατρευθῆναι.

these two words, he who wants to be healed should use an answer against his own error.

19.6.5 | παρελθὼν δὲ τούτου τὴν ἐρεσχελίαν καὶ τὸ ὑπουλον ταύτης τῆς αἰρέσεως ἐφεξῆς ποιήσομαι τῆς ἐβδόμης αἰρέσεως τὸν ἔλεγχον, τῆς παρὰ τοῖς αὐτοῖς τότε νομιτευομένης καὶ ἔστιν αὕτη·

19.6.5 | passing over the shallow and sneaky part of this heresy, i will next make a refutation of the seventh heresy, which was then accepted by the same people, and it still is;

Book 20

Section 1

20.1.1 | Μετὰ ταύτην δὲ καὶ μετὰ ταύτας πάλιν ἐβδόμη ἦν Ἡρωδιανῶν καλουμένη. οὐδὲν δὲ ἴσχον τι παρηλλαγμένον οὗτοι, ἀλλὰ ὅλοι Ἰουδαῖοι > ἀργοί τε καὶ ὑποκριταί. Ἡρώδην δὲ οὗτοι ἡγοῦντο Χριστόν, Χριστὸν τὸν ἐν πάσαις γραφαῖς νόμου τε καὶ προφητῶν προσδοκώμενον νομίσαντες αὐτὸν εἶναι τὸν Ἡρώδην,

20.1.1 | After these and after these things, again the seventh was called Herodians.
These held nothing changed, but all were Jews, both lazy and hypocrites. And these thought Herod was the Christ, thinking Christ was the one expected in all the writings of the law and the prophets, and that he was Herod.

20.1.2 | καὶ ἐπ' αὐτῷ ἀπατῶμενοι

20.1.2 | And deceived by him, they boasted in Herod, taken from the saying, 'May the ruler from Judah not fail, nor the leader from his thighs, until he comes to whom it belongs,' or as the other copies have it, 'until he comes to whom the things laid up belong.'

20.1.3 | ἐπειδήπερ ὁ Ἡρώδης υἱὸς Ἀντιπάτρου ἐτύγχανεν Ἀσκαλωνίτου τινὸς πατὴρ τοῦ αὐτοῦ Ἀντιπάτρου Ἡρώδης μὲν ἦν τοῦνομα, υἱὸς δὲ ἦν καὶ αὐτὸς

20.1.3 | For Herod was the son of Antipater, who was a temple servant of Apollo from Ascalon; the father of that same Antipater was named Herod, and he was also the son of Antipater. That same Antipater was Ἀντιπάτρου. αἰχμάλωτος δὲ ἦχθη ὑπὸ Ἰδουμαίων ὁ αὐτὸς Ἀντίπατρος κάκεισε ἐν τῇ Ἰδουμαίᾳ διατρίβων ἐγέννησε τὸν taken captive by the Idumeans, and while staying there in Idumea, he fathered Herod.

20.1.4 | τοῦ δὲ πατρὸς πένητος ὄντος καὶ μὴ δυναμένου λύτροις ῥύσασθαι τὸν υἱόν, λέγω δὴ τὸν Ἀντίπατρον, ἔμεινε πολλῷ τῷ χρόνῳ δουλεύων· ὕστερον δὲ ἐλυτρώθη ἐξ ἐράνου τῶν πολιτῶν σὺν τῷ παιδίῳ Ἡρώδῃ καὶ μετῆλθεν εἰς τὰ οἴκεῖα. διόπερ τινὲς αὐτὸν λέγουσιν Ἰδουμαῖον, ἄλλοι δὲ Ἀσκαλωνίτην ἴσασιν.

20.1.4 | Since the father was poor and could not pay a ransom to free his son, I mean Antipater, he stayed a long time as a slave.
Later, he was freed by a collection from the citizens, along with the boy Herod, and went back home. That is why some say he was an Idumean, but others say he was from Ascalon.

20.1.5 | ὕστερον δὲ ἐφιλίωθη † Δημητρίῳ καὶ ἐπίτροπος κατέστη ἐπὶ τῆς Ἰουδαίας, ἐν γνώσει τε γέγονεν Αὐγούστῳ βασιλεῖ καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἐπιτροπεύειν προσηλυτεύει, περιτέμενεται τε αὐτὸς καὶ περιτέμνει τῶν Ἰουδαίων βασιλείας· ἦν δὲ βασιλεὺς ἐν τῇ Ἰουδαίᾳ ὑπὸ βασιλέα Αὐγούστον ὑπόσπονδος ὑπάρχων.

20.1.5 | Later he became friendly with Demetrius and was made governor over Judea. He became known to King Augustus and was allowed to rule by him. He himself was circumcised and he circumcised his son Herod, to whom the kingdom of the Jews came by lot. He was king in Judea, serving under King Augustus as a vassal.

20.1.6 | ἐπεὶ οὖν ἐξ ἄλλοφύλων οὗτος βασιλεύει, κατὰ διαδοχὴν δὲ διήρκεσεν ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἰούδα καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ Δαυὶδ τὸ βασίλειον καὶ οἱ ἐκ τοῦ Ἰούδα ἄρχοντες καὶ πατριάρχαι <ἐξέλιπον> μετέστη δὲ

20.1.6 | Since then, this man rules who is from a different people, and by succession the kingdom lasted from Judah and from David. The rulers and patriarchs from Judah died out, and the kingdom passed to a foreigner. It seemed likely to those who were deceived to be tricked and to think that he was the Christ.

20.1.7 | ἀπὸ τῆς ἀκολουθίας τοῦ προειρημένου ῥητοῦ τοῦ »οὐκ ἐκλείψει ἄρχων ἐξ Ἰούδα, ἕως ἂν ἔλθῃ ᾧ ἀπόκειται«,

20.1.7 | From the following of the said saying, 'a ruler will not fail from Judah until the one to whom it belongs comes,' it must be understood by them that it belonged to ὅτι τοῦτῳ ἀπέκειτο, φησὶν· ἐξέλιπον γὰρ ἐκεῖνοι καὶ αὐτός οὐκ ἀπὸ γένους τοῦ Ἰούδα, ἀλλ’ οὔτε ὅλως τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ ὑπάρχει· τὸ οὐκ ἀπέκειτο; this one, he says: for those men died out, and he himself is not from the family of Judah, nor is he at all from Israel. But to this one belonged the...

Section 2

20.2.1 | 2. ἀλλ’ ἐλέγχει αὐτοὺς ἡ ἀκολουθία φάσκουσα ὅτι »αὐτὸς προσδοκία ἐθνῶν καὶ ἐπ’ αὐτῷ ἔθνη ἐλπιούσιν«. ποῖον δὲ τῶν Μνῶν ἐπὶ Ἡρώδῃ ἤλπισεν; ποία δὲ προσδοκία ἐθνῶν Ἡρώδην караδοκεῖ; λῶς δὲ παρ’ αὐτοῖς ἐπληροῦτο τό ἐκοιμήθη ὡς λέων καὶ ὡς σκύμνος λέοντος, τίς ἐξεγερεῖ αὐτόν;

20.2.1 | But the following challenges them, saying, ‘he himself is the hope of the nations, and on him the nations hope.’ Which of the hopes of the nations hoped in Herod? What hope of the nations waits for Herod? And how among them was fulfilled the saying, ‘he was put to sleep like a lion and like a lion’s cub; who will wake him?’

20.2.2 | ποῦ δὲ »ἔπλυνεν ἐν αἵματι τὴν στολὴν αὐτοῦ. ὁ Ἡρώδης ἢ ἐν αἵματι σταφυλῆς τὸ περιβόλαιον αὐτοῦ. ὡς ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστὸς τὸ σῶμα αὐτοῦ ῥαντίσας αἵματι τῷ ἰδίῳ καὶ ἐν αἵματι σταφυλῆς τὸ περιβόλαιον αὐτοῦ;

20.2.2 | But where did he ‘wash his robe in blood, Herod, or his vineyard in the blood of grapes’? Just as our Lord Jesus Christ sprinkled his body with his own blood and his robe with the blood of grapes?

20.2.3 | ἀλλὰ νόει ὃ λέγω. δώσει γὰρ σοι ὁ κύριος σύνεσιν ἐν πᾶσιν. « ἵνα γὰρ δείξῃ τὸ καθάρσιον τῆς τοῦ λαοῦ τοῦ κυρίου καταστάσεως, ἦλθεν διὰ τοῦ ἰδίου αἵματος τῆς διδασκαλίας καθᾶραι τοὺς ὀδόντας τῶν ἀνθρώπων τοὺς εἰς αἷμα κνίσσης καὶ ἀθεμίτου θυσίας μεμολυσμένους.

20.2.3 | But understand what I say. For the lord will give you wisdom in all things. For to show the purity of the lord’s people’s condition, he came to cleanse by his own blood the teeth of people stained with the smoke of blood and unlawful sacrifice.

20.2.4 | καὶ τί μοι τὰ πλήθη λέγειν; πολλὰ γὰρ ἐστὶ καὶ οὐκ ἐνδέχεται ὁ χρόνος πρός ἀντίθεσιν τῶν προειρημένων αἰρέσεων ἐπιμηκύνειν τὸν λόγον.

20.2.4 | And why should I tell you about the crowds? For there are many, and time does not allow me to lengthen the speech by opposing the previously mentioned heresies.

Section 3

20.3.1 | 3. Ἄλλ' αὐταὶ μὲν αἱ ἑπτὰ ἦσαν ἐν Ἰσραὴλ, ἐν τῇ Ἱερουσαλὴμ καὶ ἐν τῇ Ἰουδαίᾳ, αἱ δὲ τέσσαρες αἱ προειρημέναι παρὰ Σαμαρείταις ἐν τῇ Σαμαρείᾳ· αἱ πλείους δὲ καθηρέθησαν, οὐδέτι γὰρ Γραμματεῖς, οὐκέτι Φαρισαῖοι, οὐκέτι Σαδδουκαῖοι, οὐκέτι Ἡμεροβαπτισταί, οὐκέτι Ἡρωδιανοί·

20.3.1 | But these seven were in Israel, in Jerusalem and in Judea, and the four mentioned before were among the Samaritans in Samaria; most of them were destroyed, for no longer were there scribes, no longer Pharisees, no longer Sadducees, no longer Day-Baptizers, no longer Herodians.

20.3.2 | μόνοι δέ τινες ἐν σπάνει εὐρίσκονται εἴπου εἰς ἡ δύο Νασαρηνοὶ ὑπὲρ τὴν ἄνω Θηβαΐδα καὶ ἐπέκεινα τῆς Ἀραβίας καὶ Ὀσσαίων τὸ λείμμα, οὐκέτι ἰουδαῖζον ἀλλὰ συναφθὲν Σαμψίταις τοῖς κατὰ διαδοχὴν ἐν τοῖς πέραν τῆς νεκρᾶς θαλάσσης ὑπερκειμένοις· νυνὶ δὲ τῇ τῶν Ἐβιωναίων αἵρέσει συνήφθησαν.

20.3.2 | Only a few are found rarely, say one or two Nazarenes beyond Upper Thebaid and beyond Arabia, and the remains of the Ossaeans, no longer Judaizing but mixed with the Sampsaeans who live in succession beyond the Dead Sea; now they have joined the heresy of the Ebionites.

20.3.3 | καὶ γέγονε λῆξαι μὲν αὐτοὺς ἀπὸ Ἰουδαϊσμοῦ, ὥσπερ δὲ ρίζαν τμηθῆναι ἡ σῶμα ἐρπετοῦ καὶ ἐξ αὐτοῦ φῦναι δικέφαλον καὶ ἄρριζον ὄφιν ἐν ἐνὶ σώματι ἡμιτόμῳ ἐκπεφυκότα καὶ ἐξηρτημένον.

20.3.3 | And it has happened that they have stopped being part of Judaism, just like when the root of a snake's body is cut off, and from it grows a two-headed, rootless snake in one half-cut body, twisted and broken off.

20.3.4 | So far, this is the discussion about the four heresies of the Samaritans and the seven of the Jews, of which only three of the Samaritans are still around, I mean the Gorothen, the Dositheans, and the Sebuaians. As for the Essenes, not really, but more like buried in darkness. Among the Jews, only a few are left, either the Ossaeans or the Nazarenes, separated. The Ossaeans have moved away from Judaism to the heresy of the Sampsaeans, who are οἵτινες, οὐκέτι οὔτε Ἰουδαῖοι ὑπάρχουσιν οὔτε Χριστιανοί. ταῦτά μοι περὶ τῶν προειρημένων εἰς ὥστε εἶπω.

no longer Jews nor Christians. Let these things be with me about what was said before.

20a.1.1 | Right away, the coming in the flesh of our Lord Jesus Christ took place, which destroyed the seven heresies in Jerusalem that were mentioned before. His power put them out and scattered them.
After his visit, all the heresies that came later appeared, I mean after Mary was announced in Nazareth by Gabriel, and after the simple, full presence of the Lord in the flesh, whether his ascension or not.

20a.1.2 | For God was pleased for the salvation of people that his own son would come down, conceived in a virgin womb, being the Word from heaven, born from the Father's bosom without time and without beginning. He came at the last days, being the true God Word born from God the Father, of the same essence as the Father and changed in no way from the Father, but unchanging and incorruptible, without suffering and not suffering at all, yet suffering together with our race.

the second year of his birth, being seen by the magi, worshiped, having received gifts, and on that same night, Joseph being Egypt, from there again after two years having returned, after Herod had died, and Archelaus had taken over.

Section 2

20a.2.1 | 2. Τῷ γὰρ τριακοστῷ τρίτῳ Ἡρώδου, τεσσαρακοστῷ δὲ δευτέρῳ Αὐγούστου τοῦ βασιλέως, γεννᾶται ὁ σωτὴρ ἐν Βηθλεὲμ τῆς Ἰουδαίας. κάτεισι δὲ εἰς Αἴγυπτον τῷ τριακοστῷ πέμπτῳ Ἡρώδου, ἄνεισι δὲ ἀπὸ τῆς Αἰγύπτου μετὰ τὴν Ἡρώδου τελευτήν.

20a.2.1 | For in the thirty-third year of Herod, and the forty-second of King Augustus, the savior is born in Bethlehem of Judea. He goes down into Egypt in the thirty-fifth year of Herod, and he comes up from Egypt after the death of Herod.

20a.2.2 | διὸ ἐπὶ τριάκοντα καὶ ἑπτὰ ἔτεσι τῆς αὐτῆς τοῦ Ἡρώδου ἀρχῆς ἦν ὁ παῖς τεσσάρων ἐτῶν, ὅτε Ἡρώδης τριάκοντα ἑπτὰ πληρώσας κατέστρεψε τὸν βίον.

20a.2.2 | Therefore, in the thirty-seven years of the same Herod's rule, the boy was four years old, when Herod, having completed thirty-seven, ended his life.

20a.2.3 | Ἀρχέλαος δὲ ἐννέα ἔτη βασιλεύει, οὗ ἐν ἀρχῇ τῆς βασιλείας ἐξῶν Ἰωσήφ ἀπ' Αἰγύπτου ἅμα τῇ Μαρίᾳ καὶ τῷ παιδί, ἀκούσας τὸν Ἀρχέλαον βασιλεύειν ἀνεχώρησεν εἰς τὰ μέρη τῆς Γαλιλαίας καὶ κατώκησεν τότε εἰς Ναζαρέτ.

20a.2.4 | Ἀρχέλαος δὲ γεννᾷ τὸν Ἡρώδην τὸν νεώτερον, καὶ βασιλεύει Ἡρώδης οὗτος τῷ ἐνάτῳ ἔτει τῆς τοῦ πατρὸς βασιλείας Ἀρχελαοῦ κατὰ διαδοχὴν. καὶ γέγονε λογιζόμενα δεκατρία ἔτη τῇ ἐνσάρκῳ Χριστοῦ παρουσίᾳ.

20a.2.4 | Archelaus gave birth to Herod the younger, and this Herod ruled in the ninth year of his father Archelaus's reign by succession. And thirteen years passed since the coming of Christ in the flesh.

20a.2.5 | ὀκτώκαιδεκάτῳ δὲ ἔτει Ἡρώδου τοῦ καὶ Ἀγρίππα ἐπικληθέντος ἤρξατο ὁ Ἰησοῦς τοῦ κηρύγματος καὶ τὸ βάπτισμα τὸ ἀπὸ Ἰωάννου τότε λαμβάνει καὶ κηρύσσει ἐνιαυτὸν δεκτόν, ὑπ' οὐδενὸς ἀντιλεγόμενος, οὔτε ὑπὸ Ἰουδαίων οὔτε ὑπὸ Ἑλλήνων οὔτε ὑπὸ Σαμαρειτῶν οὔτε ὑπὸ τινος ἑτέρου.

20a.2.5 | In the eighteenth year of Herod, who was also called Agrippa, Jesus began his preaching and took the baptism from John, and he preached for a year, accepted by no one opposing him, neither by Jews nor by Greeks nor by Samaritans nor by anyone else.

20a.2.6 | ἔπειτα ἀντιλεγόμενος ἐκήρυξεν ἐνιαυτὸν δεύτερον καὶ γέγονεν ἐννεακαίδεκα ἔτη τῷ αὐτῷ Ἡρώδῃ, τῷ δὲ σωτήρι τριακοστὸν δεύτερον.

20a.2.6 | Then, being opposed, he preached a second year, and it was the nineteenth year of the same Herod, but the thirty-second year for the savior.

20a.2.7 | ἐν δὲ τῷ εἰκοστῷ ἔτει τοῦ Ἡρώδου τοῦ τετράρχου καλουμένου γίνεται τὸ σωτήριον πάθος καὶ ἡ ἀπάθεια, ἡ θανάτου γεῦσις γεῦσις τε θανάτου ἄχρι σταυροῦ, πάσχοντος ἐν ἀληθείᾳ, ἀπαθοῦς δὲ μένοντος ἐν θεότητι («Χριστοῦ γὰρ παθόντος ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν σαρκί» φησὶν ἡ θεία γραφή καὶ πάλιν θανατωθεὶς σαρκί, ζωοποιηθεὶς δὲ πνεύματι» καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς),

20a.2.7 | In the twentieth year of Herod, called the tetrarch, the saving suffering and the passion happened, the tasting of death and the experience of death up to the cross, suffering in truth, but remaining without suffering in divinity (for “Christ suffered for us in the flesh,” says the divine scripture, “and again, having been put to death in the flesh, he was made alive in the spirit,” and what follows).

20a.2.8 | σταυροῦται θάπτεται κατέρχεται εἰς τὰ καταχθόνια ἐν θεότητι καὶ ἐν ψυχῇ, αἰχμαλωτεύει τὴν αἰχθμαλωσίαν καὶ ἀνίσταται τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ σὺν αὐτῷ τῷ ἁγίῳ σώματι, τὸ σῶμα τῇ θεότητι, μηκέτι λυόμενον μηκέτι πάσχον μηκέτι ὑπὸ θανάτου κυριεύμενον (ὥς φησὶν ὁ ἀπόστολος »θάνατος αὐτοῦ κυριεύει«),

20a.2.8 | He is crucified, buried, and goes down to the underworld in divinity and in soul, he takes captive the captivity and rises on the third day with the holy body itself, the body with divinity, no longer being destroyed, no longer suffering, no longer ruled by death (as the apostle says, “death rules over him”).

Section 3

20a.3.1 | That very body, truly that flesh, that soul, all these things; not something else besides the body that exists, but that very existing one, strengthened and joined into one unity, into one fleshly, incorruptible, bodily, spiritual, thick and thin, mortal and immortal, not seen to be completely destroyed, not left behind with the soul in Hades,

20a.3.2 | μὴ μερισθέντος τοῦ ὀργάνου πρὸς

20a.3.2 | not having the body divided for 20a.3.3 | for these are not the form of sin, but the truest sign of becoming human, the truth of divinity being present with the becoming human, not the human things suffering, but the divinity agreeing with the reasonable and those existing outside sin and change, forbidden to be.

from evil to truth, from divisions to one unity,

20a.3.6 | »βαπτίζοντες αὐτοὺς εἰς ὄνομα πατρὸς καὶ υἱοῦ καὶ ἁγίου πνεύματος«, εἰς τὴν κυριακὴν ὀνομασίαν τῆς τριάδος, τὴν ἁγίαν καὶ βασιλικὴν σφραγίδα, ἵνα δείξῃ ἐκ τοῦ ὀνόματος μηδεμίαν ἀλλοίωσιν εἶναι τῆς μιᾶς ἐνότητος.

20a.3.6 | “baptizing them in the name of the father and the son and the holy spirit,” into the lordly name of the trinity, the holy and royal seal, to show from the name there is no change in the one unity.

20a.3.7 | ὅπου γὰρ οἱ βαπτιζόμενοι κελεύονται ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ <σφραγίζεσθαι> εἰς ὄνομα ἀσφαλῆς ἢ δοξολογία· »εἰς ὄνομα υἱοῦ« οὐκ ἀποδεόντως ἢ ἐπὶ κλησὶς· »εἰς ὄνομα ἁγίου πνεύματος· οὐ διηρημένος ὁ σύνδεσμος οὐδὲ ἀπηλλοτριωμένος, τῆς μιᾶς θεότητος ἔχων τὴν σφραγίδα.

20a.3.7 | for where those being baptized are commanded by him to be sealed in the name, the praise is sure; “in the name of the son” is not a proper invocation; “in the name of the holy spirit” is not separated or cut off, having the seal of the one godhead.

Section 4

20a.4.1 | 4. Καὶ ἀνελήφθη εἰς οὐρανὸν ἐν αὐτῷ τῷ σώματι καὶ τῇ ψυχῇ καὶ τῷ νῷ, συνενώσας εἰς μίαν ἐνότητα καὶ μίαν πνευματικὴν ὑπόστασιν καὶ ἔνθεον ἀποτελέσας, ἐκάθισεν ἐν δεξιᾷ τοῦ πατρὸς, πέμψας κήρυκας εἰς ὅλην τὴν οἰκουμένην, Σίμωνα Πέτρον,

20a.4.1 | and he was taken up into heaven in that very body and soul and mind, joining into one unity and one spiritual being and making divine, he sat at the right hand of the father, sending preachers to the whole world, Simon Peter,

20a.4.2 | Ἀνδρέαν τὸν ἀδελφὸν αὐτοῦ, Ἰάκωβον καὶ Ἰωάννην τοὺς υἱοὺς Ζεβεδαίου οὓς πάλαι ἐξελεξάτο, Φίλιππον καὶ Βαρθολομαῖον, Ματθαῖον Θωμᾶν τε καὶ Ἰούδαν καὶ Θαδδαῖον, Σίμωνα τὸν ζηλωτὴν· Ἰούδας γὰρ ὁ Ἰσκαριώτης, εἰ καὶ πρῶην ἐν τοῖς δώδεκα ἐψηφίζετο, λτροδότης γενόμενος ἀπεετμήθη τοῦ ἁγίου τῶν ἀποστόλων καταλόγου.

20a.4.2 | Andrew his brother, James and John the sons of Zebedee, whom long ago he chose, Philip and Bartholomew, Matthew and Thomas and Judas and Thaddaeus, Simon the Zealot; for Judas Iscariot, though once counted among the twelve, having become a traitor, was cut off from the holy list of the apostles.

20a.4.3 | ἀνέστειλεν σὲ καὶ ἄλλους ἐβδομήκοντα δύο κηρύττειν, ἐξ ὧν ἦσαν οἱ ἐπτὰ οἱ ἐπὶ τῶν χηρῶν τεταγμένοι, Στέφανος Φίλιππος Πρόχορος Νικάνωρ Τίμων Παρμενᾶς καὶ Νικόλαος, 20a.4.3 | he sent up also seventy-two others to preach, among whom were the seven appointed over the widows, Stephen, Philip, Prochorus, Nicanor, Timon, Parmenas, and Nicholas,

20a.4.4 | πρὸ τούτων δὲ Ματθίας ὁ ἀντὶ

Ῥοῦφον, Νίγερα καὶ <τοὺς>

20a.4.4 | before these, Matthias was counted with the apostles instead of Judas; after these, the seven and Matthias, Mark who was before them, Luke, Justus, Barnabas and Apelles, Rufus, Niger and

20a.4.5 | ἐβδομήκοντα δύο. μετ' αὐτοὺς δὲ

20a.4.5 | the seventy-two. after them all, and with them, Paul the holy apostle, called an apostle from heaven by his own voice, both to the Jews and to the nations, and a fulfiller of apostolic teaching, was chosen;

20a.4.6 | ὃς εὕρισκε τὸν ἅγιον Λουκᾶν, εὐαγγελιῇ πραγματεία ἕως τούτου τοῦ χρονου.

20a.4.6 | who finds the holy Luke, one of the seventy-two who were scattered; having returned and made him a follower and helper of the gospel, and also an apostle, he showed this way the whole gospel work was completed up to this time.

20a.4.7 | Ἔσται δὲ μοι ὁ λόγος ἕως ὧδε περὶ τῶν εἴκοσι αἱρέσεων καὶ τῆς κατὰ δύναμιν ἀκολουθίας ἐν συντόμῳ μοι εἰρημένης εὐαγγελικῆς φωταγωγίας τῆς ἐν κόσμῳ διὰ τοῦ Χριστοῦ καὶ τῶν μαθητῶν αὐτοῦ γεγεννημένης,

20a.4.7 | my speech will be here about the twenty heresies and the power of the following, briefly told, of the gospel light that has come into the world through Christ and his disciples,

20a.4.8 | οἷς τὰ ὅμοια συλλέξαι καὶ παραθέσθαι τὰ προθεσπίσματά τε καὶ τὰς προφητείας ἀπὸ νόμου τε καὶ ψαλμῶν καὶ τῶν ἄλλων τὰς ἀκολουθίας καὶ ἀγωγὰς ἔνεστιν ἰδεῖν καὶ τὴν ἀκρίβειαν καταλαβέσθαι, ὥς οὐ νόθος ἀλλὰ ἀληθὴς καὶ προκαταγγελθεῖσα ἀπὸ τῆς παλαιᾶς διαθήκης καὶ ἀναμφίβολός ἐστιν ἡ ἔνσαρκος τοῦ Χριστοῦ παρουσία καὶ εὐαγγελικὴ διδασκαλία. ἵνα δὲ μὴ εἰς ὄγκον παρεκτείνω τὴν τῆς συντάξεως πραγματείαν, τούτοις ἀρκεσθήσομαι.

20a.4.8 | to these it is possible to gather and set beside the forewarnings and the prophecies from the law and the psalms and the other teachings and ways, and to see and understand the exactness, that the incarnation of Christ is not false but true and foretold from the old covenant, and the gospel teaching is certain. and so that i do not stretch the work of this writing into a burden, i will be content with these.

20a.4.9 | Προϊὼν δὲ ἐφεξῆς τὰς μετέπειτα τῷ βίῳ ἐπιφυσίας ἐπὶ κακῇ προφάσει δόξας ὁμοίως διαγορεύσω, ἥδη τὰς ἑνδεκά τὰς ἀπὸ Ἰουδαίων καὶ Σαμαρειτῶν καὶ τὰς πρὸ αὐτῶν ἑννέα ἐξ Ἑλλήνων καὶ βαρβάρων καὶ τῶν ἄλλων γενομένης πρὸ τῆς τοῦ κυρίου παρουσίας καὶ ἕως 15 αὐτοῦ τοῦ χρόνου μετρίως ἀπαριθμησάμενος.

20a.4.9 | going on in order, i will speak about the false beliefs that grew later in life on bad grounds, first the eleven from the jews and samaritans, and the nine before them from greeks and barbarians and others, which happened before the lord's coming and up to the fifteenth year of his time, counted moderately.

Section 1

21.1.1 | Σίμωνος γίνεται τοῦ μάγου πρώτη αἵρεσις ἀπὸ Χριστοῦ καὶ δεῦρο ἀρξαμένη, οὕσα αὕτη τῶν εἰς ὄνομα Χριστοῦ οὐκ ὀρθῶς οὐδὲ εὐαγῶς <πιστευόντων>; ἀλλὰ κατὰ τὴν παραπεποιημένην ἐν φθορὰν τὰ δεινὰ ἐργαζομένων.

21.1.1 | the first heresy from Christ is that of Simon the magician, starting here, which is of those who believe in the name of Christ not rightly nor devoutly, but according to the false teaching, working terrible things toward ruin.

21.1.2 | οὗτος ὁ Σίμων γόης ἦν, ἀπὸ Μῶν δὲ ὠρμᾶτο τῆς πόλεως τῆς ἐν τῇ Σαμαρείᾳ, νυνὶ κώμης ὑπαρχούσης. ἐφαντασίαζε δὲ τὸ γένος τῶν Σαμαρειτῶν ταῖς μαγείαις ἐξαπατῶν τε καὶ δελεάζων,

21.1.2 | this Simon was a magician, coming from a city called Mōn in Samaria, now a village. he fooled and tricked the people of the Samaritans with his magic.

21.1.3 | ἔλεγεν δὲ ἑαυτὸν εἶναι τὴν μεγάλην δύναμιν τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ ἄνωθεν καταβηκέναι. τὸν πατέρα δὲ ἔλεγεν ἑαυτὸν τοῖς Σαμαρείταις, Ἰουδαίοις δὲ ἔλεγεν ἑαυτὸν εἶναι τὸν υἱόν, παθόντα δὲ μὴ πεπονθέναι. ἀλλὰ δοκῇσει μόνον.

21.1.3 | he said he was the great power of god and had come down from above. to the samaritans he said he was the father, but to the jews he said he was the son, who suffered but had not really suffered. but it would only seem so.

21.1.4 | ὑπεκορίσθη δὲ οὗτος τοὺς ἀποστόλους καὶ αὐτὸς δὲ ὁμοίως] ἴσα τοῖς ἄλλοις ὑπὸ Φιλίππου ἐβαπτίσθη μετὰ πολλῶν. οἱ πάντες δὲ χωρὶς αὐτοῦ ἐξεδέξαντο τὴν τῶν μεγάλων ἀποστόλων παρουσίαν καὶ διὰ τῆς αὐτῶν χειροθεσίας ἔλαβον πνεῦμα ἅγιον, ἐπειδήπερ Φίλιππος διάκονος ὢν οὐκ εἶχεν ἐξουσίαν τῆς χειροθεσίας τοῦ δι' αὐτῆς διδόναι πνεῦμα ἅγιον.

21.1.4 | this man also obeyed the apostles and was baptized by Philip with many others. but all the others, except him, received the presence of the great apostles and through their laying on of hands, they received the holy spirit. for Philip, being a servant, did not have the authority to give the holy spirit through laying on of hands.

21.1.5 | οὐκ ὀρθὴν δὲ ὁ Σίμων ἔχων τὴν καρδίαν οὔτε τὸν λογισμόν, αἰσχροκερδὶς δέ τινα καὶ φιλοχρημοσύνη προσανέχων καὶ τῆς μοχθηρᾶς αὐτοῦ ἐπιτηδεύσεως ἐκτὸς βαίνων οὐδαμῶς. προσέφερε χρήματα Πέτρῳ τῷ ἀποστόλῳ, ὅπως δώῃ αὐτῷ ἐξουσίαν ἐν τῇ ἐπιθέσει τῶν χειρῶν πνεῦμα ἅγιον παρέχειν, λογισάμενος ὀλίγον δώσειν πολλὴν δὲ ἀντὶ ὀλίγου τιὰ τοῦ ἄλλοις παρέχειν πνεῦμα ἐπισωρεῦσαι χρημάτων πληθὺν καὶ ἐπικερδῆσαι.

21.1.5 | Simon did not have a right heart or mind, but he was greedy and loved money. He did not stop his evil ways at all. He offered money to Peter the apostle, asking him to give him the power to give the holy spirit by laying on hands. He thought he could give a little money and get a lot in return by giving others the spirit and making a lot of money.

Section 2

21.2.1 | 2. Οὗτος μὲν οὖν ἔχων τὴν διάνοιαν πεπονηρευμένην ἀπὸ τῆς ἐν τῇ μαγείᾳ δαιμονιώδους πλάνης καὶ πεφαντασιωμένην, πρόχ'ειρος ὢν αἰετῆς ἑαυτοῦ κακίας τὰ βαρβαρικὰ καὶ δαιμονίων πράγματα διὰ τῆς ἑαυτοῦ μαγγανείας ἐπιδείκνυσθαι, παρελθὼν εἰς

21.2.1 | This man, not having a clear mind but one worn out by the demon-driven magic and illusions, always eager to show off his own evil and the works of demons through his magic, came forward using the name of Christ as a cover. Like a poisonous honey, he tricked those who followed him, μέσον καὶ προσήματι ὀνόματος Χριστοῦ, ὡς ἐλλέβορον μέλιτι παραπλέκων, δηλητήριον τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἀγρευθεῖσιν εἰς τὴν κακομήχανον αὐτοῦ πλάνην παρενθεῖς τῷ τοῦ ὀνόματος ἀξιώματι Χριστοῦ θάνατον ἐνεποίησεν τοῖς πεισθεῖσιν.

putting deadly poison into the honor of the name of Christ, and brought death to those who believed him.

21.2.2 | λᾶγνος δὲ ὢν κατὰ τὴν φύσιν καὶ αἰδοῖ τῇ τῶν ἑαυτοῦ ὑποσχέσεων ὑπονυττόμενος, παραπεφθαρμένην ὑπόνοιαν τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἀπατωμένοις ὁ αγυρτής παρεποίησατο. γυναῖκα γὰρ τινὰ ἑαυτῷ εὐράμενος ῥεμβάδα Ἑλένην τοῦνομα ἀπὸ τῆς Τυρίων ὁρμωμένην ἄγεται, μὴ ὑποφαίνων συνάφειαν ἔχειν πρὸς ταύτην·

21.2.2 | Being lustful by nature and ashamed of his own promises, he made false doubts for those deceived by him. For he found a woman named Helena, a wanderer from Tyre, and he leads her, not showing that he has any connection with her.

21.2.3 | ἐν παραβύστῳ δὲ αἰσχύρῳ συμπεριπλεκόμενος τῷ γυναίῳ ὁ γόης τινὰ μυθώθη ψυχαγωγίαν τοῖς ἑαυτοῦ μαθηταῖς ὑφηγεῖτο, δῆθεν ἑαυτὸν εἶναι δύνάμιν θεοῦ λέγων τὴν μεγάλην, τὴν δὲ σύζυγον ποσράδα πνεῦμα ἅγιον εἶναι τετόλμηκεν λέγειν καὶ διὰ ταύτην κατεληλυθέναι φησίν.

21.2.3 | In shameful sexual sin with the woman, the sorcerer pretended to give some kind of entertainment to his followers, claiming to be a great power of god. He dared to say that his wife was the holy spirit and that he came through her.

21.2.4 | »ἐν ἐκάστῳ δὲ οὐρανῷ μετεμορφούμεν, φησίν, κατὰ τὴν μορφήν τῶν ἐν ἐκάστῳ οὐρανῷ, ἵνα λάθω τὰς ἀγγελικάς μου δυνάμεις καὶ κατέλθω ἐπὶ τῇν Ἑννοίαν, ἥτις ἐστὶν αὕτη ἡ καὶ Π[ρουνίκος καὶ πνεῦμα ἄκτισαν καὶ τοὺς ἀνθρώπους». εἶναι δὲ ταύτην τὴν Ἑλένην ἐκείνην τὴν πάλαι, δι' ἣν οἱ Τρῶες καὶ Ἕλληνες εἰς μάχην ἦλθον.

21.2.4 | He says, 'In each heaven I changed my form, according to the shape of those in each heaven, so I could hide my angelic powers and come down to Ennoia, who is this one, and Prunikos, and an uncreated spirit, and the people.' And this Helena is the same one from long ago, for whom the Trojans and Greeks came to battle.

21.2.5 | ἔλεγε δὲ μῦθόν τινὰ εἰς ταῦτα, ὅτι ἄνωθεν ἡ δύναμις κατιοῦσα ἐντὴν

21.2.5 | He told a story about this, that the power coming down from above changed μετεμόρφου, ἀλληγορικῶς δὲ οἱ ποιητὰ περὶ τούτου ἔφασαν. διὰ γὰρ τὴν ἄνωθεν δύναμιν (ἣν Προϋνικόν φασιν, ἥτις παρ’ ἄλλαις αἰρέσεσι Βαρβηρῶ ἦτοι βαρβηλῶ καλεῖται), τὸ κάλλος αὐτῆς ἐμφαίδνουσαν εἰς οἷστρόν & τε & ἄξασαν αὐτοὺς καὶ διὰ τοῦτο πεμφοθεῖσαν εἰς συλαγωγίαν τῶν ἀρχόντων τῶν ἀρχόντων τῶν τὸν κόσμον τοῦτον κτισάντων, [καὶ] τοὺς αὐτοὺς ἀγγέλους εἰς πόλεμον δι’ αὐτὴν ἤκειν, αὐτὴν μηδὲν πεπονθέναι, ἀλληλοκτονίας δὲ αὐτοὺς εἰς ἑαυτοὺς ἐργάσασθαι παρασκευάσαι δι’ ἣν ἐνέβαλεν εἰς αὐτοὺς πρὸς ἑαυτὴν ἐπιθυμίαν.

itself, and the poets spoke about this in symbols. For because of the power from above (which they call Prunikos, and in other groups Barbēro or Barbēlō), showing her beauty, they drove them into madness and sent her to the land of the rulers who made this world, and the same angels came to war because of her. She suffered nothing, but made them kill each other and prepare for themselves the fight, because she put desire for herself into them.

21.2.6 | καὶ συνέχοντες αὐτὴν τοῦ μὴ ἄνω δύνασθαι ἀνιέναι συνεγίνοντο αὐτῇ, ἕκαστος ἐν ἑκάστῳ σώματι γυναικείας καὶ θηλυκῆς σχέσεως, μεταγγιζομένης αὐτῆς ἀπὸ σωμάτων θηλυκῶν εἰς σώματα διάφορα ἀνθρωπίνης φύσεως τε καὶ κτηνῶν καὶ τῶν ἄλλων, ἵνα δι’ ὧν αὐτοὶ ἐργάζονται, κτείνοντές τε καὶ κτεινόμενοι, μείωσιν ἑαυτῶν διὰ τῆς τοῦ αἵματος προχύσεως ἐργάζωνται, εἴτα ἐκείνη τὴν δύναμιν συλλεγομένη πόλιν αὖθις εἰς οὐρανὸν ἀναβῆναι δυνηθῇ.

21.2.6 | And holding her back from going up above, they joined with her, each in a different body of a woman and female form, passing her from the bodies of women into different bodies of human nature and animals and others, so that through these they work, killing and being killed, they weaken themselves by shedding blood, and then she, gathering that power, is able to go back up to heaven.

Section 3

21.3.1 | 3. »Ἦν δὲ αὕτη τότε ἢ ἐπὶ τοῖς Ἑλλησὶ τε καὶ Τρωσὶ καὶ ἀνωτάτω πρὶν ἢ τὸν κόσμον γενέσθαι καὶ μετὰ τὸν κόσμον διὰ τῶν ἀοράτων δυνάμεων. τὰ ἰσότυπα πεποιηκυῖα.

21.3.1 | 3. And this one was then above both the Greeks and the Trojans, even before the world came to be, and after the world through invisible powers, having made equal images.

21.3.2 | αὕτη δὲ ἐστὶν ἡ νῦν σὺν ἐμοὶ καὶ διὰ ταύτην κατελήλυθα. καὶ αὕτη δὲ προσεδόκα τὴν ἐμὴν παρουσίαν· αὕτη γάρ

21.3.2 | And she is the one now with me, and through her I have come. And she expected my coming; for she is Thought, έστιν ἡ Ἑννοία, ἡ παρὰ Ὅμηρῳ Ἑλένη καλουμένη. καὶ τούτου ἕνεκεν ἀναγκάζεται αὐτὴν διαγράφειν Ὅμηρος ἐπὶ πύργου ἐστηκέναι καὶ διὰ λαμπάδος ὑποφαίνειν τοῖς Ἑλλησι τὴν κατὰ τῶν Φρυγῶν ἐπιβουλήν. ἔχαρακτήριζε Τε διὰ τῆς λαμπηδόνης, ὡς ἔφην, τὴν τοῦ ἄνωθεν φωτὸς ἐνδιξιν.»

called Helen by Homer. And because of this, Homer is forced to write her standing on a tower and showing by a torch to the Greeks the plot against the Trojans. And he marked her through the torch, as I said, the sign of the light from above.

21.3.3 | διὸ καὶ τὸν παρὰ τῷ Ὅμηρῳ δούρειον ἵππον μεμηχανημένον, ὃν νομίζουσιν Ἕλληνες ἐπίτηδες γεγενῆσθαι, ἔλεγε πάλιν ὁ γόης ὅτι ἄγνοιά ἐστι ἐστὶ τῶν ἔθνων· καὶ »ὡς οἱ Φρύγες ἔλκοντες αὐτὸν ἀγνοίᾳ τὸν ἴδιον ὄλεθρον ἐπεσπásαντο, οὕτω γάρ] καὶ τὰ ἔθνη τουτέστιν οἱ ἄνθρωποι οἱ ἐκτὸς τῆς ἐμῆς γνώσεως διὰ τῆς ἀγνοίας ἔλκουσιν ἑαυτοῖς τὴν ἀπώλειαν«.

21.3.3 | Therefore, also the wooden horse in Homer, which the Greeks think was made on purpose, the sorcerer said again that it is ignorance of the nations; and just as the Phrygians, pulling it in ignorance, brought on their own destruction, so also the nations, that is, the people outside my knowledge, through ignorance pull destruction on themselves.

21.3.4 | ἀλλὰ καὶ Ἀθηνᾶν πάλιν τὴν αὐτὴν ἔλεγε τὴν παρ' αὐτῷ Ἑννοίαν καλουμένην, χρῶμενος δῆθεν ὁ πλάνος ταῖς τοῦ ἁγίου ἀποστόλου Παύλου φωναῖς μεταποιῶν τε τὴν ἀλήθειαν εἰς τὸ αὐτοῦ ψεῦδος, τό »ἐνδύσασθε τὸν θώρακα τῆς πίστεως καὶ τὴν περικεφαλαίαν τοῦ σωτηρίου κω κνημίδας καὶ μάχαιραν καὶ θυρεόν', πάντα ταῦτα ἐπὶ τῆς τοῦ Φιλιστίνωνος μιμολογίας ὁ ἀπατεὼν τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ ἀποστόλου εἰρημένα διὰ στερεὸν λογισμὸν καὶ πίστιν ἀγνῆς ἀναστροφῆς καὶ δύναμιν Μου λόγου καὶ ἐπουρανίου εἰς χλεύην λοιπὸν καὶ οὐδὲν ἕτερον μεταστρέφων. »τί γάρ;« φησί, »ταῦτα πάντα εἰς Ἀθηνᾶς τύπους μυστηριωδῶς ἐσχημάτιζε« διὸ πάλιν ἔλεγεν, ὡς προεῖπον,

21.3.4 | But also Athena, the same one called Thought by him, he said again, pretending to use the words of the holy apostle Paul, changing the truth into his own lie, "put on the breastplate of faith and the helmet of salvation and the sandals and the sword and the shield," all these on the mimicry of the Philistine, the deceiver turned what was said by the apostle through firm reason and pure faith and the power of my word and heavenly things into mockery and nothing else. "For what?" he says, "all these secretly formed the types of Athena." Therefore, again he said, as I said before,

21.3.5 | ὑποφαίνων ἐκείνην τὴν μετ' αὐτοῦ

21.3.5 | hinting at that woman with him γυναικα την από Τύρου ληφθεῖσαν αὐτῷ, τὴν ὁμώνυμον τῆς παλαιᾶς Ἑλένης, τὰ πάντα ταύτην καλῶν καὶ Ἑννοϊαν καὶ Ἀθηνᾶν καὶ Ἑλένην καὶ τὰ ἄλλα, »καὶ διὰ ταύτην. φησί, καταβέβηκα· τοῦτο γάρ ἐστι τὸ γεγραμμένον ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ τὸ πρόβατον τὸ πεπλανημένον«.

taken from Tyre, the one with the same name as the old Helen, calling her everything, both Thought and Athena and Helen and the others, “and because of her,” he says, “I came down; for this is what is written in the gospel, the sheep that went astray.”

21.3.6 | ἀλλὰ καὶ εἰκόνα τινὰ παραδέωκε τοῖς αὐτοῦ ὡς δῆθεν αὐτοῦ οὖσαν καὶ προσκυνοῦσι ταύτην ἐν εἴδει Διός· ἄλλην δὲ ὡσαύτως Ἑλένης εἰκόνα παραδέδωκεν αὐτοῖς ἐν σχήματι Ἀθηνᾶς. καὶ προσκυνοῦσι ταύτας οἱ παρ' αὐτοῦ ἡπατημένοι.

21.3.6 | But he also gave his own people an image, supposedly of himself, and they worship this image in the form of Zeus; and likewise he gave them another image of Helen in the shape of Athena. And those deceived by him worship these.

Section 4

21.4.1 | 4. Μυστήρια δὲ ὑπέθετο αἰσχρότης ῥύσεώς τε σωμάτων, ὅπως σεμνότερον ὑφηγήσωμαι, ἀνδρῶν μὲν διὰ τῆς ἀπορροίας. γυναικῶν δὲ διὰ τῶν κατ' ἐθισμόν [τῶν] ἐμηνίων συλλογῇ τινι εἰς μυστήρια συναγομένων.

21.4.1 | He introduced mysteries of shameful filth and the breaking of bodies, so that I might explain more respectfully, for men through loss of seed, and for women through a certain gathering of their monthly flows, collected by custom into mysteries.

21.4.2 | καὶ ταῦτα εἶναι μυστήρια ζωῆς γνώσεώς & τε & τῆς τελειότητος· ὅπερ μάλιστα ὑπάρχει τῷ τὴν σύνεσιν ἐκ κεκτημένῳ βδελυρίαν μᾶλλον ἡγεῖσθαι καὶ θάνατον ἢ περ ζωῆν.

21.4.2 | And these are mysteries of life and perfect knowledge; which especially exist for the one who has gained understanding to consider them more as a horror and death rather than life.

21.4.3 | ὀνόματα δὲ τινὰ ὁ αὐτὸς ὑποτίθεται ἀρχῶν τε καὶ ἐξουσιῶν, οὐρανούς τε διαφόρους φησί, καθ' ἕκαστον δὲ στερέωμα καὶ οὐρανὸν δυνάμεις τινὰς ὑφηγεῖται καὶ ὀνόματα βαρβαρικὰ τούτοις ἐκτίθεται· μὴ ἄλλως δὲ

21.4.3 | And he himself assigns certain names to rulers and powers, and he says there are different heavens; for each firmament and heaven he guides some powers and gives them barbarian names; and he says it is not possible to be saved in δύνασθαι σῶζεσθαι τινά, εἰ μή τι ἂν μάθοι ταύτην τὴν μυσταγωγίαν καὶ τὰς τοιαύτας θυσίας τῷ πατρὶ τῶν ὅλων διὰ τῶν ἀρχῶν τούτων καὶ ἐξουσιῶν προσφέρειν.

any other way, unless someone learns this initiation and offers such sacrifices to the father of all through these rulers and powers.

21.4.4 | εἶναι δὲ τὸν αἰῶνα τοῦτον ἀπὸ ἀρχῶν καὶ ἐξουσιῶν, φησί, τῆς κακίας ἐν ἐλαττώματι κατεσκευασμένον. φθορὰν δὲ ὑψηγείται σαρκὸς καὶ ἀπώλειαν, μόνον ψυχῶν δὲ κάθαρσιν καὶ τούτων εἰ διὰ τῆς αὐτοῦ πεπλανημένης γνώσεως ἐν μυσταγωγίᾳ κατασταῖεν. καὶ οὕτως ἄρχεται τῶν Γνωστικῶν καλουμένων ἡ ἄρχή.

21.4.4 | He says this age is made from rulers and powers, built with a flaw of evil. He guides destruction of the body and ruin, but only cleansing of souls—if they are made through his mistaken knowledge in initiation. And so begins the rule of those called the Gnostics.

21.4.5 | He said the law is not from god, but from a left power, and that there are no prophets from a good god, but from different and other powers. And as he wants, he assigns to each one: the law to someone; to David another; to Isaiah another; to Ezekiel again another; and to each of the prophets he gives a different beginning. And all these are from the left power and outside the fullness, and all who believe in the old covenant face death.

21.5.1 | 5. Ἀνατρέπεται δὲ τοῦτο τὸ δόγμα ἀπ' αὐτῆς τῆς ἀληθείας. εἰ γὰρ αὐτὸς εἴη ἡ δύναμις τοῦ θεοῦ ἡ μεγάλη καὶ τὸ σὺν αὐτῷ πορνίδιον τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον ὡς αὐτός φησι, φησάτω τί τὸ ὄνομα τῆς δυνάμεως ἢ τί τῷ λόγῳ τὸ ἐπίθετον τῇ μὲν γυναικὶ ἐφηύρατο, ἑαυτῷ δὲ οὐδὲν τὸ παράπαν·

21.5.1 | But this teaching is overturned by that very truth. For if the great power of god himself is the holy spirit with him, as he says, let him say what the name of the power is or what title by word was found for the woman, but nothing at all for himself;

21.5.2 | πῶς δὲ ἐν χρόνῳ τινὶ εὐρίσκεται κατὰ διαδοχὴν τὸ χρεὼν ἐπὶ τῆς Ῥωμαίων ἀποδοῦς, ὅτε ἐν μέσῃ τῶν Ῥωμαίων πόλει ὁ τάλας καταπεσὼν τέθνηκεν·

21.5.2 | But how at some time is the debt found in order to be paid to the Romans, when the poor man fell and died in the middle of the Roman city?

21.5.3 | τίνι <δὲ> τῷ λόγῳ ὁ Πέτρος ἀπεφώνητο, αὐτὸν μὴ κληρὸν μὴ μερίδα ἔχειν ἐν τῷ μέρει τῆς θεοσεβείας·

21.5.3 | But by what word did Peter declare that he himself has no share or portion in the part of godliness?

21.5.4 | πῶς δὲ δύναται ὁ κόσμος θεοῦ ἀγαθοῦ μὴ ὑπάρχειν, ὁπότε ἐξ αὐτοῦ πάντες οἱ ἀγαθοὶ ἐξελέγησαν·

21.5.4 | But how can the world of good god not exist, when from him all the good ones were chosen?

21.5.5 | πῶς δὲ ἀριστερὰ εἶη δύναμις ἢ ἐν νόμῳ καὶ ἐν προφήταις λαλήσασα, ἥτις περὶ τῆς ἐλεύσεως τοῦ Χριστοῦ <ἀπὸ τοῦ> ἀγαθοῦ θεοῦ προκεκήρυχεν καὶ τὰ φαῦλα πάντα ἀπαγορεύει·

21.5.5 | But how could the power that spoke in the law and in the prophets be left-handed, which announced beforehand the coming of Christ from the good god and forbids all evil?

21.5.6 | But how could there not be one godhead and the same spirit of the new and old covenant, when the lord said he did not come to break the law, but to fulfill it? And to show that the law was proclaimed by him and given through Moses, but the gospel grace was announced through himself and his bodily presence, he said to you Jews, 'If you believed Moses, you would also believe me; for he wrote about me.'

21.5.7 | καὶ ἄλλα πολλὰ ἔστιν * πρὸς ἀντίθεσιν τῆς τοῦ γόητος ληρολογίας· πῶς δὲ ἔσται τὰ αἰσχροὶ ζωτικά, εἰ μὴ τι ἂν δαιμόνων εἶη τὸ φρόνημα, ὁπότε αὐτὸς ὁ κύριος λέγει ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ πρὸς τοὺς

21.5.7 | And there are many other things against the nonsense of the sorcerer; how could shameful lives exist if the mind were not of demons, when the lord himself says in the gospel to those who say to him, 'If λέγοντας αὐτῷ εἰ οὕτως ἡ αἰτία τοῦ ἀνδρὸς καὶ τῆς γυναικός, οὐ συμφέρει γαμῆσαι· ὁ δὲ πρὸς αὐτοὺς ἔφη »οὐ πάντες τοῦτο χωροῦσι· εἰσὶ γὰρ εὐνοῦχοι, οἵτινες εὐνούχισαν ἑαυτοὺς διὰ τὴν βασιλείαν τῶν οὐρανῶν« καὶ ἔδειξεν ὡς τὸ φύσει ἀπέχεσθαι συζυγίας βασιλείας οὐρανῶν ἐστὶ τὸ δῶρον.

this is the cause of man and woman, it is not good to marry'? But he said to them, 'Not everyone accepts this; for there are eunuchs who made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven.' And he showed that by nature, abstaining from marriage is a gift of the kingdom of heaven.

21.5.8 | πάλιν δὲ ἐν ἄλλῳ τόπῳ λέγει κατὰ τὸν σεμνὸν γάμον, ὃν αὐτὸς ὁ Σίμων παραφθείρων αἰσχρῶς μεθοδεύει τὴν ἑαυτοῦ ἐπιθυμίαν, ὅτι »οὓς ὁ θεὸς συνέζευξεν, ἄνθρωπος μὴ χωριζέτω«.

21.5.8 | Again, in another place, he speaks about the honorable marriage, which Simon himself corrupts shamefully to serve his own desire, saying, 'What God has joined together, let no one separate.'

21.6.1 | 6. Πῶς δὲ πάλιν ὁ πλάνος ἐπιλαθόμενος τῆς ἰδίας ληρωδίας ἑαυτὸν ἐλέγχει, ὥσπερ ἀγγοῶν ἃ προλέγει; φήσας γὰρ ὅτι ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γεγονάσιν οἱ ἄγγελοι διὰ τῆς αὐτοῦ Ἐννοίας, πάλιν ἔλεγεν μεταμορφοῦσθαι καθ' ἕκαστον οὐρανόν, ὅπως λάθοι τοὺς αὐτοὺς ἐν τῷ κατιέναι. ἄρα δεδιὼς ἐλάνθανε, καὶ πῶς δέδιεν ὁ ληρολόγος οὓς αὐτὸς ἐποίησεν ἀγγέλους;

21.6.1 | But how again does the deceiver, forgetting his own nonsense, accuse himself, as if guessing what he says beforehand? For having said that the angels were made by him through his own Thought, he again said that each heaven is transformed, so that they might escape notice while going down. So he was afraid and did not realize it, but how could the nonsense-speaker be afraid of the angels he himself made?

21.6.2 | πῶς δὲ οὐ πάντῃ εὐθυέλεγκτος αὐτοῦ τοῖς συνετοῖς ἡ ὑποσπορὰ τῆς πλάνης εὐρεθήσεται, ὅποτε ἐν ἀρχῇ ἐποίησεν ὁ θεὸς τὸν οὐρανὸν καὶ τὴν γῆν« φησὶν ἡ γραφή; καὶ συναδόντως τούτῳ τῷ λόγῳ ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ φησὶν ὡς πρὸς τὸν θεὸν καὶ πατέρα τὸν ἴδιον »πάτερ, κύριε τοῦ οὐρανοῦ καὶ τῆς γῆς«.

21.6.2 | But how is the sowing of error not everywhere clearly exposed by those who understand, when the scripture says, 'In the beginning God made the heaven and the earth'? And in agreement with this word, the lord says in the gospel, 'Father, lord of heaven and earth,' speaking about his own God and father.

21.6.3 | εἰ τοίνυν ποιητὴς οὐρανοῦ καὶ γῆς ὑπάρχει ὁ θεὸς ὁ πατὴρ τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ, μάτην τὰ πάντα τῷ συκοφάντῃ Σίμωνι εἴρται, τὸ ὑπὸ ἀγγέλων τὸν κόσμον ἐν ἐλαττώματι γεγενῆσθαι καὶ τὰ ἄλλα πάντα, ὅσα δαιμονῶν ὁ πλάνος τῷ κόσμῳ παραλαλῶν εἰσηγήσατο καὶ ἀπάτην τισὶν ἐνεποίησεν τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἡπατημένοις.

21.6.3 | If then the maker of heaven and earth is God, the father of our lord Jesus Christ, all things are falsely claimed by the slanderer Simon, that the world was made by angels with a defect, and all the other things that the deceiver, speaking nonsense to the world, introduced and tricked some who were deceived by him.

Section 7

21.7.1 | 7. Καὶ ταῦτά μοι ἐν ἐπιτομῇ πρὸς τὴν τούτου αἵρεσιν εἰρημένα ἀρκέσει τοῖς ἐντυγχάνουσιν εἰς πρόφασιν ἀληθείας τε καὶ ἰάσεως καὶ εἰς ἔλεγχον τῶν διὰ τῆς τοιαύτης θηριώδους φθορᾶς πειρωμένων ἀδικεῖν τοὺς ἀγνοοῦντας.

21.7.1 | And these things said briefly to me against his heresy will be enough for those who meet them as a reason for truth and healing, and as a proof against those who try to harm the ignorant through such wild destruction.

21.7.2 | ὑπερβήσομαι δὲ καὶ ἐφ' ἑτέρας πάλιν βαδιοῦμαι αἰρέσεως ἔλεγχον, τούτου τὴν ἰοβολίαν ἱκανῶς συντρίψας. ἔστιν γὰρ ἐν αὐτῷ μεταβολὴ καὶ ἐνδοιασμός, πλάνου μὲν ὄντος αὐτοῦ μορφὴν δὲ ὀνόματος Χριστοῦ ἐνδυσσάμενου, ὡς ἡ τῶν ἐκτρωμάτων ἐρπετώδης ἐξ οὐρίων ὥων ἀσπίδων κυῖσκομένη φθορὰ καὶ ἄλλων ἐχιδνῶν, ὡς φησὶν ὁ προφήτης »ὥὰ ἀσπίδων ἔρρηξαν,

21.7.2 | But I will go beyond and again walk into another proof of heresy, having thoroughly crushed this man's poison. For in him there is change and doubt, being a deception yet wearing the form of the name of Christ, like the creeping destruction of monsters hatched from serpent eggs, carried on shields and other snakes, as the prophet says, 'They have broken the eggs of shields.'

21.7.3 | καὶ ὁ μέλλων τῶν ὥων αὐτῶν φαγεῖν ἠὺρεν οὐρίον καὶ ἐν αὐτῷ βασιλίσκον». ἀλλὰ τῇ δυνάμει ὡς ἔφην τοῦ Χριστοῦ τοῦτον παίσαντες διὰ τῶν τῆς ἀληθείας λόγων καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ λύμην ἀφανίσαντες ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἴωμεν, ἀγαπητοί.

21.7.3 | And the one about to eat those eggs found a serpent, and in it a basilisk. But by the power, as I said, of Christ, having struck this man through words of truth and destroyed his cunning, let us go on to what follows, dear friends.

Book 22

Section 1

22.1.1 | Ταῦτα καθεξῆς συνέπεται Μένανδρός τις, ὃς ἀπὸ Σαμαρειτῶν ὀρμώμενος ἐγένετο μαθητεύων τούτῳ τῷ Σίμωνι ἐν χρόνῳ τινί. ὁμοίως δὲ ἔλεγεν καὶ αὐτὸς τὸν κόσμον γεγονέναι ὑπὸ ἀγγέλων, ἐαυτὸν δὲ ἔλεγεν ἄνωθεν δύναμιν θεοῦ καταπεπέμφθαι.

22.1.1 | These things follow in order from a certain Menander, who, starting from the Samaritans, became a follower of this Simon for some time. Likewise, he said that the world was made by angels, and he said that a power from God had been sent down from above.

22.1.2 | μείζονα δὲ κυβείαν οὗτος ὑπὲρ τὸν πρότερον ἐργασάμενος πρὸς ἀπάτην τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἔλεγεν ἑαυτὸν πεπέμφθαι εἰς σωτηρίαν, δῆθεν εἰς τὸ συναγαγεῖν τινὰς εἰς τὸ ἑαυτοῦ μυστήριον διὰ τὸ μὴ ὑπὸ τῶν τὸν κόσμον πεποιηκότων ἀγγέλων καὶ ἀρχῶν καὶ ἐξουσιῶν κατακυριευθῆναι.

22.1.2 | Having done a greater trick than before to deceive people, he said that he had been sent for salvation, supposedly to gather some into his own secret group because they had not been ruled by the angels and rulers and powers who made the world.

22.1.3 | ὅμοια δὲ τῷ ἑαυτοῦ διδασκάλῳ τὰ πάντα συνυφαίνων καὶ γοητείαις καὶ ταῖς ἄλλαις μαγανείαις * οὗ διέλειπεν, οὐδὲν δὲ διήλλαττε τῇ δικασκαλίᾳ ἀλλ' ἢ μόνον ὅτι ἐαυτὸν ἔλεγε μείζονα μᾶλλον ἢ τὸν πρὸ αὐτοῦ ὄντα αὐτοῦ διδάσκαλον.

22.1.3 | Likewise, weaving everything together with his own teacher, including magic tricks and other witchcraft, which he practiced, he changed nothing in the teaching except only that he said he was greater than his teacher who came before him.

Section 2

22.2.1 | 2. Τῷ δὲ αὐτῷ ἐλαττώματι ὧ καὶ ὁ αὐτοῦ διδάσκαλος περιέπεσε καὶ αὐτὸς ἄλους διὰ τῶν αὐτῶν τοῦ ἐλέγχου τῆς ἀληθείας λόγων ἀνατραπήσεται † ἀνετράπη γὰρ οὗτος καὶ ἔληξεν ἡ αὐτοῦ αἵρεσις ὡς ἐπὶ τὸ πλεῖστον.

22.2.1 | 2. But with the same fault that his own teacher had, he too was caught and will be overthrown by the same proofs of truth. For he was overthrown, and his heresy mostly ended.

22.2.2 | ὑπερβήσομαι δὲ καὶ ἐφ' ἑτέραν πάλιν προκόπτων τῇ ὑφηγήσει ἐλεύσομαι. τῷ γὰρ ὄντι οἱ παλαιοὶ ἱστοροῦσι μῦθον, ὥς ἐκ πολλῶν ἀσπίδων συνηγμένων ἐν ἄγγει ἐνὶ ὀστρακινῷ καὶ κατατεθεισῶν ἐν τοῖς θεμελίοις τῶν τεσσάρων γωνιῶν ἐκαστοῦ τεμένους τῶν ἐν Αἰγύπτῳ οἰκοδομηθέντων εἰδώλων, [καὶ] εἴ τις ἰσχυροτέρα ἤυρηται παρὰ τὰς ἄλλας, ἐπελθοῦσα ταῖς ἑτέραις κατέφαγε·

22.2.2 | But I will go beyond and come again to another story as I continue my explanation. For the old writers tell a tale that from many shields gathered into one clay pot and placed in the foundations of the four corners of each temple built in Egypt, cutting out the images there, if any one was found stronger than the others, it came upon the others and destroyed them.

22.2.3 | μείνασα δὲ καθ' ἑαυτὴν καὶ τροφῆς μὴ εὐποροῦσα, στραφεῖσα αὐτὴ καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς κέρκου αὐτῆς ἐσθίειν ἀρξαμένη ἕως μέρους τινὸς * τοῦ σώματος κατέφαγε· καὶ οὕτως ἔμεινεν οὐκέτι τελεία, ἀλλὰ ἥμισυ ὑπάρχουσα ἐρπετοῦ.

22.2.3 | But it stayed by itself and, not having enough food, it turned and began to eat part of its own tail until it ate some part of its body; and so it stayed no longer whole, but half, being a kind of serpent.

22.2.4 | διὸ καὶ ἀσπιδογοργόνα ταύτην ἐκάλεσαν, ὥστε νοεῖν ἡμᾶς τὸ παλαιὸν μὲν εἶναι τοῦτο, νῦν δὲ μηκέτι τοῦτο εὕρισκόμενον, ἀλλὰ ἠφανίσθαι· ὥς καὶ αὕτη παντελῶς ἀπολομένη ἔχει μὲν παρ' ἡμῶν τὴν ἀντιλογίαν, αὐτὴ δὲ διὰ τῆς δυνάμεως Χριστοῦ ἠφάνισται. καὶ ταύτην δὲ ὑπερβάντες ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἴωμεν, ἀγαπητοί.

22.2.4 | That is why they called it a shield-serpent, so that we understand this was the old thing, but now it is no longer found, but has disappeared; just as this one, completely destroyed, still has opposition among us, but it itself has disappeared through the power of Christ. And having gone beyond this, let us go on to the next things, dear friends.

Book 23

Section 1

23.1.1 | Μετὰ τοῦτον Σατορνῖλός τις ἀνέστη, καὶ αὐτὸς ἐκεῖθεν τὰς ἀφορμὰς, ἀπὸ Μενάνδρου φημὶ καὶ τῶν πρώην λαβών. οὗτος πρὸς τῇ Συρίᾳ κατοικήσας, τουτέστιν Ἀντιοχείᾳ τῇ πρὸς Δάφνην, πολλὴν τινα τέχνην καὶ ἐμπειρίαν πλάνης

23.1.1 | After him, a certain Saturnilus stood up, and he too took his starting points from there, I say, from Menander and those before him. This man, living in Syria, that is Antioch near Daphne, brought much skill and experience of deception into τῷ κόσμῳ παρεισήνεγκεν.

the world.

23.1.2 | δύο γὰρ οὗτοι ἐγένοντο συσχολασταί, Βασιλείδης τε καὶ Σατορνῖλος· καὶ ὁ μὲν Βασιλείδης πρὸς τῇ Αἰγύπτῳ χωρήσας ἐκεῖσε τὰ σκοτεινὰ αὐτοῦ τοῦ βάθους τῆς πλάνης κεκήρυχεν, ὁ δὲ Σατορνῖλος ἐν τῷ προειρημένῳ τόπῳ διατρίβων ὁμοίως τῷ Μενάνδρῳ τὸν κόσμον ὑπὸ ἀγγέλων γεγενῆσθαι κατήγγελλεν.

23.1.2 | For these two became rivals, Basileides and Saturnilus; and Basileides, going toward Egypt, there proclaimed the dark depths of his deception, while Saturnilus, living in the place mentioned before, likewise announced, like Menander, that the world was made by angels.

23.1.3 | ἵνα δὲ εἶναι πατέρα ἄγνωστον, τὸν αὐτόν τε πεποιηκέναι δυνάμεις καὶ ἀρχὰς καὶ ἐξουσίας· τοὺς δὲ ἀγγέλους διεστάναι τῆς ἄνω δυνάμεως, ἑπτὰ δὲ τινὰς τὸν κόσμον πεποιηκέναι καὶ τὰ ἐν αὐτῷ· τὸν κόσμον δὲ κατὰ μεριτείαν ἐκάστῳ ἀγγέλῳ κεκληρῶσθαι.

23.1.3 | And to make the father unknown, he made the powers and beginnings and authorities the same one; but the angels were set apart from the power above, and seven of them made the world and what is in it; and the world was divided by lot to each angel.

23.1.4 | ὁμοῦ δὲ συνεΛόντας τοὺς αὐτοὺς ἀγγέλους ἐντεθυμῆσθαι καὶ κοινῇ τὸν ἄνθρωπον πεποιηκέναι κατὰ τὴν μορφήν τῆς ἄνωθεν παρακυψάσης φωτεινῆς εἰκόνης, ἣν μὴ δυνηθέντες παρακύψασαν κατασχεῖν διὰ τὸ παραχρήμα ἀναδραμεῖν, μιμήσασθαι ἠθέλησαν.

23.1.4 | At the same time, the same angels thought together and made man in the image of the light that came down from above, but not being able to hold back that image when it slipped away quickly, they wanted to copy it.

23.1.5 | καὶ πεπλάσθαι μὲν τὸν ἄνθρωπον ὕπ' αὐτῶν οὐδενὸς ἔνεκα ἀλλ' ἢ διὰ τοιαύτην πρόφασιν. ἐπειδὴ γάρ, φησὶν, ἄνωθεν τὸ αὐτὸ φῶς παρακῦψαν ἐρεθισμὸν τινα ἐνεποίησε τοῖς αὐτοῖς ἀγγέλοις, τούτους πρὸς πόθον τοῦ ἄνω ὁμοιώματος ἐπιχειρήσαι τοῦ ἀνθρώπου τὸ πλάσμα ποιῆσαι.

23.1.5 | And that man was formed by them not for any reason, but for such an excuse.
For, he says, the same light from above slipping away stirred some desire in the same angels, to try to make the shape of man like the one above.

23.1.6 | ἐπειδὴ γὰρ ἡράσθησαν τοῦ ἄνω φωτὸς πόθῳ τῷ πρὸς αὐτὸ καὶ ἡδονῇ κατασχεθέντες, φανέντος καὶ ἀφαντωθέντος ἀπ' αὐτῶν, ἐρασθέντας τε αὐτοῦ καὶ μὴ δυνηθέντας ἐμπλησθῆναι τῆς αὐτοῦ ἐρασμιότητος διὰ τὸ ὑπὸ θῆξιν ἀναπτῆναι τὸ αὐτὸ φῶς, τούτου χάριν εἰρηκέναι τοὺς ἀγγέλους φησί] δραματουργεῖ ὁ αὐτὸς γίγς ὅτι »ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον κατ' εἰκόνα καὶ καθ' ὁμοίωσιν«

23.1.6 | For they were in love with the light above, held by desire and pleasure for it, even though it appeared and disappeared from them. They loved it but could not be filled with its love because the light went out when put in a container. For this reason, the same giant who said “let us make man in our image and likeness” is said to act as a playwright for the angels.

23.1.7 | παρακόψας τὸ εἰρημένον ἐν τῇ Γενέσει ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου θεοῦ τὸ »[καθ'] ἡμετέραν«, ἔασας <δὲ> τὸ »κατ' εἰκόνα«, ἵνα δὴ ἔχη ἡ αὐτοῦ πλάνη τὴν πιθανότητα· ὥς δῆθεν ἄλλων μὲν ποιούτων εἰκόνα δὲ ἐτέρου † λέγειν ἐν τῷ »ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον κατ' εἰκόνα καὶ καθ' ὁμοίωσιν«.

23.1.7 | Cutting off the phrase in Genesis by the holy god, the “according to our,” but leaving the “according to the image,” so that his deception might have plausibility; as if making the image of others but saying it is of another in the “let us make man according to image and likeness.”

23.1.8 | But he says that when the man was made, because of their weakness he could not be complete, and he lay and crawled on the ground like a worm, unable to stand up or do anything else, until the power from above looked down and, moved by pity for its own image and form in the house, sent a spark of its own power and through it raised the man up and so gave him life, claiming that the spark was the human soul.

23.1.9 | καὶ τούτου ἕνεκα πάντως δὴ τὸν σπινθῆρα σωθῆναι, τὸ δὲ πᾶν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἀπολέσθαι· ἐν τῷ ἄνω μὲν τὸ ἄνωθεν κατελθὼν ἀνακομισθῆναι χρόνους

23.1.9 | And because of this, the spark must be saved completely, but the whole man must be lost; the part from above that came down will be brought back in some time, τισί, τὸ δὲ κάτωθεν πᾶν τὸ ὑπὸ τῶν ἀγγέλων πλασθὲν ἐνταῦθα αὐτοῖς καταλιμπάνεσθαι.

but everything made below by the angels will be left here with them.

23.1.10 | Χριστὸν δὲ καὶ αὐτὸν φάσκει ὁ γόης ἐν σχήματι ἀνθρώπου ἐληλυθέναι καὶ ἰδέα μόνῃ, τὰ πάντα δὲ [ἐν] τῷ δοκεῖν πεποιηκέναι, τουτέστι τὸ γεγεννηθῆναι τὸ περιπατεῖν τὸ ὀπτάνεσθαι τὸ πεπονθῆναι.

23.1.10 | And the deceiver says that Christ himself came in the form of a man and only in appearance, but made everything seem real, that is, being born, walking, being seen, and suffering.

Section 2

23.2.1 | 2. Ἀπὸ τούτου δὲ ἡ ψευδωνύμως καλουμένη γνῶσις ἄρχεται πᾶλιν προστίθεσθαι τῷ βυθῷ τῆς αὐτῆς πονηρίας, ἀπὸ Σίμωνος μὲν λαβοῦσα τὴν ἀρχὴν καὶ τὴν πρόφασιν, προστιθεμένη δὲ ἄλλῃ περισσοτέρᾳ φλυαρίᾳ, ὡς τὸν ταύτης ἔλεγχον ὑστερον ἐροῦμεν.

23.2.1 | From this, the falsely named knowledge begins again to add to the depth of its own evil, taking its start and excuse from Simon, but adding even more nonsense, as we will later say in its refutation.

23.2.2 | φάσκει γὰρ οὗτος, τοὺς ἀγγέλους λέγων, καὶ τὸν θεὸν τῶν Ἰουδαίων ἓνα ἐξ αὐτῶν εἶναι, διεστάναι δὲ τὸν αὐτὸν καὶ τοὺς αὐτοὺς ἀπὸ τῆς ἄνω δυνάμεως, τὸν δὲ σωτῆρα ἀπεστάλθαι ἀπὸ πατρὸς παρὰ γνώμην τῶν δυνάμεων ἐπὶ καταλύσει τοῦ θεοῦ τῶν Ἰουδαίων καὶ ἐπὶ σωτηρίᾳ τῶν πειθομένων <αὐτῷ>· εἶναι δὲ αὐτοὺς τοὺς ταύτης τῆς αἰρέσεως τοὺς ἔχοντας τὸν σπινθῆρα τοῦ ἄνωθεν πατρός.

23.2.2 | For this one says that the angels, and the god of the Jews, are one of them, and that both he and they are separate from the power above, but that the savior was sent from the father against the will of the powers to destroy the god of the Jews and to save those who obey him, and that those who hold the spark from the father above belong to this heresy.

23.2.3 | δύο γὰρ πεπλάσθαι ἀπ' ἀρχῆς ἀνθρώπους φάσκει, ἓνα ἀγαθὸν καὶ ἓνα φαῦλον· ἐξ ὧν δύο εἶναι τὰ γένη τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἐν κόσμῳ, ἀγαθῶν τε καὶ πονηρῶν.

23.2.3 | For he says that two men were made from the beginning, one good and one bad; from these two are the kinds of men in the world, both good and evil.

23.2.4 | ἐπειδὴ δὲ οἱ δαίμονες τοῖς πονηροῖς ἐβοήθουν, τούτου ἔνεκα ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῶν ἡμερῶν ὡς προεῖπον ἦλθεν ὁ σωτὴρ ἐπὶ βοηθείᾳ τῶν ἀγαθῶν ἀθρώπων καὶ ἐπὶ καταλύσει τῶν πονηρῶν καὶ τῶν δαιμόνων.

23.2.4 | And since the demons helped the evil ones, for this reason at the last days, as I said before, the savior came to help the good people and to destroy the evil ones and the demons.

23.2.5 | τὸ γαμεῖν δὲ καὶ τὸ γεννᾶν ὁ αὐτὸς ἀγύρτης ἐκ τοῦ Σατανᾶ ὑπάρχειν λέγει, ὅθεν καὶ οἱ πλείοις αὐτῶν ἐμψύχων ἀπέχονται, ὅπως διὰ τῆς προσποιητῆς δῆθεν πολιτείας τινὰς ἐπαγάγωνται εἰς τὴν αὐτῶν ἀπάτην.

23.2.5 | And the same trickster from Satan says that marrying and having children exist, which is why most of them stay away from living beings, so that by a false kind of life they might lead some into their deception.

23.2.6 | τὰς δὲ προφητείας φάσκει ὁ αὐτὸς πάλιν γόης τὰς μὲν ὑπὸ τῶν κοσμοποιῶν ἀγέλων πεπροφητεῦσθαι, τὰς δὲ ὑπὸ τοῦ Σατανᾶ. καὶ αὐτὸν γὰρ τὸν Σατανᾶν ἄγγελον φάσκει, ἀντιπράττοντα τοῖς κοσμοποιοῖς ἀγγέλοις, μάλιστα δὲ τῷ θεῷ τῶν Ἰουδαίων.

23.2.6 | The same trickster says that the prophecies are sorcery: some were foretold by the angels who made the world, and others by Satan. For he says that Satan himself is an angel, working against the angels who made the world, especially against the god of the Jews.

Section 3

23.3.1 | 3. Ὅταν δὲ ταῦτα φάσκη ὁ κτηνώδης, πάντως που καὶ αὐτὸς δειχθήσεται ἓνα θεὸν ὁμολογῶν καὶ ἐπὶ μοναρχίας ἀνάγων τὸ πᾶν. εἰ γὰρ οἱ ἄγγελοι <τὸν ἄνθρωπον> πεποιήκασιν, ἄγγελοι δὲ πάλιν ἀπὸ τῆς ἄνωθεν δυνάμεως τὸ αἷτιον ἐσχήκασιν τοῦ εἶναι, ἄρα οὐκ αὐτοὶ αἷτιοι τοῦ πλάσματος τοῦ ἀνθρώπου, ἀλλὰ ἡ ἄνωθεν δύναμις ἡ τοὺς ἀγγέλους ποιήσασα, ἐξ ὧν καὶ ἡ πλάσις τοῦ ἀνθρώπου συνέστηκε.

23.3.1 | 3. But when the beast-like one says these things, surely he will also be shown to confess one god and to bring everything back to one rule. For if the angels made <man>, and the angels again received from the power above the cause of being, then they are not the cause of the creation of man, but the power above, which made the angels, from whom the creation of man was formed.

23.3.2 | καὶ γὰρ οὐκ αἷτιον τὸ ἐργαλεῖον τῶν ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γινομένων, ἀλλὰ ὁ ἐνεργῶν

23.3.2 | For the tool by which things are made is not the cause, but the one working

τὸ ἐνέργημα διὰ τοῦ ἐργαλείου δι' οὐ τὸ ἔργον γίνεται, ὡς καὶ γέγραπται »μὴ δοξασθήσεται πρίων ἄνευ τοῦ ἔλκοντος αὐτόν« καὶ τὰ ἑξῆς.

the action through the tool, through which the work happens, just as it is written, “no saw will be honored before the one who pulls it,” and the rest.

23.3.3 | οὕτω δὲ ὁρῶμεν ὅτι οὔτε ἡ μάχαιρα αἰτία τοῦ φόνου, ἀλλὰ ὁ τῇ μαχαίρᾳ τὸν φόνον ἐπιχειρήσας καὶ οὐ τὸ κηροπλαστεῖον δύναται δι' ἑαυτοῦ ποιεῖν τὰ πλασσόμενα, ἀλλὰ ὁ τὸ κηροπλαστεῖον καὶ τὸ πλάσμα ἐργασάμενος.

23.3.3 | And so we see that neither the knife is the cause of the murder, but the one who uses the knife to commit the murder; and not the wax mold can make the things shaped by itself, but the one who worked the wax mold and the shape.

23.3.4 | οὐκοῦν οὐδὲ οἱ ἄγγελοι αἴτιοι, ἀλλ' ὁ τοὺς ἀγγέλους ποιήσας, εἰ καὶ <μὴ> ἦν αὐτοῖς τοῦ [μὴ] ποιῆσαι ἄνθρωπον.

23.3.4 | Therefore, the angels are not the cause either, but the one who made the angels, even if they did not have the power to make man.

23.3.5 | ἡ γὰρ καταψηφίζεται τῆς ἄνω δυνάμεως ἄγνοιαν καὶ ἀγνωσίαν τῶν μελλόντων ἔσεσθαι, παρὰ τὸ αὐτῆς θέλημα ἐπιτελουμένων, ἢ εὐδοκίᾳ τῇ ἑαυτῆς * τοὺς ἀγγέλους πεποιηκέναι πρὸς τὸ χρήσιμον τὴν κατασκευὴν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου, οὗ ἥθελε κατασκευάζειν ποιήσασα τοὺς ἀγγέλους, καὶ μὴ ἐντειλαμένη τοῦ μὴ] ἐπιτελέσαι τὸ ἐπιχείρημα τουτέστι τοῦ ἀνθρώπου τὸ πλαστεῖον, ὡς ἡ αὐτοῦ μυθώδης τεχνουργία περιέχει.

23.3.5 | For either the higher power is denied ignorance and not knowing what will happen, since things are done by its will, or it made the angels by its own good pleasure for the useful purpose of making man, whom it wanted to make by making the angels, and did not command them not to complete the task—that is, the shaping of man—since its crafty skill includes this.

Section 4

23.4.1 | 4. Ἡ οὐκοῦν πόλιν τὸν μυθολόγον ἐρωτητέον· ἥδει ἢ ἄνω δύναμις ὃ τι μέλλουσι πράττειν; ναί, φησίν. ἄρα γοῦν εἰ ἥδει, αὐτὴ πεποίηκε καὶ οὐκ αὐτοί· εἰ δὲ ἥδει μὲν οὐκ ἥθελε δέ, παρὰ δὲ τὴν αὐτῆς γνώμην ἐπεχείρησαν τὸ ἐπιχείρημα αὐτοί,

23.4.1 | Or then, the storyteller must be asked: did the higher power know what things were going to happen? Yes, he says. So if it knew, it made them itself and not they; but if it knew and did not want it, and they tried the task against its will, for what τίνοι τῷ λόγῳ οὐ κεκώλυκεν; reason did it not stop them?

23.4.2 | εἰ δὲ ἀδυνάτως ἔσχεν τοῦ κωλῦσαι, πρώτη φαυλότης, ὅτι καθ' ἑαυτῆς τοὺς ὑπ' αὐτῆς γεγονότας ἀγγέλους εἰς ἀντίθεσιν ἑαυτῆς καὶ παροξυσμὸν κατεσκεύασε, δεύτερον δέ, ὅτι δυναμένη οὐ κεκώλυκεν, ἀλλὰ συνήργησεν εἰς τὸ πονηρὸν ἔργον τὸ ὑπὸ τῶν ἀγγέλων γεγεννημένον.

23.4.2 | But if it was powerless to stop them, first, that is weakness, because it made the angels under it to be against it and to be angry; second, that though it was able, it did not stop but helped the evil work done by the angels.

23.4.3 | εἰ δὲ οὐ συνήργησε καὶ βουληθεῖσα οὐκ ἠδυνήθη κωλῦσαι, πολλή τις ἀσθένεια ἐν τῇ θελησάσῃ καὶ μὴ δυνηθείσῃ, καὶ μᾶλλον ισχυρότερον εἴη τὸ ὑπ' αὐτῆς γενόμενον τῶν ἀγγέλων στίφος ἢ αὐτὴ ἡ αἰτία οὗσα τῶν ὑπ' αὐτῆς γεγονότων ἀγγέλων. ἐξ ἅπαντος τοίνυν ἀλίσκεται ἡ τῆς αἰρέσεως ὑπόθεσις ἀσυστασίᾳ μᾶλλον περιπίπτουσα καὶ οὐκ ἀληθείᾳ.

23.4.3 | But if it did not help and wanted to but could not stop them, then there is great weakness in wanting but not being able, and the crowd of angels made by it would be stronger than it, though it is the cause of the angels made under it. So, in every way, the story of the heresy is caught in confusion rather than truth.

23.4.4 | εἰ δὲ ἐγίνωσκε μὲν, ἀνάγκη δὲ ἐποίει τούτους ὃ μὴ θέμις ἐστὶ <μὲλλοντας> πράττειν παρὰ τὸ αὐτῆς βούλημα, ἐτέρᾳ περιπεσεῖται πάλιν καὶ οὐδὲ ἐν πλήρωμα εὐρεθήσεται ἐν τῇ ἄνω δυνάμει κατὰ τὸν αὐτοῦ λόγον.

23.4.4 | But if it knew, yet by force made those things which are not right to be done against its will, then it will fall into another problem, and not one whole part will be found in the higher power according to its own story.

23.4.5 | Let us add still more, asking him: Tell us, you who looked in through the little windows (to mock your foolishness), and when you looked in, you tried to see how the angels were made and then watched the work they did about the human form, and traced the trickery from the higher power above—did they know what they were shaping, or did they not know? And if they did not know, by whose force were they forced to do it in ignorance? He says, ἐπιτελεῖν; οὐχί, φησὶν, οὐκ ἠγνόουν· ᾔδεισαν γὰρ ὃ ἔμελλον πράττειν.

no, they did not not know; for they knew what they were about to do.

23.4.6 | ἡ τοίνυν ἄνωθεν δύναμις ᾔδει τούτους τοῦτο μέλλοντας ἐπιχειρεῖν ἢ ἠγνόει; οὐκ ἠγνόει. ἐποίησεν οὖν αὐτοὺς ἵνα τοῦτο πράξωσιν ἢ μή; οὐχί, φησὶν· ἐποίησε γὰρ αὐτοὺς μόνον, οὗτοι δὲ παρὰ τὴν ἄνω δύναμιν ἐπεχείρησαν πρὸς τὸ ποιῆσαι πλάσμα.

23.4.6 | So, did the higher power above know that these were about to try this, or did it not know? It did not not know. So did it make them to do this, or not? He says, no; for it made them only, but they tried to make the form apart from the higher power above.

23.4.7 | οὐκοῦν οὗτοι μὲν ᾔδεισαν, ἐκείνη δὲ ἡ ἄνω δύναμις ἠγνόει κατὰ τὸν σοῦ λόγον, ὡ πάντων ἀνθρώπων ἀβέλτερε. καὶ ἔσται μὲν ἡ τῶν ἀνθρώπων κατασκευὴ σύστασις καὶ οἱ αἵτιοι ταύτης ἄγγελοι ἐν γνώσει, ἡ δὲ τοὺς ἀγγέλους ποιήσασα δύναμις ἐν ἀγνωσίᾳ.

23.4.7 | So then, these knew, but that higher power did not know, according to your story, oh worst of all men. And the making of humans will be a combination, and the angels are the cause of it with knowledge, but the power that made the angels is in ignorance.

23.4.8 | ληρῶδες δ' ἂν εἴη τοῦτο καὶ ἡλίθιον, ὅτι μᾶλλον ἐντελέστερον τελέστερον τὸ ἔργον τοῦ τεχνίτου καὶ ὁ τεχνίτης ἀδρανέστερος τῶν ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γενομένων ἀγγέλων, αἰτίων ὄντων τῆς ἀνθρωπείας συστάσεως. ὥστε οὖν ἐξ ἅπαντος ἀνάγκη ὁμολογήσειας ἂν ἐπὶ τὸν αὐτὸν ποιητὴν τὸν ἕνα καὶ ἐπὶ τὴν μίαν μοναρχίαν <δεδομ> τὸ πᾶν ἄγειν.

23.4.8 | That would be silly and foolish, that the work of the craftsman is more complete and perfect, but the craftsman is weaker than the angels made by him, who are the cause of the making of humans. So, by all necessity, you would have to agree that there is one maker and one single rule that leads everything.

Section 5

23.5.1 | 5. Καὶ γὰρ ὁ θεὸς ὁ πατὴρ ἐποίησε τὸν ἄνθρωπον καὶ πάντα κατὰ τὴν ἰδίαν εὐδοκίαν καὶ οὐχ οἱ ἄγγελοι, οὐδὲ κατὰ τὴν τῶν ἀγγέλων συμβουλίαν τι γέγονεν. ἐν τῷ γὰρ εἰπεῖν τὸν θεόν »ποιήσωμεν σῶμεν ἄνθρωπον«, »κατ' εἰκόνα ἡμετέραν« εἶπεν,

23.5.1 | And indeed, God the Father made man and everything according to his own will, and not the angels, nor did anything happen by the advice of the angels. For when he said, "Let us make man," he said, "in our image," and not just "in the image."

καὶ οὐ »κατ' εἰκόνα« μόνον.

23.5.2 | συνεκάλει γὰρ εἰς τὴν ἑαυτοῦ δημιουργίαν συνδημιουργὸν τὸν αὐτοῦ Λόγον καὶ μονογενῆ, ὡς ἔχει καὶ ἡ ἐξ ἀληθείας ὁρμωμένη πιστῶν ἔννοια καὶ αὐτὸ τὸ τῆς ἀληθείας ἀκρίβασμα, ὡς καὶ ἐν ἑτέροις πλείοσι περὶ τούτου σαφῶς καὶ διὰ μήκους ἐποιησάμεθα τὴν ὁμολογίαν, ὡς ὁ πατὴρ συγκαλεῖται τὸν υἱὸν συνδημιουργεῖν τὸν ἄνθρωπον, δι' οὗ καὶ τὰ ἄλλα πάντα ἐποίησεν.

23.5.3 | οὐ μόνον δὲ συγκαλεῖν εἵπομι τὸν υἱόν, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα. »τῷ γὰρ λόγῳ κυρίου οἱ οὐρανοὶ ἐστερεώθησαν καὶ τῷ πνεύματι τοῦ στόματος αὐτοῦ πᾶσα ἡ δύναμις αὐτῶν«.

23.5.4 | εἴτε δὲ βουληθεῖη εἴτε καὶ μὴ βουληθεῖη (φημί δὲ ὁ Σατορνῖλος ὁ τῆς αἰρέσεως ταύτης ἀρχηγός), ἀναγκασθήσεται ἐξ ἅπαντος ἕνα τὸν θεὸν ὁμολογεῖν, θεὸν καὶ κύριον, τοῦ σύμπαντος ὄντα κτιστὴν τε καὶ δημιουργόν, ἅμα τε καὶ τοῦ ἀνθρώπου.

23.5.5 | αἰσχυνθήσεται δὲ κατὰ πάντα τρόπον ὡς συκοφάντης καὶ εἰς τὸν περὶ προφητῶν λόγον καὶ εἰς τὴν κατὰ τοῦ σεμνοῦ γάμου φαύλην κατηγορίαν. αὐτὸς γὰρ ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστὸς διαρρήδην ἐκφωνεῖ ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ καὶ λέγει συνωδὰ τῷ προφῆτῃ ὅτι »ὁ λαλῶν ἐν τοῖς προφήταις, ἰδοὺ πάρεμι« καὶ πάλιν »ὁ πατήρ μου ἕως ἄρτι ἐργάζεται, ἀγὼ ἐργάζομαι«.

23.5.2 | For he called together into his own creation as co-creator his Word and only-begotten, as the true faith of believers holds and as the exact truth shows, just as in many other places we have clearly and fully made this confession, that the father is said to call the son to co-create man, through whom he also made all the other things.

23.5.3 | I would say not only that he calls together the son, but also the holy spirit. "By the word of the lord the heavens were made firm, and by the spirit of his mouth all their power."

23.5.4 | Whether he wants it or not (I say this about Saturnilus, the leader of this heresy), he will be forced to admit one god, god and lord, who is the creator and maker of everything, and also of man.

23.5.5 | He will be ashamed in every way as a slanderer, both about the words concerning the prophets and about the bad accusation against the holy marriage. For our lord Jesus Christ clearly speaks out in the gospel and says along with the prophet, "The one speaking in the prophets, look, I am here," and again, "My father works until now, and I work too."

23.5.6 | ἵνα δὲ δείξῃ τί ἐργάζεται ὁ αὐτοῦ πατήρ καὶ αὐτός, ἀπεφώνησεν λέγων τοῖς ἐρωτήσασιν αὐτὸν εἰ χρὴ ἀπολύειν τὴν γυναῖκα κατὰ πᾶσαν αἰτίαν »πῶς γέγραπται; ὅτε ἐποίησεν ὁ θεὸς τὸν ἄνθρωπον, ἄρσεν καὶ θήλυ ἐποίησεν αὐτούς« καὶ πάλιν μεθ' ἑτέρα ὅτι »ἔνεκεν τούτου καταλείψει ἄνθρωπος τὸν πατέρα καὶ τὴν μητέρα αὐτοῦ κοῖ προσκολληθήσεται τῇ γυναικὶ αὐτοῦ, καὶ ἔσονται οἱ δύο εἰς σάρκα μίαν«, καὶ εὐθὺς προσεθηκε λέγων »ὁ θεὸς συνέζευξεν, ἄνθρωπος μὴ χωριζέτω· ὡς ἐξ ἅπαντος τὸν σωτῆρα διδάσκειν τὸν ποιητὴν τῶν ἀνθρώπων θεὸν εἶναι τῶν πάντων, αὐτοῦ δὲ πατέρα.

23.5.7 | καὶ ὅτι ὁ γάμος οὐκ ἐκ τοῦ Σατανᾶ, ἀλλ' ἐκ τοῦ θεοῦ τυγχάνει, πρῶτον μὲν ὁ κύριος λέγει· »ὁ θεὸς φησὶν »συνέχευξεν, ἄνθρωπος μὴ χωριζέτω« εἴτα ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος »τίμιος ὁ γάμος καὶ ἡ κοίτη ἀμίαντος«. ταῖς δὲ φύσει χηρευσάσαις ὡσαύτως παραγγέλλει, λέγων διὰ Τιμοθέου »νεωτέρας χήρας παραιτοῦ· μετὰ γὰρ τὸ καταστρηνιάσαι τοῦ Χριστοῦ γαμεῖν θέλουσι«, καὶ μεθ' ἑδτερα »γαμειτωσαν τεκνογονεῖτωσαν οἰκοδεσποτεῖτωσαν«, ἀνυπέρβατον νόμον τιθέμενος, ἐκ Μ' ὄντα καὶ κατὰ σεμνότητα ἀνθρώποις κεχαρισμένον.

23.6.1 | 6. Περὶ δὲ τῶν κατὰ τῶν θεοῦ προφητειῶν ὑπ' αὐτοῦ σεσυκοφαντημένων ὑπονοιῶν, ὡς μὴ εἶναι αὐτὰς ἐκ θεοῦ, μυρία ἔστιν εἰπεῖν, ὡς αὐτὸς λέγει ὁ μονογενής, † ἐξ ὧν τὸν κόσμον

23.5.6 | And to show what his father and he work at, he answered those who asked him if it is right to divorce a wife for any reason, "How is it written? When God made man, he made them male and female," and again with other words, "Because of this a man will leave his father and mother and stick to his wife, and the two will be one flesh," and immediately he added, "What God has joined, let no man separate." So he teaches completely that the savior is the god of all people, the maker of all, and that he is the father of him.

23.5.7 | And that marriage does not come from Satan, but from God, first the lord says, "What God has joined, let no man separate." Then the holy apostle says, "Marriage is honorable and the bed undefiled." And to those who are widowed by nature, he also commands through Timothy, "Younger widows refuse; for after they have grown cold in Christ, they want to marry," and again, "Let them marry, bear children, manage the household," setting an unbreakable law, given from above and granted to people with honor.

23.6.1 | 6. About the many suspicions falsely spoken against the prophecies of God, as if they are not from God, there is much to say, as the only-begotten himself says, the one who, announcing the good ἑαυτοῦ εὐαγγελιζόμενος λέγει, πρῶτον μὲν ὅτι »Ἀβραὰμ ὁ πατὴρ ἡμῶν ἐπεθύμησεν ἰδεῖν τὴν ἡμέραν μου, καὶ εἶδεν καὶ ἐχάρη«, καὶ πάλιν φησὶν »εἰ ἐπιστεύετε Μωυσῇ, ἐπιστεύετε ἂν ἐμοί· ἐκεῖνος γὰρ περὶ ἐμοῦ ἔγραψεν«.

news of the world, says first that “Abraham our father longed to see my day, and he saw it and was glad,” and again he says, “If you believed Moses, you would believe me too; for he wrote about me.”

23.6.2 | τίς δὲ τῶν εὖ φρονούντων καὶ σύνεσιν ἀπὸ θεοῦ κεκτημένων οὐκ ἐλέγξει τὸν ἀπατεῶνα Σατορνῖλον, γινώσκων ἐν δόξῃ ἀποκαλυφθέντα τὸν σωτῆρα εἰς παράστασιν ἀληθείας ἄλλως τὴν ἑαυτοῦ δόξαν μὴ ὑποδείξαντα ἀλλὰ ἢ ἀνὰ μέσον Ἑλίου καὶ Μωυσέως τῶν καὶ αὐτῶν ἐν δόξῃ ἰδίᾳ μετ’ αὐτοῦ ὀφθέντων;

23.6.2 | Who among those thinking well and having understanding from God would not expose the deceiver Saturnilus, knowing that the savior was revealed in glory as a true example, otherwise not showing his own glory, but either between Elijah and Moses, who themselves were seen in glory with him?

23.6.3 | But other things like these, which are said by the lord himself and in all the new covenant, make the connection of the law and the prophets and the whole old covenant to the new covenant, because both belong to one God, as he says, “They will come and recline in the arms of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven and rest from east and west,” and the things that follow,

23.6.4 | πάλιν δὲ τὸ ἐκ προσώπου Δαυὶδ περὶ αὐτοῦ προφητευόμενον, τό »εἶπεν ὁ κύριος τῷ κυρίῳ μου, κάθου ἐκ δεξιῶν μου« καὶ πάλιν <τὸ> παρ’ αὐτοῦ μενον τοῖς Φαρισαίοις »οὐδέποτε ἀνέγνωτε, λίθον ὃν ἀπεδοκίμασαν οἱ οἰκοδομοῦντες;«

23.6.4 | Again, the prophecy from the face of David about him, “The lord said to my lord, ‘Sit at my right hand,’” and again what he said to the Pharisees, “Have you never read the stone which the builders rejected?”

23.6.5 | καὶ ὡς ὁ Λουκᾶς διαβεβαιοῦται αὐτὸν τὸν σωτῆρα μετὰ τὸ ἀναστῆναι ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν ὡφθαί κατὰ τὴν ὁδὸν τοῖς περὶ

23.6.5 | And as Luke confirms, the savior after rising from the dead appeared on the road to those around Nathanael and

τὸν Ναθαναὴλ καὶ τὸν Κλεόπαν καὶ τούτους νενουθετηκέναι ἀπὸ τῶν ψαλμῶν καὶ ἀπὸ τῶν προφητῶν »ὅτι οὕτως ἔδει παθεῖν τὸν Χριστὸν καὶ ἀναστῆναι ἐκ νεκρῶν τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ«. καὶ οὐδὲν ἔστιν ὅλως διαφωνοῦν ἀνὰ μέσον τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἐνσάρκου παρουσίας πρὸς τὰς τῶν προφητῶν προφητείας.

Cleopas, and he taught them from the psalms and the prophets “that the Christ had to suffer like this and rise from the dead on the third day.” And there is nothing at all that disagrees between the coming of Christ in the flesh and the prophecies of the prophets.

Section 7

23.7.1 | 7. Ἄλλ' ἵως τούτου περὶ τῆς Σατορνίλου αἰρέσεως εἰρήσθω, ἵνα μὴ ἀναλίσκω χρόνους περὶ τὰς μωρὰς αὐτοῦ ζητήσεις καὶ τὰς τούτων ἀνατροπὰς ἐνειλούμενος.

23.7.1 | But perhaps let there be silence about the heresy of Saturninus, so that i do not waste time on his foolish questions and the refutations of them that i have taken up.

23.7.2 | ἐκ ταύτης δὲ παρελθὼν ἐξῆς τὴν Βασιλείδου τοῦ συσχολαστοῦ τούτου, τοῦ καὶ συνηπατημένου δηλώσω. μετέχουσι γὰρ οὗτοι &τῶν αὐτῶν&, ὥς ἀπ' ἀλλήλων τὸν ἐὸν δανεισάμενοι κατὰ τὴν ἐναργῆ παροιμίαν, ὥς] ἀσπίς παρ' ἐχίδνης ἐὸν δανειζομένη. ὁμοῦ γὰρ εἰσι τῆς σχολῆς καὶ συνεδρίου ἀλλήλων, καθ' ἑαυτὸν δὲ ἔστηκεν ἕκαστος τὴν αἵρεσιν προσθησάμενος, καὶ τὴν μὲν κακίαν παρ' ἀλλήλων ἡρανίσαντο, τὴν δὲ διαφωνίαν ἐν αὐτοῖς ἐνεστήσαντο.

23.7.2 | But passing over this, i will next show the Basileides of this busybody, who is also involved with them. For these men share the same things, as if borrowing what is theirs from each other, according to the clear proverb, like a shield borrowed from a viper. For they belong together to the same school and council, but each one stands apart, having set up his own heresy, and they have picked out the evil from each other, and disagreement has arisen among themselves.

23.7.3 | εἴτε οὖν οὗτος δίκην ἐχίδνης παρὰ τῶν ἀνωτάτω μετασχὼν τῷ Βασιλείδῃ μεταδédωκεν ἢ ἐκεῖνος τούτῳ, ὅμως ὀλέθριος ὢν ὁ τούτων ἰὸς καὶ ἀπὸ τοιούτων ἐρπετῶν ὀρμώμενος διὰ τῆς τοῦ κυρίου διδασκαλίας ἀντιδότου δίκην ἀμαυρωθεὶς τε καὶ ἀφανισθεὶς ὑθ' ἡμῶν καταλελείφθω. ἡμεῖς δὲ θεὸν ἐπικαλοῦμενοι ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἵωμεν, ὧς

23.7.3 | Whether then this one, having shared in the nature of a viper from the highest, handed it on to Basileides, or that one to him, still deadly is the poison of these men, and stirred up by such reptiles, through the teaching of the lord as an antidote, let it be left behind by us, having been darkened and destroyed. But we, calling on god, let us go on to the following ἀγαπητοί.

things, dear friends.

24.1.1 | Βασιλείδης μὲν οὖν, καθὰ ἄων προδεδήλωται, ἐν τῇ τῶν Αἰγυπτίων χώρᾳ στειλάμενος τὴν πορείαν ἐκεῖσε τὰς διατριβὰς ἐποιεῖτο, εἴτα ἔρχεται εἰς τὰ μέρη τοῦ Προσωπίτου καὶ Ἀθριβίτου, οὐ μὴν ἀλλὰ καὶ περὶ τὸν Σαῖτην καὶ Ἀλεξανδρείαν] καὶ Ἀλεξανδρειοπολίτην χῶρον ἦτοι νομόν. (νομόν γὰρ οἱ Αἰγύπτιοί φασι τὴν ἐκάστης πόλεως περιοικίδα ἦτοι περίχωρον.

24.1.1 | Basileides then, as has been shown before, after sending out his journey in the land of the Egyptians, used to spend time there. Then he comes to the regions of Prosopitus and Athribis, and also around Saïs and Alexandria, and the area of Alexandriopolis or the district. (For the Egyptians call the district of each city its surrounding area.)

24.1.2 | εὖροις δ' ἄν, ὧ φιλόλογε, καὶ τοῦτο εἰς σαυτοῦ ὠφέλειαν πρὸς φιλομάθειαν καὶ σαφήνειαν, εἰς εὐσεβῆ σύστασιν καὶ φράσιν τῶν ἐν τῇ θείᾳ γραφῇ κειμένων, τῶν εἰς ἀπορίαν τινὰς ἐμβαλλόντων δι' ἀπειρίαν.

24.1.2 | You would also find this, dear lover of learning, as a help to yourself for love of knowledge and clarity, for a devout understanding and insight into the things written in the holy scripture, which throw some into confusion because of their complexity.

24.1.3 | ὅπου γὰρ ἐν τῷ ἁγίῳ προφήτῃ Ἡσαΐᾳ εὖροις γεγραμμένον περὶ νομῶν πόλεων Αἰγυπτιακῶν οἷον Τάνεως ἢ Μέμφεως ἢ νομοῦ τῆς Βουβάστου, τὴν περίμετρον τῆς τυχούσης πόλεως σημαίνει. καὶ τοῦτο φιλομαθείας ἔνεκεν ἐρμηνευέσθω).

24.1.3 | For where in the holy prophet Isaiah you find written about the districts of Egyptian cities, like Tanis or Memphis or the district of Bubastis, it means the boundary around the city that happens to be there. And this should be explained for the sake of love of learning.

24.1.4 | ἦν γοῦν ἐν τούτοις τοῖς τόποις ὁ προειρημένος ἀγύρτης τὴν διαβίωσιν ἔχων, ἐξ ὧν φαίνεται ἡ καὶ εἰς δεῦρο ἀκμάζουσα αὐτοῦ αἵρεσις ἐκ τῆς αὐτοῦ διδασκαλίας

24.1.4 | So in these places, the mentioned beggar made his living, from which it seems that his sect, still strong here, took its λαβοῦσα τὴν πρόφασιν.

reason from his teaching.

24.1.5 | καὶ ἄρχεται μὲν κηρύττειν ὑπερβολὴν ὑπὲρ τὸν συσχολαστήν αὐτοῦ γόητα τὸν καταλειφθέντα ἐπὶ τῆς Συρίας, ἵνα δῆθεν τὰ ὑπὲρ ἐκεῖνον διηγούμενος δόξῃ φαντασιάζειν πλέον τοὺς ἀκούοντας, ἀρέσκεσθαί τε καὶ συναγείρειν πλῆθος ὑπὲρ τὸν ἐταῖρον αὐτοῦ Σατορνῖλον.

24.1.5 | And he begins to preach an exaggeration beyond his companion, the sorcerer left behind in Syria, so that by telling stories about him he might seem more impressive to those listening, and also to please and gather a crowd for his friend Saturnilus.

24.1.6 | καὶ τινὰς λοιπὸν φαντασιώδεις μυθοποιίας ὑποβαλλόμενος ἄρχεται μὲν οὕτως τὰ ἀληθῆ δὲ <εἰπεῖν> οὐκ ἀπὸ τῆς ἑαυτοῦ ἐννοίας ἐναρξάμενος ἡμῖν τὰ δεινὰ τε καὶ ὀλετήρια, ἀλλὰ προφάσεις λαβὼν ἐκ τοῦ Σατορνίλου καὶ Σίμωνος τοῦ προεληλεγμένου· βούλεται δὲ ἐτέρως αὐτὰ μεταχειρίζειν καὶ εἰς ὄγκον μείζονα διηγεῖσθαι τὰ μυθολογήματα).

24.1.6 | And making up some fanciful stories, he begins not to tell the truth from his own ideas, but takes excuses from Saturnilus and Simon the chosen one; and he wants to use them differently and to tell the myths in a bigger, more impressive way.

24.1.7 | ὅτι, φησὶν, ἦν ἓν τὸ Ἀγέννητον, ὃ μόνος ἐστὶ πάντων πατήρ· ἐκ τούτου προβέβληται. φησὶν, Νοῦς, ἐκ δὲ τοῦ Νοῦ Λόγος, ἐκ δὲ τοῦ Λόγου Φρόνησις, ἐκ δὲ τῆς Φρονήσεως Δύναμις τε καὶ Σοφία, ἐκ δὲ τῆς Δυνάμεως καὶ Σοφίας ἀρχαὶ ἐξουσίαι ἄγγελοι.

24.1.7 | He says that the Ungenerated was one, who alone is the father of all; from this he was born. He says, Mind, and from Mind, Reason; from Reason, Understanding; and from Understanding, Power and Wisdom; and from Power and Wisdom, rulers, authorities, and angels.

24.1.8 | ἐκ δὲ τούτων τῶν δυνάμεων τε καὶ ἀγγέλων γεγονέναι ἀνώτερον πρῶτον οὐρανόν, καὶ ἀγγέλους ἑτέρους ἐξ αὐτῶν γεγονέναι, τοὺς δὲ ὑπ' αὐτῶν γεγονότας ἀγγέλους πεποιηκέναι αὐτοὺς δεύτερον οὐρανὸν καὶ αὐτοὺς δὲ πάλιν πεποιηκέναι ἀγγέλους.

24.1.8 | And from these powers and angels, the higher first heaven was made, and other angels were made from them; and the angels made by them made again the second heaven, and they themselves again made angels.

24.1.9 | καὶ οἱ ἐξ αὐτῶν γενόμενοι τρίτον αὐθις πεποιήκασιν οὐρανὸν καὶ οὕτως οἱ καθ' ἓνα οὐρανὸν εἰσαὐθις ἕτερον καὶ ἑτέρους κατασκευάζοντες ἄχρι τριακοσίων ἐξήκοντα πέντε οὐρανῶν ἐληλάκασιν τὸν ἀριθμὸν ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀνωτάτου ἕως τούτου τοῦ καθ' ἡμᾶς οὐρανοῦ.

24.1.9 | And those born from them made again a third heaven, and so, one after another, making another and others, they have reached the number of three hundred and sixty-five heavens, from the highest down to this heaven of ours.

Section 2

24.2.1 | 2. Ἀφραινόντων δ' ἂν εἴη τοῦτο τὸ ἐπαγωγὸν πιστεύειν τῇ μανιώδει αὐτοῦ φλυαρίᾳ, συνετοῖς δὲ εὐθυέλεγκτος καὶ ληρώδης ὁ τούτου λόγος καὶ ἡ γνώμη, πῶς εἰς ὑπερβάλλουσιν καὶ ἄπειρον κακοτροπίαν ἐξετόπισε τὴν ἑαυτοῦ γνώμην.

24.2.1 | If this argument were taken away, it would be easy to believe his wild nonsense; but to wise people, his speech and opinion are clearly wrong and foolish, because he has gone beyond all limits and made his opinion very bad.

24.2.2 | ὀρίζει γὰρ ὡς κατὰ κατὰ τικόν τινα ἐνθουσιασμὸν ἐμβροντηθὲν τὸ ἐλεεινὸν ἀνθρωπάριον ὀνόματα ἐκάστω ἄρχοντι τῶν οὐρανῶν ἐκτιθέμενον πρὸς τὸ διὰ τῶν ὀνομάτων ὧν ποιητεύεται χαρὰ τῶν μὴ τὸν νοῦν ἐρρωμένον ἔχόντων πιστεῦσθαι εἰς ολεθρον τῆς τῶν ἡπατημένων ψυχῆς. οὐ μὴν δὲ ἀλλὰ καὶ μαγανικαῖς μηχαναῖς προσανέχων οὐκ ἐπαύσατο καὶ περιεργαῖς ὁ ἀπατεῶν.

24.2.2 | He says that, like a kind of madness born from thunder, the pitiful little man sets names for each ruler of the heavens, so that through these names, which he makes up, those without strong minds take joy and believe, leading to the ruin of their deceived souls. And not only that, but the trickster did not stop, adding magical tricks and strange devices.

24.2.3 | Later he says that this creation came to be by the power of the ruler over us in this heaven; from these angels, he calls one god, whom he says is the only god of the Jews. He assigns this one, and a number of angels under him with names made up by imitation, and from this one, he says, man was formed. And at the same time, he divided the world among them by lots according to the number of angels, διαίρεσιν κλήρων τῷ πλήθει τῶν ἀγγέλων, τούτῳ δὲ λελογχέναι τὸ γένος τῶν Ἰουδαίων τῷ προειρημένῳ θεῷ τῶν Ἰουδαίων· βλασφημῶν δὲ τὸν αὐτὸν παντοκράτορα κύριον, τὸν ὄντως ἄντα θεὸν μόνον καὶ οὐχ ἕτερον (πατέρα γὰρ τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι ὁμολογοῦμεν τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ), τοῦτον ἐκεῖνος ἀρνούμενος ἕνα βούλεται αὐτὸς παριστᾶν τῶν ὑπὲρ αὐτοῦ λεγομένων ἀγγέλων, καθά μοι προεδήλωται.

giving the race of the Jews to this one god of the Jews. But he blasphemes the true almighty lord, the one true god alone and no other (for we agree that the father is the same as our lord Jesus Christ). Denying this one, he wants to present himself as one of the angels called sons of god, as he has shown me before.

24.2.5 | ἐληλυθέναι δὲ τοὺς Ἰουδαίους εἰς κληρὸν αὐτοῦ καὶ αὐτὸν ὑπερασπίζειν τούτων, εἶναι δὲ αὐτὸν πάντων τῶν ἀγγέλων αὐθαδέστερον ἐξαγαγεῖν τε τοὺς υἱοὺς Ἰσραὴλ ἐξ Αἰγύπτου αὐθαδεῖα βραχίονος τοῦ ἰδίου διὰ τὸ εἶναι αὐτὸν ἰταμώτερον τῶν ἄλλων καὶ αὐθαδέστερον.

24.2.5 | He says that the Jews came as his share and that he defends them. He is the most stubborn of all the angels, leading the sons of Israel out of Egypt by the stubbornness of his own arm because he is more bold and stubborn than the others.

24.2.6 | ὅθεν διὰ τὴν αὐθάδειαν αὐτοῦ, ὥς φησιν βλασφημῶν ὁ γόης, βεβουλεῦσθαι τὸν αὐτὸν αὐτῶν θεὸν καθυποτάξαι τῷ γένει τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ πάντα τὰ ἄλλα ἔθνη καὶ διὰ τοῦτο παρεσκευακέναι πολέμους. πολλὰ δὲ καὶ ἄλλα κατὰ τοῦ ἁγίου θεοῦ χαλάσας τὴν γλῶτταν καὶ ἐπάρας τὸ στόμα οὐκ ἐντρέπεται λαλῶν ὁ ἐλεεινότατος.

24.2.6 | Because of his stubbornness, as the sorcerer says blaspheming, he planned to make their god subject to the race of Israel over all other nations, and for this he prepared wars. And many other things against the holy god, breaking his tongue and cursing with his mouth, the most miserable one does not stop speaking.

24.2.7 | διὰ τοῦτο γάρ, φησί, καὶ τὰ ἄλλα ἔθνη ἐπολέμησε τοῦτο τὸ ἔθνος καὶ πολλὰ κακὰ αὐτῷ ἐνεδείξατο διὰ τὴν τῶν ἄλλων ἀγγέλων παραζήλωσιν, ἐπειδήπερ παροτρυνθέντες (ὥς καταφρονούμενοι ὑπὲρ αὐτοῦ) καὶ αὐτοὶ τὰ ἴδια ἔθνη ἐπὶ τὸ ἔθνος τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ τὸ ὑπὲρ αὐτὸν ἐπέσεισαν. καὶ τούτου ἕνεκα πόλεμοι πάντοτε καὶ ἀκαταστασίαι κατ' αὐτῶν ἐπανεστήσαν.

24.2.7 | Because of this, he says, the other nations fought against this nation, and many bad things happened to it because of the jealousy of the other angels. For they were urged on (as if looked down on by him) and they themselves stirred up their own nations against the nation of Israel under him. And because of this, wars and troubles always rose up against them.

Section 3

24.3.1 | 3. Αὕτη ἡ τοῦ ἀπατεῶνος πιθανολογία. καὶ αὐτὸς δὲ περὶ Χριστοῦ ὡς δοκῇσει πεφηνότος ὁμοίως δοξάζει. εἶναι δέ φησιν αὐτὸν φαντασίαν ἐν τῷ φαίνεσθαι μὴ εἶναι δὲ ἄνθρωπον μηδὲ σάρκα εἰληφέναι. δραματουργεῖ δὲ ἡμῖν ἄλλην ἄλλην ὁ δεύτερος μιμολόγος ἐν τῷ περὶ τοῦ σταυροῦ λόγῳ Χριστοῦ, οὐχὶ Ἰησοῦν φάσκων πεπονθέναι, ἀλλὰ Σίμωνα τὸν Κυρηναῖον· ἐπειδὴ γὰρ ἐν τῷ ἀπὸ ιεροσολύμων τὸν κύριον ἐκβάλλεσθαι, ὡς ἔχει ἡ ἀκολουθία τοῦ εὐαγγελίου, ἡγγάρευσάν τινα Σίμωνα Κυρηναῖον βαστάξαι τὸν σταυρόν.

24.3.1 | This is the clever argument of the deceiver. And he himself also praises Christ as if he seemed to be so. He says that he is a vision in appearing, but not a man nor has he taken flesh. The second imitator plays a different role for us in the story about the cross of Christ, not saying that Jesus suffered, but Simon the Cyrenean; for when the Lord was being led out from Jerusalem, as the gospel story goes, they grabbed someone named Simon the Cyrenean to carry the cross.

24.3.3 | ἔνθεν εὐρίσκει * τῆς αὐτοῦ κυβείας ποιήσασθαι τὴν τραγωδίαν καὶ φησιν· ἐκεῖνον ἐν τῷ βαστάζειν τὸν σταυρὸν μετεμόρφωσεν εἰς τὸ ἑαυτοῦ εἶδος καὶ ἑαυτὸν εἰς τὸν Σίμωνα. καὶ ἀντὶ ἑαυτοῦ παραδέδωκε Σίμωνα εἰς τὸ σταυρωθῆναι.

24.3.3 | From there he finds a way to make a tragedy out of his trickery and says: he changed the one carrying the cross into his own form and himself into Simon. And instead of himself, he handed over Simon to be crucified.

24.3.4 | ἐκείνου δὲ σταυρουμένου ἔστηκεν καταντικρὺς ἀοράτως ὁ Ἰησοῦς, καταγελῶν τῶν τὸν Σίμωνα σταυρούντων, αὐτὸς δὲ ἀνέπη εἰς τὰ ἐπουράνια παραδοὺς τὸν Σίμωνα ἀνασκολοπισθῆναι σκολοπισθῆναι καὶ ἀπαθῶς ἀνεχώρησεν εἰς τὸν οὐρανόν·

24.3.4 | While that one was being crucified, Jesus stood opposite him unseen, mocking those who were crucifying Simon, and he himself rose up to heaven, handing over Simon to be impaled and crucified, and he went away to heaven without feeling pain.

24.3.5 | ὁ δὲ Σίμων αὐτὸς ἐσταυρώθη, καὶ οὐχὶ ὁ Ἰησοῦς· Ἰησοῦς γάρ, φησίν, ἀναπετασθεὶς εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν διήλθε πάσας τὰς δυνάμεις, ἕως οὗ ἀπεκατέστη πρὸς τὸν ἴδιον αὐτοῦ πατέρα.

24.3.5 | But Simon himself was crucified, and not Jesus; for Jesus, he says, having been lifted up into heaven, went through all the powers until he was restored to his own father.

24.3.6 | οὗτος γάρ, φησίν, ἐστὶν ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ πατρὸς ὁ προειρημένος, ὁ ἀποσταλεὶς ἐπὶ βοηθείᾳ τῶν υἱῶν τῶν ἀνθρώπων, δι' ἣν εἶδεν ὁ πατὴρ ἀκαταστασίαν ἐν τε τοῖς ἀνθρώποις καὶ ἐν τοῖς ἀγγέλοις. καὶ οὗτός ἐστι, φησίν, ἡ σωτηρία ἡμῶν, ὁ ἐλθὼν καὶ ἡμῖν μόνοις ἀποκαλύψας ταύτην τὴν ἀλήθειαν.

24.3.6 | For this one, he says, is the son of the father mentioned before, sent to help the sons of men, through whom the father saw disorder both among men and among angels. And he says this one is our salvation, the one who came and revealed this truth to us alone.

24.3.7 | Τοιαῦται μὲν αἱ ῥαψωδίαί τῆς τοῦ ἀγύρτου μυθοποιίας. ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀπεντεῦθεν, προκοπτοῦσης τῆς ἀκαθαρσίας τῆς ἀπὸ τοῦ Σίμωνος ἐναρξαμένης, πᾶσαν ἐπιτήδευσιν κακομηχανίας καὶ ἀσελγείας ἐπιτρέπει τοὺς αὐτῷ μαθητευομένους ἐπιτελεῖν, ἀνδρῶν μετὰ γυναικῶν πολυμιξίαν τινὰ κακῆς ὑποθέσεως τοὺς αὐτῷ πεισθέντας ἐκδιδάσκων·

24.3.7 | Such are the rhapsodies of the liar's storytelling. But also from there, as the impurity starting from Simon grows, it allows all kinds of wicked tricks and shamelessness to be done by those learning from him, teaching those who believe him a certain bad mixing of men with women.

24.3.8 | ὥς λέγει ὁ ἀπόστολος ἐπὶ τούτοις καὶ τοῖς ὁμοίοις αὐτῶν »ἀποκαλύπτεσθαι ὀργὴν θεοῦ καὶ δικαιοκρισίαν ἐπὶ τοὺς τὴν ἀλήθειαν ἐν ἀδικίᾳ κατέχοντας«. διὰ ταύτην γὰρ τὴν αἰτίαν τῆς ἡδυπαθείας πολλοὶ εἰς τὴν αἵρεσιν ἐμπίπτουσιν, ἀδεῶς εὐρίσκοντες ἐπιτελεῖν τὴν ἡδονὴν ἑαυτῶν ἐν ταῖς αἰσχουραῖς.

24.3.8 | As the apostle says about these and their like, "the anger of god and judgment are revealed against those who hold the truth in injustice." For this reason of pleasure-seeking, many fall into heresy, boldly finding a way to carry out their own pleasure in shameful acts.

Section 4

24.4.1 | 4. Διδάσκει δὲ πάλιν καὶ ἐπιτρέπει φάσκων μὴ δεῖν μαρτυρεῖν. ὁ γὰρ μαρτυρῶν ἄμισθος εὐρεθήσεται, μὴ μαρτυρῶν ὑπὲρ τοῦ πεποιηκότος τὸν ἄνθρωπον· μαρτυρεῖ γὰρ ὑπὲρ τοῦ ἐσταυρωμένου Σίμωνος.

24.4.1 | 4. He teaches again and allows, saying that it is not necessary to testify. For the one who testifies will be found unpaid, not testifying for the person who did the deed. For he testifies for Simon who was crucified.

24.4.2 | πόθεν δὲ τούτῳ μισθὸς εἶη, ὁπότε ἀποθνήσκει μὲν ὑπὲρ Σίμωνος τοῦ ἐσταυρωμένου, ὑπὲρ Χριστοῦ δὲ τοῦτο ποιεῖν ὁμολογεῖ ὃν ἀγνοεῖ, ἀποθνήσκων ὑπὲρ οὗ οὐ γινώσκει; δεῖ τοίνυν ἀρνεῖσθαι καὶ μὴ προαλῶς ἀποθνήσκειν.

24.4.2 | But how could there be a reward for this one, when he dies for Simon who was crucified, yet admits to doing this for Christ, whom he does not know, dying for someone he does not recognize? Therefore, one must deny and not die prematurely.

Section 5

24.5.1 | 5. Φωραθήσεται δὲ οὗτος διαβολικὴν δύναμιν εἰσηγούμενος κατὰ τῶν ψυχῶν, ἀπαρνησιθεῖαν αὐτὰς ἐκδιδάσκων, ὁπότε αὐτὸς ὁ κύριός φησι »τὸν ἀρνούμενόν με ἐνώπιον τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἀρνήσομαι ἐνώπιον τοῦ πατρὸς μου τοῦ ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς‘.

24.5.1 | But this one will be shown to bring in a devilish power against souls, teaching them to deny, whenever the lord himself says, ‘the one who denies me before people, I will deny before my father in heaven.’

24.5.2 | ἀλλὰ φησιν ὁ ἀγύρτης· »ἡμεῖς, φησίν, ἐσμεν οἱ ἄνθρωποι, οἱ δὲ ἄλλοι πάντες ὕες καὶ κύνες. καὶ διὰ τοῦτο εἶπεν· μὴ βάλητε τοὺς μαργαρίτας ἔμπροσθεν τῶν χοίρων μηδὲ δῶτε τὸ ἅγιον τοῖς κυσίν«.

24.5.2 | But the swindler says, ‘we are the people, but all the others are pigs and dogs. And because of this, he said, “don’t throw pearls in front of pigs, and don’t give what is holy to dogs.”’

24.5.3 | κρύπτει γὰρ ἑαυτοῦ τὴν ἀδικίαν ἀπὸ τῶν νοῦν ἐχόντων, ἀποκαλύπτει δὲ τῇ ἑαυτοῦ φατρίᾳ καὶ τοῖς ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ ἡπατημένοις. ἐπειδὴ γὰρ ἀληθῶς τὰ παρ’ αὐτοῖς λεγόμενα καὶ γινόμενα »αἰσχρόν ἐστι καὶ λέγειν«, λέγει ὅτι »ἐνώπιον τῶν ἀνθρώπων· δεῖ ὁμολογεῖν τὴν ἀλήθειαν· »ἡμεῖς γὰρ ἐσμεν οἱ ἄνθρωποι, οἱ δὲ ἄλλοι ὕες καὶ κύνες«, ὡς προεῖπον.

24.5.3 | For he hides his wrongdoing from those who have sense, but reveals it to his own group and to those deceived by him. For since what is said and done by them is truly ‘shameful even to speak of,’ he says that ‘before people’ one must confess the truth: ‘we are the people, but all the others are pigs and dogs,’ as I said before.

24.5.4 | φάσκει δὲ ὅλως περὶ πατρὸς τοῦ ἑαυτοῦ μυστηρίου μηδενὶ <δεῖν>

24.5.4 | he says that about the mystery of his own father no one should reveal ἀποκαλύπτειν, ἀλλὰ σιγῇ ἔχειν ἐν ἐνὶ δὲ ἀπὸ χιλίων ἀποκαλύπτειν καὶ δυσὶν ἀπὸ μυρίων, καὶ ὑποτίθεται τοῖς αὐτοῦ μαθηταῖς λέγων ὅτι »σὺ πάντα γίνωσκε, σὲ δὲ μηδεὶς γινωσκέτω«.

anything, but should keep it silent; yet he reveals it to one out of a thousand and two out of ten thousand, and he advises his own followers saying, 'you know everyone, but let no one know you.'

24.5.5 | αὐτὸς δὲ κοὶ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ ἐρωτῶμενοι Ἰουδαίους μὲν ἑαυτοὺς μηκέτι εἶναι φάσκουσι, Χριστιανούς δὲ μηδέπω γεγενῆσθαι, ἀλλὰ ἀρνεῖσθαι πάντοτε, ἔχειν δὲ ἐν ἑαυτῷ σιγῇ τὴν πίστιν καὶ μηδενὶ ὑποδεικνύναι, τὴν αἰσχύνην ἑαυτοῦ ὑφορώμενος διὰ τὸ ἀπαρρησίαστον τῆς αἰσχρουργίας καὶ κακῆς αὐτοῦ διδασκαλίας.

24.5.5 | he himself and those who follow him, when asked, say that they are no longer Jews, and that they have not yet become Christians, but always deny it; they keep their faith silent within themselves and show it to no one, hiding their shame because of the secret and shameful evil of their teaching.

Section 6

24.6.1 | 6. Ἐσχεν δὲ ἡ ἀρχὴ αὐτῆς τῆς κακῆς προφάσεως τὴν αἰτίαν ἀπὸ τοῦ ζητεῖν καὶ λέγειν πόθεν τὸ κακόν. πᾶς δὲ ἀπὸ τῆς ἑαυτοῦ πραγματείας δειχθήσεται ὁποῖός ἐστιν. ἔμποροι γοῦν κακῶν οὗτοι οἱ τοῦ κακοῦ ἑρασταὶ καὶ οὐχὶ ἀγαθῶν, ὥς καὶ ἡ γραφὴ εἶπεν ὅτι ζητοῦντας κακὰ καταλήψεται κακά."

24.6.1 | 6. The beginning of this evil excuse had its cause in asking and saying where the evil comes from. Everyone will be shown by their own actions what kind they are. These lovers of evil are merchants of bad things, not of good, just as the scripture said that those who seek evil will be caught by evil.

24.6.2 | οὔτε γὰρ ποτε <τὸ> κακὸν ἦν οὔτε ῥίζα γέγονε κακίας οὔτε ἐνυπόστατον τὸ κακόν ἐστιν. οὐκ ἦν γὰρ ποτε τὸ κακόν, ἐπείσακτον δὲ διὰ προφάσεως ἐν ἐκάστῳ τῶν ποιοούντων τὸ κακὸν ἔνεστιν· ἐν δὲ τῷ μὴ ποιοῦντι οὐκ ἔστιν, καθάπερ ἐν τοῖς ἄνω λόγοις προδεδήλωται.

24.6.2 | For evil never was, nor did it become the root of wickedness, nor does evil have a real being. Evil never was; it came in as an addition through excuse in each person who does evil; but in the one who does not do evil, it is not, just as has been shown before in the above words.

24.6.3 | λέγει γὰρ ὁ κύριος μετὰ τὸ πάντα πεποιηκέναι »ἰδοὺ πάντα καλὰ λίαν«, δεικνὺς ὅτι τὸ κακὸν οὐκ ἀρχαΐζει οὐδὲ ἐξ

24.6.3 | For the lord says after making everything, "behold, everything is very good," showing that evil does not begin ὑπαρχῆς ὑπῆρχεν πρὸ τοῦ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἐνάρξασθαι· δι' ἡμῶν γὰρ γίνεται καὶ δι' ἡμῶν οὐ γίνεται.

first nor did it exist from the start before it began from the human; for it happens through us and does not happen through us.

24.6.4 | ἄρα οὖν ἐν τῷ πάντα ἄνθρωπον δύνασθαι μὴ ποιεῖν τὸ κακὸν καὶ δύνασθαι ποιεῖν τὸ κακόν, ὅταν μὲν ποιῇ, ἔστι τὸ κακόν, ὅταν δὲ μὴ ποιῇ, οὐκ ἔστι τὸ κακόν. ποῦ τοίνυν τοῦ κακοῦ ἐστὶν ἡ ῥίζα ἢ ἡ ὑπόστασις τῆς πονηρίας;

24.6.4 | So then, it is not possible for a person to not do evil and also to do evil; when he does it, evil exists, but when he does not do it, evil does not exist. Where then is the root or the real being of evil?

Section 7

24.7.1 | 7. Εἰς δὲ πολλὴν οὕτως ἐλήλακε μωρίαν, φάσκων ὅτι ἡ <ἄνω> Δύναμις τὸν Νοῦν προεβάλετο, ὁ δὲ Νοῦς τὸν Λόγον, ὁ δὲ Λόγος τὴν Φρόνησιν, ἡ δὲ Φρόνησις Δύναμιν καὶ Σοφίαν, ἐκ δὲ Δυνάμεως καὶ Σοφίας ἐξουσίαι καὶ δυνάμεις καὶ ἄγγελοι.

24.7.1 | But he has fallen into great foolishness, claiming that the “higher” Power came before Mind, and Mind came before Reason, and Reason before Prudence, and Prudence before Power and Wisdom, and from Power and Wisdom came authorities and powers and angels.

24.7.2 | λέγει δὲ τὴν ὑπεράνω τούτων δύναμιν εἶναι καὶ ἀρχὴν Ἀβρασάξ, διὰ τὸ τὴν ψῆφον τοῦ Ἀβασάξ ἔχειν τριακοσιοστὸν ἐξηκοστὸν πέμπτον ἀριθμόν, ὡς ἐκ τούτου τὴν μαρτυρίαν τῆς αὐτοῦ μυθοποιίας τῶν τριακοσίων ἐξήκοντα πέντε οὐρανῶν συνιστᾶν πειρᾶσθαι.

24.7.2 | He says that the power above these is Abrasax, the beginning, because the number of Abrasax's name is three hundred sixty-five, and from this he tries to prove the story of his making of the three hundred sixty-five heavens.

24.7.3 | οἷς οὐρανοῖς καὶ δοποθεσίας ἴσα τοῖς μαθηματικοῖς διαιρεῖν καὶ συνιστᾶν ἐπιτηδεύων οὐ παρέργως μηχανᾶται. τὰ γὰρ ἐκείνων μάταια θεωρήματα λαβὼν εἰς ἴδιον χαρακτῆρα αὐτός τε καὶ οἱ ὑπ' αὐτὸν εἰς αἰτίαν τῆς ἰδίας εἰδωλοποιοῦ καὶ [πεπλανημένης] ἐπιπλάστου διδασκαλίας

24.7.3 | He tries to divide and put together those heavens and places like mathematicians do, not in a useless way.
But taking their empty ideas as his own mark, he and those under him brought in the cause of their own idol-making and μετήνεγκαν.

mistaken false teaching.

24.7.4 | καὶ βούλονται τὴν σύστασιν τούτων ἀπὸ τῶν ὁμοίων ψήφων ποιεῖσθαι, ὡς προεῖπον, τοῦ Ἀβρασᾶξ τῶν τριακοσίων ἐξήκοντα πέντε ἀριθμὸν ἔχοντος, δῆθεν δεικνύντες διὰ τοῦτο ἔχειν τὸν ἐνιαυτὸν τριακοσίων ἐξήκοντα πέντε ἡμερῶν ἀριθμὸν κατὰ περιόδον.

24.7.4 | And they want to make the arrangement of these from similar numbers, as I said before, because Abrasax has the number three hundred sixty-five, supposedly showing that for this reason the year has the number of three hundred sixty-five days in a cycle.

24.7.5 | πέπτωκε δὲ αὐτοῦ ὁ ληρώδης λόγος. εὐρίσκεται γὰρ ὁ ἐνιαυτὸς τριακοσίων ἐξήκοντα πέντε ἡμερῶν καὶ ὥρων τριῶν.

24.7.5 | But the foolish argument fell from him. For the year is found to have three hundred sixty-five days and three hours.

24.7.6 | εἶτα, ἐντεῦθεν, φησί, καὶ ὁ ἄνθρωπος ἔχει τριακόσια ἐξήκοντα πέντε μέλη, ὡς ἑκάστη τῶν δυνάμεων ἀπονέμεσθαι ἐν μέλος. ὅθεν καὶ ἐν τούτῳ πέπτωκεν αὐτοῦ ἡ ἐπινενοημένη καὶ νόθος διδασκαλία· ἐν γὰρ τῷ ἀνθρώπῳ ἐστὶ τρεῖς μέρη.

24.7.6 | Then, from this, he says that a man has three hundred sixty-five parts, to give one part to each of the powers. From this also fell his invented and false teaching; for in a man there are only parts.

Section 8

24.8.1 | 8. Θαυμαστῶς δὲ ὁ μακάριος Εἰρηναῖος ὁ τῶν ἀποστόλων διάδοχος, περὶ τούτου λεπτολογῶν διήλεγξε τούτου τὴν ἀβελτερίαν.

24.8.1 | 8. And wonderfully, the blessed Irenaeus, the successor of the apostles, speaking carefully about this, refuted the foolishness of this.

24.8.2 | ἀνατραπήσεται γὰρ καὶ νῦν ἡ φλυαρία τοῦ ἄνωθεν καταβεβηκότος Βασιλείδου καὶ τὰ ἄνω σαφῶς κατοπτρεύσαντος, μᾶλλον δὲ ἄνωθεν πεπτωκότος ἀπὸ τοῦ τῆς ἀληθείας σκοποῦ,

24.8.2 | For now the nonsense of the little king who came down from above will be overturned, and who clearly looked down from above, but rather fell from above away from the goal of truth,

24.8.3 | ὅτι εἰ οὗτος ὁ οὐρανὸς ὑπὸ τῶν κατ' αὐτὸν ἀγγέλων γεγένηται, αὐτοὶ δὲ ὑπὸ τῶν ἀνωτέρω καὶ οἱ ἀνωτέρω ὑπὸ τῶν ἔτι ἀνωτέρω, ἄρ οὖν ἡ ἄνω Δύναμις, ἡ καὶ Ἀβρασὰξ καλουμένη, εὐρεθήσεται ἡ τὰ πάντα πεποιηκυῖα καὶ ἡ αἰτία τῶν ὄντων πάντων, καὶ οὐδὲν δίχα αὐτῆς [τι] γεγενῆσθαι εὐρεθήσεται,

24.8.3 | because if this heaven was made by the angels under it, and they by those above, and those above by even higher ones, then surely the power above, called Abraxas, will be found to be the maker of all things and the cause of all beings, and nothing will be found to have come into being apart from it,

24.8.4 | ὁπότε αὐτὴ τὸ αἷτιον καὶ τὸ πρῶτον ἀρχέτυπον παρ' αὐτῶν καταγγέλλεται, καὶ τὸ λεγόμενον παρ' αὐτοῖς τοῦ κόσμου τούτου ὑστέρημα ὑπὸ τινος ἑτέρου μὴ γεγενῆσθαι, ἀλλ' ἀπὸ τῆς πρώτης ἀρχῆς καὶ αἰτίας τῶν μετέπειτα γεγονότων.

24.8.4 | whenever it is announced by them as the cause and the first pattern, and what is said by them that this world came into being later and not by some other, but from the first beginning and cause of what came afterward.

24.8.5 | ἐρωτητέον δὲ τὸν αὐτόν, τίνι <τῷ> λόγῳ ἐπὶ τοσαύτην ἡμᾶς ἰ πληθὺν φέρεις, ὦ οὗτος, καὶ μὴ μᾶλλον ἐπὶ τὴν ἀρχὴν, τουτέστιν ἐπὶ τὸν ἕνα θεὸν τὸν παντοκράτορα; ὁπότε ἐξ ἅπαντος ἦτοι οὕτως λέγοντα ἢ οὕτως δεῖ τὸν ἕνα αἷτιον πάντων δμολογεῖν δεσπότην.

24.8.5 | one must ask the same one, by what reason do you bring us to such a great number, o this one, and not rather to the beginning, that is, to the one god the all-powerful? whenever from everything either saying this way or it must be so, the one cause of all is confessed as master.

24.8.6 | ἀλλὰ καὶ περὶ τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ ὑποθέσεως ἀπόκριναι, ὡς τῆς μυθοποιουῦ πραγματείας ταύτης πλάστα. εἰ Σίμων ἐσταυρώθη ὁ Κυρηναῖος, ἄρα οὐ διὰ Ἰησοῦ ἡ σωτηρία γεγένηται ἡμῶν ἀλλὰ διὰ Σίμωνος, καὶ οὐκέτι ὁ κόσμος ἐλπίσειεν διὰ Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ σῶζεσθαι τοῦ μὴ παθόντος ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν. οὔτε γὰρ Σίμων δύναται σῶζειν, ἄνθρωπος ὢν ψιλὸς καὶ οὐδὲν ἕτερον.

24.8.6 | but also about the story of Christ, answer, o maker of this false tale. if Simon the Cyrene was crucified, then our salvation did not come through Jesus but through Simon, and the world would no longer hope to be saved through Jesus Christ who did not suffer for us. for Simon cannot save, being just a man and nothing else.

24.8.7 | ἅμα δὲ καὶ συκοφαντίαν καταψηφίζῃ τοῦ μονογενοῦς υἱοῦ τοῦ θεοῦ, εἰ ἕτερον ἀνθ' ἑαυτοῦ παρέδωκεν ὁ ἀγαθὸς θεὸς βιασάμενος εἰς φόνον.

24.8.7 | and at the same time you reject the slander against the only-begotten son of god, if the good god handed over another instead of himself, forced into murder.

24.8.8 | καὶ ἔσται λοιπὸν ὄναρ, μᾶλλον δὲ κακοηθείας καὶ κυβείας ἔργον τὸ τοιοῦτον, ὅτι > κύριος κυβεῖα τινὶ ἑαυτὸν κρύψας ἄλλον ἀντ' αὐτοῦ παρέδωκε· καὶ ἔσται ἡ παρὰ σοῦ μωρολογία συκοφαντοῦσα μὲν τὴν ἀλήθειαν μὴ δυναμένη δέ, ἀλλὰ ἐλεγχόμενη ὑπ' αὐτῆς τῆς ἀληθείας ἀσυστάτως τὸ ποίημα τοῦτο εἰσηγουμένη.

24.8.8 | and then it will be a dream, or rather a work of malice and trickery, that the lord, hiding himself by some trick, handed over another instead of himself; and your foolish talk will be a slander against the truth, unable to stand against it, but instead, being exposed by that very truth, will wildly bring in this false story.

Section 9

24.9.1 | 9. Πάντη γὰρ ἐλέγχει τοῦτον τὸν αἰρεσιάρχην ἡ ἀλήθεια ἐν παλαιᾷ καὶ καινῇ διαθήκῃ. παντὶ γὰρ τῷ δῆλον ὅτι Χριστὸς ἐκὼν ἐπὶ τὸ πάθος ἦλθε καὶ θελήματι ἐδίω καὶ τοῦ ἰδίου πατρὸς καὶ εὐδοκίᾳ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος ἔλαβε τὴν σάρκα ἐνανθρωπήσας ἐν ἡμῖν, ἐν τελειότητι θεοῦ ὢν ἀπ' ἀρχῆς,

24.9.1 | for truth everywhere proves this leader of heresy in both the old and new covenant. for it is clear to everyone that Christ willingly came to suffer and gave himself by his own will, and by the will of his own father and the good pleasure of the holy spirit, he took on flesh, becoming human among us, being God in full, from the beginning,

24.9.2 | ἐκ πατρὸς γεγεννημένος ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόνως, ἐπ' ἐσχάτων δὲ τῶν ἡμερῶν ἐν μήτρᾳ παρθένου γενέσθαι καταξιώσας, εἰς ἑαυτὸν τε σῶμα ἀναπλασάμενος καὶ γεννηθεὶς ἐν ἀληθείᾳ καὶ ἐνανθρωπήσας ἐν βεβαιώσει, ἵνα ἐν αὐτῇ πάθῃ ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν τῇ σαρκὶ καὶ τὴν Μιν δῶ ὑπὲρ τῶν ἰδίων προβάτων·

24.9.2 | born of the father without beginning and without time, but at the last days worthy to be born in a virgin's womb, having formed a body for himself and truly born, and becoming human in reality, so that in that suffering for us in the flesh he might give his life for his own sheep;

24.9.3 | ὥς ἐλέγχει τούτους λέγων »ἰδοὺ, ἀναβαίνομεν εἰς ἑροσόλυμα, καὶ ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου παραδοθήσεται καὶ

24.9.3 | as he proves these men wrong by saying, "Look, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the son of man will be ἀποκτανθήσεται καὶ τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ ἀναστήσεται, τοῖς τε υἱοῖς Ζεβεδαίου φήσας »δύνασθε πιεῖν τὸ ποτήριον ὃ μέλλω πίνειν;«, handed over and killed, and on the third day he will rise again,” and to the sons of Zebedee he said, “Can you drink the cup that I am about to drink?”

24.9.4 | ὥς καὶ ὁ ἀπόστολος Πέτρος λέγει »θανατωθεὶς σαρκί, ζωοποιηθεὶς δὲ πνεύματι« καὶ πάλιν »ὃς ἔπαθεν ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν σαρκί«·

24.9.4 | just as the apostle Peter says, “having been put to death in the flesh, but made alive in the spirit,” and again, “he who suffered for us in the flesh”;

24.9.5 | πάλιν δὲ Ἰωάννης λέγει »εἴ τις οὐ λέγει τὸν Χριστὸν ἐν σαρκὶ ἐληλυθέωαι, οὗτος ἀντίχριστός ἐστιν«, ὁ δὲ ἅγιος Παῦλός φησι »γευσάμενος θανάτου, θανάτου δὲ σταυροῦ, ὥς καὶ Μωυσῆς προαναφωνῶν ἔλεγεν »ὄψεσθε τὴν ζωὴν ὑμῶν κρεμαμένην ἐπὶ ξύλου«.

24.9.5 | and again John says, “If anyone does not say that Christ has come in the flesh, that one is an antichrist,” but holy Paul says, “having tasted death, even death on a cross,” just as Moses, speaking beforehand, said, “You will see your life hanging on a tree.”

24.9.6 | ζωὴ δὲ ἡμῶν οὐχ ὁ Σίμων, ἀλλ’ ὁ κύριος ὁ ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν πεπονθώς, ἵνα τὰ ἡμέτερα πάθῃ διαλύσῃ, καὶ θανὼν σαρκὶ θάνατος θανάτῳ γεγένηται, ἵνα τὸ κέντρον τοῦ θανάτου κλάσῃ, κλάσῃ, εἰς τὰ καταχθόνια, ἵνα τοὺς ἀδαμαντίνους μοχλοὺς συντρίψῃ· ὅπερ ποιήσας ἀνήγαγε τῶν ψυχῶν τὴν αἰχμαλωσίαν ἐκένωσέ τε τὸν Ἅϊδην.

24.9.6 | our life is not Simon, but the lord who suffered for us, so that he might destroy our own sufferings, and having died in the flesh, he became death to death, to break the sting of death, to break it down to the underworld, to crush the unbreakable bars; which having done, he led up the souls from captivity and emptied Hades.

Section 10

24.10.1 | 10. Οὐκ ἄρα οὖν αἷτιος θανάτου γένονεν ὁ Χριστὸς τῷ Σίμωνι, αὐτὸς ἑαυτὸν παραδούς. τί γὰρ λέγεις, ὡ θεήλατε τῶν ἀνθρώπων; οὐκ ἡδύνατο ἐλευθεροστομεῖν καὶ ἀναχωρῆσαι ἀπ’ αὐτῶν, εἰ μὴ ἠθέλησε σταυρωθῆναι;

24.10.1 | So then Christ did not become the cause of death for Simon, but he handed himself over. For what do you say, you who are enemies of humans? Could he not have spoken freely and gone away from them, if he had not wanted to be crucified?

24.10.2 | ἀλλὰ παίγνιον ἐποίει κυβείας ὁ τοῦ θεοῦ <υἱὸς> θεὸς Λόγος καὶ ἄλλον ἀντὶ ἑαυτοῦ παρεδίδου ἀποθανεῖν καὶ σταυρωθῆναι, ὁ λέγων ἐγὼ εἰμι ἡ ἀλήθεια· »ἐγὼ γὰρ εἰμι, φησὶν, ἡ ἀλήθεια καὶ ἡ ζωή;

24.10.2 | But the son of God, the divine Word, was playing a game of dice and handed over another instead of himself to die and be crucified, the one who says, 'I am the truth'; for he says, 'I am the truth and the life.'

24.10.3 | ἡ δὲ ζωὴ οὐκ ἂν ἐτέρῳ θάνατον παρασκευάσειε καὶ ἡ ἀλήθεια οὐκ ἂν κρύψει τὸ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ παρ' αὐτῆς γινόμενον καὶ ἕτερα ἀνθ' ἐτέρων ὑποδείξει. οὐκέτι γὰρ ἡ ἀλήθεια εὐρεθήσεται ἀλήθεια, πλάνην ἐργαζομένη καὶ κρύπτουσα τὸ ἑαυτῆς ἔργον, δι' ἐναντίου δὲ πραγματευομένη σοφίσματος.

24.10.3 | But life would not prepare death for another, and truth would not hide what happens in truth from itself and show something else instead of others. For truth will no longer be found truth, working deception and hiding its own work, dealing with trickery by doing the opposite.

24.10.4 | καὶ ἀπλῶς ἐκ πάντων ὥς εἶπεῖν, ἵνα μὴ μηκύνω τὸν λόγον, »οὐαὶ τῷ κόσμῳ ἀπὸ τῶν σκανδάλων· καὶ τῶν ἐργαζομένων τὴν ἀνομίαν· πόσοι ἑαυτοῖς σκότος ἠϋρηνται καὶ ἄλλοις τοῖς μετέπειτα τῷ σκότει αὐτῶν πειθομένοις· τοῖς δὲ συνετοῖς φανήσεται ἡ ἀλήθεια, ἡ δὲ Βασιλείδου καὶ τῶν τοιούτων πραγματεία πλάνης ἔργον ἐλεγχθήσεται.

24.10.4 | And simply, from all things, so to speak, so that I do not make the word too long, 'woe to the world because of the scandals' and those doing lawlessness. How many have found darkness for themselves and others who later obey their darkness; but to the wise, the truth will appear, and the work of deception of Basileidus and the like will be shown to be false.

24.10.5 | Καὶ ταῦτά μοι περὶ ταύτης τῆς αἱρέσεως καὶ τοῦ μύθου τούτου εἰρήσθω· ἐντεῦθεν δὲ ἕξ' ἑτέραν αἵρεσιν βαδισοῦμαι.

24.10.5 | And let these things be said to me about this heresy and this story; from here on, I go on to another heresy.

24.10.6 | τίνι γὰρ οὐ φωρατὴ ἔσται ἡ τοιαύτη αἵρεσις μῦθος τις οὔσα καὶ ὥσει κεράστου τρόπον ἐν ἁμμῷ κεχωσμένη, διὰ δὲ τοῦ κέρατος ἐν ἀέρι προκύπτουσα καὶ τὸν ὄλεθρον τοῖς περιτυγχάνουσιν αὐτῇ ἐργαζομένη;

24.10.6 | For to whom will such a heresy not be seen, being a kind of story and like a horn mixed in the sand, and through the horn rising into the air and working destruction for those who meet it?

24.10.7 | ἀλλὰ καὶ »τὸ κέρας τῶν ἁμαρτωλῶν ὃ κύριος συνέτριψεν, τὸ δὲ κέρας τοῦ δικαίου μόνον ὑψωθήσεται«, ὅπερ ἐστὶ πίστις ἀληθείας.

24.10.7 | But also, “the lord crushed the horn of the sinners, but only the horn of the righteous will be lifted up,” which is faith in truth.

24.10.8 | διὸ καὶ τοῦτον συντρίψαντες τῇ τῆς ἀληθείας διδασκαλίᾳ ἐπὶ τὰς μετέπειτα διέλθωμεν, θεὸν βοηθὸν ἐπικαλούμενοι, ὡς ἡ δόξα καὶ ἡ τιμὴ καὶ ἡ προσκύνησις εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας τῶν αἰώνων, ἀμήν.

24.10.8 | Therefore, having crushed this one also with the teaching of truth, let us go on to what follows, calling on God as helper, to whom be glory and honor and worship forever and ever. Amen.

Book 25

Section 1

25.1.1 | Νικόλαος γέγονεν εἷς ἀπὸ τῶν ἑπτὰ διακόνων τῶν ἐκλελεγμένων ὑπὸ τῶν ἀποστόλων ἅμα Στεφάνῳ τῷ ἁγίῳ καὶ πρωτομάρτυρι καὶ Προχόρῳ καὶ Παρμενᾷ καὶ τοῖς ἄλλοις.

25.1.1 | Nikolaos was one of the seven deacons chosen by the apostles together with Stephen the holy and first martyr, and Prochoros and Parmenas and the others.

25.1.2 | οὗτος ἀπὸ τῆς Ἀντιοχείων ὁρμώμενος προσήλυτος γίνεται· μετέπειτα δὲ καταδεξάμενος τὸν περὶ Χριστοῦ κηρύγματος λόγον καὶ αὐτὸς συνήφθη τοῖς μαθηταῖς ἐν τε τοῖς προκριτέοις τὰ πρῶτα ἐξεταζόμενος <ἦν>· ὅθεν καὶ ἐν τοῖς ἐκλεγείσιν εἰς τὴν τῶν χηρῶν τότε ἐπιμέλειαν ἐγκατηριθμήθη.

25.1.2 | This one, starting from the Antiochians, became a proselyte; then, having accepted the message about Christ, he also joined the disciples, being first examined among the chosen ones for the care of widows at that time.

25.1.3 | ὕστερον δὲ τοῦτον ὑπέδου ὁ διάβολος καὶ ἐξηπάτησεν αὐτοῦ τὴν καρδίαν τῇ αὐτῇ πλάνῃ τῶν προειρημένων παλαιῶν κατατρωθῆναι μειζόνως ὑπὲρ τοὺς πρόην.

25.1.3 | Later the devil put on this man and tricked his heart with the same error of the ones mentioned before, to be eaten away more greatly than before.

25.1.4 | For this man had a beautiful wife, and having controlled himself from the woman, as if imitating those who suffer for God, he held out for a while, but he did not carry through to the end his own lack of self-control. Instead, wanting like a dog to turn back to his own vomit, hunting for some not good excuses for himself, he thought up a defense for his own wild passion; this only brought him more trouble. Then, having fallen from his purpose, he joined with his own wife in an improper way.

25.1.5 | οὗτος δὲ αἰσχυνόμενος τὴν ἑαυτοῦ ἡτταν καὶ ὑφορώμενος φωραθῆναι ἐτόλμα λέγειν ὅτι], εἰ μὴ τις καθ' ἑκάστην ἡμέραν λαγνεύῃ, ζωῆς μὴ δύνασθαι μετέχειν τῆς αἰωνίου.

25.1.5 | This man, ashamed of his own defeat and afraid to be found out, dared to say that if someone does not lust every single day, they cannot share in eternal life.

25.1.6 | ἐκ προφάσεως γὰρ εἰς πρόφασιν μετηνέχθη ἑτέραν. ὁρῶν γὰρ τὴν ἑαυτοῦ σύμβιον κάλλει μὲν διαπρέπουσαν ταπεινότητι δὲ φερομένην, ἐζηλοτύπησε ταύτην καὶ κατὰ τὴν ἰδίαν ἀσέλγειαν τοὺς ἄλλους εἶναι νομίσας τὰ πρῶτα μὲν ἐμπαροινῶν εἰς τὴν ἰδίαν γαμετὴν διετέλει καὶ διαβολὰς τινὰς αὐτῇ ἐπιφέρων διὰ λόγων, τὸ δὲ πέρας ἑαυτὸν κατέσπασεν οὐ μόνον εἰς τὴν χρῆσιν τῆς σαρκὸς τὴν κατὰ φύσιν τῶν ἀνθρώπων, ἀλλὰ καὶ εἰς βλάσφημον ὑπόνοιαν καὶ βλάβην κακοτροπίας καὶ πλάνην παρεισδύσεως πονηρίας.

25.1.6 | For he changed one excuse into another. Seeing his own wife, beautiful and carried with humility, he became jealous of her and, thinking others were as wild as himself, at first he mocked her openly. He kept on with his own wife and brought some slanders against her by words. But in the end, he broke himself not only in the use of the flesh, which is natural for humans, but also into blasphemous suspicion and harm from bad behavior and the deceitful entrance of evil.

25.2.1 | 2. Καὶ ἐντεῦθεν ἄρχονται οἱ τῆς

25.2.1 | And from here begin those of false ψευδωνύμου γνώσεως.* τῷ κόσμῳ ἐπιφύεσθαι κακῶς, φημί δὲ οἱ καλούμενοι Γνωστικοὶ καὶ Φιβιονῖται καὶ οἱ τοῦ Ἐπιφάνους καλούμενοι, Στρατιωτικοὶ τε καὶ Λευιτικοὶ καὶ Βορβορίται καὶ οἱ λοιποί. ἕκαστος γὰρ τούτων τὴν ἑαυτοῦ αἵρεσιν τοῖς πάθεσιν ἑαυτοῦ ἐπισπώμενος μυρίας ὁδοὺς ἔπενόησε κακίας.

knowledge. I say that the so-called Gnostics and Phibionites and those called of Epiphanes, as well as the Stratotics and Levitics and Borborites and the rest, grow badly in the world. For each of these, dragging their own sect along with their passions, invented countless ways of wickedness.

25.2.2 | τινὲς μὲν γὰρ αὐτῶν βαρβηλῶ τινα δοξάζουσιν, ἣν ἄνω φάσκουσιν εἶναι ἐν ὀγδόῳ οὐρανῷ, καὶ ταύτην ἀπὸ τοῦ πατρὸς προβεβλήσθαι φασιν· μητέρα δὲ αὐτὴν εἶναι οἱ μὲν τοῦ Ἰαλδαβαώθ λέγουσιν, οἱ δὲ τοῦ Σαβαώθ.

25.2.2 | For some of them praise a certain Barbelo, which they say is above in the eighth heaven, and they say she was sent forth from the father; but some say she is the mother of Ialdabaoth, and others say she is the mother of Sabaoth.

25.2.3 | τὸν δὲ υἱὸν ταύτης κεκρατηκέναι τοῦ ἐβδόμου οὐρανοῦ ἐν θράσει τινὶ καὶ ἐν τυραννίδι, λέγειν δὲ τοῖς ὑποκάτω ὅτι »ἐγὼ εἰμι, φησὶν, ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ μετὰ ταῦτα, καὶ πλὴν ἐμοῦ οὐκ ἔστιν ἕτερος θεός«.

25.2.3 | But the son of her has taken power over the seventh heaven with some boldness and tyranny, and he says to those below, 'I am,' he says, 'the first and the one after, and besides me there is no other god.'

25.2.4 | τὴν δὲ Βαρβηλῶ ἀκηκοέναι τὸν λόγον τοῦτον καὶ κλαῦσαι. ταύτην δὲ αἰεὶ φαίνεσθαι τοῖς ἄρχουσιν ἐν εὐμορφίᾳ τινὶ καὶ ἀποσυλᾶν τὸ ἐξ αὐτῶν σπέρμα δι' ἡδονῆς καὶ ἐκχύσεως, ἵνα δῆθεν τὴν αὐτῆς δύναμιν τὴν εἰς διαφόρους σπαρεῖσαν αὐτῆς πάλιν ἀνακομίσῃ.

25.2.4 | Barbelo heard this word and cried. She always appears to the rulers in some beauty and steals away their seed through pleasure and spilling, so that she might seem to bring back her power, which she scattered in many ways.

25.2.5 | καὶ οὕτως ἐκ τοιαύτης ὑποθέσεως τὸ τῆς αὐτοῦ αἰσχρολογίας μυστήριον τῷ κόσμῳ ὑπεισήνεγκε. καὶ τινες ὥς ἔφην τῶν προειρημένων διὰ πολλῆς κακομηχανίας ἃ μὴ θέμις λέγειν πως ἐν πολυμιξίᾳ γυναικῶν καὶ ἐν αἰσχροποιαῖς ἀνηκέστοις ἀναστρέφεσθαι ἐδίδαξαν, ὥς καὶ που ὁ ἁγιώτατος ἀπόστολός φησι »τὰ γὰρ κρυφῇ

25.2.5 | And so, from such a story, he brought the secret of his shameful talk into the world. And some, as I said before, through much trickery, taught things that are not right to say, about mixing many women and in shameful acts that cannot be healed, just as the most holy apostle says, 'For the secret things done by them are γινόμενα ὑπ' αὐτῶν αἰσχρόν ἐστι καὶ λέγειν».

shameful even to speak about.'

Section 3

25.3.1 | 3. τῷ δὲ βουλομένῳ ἰδεῖν τὴν ἀντίθετον ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου περὶ τῆς τούτου αἰρέσεως ἀνατροπὴν ἵστέον ἐστὶν ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ ἁγίου Ἰωάννου ἀποκαλύψεως, ὡς γράφων μᾶ τῶν ἐκκλησιῶν ἐκ προσώπου κυρίου τουτέστιν τῷ ἐπισκόπῳ τῷ ἐκεῖσε κατασταθέντι σὺν τῇ δυνάμει τοῦ ἁγίου ἀγγέλου τοῦ ἐπὶ τοῦ θυσιαστηρίου φησὶν »ἔχεις δέ τι καλόν, ὅτι μισεῖς τὰ ἔργα τῶν Νικολαϊτῶν ἃ καγὼ μισῶ«.

25.3.1 | 3. But whoever wants to see the opposite, from the holy spirit about the overthrow of this heresy, must know it from the revelation of holy John, as one of the churches writes openly to the lord, that is, to the bishop who was placed there with the power of the holy angel at the altar, saying, 'You have something good, because you hate the works of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.'

25.3.2 | Προϋνίκον δὲ ἄλλοι τιμῶντές τινα, ὡς καὶ οὗτοι μυθωδῶς πάλιν εἰς ταύτην τὴν ὑπόνοιαν τῆς αἰσχρουργίας τὰ ἑαυτῶν πάθη ἐπιτελοῦντές φασι· τῆς Προυνίκου τὴν δύναμιν συλλέγομεν ἀπὸ τῶν σωμάτων, διὰ τε τῶν ῥευστῶν, φημὶ δὲ γονῆς καὶ καταμηνίων *.

25.3.2 | Others honor Prunikos, saying that they too, in stories, return to this idea of shameful acts, carrying out their own passions. We gather the power of Prunikos from the bodies, through fluids, I say, of seed and monthly flows.*

25.3.3 | περὶ ὧν ὀλίγῳ ὕστερον, ὅταν περὶ αὐτῶν μονομερῶς λέγειν ἐπιβαλώμεθα, κατὰ λεπτότητα ὑφηγήσομαι, οὐκ εἰς τὸ χρεᾶναι ἀκοᾶς τῶν ἀκουόντων ἢ ἐντυγχανόντων, ἀλλ' εἰς τὸ τοῖς συνετοῖς ἀπέχθειαν μᾶλλον ἐργάσασθαι πρὸς αὐτοὺς καὶ ἀποτροπὴν τῆς τῶν κακῶν ἐργασίας, οὐ συκοφαντῶν τοὺς ἀλιτηρίους, ἀλλὰ κατ' ἀλήθειαν τὰ παρ' αὐτῶν γινόμενα εἰς τούμφανές θριαμβεύων.

25.3.3 | About these things, a little later, when we try to speak about them one-sidedly, I will explain carefully, not to please the ears of those listening or present, but to work more for the disgust of the wise toward them and to turn them away from doing evil, not slandering the wicked, but truly showing clearly what comes from them as a victory.

25.3.4 | ἕτεροι δὲ τὸν προειρημένον Ἰαλδαβαὼθ δοξάζουσι, φάσκοντες αὐτὸν

25.3.4 | Others praise the mentioned Ialdabaoth, saying he is the first son, as I εἶναι πρῶτον υἱὸν ὡς ἔφην τῆς Βαβυλῶ· καὶ διὰ τοῦτο φησιν δεῖν ἅγειν αὐτῷ τὴν τιμὴν, ὅτι πολλὰ ἀπεκάλυψεν.

said, of Babylon; and for this reason, they say he must be honored, because he revealed many things.

25.3.5 | ὅθεν καὶ βιβλία τινὰ ἐξ ὀνόματος τοῦ Ἰαλδαβαῶθ ποιητεύονται, ἐκτυποῦντες καὶ ὀνομασίας μυρίας βαρβαρικὰς ἀρχόντων, <ὡς> φασιν, καὶ ἐξουσιῶν καθ' ἕκαστον οὐρανὸν τῇ τῶν ἀνθρώπων ψυχῇ. καὶ πολλὴ ἀπλῶς ἢ διὰ τῆς πλάνης αὐτῶν γινομένη τῷ γένει τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἐπιβουλή.

25.3.5 | That is why some books are made from the name of Ialdabaoth, printing many barbaric names of rulers, they say, and powers for each heaven over the soul of humans. And much simply the harm done to the human race comes through their deception.

25.3.6 | ἄλλοι δὲ τὸν Καυλακαῦ ὡσαύτως δοξάζουσιν, ἄρχοντά τινα τοῦτον οὕτως καλοῦντες, φαντασιάζειν φιλοτιμούμενοι τοὺς ἀπείρους διὰ τῆς τῶν ὀνομάτων ἐκπλήξεως καὶ ἐπιπλάστου τῆς τοῦ ὀνόματος βαρβαρωνυμίας. τοῖς δὲ ἐμπείροις καὶ ἐκ θεοῦ λαβοῦσι περὶ ἐκάστης ὀνομασίας καὶ ὑποθέσεως τῆς ἀληθινῆς τοῦ θεοῦ γνώσεως χάριν πῶς οὐκ εὐθυέλεγκτα τοῦ μύθου αὐτῶν καὶ πλάνης τὰ διδάγματα ἐχέγγυα;

25.3.6 | Others also praise Kaulakau in the same way, calling him a certain ruler, trying to fool the inexperienced by the surprise of the names and the false barbarian naming of the name. But for those experienced and who have received from god knowledge about each name and the true understanding of god, how could the teachings of their story and deception not be clearly exposed?

Section 4

25.4.1 | 4. Προυνικὸν γὰρ ἔαν εἴπωσι, τὸ ὅλον ἐστὶν ἡδυπαθείας καὶ ἀκрасίας ἐξέρευξις. πᾶν γὰρ τὸ προυνικευόμενον λαγνείας ὑποφαίνει τὸ ἐπώνυμον, φθορᾶς δὲ τὸ ἐπιχείρημα.

25.4.1 | 4. For if they say “prounikon,” the whole thing is a letting out of pleasure and mixing. For everything called “prounikon” shows lust by its name, and the attempt shows ruin.

25.4.2 | ἐπὶ τοῖς γὰρ τὰ σώματα διακορεύουσιν Ἑλληνικὴ τίς ἐστὶν λέξις τό »ἐπrouνίκευσε τήνδε« ὅθεν καὶ ἐν μύθοις ἀναγράφουσιν οἱ τὰ ἐρωτικὰ συγγραψάμενοι Ἑλλήνων ἀπατεῶνες περὶ

25.4.2 | For among those who satisfy the bodies, what Greek word is “he prounikeuse this”? From this, in stories, the Greek tricksters who write about love write down saying about beauty like this: that κάλλους λέγοντες οὕτως ὅτι κάλλος προυνικόν.

beauty is prounikon.

25.4.3 | ἀλλὰ καὶ περὶ τοῦ Καυλακαῦ τίς τῶν γινωσκόντων οὐκ ἂν καταγελάσειεν, ὅτι τὰς Ἑβραϊστὶ καλῶς εἰρημέναις λέξεις ὑποσπεύροντες, ἀνατυποῦσιν εἰς τὴν τῆς αἰσχρᾶς αὐτῶν καὶ μυθώδους τέχνης ὑποσποράν;

25.4.3 | But also about Kaulakau, who among those who know would not laugh, that the words well said in Hebrew and well explained in Greek, and still now read among the Hebrews, being clear and having nothing crooked, they themselves turn into idolatry and into shapes and into real beginnings and, so to speak, statue-making, offering deception to the simple through imagination, they print again into the sowing of their shameful and mythical art?

25.4.4 | καυλακαῦ γὰρ ἐν τῷ Ἡσαΐα γέγραπται, λέξεις τις οὔσα ἐν τῇ δωδεκάτῃ ὁράσει, ἔνθα λέγει »θλίψιν ἐπὶ θλίψιν, ἐλπίδα ἐπ' ἐλπίδι, ἔτι μικρὸν ἔτι μικρὸν προσδέχου«

25.4.4 | For Kaulakau is written in Isaiah, a certain word in the twelfth vision, where it says, “Trouble upon trouble, hope upon hope, still a little, still a little, wait.”

25.4.5 | ὡς καὶ αὐτὰ τὰ Ἑβραϊκὰ ῥήματα τελειότατα ἐνταῦθα παραθήσομαι αὐταῖς λέξεσιν ὥς ἐστι γεγραμμένα· μένα· τὸ γὰρ σαυλασαῦ σαυλασαῦ ἐρμηνεύεται θλίψις ἐπὶ θλίψιν, καυλακαῦ καυλακαῦ ἐλπίς ἐπ' ἐλπίδι, ζηρησάμ ζηρησάμ ἔτι μικρὸν ἔτι μικρὸν προσδέχου. ποῦ οὖν ἡ τούτων μυθολογία;

25.4.5 | Just as I will also put here the very complete Hebrew words with these words as they are written: ‘mena’: for ‘saulasaû saulasaû’ means ‘trouble upon trouble,’ ‘kaulakau kaulakau’ means ‘hope upon hope,’ ‘ziërsam ziërsam’ means ‘still a little, still a little, wait.’ So where is the story of these?

25.4.6 | ποῦ ἡ κίσσησις τῆς φαντασιολογίας; πόθεν τῷ κόσμῳ τὰ ζιζάνια; τίς ὁ ἀναγκάσας εἰς ἑαυτοὺς ἐπισπάσασθαι ὄλεθρον τοὺς ἀνθρώπους;

25.4.6 | Where is the twisting of imagination? Where do the weeds come from in the world? Who forced people to bring destruction upon themselves?

25.4.7 | εἰ μὲν γὰρ γινώσκοντες μετεποίησαν τὰς ὀνομασίας εἰς φαντασίαν, ἀπωλείας ἑαυτοῖς προφανῶς αἵτιοι γεγόνασιν· εἰ δὲ ἀγνοοῦντες ἅ μὴ ᾔδεισαν ἔφασαν, οὐδὲν αὐτῶν ἀθλιώτερον. μωρὰ γὰρ ταῦτα ὡς Μῶς, <ὡς>

25.4.7 | For if, knowing, they changed the names into fancy ideas, they clearly became the cause of their own ruin; but if, not knowing, they said what they did not understand, nothing is worse for them. For these things are foolish, as Moses, as...

25.4.8 | παντὶ τῷ σύνεσιν ἐν θεῷ κεκτημένῳ ἔνεστιν ἰδεῖν. ἡδυπαθείας γὰρ χάριν ἑαυτοῦς τε καὶ τοὺς πειθομένους ἀπώλεσαν καὶ ἀπολλύουσιν.

25.4.8 | To every mind that has understanding in god, it is possible to see.
For the sake of pleasure, they destroyed themselves and those who obey them, and they are destroying them.

25.4.9 | πνεῦμα γὰρ ἐστὶ πλάνης, ὥσπερ φύσημα ἐν αὐλῷ διαφόροις κινήσεσιν ἕκαστον τῶν ἀφρόνων κινεῖν κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας. καὶ γὰρ καὶ αὐτὸς ὁ αὐλὸς μίμημά ἐστι τοῦ δράκοντος, δι' οὗ ἐλάλησεν ὁ πονηρὸς καὶ ἠπάτησε τὴν Εὐάν.

25.4.9 | For the spirit is one of wandering, like a breath in a pipe with different movements, each one of the foolish moves against the truth. And indeed the pipe itself is a copy of the serpent, through which the evil one spoke and tricked Eve.

25.4.10 | ἀπὸ τοῦ τύπου γὰρ ἐκείνου κατὰ μίμησιν ὁ αὐλὸς τοῖς ἀνθρώποις εἰς ἀπάτην κατεσκευάσθη. καὶ ὄρα τὸν τύπον ὃν αὐτὸς ὁ αὐλῶν ἐν τῷ αὐλῷ ποιεῖται. αὐλῶν γὰρ ἄνω ἀνανεύει καὶ κάτω κατανεύει. δεξιὰ τε κλίνει καὶ εὐώνυμα ὁμοίως ἐκείνῳ.

25.4.10 | For from that pattern, by imitation, the pipe was made for people to deceive. And look at the pattern that the pipe player himself makes in the pipe. For he nods up and shakes down. He also leans to the right and to the left, just like that one.

25.4.11 | τούτοις γὰρ καὶ ὁ διάβολος τοῖς σχήμασι κέχρηται, ἵνα κατὰ τῶν ἐπουρανίων ἐνδείξηται τὴν βλασφημίαν καὶ τὰ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς ἀφανισμῷ ἀφανίσῃ καὶ ὁμοῦ συμπεριλάβῃ τὴν οἰκουμένην, δεξιὰ τε καὶ εὐώνυμα λυμαινόμενος τοὺς τῇ πλάνῃ πειθομένους τε καὶ θελγομένους ὥσπερ διὰ μουσικοῦ ὀργάνου ταῖς φωναῖς

25.4.11 | For the devil also used these shapes, so that against the heavenly things he might show blasphemy and destroy the things on earth by destruction, and at the same time take along the whole world, harming those who obey and are charmed by deception, just like through a musical instrument with the shaped sounds.

ταῖς πεπλασμέναις.

Section 5

25.5.1 | 5. Ἄλλοι δέ τινες ἐξ αὐτῶν καὶνὰ τινα ὀνόματα ἀναπλάττουσι, λέγοντες ὅτι σκότος ἦν καὶ βυθὸς καὶ ὕδωρ, τὸ δὲ πνεῦμα ἀνὰ μέσον τούτων διορισμὸν ἐποιήσατο αὐτῶν· τὸ δὲ σκότος ἦν χαλεπαῖνόν τε καὶ ἐγκοτοῦν τῷ πνεύματι, ὅπερ σκότος ἀναδραμὸν περιεπλάκη τῷ πνεύματι καὶ ἐγέννησε, φησὶν, τινὰ Μήτηρα καλουμένην, ἣτις γεννηθεῖσα ἐνεκίσθησεν ἐν αὐτῷ τῷ πνεύματι.

25.5.2 | ἐκ δὲ τῆς Μήτρας προεβλήθησάν τινες τέσσαρες αἰῶνες, ἐκ δὲ τῶν τεσσάρων αἰώνων ἄλλοι δεκατέσσαρες, καὶ γέγονε δεξιά τε καὶ ἀριστερά, φῶς καὶ σκότος.

25.5.3 | ὕστερον δὲ μετὰ πάντας τούτους προεβλήσθαι τινα αἰσχρὸν αἰῶνα, μεμίχθαι δὲ τοῦτον τῇ Μήτρᾳ τῇ ἄνω προδεδηλωμένη καὶ ἐκ τούτου τοῦ αἰῶνος τοῦ αἰσχροῦ καὶ τῆς Μήτρας γεγενῆσθαι θεοὺς τε καὶ ἀγγέλους καὶ δαίμονας καὶ ἑπτὰ πνεύματα.

25.5.4 | φωρατὴ δὲ τούτων ἡ τῆς πλάνης μιμολογία. ἀπ' ἀρχῆς γὰρ ἓνα πατέρα λέγοντες καὶ ὀριζόμενοι ὕστερον πολλοὺς θεοὺς ὑπέφηναν, εἰς τὸ δεῖξαι αὐτὴν τὴν πλάνην καθ' ἑαυτῆς τὰ ὑπ' αὐτῆς ψευδῆ λεγόμενα ὀπλίζειν ἑαυτὴν δὲ λύειν, τῆς ἀληθείας ἀεὶ * ἐκ παντὸς μέρους εὐρισκομένης.

25.5.1 | Others again from them invent some names, saying that there was darkness and abyss and water, and the spirit made a separation among these; and the darkness was harsh and angry with the spirit, which, running back, surrounded the spirit and gave birth, he says, to someone called Mother, who, having been born, pierced the spirit itself.

25.5.2 | From the Mother, some four ages were thrown forth, and from the four ages, others fourteen, and there came to be right and left, light and darkness.

25.5.3 | Later, after all these, there was thrown forth a shameful age, mixed with the Mother who was shown above, and from this shameful age and the Mother came gods and angels and demons and seven spirits.

25.5.4 | The proof of these is the mimicry of deception. For from the beginning, saying there was one father and later defining many gods, they showed this deception, to show itself armed with the lies said under it, and to unbind itself, always found from every part of the truth.

Section 6

25.6.1 | 6. Τί τοίνυν εἶπω πρὸς σέ, ὦ Νικόλαε; τί διαλεχθήσομαι; πόθεν, ὦ οὗτος, ἦκεις φέρων ἡμῖν αἰσχρὸν αἰῶνα καὶ ῥίζαν πονηρίας καὶ Μήτηραν γεννητικὴν καὶ πολλοὺς θεοὺς καὶ δαίμονας;

25.6.1 | 6. What then shall i say to you, o Nikolaos? What shall i discuss? From where, o stranger, do you come bringing us a shameful age and the root of evil and the mother who gives birth and many gods and demons?

25.6.2 | ὁ γὰρ ἀπόστολος φήσας »εἴπερ εἰσὶ λεγόμενοι θεοί« οὐκ εἶναι τούτους ὑποφαίνει. ἐν τῷ γὰρ εἶπεῖν »λεγόμενοις« ἔδειξεν αὐτοὺς ἐν τῷ λέγεσθαι μόνον εἶναι, μὴ ὄντας τῇ ὑποστάσει ἀλλὰ διὰ τῆς τινῶν ὑπολήψεως.

25.6.2 | For the apostle, saying “if there are so-called gods,” shows that they are not really gods. For in saying “so-called,” he pointed out that they exist only in name, not in their true being, but because of some misunderstanding.

25.6.3 | »ἡμῖν δέ«, φησὶν, »εἷς θεός«, δηλονότι τοῖς τὴν γνῶσιν τῆς ἀληθείας ἐπισταμένοις. καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν λεγόμενον θεόν, ἀλλὰ ὄντα θεόν· εἰ δὲ ἡμῖν εἷς θεός, οὐκέτι πολλοὶ θεοί.

25.6.3 | “But for us,” he says, “there is one god,” clearly for those who know the truth. And he did not say a so-called god, but a true god; if for us there is one god, then there are no longer many gods.

25.6.4 | καὶ ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ φησὶν »ἵνα γινώσκωσί σε τὸν μόνον ἀληθινὸν θεόν«, ἵνα ἀνατρέψῃ τὴν διάνοιαν τῶν τὰ μυθώδη λεγόντων καὶ νομιζόντων εἶναι πολυθεΐαν· εἷς γὰρ ἡμῶν ἐστὶν ὁ θεός, πατὴρ καὶ υἱὸς καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα, τρεῖς ὑποστάσεις μία κυριότης μία θεότης μία δοξολογία, καὶ οὐ πολλοὶ θεοί.

25.6.4 | And the lord says in the gospel, “so that they may know you, the only true god,” to overturn the minds of those who say myths and think there are many gods; for there is one god for us, the father and the son and the holy spirit, three persons, one lordship, one godhood, one praise, and not many gods.

25.6.5 | ποῦ δὲ πληροῦται κατὰ σέ, ὦ Νικόλαε, τὸ ὑπὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος εἰρημένον ὅτι »εἰσὶν εὐνοῦχοι οἵτινες εὐνουχίσθησαν ὑπὸ τῶν ἀνθρώπων καὶ εἰσὶν εὐνοῦχοι οἱ ἐκ γεννητῆς ἐγεννήθησαν καὶ εἰσὶν εὐνοῦχοι οἵτινες εὐνούχισαν ἑαυτοὺς διὰ

25.6.5 | But where is it fulfilled in you, o Nicolaus, what the savior said, that “there are eunuchs who were made eunuchs by men, and there are eunuchs who were born that way, and there are eunuchs who made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of τὴν βασιλείαν τῶν οὐρανῶν».

25.6.6 | εἰ τοίνυν εὐνοῦχοί εἰσι διὰ τὴν βασιλείαν τῶν οὐρανῶν, πῶς σύ γε σεαυτὸν πεπλάνηκας καὶ τοὺς σοὶ πειθομένους, διὰ λαγνείας καὶ αἰσχροποιίας τὴν ἀλήθειαν τοῦ θεοῦ ἐν ἀδικίᾳ κατέχων καὶ * διδάσκων;

25.6.6 | If then they are eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven, how have you deceived yourself and those who obey you, holding and teaching the truth of god in injustice because of lust and shameful acts?

25.6.7 | ποῦ δὲ παρὰ σοὶ πεπλήρωται τό »περὶ τῶν παρθένων ἐπιταγὴν κυρίου οὐκ ἔχω, γνώμην δὲ δίδωμι ὡς ἡλεημένος, τὸ καλὸν οὕτως εἶναι«, καὶ πάλιν »ἡ παρθένος μεριμνᾷ τὰ τοῦ κυρίου, πῶς ἀρέσῃ τῷ κυρίῳ, ἵνα ἡ ἀγία ἐν δώματι καὶ ἐν πνεύματι«.

25.6.7 | But where is it fulfilled with you the saying, “about the virgins the command of the lord: I do not have it, but I give my opinion as one who is merciful, that it is good this way,” and again, “the virgin cares for the things of the lord, how she may please the lord, to be holy in body and spirit”?

25.6.8 | καὶ πόσα ἔστι περὶ ἀγνείας καὶ ἐγκρατείας καὶ παρθενίας λέγειν; παρὰ σοῦ γὰρ ὁ πᾶς βόρβορος τῆς ἀκαθαρσίας ἀναισχύντως ὀρίζεται. ἀλλὰ ἐκ τῶν δύο ἢ τριῶν τούτων ῥητῶν, τῆς καταγελάστου αἰρέσεως πρὸς ἀνατροπὴν τοῖς ἐντυγχάνουσιν *, ὁ σκοπὸς ἐνταῦθά μοι παρακείσθω.

25.6.8 | And how much is there to say about purity and self-control and virginity? For from you all the mud of uncleanness is shamelessly shown. But from these two or three sayings, of the ridiculous heresy to overturn those who meet it, let the purpose here be laid before me.

Section 7

25.7.1 | 7. Προϊὼν δὲ καθεξῆς τὴν τούτῳ συνεζευγμένην αἵρεσιν, ὥσπερ χορτομανήσασαν ὕλην ἢ δάσος ἀκανθῶν πανταχόθεν συνηνωμένων ἢ κατεξηραμμένην ἐν ἀγρῷ πληθὺν ξύλων τε καὶ φρυγάνων εἰς κατάκαυσιν ἐτοιμαζομένην ὑποδείξω, διὰ τὸ τῇ αὐτῇ αἰρέσει τοῦ ἐλεεινοῦ Νικολάου *.

25.7.1 | 7. Going on step by step with the heresy joined to this one, I will show it like overgrown brushwood or a thorny forest all tangled up everywhere, or like a dry pile in a field ready for burning, full of sticks and brush, because of the same heresy of the miserable Nikolaos.

25.7.2 | ὥσπερ <γάρ> δι' ἐγκεντρισμοῦ ἢ ψώρας ἀγρίας ἢ λέπρας ἐξ ἐτέρων σωμάτων ἕτερα σώματα * παραφθείρεσθαι, οὕτως ἀπὸ μέρους <τούτοις> εἰσὶ συνηνωμένοι οἱ λεγόμενοι <Γνωστικοί>, αὐτοῦ Νικολάου καὶ τῶν πρὸ αὐτοῦ <Σίμωνος δέ φημι καὶ ἄλλων) λαβόντες τὰς προφάσεις, Γνωστικοὶ <μέν> καλούμενοι, δὲ τὸ πᾶν διὰ τὴν ἐν τοῖς πράγμασι τῆς ἀκαθάρτου ἐργασίας αὐτῶν μοχθηρίαν καὶ αἰσχουργίαν. ὥς ἀληθῶς γὰρ καὶ τοῦτον πρὸς ὀλίγον ἐγκρατευσάμενον, εἴτα ἀποστάντα τῆς ἐγκρατείας, δίκην ὕδρωπος τοῦ ἐρπετοῦ καλουμένου ἐξ ὑδάτων εἰς γῆν ἀνελθόντος καὶ εἰς ὕδωρ αὐθις ἀναστρέψαντος, καλάμῳ τῷ ἐν χειρὶ δοθέντι Χριστοῦ παίσαντες καὶ ὀλέσαντες ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς αἰρέσεις βαδίσωμεν.

25.7.2 | Just as, by a thorn or wild scab or leprosy, other bodies are spoiled from some bodies, so partly these so-called Gnostics are joined together, taking their reasons from Nikolaos himself and those before him (I say Simon and others). They are called Gnostics, but all because of their evil and shameful work in their deeds. For truly, even this one, after holding back for a short time, then falling away from self-control, like a dropsy of the creature called a serpent, going up from water to land and again returning to water, having struck with the reed given by the hand of Christ, lost, let us walk on to the following heresies.

Section 1

26.1.1 | Πάλιν οὗτοι οἱ Γνωστικοὶ διαφόρως ἀπὸ τούτου φυόμενοι ἡπατημένοι ἄνθρωποι, ὥσπερ ἀπὸ κοπρίας καρποί, ὥς παντὶ τῷ δῆλόν ἐστι καὶ φωρατὸν πρὸς δοκιμὴν ἀληθείας οὐ μόνον εἴποιμι πιστοῖς ἀλλὰ τάχα καὶ ἀπίστοις, ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ ἐβλάστησαν· τὸ γὰρ Μήτραν καὶ αἰσχρότητα λέγειν καὶ τὰ ἄλλα πῶς οὐχὶ καταγέλαστα φανείη πᾶσιν ἀνθρώποις, » Ἕλλησὶ τε καὶ βαρβάροις, σοφοῖς τε καὶ ἀνοήτοις«;

26.1.1 | Again, these Gnostics, growing differently from this one, are deceived people, like fruits from dung, as is clear and obvious to everyone for testing the truth, not only I would say to believers but maybe also to unbelievers, they sprang up in the world; for how would it not be ridiculous to all people, both Greeks and barbarians, wise and foolish, to call the Matrix and shamefulfulness and the rest?

26.1.2 | πολλὴ δὲ συμφορὰ καὶ μεγίστη ὥς

26.1.2 | Great misfortune and very great εἰπεῖν ταλαιπωρία, τοὺς ἐν καταγνώσει καὶ ἐν πλάνῃ ἐπισειεσθαι ἡμῖν τῶν αἰρέσεων ἀρχηγούς καὶ ἐπανίστασθαι ὥσπερ κνωδάλων πλῆθος, ὀχλήσεις τε καὶ δυσοδμίας κνισμούς τε καὶ ἐπεντριβὰς ἡμῖν ἐμποιοῦντας διὰ τῆς τοῦ] μυθοποιοῦ πλάνης.

suffering, so to speak, to have the leaders of heresies shaking us in condemnation and error, and rising up like a swarm of gnats, causing troubles and bad smells and burning smells and rubbing on us through the myth-making deception.

26.1.3 | οὗτοι δὲ οἱ τοῦτῳ τῷ Νικολάῳ συνεζευγμένοι, πάλιν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ ὡς ἀπὸ οὐρίου ὠοῦ ὄφεως σκορπίοι ἢ ἐξ ἀσπίδων * γεγεννημένοι, τινὰ ἡμῖν παρεισφέρουσι κενοφωνίας ὀνόματα καὶ βίβλους πλάττουσι, Νωρίαν τινὰ βίβλον καλοῦντες, καὶ ἐξ ὑπονοίας Ἑλληνικῆς δεισιδαιμονίας μεταποιοῦντες τὴν παρὰ τοῖς Ἑλλήσι μυθώδη ῥαψωδίαν καὶ φαντασίαν οὕτω τὸ ψεῦδος τῇ ἀληθείᾳ παραπλέκουσι.

26.1.3 | These ones, joined with that Nikolaos, again from him like from a poisonous egg of a snake or scorpion born from shields, bring to us some empty-sounding names and make books, calling one the Norian book, and changing the Greek superstition from suspicion, the myth-telling rhapsody and fancy among the Greeks, so they weave the lie alongside the truth.

26.1.4 | ταύτην γὰρ φασιν τὴν Νωρίαν εἶναι τοῦ Νῶε γυναικᾶ· καλοῦσι δὲ Νωρίαν, ὅπως τὰ Ἑλληνικῶς παρὰ τοῖς Ἑλλήσι ῥαψωδηθέντα αὐτοὶ βαρβαρικοῖς ὀνόμασι μεταποιήσαντες τοῖς ἡπατημένοις παρ' αὐτῶν φαντασίαν ἐργάσωνται, ἵνα δὴ καὶ ἐρμηνείαν ποιήσωσι τοῦ τῆς Πύρρας ὀνόματος, Νωρίαν ταύτην ὀνομάζοντες.

26.1.4 | For they say this Norian is the wife of Noah; and they call her Norian, so that by changing what was told in Greek among the Greeks into barbarian names, they may make a fancy for those deceived by them, and also make an interpretation of the name of Pyrrha, calling her Norian.

26.1.5 | ἐπειδὴ γὰρ νοῦρα ἐν τῇ Ἑβραϊδὶ πῦρ οὐ κατὰ τὴν βαθεῖαν γλῶσσάν ἐρμηνεύεται ἀλλὰ Συριακῇ διαλέκτῳ (ἡσάθ γὰρ τὸ πῦρ παρὰ Ἑβραίοις κατὰ τὴν βαθεῖαν γλῶσσαν), τούτου χάριν αὐτοῖς συμβέβηκε κατὰ ἄγνοιαν καὶ ἀπειρίαν τῷ ὀνόματι τοῦτῳ χρήσασθαι.

26.1.5 | For 'noura' in Hebrew fire is not interpreted according to the deep language but in the Syriac dialect (for fire among the Hebrews is 'hesath' according to the deep language), because of this it happened to them out of ignorance and inexperience to use this name.

26.1.6 | οὔτε γὰρ Πύρρα ἢ παρ' Ἑλλήσιν οὔτε Νωρία ἢ παρὰ τούτοις μυθευομένη, 26.1.6 | For neither Pyrrha, the one among the Greeks, nor Norian, the one told by ἀλλὰ Βαρθενὼς τῷ Νῶε γέγονε γυνή· (καὶ οἱ Ἕλληνες γὰρ φασὶ τὴν γυναῖκα Πύρραν καλεῖσθαι).

these people, but Barthenos became the wife of Noah; (for the Greeks say the woman is called Pyrrha).

26.1.7 | εἴτα τὴν αἰτίαν ὑποτίθενται οὗτοι οἱ τὰ τοῦ Φιλιστιῶνος ἡμῖν αὐθις προφερόμενοι, ὅτι πολλάκις βουλομένη μετὰ τοῦ Νῶε ἐν τῇ κιβωτῷ γενέσθαι οὐ συνεχωρεῖτο, τοῦ ἄρχοντος, φησὶν, τοῦ τὸν κόσμον κτίσαντος βουλομένου αὐτὴν ἀπολέσαι σὺν τοῖς ἄλλοις ἅπασιν ἐν τῷ κατακλυσμῷ.

26.1.7 | Then those who tell us the story of the Philistine say this as the reason: that often, when she wanted to be with Noah in the ark, she was not allowed, because the ruler, he says, who made the world wanted to destroy her along with all the others in the flood.

26.1.8 | αὐτὴν δὲ φησὶν ἐπικαθίζανειν ἐν τῇ λάρνακι καὶ ἐμπιπρᾶν αὐτήν, καὶ πρῶτον καὶ δευτέρον καὶ τρίτον· ὅθεν δὴ εἰς ἔτη πολλὰ ἐλήλακεν ἡ τῆς αὐτοῦ τοῦ Νῶε λάρνακος κατασκευὴ διὰ τὸ πολλάκις αὐτὴν ὑπ' αὐτῆς ἐμπεπῆσθαι.

26.1.8 | He says that she sits on the chest and sets it on fire, the first time and the second and the third; so the chest of Noah lasted many years because she often jumped on it.

26.1.9 | ἦν γάρ, φησὶν, ὁ Νῶε πειθόμενος τῷ ἄρχοντι, ἡ δὲ Νωρία ἀπεκάλυψε τὰς ἄνω δυνάμεις καὶ τὴν ἀπὸ τῶν δυνάμεων Βαρβηλώ, τὴν ὑπεναντίαν τῷ ἄρχοντι, ὡς καὶ αἱ ἄλλαι δυνάμεις, καὶ ὑπέφαιναν ὅτι δεῖ τὰ συληθέντα ἀπὸ τῆς ἄνωθεν Μητρὸς διὰ τοῦ ἄρχοντος τοῦ τὸν κόσμον πεποιηκότος καὶ τῶν ἄλλων τῶν σὺν αὐτῷ θεῶν τε καὶ ἀγγέλων καὶ δαιμόνων συλλέγειν ἀπὸ τῆς ἐν τοῖς σώμασι δυνάμεως, διὰ τῆς ἀπορροίας ἀρρένων τε καὶ θηλειῶν.

26.1.9 | For, he says, if Noah obeyed the ruler, then Norian revealed the powers above and Barbelo, the one opposite the ruler, like the other powers, and showed that what was taken from the Mother above must be gathered by the ruler who made the world and by the other gods, angels, and demons with him, from the power in the bodies, through the flow of males and females.

26.2.1 | 2. Καὶ ἀπλῶς περικακῶ τὴν πᾶσαν τούτων τοῦ σκοτούς πήρωσιν ὑποδεῖξαι. πολὺν γὰρ χρόνον ἀναλώσαιμι ἂν, εἰ

26.2.1 | 2. And simply I want to show the whole hardening of their darkness. For I would spend a long time if I wanted to ένταῦθα τὴν περὶ τούτων γενομένην σύνταξιν ἐθέλῃσω λεπτολογῆσαι, τὰ ἄτοπα αὐτῶν τῆς φευδωνύμου γνώσεως διδάγματα καθ' ἕκαστον ὑφηγούμενος.

explain in detail the story about these things here, guiding through each strange teaching of their false knowledge.

26.2.2 | ἄλλοι δὲ ἐξ αὐτῶν, διαφόρως πάλιν ἐπεντριβόμενοι τάς τε ὄφεις αὐτῶν κρούοντες καὶ περικρούμενοι, Βαρκαββᾶν τινα προφήτην παρεισάγουσιν, ἄξιον τοῦ αὐτοῦ ὀνόματος.

26.2.2 | Others among them, rubbing against their snakes in different ways, hitting and being hit, bring in a certain prophet named Barkabban, worthy of the same name.

26.2.3 | καββᾶ γὰρ ἐρμηνεύεται πορνεία κατὰ τὴν Συριακὴν διάλεκτον, φονοκτονία δὲ κατὰ τὴν Ἑβραϊκὴν, καὶ πάλιν ἐρμηνεύεται τετάρτη μοῖρα τοῦ μέτρου· χλεύης δὲ καὶ γέλωτος τὸ τοιοῦτον, μᾶλλον δὲ σχετλιασμοῦ ἄξιον παρὰ τοῖς τὸ ὄνομα τοῦτο ἐπισταμένοις κατὰ τὰς ἰδίαις γλώσσας.

26.2.3 | For 'kabba' is explained as 'prostitution' in the Syriac dialect, and as 'murder' in the Hebrew; and again it is explained as the fourth part of a measure; but such a thing is worthy of mockery and laughter, and even more of cruelty, by those who know this name in their own languages.

26.2.4 | φέρουσι δὲ ἡμῖν ἐκ τούτου τοῦ θαυμασιωτάτου προφήτου διήγησιν αἰσχράν, ὅπως φθοριμαίοις σώμασι πλησιάσαι πεισθῶμεν καὶ τῆς ἄνωθεν ἐλπίδος ἐκπέσωμεν, οὐκ αἰσχυνόμενοι αὐτοῖς τοῖς ῥήμασι τὰ τῆς πορνείας διηγῆσθαι πάλιν ἐρωτικὰ τῆς Κύπριδος ποιητεύματα.

26.2.4 | They tell us a shameful story about this most wonderful prophet, so that we might be persuaded to come near corrupt bodies and fall away from hope above, not feeling shame to speak again about the sexual acts of the goddess of Cyprus in their words.

26.2.5 | ἄλλοι δὲ ἐξ αὐτῶν πάλιν ἐπίπλαστον εἰσάγουσιν ἀγώγιμόν τι ποίημα, ὡς ποιητεύματι ἐπέθεντο ὄνομα, εὐαγγέλιον τελειώσεως τοῦτο φάσκοντες. καὶ ἀληθῶς οὐκ εὐαγγέλιον τοῦτο, ἀλλὰ πένθος τῆς τελειώσεως. πᾶσα γὰρ ἡ τοῦ θανάτου τελείωσις ἐν τῇ τοιαύτῃ ὑποσπορᾷ τοῦ διαβόλου ἐμφέρεται.

26.2.5 | Others among them again bring in a made-up song for a procession, and they gave this poem a name, saying it was a good news of completion. And truly, this is not good news, but sorrow for the completion. For every completion of death is brought in such a sowing of the devil.

26.2.6 | ἄλλοι δὲ οὐκ αἰσχύνονται λέγοντες εὐαγγέλιον Εὔας. εἰς ὄνομα γὰρ αὐτῆς, δῆθεν ὡς εὐρούσης τὸ βρῶμα τῆς γνώσεως ἐξ ἀποκαλύψεως τοῦ λαλήσαντος αὐτῇ ὄφως, * σπορὰν ὑποτίθενται. καὶ ὥσπερ ἐν ἀστάτῳ γμῶμῃ μεθύοντος καὶ παραλαλοῦντος οὐκ ἴσα εἶη τὰ ῥήματα. ἀλλὰ τὰ μὲν γέλῳτι πεποιημένα ἕτερα δὲ κλαυθοῦ 5 ἔμπλεα, οὕτως ἡ τῶν ἀπατεώνων γέγονε κατὰ πάντα τρόπον τῆς κακίας ὑποσπορά.

26.2.6 | Others are not ashamed to say the good news of Eve. For in her name, as if she found the food of knowledge from the revelation of the serpent who spoke to her, they put forward a seed. And just like in a restless drunken talk, the words are not equal. But some are made with laughter, and others full of weeping; so the sowing of evil has become in every way the sowing of wickedness.

Section 3

26.3.1 | 3. Ὅρμῳνται δὲ ἀπὸ μωρῶν ὀπτασιῶν καὶ μαρτυριῶν ἐν ᾧ εὐαγγελίῳ ἐπαγγέλλονται. φάσκουσι γὰρ οὕτως ὅτι »ἔστην ἐπὶ ὄρους ὑψηλοῦ καὶ εἶδον ἄνθρωπον μακρὸν καὶ ἄλλον κολοβόν, καὶ ἤκουσα ὥσει φωνὴν βροντῆς καὶ ἤγγισα τοῦ ἀκοῦσαι καὶ ἐλάλησε πρὸς με καὶ εἶπεν· ἐγὼ σὺ καὶ σὺ ἐγώ, καὶ ὅπου ἐὰν ᾦς, ἐγὼ ἐκεῖ εἰμι, καὶ ἐν ἅπασιν εἰμι ἐσπρμένος. καὶ ὅθεν ἐὰν θέλῃς, συλλέγεις με. ἐμὲ δὲ συλλέγων ἑαυτὸν συλλέγεις«. καὶ ὧ τῆς τοῦ διαβόλου ὑποσποράς.

26.3.1 | They start from foolish visions and testimonies in which they promise good news. For they say this: “I stood on a high mountain and saw a tall man and another short one, and I heard a voice like thunder and came close to hear, and he spoke to me and said: ‘I am you and you are me, and wherever you are, I am there, and I am in all things mixed together. And wherever you want, you gather me. By gathering me, you gather yourself.’” Oh, the sowing of the devil!

26.3.2 | πόθεν τὸν νοῦν ἐξέτρεψε τῆς ἀνθρωπότητος καὶ εἰς μωρὰ καὶ ἀσύστατα περιέσπασεν ἀπὸ τοῦ λόγου τῆς ἀληθείας; οὐκ ἔστι γὰρ σχεδὸν τῷ νοῦν ἔχοντι χρεῖα ἀπὸ γραφῆς ἢ ἀπὸ παραδειγμάτων ἢ ἐτέρου τινὸς πράγματος ποιεῖσθαι τούτων τὴν ἀνατροπὴν. τῷ γὰρ ὀρθῷ λογισμῷ εὐδηλὸς αὐτῶν καὶ φωρατὴ ἡ τῆς μωρολογίας δραματουργία καὶ μοιχῶν ἐργασία.

26.3.2 | From where did he turn his mind away from humanity and twist it into foolish and senseless things, away from the words of truth? For almost no one with sense needs to make a change in these things from scripture or examples or any other matter. For to right reasoning, the making of foolish talk and the work of traitors is clear and obvious.

26.3.3 | ταῦτά τοι καὶ τὰ τοιαῦτα εἰσηγούμενοι οἱ ἀμφὶ τὴν γνῶσιν συνεζευγμένοι τῇ τοῦ Νικολάου αἰρέσει τῆς ἀληθείας ἐκπεπτωकाσιν, οὐ μόνον τὸν νοῦν τῶν πεισθέντων αὐτοῖς ἐκτρέψαντες, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὰ σώματα καὶ τὰς ψυχὰς δουλώσαντες πορνείᾳ καὶ πολυμιξίᾳ· αὐτὴν δῆθεν τὴν σύναξιν αὐτῶν ἐν αἰσχύρῳ πολυμιξίας φύροντες, ἔσθοντές τε καὶ παραπτόμενοι καὶ ἀνθρωπίνων σαρκῶν καὶ ἀκαθαρσιῶν.

26.3.3 | These things and such others, bringing them in, those joined to the knowledge around the heresy of Nicolaus have fallen away from the truth, not only turning the mind of those persuaded by them, but also enslaving bodies and souls to prostitution and many marriages; indeed, they spread their gathering in shameful many marriages, eating and sinning in human flesh and uncleanness.

26.3.4 | ὣν οὐ τολμήσω τὸ πᾶν ἐξεπεῖν, εἰ μή τι ἀναγκασθεῖν διὰ τὴν ὑπερβολὴν τῆς ἐν ἐμοὶ ἀλγούσης διανοίας περὶ τῶν ματαίως ὑπ' αὐτῶν γινομένων, ἐκπληττόμενος εἰς οἷον ὄγκον καὶ κακῶν βυθὸν ὃ ἔχθρὸς τῶν ἀνθρώπων διάβολος ἄγει τοὺς αὐτῷ πειθόμενους, ὥστε μιᾶναι καὶ νοῦν καὶ καρδίαν καὶ χεῖρας καὶ στόματα καὶ σώματα καὶ ψυχὰς τούτων τῶν ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἐν τῇ τοσαύτῃ σκοτώσει παγιδευθέντων.

26.3.4 | I do not dare to say it all, unless I am forced by the pain in my mind about the useless things done by them, shocked at the great weight and depth of evils, the enemy of humans, the devil, leads those who obey him, so that the mind and heart and hands and mouths and bodies and souls of those caught in such great darkness by him are stained.

26.3.5 | δέδια δὲ μή πη ἄρα τὸν μέγαν τοῦτον ὄλον ἰὸν ἀποκαλύψαιμι, ὥσπερ βασιλίσκου τινὸς ὄφρεως τὸ πρόσωπον, εἰς λύμην μᾶλλον τῶν ἐντυγχανόντων ἢ περ εἰς διόρθωσιν. χραίνει μὲν γὰρ τὰ ὥτα ἀληθῶς ἢ τῆς μεγάλης τόλμης βλάσφημος συναγωγὴ καὶ τῆς αἰσχύρητος αὐτῆς συλλογὴ τε καὶ διήγησις καὶ ἡ τῆς ἀγυρτώδους αἰσχουργίας βορβορώδης κακόννοια,

26.3.5 | But I fear I should not reveal this great poison at all, like the face of a deadly snake, causing sorrow more to those who hear it than correction. For truly the blasphemous gathering of great boldness and its shameful collection and telling, and the filthy evil mind of this shameful trickery, touch the ears.

26.3.6 | ὥς καὶ παρά τισι φύσει Βορβοριανοὶ καλοῦνται, ἕτεροι δὲ Κοδδιανοὺς αὐτοὺς ἐπιφημίζουσι (κοδδὰ γὰρ λέγεται κατὰ τὴν Συριακὴν διάλεκτον

26.3.6 | For some by nature are called Borborians, and others call them Koddianoi (for 'kodda' means a small dish in the Syriac dialect), because no one can eat with ἢ τρυβλίον), ἀπὸ τοῦ μὴ δύνασθαί τινας μετ' αὐτῶν ἐσθίειν, κατ' ἰδίαν δὲ τοῖς μεμιασμένοις δίδοσθαι τὰ βρώματα καὶ μή τινα δύνασθαι σὺν αὐτοῖς διὰ τὸν μολυσμὸν καὶ ἄρτον συνεσθίειν· them, and especially those who are unclean are given the food, and no one can eat bread with them because of the pollution.

26.3.7 | διὰ τοι τοῦτο ἀφωρισμένους τούτους ἡγούμενοι οἱ συμμέτοικοι Κοδδιανούς ἐπωνόμασαν. οἱ αὐτοὶ δὲ ἐν Αἰγύπτῳ Στρατιωτικοὶ καλοῦνται καὶ Φιβιονῖται, ὡς ἄνω μοι ἐν μέρει λέλεκται· τινὲς δὲ αὐτοὺς Ζακχαίους καλοῦσιν, ἄλλοι δὲ Βαρβηλίτας.

26.3.7 | Because of this, their neighbors called those separated people Koddianoī. They themselves in Egypt are called Stratiotikai and Phibionitai, as I have said above in part. Some call them Zachaious, others Barbēlitas.

26.3.8 | ὅμως οὐδὲ παρελθεῖν δυνήσομαι, ἀλλὰ ἀναγκάζομαι ἐξειπεῖν. ἐπειδὴ <γάρ> καὶ ὁ ἅγιος Μωυσῆς πνεύματος ἁγίου ἐμφορούμενος γράφει ὅτι »ἐάν τις ἴδῃ φόνον καὶ μὴ ἀναγγείλῃ, ἐπικατάρατος ὁ τοιοῦτος εἶη«, οὐ δύναμαι τοῦτον τὸν μέγαν φόνον καὶ τὴν μεγάλην ταύτην φονώδη ἐργασίαν παρελθεῖν καὶ οὐχὶ δηλῶν δηλῶσαι.

26.3.8 | Still, I will not be able to pass over it, but I am forced to speak out. For even holy Moses, filled with the holy spirit, writes that "if anyone sees murder and does not report it, such a one is cursed." I cannot pass over this great murder and this great murderous deed without clearly showing it.

26.3.9 | δηλώσας γὰρ τάχα τοῖς συνετοῖς τὸ πτώμα τοῦτο. ὥσπερ τὸ »φρέαρ τῆς ἀπωλείας, φόβον καὶ φριξίν ἐμπούησω εἰς τὸ μὴ μόνον ἀποδρᾶναι τοὺς συνετοὺς, ἀλλὰ καὶ καταλιθᾶσαι τὸν ἐν τῷ βαράθρῳ τοῦτον σκολιὸν ὄφιν καὶ βασιλίσκον εἰς τὸ μηδὲ πλησιάσαι τινὰ τολμᾶν. καὶ ταῦτα μὲν ἤδη περὶ αὐτῶν εἰρημένα ὀλίγα τινὰ ὄντα ἐν μέρει τετάχθω.

26.3.9 | For having shown this corpse to the wise, just like the "well of destruction," I will put fear and shivering into them, so that not only the wise will run away, but also will stone this crooked snake and basilisk in the pit, so that no one dares to come near. And these things already said about them, since there are a few, let them be arranged in part.

26.4.1 | 4. Παρελεύσομαι δὲ εἰς τὸν οἶκον τοῦ βυθοῦ τῆς θανατώδους αὐτῶν

26.4.1 | 4. I will pass on to the house at the bottom of their deadly story (for among διηγέσεως (διάφορος γὰρ παρ' αὐτοῖς ἡ τῆς ἡδονῆς κακοδιδασκαλία), ὅτι πρῶτον μὲν κοινὰς τὰς ἑαυτῶν γυναῖκας ἔχουσι.

them the teaching of pleasure is different), that first of all they share their own wives.

26.4.2 | καὶ εἴ τις ξένος παραγένοιτο τοῦ αὐτῶν δόγματος, σημείον ἐστὶ παρ' αὐτοῖς ἀνδρῶν πρὸς γυναῖκας καὶ γυναικῶν πρὸς ἄνδρας, ἡ ἐν τῷ P 86 ἐκτείνειν τὴν χεῖρα, δῆθεν εἰς ἀσπασμόν, ὑποκάτωθεν τῆς παλάμης Ψηλάφησιν τινὰ γαργαλισμοῦ ἐμποιεῖν, διὰ τούτου ὑποφαίνοντες ὡς τῆς αὐτῶν θρησκείας ἐστὶν ὁ παραγενόμενος.

26.4.2 | And if a stranger came to their custom, it is a sign among them from men to women and from women to men, to stretch out the hand, supposedly for a greeting, but underneath the palm to give a certain tickling, showing that the one who comes is part of their religion.

26.4.3 | ἐντεῦθεν λοιπὸν ἐπιγνόντες ἀλλήλους τρέπονται εὐθύς εἰς ἐστίαν· δαψιλῇ δὲ τὰ ἐδέσματα κρεοφαγίας καὶ οἶνοποσίας παρατιθέασιν, καὶ τε πένητες εἶεν. ἐκ τούτου δὲ συμποσιάσαντες καὶ ὡς ἔπος εἰπεῖν τὰς φλέβας τοῦ κόρου ἐμπλήσαντες εὐτῶν εἰς οἶστρον τρέπονται.

26.4.3 | From there on, having recognized each other, they turn straight away to a feast; they serve plenty of meat-eating and wine-drinking dishes, even if they are poor. After drinking together, and so to speak filling the veins of their fullness, they turn into a frenzy.

26.4.4 | And the husband, stepping back, says to his own wife, 'Get up, make love with the brother.' And the men, having mixed with each other, and, truly I am ashamed to say the shameful things done among them (for according to the holy apostle what happens among them is shameful even to speak of), yet I will not be ashamed to say what they do not feel shame in doing, so that in every way I may cause shivers for those who hear the shameful acts dared by them—

26.4.5 | μετὰ γὰρ τὸ μιγῆναι πάθει πορνείας πρὸς ἐπὶ τούτοις ἀνατείνοντες τὴν ἑαυτῶν βλασφημίαν εἰς οὐρανόν

26.4.5 | For after mixing, they suffer from lust, and on top of that, lifting up their blasphemy to heaven, the woman receives δέχεται μὲν τὸ γύναιον καὶ ὁ ἀνὴρ τὴν ρύσιν τὴν ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄρρενος εἰς ἰδίας αὐτῶν χεῖρας καὶ ἴστανται εἰς οὐρανὸν ἀνανεύσαντες, ἐπὶ χεῖρας δὲ ἔχοντες τὴν ἀκαθαρσίαν καὶ εὐχονται δῆθεν, and the man the flow from the male into their own hands, and they stand up, nodding to heaven, holding their impurity in their hands and pretending to pray,

26.4.6 | οἱ μὲν Στρατιωτικοὶ καλούμενοι καὶ Γνωστικοί, τῷ πατρὶ φύσει τῶν ὅλων προσφέροντες αὐτὸ τὸ ἐπὶ ταῖς χερσί, καὶ λέγουσιν »ἀναφέρονέν σοι τοῦτο τὸ δῶρον, τὸ σῶμα τοῦ Χριστοῦ«.

26.4.6 | The ones called Soldiers and Gnostics offer to the Father of all by nature that very thing on their hands, and say, "We bring this gift to you, the body of Christ."

26.4.7 | καὶ οὕτως αὐτὸ ἐσθίουσι μεταλαμβάνοντες τὴν ἑαυτῶν αἰσχρότητα καὶ φασὶ »τοῦτό ἐστι τὸ σῶμα τοῦ Χριστοῦ καὶ τοῦτό ἐστι τὸ πάσχα, δι' ὃ πάσχει τὰ ἡμέτερα σώματα καὶ ἀναγκάζεται ὁμολογεῖν τὸ πάθος τοῦ Χριστοῦ«.

26.4.7 | And so they eat it, sharing in their own shame, and say, "This is the body of Christ, and this is the Passover, through which our bodies suffer and are forced to confess the suffering of Christ."

26.4.8 | ὡσαύτως δὲ καὶ τὸ ἀπὸ τῆς γυναικός, ὅταν γένηται αὐτὴν γενέσθαι ἐν ρύσει τοῦ αἵματος, τὸ καταμήνιον συναχθὲν ἀπ' αὐτῆς αἷμα τῆς ἀκαθαρσίας ὡσαύτως λαβόντες κοινῇ ἐσθίουσι. καὶ »τοῦτο, φασίν, ἐστὶ τὸ αἷμα τοῦ Χριστοῦ«.

26.4.8 | Just the same, also the blood from the woman, when she has her flow of blood, the monthly blood gathered from her, the blood of impurity, they take and eat together. And they say, "This is the blood of Christ."

Section 5

26.5.1 | 5. διὸ καὶ ἐν ἀποκρύφοις ἀναγινώσκοντες ὅτι »εἶδον δένδρον φέρον δώδεκα καρποὺς τοῦ ἐνιαυτοῦ καὶ εἶπέν μοι τοῦτό ἐστι τὸ ξύλον τῆς ζωῆς«, αὐτοὶ ἀλληγοροῦσιν εἰς τὴν κατὰ μῆνα γινομένην γυναικείαν ῥύσιν.

26.5.1 | Therefore, even in secret writings, when they read, "I saw a tree bearing twelve fruits of the year, and it said to me, 'This is the tree of life,'" they interpret it as the monthly flow of a woman.

26.5.2 | Μισγόμενοι δὲ μετ' ἀλλήλων τεκνοποιίαν ἀπαγορεύουσιν. οὐ γὰρ εἰς τὸ

26.5.2 | When they have sex with each other, they forbid having children. For they τεκνοποιῆσαι παρ' αὐτοῖς ἡ φθορὰ ἐσπούδασται ἀλλ' ἡδονῆς χάριν, τοῦ διαβόλου ἐμπαίζοντος τοῖς τοιούτοις καὶ καταχλευάζοντος τὸ ἐκ θεοῦ πλάσμα πεπλασμένον.

do not try to have children with them, but for pleasure's sake, the devil mocking such people and making fun of what God made.

26.5.3 | ἀλλὰ τὴν μὲν ἡδονὴν ἐπιτελοῦσιν, εἰς ἑαυτοὺς δὲ ἀπολαμβάνουσι τὰ τῆς ἀκαθαρσίας αὐτῶν σπέρματα, μὴ εἰς τεκνογονίαν καταβαλλόμενοι, ἀλλ' αὐτοὶ τὸ τῆς αἰσχρότητος ἔσθοντες.

26.5.3 | But they complete the pleasure, and they take back to themselves the seeds of their uncleanness, not pouring them out for having children, but eating the shamefulness themselves.

26.5.4 | ἐὰν δὲ καὶ προληφθῇ τις αὐτῶν ἐγκατασπεῖραι τὴν καταβολὴν τῆς κατὰ φύσιν [αὐτῶν] ἀπορροίας καὶ ἡ γυνή, τί δεινότερον τολμῶσιν οἱ τοιοῦτοι ἄκουε.

26.5.4 | But if someone even tries to stop the natural flow of their seed, and the woman too, hear what worse things such people dare.

26.5.5 | κατασπάσαντες γὰρ τὸ ἔμβρυον καιρῷ οἷω δᾶν ἐπιχειρήσωσι. λαμβάνουσιν ἐκτρωθὲν τοῦτο τὸ βρέφος καὶ ἐν ὄλμῳ τινὶ κόπτουσιν ὑπέρῳ, καὶ ἐγκαταμίξαντες μέλι καὶ πέπερι καὶ ἄλλα τινὰ ἀρώματα καὶ μύρα πρὸς τὸ μὴ ναυτιᾶν αὐτοὺς οὕτως συναχθέντες πάντες οἱ τῆς τῶν χοίρων τούτων καὶ κυνῶν * θιασῶται μεταλαμβάνουσιν ἕκαστος τῷ δακτύλῳ ἀπὸ τοῦ κατακοπέντος παιδίου.

26.5.5 | For having torn out the embryo, they try at any time they can. They take this aborted baby and cut it with some sharp tool, and mixing honey and pepper and other spices and perfumes, so they won't feel sick, all those gathered in the group of these pigs and dogs share, each one putting some on his finger from the cut-up child.

26.5.6 | καὶ οὕτως τὴν ἀνθρωποβορίαν ἀπεργασάμενοι εὐχονται λοιπὸν τῷ θεῷ, ὅτι οὐκ ἐνεπαίχθημεν, φησὶν, ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄρχοντος τῆς ἐπιθυμίας, ἀλλὰ συνελέξαμεν τὸ παράπτωμα τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ. καὶ δῆθεν τοῦτο τὸ τέλειον πάσχα ἡγοῦνται.

26.5.6 | And so, having worked out their man-eating, they pray to god from now on, saying that we were not mocked by the ruler of desire, but we gathered the sin of the brother. And they think this is the perfect passover.

26.5.7 | ἄλλα δὲ ὅσα δεινὰ αὐτοῖς

26.5.7 | But other terrible things they have τετόλμηται. ὅταν γὰρ πάλιν ἐμμανεῖς ἐν ἐαυτοῖς γένωνται, φύραντες ἐαυτῶν τὰς χεῖρας τῇ ἐαυτῶν αἰσχρότητι τῆς ἀπορροίας ἐγείρονται καὶ τὰς ἐαυτῶν μεμολυσμένας ἔχοντες χεῖρας εὐχονται γυμνοὶ ὄλῳ τῷ σώματι, ὥς διὰ τῆς τοιαύτης ἐργασίας * εὐρίσκειν πρὸς θεὸν τὴν παρρησίαν.

dared. For when they become mad again inside themselves, tearing their own hands because of their shameful flow, they wake up, and having their own polluted hands, they pray naked with their whole body, hoping that through such work they will find boldness before god.

26.5.8 | τὰ σώματα δὲ αὐτῶν νύκτωρ τε καὶ μεθ' ἡμέραν τημελοῦσι, γυναικάρια καὶ ἀνθρωπάρια, μυριζόμενοι λουόμενοι θοιναζόμενοι, κοίταις τε καὶ μέθαις σχολάζοντες. καὶ καταρῶνται τὸν νηστεύοντα, λέγοντες, οὐ δεῖ νηστεύειν· τοῦ γὰρ ἄρχοντος τούτου τοῦ ποιήσαντος τὸν αἰῶνά ἐστιν ἡ νηστεία. δεῖ δὲ τρέφεσθαι εἰς τὸ τὰ σώματα εἶναι ἐσχυρά, εἰς τὸ δυνασθαι τὸν καρπὸν ἀποδιδόναι κατὰ καιρὸν αὐτοῦ.

26.5.8 | And they take care of their bodies day and night, little women and little men, smelling, bathing, feasting, and spending time in beds and drinking. And they curse the one who fasts, saying, 'You should not fast; for fasting belongs to the ruler who made the age. Instead, you must feed yourself so that your body is strong, able to give fruit at the right time.'

Section 6

26.6.1 | 6. Χρῶνται δὲ καὶ παλαιᾷ καὶ καινῇ διαθήκῃ, ἀπαγορεύουσι δὲ τὸν λαλήσαντα ἐν τῇ παλαιᾷ διαθήκῃ. καὶ ὅταν μὲν ῥῆμα εὕρωσί τι κατ' αὐτῶν δυνάμενον ἔχειν τὸν νοῦν, φασίν, ὅτι τοῦτο ἀπὸ τοῦ πνεύματος τοῦ κοσμικοῦ λελάληται·

26.6.1 | They use both the old and the new covenant, but they forbid the one who spoke in the old covenant. And whenever they find a saying that seems to have power against them, they say that it was spoken by the spirit of the world.

26.6.2 | ἐὰν δέ τις εἰς ὁμοίωσιν τῆς αὐτῶν ἐπιθυμίας δυνηθεῖν σχηματίζεσθαι λόγος, οὐχ ὥς ἔστι τὸ ῥῆμα, ἀλλ' ὥς ἔχει ὁ αὐτῶν ἡπατημένος νοῦς, τοῦτον μετασκευάζοντες εἰς τὴν ἐαυτῶν ἐπιθυμίαν φάσκουσιν ἐκ τοῦ πνεύματος τοῦ τῆς ἀληθείας λελαλησθαι.

26.6.2 | But if anyone's word could be shaped to match their desire, not as the saying is, but as their deceived mind holds it, they change it to fit their own desire, claiming it was spoken by the spirit of truth.

26.6.3 | καὶ τοῦτό ἐστι, φησὶν, ὃ εἶπεν ὁ κύριος περὶ Ἰωάννου »τί ἐξήλθετε εἰς τὴν ἔρημον θεάσασθαι; κάλαμον ὑπὸ ἀνέμου σαλευόμενον; « ὅτι οὐκ ἦν, φησί, τέλειος ὁ Ἰωάννης· ἐνεπνέετο γὰρ ὑπὸ πολλῶν πνευμάτων κατὰ τὸν κάλαμον τὸν ἐπὶ ἐκάστῳ ἀνέμῳ κινούμενον.

26.6.3 | And this is what the lord said about John: 'What did you go out into the desert to see? A reed shaken by the wind?' because John was not perfect, he says; for he was blown by many spirits like a reed moved by every wind.

26.6.4 | καὶ ὅτε μὲν ἦρχετο τὸ πνεῦμα τοῦ ἄρχοντος, Ἰουδαϊσμόν ἐκήρυττεν· ὅτε δὲ τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον, περὶ Χριστοῦ ἐλάλει. καὶ τοῦτό ἐστι, φησὶν, ὅτι »ὁ μικρότερος ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ καὶ <καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς>«. περὶ ἡμῶν, φησὶν, εἶπεν, ὅτι ὁ ἐν ἡμῖν μικρότερος μείζων αὐτοῦ ὑπάρχει.

26.6.4 | And when the spirit of the ruler came, he preached Judaism; but when the holy spirit came, he spoke about Christ. And this is what he means when he says, 'the least in the kingdom and the things to come.' He said this about us, because the one who is least among us is greater than him.

Section 7

26.7.1 | 7. Καὶ εὐθὺς ἐπιστομίζονται οἱ τοιοῦτοι ἀπ' αὐτῆς τῆς ἀληθείας. ἐκ γὰρ τῶν συνεζευγμένων ἐκάστη λέξει ἀναφανδὸν ἡ ἀλήθεια δειχθήσεται καὶ τὸ ἐχέγγυον τῆς φράσεως ἀποδοθήσεται.

26.7.1 | And immediately such people are silenced by that very truth. For from the joined words of each phrase, the truth will clearly be shown and the guarantee of the statement will be given.

26.7.2 | For if John was dressed softly and lived in the houses of kings, the word would be correct about him and straightforward for his blame; but if he says, 'What did you go out to see? A man dressed in soft clothes?' and it was not so, then the fault should no longer be put on John for not wearing soft clothes, but on those who think John is like that and on the explanation that he was often hypocritically praised inside the houses of kings.

26.7.3 | ἐνόμιζον γὰρ οὗτοι ἐξερχόμενοι καὶ παρὰ Ἰωάννη ἐπαίνους εὐρίσκειν καὶ μακαρισμοὺς ἐπὶ τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτῶν καθ' ἑκάστην ἡμέραν γινομένοις παραπτώμασιν.

26.7.3 | For these people thought that by going out and being with John, they would find praise and blessings for the sins that happened every day under their rule.

26.7.4 | ὥς δὲ οὐχ ἡῦρου, ἀνατρεπτικῶς παρὰ τοῦ σωτῆρος πρὸς αὐτοὺς εἴρηται ὅτι »τί ἐνομίζετε εὐρίσκειν; συμπεριφερόμενον τοῖς ὑμῶν πάθεσιν ἄνθρωπον, ὥς κατὰ τοὺς μαλακὰ φοροῦντας; οὐχ οὕτως· οὐ γάρ ἐστιν Ἰωάννης κάλαμος σαλευόμενος γνώμας ἀνθρώπων, ὥς δονούμενος κάλαμος ὑπὸ ἐκάστης ἀνέμων ἐξουσίας «

26.7.4 | But since they did not find it, it is said in a turning way by the savior to them, 'What do you think you will find? A man acting along with your passions, like those who wear soft clothes? Not so; for John is not a reed shaken by the opinions of people, like a reed moved by the power of every wind.'

26.7.5 | ἐπειδὴ δὲ εἶπεν »ἐν γεννητοῖς γυναικῶν οὐκ ἔστι μείζων Ἰωάννου«, ἵνα μή τινες νομίσωσι καὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ σωτῆρος μείζονα εἶναι τὸν Ἰωάννην, ὅτι καὶ αὐτὸς ἀπὸ γυναικὸς ἐγεννήθη τῆς Μαρίας τῆς ἀειπαρθένου διὰ πνεύματος ἁγίου, ἀσφαλιζόμενος ἡμᾶς ἴφη ὅτι ὁ μικρότερος αὐτοῦ, τουτέστιν ἐν τῷ χρόνῳ τῆς ἐνσάρκου παρουσίας, μείζων αὐτοῦ ἐστιν ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ τῶν οὐρανῶν.

26.7.5 | And when he said, 'Among those born of women there is no one greater than John,' so that no one might think John is greater than the savior himself—since he too was born of a woman, Mary the ever-virgin, through the holy spirit—he assured us by saying that the one smaller than him, that is, in the time of the savior's coming in the flesh, is greater than him in the kingdom of heaven.

26.7.6 | ἐπειδὴ γὰρ μετὰ ἑξάμηνον ἐγεννήθη ὁ σωτὴρ τῆς Ἰωάννου γεννήσεως, δῆλον ὅτι *, μείζων αὐτοῦ ὢν· ἦν γὰρ αἰὶ καὶ ἔστιν. τίτι δὲ τοῦτο οὐ δῆλόν ἐστιν; ἄρα γοῦν ματαίως τὰ πάντα παρ' αὐτοῖς πεποιήτεται, ἀπὸ ἀγαθῶν εἰς φαῦλα μεταβεβλημένα.

26.7.6 | For since the savior was born six months after the birth of John, it is clear that he is greater than him; for he always was and is. To whom is this not clear? So surely they have trusted in everything in vain, changed from good things into bad.

26.8.1 | 8. Καὶ τὰ μὲν βιβλία αὐτῶν πολλά. ἐρωτήσεις γὰρ τινὰς Μαρίας ἐκτίθεται, 26.8.1 | And their books are many. For some set out questions of Mary, others put εἰς ὄνομα τε τοῦ Σήθ πολλά βιβλία ὑποτίθενται· ἀποκαλύψεις δὲ τοῦ Ἀδὰμ ἄλλα λέγουσιν, εὐαγγέλια δὲ ἕτερα εἰς ὄνομα τῶν μαθητῶν συγγράψασθαι τετολμήκασιν, αὐτὸν δὲ τὸν σωτῆρα ἡμῶν καὶ κύριον Ἰησοῦν Χριστὸν οὐκ αἰσχύνονται λέγειν ὅτι αὐτὸς ἀπεκάλυψε ταύτην τὴν αἰσχρουργίαν.

forward many books in the name of Yaldabaoth, mentioned before, and in the name of Seth. Others speak of revelations of Adam, and other gospels they have dared to write in the names of the disciples. But they are not ashamed to say that our savior and lord Jesus Christ himself revealed this disgrace.

26.8.2 | ἐν γὰρ ταῖς ἐρωτήσεσι Μαρίας καλουμέναις μεγάλαις εἰσὶ γὰρ καὶ μικραὶ αὐτοῖς πεπλασμέναι) ὑποτίθενται αὐτὸν αὐτῇ ἀποκαλύπτειν, παραλαβόντα αὐτὴν εἰς τὸ ὄρος καὶ εὐξάμενον καὶ ἐκβαλόντα ἐκ τῆς πλευρᾶς αὐτοῦ γυναῖκα καὶ ἀρξάμενον αὐτῇ ἐγκαταμίγνυσθαι, καὶ οὕτως δῆθεν τὴν ἀπόρροϊαν αὐτοῦ μεταλαβόντα δεῖξαι ὅτι »δεῖ οὕτως ποιεῖν, ἵνα ζήσωμεν«,

26.8.2 | For in the questions called those of Mary, both great and small, they claim that he reveals to her, taking her up to the mountain, praying, and casting out a woman from his side, and beginning to mix with her, and so supposedly showing that by sharing his flow, he says, 'It is necessary to do this, so that we may live.'

26.8.3 | καὶ ὡς τῆς Μαρίας ταραχθείσης καὶ πεσοῦσης χαμαὶ αὐτὸν πάλιν αὐτὴν ἐγείραντα εἶπεῖν αὐτῇ

26.8.3 | And when Mary was troubled and fell down, he raised her up again and said to her

26.8.4 | »ἵνα τί ἐδίστασας, ὀλογοῖσθε;« καὶ φασιν ὅτι τοῦτό ἐστι τὸ εἰρημένον ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ, ὅτι »εἰ τὰ ἐπίγεια εἶπον ὑμῖν καὶ οὐ πιστεύετε, τὰ ἐπουράνια πῶς πιστεύσετε;« καὶ τότε »ὅταν ἴδῃτε τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἀνερχόμενον ὅπου ἦν τὸ πρότερον«. τουτέστιν τὴν ἀπόρροϊαν μεταλαμβανομένην ὅθεν καὶ ἐξῆλθεν,

26.8.4 | 'Why did you hesitate, you who turn back?' And they say this is what is said in the gospel, that 'If I told you earthly things and you did not believe, how will you believe heavenly things?' and 'When you see the son of man going up where he was before.' That is, sharing the flow from where it also came out,

26.8.5 | καὶ τὸ εἶπεῖν »ἐὰν μὴ φάγητέ μου τὴν σάρκα καὶ πίνητέ μου τὸ αἷμα« καὶ τῶν μαθητῶν ταρασσομένων καὶ λεγόντων »τίς δύναται τοῦτο ἀκοῦσαι;« φασὶν ὡς περὶ

26.8.5 | and the saying 'Unless you eat my flesh and drink my blood,' and the disciples being troubled and saying 'Who can listen to this?' they say the talk was about τῆς αἰσχρότητος ἢν ὁ λόγος.

shamefulness.

26.8.6 | διὸ καὶ ἐταράχθησαν καὶ ἀπῆλθον εἰς τὰ ὀπίσω· οὕτω γὰρ ἦσαν, φησὶν, ἐν πληρώματι ἐστερεωμένοι.

26.8.6 | So they were troubled and went away to the back; for, he says, they were not yet made strong in fullness.

26.8.7 | καὶ τὸ εἰπεῖν τὸν Δαυίδ »ἔσται ὡς τὸ ξύλον τὸ πεφυτευμένον παρὰ τὰς διεξόδους τῶν ὑδάτων, ὃ τὸν καρπὸν αὐτοῦ δώσει ἐν καιρῷ αὐτοῦ« περὶ τῆς αἰσχρότητος τοῦ ἀνδρός, φησί, λέγει. »ἐπὶ τὴν ἔξοδον τῶν ὑδάτων« καὶ »ὃ τὸν καρπὸν αὐτοῦ δώσει« τὴν τῆς ἡδονῆς ἀπόρροιαν, φησί, λέγει· καὶ »τὸ φύλλον αὐτοῦ οὐκ ἀπορρηήσεται«, ὅτι οὐχ ἑῷμεν, φησὶν, αὐτὸ χαμαὶ πεσεῖν, ἀλλὰ αὐτοὶ αὐτὸ ἐσθίομεν

26.8.7 | and the saying of David 'It will be like a tree planted by the streams of water, which will give its fruit in its season,' he says, is about the shamefulness of the man. 'By the streams of water' and 'which will give its fruit' he says means the flow of pleasure; and 'its leaf will not wither,' because we do not allow it to fall to the ground, but we ourselves eat it.

26.9.1 | 9. Καὶ ἵνα μὴ τὰς μαρτυρίας αὐτῶν ἐν μέσῳ φέρων βλαψῶ μάλλον ἢπερ ὠφελήσω, τούτου χάριν τὰ πολλὰ ὑπερβήσομαι, ἐπεὶ ἂν τὰ πάντα παρ' αὐτοῖς λεγόμενα κακῶς ἐνταῦθα παρατιθέμενος διηγόρευον. τὸ γὰρ εἰπεῖν, φησί, τεθεικέναι τὴν Ῥαὰβ κόκκινον ἐν τῇ τῇ] θυρίδι οὐκ ἦν, φησί, κόκκινον, ἀλλὰ τὰ μόρια τῆς γυναικείας φύσεως καὶ τὸ κόκκινον αἷμα τῶν καταμηνίων λέγει, καὶ τὸ εἰπεῖν »πῖνε ὕδατα ἀπὸ σῶν ἀγγείων«, περὶ τοῦ αὐτοῦ λέγει.

26.9.1 | And so that I do not bring their testimonies in the middle and harm more than help, for this reason I will pass over many things, since if I told everything said by them badly here. For to say, he says, that Rahab put a red mark on the door was not red, he says, but the parts of the woman's nature, and the red is the blood of the monthly flow, and to say 'drink water from your vessels' is about the same thing.

26.9.3 | φασὶ δὲ εἶναι τὴν σάρκα ἀπολλυμένην καὶ μὴ ἐγειρομένην, εἶναι δὲ ταύτην τοῦ ἄρχοντος.

26.9.3 | they say that the flesh is destroyed and does not rise again, and that this belongs to the ruler.

26.9.4 | τὴν δὲ δύναμιν τὴν ἐν τοῖς

26.9.4 | they say that the power in the καταμηνίοις καὶ ἐν ταῖς γοναῖς ψυχὴν εἶναί φασιν, ἣν συλλέγοντες ἐσθίομεν· καὶ ἅπερ ἡμεῖς ἐσθίομεν, κρέα ἢ λάχανα ἢ ἄρτον ἢ εἴ τι ἕτερον, χάριν ποιοῦμεν ταῖς κτίσεσι, συλλέγοντες ἀπὸ πάντων τὴν ψυχὴν καὶ μεταφέροντες θεθ' ἐαυτῶν εἰς τὰ ἐπουράνια. διόπερ καὶ πάντων μεταλαμβάνουσι κρεῶν λέγοντες, ἵνα ἐλεήσωμεν τὸ γένος ἡμῶν.

monthly flows and in the knees is a soul, which we gather and eat; and just as we eat meat or vegetables or bread or anything else, we do this for the sake of the creatures, gathering the soul from all things and carrying it up to the heavens for ourselves. Therefore, they say that all share in meat, so that we may have mercy on our race.

26.9.5 | φάσκουσι δὲ τὴν αὐτὴν ψυχὴν εἶναι, ἵν τε τοῖς ζώοις καὶ ἐν κνωδάλοις καὶ ἰχθύσι καὶ ὄφεσι καὶ ἀνθρώποις ἐγκατεσπάρθαι καὶ ἐν λαχάνοις καὶ ἐν δένδροις καὶ ἐν γεννήμασι.

26.9.5 | they claim that the same soul is spread throughout animals and shellfish and fish and snakes and humans, and also in vegetables and trees and fruits.

26.9.6 | καὶ οἱ μὲν αὐτῶν Φιβιονῖται καλούμενοι ἀναφέρουσι τὰς αἰσχρὰς αὐτῶν θυσίας τὰς τῆς πορνείας, τὰς ὑφ' ἡμῶν ἐνταῦθα προειρημένας, ὀνόμασι τρακοσίοις ἐξήκοντα πέντε, οἷς αὐτοὶ ἐπλάσαν ἀρχόντων δῆθεν, ἐμπαίζοντες τοῖς γυναικαρίοις καὶ λέγοντες· μίγηθι μετ' ἐμοῦ, ἵνα σε ἀνενέγκω πρὸς τὸν ἄρχοντα.

26.9.6 | and some of them, called Phibionites, bring up their shameful sacrifices of prostitution, which we mentioned earlier here, with three hundred sixty-five names, which they themselves made up under rulers, mocking the women and saying: 'sleep with me, so that I may carry you to the ruler.'

26.9.7 | καθ' ἐκάστην δὲ μῖξιν ὀνομάζουσιν ἐνὸς ὀνομά τινος βάρβαρον τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς πεπλασμένων, καὶ δῆθεν εὐχονται λέγοντες· προσφέρω σοὶ τῷ δεῖνι, ἵνα προσενέγκῃς τῷ δεῖνι. τῇ δὲ ἄλλῃ μίξει πάλιν ἄλλω ὑποτίθεται ὡσαύτως προσφέρειν, ἵνα καὶ αὐτὸς τῷ ἄλλῳ.

26.9.7 | for each union they give a name, a foreign one made up by them, and they pretend to pray, saying: 'I offer you to the god, so that you may offer to the god.' and at the next union, they put under another to offer in the same way, so that he may also offer to the other.

26.9.8 | καὶ ἕως ἀνέλθῃ, μᾶλλον δὲ κατέλθῃ τριακοσίας ἐξήκοντα πέντε πτώσεις τῆς λαγνείας, καθ' ἐκάστην ὀνομά τι ἐπικαλεῖται τὸ τοιοῦτο ἐργαζόμενος. καὶ ἄρχεται πάλιν κατιέναι διὰ τῶν αὐτῶν, τὰ

26.9.8 | and until he goes up, but rather goes down through three hundred sixty-five falls of lust, calling each one by a name as he does such a deed. and he begins again to go down through the same things, doing αὐτὰ αἰσχρὰ ἐπιτελῶν καὶ ἐμπαίζων ταῖς ἡπατημέναι.

the same shameful acts and mocking those who were deceived.

26.9.9 | ὅταν οὖν εἰς τοσοῦτον ὄγκον ἐλάσῃ ἀριθμοῦ ἑπτακοσίων τριάκοντα πτώσεων, λέγν δὴ μίξεων αἰσχροῶν καὶ ὀνομάτων τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς ἡ πεπλασμένων, τότε λοιπὸν τολμᾷ ὁ τοιοῦτος καὶ λέγει· »ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ Χριστός, ἐπειδὴ ἄνωθεν καταβέβηκα διὰ τῶν ὀνομάτων τῶν τξε ἀρχόντων.'

26.9.9 | so when he has fallen to such a size of seven hundred thirty falls, full of shameful unions and names made up by them, then such a one dares to say: 'I am the Christ, because I have come down from above through the names of the rulers.'

Section 10

26.10.1 | 10. Τα δὲ τῶν μειζόνων κατ' αὐτοὺς ἀρχόντων ὀνόματα ταῦτα εἶναι λέγουσι, πολλοὺς λέγοντες· ἐν μὲν τῷ πρώτῳ οὐρανῷ εἶναι τὸν Ἰαὼ ἄρχοντα, καὶ ἐν τῷ δευτέρῳ φησὶν εἶναι τὸν Σακλᾶν ἄρχοντα τῆς πορνείας, ἐν δὲ τῷ τρίτῳ τὸν Σήθ ἄρχοντα, ἐν δὲ τῷ τετάρτῳ εἶναί φησι τὸν Δαυίδην.

26.10.1 | 10. And these are said to be the names of the greater rulers according to them, many saying: in the first heaven is Iao the ruler, and in the second he says is Sakla the ruler of lust, and in the third is Seth the ruler, and in the fourth he says is David.

26.10.2 | τέταρτον γὰρ ὑποτίθενται οὐρανὸν καὶ τρίτον, πέμπτον δὲ ἄλλον οὐρανόν, ἐν ᾧ φασὶν εἶναι τὸν Ἐλωαῖον τὸν καὶ Ἀδωναῖον. ἐν δὲ τῷ ἕκτῳ φασὶν εἶναι οἱ μὲν τὸν Ἰαλδαβαώθ, οἱ δὲ τὸν Ἡλिलाῖον.

26.10.2 | for they place a fourth heaven and a third, and a fifth heaven besides, in which they say is Eloai, also called Adonai. and in the sixth they say some have Ialdabaoth, others Helilaioi.

26.10.3 | ἄλλον δὲ ἑβδόμον οὐρανὸν ὑποτίθενται, ἐν ᾧ λέγουσιν εἶναι τὸν Σαβαώθ· ἄλλοι δὲ λέγουσιν οὐχί, ἀλλ' ὁ Ἰαλδαβαώθ ἐστὶν ἐν τῷ ἑβδόμῳ.

26.10.3 | but they place another seventh heaven, in which they say is Sabaoth; others say no, but that Ialdabaoth is in the seventh.

26.10.4 | ἐν δὲ τῷ ὀγδόῳ οὐρανῷ τὴν Βαρβηλὼν καλουμένην καὶ τὸν πατέρα τῶν ὄλων καὶ κύριον τὸν αὐτὸν αὐτοπάτορα καὶ Χριστὸν ἄλλον αὐτολόχευτον καὶ

26.10.4 | and in the eighth heaven, called Barbelo, they say is the father of all and lord, the same self-begotten father and another Christ, this Christ having come Χριστὸν τοῦτον τὸν κατελθόντα καὶ δείξαντα τοῖς ἀνθρώποις ταύτην τὴν γνώσιν, ὃν καὶ Ἰησοῦν φασιν· down and showing this knowledge to people, whom they also call Jesus;

26.10.5 | μὴ εἶναι δὲ αὐτὸν ἀπὸ Μαρίας Γεγεννημένον, ἀλλὰ διὰ Μαρίας δεδειγμένον. σάρκα δὲ αὐτὸν μὴ εἴληφέναι, ἀλλ' ἢ μόνον δόκησιν εἶναι.

26.10.5 | but that he was not born from Mary, but shown through Mary. and that he did not take on flesh, but only seemed to.

26.10.6 | φασὶ δὲ τὸν Σαβαώθ οἱ μὲν ὄνου μορφὴν ἔχειν, οἱ δὲ χοίρου· διόπερ ἐνετείλατο, φησί, τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις χοῖρον μὴ ἐσθίειν. εἶναι δὲ αὐτὸν ποιητὴν οὐρανοῦ καὶ γῆς καὶ τῶν μετ' αὐτὸν οὐρανῶν καὶ ἀγγέλων τῶν ἑαυτοῦ.

26.10.6 | they say that Sabaoth has the form of a donkey for some, and of a pig for others; therefore, he ordered the Jews not to eat pork. and that he is the maker of heaven and earth and of the heavens and angels that follow him.

26.10.7 | τὴν δὲ ψυχὴν ἐν τῷ ἐξέρχεσθαι ἐντεῦθεν διαβαίνειν διὰ τῶν ἀρχόντων τούτων, μὴ δύνασθαι δὲ διαπερᾶσαι, εἰ μή τι ἂν <τις> τῆς γνώσεως ταύτης, μᾶλλον δὲ καταγνώσεως, ἐν πληρώματι γένηται καὶ ἐμφορηθεὶς διαδράσειε τῶν ἀρχόντων καὶ τῶν ἐξουσιῶν τὰς χεῖρας.

26.10.7 | and the soul, when it goes out from here, passes through these rulers, but it cannot pass through unless someone of this knowledge, or rather of this recognition, is in the fullness and, being carried along, breaks through the hands of the rulers and powers.

26.10.8 | εἶναι δὲ δρακοντοειδῆ τὸν ἄρχοντα τὸν κατέχοντα τὸν κόσμον τοῦτον, καὶ καταπίνοντα μὲν τὰς ψυχὰς τὰς μὴ ἐν γνώσει ὑπαρχούσας καὶ διὰ τῆς κέρκου πάλιν ἐπιστρέφοντα εἰς τὸν κόσμον, ἐνταῦθα εἰς χοίρους καὶ εἰς ἄλλα ζῷα * καὶ πάλιν διὰ τῶν αὐτῶν ἀναφερομένας.

26.10.8 | and the ruler who holds this world is dragon-shaped, swallowing the souls that are not in knowledge, and through the tail sending them back into the world, there into pigs and other animals, and again bringing them up through the same ones.

26.10.9 | εἰ δέ τις, φησὶν, ἐν τῇ γνώσει γένηται ταύτῃ καὶ συλλέξῃ ἑαυτὸν ἐκ τοῦ κόσμου διὰ τῶν ἐμμηνίων καὶ διὰ τῆς

26.10.9 | but if someone, he says, becomes in this knowledge and gathers himself from the world through the lunar cycles and ρύσεως τῆς ἐπιθυμίας, μηκέτι ἐνταῦθα κατέχεσθαι αὐτόν, ἀλλὰ ὑπερβαίνειν τοὺς προειρημένους ἄρχοντας.

through the breaking of desire, no longer is he held here, but he goes beyond the rulers mentioned before.

26.10.10 | ἔρχεσθαι δέ φασι παρὰ τὸν Σαβαώθ καὶ πατεῖν ἐπὶ τὴν κεφαλὴν αὐτοῦ, ἀθυρογλώττως βλασφημοῦντες, καὶ οὕτως ὑπερβαίνειν εἰς τὸ ἄνω μέρος, ὅπου ἡ μήτηρ τῶν ζώντων ἡ Βαρβηρῶ ἦτοι καὶ Βαρβηλῶ, καὶ οὕτως τὴν Ψυχὴν σῶζεσθαι.

26.10.10 | they say to come to Sabaoth and to step on his head, blaspheming without a door-tongue, and so to go beyond into the upper part, where the mother of the living, Barbēro or Barbēlō, is, and so to save the soul.

26.10.11 | ἔχειν δὲ καὶ τρίχας ὡς γυναικὸς τὸν Σαβαώθ λέγουσιν οἱ τάλανες, νομίζοντες τὸ ὄνομα τὸ Σαβαώθ ἄρχοντά τινα εἶναι, οὐκ εἰδότες ὅτι ὅπου λέγει »τάδε λέγει κύριος Σαβαώθ, οὐκ ὄνομά τινος εἶπεν, ἀλλ' ὄνομα δοξολομίας τῆς θεότητος.

26.10.11 | and to have hair like a woman, they say of Sabaoth the talents, thinking that the name Sabaoth is some ruler, not knowing that when it says "thus says the lord Sabaoth," it did not say a name of someone, but a name of the glory of the deity.

26.10.12 | Σαβαώθ γὰρ ἐρμηνεύεται ἀπὸ τῆς Ἑβραϊκῆς διαλέκτου κύριος τῶν δυνάμεων· ὅπου γὰρ ἐν τῇ παλαιᾷ διαθήκῃ τὸ Σαβαώθ ἄνομά ἐστι γεγραμμένον, δύναμιν ὑποφαίνει, ὅθεν ὁ Ἀκύλας πανταχοῦ τὸ »Ἀδωναὶ Σαβαώθ' ἐρμηνείην λέγων »κύριος στρατιῶν«.

26.10.12 | for Sabaoth is explained from the Hebrew language as lord of the powers; for where in the old covenant the name Sabaoth is written, it shows power, from which Aquila everywhere interpreted "Adonai Sabaoth" saying "lord of armies."

26.10.13 | οὗτοι δὲ κατὰ πάντα τρόπον ἐμμανέντες κατὰ τοῦ αὐτῶν δεσπότης τὸν μὴ ὄντα ζητοῦσι καὶ τὸν ὄντα ἀπολωλέκασι, μᾶλλον δὲ ἑαυτοὺς ἀπώλεσαν.

26.10.13 | these, being mad in every way against their own master, seek the one who is not, and have destroyed the one who is, but rather they have lost themselves.

Section 11

26.11.1 | 11. Ἄλλα δὲ ὅσα * ἐν οἷς περिकाκεῖν ἐστι τὰ τῆς αὐτῶν μανίας

26.11.1 | 11. But other things in which it is very bad to speak of their madness. Some λέγειν. τινὲς ἐξ αὐτῶν δῆθεν γυναιξὶ μὴ πλησιάζοντες ταῖς ἰδίαις αὐτῶν χεροῖν εαυτοὺς φθείρουσι, τὴν δὲ ἐαυτῶν φθορὰν λαμβάνουσιν εἰς τὰς χεῖρας καὶ οὕτως ἐσθίουσι, χρώμενοι σεσυκοφαντημένη μαρτυρίᾳ, of them, not even touching women with their own hands, destroy themselves, and they take their own destruction into their hands and so eat it, using false testimony.

26.11.2 | τῷ αἱ χεῖρες αὐταὶ ἐπήρκεσαν οὐ μόνον ἐμοί, ἀλλὰ καὶ τοῖς σὺν ἐμοί, καὶ πάλιν τῷ »ἐραζόμενοι ταῖς ἰδίαις χερσίν, ἵνα δυνηθῆτε καὶ τοῖς μὴ ἔχουσι μεταδοῦναι«

26.11.2 | to whom these same hands were enough not only for me, but also for those with me; and again, to those “loving with their own hands, so that you may be able to share with those who do not have.”

26.11.3 | ὥς καὶ περὶ τούτων οἶμαι ἐκινήθη τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα ἐν τῷ ἀποστόλῳ Ἰούδᾳ, λέγω δὴ ἐν τῇ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γραφείῃ καθολικῇ ἐπιστολῇ Ἰούδας δέ ἐστιν οὗτος ὁ ἀδελφὸς Ἰακώβου καὶ τοῦ κυρίου λεγόμενος· ὑπέδειξε γὰρ αὐτοὺς τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα διὰ τῆς φωνῆς τοῦ Ἰούδα κατὰ τὰ κτῆνη φθειρομένους καὶ φθείροντας, ὥς λέγει ὅτι ὅσα μὲν οὐκ οἶδασιν, ἀγνοοῦντες ἀλίσκονται, ὅσα δὲ οἶδασιν, ὥς τὰ ἄλογα ζῶα φθείρονται«.

26.11.3 | Just as about these things I think the holy spirit was moved in the apostle Judas, I mean in the catholic letter written by him (this Judas is called the brother of James and of the lord); for the holy spirit showed them through the voice of Judas as those who are destroyed and destroy like animals, saying that those things which they do not know are caught in ignorance, but those things which they know are destroyed like irrational animals.

26.11.4 | κυνῶν γὰρ δίκην καὶ χοίρων τὴν ἀπ' αὐτῶν φθορὰν ἐπιτελοῦσιν· οἱ κύνες γὰρ καὶ οἱ χοῖροι, οὐ μὴν ἀλλὰ καὶ ἄλλα ζῶα οὕτως φθείρονται καὶ τὴν ἀπόρρυσιν τὴν ἀπὸ τῶν σωμάτων αὐτῶν ἐσθίουσι.

26.11.4 | For like dogs and pigs they complete the destruction from themselves; for dogs and pigs, and also other animals, are destroyed in this way and eat the waste from their own bodies.

26.11.5 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ ἀληθῶς ἐνυπνιαζόμενοι σάρκα μὲν μαιίνουσι, κυριότητα δὲ ἐθετοῦσι, δόξας δὲ βλασφημοῦσι. Μιχαὴλ δὲ ὁ ἀρχάγγελος διαλεγόμενος τῷ διαβόλῳ περὶ τοῦ Μωυσέως σώματος οὐκ ἤνεγκε λόγον βλασφημίας, ἀλλὰ εἶπεν, ἐπιτιμήσαι σοι

26.11.5 | And indeed, even while dreaming, they stain the flesh, but they set themselves up as masters, and they blaspheme against glorious things. But Michael the archangel, when arguing with the devil about the body of Moses, did not bring a blasphemous κύριος.

word, but said, 'The lord rebuke you.'

26.11.6 | οὗτοι δὲ ὅσα οὐκ οἶδασι φυσικῶς βλασφημοῦσιν, ὅτι τὰ ἅγια τῶν ἁγίων τὰ μετὰ ἁγιασμοῦ ἡμῖν παραδοθέντα βλασφημοῦσιν, εἰς αἰσχρότητα αὐτὰ μεταβαλλόμενοι.

26.11.6 | But these people blaspheme against what they do not know naturally, because they blaspheme the holy things of the holy ones, which were given to us with sanctification, turning them into shameful things.

26.11.7 | καὶ ταῦτά ἐστιν ἅτινα κατὰ τῶν ἀποστόλων ἐτόλμησαν λέγειν, ὡς καὶ ὁ μακάριος Παῦλος φησιν »ὥστε τινὰς τολμᾶν > ἡμᾶς λέγειν ὅτι ποιήσωμεν τὰ κακά, ἵνα ἔλθῃ ἐφ' ἡμᾶς τὰ ἀγαθὰ, ὡν τὸ κρίμα ἐνδικόν ἐστι².

26.11.7 | And these are the things they dared to say against the apostles, as the blessed Paul says, 'So that some dare to say about us that we should do evil, so that good things may come upon us, for which the judgment is just.'

26.11.8 | How many other proofs should I bring against the blasphemers? For these, who are destroyed by their own hands, not only that, but also those who come near to women, having no more satisfaction from mixing much with women, burn each other up, men with men, as it is written, 'receiving in themselves the due penalty of their error.' For these, being destroyed, bless each other, as if they had received the better rank.

26.11.9 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀπατῶντες τὸ αὐτοῖς πειθόμενον γυναικεῖον γένος, τὸ σωρευόμενον ἀμαρτήμασι καὶ ἀγόμενον ἐπιρροίαις ποικίλαις, φάσκουσι ταῖς ἡπατημέναις παρ' αὐτῶν ὅτι ἡ δεῖνα παρθένος, ἡ τοσαῦτα ἔτη πεφθαρμένη καὶ φθειγγομένη καθ' ἐκάστην ἡμέραν. κόρον γὰρ οὐκ ἔχει παρ' αὐτοῖς ἡ λαρνεία, ἀλλὰ ὅσον τις παρ' αὐτοῖς αἰσχρουργὸς

26.11.9 | But also, deceiving the woman who trusts them, the kind gathered in sins and led by many temptations, they say to the women deceived by them that this one is a virgin, who has been corrupted and speaks every single day for so many years. For the lust of the flesh does not have enough with them, but as much as a shameful man is with them, so much is he ἄνθρωπος, τοσοῦτον παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐπαινετός.

praised by them.

26.11.10 | ἐκείνας δέ φασιν παρθένους εἶναι, τὰς μηδέποτε ἐν κοσμικῇ μίξει γάμου κατὰ φύσιν τῆς συνηθείας γενομένης ἵως καταβολῆς σπέρματος, ἀλλὰ μιγνυμένας μὲν αἰεὶ καὶ πορνευούσας πρὸ δὲ τοῦ ἀπαρτηθῆναι τὴν ἡδονὴν ἀφιστώσας τὸν πονηροποιὸν αὐτῶν τῆς κοινωνίας φθορέα καὶ λαμβανούσας τὴν προειρημένην αἰσχροτήτα εἰς ἐδωδὴν,

26.11.10 | But they say those women are virgins, who never by natural custom have joined in lawful marriage until the seed was laid down, but who always mixed and committed fornication before they were separated from pleasure, turning away from the evil one of their fellowship, corrupt and taking the shameful thing mentioned before as food.

26.11.11 | ὡς κατὰ τὸ ὅμοιον <τῆς> τοῦ Σηλῶμ πρὸς τὴν θάμαρ κακοτροπίας, * ἀλλὰ ἀπὸ παρθενίας τὴν τέχνην ταύτην ἐπανηρημένας τοῦ φθείρεσθαι μὲν, μὴ ὑποδέχεσθαι δὲ τῆς φθορᾶς τὴν μῖξιν καὶ τὴν ἀπόρροιν.

26.11.11 | Just like the bad behavior of Shelah toward Tamar, but having taken away this skill from virginity, not to be corrupted, and not to accept the mixing and flow of corruption.

26.11.12 | βλασφημοῦσι δὲ οὐ μόνον τὸν Ἀβραάμ καὶ τὸν Μωυσέα καὶ τὸν Ἠλίαν καὶ πάντα τὸν χορὸν τῶν προφητῶν, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸν θεὸν τὸν ἐκλεξάμενον αὐτούς.

26.11.12 | They blaspheme not only Abraham and Moses and Elijah and all the group of the prophets, but also the god who chose them.

Section 12

26.12.1 | 12. Ἄλλα δὲ μυρία παρ' αὐτοῖς πλασθέντα γραφεῖα τετόλμηται. γένναν μὲν γὰρ Μαρίας βιβλίον τί φασιν εἶναι, ἐν ᾧ δεινὰ τε καὶ ὀλέθρια ὑποβάλλοντές τινα ἐκεῖσε λέγουσιν.

26.12.1 | But countless other writings have been made by them. For they say that the book of Mary is one, in which they say some terrible and destructive things are put forward there.

26.12.2 | ἐκ τούτου γὰρ φησι τὸν Ζαχαρίαν ἀπεκτάνθαι ἐν τῷ ναῷ, ἐπειδὴ φησὶν, ἀπτασίαν ἐώρακε, καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ φόβου θέλων εἰπεῖν τὴν ὁπτασίαν ἀπεφράγη τὸ

26.12.2 | For from this it says that Zacharias was killed in the temple, because it says he saw a vision, and out of fear, wanting to speak of the vision, his mouth στόμα. εἶδε γάρ, φησίν, ἐν τῇ ὥρᾳ τοῦ θυμιάματός τινα, ὡς ἐθυμία, ἄνθρωπον ἐστῶτα, φησίν, ὄνου μορφήν ἔχοντα.

was stopped. For it says he saw, at the time of the incense, a certain man standing, it says, having the form of a donkey.

26.12.3 | καὶ ἐξελθόντος, φημί, καὶ θέλοντος εἰπεῖν· οὐαὶ ὑμῖν, τίνι προσκυνεῖτε; ἀπέφραξεν αὐτοῦ τὸ στόμα ὁ ὀφθεῖς αὐτῷ ἔνδον ἐν τῷ ναῷ, ἵνα μὴ δύνηται λαλῆσαι. ὅτε δὲ ἠνοίγη τὸ στόμα αὐτοῦ ἵνα λαλήσῃ, τότε ἀπεκάλυψεν αὐτοῖο καὶ ἀπέκτειναν αὐτόν. καὶ οὕτως, φησίν, ἀπέθανε Ζαχαρίας.

26.12.3 | And when he went out and wanted to say, ‘Woe to you, whom do you worship?’ the one seen inside the temple stopped his mouth so that he could not speak. But when his mouth was opened so that he might speak, then they exposed him and killed him. And so, he says, Zacharias died.

26.12.4 | διὰ τοῦτο γὰρ ὁ ἱερεὺς προσετάγη ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ τοῦ νομοθετήσαντος, ἵ φησίν, ἔχειν κώδωνας, ἵν’ ὅταν εἰσέρχῃται ἱερατεῦσαι, τὸν κτύπον ἀκούων κρύπτηται ὁ προσκυνούμενος, ἵνα μὴ φωραθῇ τὸ ἰδαιατικὸν αὐτοῦ τῆς μορφῆς πρόσωπον.

26.12.4 | For this reason, the priest was commanded by the lawgiver, he says, to wear bells, so that when he enters to serve, the one being worshiped hears the sound and hides, so that the idol’s face of form is not seen.

26.12.5 | ἔστι δὲ τὸ πᾶν τῆς εὐηθείας αὐτῶν ἐπιτήδευμα εὐθυέλεκτον καὶ χλεύης ἔμπλεον. εἰ γὰρ ἦν ὅλως ὁρατὸς ὁ ἱεουργούμενος, οὐδὲ κρυβῆναι ἡδύνατο· εἰ δὲ ὅλως κρυβῆναι ἡδύνατο, οὐκέτι ἦν ὁρατός.

26.12.5 | Their whole foolishness is a thing open to quick shame and full of mockery. For if the one performing the sacred rites was completely visible, he could not be hidden; but if he could be completely hidden, then he was no longer visible.

26.12.6 | And again, it must be said to them differently that if it was visible, then it was a body and no longer a spirit; but if it was a spirit, then it was no longer seen among visible things. So how, then, could what is not seen among visible things be thought to come out from the sound of the bells by its own shrinking? For the invisible by nature would not appear unless it wanted to.

26.12.7 | εἰ καὶ ὥφθη δέ, οὐκέτι κατὰ ἀνάγκην ἐφαίνετο τῆς φύοντες αὐτὸν ἀγούσης εἰς τὸ φαίνεσθαι, ἀλλὰ κατὰ χάριν, οὐ φόβῳ καὶ προλήψει παρὰ προσδοκίαν ἄνευ κτύπου εἰς τὸ δῆλον καθιστῶν τὴν ἑαυτοῦ ὀπτασίαν. καὶ οὕτω κατὰ πάντα τρόπον διέπεσεν ὁ αὐτῶν φευδῆς καὶ παραπεποιημένος λόγος.

26.12.7 | Even if it was seen, it no longer appeared because it was forced to by the one bringing it out to be seen, but out of kindness, not out of fear or expectation, without a sound making its vision clear. And so, in every way, their false and made-up story fell apart.

26.12.8 | καὶ πολλά ἐστὶν ἄλλα ἃ λέγουσι ληρώδη. * καίτοι γε τοῦ Ζαχαρίου μὴ ἀποκτανθέντος εὐθύς, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐπιμείναντος μετὰ τὴν τοῦ Ἰωάννου γέννησιν καὶ προφητεύσαντος περὶ τε Ἰωάννου καὶ περὶ τῆς παρουσίας τοῦ κυρίου καὶ ἐνσάρκου γεννήσεως ἀπὸ τῆς ἁγίας παρθένου Μαρίας διὰ πνεύματος ἁγίου, ὡς λέγει καὶ σύ, παιδίον, προφήτης ὑψίστου κληθήσῃ·

26.12.8 | And there are many other things they say that are foolish. * And yet, indeed, Zacharias was not killed immediately, but lived on after the birth of John and prophesied about both John and the coming of the Lord and the fleshly birth from the holy virgin Mary through the holy spirit, as you also say, 'a child shall be called a prophet of the Most High.'

26.12.9 | προπορεύσῃ γὰρ πρὸ προσώπου κυρίου ἐτοιμάσαι ὁδοὺς αὐτοῦ, »ἐπιστρέψαι καρδίας πατέρων ἐπὶ τέκνα καὶ ἀπειθεῖς ἐν φρονήσει« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς. πόσα δὲ ἄλλα ἔστιν εἰπεῖν περὶ τῆς αὐτῶν ψευδηγορίας καὶ τοῦ αὐτῶν μισμοῦ;

26.12.9 | For he will go before the face of the lord to prepare his ways, 'to turn the hearts of fathers to children and the disobedient in mind,' and the things that follow. But how many other things there are to say about their lying speech and their corruption?

Section 13

26.13.1 | 13. Οἱ δὲ Λευῖται παρ' αὐτοῖς καλούμενοι οὐ μίσγονται γυναῖξιν, ἀλλὰ ἀλλήλοις μίσγονται. καὶ οὗτοί εἰσιν οἱ προκριτέοι παρ' αὐτοῖς δῆθεν καὶ ἐπαινετοί. καταγελῶσι δὲ λοιπὸν τῶν τὴν πολιτείαν ἀσκούντων καὶ ἀγνείαν καὶ παρθεनीαν ὡς εἰς μάτην τὸν κάματον

26.13.1 | 13. But the Levites, who are called among them, do not marry women, but marry each other. And these are the ones who are said to be their leaders and praised. They laugh at the rest who live a good life and purity and virginity, as if their hard work is all for nothing.

ἀναδεδεμένων.

26.13.2 | προφέρουσι δὲ εἰς ὄνομα Φιλίππου τοῦ ἁγίου μαθητοῦ εὐαγγέλιον πεπλασμένον, ὅτι, φησὶν »ἀπεκάλυψέν μοι ὁ κύριος τί τὴν ψυχὴν ξεῖ λέγειν ἐν τῷ ἀνιέναι εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν καὶ πῶς ἐκάστη τῶν ἄνω δυνάμεων ἀποκρίνεσθαι· ὅτι ἐπέγνων ἐμαυτήν, φησί, καὶ συνέλεξα ἐμαυτὴν ἐκ πανταχόθεν, καὶ οὐκ ἔσπειρα τέκνα τῷ ἄρχοντι, ἀλλὰ ἐξερρίζωσα τὰς ρίζας αὐτοῦ καὶ συνέλεξα τὰ μέλη τὰ διεσκορπισμένα, καὶ οἶδά σε τίς εἰμι. ἐγὼ γάρ, φησί, τῶν ἄνωθ' εἰμι«. καὶ οὕτως, φησὶν, ἀπολύεται.

26.13.3 | ἐὰν ἐὰν φησὶν, εὗρεθῇ γεννήσασα υἱόν, κατέχεται κάτω ἕως ἂν τὰ ἴδια τέκνα δυνήθῃ ἀναλαβεῖν καὶ ἀναστρέψαι εἰς ἑαυτήν.

26.13.4 | καὶ οὕτως ἐστὶ τὰ ληρώδη αὐτῶν καὶ μυθώδη, ὥς καὶ περὶ τοῦ ἁγίου Ἠλίας τολμῶσι βλασφημεῖν καὶ λέγειν ὅτι, φησὶν, ὅτε ἀνελήφθη, κατεβλήθη πάλιν εἰς τὸν κόσμον.

26.13.2 | They bring forward a made-up gospel in the name of Philip the holy disciple, saying, 'The lord revealed to me what the soul says when it goes up to heaven and how to answer each of the powers above; because I knew myself,' it says, 'and gathered myself from everywhere, and I did not sow children to the ruler, but I uprooted his roots and gathered the scattered members, and I know who you are. For I,' it says, 'am from above.' And so, it says, it is released.

26.13.3 | If, it says, a woman is found who has given birth to a son, she is held down until she can take back her own children and turn them back to herself.

26.13.4 | And so their stories are full of lies and fables, that they even dare to blaspheme about the holy Elijah and say that, it says, when he was taken up, he was thrown back down into the world.

26.13.5 | For, it says, a demon came and took hold of him and said to him, 'Where are you going? For I have children from you, and you cannot go up and leave your children here.' And, it says, he said, 'Where do you have children from me, when I was pure?' He says, it says, 'Yes, when you were dreaming many times, in the flowing away of the bodies you were emptied. I was the one who took your seeds and gave birth to sons for you.'

26.13.6 | πολλή δὲ μωρία τῶν τὰ τοιαῦτα λεγόντων. πῶς γὰρ δύναται δαίμων, πνεῦμα ὦν ἀόρατον καὶ ἀσώματον, & ἀπὸ σωμάτων μεταλαμβάνει; εἰ δὲ ἀπὸ σωμάτων μεταλαμβάνει καὶ κυῖσκει, οὐκέτι ἐστὶ πνεῦμα, ἀλλὰ σῶμα. σῶμα δὲ ὦν πῶς πῶς ἐστὶν ἀόρατος καὶ πνεῦμα;

26.13.6 | There is much foolishness among those who say such things. For how can a demon, being an invisible and bodiless spirit, take from bodies? But if it takes from bodies and conceives, it is no longer a spirit, but a body. And being a body, how can it be invisible and a spirit?

26.13.7 | And there is much nonsense in their foolish talk. For they want to use the testimony from the letter of Jude as if it supports them, when it says, 'and those who dream defile the flesh, reject authority, and blaspheme glory.' But blessed Jude, the brother of the lord, did not say this about those dreaming in bodies. For he immediately shows and proves that he is speaking about those who talk as if their words come from dreams, and not from clear, sober thinking.

26.13.8 | For Isaiah also speaks about the teachers in Jerusalem, saying, 'All are dogs, dumb dogs that cannot bark, dreaming and lying down.' And what follows. And in the letter of Jude, he shows this too, saying, '[dreaming in bed,] speaking things they do not know.' And he made clear that he is not talking about dreaming during sleep, but about their foolish stories and nonsense, as if said in a dream and not from a strong mind.

Section 14

26.14.1 | 14. Περιχακῶ δὲ ὡς ἀληθῶς τὰ πάντα ἐξειπεῖν. θεοῦ γάρ ἐστι μόνου ἀποκλεῖσαι τὸν βυθὸν τῆς δυσοσμίας ταύτης. καὶ παρελεύσομαι ἐκ τοῦ τόπου, εὐξάμενος τῷ παμβασιλεῖ θεῷ μηδένα εἰς τὸν βόρβορον ἐγκαταπαγῆναι μηδὲ αὐτοῦ τὴν ἔννοιαν μεταλαβεῖν τῆς δυσώδους ἀκαθαρσίας.

26.14.1 | But i am very glad to have truly said everything. For it is God alone who can shut off the depth of this bad smell. And i will leave this place, praying to the all-ruling God that no one be thrown into the mud, nor have their mind take part in this foul dirt.

26.14.2 | πρῶτον μὲν γὰρ ὁ ἀπόστολος Παῦλος ἐκκόπτει αὐτῶν πᾶσαν ρίζαν τῆς κακίας, περὶ χηρῶν νεωτέρων παραγέλλων χήρας' φησὶν »νεωτέρας παραιτοῦ' μετὰ γὰρ τὸ καταστρηνιᾶσαι τοῦ Χριστοῦ γαμεῖν θέλουσιν, ἔχουσαι κρίμα, ὅτι τὴν πρώτην πίστιν ἀθέτησαν«' »ἀλλὰ γαμείτωσαν τεκνοποιεῖτωσαν οἰκοδεσποτεῖτωσαν'.

26.14.2 | For first, the apostle Paul cuts off every root of evil from them, speaking about younger widows he says, 'Younger widows refuse. For after they have grown lazy toward Christ, they want to marry, having judgment because they have rejected the first faith.' 'But let them marry, have children, and manage the household.'

26.14.3 | εἰ δὲ ὁ ἀπόστολος λέγει τεδνογονεῖν οἰκοδεσποτεῖν], οὗτοι δὲ παραιτοῦνται τὴν τεκνογονίαν, ὅφρως ἐστι καὶ κακῆς διδασκαλίας τὸ ἐπιχείρημα. ἡττώμενοι γὰρ τῇ ἡδονῇ τῆς πορνείας ἐπινοοῦσιν ἑαυτοῖς ἀκαθαρσίας προφάσεις, ὅπως δόξωσι πληροφορεῖν τὴν ἑαυτῶν ἀσέλγειαν.

26.14.3 | But if the apostle says to have children and manage the household, and they refuse having children, this argument is both harmful and a sign of bad teaching. For defeated by the pleasure of sexual sin, they make up excuses of impurity for themselves, so that they seem to justify their own wildness.

26.14.4 | καὶ ἔδει μὲν ἀληθῶς ταῦτα μήτε λέγεσθαι μήτε ἐν συντάγμασι καταξιοῦσθαι γράφεσθαι, θάπτεσθαι δὲ ὥσπερ νεκρὸν τινα ὁώδῶτα καὶ λοιμῶδη ἀποφορὰν πνέοντα, ἵνα μὴ καὶ διὰ τῆς ἀκοῆς λυμῆνηται τοὺς ἀνθρώπους.

26.14.4 | And truly, these things should neither be spoken nor considered worthy to be written in laws, but should be buried like some dead body that smells of disease and pestilence, so that people are not harmed through hearing them.

26.14.5 | And if such a heresy had passed away and was no longer in life, it would be good to bury it and not speak about it at all. But since it both exists and is practiced, and because of your respect we were urged to speak about everything, I was forced to explain its parts, so that I would not keep silent about what loves the truth, but would guide people to turn away from those who hear, and to lead out those who do these things.

26.14.6 | πόθεν γὰρ οὐκ ἔχομεν δεῖξαι τοὺς παρ' αὐτοῖς φόνους καὶ τερατώδη ἔργα καὶ τελετὰς διαβόλου ἐξ ἐπινοίας > τοῦ αὐτοῦ διαβόλου τοῖς ἐμβεβροντημένοις δοθείσας;

26.14.6 | For from where do we not have to show the murders among them and the monstrous deeds and the devil's rituals, invented by the same devil given to those possessed?

Section 15

26.15.1 | 15. Καὶ εὐθὺς μὲν οὖν ἐλέγχονται εἰς ὃ φαντασιοῦνται καὶ προφασίζονται περὶ τοῦ ξύλου τοῦ ἐν τῷ πρώτῳ ψαλμῷ εἰρημένου ὅτι »δώσει τὸν καρπὸν αὐτοῦ ἐν καιρῷ αὐτοῦ καὶ τὸ φύλλον αὐτοῦ οὐκ ἀπορρησεται«. ἀνωτέρω γὰρ κεῖται ὅτι »ἐν τῷ νόμῳ κυρίου τὸ θέλημα αὐτοῦ καὶ ἐν τῷ νόμῳ αὐτοῦ μελετήσῃ ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτός'.

26.15.1 | 15. And immediately they are tested about what they imagine and claim concerning the tree mentioned in the first psalm, that "it will give its fruit in its season, and its leaf will not wither." For above it says, "In the law of the lord is his will, and in his law he will meditate day and night."

26.15.2 | νόμον δὲ οὗτοι καὶ προφήτας ἀρνοῦνται. εἰ δὲ νόμον κυρίου ἀρνοῦνται, σὺν τῷ νόμῳ καὶ τὸν λαλήσαντα ἐν τῷ νόμῳ συκοφαντοῦσιν· πλανῶνται δὲ καθ' ὑπόνοιαν καὶ ἐκπεπτώκασιν τῆς ἀληθείας, κρίσιν τε οὐχ ἡγοῦνται οὔτε ἀνάστασιν ὁμολογοῦσιν.

26.15.2 | But these deny both the law and the prophets. And if they deny the lord's law, along with the law they slander the one who spoke in the law; they are led astray by suspicion and have fallen away from the truth, and they do not think there is judgment or admit resurrection.

26.15.3 | ὅσα δὲ πράττουσιν ἐν τῷ σώματι ἡδονῆς ἔμπλεοι γινόμενοι ταῦτα ἀποκαρποῦνται ἐκβακχεύομενοι ταῖς τοῦ διαβόλου ἡδοναῖς τε καὶ ἐπιθυμίαις, ὥς πάντη τε καὶ πανταχοῦ ἐλέγχονται ἀπὸ τοῦ τῆς ἀληθείας λόγου·

26.15.3 | But all the things they do in the body, full of pleasure, they fail to produce fruit, going wild in the pleasures and desires of the devil, as they are tested everywhere by the word of truth.

26.15.4 | Ἰωάννης γὰρ λέγει «εἴ τις ἔρχεται», φησί, «πρὸς ὑμᾶς, καὶ οὐ φέρει τὴν διδασκίαν ταύτην· καὶ ποίαν φησὶν;» εἴ τις οὐχ ὁμολογεῖ Χριστὸν ἐν σαρκὶ ἐληλυθότα, ἀντίχριστός ἐστι. «καὶ νῦν ἀντίχριστοι πολλοὶ γεγόνασιν», ὥς τῶν μὴ ὁμολογούντων τὸν Χριστὸν ἐν σαρκὶ ἐληλυθότα ἀντιχρίστων ὑπαρχόντων. ἀλλὰ καὶ αὐτὸς ὁ σωτὴρ λέγει «οἱ καταξιωθέντες τῆς βασιλείας τῶν οὐρανῶν οὔτε γαμοῦσιν οὔτε γαμίζονται ἀλλ' ἰσαγγελοὶ εἰσιν (οὐ μόνον δέ, 26.15.4 | For John says, “If anyone comes to you and does not bring this teaching.” And what does he say? “If anyone does not confess Christ as coming in the flesh, he is antichrist.” “And now many antichrists have come,” meaning those who do not confess Christ as coming in the flesh are antichrists. But even the savior himself says, “Those who are worthy of the kingdom of heaven neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels” (not only that,

26.15.6 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἵνα δείξῃ τὴν σαφῆ ἀγνείαν καὶ τὴν διὰ τοῦ ἐδιάζειν ἀγιαστείαν, φάσκει τῇ Μαριάμ «μή μου ἄπτου· οὐπὼ γὰρ ἀναβέβηκα πρὸς τὸν πατέρα», ἵνα δείξῃ τὴν ἀγνείαν ἀμέτοχον σωμάτων καὶ ἀμιγῆ.

26.15.6 | but also to show clear purity and holiness through not touching, he says to Mary, “Do not hold on to me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father,” to show purity untouched by bodies and undefiled.

26.15.7 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν ἄλλῳ τόπῳ λέγει προθεσπίζον τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα καὶ διὰ τοὺς πρώην καὶ > μετέπειτα «μακαρία στεῖρα ἢ ἀμίαντος ἥτις οὐκ ἔγνω κοίτην ἐν παραπτώματι καὶ εὐνοῦχος ὃς οὐκ εἰργάσατο ἐν χερσὶν ἀνόμημα», ἵνα παρακόψῃ τὰ διὰ τοῦ μύθου αὐτῶν ἐν χερσὶν αἰσχροῦργηματα.

26.15.7 | but also in another place the holy spirit speaks beforehand and afterward, “Blessed is the barren woman who did not know a bed in sin, and the eunuch who did not work lawlessness with his hands,” to cut off their shameful deeds done by hands through their lies.

26.16.1 | 16. Πίσσα δὲ ἄλλα ἔστιν εἰπεῖν, ὡς τοῦ ἀποστόλου λέγοντος πῇ μὲν »ὁ ἄγαμος καὶ ἡ παρθένος μεριμνᾷ τὰ τοῦ κυρίου, πῶς ἀρέσει τῷ κυρίῳ« — τοῦτο δὲ φησι δεῖξαι τὴν ἀγνείαν ἐν ἀληθείᾳ, ἐκ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος ἐπιτρεπόμενος οὐ παρέργως —, ἔπειτα δὲ περὶ τῶν τὸν γάμον ἔχόντων τὸν σεμνὸν λέγοντος τίμιος ὁ γάμος καὶ ἡ κοίτη ἀμίαντος, πόρνους δὲ καὶ μοιχοὺς κρινεῖ ὁ θεός'.

26.16.1 | 16. But it is right to say other things, as the apostle says, "The unmarried man and the virgin care for the things of the Lord, how to please the Lord" — and he says this to show purity in truth, allowed by the holy spirit, not uselessly — then about those who have marriage, he says, "Marriage is honorable and the bed undefiled, but God will judge the sexually immoral and adulterers."

26.16.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ κατ' αὐτῶν ἐκβοᾷ γράφων Ῥωμαίοις, τὰ αἰσχρὰ ἀποκαλύπτων τῶν τὰς κακοπραγίας ἐργαζομένων, λέγων αἱ τε γὰρ θήλειαι αὐτῶν μετήλλαξαν τὴν φυσικὴν χρῆσιν εἰς τὴν παρὰ φύσιν' καὶ περὶ τῶν ἀρρένων, ὄντι »ἄρρενες ἐν ἄρρεσι τὴν ἀσχημοσύνην κατεργαζόμενοι«.

26.16.2 | but also against them he shouts, writing to the Romans, revealing the shameful things of those who do evil, saying, "For their women changed the natural use into what is against nature," and about the men, being "men working shamefulness with men."

26.16.3 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῇ πρὸς Τιμόθεον ἐπιστολῇ περὶ τούτων λέγει ὅτι ἐν ἐσχάταις ταῖς ἡμέραις ἐνστήσονται καιροὶ χαλεποὶ· ἔσονται γὰρ οἱ ἄνθρωποι φιλήδονοι, καὶ πόλιν κωλυόντων γαμεῖν, κεκαυτηριασμένων τὴν συνείδησιν',

26.16.3 | but also in the letter to Timothy about these things he says that in the last days hard times will come; for people will be lovers of pleasure, and they will forbid others to marry, having their conscience burned.

26.16.4 | ὅτι τὸ μὲν γαμεῖν μετὰ σωφροσύνης καὶ τεκνογονεῖν κωλύουσι, καιόμενοι δὲ εἰσι τῇ συνειδήσει, λαγνεύοντες μὲν καὶ φθειρόμενοι, κωλύοντες δὲ τεκνογονεῖν.

26.16.4 | because they forbid marriage with self-control and having children, but they are burning with their conscience, lusting and being destroyed, and forbidding having children.

26.16.5 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ αὐτὴ ἡ παρ' αὐτοῖς λεγομένη θυσία, βορβορώδης τις οὔσα, ἥδη καὶ ἀπὸ τῶν ἀνέκαθεν διὰ τοῦ προφήτου ὑποδείκνυται ὡς οὔσα σὰρξ καὶ οὐχὶ τοῦ κυρίου μὴ γένοιτο), λέγοντος οὕτως

26.16.5 | and even the sacrifice they call their own, being some kind of filthy thing, is already shown from ancient times through the prophet as flesh of a snake and not of the lord, may it not be; saying like ὅτι »σὺ συνέτριψας τὴν κεφαλὴν τοῦ δράκοντος καὶ ἔδωκας αὐτὸν βρῶμα λαοῖς τοῖς Αἰθίοψι«.

this, “you crushed the head of the dragon and gave it as food to the people of the Ethiopians.”

26.16.6 | βρῶμα γὰρ ὡς ἀληθῶς ὄφεως ἡ τούτων μυσσὰρὰ θρησκεία καὶ Αἰθίοπες μεμελανωμένοι τῇ ἀμαρτίᾳ οἱ ταύτην τὴν τελετὴν τοῦ νῦν μὲν δαίμονος Διὸς πάλαι δὲ γόητος,

26.16.6 | for truly the food of a snake is the filthy religion of these people, and the Ethiopians, darkened by sin, perform this ceremony of the demon Zeus now, but long ago of a sorcerer,

26.16.7 | τοῦ παρά τισι θεοῦ μάτην νενομισμένου τελοῦντες. ἐκ γὰρ Ἑλληνικῶν μύθων πᾶσαι αἱ αἰρέσεις συνάξασαι ἑαυταῖς τὴν πλάνην μετέβαλον, μεταποιήσασαι εἰς ἄλλην διάνοιαν χείρονα.

26.16.7 | worshiping a god wrongly honored by some. for from Greek myths all the sects gathered their error for themselves and changed it, turning it into a worse belief.

26.16.8 | παρεισφέρουσι γὰρ οἱ ποιηταὶ τὸν Δία τὴν Μῆτιν θυγατέρα ἑαυτοῦ καταπιόντα. βρέφος δὲ οὐκ ἂν τις καταπίοι, ὡς καὶ ὁ ἅγιος Κλήμης καταγελῶν τῆς τῶν θεῶν τῶν Ἑλλήνων αἰσχρουργίας εἶπεν ὅτι τὴν Μῆτιν καταπιὼν οὐχὶ τὸ βρέφος ἠδύνατο καταπιεῖν, ἀλλὰ τὴν γονὴν τὴν ἰδίαν * σημαίνων.

26.16.8 | for the poets introduce that Zeus swallowed his daughter Metis. but no one would swallow a baby, as even the holy Clement, mocking the shameful acts of the Greek gods, said that it was not the baby he could swallow, but his own nature, meaning.

Section 17

26.17.1 | 17. Τί δὲ ἕτερον εἴποιμι; ἢ πῶς ἀποσεῖσθαι τὸν πηλώδη τοῦτον πόνον, βουλόμενος μὲν εἰπεῖν καὶ μὴ βουλόμενος, ἀναγκαζόμενος δέ, ἵνα μὴ δόξω τι τῶν ὄντων παρακρύπτειν, καὶ φοβούμενος ἵνα μὴ ἀποκαλύπτων τὰ δεινὰ αὐτῶν ἢ χράνω ἢ πλήξω ἢ εἰς τὸ περιεργάσασθαι περὶ τούτου τοὺς ἀπαγομένους ἡδοναῖς καὶ ἐπιθυμίαις ἐποτρύνω.

26.17.1 | What else should I say? Or how can I shake off this muddy pain, wanting to speak a little but also not wanting to, forced not to hide some of the truth, and afraid that by revealing their terrible deeds I might help or hurt or encourage those who are led by pleasures and desires to meddle in this?

26.17.2 | ὁμως ἐγὼ μὲν ἀθῶος εἶην καὶ πᾶσα ἡ τῆς ἁγίας καθολικῆς ἐκκλησίας † ἐλπίς καὶ πάντες οἱ τούτῳ τῷ γράμματι ἐντυγχάνοντες ἀπὸ τῆς τοιαύτης τοῦ διαβόλου ὑποσπορᾶς καὶ κακομηχανίαις·

26.17.2 | Still, i would be innocent, and all the hope of the holy universal church, and all who meet this writing, would be free from such devilish planting and evil tricks.

26.17.3 | ἐὰν γὰρ <ἀνα>λάβω λέγειν τὰ ἄλλα τὰ παρ' αὐτοῖς λεγόμενα καὶ γινόμενα ὅσα ἐστὶ τοιαῦτα καὶ τοσαῦτα, καὶ τούτων ἔτι μείζονα καὶ † ἐλάττω, θελήσω δὲ καὶ ὡς φάρμακον ἰάσεως ἀλεξητήριον ἀντιδότων δίκην πρὸς ἐκάστην λέξιν ἀντιθεῖναι, εἰς πολὺν ὄγκον ἐλάσω τῆς συντάξεως τὴν πραγματείαν.

26.17.3 | For if i take up to say the other things said and done by them, as many and such, and even greater or less than these, i will want also to oppose each word as a kind of healing medicine, a remedy giving back punishment, and i will drive the whole discussion into a much larger volume.

26.17.4 | ταύτῃ γὰρ τῇ αἰρέσει, ἐπιπόθητοι, καὶ αὐτὸς περιέτυχον, ἐκ στόματος δὲ τῶν ταύτην ἐπιχειρούντων φύσει αὐτὰ αὐτοπροσώπως ἐνηχήθην· γυναῖκες δὲ οὕτως ἡπατημέναι οὐ μόνον τὴν λαλιὰν ταύτην ἡμῖν προέτειναν καὶ τὰ τοιαῦτα ἡμῖν ἀπεκάλυψαν, ἀλλὰ καὶ κατὰ τὴν Αἰγυπτίαν ἐκείνην τὴν τοῦ ἀρχιμαγείρου τὴν ἀλετήριον καὶ μοχθηρὰν καὶ αὐταὶ χρυσογλώττῳ τόλμῃ κατασπάσαι ἡμᾶς ἐν τῇ νέᾳ ἡμῶν ἡλικίᾳ ὀρεχθεῖσαι ἐπεχείρουν.

26.17.4 | For in this heresy, most hateful, i myself was caught, and from the mouths of those trying this, i heard these things directly by nature; and women, so deceived, not only offered us this talk and revealed such things to us, but also, in that Egypt, the mill of the chief cook, wicked and cruel, they tried to drag us away with golden-tongued boldness, stirred up in our young age.

26.17.5 | ἀλλὰ ὁ τότε συμπαραστὰς τῷ ἀγίῳ Ἰωσήφ καὶ ἡμῖν παρέστη. καὶ τὸν ἐκεῖνον ἐκεῖ ῥυσάμενον ἐπικεκλημένοι οἱ ἀνάξιοι καὶ ἀνίκανοι, ἐλεθέντας καὶ ἀποδράντες τὰς ἀλιτηρίους αὐτῶν χεῖρας, θεῶ τῷ παναγίῳ ὕμνον ᾄσαντες ἠδυνήθημεν καὶ αὐτοὶ λέγειν τό »ἄσωμεν τῷ κυρίῳ, ἐνδόξως γὰρ δεδόξασται, ἵππον καὶ ἀναβάτην ἔρριψεν εἰς θάλασσαν«.

26.17.5 | But the one then standing with holy Joseph and with us was present. And those unworthy and weak, called there, saved that man there, and after having mercy and escaping their wicked hands, singing a hymn to the all-holy god, we ourselves were able to say this: "let us sing to the lord, for he has been gloriously glorified, he threw horse and rider into the sea."

26.17.6 | οὐ γὰρ ὁμοίᾳ δυνάμει τῆς ἐκείνου δικαιοσύνης, ἀλλὰ στεναγμῷ τῷ πρὸς τὸν θεὸν ἐλεηθέντες ἐσώθημεν. ὀνειδιζόμενος γὰρ ὑπ' αὐτῶν τῶν ὀλετηρίων γυναικῶν κατεγέλων ἐγώ, ὡς ὑπέφαινον αἱ τοιαῦται ἀλλήλαις ἐπισχώπτουσαι δῆθεν), ὅτι οὐκ ἠδυνήθημεν σῶσαι τὸν νεανίσκον, ἀλλὰ ἀφήκαμεν αὐτὸν ἐν χερσὶ τοῦ ἄρχοντος ἀπόλλυσθαι·

26.17.6 | For not by the same power of that man's justice, but by a sigh toward god, having been shown mercy, we were saved. For I was mocked by those destructive women, as I was showing (they said) that such women, pretending to hold back one another, could not save the young man, but left him in the hands of the ruler to be destroyed.

26.17.7 | ἐπειδήπερ ἦτις αὐτῶν εὐμορφοτέρα εἶη δέλεαρ ὥσπερ ἑαυτὴν προτίθισιν, ὥστε δι' αὐτῆς τοὺς ἀπατωμένους ἀντὶ τοῦ ἀπολλύειν σῶζειν ἐπιφημίζειν. καὶ ὄνειδος λοιπὸν τῇ ἀμόρφῳ γίνεται παρὰ τῶν εὐμορφοτέρων, ὅτι ἐγώ. φησί, σκευδός εἰμι ἐκλογῆς, δυναμένη σῶζειν τοὺς ἀπαωμένους, σὺ δὲ οὐκ ἴσχυσας.

26.17.7 | Since whichever of them was more beautiful offered herself as a bait, so that through her she claimed to save those being deceived instead of destroying them. And the shame then falls on the less beautiful from the more beautiful, because I, she says, am a chosen vessel, able to save those being deceived, but you did not have the strength.

26.17.8 | ἦσαν μὲν οὖν αἱ τὸν ἀγώγιμον μῦθον τοῦτον ὑφηγούμεναι τῇ μορφῇ τῆς αὐτῶν ὄψεως εὐπροσώποταται, τῷ δὲ νῷ τῆς αὐτῶν μοχθηρίας τὴν πᾶσαν τοῦ διαβόλου ἀμορφίαν κεκτημέναι. ἀλλὰ ὁ ἐλεήμων θεὸς τῆς μοχθηρίας αὐτῶν ἡμᾶς ἐρρύσατο, ὥστε μετὰ τὸ ἀναγνῶναι ἡμᾶς καὶ τὰς βίβλους αὐτῶν καὶ ἐπιστῆσαι τὸν νοῦν τῇ ἀληθείᾳ καὶ μὴ συναπαχθῆναι, ἀποδρᾶσαί τε καὶ μὴ δελεασθῆναι,

26.17.8 | So those who told this misleading story were the most beautiful in the look of their face, but in the mind of their wickedness they had all the ugliness of the devil. But the merciful god saved us from their wickedness, so that after reading their books and fixing our mind on the truth and not being carried away, we were able to run away and not be tricked.

26.17.9 | τὸ τηνικαῦτα ἐσπουδάσαμεν καὶ τοῖς ἐπισκόποις τοῖς ἐν τῷ τόπῳ ἐκείνῳ αὐτοὺς ὑποδείξαι καὶ τὰ ὀνόματα <τὰ> ἐν τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ κρυμμένα φωρᾶσαι, <ὡς> καὶ τοὺς αὐτοὺς ἀπελαθῆναι τῆς πόλεως, περὶ που

26.17.9 | At that time we made an effort to show them to the bishops in that place and to reveal the names hidden in the church, so that they themselves might be driven out of the city, about eighty of them, and the city might be cleansed of their weedy όγδοήκοντα, καὶ τὴν πόλιν τῆς αὐτῶν ζιζανιώδους ὕλης καὶ ἀκανθώδους and thorny kind of matter.

Section 18

26.18.1 | 18. Μνημονεύσας δέ τις τῆς ἄνω ἡμῶν ὑποσχέσεως τάχα καὶ ἐπαινέσειεν, ὡς ἡμῶν προαγγελιάντων ὅτι τισὶν αὐτῶν παρετύχομεν, τινὰ δὲ διὰ συγγραμμάτων συνώκαμεν, τινὰ δὲ δι' ἐνηχήσεων τε καὶ μαρτυριῶν ἀξιοπίστων ἀνδρῶν δυναμένων ἡμῖν τὴν ἀλήθειαν ὑποδεικνύναι, ὡς καὶ ἐνταῦθα φιλαλήθως οὐχ ὑπερβεβήκαμεν τὸν τόπον, ἀλλὰ ἐδείξαμεν ὡς μία ἐστὶν αὕτη τῶν ἡμῖν περιτυχουσῶν αἰρέσεων.

26.18.1 | Someone remembering our promise above might soon praise us, since we announced that we met some of them, some we knew through writings, and some through trustworthy men's voices and testimonies who could show us the truth, so that here too we did not go beyond the place in love of truth, but showed that this is one of the heresies that we have met.

26.18.2 | καὶ σαφῶς περὶ ταύτης ἡδυνήθημεν λέγειν ἐξ ὧν μὴ γένοιτο) οὐ πράξαντες, ἀλλὰ μεμαθηκότες ἀκριβῶς <ἐγνώκαμεν> παρὰ τῶν εἰς τοῦτο πειθόντων καὶ μὴ κατισχυσάντων, ἀλλὰ τὴν ἑαυτῶν ἐλπίδα τῆς εἰς ἡμᾶς ἀπωλείας ἀπολεσάντων καὶ μὴ ἐπιτυχόντων τοῦ σκοποῦ τῆς εἰς τὴν τάλαιναν ἡμῶν ψυχὴν ἐπιχειρουμένης ὑπ' αὐτῶν τε καὶ τοῦ ἐν αὐτοῖς διαβόλου συσκευῆς,

26.18.2 | And clearly about this (may it not happen) we were able to speak, not acting but having learned, we knew exactly from those who persuaded us to this and did not overpower us, but lost their own hope of destroying us and did not succeed in their plan against our poor soul, which was attacked by them and by the devil's scheme within them,

26.18.3 | ὡς καὶ συνωδὰ ἡμᾶς λέγειν τῷ ἁγιωτάτῳ Δαυίδ ὅτι »βέλη νηπίων ἐγενήθησαν αἱ πληγαὶ αὐτῶν' καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς, καὶ ὅτι »ἐπιστρέψει ὁ πόνος αὐτῶν εἰς κεφαλὴν αὐτῶν, ἡ καὶ ἡ ἀδικία αὐτῶν ἐπὶ κορυφὴν αὐτῶν καταβήσεται«. ὡς οὖν περιτυχόντες καὶ ἀποδράντες καὶ ἀναγνόντες, γνόντες καὶ καταγνόντες, σωθέντες τε ὑπερβεβήκαμεν, οὕτω καὶ σὲ τὸν ἀναγινώσκοντα παρακαλοῦμεν ἀναγνόντα καὶ καταγνόντα τοῦ *

26.18.3 | As also the most holy David sings to us that "the wounds of their arrows have become infantile," and what follows, and that "their pain will turn back on their own head, and their injustice will come down on their own crown." So, having met, escaped, read, known, and understood, and having been saved, we have gone beyond. Thus, we also urge you, the reader, to read and understand, and to go beyond, so as not to fall into the poison of the wickedness of ὑπερβῆναι, εἰς τὸ μὴ ἐμπεσεῖν ἐν τῷ ἰῶ τῆς τῶν ἐρπετῶν τούτων μοχθηρίας.

these serpents.

26.18.5 | ἀλλ' εἰ καὶ ποτε περιτύχοις τισὶ τῶν ἀπὸ τῆς ὀφιδώδους ταύτης σχολῆς, εὐθύς τὸ ξύλον ἀναλαβὼν τὸ διὰ τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῖν ἐτοιμασθέν, ἐν ᾧ ὁ ἰ κύριος ἡμῶν προσεπάγη Χριστός, &καὶ& κατὰ τῆς κεφαλῆς τοῦ ὄφεως εὐθύς βαλὼν εἴποις ὅτι Χριστὸς ἐσταύρωται ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν, ὑπογραμμὸν ἡμῖν περιλιμπάνων' σωτηρίας·

26.18.5 | But if ever you happen to meet some of those from this snake-like group, immediately take up the wooden stick prepared for us by the Lord, in which our Lord Christ was nailed, and strike straight at the snake's head, saying that Christ was crucified for us, leaving us a sign of salvation.

26.18.6 | ὅτι οὐκ ἂν ἐσταυροῦτο, εἰ μὴ σάρκα εἶχε. σάρκα δὲ ἔχων καὶ σταυρωθεὶς ἐσταύρωσεν ἡμῶν τὰς ἀμαρτίας. πίσκει ἐξομῶν τῆς ἀληθείας καὶ οὐχ ὑπάγομαι πλάνῃ τῇ νοθείᾳ τοῦ ὄφεως καὶ παραψιθυρισμῷ τῆς αὐτοῦ διδασκαλίας.

26.18.6 | Because he would not have been crucified if he did not have flesh. But having flesh and being crucified, he crucified our sins. I hold to the faith of the truth and do not follow the deception of the snake's corruption and the whispering of its teaching.

Section 19

26.19.1 | 19. Λοιπὸν ταύτην παρελθὼν, ἀγαπητοί, ἐφεξῆς βαδιοῦμαι ἐπὶ τὰς ἄλλας τραχείας τρίβους, οὐχ ἵνα βαδίσω, ἀλλ' ἵνα ἀπὸ μήκοθεν ὑποδείξω τοῖς βουλομένοις τὰ τραχύτατα μὲν ἐπιγινώσκειν, φεύγειν δὲ διὰ τῆς στενῆς καὶ τεθλιμμένης ὁδοῦ τῆς φερούσης εἰς ζωὴν αἰώνιον καὶ καταλιμπάνειν τὴν πλατεῖαν καὶ εὐρύχωρον καὶ ἀκανθώδη καὶ προσκομμάτων ἔμπλεον ὁδόν. βορβορώδη καὶ ἀσελγείας καὶ πορνείας ἐμπεπλησμένην,

26.19.1 | So then, having passed this, dear ones, I go on in order through the other rough paths, not to walk them, but to show from afar to those who want to know the very rough ones, and to flee through the narrow and troubled road that leads to eternal life, and to leave behind the wide and spacious and thorny and full of traps road, filled with mud and wickedness and sexual sin.

26.19.2 | ἥς πορνείας καὶ ἀσελγείας τὸ ὅμοιον ἔστιν ἰδεῖν ἐν τῷ ἐρπετῷ τῷ δεινотάτῳ, ᾧ ἐπέθεντο τὸ ὄνομα

26.19.2 | Which is like sexual sin and wickedness to see in the most terrible serpent, to which the ancients gave the ἀπειρώδινον ἔχιδναν οἱ παλαιοί.

name “fearful viper.”

26.19.3 | ἔστι γὰρ τῆς τοιαύτης ἐχίδνης ἡ φύσις ὁμοία τῆς τούτων μοχθηρίας. διὰ γὰρ τῆς ἀνδρείας φύσεως ἢ γυναικείας τὴν αἰσχρότητα ἐπιτελοῦντες ταύτην ἀπαγορεύουσι τὴν τῶν σπερμάτων καταβολήν, ἀφανίζοντες τὴν ἐκ θεοῦ τοῖς κτίσμασι δεδομένην τεκνογονίαν, ὥς καὶ ὁ ἀπόστολος φησι »τὴν γὰρ ἀντιμισθίαν ἣν ἔδει τῆς πλάνης αὐτῶν ἐν ἑαυτοῖς ἀπολαμβάνοντες« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς. οὕτω γάρ.

26.19.3 | For the nature of such a viper is like the wickedness of these. Because by the courage of a man or a woman, doing shameful things, they forbid the laying down of seed, destroying the god-given ability to have children in creatures, as the apostle says, “For they receive in themselves the due penalty of their error,” and what follows. For it is so.

26.19.4 | He says, the “unhandsome viper,” drawn by the passion of desire, the female toward the male and the male toward the female, wandering together, with the female’s mouth gaping, attacks the male’s head, and when the male is overcome by passion, cuts off his head. And so, the poison dripping from the mouth swallows itself, carrying within it such a male-female pair pregnant inside. This pair, having been strengthened in the...

26.19.5 | κοιλίᾳ καὶ μὴ ἔχον πόθεν γεννηθῆναι τὴν πλευρὰν τῆς μητρὸς τιτρώσκειν καὶ οὕτως γεννᾶσθαι, ὥστε ἀπολεσθαι τὸν τε τούτων πατέρα καὶ τὴν μητέρα. διόπερ ἀπειρώδινον αὐτῇ ἐπέθεντο ὄνομα, ὅτι ὠδίνων οὐ πειρᾶται.

26.19.5 | belly, and having no place to be born from, it wounds the mother’s side and is born this way, so that both the father and the mother of these are lost. Therefore, they gave it the name “unhandsome,” because it does not try to give birth with pain.

26.19.6 | δεινὴ δὲ καὶ φοβερὰ παρὰ πάντα τὰ ἐρπετὰ τυγχάνει, ἐν ἑαυτῇ τὸν ἀφανισμόν ἐξεργαζομένη καὶ διὰ στόματος τὴν αἰσχρότητα ἀπολαμβάνουσα, ἣ ἔοικεν αὕτῃ ἢ φρενοβλαβῆς αἵρεσις, ἥς τὴν

26.19.6 | It is terrible and more frightening than all the reptiles, working destruction within itself and receiving shame through its mouth, like this crazy heresy. Having crushed its head and body and those born from it here, let us go on to examine the others with the wood of life, calling on god for help. To whom be honor and power forever and ever, amen.

Book 27

Section 1

27.1.1 | Καρποκράς τις ἕτερος γίνεται, συστήσας ἑαυτῷ ἀθέμιτον διδασκαλεῖον τῆς ψευδωνύμου αὐτοῦ αὐτοῦ χείρονας πάντων οὗτος τοὺς τρόπους κεκτημένος.

27.1.1 | Another man named Carpocrates comes to be, setting up for himself an unlawful school of teaching, worse than his own false name, having gained these ways.

27.1.2 | ἐκ πάντων γὰρ τούτων, Σίμωνός τε καὶ Μενάνδρου. Σατορνίλου τε καὶ Βασιλείδου καὶ Νικολάου καὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Καρποκρά, ἔτι δὲ ἐκ προφάσεως Οὐαλεντίνου ἢ τῆς Ψευδωνύμου γνώσεως ἐφύη αἵρεσις, ἣτις Γνωστικούς τοὺς αὐτῆς ὠνόμασεν, ἀφ' ἧς οἱ Γνωστικοὶ ἤδη μοι δεδήλωνται, κατὰγνωστοὶ ὄντες τὸν τροπον.

27.1.2 | For from all these, Simon and Menander, Saturnilus and Basileides and Nikolaos and Carpocrates himself, and also from the pretense of Valentinus, the heresy of the False Knowledge grew, which called its followers Gnostics, from whom the Gnostics have already been shown to me, their way being unknown.

Section 2

27.2.1 | 2. Οὗτος δὲ πόλιν ἄνω μὲν μίαν ἀρχὴν λέγει καὶ πατέρα τῶν ὅλων καὶ ἄγνωστον καὶ ἀκατονόμαστον ἴσα τοῖς ἄλλοις εἰσάγειν βούλεται, τὸν δὲ κόσμον καὶ τὰ ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ ὑπὸ ἀγγέλων γεγενῆσθαι, τῶν πολὺ τι ὑπὸ τοῦ πατρὸς τοῦ ἀγνώστου ὑποβεβηκότων· τούτους γὰρ λέγει ἀποστάντας ἀπὸ τῆς ἄνω δυνάμεως οὕτω τὸν κόσμον πεποιηκέναι.

27.2.1 | He says that the city above is one beginning and father of all, unknown and unnameable, equal to the others he wants to bring in, but that the world and the things in the world were made by angels, many of whom have fallen from the unknown father; for he says these have rebelled from the power above and so made the world.

27.2.2 | Ἰησοῦν δὲ τὸν κύριον ἡμῶν ἀπὸ Ἰωσήφ λέγει γεγεννησθαι, καθάπερ καὶ πάντες ἄνθρωποι ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνδρὸς καὶ γυναικὸς ἐγεννήθησαν. εἶναι δὲ αὐτὸν ὅμοιον τοῖς πᾶσι, βίῳ δὲ διενηνοχέναι, σωφροσύνη τε καὶ ἀρετῇ καὶ βίῳ δικαιοσύνης.

27.2.2 | He says that Jesus, our lord, was born from Joseph, just as all people were born from the seed of a man and a woman. And that he was like all others, living a life full of self-control, goodness, and a life of justice.

27.2.3 | ἐπειδὴ δέ, φηοῖν, εὐτονον ἔσχε ψυχὴν παρὰ τοὺς ἄλλους ἀνθρώπους καὶ ἐμνημόνευεν τὰ ὁραθέντα ὑπ' αὐτῆς ἄνω, ὅτε ἦν ἐν τῇ περιφορᾷ τοῦ ἀγνώστου πατρὸς, ἀπεστάλθαι ὑπὸ τοῦ αὐτοῦ πατρὸς, φησὶν, εἰς τὴν αὐτοῦ ψυχὴν δυνάμεις, ὅπως τὰ ὁραθέντα αὐτῇ

27.2.3 | Since, he says, the soul had a special tone compared to other people and remembered the things it saw above, when it was in the care of the unknown father, it was sent by the same father, he says, powers into its own soul, so that the things seen by it...

27.2.4 | ἀναμνημονεύσασα καὶ ἐνδυναμωθείσα φύγῃ τοὺς κοσμοποιοὺς ἀγγέλους ἐν τῷ διὰ πάντων χωρῆσαι τῶν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ πραγμάτων καὶ πράξεων τῶν ὑπὸ τῶν ἀνθρώπων γινομένων καὶ ἐν παραβύστῳ ἀτόπων ἔργων καὶ ἀθεμίτων,

27.2.4 | remembering and strengthened, it may flee the world-making angels in the space through all things that hold the actions and deeds done by humans in the world, and in the place of strange and unlawful works,

27.2.5 | καὶ ὅπως διὰ πασῶν τῶν πράξεων ἐλευθερωθεῖσα ἡ αὐτὴ ψυχὴ, φησί, τοῦ Ἰησοῦ ἀνέλθῃ πρὸς τὸν αὐτὸν πατέρα τὸν ἄγνωστον, τὸν δυνάμεις αὐτῇ ἀποστείλαντα ἄνωθεν, ἵνα διὰ πασῶν τῶν πράξεων χωρήσασα καὶ ἐλευθερωθεῖσα διέλθοι πρὸς αὐτὸν ὄνω.

27.2.5 | and so that through all the deeds, the same soul, he says, of Jesus may go up to the same unknown father, who sent powers to it from above, so that having passed through all the deeds and being freed, it may go back up to him.

27.2.6 | οὐ μὴν δὲ ἀλλὰ καὶ τὰς ὁμοίας αὐτῇ ψυχάς, <τὰς> τὰ ἴσα αὐτῇ ἀσπασάμενας, τὸν αὐτὸν τρόπον ἐλευθερωθείσας ἄνω πτῆναι πρὸς τὸν ἄγνωστον πατέρα, ἐν τῷ τὰς πάσας

27.2.6 | and not only that, but also the souls like it, those equal to it and welcomed, freed in the same way to fly up to the unknown father, having done all the deeds πράξεις πραξάσας ὁμοίως <τε> in the same way, and 27.2.7 | τῶν πάντων ἀπαλλαγείσας λοιπὸν ἐλευθερωθῆναι. τὴν τὴν ψυχὴν τοῦ Ἰησοῦ ἐν τοῖς τῶν Ἰουδαίων ἔθουσιν ἀνατραφεῖσαν καταφρονῆσαι αὐτῶν καὶ διὰ τοῦτο δυνάμεις εἰληφέναι, δι' ὧν τὰ ἐπὶ κολάσεσι πάθη προσόντα τοῖς ἀνθρώποις δυνηθεῖσα † πράξει ὑπερβῆναι τοὺς κοσμοποιούς ἴσχυσεν.

27.2.7 | and having been freed from all things at last. the soul of Jesus, having been brought up among the customs of the Jews, despised them and because of this received powers, through which, able to endure the punishments that come to people, it was able to go beyond and overcome the world-making powers.

27.2.8 | οὐ μόνον δὲ αὐτὴν τὴν Ψυχὴν τοῦ Ἰησοῦ τοῦτο δεδυνῆσθαι, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὴν δυναμένην διὰ <πασῶν> τῶν χωρῆσαι ὑπερβῆναι τοὺς κοσμοποιούς αὐτοὺς ἀγγέλους· καὶ αὐτὴ ἐὰν λάβῃ δυνάμεις καὶ τὰ ὅμοια πράξῃ, * καθάπερ ἡ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ, ὡς προεῖπον.

27.2.8 | not only this soul of Jesus is able to do this, but also the one able, through all things, to pass beyond those world-making angels themselves; and if she receives powers and does similar deeds, just like the soul of Jesus, as I said before.

27.2.9 | ὅθεν εἰς τυφὸν μέγαν οὔτοι ἐληλακότες οἱ ὑπὸ τοῦ ἀπατεῶνος τούτου ἀπατηθέντες ἑαυτοὺς προκριτέους ἡγοῦνται καὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ.

27.2.9 | therefore, having been driven into great blindness, those deceived by this trickster think themselves better judges even than Jesus himself.

27.2.10 | ἄλλοι δὲ ἐξ αὐτῶν οὐκ Ἰησοῦ φασιν, ἀλλὰ Πέτρου καὶ Ἀνδρέου καὶ Παύλου καὶ τῶν λοιπῶν ἀποστόλων ἑαυτοὺς ὑπερφερεστέρους εἶναι διὰ τὴν ὑπερβολὴν τῆς γνώσεως καὶ τὸ περισσοτερον τῆς διαπράξεως διαφόρων διεξόδων· ἄλλοι δὲ ἐξ αὐτῶν φάσκουσι μηδὲν διενηνοχέναι τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ.

27.2.10 | but others among them do not say it is Jesus, but that they themselves are better than Peter and Andrew and Paul and the other apostles because of their great knowledge and more varied experiences; and others among them claim that our lord Jesus Christ did nothing at all.

27.2.11 | αἱ γὰρ ψυχαὶ ἐκ τῆς αὐτῆς περιφορᾶς εἰσι καὶ ὁμοίως κατὰ τὴν τοῦ

27.2.11 | for the souls are from the same source and have made the same kind of Ἰησοῦ πάντων καταφρόνησιν ποιησάμεναι δυνάμεως ἠξιώθησαν ἥς καὶ ἡ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ ἠξίωται· διὸ καὶ ταῦτα > φασὶ χωρεῖν διὰ πάσης πράξεως, καθάπερ ἀμέλει καὶ ἡ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ διελήλυθεν. εἰ δὲ καὶ τις πάλιν δυνηθεῖ ὑπὲρ τὸν Ἰησοῦν καταφρονῆσαι, διαφορώτερος ἔσται αὐτοῦ.

total rejection of everything like Jesus did; and all, it says, were worthy of the same power that Jesus is worthy of; so they say these souls can do everything, just like Jesus passed through without care. but if anyone could again reject beyond Jesus, they would be even more different from him.

Section 3

27.3.1 | 3. Ἐπιχειροῦσι δὲ οἱ τῆς ἀθεμίτου

27.3.1 | those of this unlawful group try many kinds of terrible and deadly acts. for they invented magic, and they found many spells for every trick, for potions and charms. and not only that, but they also watch demons as their helpers, so that by much sorcery they might become very powerful over everything, so they say, and rule over whatever they want and dare to try to do.

27.3.2 | δῆθεν ἑαυτοὺς ἐξαπατῶντες πρὸς πληροφορίαν τῆς τετυφλωμένης αὐτῶν διανοίας, ὅτε αἱ τοιαῦτα ἐγχειρήσασαι <ψυχαί> κατιούσασαι διὰ τῶν τοιούτων πράξεων καταφρονήσασαι τῶν κοσμοποιῶν ἀγγέλων καὶ τῶν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ, ὑπερβαίνουσι τὴν τῶν αὐτῶν μυθοποιῶν (οὐ γὰρ ἂν εἴποιμι κοσμοποιῶν) ἐξουσίαν, ὅπως ἂν τὴν ἄνω ἐλευθερίαν ἀσπάζωνται καὶ τὴν ἄνω πτῆσιν κτήσαιντο.

27.3.2 | pretending to deceive themselves about the knowledge of their blinded minds, when these souls have tried such things and poured themselves out through such acts, despising the world-making angels and those in the world, they go beyond the power of their own myth-makers (for I would not call them world-makers), so that they might embrace the freedom above and gain the flight above.

27.3.3 | εἰσὶ δὲ ἐκ τοῦ Σατανᾶ παρεσκευασμένοι καὶ προβεβλημένοι εἰς ὄνειδος καὶ σκάνδαλον τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ

27.3.3 | they are prepared and set up by Satan to be a disgrace and a trap for the church of God. for they called themselves ἐκκλησίας. ἐπέθεντο γὰρ ἑαυτοῖς ἐπίκλην Χριστιανοί, τοῦτο τοῦ Σατανᾶ παρασκευάσαντος πρὸς τὸ σκανδαλίζεσθαι τὰ ἔθνη δι' αὐτῶν καὶ ἀποστρέφεσθαι τὴν τῆς ἁγίας τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίας ὡφέλειαν καὶ τὸ ἀληθινὸν κήρυγμα διὰ τὰς ἐκείνων ἀθεμιτουργίας καὶ ἀνηκέστου<ς>

Christians, which Satan made ready to cause the nations to stumble through them and to turn away from the help of God's holy church and the true message because of their unlawful works and incurable...

27.3.4 | κακοπραγίας, εἰς τὸ τὰ ἔθνη κατανοοῦντα αὐτῶν τὰ ἐπάλληλα ἔργα τῶν ἀθεμιτουργιῶν, νομίσαντα καὶ τοὺς τῆς ἁγίας τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίας τοιούτους εἶναι, ἀποστρέφειν ὡς καὶ προεῖπον τὴν ἀκοὴν ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ κατὰ ἀλήθειαν διδασκαλίας ἢ καὶ ὁρῶντά τινας * πάντας <ἡμᾶς> ὁμοίως βλασφημεῖν.

27.3.4 | of wickedness, so that the nations, seeing their repeated unlawful works, think that even those of God's holy church are like them, and turn away, as I said before, from the true teaching of God's word, or even seeing some, they all blaspheme us in the same way.

27.3.5 | καὶ τούτου ἕνεκα οἱ πλείους τῶν ἐθνῶν ὅπου δᾶν ἴδωσι τοιούτους οὔτε ἐπὶ κοινωνίᾳ ἡμῖν προσφέρονται ληφοδοσίας ἢ γνώμης ἢ ἀκοῆς λόγου θεοῦ οὔτε τὴν ἀκοὴν ἐντιθέασιν, ἐπτυρμένοι ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν ἀθεμίτων ἀνοσιουργίας.

27.3.5 | and because of this, most of the nations, wherever they see such people, neither offer us fellowship nor accept our gifts or advice or hearing of God's word, nor do they listen carefully, being disgusted by the unlawful wickedness.

Section 4

27.4.1 | 4. Εἰσὶ δὲ ἐν ἄσωτίᾳ διατελοῦντες οὗτοι καὶ πᾶν ὅτιοῦν ἐργαζόμενοι πρὸς εὐπάθειαν σωμάτων, ἡμῖν δὲ ὅλως οὐ προσεγγίζοντες, εἰ μὴ τι ἂν πρὸς τὸ δελεάσαι ψυχὰς ἀστηρίκτους τῇ αὐτῶν κακοδιδασκαλίᾳ. εἰς οὐδὲν γὰρ ἡμῖν ὁμοιοῦνται ἢ μόνον ὀνόματι καλεῖσθαι σεμνύνονται, ὅπως διὰ τοῦ ὀνόματος τὸ ἐπίπλαστον τῆς ἑαυτῶν κακίας θηράσονται.

27.4.1 | 4. These people live in wild sin and do any kind of work to please their bodies, but they do not come near us at all, except maybe to trick souls with their false teaching. For they are not like us in any way except that they proudly call themselves by our name, so that through the name they might hide their own evil.

27.4.2 | »τὸ δὲ κρίμα τούτων' κατὰ τὸ

27.4.2 | »But the judgment of these people γεγραμμένον »ἐνδικόν ἐστιν«, ὡς ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος Παῦλος ἔφη· διὰ γὰρ τὰς κακὰς αὐτῶν πράξεις τὸ ἀνταπόδομα ἀποδοθήσεται αὐτοῖς.

is, according to what is written, »just«, as the holy apostle Paul said; for because of their bad deeds, the punishment will be given to them.

27.4.3 | ἀδεῶς γὰρ τὸν νοῦν αὐτῶν εἰς οἴστρον ἐκδεδωκότες πάθεσιν ἡδονῶν μυρίων ἑαυτοὺς παραδεδώκασι. φασὶ γὰρ ὅτι ὅσα νομίζεται παρὰ ἐνθρώποις κακὰ εἶναι οὐ κακὰ ὑπάρχει, ἀλλὰ φύσει καλὰ οὐδὲν γὰρ ἐστὶ φύσει κακόν), τοῖς δὲ ἀνθρώποις νομίζεται εἶναι φαῦλα.

27.4.3 | For they have given their minds without fear to a madness of many pleasures, and have handed themselves over to suffering. For they say that whatever is thought to be bad by people is not really bad by nature, but nothing is bad by nature; it only seems bad to people.

27.4.4 | And if someone does all these things in this one life, the soul will no longer be put into a body again to be changed back, but having done one act, it will be freed from all action, freed and no longer owing anything for actions in the world. But what kind of action should i fear to call again, except that i will reveal a sewer covered like a pit of filth and seem to some to bring on a deadly bad smell. But still, since we are following the truth to reveal these things to those who are fooled, i will force myself to speak more seriously and not go beyond the truth.

27.4.6 | τί δὲ ἀλλ' ὅτι πᾶσαν ἀρρητουργίαν καὶ ἀθέμιτον πρᾶξιν, ἣν οὐ θεμιτὸν ἐπὶ στόματος φέρειν, οὗτοι πράττουσιν καὶ πᾶν εἶδος ἀνδροβασιῶν καὶ λαγνιστέρων ὁμιλιῶν πρὸς γυναῖκας ἐν ἐκάστῳ μέλει σώματος·

27.4.6 | And what else but that they do every kind of shameful and unlawful act, which is not right to speak of, and every kind of manly and lustful meeting with women in every part of the body?

27.4.7 | μαγείας τε καὶ φαρμακείας καὶ εἰδωλολατρείας ἐκτελοῦντες τοῦτο εἶναί

27.4.7 | And practicing magic and poison-making and idol worship, they say this is φασιν έργασίαν ἀποδόσεως τῶν ἐν τῷ σώματι ὀφλημάτων εἰς τὸ μηκέτι ἐγκαλεῖσθαι ἢ μέλλειν τι πράξεως ἔργον ἀπαιτεῖσθαι, καὶ τούτου ἕνεκα μὴ ἀποστρέφεσθαι τὴν ψυχὴν μετὰ τὴν ἐντεῦθεν ἀπαλλαγὴν καὶ πάλιν εἰς μετενσωμάτωσιν καὶ μεταγγισμὸν χωρεῖν.

the work of paying back the debts in the body so that they will no longer be blamed or have to demand any work of action, and because of this, the soul does not turn away after being freed here and does not go again into rebirth and change of body.

Section 5

27.5.1 | 5. Οὕτως γὰρ ἄχει τὰ αὐτῶν συντάγματα ὥς ἀναγνόντα τὸν συνετὸν θαυμέζειν καὶ ἐκπλήττεσθαι καὶ ἀοριστεῖν εἰ ταῦτα οὕτως ὑπὸ ἀνθρώπων γενήσεται, οὐ μόνον τῶν δαθ' ἡμᾶς πόλιν κατοικοῦντων, ἀλλὰ καὶ τῶν μετὰ θηρῶν καὶ ὁμοίων θηρσὶ καὶ κτήνεοι * καὶ σχεδὸν εἰπεῖν τὰ κυνῶν καὶ ὑῶν πράττειν τολμώντων.

27.5.1 | For their plans are carried out in such a way that when a wise person reads them, they wonder and are amazed and hesitate to believe that these things will happen like this by humans, not only by those living in our city, but also by those among beasts and creatures like beasts, and almost to say, daring to do the acts of dogs and pigs.

27.5.2 | φασὶ γὰρ δεῖν πάντως πᾶσαν χρῆσιν τούτων ποιεῖσθαι, ἵνα μὴ ἐξελθοῦσαι καὶ ὑστερήσασαί τινος ἔργου τούτου ἕνεκα καταστραφῶσιν εἰς σώματα πάλιν αἱ ψυχαὶ εἰς τὸ πράξει αὐθις ἃ μὴ ἔπραξαν.

27.5.2 | For they say it is necessary to make full use of all these things, so that souls, having gone out and failed in some work because of this, are not destroyed but return again into bodies to do again what they did not do.

27.5.3 | καὶ τοῦτο ἐστὶ, φασίν, ὅπερ ὁ Ἰησοῦς ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ εἶπεν διὰ τῆς παραβολῆς ὅτι ἴσθι εὐνοῶν τῷ ἀντιδίκῳ σου ἐν ᾧ εἶ ἐν τῇ ὁδῷ μετ' αὐτοῦ κοὶ δὸς ἐργασίαν ἀπηλλάχθαι ἀπ' αὐτοῦ, μή πως ὁ ἀντίδικος παραδῷ σε τῷ κριτῇ καὶ ὁ κριτὴς τῷ ὑπηρέτῃ, καὶ ὁ ὑπηρέτης βάλῃ σε εἰς φυλακὴν· ἀμὴν λέγω σοί, οὐ μὴ ἐξέλθῃς ἐκεῖθεν, ἵως ἂν ἀποδῷς τὸν ἔσχατον κοδράντην». μῦθον δέ τινα πλάττουσιν οἱ αὐτοὶ πρὸς ἐπίλυσιν τῆς παραβολῆς ταύτης καὶ φασιν εἶναι τὸν ἀντίδικον ἐκεῖνον τῶν

27.5.3 | And this is, they say, what Jesus said in the gospel through the parable: 'Be kind to your opponent while you are on the way with him, and give him work to avoid being handed over by him; for if the opponent hands you over to the judge, and the judge to the officer, the officer will throw you into prison. Truly I tell you, you will not come out from there until you have paid the last penny.' They make up a certain story to explain this parable, saying that the opponent is one of the angels who τὸν κόσμον πεποιηκότων ἀγγέλων ἓνα καὶ εἰς αὐτὸ τοῦτο κατεσκευάσθαι, εἰς τὸ ἀπάγειν τὰς ψυχὰς πρὸς τὸν κριτὴν τὰς ἐντεῦθεν ἐξερχομένας ἐκ τῶν σωμάτων ἐκεῖσε δὲ ἐλεγχόμενας· μὴ ποιησάσας δὲ πᾶσαν ἐργασίαν παραδίδοσθαι ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄρχοντος τῷ ὑπηρέτῃ.

made the world, and that he was made for this purpose, to take the souls that come out of the bodies from here to the judge there to be judged; and if they have not done every work, they are handed over by the ruler to the officer.

27.5.5 | ἄγγελον δὲ εἶναι τὸν ὑπηρέτην, ἐξυπηρετούμενον τῷ κριτῇ τῷ κοσμοποιῷ εἰς τὸ φέρειν τὰς ψυχὰς πάλιν καὶ εἰς σώματα καταγγίλζειν διάφορα. εἶναι δὲ τὸν ἀντίδικον τοῦτον, ὃν ἔφημεν τὸν κύριον εἰρηκέναι ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ, ὃν οὗτοι ἄγγελον ἄγγελον τῶν κοσμοποιῶν φασιν, ὄνομα ἔχοντα Διάβολον.

27.5.5 | And the officer is an angel serving the judge who made the world, to bring back the souls and announce various things to the bodies. And this opponent, whom we said the lord spoke of in the gospel, they say is an angel of the world-makers, named Devil.

27.5.6 | φασὶ γὰρ εἶναι τὴν φυλακὴν τὸ σῶμα, τὸν δὲ ἔσχατον κοδράντην θέλουσιν εἶναι τὴν μετενσωμάτωσιν· * καθ' ἐκάστην παρουσίαν σωμάτων ἐπιτελεῖν ἐσχάτην πρᾶξιν καὶ μηκέτι ὑπολείπεσθαι πρὸς τὸ ἀθέμιτόν τι πρᾶξαι. δεῖ γάρ, φασὶν ὡς προείπαμεν, πάντα<di>&ελθοῦσαν καὶ καθ' ἑκάστον καὶ ἐλευθερωθεῖσαν ἐνελθεῖν πρὸς τὸν ἄνω ἄγνωστον, ὑπερβᾶσαν τοὺς κοσμοποιοὺς καὶ τὸν κοσμοποιόν.

27.5.6 | For they say the body is the prison, and the last penny is the rebirth; at each coming of bodies, to complete the last act and no longer leave anything unlawful to do. For it is necessary, they say as we said before, that everything passed through and each one freed must enter to the unknown above, having passed beyond the world-makers and the world-maker.

27.5.7 | φασὶ δὲ πάλιν ὅτι δεῖ κἂν τε ἐν μιᾷ παρουσίᾳ τῆς μετενσωματώσεως πραξάσας λοιπὸν ἄνω ἐλευθερωθείσης ἀπιέναι· εἰ δὲ μὴ ἐν μιᾷ παρουσίᾳ πράξωσι, καθ' ἐκάστην παρουσίαν μετενσωματώσεως κατὰ βραχὺ ποιησάσας ἐκάστου ἔργου ἀθεμίτου τὴν ἐργασίαν λοιπὸν ἐλευθερωθῆναι.

27.5.7 | They say again that even if someone acts only once in the coming of rebirth, after the rest are freed above, they will go away; but if they do not act in one coming, then at each coming of rebirth, having done a little of each unlawful work, they will be freed from the rest.

27.5.8 | λέγουσι δὲ πάλιν ὅτι τοῖς ἀξίοις

27.5.8 | They say again that to the worthy, ἀξιόις καταξιοῦμεν διηγείσθαι, ἵνα πράξωσι τὰ δοκοῦντα εἶναι κακά, οὐκ ὄντα δὲ φύσει κακά. ἵνα μαθόντες ἐλευθερωθῶσι.

we grant to tell, so that they may do what seems to be evil, but is not evil by nature.
So that, having learned, they may be freed.

27.5.9 | σφραγιῖδα δὲ ἐν καυτῇρι ἢ δι' ἐπιτηδεύσεως ξυρίου ἢ ῥαφίδος ἐπιτιθέασιν οὗτοι οἱ ἀπὸ Καρποκράτῃ ἐπὶ τὸν δεξιὸν λοβὸν τοῦ ὡτὸς τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτῶν ἀπατωμένοις.

27.5.9 | These ones from Karpokrates put a mark with a hot iron or by the skill of a razor or needle on the right lobe of the ear of those deceived by them.

Section 6

27.6.1 | Ἦλθεν δὲ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἡδη πως Μαρκελλίνα τις ὑπ' αὐτῶν ἀπατηθεῖσα, ἣ πολλοὺς ἐλυμήνατο ἐν χρόνοις Ἀνικητοῦ ἐπισκόπου Ῥώμης, τοῦ μετὰ τὴν διαδοχὴν Πίου καὶ τῶν ἀνωτέρω.

27.6.1 | A certain Markellina, having been deceived by them, came to us somehow, who troubled many during the time of Aniketos, bishop of Rome, after the succession of Pius and those before him.

27.6.2 | ἐν Ῥώμῃ γὰρ γεγόνασι πρῶτοι Πέτρος καὶ Παῦλος οἱ ἀπόστολοι αὐτοὶ καὶ ἐπίσκοποι, εἴτα Λίνος εἴτα Κλήτος εἴτα Κλήμης, σύγχρονος ὢν Πέτρου καὶ Παύλου, οὗ ἐπιμνημονεύει Παῦλος ἐν τῇ πρὸς Ῥωμαίους ἐπιστολῇ.

27.6.2 | For in Rome, first were Peter and Paul, the apostles themselves and bishops, then Linus, then Cletus, then Clement, who was a contemporary of Peter and Paul, whom Paul mentions in the letter to the Romans.

27.6.3 | καὶ μηδεὶς θαυμάζετω ὅτι πρὸ αὐτοῦ ἄλλοι τὴν ἐπισκοπὴν διεδέξαντο ἀπὸ τῶν ἀποστόλων, ὅντος τούτου συγχρόνου Πέτρου καὶ Παύλου· καὶ οὗτος γὰρ σύγχρονος γίνεται τῶν ἀποστόλων.

27.6.3 | And let no one be amazed that before him others held the bishopric from the apostles, since this one was a contemporary of Peter and Paul; for he too lived at the same time as the apostles.

27.6.4 | εἴτ' οὖν ἔτι περιόντων αὐτῶν ὑπὸ Πέτρου λαμβάνει τὴν χειροθεσίαν τῆς ἐπισκοπῆς καὶ παραιτησάμενος ἤρχει — λέγει γὰρ ἐν μιᾷ τῶν ἐπιστολῶν αὐτοῦ »ἀναχωρῶ, ἄπειμι, εὐσταθεῖτω ὁ λαὸς τοῦ θεοῦ«, τισὶ τοῦτο συμβουλευὼν εὖρομεν

27.6.4 | So then, either while they were still alive, he received the laying on of hands for the bishopric from Peter and, having stepped down, worked elsewhere — for in one of his letters he says, "I am going away, I am leaving; let the people of God be γὰρ ἔν τιςιν ὑπομνηματισμοῖς τοῦτο ἐγκείμενον) — ἥτοι μετὰ τὴν τῶν ἀποστόλων τελευτὴν ὑπὸ τοῦ Κλήτου τοῦ ἐπισκόπου οὗτος καθίσταται, οὐ πάνυ σαφῶς ἴσμεν.

steady,” advising some people (we found this in some notes) — or after the apostles died, he was made bishop by Cletus the bishop. We are not very sure.

27.6.5 | πλὴν ἀλλὰ καὶ οὕτως ἡδύνατο ἔτι περιόντων τῶν ἀποστόλων, φημί δὲ τῶν περὶ Πέτρον καὶ Παῦλον, ἐπισκόπους ἄλλους καθίστασθαι διὰ τὸ τοὺς ἀποστόλους πολλάκις ἐπὶ τὰς ἄλλας πατρίδας στέλλεσθαι τὴν πορείαν ἐπὶ τὸ τοῦ Χριστοῦ κήρυγμα, μὴ δύνασθαι δὲ τὴν τὴν Ρωμαίων πόλιν ἄνευ ἐπισκόπου εἶναι.

27.6.5 | But even so, while the apostles were still alive — I mean Peter and Paul — other bishops could be appointed, because the apostles were often sent on journeys to other homelands to preach Christ, and the city of Rome could not be without a bishop.

27.6.6 | ὁ μὲν γὰρ Παῦλος καὶ ἐπὶ τὴν Σπανίαν ἀφικνεῖται, Πέτρος δὲ πολλάκις Πόντον τε καὶ Βιθυνίαν ἐπεσκέψατο. ἐνεχώρει δὲ μετὰ τὸ κατασταθῆναι Κλήμεντα καὶ παραιτήσασθαι εἴ γε οὕτως ἐπράχθη· διανοοῦμαι γάρ, οὐχ ὀρίζομαι) ὕστερον μετὰ τὸ τετελευτηκέναι Λίνον καὶ Κλήτον, ἐπισκοπεύσαντας πρὸς δεκαδύο ἴτη ἕκαστον μετὰ τὴν τοῦ ἁγίου Πέτρου καὶ Παύλου τελευτὴν τὴν ἐπὶ τῷ δωδεκάτῳ ἔτει Νέρωνος γενομένην, τοῦτον αὖθις ἀναγκασθῆναι τὴν ἐπισκοπὴν κατασχεῖν.

27.6.6 | For Paul even reached Spain, and Peter often visited Pontus and Bithynia. It is possible that after Clement was appointed and stepped down, if that happened; I think so, but I am not sure — later, after Linus and Cletus, who each ruled for about twelve years after the death of Peter and Paul, which happened in the twelfth year of Nero, this one was forced again to take over the bishopric.

27.6.7 | ὅμως ἡ τῶν ἐν Ρώμῃ ἐπισκόπων διαδοχὴ ταύτην ἔχει τὴν ἀκολουθίαν· Πέτρος καὶ Παῦλος, Λίνος καὶ Κλήτος, Κλήμης Εὐάρεστος Ἀλέξανδρος Εὐστός τελέσφορος Ὑγῖνος Πίος Ἀνίκητος, ὁ ἄνω ἐν τῷ καταλόγῳ προδηλωμένος. καὶ μὴ τις θαυμάσῃ ὅτι ἕκαστα οὕτως ἀκριβῶς διήλθομεν· διὰ γὰρ τούτων αἰεὶ τὸ σαφές δείκνυται.

27.6.7 | Still, the succession of the bishops in Rome follows this order: Peter and Paul, Linus and Cletus, Clement, Evaristus, Alexander, Xystus, Telesphorus, Hyginus, Pius, Anicetus — the one mentioned above in the list. And let no one be surprised that we went through each one so carefully; for through these, the truth is always shown clearly.

27.6.8 | ἐν χρόνοις τοίνυν, ὡς ἔφημεν, Ἀνικήτου ἢ προδεδηλωμένη Μαρκελλίνα ἐν Ῥώμῃ γενομένη τὴν λύμην τῆς Καρποκράτῃ διδασκαλίας ἐξεμέσασα πολλοὺς τῶν ἐκεῖσε λυμνηαμένη ἠφάνισε. καὶ ἔνθεν γέγονεν ἀρχὴ Γνωστικῶν τῶν καλουμένων.

27.6.8 | In the time of Anicetus, as we said, Marcellina appeared in Rome, driving out the trouble caused by Carpocrates' teaching, and she made many of those troubled there disappear. And from there began the start of the so-called Gnostics.

27.6.9 | ἔχουσι δὲ εἰκόνας ἐνζωγράφους διὰ χρωμάτων, ἀλλὰ καὶ οἱ μὲν ἐκ χρυσοῦ καὶ ἀργύρου καὶ λοιπῆς ὕλης, ἅτινα ἐκτυπώματά φασι εἶναι τοῦ Ἰησοῦ καὶ ταῦτα ὑπὸ Ποντίου Πιλάτου γεγενῆσθαι, τουτέστιν τὰ ἐκτυπώματα τοῦ αὐτοῦ Ἰησοῦ ὅτε ἐνεδήμει τῷ τῶν ἀνθρώπων γένει.

27.6.9 | They have painted images with colors, but some are made of gold and silver and other materials, which they say are impressions of Jesus, and these were made by Pontius Pilate — that is, the impressions of the same Jesus when he lived among the human race.

27.6.10 | κρύβδην δὲ τὰς τοιαύτας ἔχουσιν, ἀλλὰ καὶ φιλοσόφων τινῶν, Πυθαγόρου καὶ Πλάτωνος καὶ Ἀριστοτέλους καὶ λοιπῶν, μεθ' ὧν φιλοσόφων καὶ ἕτερα ἐκτυπώματα τοῦ Ἰησοῦ τιθέασιν, ἰδρύσαντές τε προσκυνοῦσι καὶ τὰ τῶν ἐθνῶν ἐπιτελοῦσι μυστήρια. στήσαντες γὰρ ταύτας τὰς εἰκόνας τὰ τῶν ἐθνῶν ἔθην λοιπὸν ποιοῦσι. τίνα δὲ ἐστὶν <τὰ> ἐθνῶν ἔθην ἄλλ' ἢ καὶ τὰ ἄλλα;

27.6.10 | They secretly have such things, but also images of some philosophers, Pythagoras and Plato and Aristotle and others, with whom they also show other impressions of Jesus. They set them up and worship them, and they perform the mysteries of the Gentiles. For having set up these images, they now follow the customs of the Gentiles. But what are the customs of the Gentiles except these and others?

27.6.11 | ψυχῆς δὲ εἶναι μόνης σωτηρίαν φασὶ καὶ οὐχὶ σωμαίων.

27.6.11 | They say that salvation belongs to the soul alone and not to the body.

Section 7

27.7.1 | 7. Δεῖ τοίνυν τούτους ἀνατρέπειν παντὶ σθένει· μηδεὶς γὰρ καταφρονεῖτω λόγου καὶ μάλιστα κατὰ ἀπατεώνων. ἀλλ' εἴποι τις ἄν' οὐ γὰρ ἐστὶ φωρατὰ καὶ μωρίας ἔμπλεα; ἀλλ' ἔσθ' ὅπη καὶ τὰ μωρὰ πείθει τοὺς ἄφρονας καὶ τοὺς συνετοὺς

27.7.1 | 7. So we must turn these people around with all our strength. For no one should look down on reason, especially when it is against deceivers. But someone might say: isn't it full of foolishness and nonsense? Yet there is a way that even

foolish things convince the senseless and lead the wise astray, if the mind trained in truth is not present. So when this also falls into Simon's magic and the others', we turn this one around with the same methods.

27.7.2 | εἰ γὰρ ἡ ἄγνωστος καὶ ἀκατονόμαστος δύναμις αἰτία γέγονεν ἡ ἄλλων ἀγγέλων, ἥ ἐστιν ἄγνοια παρὰ τῇ αὐτῇ τουτέστιν τῷ πατρὶ τῶν ὅλων, εἰ μὴ ᾗδει ἃ μέλλουσι πράττειν οἱ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ κατασκευαζόμενοι ἄγγελοι, ἀγνοήσας ὅτι ἀποστήσονται καὶ ποιήσουσιν ἃ μὴ αὐτὸς ἐβούλετο — ἡ τούτους μὲν ἐποίησε γινώσκων ὅτι ποιήσουσιν, ὃ αὐτὸς οὐ βούλεται παρ' αὐτῶν δὲ γέγονε, καὶ ἔσται διὰ τῆς γνώσεως καὶ εὐδοκίας αὐτὸς ποιήσας ἃ ἐκεῖνοι τετολμήκασιν.

27.7.2 | For if the unknown and unnamed power became the cause of other angels, or if there is ignorance in the same one, that is, the father of all, if he did not know what the angels made by him were about to do, not knowing that they would rebel and do what he did not want — or if he made these knowing that they would do what he did not want, and it happened against their will, and through knowledge and goodwill he himself made what they dared to do.

27.7.3 | εἰ τοίνυν ὡς προεῖπον ἐγίνωσκε μὲν ἃ ποιήσουσιν, οὐκ ἐβούλετο δὲ ἕνα ποιήσωσι, τίνοι τῷ λόγῳ τοὺς πεποιηκότας ἐποίει εἰς τὸ πράττειν ἃ μὴ αὐτὸς ἐβούλετο;

27.7.3 | So if, as I said before, he knew what they would do, but did not want them to do even one thing, why would he make those he made to do what he did not want?

27.7.4 | εἰ δὲ αὐτὸς μὲν πεποίηκε τοὺς ἀγγέλους, ἕνα ποιήσωσι τὰ ὑπ' αὐτῶν γενόμενα, ἄρα ἤθελε γενέσθαι· διὸ καὶ τοὺς πεποιηκότας προκατεσκεύασεν ἀγγέλους, καὶ εἰ προκατεσκεύασεν εἰς τὸ ποιῆσαι, ἀπαγορεύει δὲ τὰ ὑπ' αὐτῶν γενόμενα, συκοφαντία ἂν εἴη ἐν μέσῳ.

27.7.4 | But if he himself made the angels, and they do one thing among the things done by them, then he wanted it to happen; so he also made the angels he made beforehand. And if he made them beforehand to do it, but forbids the things done by them, it would be a false accusation in the middle.

27.7.5 | εἰ δὲ συνεχώρει μὲν τοῦ ποιεῖν αὐτούς, βούλεται δὲ τὰ ὑπ' αὐτῶν γενόμενα τουτέστιν ἀνθρώπους καὶ ψυχάς) πάλιν πρὸς ἑαυτὸν ἀναλαμβάνειν

27.7.5 | But if he allows them to do it, yet wants the things done by them (that is, humans and souls) to be taken back again against their will, then there will be greed παρὰ τὴν τούτων βούλησιν, ἄρα ἔσται πλεονεξία ἐν μέσῳ καὶ οὐδὲν ἕτερον, ἄρπαζομένων τῶν τῶν τῶν ἀγγέλων * ἀνθρώπων ὑπὸ τοῦ ἄνωθεν παρὰ τὴν τούτων βούλησιν· ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀδράνεια εἶη, ἐπειδὴ μὴ αὐτὸς δυνάμενος ἑαυτῷ ποιεῖν ἀρπάζει τὰ ὑπὸ τῶν ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γενομένων γενόμενα.

in the middle and nothing else, with humans being snatched away by the one above against their will. But it would also be laziness, since not being able to do it himself, he snatches away what was done by those made by him.

27.7.6 | καὶ ἔσται λοιπὸν μῦθος καὶ μωρολογία, τῶν μὲν κάτω δυναμένων ὑπερβῆναι τοὺς ἐν μέσῳ, τοὺς δὲ ἐν μέσῳ τιμωρεῖσθαι ἀετίους ὄντας τῶν κάτω καὶ σώζεσθαι καὶ ἐλευθεροῦσθαι, λέγω δὴ τὰς ψυχὰς τῶν ἐν τῇδε τῇ κτίσει. εἴη δ' ἂν ὁ μὲν ἄνω μὴ δυνήθεις ποιῆσαι ἀσθενὴς κρινόμενος, οἱ δὲ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γενόμενοι <δυνατοί> δυνάμενοι ποιῆσαι ἅ αὐτὸς μὲν οὐκ ἐβούλετο, ἢ ἐβούλετο καὶ οὐκ ἠδύνατο.

27.7.6 | And then it would be a story and foolishness, that those below can go beyond those in the middle, that those in the middle are punished though innocent of those below, and that those below are saved and freed above those in the middle—I mean the souls in this world.
And it would be that the one above, not being able to do it, is judged weak, while those made by him below are able to do what he himself did not want, or wanted but could not.

27.7.7 | οὐ γὰρ δύναται ὁ ἐκεῖνος ἐπιποθεῖ, εἶναι αὐτῷ κακὸν οὐδὲ ὑπὸ κακῶν γεγονέναι. εἰ γὰρ ἦν κακόν, ἐχρῆν ἀπόλλυσθαι. εἰ δὲ ὅλως μέρος τι τοῦ ἔργου σώζεται, οὐκέτι τὸ ἔργον φαῦλον, κἀν τε μέρος αὐτοῦ σωζόμενον εὐρίσκοιτο, οὔτε οἱ ποιήσαντες φαῦλοι > τὸ σωζόμενον τεχνησάμενοι.

27.7.7 | For he who desires it cannot have evil happen to him or come from evils. For if it were evil, he should be destroyed. But if any part of the work is saved at all, then the work is no longer bad, even if only part of it is saved. Neither are those who made it bad, nor those who saved it by skill.

27.7.8 | εἰ δὲ ὅλως ἐξ ἀγγέλων ἡ Ψυχὴ καὶ ἄνωθεν λαμβάνει δύναμιν παραχθεῖσα, ἄρα γε οἱ ἄγγελοι πλεον σωτηρίας τεύχονται, ὅτι ἡ ἀπ' αὐτῶν ψυχὴ σώζεται, ἐκ φαύλων οὐσα. σωζομένης δὲ αὐτᾶς οὐκέτι φαῦλος οὔτε αὐτὴ ἡ Ψυχὴ ἢ γενομένη ὑπὸ τῶν ἀγγέλων οὔτε οἱ ἄγγελοι, ἐξ ὧν αὐτὴ ἢ 27.7.8 | But if the soul comes entirely from angels and receives power from above, then certainly the angels will gain more salvation, because the soul that comes from them is saved, though it was bad. And if it is saved, then neither the soul made by the angels is bad, nor the angels themselves, ψυχὴ ὑπάρχει.

from whom the soul exists.

Section 8

27.8.1 | 8. Παντὶ δὲ τῷ τὸν νοῦν ἐρρωμένον ἔχοντι ἰστέον ἂν εἴη ὅτι ἀνοίας ἐστὶ τὸ πᾶν τοῦτο ἀγυρτῶδες ἐργαστήριον.

27.8.1 | But to everyone who has a strong mind, it should be known that this whole thing is a foolish, chaotic workshop.

27.8.2 | καταισχυνθήσονται δὲ αὐθις οὗτοι καὶ ἀπὸ τῶν ἄλλων αὐτῶν λόγων. εἰ γὰρ Ἰησοῦς οὐκ ἀπὸ παρθένου Μαρίας, ἀλλὰ ἐκ σπέρματος Ἰωσήφ καὶ τῆς αὐτῆς Μαρίας, σώζεται δὲ οὗτος, ἄρα καὶ αὐτοὶ σωθήσονται οἱ τοῦτον γεγεννηκότες. καὶ εἰ ἡ Μαρία καὶ ὁ Ἰωσήφ ἀπὸ τοῦ δημιουργοῦ ὑπάρχουσιν, ἄρα τὸν δημιουργὸν κτιστὴν <καὶ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ> καὶ οὐκέτι ἐν ὑστερήματι ἔσται ὁ τὸν Ἰωσήφ καὶ τὴν Μαρίαν ποιήσας, ἰ ἐξ ᾧ ὁ Ἰησοῦς παρὰ τοῦ ἄνω ἀγνώστου πατρὸς ὑπάρχει. εἰ δὲ καὶ αὐτὸς ὁ Ἰησοῦς ἀπὸ τῶν ἀγγέλων ἐστὶ καὶ ὁ δημιουργὸς εἷς ἐστὶ τῶν ἀγγέλων, ἄρα γε ἀτοπήματι τῷ ἐνὶ πάντες περιπεσοῦνται, ὁποῖω καὶ οἱ ἄγγελοι περιπεπτώκασιν, καὶ ἀσύστατον εἶη ἂν τὸ παρ' αὐτῶν δραματούργημα, δηλητηρίου ἔμπλεον καὶ πάσης ἰώδους διδασκαλίας μεμεστωμένον.

27.8.2 | But again, these will be ashamed because of their other words. For if Jesus is not from the virgin Mary, but from the seed of Joseph and the same Mary, and this one is saved, then those who gave birth to him will also be saved. And if Mary and Joseph come from the creator, then the creator is the maker of Jesus too, and no longer will the one who made Joseph and Mary be lacking, from whom Jesus exists by the unknown father above. But if Jesus himself is from the angels, and the creator is one of the angels, then everyone will fall into a great mistake, the same mistake into which the angels have fallen, and the drama made by them would be absurd, full of poison and filled with all kinds of harmful teaching.

27.8.4 | ταύτην δὲ αὐθις ὀπίσω τρέψαντες, ὥσπερ δράκοντος κεφαλὴν ξύλῳ τῆς πίστεως καὶ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐπὶ γῆς λακίσαντες, ταῖς ἄλλαις θηριομόρφοις προσπελάσαντες ἐπ' ὀλέθρῳ * τούτων ἥσκειν ἑαυτοὺς διὰ τὴν ἐπαγγελίαν ἀναγκάσωμεν.

27.8.4 | Turning this back again, like striking the head of a dragon with the wood of faith and truth on the earth, and attacking the other beast-shaped ones to destruction, let us force ourselves to fight for the promise.

Book 28

Section 1

28.1.1 | Κήρινθος δὲ αὖθις, ἀφ' οὐπὲρ οἱ Κηρινθιανοὶ λεγόμενοι, ἀπὸ ταύτης τῆς θηριώδους σπορᾶς τὸν ἐὼν τῷ κόσμῳ φέρων ἥκει· σχεδὸν δὲ οὐδὲν ἕτερον παρὰ τὸν προειρημένον Καρποκράτην, ἀλλὰ τὰ αὐτὰ τῷ κόσμῳ κακοποιὰ φάρμακα ἐκβλαστάνει.

28.1.1 | Kerinthos again, from whom the Kerinthians are named, comes from this beastly seed that is present in the world; and almost nothing else besides the mentioned Carpocrates, but it produces the same harmful poisons to the world.

28.1.2 | τὰ ἴσα γὰρ τῷ προειρημένῳ εἰς τὸν Χριστὸν συκοφαντήσας ἐξηγεῖται καὶ οὗτος, ἐκ Μαρίας καὶ ἐκ σπέρματος Ἰωσήφ τὸν Χριστὸν γεγεννησθαι καὶ τὸν κόσμον ὁμοίως ὑπὸ ἀγγέλων γεγενῆσθαι.

28.1.2 | For he also speaks falsely against Christ, as mentioned before, saying that Christ was born from Mary and from the seed of Joseph, and that the world was likewise created by angels.

28.1.3 | οὐδὲν γὰρ οὗτος παρὰ τὸν πρῶτον διήλλαξε τῇ εἰσαγωγῇ τῆς αὐτοῦ διδασκαλίας ἀλλ' ἢ ἐν τούτῳ μόνον, ἐν τῷ προσέχειν τῷ Ἰουδαϊσμῷ ἀπὸ μέρους. φάσκει δὲ οὗτος τὸν νόμον καὶ τοὺς προφῆτας ὑπὸ ἀγγέλων δεδόσθαι, τὸν δὲ δεδωκότα τὸν νόμον ἕνα εἶναι τῶν ἀγγέλων τῶν τὸν κόσμον πεποιηκότων.

28.1.3 | For this one changed nothing from the first in the introduction of his teaching except only in this, that he paid special attention to Judaism. He says that the law and the prophets were given by angels, and that the one who gave the law is one of the angels who made the world.

28.1.4 | ἐγένετο δὲ οὗτος ὁ Κήρινθος ἐν τῇ Ἀοίᾳ διατρίβων κάκεισε τοῦ κηρύγματος τὴν ἀρχὴν πεποιημένος.

28.1.4 | This Kerinthos came to be living in Aea, and there he made the beginning of his preaching.

28.1.5 | ἤδη δὲ περὶ τούτου εἶπαμεν ὥς καὶ οὗτος ἐκήρυττεν οὐκ ἀπὸ τῆς πρώτης καὶ ἄνωθεν δυνάμεως τὸν κόσμον γεγενῆσθαι, ἄνωθεν δὲ ἐκ τοῦ ἄνω θεοῦ μετὰ τὸ ἀδρυνθῆναι τὸν Ἰησοῦν, τὸν ἐκ σπέρματος Ἰωσήφ καὶ Μαρίας γεγεννημένον,

28.1.5 | And already about this we said that he also preached that the world was not made by the first and highest power, but that after Jesus was made strong, who was born from the seed of Joseph and Mary, the Christ came to him—that is, the holy spirit κατεληλυθέναι τὸν Χριστὸν εἰς αὐτὸν τοὔτέστι τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον ἐν εἵδει περιστερᾶς ἐν τῷ Ἰορδάνῃ καὶ ἀποκαλύψαι αὐτῷ καὶ δι' αὐτοῦ τοῖς μετ' αὐτοῦ τὸν ἄγνωστον πατέρα.

in the form of a dove in the Jordan—and revealed to him and through him to those with him the unknown father.

28.1.6 | καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἐπειδὴ ἦλθεν εἰς αὐτὸν ἄνωθεν δύναμις, δυνάμεις ἐπιτετελεκέναι· καὶ αὐτοῦ πεπονθότος τὸ ἐλθὼν ἄνωθεν ἀναπτῆναι ἄνω ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ.

28.1.6 | And because the power came down on him from above, powers were completed; and since he suffered, the power that came from above was raised up above Jesus.

28.1.7 | πεπονθότα δὲ τὸν Ἰησοῦν καὶ πάλιν ἐγχερμένον, Χριστὸν δὲ τὸν ἄνωθεν ἐλθόντα εἰς αὐτὸν ἀπαθῆ ἀναπτάντα, ὅπερ ἐστὶ τὸ κατελθὼν ἐν εἵδει περιστερᾶς, καὶ οὐ τὸν Ἰησοῦν εἶναι Χριστόν.

28.1.7 | But Jesus, having suffered and risen again, the Christ who came from above to him, was raised up without suffering—that is, the one who came down in the form of a dove—and it is not Jesus who is the Christ.

Section 2

28.2.1 | 2. Ἐκπέπτωκε δὲ καὶ οὗτος, ὡς ὁρᾶτε πάντες οἱ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐρασταί. φάσκει γὰρ τὸν τὸν νόμον δεδωκότα οὐκ ἀγαθόν, οὗ τῷ νόμῳ πείθεσθαι δοκεῖ, δῆλον δὲ ὅτι ὡς ἀγαθῷ.

28.2.1 | And this one has also fallen away, as you all who love the truth see. For he says that the one who gave the law is not good, even though he seems to obey the law, but it is clear that he sees him as good.

28.2.2 | πῶς οὖν ὁ πονηρὸς τὸν ἀγαθὸν νόμον δέδωκεν; εἰ γὰρ καλὸν τὸ μὴ μοιχεύειν καὶ καλὸν τὸ μὴ φονεύειν; πόσω γε μᾶλλον ὁ ἐντειλάμενος βελτίων εἴη, ἐάν γε ὁ μὴ πράξας ἀγαθὸς ὁμολογῇται· πῶς δὲ κατηγορηθήσεται κακὰ πράττων ὁ τὸ ἀγαθὸν συμβουλεύων καὶ ἀγαθὸν διδοὺς νόμον; ἀλλὰ μανιώδης ὁ ἀνὴρ τοιούτοις ἐγχειρῶν.

28.2.2 | How then did the evil one give the good law? For if it is good not to commit adultery and good not to kill, how much more would the one who gave the command be better, if the one who does not do it is called good? But how will the one who advises the good and gives a good law be accused of doing evil? Rather, the man who tries such things is mad.

28.2.3 | οὗτος δὲ ἐστίν, ἀγαπητοί, εἷς τῶν

28.2.3 | This one, dear friends, is one of ἐπὶ τῶν ἀποστόλων τὴν ταραχὴν ἐργασαμένων, ὅτε οἱ περὶ Ἰάκωβον γεγράφασιν εἰς τὴν Ἀντιόχειαν ἐπιστολήν, λέγοντες ὅτι »ἔγνωμέν τινας ἐξ ἡμῶν πρὸς ὑμᾶς ἐλθόντας καὶ ταραξάντας ὑμᾶς σίας καὶ ἀγνοούσης τὸν ὑπὲρ πάντα θεόν. τὸν δὲ Ἰησοῦν ὑπέθετο μὴ ἐκ παρθένου γεγενῆσθαι (+ impossible enim hoc ei visum est Ir.), γεγονέναι δὲ αὐτὸν ἐξ Ἰωσήφ καὶ Μαρίας υἱὸν ὁμοίως τοῖς λοιποῖς ἄγνωστον πατέρα καὶ δυνάμεις ἐπτελέσαι, πρὸς δὲ τῷ τέλει ἀποπτῆναι τὸν Χριστὸν ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ καὶ τὸν Ἰησοῦν πεπαμέναι καὶ ἐγγέρονται, τὸν δὲ Χριστὸν ἀπαθῆ διαμεμενηκέναι πνευματικὸν ὑπάρχοντα those among the apostles who caused trouble, when those around James wrote a letter to Antioch, saying, "We know that some from us came to you and disturbed you, confusing you and not knowing the God above all. And he supposed that Jesus was not born of a virgin, but that he was born from Joseph and Mary's son, like all other people, and that he was more just and wiser. And after the baptism, that the Christ came down to him in the form of a dove from the authority above all, and then preached the unknown Father and performed miracles, but in the end rejected the Christ from Jesus, and that Jesus was sent and raised, but the Christ remained impassive, existing spiritually in words, which we did not send."

28.2.4 | καὶ οὗτος εἷς ἐστὶ τῶν ἀντιστάντων τῷ ἁγίῳ Πέτρῳ, ἐπειδὴ εἰσῆλθε πρὸς Κορνήλιον τὸν ἅγιον, ὅτε μετεστείλατο αὐτὸν καταξιωθείς ὁπτασίας ἀγγέλου καὶ ὁ Πέτρος ἐδίσταζε καὶ εἶδεν τὸ ὄραμα τῆς ὀθόνης καὶ τὰ ἐν αὐτῇ καὶ ἤκουσε παρὰ κυρίου μηδὲν κοινὸν λέγειν ἢ ἀκάθαρτον.

28.2.4 | And this one is one of those who opposed holy Peter, when he went to Cornelius the holy man, after he was sent away, having been made worthy by the vision of an angel. And Peter hesitated and saw the vision of the sheet and what was in it, and he heard from the Lord not to call anything common or unclean.

28.2.5 | οὗτος οὖν παρεκίνει περὶ τοῦ Πέτρου ἀνελθότος εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ τὰ πλήθη τῶν ἐκ περιτομῆς λέγων ὅτι »εἰσῆλθε πρὸς ἀκροβυστίαν ἔχοντας».

28.2.5 | This one then stirred up the crowds of those from circumcision against Peter when he went up to Jerusalem, saying, "He went in to those who have foreskins."

28.2.6 | ἐποίησε δὲ τοῦτο Κόρινθος πρὶν ἢ ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ κηρῦξαι τὸ αὐτοῦ κήρυγμα καὶ ἐμπεσεῖν εἰς τὸ περισσότερον τῆς αὐτοῦ

28.2.6 | Corinth made this before he preached his message in Asia and fell into the pit of his greater destruction. For ἀπωλείας βάραθρον. διὰ γὰρ τὸ εἶναι αὐτὸν ἐμπερίβολον, δῆθεν ἀντιδικίας ἔνεκα τῶν ἐν ἀκροβυστίᾳ πιστῶν διὰ τῆς περιτομῆς τὴν πρόφασιν ἐθηράσατο.

because he was quarrelsome, he pretended to find a reason for dispute about those faithful in foreskin through circumcision.

Section 3

28.3.1 | 3. Τοῦ δὲ κυρίου πάντοτε τὴν ἐπιμέλειαν τῆς ἀνθρωπότητος ποιουμένου καὶ τὸ σαφὲς τῆς ἀληθείας ἐν τοῖς τῆς ἀληθείας υἱοῖς ἀσφαλιζομένου καὶ δόντος Πέτρῳ τῷ ἁγίῳ ἀποστόλῳ ποιήσασθαι τὸν πρὸς αὐτὸν καὶ τοὺς αὐτοῦ ἔλεγχον, φανερὰ γίνεται ἡ τοῦ Κηρίνθου ἄνοια.

28.3.1 | 3. But of the lord always taking care of humanity and making clear the truth, being kept safe in the sons of truth and giving to Peter the holy apostle to make the charge against him and his own, the foolishness of Kerinthus becomes clear.

28.3.2 | φησὶ γὰρ ὁ ἅγις Πέτρος Πέτρος ἦμην ἐν πόλει Ἰόππῃ καὶ εἶδον ἐν μέσῃ τῇ ἡμέρᾳ περὶ ὥραν ἕκτην ὁθόνην καθιεμένην, δεδεμένην ἐν τέτρασιν ἀρχαῖς, ἐν ᾗ ἦν πάντα τὰ τετράποδα καὶ ἐρπετά. καὶ εἶπέν μοι· θῦσον καὶ φάγε. ἐγὼ δὲ εἶπον· κύριε μηδαμῶς, ὅτι οὐδέποτε κοινὸν ἢ ἀκάθαρτον εἰσῆλθεν εἰς τὸ στόμα μου. ἀπεκρίθη δέ μοι ἐκ δευτέρου φωνὴ ἐκ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ· ἃ ὁ θεὸς ἐκαθέρισε, σὺ μὴ κοίνου. καὶ ἑξαυτῆς ἰδοὺ δύο ἄνδρες εἰστήκεισαν εἰς τὴν οἰκίαν καὶ εἶπέν μοι τὸ πνεῦμα· πορεύου σὺν αὐτοῖς μηδὲν διακρινόμενος.

28.3.2 | For the holy Peter says, ‘I was in the city of Joppa, and I saw in the middle of the day, about the sixth hour, a sheet hanging down, tied at the four corners, in which were all kinds of four-footed animals and reptiles. And it said to me, “Kill and eat.” But I said, “Lord, never, for nothing common or unclean has ever entered my mouth.” Then a voice answered me from heaven a second time, “What God has made clean, do not call common.” And immediately, behold, two men stood at the house, and the spirit said to me, “Go with them without hesitation.”’

28.3.3 | καὶ λοιπὸν διηγεῖται, ὡς ἐν παραβολῇ ταῦτα πρὸς αὐτὸν εἴρηται καὶ ὡς τότε ἐδίσταξεν, ἕως ὅτε ὁ κύριος ἐναργῶς ἔδειξεν αὐτῷ ἃ διὰ τῶν λόγων καὶ τύπων αὐτὸν ἐδίδασκεν.

28.3.3 | And then he tells how these things were said to him in a vision, and how at that time he hesitated, until the lord clearly showed him what he was teaching through words and signs.

28.3.4 | εὐθὺς γὰρ αὐτοῦ ἀνοίξαντος τὸ στόμα, ὅτε ἦλθεν εἰς Καισάρειον, ἐπέπεσε

28.3.4 | For as soon as he opened his mouth, when he came to Caesarea, the holy τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον ἐπὶ Κορνήλιον. καὶ ἰδὼν ὁ Πέτρος εἶπε μή τι δύναται κωλύσαι τὸ ὕδωρ ἀπὸ τούτων τῶν καταξιωθέντων τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον λαβεῖν, ὡς καὶ ἡμεῖς ἐξ ἀρχῆς;» spirit came upon Cornelius. And Peter saw and said, 'Can anyone stop the water from these who were worthy to receive the holy spirit, just as we did from the beginning?'

28.3.5 | τὸ πᾶν δὲ ἦν τοῦτο μυστήριον καὶ τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ φιλανθρωπίας ἔργον, ὅπως ὁ τε ἅγιος Πέτρος πᾶς πᾶς τις γινώσεται ὅτι οὐκ ἀπ' ἀνθρώπων ἡ τῶν Μνῶν σωτηρία, ἀλλ' ἐκ θεοῦ. προὔλαβεν γὰρ ὁ θεὸς δοῦναι τὴν δωρεὰν τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος καὶ τὴν τοῦ ἀγγέλου ὁπτασίαν καὶ τὴν ἀποδοχὴν τῆς εὐχῆς καὶ νηστειῶν καὶ ἀγαθοποιῶν, ἵνα ὁ ἐπιστεύθησαν οἱ ἀπόστολοι, μάλιστα ὁ ἅγιος Πέτρος καὶ οἱ λοιποὶ ἀπόστολοι, μὴ ἀποστερήσωσιν τὸν ἐκ θεοῦ κατὰ ἀλήθειαν κεκλημένον.

28.3.5 | And all this was a mystery and a work of God's love, so that holy Peter and everyone would know that salvation for the Gentiles does not come from people, but from God. For God had already given the gift of the holy spirit, and the vision of the angel, and the acceptance of prayer, fasting, and good deeds, so that the apostles who believed, especially holy Peter and the other apostles, would not refuse the one truly called by God.

Section 4

28.4.1 | 4. Ἀλλὰ ταῦτα μὲν τότε ἐπραγματεύθη κινήθοντα ὑπὸ τοῦ προειρημένου εἰρημένου ψευδαποστόλου Κηρίνθου, ὡς καὶ ἄλλοτε στάσιν αὐτός τε καὶ οἱ μετ' αὐτοῦ ἐργάσαντο ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ Ἱερουσαλὴμ, ὁπηνίκα Παῦλος ἀνῆλθε μετὰ τίτου καὶ ὡς οὗτος ἔφη ὅτι » ἄνδρας ἀκροβύστους εἰσήνεγκε μεθ' ἑαυτοῦ«, ἥδη περὶ Τίτου λέγων, »καὶ κεκοίνωκε φησί) τὸν ἅγιον τόπον'.

28.4.1 | But these things then were caused by the false apostle of whom I spoke before, named Cerinthus, who once caused a riot with his followers in Jerusalem, when Paul came up with Titus. And as he said, 'he brought uncircumcised men with him,' he was already speaking about Titus, and he says, 'and he defiled the holy place.'

28.4.2 | διὸ καὶ Παῦλος λέγει »ἀλλ' οὐκ ἐτίτος ὁ σὺν ἐμοί, Ἕλλην ὢν, ἠναγκάσθη περιτεμεῖσθαι διὰ δὲ τοὺς παρεισάκτους ψευδαδέλφους. οἵτινες παρεισῆλθον κατασκοπεῖσαι τὴν ἐλευθερίαν, ἡμῶν ἣν ἔχομεν ἐν Χριστῷ, οἷς οὐδὲ πρὸς κρὸς ὥραν τῇ ὑποταγῇ« καὶ τοῖς ἐν ἀκροβυστίᾳ

28.4.2 | Therefore Paul says, 'But not even Titus, who was with me, being a Greek, was forced to be circumcised. It was because of the false brothers who sneaked in to spy on the freedom we have in Christ, to whom we did not give in for even an hour to submission.' And he told those who were παραγγέλλων ἔλεγενε μὴ περιτέμνεσθε· uncircumcised not to be circumcised.

28.4.3 | ὅτι ἐὰν περιτέμνησθε, Χριστὸς ὑμᾶς οὐδὲν ὠφελήει· διήρκεσε δὲ ἡ περιτομὴ χρόνῳ ὑπηρετήσασα, ἕως ἡ μείζων περιτομὴ παρεγένετο, τουτέστιν τὸ ἑλουτρίον τῆς παλιγγενεσίας, ὡς παντὶ τῷ δῆλόν ἐστι καὶ σαφέστερον δείκνυται ἀπὸ τῶν παρὰ τοῖς ἀποστόλοις εἰρημένων, μάλιστα παρὰ τῷ ἁγίῳ ἀποστόλῳ Παύλῳ· φάσκει γὰρ οὕτως »οἷς οὐδὲ πρὸς ὥραν ἐῴαμεν τῇ ὑποταγῇ«.

28.4.3 | Because if you are circumcised, Christ will not help you at all. Circumcision lasted for a time as a servant, until the greater circumcision came, that is, the washing of rebirth. This is clear and shown more plainly from what was said by the apostles, especially by the holy apostle Paul. For he says, 'to whom we did not give in for even an hour to submission.'

28.4.4 | παντὶ δὲ τῷ βουλομένῳ κατανοεῖν τὰ παρὰ τοῖς ἀποστόλοις τότε πεπραγματευμένα θαυμάσαι ἔπεται, πῶς τὰ παρὰ τῇ αἰρέσει ταύτῃ ἐξ ἐπιπνοίας πνεύματος πλάνης ἐνεργηθέντα τὸν χαρακτῆρα ὑποδείκνυσι τῶν διὰ τῶν αἱρέσεων τούτων ἐν τοῖς ἀποστόλοις τὴν κίνησιν ἐργασαμένων.

28.4.4 | For anyone willing to understand what the apostles did at that time, it is possible to marvel at how what was done by this heresy, through the inspiration of the spirit of error, shows the mark of the movements working in the apostles through these heresies.

28.4.5 | ἀποστάντων γὰρ τούτων καὶ εἰς ψευδαποστόλους τραπέντων <καὶ> ἄλλους ἀποστειλάντων ὡς καὶ ἤδη προεῖρηται εἰς τὴν Ἀντιόχειαν ἐν ἀρχῇ καὶ εἰς ἄλλους τόπους, λέγοντας ὅτι »ἐὰν μὴ περιτμηθῇτε καὶ φυλάξητε τὸν νόμον Μωυσέως, οὐ δύνασθε σωθῆναι«, οὐχ ἡ τυχοῦσα τότε ταραχὴ ἐγένετο ὡς προεῖρηται.

28.4.5 | For after these people turned away and became false apostles, and sent others as has already been said, first to Antioch and then to other places, saying, 'If you are not circumcised and do not keep the law of Moses, you cannot be saved,' the trouble that happened then was not by chance, as has been said before.

28.4.6 | καὶ οὗτοί εἰσιν οἱ παρὰ τῷ ἀποστόλῳ Παύλῳ εἰρημένοι »ψευδαπόστολοι, ἐράται δόλιοι, μετασχηματιζόμενοι εἰς ἀποστόλους Χριστοῦ«.

28.4.6 | And these are the ones called by the apostle Paul "false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into apostles of Christ."

Section 5

28.5.1 | 5. Χρῶνται γὰρ τῷ κατὰ Ματθαῖον εὐαγγελίῳ — ἀπὸ μέρους καὶ οὐχὶ ὅλῳ, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὴν γενεαλογίαν τὴν ἑνσαρκον — καὶ ταύτην μαρτυρίαν φέρουσιν, ἀπὸ τοῦ εὐαγγελίου πόλιν λέγοντες ὅτι »ἄρκετὸν τῷ μαθητῇ ἵνα γένηται ὡς ὁ διδάσκαλος«. τί οὖν, φησί;

28.5.1 | For they use the gospel according to Matthew — not the whole, but only the part about the family line of the flesh — and they bring this proof, saying from the gospel about the city that ‘it is enough for the student to become like the teacher.’ What then, he says?

28.5.2 | περιετμήθη ὁ Ἰησοῦς, περιτμήθητι καὶ αὐτός. Χριστὸς κατὰ νόμον. φησὶν, ἐπολιτεύσατο, καὶ αὐτὸς τὰ ἴσα ποίησον. ὅθεν καὶ τινες ἐκ τούτων ὡς ὑπὸ δηλητηρίων ὑφαρπαχθέντες πείθονται ταῖς πιθανολογίαις διὰ τὸ τὸν Χριστὸν περιτεμῆσθαι.

28.5.2 | Jesus was circumcised, so be circumcised too. Christ was under the law, he says, and he lived by it, so do what is right. That is why some of these people, as if caught by poison, are tricked by these arguments because Christ was circumcised.

28.5.3 | τὸν δὲ Παῦλον ἀθετοῦσι διὰ τὸ μὴ πείθεσθαι τῇ περιτομῇ. ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐκβάλλουσιν αὐτὸν διὰ τὸ εἰρηκέναι »ὅσοι ἐν νόμῳ δικαιοῦσθε, τῆς χάριτος ἐξεπέσατε«, καὶ ὅτι »ἐὰν περιτέμνησθε, Χριστὸς ὑμᾶς οὐδὲν ὠφελήσει«.

28.5.3 | But they reject Paul because he does not obey circumcision. And they even cast him out because he said, ‘Those who are justified by the law have fallen from grace,’ and also, ‘If you are circumcised, Christ will not help you at all.’

Section 6

28.6.1 | 6. Ἰτος δὲ ὁ Κήρινθος ἀνόητος καὶ ἀνοήτων διδάσκαλος φάσκει πάλιν τολμήσας Χριστὸν πεπονθέναι καὶ ἐσταυρῶσθαι, μήπω δὲ ἐγγεγέρθαι, μέλλειν δὲ ἀνίστασθαι ὅταν ἡ καθόλου γένηται νεκρῶν ἀνάστασις.

28.6.1 | But the Corinthian, foolish and a teacher of fools, claims again boldly that Christ suffered and was crucified, but has not yet been raised, and will rise when the general resurrection of the dead happens.

28.6.2 | ἀσύστατα τόνυν ταῦτα παρὰ τούτοις, τὰ τε ῥήματα καὶ νοήματα. ὅθεν κοὶ ὁ ἀπόστολος ἐκπληττόμενος τοῖς μὲν

28.6.2 | These things are indeed confused with them, both the words and the meanings. Therefore the apostle, amazed at ἀπιστοῦσι τῇ ἀναστάσει τῶν νεκρῶν τῇ μελλούσῃ ἔσεσθαι ἔλεγεν »εἰ νεκροὶ οὐκ ἐγείρονται, οὐδὲ Χριστὸς ἐγήγερται« καὶ τότε »φάγωμεν καὶ πίωμεν· αὖριον γὰρ ἀποθνήσκομεν« καὶ τότε μὴ πλανᾶσθε· φθείρουσιν ἡθὴ χρηστὰ ὁμιλίας κακαί«.

those who do not believe in the resurrection of the dead that is to come, said, 'If the dead are not raised, then Christ has not been raised,' and also, 'Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die,' and, 'Do not be misled; bad company ruins good morals.'

28.6.3 | πάλιν δὲ τοῖς λέγουσι τὸν Χριστὸν μηδέπω ἐγηγερμένον ὡσαύτως τὸν ἔλεγον ἐπιφέρει λέγων »εἰ Χριστὸς οὐκ ἐγήγερται, μάταιον τὸ κήρυγμα ἡμῶν, ματαία καὶ ἡ πίστις ἡμῶν. εὐρισκόμεθα δὲ καὶ ψευδομάρτυρες τοῦ θεοῦ, ὅτι ἐμαρτυρήσαμεν κατὰ τοῦ > ὅτι ἡγείρεν τὸν Χριστόν, εἴπερ οὐκ ἡγείρεν«. * ὡς τῶν μὲν] ἀποστόλων κηρυττόντων Χριστὸν μὲν > ἐγγεῖρθαι, νεκροὺς δὲ μὴ ἐγείρεσθαι.

28.6.3 | Again, to those who say that Christ has not yet been raised, he brings the same argument, saying, 'If Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is useless, and so is our faith. We are even found to be lying witnesses of God, because we testified that he raised Christ, if in fact he did not raise him.' * As the apostles preached that Christ has been raised, but the dead are not raised.

28.6.4 | ἐν ταύτῃ γὰρ τῇ πατρίδι, φημί δὲ Ἀσίᾳ, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῇ Γαλατίᾳ πάντῃ ἤκμασε τὸ τούτων διδασκαλεῖον, ἐν 012 καὶ τι παραδόσεως πρᾶγμα ἦλθεν εἰς ἡμᾶς, ὡς τινῶν μὲν παρ' αὐτοῖς προφθανόντων τελευτῆσαι ἄνευ βαπτίσματος, ἄλλους δὲ ἀντ' αὐτῶν εἰς ὄνομα ἐκείνων βαπτίζεσθαι, ὑπὲρ τοῦ μὴ ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει ἀναστάντας αὐτοὺς δίκην δοῦναι τιμωρίας βάπτισμα μὴ εἰληφότας, γίνεσθαι δὲ ὑποχειρίους τῆς τοῦ κοσμοποιοῦ ἐξουσίας.

28.6.4 | For in this homeland, I say Asia, but also in Galatia, the teaching of these people grew very strong, and a certain tradition came to us, that some of them died before they could be baptized, and others were baptized in their place in the name of those people, to pay the penalty for not having been raised in the resurrection, and to become slaves to the power of the world-maker.

28.6.5 | καὶ τούτου ἕνεκα ἡ παράδοσις ἡ ἐλθοῦσα εἰς ἡμᾶς φησι τὸν αὐτὸν ἅγιον ἀπόστολον εἰρηκέναι »εἰ ὅλως νεκροὶ οὐκ ἐγείρονται, τί καὶ βαπτίζονται ὑπὲρ αὐτῶν;· καλῶς δὲ ἄλλοι τὸ ῥητὸν ἐρμηνεύοντες φασιν ὅτι οἱ μέλλοντες τελευτᾶν, ἐπὶ ὥσιν κατηχούμενοι, χούμενοι, ἐπὶ ταύτῃ τῇ ἐλπίδι πρὸ τῆς

28.6.5 | And because of this, the tradition that came to us says that the same holy apostle said, 'If the dead are not raised at all, why are they baptized for them?' And others rightly explain the saying, that those who are about to die, when they are being taught and baptized, are made worthy of the bath before death, showing that the one τελευτῆς λουτροῦ καταξιοῦνται, δεικνύντες ὅτι ὁ τελευτήσας καὶ ἀναστήσεται καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἐπιδέεται τῆς διὰ τοῦ λουτροῦ ἀφέσεως ἁμαρτημάτων.

who died will be raised, and so needs the forgiveness of sins through the bath.

28.6.6 | τούτων δὲ οἱ μὲν τὸν Χριστὸν μηδέπω ἐγγέροναι κεκηρύχασιν, ἀνίστασθαι δὲ μετὰ πάντων, οἱ δὲ ὅτι ὅλως νεκροὶ οὐκ ἀναστήσονται.

28.6.6 | Of these, some have proclaimed that Christ has not yet been raised, but that all will be raised; others say that the dead will not be raised at all.

28.6.7 | διὸ μέσος χωρήσας ὁ ἀπόστολος πρὸς ἀμφοτέρους τούτους καὶ τὰς λοιπὰς αἱρέσεις ἐν τῇ μιᾷ ἐργασίᾳ τὴν ἀνατροπὴν πεποίηται ἐν τῇ περὶ νεκρῶν † ἀναστάσει διεξιὼν τὴν βεβαίαν σύστασιν ἐποίησατο τῆς τῶν νεκρῶν ἀναστάσεως καὶ σωτηρίας καὶ ἐλπίδος,

28.6.7 | Therefore, the apostle, taking a middle way toward both of these and the other heresies, made the overthrow in one work concerning the resurrection of the dead, and in the testimonies in which, going through in detail, he made a sure arrangement of the resurrection and salvation and hope of the dead.

28.6.8 | φάσκων »δεῖ τὸ φθαρτὸν τοῦτο ἐνδύσασθαι ἀφθαρσίαν καὶ τὸ θνητὸν τοῦτο ἐνδύσασθαι ἀθανασίαν« καὶ πάλιν ὅτι »Χριστὸς ἐγήγερται ἀπαρχὴ τῶν διδασκαλίας κήρυγμα ἐξ ἀληθείας διδάξῃ τοὺς βουλομένους εἰδέναι τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ ἀλήθειαν καὶ σωτηριώδη διδασκαλάν.

28.6.8 | Saying, "This perishable must put on imperishability, and this mortal must put on immortality," and again, "Christ has been raised, the first fruits of those who have fallen asleep," so that, having refuted both sides of the heresies, he may teach those who want to know the truth of God and the saving teaching with the pure preaching of truth.

Section 7

28.7.1 | 7. Πανταχόθεν τοίνυν φωρατὸς ἂν εἴη Κήρινθος καὶ οἱ ἀμφ' αὐτόν, ἀπατηθεὶς ὁ τάλας καὶ ἄλλοις αἴτιος γεγονὼς ἀπωλείας, τῶν θείων γραφῶν σαφῶς ἡμῖν κατὰ λεπτότητα περὶ πάντων εἰσηγουμένων.

28.7.1 | 7. Therefore, Corinth and those around it would be caught everywhere, the poor man deceived and becoming the cause of destruction for others, clearly teaching us in detail from the divine scriptures about everything.

28.7.2 | οὔτε γὰρ ἐκ σπέρματος Ἰωσήφ ὁ Χριστός, ἐπεὶ πῶς ἔτι σημεῖον εἶη τὸ γέννημα, καὶ τὸ παρὰ τῷ Ἡσαΐα εἰρημένον πῶς ἔτι συσταθήσεται, ὡς εἶπεν »αὐτὸς ὁ κύριος δώσει ὑμῖν σημεῖον· ἰδοὺ ἡ παρθένος ἐν γαστρὶ ἔξει καὶ τέξεται υἱόν« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς·

28.7.2 | For Christ is not from the seed of Joseph, since how could the birth still be a sign, and what was said by Isaiah how could it still stand, as he said, “The Lord himself will give you a sign: look, the virgin will have in her womb and will give birth to a son,” and what follows;

28.7.3 | πῶς δὲ ἔτι πληρωθήσεται τὸ εἰρημένον παρὰ τῆς ἁγίας παρθένου πρὸς τὸν Γαβριήλ »πῶς ἔσται τοῦτο, ὅτι ἄνδρα οὐ γινώσκω« καὶ αὐτοῦ λέγοντος »πνεῦμα ἅγιον ἐπελεύσεται ἐπὶ σέ καὶ δύναμις ὑψίστου ἐπισκιάσει σοι« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς, πῶς δὲ ἔτι πάλιν οὐκ ἐλεγχθήσεται αὐτῶν ἡ ἄνοια,

28.7.3 | But how will what was said by the holy virgin to Gabriel still be fulfilled, “How will this be, since I do not know a man,” and he said, “The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you,” and what follows? How then will their foolishness not be proven wrong again?

28.7.4 | τοῦ εὐαγγελίου σαφῶς λέγοντος ὅτι »ἠὺρέθη ἐν γαστρὶ ἔχουσα πρὶν ἢ συνελθεῖν αὐτούς«;

28.7.4 | Since the gospel clearly says that “she was found pregnant before they came together”?

28.7.5 | ἔστιν δὲ γινῶναι σαφῶς ὅτι οὐδὲ ὅλως συνῆλθον. μὴ γένοιτο γὰρ τοῦτο εἰπεῖν, ἐπεὶ οὐκ ἂν μετὰ σταυρὸν προενόει παραθέσθαι αὐτὴν Ἰωάννῃ τῷ ἁγίῳ παρθένῳ, ὡς λέγει »ἴδε ἡ μήτηρ σου« καὶ τῇ αὐτῇ »ἴδε ὁ υἱός σου«.

28.7.5 | It is clear to know that they did not come together at all. For it would not be right to say this, since he would not have thought to entrust her to John the holy virgin after the cross, as he says, “Here is your mother,” and to her, “Here is your son.”

28.7.6 | ἔδει γὰρ αὐτὸν παραδοῦναι αὐτὴν τοῖς αὐτῆς συγγενέσιν ἢ τοῖς τέκνοις τοῦ Ἰωσήφ, εἴπερ ἦσαν ἐξ αὐτῆς, Ἰακώβῳ φημί καὶ Ἰωσὴφ καὶ Ἰούδᾳ καὶ Συμεῶνι. υἱοῖς οὖσι τοῦ Ἰωσήφ ἀπὸ ἄλλης γυναικός. οὐδὲ γὰρ κέχρηται τ[ῇ] παρθένῳ ὅλως, μὴ γένοιτο· εὕρεται γὰρ μετὰ τὸ γεγεννηκέναι ἡ

28.7.6 | For he should have handed her over to her relatives or to the children of Joseph, if they were from her, I say to Jacob and Joseph and Judas and Simeon, sons of Joseph from another woman. For he did not use her at all as a virgin, may it not be. For παρθένος ἄχραντος.

the virgin is found pure after giving birth.

28.7.7 | ἀλλὰ περὶ τούτων ἤδη ἐν ἄλλῳ μοι λόγῳ σαφῶς πεπραγμάτευται καὶ πραγματευθήσεται· ὧδε δὲ ἐν μέρει ὡς ἐν παρεκδρομῇ περὶ τῆς τούτων ὑποδέσεως εἴρηται, ἵνα μὴ ἐτέρων δηγμάτων βουλόμενος ποιῆσαι ἴασιν καὶ ἐτέρων δηλητηρίων ἄκος καὶ ἀλεξητήριον * εἰς ἄλλα τοὺς ἐντυγχάνοντας παρεκτρέψω.

28.7.7 | But about these things already in another speech it has been clearly dealt with and will be dealt with; here, however, in part as a digression about the rejection of these things it has been said, so that not wanting to make a cure of other wounds and a remedy against other poisons, I turn aside those who meet me to other matters.

28.7.8 | πλὴν ἐκ παντὸς τῷ τὴν σύνεσιν κεκτημένῳ μάταιος ἢ τούτων καταχλεύαστος διδασκαλία συσταθήσεται, παρὰ μὲν τοῖς ἀποστόλοις ἐλεγχομένη, παρὰ δὲ τοῖς συνετοῖς καταγινωσκομένη, ἐκ θεοῦ δὲ καὶ τοῦ αὐτοῦ τῆς ἀληθείας κηρύγματος ἐκβαλλομένη.

28.7.8 | But altogether to anyone who has understanding, the teaching of these things, laughed at and scorned, will be useless; it will be blamed by the apostles, judged by the wise, and cast out from God and from the same preaching of truth.

Section 8

28.8.1 | 8. Καλοῦνται δὲ πάλιν οὗτοι Μερινθιανοί. ὡς ἡ Μοῦσα εἰς ἡμᾶς φάσιν περιέχει. εἴτε γὰρ ὁ αὐτὸς Κήρινθος Μήρινθος πάλιν ἐκαλεῖτο, οὐ πάνυ τι σαφοῦς περὶ τούτου ἴσμεν, εἴτε ἄλλος τις ἦν ἡρινθος ὀνόματι συνεργὸς τούτου, θεῶ ἔγνωσται.

28.8.1 | 8. They are called again Merinthians, as the Muse says to us. For whether the same Corinth was called Merinthos again, we do not know very clearly about this, or whether there was another Merinthos by name working together with him, it is known to God.

28.8.2 | ἤδη γὰρ εἵπαμεν ὅτι οὐ μόνον αὐτὸς ἐν Ἱεροσολύμοις πολλάκις ἀντέστη τοῖς ἀποστόλοις, ἀλλὰ καὶ οἱ σὺν αὐτῷ καὶ ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ· πλὴν ἤτοι αὐτὸς εἴη ἢ καὶ ἄλλος σὺν αὐτῷ συνεργὸς· τὰ ὅμοια αὐτῷ φρονῶν καὶ συμπράττων εἰς τὰ ἴσα, οὐδὲν διαφέρει. ἢ γὰρ πᾶσα αὐτῶν κακοτροπία τῆς διδασκαλίας τοῦτον ἔχει τὸν χαρακτῆρα, Κηρινθιανοὶ δὲ ὁμοῦ καὶ

28.8.2 | For we already said that not only he himself often opposed the apostles in Jerusalem, but also those with him and in Asia; but whether it was he himself or another working with him, thinking alike and acting together for the same purpose, makes no difference. For all their bad behavior in teaching has this same character, and these are called both Μηρινθιανοὶ οὗτοι καλοῦνται.

Kerinthians and Merinthians.

28.8.3 | Καὶ ταῦτα περὶ ταύτης τῆς δεινῆς καὶ ἐρπετώδους μοχθηρίας διεξιόντες πάλιν ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς προβαίνομεν, εὐχαριστοῦντες μὲν ὅτι τὸ πέλαγος τούτων τῶν κακῶν δογμάτων ἀβλαβῶς διενηξάμεθα, εὐχόμενοι δὲ ἵνα ἐν τοῖς ἐξῆς παρεντυχόντες, ὡς εἰς δυσθαλάττια καὶ θηριώδη βράχη παρεμπεσόντες μὴ ἀδικηθῶμεν, ἀλλὰ σωτηρίας τύχωμεν τῆς ἀπὸ τῆς μελλούσης ἡμῖν ἡμῖν ὑφήγησιν ἀναφαίνεσθαι ἀληθείας ἐν τῷ ἡμᾶς συνιστᾶν αὐτήν τε καὶ τὴν ἐπ' αὐτῇ κενοφωνίαν.

28.8.3 | And having gone through these things about this terrible and creeping evil, we now move on to what follows, giving thanks that we have passed safely through the sea of these bad teachings, and praying that when we meet what comes next, as if falling into stormy seas and wild waves, we will not be harmed, but will receive salvation from the coming guidance of truth, which shows itself in us and in the empty noise about it.

28.8.4 | For whoever wants to look closely and write down the ideas of these things will find this one also mixed in, truly like a two-headed snake because of its double name and the so-called rotten viper, which covers its whole body with red hairs, having neither the nature of a goat nor a sheep nor skin, but of a creeping thing, and works harm through its bite to those who meet it,

28.8.5 | ἀνατρέπουσα τοὺς αὐτῇ πειθομένους, πῇ μὲν ἀπὸ παλαιᾶς θρησκείας τὰ τῆς νέας διαθήκης ἀφανίζουσα, πῇ δὲ διὰ λόγων ψευδῶν ὡς ὡς νέας διαθήκης κατὰ τῶν ἀπὸ περιτομῆς εἰς Χριστὸν πεπιστευκότων ἀποστόλων τὰς ψευδηγορίας περιφέρουσα, ἥς τὴν τε σῆψιν καὶ τὸν ἰὸν καὶ τοὺς ὀδόντας τῷ ξύλῳ τῆς ἀληθείας παίσαντες καὶ συντρίψαντες ἐπὶ τὰς μετέπειτα ὡς προεῖπον διεξιέναι ἐν τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμει

28.8.5 | overturning those who obey it, at one time destroying the new covenant from the old religion, at another time spreading false words like lies against the apostles who believed in Christ from circumcision, having struck and crushed its rot, poison, and teeth on the wood of truth, let us hurry to go through what comes next, as I said before, in the power of God.

Book 29

Section 1

29.1.1 | Ναζωραῖοι καθεξῆς τούτοις ἔπονται, ἅμα τε αὐτοῖς ὄντες ἢ καὶ πρὸ αὐτῶν ἢ σὺν αὐτοῖς ἢ μετ' αὐτούς, ὅμως σύγχρονοι· οὐ γὰρ ἀκριβέστερον δύναμαι ἐξειπεῖν τίνες τίνας διεδέξαντο. καθὰ γὰρ ἔφην, σύγχρονοι ἦσαν ἀλλήλοις καὶ ὅμοια ἀλλήλοις κέκτηνται τὰ φρονήματα.

29.1.1 | The Nazoreans follow these things one after another, being with them or even before them, or together with them, or after them, but still at the same time. For I cannot explain more exactly who received what from whom. As I said, they were all at the same time and have similar thoughts.

29.1.2 | οὗτοι γὰρ ἑαυτοῖς ὄνομα ἐπέθεντο οὐχὶ Χριστοῦ οὔτε αὐτὸ τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ Ἰησοῦ,

29.1.2 | For they gave themselves a name, not of Christ nor even the name of Jesus itself,

29.1.3 | ἀλλὰ Ναζωραίων πάντες δὲ Χριστιανοὶ Ναζωραῖοι τότε ὡσαύτως ἐκαλοῦντο· γέγονε δὲ ἐπ' ὀλίγῳ χρόνῳ καλεῖσθαι αὐτοὺς καὶ Ἰεσσαίους, πρὶν ἢ ἐπὶ τῆς Ἀντιοχείας ἀρχὴν λάβωσιν οἱ μαθηταὶ καλεῖσθαι Χριστιανοί.

29.1.3 | but all the Nazoreans were called Christians at that time in the same way; and after a short time, they also came to be called Iessaioi, before the disciples began to be called Christians in Antioch.

29.1.4 | ἐκαλοῦντο δὲ Ἰεσσαῖοι διὰ τὸν Ἰεσσαί, οἶμαι, ἐπειδήπερ ὁ Δαυὶδ ἐξ Ἰεσσαί, ἐκ δὲ τοῦ Δαυὶδ κατὰ διαδοχὴν σπέρματος ἡ Μαρία, πληρουμένης τῆς θείας γραφῆς, κατὰ τὴν παλαιὰν διαθήκην τοῦ κυρίου λέγοντος πρὸς τὸν Δαυὶδ ἐκ καρποῦ τῆς κοιλίας σου θήσομαι ἐπὶ τὸν θρόνον σου.

29.1.4 | They were called Iessaioi because of Jesse, I think, since David came from Jesse, and from David, in a line of descendants, came Mary, fulfilling the holy scripture, according to the old covenant of the Lord saying to David, 'From the fruit of your womb I will place on your throne.'

Section 2

29.2.1 | 2. Δέδια δὲ καθ' ἐκάστην ὑπόθεσιν

29.2.1 | 2. But I fear, for each case of the λέξεως, † ὡς ταύτην τὴν † ὑπόθεσιν ποιοῦμαι, παρακινούσης με τῆς ἀληθείας τὰς ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ λέξει θεωρίας ὑποφαίνειν, διὰ τὸ μὴ πολὺ πλάτος περιποιήσασθαι τῇ συντάξει τῆς διηγήσεως.

word, † as I make this † case, the truths shown in the word's meanings push me on, because I do not want to make the story's structure too wide.

29.2.2 | τοῦ γὰρ κυρίου φήσαντος τῷ Δαυίδ «ἐκ καρποῦ τῆς κοιλίας σου θήσομαι ἐπὶ τὸν θρόνον σου» καὶ ὅτι «ὥμοσε κύριος τῷ Δαυίδ καὶ οὐ μεταμεληθήσεται» δῆλον ὡς ἡ τοῦ θεοῦ ἀμετάθετός ἐστιν ἐπαγγελία.

29.2.2 | For the Lord said to David, 'From the fruit of your womb I will place on your throne,' and that 'The Lord swore to David and will not change his mind,' showing clearly that God's promise is unchanging.

29.2.3 | καὶ πρῶτον μὲν ὅτι ὄρκος παρὰ θεῷ τί ἐστὶν ἄλλ' ἢ τό «κατ' ἐμαυτοῦ ὥμοσα λέγει κύριος»; «οὐ γὰρ κατὰ μειζονος ἔχει ὄρκον ὁ θεός· ἀλλὰ οὐδὲ ὁμνυσι τὸ θεῖον, εἰς παράστασιν δὲ βεβαιώσεως ὁ λόγος ἔχει τὴν δύναμιν. μεθ' ὄρκου γὰρ ὥμοσε κύριος τῷ Δαυίδ ἐκ καρποῦ τῆς κοιλίας θήσιν ἐπὶ τὸν θρόνον αὐτοῦ.

29.2.3 | And first, what is an oath before God except the Lord saying, 'I swear by myself'? For God's oath is not stronger than himself; nor does the divine swear, but the word has power as a guarantee. For the Lord swore to David that he would place on his throne the fruit of his womb.

29.2.4 | μαρτυροῦσι δὲ οἱ ἀπόστολοι ὅτι ἐκ σπέρματος τοῦ Δαυίδ ἔδει τὸν χριστὸν γεννηθῆναι, ὡς καὶ ἐγεννήθη ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν καὶ σωτὴρ Ἰησοῦς Χριστός· παρήσω δὲ τὸ πλῆθος τῶν μαρτυριῶν, ἵνα μὴ εἰς πολὺν ὄγκον ἀγάγω τὸν λόγον, ὥς γε προεῖπον.

29.2.4 | The apostles also testify that the Christ had to be born from the seed of David, just as our Lord and savior Jesus Christ was born. I will leave out the many testimonies, so that I do not bring the word into too great a length, as I said before.

29.2.5 | εἴποι δ' ἂν τις ἴσως· τοῦ Χριστοῦ γεννηθέντος ἐκ σπέρματος Δαυίδ κατὰ σάρκα τουτέστιν ἀπὸ τῆς ἀγίας παρθένου Μαρίας, τίνι τῷ λόγῳ ἐπὶ τοῦ θρόνου Δαυίδ οὐ καθέζεται; «ἦλθον» γὰρ φησι τὸ εὐαγγέλιον χρῆσαι αὐτὸν εἰς βασιλέα, καὶ γνοὺς ἀνεχώρησε» «καὶ ἐκρύβη ἐν Ἐφραὶμ

29.2.5 | Someone might say this: since Christ was born from the seed of David in the flesh, that is, from the holy virgin Mary, why then does he not sit on David's throne by the word? For the gospel says, 'They came to anoint him king, and knowing this, he withdrew,' and 'he hid himself in the city πόλει τῆς ἐρήμου».

of Ephraim in the desert.’

29.2.6 | φθάσαντες δὲ ἐπὶ τὸν τόπον τοῦ ῥητοῦ τούτου καὶ ἐρωτώμενοι περὶ τῆς μαρτυρίας ταύτης καὶ τῆς ὑποθέσεως, ὅτι τίνι τῷ λόγῳ κατὰ τὸ σαρκικὸν οὐ πεπλήρωται ἐπὶ τὸν σωτῆρα τὸ καθίσαι ἐπὶ θρόνον Δαυὶδ ἐνομίσθη γὰρ τοῦτό τις μὴ πεπληρῶσθαι), ὅμως ὡς ἔστιν ἐροῦμεν. οὐδεμία γὰρ λέξις τῆς ἀγίας τοῦ θεοῦ γραφῆς διαπίπτει.

29.2.6 | When we come to this place and ask about this testimony and the situation, why it was thought that by the flesh the Savior did not fully sit on David’s throne (for some thought this was not fulfilled), still we will say as it is. For no word of the holy scripture of God falls away.

Section 3

29.3.1 | 3. Θρόνος γὰρ Δαυὶδ καὶ βασιλικὴ ἔδρα ἐστὶν ἡ ἐν τῇ ἀγίᾳ ἐκκλησίᾳ ἱερωσύνη, ὅπερ ἀξίωμα βασιλικὸν τε καὶ ἀρχιερατικὸν ὁμοῦ ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ συνάψας ὁ κύριος δεδῶρηται τῇ ἀγίᾳ αὐτοῦ ἐκκλησίᾳ, θρόνον μεταγαγὼν ἐν αὐτῇ τὸν τοῦ Δαυὶδ, μὴ διαλείποντα εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα.

29.3.1 | For the throne of David and the royal seat is the priesthood in the holy church, which the Lord has given to his holy church as a royal and high priestly office joined together in one, transferring David’s throne into it, not ending forever.

29.3.2 | ἐκεῖσε γὰρ κατὰ διαδοχὴν διήρκεσεν ὁ θρόνος Δαυὶδ ἕως αὐτοῦ τοῦ Χριστοῦ, μὴ διαλειπόντων τῶν ἐξ Ἰούδα ἀρχόντων ἕως ἥλθεν »ὡς τὰ ἀποκείμενα ἦν καὶ αὐτὸς προσδοκία ἐθνῶν’ <ὡς>

29.3.2 | For there the throne of David lasted in succession until Christ, without interruption from the rulers of Judah, until he came, ‘to whom the things laid up belonged and who was the hope of the nations.’

29.3.3 | ἔληξαν γὰρ ἐν τῇ τοῦ Χριστοῦ παρουσίᾳ οἱ κατὰ διαδοχὴν ἐξ Ἰούδα ἄρχοντες. ἕως γὰρ αὐτοῦ * ἡγούμενοι, διέπεσε δὲ ἡ τάξις καὶ > ἐστὶ ἐξότε αὐτὸς γεννᾶται ἐν Βηθλεὲμ τῆς Ἰουδαίας, ἐπὶ Ἀλεξάνδρου τοῦ τοῦ γένους ἱερατικοῦ καὶ βασιλικοῦ.

29.3.3 | For the rulers from Judah in succession ended at the coming of Christ. For until him they led, but the order fell apart, and he was born outside of it in Bethlehem of Judea, under Alexander of the priestly and royal family.

29.3.4 | ἀφ' οὗ Ἀλεξάνδρου διέπεσεν οὗτος ὁ κληρὸς ἀπὸ χρόνων Σαλίνας, τῆς καὶ Ἀλεξάνδρας καλουμένης, ἐπὶ τοῖς χρόνοις Ἡρώδου τοῦ βασιλέως καὶ Αὐγούστου τοῦ Ῥωμαίων αὐτοκράτορος· ὃς καὶ διάδημα ἐπέθετο ἑαυτῷ ὁ Ἀλέξανδρος οὗτος, εἷς τῶν χριστῶν καὶ ἡγουμένων ὑπάρχων.

29.3.4 | Since Alexander, this land fell from the times of Salinas, also called Alexandra, in the days of Herod the king and Augustus the Roman emperor; this Alexander put a crown on himself, being one of the anointed and leaders.

29.3.5 | συναφθειςὼν γὰρ τῶν δύο φυλῶν τοῦ τε βασιλικοῦ καὶ τοῦ ἱερατικοῦ, Ἰούδα δέ φημι καὶ Ἀαρὼν καὶ πάσης τῆς τοῦ Λευί, βασιλεῖς καὶ ἱερεῖς καθίστων· οὐ γὰρ διήμαρτέν τι ἀπὸ τῆς τῆς ἀγίας γραφῆς αἰνίξεως.

29.3.5 | For when the two tribes, the royal and the priestly, were joined together, I say that Judah and Aaron and all of Levi were made kings and priests; for he did not sin against the holy scripture's mystery.

29.3.6 | τότε δὲ λοιλὸν ἀλλόφυλος βασιλεὺς Ἡρώδης καὶ οὐκέτι οἱ ἀπὸ τοῦ Δαυὶδ διάδημα ἐπέθεντο.

29.3.6 | But then the foreign king Herod ruled, and no longer did those from David put on the crown.

29.3.7 | μεταπεσοῦσης δὲ τῆς βασιλικῆς καθέδρας, ἐν Χριστῷ ἐπὶ τὴν ἐκκλησίαν ἀπὸ μὲν οἴκου τοῦ σαρκικοῦ Ἰούδα καὶ Ἰσραὴλ τὸ βασιλικὸν μετέστη ἀξίωμα, ἵδρυται δὲ ὁ θρόνος ἐν τῇ ἀγίᾳ τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίᾳ εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα, ἐκ δύο προφάσεων ἔχων τὸ ἀξίωμα τό τε βασιλικὸν καὶ τὸ ἀρχιερατικόν —

29.3.7 | But after the royal throne fell, in Christ the royal office moved to the church from the house of the fleshly Judah and Israel, and the throne was established in the holy church of God forever, holding the office for two reasons, both the royal and the high priestly—

29.3.8 | καὶ τὸ μὲν βασιλικὸν ἀπὸ τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ κατὰ δύο τρόπους διὰ τε τὸ εἶναι αὐτὸν ἐκ σπέρματος Δαυὶδ τοῦ βασιλέως κατὰ σάρκα καὶ τὸ εἶναι αὐτόν, ὅπερ καὶ ἔστι, βασιλέα μερίζονα ἀπ' αἰῶνος κατὰ τὴν θεότητα· τὸ δὲ ἱερατικόν, ὅτι αὐτὸς ἀρχιερεὺς καὶ ἀρχιερέων πρύτανις —, κατασταθέντος εὐθὺς Ἰακώβου,

29.3.8 | And the royal office comes from our lord Jesus Christ in two ways: because he is from the seed of David the king in the flesh, and because he is, as he is, a king greater than all from eternity in his divinity; and the priestly office, because he himself is the high priest and chief of priests—appointed immediately after James,

29.3.9 | τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ τοῦ κυρίου πρώτου, υἱοῦ τοῦ Ἰωσήφ φύσει ὄντος ἐν τάξει γε ἀδελφοῦ τοῦ κυρίου κληθέντος διὰ τὴν συναναστροφήν.

29.3.9 | the brother of the lord, called also an apostle, the first bishop, naturally the son of Joseph, being in rank a brother of the lord because of living together with him.

Section 4

29.4.1 | 4. Ἦν γὰρ ὁ Ἰάκωβος οὗτος υἱὸς τοῦ Ἰωσήφ ἐκ <πρώτης> γυναικὸς τοῦ Ἰωσήφ, οὐκ ἀπὸ Μαρίας, ὥς καὶ εἰς πολλοὺς τόπους τοῦτο ἡμῖν εἴρηται καὶ σαφέστερον ἡμῖν πεπραγμάτεται.

29.4.1 | For this James was the son of Joseph by Joseph's first wife, not by Mary, as it has been said to us in many places and explained more clearly to us.

29.4.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ εὐρίσκομεν αὐτὸν ἐκ τοῦ Δαυίδ ὄντα διὰ τὸ υἱὸν εἶναι τοῦ Ἰωσήφ, Ναζιραῖόν <τε> γενόμενον ἦν γὰρ πρωτότοκος τῷ Ἰωσήφ καὶ ἔτι δὲ καὶ ιερατεύσαντα αὐτὸν κατὰ τὴν παλαιὰν ιερωσύνην εὐρομεν.

29.4.2 | But we also find him to be from David because he was the son of Joseph, who was a Nazarite; for he was the firstborn of Joseph and also served as a priest according to the old priesthood.

29.4.3 | διὸ καὶ ἐφίετο οὐτῷ ἅπαξ τοῦ ἐνιαυτοῦ εἰς τὰ ἁγία τῶν ἀλίων εἰσιέναι, ὥς τοῖς ἀρχιερεῦσιν ἐκέλευσεν ὁ νόμος κατὰ τὸ γεγραμμένον· αὕτως γὰρ ἱστορήσαν πολλοὶ πρὸ ἡμῶν περὶ αὐτοῦ, Εὐσέβιος τε καὶ Κλήμης καὶ ἄλλοι.

29.4.3 | Therefore he was allowed once a year to enter the holy place of the sanctuary, as the law commanded the high priests according to what is written; many before us have recorded this about him, Eusebius and Clement and others.

29.4.4 | ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸ πέταλον ἐπὶ τῆς κεφαλῆς ἐξῆν αὐτῷ φορεῖν, καθὼς οἱ προειρημένοι ἀξιόπιστοι ἄνδρες ἐν τοῖς αὐτοῖς ὑπομνηματισμοῖς ἐμαρτύρησαν.

29.4.4 | But also the veil on his head it was allowed for him to wear, just as the trustworthy men mentioned before testified in the same notes.

29.4.5 | »ιερεύς« τοίνυν, ὥς ἔφην, ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστός »εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα κατὰ 29.4.5 | So then, the priest, as i said, our lord Jesus Christ is forever according to the τὴν τάξιν Μελχισεδέκ», βασιλεύς τε ὁμοῦ κατὰ τὴν τάξιν τὴν ἄνωθεν, ἵνα μεταγάγῃ τὴν ἱερωσύνην ἅμα τῇ νομοθεσίᾳ.

order of Melchizedek, and also king at the same time according to the order from above, so that he may transfer the priesthood along with the law.

29.4.6 | τοῦ δὲ σπέρματος Δαυὶδ κατὰ τὴν Μαρίαν καθεζομένου ἐν θρόνῳ, * εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα καὶ τῆς βασιλείας αὐτοῦ οὐκ ἔσται τέλος. ἔδει γὰρ αὐτὸν νῦν μεταγαγεῖν τὴν τάξιν τοῦ τότε βασιλείου. καὶ γὰρ ἡ βασιλεία αὐτοῦ οὐκ ἔστιν ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς, ὡς ἔλεγεν ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ Ποντίῳ Πιλάτῳ ἡ βασιλεία μου οὐκ ἔστιν ἐκ τοῦ κόσμου τούτου.

29.4.6 | But the seed of David, sitting on the throne through Mary, his kingdom will have no end. For it was necessary now to transfer the order of that kingdom. And indeed, his kingdom is not from the earth, as he said in the gospel to Pontius Pilate, 'my kingdom is not from this world.'

29.4.7 | τοῦ γὰρ Χριστοῦ τὰ πάντα πληροῦντος δι' αἰνιγμάτων, ἕως τινὸς μέτρου αἱ ὑποθέσεις ἐφθανόν. οὐ γὰρ ἦλθεν, ἵνα προκοπῇ λάβῃ βασιλείας, ὁ βασιλεύων αἰεὶ· ἐχαρίσατο δὲ τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ καθισταμένοις τὸ βασίλειον, ἵνα μὴ νομισθῇ ἀπὸ τῶν μικρῶν ἐπὶ τὰ μείζονα προκόπτειν.

29.4.7 | For Christ, filling all things through riddles, the stories reached up to a certain measure. For he did not come so that the kingdom might grow, the one who always rules. But he gave the kingdom to those set under him, so that it would not be thought that the small things grow into the greater.

29.4.8 | μένει γὰρ αὐτοῦ ὁ θρόνος καὶ τῆς βασιλείας αὐτοῦ οὐκ ἔσται τέλος καὶ κάθηται ἐπὶ τὸν θρόνον Δαυὶδ, τὸ βασίλειον τοῦ Δαυὶδ μεταστήσας καὶ χαρισάμενος τοῖς ἑαυτοῦ δούλοις ἅμα τῇ ἀρχιερωσύνῃ, τουτέστι τοῖς ἀρχιερεῦσι τῆς καθολικῆς | ἐκκλησίας.

29.4.8 | For his throne remains, and his kingdom will have no end. And David sits on the throne, having transferred the kingdom of David and given it to his own servants along with the high priesthood, that is, to the high priests of the universal church.

29.4.9 | καὶ πολλὰ ἔστι περὶ τούτου λέγειν, λέγειν, ὅμως ἐπειδὴ εἰς τὸν τόπον ἐλήλυθα δι' ἣν αἰτίαν Ἰεσσαῖοι ἐκαλοῦντο πρὶν τοῦ καλεῖσθαι Χριστιανοὶ οἱ εἰς Χριστὸν πεπιστευκότες, τούτου ἕνεκα ἔφημεν ὅτι ὁ Ἰεσσαὶ πατὴρ γίνεται τοῦ Δαυὶδ, καὶ ἦτοι ἐξ

29.4.9 | And there is much to say about this, yet since I have come to the place for which reason those called Jessaites were named before those who believed in Christ were called Christians, for this reason we said that Jessai is the father of David. And either ὑποθεσέως τούτου τοῦ Ἰεσσαὶ ἦτοι ἐκ τοῦ ὀνόματος Ἰησοῦ τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν ἐπεκλήθησαν Ἰεσσαῖοι διὰ τὸ ἐξ Ἰησοῦ ὀρμᾶσθαι, μαθηταὶ αὐτοῦ ὄντες, ἢ διὰ τὸ τῆς ἐτυμολογίας τοῦ ὀνόματος τοῦ κυρίου· Ἰησοῦς γὰρ κατὰ τὴν Ἑβραϊκὴν διάλεκτον θεραπευτὴς καλεῖται ἦτοι ἰατρὸς καὶ σωτήρ.

from this story of Jessai or from the name Jesus our Lord they were called Jessaites, because they started from Jesus, being his disciples, or because of the meaning of the Lord's name. For Jesus in the Hebrew language is called healer, that is, doctor and savior.

29.4.10 | ὁμως τούτῳ τῷ ὀνόματι πρὶν τοῦ Χριστιανοὺς αὐτοὺς καλεῖσθαι τὴν ἐπωνυμίαν ἐκέκτηντο. ἐπὶ Ἀντιοχείας δέ, καθάπερ ἄνω ἐπεμνήσθημεν καὶ ὡς ἔχει ἡ τῆς ἀληθείας ὑπόθεσις, ἤρξαντο οἱ μαθηταὶ καὶ πᾶσα ἡ ἐκκλησία τοῦ θεοῦ Χριστιανοὶ καλεῖσθαι.

29.4.10 | However, before they were called Christians, they had gained the name from this name. But in Antioch, as we mentioned above and as the truth stands, the disciples and the whole church of God began to be called Christians.

Section 5

29.5.1 | 5. Εὗροις δ' ἄν, ὦ φιλόλογε, καὶ τούτων τὴν ὑπόθεσιν ἐντυχὼν τοῖς τοῦ Φίλωνος ὑπομνήμασιν ἐν τῇ περὶ Ἰεσσαίων αὐτοῦ ἐπιγραφομένῃ βίβλῳ, ὡς τούτων τὴν πολιτείαν καὶ τὰ ἐγκώμια διεξιὼν καὶ τὰ αὐτῶν μοναστήρια ἐν τῇ κατὰ τὴν Μάρειαν λίμνην ἱστορῶν περιουκίδι οὐ περὶ τινῶν ἐτέρων ὁ ἀνὴρ ἱστόρησεν, ἀλλὰ περὶ Χριστιανῶν.

29.5.1 | You would find, dear lover of learning, the story of these things by coming upon the notes of Philo in his book called 'About the Jessaites,' where he goes through their way of life and their praises, and tells about their monasteries by the lake called Mareotis. The man did not write about some others, but about Christians.

29.5.2 | οὗτος γὰρ γενόμενος ἐν τῇ χώρᾳ Μαρεῶτιν δὲ τὸν τόπον καλοῦσι) καὶ καταχθεὶς παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐν τοῖς κατὰ τὸν χώρον τοῦτον μοναστηρίοις ὠφέληται.

29.5.2 | For he, having come to the land called Mareotis, and having stayed with them in the monasteries in that region, was helped.

29.5.3 | ἐν ἡμέραις γὰρ τῶν Πάσχων ἐκεῖ γενόμενος, τὰς τε αὐτῶν πολιτείας ἐθεάσατο καὶ ὡς τινες ἐβδομάδα τὴν ἁγίαν τῶν Πάσχων ὑπερτιθέμενοι διετέλουν,

29.5.3 | For he came there during the days of Passover, and he saw their way of life, how some kept the holy week of Passover strictly, others ate for two days, and others ἄλλοι δὲ διὰ δύο ἐσθίοντες, ἄλλοι δὲ καὶ καθ' ἐσπέραν. ἦν δὲ πάντα ταῦτα τῷ ἀνδρὶ πεπραγματευμένα εἰς τὴν περὶ πίστεώς τε καὶ πολιτείας τῶν Χριστιανῶν ὑπόθεσιν.

only in the evening. All these things were done by the man to learn about the faith and way of life of the Christians.

29.5.4 | ὥς οὖν τότε ἐκαλοῦντο Ἰεσσαῖοι ἐπ' ἀλίγῳ χρόνῳ μετὰ τὴν ἀνάληψιν τοῦ σωτῆρος καὶ Μάρκου τῇ τῶν Αἰγυπτίων χώρᾳ κηρύξαντος κατὰ τοὺς χρόνους τούτους τινὲς ἐξεληλύθασι πάλιν, τῶν ἀποστόλων δὴθεν ἀκόλουθοι, λέγω δὲ οἱ ἐνταῦθά μοι δηλούμενοι Ναζωραῖοι, ὄντες μὲν κατὰ τὸ γένος Ἰουδαῖοι καὶ τῷ νόμῳ προσανέχοντες καὶ περιτομὴν κεκτημένοι,

29.5.4 | So, at that time, they were called Jessaites. Shortly after the ascension of the savior and Mark preaching in the land of the Egyptians, some came back again during those years, claiming to be followers of the apostles. I mean those here who showed themselves to me as Nazarenes, being by birth Jews and keeping the law and having circumcision.

29.5.5 | But just like some who, looking at a fire without understanding why those who lit it made it or what use it serves, or how they prepare their food by the fire, or how certain burning woods or brush are used up by fire, in the same way, they imitated fire, lighting themselves and burned themselves.

29.5.6 | ἀκούσαντες γὰρ μόνον ὄνομα Ἰησοῦ καὶ θεασάμενοι τὰ θεοσήμεια τὰ διὰ τῶν χειρῶν τῶν ἀποστόλων γινόμενα καὶ αὐτοὶ εἰς Ἰησοῦν πιστεύουσιν. γνόντες δὲ αὐτὸν ἐν Ναζαρετ ἐν γαστρὶ συλληψθέντα καὶ ἐν οἴκῳ Ἰωσήφ ἀνατραφέντα καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ Ἰησοῦν τὸν Ναζωραῖον καλεῖσθαι, ὥς καὶ οἱ ἀπόστολοι φασιν Ἰησοῦν τὸν Ναζωραῖον, ἄνδρα ἀποδεδειγμένον ἐν τε σημείοις καὶ τέρασι καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς, τοῦτο τὸ ὄνομα ἐπιτιθέασιν ἑαυτοῖς τοῦ καλεῖσθαι Ναζωραίους — οὐχὶ Ναζιραίους, τὸ ἐρμηνευόμενον

29.5.6 | For they heard only the name of Jesus and saw the signs done by the hands of the apostles, and they themselves believed in Jesus. Knowing that he was conceived in Nazareth in the womb and raised in the house of Joseph, and because of this, in the gospel, Jesus is called the Nazarene, as the apostles also say Jesus the Nazarene, a man proven by signs and wonders; and afterward, they take this name for themselves to be called Nasaraeans—not Nazirites, which means ἡγιασμένους.

29.5.7 | τοῦτο γὰρ τοῖς τὸ παλαιὸν πρωτοτόκοις καὶ θεῷ ἀριερωθεῖσιν ὑπῆρχεν τὸ ἀξίωμα, ὧν εἷς ὑπῆρχεν ὁ Σαμψὼν καὶ ἄλλοι μετ' αὐτὸν καὶ πρὸ αὐτοῦ πολλοί, ἀλλὰ καὶ Ἰωάννης ὁ βαπτιστὴς τῶν αὐτῶν ἀφῆγιασμένων τῷ θεῷ καὶ αὐτὸς εἷς ὑπῆρχεν· »οἶνον γὰρ καὶ σίκερα οὐκ ἔπινεν«· ὠρίζετο γὰρ τοῖς τοιοῦτοις αὕτη ἀρμόδιος τῷ ἐφιώματι ἡ πολιτεία.

29.5.7 | For this honor belonged to those who were the firstborn of the old and set apart to God, one of whom was Samson and many others before and after him; but also John the Baptist, who was also one of those consecrated to God. "For he drank no wine or strong drink." This way of life was fitting for those kinds of people by their clothing.

Section 6

29.6.1 | 6. ἀλλὰ οὐδὲ Νασαραίους ἑαυτοὺς ἀκάλεσαν· ἦν γὰρ ἡ αἵρεσις τῶν Νασαραίων πρὸ Χριστοῦ καὶ Χριστὸν οὐκ ᾔδει — ·

29.6.1 | But they did not call themselves Nasaraeans; for the sect of the Nasaraeans was before Christ and did not know Christ.

29.6.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ πάντες ἄνθρωποι τοὺς Χριστιανοὺς ἐκάλουν Ναζωραίους ὡς προεῖπον, ὡς λέγουσι κατηγοροῦντες Παύλου τοῦ ἀποστόλου »τοῦτον τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἡῦρομεν λοιμὸν καὶ διαστρέφοντα τὸν λαόν, πρωτοστάτην τε ὄντα τῆς τῶν Ναζωραίων αἰρέσεως«.

29.6.2 | But all people called the Christians Nazarenes, as I said before, as they say when accusing Paul the apostle: "We found this man to be a plague and one who turns the people away, and the leader of the sect of the Nazarenes."

29.6.3 | σεως'. ὁ δὲ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος οὐκ ἀρνεῖται μὲν τὸ ὄνομα, οὐχὶ τὴν τούτων αἵρεσιν ὁμολογῶν, ἀλλὰ τὸ ὄνομα τὸ ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν ἀντιλεγόντων κακονοίας διὰ τὸν Χριστὸν ἐπενεχθὲν αὐτῷ ἀσμένως καταδεχόμενος.

29.6.3 | But the holy apostle does not deny the name, not agreeing with their heresy, but gladly accepting the name given to him by those who oppose him out of malice because of Christ.

29.6.4 | φησὶ γὰρ ἐπὶ τοῦ βήματος »οὔτε ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ ἡῦρόν με πρὸς τινα διαλεγόμενον

29.6.4 | For he says on the platform, "Neither in the temple did I find myself

ἢ ἐπίστασιν τινα ὄχλου ποιοῦντα οὐδὲ ὧν μου κατηγοροῦσιν οὐδὲν πεποίηκα. ὁμολογῶ δέ σοι τοῦτο, ὅτι κατὰ τὴν ὁδὸν ἣν αἵρεσιν οὗτοι φάσκουσιν οὕτω λατρεύω, πιστεύων πᾶσι τοῖς ἐν τῷ νόμῳ καὶ ἐν τοῖς προφήταις· talking with anyone, nor causing any trouble among the crowd, nor did I do anything of what they accuse me. But I admit this to you, that according to the way this sect claims, I worship like that, believing all that is in the law and the prophets.”

29.6.5 | καὶ οὐ θαῦμα ὅτι ὁ ἀπόστολος ὁμολόγει ἑαυτὸν Ναζωραῖον, πάντων καλούντων τοὺς Χριστιανοὺς τότε τούτῳ τῷ ὀνόματι διὰ Ναζαρέτ τὴν πόλιν, ἄλλης μὴ οὔσης χρήσεως τῷ ὀνόματι πρὸς τὸν καιρὸν, ὥστε τοὺς ἀνθρώπους > καλεῖν τοὺς τῷ Χριστῷ πεπιστευκότας, περὶ οὗ καὶ γέγραπται »ὅτι Ναζωραῖος κληθήσεται«.

29.6.5 | And it is no wonder that the apostle calls himself a Nazarene, since all called the Christians by that name then because of Nazareth, the city, there being no other use of the name at that time, so that people call those who believe in Christ by it, about whom it is also written, “He will be called a Nazarene.”

29.6.6 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ νῦν ὁμωνύμως οἱ ἄνθρωποι πάσας τὰς αἵρέσεις, Μανιχαίους τε φημι καὶ Μαρκιωνιστὰς Γνωστικούς τε καὶ ἄλλους, Χριστιανοὺς τοὺς μὴ ὄντας Χριστιανοὺς καλοῦσι καὶ ὁμῶς ἐκάστη αἵρεσις, καίπερ ἄλλως λεγομένη, καταδέχεται τοῦτο χαίρουσα. ὅτι διὰ τοῦ ὀνόματος κοσμεῖται· δοκοῦσι γὰρ ἐπὶ τῷ τοῦ Χριστοῦ σεμνύνεσθαι ὀνόματι, οὐ μὴν τῇ πίστει καὶ τοῖς ἔργοις.

29.6.6 | And even now people call all heresies by the same name, I say Manichaeans and Marcionites, Gnostics and others, Christians even though they are not Christians, and yet each heresy, though called differently, accepts this gladly. Because it is honored through the name; for they seem to boast in the name of Christ, but not in faith and works.

29.6.7 | In the same way, the holy disciples of Christ then called themselves disciples of Jesus, just as they were; and when others called them Nazarenes, they did not refuse, seeing the reason for this name, because they were called that through Christ, since even our Lord Jesus himself was called the Nazarene, as the gospels and the Acts of the Apostles show, because in the...

Πράξεις τῶν ἀποστόλων, διὰ τὸ ἐν τῇ

29.6.8 | πόλει αὐτὸν Ναζαρέτ κώμη δὲ τὰ νῦν οὕσῃ) ἀνατετράφθαι ἐν οἴκῳ Ἰωσήφ, γεννηθέντα κατὰ σάρκα ἐν Βηθλεὲμ ἀπὸ Μαρίας τῆς ἀειπαρθένου τῆς μεμνηστευμένης Ἰωσήφ, τῷ ἐν τῇ αὐτῇ Ναζαρέτ μετωκηκότι μετὰ τὸ ἀπὸ Βηθλεὲμ αὐτὸν μεταναστόντα ἐν τῇ Γαλιλαίᾳ κατοικισθῆναι.

29.6.8 | city of Nazareth, a village now existing, he was brought up in the house of Joseph, born in the flesh in Bethlehem from Mary the ever-virgin, betrothed to Joseph, who had moved to Nazareth after Jesus had migrated from Bethlehem to live in Galilee.

Section 7

29.7.1 | 7. Οὗτοι δὲ οἱ προειρημένοι αἵρεσι[νται, περὶ ὧν ἐνταῦθα τὴν ὑφήγησιν ποιούμεθα, παρέντες τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ Ἰησοῦ οὔτε Ἰεσσαίους ἑαυτοὺς κεκλήκασιν οὔτε τῶν Ἰουδαίων ἔμειναν ἔχοντες τὸ ὄνομα οὔτε Χριστιανούς ἑαυτοὺς ἐπωνόμασαν, ἀλλὰ Ναζωραίους, δῆθεν ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ τόπου τῆς Ναζαρέτ ἐπωνυμίας, τὰ πάντα δὲ εἰσιν Ἰουδαῖοι καὶ οὐδὲν ἕτερον.

29.7.1 | 7. These mentioned heretics, about whom we give this explanation here, did not take the name of Jesus, nor did they call themselves Jessaïans, nor did they keep the name of the Jews, nor did they call themselves Christians, but rather Nazarenes, supposedly from the place name of Nazareth; but they are all Jews and nothing else.

29.7.2 | They use not only the new covenant, but also the old covenant, just like the Jews do. For the law, the prophets, and the writings, which are called books by the Jews, are not forbidden to them, just as to the ones mentioned before. They do not think anything different, but according to the preaching of the law, and like the Jews, they confess everything rightly, except that they do not really believe in Christ.

29.7.3 | παρ' αὐτοῖς γὰρ καὶ νεκρῶν ἀνάστασις ὁμολογεῖται καὶ ἐκ θεοῦ τὰ πάντα γεγενῆσθαι, ἓνα δὲ θεὸν καταγγέλλουσι καὶ τὸν τούτου παῖδα

29.7.3 | For with them, the resurrection of the dead is confessed, and that all things have come from God. They proclaim one God and his son Jesus Christ. They are trained exactly in the Hebrew language.

Ἰησοῦν Χριστόν. Ἑβραϊκῇ δὲ διαλέκτῳ ἀκριβῶς εἰσιν ἡσκημένοι.

29.7.4 | παρ' αὐτοῖς γὰρ πᾶς ὁ νόμος καὶ εἰ προφηταὶ καὶ τὰ γραφεῖα λεγόμενα, φημί δὲ τὰ στιχηρὰ καὶ αἱ Βασιλεῖαι καὶ Παραλειπόμενα καὶ Εσθὴρ καὶ τᾶλλα πάντα Ἑβραϊκῶς ἀναγινώσκεται, ὥσπερ ἀμέλει καὶ παρὰ Ἰουδαίους.

29.7.4 | For with them, all the law and the prophets and the writings called the Psalms and the Kings and the Chronicles and Esther and all the others are read in Hebrew, just as is usual among the Jews.

29.7.5 | ἐν τούτῳ δὲ μόνον Πρὸς Ἰουδαίους διαφέρονται καὶ Χριστιανούς, Ἰουδαίους μὲν μὴ συμφωνοῦντες διὰ τὸ εἰς Χριστόν πεπιστευκέναι, Χριστιανοῖς δὲ μὴ ὁμογνωμονοῦντες διὰ τὸ ἔτι νόμῳ πεπεδησθαι, περιτομῇ τε καὶ σαββάτῳ καὶ τοῖς ἄλλοις.

29.7.5 | In this only do Jews and Christians differ: the Jews do not agree because they have believed in Christ, and the Christians do not agree because they are still bound by the law, by circumcision, and by the Sabbath and the other things.

29.7.6 | περὶ Χριστοῦ δὲ οὐκ οἶδ' εἰπεῖν, εἰ καὶ αὐτοὶ τῇ τῶν προειρημένων περὶ Κήρινθον καὶ Μήρινθον μοχθηρίᾳ ἀχθέντες ψιλὸν ἄνθρωπον νομίζουσιν ἢ καθὼς ἡ ἀλήθεια ἔχει διὰ πνεύματος ἁγίου γεγεννησθαι ἐκ Μαρίας διαβεβαιοῦνται.

29.7.6 | About Christ, I do not know what to say, whether they themselves, annoyed by the wickedness mentioned before about Cerinthus and Marinus, think he is just a man, or whether they firmly believe, as the truth is, that he was born through the Holy Spirit from Mary.

29.7.7 | ἔστιν δὲ αὕτη ἡ αἵρεσις ἡ Ναζωραίων ἐν τῇ Βεροιαίων περὶ τὴν Κοίλιν Συρίαν καὶ ἐν τῇ Δεκαπόλει περὶ τὰ τῆς Πέλλης μέρη καὶ ἐν τῇ Βασανίτιδι ἐν τῇ λεγομένῃ Κωκάβῃ, Χωχάβῃ δὲ Ἑβραϊστὶ λεγομένη.

29.7.7 | This sect of the Nazarenes is in Beroea, around Coele Syria, and in Decapolis, near the parts of Pella, and in Basanitis, in the place called Kokaba, which in Hebrew is called Hohah.

29.7.8 | ἐκεῖθεν γὰρ ἡ ἀρχὴ γέγονε, μετὰ τὴν ἀπὸ τῶν Ἱεροσολύμων μετὰστασιν πάντων τῶν μαθητῶν ἐν Πέλλῃ ὥκηκότων,

29.7.8 | For from there the beginning happened, after all the disciples moved from Jerusalem and lived in Pella, Christ

Χριστοῦ φήσαντος καταλεῖψαι τὰ Ἱεροσόλυμα καὶ ἀναχωρῆσαι χωρῆσαι δι' ἣν ἤμελλε πάσχειν πολιορκίαν. καὶ ἐκ τῆς τοιαύτης ὑποδέσεως τὴν Περαιάν οἰκήσαντες ἐκεῖσε, ὡς ἔφην, διέτριβον. ἐντεῦθεν τεῦθεν κατὰ τοὺς Ναζωραίους αἵρεσις ἴσχεν τὴν ἀρχήν.

having said to leave Jerusalem and to go away because it was about to suffer a siege. And from such a command, having lived in Perea, they stayed there, as I said. From there, according to the Nazarenes, the sect held its beginning.

Section 8

29.8.1 | 8. Πεπλάνηνται δὲ καὶ οὗτοι περιτομὴν ἀυχοῦντες, καὶ ἔτι οἱ τοιοῦτοι »ὑπὸ κατάραν εἰσί', μὴ δυνάμενοι τὸν νόμον πληρῶσαι. πῶς γὰρ δυνήσονται πληροῦν τὰ ἐν τῷ νόμῳ εἰρημένα, ὅτι τρις τοῦ ἔτους ὀφθήσῃ ἐνώπιον κυρίου τοῦ θεοῦ σου, κατὰ τε τὰ Ἄζυμα καὶ Σκηνοπηγίαν καὶ τὴν Πεντηκοστήν', ἐν τῷ τόπῳ Ἱεροσολύμων.

29.8.1 | They are also mistaken, boasting about circumcision, and still such people are 'under a curse,' unable to keep the law. For how will they be able to keep what is said in the law, that three times a year you must appear before the Lord your God, at the Feast of Unleavened Bread, and the Feast of Tabernacles, and Pentecost, in the place of Jerusalem?

29.8.2 | ἀποκλεισθέντος γὰρ τοῦ τόπου καὶ τῶν ἐν τῷ νόμῳ μὴ δυναμένων πληροῦσθαι, παντὶ τῷ νοῦν ἔχοντι σαφὲς ἂν εἴῃ ὅτι Χριστὸς ἦλθεν πληρωτὴς τοῦ νόμου, οὐ τὸν νόμον καταλύσων, ἀλλὰ τὸν νόμον πληρώσων, καὶ ἀφελεῖν τὴν κατάραν τὴν κατὰ τῆς παραβάσεως τοῦ νόμου ὀρισθεῖσαν.

29.8.2 | For the place being shut off and those in the law unable to be fulfilled, it would be clear to anyone with sense that Christ came as the fulfiller of the law, not destroying the law, but fulfilling the law, and to remove the curse set against breaking the law.

29.8.3 | μετὰ γὰρ τὸ ἐντείλασθαι τὸν Μωυσέα πᾶσαν ἐντολὴν ἦλθεν ἐπὶ τὸ τέρμα τῆς βίβλου καὶ συνέκλεισε τὸ πᾶν εἰς κατάραν' λέγων »ἐπικατάρατος ὅς οὐκ ἐμμένει πᾶσι τοῖς γεγραμμένοις λόγοις ἐν τῷ βιβλίῳ τούτῳ τοῦ ποιῆσαι αὐτούς'.

29.8.3 | For after Moses commanded every law, he came to the end of the book and closed everything with a curse, saying, "Cursed is anyone who does not remain in all the written words in this book to do them."

29.8.4 | ἦλθεν οὖν λύων μὲν τὰ πεπεδημένα δεσμοῖς τῆς κατάρας, χαριζόμενος δὲ ἡμῖν

29.8.4 | So he came, freeing those bound by the chains of the curse, giving us grace ἀντὶ τῶν μικρῶν τῶν μὴ δυναμένων πληροῦσθαι τὰ μείζονα καὶ οὐ μαχόμενα θάτερον θατέρῳ πρὸς τὴν τοῦ ἔργου πλήρωσιν ὡς τὰ πρότερα· instead of the small things that could not be fulfilled, and not fighting one against the other for the work's completion as before;

29.8.5 | αὐτως γὰρ κατὰ πᾶσαν αἴρεσιν φθάνοντες ἐν τῇ περὶ σαββατισμοῦ καὶ περιτομῆς καὶ τῶν ἄλλων σχέσει πολλάκις ἐπειργασάμεθα, πῶς ὁ κύριος ἡμῖν τὰ έντελέστερα κεχάρισται.

29.8.5 | For just so, having gone ahead of every sect in the matter of Sabbath and circumcision and other matters, we have often worked hard to show how the Lord has given us the more complete things by grace.

29.8.6 | πῶς δὲ οἱ τοιοῦτοι δυνήσονται ἀπολογία ἔχειν, μὴ τῷ πνεύματι τῷ ἁγίῳ ὑπακούσαντες τῷ διὰ τῶν ἀποστόλων εἰρηκότι τοῖς ἐξ Μνῶν πεπιστευκόσι μὴ βάρος ἐπιτίθεσθαι πλὴν τῶν ἐπάναγχες, ἀπέχεσθαι αἵματος καὶ πνικτοῦ καὶ πορνείας καὶ εἰδωλοθύτου;«

29.8.6 | But how will such people be able to make a defense, if they have not obeyed the Holy Spirit, who through the apostles said to those from the nations who believed, not to put on a heavy burden except these necessary things: to keep away from blood and strangled animals and sexual immorality and from food offered to idols?

29.8.7 | πῶς δὲ οὐκ ἐκπεσοῦνται τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ χάριτος, λέγοντος Παύλου τοῦ ἁγίου ἀποστόλου ὅτι ἐὰν περιτέμνησθε, Χριστὸς ὑμᾶς οὐδὲν ὠφελήσει«, »οἵτινες ἐν νόμῳ καυχάσθε, τῆς χάριτος ἐξεπέστε;«

29.8.7 | But how will they not fall away from the grace of God, when the holy apostle Paul says, 'If you are circumcised, Christ will not help you at all,' and 'You who boast in the law have fallen away from grace'?

Section 9

29.9.1 | 9. Ἀρκέσει γοῦν καὶ ἐν ταύτῃ τῇ αἵρεσει ἢ διὰ τῆς συντομίας παρ' ἡμῶν διάλεξις. εὐθυέλεγκτοι γὰρ οἱ τοιοῦτοι καὶ εὐάλωτοι, καὶ Ἰουδαῖοι μᾶλλον καὶ οὐδὲν ἕτερον.

29.9.1 | 9. Surely even in this heresy, the brief talk we gave is enough. For such people are easily shown wrong and easily caught, and they are more like Jews and nothing else.

29.9.2 | πάνυ δὲ οὗτοι ἐχθροὶ τοῖς

29.9.2 | But these people are very much

Ἰουδαίοις ὑπάρχουσιν. οὐ μόνον γὰρ οἱ τῶν Ἰουδαίων παῖδες πρὸς τούτους κέκτηνται μῖσος, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀνιστάμενοι ἔωθεν καὶ μέσης ἡμέρας καὶ περὶ τὴν ἑσπέραν, τρὶς τῆς ἡμέρας ὅτε εὐχὰς ἐπιτελοῦσιν ἑαυτοῖς ἐν ταῖς συναγωγαῖς ἐπαρῶνται αὐτοῖς καὶ ἀναθεματίζουσι, τρὶς τῆς ἡμέρας φάσκοντες ὅτι »ἐπικαταράσαι ὁ θεὸς τοὺς Ναζωραίους«.

enemies of the Jews. For not only do the children of the Jews hate them, but also those who get up early in the morning, at midday, and in the evening, three times a day when they say prayers in the synagogues, they stand against them and curse them, three times a day saying, 'May God curse the Nazarenes.'

29.9.3 | δῆθεν γὰρ τούτοις περισσότερον ἐνέχουσι, διὰ τὸ ἀπὸ Ἰουδαίων αὐτοὺς ὄντας Ἰησοῦν κηρύσσειν εἶναι <τὸν> Χριστόν, ὅπερ ἐναντίον πρὸς τοὺς ἔτι Ἰουδαίους, τοὺς τὸν Ἰησοῦν μὴ δεξαμένους.

29.9.3 | For they think they have more power because they say that Jesus, the Christ, is preached by them since they come from the Jews, which is against the Jews who still do not accept Jesus.

29.9.4 | ἔχουσι δὲ τὸ κατὰ Ματθαῖον εὐαγγέλιον πληρέστατον Ἑβραϊστί. παρ' αὐτοῖς γὰρ σαφῶς τοῦτο, καθὼς ἐξ ἀρχῆς ἐγράφη, Ἑβραϊκοῖς γράμμασιν ἔτι σώζεται. οὐκ οἶδα δὲ εἰ καὶ τὰς γενεαλογίας τὰς ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἀβραάμ ἄχρι Χριστοῦ περιεῖλον.

29.9.4 | They have the Gospel according to Matthew, very complete, in Hebrew. For among them this is kept clearly, just as it was written from the beginning, still in Hebrew letters. I do not know if they have also removed the genealogies from Abraham to Christ.

29.9.5 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ταύτην φωράσαντες ὡς βληχρὸν καὶ ὀδύνης ἐμποητικὸν διὰ τοῦ ἰοῦ σφηκίον, καταθλάσαντες τε τοῖς τῆς ἀληθείας λόγοις, ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἴωμεν, ἐπιπόθητοι, παρὰ θεοῦ αἰτοῦντες τὴν βοήθειαν.

29.9.5 | But having also spoiled this, like something rotten and full of pain because of a wasp's sting, and breaking it with words of truth, let us go on to what follows, eager, asking for help from God.

Book 30

Section 1

30.1.1 | Ἐβίων, ἀφ' οὗπερ Ἐβιωναῖοι, καθεξῆς ἀκολουθῶν καὶ τὰ ὅμοια τούτοις

30.1.1 | Ebion, from whom the Ebionites come, following in order and thinking like φρονήσας, πολύμορφον τεράστιον καὶ ὡς εἶπεῖν τῆς μυθευομένης πολυκεφάλου ὕδρας ὀφιώδη μορφήν ἐν ἑαυτῷ ἀνατυπωσάμενος, πάλιν ἐπανεῖστη τῷ βίῳ, ἐκ τῆς τούτων μὲν σχολῆς ὑπάρχων, ἕτερα δὲ παρὰ τούτους κηρύττων καὶ ὑφηγούμενος.

them, having formed in himself a many-shaped monster and, so to speak, the snake-like form of the many-headed mythic hydra, rose again in life, coming from their school, but preaching and leading others different from them.

30.1.2 | ὡς γὰρ εἴ τις συνάξειεν ἑαυτῷ ἐκ διαφόρων λίθων τιμίῳ κόσμον καὶ ποικίλης ἐσθῆτος ἔνδυμα καὶ διαψανῶς ἑαυτὸν κοσμήσει, οὕτω καὶ οὗτος τὸ ἀνάπαλιν πᾶν ὀτιοῦν δεινὸν καὶ ὀλετήριον καὶ βδελυκτὸν κήρυγμα, ἄμορφόν τε καὶ ἀπίθανον, ζηλίας ἔμπλεον παρ' ἐκάστης αἰρέσεως λαβὼν ἑαυτὸν ἀνετύπωσεν εἰς ἀπάσας.

30.1.2 | For just as if someone gathered for himself a decoration of precious stones and a garment of many colors and dressed himself finely, so also this one, on the contrary, took every terrible, destructive, and hateful message, shapeless and unbelievable, full of jealousy from each sect, and imprinted himself on all.

30.1.3 | For he has the hateful part of the Samaritans, the name of the Jews, the belief of the Ossaeans and Nazoreans and Nasaraeans, the appearance of the Cerinthians, the bad behavior of the Carpocratians, and he wants to have only the title of Christians, for certainly he does not have agreement in action, belief, knowledge, or agreement about faith from the gospels and apostles.

30.1.4 | μέσος δὲ ὡς εἶπεῖν ἀπάντων τυγχάνων οὐδὲν πέφυκεν, ἀλλὰ ἐπ' αὐτὸν πληροῦται τὸ γεγραμμένον τό παρ' ὀλίγον ἐγενόμην ἐν παντὶ κακῷ, μέσον ἀκκλησίας καὶ συναγωγῆς·

30.1.4 | Being in the middle, so to speak, of all, he is born with nothing, but the written word is fulfilled about him: 'I became a little one in every evil, in the middle of church and synagogue.'

30.1.5 | Σαμαρείτης μὲν γὰρ ὢν διὰ τῆς βδελυρίας τοῦ ὀνόματος ἀρνεῖται, Ἰουδαῖον δὲ ἑαυτὸν ὁμολογῶν Ἰουδαίοις ἀντίκειται,

30.1.5 | For being a Samaritan, he denies the name because of the hatefulness; but confessing himself a Jew, he opposes the καίτοι συμφωνῶν αὐτοῖς ἐν μέρει, ὥς ὕστερον ἐν ταῖς περὶ τούτου ἀποδείξεσι τοῦ κατ' αὐτῶν ἀλεγχοῦ παραστήσομεν, θεοῦ ἐπιβοηθοῦντος.

Jews, although agreeing with them in part, as later in the proofs against him we will show, with God helping.

Section 2

30.2.1 | 2. Οὗτος γὰρ ὁ Ἐβίων σύγχρονος μὲν τούτων ὑπῆρχεν, ἀπ' αὐτῶν δὲ σὺν αὐτοῖς &ών> ὁρμᾶται.

30.2.1 | For this Ebion was a contemporary of these, and being with them, he sets out together with them.

30.2.2 | τὰ πρῶτα δὲ ἐκ παρατριβῆς καὶ σπέρματος ἀνδρός, τουτέστι τοῦ Ἰωσήφ, τὸν Χριστὸν γεγεννηθῆσθαι ἔλεγεν· ὥς καὶ ἤδη ἡμῖν προείρηται ὅτι τὰ ἴσα τοῖς ἄλλοις ἐν ἅπασι φρονῶν ἐν τούτῳ μόνῳ διεφέρετο, ἐν τῷ τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ Ἰουδαϊσμοῦ προσανέχειν κατὰ σαββατισμὸν καὶ κατὰ τὴν περιτομὴν καὶ κατὰ τὰ ἄλλα πάντα, ὅσα περὶ παρὰ Ἰουδαίους καὶ Σαμαρείταις ἐπιτελεῖται.

30.2.2 | At first, he said that Christ was born from a chance meeting and the seed of a man, that is, Joseph; as has already been said to us, that he alone differed from all others in thinking rightly about these things, in that he insisted on the law of Judaism according to the Sabbath, circumcision, and all the other things that are done among Jews and Samaritans.

30.2.3 | ἔτι δὲ πλείω οὗτος παρὰ τοὺς Ἰουδαίους ὁμοίως τοῖς Σαμαρείταις διαπράττεται. προσέθετο γὰρ τὸ παρατηρεῖσθαι ἅπτεσθαί τινος τῶν ἀλλοεθνῶν καθ' ἐκάστην δὲ ἡμέραν,

30.2.3 | Moreover, this man acted among the Jews more like the Samaritans. For he added the practice of watching and touching something from the foreigners every single day.

30.2.4 | εἴ ποτε γυναικὶ συναφθεῖη καὶ ἢ ἀπ' αὐτῆς, βαπτίζεσθαι ἐν τοῖς ὕδασιν, εἴ που δᾶν εὐποροίη ἢ θαλάσσης ἢ ἄλλων ὑδάτων.

30.2.4 | If he ever had intercourse with a woman and had a child by her, he would be baptized in water, whether from a river, the sea, or other waters.

30.2.5 | ἀλλὰ καὶ εἰ συναντήσῃεν τινι ἀνιῶν ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν ὑδάτων καταδύσεως καὶ βαπτισμοῦ, ὡσαύτως πάλιν ἀνατρέχει βαπτίζεσθαι, πολλάκις καὶ σὺν τοῖς

30.2.5 | But even if he met someone coming up from the immersion and baptism in the waters, he would immediately run back to be baptized again, many times even with ἱματίοις.

30.2.6 | τὰ νῦν δὲ ἀπηγόρευται παντάπασι παρ' αὐτοῖς παρθενία τε καὶ ἐγκράτεια, ὥς καὶ παρὰ ταῖς ἄλλαις ταῖς ὁμοίαις ταύτῃ αἰρέσεσι. ποτὲ γὰρ παρθενίαν ἐσεμνύοντο, δῆθεν διὰ τὸν Ἰάκωβον τὸν ἀδελφὸν τοῦ κυρίου· > καὶ τὰ αὐτῶν συγγράμματα πρεσβυτέροις καὶ παρθένοις γράφουσι.

30.2.6 | But now, among them, both virginity and self-control are completely forbidden, just like in the other sects similar to this one. For once, they used to honor virginity, supposedly because of James, the brother of the lord; and their writings are addressed to elders and virgins.

30.2.7 | γέγονε δὲ ἡ ἀρχὴ τούτων μετὰ τὴν τῶν Ἱεροσολύμων ἄλωσιν. ἐπειδὴ γὰρ πάντες οἱ εἰς Χριστὸν πεπιστευκότες τὴν Περαιάν κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ κατῴκησαν τὸ πλεῖστον, ἐν Πέλλῃ τινὶ πόλει καλουμένη τῆς Δεκαπόλεως τῆς ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ γεγραμμένης πλησίον τῆς Βαταναίας καὶ Βασανίτιδος χώρας, τὸ τῆνικαῦτα ἐκεῖ μεταναστάντων καὶ ἐκεῖσε διατριβόντων αὐτῶν, γέγονεν ἐκ τούτου πρόφασις τῷ Ἐβίῳ.

30.2.7 | The beginning of these things happened after the capture of Jerusalem. For since all who believed in Christ mostly lived in the region of Perea at that time, in a certain city called Pella, part of the Decapolis written about in the gospel, near the lands of Batanaea and Basanitis, because they had moved there and stayed there, this became a reason for Ebion to act.

30.2.8 | καὶ ἄρχεται μὲν τὴν κατοίκησιν ἔχειν ἐν Κωκάβῃ τινὶ κώμῃ ἐπὶ τὰ μέρη τῆς Καρναίμ τῆς καὶ Ἀσταρῶθ ἐν τῇ Βασανίτιδι χώρα, ὥς ἡ ἐλθοῦσα εἰς ἡμᾶς γνῶσις περιέχει. ἔνθεν ἄρχεται τῆς κακῆς αὐτοῦ διδασκαλίας, ὅθεν δῆθεν καὶ οἱ Ναζωραῖοι, οἳ ἄνω μοι προεδέχλωνται.

30.2.8 | And he begins to live in a village called Kokaba in the region of Karnaim, which is also Astaroth, in the land of Basanitis, as the knowledge that has come to us shows. From there, his bad teaching begins, and from there, apparently, also the Nazarenes, whom I mentioned above.

30.2.9 | συναφθεὶς γὰρ οὗτος ἐκείνοις καὶ ἐκεῖνοι τούτῳ, ἑκάτερος ἀπὸ τῆς ἑαυτοῦ μοχθηρίας τῷ ἑτέρῳ μετέδωκε. καὶ διαφέρονται μὲν ἕτερος πρὸς τὸν ἕτερον κατὰ τι, ἐν δὲ τῇ κακονοίᾳ ἀλλήλους ἀπεμάξαντο. ἤδη δέ μοι καὶ ἐν ἄλλοις λόγοις καὶ κατὰ τὰς ἄλλας αἰρέσεις περὶ

30.2.9 | For he was joined with those, and they with him, each giving to the other from his own wickedness. And they differ somewhat from each other, but in their evil nature they have pushed each other away. Already, in other talks and about other sects, it has been said at length about the τῆς τοποθεσίας Κωκάβων καὶ τῆς Ἀραβίας διὰ πλάτους εἴρηται.

location of the Kokaba and Arabia.

Section 3

30.3.1 | 3. Καὶ τὸ μὲν πρῶτον οἶτος ὁ Ἐβίων, ὡς ἔφην, Χριστὸν ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνδρός, τουτέστι τοῦ Ἰωσήφ, ὠρίζετο· ἐκ χρόνου δέ τινος καὶ δεῦρο οἱ αὐτοῦ, ὡς εἰς ἀσύστατον καὶ ἀμήχανον τρέψαντες τὸν ἴδιον νοῦν ἄλλοι ἄλλως παρ' αὐτοῖς περὶ Χριστοῦ διηγοῦνται·

30.3.1 | 3. And the first thing is that Ebion, as I said, defined Christ as from the seed of a man, that is, of Joseph. But after some time, his own people, having turned their own mind into something unstable and helpless, tell about Christ differently from them.

30.3.2 | τάχα δὲ οἶμαι ἀπὸ τοῦ συναφθῆναι αὐτοῖς Ἠλξαῖον τὸν ψευδοπροφήτην τὸν παρὰ τοῖς Σαμψηνοῖς καὶ Ὀσσηνοῖς καὶ Ἐλκεσαίοις καλουμένοις <τὸν προδεδηλωμένον> ὡς ἐκεῖνος φαντασίαν τινὰ διηγοῦνται καὶ περὶ πνεύματος ἁγίου.

30.3.2 | I think it is probably from their joining with Elxaios, the false prophet who is called among the Sampsaeans, Ossaeans, and Elkesaites, the one who was foretold, that they tell some kind of vision also about the holy spirit.

30.3.3 | τινὲς γὰρ ἐξ αὐτῶν καὶ Ἀδὰμ τὸν Χριστὸν εἶναι λέουσιν, τὸν πρῶτόν τε πλασθέντα καὶ ἐμφυσηθέντα ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ ἐπιπνοίας.

30.3.3 | For some of them even say that Christ is Adam, the first one formed and breathed into by the breath of God.

30.3.4 | ἄλλοι δὲ ἐν αὐτοῖς λέγουσιν ἄνωθεν μὲν αὐτὸν ὄντα πρὸ πάντων δὲ αὐτὸν κτισθέντα, πνεῦμα ὄντα καὶ ὑπὲρ ἀγγέλους ὄντα πάντων τε κυριεύοντα, καὶ Χριστὸν λέγεσθαι, τὸν ἐκεῖσε δὲ αἰῶνα κεκληρωσθαι·

30.3.4 | But others among them say that he is from above, existing before all, yet created, being a spirit and being above angels and ruling over all, and that he is called Christ, and that he was assigned to that age.

30.3.5 | ἔρχεσθαι δὲ ἐνταῦθα ὅτε βούλεται, ὡς καὶ ἐν τῷ Ἀδὰμ ἦλθε καὶ τοῖς πατριάρχαις ἐφαίνετο ἐνδύμενος τὸ σῶμα· πρὸς Ἀβραάμ δὲ ἐλθὼν καὶ Ἰσαὰκ

30.3.5 | He comes here whenever he wants, just as he came in Adam and appeared to the patriarchs, wearing the body; and having come to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, καὶ Ἰσκῶβ ὁ αὐτὸς ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῶν ἡμερῶν ἦλθεν καὶ αὐτὸ τὸ σῶμα τοῦ Ἀδὰμ ἐνεδύσατο καὶ ὥφθη ἀνθρώποις καὶ ἐσταυρώθη καὶ ἀνέστη καὶ ἀνῆλθεν.

the same one came at the end of the days and put on the very body of Adam, and was seen by people, and was crucified, and rose, and went up.

30.3.6 | πάλιν δὲ ὅτε βούλονται λέγουσιν· οὐχί, ἀλλὰ εἰς αὐτὸν ἦλθε τὸ πνεῦμα ὅπερ ἐστὶν ὁ Χριστὸς καὶ ἐνεδύσατο αὐτὸν τὸν Ἰησοῦν καλούμενον. καὶ πολλὴ παρ' αὐτοῖς σξλιτωσις, ἄλλοτε ἄλλως καὶ ἄλλως αὐτὸν ὑποτιθεμένοις.

30.3.6 | Again, when they want, they say: no, but the spirit that is Christ came into him and put on him, the one called Jesus.
And there is much disagreement among them, sometimes saying different things and putting him forward in different ways.

30.3.7 | καὶ δέχονται μὲν καὶ αὐτοὶ τὸ κατὰ Ματθαῖον εὐαγγέλιον. τούτῳ γὰρ καὶ αὐτοί, ὡς καὶ οἱ κατὰ Κήρινθον καὶ Μήρινθον χρῶνται μόνῳ. καλοῦσι δὲ αὐτὸ κατὰ Εβραίους, ὡς τὰ ἀληθῆ ἔστιν εἰπεῖν, ὅτι Ματθαῖος μόνος Ἑβραῖστί καὶ Ἑβραϊκοῖς γράμμασιν ἐν τῇ καινῇ διαθήκῃ ἐποιήσατο τὴν τοῦ εὐαγγελίου ἑκθεσὶν τε καὶ κήρυγμα.

30.3.7 | And they themselves accept the gospel according to Matthew. For they alone use this, just like those in Corinth and Myrinth. They call it the gospel according to the Hebrews, because it is true to say that Matthew alone made the account and preaching of the gospel in Hebrew and Hebrew letters in the new covenant.

30.3.8 | ἤδη δέ που καὶ τινες πάλιν ἔφασαν καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς Ἑλληνικῆς διαλέκτου τὸ κατὰ Ἰωάννην μεταληγθὲν εἰς Ἑβραῖδα ἐμφέρεσθαι ἐν τοῖς τῶν Ἰουδαίων γαζοφυλακίοις, φημὶ δὲ τοῖς ἐν Τιβεριάδι, καὶ ἐναποκεῖσθαι ἐν ἀποκρύφοις. ὥς τινες τῶν ἀπὸ Ἰουδαίων πεπιστευκότων ὑφηγήσαντο ἡμῖν κατὰ λεπτότητα·

30.3.8 | Already, some have said again that the gospel according to John, translated from the Greek language into Hebrew, is kept in the treasuries of the Jews, I say in Tiberias, and is hidden away in secret places. This is how some of the Jews who trusted us explained it in detail.

30.3.9 | οὐ μὴν ἀλλὰ καὶ τῶν Πράξεων τῶν ἀποστόλων τὴν βίβλον ὡσαύτως ἀπὸ Ἑλλάδος γλώσσης εἰς Ἑβραῖδα μεταληφθεῖσαν λόγος ἔχει ἐκεῖσε κεῖσθαι ἐν τοῖς γαζοφυλακίοις, ὡς καὶ ἀπὸ τούτου τοὺς ἀναγνόντας Ἰουδαίους τοὺς ἡμῖν ὑφηγησαμένους εἰς Χριστὸν

30.3.9 | But also, the book of the Acts of the Apostles, translated in the same way from the Greek language into Hebrew, is said to be kept there in the treasuries. And from this, the Jews who read it and explained it to us are said to have believed in Christ.

Section 4

30.4.1 | 4. Ἦν δέ τις ἐξ αὐτῶν Ἰώσηπος, οὐχ ὁ συγγραφεὺς καὶ ἱστοριογράφος καὶ παλαιὸς ἐκεῖνος, ἀλλ' ὁ ἀπὸ Τιβεριάδος ὁ ἐν χρόνοις τοῦ μακαρίτου Κωνσταντίνου τοῦ βασιλέως τοῦ γέροντος >, ὃς καὶ παρ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ βασιλέως ἀξιώματος κομήτων ἔτυχε καὶ ἐξουσίαν εἴληφεν ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ Τιβεριάδι ἐκκλησίαν Χριστῷ ἰδρυῖν καὶ ἐν Διοκαισαρείᾳ καὶ ἐν Καπερναοὺμ καὶ ἐν ταῖς ἄλλαις, ὃς καὶ πολλὰ πέπονθεν ὑπ' αὐτῶν τῶν Ἰουδαίων πρὶν ἢ τῷ βασιλεῖ ἐμφανισθῆναι.

30.4.2 | οὗτος γὰρ ὁ Ἰώσηπος τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς ἀξιωματικῶν ἀνδρῶν ἐναρίθμιος ἦν. εἰσὶ δὲ οὗτοι <οἱ> μετὰ τὸν πατριάρχην, καλούμενοι. προσεδρεύουσι δὲ τῷ πατριάρχῃ καὶ σὺν αὐτῷ πολλάκις καὶ ἐν νυκτὶ καὶ ἐν ἡμέρᾳ συνεχῶς διάγουσι, διὰ τὸ συμβουλευεῖν καὶ ἀναφέρειν αὐτῷ τὰ κατὰ τὸν νόμον.

30.4.3 | ὁ δὲ πατριάρχης κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ Ἑλλήλ τοῦνομα ἦν νομίζω γὰρ ὅτι οὕτως τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ Ἰώσηπος ἔλεγεν, εἰ μὴ ἀπὸ τοῦ χρόνου σφάλλομαι), ἐκ γένους δὲ τοῦ Γαμαλιήλ ἐτύγχανεν τοῦ παρ' αὐτοῖς γενομένου πατριάρχου.

30.4.4 | ἔστι δὲ διανοηθῆναι, ὥς καὶ ἄλλοι οὕτως ὑπέθεντο, τούτους εἶναι γένους ἐκείνου τοῦ πρώτου Γαμαλιήλ τοῦ ἐπὶ τοῦ σωτῆρος, τοῦ κατὰ θεὸν συμβουλευσάντος ἀποσχέσθαι τῆς κατὰ τῶν ἀποστόλων

30.4.1 | There was one of them named Joseph, not the writer and old historian, but the one from Tiberias in the time of the blessed old King Constantine, who also received the rank of count from that king and took authority to found a church for Christ in Tiberias, and also in Diocaesarea, and in Capernaum, and in the other places. He also suffered much from the Jews before he appeared to the king.

30.4.2 | For this Joseph was one of the honorable men among them. These men are called the ones after the patriarch. They sit with the patriarch and often spend time with him both at night and during the day, continuously, to advise him and report to him according to the law.

30.4.3 | The patriarch at that time was named Hellēl, I think, for Joseph called him that, unless I am mistaken about the time. He was from the family of Gamaliel, who had been the patriarch among them.

30.4.4 | It is possible to think, as others also claimed, that these men were from the family of the first Gamaliel, who lived at the time of the savior and wisely advised to ἐπηρείας.

stop the attacks against the apostles.

30.4.5 | τελευτῶν δὲ ὁ Ἑλλήλ ἤξιωσε τὸν κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ ἐπόσκοπον πλησιόχωρον τῆς Τιβερί <ἐ> ὦν ὄντα καὶ ἐκομίσατο παρ' αὐτοῦ τὸ ἅγιον λουτρὸν ἐπὶ τῇ ἐξόδῳ αὐτοῦ διὰ προφάσεως ἰατρικῆς ὑποθέσεως.

30.4.5 | When Hellēl was dying, he asked the nearby overseer of the Tiberians, who was close by at that time, and he received from him the holy bath at his departure, using the excuse of a medical reason.

30.4.6 | μεταστειλάμενος γὰρ αὐτὸν διὰ τοῦ προειρημένου Ἰωσήπου ὡς ἱατρὸν ὄντα καὶ ποιήσας πάντας ἔξω γενέσθαι παρεκάλεσε τὸν ἐπίσκοπον λέγων »δώρησαί μοι τὴν ἐν Χριστῷ σφραγίδα«.

30.4.6 | For having sent him through the aforementioned Joseph, since he was a doctor, and having made everyone go outside, he asked the overseer, saying, "Give me the seal in Christ."

30.4.7 | ὁ δὲ μετακαλεσάμενος τοὺς ἐξυπηρετούμενους προσέταξεν ὕδωρ ἐτοιμασθῆναι, ὡς τῆς νόσου ἕνεκα βοήθημά τι προσφέρειν μέλλων δι' ὑδάτων νοσοῦντι βαρέως τῷ πατριάρχῃ. οἱ δὲ ἐποίησαν τὰ ἐπιτεταγμένα· οὐ γὰρ ἐγνώκεισαν. αἰδοῦς δὲ χάριν προφασισάμενος τοὺς πάντας ἔξω ποιήσας ὁ πατριάρχης τοῦ λουτροῦ καταξιοῦται καὶ μυστηρίων ἀγίων.

30.4.7 | But calling those who served him, he ordered water to be prepared, as if to offer some help for the sickness, since the patriarch was seriously ill through water. And they did what was commanded; for they did not understand. Making everyone go outside, using the excuse of respect, the patriarch received the bath and the holy mysteries.

Section 5

30.5.1 | 5. Ὁ δὲ Ἰώσηπος ἐμοὶ αὐτῷ > διελέχθη. ἐκ στόματος γὰρ αὐτοῦ ἀκήκοα ταῦτα πάντα καὶ οὐκ ἀπὸ ἄλλου τινός, ἐν τῇ γηραλέᾳ αὐτοῦ ἡλικίᾳ, ὡς περὶ που ἐτῶν ἐβδομήκοντα γεγονότος αὐτοῦ ἢ καὶ πλειόνων.

30.5.1 | But Joseph himself spoke to me. For I heard all these things from his own mouth and not from anyone else, when he was old in years, about seventy years old or even more.

30.5.2 | παρ' αὐτῷ γὰρ κατήχθην ἐν

30.5.2 | For I was taught by him in Σκυθοπόλει· μεταναστὰς γὰρ τῆς Scythopolis. For he was a settler from Tiberias and acquired lands there in Scythopolis. In his house, the blessed Eusebius, bishop of the city Briga in Italy, who was exiled by Constantine because of the faith of orthodoxy, was staying. And for his visit, both I and the other brothers went there and were taught by him.

30.5.3 | συντυχόντες δὲ τῷ Ἰωσήφῳ ἐπὶ τῆς αὐτοῦ οἰκίας καὶ τὰ κατ’ αὐτὸν ἐρωτῶντες παρὰ Ἰουδαίοις, ἀνετάζοντες καὶ τὴν κατ’ αὐτὸν ὑπόθεσιν καὶ πῶς εἰς τὸν Χριστιανισμὸν | μετῆλθεν, ἀκηκόαμεν ταῦτα πάντα σαφῶς D95 καὶ οὐκ ἀπὸ ἐνηχήσεως ἐτέρου τινός.

30.5.3 | Meeting with Joseph at his house and asking about the things concerning him, and learning that there was evidence among the Jews, we examined the story about him and how he came to Christianity.
We heard all these things clearly and not from the report of anyone else.

30.5.4 | ὅθεν καὶ ἀξιομνημόνευτα εἰς οἰκοδομὴν πιστῶν νομίσαντες τὰ κατὰ τὸν ἄνδρα πραγματευθέντα διὰ τὴν αἰτίαν τῶν ἐν τοῖς γαζοφυλακίοις εἰς Ἑβραΐδα μετατεθέντων *, οὐ παρέργως τὴν πᾶσαν αἰτίαν τοῦ προειρημένου Ἰωσήπου παρεθέμεθα.

30.5.4 | Therefore, thinking the things about the man that were investigated worthy to be remembered for the building up of the faithful, because of the reason for those moved to Hebraidia from the treasuries, we did not put aside the whole cause of the aforementioned Joseph as unimportant.

30.5.5 | ἦν γὰρ ὁ ἄνθρωπος οὐ μόνον Χριστιανὸς πιστὸς καταξιωθεὶς γενέσθαι, ἀλλὰ καὶ Ἀρειανούς σφόδρα στηλιτεύων. ἐν γὰρ τῇ πόλει ἐκεῖνη, Σκυθοπόλει φημί, μόνος οὗτος ὀρθόδοξος ὑπῆρχεν, πάντες δὲ Ἀρειανοί.

30.5.5 | For the man was not only a faithful Christian worthy to be honored, but also strongly criticized the Arians. For in that city, Scythopolis, I say, he was the only orthodox one, and all the others were Arians.

30.5.6 | καὶ εἰ μὴ ὅτι κόμης ἦν καὶ τὸ τοῦ κόμητος ἀξίωμα ἐκώλυεν ἀπ’ αὐτοῦ τὸν

30.5.6 | And if it were not that he was a count and the rank of the count kept him τῶν Ἀρειανῶν διωγμόν, ἐπεὶ] οὐκ ἂν ὑπέστη καὶ ἐν τῇ πόλει διατρίβειν ὁ ἀνὴρ, μάλιστα ἐπὶ Πατροφίλου τοῦ Ἀρειανοῦ ἐπισκόπου τοῦ πολλὰ ἰσχύσαντος πλούτῳ τε καὶ αὐστηρίᾳ καὶ τῇ πρὸς τὸν βασιλέα Κωνσταντίον γνώσει τε καὶ παρρησίᾳ.

from the persecution by the Arians, since the man would not have endured even to live in the city, especially under Patrophilus the Arian bishop, who was very powerful in wealth and strictness and in his knowledge and boldness with the emperor Constantine.

30.5.7 | ἦν δὲ καὶ ἄλλος τις νεώτερος ἐν τῇ πόλει ἀπὸ Ἑβραίων ὀρθῶς πιστεύων, ὃς οὔτε ἐτόλμα κατὰ τὸ φανερόν *, ἀλλὰ κρυφίως ἡμᾶς ἐπεσκέπτετο.

30.5.7 | And there was also another younger man in the city from the Hebrews who believed rightly, who neither dared openly, but secretly visited us.

30.5.8 | πιθανὸν δέ τι ὁ Ἰώσηπος καὶ γελοιῶδες ὑφηγεῖτο, οἶμαι δὲ τάχα ὅτι καὶ 〈ἐν τούτῳ〉 ἠλήθευεν. ἔφασκε γὰρ ὅτι τελευτησάσης τῆς αὐτοῦ συμβίου, δεδιὼς μή πη ἄρα ἀρπάζωσιν αὐτὸν οἱ Ἀρειανοὶ καὶ καταστήσωσι κληρικόν· πολλάκις γὰρ κολακεύσαντες αὐτὸν πεισθῆναι τῇ αἵρέσει ὑπισχνοῦντο· μείζονας προκοπὰς, εἰ δέον, καὶ ἐπίσκοπον αὐτὸν καταστήσαι) — ὁ δὲ ἔφασκε τούτου χάριν συνῆφθαι δευτέρᾳ γυναικί, ὅπως διαδράσοι τὰς αὐτῶν χειροτονίας.

30.5.8 | Joseph was both believable and ridiculous as a leader, but I think he was also mistaken in this. For he said that after his wife died, fearing that the Arians might seize him and make him a clergyman—since they often flattered him to persuade him to join their heresy, promising greater success and even to make him a bishop if needed—he said that for this reason he married a second wife, so that he could escape their ordinations.

Section 6

30.6.1 | 6. Ἀλλὰ ἐπάνειμι τὴν ὑφήγησιν τῆς κατὰ τὸν πατριάρχην ὑποθέσεως καὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Ἰωσήπου εἰς τοῦμφανὲς κατὰ λεπτότητα τοῖς βουλομένοις ἐντυγχάνειν διὰ τῶν ὑπ' ἐκείνου λόγων ἐμοὶ εἰρημένων ποιησόμενος.

30.6.1 | But I will return to the telling of the story about the patriarch and Joseph himself, making it clear in detail for those who want to understand, using the words spoken to me by him.

30.6.2 | καὶ ἤδη μὲν, ὡς ἐκεῖνος ὑφηγεῖτο, τοῦ πατριάρχου λουτροῦ καταξιουμένου,

30.6.2 | And already, as he was telling it, when the patriarch was taking his bath, by διὰ τῶν ἐν ταῖς θύραις ἀρμογῶν | εἴσω παρακύπτων, φησὶν, κατενόουν τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ ἐπισκόπου τῷ πατριάρχῃ γινόμενα, εἰς νοῦν τε ἔλαβον καὶ παρ' ἑμαυτῷ ἐταμιεύομην.

leaning inside through the door joints, he says, he understood what was happening between the bishop and the patriarch, and he took it in mind and kept it to himself.

30.6.3 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ χρυσίου ὀλκὴν τινα ικανωτάτην ἔχων παρὰ χεῖρα ὁ αὐτὸς πατριάρχης, ἐκτείνας τὴν χεῖρα, φησὶν, ἐπέδωκεν τῷ ἐπισκόπῳ, φάσκων ὅτι πρόσφερε ὑπὲρ ἐμοῦ. γέγραπται γὰρ διὰ τῶν ἱερέων τοῦ θεοῦ δεσμεύεσθαι καὶ λύεσθαι ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς, καὶ <ὅτι> ἔσται ταῦτα λελυμένα καὶ δεδεμένα ἐν τῷ οὐρανῷ.

30.6.3 | For the patriarch himself had quite a large amount of gold nearby, and stretching out his hand, he says, he gave it to the bishop, saying that he was offering it for me. For it is written that through the priests of God, binding and loosening will happen on earth, and that these things will be bound and loosed in heaven.

30.6.4 | ὥς οὖν ταῦτα ἐπράχθη, φησὶν, καὶ ἠνοίγησαν αἱ θύραι, ἠρωτᾷτο ὑπὸ τῶν ἐπισκεπτομένων ὁ πατριάρχης πῶς ἔχοι διὰ τοῦ βοηθήματος, καὶ ὠμολόγει καλλίστως ἔχειν· καὶ γὰρ ᾔδει ὃ ἔλεγεν.

30.6.4 | So when these things were done, he says, the doors were opened, and the patriarch was asked by those visiting how things were going because of the help, and he admitted very nicely that they were going well; for he knew what he was saying.

30.6.5 | ἔπειτα δὲ <μετὰ> ἡμέρας δύο ἢ τρεῖς τὸν ἀριθμόν, πολλάκις τοῦ ἐπισκόπου ἐπισκεπτομένου αὐτὸν ἐν ἰατροῦ προφάσει, ἐκοιμήθη ὁ πατριάρχης μετὰ καλῆς ἀποθέσεως, παραδοὺς τὸν ἴδιον υἱὸν κομιδῇ νέον ὄντα Ἰωσήπῳ τε καὶ ἄλλῳ τινὶ ἐπιεικεστάτῳ *.

30.6.5 | Then after two or three days, with the bishop visiting him many times under the pretense of a doctor, the patriarch died with a good death, handing over his own son, who was young, to Joseph and another very trustworthy man.

30.6.6 | τὰ πάντα τοίνυν ἐπράττετο διὰ τῶν δύο τούτων, διὰ τὸ ἔτι τὸν πατριάρχην παῖδα ὄντα νηπιάζειν καὶ ἐν χειροῖν αὐτῶν ἀνατρέφεσθαι.

30.6.6 | So everything was done through these two, because the patriarch was still a child, a baby, and was being raised in their hands.

30.6.7 | ἐν τούτῳ τῷ καιρῷ τῆς διανοίας τοῦ Ἰωσήπου ἐνοχλουμένης πολλάκις διὰ τῶν γενομένων μυστικῶν ἐν τῇ κατὰ τὸ λουτρὸν ὑποθέσει ἐσκέπτετο τί ἂν πράξειεν. καὶ ἦν ἐκεῖσε γαζοφυλακίου τις οἶκος ἐσφραγισμένος· γάζα δὲ ἐρμηνεύεται κατὰ τὴν Ἑβραϊδα θησαυρός.

30.6.7 | At that time, Joseph's mind was often troubled because of the secret things happening in the bathhouse situation, and he was thinking about what he should do. And there was a sealed house there like a treasury; "gaza" means treasury in Hebrew.

30.6.8 | πολλῶν δὲ πολλὰ διανοουμένων περὶ τοῦ γαζοφυλακίου τούτου διὰ τὴν σφραγίδα, ὁ Ἰώσηπος λεληθότως τολμήσας ἤνοιξεν καὶ ἠύρεν οὐδὲν χρημάτων πλὴν βίβλους τὰς ὑπὲρ χρήματα.

30.6.8 | Thinking many things about this treasury because of the seal, Joseph secretly dared to open it and found no money, only books about money.

30.6.9 | ἀναγινώσκων δὲ ἐν ταύταις, ὡς ἤδη ἔφην, τὸ κατὰ Ἰωάννην εὐαγγέλιον ἀπὸ Ἑλλάδος εἰς Ἑβραϊδα φωνὴν μεταληφθὲν ἠύρατο καὶ τὰς τῶν ἀποστόλων Πράξεις· οὐ μὴν ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸ κατὰ Ματθαῖον εὐαγγέλιον, Ἑβραϊκὸν φύσει ὄν, ἐκ τούτων ἀναγνοὺς πόλιν τὴν διάνοιαν ἐτρύχετο. ἀσχάλλων μὲν πως περὶ τῆς πίστεως τοῦ Χριστοῦ· ἤδη δὲ ἐκ δύο ὑποθέσεων ὑπονυττόμενος, τῆς τῶν βιβλίων ἀναγνώσεως καὶ τῆς τοῦ πατριάρχου μυσταγωγίας, ὅμως τῇ καρδίᾳ ἐσκληρύνετο, οἷα γίνεται.

30.6.9 | Reading in these, as I already said, the gospel of John changed from Greek into Hebrew speech, he found also the Acts of the apostles; and not only that, but also the gospel of Matthew, naturally Hebrew. From these readings he was grinding his mind like a mill. He was somewhat troubled about the faith in Christ; and already, from two things hinted at—the reading of the books and the initiation of the patriarch—still his heart was growing hard, as it happens.

30.7.1 | 7. Ὡς δὲ ἐν τούτοις κατετρίβετο, ἀδρύνεται ὁ παῖς ὁ καταλειφθεὶς ὑπὸ Ἑλλήλ εἰς πατριαρχίαν τρεφόμενος· οὐδεὶς γὰρ ἄλλος ἀρπάζει τὰς ἀρχὰς παρὰ τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις, ἀλλὰ υἱὸς πατέρα διαδέχεται.

30.7.1 | While he was struggling with these things, the boy left behind by Éllēl, who was raised to the patriarchate, grew strong; for no one else takes power from the Jews, but a son succeeds his father.

30.7.2 | ὥς οὖν ἐπὶ τὸ ἀκμαῖον τῆς ἡλικίας ὁ νέος ἦρχετο, προσεφθείροντο αὐτῷ τινες ἡλικες ἀργοὶ καὶ ἐθάδες κακῶν· τάχα δέ, οἶμαι, Ἰούδας οὗτος ἐκαλεῖτο, οὐ πάνυ δὲ σαφῶς ἐπίσταμαι διὰ τὸν χρόνον.

30.7.2 | So when the young man was reaching the prime of his age, some lazy peers and bad companions were added to him; soon, I think, this one was called Judas, but I do not know clearly because of the time.

30.7.3 | So the younger peers led him into many bad habits, and into the ruin of women and sinful lust; trying to help him with some magical spells, they carried out some evil acts and, by using charms, forced free women to be led against their will to his ruin.

30.7.4 | ὁ δὲ Ἰώσηπος καὶ ὁ σὺν αὐτῷ πρεσβύτης ἀνάγκην ἔχοντες τῷ παιδί συνέπεσθαι βαρέως μὲν ἔφερον, πολλάκις δὲ καὶ ἐγκλήματα προσέφερον διὰ λόγων καὶ παήνουν αὐτῷ. ὁ δὲ μᾶλλον τοῖς νέοις ἐπείθετο, κρύπτων τὰ αἰσχρὰ καὶ ἀρνούμενος· οὔτε γὰρ ἐτόλμων οἱ περὶ Ἰώσηπον ἐξειπεῖν τὰ κατ' ἐκείνου φανερωῶ τῷ λόγῳ, ἀλλ' ὥς δι' ἐπιστήμην παρήνουν.

30.7.4 | But Joseph and the old man with him, forced by necessity to follow the boy, bore it heavily, and often blamed him with words and warnings. But the boy obeyed the young men more, hiding the shameful things and denying them; for those around Joseph did not dare to speak openly about what was clear, but advised as if through knowledge.

30.7.5 | παραγίνονται γοῦν εἰς Γάδαρα εἰς τὰ θερμὰ ὕδατα. πανήγυρις δὲ ἐκεῖ κατ' ἔτος ἄγεται· ἀπέρχονται γὰρ πανταχόθεν οἱ βουλόμενοι λούσασθαι ἡμέρας τινάς, νοσημάτων δῆθεν ἀποβολῆς δένεκεν, ὅπερ ἐστὶ διαβολικὸν στρατήγημα. ἐνθα γὰρ τὰ παρὰ τοῦ θεοῦ θαύματα γεγένηται, προὔλαβεν ὁ δι' ἐναντίας θεῖναι αὐτοῦ τὰ ὀλετήρια δίκτυα. ἀνδρόγυνα γὰρ ἐκεῖσε λούονται.

30.7.5 | So they arrive at Gadara to the hot waters. A festival is held there every year; for people come from everywhere who want to bathe for several days, supposedly to get rid of diseases, which is actually a trick of the devil. For there the miracles from God have happened, and he who puts his destructive nets against him was stopped. For men and women bathe there.

30.7.6 | κατὰ συγκυρίαν δὲ γυνή τις ἐλευθέρα ἔτυχεν ἐν τῷ λουτρῷ, κάλλει διαπρέπουσα εὐμορφίας. καὶ ὁ νεώτερος θελχθεὶς τῷ ἔθει τῆς αὐτοῦ ἀκολασίας, διὼν ἐν τῷ ἄερι παρενέτριψεν αὐτοῦ τὴν πλευρὰν τῇ πλευρᾷ τοῦ γυναιίου.

30.7.6 | By chance, a free woman was there in the bath, standing out with her beauty. And the younger man, enchanted by his usual wildness, passing by in the air, rubbed his side against the side of the woman.

30.7.7 | ἡ δὲ ἑαυτὴν ἐσφραγίσασα εἰς ὄνομα Χριστοῦ οἷα δὴ Χριστιανὴ οὖσα· ἥ οὔτε ἀνάγκη ἦν παρανομεῖν καὶ ἀνδρογύνως λούεσθαι. συμβαίνει δὲ ταῦτα τοῖς ἀφελέσι καὶ ιδιώταις ἀνθρώποις παρὰ τὴν τῶν διδασκάλων ῥαθυμίαν μὴ ἀσφαλιζομένων διὰ τῆς διδασκαλίας. ὅμως ἵνα δείξῃ ὁ θεὸς τὰ αὐτοῦ θαυμάσια,

30.7.7 | She sealed herself in the name of Christ as a Christian woman; so she did not need to break the law and bathe with men and women. These things happen to simple and ordinary people because of the teachers' carelessness, not protecting them through teaching. Still, so that God may show his wonders,

30.7.8 | τοῦ ἐπιχειρήματος τὸ μειράκιον ἀπέτυχεν, φημί δὲ ὁ πατριάρχης. διεπέμψατο γὰρ πρὸς τὴν γυναῖκα καὶ δῶρα ἐτάξατο· ἡ δὲ τοὺς διαπεμφθέντας ἐξυβρίσασα οὐκ ἐκάμφθη τῇ τοῦ ἀκολάστου ματαιοεργίᾳ.

30.7.8 | the young man's attempt failed, says the patriarch. For he sent gifts to the woman and promised them; but she insulted those sent and was not moved by the wild man's empty work.

Section 8

30.8.1 | 8. Ἐντεῦθεν οἱ συνεργοῦντες αὐτῷ γνόντες τὴν τοῦ παιδὸς ὑδύνην, ἦν εἰς τὸ γύναιον ἀπηπόλησεν, ἐπιχειροῦσιν αὐτῷ τινα μείζονα μαγανείαν κατασκευάσαι, ὥς αὐτὸς Ἰώσηπος ἐομὸ κατὰ λεπτότητα ὑφηγήσατο.

30.8.1 | From there, those working with him, knowing the boy's sickness, which he sent to the woman, try to make for him a greater magic, as Joseph himself explained in detail.

30.8.2 | ἀπάγουσι γὰρ τὸν ἄθλιον παῖδα μετὰ δύσιν ἡλίου ἐν τοῖς πλησιαιτέρον τύμβοις· πολυάνδρια δὲ ἐστὶν οὕτως ἐν τῇ πατρίδι καλούμενα σπήλαια ἐν πέτραις ὀρυκτὰ κατεσκευασμένα.

30.8.2 | For they lead away the poor boy after sunset near the closest tombs; there are many graves in the homeland, called caves, dug into the rocks.

30.8.3 | ἐκεῖ παραλαβόντες τὸν προειρημένον οἱ ἅμα ἅμα γόητες γόητες τινὰς καὶ ἐπιорκισμοὺς καὶ ἐπιτηδεύματα ἀσεβείας ἐμπλεα εἰς αὐτὸν ἐποιοῦντο καὶ εἰς ὄνομα τῆς προειρημένης γυναικός.

30.8.3 | There, taking the boy mentioned before, the magicians together made spells and oaths and acts full of impiety on him and in the name of the woman mentioned before.

30.8.4 | ἐκ θεοῦ δὲ βουλήσεως εἰς νοῦν ταῦτα ἦλθεν τοῦ ἄλλου πρεσβύτου τοῦ σὺν Ἰωσήπῳ τυγχάνοντος· ὁ δὲ αἰσθόμενος τῶν γινομένων τῷ Ἰωσήπῳ ἀνακοινοῦται. καὶ πρῶτον μὲν ταλανίσας ἑαυτὸν ε/φη τάλανες ἡμεῖς» φησὶν, »ἀδελφέ, καὶ ἀπωλείας σκεύη, τίνι προσεδρεύομεν;«

30.8.4 | By the will of god, the mind of the other elder who was with Joseph came to understand these things; and sensing what was happening, he told Joseph. And first, having troubled himself, he said, “We are miserable, brother, and vessels of destruction; what are we waiting for?”

30.8.5 | ὁ δὲ Ἰώσηπος τὴν αἰτίαν ἐρωτήσας οὐ πρότερον ἤκουσε παρ’ αὐτοῦ διὰ λόγων πρὶν αὐτοῦ λαβόμενος τῆς χειρὸς ὁ πρεσβύτης ἀπήγαγε τὸν Ἰώσηπον, ἔνθα τὸ ἄνροισμα οἱ φθοριμαῖοι μετὰ τοῦ νεωτέρου ἐν τοῖς μνήμασι μαγγανείας ἔνεκα ἐποιοῦντο.

30.8.5 | Joseph, asking the reason, did not hear it before the elder took his hand and led Joseph away, where the destroyers with the younger one were doing magic in the tombs.

30.8.6 | καὶ ἔξω μὲν τῆς θύρας στάντες τὰ παρ’ ἐκείνων γινόμενα κατηκροάσαντο, ἐκείνων δὲ ἐξιόντων ὑπεχώρησαν. οὕτω γὰρ πολλὴ ἐσπέρα ἦν, ἀλλὰ ὥς πρὸς αὐτὴν τὴν ἡλίου δύσιν, ἔτι δυναμένου ὀφθαλμοῦ ἀμαυρῶς ἰδεῖν.

30.8.6 | And standing outside the door, they listened carefully to what was happening inside; when those inside came out, they went back. It was not yet late evening, but close to sunset, still possible to see dimly with the eye.

30.8.7 | μετὰ οὖν τὴν τῶν ἀσεβεστάτων ἔξοδον ἀπὸ τοῦ μνημείου οἱ περὶ Ἰώσηπον εἰσῆλθον καὶ καταλαμβάνουσιν τινὰ ἑπιτηδεύματα καὶ ἄλλα τινὰ ἐπιτηδεύματα περιεργίας χαμαὶ ἐρριμμένα, οἷς προσκενώσαντες οὐρα καὶ ἐπαμήσαντες

30.8.7 | After the ungodly ones left the tomb, those around Joseph went in and found some tools and other strange things thrown on the ground. They spat on them and wiped off the dust, as he said, then went out.

κόνιν, ὥς ἐκεῖνος ἔφη, ἐξῆλθον.

30.8.8 | ἔγνωσαν δὲ τὴν ἐπιβουλήν, διὰ ποῖαν γυναῖκα αὐτοῖς ἐκακουρήθη ταῦτα, καὶ παρετηροῦντο εἰ κατισχύσουσιν.

30.8.8 | They understood the plot, because of which woman these evil things were done to them, and they watched closely to see if they would succeed.

30.8.9 | ὥς οὖν οὐ κατώχυσαν οἱ γόητες (διὰ γὰρ τῆς σφραγίδος τοῦ Χριστοῦ καὶ πίστεως ἐβοηθήθη ἡ γυνή), ἔγνωσαν τὸν νεώτερον ἐν τρισὶ νύξιν διὰ τὴν τοῦ γυναίου ἄφιξιν προσκατερήσαντα, εἰς ὕστερον δὲ μαχεσάμενον μενον τοῦ τὴν περιεργίαν ποιησαμένοις, ὅτι οὐκ ἐπέτυχεν.

30.8.9 | So when the sorcerers did not succeed (because the woman was helped by the seal of Christ and faith), they noticed the younger man waiting three nights for the woman's arrival, and later fighting against the one who made the strange things, but he did not win.

30.8.10 | τοῦτο τρίτον τῷ Ἰωσήφω κατηχήσεως ἔργον ἐγένετο, ὅτι οὐκ ἴσχυσεν, ἔνθα ὄνομα Χριστοῦ καὶ σφραγὶς σταυροῦ, φαρμακείας οὐ μὴν δὲ ἡδὴ ἐπίεσθη Χριστιανὸς γενέσθαι.

30.8.10 | This was the third work of teaching for Joseph, because he did not succeed where the name of Christ and the seal of the cross were, and the sorcery, but he was not yet persuaded to become a Christian.

Section 9

30.9.1 | Ἐπειτα φαίνεται αὐτῷ ἐν ὕπνοις ὁ κύριος, φάσκων ὅτι »ἐγὼ εἰμι Ἰησοῦς. ὃν οἱ σοὶ γονεῖς ἐσταύρωσαν, ἀλλὰ πίστευε εἰς ἐμέ«. ὁ δὲ οὐδ' οὕτως πεισθεὶς ὑπέπεσεν νόσῳ μεγάλῃ καὶ ἀπηγορεύθη. ὁ δὲ κύριος πάλιν ὀπτάνεται αὐτῷ, φήσας αὐτῷ πιστεύειν καὶ ἰαθήσεσθαι ὁ δὲ ἐπαγγειλάμενος ἀνέσφηλεν καὶ πάλιν ἐνέμενεν τῇ σκληραυχενίᾳ.

30.9.1 | Then the lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, "I am Jesus, whom your parents crucified, but believe in me." But he was not even persuaded by this, and he fell ill with a great disease and was forbidden. Then the lord appeared to him again, telling him to believe and he would be healed. But he refused, and again he stayed stubborn.

30.9.2 | εἰς δευτέραν δὲ πάλιν ὑποπίπτει νόσον καὶ ὡσαύτως ἀπηγορεύθη. ὑποληφθεὶς δὲ τελευτᾷ ὑπὸ τῶν

30.9.2 | Then again he fell into a second illness and was forbidden in the same way. When his relatives, these Jews, thought he συγγενῶν τούτων Ἰουδαίων τὸ παρ' αὐτοῖς αἰεὶ μυστηριωδῶς γινόμενον παρὰ τούτων ἤκουσε.

was about to die, he heard about the secret things that were always happening with them.

30.9.3 | τῶν γὰρ νομομαθῶν ἀνὴρ τις πρεσβύτης ἐλθὼν εἰς τὸ οὖς αὐτοῦ ἀπήγγειλε λέγων ὅτι »πίστευε <εἰς> Ἰησοῦν, τὸν ἐσταυρωμένον ἐπὶ Ποντίου Πιλάτου ἡγεμόνος, υἱὸν θεοῦ προόντα καὶ ἐκ Μαρίας ὕστερον γεγεννημένον, Χριστὸν δὲ ὄντα θεοῦ καὶ ἐκ νεκρῶν ἀναστάντα, καὶ ὅτι αὐτὸς ἔρχεται κρῖναι ζῶντας καὶ νεκρούς«. ταῦτα ὁ αὐτὸς Ἰώσηπος ἐν τῇ ὕφηγίῃ σαφῶς μοι ἀνήγγειλεν, ὥς φιλαλήθως ἔστιν εἰπεῖν.

30.9.3 | For a certain old man, a teacher of the law, came and told him in his ear, saying, "Believe in Jesus, who was crucified under Pontius Pilate the governor, the son of God who appeared and was later born from Mary, and who is Christ, God, and who rose from the dead, and that he himself is coming to judge the living and the dead." Joseph himself clearly told me these things in his story, as it is true to say.

30.9.4 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀπὸ ἄλλου τινὸς τὸ τοιούτον ἤκουσα, ἔτι ὄντος Ἰουδαίου διὰ τὸν τῶν Ἰουδαίων φόβον ἀνὰ μέσον δὲ Χριεῖ στιανῶν πολλόκις διατρίβοντος καὶ Χριστιανοὺς τιμῶντός τε καὶ ἀγαπῶντος, συνοδεύσαντός μοι ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ τῆς Βαιθῆλ Ἐφραΐμ ἐπὶ τὴν ὀρεινὴν ἀνερχομένῳ ἀπὸ τῆς Ἰεριχοῦς καὶ ἀντιβάλλοντι πρὸς αὐτὸν περὶ τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ παρουσίας καὶ αὐτοῦ μὴ ἀντιλέγοντος.

30.9.4 | But I also heard the same from another person, still being a Jew, because of the fear of the Jews, often staying among Christians and honoring and loving them, who accompanied me in the desert of Bethel in Ephraim, going up to the mountain from Jericho, and arguing with him about the coming of Christ, and he did not argue back.

30.9.5 | θαυμάζοντος δέ μου καὶ ἐρωτῶντος τὴν αἰτίαν (ἦν γὰρ καὶ νομομαθὴς καὶ δυνάμενος ἀντιλέγειν), τίνος χάριν οὐκ ἀντιλέγει ἀλλὰ πείθεται περὶ Χριστοῦ Ἰησοῦ τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν. ἀκούων τὰ τοσαῦτα ἀπεκάλυψέν μοι καὶ οὗτος, ὥς μέλλων τελευτᾶν ἤκουσε παρ' αὐτῶν εἰς ἀκοὴν ὥτιον ἐν ψιθυρισμῷ ὅτι »Ἰησοῦς Χριστὸς ὁ σταυρωθεὶς υἱὸς τοῦ θεοῦ μέλλει σε κρίνειν'.

30.9.5 | When he was amazed at me and asked the reason (for he was also a teacher of the law and able to argue), why he did not argue but obeyed about Christ Jesus our Lord, hearing these many things, he also revealed to me, as he heard from them, just before dying, in a whisper into his ear, that "Jesus Christ, the crucified son of God, is going to judge you."

30.9.6 | ἀλλὰ ταῦτά μοι περὶ τούτων καὶ κατὰ τοῦτον τὸν λόγον ἐνταῦθα μοι] ἐξ ἀληθινῆς ἀκοῆς παρακείσθω.

30.9.6 | But let these things about these matters and according to this account be placed here for me from true hearing.

Section 10

30.10.1 | 10. Ἔτι δὲ ὁ Ἰώσηπος ἐν νόσῳ ἦν καὶ ἀκούσας παρὰ τοῦ πρεσβύτου ὡς προεῖπον μετὰ τῶν ἄλλων ὅτι Ἰησοῦς Χριστὸς σε κρινεῖ, ἔτι ἐσκληρύνετο. ὁ δὲ κύριος πάλιν πρὸς αὐτὸν κατὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ φιλανθρωπίαν δι' ὁράματος ἐνυπνίου »ίδού« φησὶν »ἰῶμαί σε, ἀλλὰ ἀναστὰς πίστευε«. ἀναστὰς δὲ πάλιν ἀπὸ τῆς νόσου οὐκ ἐπίστευσεν.

30.10.1 | 10. And Joseph was still sick, and hearing from the elder, as I said before with the others, that Jesus Christ judges you, he was getting worse. But the lord again, out of his kindness, through a vision in a dream said, "Look, I am healing you, but get up and believe." But when he got up again from the sickness, he did not believe.

30.10.2 | ὑγιαίνουντι δὲ αὐτῷ φαίνεται ὁ κύριος πάλιν κατ' ὄναρ, ἐγκαλῶν αὐτῷ δι' ἣν αἰτίαν οὐκ ἐπίστευσεν. ἐπαγγέλλεται δὲ αὐτῷ λέγων ὁ κύριος ὅτι εἰς πληροφορίαν πίστεως εἴ τι βούλει ἐν ὀνόματί μου θεοσημεῖον ἐργάσασθαι, ἐπικάλεσάι με κἀγὼ ποιήσω.

30.10.2 | As he was getting better, the lord appeared to him again in a dream, blaming him for the reason he did not believe. And the lord promised him, saying that if he wanted proof of faith, to do a miracle in my name; call on me, and I will do it.

30.10.3 | μαινόμενος δέ τις ἦν ἐν τῇ πόλει, ὃς γυμνὸς τὴν πόλιν περιῖει φημί δὲ ἐν Τιβεριάδι) καὶ πολλάκις ἐνδιδυσκόμενος τὴν ἐσθῆτα διερρήγνυνεν, ὡς ἔθος τοῖς τοιούτοις.

30.10.3 | And there was a madman in the city, who walked around the city naked (I say in Tiberias), and often, when putting on clothes, he would tear them, as was the habit of such men.

30.10.4 | ὁ οὖν Ἰώσηπος βουλόμενος ἐν πείρᾳ γενέσθαι τοῦ ὁράματος, διστάζων δὲ ἔτι αἰδοῖ κατεῖχετο. παραλαμβάνει γοῦν τοῦτον ἔνδον καὶ ἀποκλείσας τὴν θύραν ὕδωρ τε λαβὼν τὴν τὴν χεῖρα καὶ σφραγίσας τὸ ὕδωρ, ἐρράντισεν ἐπὶ τὸν ἐμμανῆ ἄνθρωπον φήσας »ἐν ὀνόματι Ἰησοῦ τοῦ Ναζωραίου τοῦ σταυρωθέντος

30.10.4 | So Joseph, wanting to test the vision, but still hesitating out of shame, held back. He took this man inside, shut the door, took some water, sealed it with his hand, and sprinkled it on the madman, saying, "In the name of Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified, come out of him, demon, ἔξελθε ἀπ αὐτοῦ τὸ δαιμόνιον καὶ ὑγιῆς γένηται».

and be healthy.”

30.10.5 | ὁ δὲ ἄνθρωπος ἀνακράξας μέγα καὶ χαμαὶ πεσὼν, ἀφρίσας πολλὰ καὶ σπαραχθεὶς ἔμεινεν πολλὴν ὥραν ἀκίνητος, Ἰώσηπος δὲ ὑπενόησε τὸν ἄνθρωπον τεθνάναι.

30.10.5 | But the man shouted loudly and fell to the ground, foaming a lot and convulsing, and stayed motionless for a long time. Joseph thought the man had died.

30.10.6 | ὁ δὲ μετὰ ὥραν διατριψάμενος τὸ μέτωπον ἀνέστη καὶ ἀναστὰς καὶ θεασάμενος τὴν ἰδίαν γύμνωσιν ἑαυτὸν ἔκρυπτεν καὶ τὰς χεῖρας ἐπὶ τῇ

30.10.6 | But after spending some time, he wiped his forehead, got up, and seeing his own nakedness, he hid himself and covered his hands over it.

30.10.7 | αἰσχύνῃ ἐπετίθει, μηκέτι φέρων ἰδεῖν τὴν ἰδίαν γύμνωσιν. ἱμάτιον δὲ παρ’ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Ἰωσήπου ἐξ ὧν εἶχεν ἐνδυθεὶς, εἰς κατάστασιν συνέσεως καὶ σωφρονισμοῦ ἔλθων τῷ τε ἀνδρὶ πολλὰ εὐχαριστήσας καὶ θεῷ, γνοὺς ὅτι δι’ αὐτοῦ ἔτυχε τῆς σωτηρίας, ἐν τῇ πόλει διεφήμιζε τὸν ἄνδρα, καὶ γνωστὸν ἐγένετο τοῖς ἐκεῖσε Ἰουδαίοις τοῦτο τὸ σημεῖον.

30.10.7 | He put his hands over his shame, no longer able to bear seeing his own nakedness. Then, putting on a cloak from Joseph that he had, he came to his senses and self-control. He thanked both the man and god many times, knowing that through him he had received salvation. In the city, he spread the word about the man, and this sign became known to the Jews there.

30.10.8 | θρύλλος δὲ πολὺς ἠκολούθησεν ἐν τῇ πόλει λεγόντων Ἰώσηπος Ἰώσηπος τὰ γαζοφυλάκια ἀνοίξας καὶ εὐρῶν γεγραμμένον τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ ἀναγνοὺς, σημεῖα μεγάλα ἐργάζεται. ἦν δὲ ἀληθὲς τὸ ὑπ’ αὐτῶν λεγόμενον, οὐχ ὥς δὲ αὐτοὶ ὑπενόουν.

30.10.8 | A great excitement followed in the city, with people saying, “Joseph, Joseph opened the treasure chests and found the name of god written there, and reading it, he works great signs.” And what they said was true, but not in the way they thought.

30.10.9 | ἔτι δὲ ἐπέμενεν ὁ Ἰώσηπος σκληρυνόμενος τῇ καρδίᾳ. ἀλλὰ ὁ φιλόανθρωπος θεός, προφάσεις ἀεὶ ἐνεργῶν τοῖς ἀγαπῶσιν αὐτὸν ἀγαθὰς, ταύτας

30.10.9 | Joseph still stayed, hardening in his heart. But the kind god, always working reasons for good to those who love him, gives these to the people who deserve life.

παρέχει τοῖς εἰς ζωὴν καταξιουμένοις

Section 11

30.11.1 | 11. Συμβέβηκε γὰρ αὐτῷ τῷ Ἰωσήφῳ μετὰ τὸ ἀδρυνθῆναι Ἰούδαν τὸν πατριάρχην, ὃν προείπαμεν τάχα γὰρ οὕτως ἐλέγετο), ἀμοιβῆς ἕνεκα γέρας τῷ Ἰωσήφῳ τῆς ἀποστολῆς δοῦναι τὴν ἐπικαρπίαν.

30.11.1 | For it happened to Joseph, after Judah the patriarch was weakened (whom we mentioned before, for so it was said), to give the fruit of the mission as a reward to Joseph in exchange.

30.11.2 | καὶ μετ' ἐπιστολῶν οὗτος ἀποστέλλεται εἰς τὴν Κιλικίων· ὃς ἀνελθὼν ἐκεῖσε ἀπὸ ἐκάστης πόλεως τῆς Κιλικίας τὰ ἐπιδέκατα | καὶ τὰς ἀπαρχὰς παρὰ τῶν ἐν τῇ ἐπαρχίᾳ Ἰουδαίων εἰσέπραττεν.

30.11.2 | And after letters, he is sent to Cilicia; who, having gone up there, collected the tithes and the first fruits from each city of Cilicia from the Jews in the province.

30.11.3 | ἐν τούτῳ δὲ τῷ καιρῷ κατάγεται πλησιαίτερον τῆς ἐκκλησίας, οὐκ οἶδ' εἰπεῖν ἐν ποίᾳ πόλει. φιλῶν οὗτα δὲ τῷ ἐκεῖσε ἐπισκόπῳ, ὃς ἤτησε παρ' αὐτοῦ τὰ εὐαγγέλια καὶ ἀνέγνω.

30.11.3 | At this time, he comes closer to the church, I do not know in which city. He is loved by the bishop there, who asked him for the gospels and read them.

30.11.4 | ἐπεὶ οὖν οἷα ἀπόστολος οὕτως γὰρ παρ' αὐτοῖς ὡς ἔφην τὸ ἀξίωμα καλεῖται), ἐμβριθέστατός τε ὢν καὶ καθαρεύων δῆθεν, τὰ εἰς κατάστασιν εὐνομίας διετέλει προβαλλόμενος, πολλοὺς τῶν κατασταθέντων ἀρχισυναγῶγων καὶ ιερέων καὶ πρεσβυτέρων καὶ ἀζανιτῶν τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς διακόνων ἐρμηνευομένων ἢ ὑπηρετῶν) καθαιρῶν τε καὶ μετακινῶν τοῦ ἀξιώματος, ὑπὸ πολλῶν ἐνεκοτεῖτο, οἵτινες ὥσπερ ἀμύνασθαι αὐτὸν πειρώμενοι πολυπραγμονεῖν τοῦτον καὶ ἰχνηλατεῖν τὰ παρ' αὐτοῦ γινόμενα οὐ μικρὸν

30.11.4 | Since then, as an apostle (for that is the title he is called among them), being very serious and speaking in a formal way, he kept up the order of good law, removing and moving many of the appointed chief synagogue leaders, priests, elders, and the Azanites (their servants or attendants).
Many opposed him, trying to stop him, and they worked hard to spy on what he was doing.

έσπούδαζον.

30.11.5 | διὰ τοιαύτην δὲ αἰτίαν πολυπραγμονήσαντες ἄνθρώως εἰσέφρησαν οἴκαδε εἰς τὸ αὐτοῦ ἐφέστιον καὶ καταλαμβάνουσιν αὐτὸν τὰ εὐαγγέλια διερχόμενον, τὴν τε βίβλον κατέχουσι τὸν δὲ ἄνδρα ἄρπάζουσι, σύροντες χαμαὶ καὶ βοῶντες, καὶ αἰκίας ἐπιφέροντες οὐ τὰς τυχούσας ἀπάγουσι μὲν εἰς τὴν συναγωγὴν καὶ μαστίζουσι τοῦτον κατὰ τὸν νόμον.

30.11.5 | Because of this reason, the busybodies came in large numbers to his place and caught him going through the gospels. They took the book and grabbed the man, dragging him down while shouting and treating him badly. They took him to the synagogue and whipped him according to the law.

30.11.6 | καὶ οὗτος αὐτῷ πρῶτος ἄγὼν γίνεται· ἐπέστη δὲ ὁ ἐπίσκοπος τῆς πόλεως καὶ ἀφείλετο αὐτόν. ἄλλοτε δὲ καταλαμβάνουσιν αὐτὸν ἐν ὁδοιπορίᾳ τινί, ὡς ἡμῖν ὑφηγήσατο, καὶ ῥίπτουσιν αὐτὸν εἰς Κύδνον τὸν ποταμόν. τῷ δὲ ῥεύματι αὐτὸν ἀφαρπαχθέντα * ἐτόπασαν μή πη ἄρα ὄλωλεν ὑποβρύχιος γενόμενος τοῖς ὕδασι καὶ ἔχαιρον ἐπὶ τούτῳ.

30.11.6 | And this was his first struggle. The bishop of the city stood up and freed him. Another time, they caught him on a journey, as he told us, and threw him into the river Cydnus. But the current snatched him away, and they thought he must have drowned underwater, and they were glad about that.

30.11.7 | ὁ δὲ μικρῷ ὕστερον λουτροῦ ἁγίου καταξιοῦται ἐσώθη γάρ), ἄνεισι δὲ ἐπὶ τὸ κομιτάτον καὶ βασιλεῖ Κωνσταντίνῳ φιλοῦται καὶ ἀνέθετο αὐτῷ τὰ καθ' ἑαυτὸν ἅπαντα, ὡς ἦν τῶν κατ' Ἰουδαίους ἐξοχωτάτης ἀξίας καὶ ὡς αἱ θεοπτεῖαι αὐτῷ πάντῃ ἐπεφαίνοντο, τοῦ κυρίου αὐτὸν προσκαλουμένου εἰς τὴν ἁγίαν κλῆσιν καὶ σωτηρίαν τῆς κατ' αὐτὸν πίστεως τε καὶ γνώσεως.

30.11.7 | A little later, he was worthy of a holy baptism (for he was saved). Then he went to the court and made friends with emperor Constantine, and he gave him all his own matters, since he was of the highest rank among the Jews and because divine visions appeared to him everywhere, the lord calling him to the holy calling and salvation through faith and knowledge in him.

30.11.8 | ὁ δὲ ἀγαθὸς βασιλεύς, δοῦλος ὦν Χριστοῦ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ καὶ τὸν κατὰ θεὸν ζῆλον ἐν βασιλεῦσι μετὰ Δαυὶδ καὶ Ἑζεκίαν καὶ Ἰωσίαν κεκτημένος, γέρας αὐτῷ δίδωσιν, ὡς ἥδη προεῖπον, ἀξιώματος ἐν τῇ

30.11.8 | But the good king, being a true servant of Christ and having the zeal for God among kings like David, Hezekiah, and Josiah, gave him honor, as I have already αὐτοῦ βασιλείᾳ.

said, a high rank in his kingdom.

30.11.9 | κόμητα γὰρ αὐτὸν κατέστησε, φήσας αὐτῷ αἰτεῖν πάλιν ὃ βούλεται· ὁ δὲ οὐδὲν ἡτήσατο πλὴν τοῦτο μέγιστον χάρισμα τυχεῖν παρὰ τοῦ βασιλέως τὸ ἐπιτραπῆναι καὶ] διὰ προστάγματος βασιλικοῦ οἰκοδομῆσαι Χριστοῦ ἐκκλησίας ἐν ταῖς πόλεσι καὶ κώμαις τῶν Ἰουδαίων, ἔνθα τις οὐδέποτε ἴσχυσεν προστήσασθαι ἐκκλησίας διὰ τὸ μήτε Ἑλληνα μήτε Σαμαρείτην μήτε Χριστιανὸν μέσον αὐτῶν εἶναι.

30.11.9 | For he made him a count, saying to him, 'Ask again for whatever you want.' But he asked for nothing except this greatest favor from the king: to be allowed, by royal order, to build churches of Christ in the cities and villages of the Jews, where no one had ever been able to set up a church because neither a Greek nor a Samaritan nor a Christian was among them.

30.11.10 | τοῦτο δὲ μάλιστα ἐν Τιβεριάδι καὶ ἐν Διοκαισαρείᾳ τῇ καὶ Σεπφουρίν καὶ ἐν Ναζαρέτ καὶ ἐν Καπερναοῦμ φυλάσσεται > παρ' αὐτοῖς τοῦ] μὴ εἶναι ἀλλόεθνον.

30.11.10 | This especially is kept in Tiberias and in Diocaesarea, also called Sepphoris, and in Nazareth and in Capernaum, by them because there is no one of a different religion.

Section 12

30.12.1 | 12. Λαβὼν δὲ ὁ Ἰώσηπος τὰ γράμματα καὶ τὴν ἐξουσίαν μετὰ τοῦ ἀξιώματος ἐπὶ τὴν Τιβεριάδα ἦκεν, ἔχων καὶ ἐπιστολὰς ἀπὸ τῶν βασιλικῶν ἀναλίσκειν, ἀλλὰ καὶ αὐτὸς ὀψωνίοις παρὰ τοῦ βασιλέως τετιμημένος ἄρχεται γοῦν ἐν Τιβεριάδι κτίζειν.

30.12.1 | 12. And Joseph, having received the letters and the authority along with the rank, came to Tiberias, also having letters from the king to spend, but also himself honored with pay by the king, he began at least to build in Tiberias.

30.12.2 | ναὸς δὲ μέγιστος ἐν τῇ πόλει προὔπηρχε· τάχα, οἷμα, Ἀδριανεῖον τοῦτο ἐκάλουν. ἀτελὲς δὲ τοῦτο τὸ Ἀδριανεῖον διαμεῖναν τάχα οἱ πολῖται εἰς δημόσιον λουτρὸν ἐπεριῶντο ἐπισκευάσαι.

30.12.2 | A very large temple existed in the city before; perhaps, they called this the Hadrianum. The citizens probably used this Hadrianum as a public bath without paying, trying to repair it.

30.12.3 | ὅπερ εὐρὼν ὁ Ἰώσηπος ἐκ τούτου

30.12.3 | Joseph, having found this, took it τὴν πρόφασιν ἔσχε, καὶ ὥς ἤδη τετραχῇ τοὺς τοίχους διὰ τετραπόδων λίθων εὗρεν ἕως ὕψους τινὸς ἀνεγερμένων, ἐντεῦθεν ἄρχεται ποιεῖσθαι τῆς ἐκκλησίας τὴν ἐπιμέλειαν.

as an excuse, and since he saw that the walls had already been built up to a certain height with large stones, he began from there to take care of the assembly.

30.12.4 | ἀσβέστου δὲ ἦν χρεῖα καὶ τῆς ἄλλης ὕλης. καμίνους τοίνυν ἔξωθεν τῆς πόλεως πολλὰς προσέταξε γενέσθαι, τάχα τὸν ἀριθμὸν ἑπτὰ φούρνακας δὲ ἐπιχωρίως ταύτας καλοῦσιν). οἱ δὲ δεινοὶ καὶ πρὸς πᾶν ἐπιχείρημα εὐτολμοὶ Ἰουδαῖοι τῆς παρ' αὐτοῖς αἰεὶ γινομένης μαγανείας οὐκ ἀπέσχοντο. μαγείαις γὰρ τισὶ καὶ περιεργίαις τὸ πῦρ καταδῆαι οἱ γεννάδα Ἰουδαῖοι ἐπετρίβησαν, ἀλλ' οὐκ εἰς τέλος ἴσχυσαν.

30.12.4 | There was also a need for lime and other materials. So he ordered many kilns to be made outside the city, probably seven in number (these are called furnaces locally). But the clever and bold Jews, always ready for any plan, did not hold back from the magic that was always happening among them. For some Jews, skilled in magic and tricks, tried to put out the fire by spells, but they did not succeed in the end.

30.12.5 | ἤργει γοῦν τὸ καὶ καὶ οὐκ ἔπραττεν ἀλλὰ τῆς ἰδίας ὥς εἰπεῖν φύσεως ἐκτὸς ἐγένετο.

30.12.5 | He was certainly lazy and did nothing, but rather became, so to speak, outside of his own nature.

30.12.6 | ὥς δὲ οἱ τὴν καυστικὴν ὕλην παραβάλλειν τῷ πυρὶ ἐπιτεταγμένοι φημι δὲ ῥῶπας εἶτ' οὖν φρύγανα) τῷ Ἰωσήπῳ τὸ πραχθὲν ἐσήμαναν, δηχθεὶς τὴν φρένα ὁ ἀνὴρ καὶ ζήλῳ ἀρθεὶς τῷ πρὸς τὸν κύριον ἔδραμεν ἕξω τῆς πόλεως καὶ ὕδωρ κελεύσας ἐνεχθῆναι ἐν ἀγγείῳ, ἐν καψάκῃ φημί κακούβιον δὲ τοῦτο οἱ ἐπιχώριοι καλοῦσι), λαβὼν <τε> τὸ αὐτὸ ἄγγος τοῦ ὕδατος ἐνώπιον συνηθροίσθη δὲ πλῆθος Ἰουδαίων ἐπὶ τὴν θέαν, καὶ τὸ ἀποβησόμενον ἰδεῖν σπουδάζοντες καὶ ὃ τι ἐπιχειρήσειεν Ἰώσηπος πράττειν) μεγάλη τῇ φωνῇ ὁ ἀνὴρ σταυροῦ σφραγίδα ἐπιθείς τῷ ἀγγείῳ διὰ τοῦ ἰδίου δακτύλου καὶ ἐπικαλεσάμενος τὸ ὄνομα Ἰησοῦ εἶπεν

30.12.6 | When those assigned to throw the burning material into the fire brought in brushwood or twigs, this was reported to Joseph. The man, bitten in his mind and stirred up with zeal toward the lord, ran outside the city and ordered water to be brought in a jar (the locals call this a 'kapsake'). Taking the same jar of water in front of a crowd of Jews gathered to watch and eager to see what Joseph would do, the man, with a loud voice, placed a cross-shaped seal on the jar with his own finger and, calling on the name of Jesus, said this: 'In the name of Jesus of Nazareth,' οὕτως ἐν ὀνόματι Ἰησοῦ τοῦ Ναζωραίου,

30.12.7 | οὐ ἐσταύρωσαν οἱ πατέρες μου καὶ τούτων πάντων τῶν περιεστώτων, γένηται δύναμις ἐν τούτῳ τῷ ὕδατι εἰς ἀθέτησιν πάσης φαρμακείας καὶ μαγείας ἧς οὗτοι ἔπραξαν καὶ εἰς ἐνέργειαν δυνάμεως τῷ πυρὶ εἰς τὸ ἐπιτελεσθῆναι τὸν οἶκον κυρίου».

30.12.7 | 'Whom my fathers crucified, and with all these things around, let power come into this water to break every poison and magic that they have done, and let power come into the fire to complete the house of the lord.'

30.12.8 | καὶ οὕτως λαμβάνει τὸ ὕδωρ ἐν τῇ χειρὶ καὶ ῥαίνει ἐκάστῳ φούρνακι ἐκ τοῦ υδατος. καὶ ἀνελύετο μὲν τὰ φάρμακα, τὸ πῦρ δὲ ἐνώπιον πάντων ἀνεβλύστανεν. οἱ δὲ παρόντες ὄχλοι κραυγάζαντες »εἷς θεός, ὁ βοηθῶν τοῖς Χριστιανοῖς« ἀνεχώρησαν.

30.12.8 | And so he took the water in his hand and sprinkled each little oven with the water. The poisons were undone, but the fire, before everyone, flared up. The crowds present shouted, 'One god, the one helping the Christians,' and they withdrew.

30.12.9 | πολλάκις δὲ κακοῦντων τὸν ἄνδρα ἐκείνων, εἰς ὕστερον μέρος τι τοῦ ναοῦ ἐν Τιβεριάδι οἰκοδομήσας καὶ μικρὰν ἐκκλησίαν ἀποτελέσας οὕτως ἐκεῖθεν ἀνεχώρησεν, ἐν Σκυθοπόλει δὲ ἐλθὼν κατέμεινεν. ἐν Διοκαισαρείᾳ δὲ καὶ ἄλλαις τισὶ τελείως ὠκοδόμησε.

30.12.9 | Many times, when those men were harming him, later he built a part of the temple in Tiberias and made a small church. Then he left from there and stayed in Scythopolis. In Caesarea and some other places, he also built completely.

30.12.10 | ταῦτα δὲ πραχθέντα καὶ ἐνταῦθά μοι ἐπιμνησθέντα ἔνεκεν τῆς τῶν βίβλων ἐρμηνείας, πῶς ἀπὸ Ἑλληνίδος τὸ εὐαγγέλιον τὸ κατὰ Ἰωάννην εἰς Ἑβραῖδα μετέπεσε καὶ αἱ Πράξεις τῶν ἀποστόλων, ἕως ὧδε τὰ τῆς ἱστορίας καὶ ὑφηγήσεως ἐχέτω.

30.12.10 | These things having been done and remembered here by me because of the explanation of the books, how from a Greek woman the gospel according to John was translated into Hebrew, and the Acts of the Apostles, let the history and the story be up to this point.

Section 13

30.13.1 | 13. Ἐπάνειμι δὲ τὴν κατὰ Ἐβίωνος ποιούμενος ἀκολουθίαν· διὰ γὰρ τὸ κατὰ

30.13.1 | 13. I return to the service made according to Ebion; for because the word Ματθαῖον εὐαγγέλιον προῖων ὁ λόγος τὴν ἀκολουθίαν τῆς εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐλθούσης γνώσεως παραθέσθαι ἠνάγκασεν.

goes on with the gospel according to Matthew, it forced me to set beside it the service of the knowledge that came to us.

30.13.2 | ἐν τῷ γοῦν παρ' αὐτοῖς εὐαγγελίῳ κατὰ Ματθαῖον ὀνομαζομένῳ, οὐχ ὅλῳ δὲ πληρεστάτῳ, ἀλλὰ νενοθυμένῳ καὶ ἡκρωτηριασμένῳ Ἑβραϊκὸν δὲ τοῦτο καλοῦσιν) ἐμφέρεται ὅτι »ἐγένετό τις ἀνὴρ ὀνόματι Ἰησοῦς, καὶ αὐτὸς ὡς ἐτῶν τριάκοντα, ὃς ἐξελέξατο ἡμᾶς. καὶ ἐλθὼν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ εἰσῆλθεν εἰς τὴν οἰκίαν Σίμωνος τοῦ ἐπικληθένος Πέτρου καὶ ἀνοίξας τὸ στόμα αὐτοῦ εἶπεν·

30.13.2 | In the gospel among them called according to Matthew, not the whole and complete one, but one that is edited and cut down (and they call this Hebrew), it is said that "there was a man named Jesus, and he was about thirty years old, who chose us. And coming to Capernaum, he entered the house of Simon called Peter, and opening his mouth he said:

30.13.3 | παρερχόμενος παρὰ τὴν λίμνην Τιβεριάδος ἐξελεξάμην Ἰωάννην καὶ Ἰάκωβον, υἱοὺς Ζεβεδαίου, καὶ Σίμωνα καὶ Ἀνδρέαν καὶ * Θαδδαῖον καὶ Σίμωνα τὸν ζηλωτὴν καὶ Ἰούδαν τὸν Ἰσκαριώτην, καὶ σὲ τὸν Ματθαῖον καθεζόμενον ἐπὶ τοῦ τελωνίου ἐκάλεσα καὶ τύριον τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ» καὶ »ἐγένετο Ἰωάννης βαπτίζων,

30.13.3 | Passing by the lake of Tiberias, I chose John and James, sons of Zebedee, and Simon and Andrew, and Thaddaeus and Simon the Zealot, and Judas Iscariot, and you, Matthew, sitting at the tax office, I called you, a tax collector of Israel, and it happened that John was baptizing,

30.13.4 | καὶ ἐξῆλθον πρὸς αὐτὸν Φαρισαῖοι καὶ ἐβαπτίσθησαν καὶ πᾶσα Ἱεροσόλυμα. καὶ εἶχεν ὁ Ἰωάννης ἔνδυμα ἀπὸ τριχῶν καμήλου καὶ ζώνην δερματίνην περὶ τὴν ὀσφὺν αὐτοῦ. καὶ τὸ βρῶμα αὐτοῦ, φησί, μέλι ἄγριον, οὗ ἢ γεῦσις ἢ τοῦ μάννα, ὡς ἐγκρὶς ἐν ἐλάῳ·

30.13.4 | And Pharisees came out to him and were baptized, and all Jerusalem. And John wore clothing made of camel hair and a leather belt around his waist. And his food, he says, was wild honey, whose taste was like manna, as good as oil.

30.13.5 | ἵνα δῆθεν μεταστρέψωσι τὸν τῆς ἀληθείας λόγον εἰς ψεῦδος καὶ ἀντὶ ἀκριδῶν ποιήσωσιν ἐγκρίδα ἐν μέλιτι.

30.13.5 | So that they might pretend to change the word of truth into a lie and instead of locusts make a locust in honey.

30.13.6 | ἡ δὲ ἀρχὴ τοῦ παρ' αὐτοῖς εὐαγγελίου ἔχει ὅτι »ἐγένετο ἐν ταῖς ἡμέραις Ἡρώδου βασιλέως τῆς Ἰουδαίας <ἐπὶ ἀρχιερέως Καϊάφα>, ἦλθεν <τις> <ὀνόματι> βαπτίζων βάπτισμα μετανοίας ἐν τῷ Ἰορδάνῃ ποταμῷ, ὃς εἶναι ἐκ γένους Ἀαρὼν τοῦ ιερέως, παῖς Ζαχαρίου καὶ Ἐλισάβετ, καὶ ἐξήρχοντο πρὸς αὐτὸν πάντες«.

30.13.6 | But the beginning of the gospel with them says that “it happened in the days of Herod, king of Judea, <when Caiaphas was high priest>, that <someone> <named> was coming, baptizing a baptism of repentance in the Jordan river, who was from the family of Aaron the priest, the son of Zechariah and Elizabeth, and all were coming out to him.”

30.13.7 | καὶ μετὰ τὸ εἰπεῖν πολλὰ ἐπιφέρει ὅτι »τοῦ λαοῦ βαπτισθέντος ἦλθεν καὶ Ἰησοῦς καὶ ἐβαπτίσθη ὑπὸ τοῦ Ἰωάννου. καὶ ὡς ἀνῆλθεν ἀπὸ τοῦ ὕδατος, ἠνοιγῆσαν οἱ οὐρανοὶ καὶ εἶδεν τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον ἐν εἴδει περιστερᾶς, κατελθούσης καὶ εἰσελθούσης εἰς αὐτόν. καὶ φωνὴ ἐκ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ λέγουσα· σὺ μου εἶ ὁ υἱὸς ὁ ἀγαπητός, ἐν σοὶ ἠυδόκησα, καὶ πάλιν· ἐγὼ σήμερον γεγέννηκά σε. καὶ αὐτῷ· σὺ τίς εἶ, κύριε; καὶ πάλιν φωνὴ ἐξ οὐρανοῦ πρὸς αὐτόν· οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ υἱὸς μου ὁ ἀγαπητός, ἐφ' ὃν ἠυδόκησα.

30.13.7 | And after saying many things, it adds that “when the people were baptized, Jesus also came and was baptized by John.
And as he came up from the water, the heavens opened, and he saw the holy spirit in the form of a dove, coming down and going into him. And a voice from heaven said, ‘You are my beloved son; in you I am pleased,’ and again, ‘Today I have begotten you.’ And he said to him, ‘Who are you, Lord?’ And again a voice from heaven to him: ‘This is my beloved son, in whom I am pleased.’”

30.13.8 | καὶ τότε, φησὶν, ὁ Ἰωάννης προσπεσὼν αὐτῷ ἔλεγεν· δέομαί σου, κύριε, σὺ με μάπτισο. ὁ δὲ ἐκώλυσεν αὐτὸν λέγων· ἄφες, ὅτι οὕτως ἐστὶ πρέπον πληρωθῆναι παντα«.

30.13.8 | And then, he says, John falling down to him said: ‘I beg you, Lord, baptize me.’ But he stopped him, saying: ‘Let it be, because it is right for all to be fulfilled this way.’

Section 14

30.14.1 | 14. Ὅρα δὲ τὴν παρ' αὐτοῖς παραπεποιημένην πανταχόθεν διδασκαλίαν, πῶς πάντα χωλά, λοξὰ καὶ οὐδεμίαν ὀρθότητα ἔχοντα.

30.14.1 | But look at the teaching given by them everywhere, how everything is lame, crooked, and has no correctness at all.

30.14.2 | ὁ μὲν γὰρ Κήρινθος καὶ

30.14.2 | For Kerinthus and Carpocrates,

Καρποκράῃς, τῷ αὐτῷ χρώμενοι δῆθεν παρ' αὐτοῖς εὐαγγελίῳ * ἀπὸ τῆς ἀρχῆς τοῦ κατὰ Ματθαῖον εὐαγγελίου διὰ τῆς γενεαλογίας βούλονται παριστᾶν ἐκ σπέρματος Ἰωσήφ καὶ Μαρίας εἶναι τὸν Χριστόν. οὗτοι δὲ ἄλλα τινὰ διανοοῦνται.

using the same gospel supposedly from them, want to show from the beginning of the gospel according to Matthew, through the genealogy, that Christ is from the seed of Joseph and Mary. But they think other things.

30.14.3 | παρακόψαντες γὰρ τὰς παρὰ τῷ Ματθαίῳ γενεαλογίας ἄρχονται τὴν ἀρχὴν ποιεῖσθαι ὡς προείπομεν, λέγοντες ὅτι »ἐγένετο« φησὶν »ἐν ταῖς ἡμέραις Ἡρώδου βασιλέως τῆς Ἰουδαίας ἐπὶ ἀρχιερέως Καϊάφα, ἦλθεν τις Ἰωάννης ὀνόματι βαπτίζων βάπτισμα μετανοίας ἐν τῷ Ἰορδάνῃ ποταμῷ« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς·

30.14.3 | For, skipping the genealogies in Matthew, they begin to make the start as we said before, saying that 'it happened,' he says, 'in the days of Herod king of Judea, when Caiaphas was high priest, there came a man named John, baptizing a baptism of repentance in the Jordan River,' and what follows;

30.14.4 | ἐπειδὴ γὰρ βούλονται τὸν μὲν Ἰησοῦν ὄντως ἄνθρωπον εἶναι, ὡς προείπον, Χριστόν δὲ ἐν αὐτῷ γεγενῆσθαι τὸν ἐν εἵδει περισσεῶς καταβεβηκότα καθάπερ ἤδη καὶ παρ' ἄλλαις αἰρέσεσιν εὐρήκαμεν) συναφθέντα <τε> αὐτῷ, καὶ εἶναι | αὐτὸν τὸν Χριστόν * ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνδρὸς καὶ γυναικὸς γεγεννημένον.

30.14.4 | Since they want Jesus to be truly a man, as we said before, but Christ in him to have come down in the form of a dove, just as we have already found in other sects, joined together with him, and for him to be Christ born from the seed of a man and a woman.

30.14.5 | πάλιν δὲ ἀρνοῦνται εἶναι αὐτὸν ἄνθρωπον, δῆθεν ἀπὸ τοῦ λόγου οὐ εἴρηκεν ὁ σωτὴρ ἐν τῷ ἀναγγελῆναι αὐτῷ ὅτι »ἰδοὺ ἡ μήτηρ σου καὶ οἱ ἀδελφοί σου ἔξω ἐστήκασιν«, ὅτι »τίς μου ἐστὶ μήτηρ καὶ ἀδελφοί; καὶ ἐκτείνας τὴν χεῖρα ἐπὶ τοὺς μαθητὰς ἔφη· οὗτοί εἰσιν οἱ ἀδελφοί μου καὶ ἡ μήτηρ καὶ ἀδελφαὶ οἱ ποιοῦντες τὰ θελήματα τοῦ πατρὸς μου[(

30.14.5 | But again they deny that he is a man, pretending from the word that the savior said when it was announced to him, 'Look, your mother and your brothers stand outside,' because he said, 'Who is my mother and my brothers?' and stretching out his hand to the disciples, he said, 'These are my brothers and my mother and sisters who do the will of my father.'

30.14.6 | ἐντεῦθεν, ὡς ἔφην, τῆς πάσης κυβείας μεμεστωμένος ὁ Ἐβίων διὰ

30.14.6 | From here, as I said, full of all kinds of tricks, the Ebionite shows himself πολλῶν μορφῶν ὑποφαίνει ἑαυτόν, ὥς εἶναι τεράστιον κατὰ τὰ ἄνω μοι προδεδηλωμένα.

in many forms, as being something huge, as I have already explained above.

Section 15

30.15.1 | 15. Χρῶνται δὲ καὶ ἄλλαις τισὶ βίβλοις, δῆθεν ταῖς Περιόδοις καλουμέναις Πέτρου ταῖς διὰ Κλήμεντος γραφαίς, ἡ νοθεύσαντες μὲν τὰ ἐν αὐταῖς, ὀλίγα δὲ ἀληθινὰ ἐάσαντες,

30.15.1 | They also use other books, supposedly called the 'Periods' of Peter, written by Clement, having mixed up the things in them, but leaving a few things true.

30.15.2 | ὥς αὐτὸς Κλήμης αὐτοὺς κατὰ πάντα ἐλέγχει ἀφ' ὧν ἔγραψεν ἐπιστολῶν ἐγκυκλίων τῶν ἐν ταῖς ἀγίαις ἐκκλησίαις ἀναγινωσκομένων, ὅτι ἄλλον ἔχει χαρακτῆρα ἢ αὐτοῦ πίστις καὶ ὁ λόγος παρὰ τὰ ὑπὸ τούτων εἰς ὄνομα αὐτοῦ ἐν ταῖς περιόδοις νενοθευμένα. αὐτὸς γὰρ παρθενίαν διδάσκει καὶ αὐτοὶ οὐ δέχονται· αὐτὸς ἐγκωμιάζει Ἡλίαν καὶ Δαυιδ καὶ Σαμψὼν καὶ πάντας προφήτας, οὓς οὗτοι βδελύττονται.

30.15.2 | As Clement himself fully proves against them in the circular letters read in the holy churches, that his faith and teaching are different from what these men have falsely put in his name in the 'Periods.' For he teaches virginity, which they do not accept; he praises Elijah, David, and Samson, and all the prophets, whom they hate.

30.15.3 | ἐν ταῖς οὖν Περιόδοις τὸ πᾶν εἰς ἑαυτοὺς μετήνεγκαν, καταψευσάμενοι Πέτρου κατὰ πολλοὺς τρόπους, ὥς αὐτοῦ καθ' ἡμέραν βαπτιζομένου ἁγνισμοῦ ἐνεκεν, καθάπερ καὶ οὗτοι· ἐμψύχων τε τὸν αὐτὸν ἀπέχεσθαι καὶ κρεῶν, ὥς καὶ αὐτοί, καὶ πάσης ἄλλης ἐδωδῆς τῆς ἀπὸ σαρκῶν πεποιημένης λέγουσιν, ἐπειδήπερ καὶ αὐτὸς Ἐβίων καὶ Ἐβιωνῖται παντελῶς τούτων ἀπέχονται.

30.15.3 | In the 'Periods,' then, they changed everything to suit themselves, lying about Peter in many ways, saying he was baptized every day for purification, just like they do; that he avoided both animals with souls and meat, as they do; and that he avoided all other food made from flesh, since they too, the Ebionites, completely avoid these things.

30.15.4 | ὅταν δὲ ἐρωτήσης ἓνα τῶν αὐτῶν, τίνας ἐνεκεν ἐμψύχων οὐ μεταλαμβάνουσι, μὴ ἔχοντές τι διηγήσασθαι ἀποκρίνονται

30.15.4 | But when you ask one of them why they do not eat animals with souls, not having any story to tell, they answer ἀσυνέτως καὶ λέγουσι· διὰ τὸ ἐκ συνουσίας καὶ ἐπιμιξίας σωμάτων εἶναι αὐτὰ οὐ μεταλαμβάνομεν, ὥς εἶναι αὐτοὺς ὅλους τοὺς ἀπὸ ἐπιμιξίας ἀνδρὸς τε καὶ γυναικὸς βδελυκτοὺς κατὰ τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ στόματος αὐτῶν ληρωδῶς ἐξεμεθέντα.

foolishly and say: because from the joining and mixing of bodies, we do not eat them, as if all those born from the union of a man and a woman are hateful, vomited out wickedly by their own mouths.

Section 16

30.16.1 | 16. Βάπτισμα δὲ καὶ αὐτοὶ λαμβάνουσι χ'ωρὶς ὧν καθ' ἡμέραν βαπτίζονται. μυστήρια δὲ δῆθεν τελοῦσι κατὰ μίμησιν τῶν ἁγίων ἐν τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ ἀπὸ ἐνιαυτοῦ εἰς ἐνιαυτὸν διὰ ἀζύμων καὶ τὸ ἄλλο μέρος τοῦ μυστηρίου δι' ὕδατος μόνου.

30.16.1 | 16. They also receive baptism, but they are not baptized every day. They claim to perform mysteries like those of the holy church, once a year, using unleavened bread and the other part of the mystery with water alone.

30.16.2 | δύο δέ τινας, ὥς ἔφην, συνιστῶσιν ἐκ θεοῦ τεταγμένους, ἓνα μὲν τὸν Χριστὸν ἓνα δὲ τὸν διάβολον. καὶ τὸν μὲν Χριστὸν λέγουσι τοῦ μέλλοντος αἰῶνος εἰληφέναι τὸν κλῆρον, τὸν δὲ διάβολον τοῦτον πεπιστεῦσθαι τὸν αἰῶνα, ἐκ προσταγῆς δῆθεν τοῦ παντοκράτορος κατὰ αἵτησιν ἐκατέρων αὐτῶν.

30.16.2 | But they say there are two, as I said, set by God: one is Christ, and the other is the devil. And they say that Christ has taken the share of the coming age, but that this devil is trusted with this age, by the command of the almighty, according to the request of each of them.

30.16.3 | καὶ τούτου ἕνεκα Ἰησοῦν γεγεννημένον ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνδρὸς λέγουσι καὶ ἐπιλεχθέντα καὶ οὕτω κατὰ ἐκλογὴν υἱὸν θεοῦ κληθέντα ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄνωθεν εἰς αὐτὸν ἤκοντος Χριστοῦ ἐν εἴδει περιστερᾶς.

30.16.3 | And because of this, they say that Jesus was born from the seed of a man, chosen, and so called the son of God by choice, coming down to him from above as Christ in the form of a dove.

30.16.4 | οὐ φάσκουσι δὲ ἐκ θεοῦ πατρὸς αὐτὸν γεγεννηθῆναι, ἀλλὰ κεκτίσθαι ὥς ἵνα τῶν ἀρχαγγέλων καὶ ἔτι περισσοτέρως], αὐτὸν δὲ κυριεύειν καὶ ἀγγέλων καὶ πάντων <τῶν> ὑπὸ τοῦ

30.16.4 | But they do not say that he was born from God the Father, but that he was created to be like the chief angels and even more, and that he rules over angels and all made by the almighty, having come and led παντοκράτορος πεπονημένων, ἐλθόντα καὶ ὕφηγησάμενον *,

them.

30.16.5 | ὥς τὸ παρ’ αὐτοῖς εὐαγγέλιον καλούμενον περιέχει, ὅτι »ἦλθον καταλῦσαι τὰς θυσίας, καὶ ἐὰν μὴ παύσησθε τοῦ θύειν, οὐ παύσεται ἀφ’ ὕμῶν Ἡ ὀργή«. καὶ ταῦτα καὶ τοιαῦτά τινά ἐστὶ τὰ παρ’ αὐτοῖς δόλια ἐπινοήματα.

30.16.5 | As the gospel they call their own says, “I have come to end the sacrifices, and if you do not stop offering them, the anger will not stop from you.” And these things and such are the deceitful ideas among them.

30.16.6 | Πράξεις δὲ ἄλλας καλοῦσιν ἀποστόλων, ἐν αἷς πολλὰ τῆς ἀσεβείας ἔμπλεα, ἐνθεν οὐ παρέργως κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐαυτοὺς ὥπλισαν.

30.16.6 | They call other writings the acts of the apostles, in which many things full of wickedness are found, from which they did not lightly arm themselves against the truth.

30.16.7 | Ἀναβαθμοὺς δὲ τινὰς καὶ ὕφηγήσεις δῆθεν ἐν τοῖς Ἀναβαθμοῖς Ἰακώβου ὑποτίθενται, ὥς ἐξηγουμένου κατὰ τε τοῦ ναοῦ καὶ τῶν θυσιῶν, κατὰ τε τοῦ πυρὸς τοῦ ἐν τῷ θυσιαστηρίῳ καὶ ἄλλα πολλὰ κενοφωνίας ἔμπλεα·

30.16.7 | And some songs of ascent and commentaries are falsely put under the Songs of Ascent of James, as if explaining against both the temple and the sacrifices, against the fire on the altar, and many other things full of empty talk;

30.16.8 | ὥς καὶ τοῦ Παύλου ἐνταῦθα κατηγοροῦντες οὐκ αἰσχύνονται ἐπιπλάστοις τισὶ τῆς τῶν ψευδαποστόλων αὐτῶν κακουργίας καὶ πλάνης λόγοις πεπονημένοις, Ταρσέα μὲν αὐτόν, ὥς αὐτὸς ὁμολογεῖ καὶ οὐκ ἀρνεῖται, λέγοντες, ἐξ Ἑλλήνων δὲ αὐτὸν ὑποτίθενται, λαβόντες τὴν πρόφασιν ἐκ τοῦ τόπου διὰ τὸ φιλαλήθως ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ ῥηθὲν ὅτι »Ταρσεὺς εἰμι, οὐκ ἀσήμου πόλεως πολίτης·.

30.16.8 | As they also accuse Paul here, they are not ashamed to add false words made up of the evil and lies of their false apostles, saying that he is from Tarsus, as he himself admits and does not deny, but they claim he is from the Greeks, taking their excuse from the place because he truthfully said, ‘I am a Tarsian, a citizen of no insignificant city.’

30.16.9 | εἴτα φάσκουσιν αὐτὸν Ἑλληνα καὶ Ἑλληνίδος μητρὸς καὶ Ἑλληνος πατρὸς

30.16.9 | Then they say he is a Greek, the child of a Greek mother and a Greek father, παῖδα, ἀναβεβηκέναι δὲ εἰς τὰ Ἱεροσόλυμα καὶ χρόνον ἐκεῖ μεμενηκέναι, ἐπιτεθυμηκέναι δὲ θυγατέρα τοῦ ἱερέως πρὸς γάμον ἀγαγέσθαι καὶ τούτου ἕνεκα προσήλυτον γενέσθαι καὶ περιτμηθῆναι. καὶ μηκέτι λαβόντα τὴν τοιαύτην κόρην ὠργίσθαι καὶ κατὰ περιτομῆς γεγραφέναι καὶ κατὰ σαββάτου καὶ νομοθεσίας and that he went up to Jerusalem and stayed there for a time, wanting to marry the daughter of a priest, and because of this he became a convert and was circumcised.

And after taking such a girl, he became angry and was written against because of circumcision, and because of the Sabbath and the law.

Section 17

30.17.1 | 17. Ἀλλὰ κατὰ πάντα τρόπον συκοφαντεῖ ὁ δεινὸς οὗτος ὄφις καὶ πτωχὸς τῇ διανοίᾳ. Ἐβίων γὰρ ἔχει ἀπὸ Ἑβραϊκῆς εἰς Ἑλλάδα φωνὴν τὴν ἐρμηνείαν πτωχός. πτωχὸς γὰρ ὡς ἀληθῶς καὶ τῇ διανοίᾳ καὶ τῇ ἐλπίδι καὶ τῷ ἔργῳ <ὁ> Χριστὸν ἄνθρωπον ψιλὸν μίσας καὶ οὕτως ἐν πτωχείᾳ πίστεως τὴν ἐλπίδα περὶ αὐτοῦ κεκτημένος.

30.17.1 | But in every way this terrible snake, poor in mind, slanders. For he lives with a poor voice from Hebrew into Greek, the translation. For he is truly poor in mind and hope and work, hating Christ as a mere man, and so in the poverty of faith he has gained hope about him.

30.17.2 | αὐτοὶ δὲ δῆθεν σεμνύνονται ἐαυτοὺς φάσκοντες πτωχοὺς διὰ τό. φασίν, ἐν χρόνοις τῶν ἀποστόλων πωλεῖν τὰ αὐτῶν ὑπάρχοντα καὶ τιθέναι ταρα τοὺς πόδας τῶν ἀποστόλων καὶ εἰς πτωχείαν καὶ ἀποταξίαν μετεληλυθέναι· καὶ διὰ τοῦτο καλεῖσθαι ὑπὸ πάντων, φησί, πτωχοί.

30.17.2 | But they themselves boast, claiming to be poor because of this. They say that in the times of the apostles they sold their own possessions and caused trouble for the feet of the apostles, and they came into poverty and rebellion; and because of this, they say, they are called poor by everyone.

30.17.3 | οὐδὲ τοῦτο δὲ ἀληθὲς παρ' αὐτοῖς, ἀλλὰ φύσει τῷ ὄντι Ἐβίων ἐκαλεῖτο, κατὰ προφητείαν οἶμαι ὁ πτωχὸς καὶ τάλας τὸ ὄνομα ἐκ πατρὸς αὐτοῦ καὶ μητρὸς αὐτοῦ κεκληρωμένος.

30.17.3 | But this is not true of them.
Rather, by nature he was really called Ebion, I think, the poor and miserable, a name he inherited from his father and mother.

30.17.4 | πόσα δὲ ἄλλα δεινὰ καὶ παραπεποιημένα καὶ μοχθηρίας γέμοντα

30.17.4 | But how many other terrible and false things full of wickedness are kept παρ' αὐτοῖς φυλάττεται; ὅτω γὰρ τις ἐξ αὐτῶν ἢ νόσω περιπέσοι ἢ ὑπὸ ἐρπετοῦ δηχθεῖη, κάτεισιν εἰς τὰ ὕδατα καὶ ἐπικαλεῖται τὰς ἐπωνυμίας τὰς ἐν τῷ Ἡλξαῖ τοῦ τε οὐρανοῦ καὶ τῆς γῆς τοῦ τε ἀλὸς καὶ τοῦ ὕδατος, τῶν τε ἀνέμων καὶ ἀγγέλων τῆς δικαιοσύνης, & φασι, καὶ τοῦ ἄρτου καὶ τοῦ ἐλαίου, καὶ ἄρχεται λέγειν βοηθεῖτέ μοι καὶ ἀπαλλάξατε ἀπ' ἐμοῦ τὸ ἄλγημα».

among them? For if someone from them falls ill or is bitten by a snake, he goes down into the waters and calls upon the names in Helxai of heaven and earth, of salt and water, of winds and angels of justice, they say, and of bread and oil, and he begins to say, 'Help me and take away my pain.'

30.17.5 | ἤδη δέ μοι καὶ ἀνωτέρω προδεδήλωται ὡς ταῦτα μὲν Ἐβίων οὐκ ᾔδει, μετὰ καιρὸν δὲ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ συναφθέντες τῷ Ἡλξαῖ ἐσχήκασιν μὲν τοῦ Ἐβίωνος τὴν περιτομὴν καὶ τὸ σάββατον καὶ τὰ ἔθνη, τοῦ δὲ Ἡλξαῖ τὴν φαντασίαν,

30.17.5 | And now it has been made clear to me even more that Ebion did not know these things, but later those who gathered from him joined with Helxai and kept the circumcision, the Sabbath, and the customs of Ebion, but the beliefs of Helxai.

30.17.6 | ὥστε νομίζειν μὲν τὸν Χριστὸν εἶναι τι ἀνδροεῖκελον ἐκτύπωμα ἀόρατον ἀνθρώποις, μιλίων ἐνενήκοντα ἕξ τὸ μῆκος, δῆθεν σχοίνων εἴκοσι τεσσάρων, τὸ δὲ πλάτος σχοίνων ἕξ, μιλίων εἴκοσι τεσσάρων, τὸ πάχος δὲ κατὰ μέτρησιν ἄλλην τινά. ἀντικρὺ δὲ αὐτοῦ ἐστάναι καὶ τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα ἐν εἰδεί θηλείας ἀοράτως, καὶ τὸ] αὐτὸ τοῦ αὐτοῦ μέτρου.

30.17.6 | So they think that Christ is some man-shaped image invisible to people, ninety-six miles long, supposedly twenty-four schoeni wide, six schoeni thick, and twenty-four miles deep by measure. And standing opposite him is the holy spirit in the form of a woman, invisible, and the same size.

30.17.7 | καὶ πόθεν, φησὶν, ἔγνων τὰ μέτρα; ἐπειδὴ, φησὶν, εἶδον ἀπὸ τῶν ὀρέων ὅτι αἱ κεφαλαὶ ἔφθανον αὐτῶν, καὶ τὸ μέτρον τοῦ ὄρους καταμαθὼν ἔγνων Χριστοῦ τε καὶ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος τὰ μέτρα.»

30.17.7 | And he says, 'And how did I learn the measurements? Because,' he says, 'I saw from the mountains that their tops were broken off, and by measuring the mountain I learned the measurements of Christ and the holy spirit.'

30.17.8 | ἤδη δέ μοι περὶ τούτων εἴρηται ἐν τῇ κατὰ Ὀσσαίων αἵρέσει. ἐν παρεξόδῳ δὲ ταῦτα πεποιήμαι νῦν, ἵνα μὴ τὰ παρ' ἐκάστῳ ἔθνῳ τε καὶ αἰρέσει 10 ὄντα,

30.17.8 | Now these things have already been said to me in the heresy of the Ossaeans. But I have made these things as a side note now, so that what belongs to each εὐρισκόμενα δὲ καὶ παρ' ἑτέροις, νομισθεῖη κατὰ λήθην ὑφ' ἡμῶν μὴ εἰρῆσθαι.

nation and heresy, and is also found among others, is not thought to be left unsaid by us through forgetfulness.

Section 18

30.18.1 | 18. Οὗτος μὲν οὖν ὁ Ἐβίων καὶ αὐτὸς ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ ἴσχεν τὸ κήρυγμα καὶ Ῥώμῃ, τὰς δὲ ρίζας τῷ, ἀκανθωδῶν παραφυάδων ἔχουσιν ἀπὸ τε τῆς Ναβαταίας καὶ Πανεάδος τὸ πλεῖστον, Μωαβίτιδος τε καὶ Κωκάβων ἐν τῇ Βασανίτιδι γῇ ἐπέκεινα Ἀδραῶν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῇ Κύπρῳ.

30.18.1 | So this one, the Ebionite, held his preaching in Asia and Rome, and his roots have thorny branches mostly from Nabataea and Paneas, and also from Moabite and Kokabite lands in Basan beyond Adraa, but also in Cyprus.

30.18.2 | ἀναγκάζουσι δὲ καὶ παρ' ἡλικίαν ἐγκαμίζουσι τοὺς νέους, ἐξ ἐπιτροπῆς δῆθεν τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς διδασκάλων πρεσβυτέρους γὰρ οὗτοι ἔχουσι καὶ ἀρχισυναγώγους, συναγωγὴν δὲ καλοῦσι τὴν ἑαυτῶν ἐκκλησίαν καὶ οὐχὶ ἐκκλησίαν, τῷ Χριστοῦ δὲ ὀνόματι μόνον σεμνύνονται)

30.18.2 | And they force young men to marry, even against their will, supposedly by the authority of the elders who are teachers among them. For they have elders and chief leaders, and they call their own assembly a synagogue, not a church, and they boast only in the name of Christ.

30.18.3 | καὶ οὐ μόνον ἐνὶ τῷ γάμῳ ἐπιτρέπουσι τὰς συναφείας ποιῆσθαι, ἀλλ' εἰ καὶ θελήσειεν τις τοῦ πρώτου γάμου διαζεύγνυσθαι, ἑτέρῳ δὲ συνάπτεσθαι, ἐπιτρέπουσιν — πάντα γὰρ παρ' αὐτοῖς ἀδεῶς ἐφίεται — ἄχρι καὶ δευτέρου καὶ τρίτου καὶ ἐβδόμου γάμου.

30.18.3 | And they allow relationships not only within one marriage, but even if someone wants to separate from the first marriage and join with another, they allow it — for everything among them is done without shame — even up to a second, third, and seventh marriage.

30.18.4 | Ἀβραὰμ δὲ ομολογοῦσι καὶ Ἰσαὰκ καὶ Ἰακώβ, Μωυσέα τε καὶ Ἀαρών, Ἰησοῦν τε τὸν τοῦ Ναυῆ, ἀπλῶς διαδεξάμενον Μωυσέα, οὐδὲν δὲ ὄντα. μετὰ τούτους δὲ οὐκέτι ὁμολογοῦσιν οὐδὲν τῶν προφητῶν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀναθεματίζουν καὶ χλευάζουσι Δαυίδ τε καὶ α, ὁμοίως δὲ τοὺς περὶ Ἡσαΐαν

30.18.4 | But they confess Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, and Moses and Aaron, and Joshua son of Nun, who simply succeeded Moses, but was nothing. After these, they no longer confess any of the prophets, but they curse and mock David and also the others, likewise Isaiah and Jeremiah, Daniel καὶ Ἰερεμίαν, Δανιήλ καὶ Ἰεζεκιήλ, Ἡλίαν τε καὶ Ἐλισσαῖον ἀθετοῦσιν· οὐ γὰρ συντίθενται, βλασφημοῦντες τὰς αὐτῶν προφητείας, ἀλλὰ μόνον τὸ εὐαγγέλιον δέχονται.

and Ezekiel, Elijah and Elisha they reject; for they do not accept, blaspheming their prophecies, but only accept the gospel.

30.18.5 | τὸν δὲ Χριστὸν προφήτην λέγουσι τῆς ἀληθείας καὶ Χριστόν, υἱὸν <δὲ> θεοῦ κατὰ καὶ κατὰ συνάφειαν ἀναγωγῆς τῆς ἄνωθεν πρὸς αὐτὸν γεγενημένης τοῦς δὲ προφήτας λέγουσι * συνέσεως εἶναι προφήτας καὶ οὐχ ἀληθείας.

30.18.5 | But they say that Christ is a prophet of truth and Christ, and son of God according to the connection of the upward origin made to him; but they say that the prophets are prophets of understanding and not of truth.

30.18.6 | αὐτὸν δὲ μόνον θέλουσιν εἶναι καὶ προφήτην καὶ ἄνθρωπον καὶ υἱὸν θεοῦ καὶ Χριστόν καὶ ψιλὸν ἄνθρωπον ὡς προείπαμεν, διὰ δὲ ἀρετὴν βίου ἤκοντα εἰς τὸ καλεῖσθαι υἱὸν Μοῦ.

30.18.6 | They want him alone to be both prophet and man and son of God and Christ and a mere man, as we said before, coming to be called son because of the goodness of his life.

30.18.7 | But they do not accept the whole five books of Moses, but they throw away some parts. And when you ask them about living food, how then did Abraham set before the angels the calf and the milk? Or how did Noah eat and hear God saying, 'Sacrifice and eat'? And how did Isaac and Jacob offer sacrifices to God, and Moses too in the desert? They do not believe these things and say, 'Who needs to read the law now that the gospel has come?'

30.18.8 | »πόθεν σοι τοίνυν τὰ περὶ Μωυσέως καὶ Ἀβραὰμ εἰδέναι; οἶδα γὰρ ὡς ὁμολογεῖτε αὐτοὺς εἶναι, δικαίους καὶ πατέρας ἑαυτῶν ἐπιγράφεσθε«.

30.18.8 | "Where then do you get your knowledge about Moses and Abraham? For I know that you admit they are righteous and call them your fathers."

30.18.9 | εἶτα ἀποκρίνεται καὶ λέγει, ὅτι | Χριστός μοι ἀπεκάλυψε, καὶ βλασφημεῖ τὰ πλείω τῆς D112 νομοθεσίας καὶ τοὺς περὶ Σαμψὼν καὶ Δαυὶδ καὶ Ἠλίαν καὶ Σαμουὴλ καὶ Ἐλισσαῖον καὶ τοὺς ἄλλους.

30.18.9 | Then he answers and says, “Christ revealed it to me,” and he speaks badly about most of the law and about those around Samson and David and Elijah and Samuel and Elisha and the others.

Section 19

30.19.1 | 19. Ἐλέγχεται δὲ πανταχόθεν ὁ ἀγύρτης ὑπὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος, διαρρήδην καὶ ὡς ἐν συντόμῳ ἀπὸ μιᾶς λέξεως τὸ πᾶν αὐτοῦ ἐλέγχοντος τῆς ἀπατηλῆς διδασκαλίας καὶ λέγοντος »ἦλθεν Ἰωάννης ἐν ὁδῷ δικαιοσύνης μήτε ἐσθίων μήτε πίνων, καὶ λέγουσι, δαιμόνιον ἔχει· ἦλθεν ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἐσθίων καὶ πίνων < καὶ λέγουσιν, ἰδοὺ ἄνθρωπος φάγος καὶ οἰνοπότης>·« .

30.19.1 | The swindler is proven wrong everywhere by the savior, clearly and as if briefly from one saying, with all his false teaching exposed, saying, “John came in the way of righteousness, neither eating nor drinking, and they say, ‘He has a demon.’ The Son of Man came eating and drinking, and they say, ‘Look, a man who eats and drinks.’”

30.19.2 | καὶ οὐ πάντως ὅτι κἂν τὸ τυχὸν οὐκ ἦσθιεν Ἰωάννης ἢ πᾶν ὅτιοῦν ἦσθιεν ὁ σωτὴρ, ἵνα τις ὑπολάβῃ καὶ τὰ ἀπηγορευμένα·

30.19.2 | And not completely that even if by chance John did not eat or if the savior ate anything at all, so that someone might think even the forbidden things;

30.19.3 | ἡ γραφὴ δὲ τὴν ἔμφασιν δηλοῖ τῆς ἀληθείας, ὡς τὸ »φάγον αὐτὸν εἶναι καὶ οἰνοπότην« οὐδὲν ἕτερόν ἐστιν ἢ τὸ κρέας ἐσθίειν καὶ οἶνον πίνειν, καὶ τὸ »μὴ ἐσθίων μήτε πίνων·, ὅτι κρεῶν οὐ μετείληφε καὶ οἶνου, ἀλλ’ ἢ ἀκρίδων μόνον ὁ Ἰωάννης καὶ μέλιτος μετελάμβανε, δῆλον δὲ ὡς καὶ ὕδατος.

30.19.3 | But the scripture shows the point of the truth, that “he ate and drank” means nothing other than that he ate meat and drank wine, and “not eating nor drinking” means that John did not take meat or wine, but only locusts and honey, and also water, clearly.

30.19.4 | τίς δὲ οὐκ οἶδε τὸν σωτῆρα ἀναστάντα ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν καὶ φαγόντα; καθάπερ ἔχει τὰ ἅγια εὐαγγέλια τῆς

30.19.4 | But who does not know that the savior rose from the dead and ate? Just as the holy gospels of truth say, that bread ἀληθείας, ὅτι ἐπεδόθη αὐτῷ ἄρτος καὶ μέρος ὀπτοῦ ἰχθύος, καὶ λαβὼν ἔφαγε καὶ ἔδωκε τοῖς μαθηταῖς· ὡς καὶ ἐπὶ τῆς θαλάσσης τῆς Τιβεριάδος ἐποίησεν καὶ φαγὼν καὶ διδούς.

and a piece of roasted fish were given to him, and taking them he ate and gave to the disciples; just as he did by the sea of Tiberias, eating and giving.

30.19.5 | καὶ πολλὰ ἔστι περὶ τούτου λέγειν. δεῖ δέ με κατὰ λεπτότητα εἰς τὸν τούτων τῶν ῥημάτων τῶν ἐώλων τε καὶ σαθρῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς κηρυττομένων ἡκεῖν ἔλεγχον καὶ τὴν αὐτῶν ποιεῖσθαι ἀνατροπὴν.

30.19.5 | And there is much to say about this. But I must come in detail to the false and foolish words they preach, to show proof against them and to overturn what they do.

Section 20

30.20.1 | 20. Καὶ πρῶτον μὲν περὶ τοῦ Χριστοῦ ὅτι οὐ ψιλὸς ἄνθρωπος ῥητέον. οὐ δύναται γὰρ ὁ γεννηθεὶς κατὰ πάντα <ὡς> ἄνθρωπος ἕνεκα τῷ κόσμῳ δοθήσεσθαι, ὡς περὶ αὐτοῦ προεθέσπιζε τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα, ὅτε τῷ Ἀχαζ ἔλεγεν »αἵτησαι σεαυτῷ σημεῖον· κάκεινον μὴ αἰτήσαντος, τότε φησὶν ὁ προφήτης »αὐτὸς κύριος δώσει ὑμῖν σημεῖον·

30.20.1 | And first about Christ, it must be said that he was not a plain man. For the one born cannot be given to the world completely as a man, as the holy spirit foretold about him, when he said to Ahaz, "Ask for yourself a sign"; and when he did not ask, then the prophet says, "The Lord himself will give you a sign."

30.20.2 | ἐκοῦ ἡ παρθένος ἐν γαστρὶ ἔξει· παρθένος δὲ οὐ καλεῖται ἡ συναφθεῖσα ἀνδρὰ καὶ γαμηθεῖσα γυνή, παρθένος δὲ ἐκείνη κυρίως λέγοιτ' ἂν ἡ ἄνευ ἀνδρὸς τὴν σύλληψιν τοῦ θεοῦ Λόγου κατὰ ἀλήθειαν ἐσχηκυῖα,

30.20.2 | "Behold, the virgin will have a child in her womb." But a woman who is joined to a man and married is not called a virgin; that woman would be truly called a virgin who has conceived the word of God without a man.

30.20.3 | ὡς καὶ αὐτὸς Ἡσαΐας ἐν ἄλλῳ τόπῳ φησὶ »φωνὴ κραυγῆς ἐκ πόλεως, φωνὴ ἐκ ναοῦ, φωνὴ κυρίου ἀνταποδόσεως, ἀνταποδεδόντος τοῖς ἀντικειμένοις· πρὶν ἢ τὴν ἀδίνουσαν τεκεῖν, πρὶν ἢ ἐλθεῖν τὸν πόνον τῶν ὠδίνων

30.20.3 | As Isaiah himself says in another place, "A voice of shouting from the city, a voice from the temple, a voice of the Lord repaying, repaying those who oppose him; before she who is about to give birth has pain, before the labor pains come, she ἔξέφυγε καὶ ἔτεκεν ἕρσεν. τίς ἤκουσε τοιοῦτο ἢ τίς ἐώρακε τοιαῦτα; εἰ ὠδινεν ἡ γῆ ἐν μιᾷ ἡμέρᾳ καὶ ἔτεκεν ἔθνος εἰς ἅπαξ; ὅτι ὠδινεν καὶ ἔτεκεν Σιών τὰ παιδιά αὐτῆς· ἐγὼ δὲ ἔδωκα τὴν προσδοκίαν ταύτην καὶ οὐκ ἐμνήσθησαν, λέγει κύριος·.

escaped and gave birth to a son. Who has heard such a thing? Or who has seen such things? If the earth gave birth in one day and bore a nation at once? Because Zion gave birth to her children in pain; but I gave this hope and they did not remember it, says the Lord."

30.20.4 | ποία δὲ προσδοκία καὶ ποῖα παιδιά ἀλλ' ἢ τὸ παρθένον γεννησάμενος ὠδίνων, ὅπερ οὐδμοῦ γεγένηται, καὶ τὸ τὸν δι' αὐτὸν ἀπὸ Ἑλισάβετ κατὰ ἐπαγγελίαν γεννηθέντα Ἰωάννην παῖδα *, εἰ καὶ ὁ Ἰωάννης δι' ὠδίνων γεγέννηται;

30.20.4 | What kind of hope and what children other than the virgin giving birth without pain, which has never happened before, and the child John born to Elizabeth in her old age, even though John was born through pain?

30.20.5 | πῶς οὖν οὗτοι ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνδρός ψιλὸν ἄνθρωπον ὀρίζονται τὸν σωτῆρα; πῶς οὐ γνωσθήσεται ὡς καὶ Ἱερεμίας περὶ αὐτοῦ φησὶν ὅτι »ἄνθρωπός ἐστι, καὶ τίς γινώσεται αὐτόν«;

30.20.5 | How then are these men, from a man's seed, calling the savior a mere man? How will it not be known, as Jeremiah also says about him, that "he is a man, and who will know him"?

30.20.6 | διηγούμενος γὰρ ὁ προφήτης περὶ αὐτοῦ ἔλεγεν »τίς γινώσεται αὐτόν;«. εἰ δὲ περὶ ψιλοῦ ἔλεγεν ἄνθρωπον, πάντως ἂν καὶ ὁ πατὴρ αὐτὸν ἐγίνωσκεν καὶ ἡ μήτηρ, συγγενεῖς τε καὶ γείτονες, σύσκηνοί τε καὶ συμπολῖται·

30.20.6 | For the prophet, telling about him, said "who will know him?" If he was speaking about a mere man, surely even his father and mother would know him, as well as relatives and neighbors, those who live together and fellow citizens;

30.20.7 | ἀλλ' ἐπειδὴ ἐκ Μαρίας μὲν ἐστὶ τὸ γέννημα, ἀνωθεν δὲ ἦλθεν ὁ θεὸς Λόγος, οὐκ ἀπὸ σπέρματος ἀνδρός, ἀλλ' ἐκ πατρὸς μὲν ἀνωθεν γεννηθεὶς ἐν ἐληθείᾳ ἀχρόνως καὶ ἀνάρχως, ἐπ' ἐσχάτων δὲ τῶν ἡμερῶν εὐδοκήσας ἐν θήτρᾳ γενέσθαι παρθένου καὶ ἐξ αὐτῆς ἀναπλάσαι εἰς ἑαυτὸν τὴν σάρκα, διὰ τοῦτο φησὶ »καὶ ἄνθρωπος μὲν ἐστὶ, τίς δὲ γινώσεται αὐτόν; τοῦτο φησὶ »καὶ ἄνθρωπος μὲν ἐστὶ, τίς δὲ γινώσεται

30.20.7 | But since the child is from Mary, and from above came God the Word, not from a man's seed, but from the Father born from above truly, without time and without beginning, and at the last days he was pleased to be born in the womb of a virgin and to form from her flesh for himself, therefore he says "he is a man, but who will know him?" He says this because God came from above, the only-begotten αὐτόν; « ὅτι θεὸς ἄνωθεν ἦλθεν, ὁ μονογενὴς θεὸς Λόγος.

God the Word.

30.20.8 | πολλὴ δὲ ταλαιπωρία τῶν πεπλανημένων, τῶν καταλειψάντων μὲν ἀνασχομένων Ἐβίωνος τοῦ πεπλανημένου, τοῦ τὴν ἑαυτοῦ ἡδονὴν βουλομένου πληροῦν καὶ τὰ Ἰουδαϊκὰ μεταχειριζομένου καὶ ἀπὸ Ἰουδαίων ἡλλοτριωμένου.

30.20.8 | Great suffering there is for those who are lost, who have left behind the witness of the prophets and angels, and who endure the deceived Evion, who wants to fill his own pleasure and uses Jewish things and is alienated from the Jews.

30.20.9 | ὁ μὲν > Γαβριὴλ εὐθύς τῇ

30.20.9 | Gabriel at once, announcing to the virgin, with her saying “how will these things be, since I do not know a man,” putting forward what is sure, said “the spirit of the Lord will come upon you and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; and the one born from you will be called holy, the Son of God.” For in saying “the one born,” he showed that the flesh is from her and the incarnation, but from above, from the heavens, the power of the Most High and the holy spirit overshadowed the holy virgin and from above descended the only-begotten Son God the Word, and how he became man and how he was truly born from her. How many other things like this are there?

30.20.11 | εἴωθα δέ, ὡς ὑπεσχόμην, μὴ διὰ πλάτους φέρεσθαι, ἕνα μὴ εἰς ὄγκον πολὺν ἀγάγω τὴν πραγματείαν.

30.20.11 | I am used, as I promised, not to be carried away by length, so I will bring the discussion to one point, not to a great size.

Section 21

30.21.1 | 21. Περὶ δὲ τῶν ἄλλων ἐξῆς διηγῆσομαι, ὡν τε κατὰ Πέτρου καὶ τῶν

30.21.1 | 21. But about the other things, I will tell in order, those which Peter and the ἄλλοι)ν ἀποστόλων καταψεύδονται· ὅτι, φησὶν, ὁ Πέτρος καθ' ἐκάστην ἡμέραν βαπτισμοῖς ἐκέχρητο, πρὶν ἢ καὶ ἄρτου αὐτὸν μεταλαμβάνειν.

other apostles deny; because, he says, Peter used baptisms every day, before he even shared in bread.

30.21.2 | καὶ ὅρα τὸ πᾶν αὐτῶν συκοφάντημα καὶ τὸ ὑπουλον τῆς ἀγυρτώδους αὐτῶν διδασκαλίας, ἀπὸ τοῦ γὰρ αὐτοὺς μεμιάνθαι καὶ λαγνιστέρως πολλάκις πολλὰ πράττειν ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς, εἰς πεισμονὴν τῆς ἑαυτῶν πληροφορίας τῷ ὕδατι δαψιλῶς χρῶνται, ἕνα δῆθεν ἑαυτοὺς ἀπατήσωσι, διὰ βαπτισμῶν ἔχειν τὴν κάθαρσιν νομίζοντες.

30.21.2 | And see the whole slander of them and the deceit of their greedy teaching. For because they are stained and often do many lustful things on earth, to cover up their own guilt they use water abundantly, as if to cheat themselves, thinking they have cleansing through baptisms.

30.21.3 | καὶ ταῦτα εἰς τοὺς ἀποστόλους ἐμπαροινεῖν οὐκ αἰσχύνονται, καίτοι τοῦ κυρίου ἐλέγχοντος αὐτῶν τὴν κακοτροπίαν ἐν τῷ τὸν Πέτρον εἰρηκέναι, ὅτε ἦλθεν τοὺς πόδας αὐτοῦ νίψαι, ὅτι »οὐ μὴ νίψῃς τοὺς πόδας μου εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα«, καὶ τὴν ἀνθυποφορὰν ὑπὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος ἐξενεχθῆναι ὅτι »ἐὰν μὴ νίψω σου τοὺς πόδας, οὐκ ἔχεις μέρος μετ' ἐμοῦ«,

30.21.3 | And they are not ashamed to insult the apostles with these things, even though the lord rebuked their bad behavior when he said to Peter, when he came to wash his feet, 'you will never wash my feet,' and the disgrace was brought on by the savior when he said, 'if I do not wash your feet, you have no part with me.'

30.21.4 | κάκεινου πάλιν ἀνταποκρινομένου ὅτι »οὐ μόνον τοὺς πόδας, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὴν κεφαλὴν«, τοῦ δὲ κυρίου πάλιν λέγοντος ὅτι ὁ λουσάμενος ἅπαξ οὐ χρειάν ἔχει τὴν κεφαλὴν <νίψασθαι>, εἰ μὴ τοὺς πόδας μόνον· ἔστιν γὰρ καθαρὸς ὅλος«.

30.21.4 | And he answered again, 'not only the feet, but also the head,' but the lord said again, 'the one who has bathed once does not need to wash the head, only the feet; for the whole body is clean.'

30.21.5 | ἔδειξεν οὖν ὅτι οὐ χρὴ βαπτισμοῖς χρῆσθαι καὶ ἔθουσιν ἀνωφελέσι καὶ ἐντάλμασιν ἀνθρώπων καὶ διδασκαλίαις, ὥς καὶ ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ συνωδὰ τῷ προφήτῃ λέγει ὁ λαὸς οὗτος τοῖς χεῖλεσί με

30.21.5 | So he showed that it is not necessary to use baptisms and useless rules and commands of people and teachings, as in the gospel with the prophet, the people say, 'this people honor me with their lips, τιμῇ, ἡ δὲ καρδία αὐτῶν πόρρω ἀπέχει ἀπ’ ἐμοῦ. μάτην δὲ σέβονται με, διδάσκοντες διδασκαλίας, ἐντάλματα ἀνθρώπων».

but their heart is far from me. They worship me in vain, teaching human rules.’

30.21.6 | ἐπεὶ κατὰ ποίαν αἰτίαν ἐμέμφετο τοὺς Φαρισαίους καὶ Γραμματεῖς, τοὺς βαπτισμοῖς πυγμῇ χρωμένους ἑαυτῶν <τε> καὶ ζεστῶν καὶ ποτηρίων καὶ τῶν ἄλλων; καὶ τελείως ὅτι τὸ ἀνίπτους χερσὶν ἐσθίειν οὐ κοινοῖ τὸν ἄνθρωπον; ὥστε οὐ μόνον τὸ βαπτίζεσθαι τούτων ἀνέτρεψεν, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸ νίψαι χεῖρας περιττὸν εἶναι ἔδειξε καὶ τῷ <μὴ> βουλομένῳ τὰς νίπτεσθαι μὴ εἶναι βλάβην.

30.21.6 | Since for what reason did he blame the Pharisees and the scribes, who were proud of their baptisms and cups and dishes and the others? And completely that eating with unwashed hands does not make a person unclean? So not only did he overturn their baptizing, but he also showed that washing hands is unnecessary and that for the one who does not want to wash them, there is no harm.

Section 22

30.22.1 | 22. Πῶς δὲ περὶ κρεοφαγίας οὐκ εὐθὺς ἡ αὐτῶν ἄνοια ἐλεγχθήσεται; πρῶτον μὲν τοῦ κυρίου ἐσθιόντος τὸ Πάσχα τῶν Ἰουδαίων. Πάσχα δὲ τῶν Ἰουδαίων πρόβατον ἦν καὶ ἄζυμα, κρέα προβάτου ὅπτα πυρὶ ἐσθιόμενα·

30.22.1 | 22. But how will their foolishness about eating meat not be immediately shown? First, the lord ate the Passover of the Jews. The Passover of the Jews was a lamb and unleavened bread, roasted lamb meat eaten by fire.

30.22.2 | As also his disciples say to him, ‘Where shall we prepare for you to eat the Passover?’ And the lord himself says, ‘Go into the city and you will find a man carrying a jar of water. Follow him wherever he goes, and say to the house owner, “Where is the guest room where I will make the Passover with my disciples?” And he will show you an upstairs room set up; there prepare it.’

30.22.3 | πάλιν δὲ αὐτὸς ὁ κύριος λέγει »ἐπιθυμία ἐπεθύμησα τοῦτο τὸ Πάσχα φαγεῖν μεθ’ ὑμῶν·· καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν ἀπλῶς

30.22.3 | Again the lord himself says, ‘With desire I have desired to eat this Passover with you.’ And he did not simply say

Πάσχα, ἀλλὰ τοῦτο τὸ Πάσχα, ἵνα μή τις μεθοδεύσῃ εἰς τὴν ἑαυτοῦ ὑπόνοιαν. Πάσχα δὲ ἦν, ὡς εἶπον, κρέα ὅπτα πυρὶ καὶ τὰ ἄλλα.

Passover, but this Passover, so that no one might plan for their own meaning. The Passover was, as I said, roasted meat by fire and the other things.

30.22.4 | αὐτοὶ δὲ ἀφανίσαντες ἀφ' ἑαυτῶν τὴν τῆς ἀληθείας ἀκολουθίαν ἄλλαξαν τὸ ῥητόν, ὅπερ ἐστὶ πᾶσι φανερόν ἐκ τῶν συνεζευγμένων λέξεων, καὶ ἐποίησαν τοὺς μαθητὰς μὲν λέγοντας »ποῦ θέλεις ἐτοιμάσωμέν σοι τὸ Πάσχα φαγεῖν«, καὶ αὐτὸν δῆθεν λέγοντα »μὴ ἐπιθυμία ἐπεθύμησα κρέας τοῦτο τὸ Πάσχα φαγεῖν μεθ' ὑμῶν«.

30.22.4 | But they, having hidden from themselves the true meaning, changed what was said, which is clear to everyone from the connected words, and made the disciples say, 'Where do you want us to prepare for you to eat the Passover?' and made him pretend to say, 'I did not desire with longing to eat this meat at the Passover with you.'

30.22.5 | But how will their trickery not be exposed, when the meaning cries out that the mu and eta are added before? For instead of saying 'with desire I desired,' they added the negative adverb 'not.' But he truly said, 'With desire I desired to eat this Passover with you.' They, however, by adding the meat, deceived themselves, tricking and saying, 'I did not desire to eat this meat at the Passover with you.' It clearly shows that he both celebrated the Passover and ate meat, as I said before.

30.22.6 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ ὁράματος ἐλεγχθήσονται τοῦ ἀποκαλυφθέντος τῷ ἁγίῳ Πέτρῳ διὰ τῆς ὁθόνης τῆς ἐχούσης πάντα ἐν αὐτῇ θηρία τε καὶ κτήνη καὶ ἔρπετα καὶ πετεινὰ καὶ φωνῆς κυρίου λεγούσης ἀναστὰς θῦσον καὶ φάγε· καὶ τοῦ Πέτρου λέγοντος »μηδαμῶς, κύριε· οὐδὲν κοινὸν ἢ ἀκάθαρτον εἰσῆλθεν εἰς τὸ στόμα μου«, φησὶν ὁ κύριος »ἃ ὁ θεὸς

30.22.6 | But they will also be proven wrong by the vision revealed to holy Peter through the sheet that held all kinds of animals, wild beasts, cattle, creeping things, and birds, and by the voice of the lord saying, 'Get up, sacrifice and eat.' And Peter said, 'No way, lord; nothing common or unclean has entered my mouth.' The lord said, 'What God has made clean, do not call ἐκαθάρισε, σὺ μὴ κοίνου».

30.22.7 | εὐρεθήσεται γὰρ ἐκ δύο τρόπων τῆς ἀληθείας ἡ σύστασις. εἰ μὲν γὰρ ἐροῦσι κατὰ πάντων τῶν βρωμάτων διεξεληλυθέναι <τὸν> λόγον ἁγίου Πέτρου λέγοντος ὅτι οὐδέποτε κοινὸν ἦ ἀκάθαρτον εἰσῆλθεν εἰς τὸ στόμα μου> , ὡς καὶ βόας καὶ αἰγας καὶ πρόβατα καὶ ὄρνεις κοινὰ λέγεσθαι παρ’ αὐτῷ, εὐθὺς ἐλεγχθήσονται ἐκ τῆς προτέρας αὐτοῦ ἀναστροφῆς.

30.22.7 | For the truth will be found from two sources. If they say that the word of holy Peter, saying ‘Nothing common or unclean has ever entered my mouth,’ applies to all kinds of food, even oxen, goats, sheep, and birds being called common by him, they will immediately be proven wrong by his earlier behavior.

30.22.8 | μετὰ γὰρ τὸ γῆμαι καὶ τέκνα κεκτηῖσθαι καὶ πενθερὰν ἔχειν συνέτυχε τῷ σωτῆρι, ἐξ Ἰουδαίων ὁρμώμενος. Ἰουδαῖοι δὲ καὶ σάρκας ἐσθίουσι καὶ κρεοφαγία παρ’ αὐτοῖς οὐκ ἐβδέλυκται οὐδὲ ἀπηγόρευται.

30.22.8 | For after marrying and having children and a mother-in-law, he met the savior, being stirred up by the Jews. And the Jews also eat meat, and eating meat was neither hated nor forbidden among them.

30.22.9 | ἄρα γοῦν αὐτοῦ βεβρωκότος ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς — εἰ καὶ ἴως τοῦ συναντῆσαι τῷ σωτῆρι εἴπομεν — δειχθήσεται ὅτι οὐδὲν κοινὸν ἠγήσατο τῶν οὐ κοινῶν λεγομένων. καὶ γὰρ οὐ κατὰ πάντων διεξήγαγε τὸ κοινὸν καὶ ἀκάθαρτον, ἀλλὰ περὶ ὧν ἔλεγεν ὁ νόμος κοινῶν καὶ ἀκαθάρτων.

30.22.9 | So then, at least from the beginning, if we say until he met the savior, it will be shown that he did not consider any of the things called uncommon to be common. For he did not apply common and unclean to everything, but only to those things the law called common and unclean.

30.22.10 | πάλιν δὲ τούτου δειχθέντος ὅτι οὐ περὶ πάντων τῶν κρεῶν αὐτῷ ἤγετο ὡς κοινῶν πάντων ὄντων, ἀλλὰ περὶ τῶν ἐν τῷ νόμῳ κοινῶν τε καὶ ἀκαθάρτων, ὁ θεὸς τῆς ἁγίας Χριστοῦ ἐκκλησίας τὸν χαρακτῆρα παραδιδούς ἔλεγεν αὐτῷ μηδὲν κοινὸν ἠγεῖσθαι· πάντα γὰρ ἐστὶ καθαρὰ μετὰ εὐχαριστίας καὶ εὐλογίας θεοῦ λαμβανόμενα.»

30.22.10 | But again, after it was shown that he did not think all kinds of meat were common, but only those called common and unclean in the law, the God of the holy church of Christ, giving him a mark, told him not to consider anything common. For everything is clean when received with thanksgiving and the blessing of God.

30.22.11 | ἀλλ' εἰ καὶ περὶ τῆς κλήσεως τῶν ἐθνῶν τὸ αἵνιγμα εἶχεν, ἵνα μὴ ἡγήσῃται τοὺς ἐν ἀκροβυστίᾳ κοινοὺς ἢ ἀκαθάρτους, ὅμως ἡ ἔμφασις τοῦ Πέτρου οὐ περὶ ἀνθρώπων εἶχε τὴν ὑπόνοιαν, ἀλλὰ περὶ τῶν ἐν τῷ νόμῳ ἀπηγορευμένων, ὡς καὶ παντὶ τῷ σαφὲς ἂν εἴη· καὶ ἐξέπεσεν αὐτῶν πανταχόθεν ὁ ληρώδης λόγος.

30.22.11 | But even if the riddle was about the calling of the Gentiles, so that he would not think those uncircumcised were common or unclean, still the meaning of Peter was not about people, but about those forbidden in the law, as it would be clear to anyone. And the foolish talk about them fell away everywhere.

Section 23

30.23.1 | 23. Τῶν δὲ ἀποστόλων τὰ ὀνόματα εἰς τὴν τῶν ἡπατημένων ὑπ' αὐτῶν πεθῶ προσποιητῶς δέχονται βίβλους τε ἐξ ὀνόματος αὐτῶν πλασάμενοι ἀνεγράψαντο, δῆθεν ἀπὸ προσώπου Ἰακώβου καὶ Ματθαίου καὶ ἄλλων μαθητῶν.

30.23.1 | 23. But the names of the apostles, among those deceived by them, falsely accept books made up from their names, which were written down, supposedly from the face of James and Matthew and other disciples.

30.23.2 | ἐν οἷς ὀνόμασι καὶ τὸ ὄνομα Ἰωάννου τοῦ ἀποστόλου ἐγκαταλέγουσιν, ἵνα πανταχόθεν φωρατὴ γένηται ἡ αὐτῶν ἄνοια. οὐ μόνον γὰρ ἐλέγχει αὐτοὺς κατὰ πάντα τρόπον, λέγων ὅτι ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦν ὁ Λόγος καὶ ὁ Λόγος ἦν πρὸς τὸν θεὸν καὶ θεὸς ἦν ὁ Λόγος»,

30.23.2 | Among these names they also include the name of John the apostle, so that their foolishness might be caught everywhere. For he not only proves them wrong in every way, saying that in the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

30.23.3 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ὅτι τὰς τῶν ἁγίων προφητῶν μαρτυρίας *, ἐν ᾧ ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου ὁρμώμενος καὶ τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος εἰρημένα καλῶς ἀκριβολογήσας περὶ ἐκάστης ὑποθέσεως τῆς εἰς Χριστὸν πληρωθείσης, ὡς εἶπον, τὰς μαρτυρίας ἐξέθετο, ἀφ' ὧν προφητῶν οὗτοι ἑαυτοὺς ἀπηλλοτριώσαν.

30.23.3 | But also that the testimonies of the holy prophets, inspired by the Holy Spirit and carefully explaining each part of the things said by the Savior about Christ's coming, he set out clearly. From these prophets, those men have separated themselves.

30.23.4 | καὶ εὐθὺς ἔδειξεν ὡς τοῖς πρὸς Ἰωάννην τὸν βαπτιστὴν ὑπὸ τῶν Φαρισαίων πεμφθεῖσιν αὐτὸς Ἰωάννης ἀποκρίνεται λέγων »ἐγὼ φωνὴ βοῶντος ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ, εὐθύνετε τὴν ὁδὸν κυρίου, καθὼς εἶπεν Ἡσαΐας ὁ προφήτης·

30.23.4 | And immediately he showed how John the Baptist himself answers those sent by the Pharisees to John, saying, “I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness, ‘Prepare the way of the Lord,’ as Isaiah the prophet said.”

30.23.5 | καὶ πάλιν αὐτὸς Ἰωάννης λέγει, ἀπὸ τῶν προφητῶν λαβὼν τὴν μαρτυρίαν φημι δὲ ἀπὸ τοῦ Δαυίδ), ὅτε ὁ κύριος τὰς τραπέζας τῶν κολλυβιστῶν κατέστρεψε καὶ εἶπεν· μὴ ποιῇτε τὸν οἶκον τοῦ πατρὸς μου οἶκον ἐμπορίου, »ἐμνήσθησαν ὅτι ἦν γεγραμμένον ὅτι ὁ ζῆλος τοῦ οἴκου κατέφαγέν με«. καὶ πόλιν αὐτὸς Ἰωάννης εἶπεν ὅτι »Ἡσαΐας εἶδεν ὦν ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ«.

30.23.5 | And again John himself says, taking the testimony from the prophets (I say from David), when the Lord overturned the tables of the money changers and said, “Do not make my Father’s house a house of trade,” they remembered that it was written, “The zeal for your house has eaten me up.” And John himself said that “Isaiah saw this while in the Holy Spirit.”

Section 24

30.24.1 | 24. Πάλιν δὲ ὁ αὐτὸς ἅγιος Ἰωάννης κηρύττων ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ ἱστορεῖται παράδοξον ἔργον τι πεποιηκὼς εἰς ὑπογραμμὸν τῆς ἀληθείας. πολιτείαν γὰρ ἔχων θαυμασιωτάτην καὶ συμπρέπουσαν αὐτοῦ τῷ ἀξιώματι τῆς ἀποστολῆς καὶ μὴδ’ ὅλως λουόμενος, ἠναγκάσθη ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος προελθεῖν ἕως τοῦ βαλανείου, εἰπὼν ὅτι λάβετέ μοι τὰ πρὸς βαλανεῖον·

30.24.1 | But again the same holy John, preaching in Asia, is recorded to have done a strange thing to prove the truth. For having a very wonderful way of life, fitting his rank as an apostle, and not even bathing at all, he was forced by the Holy Spirit to go out to the bathhouse, saying, “Take what belongs to me to the bathhouse.”

30.24.2 | καὶ τῶν συνεπομένων θαυμάζοντων ἦλθεν εἰς αὐτὸ τὸ λουτρὸν καὶ γεγωνὼς πρὸς τὸν εὐωθότα ὑποδέχεσθαι τῶν λουομένων τὰ ἱμάτια ἦρτο τις ἔνδον ἐστὶν ἐν τῷ βαλανείῳ·

30.24.2 | And when those who were following were amazed, he went into the bathhouse itself, and standing near the fragrant one who took the clothes of those bathing, he asked, “Who is inside the bathhouse?”

30.24.3 | ὁ δὲ ὀλεάριος <ὁ> ἐπὶ τῷ

30.24.3 | But the bath attendant, who kept φυλάττειν τὰ ἱμάτια προσκαρτερῶν ἐν τοῖς γὰρ γυμνασίοις ἔργον τοῦτο τισιν ὑπάρχει πορισμοῦ ἕνεκα τῆς ἐφημέρου τροφῆς) ἔφη τῷ ἁγίῳ Ἰωάννῃ ὅτι Ἐβίων ἐνδον ἐστίν.

watch over the clothes, waiting patiently—since in the gymnasiums this was a job for earning daily food—said to holy John that Ebion was inside.

30.24.4 | Ἰωάννης δὲ εὐθὺς συνεῖς τὴν τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος ὁδηγίαν, δι' ἣν αἰτίαν προὔτρέψατο αὐτὸν ἕως τοῦ βαλανείου ἦκειν, ὡς ἔφην, μνήμης ἕνεκα τοῦ καταλιπεῖν ἡμῖν τὴν τῆς ἀληθείας ὑπόθεσιν, ὅτι τίνες εἰσὶν οἱ δοῦλοι Χριστοῦ καὶ ἀπόστολοι καὶ υἱοὶ τῆς αὐτῆς ἀληθείας, τίνα δὲ ἐστὶ τὰ σκευὴ τοῦ πονηροῦ καὶ πύλαι Ἄιδου, μὴ κατισχύουσai τῆς πέτρας καὶ τῆς ἐπ' αὐτῇ οἰκοδομηθείσης ἁγίας θεοῦ ἐκκλησίας, εὐθὺς ταραξας ἑαυτὸν καὶ οἰμῶξας,

30.24.4 | John, immediately understanding the guidance of the holy spirit, by which he was urged to come to the bathhouse, as i said, for the sake of remembering to leave us the foundation of truth, about who are the servants of Christ and apostles and sons of the same truth, and what are the tools of the evil one and the gates of Hades, not overpowering the rock and the holy church of God built on it, immediately disturbing himself and groaning,

30.24.5 | ἡρέμα εἰς τὸ πάντας ἀκοῦσαι εἰς μαρτύριον παραστάσεως ἀχράντου διδασκαλίας »σπεύσατε, ἀδελφοί« ἔφη »ἐξέλθωμεν ἐντεῦθεν, μὴ πέσῃ τὸ βαλανεῖον καὶ κατορύξῃ ἡμᾶς μετὰ Ἐβίωνος τοῦ ἐνδον ἐν τῷ βαλανείῳ διὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ ἀσέβειαν«.

30.24.5 | He quietly called everyone to hear as a witness to the pure teaching, saying, "Hurry, brothers, let us go out from here, so the bathhouse does not fall and drag us down with Ebion, who is inside the bathhouse because of his godlessness."

30.24.6 | καὶ μηδεὶς θαυμαζέτω ἐπὶ τῷ ἀκοῦσαι Ἐβίωνα Ἰωάννῃ συντετυχηκέναι. πολυχρόνιος γὰρ καταμείνας τῷ βίῳ ὁ μακάριος Ἰωάννης διήρκεσεν ἄχρι τῆς τοῦ Τραϊανοῦ βασιλείας.

30.24.6 | And let no one be surprised that John met Ebion when he heard him. For the blessed John lived a long life and lasted until the reign of Trajan.

30.24.7 | πάντες δὲ οἱ ἀπόστολοι ὅτι ἀπαλλοτριούσι τὴν τοῦ Ἐβίωνος πίστιν καὶ ἄλλοτρίν ἡγήσαντο τοῦ αὐτῶν κηρύγματός τοῦ χαρακτηῖρος, παντὶ τῷ δῆλον.

30.24.7 | And all the apostles clearly saw that they were rejecting the faith of Ebion and thought his teaching was foreign to their own message.

Section 25

30.25.1 | 25. Περὶ δὲ τοῦ ἁγίου Παύλου ὡς βλασφημοῦντες αὐτὸν λέγουσι πόσα ἔχω λέγειν; πρῶτον μὲν γὰρ λέγουσιν αὐτὸν Ὑλληνα τε καὶ ἐξ ἐθνῶν ὑπάρχειν. προσήλυτον δὲ γεγονέναι ὕστερον.

30.25.1 | About holy Paul, how much do I have to say since they call him a blasphemer? First, they say he was both a Greek and from the nations. Later, they say he became a convert.

30.25.2 | πῶς οὖν αὐτὸς λέγει περὶ ἑαυτοῦ ὅτι »Ἑβραῖος ἐξ Ἑβραίων, ἐκ σπέρματος Ἀβραάμ, φυλῆς Βενιαμίν, κατὰ νόμον Φαρισαῖος, περισσοτέρως ζηλωτῆς ὑπάρχων τῶν πατρικῶν μου παραδόσεων«

30.25.2 | How then does he say about himself that “I am a Hebrew from Hebrews, from the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin, according to the law a Pharisee, more zealous than all of my ancestors in their traditions”?

30.25.3 | καὶ ἐν ἄλλῳ τόπῳ λέγει »Ἰσραηλῖταί εἰσι, καγὼ σπέρμα Ἀβραάμ εἰσι, καγὼ«, καὶ φησι περιτομῇ ὀκταήμερος καὶ ἀνατεθραμμένος παρὰ τοὺς πόδας Γαμαλιήλ καὶ Ἑβραῖος ἐξ Ἑβραίων’.

30.25.3 | And in another place he says, “They are Israelites, and so am I; they are the seed of Abraham, and so am I,” and he says he was circumcised on the eighth day and raised at the feet of Gamaliel, and that he is a Hebrew from Hebrews.

30.25.4 | καὶ ὦ τῶν δεινῶν ἐρπετῶν τὰ δεινὰ κωκύματα καὶ τὰ δρακοντοειδῆ συρίγματα καὶ τῆς κενοφωνίας τὰ δηλητήρια. τίνος δὲ λήψομαι τὴν μαρτυρίαν; Ἐβίωνος καὶ τῶν κατ’ αὐτὸν ἢ τοῦ ἁγίου Πέτρου τοῦ λέγοντος ὡς ἔγραψεν ὑμῖν ὁ ἀδελφός μου Παῦλος, ἃτινὰ ἐστὶ βαθέα καὶ δυσερμήνευτα, ἃ οἱ ἀμαθεῖς καὶ ἀστήρικτοι διαστρέφουσι τῇ ἑαυτῶν ἀγνωσίᾳ;

30.25.4 | And oh, the terrible cries of terrible snakes and the dragon-like whistles and the poisons of empty noise. But whose testimony shall I take? That of Evion and his followers, or of holy Peter who says, “As my brother Paul wrote to you, which things are deep and hard to understand, and the unlearned and unstable twist them to their own destruction”?

30.25.5 | πάλιν δὲ ὁ ἅγιος Παῦλος μαρτυρεῖ καὶ αὐτὸς τοῖς περὶ Πέτρον λέγων »Ἰάκωβος καὶ Ἰωάννης καὶ Κηφᾶς, οἱ δοκοῦντες στῦλοι εἶναι, δεξιὰς ἔδωκαν ἐμοί

30.25.5 | Again, holy Paul himself bears witness about those around Peter, saying, “James and John and Cephas, who are thought to be pillars, gave the right hand of

τε καὶ Βαρνάβα κοινωνίας'. κἄν τε γὰρ Ταρσέα ἑαυτὸν εἴποι, οὐκ ἀπὸ τούτου πάντως δέδοται πρόφασις τοῖς λεξιθηροῦσι τὰ εἰς ἑαυτῶν καταστροφὴν καὶ τῶν πειθομένων * οὕτως ἔχειν.

fellowship to Barnabas and me.” And even if he calls himself from Tarsus, this is not at all a reason for those who search for words to twist things to their own destruction and to those who obey them to believe it is so.

30.25.6 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ Βαρνάβαν λέγει, Ἰωσήφ ποτε καλούμενον Βαρνάβαν δὲ μετακληθέντα, υἱὸν παρακλήσεως ἐρμηνευόμενον, Λευίτην Κύπριον τῷ γενεῖ. καὶ οὐ πάντως ἐπειδὴ Κύπριος ἦν, οὐκ ἦν ἀπὸ τοῦ Λευί, ὡς καὶ ὁ ἅγιος Παῦλος, εἰ καὶ ἀπὸ Ταρσοῦ ὠρμαῖτο, οὐκ ἦν ἀλλότριος τοῦ Ἰσραήλ.

30.25.6 | And he also says Barnabas, once called Joseph but later named Barnabas, meaning ‘son of encouragement,’ a Levite by birth from Cyprus. And since he was a Cypriot, he was not from Levi. Just as holy Paul, even if he came from Tarsus, was not foreign to Israel.

30.25.7 | διασπαρέντων γὰρ πολλῶν ἐν τοῖς χρόνοις Ἀντιόχου τοῦ Ἐπιφανοῦς καὶ ἐν χρόνοις ἄλλοις, καθότι συνέβαινε πόλεμος, καὶ αἰχμαλωτισθέντων καὶ † δοθέντων εἰς πολιορκίαν, οἱ μὲν αἰχμάλωτοι ἀρθέντες ἐπέμειναν ἐν τισι τόποις, οἱ δὲ ἀπὸ τῆς τοιαύτης αἰτίας ἀναχωρήσαντες κατῴκουν ἕκαστος ὅπου κατεῖληφεν.

30.25.7 | For many were scattered in the times of Antiochus Epiphanes and in other times, because there was war, and some were taken captive and given into siege.
The captives, once freed, stayed in certain places, and those who left because of this reason lived each wherever they had settled.

30.25.8 | ὡς καὶ ὁ Ἰερεμίας ἔλεγε περὶ περὶ τοῦ Ἰσραήλ, καθάπερ πολλάκις τοῦτο αὐτὸ συμβέβηκε τὸ ἀποδιδράσκειν ἀπὸ προσώπου τῶν πολεμίων, ὅτι »καὶ εἰς Κιτιεῖς ἐὰν ἀπέλθῃς, οὔτε οὔτε ἐκεῖ σοι ἀνάπαυσις ἔσται«.

30.25.8 | Just as Jeremiah said about Israel, since this has often happened, to run away from the face of enemies, “Even if you go to the Kittim, there will be no rest for you there.”

30.25.9 | παντὶ δέ τῳ δῆλόν ἐστιν ὅτι Κίτιον ἢ Κυπρίων νῆσος καλεῖται· Κίτιοι γὰρ Κύπριοι καὶ Ῥόδιοι. ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῇ Μακεδονίᾳ τὸ γένος κατώκηκε Κυπρίων τε καὶ Ῥοδίων· ὅθεν δὴ καὶ Ἀλέξανδρος ὠρμαῖτο ὁ Μακεδών. καὶ τούτου ἕνεκεν

30.25.9 | It is clear to everyone that the island of Cyprus is called Kition; for the Cypriots and the Rhodians are Kitionians.
But also in Macedonia, the race of Cypriots and Rhodians lived; from there indeed Alexander the Macedonian set out. And ἐμφέρεται ἐν τοῖς Μακκαβαίοις ὅτι »ἐξῆλθεν σπέρμα] ἐκ γῆς Κιτιέων«· καὶ γὰρ ἐκ σπέρματος τῶν Κιτιέων Ἀλέξανδρος ὁ Μακεδών.

because of this, it is mentioned in the Maccabees that “a seed went out from the land of the Kitionians”; for Alexander the Macedonian came from the seed of the Kitionians.

30.25.10 | ἀλλὰ γενόμενος πάλιν ἐν τῷ τόπῳ, διὰ τὸν ὑποπεσόντα λόγον διεξελθὼν τὴν περὶ τούτων ἱστορίαν, φημι ὅτι ἀπὸ τῆς μετοικήσεως πολλοὶ τὰς ἄλλας χώρας κατοικήσαντες τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ ἦσαν σπέρματος κατὰ διαδοχὴν.

30.25.10 | But having come back again to the place, going through the story about these things because of the reason that came up, I say that from the migration many, having settled in other lands, were of the seed of Israel in succession.

30.25.11 | ἐλέγοντο γὰρ καὶ ἐκάστης χώρας πατριῶται, ὡς καὶ αἱ θυγατέρες τοῦ Ἰοθὼρ τὴν ἀντίληψιν τοῦ Μωυσέως τῷ πατρὶ ἀπήγγειλαν, ὡς ἀποστήσας τοὺς ποιμένας ἐποίησεν αὐτῶν τὰ πρόβατα, καὶ πορευθεῖσαι περὶ τούτου ὑφηγοῦντο τῷ ἰδίῳ πατρί, τοῦ δὲ λέγοντος ὅτι »διὰ τί ἐταχύνετε σήμερον τοῦ ἐλθεῖν;«

30.25.11 | For they were called the native people of each land, just as the daughters of Jothor told their father about Moses’ plan, how he drove away the shepherds and watered their sheep, and going about this, they led their own father, who asked, “Why did you hurry today to come?”

30.25.12 | πρὸς αὐτὸν ἔφασαν ὅτι »άνηρ Αἰ/γύπτιος ἐρρύσατο ἡμᾶς ἀπὸ τῶν ποιμένων καὶ ἦντλησε καὶ ἐπότισεν ἡμῶν τὰ θρέμματα«, καὶ εὐθὺς ὁ αὐτὸς ἔφη πρὸς αὐτάς »καὶ τί οὐκ ἡγάγετε αὐτὸν ὧδε, ἵνα φάγῃ ἄρτον;«

30.25.12 | They said to him, “A man from Egypt saved us from the shepherds and drew water and gave it to our flocks,” and immediately he said to them, “And why didn’t you bring him here, so he could eat bread?”

30.25.13 | τίς δὲ οὐκ οἶδεν ὅτι Μωυσῆς υἱὸς μὲν γίνεται τοῦ Ἀμράμ καὶ τῆς Ἰωχαβέτ, Ἀμράμ δὲ τοῦ Καάθ, Καάθ δὲ τοῦ Λευὶ, Λευὶ δὲ τοῦ Ἰακώβ, Ἰακώβ δὲ τοῦ Ἰσαάκ, Ἰσαάκ δὲ τοῦ Ἀβραάμ; καὶ οὐκ ἀπὸ τοῦ καλεῖσθαι τὸν Μωυσέα Αἰγύπτιον πάντως ἢ τῆς εὐγενείας καὶ τοῦ σπέρματος διέπεσεν ἀκολουθία.

30.25.13 | Who does not know that Moses is the son of Amram and Jochebed, Amram the son of Kaath, Kaath the son of Levi, Levi the son of Jacob, Jacob the son of Isaac, Isaac the son of Abraham? And the calling of Moses as Egyptian did not at all break the line of nobility and seed.

30.25.14 | οὗτοι δὲ καταλείψαντες τὴν ὁδὸν οἱ ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἐβίωνος πεπλανημένοι ἐπὶ πολλὰς διεστραμμένας ὁδοὺς καὶ ἀνάντη τρίβον τὸν νοῦν ἐκδεδώκασιν.

30.25.14 | But these, having left the path, those who were led astray from Ebion, have wandered onto many twisted roads and have lost their minds upstream.

Section 26

30.26.1 | 26. Αὐχοῦσι δὲ πάλιν περιτομὴν ἔχοντες καὶ σεμνύνονται διῆθεν ταύτην εἶναι σφραγίδα καὶ χαρακτῆρα τῶν τε πατριαρχῶν καὶ δικαίων τῶν κατὰ τὸν νόμον πεπολιτευμένων, δι' ἧς ἐξισοῦσθαι ἐκείνοις νομίζουσι· καὶ διῆτα ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ Χριστοῦ τὴν σύστασιν ταύτης βούλονται φέρειν, ὥς καὶ οἱ περὶ Κήρινθον.

30.26.1 | They boast again of having circumcision and proudly claim that this is the seal and mark of both the patriarchs and the righteous who lived by the law, thinking that by this they are equal to them; and indeed, they want this practice to come from Christ himself, just like those around Cerinthus.

30.26.2 | φασὶ γὰρ καὶ οὗτοι κατὰ τὸν ἐκείνων ληρώδη λόγον ἄρκετὸν τῷ μαθητῇ εἶναι ὥς ὁ διδάσκαλος· «περιετμήθη, φησίν, ὁ Χριστός, καὶ σὺ περιτμήθητι».

30.26.2 | For they also say, according to that foolish saying of theirs, that it is enough for the disciple to be like the teacher: “Christ was circumcised,” they say, “and you must be circumcised.”

30.26.3 | * καὶ ἵνα κατὰ πάντα τρόπον καταισχύνηται τῆς πλάνης τὰ σπέρματα· καθάπερ χαλινὸς τῇ θαλάσῃ ἐκ θεοῦ ὀρισθεὶς, κλεῖθρα καὶ πύλαι, ψάμμος ὄριον θαλάσῃ καὶ πρόσταγμα τό »ἕως τούτου ἐλεύση, καὶ οὐχ ὑπερβήση, ἀλλὰ ἐν σεαυτῇ συντριβήσονται σου τὰ κύματα« <ὥς> φησιν, οὕτω καὶ οὗτοι ἐν ἑαυτοῖς καταδαπανθήσονται.

30.26.3 | And so that the offspring of error may be ashamed in every way: just as a bridle is set by God on the sea, with bars and gates, sand as the sea's boundary, and the command “you will come this far, and no further, but your waves will break within yourself,” so he says, in the same way these men will be destroyed within themselves.

30.26.4 | ἀλλὰ ἐκεῖ μὲν ἐκ θεοῦ προστάγματος εἰς εὐταξίαν θαλάσσης ἐκ θεοῦ εἴρηται ὁ τοῦ ὄρου λόγος, ἐνταῦθα δὲ ἀφ' ἑαυτῆς ἡ κακία καὶ ἡ πλάνη

30.26.4 | But there, by God's command, the word about the boundary is said for the sea's good order; here, however, from itself, evil and error, blinding the mind and τυφλώττουσα τὸν νοῦν καὶ τὸν εὐσεβῆ λογισμὸν ἀποστρεφόμενη προὔλαβε καθ’ ἑαυτῆς ὥσπερ κύματα ἐγείρειν. τὰ σχέτλια τῶν προαπαγγελλομένων αὐτῆς ὑπολήψεων ἐτέροις κύμασιν ἑαυτῆς σθυκρούουσα καὶ ἐν ἑαυτῇ ἀεὶ συντριβομένη ἑαυτήν <τε> διαλύουσα, —

turning away the godly thought, have gone ahead on their own like waves rising. The wicked hopes it had announced before, clashing with other waves of itself, always breaking itself within itself and breaking itself apart, —

30.26.5 | ἢ καθάπερ ἔρπετον δεινὸν ἑαυτὸ λυμαινόμενον καὶ ἀντιστρεφόμενον ἀπὸ τῆς κέρκου καὶ ἑαυτὸ βιβρῶσκον αὐτὸ ἑαυτοῦ ἀναλωτικὸν γινόμενον.

30.26.5 | Or just like a terrible serpent harming itself and turning back from its tail and biting itself, becoming destructive and consuming itself.

30.26.6 | τοῦτο γάρ φασι γεγενῆσθαι καιρῷ ὑπὸ ἀσπίδων συγκλεισθεισῶν ἐν πίθοις, καὶ ἐκάστης τὴν ἐτέραν καταναλωσάσης τὴν δὲ ἰταμωτέραν καὶ χαλεπωτέραν εἰς ὕστερο μεμενηκέναι· μόνην <δὲ> καταλειφθεῖσαν καὶ εἰς πεῖναν Μοῦσαν ἀπὸ τῆς ἰδίας κέρκου ἀρξαμένην ἑαυτὴν καταβεβρωκέναι ἱστοροῦσί τινες φυσιολόγοι κατὰ τὴν Αἴγυπτίῳν χώραν. ὅθεν καὶ ἀρμοδίως τὸ ὄνομα αὐτῇ ἐπέθεντο, διὰ τὴν κεφαλὴν τῆς Γοργόνης καὶ ταύτην ἀσπιδογοργόνα καλοῦντες.

30.26.6 | For they say this happened at the right time, when it was shut up under shields in jars, and after it had eaten up one part and then the more dangerous and harder part, it was left alone; and starting from its own tail, it began to eat itself, becoming a Muse of hunger. Some natural philosophers tell this story from the land of Egypt. That is why they fittingly gave it its name, because of the head of the Gorgon, and they called it the shield-Gorgon.

30.26.7 | οὕτω καὶ ὁ ματαιόφρων Ἐβίων καὶ οἱ ἄμφ’ αὐτὸν προὔλαβον ἑαυτοὺς κατατέμνοντες καὶ ἀναιροῦντες ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς ἐκεῖνα ἐφ’ οἷς καὶ σεμνύνονται.

30.26.7 | Just so the foolish Ebion and those around him, cutting and killing themselves from the start, destroyed the very things they boast about.

30.26.8 | Χριστὸς γὰρ ἑαυτὸν οὐ περιέτεμεν, παιδίον γεννηθείς· δόξα δὲ τῷ ἐλεήμονι θεῷ, ὅτι ἑαυτὸν προέλαβεν ὁ Ἐβίων, ἵνα τὰ ἀληθινὰ μὴ ὁμολογήσῃ, εἰς

30.26.8 | For Christ did not cut himself, being born a child; but glory to the merciful god, that Ebion went ahead of himself, so that he would not confess the true things, τὸ καὶ ἔλεγχον αὐτῷ τοῦτο γενέσθαι.

and this became a proof against him.

30.26.9 | εἰ μὲν γὰρ ἔλεγεν αὐτὸν θεὸν ἄνωθεν ἥκοντα περιτεμῆσθαι τὴν ὀκταήμερον <περιτομὴν> ὑπὸ τῆς Μαρίας, τὸ τηνικαῦτα θεὸς ὢν συγχωρῶν κατὰ ἰδίαν εὐδοκίαν) παρεῖχεν ἂν τῷ ἀγύρτῃ τὴν περὶ τῆς περιτομῆς πιθανολογίαν. ὁπότε δὲ ψιλὸν ἄνθρωπον αὐτὸν γεγενῆσθαι ἀπὸ ἀνθρώπων παρεισφέρει, οὐκέτι αἰτιὸς ἐστὶν ὁ παῖς, εἰ καὶ τὴν ὀκταήμερον περιτομὴν περιετμήθη.

30.26.9 | For if he said that he, coming from above, was circumcised on the eighth day by Mary, then God, being God at that time, would have granted the beggar a believable story about the circumcision according to his own will. But when he brings in that he became a mere human from humans, then the child is no longer responsible, even if he was circumcised on the eighth day.

30.26.10 | οὐ γὰρ ἑαυτὸν περιέτέμεν, ἀλλὰ ὑπὸ ἀνθρώπων περιετμήθη. καὶ γὰρ οἱ παῖδες οὐχ ἑαυτοὺς περιτέμνουσι καὶ οὐδὲ αἰτιοὶ εἰσι τῆς ἑαυτῶν περιτομῆς, ἀλλ' οἱ αὐτῶν γονεῖς. ἐκεῖνοι γὰρ ἀδαεῖς ὄντες νηπιάζουσιν ἀγνοοῦντες καὶ οὐδὲ οἶδασι τί αὐτοῖς ἀπὸ τῶν γονέων γίνεται.

30.26.10 | For he did not circumcise himself, but was circumcised by humans. For children do not circumcise themselves and are not responsible for their own circumcision, but their parents are. For those children, being ignorant, are infants who do not know and do not understand what is done to them by their parents.

Section 27

30.27.1 | 27. Ἡμεῖς δὲ καὶ θεὸν αὐτὸν λέγομεν ἀπ' οὐρανοῦ ἐλθόντα καὶ ἐν μήτρᾳ παρθένου Μαρίας τὸν χρόνον τῶν ἐγκυμονουμένων παίδων παραμεμενηκότα, ὅπως τελείως ἀπὸ τῆς παρθενικῆς μήτρας τὴν ἑνσαρκον ἐνανθρώπησιν ἑαυτῷ καὶ οἰκονομίαν οἰκονομήσῃ, ἐν ᾗ καὶ περιετμήθη ἀληθινῶς καὶ οὐ δοκήσῃ ἡμέρα τι ὀγδόη.

30.27.1 | But we also say that he himself, coming from heaven as god, stayed in the womb of the virgin Mary longer than the usual time for pregnant children, so that he might complete his true human birth and plan from the virgin's womb, in which he was truly circumcised and would not seem to be on the eighth day.

30.27.2 | Ἡμεν γὰρ πληρῶσαι τὸν νόμον καὶ τοὺς προφῆτας, καὶ οὐ καταλῦσαι, οὐ τὸν νόμον ἀλλότριον ἀποφῆ(??)αι, ἀλλὰ ἐξ αὐτοῦ μὲν δεδορημένον ἕως δὲ αὐτοῦ ἐν

30.27.2 | For we were to fulfill the law and the prophets, and not to abolish them; not to reject a foreign law, but to keep what was given from it and what remained in its

forms, so that in him and through him what was left in the law might be fulfilled again, so that the forms, coming to spiritual completion, might be preached in truth by him and his apostles, no longer being forms but truth.

30.27.3 | ἐπὶ τούτῳ γὰρ ἐπληροῦτο τὸ ἐν τῷ νόμῳ εἰρημένον, ἕως αὐτοῦ τοῦ χρόνου διαρκέσαν καὶ ἐν αὐτῷ ἀφιστάμενον, εἰς πλήρωμα δὲ μεθιστάμενον, ὅπερ Ἰφὴ ἡ Σεπφώρα, ὅτι »ἔστη τὸ αἷμα τῆς περιτομῆς τοῦ παιδίου μου«.

30.27.3 | For in this way was fulfilled what was said in the law, lasting until that time and stopping in it, then changing into fullness, which Sephora said, "The blood of my child's circumcision stood still."

30.27.4 | καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν ὅτι περιέτεμόν μου τὸ παιδίον«· οὐ γὰρ ὥκονόμει ὁ ἀποσταλεὶς ἄγγελος, ἵνα περιτομὴ γένηται, ἀλλὰ οὐδὲ τὸ αἷμα τῆς περιτομῆς φοβηθεὶς ἀπέστη, ἀλλὰ | ὑπομνήσεως χάριν τοῦ μέλλοντος 288 παιδίου τὸ αἷμα τῆς περιτομῆς ἰστᾶν *, ὅπερ ἀκούσας καὶ οἰκονομήσας ἀπέστη.

30.27.4 | And he did not say, "They circumcised my child"; for the angel sent did not arrange for circumcision to happen, nor did he, fearing the blood of circumcision, withdraw, but for the sake of remembering the future child, the blood of circumcision stood still, which, hearing and arranging, he withdrew.

30.27.5 | καὶ ποίου παιδίου, ἄκουε, ἀλλ' ἡ περὶ οὗ εἶπεν ὁ προφήτης ὅτι »θελήσουσιν εἰ ἐγένοντο πυρίκαυστοι· ὅτι παιδίον ἐγεννήθη ἡμῖν, υἱὸς καὶ ἐδόθη ἡμῖν«,

30.27.5 | And what kind of child, listen, except the one about whom the prophet said, "They will desire as if they were burning with fire; for a child was born to us, a son was given to us"?

30.27.6 | τὸ μὲν γεννηθὲν παιδίον δεικνύς ἐν ἀληθείᾳ, ὅπως σημάνη τὴν ἀληθινὴν ἐνανθρώπησιν, τὸ γε »υἱὸς ἐδόθη ἡμῖν«, ὅπως δείξῃ τὸν ἄνωθεν θεοῦ Λόγον καὶ υἱὸν θεοῦ αὐτὸν δοθέντα καὶ ἐν μήτρᾳ γενόμενον ἐνανθρωπήσαντα, ἔχοντα ἀμφοτέρω θεὸν καὶ ἄνθρωπον, αὐτὸν θεὸν αὐτὸν ἄνθρωπον, αὐτὸν υἱὸν ἄνωθεν

30.27.6 | The child born shows truly, to mark the true becoming human, and the "son was given to us" shows the Word from above, God's son given and born in a womb, becoming human, having both God and man, the same God and the same man, the same son given from above and the same child born.

30.27.7 | ἐφ’ οὗ ἔστη λοιπὸν τὸ αἷμα τῆς περιτομῆς, ὡς καὶ ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ λέγει, ὅτε ἀνῆλθον Ἕλληνες θεάσασθαι αὐτὸν καὶ ἦλθον πρὸς Φίλιππον καὶ λέγουσιν αὐτῷ· δεῖξον ἡμῖν τὸν Ἰησοῦν, καὶ ὁ Φίλιππος τῷ Ἰωάννῃ καὶ ὁ Ἰωάννης τῷ Ἰησοῦ ἔφη ὅτι »τινὲς Ἕλληνες βούλονται σε θεάσασθαι«,

30.27.7 | On which the blood of circumcision stood still, as it says also in the gospel, when Greeks came to see him and went to Philip and said to him, “Show us Jesus,” and Philip told John, and John told Jesus, “Some Greeks want to see you.”

30.27.8 | καὶ εὐθὺς ὁ κύριος ἀποκρίνεται λέγων νῦν ἔφθασεν ἡ δόξα τοῦ θεοῦ, ἵνα δείξῃ περιτομὴν μὲν παρερχομένην τὴν ἔνσαρκον καὶ τύπῳ ὑπηρετήσασαν ἄχρι χρόνου, τὴν δὲ ἐν σαρκὶ ἀκροβυστίαν ἐν πνεύματι ἔχουσαν μείζονα περιτομήν, θεωροῦσαν Χριστὸν καὶ αὐτὸν ἐν ἀληθείᾳ κατελιηφυῖαν.

30.27.8 | And immediately the lord answers, saying, “Now the glory of God has come,” to show that circumcision passed away, which served as a sign until a time, but the uncircumcision in the flesh has in the spirit a greater circumcision, seeing Christ and truly holding him.

30.28.1 | 28. Εἰ δὲ βούλονται οὗτοι λέγειν· πῶς οὖν Χριστὸς περιετμήθη, ἥδη μὲν οὖν, ὡς πεπλανημένοι, ἐδείξαμεν ὑμῖν δι’ ἣν αἰτίαν περιετμήθη.

30.28.1 | 28. But if they want to say, “How then was Christ circumcised?”—already, then, you deceived ones, we have shown you for what reason he was circumcised.

30.28.2 | περιετμήθη γὰρ διὰ πολλοὺς τρόπους. καὶ πρῶτον, ἵνα δείξῃ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ σάρκα ἐαυτὸν ἀνελιφέναι>, διὰ Μανιχαῖον καὶ τοὺς λέγοντας ἐν δοκῇσι πεφηνέναι·

30.28.2 | For he was circumcised in many ways. And first, to show truly that he took on flesh, against Manichaeus and those who say he appeared only in appearance;

30.28.3 | ἔπειτα, ἵνα δείξῃ ὡς οὐκ ἦν ὁμοούσιον τὸ σῶμα τῇ θεότητι, ὡς φησιν Ἀπολλινάριος, ἀλλ’ οὔτε ἄνωθεν αὐτὸ κατενήνοχεν, ὡς λέγει Οὐαλεντῖνος·

30.28.3 | Then, to show that the body was not of the same substance as the godhead, as Apollinarius says, but that he did not bring it down from above, as Valentinus says;

30.28.4 | καὶ ἵνα βεβαιώσῃ ἣν πάλαι ἔδωκε περιτομὴν δικαίως ὑπηρετήσασαν ἕως τῆς αὐτοῦ παρουσίας καὶ διὰ τὸ μὴ ἔχειν τοὺς Ἰουδαίους ἀπολογίαν. εἰ γὰρ μὴ περιετμήθῃ, εἴχον λέγειν, οὐκ ἠδυνάμεθα Χριστὸν δεξασθαι ἐν ἀκροβυστίᾳ.

30.28.4 | And to confirm the circumcision that long ago rightly served until his coming, and because the Jews had no defense. For if he had not been circumcised, they could say, we would not have been able to accept Christ uncircumcised.

30.28.5 | ἄλλως τε καὶ ἔδει αὐτὸν ἐντελλόμενον τῷ Ἀβραάμ περιτμηθῆναι, σφραγίδος ἕνεκα φαινομένης εἰς τύπον δὲ ἀληθινῆς καὶ ἀοράτου δοθείσης, ταύτην Χριστὸν περιτμηθέντα βεβαιῶσαι.

30.28.5 | Besides, it was necessary for him, having commanded Abraham, to be circumcised, because a seal was shown, and given as a true and invisible pattern; this was to confirm that Christ was circumcised.

30.28.6 | For the visible circumcision happened because of Abraham's hesitation, when the holy and just one said with doubt, "If a son will be born to the hundred-year-old," and "If Sarah the old woman will give birth to a son," and immediately the Lord said, "Take for me a three-year-old ram and a goat and a calf," and the rest, and about the sun setting, as he saw torches of fire and a furnace and other things,

30.28.7 | God said to him as a warning, "Your seed will be a stranger in a foreign land and will be enslaved for four hundred years," because of the hesitation when he said, "If a son will be born to the hundred-year-old," so that the seed, not enslaved by idolaters and unbelieving Egyptians, would not forget the God of their fathers. He put on them and on him the bodily circumcision, so that seeing it, they would remember, fear, and not deny it.

30.28.8 | καὶ διήρκεσεν ἄχρι Χριστοῦ τοῦτο, καὶ τούτου ἕνεκα καὶ αὐτὸς εὐδοκεῖ περιτμηθῆναι καὶ ἄνθρωπος γέγονεν ἐν ἀληθείᾳ, ἄνωθεν ἐλθὼν ἐκ πατρὸς θεὸς Λόγος καὶ οὐκ ἀποθέμενος τὴν θεότητα, ἀλλὰ σάρκα φορέσας ἐν ἀληθείᾳ·

30.28.8 | And this lasted until Christ, and because of this he also was willing to be circumcised, and he became truly a man, coming from above from the Father, the God Word, and not giving up his godhood, but wearing flesh in truth;

30.28.9 | τελείαν δὲ ἐνανθρώπησιν ἔχων περιτέμνεται, τὰ πάντα οἰκονομῶν ἐν ἀληθείᾳ, ἵνα καὶ Ἰουδαῖοι ὡς προεῖπον ἀναπολόγητοι ὣσιν καὶ Μανιχαῖοι καὶ ἄλλοι ἐλεγχθῇσονται καὶ ἵνα περιτμηθεὶς εὐλόγως καταλύσῃ τὴν περιτομὴν καὶ ἄλλην μείζονα ὑποδείξῃ, οὐχ ὡς μὴ ἔχων καὶ ἑαυτῷ συνιστάμενος, ἀλλὰ ἔχων μὲν δεικνὺς δὲ ὅτι ταύτης οὐκέτι ἐστὶν χρεια, ἀλλὰ τῆς μείζονος.

30.28.9 | Having a perfect becoming human, he is circumcised, managing all things in truth, so that both Jews, as was said before, are without excuse, and Manichaeans and others are proven wrong, and so that, being circumcised, he rightly ends the circumcision and shows another greater one, not as if he does not have it himself, but having it and showing that there is no longer need for this one, but for the greater one.

30.29.1 | 29. Καὶ ὅτι μὲν εὐθὺς γεννηθεὶς θεὸς ἦν καὶ οὐ ψιλὸς ἄνθρωπος, οἱ μάγοι σαφῶς δεῖξουσιν. μετὰ γὰρ δύο ἐτῶν χρόνον, ὡς ἔδειξαν τῷ Ἡρώδῃ τὸν χρόνον τοῦ ἀστέρος »ἀπὸ διετοῦς καὶ κατωτέρω« ἐλθόντες εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ καὶ ἐρωτήσαντες οἱ αὐτοὶ μάγοι καὶ γνόντες ὅτι ἐν βηθλεὲμ ὁ Χριστὸς γεννᾶται, ἐξῆλθον πάλιν τοῦ ἀστέρος ὁδηγοῦντος αὐτοὺς καὶ ἦλθον ἀπὸ Ἱεροσολύμων εἰς βηθλεὲμ.

30.29.1 | And that he was God immediately after being born and not just a plain man, the magi will clearly show. For after two years' time, as they showed to Herod the time of the star "from two years old and younger," coming to Jerusalem and asking, the same magi, knowing that Christ is born in Bethlehem, went out again with the star guiding them and came from Jerusalem to Bethlehem.

30.29.2 | καὶ εἰσελθόντες εὑρον αὐτὸν μετὰ τῆς μητρὸς αὐτοῦ Μαρίας καὶ πεσόντες προσεκύνησαν αὐτῷ καὶ προσήνεγκαν τὰ

30.29.2 | And entering, they found him with his mother Mary, and falling down, they worshiped him and offered gifts.

δῶρα.

30.29.3 | εἰ τοίνυν εὐθὺς προσκυνεῖται, οὐ ψιλὸς ἄνθρωπος ὁ γεννηθεὶς, ἀλλὰ θεὸς καὶ οὐ μετὰ τριάκοντα ἔτη καὶ οὐ μετὰ τὸ βάπτισμα Χριστὸς γίνεται, ἀλλὰ εὐθὺς Χριστὸς ἐγεννήθη ἀπὸ παρθένου θεὸς καὶ ἄνθρωπος.

30.29.3 | If then he is worshiped immediately, the one born is not a plain man, but God, and not after thirty years and not after baptism does he become Christ, but immediately Christ was born, God and man from a virgin.

30.29.4 | διὸ καὶ οἱ ἄγγελοι εὐθὺς ὑμνοῦσι λέγοντες »δόξα ἐν ὑψίστοις θεῷ, καὶ ἐπὶ γῆς εἰρήνη, ἐν ἀνθρώποις εὐδοκία« καὶ εὐαγγελίζονται τοὺς ποιμένας λέγοντες »ἐγεννήθη ὑμῖν Χριστὸς κύριος σήμερον ἐν πόλει Δαυίδ«.

30.29.4 | Therefore the angels immediately praise, saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill among people," and they announce to the shepherds, saying, "Christ the Lord was born for you today in the city of David."

30.29.5 | καὶ οὐ μόνον τοῦτο, ὡ ἡπατημένε Ἐβίων, δείκνυται, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀπὸ δωδεκαετοῦς εὐρίσκεται »καθήμενος ἀνὰ μέσον τῶν ἱερέων καὶ πρεσβυτέρων, ἐρωτῶν τε αὐτοὺς καὶ ζητῶν μετ' αὐτῶν«, καὶ »ἐξεπλήττοντο ἐπὶ τῷ λόγῳ τῆς χάριτος τῷ ἐκπορευομένῳ ἐκ τοῦ στόματος αὐτοῦ«.

30.29.5 | And not only this, oh deceived Ebion, it is shown, but also from twelve years old he is found "sitting among the priests and elders, asking them questions and seeking with them," and "they were amazed at the gracious words coming from his mouth."

30.29.6 | καὶ οὐχὶ μετὰ τὸ τριακοστὸν ἔτος ἐποίει τοῦτο, ἵνα εἴπῃς ὅτι ὅτε ἦλθεν τὸ πνεῦμα εἰς αὐτὸν Χριστὸς ἐγένετο, ἀλλὰ εὐθὺς ἀπὸ δωδεκαετοῦς ὡς προεῖπον, ὡς γέγραπται ἐν τῷ κατὰ Λουκᾶν εὐαγγελίῳ.

30.29.6 | And he did not do this after the thirtieth year, so that you might say that when the spirit came into him he became Christ, but immediately from twelve years old, as I said before, as it is written in the Gospel according to Luke.

30.29.7 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἔτι ἀνωτέρω, ὅτε νηπιάζοντος αὐτοῦ ἀνῆλθον φησὶν) οἱ περὶ Ἰωσήφ καὶ Μαριὰμ εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ προσκυνῆσαι ἐν τῇ ἑορτῇ καὶ ἀνέκαμπτον,

30.29.7 | But even more, when he was still a little child, those around Joseph and Mary went up to Jerusalem to worship at the festival and turned back, Jesus stayed ἔμεινεν Ἰησοῦς καὶ ἐζήτουν αὐτὸν ἐν τῇ ὁδοπορίᾳ καὶ ἐν τοῖς συγγενέσιν αὐτῶν καὶ οὐχ ἠὕρισκον εἶχεν γὰρ ἡ Μαρία συγγένειαν).

behind and they searched for him on the way and among their relatives, but they did not find him, for Mary had relatives.

30.29.8 | ἀνακάμψασα δὲ καὶ εὐροῦσα αὐτὸν ἔφη αὐτῷ »τί ἡμῖν ἐποίησας, τέκνον; ἰδοὺ ἐγὼ καὶ ὁ πατήρ σου ὁδυνώμενοι ἐζητοῦμέν σε« ἐν τάξει γὰρ πατὴρ ὁ Ἰωσήφ αὐτῷ ὑπῆρχεν, οὐ γὰρ ἦν αὐτοῦ πατήρ κατὰ φύσιν).

30.29.8 | And having turned back and found him, she said to him, "Why have you done this to us, child? Look, your father and I have been suffering, searching for you." For Joseph was in the place of a father to him, since he was not his father by nature.

30.29.9 | εἶτα ὁ κύριος πρὸς αὐτήν »τί ὅτι ἐζητεῖτέ με; οὐκ ᾔδειτε ὅτι ἐν τοῖς τοῦ πατρὸς μου δεῖ εἶναί με;« σημαίνων ὅτι ὁ ναὸς εἰς ὄνομα θεοῦ τουτέστιν πατὴρ τοῦ ἰδίου ὠκοδομήθη.

30.29.9 | Then the lord said to her, "Why is it that you were looking for me? Did you not know that I must be in the things of my father?" showing that the temple was built in the name of God, that is, his own father.

30.29.10 | εἰ τοίνυν ἀπὸ νηπίου οἶδε τὸν ναὸν καὶ τὸν πατέρα, οὐκ ἄρα ψιλὸς ἄνθρωπος ὁ γεννηθεὶς Ἰησοῦς οὐδὲ μετὰ τὸ τριακοστὸν ἔτος, μετὰ τὸ ἐλθεῖν εἰς αὐτὸν τὸ εἶδος τῆς περιστερᾶς, υἱὸς καὶ Χριστὸς ἐκαλεῖτο, ἀλλὰ καὶ εὐθὺς καὶ θαρραλεωτέρως ἐν τοῖς τοῦ πατρὸς αὐτοῦ δεῖν αὐτὸν εἶναι ἐδίδασκεν.

30.29.10 | If then from infancy he knew the temple and the father, Jesus, born not a mere man, even after thirty years, after the appearance of the dove came to him, was called both son and Christ, but also immediately and more boldly taught that he must be in the things of his father.

30.29.11 | And that Joseph was not his father, but a father by rank, listen to the same evangelist saying, who wrote from the face of Mary that "your father and I, suffering, were looking for you"; again, how he writes saying that Jesus was about thirty years old, being a son, as Joseph was thought to be. And in the phrase "as he was thought," he showed that he was not his son, but was thought to be.

νομίζεσθαι.

Section 30

30.30.1 | 30. Ἐπιλείψει δέ μοι ὁ καιρὸς διηγουμένῳ εἰς παράστασιν ἀληθείας καὶ εἰς ἔλεγχον τῆς ματαιοφροσύνης Ἐβίωνος καὶ τοῦ αὐτοῦ παραπεποιημένου ματαιοφροσύνης διδασκαλείου.

30.30.1 | But the time will fail me to tell fully the truth and to expose the foolishness of Ebion and his equally foolish teaching.

30.30.2 | πόθεν γὰρ οὐ σαφὲς ἂν εἴη ὅτι οὐ πατὴρ ἦν Ἰωσήφ, ἀλλ' ἐν τάξει πατρὸς ἐνομιζέτο; »ίδού« φησὶν ἡ παρθένος ἐν γαστρὶ ἔξει καὶ τέξεται υἱόν·

30.30.2 | For how could it not be clear that Joseph was not the father, but was thought to be a father by rank? "Look," says the virgin, "she will have in her womb and will give birth to a son."

30.30.3 | And she did not say "Look, the woman." And again in another place she says, "And the young woman will give birth, and they will say, 'She has not given birth.'" For some of the Manichaeans and Marcionites say that he was not born, and that is why it says "she will give birth" and "they will say, 'She has not given birth.'" Since Mary was not born from the seed of a man, and they madly say falsely that she was born from the seed of a man. So the young woman truly gave birth to God, truly a man.

30.30.4 | καὶ ὅτι μὲν δάμαλις ἡ παρθένος καλεῖται καὶ τὸ ταύτης λείψανον καθαρισμὸς ἦν τῶν κεκοινωμένων, ἄκουε τοῦ νόμου λέγοντος λάβε σοὶ δάμαλιν πυρράν, ἵνα δείξῃ τὸ ἐκλεκτὸν σκεῦος τῆς Μαρίας * διὰ τὸ πυροειδὲς τῆς τοῦ σωτῆρος θεότητος χωρηθὲν ἐν τῇ παρθένῳ· πῦρ γὰρ ὁ θεός· φησί

30.30.4 | And the young woman is called a virgin, and her leftover part was a cleansing for those who shared in it. Hear the law saying, "Take for yourself a red heifer," to show the chosen vessel of Mary, because of the fiery nature of the savior's godhood contained in the virgin. For God is fire, he »καταναλίσκον«.

says, “consuming.”

30.30.5 | καί φησιν ὁ νόμος δάμαλιν πυρράν, ἐφ’ ἧς ζυγὸς οὐκ ἀναβέβηκεν ἐπὶ τὸν τράχηλον, ἵνα δείξῃ τὴν παρθένον δάμαλιν, μὴ γνοῦσαν ζυγὸν γάμου ἀνδρός. ἀλλὰ τί μοι τὰ πλεῖστα διαλέγεσθαι;

30.30.5 | And the law says, “a red heifer, on which no yoke has been placed on the neck,” to show the virgin heifer, not knowing the yoke of a man’s marriage. But why argue with me about most things?

30.30.6 | ὡς πάλιν Ἡσαΐας ἴφη ἐκ προσώπου κυρίου ὅτι λάβε σοι τόμον χάρτου καινοῦ μεγάλου, τόμον διὰ τὸ εἶναι μὲν τὴν παρθένον ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνδρός, τετμηθῆναι δὲ ἀπὸ μίξεως ἀνδρῶν καὶ τμηθῆναι ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν ἀνθρώπων κατὰ φύσιν συνηθείας.

30.30.6 | As Isaiah again said from the Lord’s presence, “Take for yourself a scroll of a new, large size,” a scroll because the virgin is from the seed of a man, but to be cut off from the mixing of men and cut away from the natural custom of humans.

30.30.7 | πάντες γὰρ ἄνθρωποι ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνδρός γεννῶνται· ἡ δὲ τοῦ Χριστοῦ γέννησις κατὰ φύσιν μὲν ἐκ γυναικὸς παρθένου Μαρίας τὴν ἐνανθρώπησιν ἔσχηκεν, παρὰ φύσιν δὲ ἐτμήθη ἀπὸ τῆς κατὰ τὴν ἀνθρωπότητα ἀκολουθίας, ὡς καὶ Ἰακώβ περὶ αὐτοῦ λέγει »ἐκ βλαστοῦ υἱέ μου ἀνέβης«, καὶ οὐκ »ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνέβης«.

30.30.7 | For all people are born from the seed of a man; but the birth of Christ, according to nature, came from the woman virgin Mary, who had the incarnation. But against nature, he was cut off from the usual human way, as Jacob says about him, “from my shoot you have risen,” and not “from seed you have risen.”

30.30.8 | καὶ τούτου χάριν φησὶν ὁ ἅγιος Ἡσαΐας ὁ προφήτης, μᾶλλον δὲ ὁ κύριος αὐτῷ λέγει λάβε σεαυτῷ τόμον χάρτου, τὸ εἶδος τῆς συνηθείας σημαίνων, ἐν ᾧ τὰ πάντα γράφουσιν οἱ υἱοὶ τῶν ἀνθρώπων· ὡς καὶ ἐν τῷ ἑκατοστῷ τριακοστῷ ὀγδόῳ ψαλμῷ λέγει »ἐπὶ τὸ βιβλίον σου πάντες γραφήσονται· ἡμέρας πλασθήσονται, καὶ οὐθεις ἐν αὐτοῖς«· βιβλίῳ γὰρ ἀπέεικασε τὴν μήτραν.

30.30.8 | And for this reason the holy prophet Isaiah says, or rather the Lord says to him, “Take for yourself a scroll of paper,” showing the usual kind, in which all the sons of men write; just as in the one hundred and thirty-eighth psalm it says, “On your book all will be written; days will be made, and no one in them”; for he compared the womb to a book.

30.30.9 | διὰ τοῦτο ὁ Δαυὶδ λέγει »τὸ ἀκατέργαστόν μου εἶδον οἱ ὀφθαλμοί σου«, τουτέστιν σπαρέντα πρὶν ἀπεικονισθῆναί με ἔγνωσ με καὶ ἔτι πρότερον, πρὶν τοῦ σπαρῆναί με.

30.30.9 | Because of this David says, “My unformed body your eyes saw,” that is, you knew me having been sown before I was shaped, and even earlier, before I was sown.

Section 31

30.31.1 | 31. ὁ δὲ Ἑβραῖος θαυμαστῶς τὸ ῥῆμα σαφηνίζει. τὸ ἀκατέργαστον γὰρ γολμί ἐκάλεσεν, ὅπερ ἐρμηνεύεται χόνδρος ἢ σεμιδάλεως κόκκος, δῆθεν τὸ μηδέπω εἰς ἄρτον συνελθὸν καὶ φυραθέν, ἀλλ’ | ὥς ἀπὸ κόκκου σίτου 157 τμηθὲν χονδρ<ί>ον ἢ χονδρίτης ἢ λεπτὴ ψηφίς, ἥτις ἐκ γίνεται.

30.31.1 | But the Hebrew explains the word wonderfully clearly. For he called the unformed thing “golmi,” which means cartilage or a grain of semidalis, meaning something not yet gathered into bread and crushed, but like a piece cut from a grain of wheat, a lump or a small thin piece that comes from it.

30.31.2 | οὕτως τὸ ἰσότυπον τοῦ εἶδους τὸ τεμνόμενον ἐξ ἀνθρώπου εἰς τὴν σποράν ἀκριβολογῶν ἀπέδειξε καὶ φησιν, εἰς Ἑλλάδα διάλεκτον ἐρμηνευομένου τοῦ λόγου, »τὸ ἀκατέργαστον« τουτέστιν τὸ ἄπλαστον ἔτι ἐν κοιλίᾳ ἢ πρὸ κοιλίας »εἶδον οἱ ὀφθαλμοί σου« οὐδεν γὰρ πάντα ὁ θεὸς πρὶν γενέσθαι, ὥς γέγραπται)· πλὴν βιβλίον καὶ τόμος μήτρα ἐστὶν ἢ σημαينوμένη.

30.31.2 | In this way, he carefully showed the exact shape of the form cut from a man for the seed, and he says, in the Greek dialect explaining the word, “the unformed,” that is, the still unshaped thing in the womb or before the womb, “your eyes saw,” “for God sees everything before it is born,” as it is written; but the book and scroll mean the womb.

30.31.3 | καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν λάβε σεαυτῷ βιβλίον« ἢ »λάβε σεαυτῷ χάρτην, ἀλλὰ τόμον· παρὰ τὸ ἰδιάζον τῆς τῶν ἀνθρώπων συνηθείας, »χάρτου« διὰ τὸ γραφικὸν τῆς μήτρας »καινοῦ« διὰ τὸ καινὸν τῆς παρθένου | καὶ ἄχραντον,

30.31.3 | And he did not say, “Take a book for yourself” or “Take a scroll for yourself,” but “Take a volume,” according to the custom of people; ‘scroll’ because of the writing on the womb, ‘new’ because of the newness of the virgin and her pure state.

30.31.4 | <«μεγάλου»> μεγάλη γὰρ ὥς

30.31.4 | “Great,” for the holy virgin Mary is Μῶς Μαριάμ ἡ ἀγία παρθένος ἐνώπιον θεοῦ καὶ ἀνθρώπων. πῶς γὰρ οὐκ ἂν εἴποιμεν ταύτην μεγάλην, χωρήσασαν τὸν ἀχώρητον, ὃν οὐρανὸς καὶ γῆ χωρεῖν οὐ δύνανται; αὐτὸς δὲ ἀχώρητον, ὦν κατὰ ίδιαν προαίρεσιν καὶ εὐδοκίαν ἐχωρήθη, βουλόμενος καὶ οὐ κατὰ ἀνάγκην. διὸ μέγας ὁ τόμος καὶ καινός· μέγας διὰ τὸ θαῦμα, καινὸς ὅτι παρθένος.

great like Moses before God and people.
How could we not call her great, who held the uncontainable, whom heaven and earth cannot hold? But he, being uncontainable, was contained by her own choice and goodwill, willing and not by force.
Therefore, the volume is great and new; great because of the wonder, new because she is a virgin.

30.31.5 | καὶ γράψον», φησὶν, »ἐν αὐτῷ γραφίδι ἀνθρώπου», καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν· γράψει ἐν αὐτῷ τις γραφίδι ἀνθρώπου, οὐδὲ εἶπεν· γράψει ἐν αὐτῷ ἄνθρωπος, ἵνα μὴ εὕρῃ πρόφασιν ὁ Ἐβίω. εἰ γὰρ εἶπε· γράψει ἐν αὐτῷ ἄνθρωπος, εἶχεν εἰπεῖν ὅτι ἄνθρωπος Ἰωσήφ ἔσπειρεν καὶ ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνδρὸς ἐγεννήθη Χριστός.

30.31.5 | And he says, 'And write in it with a man's stylus,' and he did not say, 'someone will write in it with a man's stylus,' nor did he say, 'a man will write in it,' so that Ebiō would not find an excuse.
For if he had said, 'a man will write in it,' he could have said that Joseph, a man, sowed and Christ was born from a man's seed.

30.31.6 | τῷ δὲ Ἡσαΐα πρὸ ἑπτακοσίων πεντήκοντα τριῶν ἐτῶν πλείω ἐλάσσω ἔλεγε »γράψον», ἵνα ἀπὸ τοῦ καιροῦ τοῦ διαστήματος ὀφθῇ πᾶσιν ἡ ἀλήθεια, ὅτι οὐδεὶς ἠδύνατο πρὸ ἑπτακοσίων πεντήκοντα τριῶν ἐτῶν σπεῖραι τὸν μέλλοντα γεννᾶσθαι.

30.31.6 | But to Isaiah, more or less seven hundred fifty-three years before, he said, 'Write,' so that from the time of the interval the truth might be shown to all, that no one was able before seven hundred fifty-three years to sow the one who was going to be born.

30.31.7 | ἀρα οὖν μάτην λέγει τῷ προφήτῃ »γράψον»; οὐχί, ἀλλὰ ἵνα δείξῃ τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον τὸ ἐν τῷ προφήτῃ, αὐτὸ ἐνεργητικὸν γινόμενον τῆς συλλήψεως τῆς ἐνσάρκου Χριστοῦ παρουσίας ἐν ἀληθείᾳ· πνεῦμα γὰρ ἅγιον ἐπελεύσεται ἐπὶ σέ· φησὶν ὁ ἄγγελος Γαβριὴλ τῇ Μαρίᾳ καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

30.31.7 | So then, does he say 'write' to the prophet for no reason? No, but so that the holy spirit in the prophet might show itself, working in the true coming of Christ's fleshly conception. For the angel Gabriel says to Mary, 'The holy spirit will come upon you,' and what follows.

30.31.8 | τὸ δὲ »γραφίδι ἀνθρώπου» τουτέστιν εἰκόνι ἀνθρώπου· »ἄνθρωπος

30.31.8 | But the 'man's stylus' means the image of a man; for Christ Jesus is a man, γὰρ Χριστὸς Ἰησοῦς, μεσίτης δὲ θεοῦ καὶ ἀνθρώπων», ἐπειδὴ ἄνωθεν ἦλθεν θεὸς Λόγος, ἐκ Μαρίας δὲ ἄνθρωπος, οὐκ ἀπὸ σπέρματος ἀνδρὸς γεγεννημένος.

the mediator of God and men, since the Word of God came from above, and from Mary he became a man, not born from a man's seed.

30.31.9 | καὶ διὰ τοῦτο εὐθύς φησιν ὁ προφήτης »καὶ εἰσῆλθεν πρὸς τὴν προφῆτιν«, ἵνα δείξῃ προφῆτιν τὴν Μαρίαν, καὶ οὐχὶ τὴν γυναῖκα Ἀχαζ, ὥς τινες πλανῶνται φάσκοντες διὰ τὸν Ἑζεκίαν εἰρησθαι.

30.31.9 | And for this reason the prophet immediately says, 'and he went to the prophetess,' to show that Mary is the prophetess, and not the wife of Ahaz, as some are mistaken, claiming it was said because of Hezekiah.

30.31.10 | ἥδη γὰρ ὁ Ἑζεκίας ἐνδεκά ἔτη εἶχεν γεγεννημένος. τῷ γὰρ τρίτῳ ἔτει τῆς τοῦ πατρὸς αὐτοῦ βασιλείας τὸ ῥῆμα ἐπροφητεύετο ὅτι »ἰδοῦ, ἡ παρθένος ἐν γαστρὶ ἔξει«. καὶ μετὰ τὸ ἀποθανεῖν τὸν Ἀχαζ, βασιλεύσαντα δεκατέσσαρα ἔτη καὶ τελευτήσαντα, εὐθύς φησιν ἡ γραφή »καὶ ἐβασίλευσεν Ἑζεκίας, καὶ ἦν εἴκοσι <πέντε> ἔτων ἐν τῷ βασιλεύειν αὐτόν«.

30.31.10 | For Hezekiah was already eleven years old. For in the third year of his father's reign, the word was prophesied, 'Look, the virgin will have a child.' And after Ahaz died, who reigned fourteen years and then died, the scripture immediately says, 'And Hezekiah reigned, and he was twenty-five years old when he began to reign.'

30.31.11 | πῶς οὖν ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ τοῦ πατρὸς αὐτοῦ, τεσσαρεσκαίδεκα ἔτη αὐτοῦ βασιλεύσαντος, προφητευομένου τοῦ ἐκ παρθένου γεννωμένου Ἐμμανουὴλ Ἑζεκίας γεννηθήσεται, ὁ εἴκοσι ἔτων βασιλεύσας μετὰ τὸν αὐτοῦ πατέρα, καὶ οὐχὶ μᾶλλον φανήσεται τοῖς συνετοῖς ὅτι ἥδη ὑπῆρχεν γεννηθείς, ὅτε ὁ προφήτης προεφήτευσεν τὸ ῥῆμα ἐπὶ τῆς τοῦ Ἀχαζ πατρὸς τοῦ Ἑζεκίου βασιλείας;

30.31.11 | How then, while his father reigned for fourteen years, and the prophecy was made that Emmanuel would be born of a virgin, will Hezekiah, who was twenty years old when he began to reign after his father, not rather be shown to the wise as already born when the prophet spoke the word during the reign of Ahaz, Hezekiah's father?

30.31.12 | μάλιστα οὐδὲ προφήτιδος οὔσης τῆς τοῦ Ἀχαζ γυναικός, ὥς παντὶ τῷ δηλὸν ἐστίν. Μαρία δὲ ἐστίν, ἡ εἰποῦσα καὶ προφητεύουσα »ὅτι ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν

30.31.12 | Certainly not, since there was no prophetess who was the wife of Ahaz, as it is clear to everyone. But Mary is the one who said and prophesied, 'From now on all generations will call me blessed.' To her Gabriel came and announced that the Spirit would come upon her, as Isaiah spoke, and she would give birth to a son, our Lord Jesus Christ, through the Holy Spirit and not from a man's seed, as those who are foolish and mistaken blaspheme.

Section 32

30.32.1 | 32. Ἐλήλεκται δὲ τοῦ ματαιόφρονος καὶ ὁ σαββατισμὸς καὶ ἡ περιτομὴ καὶ οἱ καθ' ἡμέραν βαπτισμοὶ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γινόμενοι· ἐν γὰρ σαββάτῳ φιλοτιμεῖται τὰ πλεῖστα θεραπεύειν Ἰησοῦς. καὶ οὐ μόνον ὅτι θεραπεύει, ἀλλὰ καὶ κατὰ δύο τρόπους ἰᾶται.

30.32.1 | But the sabbath rest and the circumcision and the daily baptisms done by him have also been proven useless; for on the sabbath Jesus tries to heal the most.
And not only does he heal, but he also heals in two ways.

30.32.2 | παραγγέλλει γὰρ τοῖς ἰατρευθεῖσιν ἐν τῷ σαββάτῳ αἵρειν τὸν κράββατον καὶ βαδίζειν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν σαββάτῳ πηλὸν φυράσας ἐπέθηκεν τοῖς τοῦ τυφλοῦ ὀφθαλμοῖς·

30.32.2 | For he commands those healed on the sabbath to take up their bed and walk, but also on the sabbath having made clay, he put it on the eyes of the blind man.

30.32.3 | ἔργον δὲ ἐστὶ πηλὸν φυράσαι. ὅθεν γνόντες οἱ ἀπόστολοι ὅτι λέλυται τὸ σάββατον ἀπὸ τῆς αὐτοῦ ἅμα αὐτοῖς συνδιατριβῆς καὶ διδασκαλίας, τίλλουσι στάχυν σαββάτῳ καὶ ψώχουσι καὶ ἐσθίουσιν.

30.32.3 | Making clay is work. So when the apostles knew that the sabbath was freed because of his staying and teaching with them, they plucked ears of grain on the sabbath and rubbed them and ate.

30.32.4 | ἦν δὲ σάββατον δευτερόπρωτον, ὡς ἔχει τὸ εὐαγγέλιον. σάββατα γὰρ διάφορα ὥριζεν ὁ νόμος, τὸ μὲν κατὰ ἐβδομάδα ἀνακυκλούμενον φύσει σάββατον, τὸ δὲ διὸ τὰς ὑποπιπτούσας τῆς κατὰ σελήνην νεομηνίας καὶ τὰς καθεξῆς

30.32.4 | And it was the second-first sabbath, as the gospel says. For the law set different sabbaths: the one that comes around every week by nature, and the other the falling ones by the moon's new months and the regular festivals, like the ἐορτάς, οἷον ἡμέρας σκηνοπηγίας καὶ ἡμέρας Πάσχων, ὅτε τὸ πρόβατον θύουσι καὶ ἄζυμα λοιπὸν ἐσθίουσιν· ἔτι δὲ ὅτε τὴν μίαν νηστείαν νηστεύουσι τοῦ ἔτους, τὴν λεγομένην μεγάλην, καὶ τὴν ἄλλην, ἣν λέγουσι μικράν.

days of tabernacles and the days of Passover, when they sacrifice the lamb and eat unleavened bread; also when they fast one fast of the year, called the great one, and the other, which they call the small one.

30.32.5 | ὅτε γὰρ ὑποπίπτουσιν αὐταὶ αἱ ἡμέραι, ἥτοι ἐν δευτέρᾳ σαββάτων ἢ ἐν τρίτῃ ἢ ἐν τετράδι, σάββατον καὶ αὐτὸ αὐτοῖς ὀρίζεται.

30.32.5 | For when these days fall, either on the second, or on the third, or on the fourth sabbath, it is also counted as a sabbath for them.

30.32.6 | διὸ μετὰ τὴν τῶν ἀζύμων γενομένην ἡμέραν καὶ ὀρισθεῖσαν ἡμέραν σαββάτου, τῷ σαββάτῳ φύσει τῷ μετὰ τὴν ἡμέρα τῶν ἀζύμων εἰς σάββατον λελογισμένην, εὐρέθησαν διαβαίνοντες διὰ τῶν σπορίμων καὶ ἔτιλλον στάχυν καὶ ἔψωχον καὶ ἥσθιον,

30.32.6 | Therefore, after the day of unleavened bread and the day set as a sabbath, which by nature is the sabbath after the day of unleavened bread counted as a sabbath, they were found walking through the grain fields, and they were picking ears, rubbing them, and eating.

30.32.7 | δεικνύντες ὅτι λέλυται ὁ δεσμός ὁ ἐν τῷ σαββάτῳ ὀριζόμενος, ἐλθόντος τοῦ μεγάλου σαββάτου τουτέστιν Χριστοῦ, τοῦ ἀναπαύσαντος ἡμᾶς ἀπὸ τῶν ἁμαρτημάτων ἡμῶν, οὗ τύπος ἦν ὁ Νῶε, ὃν ὁ πατὴρ αὐτοῦ γεννηθέντα ἑωρακὼς κατὰ προφητείαν ἐπέθετο αὐτῷ ὄνομα Νῶε, λέγων ὅτι »οὗτος ἀναπαύσει ἡμᾶς ἐκ τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν ἥτοι σκληρῶν ἔργων ἡμῶν'.

30.32.7 | Showing that the bond set by the sabbath is broken, when the great sabbath came—that is, Christ, who gave us rest from our sins, whose example was Noah, whom his father, seeing him born according to prophecy, gave the name Noah, saying, “This one will give us rest from our sins, that is, from our hard works.”

30.32.8 | ὁ Νῶε δὲ ἀπὸ ἁμαρτιῶν οὐκ ἀνέπαυσεν, ἀλλὰ εἰς Χριστὸν προεφήτευσεν ὁ Λάμεχ τὴν προφητείαν, τὸν Νῶε ἐρμηνευόμενον ἐν ἀληθείᾳ Νῶς γὰρ ἀνάπαυσις ἐρμηνεύεται) καὶ Σεβέθ, ὅπερ ἀνάπαυσις καὶ σάββατον ἐρμηνεύεται·

30.32.8 | But Noah did not give rest from sins, instead Lamech prophesied about Christ, interpreting Noah truly as Noah means “rest of the earth,” and Shem, which means “rest” and “sabbath.”

30.32.9 | ὃ ἐστὶν Χριστός, ἐν ᾧ ἀναπέπαυται ὁ πατήρ καὶ τὸ ἅγιον αὐτοῦ πνεῦμα, καὶ πάντες ἄνθρωποι ἅγιοι ἐν αὐτῷ ἀνεπαύσαντο, παυσάμενοι ἀπὸ ἁμαρτημάτων. οὗτός ἐστι τὸ μέγα σάββατον καὶ αἰδίον, οὗ τύπος ἦν τὸ μικρὸν καὶ πρόσκαιρον σάββατον, ἐξυπηρετούμενον ἄχρι τῆς αὐτοῦ παρουσίας, προσταχθὲν ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ κατὰ τὸν νόμον καὶ ἐν αὐτῷ Μὲν καὶ πληρωθὲν ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ· οὕτως γὰρ εἶπεν ὁ κύριός ἐστιν ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου καὶ τοῦ σαββάτου».

30.32.10 | ὅθεν θαρσαλέως οἱ μαθηταὶ λύουσι τὸ σάββατον, ἐπειδὴ καὶ οἱ πρὸ αὐτῶν ἱερεῖς ἔλυον ἐν τῷ ναῷ τὸ σάββατον θύοντες καὶ θεῶ θυσίας προσφέροντες, ἵνα μὴ ἀργήσῃ θυσία ἡ ἐνδελεχὴς καὶ καθ’ ἡμέραν προσφερομένη. οὐ μόνον δὲ αὐτοὶ Προεφήτευον οἱ ἱερεῖς λυθήσεσθαι τὸ σάββατον διὰ τοῦ μὴ ἀργεῖν, ἀλλὰ καὶ αὕτη ἡ περιτομὴ ἔλυε τὸ σάββατον. γεννωμένου γὰρ παιδὸς πολλάκις ἐν σαββάτῳ ἀναίρεσις σαββάτου καὶ περιτομῆς ἐγένετο· οὕτω ταῖς ἀμφοτέραις ἡ λύσις προεθεσπίζετο. δείκνυται γὰρ ὅτι οἱ Περιτέμνοντες αὐτὸ τὸ γεννηθὲν ἐν σαββάτῳ, ἐὰν θελήσωσιν ἀκριβολογήσασθαι τὴν ὀγδόην ἡμέραν, εὐρίσκοντες ἐμπίπτουσιν ἐν σαββάτῳ καὶ περιτέμνοντες ἔργον εἰργάσαντο καὶ τὸ σάββατον ἔλυσαν·

30.32.12 | ἐὰν δὲ ὑΠερθῶνται διὰ τὸ μὴ λῦσαι τὸ σάββατον, ἐνάτη λοιπὸν περιτέμνουσι τὴν περιτομὴν καὶ ἔλυσαν αὐτὴν τὴν περιτομὴν καὶ τὸν περὶ αὐτῆς

30.32.9 | Which is Christ, in whom the father and his holy spirit rest, and all holy people rested in him, resting from sins. This is the great and eternal sabbath, of which the small and temporary sabbath was a sign, serving until his coming, commanded by him according to the law and fulfilled in the gospel. So he said, “The son of man is lord even of the sabbath.”

30.32.10 | Therefore the disciples boldly broke the sabbath, since even the priests before them broke the sabbath in the temple by offering sacrifices to God, so that the continual and daily sacrifice would not stop. Not only did the priests prophesy that the sabbath would be broken because of not resting, but also circumcision broke the sabbath. For when a child was born, often on the sabbath the sabbath and circumcision were both broken; so the breaking was foretold for both. It is shown that those who circumcised the child born on the sabbath, if they want to be exact about the eighth day, found that the eighth day fell on a sabbath, and by circumcising they did a work and broke the sabbath.

30.32.12 | But if they are troubled because they do not break the sabbath, then on the ninth day they circumcise the circumcision and break the circumcision and the eight-day period of the command about it.

Section 33

30.33.1 | 33. Ἀλλὰ οὔτε ἦν τελεία ἡ πρώτη περιτομή, ἀλλὰ σημείου χάριν ἐδόθη, εἷς τε ὑπόμνησιν τῶν μετὰ ταῦτα καὶ διὰ τὸν δισταγμὸν τοῦ ἁγίου Ἀβραάμ ὡς προεῖρηται ἐπιτιμηθέντος καὶ τύπου ἕνεκα τῆς μεγάλης τῆς τὰ πάντα κατ' ἰσότητα πληροῦσης ἐν τοῖς καταξιουμένοις.

30.33.1 | But the first circumcision was not perfect, but was given for the sake of a sign, both as a reminder of what was to come and because of the hesitation of holy Abraham, as was said before, being commanded and for the sake of a type of the great one who fills all things equally in those who are worthy.

30.33.2 | For if that circumcision was for sanctification and the inheritance of the kingdom of heaven, then Sarah was deprived of the kingdom, and Rebecca, and Leah, and Rachel, and Jochebed, and Mary the sister of Moses, and all the holy women, and they will not be able to inherit the kingdom of heaven, because they could not have the circumcision of Abraham, which God gave to him according to their story. But if they are not deprived of the kingdom of heaven, even though they did not share in circumcision, then the circumcision now made in the flesh has no power at all.

30.33.3 | τί δὲ καυχᾶται Ἐβίων περὶ περιτομῆς, ὅποτε καὶ οἱ εἰδωλολάτραι καὶ ἱερεῖς τῶν Αἰγυπτίων περιτομὴν ἔχουσιν; ἀλλὰ καὶ οἱ Σαρακηνοὶ οἱ καὶ Ἰσμαλῖται περιτομὴν ἔχουσι καὶ Σαμαρεῖται καὶ Ἰουδαῖοι καὶ Ἰδουμαῖοι καὶ Ὀμηρίται. τούτων δὲ οἱ πλείους οὐ διὰ νόμον τοῦτο ποιοῦσιν, ἀλλὰ ἀλόγῳ τινὶ συνηθείᾳ.

30.33.3 | But what does Ebion boast about circumcision, when even the idolaters and priests of the Egyptians have circumcision? And also the Saracens and the Ishmaelites have circumcision, and the Samaritans and the Jews and the Edomites and the Homerites. But most of these do this not because of the law, but by some foolish custom.

30.33.4 | Καὶ ἀπλῶς πολὺν χρόνον ἀναλώσω κατατριβόμενος εἰς τὴν τοῦτου ληρωδίαν, διὰ τὸ ἐπερείδεσθαι αὐτὸν μάτην τῷ ῥητῷ ᾧ εἶρηκεν ὁ σωτὴρ ἀρκετὸν τῷ μαθητῇ εἶναι ὡς ὁ διδάσκαλος», ἵνα καὶ αὐτὸς σεμνύνηται τὴν ἰδίαν περιτομὴν ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ περιτομῆς τῆς ἐν αὐτῷ καλῶς περιτμηθείσης καὶ δι' αὐτοῦ καταλυθείσης.

30.33.4 | And simply I will spend a long time rubbing against the nonsense of this man, because he tries in vain to lean on the saying which the savior spoke, that it is enough for the student to be like the teacher, so that he himself may also boast of his own circumcision, from the circumcision of Christ which is well circumcised in him and through him abolished.

30.33.5 | ὅμως ἐπειδὴ βούλεται ὁ κτηνώδης διὰ τὴν πρὸς τὸν Χριστὸν μίμησιν λαμβάνειν τοῦτον τὸν λόγον, οὐκ ὀκνήσω δεῖξαι ὅτι οὐ διὰ τοῦτο εἶρηται.

30.33.5 | Still, since the beastly one wants to take this saying because of the imitation of Christ, I will not hesitate to show that it was not said for this reason.

30.33.6 | For the lord immediately explains, saying that he did not say it for this reason, but because of the persecutions and the mocking of the Jews against him. And he says, if they persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they hated me, they will also hate you. Do you not call me lord and teacher? And rightly you say so, for I am. If then they called the master of the house Beelzebul,

30.33.7 | πόσῳ γε μᾶλλον τοὺς οἰκιακοὺς αὐτοῦ;· καὶ οὐ δύναται δοῦλος εἶναι ὑπὲρ τὸν κύριον αὐτοῦ οὐδὲ μαθητὴς ὑπὲρ τὸν διδάσκαλον αὐτοῦ· ἦτω δὲ κατηρτισμένος κατὰ πάντα ὁ μαθητής, ὡς ὁ διδάσκαλος· τουτέστιν ἔτοιμος εἰς διωγμὸν καὶ κακολογίαν καὶ πᾶν ὁτιοῦν ἐπιφερόμενον.

30.33.7 | how much more then his own household? And a servant cannot be above his lord, nor a student above his teacher; but let the student be fully trained in all things, like the teacher—that is, ready for persecution and insults and anything else brought against him.

30.33.8 | ὅθεν καὶ ὁ ἅγιος Παῦλος ἔλεγεν μιμηταί μου γένεσθε καθὼς καγὼ Χριστοῦ. καὶ οὐχ ὅτι ἐκεῖνος ἐμιμεῖτο τὸν

30.33.8 | therefore the holy Paul said, 'become my imitators just as I am of Christ.' And not because he was imitating his αὐτοῦ δεσπότην ὡς οὐκ ἔδει· οὐδὲ γὰρ ἔλεγεν ὅτι θεός εἰμι ἢ υἱὸς θεοῦ εἰμι ἢ Λόγος ὁ θεός εἰμι· λέγει γὰρ ὅτι »ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ ἐλάχιστος τῶν ἀποστόλων« καὶ »ὥσπερ εἶ τῳ ἐκτρώματι ὥφθη κάμοί».

master as he should not; for he did not say that he was God or the Son of God or the Word who is God; for he says, 'I am the least of the apostles' and 'I appeared to me as one born out of due time.'

Section 34

30.34.1 | 34. Εἰ δὲ σύ, Ἐβίων, λαμβάνεις τὸ ῥητὸν τοῦτο ἐπὶ μιμήσει Χριστοῦ καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς περιτομῆς <περὶ> ἥς ματαιοφρονεῖς θέλεις ὡς ὁ διδάσκαλος, μᾶλλον δὲ ὡς ὁ κύριος, μὴ ἐν τῇ περιτομῇ αὐτῷ ὁμοιοῦ· οὐ γὰρ σε ὠφελήσει. παρήνεγκε γὰρ ὁ κύριος τὸν ταύτης χρόνον, ὡς διὰ πολλῶν μαρτυριῶν σαφῶς ἀπεδείξαμεν.

30.34.1 | 34. But if you, Ebion, take this saying as imitating Christ and from the circumcision about which you are foolish, wanting to be like the teacher, but even more like the lord, do not make him like you in circumcision; for it will not help you. For the lord passed away from this time, as we have clearly shown through many testimonies.

30.34.2 | for he came and fulfilled, giving the perfect circumcision of his mysteries not in one limb alone, but sealing the whole body and circumcising from sin, and not saving one part of the people, that is, men alone, but also the whole people of the Christians truly, sealing both men and women together and abundantly for the inheritance of the kingdom of heaven, and not lacking by one order of men only because of weakness providing the seal, but perfecting the people through the seal and commandments and good teaching, revealing the kingdom of heaven.

30.34.3 | εἰ δὲ ὡς ὁ κύριος βούλει εἶναι, ὥς Ἐβίων, τουτέστιν ὡς ὁ διδάσκαλος, πολὺ ἠπάτησαι. μὴ ἐν τῇ περιτομῇ ἀπεικάζου, ἀλλὰ κάλεσον τὸν Λάζαρον ἀπὸ μνημείου ἢ ἄλλον νεκρὸν ἔγειρον, λεπροὺς καθάρισον

30.34.3 | But if you want to be like the lord, Ebion, that is, like the teacher, you are very mistaken. Do not copy him in circumcision, but call Lazarus from the tomb or raise another dead man, cleanse lepers or give

ἢ τυφλοῖς χάρισαι τὸ βλέπειν ἢ ἐκ γενετῆς παραλυτικὸν ἴασαι, εἰ δύνῃ· οὐ δύνῃ δέ, ὅτι ἐναντίως πράττεις, ἀπιστίᾳ κατεχόμενος καὶ δεσμοῖς σαρκὸς καὶ δικαιώμασι νόμου ἀπληρώτοις.

sight to the blind, or heal a paralyzed person from birth, if you can. But you cannot, because you act against this, held by unbelief and by the bonds of the flesh and the incomplete requirements of the law.

30.34.4 | εἰ δὲ καὶ ταῦτα ἡδυνήθης ποιῆσαι, ὅπερ οὐ δύνῃ διὰ τὴν κακοπιστίαν σου. οὐ λέγω * ὡς ὁ Χριστός. οὐ γὰρ δύνῃ ἀπεικασθῆναι θεῷ, φθαρτὸς ὢν ἄνθρωπος καὶ ἡπατημένος, ἀλλ' οὔτε Χριστοῦ τὸ ὄνομα ἐπὶ θεοσημείοις δύνασαι ἐπικαλέσασθαι, καὶν τε ἐπικαλέσῃ, οὐκ ἐνεργεῖς.

30.34.4 | But even if you were able to do these things, which you cannot because of your bad faith, I do not say as Christ. For a mortal man, being weak and deceived, cannot be made like God, nor can you call on the name of Christ for miracles, and even if you do call on it, they will not work.

30.34.5 | εἰ δὲ καὶ ὅλως ἐνεργεῖς Παραλυτικὸν ἀναστῆσαι, εἶχεν ἄν, διὰ τοῦ ὀνόματος τοῦ Ἰησοῦ ἀναστάς, καὶ σύνεσιν παρ' αὐτοῦ λαβεῖν, ἵνα σοῦ μὴ ἀνάσχηται σαββατίζειν, ἀλλὰ παρὰ τοῦ ὀνόματος τοῦ ἰασαμένου * μαθεῖν ὅτι »ἄρον τὸν κράββατόν σου καὶ πορεύου εἰς τὸν οἶκόν σου ἐν σαββάτῳ«.

30.34.5 | But even if you could raise a paralyzed person, he would have gotten up by the name of Jesus and received understanding from him, so that he would not be ashamed to keep the Sabbath, but from the name of the one healed, he would learn, "Take up your bed and go to your house on the Sabbath."

30.34.6 | ἤδη δέ μοι εἴρηται ὡς διαφόρως ἕκαστος αὐτῶν περὶ Χριστοῦ ὑποβάλλει, ποτὲ μὲν αὐτὸς ὁ Ἐβίων λέγων ἐκ παρατριβῆς ψιλὸν ἄνθρωπον αὐτὸν γεγενῆσθαι, ἄλλοτε δὲ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ Ἐβιωναῖοι ἄνω δύναμιν ἐκ θεοῦ κεκτηῖσθαι τὸν υἱόν, καὶ τοῦτον κατὰ καιρὸν τὸν Ἀδὰμ ἐνδύεσθαι τε καὶ ἐκδύεσθαι, ὡν τὰς διαφορὰς γινώμας ἐν δυνάμει θεοῦ ἀνετρέψαμεν.

30.34.6 | Already it has been said to me that each of them speaks differently about Christ: sometimes Ebion himself says that he became a mere man by practice, and other times those Ebionites from him say that the son has power from God above, and that he puts on and takes off Adam at the right time, since they overturned the different opinions by the power of God.

30.34.7 | Καὶ τί μοι ἔτι διατρίβειν ἐν ἀλίμοις καὶ ἀμπώτεσι τόποις, πῇ μὲν

30.34.8 | I will pass by that place again, giving thanks to god that we turned this heresy backward, not carelessly but carefully exposing it.

himself may complete the full promise through us.

31.1.1 | After these, I will go through the Ebionites, called so, exposing their wickedness and also promising by the power of god the following things: forms of other beasts and poisons of creeping things, bites and poisons they have, which in their teachings can be seen as coming from a chasm, born of a fiery serpent or a terrible creeping thing and a basilisk. I will go on to the heresy of the Valentinians, making a strong refutation of them, who also call themselves Gnostics, among whom there are indeed ten differences in the great wound.

31.1.2 | τῆς αὐτῶν ὄνειροπολίας συζυγιῶν τε καὶ ὀγδοάδων καὶ ἀρρενοθηλείων αἰώνων <κατ' > ἄλλην ἄλλης ἰσορρόπως πεπληγμένων, οὐκέτι μὲν κατὰ χρόνους τάττων διαδοχῆς τὴν σύνταξιν, ἀλλὰ κατὰ πρόβασιν ἀφ' ἑτέρας εἰς ἑτέραν διερχόμενος.

31.1.2 | Of their dreamlike ideas about pairs and eights and ages of male and female, each balanced evenly against the other, no longer arranging the order by times in sequence, but going forward from one to another.

31.1.3 | ἐν ἐνὶ γὰρ χρόνῳ οὗτοι πάντες ὡς μύκητες ἐκ γῆς ἐβλάστησαν καὶ ὥσπερ κακὸρ<ρ>εκτα καὶ δυσώδη βοτανῶν καὶ χόρτος ἀκανθώδης καὶ ὡς φωλεὸς πολλῶν σκορπίων ἐξ ἐνὸς πάντες καιροῦ τῷ βίῳ ἐβλάστησαν καί, ὡς προεῖπον, δίκην μυκήτων ἀμορφίας ὑπὸ μίαν θῆξιν πεφῆνασιν, ὡς καὶ ἦδη τῷ ἁγιωτάτῳ Εἰρηναίῳ περὶ αὐτῶν προεῖρηται.

31.1.3 | For in one time all these sprang up like mushrooms from the earth, and like poisonous and smelly herbs and thorny grass, and like a nest of many scorpions, all grew up at one time in life; and, as I said before, like mushrooms of ugliness they have appeared under one place, as already the most holy Irenaeus has said about them.

31.1.4 | σύγχρονοι γὰρ γεγόνασιν οὗτοι πάντες, ἕκαστος δὲ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἑτέρου τὴν κακὴν πρόφασιν ἐρανισάμενοι, ἄλλος ἀπὸ] ἄλλου ἔτι περισσότερόν <τι> βουλόμενος * χάριν ἑαυτῷ προετύπωσε διαφορὰν κακῆς ἐξευρέσεως.

31.1.4 | For all these have become contemporaries, and each one, seeking a bad excuse from another, one from another wanting even more, has shaped a difference of evil discovery for himself.

31.1.5 | καὶ πάντες Γνωστικούς ἑαυτοὺς ὠνόμασαν, Οὐαλεντίνος τε φημί καὶ οἱ πρὸ αὐτοῦ Γνωστικοί, ἀλλὰ καὶ Βασιλείδης καὶ Σατορνῖλος καὶ Κολόρβασος, Πτολεμαῖός τε καὶ Σεκοῦνδος, Καρποκράς καὶ ἄλλοι πλείους.

31.1.5 | And all called themselves Gnostics, and I say Valentinus and the Gnostics before him, but also Basilides and Saturnilus and Colorbasus, Ptolemy and Secundus, Carpocrates and many others.

31.1.6 | ἀλλὰ τὰς πάσας ἐνταῦθα ὀνομάσαντες διὰ τὴν ἐν ἐνὶ καιρῷ σχέσιν πάντων τῆς ἀναδύσεως καὶ κακοβλάστου *, ὅμως τῆς ἐκάστου σπορᾶς κακόνιοιαν

31.1.6 | But having named all here because of the rising and bad growth of all at one time, still we will tell the bad nature of each seed separately. First, I will come to the leader of the heresy and tragic poet who is before us. I say Valentinus and his teaching, which comes from this great Gnostic promise, but is a foolish nonsense of knowledge, as it is found to be blamed and laughed at by the wise.

ἰδίᾳ ἀφηγησόμεθα. τέως δὲ ἐπὶ τὸν προκείμενον αἵρεσιάρχην καὶ τραγωδοποιὸν ἐλεύσομαι, φημὶ δὲ Οὐαλεντίνον καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ διδασκαλίαν, τὴν ἀπὸ τῆς μεγάλης ταύτης Γνωστικῆς ἐπαγγελίας ὑπάρχουσας, καταγνωστικῆς δὲ ληρωδίας *, ὥς τοῖς συνετοῖς καταγνωσκομένη εὐρίσκεται καὶ καταγέλαστος.

Section 2

31.2.1 | 2. Οὐαλεντίνος μὲν οὖν οὗτος τῷ χρόνῳ διαδέχεται τοὺς πρὸ αὐτοῦ προτεταγμένους, βασιλείδην τε καὶ Σατορνῖλον, Ἐβίωνά τε καὶ Κήρινθον καὶ Μήρινθον καὶ τοὺς ἀμφ’ αὐτούς· οὗτοι γὰρ πάντες ἐν ἐνὶ καιρῷ τῷ βίῳ κακῶς ἐφύησαν, ὀλίγῳ δὲ πρόσθεν μᾶλλον οἱ περὶ Κήρινθον καὶ Μήρινθον καὶ Ἐβίωνα· ἅμα γὰρ τοῖς ἤδη μοι πρὸ αὐτῶν δεδηλωμένοις ἀνεφύησαν.

31.2.1 | Valentinus then comes after those set before him in time, Basilides and Saturnilus, and also Ebion, Cerinthus, Merinthus, and those around them. For all of these grew badly in one time of life, but a little earlier were more those around Cerinthus, Merinthus, and Ebion. For they grew up together with those already shown to me before them.

31.2.2 | Where then his homeland is or where he was born, most do not know. For it is not easy for any writer to care to show the place. But a certain rumor has come to us, so we will not pass it by, and without pointing out his place, (if it is necessary to speak the truth in doubt), still we will not keep silent about the report that has come to us.

31.2.3 | ἔφασαν γὰρ αὐτόν τινες γεγενῆσθαι Φρεβωνίτην, τῆς Αἰγύπτου Παραλιώτην, ἐν Ἀλεξανδρείᾳ δὲ πεπαιδεῦσθαι τὴν τῶν Ἑλλήνων παιδείαν.

31.2.3 | For some said that he was born a Phrebonite, a coastal Egyptian, and that he was educated in the Greek learning in Alexandria.

31.2.4 | ὅθεν κατὰ μίμημα τῆς κατὰ τὸν Ἡσίοδον θεογονίας τῶν <τε> παρ' τῷ Ἡσιόδῳ τριάκοντα θεῶν λεγομένων καὶ αὐτὸς τὴν ἐθνόμυθον ποιήσιν εἰς τὸν ἑαυτοῦ νοῦν λαβὼν καὶ ἀπὸ τῶν σὺν αὐτῷ καὶ πρὸ αὐτοῦ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐκπεπτωκότων τὴν ὑπόνοιαν κτησάμενος, καὶ αὐτὸς τὰ ἴσα τῷ Ἡσιόδῳ ἀπὸ ἑτέρων ὀνομάτων εἰς ἕτερα ματαποιήσας ἠθέλησε φαντάσαι τὸν κόσμον.

31.2.4 | So, following the example of Hesiod's Theogony, about the thirty gods called by Hesiod, he himself took the story of the nations into his own mind, and from those with him and before him who had fallen away from the truth, he took the meaning. And he, too, changed the same things Hesiod said, from other names into different ones, and wanted to show the world.

31.2.5 | τριάκοντα γὰρ καὶ οὗτος θεοὺς καὶ αἰῶνας καὶ οὐρανοὺς βούλεται παρεισάγειν· ὧν ὁ μὲν πρῶτός ἐστι Βυθός, ὡς καὶ αὐτὸς ἔφη ἀφραίνων τῇ διανοίᾳ ὁποῖα ἀμέλει καὶ ὁ αὐτοῦ προβολεὺς τῆς ἐννοίας Ἡσίοδος Χάος πρῶτιστα θεῶν· ἔφη· Χάος δὲ καὶ Βυθὸς τίνι οὐκ ἂν σαφεῖ εἴη τὸ ὁμώνυμον κεκτημένα;

31.2.5 | For he also wants to bring in thirty gods and ages and heavens; the first of these is Depth, as he himself said, losing his mind about what care and his model Hesiod's thought is. Hesiod said Chaos first of the gods; but Chaos and Depth, to whom would not the same name be clear?

31.2.6 | ὅρα δὲ τὴν τοῦ ἀγύρτου τετραγῶδημένην μυθοποιίαν καὶ μοχθηρὰν διδασκαλίαν. τριάκοντα γὰρ οὗτος, ὡς ἔφην, αἰῶνας βούλεται παριστᾶν, οὓς καὶ θεοὺς ὀνομίζει, δεκαπέντε ἄρρενας καὶ θηλείας τοσαύτας εἶναι λέγων.

31.2.6 | But look at the myth-making of the trickster, twisted and bad teaching. For he, as I said, wants to show thirty ages, which he also calls gods, saying there are fifteen males and just as many females.

31.2.7 | ἕκαστον δὲ αἰῶνα ἄρρενόθηλυν καὶ ζευγὸς φησιν αὐτὸς καὶ οἱ αὐτοῦ· δεκαπέντε δὲ δυάδας φασὶν εἶναι, ἃς συζυγίας καλοῦσι. τὸν ἀριθμὸν δὲ εἶναι τριάκοντα αἰῶνας, ἐκάστην δὲ θήλειαν γεννᾶν ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄρρενος τοὺς καθεξῆς αἰῶνας· εἶναι δὲ τούτους ὡς ὑποτέτακται, κατὰ ἀντιπαράθεσιν ἐκάστου ἀρρενικοῦ ὀνόματος τεταγμένου ἀντικρυς τοῦ θηλυκοῦ ὀνόματος, καὶ ἔστιν·

31.2.7 | He says each age is male-female and a pair, he and his followers say; they say there are fifteen pairs, which they call couples. The number is thirty ages, each female born from the male of the following age; these are arranged so that opposite each male name stands the female name. And it is:

31.2.8 | Ἀμψίου Αύρααν Βουκοῦα Θαρδουοῦ Ούβουκοῦα θαρδεδδεῖν Μερεξὰ

31.2.8 | Ampsius and Aura, Boukoua and Thardou, Oubukoua and Thardeddein, Merexa and Atar, Barba and Oudouak, Esten and Oudouuak, Eslen and Amphain, Essoumen and Ouananin, Lamertarda and Athaes, Soumin and Allora, Koubiatha and Danadaria, Dammo and Oren, Lanafek and Oudinpek, Emphiboche and Barra, Asios and Ache, Belim and Dexariche, Masemon.

31.2.9 | καὶ οὕτως μὲν σύγκεινται ὥς κατὰ συζυγίαν ἀρρενοθήλεος, ἐν δὲ τῇ ἀκολουθίᾳ κατὰ διαδοχὴν οὕτως· Ἀμψίου

31.2.9 | And so they are joined as male-female pairs, but in the order of succession it is like this: Ampsius, Aura, Boukoua, Thardou, Oubukoua, Thardeddein, Merexa, Atar, Barba, Oudouak, Esten, Oudouuak, Eslen, Amphain, Essoumen, Ouananin, Lamertarde, Athames, Soumin, Allora, Koubiatha, Danadaria, Dammo, Oren, Lanafek, Oudinpek, Emphiboche, Barra, Assios, Ache, Belim, Dexariche, Masemon.

31.2.10 | ὧν ὀνομάτων ἐρμηνεῖσιν εἰσὶν

Ἑνωσις, Αὐτοφυὴς καὶ Σύγκρασις, Μονογενὴς καὶ Ἑνότης, Ἀκίνητος καὶ

31.2.10 | These are the meanings of the names: Depth and Silence. Mind and Truth, Word and Life, Human and Assembly, Comforter and Faith, Fatherly and Hope, Motherly and Love, Praise and Understanding, Willing (also Light) and Blessedness, Ecclesiastical and Wisdom, Deep and Mixing, Unmoved and Union, Self-born and Gathering, Only-begotten and Unity, Motionless and Pleasure.

31.2.11 | According to the number of succession and order, from the highest unnamed Father, called Depth by them, down to this heaven of ours, the number of thirty is like this: Depth, Silence, Mind, οὕτως ἔχει· Βυθὸς Σιγῇ Νοῦς Ἀλήθεια

Truth, Word, Life, Human, Assembly, Comforter, Faith, Fatherly, Hope, Motherly, Love, Praise, Understanding, Willing (also Light), Blessedness, Ecclesiastical, Wisdom, Deep, Mixing, Unmoved, Union, Self-born, Gathering, Only-begotten, Unity, Motionless, Pleasure.

Section 3

31.3.1 | 3. Καὶ αὕτη μὲν ἡ τῶν τριάκοντα Αἰώνων παρ' αὐτοῖς μυθοποιουμένη ποιουμένη τραγωδία καὶ ἡ κατὰ συζυγίαν πνευματικοῦ δῆθεν Πληρώματος κενοφωνία· ἔάν τις συγκρίνων τῇ

31.3.1 | 3. And this, the thirty Ages, is made into a myth by them, a tragedy, and the so-called spiritual Fullness according to pairs is empty sound; if someone compares it to the...

31.3.2 | παρὰ Ἡσιόδῳ καὶ Στησιχόρῳ καὶ τοῖς ἄλλοις ποιηταῖς τῶν Ἑλλήνων παραθῆται, εὖροι ἂν ἐκ παραλλήλου τὰ αὐτὰ ὄντα καὶ οὐδὲν ἕτερον, καὶ ἐκ τούτου γνώσεται ὡς οὐδὲν θαυμαστὸν οἱ τῶν δογμάτων αἰρεσιάρχαι μυστηριωδῶς ἐπαγγέλλονται λέγειν.

31.3.2 | If someone sets it beside Hesiod and Stesichorus and the other poets of the Greeks, he would find the same things in parallel and nothing different, and from this it will be known that the leaders of the doctrines mysteriously promise to say nothing wonderful.

31.3.3 | οὐδὲν γὰρ ἄλλο ἢ Ἑλλήνων ἀπεμάξαντο τὴν ἐπίπλαστον ποιητικὴν ἔξιν τῆς ἔθνομύθου πλάνης καὶ διδασκαλίας, οὐδὲν ἀλλοιώσαντες πλὴν τῆς παρ' αὐτοῖς μεταπεποιημένης βαρβαρικῆς ὀνοματοποιίας.

31.3.3 | For they took nothing else but the Greeks' false poetic habit of the nation's myth, and changed nothing except the barbarian made-up names they had added.

31.3.4 | οὕτω γὰρ φασὶ καὶ οἱ περὶ Ἡσίοδον· πρῶτον πάντων γίνεται Χάος, ἵνα εἴπωσι Βυθόν, εἶτα Νύξ Ἐρεβος Γῆ Ἡμέρα Ἐρως Μῆτις Μόρος Ὀϊζὺς Πότμος Νέμεσις Μῶμος Φιλότης Θάνατος Δυσνομία Γήρως Ἄτη Ἰμερος Λήθη Ὑπνος Ὑσμίνη

31.3.4 | For so they say also about Hesiod: first of all comes Chaos, so that they may say Depth, then Night, Darkness, Earth, Day, Love, Wisdom, Doom, Misery, Fate, Nemesis, Blame, Friendship, Death, Lawlessness, Old Age, Ruin, Desire,

Λυσιμελής Ὑβρις Εὐφρόνιος Αἴγλη παυσιμέριμος Ἀπάτη Ἡδυμελής Ἔρις.

Forgetfulness, Sleep, Battle, Destruction, Insolence, Joyful, Brightness, Careless,
Deceit, Sweet, and Strife.

31.3.5 | καὶ οὗτος μὲν ὁ ἀριθμὸς κατὰ ἀκολουθίαν ἀρρενοθήλεος οὕτως ἔχει τὴν τριακοντάδα. εἰ δέ τις θελήσειεν ἰδεῖν πῶς πλαττόμενοι οὗτοι ἔν πρὸς τὸ ἓν, εὖροι ἂν οὕτως συναπτόμενα καὶ συζευγνύμενα ἀλλήλοις ἅ τοῖς ποιηταῖς ἔδοξεν,

31.3.5 | And this number, in order of male and female, holds the thirty. But if someone wanted to see how these, made one after another, are joined and linked to each other as it seemed to the poets,

31.3.6 | ὥς τὸν μὲν Βυθὸν Νυκτί τε καὶ Σιγῇ συνάψαντες ἐποίησαν Γῆν γεννᾶσθαι· ἄλλοι δὲ Οὐρανόν, ὃν δὴ καὶ Ὑπερίονα κεκλήκασι, τὸν δὲ] αὐτὸν τῇ Γῇ συναφθέντα φασὶ γεγεννηκέναι ἄρσενάς τε καὶ θηλείας, καὶ τοὺς καθεξῆς ὁμοίως ἕως τῆς πάσης αὐτῶν ποιήσεως, ὥς ἔχει ἡ ἀπέραντος τοῦ μύθου ληρώδης φλυαρία.

31.3.6 | As they joined Depth with Night and Silence, they made Earth to be born; others say Heaven, which they also call Hyperion, and say that this same one, joined with Earth, gave birth to males and females, and those born one after another in the same way up to all their making, as the endless foolish babbling of the story goes.

31.3.7 | εὖροι δ' ἂν οὕτως συναπτόμενά τε καὶ συζευγνύμενα καὶ δυνάμενα οὕτως συντίθεσθαι· Χάος Νύξι Ἑρεβος Γῇ, Αἰθήρ Ἡμέρα, Ἔρως Μῆτις, Μόρος Οἰζύς, Πότμος Νέμεσις, Μῶμος Φιλότης, Θάνατος Δυσνομία, Γήρως Ἄτη, Ἰμερος Λήθη, Ὑπνος Ὑσμίνη, Λυσιμελής Ὑβρις, Εὐφρόνιος Αἴγλη, Παυσιμέριμος Ἀπάτη, Ἡδυμελής Ἔρις.

31.3.7 | And one would find them joined and linked and able to be put together like this: Chaos, Night, Darkness, Earth, Bright Air, Day, Love, Wisdom, Doom, Misery, Fate, Nemesis, Blame, Friendship, Death, Lawlessness, Old Age, Ruin, Desire,
Forgetfulness, Sleep, Battle, Destruction, Insolence, Joyful, Brightness, Careless,
Deceit, Sweet, and Strife.

31.3.8 | εἰ δὲ προσέχοι τις τῶν αὐτῶν πλάσματι καὶ βουλευθείη γινῶναι ὥς ἀπὸ τῶν κοσμικῶν καὶ Ἑλληνικῶν ποιητῶν, ἐξ ᾧ οὗτοι ἐνεβροντήθησαν, μάτην ἐνθουσιῶντες > ἅ μὴ δεῖ, ματαιοπονίαν τε καὶ κάματον ἀνωφελεῖ, *, εὖροι ἂν

31.3.8 | But if someone paid attention to their making and wanted to know how, from the cosmic and Greek poets, from whom these were thundered out, they would find them wrongly excited about things not needed, and useless trouble and useless effort, and would find them all the αὐτοὺς τοσούτῳ μᾶλλον πεπλανημένους.

more mistaken.

Section 4

31.4.1 | 4. Ὅθεν καὶ ἔτι ὑψηλοτέρως δῆθεν ἐξερευνῶντες ὥήθησαν καὶ Ὑστέρημα τῷ ἰδίῳ αὐτῶν δαιμονισθέντι διανοήματι ἐξευρεῖν, ὅπερ Ὑστέρημα καὶ Παντοκράτορα καὶ Δημιουργὸν καλοῦσι καὶ κτιστὴν οὐσιῶν·

31.4.1 | So then, even more proudly pretending to investigate, they thought to find Lack by their own inspired thought, which they call Lack, the All-Powerful, the Creator, and the maker of beings.

31.4.2 | ἀφ' οὗπερ πάλιν καὶ ὑστέραν Ὀγδοάδα μετὰ ἑπτὰ οὐρανῶν, κατὰ τὴν πρώτην Ὀγδοάδα ἀφομοιωθεῖσαν, ἐκτίσθαι λέγουσιν, αὐτοῦ ὄντος ἐν τῇ Ὀγδοάδι καὶ ἑπτὰ οὐρανούς μετ' αὐτὴν

31.4.2 | From whom again they say that later an Eighth, after the seven heavens, was created, formed like the first Eighth, with it being in the Eighth and seven heavens after it.

31.4.3 | ὃ Ὑστερήματι βούλονται συνάπτειν μὲν ἀμιγῇ τινι Αἰῶνα καὶ ἀθήλυντον, ἀπὸ ἀπὸ Πληρώματος δὲ ἐνταῦθα ἐλθόντα κατ' ἀναζήτησιν τῆς ψυχῆς τῆς ἄνωθεν ἀπὸ τῆς μητρὸς Σοφίας Μούσης, δὴ καὶ Ἀχαμῶθ βούλονται τὸ ὄνομα ἀνατυποῦν τε καὶ πλάττειν, ὃν δὴ καὶ Σωτῆρα καλεῖν * καὶ Ὅρον κοὶ Σταυρὸν καὶ Ὁροθέτην καὶ Μεταγωγέα καὶ Ἰησοῦν τὸν διὰ Μαρίας ὡς διὰ σωλῆνος παρελθόντα.

31.4.3 | To which Lack they want to join a certain mixed and unhappy Age, coming here from Fullness in search of the soul from above, from the mother Wisdom Muse, and they want to copy and shape the name Achamoth, whom they also call Savior, and Boundary, and Cross, and Boundary-Setter, and Guide, and Jesus, who passed through Mary as through a pipe.

31.4.4 | εἶναι δὲ αὐτὸν φῶς ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄνω Χριστοῦ καὶ διὰ τοῦτο πατρωνυμικῶς καλεῖσθαι Φῶς διὰ τὸ ἄνω Φῶς καὶ Χριστὸν διὰ τὸν ἄνω Χριστὸν καὶ Λόγον διὰ τὸν ἄνω Λόγον καὶ Νοῦν ὡσαύτως >

31.4.4 | And he is light from the upper Christ, and for this reason he is called by his father's name Light because of the upper Light, and Christ because of the upper Christ, and Word because of the upper Word, and Mind in the same way.

31.4.5 | Σωτῆρα λέγεσθαι. αἰεὶ δὲ

31.4.5 | He is called Savior. And always to ὑπερβαίνειν τὸν αὐτοῦ πατέρα τὸν Δημιουργόν, συνανφέρειν δὲ τοὺς οὐτῶ πειθομένους ἅμα αὐτῶ πρὸς τὰς ἄνω συζυγίας τοῦ Πληρώματος.

surpass his own father, the Creator, and to bring together those who obey him with himself toward the higher unions of the Fullness.

31.4.6 | καὶ ὡς τῆς τούτων ληρωδίας καὶ τοσαύτης ματαιολογίας, παραθήσομαι δὲ ὡς προεῖπον) καὶ ὡς αὐτοὶ συνέζευξαν τοῖς ποιητικοῖς καὶ ἔθνομύθοις πλάσμασι τὴν αὐτῶν ληρολογίαν,

31.4.6 | And oh, the nonsense of these things and such empty talk. I will set down (as I said before) how they joined their nonsense with poetic and folk tales,

31.4.7 | μετὰ τὴν τριακοντάδα γὰρ * τὸ ἐν ὄνομα μέσον καὶ ἀθήλυντον καὶ μετ' αὐτὸ τὴν κατὰ συζυγίαν πάλιν Ὀγδοάδα εὐρεθεῖσαν ἀπὸ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ, δυναμένην καὶ οὕτως συντίθεσθαι, καὶ ἔστιν τὰ ὀνόματα τάδε· πρῶτος ἐξέπαφος, Πορφυρίων Κλωθῶ Ὑψακος Λάχεσις Ἐπιφάων Ἄτροπος Ὑπερίων Ἀστεροπή.

31.4.7 | For after the thirty, the one name is in the middle, weak and without strength, and after it again the eighth found according to the union from the Creator, able to be joined like this, and the names are these: first Exepaphos, Porphyrion, Clotho, Rhyax, Lachesis, Epiphaon, Atropos, Hyperion, Asteropê.

31.4.8 | καὶ αὕτη μὲν ἡ τῶν ποιητῶν τούτων σκηνὴ, ἔχουσα καὶ ἄλλας πολλὰς ὀνομασίας θεῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς ὀνομαζομένων, ἀρρένων τε καὶ θηλειῶν, ἄλλως καὶ ἄλλως παρὰ τισι λεγομένων, δυναμένων ποιῆσαι καὶ τριακοσίων ἐξήκοντα πέντε ἀριθμὸν καὶ ἔτι εἰς πρόφασιν τῶν ἄλλων αἰρέσεων τῶν ταύτην πάλιν τὴν τραγικὴν ὑπόθεσιν ἐνστησαμένων ὀνειρωττομένων.

31.4.8 | And this is the stage of these poets, having many other names of gods called by them, both male and female, and differently by some, able to make up the number of three hundred and sixty-five, and still as a reason for other sects who again set up this tragic story, dreaming.

31.4.9 | μετὰ γὰρ τὰ προειρημένα ὀνόματά φασιν οἱ περὶ Ἡσίοδον καὶ Ὀρφέα καὶ Στησίχορον γεγενῆσθαι Οὐρανόν τε καὶ Τάρταρον, Κρόνον τε καὶ ῥέαν, Δία τε καὶ Ἥραν καὶ Ἀπόλλωνα, Ποσειδῶνά τε καὶ Πλούτωνα, καὶ μυρίους λοιπὸν τοὺς παρ'

31.4.9 | For after the names said before, those around Hesiod and Orpheus and Stesichorus say that Heaven and Tartarus were born, and Cronus and Rhea, and Zeus and Hera and Apollo, and Poseidon and Pluto, and countless others called “gods” by them. For much of this is a deceitful αὐτοῖς ὀνομαζομένους <θεούς> . πολλή γὰρ τούτων ἡ ἀπατηλὸς ἐξ ὑπονοίας πλάνη, ἣτις κενοφωνίαν ἐγκισσῆσασα καὶ wandering from suspicion, which, having caught empty talk and found many stories, made them up.

31.4.10 | Καὶ αὕτη ἐστὶν δοκοῦσα φαντάζειν τὴν τῶν ἀπατωμένων τούτων διάνοιαν. γελοῖα δὲ εὐθὺς πᾶσιν εὐρίσκεται ταῦτα τοῖς κατὰ θεὸν τὸν νοῦν πεφωτισμένοις.

31.4.10 | And this seems to show the thought of those who are deceived. But these things are immediately found ridiculous by all who are enlightened with mind toward god.

31.4.11 | παρελθὼν δὲ ταῦτα αὖθις ταῖς ἀπὸ τῶν βιβλίων αὐτῶν ἀκολουθίαις * πρὸς ἕπος ἕπος κατὰ λέξιν τὴν παράθεσιν τῆς παρ' αὐτοῖς ἀναγνώσεως, λέγω δὴ τῆς βίβλου, ἐνταῦθα ποιήσομαι, καὶ ἔστιν τάδε·

31.4.11 | Passing over these things again, I will make here the setting out, word by word, of the reading from their books, that is, the book, following the order of their text. And it is as follows:

Section 5

31.5.1 | 5. Παρὰ φρονίμοις, παρὰ δὲ ψυχικοῖς, παρὰ δὲ σαρκικοῖς, παρὰ δὲ κοσμικοῖς παρὰ δὲ τῷ Μεγέθει * νοῦς ἀκατάργητος τοῖς ἀκαταργήτοις χαίρειν.

31.5.1 | 5. From the wise, from the soulful, from the fleshly, from the worldly, and from Size, the mind, not destroyed, enjoys the undestroyed.

31.5.2 | Ἀνονομάστων ἐγὼ καὶ ἀρρήτων καὶ ὑπερουρανίων μνεῖαν ποιοῦμαι μυστηρίων πρὸς ὑμᾶς, οὔτε ἀρχαῖς οὔτε ἐξουσίαις οὔτε ὑποταγαῖς οὔτε πάση συγχύσει περινοηθῆναι δυναμένων, μόνῃ δὲ τῇ τοῦ Ἀτρέπτου ἐννοίᾳ πεφανερωμένων.

31.5.2 | I make mention to you of nameless, unspeakable, and heavenly mysteries, not able to be understood by origins, or powers, or authorities, or any confusion, but only by the thought of the Unchanging revealed.

31.5.3 | ὅτε γὰρ > ἀρχῆς ὁ Αὐτοπάτωρ αὐτὸς ἐν ἑαυτῷ περιεῖχε τὰ πάντα, ὄντα ἐν ἑαυτῷ ἐν ἀγνοσίᾳ, ὃν καλοῦσιν τινες Αἰῶνα

31.5.3 | For when the Self-Father of the beginning held all things within himself, existing in himself in ignorance, whom ἀγήρατον ἀεὶ νεάζοντα, ἀρρενόθηλυν, ὃς πάντοτε περιέχει τὰ πάντα καὶ οὐκ ἐνπεριέχεται, τότε ἡ ἐν αὐτῷ Ἐννοια ἠθέλησεν — some call the ageless Age always young, both male and female, who always holds all things and is not held within, then the Thought within him wished—

31.5.4 | ἐχείνη, ἣν τινες ἘνΣιγὴν προσηγόρευσαν, ὅτι δι' ἐνθυμήσεως χωρὶς λόγου τὰ ἅπαντα τὸ Μέγεθος ἐτελείωσεν —

31.5.4 | That one, which some called Silence, because through reflection without speech it completed the Size of all things—

31.5.5 | ὥς οὖν προεῖπον, ἡ ἀφθαρτος & αἰώνια βουλευθεῖσα δεσμὰ ῥῆξαι ἐθήλυνε τὸ Μέγεθος ἐπ' ὀρέξει ἀναπαύσεως αὐτοῦ. καὶ αὕτη μιγεῖσα ἀνέδειξε τὸν Πατέρα τῆς ἀληθείας, ὃν οἰκείως οἱ τέλειοι Ἀνθρωπον ὠνόμασαν, ὅτι ἦ ἀντίτυπος τοῦ προόντος Ἀγεννήτου.

31.5.5 | So then, as I said before, the incorruptible and eternal Age, wishing to break its bonds, made the Size female because of its desire for rest. And this one, having mixed, revealed the Father of truth, whom the perfect ones properly called Man, because he was the likeness of the unborn One who went before.

31.5.6 | μετὰ τοῦτο δὲ ἡ Σιγὴ, φυσικὴν ἐνότητα Φωτὸς προενεγκαμένη σὺν τῷ Ἀνθρώπῳ ἦν δὲ αὐτῶν ἡ συνέλευσις τὸ θέλειν), καὶ] ἀναδείκνυσι τὴν Ἀλήθειαν. Ἀλήθεια δὲ ὑπὸ τῶν τελείων οἰκείως ὠνομάσθη, ὅτι ἀληθῶς ὁμοία ἦν τῇ ἑαυτῆς μητρὶ Σιγῇ, τῆς Σιγῆς τοῦτο βουλευθείσης, ἀπομερισμὸν φύτων τοῦ τε ἄρρενος καὶ τῆς θηλείας ἴσον εἶναι, ὅπως δι' ἑαυτῶν καὶ ἡ ἐν αὐτοῖς * φανερωθῇ τοῖς ἐξ αὐτῶν ἐν αὐτῷ] εἰς αἰσθητικὰ φῶτα μερισθεῖσι.

31.5.6 | After this, Silence, bringing forth a natural unity of Light together with Man (their gathering of willing), revealed the Truth. And Truth was properly called by the perfect ones, because it was truly like its mother Silence. When Silence willed this, the division of the natures of male and female was equal, so that through themselves and what is in them, it might be revealed to those from them, divided into sensible lights in him.

31.5.7 | μετὰ τοῦτο ἡ Ἀλήθεια μητρικὴν προενεγκαμένη παρουικίαν ἐθήλυνε τὸν Πατέρα ἑαυτῆς εἰς ἑαυτὴν καὶ συνήεσαν ἑαυτοῖς ἀφθάρτῳ μίξει καὶ ἀγηράτῳ συγκράσει καὶ ἀναδεικνύουσι τετράδα ἀρρενόθηλυν, ἀντίτυπον τῆς προούσης τετράδος ἥτις ἦν Βυθὸς Σιγῇ

31.5.7 | After this, Truth, bringing forth a motherly presence, made her Father female toward herself, and they came together in an incorruptible mixing and ageless joining, and revealed a fourfold male-female, a likeness of the earlier fourfold which was Depth, Silence, Father, Truth. And this fourfold from the Father and Truth is: Man, Church, Word, Life.

31.5.8 | τότε τότε πάντα περιέχοντος Βυθοῦ θελήματι ὁ Ἄνθρωπος καὶ ἡ Ἐκκλησία πατρικῶν μνησθέντες λόγων συνήεσαν ἑαυτοῖς καὶ ἀναδεικνύουσι δωδεκάδα προυνίκων >. οἱ οὖν ἄρρενές εἰσι· Παράκλητος Πατρικὸς Μητρικὸς Ἀείνους 10 Θελητὸς, ὃ ἐστι Φῶς, Ἐκκλησιαστικός, αἱ δὲ θήλειαι· Πίστις Ἐλπίς Ἀγάπη Σύνεσις Μακαρία Σοφία.

31.5.8 | Then, with the will of the all-encompassing Depth, Man and Church, remembering the fatherly words, came together for themselves and revealed a twelvefold of presences. The males are: Advocate, Fatherly, Motherly, Eternal, Willing, who is Light, Ecclesiastical. And the females are: Faith, Hope, Love, Understanding, Blessedness, Wisdom.

31.5.9 | μετέπειτα Τε Λόγος καὶ Ζωή, καὶ αὐτοὶ τὸ τῆς ἐνώσεως μεταπλάσαντες δώρημα, ἑαυτοῖς ἐκοινώνησαν ἣν δὲ ἡ κοινωνία αὐτῶν τὸ θέλημα) καὶ συνελθόντες ἀνεδείξαντο δεκάδα προυνίκων καὶ αὐτῶν ἀρρενοθηλύντων. οἱ μὲν ἄρρενές εἰσι· βύθιος Ἀγήρατος Αὐτοφυῆς Μονογενὴς Ἀκίνητος οὗτοι τὴν προσωνυμίαν > τὴν δόξαν τοῦ πάντα περιέχοντος ἐποιήσαντο), αἱ δὲ θήλειαι· Μῖξις Ἐνωσις Σύγκρασις Ἐνότης Ἡδονή, καὶ οὗται τὴν προσωνυμίαν εἰς δόξαν τῆς Σιγῆς περιεποιήσαντο.

31.5.9 | Then, Word and Life, changing the gift of their union, shared it with themselves (and their sharing was the will), and coming together, they revealed a tenfold of presences, both male and female. The males are: Deep, Ageless, Self-born, Only-begotten, Motionless—these took the name and glory of the all-encompassing. The females are: Mixing, Union, Joining, Oneness, Pleasure—and these took the name and glory of Silence.

31.6.1 | 6. Τετελειωμένης οὖν τῆς κατὰ Πατέρα Ἀληθείας τριακάδος, ἣν οἱ ἐπίγειοι μὴ ἐπιστάμενοι ἀριθμοῦσι καὶ ὁπόταν ἔλθωσιν ἐπ’ αὐτήν, μηκέτι ἀριθμὸν εὐρίσκοντες ἀνακυκλοῦσι, πάλιν ἀριθμοῦντες αὐτήν — ἔστι δὲ Βυθὸς Σιγῆ Πατὴρ Ἀλήθεια Ἄνθρωπος Ἐκκλησία Λόγος Ζωή Παράκλητος Πατρικὸς Μητρικὸς Ἀείνους Θελητὸς Ἐκκλησιαστικός Πίστις

31.6.1 | 6. So, when the triad of Truth according to the Father was completed, which those on earth, not knowing, count, and whenever they come to it, no longer finding a number, they go around again, counting it once more — and it is Depth, Silence, Father, Truth, Man, Church, Word, Life, Advocate, Fatherly, Motherly, Eternal, Willing, Ecclesiastical, Faith, Hope, Love, ἐλπίς Ἀγάπη Σύνεσις Μακαρία Σοφία Βύθιος Ἀγήρατος Αὐτοφυῆς Μονογενῆς Ἀκίνητος Μῆξις Ἐνωσις Σύγκρασις Ἐνότης Ἥδονῃ —,

Understanding, Blessedness, Wisdom, Deep, Ageless, Self-born, Only-begotten, Motionless, Mixing, Union, Joining, Oneness, Pleasure —,

31.6.2 | τότε ὁ τὰ πάντα περιέχων συνέσει τῇ ἀνυπερβλήτῳ δογματίσας τε κληθῆναι ἐτέραν Ὀγδοάδα ἀντί τῆς προούσης ἀύθεντικῆς Ὀγδοάδος, ἥτις ἐν τῷ ἀριθμῷ τῆς Τριακάδος μείνη οὐ γὰρ ἦν Μεγέθους φρόνημα δις ἀριθμὸν πίπτειν), ἀντέστησεν ἀντὶ τῶν ἀρρένων τοὺς ἄρρενας· Μόνον Τρίτον Πέμπτον Ἑβδομον καὶ τὰς θηλείας· Δυάδα Τετράδα Ἐξάδα Ὀγδοάδα.

31.6.2 | Then the all-encompassing one understood and, with an unsurpassable decision, ordered to be called another Eighth instead of the previous true Eighth, which remains in the number of the Triad (for it was not the thought of Size to fall twice in number), and he set up for the males the males: First, Third, Fifth, Seventh, and for the females: Second, Fourth, Sixth, Eighth.

31.6.3 | αὕτη οὖν ἡ Ὀγδοάς ἐστίν], ἡ ἀντικληθεῖσα ἀντὶ τῆς προούσης Ὀγδοάδος Βυθοῦ Πατρὸς Ἀνθρώπου Λόγου καὶ Σιγῆς Ἀληθείας ἐκκλησίᾳς Ζωῆς), ἠνώθη τοῖς φωσὶ καὶ ἐγένετο Τριακάς ἀπηρτισμένη.

31.6.3 | So this Eighth is the one called instead of the previous Eighth of Depth, Father, Man, Word, and Silence, Truth, Church, Life; it joined with the lights and became a complete Thirty.

31.6.4 | καὶ > ἡ προοῦσα Ὀγδοὰς ἀναπαυομένη. ὁ δὲ Βυθὸς ἐξῆλθεν Μεγέθους στηρίγματι ἐνωθῆναι τῇ Τριακάδι· συνήει γὰρ τῇ Ἀληθείᾳ καὶ ὁ Πατὴρ τῆς Ἀληθείας συνήρχετο τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ καὶ ὁ Μητρικὸς εἶχε τὴν Ζήνν καὶ ὁ Παράκλητος τὴν Ἐνάδα καὶ ἡ Ἐνάς ἠνοῦτο τῷ Πατρὶ τῆς Ἀληθείας καὶ ὁ Πατὴρ τῆς Ἀληθείας ἦν μετὰ τῆς Σιγῆς, ὁ Λόγος δὲ ὁ πνευματικὸς ἐκοινωνεῖ * πνευματικῇ μίξει καὶ ἀφθάρτῳ συγκράσει, ποιῶντος τὸ τέλος τοῦ Αὐτοπάτορος ἀδιχοτόμητον ἡ οὖν Τριακάς ἀπαρτίσασα βυθία μυστήρια, 31.6.4 | And the previous Eighth rested. But the Depth went out from the support of Size to be joined with the Thirty; for the Father of Truth agreed with Truth, and the Father of Truth was present with the Church, and the Mother had Life, and the Advocate had the One, and the One was united with the Father of Truth, and the Father of Truth was with Silence. The spiritual Word shares in a spiritual mixing and incorruptible joining, making the end of the Self-Father undivided. So the Thirty, having been completed, are the deep mysteries,

31.6.5 | τελειώσασα γάμον ἐν ἀφθάρτοις

31.6.5 | having completed the marriage in ἀνέδειξε φῶτα ἄφθαρτα, ἅτινα Μεσότητος ὠνομάσθησαν τέκνα καὶ ἀχαρακτήριστα ἦσαν, τοῦ νοικοῦ μὴ παρακειμένου, ἐκτὸς φρονήσεως ἀναπαύομενα χωρὶς Ἐννοίας. περὶ γὰρ οὗ τις πράσσει, ἐὰν μὴ νοῇ καθολικῶς, οὐ πράσσει.

incorruptible things, it revealed incorruptible lights, which were called children of Moderation and were without mark, not belonging to the mind, resting outside thought without Intention. For about what someone acts, if he does not understand it fully, he does not act.

31.6.6 | τότε γενομένων τῶν φύτων, ὧν τὴν πολυπληθίαν πρὸς ἀριθμὸν ἐξειπεῖν οὐκ ἀναγκαῖον, περινοεῖν δὲ ἕκαστον γὰρ τὸ ἴδιον ὄνομα κεκλήρωται δι' ἐπίγνωσιν ἀρρήτων μυστηρίων),

31.6.6 | Then the natures came into being, whose great number it is not necessary to count, but each one has been given its own name by lot for the knowledge of unspeakable mysteries.

31.6.7 | ἡ οὖν Σιγὴ συληθεῖσα εἰς ἐκλογὴν γνώσεως ἅπαντα σῶσαι συνῆγε τῇ δευτέρᾳ ἀντιτεθείσῃ Ὀγδοάδι ἀφθάρτῳ μίξει, νοικῇ δὲ βουλήσει· ἦν δὲ αὐτῆς ἡ νοικὴ βούλησις Πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον, τὸ ἐν μέσῳ τῶν ἁγίων ἐκκλησιῶν. τοῦτο οὖν εἰς τὴν δευτέραν Ὀγδοάδα πέμψασα ἔπεισε καὶ αὐτὴν ἐνωθῆναι αὐτῇ. γάμος οὖν ἐτελειοῦτο ἐν τοῖς τῆς Ὀγδοάδος μέρεσιν,

31.6.7 | So Silence, having been wounded for the choice of knowledge, gathered all things to save them, joined with the second Eightfold in an incorruptible mixing, with a mind's will; and her mind's will was the Holy Spirit, in the midst of the holy churches. Therefore, having sent this to the second Eightfold, she persuaded it also to be joined with her. So the marriage was completed in the parts of the Eightfold.

31.6.8 | ἐνουμένου τοῦ ἁγίου Πνεύματος τῷ Μόνῳ καὶ τῆς Δυάδος τῷ Τρίτῳ καὶ τοῦ Τρίτου τῇ Ἑξάδι καὶ τῆς Ὀγδοάδος τῷ Ἑβδόμῳ καὶ τοῦ Ἑβδόμου τῇ Δυάδι καὶ τῆς Ἑξάδος τῷ Πέμπτῳ.

31.6.8 | The Holy Spirit was united with the One, and the Dyad with the Third, and the Third with the Hexad, and the Octad with the Seventh, and the Seventh with the Dyad, and the Hexad with the Fifth.

31.6.9 | ὅλη δὲ ἡ Ὀγδοὰς συνῆλθε μετὰ ὧν | τὰ ἀνόματά ἐστι ταῦτα· Καρπιστῆς Ὅροθέτης Χαριστήριος Ἄφετος

31.6.9 | The whole Eightfold came together with pleasure in an ageless and incorruptible mixing, for there was no separation among them; there was a blending with flawless pleasure. And it revealed a group of five fruitful mothers, whose names are these: Carpisthes, Μεταγωγεύς. οὔτοι τῆς Μεσότητος ώνομέσθησαν υἱοί.

Orothetes, Charistērios, Aphetos, Metagōgeus. These were called the sons of Moderation.

31.6.10 | βούλομαι δὲ ὁμᾶς γβνώσκειν·

31.6.10 | I want you all to know: Ampsiou, Aura, Boukoua, Thardou, Ouboukoua, Thardeddein, Merexa, Atara, Barba, Oudiyak, Esten, Odououak, Eslen, Amphain, Essoumen, Ounatar, Lamarter, Athames, Soumin, Allorai, Koubiatha, Danadaria, Dammo, Oren, Lanafek, Oudinpek, Emphiboche, Barra, Assiou, Ache, Velim, Dexariche, Masemon. And these are taken from part E of their books, arranged up to this point; let this be said to me.

Section 7

31.7.1 | Ἐποιήσατο δὲ οὗτος τὸ κήρυγμα καὶ ἐν Αἰγύπτῳ, ὅθεν δὴ καὶ ὡς λείψανα ἐχίδνης ὁστέων ἔτι ἐν Αἰγύπτῳ περιλείπεται τούτου ἡ σπορά, ἐν τε τῷ Ἀθριβίτῃ καὶ Προσωπίτῃ καὶ Ἀρσινοῖτῃ καὶ Θηβαΐδι καὶ τοῖς κάτω μέρεσι τῆς Παραλίας καὶ Ἀλεξανδρειοπολίτῃ· ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν Ῥώμῃ ἀνελθὼν κεκήρυχεν.

31.7.1 | And this one made his proclamation also in Egypt, from where indeed even now the seed of it remains like the bones of a viper still left in Egypt, in Athribis and Prosopitis and Arsinoe and Thebaid and the lower parts of the coast and Alexandria; but also having gone up to Rome, he proclaimed it there.

31.7.2 | εἰς Κύπρον δὲ ἐληλυθὼς, †ὥς ναυάγιον ὑποστὰς φύσει σωματικῶς, τῆς πίστεως ἐξέστη καὶ τὸν νοῦν ἐξετράπη. ἐνομίζετο γὰρ πρὸ τούτου μέρος ἔχειν εὐσεβείας καὶ ὀρθῆς πίστεως ἐν τοῖς προειρημένοις τόποις. ἐν δὲ τῇ Κύπρῳ λοιπὸν εἰς ἔσχατον ἀσεβείας ἐλήλακεν καὶ ἐβάθυνεν ἑαυτὸν ἐν ταύτῃ τῇ καταγγελλομένῃ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ μοχθηρίᾳ.

31.7.2 | But having come to Cyprus, as if suffering a shipwreck in body by nature, he fell away from faith and his mind was turned aside. For before this, he thought he had a share of piety and true faith in the places mentioned before. But in Cyprus, he fell into the deepest impiety and sank himself in this evil that he proclaimed.

31.7.3 | λέγει δὲ αὐτός τε καὶ οἱ αὐτοῦ τὸν

31.7.3 | He himself and his followers call κύριον ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦν Χριστόν, ὡς ἔφην, καὶ Σωτῆρα καὶ Χριστόν καὶ Λόγον καὶ Σταυρὸν καὶ Μεταγωγέα καὶ Ὁροθέτην καὶ Ὅρον.

our lord Jesus Christ, as I said, both Savior and Christ and Word and Cross and Guide and Boundary-Setter and Limit.

31.7.4 | φαοὶ δὲ ἄνωθεν κατενηνοχέναι τὸ σῶμα καὶ ὡς διὰ σωλῆνος ὕδωρ διὰ Μαρίας τῆς παρθένου διεληλυθέναι, μηδὲν δὲ ἀπὸ τῆς παρθενικῆς μήτρας ἐληφέναι, ἀλλὰ ἄνωθεν τὸ σῶμα ἔχειν, ὡς προεῖπον.

31.7.4 | He says that the body was brought down from above and passed through Mary the virgin like water through a pipe, and that it took nothing from the virgin womb, but has the body from above, as I said before.

31.7.5 | μὴ εἶναι δὲ αὐτὸν τὸν πρῶτον Λόγον μηδὲ τὸν μετὰ τὸν Λόγον Χριστόν τὸν τὸν ὄντα ἐν τοῖς ἄνω Αἰώσι, ἀλλὰ τοῦτον φάσκουσι προβεβλῆσθαι δι' οὐδὲν ἕτερον ἢ μόνον εἰς τὸ ἐλθεῖν καὶ ἀνασῶσαι τὸ γένος τὸ ἄνωθεν πνευματικόν.

31.7.5 | They say that he is neither the first Word nor Christ after the Word, who exists in the upper Ages, but that he was sent for no other reason than only to come and save the spiritual race from above.

31.7.6 | τὴν δὲ τῶν νεκρῶν ἀνάστασιν ἀπαρνοῦνται, φάσκοντές τι μυθῶδες καὶ ληρωδες, μὴ τὸ σῶμα τοῦτο ἀνίστασθαι, ἀλλ' ἕτερον μὲν ἐξ αὐτοῦ, ὃ δὴ πνευματικὸν καλοῦσι· μόνων δὲ ἐκείνων παρ' αὐτοῖς πνευματικῶν καὶ τῶν ἄλλων <τῶν> ψυχικῶν ἐάν γε οἱ ψυχικοὶ δικαιοπραγήσειαν, τοὺς δὲ ὑλικοὺς καὶ σαρκικοὺς καὶ γηϊνοὺς καλουμένους παντάπασι ἀπόλλυσθαι καὶ μηδ' ὅλως σώζεσθαι.

31.7.6 | They deny the resurrection of the dead, saying something made-up and foolish, that this body does not rise, but another one from it, which they call spiritual; and only those spiritual ones among them, and the others who are soulful if the soulful ones live rightly, but the material and fleshly and earthly ones they say are completely destroyed and not saved at all.

31.7.7 | χωρεῖν δὲ ἐκάστην οὐσίαν πρὸς τοὺς ἰδίους αὐτῆς προβολέας, τὴν μὲν ὕλικήν τῇ ὕλῃ ἐκδιδομένην καὶ τὸ σαρκικὸν καὶ γήϊνον τῇ γῇ.

31.7.7 | Each substance fits with its own kind of body, the material one given to matter, and the fleshly and earthly one to the earth.

31.7.8 | τρία γὰρ τάγματα βούλονται εἶναι ἀνθρώπων, πνευματικῶν ψυχικῶν σαρκικῶν, τὸ δὲ τάγμα τὸ πνευματικὸν ἑαυτοῦς λέγουσιν, ὥσπερ καὶ γνωστικούς, καὶ μήτε καμάτου ἐπιδομένους ἢ μόνον τῆς γνώσεως καὶ τῶν ἐπιρρημάτων τῶν αὐτῶν μυστηρίων. πᾶν δὲ ὁτιοῦν ποιεῖν ἀδεῶς ἕκαστον αὐτῶν καὶ μηδὲν πεφροντικέναι· ἐξ ἅπαντος γὰρ φασὶ σωθήσεσθαι πνευματικὸν ὃν τὸ αὐτῶν τάγμα.

31.7.8 | They say there are three groups of people: spiritual, soulful, and fleshly. The spiritual group calls themselves that, like the Gnostics, and they say they need no effort or only knowledge and the words of their own secrets. Each of them does whatever they want without fear and thinks nothing of it; for they say that anyone who is spiritual in their group will be saved.

31.7.9 | τὸ δὲ ἕτερον τάγμα τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἐν κόσμῳ, ὅπερ ψυχικὸν καλοῦσιν, ἐφ' ἑαυτοῦ σῶζεσθαι μὴ δυνάμενον, εἰ μὴ τι ἂν καμάτῳ καὶ δικαιοπραγίᾳ ἑαυτὸ ἀνασώσειε. τὸ δὲ ὑλικὸν τάγμα τῶν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ ἀνθρώπων μήτε δύνασθαι χωρεῖν τὴν γνώσιν φασὶ μήτε δέχεσθαι ταύτην, καὶ θέλοι ὁ ἐκ τούτου τοῦ τάγματος ὁρμώμενος, ἀπόλλυσθαι δὲ ἅμα σὺν] ψυχῇ καὶ σώματι.

31.7.9 | The other group of people in the world, which they call soulful, cannot save themselves unless by some effort and doing what is right they rescue themselves. The material group of people in the world they say cannot understand knowledge or accept it, even if someone from this group tries; and they will be destroyed along with their soul and body.

31.7.10 | τὸ δὲ ἑαυτῶν τάγμα πνευματικὸν ὃν σῶζεσθαι σὺν σώματι ἄλλῳ, ἐνδοτέρῳ τινὶ ὄντι. ὅπερ αὐτοὶ σῶμα πνευματικὸν καλοῦσι φανταζόμενοι.

31.7.10 | Their own group, being spiritual, is saved together with the body by another, something inward. Which they call a spiritual body, imagining it.

31.7.11 | τοὺς δὲ ψυχικοὺς κεκτημένους πολὺ καὶ ὑπερᾶναβεβηκότας τὸν Δημιουργὸν ἄνω δοθήσεσθαι τοῖς ἀγγέλοις τοῖς ἅμα Χριστῷ οὖσιν, οὐδέν τι τῶν σωμάτων ἀνακομιζομένους, ἀλλὰ μόνον τὰς ψυχὰς ἐν πληρώματι εὐρεθείσας τῆς αὐτῶν γνώσεως καὶ τὸν Δημιουργὸν ὑπερβεβηκυίας δίδοσθαι τοῖς μετὰ τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἀγγέλοις εἰς νύμφας.

31.7.11 | Those soulful ones who have been tested and greatly surpassed the Creator will be given above to the angels who are with Christ, bringing nothing of their bodies, but only their souls found in the fullness of their knowledge and because they have surpassed the Creator, they will be given to the angels with Christ as brides.

31.8.1 | 8. Τοιαύτη ἐστὶν ἡ κατ' αὐτοὺς τραγωδία, ἔχουσα μὲν καὶ πλείω τούτων· ἐγὼ δὲ μόνον ἅτινα φύσει ἀναγκαῖον εἶναι ἡγησάμην εἰς τὸ ὑμῶν ἐλθεῖν, ταῦθ' ὑπηγόρευσα, ὥς ἡ εἰς ἡμᾶς † γνῶσις ἦλθεν·

31.8.1 | 8. Such is the tragedy according to them, having even more than these; but I only chose those things which by nature I thought were necessary to come into the open, these I have explained, as the knowledge came to us.

31.8.2 | τὸ πόθεν τε ὠρμᾶτο ἐν ποίοις δὲ καιροῖς ὑπῆρχεν καὶ ἀπὸ ποίων τὰς προφάσεις εἴληφεν καὶ τίς αὐτοῦ ἡ διδασκαλία, ἅμα τε τίσιν ἐβλάστησε τῷ βίῳ κακόν, ἀπὸ μέρους τε, ὥς ἔφην, τῆς τούτου διδασκαλίας ἐμνημόνευσα.

31.8.2 | Where it began, at what times it was, and from what reasons it took its start, and what its teaching was, and at the same time what harm it brought to life—I have remembered these parts, as I said, of this teaching.

31.8.3 | τὰ δὲ λοιπὰ τῆς αὐτοῦ λεπτολογίας οὐκ ἐβουλήθην ἀπ' ἑμαυτοῦ συντάξαι, εὐρὼν παρὰ τῷ ἁγιωτάτῳ Εἰρηναίῳ ναίῳ τῷ ἀρχαίῳ τὴν κατ' αὐτοῦ πραγματείαν γεγεννημένην. ἕως δὲ ἐνταῦθα τὰ ὀλίγα ταῦτα διεξελθὼν, τὰ ἐξῆς ἀπὸ τῶν τοῦ προειρημένου ἀνδρός, δούλου θεοῦ, Εἰρηναίου δὲ φημι, τὴν παράθεσιν ὀλοσχερῶς ποιήσομαι. ἔχει δὲ οὕτως· <EK> ΤΩΝ ΤΟΥ ΑΓΙΟΥ

31.8.3 | But I did not want to write the rest of his detailed account myself, having found the treatise by the most holy Irenaeus, who lived long ago. And until now, having gone through these few things here, I will fully give the rest from the man mentioned before, a servant of God, I say Irenaeus. It is like this: <FROM> THE THINGS OF THE SAINT

31.9.1 | Ἐπεὶ τὴν ἀλήθειαν παραπεμπόμενοι τινες ἐπεισάγοθσι λόγους ψευδεῖς καὶ »γενεαλογίας ἀπεράντους, αἵτινες ζητήσεις μᾶλλον παρέχουσι, καθὼς ὁ ἀπόστολος φησιν »ἢ οἰκοδομὴν θεοῦ τὴν ἐν πίστει«, καὶ διὰ τῆς πανούργως συγκεκροτημένης πιθανότητος παράγουσι τὸν νοῦν τῶν ἀπειροτέρων καὶ αἰχμαλωτίζουν αὐτοὺς, ῥαδιουργοῦντες

31.9.1 | Since some, sending away the truth, bring in false stories and endless genealogies, which give more questions, as the apostle says, 'than the building up of God in faith,' and through cleverly made arguments they lead the minds of the inexperienced astray and capture them, twisting the words of the lord,

Section 10

31.10.1 | 10. Οὐκ ἐπιζητήσεις δὲ παρ' ἡμῶν, τῶν ἐν Κελτοῖς διατριβόντων καὶ περὶ βάρβαρον διάλεκτον τὸ πλεῖστον ἐσχολουμένων, λόγων τέχνην ἣν οὐκ ἐμάθομεν οὔτε δύναμιν συγγραφέως ἣν οὐκ ἤσκησαμεν οὔτε καλλωπισμὸν λέξεων οὔτε πιθανότητα ἣν οὐκ οἶδαμεν, ἀλλὰ ἀπλῶ;

31.10.1 | you will not seek from us, who live among the celts and mostly busy ourselves with a foreign language, the art of words which we have not learned, nor the skill of a writer which we have not practiced, nor the beauty of words nor the persuasiveness which we do not know, but simple;

31.10.2 | καὶ ἀληθῶς καὶ ἰδιωτικῶς τὰ μετὰ ἀγάπης σοὶ γραφέντα μετὰ ἀγάπης σὺ προσδέξῃ καὶ αὐτὸς ἀυξήσεις αὐτὰ παρὰ σεαυτῷ ἅτε ἱκανώτερος ἡμῶν τυγχάνων), οἶονεὶ σπέρματα καὶ ἀρχὰς λαβὼν παρ' ἡμῶν,

31.10.2 | and truly, and personally, you will receive with love what is written to you with love, and you yourself will grow it within yourself, being more capable than we are, as if taking seeds and beginnings from us,

31.10.3 | καὶ ἐν τῷ πλάτει σοῦ τοῦ νοῦ ἐπὶ πολὺ καρποφορήσεις τὰ δι' ὀλίγων ὑφ' ἡμῶν εἰρημένα καὶ δυνατῶς παραστήσεις τοῖς μετὰ σοῦ τὰ ἀσθενῶς ὑφ' ἡμῶν ἀπηγγελέμενα.

31.10.3 | and in the breadth of your mind you will bear much fruit from the few things spoken by us, and you will strongly present to those with you the things weakly reported by us.

31.10.4 | καὶ ὥς ἡμεῖς ἐφιλοτιμήθημεν, πάλαι ζητοῦντός σου μαθεῖν τὴν γνώμην αὐτῶν, μὴ μόνον σοὶ ποιῆσαι φανεράν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐφόδια δοῦναι πρὸς τὸ ἐπιδεικνύειν αὐτὴν ψευδῇ, οὕτως δὲ καὶ σὺ φιλοτίμως τοῖς λοιποῖς διακονήσεις, κατὰ τὴν χάριν τὴν ὑπὸ τοῦ κυρίου σοὶ διδομένην, εἰς τὸ μηκέτι παρασύρεσθαι τοὺς ἀνθρώπους ὑπὸ τῆς ἐκείνων πιθανολογίας, οὔσης τοιαύτης.

31.10.4 | and just as we eagerly tried long ago to learn their opinion, not only to make it clear to you, but also to give you tools to show it as false, so you too will eagerly serve the others, according to the grace given to you by the lord, so that people will no longer be led astray by their persuasive talk, which is like that.

31.10.5 | Λέγουσιν γάρ τινα εἶναι ἐν ἀοράτοις καὶ ἀκατονομάστοις ὑψώμασι τέλειον Αἰῶνα προόντα· τοῦτον δὲ καὶ Προαρχὴν καὶ Προπάτορα καὶ Βυθὸν καλοῦσιν. ὑπάρχοντα δ' αὐτὸν ἀχώρητον καὶ ὁράτον, αἰδόν τε χρόνων· συνυπάρχειν δ' αὐτῷ καὶ Ἐννοϊαν, ἣν δὴ καὶ Χάριν καὶ Σιγὴν δνομάζουσι.

31.10.5 | for they say there is a perfect age in invisible and unnamed heights that has passed; and they call this both the beginning before all and the ancestor and the depth. and they say it exists without space and unseen, and without time; and that thought also exists with it, which they call grace and silence.

31.10.6 | καὶ ποτὲ ἐννοηθῆναι ἀφ' ἑαυτοῦ προβαλέσθαι τὸν Βυθὸν τοῦτον ἀρχὴν τῶν πάντων, καὶ καθάπερ σπέρμα τὴν προβολὴν ταύτην, ἣν προβαλέσθαι ἐνενοήθη, καὶ] καταθέσθαι ὡς ἐν μήτρᾳ Ε; τῇ συνυπαρχούσῃ ἑαυτῷ Σιγῇ.

31.10.6 | and once it was thought that this depth, the beginning of all, came forth from itself, and just like a seed this coming forth, which was thought to come forth, was laid down as if in a womb with the silence that exists with it.

31.10.7 | ταύτην δὲ ὑποδεξαμένην τὸ σπέρμα τοῦτο καὶ ἐγκύμονα γενομένην ἀποκυῖσαι Νοῦν, ὁμοίον τε καὶ ἴσον τῷ προβαλόντι καὶ μόνον χωροῦντα τὸ μέγεθος τοῦ πατρός· τὸν δὲ Νοῦν τοῦτον καὶ Μονογενῆ καλοῦσι καὶ Πατέρα καὶ ἀρχὴν τῶν πάντων.

31.10.7 | and receiving this seed and becoming pregnant, it gave birth to mind, both like and equal to the one who came forth, and alone holding the size of the father; and this mind they call the only-begotten, and father, and the beginning of all.

31.10.8 | συμπροβεβλήσθαι δὲ αὐτῷ Ἀλήθειαν καὶ εἶναι ταύτην πρώτην καὶ ἀρχέγονον Πυθαγορικὴν τετρακτύν, ἣν καὶ ῥίζαν τῶν πάντων καλοῦσιν. ἔστιν γὰρ Βυθὸς καὶ Σιγή, ἔπειτα Νοῦς καὶ Ἀλήθεια.

31.10.8 | and truth was seen together with it, and this truth is the first and original Pythagorean tetractys, which they also call the root of all things. for there is depth and silence, then mind and truth.

31.10.9 | αἰσθόμενον δὲ τὸν Μονογενῆ τοῦτον ἐφ' οἷς προεβλήθη, προβαλεῖν καὶ αὐτὸν Λόγον καὶ Ζωὴν, πατέρα πάντων τῶν μετ' αὐτὸν ἐσομένων καὶ ἀρχὴν καὶ μόρφωσιν παντὸς τοῦ Πληρώματος· ἐκ δὲ τοῦ Λόγου καὶ τῆς Ζωῆς προβεβλήσθαι κατὰ συζυγίαν Ἄνθρωπον καὶ Ἐκκλησίαν.

31.10.9 | and perceiving this only-begotten on which he was born, he also brought forth word and life, father of all those who will be after him, and the beginning and form of all the fullness; and from word and life, man and church were born together as a pair.

31.10.10 | καὶ εἶναι ταύτην ἀρχέγονον Ὀγδοάδα, ρίζαν καὶ ὑπόστασιν τῶν πάντων, τέτρασιν ὀνόμασι παρ' αὐτοῖς καλουμένην, Βυθῶ καὶ Νῶ καὶ Λόγῳ καὶ Ἀνθρώπῳ. εἶναι γὰρ αὐτῶν ἕκαστον ἀρρενόθηλυν, οὕτως· πρῶτον τὸν Προπάτορα ἠγνώσθαι κατὰ συζυγίαν τῇ ἑαυτοῦ Ἐννοίᾳ, τὸν δὲ Μονογενῆ τουτέστιν τὸν Νοῦν τῇ Ἀληθείᾳ, τὸν δὲ Λόγον τῇ Ζωῇ καὶ τὸν Ἄνθρωπον τῇ Ἐκκλησίᾳ.

31.10.10 | and this is the original eighth, the root and foundation of all, called by them by four names: depth, mind, word, and man. for each of these is both male and female, like this: first, the ancestor is joined as a pair with his own thought; then the only-begotten, that is mind, with truth; then word with life; and man with church.

31.10.11 | Τούτους δὲ τοὺς Αἰῶνας εἰς δόξαν τοῦ Πατρὸς προβεβλημένους, βουλευθέντας καὶ αὐτοὺς διὰ τοῦ ἰδίου δοξάσαι τὸν Πατέρα, προβαλεῖν προβολὰς ἐν συζυγίᾳ· τὸν μὲν Λόγον καὶ τὴν Ζωὴν μετὰ τὸ προβαλέσθαι τὸν ἄνθρωπον καὶ τὴν Ἐκκλησίαν, ἄλλους δέκα Αἰῶνας, ὧν τὰ ὀνόματα λέγουσι ταῦτα· Βύθιος καὶ Μῖξις, Ἀγήρατος καὶ Ἐνωσις, Αὐτοφυῆς καὶ Ἡδονή, Ἀκίνητος καὶ Σύγκρασις, Μονογενὴς καὶ Μακαρία. οὗτοι Ε;

31.10.11 | and these ages, raised up in glory of the father, also wanting themselves through their own glory to glorify the father, bring forth pairs; the word and life after the man and church were brought forth, and ten other ages, whose names they say are these: depth and mixing, unmoving and union, self-born and pleasure, motionless and blending, only-begotten and blessed. these are E?

31.10.12 | δέκα Αἰῶνες, οὓς φάσκουσιν ἐκ Λόγου καὶ Ζωῆς προβεβλῆσθαι. τὸν δὲ Ἄνθρωπον καὶ αὐτὸν προβαλεῖν μετὰ τῆς Ἐκκλησίας Αἰῶνας δώδεκα, δς ταῦτα τὰ ὀνόματα χαρίζονται· Παράκλητος καὶ Πίστις, Πατρικὸς καὶ Ἐλπίς, Μητρικὸς καὶ ἀγάπη, Ἀείνους καὶ Σύνεσις, Ἐκκλησιαστικὸς καὶ Μακαριότης, Θελητὸς καὶ Σοφία.

31.10.12 | ten ages, which they say were raised up from word and life. but the man himself also brings forth with the church twelve ages, to which these names are given: advocate and faith, fatherly and hope, motherly and love, eternal and understanding, ecclesiastical and blessedness, willing and wisdom.

31.10.13 | Οὗτοί εἰσιν οἱ τριάκοντα Αἰῶνες τῆς πλάνης αὐτῶν, οἱ σεσιγημένοι καὶ μὴ γινωσκόμενοι. τοῦτο τὸ ἀόρατον καὶ πνευματικὸν κατ' αὐτοὺς Πλήρωμα, τριχῇ

31.10.13 | these are the thirty ages of their error, silent and unknown. this invisible and spiritual fullness, according to them, is divided into three parts: an eighth, a tenth, διεσταμένον εἰς ὀγδοάδα καὶ δεκάδα καὶ and a twelfth.

Αἰῶνας μεμνηῦσθαι θέλουσι.

31.10.15 | in the parable of the workers sent into the vineyard, the thirty ages are clearly shown. for some are sent about the first hour, others about the third, others about the sixth, others about the ninth, and others about the eleventh; so the hours mentioned together fill up the number of thirty. for one and three and six and nine and eleven make thirty. and through the hours, they want the ages to be announced.

31.10.16 | καὶ ταῦτ' εἶναι τὰ μεγάλα καὶ

31.10.16 | and these are the great and wonderful and secret mysteries, which they bear fruit. and if somehow any of the many things said in the scriptures could be fitted and guessed to their creation.

Section 11

31.11.1 | 11. Τὸν μὲν οὖν Προπάτορα αὐτῶν γινώσκισθαι μὲν λέγουσι τῷ ἐξ αὐτοῦ γεγονότι Μονογενεῖ τουτέστιν τῷ Νῷ, τοῖς δὲ λοιποῖς πᾶσιν ἀόρατον καὶ ἀκατάληπον ὑπάρχειν. μόνος Γε ὁ Νοῦς κατ' αὐτοὺς ἐτέρπετο θεωρῶν τὸν Πατέρα

31.11.1 | 11. so their first ancestor is said not to be known except to the one born from him, the only-begotten, that is, the mind; but to all the rest, he exists invisible and beyond understanding. only the mind, according to them, was pleased, watching καὶ τὸ μέγεθος τὸ ἀμέτρητον αὐτοῦ κατανοῶν ἠγάλλετο.

the father and understanding his immeasurable greatness, and rejoiced.

31.11.2 | καὶ διενοεῖτο καὶ τοῖς λοιποῖς Αἰώσιν ἀνακοινώσασθαι τὸ μέγεθος τοῦ Πατρός, ἡλικός τε καὶ ὅσος ὑπῆρχεν, καὶ ὡς ἦν ἀναρχός τε καὶ ἀχώρητος καὶ οὐ καταληπτὸς ἰδεῖν· κατέσχευεν δὲ αὐτὸν ἡ Σιγὴ βουζήτησεως τοῦ προειρημένου Προπάτορος αὐτῶν ἀναγαγεῖν.

31.11.2 | and he thought to share with the other ages the greatness of the father, how great and how much he was, and that he was without beginning and without limit and not able to be seen; but silence held him back from seeking to bring back the ancestor mentioned before.

31.11.3 | καὶ οἱ μὲν λοιποὶ ὁμοίως Αἰῶνες ἡσυχῇ πως ἐπεπόθουν τὸν προβολέα τοῦ σπέρματος αὐτῶν ἰδεῖν καὶ τὴν ἀναρχον ρίζαν ἱστορῆσαι.

31.11.3 | and the other ages also quietly longed to see the source of their seed and to learn about the beginningless root.

31.11.4 | προήλατο δὲ ὁ πολὺ τελευταῖος καὶ νεώτατος τῆς δωδεκάδος τῆς ὑπὸ τοῦ Ἀνθρώπου καὶ τῆς Ἐκκλησίας προβεβλημένης Αἰῶν· τουτέστιν ἡ Σοφία καὶ ἔπαθε πάθος ἀνευ τῆς ἐπιπλοκῆς τοῦ Εἰζύγου τοῦ Θελητοῦ, ὃ ἐνήρξατο μὲν ἐν

Πατρὶ τῷ τελείῳ, καθὼς καὶ ὁ Νοῦς, τὸ δὲ πάθος εἶναι ζήτησιν τοῦ Πατρός·

31.11.4 | and the very last and youngest of the twelve ages, which is set before by the man and the church—that is, wisdom—went forward and suffered a passion without the entanglement of the willing yoke; it began in things about the mind and truth, but it turned away to this one, using love as an excuse and boldness, because it was not shared with the perfect father, just like the mind. and the passion is a seeking of the father;

31.11.5 | ἤθελε γάρ, ὡς λέγουσι, τὸ μέγεθος αὐτοῦ καταλαβεῖν. ἔπειτα μὴ δυνηθέντα διὰ τὸ ἀδυνάτῳ ἐπιβαλεῖν πράγματι καὶ ἐν πολλῷ πάνυ ἀγῶνι γενόμενον διὰ τε τὸ ἐκτενόμενον αἰεὶ ἐπὶ τὸ πρόσθεν ὑπὸ τῆς γλυκύτητος αὐτοῦ τελευταῖον ἄν καταπεπόσθαι καὶ ἀναλελύσθαι εἰς τὴν

31.11.5 | for it wanted, as they say, to grasp its greatness. then, not being able because it was impossible to take it in fully, and after a very great struggle, both because of the depth's size and the father's unfathomable nature and the love toward him, always stretching out toward what was before, it would finally have been swallowed up and broken down into the ὅλην οὐσίαν, εἰ μὴ τῇ στηριζούσῃ καὶ ἐκτὸς τοῦ ἀρρήτου μεγέθους φυλασσούσῃ τὰ ὅλα συνέτυχε δυνάμει.

whole being, if not for the power that supports and, beyond the unspeakable greatness, holds all things together.

31.11.6 | ταύτην δὲ τὴν δύναμιν καὶ Ὅρον καλοῦσιν, ὃφ' ἧς ἐπεσχῆσθαι καὶ ξστηρίχθαι καὶ μόγῃς ἐπιστρέψαντα εἰς ἑαυτὸν καὶ πεισθέντα, ὅτι ἀκατάληπτός ἐστιν ὁ Πατήρ, ἀποθέσθαι τὴν προτέραν ἐνθύμησιν σὺν τῷ ἐπιγενομένῳ πάθει ἐκ τοῦ ἐκπλήκτου ἐκείνου θαύματος.

31.11.6 | and this power they call the limit, by which it was stopped and supported, and barely turning back to itself and being convinced that the father is incomprehensible, it laid aside its former thought along with the suffering that came from that amazed wonder.

Section 12

31.12.1 | 12. Ἐνιοὶ δὲ αὐτῶν οὕτως τὸ πάθος τῆς Σοφίας καὶ τὴν ἐπιστροφὴν 25 μυθολογοῦσιν· ἀδυνάτῳ καὶ ἀκαταλήπτῳ πράγματι αὐτὴν ἐπιχειρήσασαν τεκεῖν οὐσίαν ἄμορφον, οἷαν φύσιν εἶχεν θήλεια τεκεῖν·

31.12.1 | some of them tell a story like this about the suffering of wisdom and its turning back: trying to give birth to a formless being, which was impossible and beyond understanding, like a female nature trying to give birth;

31.12.2 | ἦν καὶ κατανοήσασαν πρῶτον μὲν λυπηθῆναι διὰ τὸ ἀτελὲς τῆς γενέσεως, ἔπειτα φοβηθῆναι μήτι καὶ αὐτὸ τὸ εἶναι τέλος ἔχῃ· εἴτα ἐκστῆναι καὶ ἀπορῆσαι, ζητοῦσαν τὴν αἰτίαν καὶ ὄντινα τρόπον ἀποκρύψει τὸ γεγονός.

31.12.2 | and when they understood it, first they were sad because the birth was incomplete, then they were afraid that even existence itself might have an end; then they were beside themselves and confused, looking for the cause and how the event was hidden.

31.12.3 | ἐγκαταγενομένην δὲ τοῖς πάθεσι λαβεῖν ἐπιστροφὴν καὶ ἐπὶ τὸν Πατέρα ἐναδραμεῖν πειραθῆναι καὶ μέχρι τινὸς πολμήσασιν ἐξασθενῆσαι καὶ ἰκέτιν τοῦ Πατρὸς γενέσθαι.

31.12.3 | being born into these sufferings, it took a turn and rushed back to the father, trying and struggling until it grew weak and became a suppliant to the father.

31.12.4 | συνδεηθῆναι δὲ αὐτῇ καὶ τοὺς λοιποὺς Αἰῶνας, μάλιστα δὲ τὸν Νοῦν.

31.12.4 | and the other ages were joined to it, especially the mind. from there they say έντεῦθεν λέγουσι πρώτην ἀρχὴν ἐσχηκέναι τὴν οὐσίαν τῆς ὕλης, ἐκ τῆς ἀγνοίας καὶ τῆς λύπης καὶ τοῦ φόβου καὶ τῆς ἐκπλήξεως.

the essence of matter first took its beginning, from ignorance and sadness and fear and amazement.

31.12.5 | Ὁ δὲ Πατὴρ τὸν προειρημένον Ὅρον ἐπὶ τούτοις διὰ τοῦ Μονογενοῦς προβάλλεται ἐν εἰκόνι ἰδίᾳ, ἀσύζυγον ἀθήλυντον· τὸν γὰρ Πατέρα ποτὲ μὲν μετὰ συζυγίας τῆς Σιγῆς, ποτὲ δὲ καὶ ὑπὲρ ἄρρεν καὶ ὑπὲρ θῆλυ εἶναι θέλουσι.

31.12.5 | but the father shows the said limit on these things through the only-begotten, in a special image, unpaired and without a body; for the father sometimes is with the union of silence, and sometimes they want him to be beyond male and beyond female.

31.12.6 | τὸν δὲ Ὅρον τοῦτον καὶ Σταυρὸν καὶ Λυτρωτὴν καὶ Καρπιστὴν καὶ Ὅροθέτην καὶ Μεταγωγέα καλοῦσι. διὰ δὲ τοῦ Ὁρου τούτου φασὶ κεκαθάρθαι καὶ ἐστηρίχθαι τὴν Σοφίαν καὶ ἀποκατασταθῆναι τῇ συζυγίᾳ.

31.12.6 | but this Limit they also call Cross and Redeemer and Bearer of Fruit and Boundary Setter and Guide. through this Limit they say Wisdom was purified and supported and restored to the union.

31.12.7 | χωρισθείσης γὰρ τῆς Ἐνθυμήσεως ἀπ' αὐτῆς σὺν τῷ ἐπιγενομένῳ πάθει, αὐτὴν μὲν ἐντὸς Πληρώματος μεῖναι, τὴν δὲ ἐνθύμησιν σύτῃς οὖν τῷ πάθει ὑπὸ τοῦ Ὁρου ἀφορισθῆναι καὶ ἀποσταυρωθῆναι καὶ ἐκτὸς αὐτοῦ γενομένην εἶναι μὲν πνευματικὴν οὐσίαν, Ε; φυσικὴν τινα Αἰῶνος ὀρμὴν τυγχάνουσιν, ἄμορφον δὲ καὶ ἀνείδεον διὰ τὸ μηδὲν καταλαβεῖν. καὶ διὰ τοῦτο καρπὸν ἀσθενῆ καὶ θῆλυν αὐτὴν λέγουσι.

31.12.7 | for when the Thought was separated from it along with the suffering that came, it stayed inside the Fullness, but the Thought of it, being without the suffering, was cut off by the Limit and was crucified and became outside it; it was a spiritual being, yes; a natural impulse of the Age, shapeless and without form because it could not grasp anything. and for this reason they say it is a weak and female fruit.

31.13.1 | 13. Μετὰ δὲ τὸ ἀφορισθῆναι ταύτην ἐκτὸς τοῦ Πληρώματος τῶν Αἰώνων τὴν τε Μητέρα αὐτῆς ἀποκατασταθῆναι τῇ ἰδίᾳ συζυγίᾳ, τὸν Μονογενῆ πάλιν ἐτέραν προβαλέσθαι

31.13.1 | 13. after this was cut off outside the Fullness of the Ages, her Mother was restored to her own union, and the Only-Begotten again showed another union by the foresight of the Father, so that no one of the Ages would suffer like this one, Christ and the holy Spirit, as a bond and support of the Fullness, through whom they say the Ages were made complete.

31.13.2 | τὸν μὲν γὰρ Χριστὸν διδάξαι αὐτοὺς συζυγίας φύσιν, † ἀγεννήτου ἀκατάληπτος καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν οὔτε ἰδεῖν οὔτε ἀκοῦσαι αὐτὸν ἢ διὰ μόνου τοῦ Μονογενοῦς γινώσκεται·

31.13.2 | for to teach them the nature of union, knowing they are able to grasp the unbegotten, and to declare in them the knowledge of the Father, because he is uncontainable and incomprehensible and cannot be seen or heard, but is known only through the Only-Begotten;

31.13.3 | καὶ τὸ μὲν αἴτιον τῆς αἰωνίου διαμονῆς τοῖς λοιποῖς τὸ ἀκατάληπτον ὑπάρχειν τοῦ Πατρὸς, τῆς δὲ γενέσεως αὐτῶν καὶ μορφώσεως τὸ καταληπτὸν αὐτοῦ, ὃ δὴ υἱὸς ἐστίν. καὶ ταῦτα μὲν ὁ ἄρτι προβληθεὶς Χριστὸς ἐν αὐτοῖς ἐδημιούργησε.

31.13.3 | and the cause of eternal existence for the others is the Father's incomprehensible being, but their birth and shaping is his comprehensible one, who is indeed the son. and these things the Christ just mentioned created in them.

31.13.4 | Τὸ δὲ ἐν] Πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον ἐξισωθέντας αὐτοὺς πάντας εὐχαριστεῖν ἐδίαξεν καὶ τὴν ἀληθινὴν ἀνάπαυσιν Ε;

Χριστοὺς, κα τὰς θηλείας ὁμοίως πάσας Ἀληθείας καὶ πάσας Ζωὰς καὶ Πνεύματα γὰ Ἐκκλησίας.

31.13.4 | but the one Holy Spirit showed them all to be equal in giving thanks and led them to true rest. and so, in form and knowledge, they say the Ages were made equal, all the Noas and all the Logoi and all the Men and all the Christs, and all the female Truths alike, and all the Lives and Spirits of the Church.

31.13.5 | στηριχθέντα Τε ἐπὶ τούτῳ τὰ ὅλα καὶ ἀναπαυσάμενα τελέως μετὰ μεγάλης χαρᾶς φησὶν ὑμνῆσαι τὸν Προπάτορα, 31.13.5 | and all things being supported on this and having fully rested, he says to praise the Forefather with great joy, having shared much gladness.

31.13.6 | καὶ ὑπὲρ τῆς εὐποιίας ταύτης

31.13.6 | and for this kindness, with one will and purpose, the Fullness of the Ages, with the Christ and the Spirit agreeing, and their Father being honored, brought together and gathered each one of the Ages, carrying what was most beautiful and flourishing in itself, and fittingly weaving and harmoniously uniting these, to present them as an offering for the honor and glory of the Depth.

31.13.7 | τελειότατον κάλλος τι καὶ ἄστρον

31.13.7 | the most perfect beauty and star of the Fullness, the perfect Fruit Jesus, who is also called Savior and Christ and the Word by his Father's name and all things, because he is from all; and as his guards for honor, their kindred angels were placed alongside him.

Section 14

31.14.1 | 14. Αὕτη μὲν οὖν ἐστὶν ἡ ἐντὸς Πληρώματος ὑπ' αὐτῶν λεγομένη πραγματεία, καὶ ἡ τοῦ πεπονθότος Αἰῶνος καὶ μετὰ μικρὸν ἀπολωλότος, ὡς πολλῇ † ὑλῇ διὰ ζήτησιν τοῦ Πατρὸς *, συμφορὰ καὶ ἡ τοῦ Ὁροῦ καὶ Σταυροῦ καὶ Λυτρωτοῦ καὶ Καρπιστοῦ καὶ Ὁροθέτου καὶ Μεταγωγέως ἐξ ἀγῶνος σύμπηξις καὶ ἡ τοῦ πρώτου Χριστοῦ σὺν τῷ Πνεύματι τῷ ἁγίῳ ἐκ μετανοίας ὑπὸ τοῦ Πατρὸς αὐτῶν μεταγενεστέρα τῶν Αἰώνων γένεσις καὶ ἡ τοῦ δευτέρου Χριστοῦ, ὃν καὶ Σωτῆρα λέγουσιν, ἐξ ἐράνου σύνθετος κατασκευή.

31.14.1 | 14. This then is the discussion called within the Fullness by them, and that of the suffering Age and soon lost, as much material through the Father's search, a disaster; and that of the Oath and Cross and Redeemer and Fruitful One and Mountain-Setter and Transferrer, a joining from struggle; and that of the first Christ with the holy Spirit from repentance, later than the Ages, by their Father's will, a birth; and that of the second Christ, who is also called Savior, a composition made from a gift.

31.14.2 | ταῦτα δὲ φανερώς μὲν μὴ εἰρησθαι διὰ τὸ μὴ πάντας χωρεῖν τὴν γνῶσιν αὐτῶν, μυστηριωδῶς ὑπὸ τοῦ Σωτῆρος διὰ παραβολῶν βολῶν μεμνηῦσθαι τοῖς συνιεῖν δυναμένοις οὕτως·

31.14.2 | these things clearly are not spoken openly because not everyone can hold their knowledge, but mysteriously by the Savior through parables they have been signaled to those able to understand like this:

31.14.3 | τοὺς μὲν γὰρ τριάκοντα Αἰῶνας μεμνηῦσθαι διὰ τῶν τριάκοντα ἐτῶν, ὡς προέφαμεν, ἐν οἷς οὐδὲν ἐν φανερῷ φάσκουσι πεποιηκέναι τὸν σωτῆρα, καὶ διὰ τῆς παραβολῆς τῶν ἐργατῶν τοῦ ἀμπελῶνος.

31.14.3 | for the thirty Ages were signaled through the thirty years, as we said before, in which they openly claim the savior did nothing, and through the parable of the workers in the vineyard.

31.14.4 | καὶ τὸν Παῦλον φανερώτατα λέγουσι τοῦσδε Αἰῶνας ὀνομάζειν πολλάκις, ἔτι δὲ καὶ τὴν τάξιν αὐτῶν τετηρηκέναι οὕτως εἰπόντα »εἰς πάσας τὰς γενεὰς τῶν αἰώνων τοῦ αἰῶνος«.

31.14.4 | and they say very clearly that Paul often calls these Ages by name, and even says that their order has been kept like this: "to all the generations of the ages of the age."

31.14.5 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἡμᾶς ἐπὶ τῆς εὐχαριστίας λέγοντας »εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας τῶν αἰώνων« ἐκείνους τοὺς Αἰῶνας σημαίνειν· καὶ ὅπου ἂν αἰὼν ἢ αἰῶνες ὀνομάζωνται, τὴν ἀναφορὰν εἰς ἐκείνους εἶναι θέλουσιν.

31.14.5 | but also when we say in the thanksgiving "to the ages of the ages," we mean those Ages; and wherever age or ages are named, they want the reference to be to those.

31.14.6 | τὴν δὲ τῆς δωδεκάδος τῶν Αἰώνων προβολὴν μηνύεσθαι διὰ τοῦ δωδεκαετῆ ὄντα τὸν κύριον διαλεχθῆναι τοῖς νομοδιδασκάλοις καὶ διὰ τῆς τῶν ἀποστόλων ἐκλογῆς· δώδεκα γὰρ ἀπόστολοι.

31.14.6 | the showing of the twelve Ages is said to be shown because the lord, being twelve years old, talked with the teachers of the law and because of the choosing of the apostles; for there are twelve apostles.

31.14.7 | καὶ τοὺς λοιποὺς δεκαοκτὼ Αἰῶνας φανεροῦσθαι διὰ τοῦ μετὰ τὴν <ἐκ> νεκρῶν ἀνάστασιν δεκαοκτὼ

31.14.7 | and the other eighteen Ages are shown because after the resurrection from the dead, he is said to have spent eighteen μησὶν λέγειν διατετριφέναι σὺν τοῖς μαθηταῖς· ἀλλὰ καὶ διὰ τῶν προηγουμένων τοῦ ὀνόματος αὐτοῦ δύο γραμμάτων, τοῦ τε ἰῶτα καὶ τοῦ ἦτα, τοὺς δεκαοκτὼ Αἰῶνας εὐσήμεως μηνύεσθαι.

months with the disciples; but also because of the two letters before his name, iota and eta, the eighteen Ages are properly shown.

31.14.8 | καὶ τοὺς δέκα Αἰῶνας ὡσαύτως διὰ τοῦ ἰῶτα γράμματος, ὃ προηγείται τοῦ ὀνόματος αὐτοῦ, σημαίνεσθαι λέγουσιν. καὶ διὰ τοῦτο εἰρηκέναι τὸν σωτῆρα »ἰῶτα ἐν ἡ μία κεραία οὐ μὴ παρέλθῃ, ἕως ἂν πάντα γένηται«.

31.14.8 | and the ten Ages likewise are said to be shown by the letter iota, which comes before his name. and because of this, the savior is said to have spoken, “not one iota or one small stroke will pass away until everything happens.”

31.14.9 | Τὸ δὲ περὶ τὸν δωδέκατον Αἰῶνα γεγονὸς πάθος ὑποσημαίνεισθαι λέγουσι διὰ τῆς ἀποστασίας Ἰούδα, ὅς δωδέκατος ἦν τῶν ἀποστόλων, καὶ ὅτι τῷ δωδεκάτῳ μηνὶ ἔπαθεν· ἐνιαυτῷ γὰρ ἐνὶ βούλονται αὐτὸν μετὰ τὸ βάπτισμα αὐτοῦ κεκηρυχέναι.

31.14.9 | and the event about the twelfth Age is said to be hinted at by the betrayal of Judas, who was the twelfth of the apostles, and that he suffered in the twelfth month; for they want him to have preached for one year after his baptism.

31.14.10 | ἔτι τε ἐπὶ τῆς αἱμορροούσης σαφέστατα τοῦτο δηλοῦσθαι· δώδεκα γὰρ ἔτη παθοῦσαν αὐτὴν ὑπὸ τῆς τοῦ σωτῆρος παρουσίας τεθεραπεῦσθαι, ἀψαμένην τοῦ κρασπέδου αὐτοῦ, καὶ διὰ τοῦτο εἰρηκέναι τὸν σωτῆρα »τίς μου ἥψατο;« διδάσκοντα τοὺς μαθητὰς τὸ γεγονὸς ἐν τοῖς Αἰῶσι μυστήριον καὶ τὴν ἰασιν τοῦ πεπονθότος Αἰῶνος.

31.14.10 | and also this is clearly shown about the woman with the bleeding; for she suffered for twelve years and was healed by the presence of the savior, touching the edge of his cloak. and because of this, the savior is said to have spoken, “who touched me?” teaching the disciples the event as a mystery in the Ages and the healing of the suffering Age.

31.14.11 | ἡ γὰρ παθοῦσα δώδεκα ἔτη ἐκείνη ἡ δύναμις, ἐκτεινομένης αὐτῆς καὶ εἰς ἀπειρον ρεύσης τῆς οὐσίας, ὡς λέγουσιν, εἴ μὴ ἔψαυσε τοῦ φορήματος τοῦ υἱοῦ τουτέστιν τῆς Ἀληθείας τῆς πρώτης τετράδος ἣτις διὰ τοῦ κρασπέδου μεμήνυται, ἀνελύθη ἂν εἰς τὴν E; οὐσίαν 31.14.11 | for the woman who suffered for twelve years, that power, stretching out and flowing endlessly in her being, as they say, if she had not touched the garment of the son—that is, the Truth of the first group of four, which is shown by the edge—her being would have been undone into the E.

αὐτῆς. ἀλλὰ ἔστη καὶ ἐπαύσατο τοῦ πάθους· ἡ γὰρ ἐξελθοῦσα δύναμις τοῦ υἱοῦ εἶναι δὲ ταύτην τὸν Ὅρον θέλουσιν) ἐθεράπευσεν αὐτὴν καὶ τὸ πάθος ἐχώρισεν ἀπ’ αὐτῆς.

but it stopped and the suffering ended; for the power that came out is said to be that of the son (this is the term they want), who healed herself and the suffering left her.

31.14.12 | Τὸ δὲ Ε; Σωτῆρα, τὸν ἐκ πάντων ὄντα, τὸ Πᾶν εἶναι διὰ τοῦ λόγου τοῦ »πᾶν ἄρρεν διανοῖγον μήτραν« δηλοῦσθαι λέγουσιν· ὅς τὸ Πᾶν ὦν σθείσης ἐκτὸς τοῦ Πληρώματος, ἦν δὴ καὶ δευτέραν Ὀγδοάδα περὶ ἧς μικρὸν ὕστερον ἐροῦμεν.

31.14.12 | but the E; is the savior, the one who is from all, they say it is shown to be the All through the word “every male opens the womb”; who is the All being cast out from the Fullness, which is also the second Eighth, about which we will speak a little later.

31.14.13 | καὶ ὑπὸ τοῦ Παύλου δὲ φανερώς διὰ τοῦτο εἰρῆσθαι λέγουσι »καὶ αὐτὸς ἐστὶ τὰ πάντα«, καὶ πάλιν »πάντα εἰς αὐτὸν καὶ ἐξ αὐτοῦ τὰ πάντα«, καὶ πάλιν »ἐν αὐτῷ κατοικεῖ πᾶν τὸ πλήρωμα τῆς θεότητος· καὶ τό »ἀνακεφαλαιώσασθαι δὲ τὰ πάντα ἐν τῷ Χριστῷ διὰ τοῦ θεοῦ«, Ε; ἐρμηνεύουσιν εἰρῆσθαι καὶ εἶ τινα ἄλλα τοιαῦτα.

31.14.13 | and by Paul clearly for this reason it is said, “and he himself is all things,” and again, “all things are in him and from him,” and again, “in him dwells all the fullness of the godhead”; and the “to sum up all things in Christ through God,” they interpret the E; to be said, and also if there are other things like this.

Section 15

31.15.1 | 15. Ἐπειτα περὶ τοῦ Ὁρου αὐτῶν, ὃν δὴ καὶ πλείοσιν ὀνόμασιν καλοῦσι, δύο ἐνεργείας ἔχειν αὐτὸν ἀποφαίνονται, τὴν τε ἐδραστικὴν καὶ τὴν μεριστικὴν· καὶ καθάμε) ἐδράζει καὶ στηρίζει, Σταυρὸν εἶναι, καθὸ δὲ μερίζει καὶ διορίζει, Ὅρον.

31.15.1 | Then about their Limit, which many names call it by, they say it has two powers, the one that sets and the one that divides; and just as it sets and supports, it is a Cross, but as it divides and decides, it is a Limit.

31.15.2 | τὸν δὲ σωτῆρα οὕτως λέγουσι μεμνησκέναι τὰς ἐνεργείας αὐτοῦ· καὶ πρῶτον μὲν τὴν ἐδραστικὴν ἐν τῷ εἰπεῖν »ὅς οὐ βαστάζει τὸν σταυρὸν αὐτοῦ καὶ ἀκολουθεῖ μοι, μαθητὴς ἐμὸς οὐ δύναται

31.15.2 | They say the savior has revealed his powers this way; first, the setting power in the saying, “whoever does not carry his cross and follow me cannot be my disciple,” εἶναι» καὶ Ε;

and the E;

31.15.3 | »ἄρας τὸν σταυρὸν ἀκολούθει μοι«· τὴν δὲ διοριστικὴν αὐτοῦ ἐν τῷ εἰπεῖν »οὐκ ἦλθον βαλεῖν εἰρήνην, ἀλλὰ μάχαιραν«. καὶ τὸν Ἰωάννην δὲ λέγουσιν αὐτὸ τοῦτο μεμνησκέναι, εἰπόντα »τὸ πτύον ἐν τῇ χειρὶ αὐτοῦ· διακαθαριεῖ τὴν ἄλωνα καὶ συναῖξει τὸ σῖτον εἰς τὴν ἀποθήκην αὐτοῦ, τὸ δὲ ἄχυρον κατακαύσει πυρὶ ἀσβέστω«.

31.15.3 | "Having taken up the cross, follow me"; and the dividing power in the saying, "I did not come to bring peace, but a sword." And they say John revealed this too, saying, "He holds the winnowing fork in his hand; he will clear his threshing floor and gather the wheat into his barn, but burn the chaff with unquenchable fire."

31.15.4 | καὶ διὰ τούτου τὴν ἐνέργειαν τοῦ Ὁρου μεμνησκέναι· πτύον γὰρ ἐκεῖνο τὸν σταυρὸν ἐρμηνεύουσιν εἶναι, ὃν δὴ κα ἀναλίσκειν τὰ ὑλικά πάντα ὡς ἄχυρα πῦρ, καθαίρειν δὲ τοὺς σωζομένους ὡς τὸ πτύον τὸν σῖτον.

31.15.4 | And because of this, they say the power of the Limit was revealed; for that winnowing fork is said to be the cross, which uses fire to burn up all the material things like chaff, and cleans the saved ones like the winnowing fork cleans the wheat.

31.15.5 | Παῦλον δὲ τὸν ἀπόστολον καὶ αὐτὸν ἐπιμνησθεσθαι τούτου τοῦ σταυροῦ λέγουσιν οὕτως »ὁ λόγος γὰρ ὁ τοῦ σταυροῦ τοῖς μὲν ἀπολλυμένοις μωρία ἐστὶ, τοῖς δὲ σωζομένοις δύναμις θεοῦ«, καὶ πάλιν »ἐμοὶ δὲ μὴ γένοιτο ἐν μηδενὶ καυχᾶσθαι, εἰ μὴ ἐν τῷ σταυρῷ τοῦ Χριστοῦ, δι' οὗ ἐμοὶ κόσμος ἐσταύρωται κάγῳ κοσμῷ«.

31.15.5 | And they say the apostle Paul also remembered this cross, saying, "For the message of the cross is foolishness to those who are lost, but to those who are saved it is the power of God," and again, "May I never boast about anything except the cross of Christ, through which the world has been crucified to me, and I to the world."

31.15.6 | Τοιαῦτα μὲν οὖν περὶ τοῦ Πληρώματος αὐτῶν καὶ τοῦ πλάσματος πάντων λέγουσιν, ἐφαρμόζειν βιαζόμενοι τὰ καλῶς ἐρημένα τοῖς κακῶς ἐπινενοημένοις ὑπ' αὐτῶν. καὶ οὐ μόνον ἐκ τῶι εὐαγγελικῶν καὶ τῶν ἀποστολικῶν πειρῶνται τὰς ἀποδείξεις ποιεῖσθαι, παρατρέποντες τὰς ἐρμηνείας καὶ

31.15.6 | So, about their Fullness and the making of all things, they say such things, trying to force the well-said words to fit the badly thought-out ideas they have. And not only from the gospels and the apostles do they try to make proofs, but they also twist the meanings and trick the explanations.

ῥαδιουργοῦντες τὰς ἐξηγήσεις,

31.15.7 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐκ νόμου καὶ προφητῶν, ἅτε πολλῶν παραβολῶν καὶ ἀλληγοριῶν εἰρημένων καὶ εἰς πολλὰ ἔλκεσθαι δυναμένων † τὸ ἀμφίβολον διὰ τῆς ἐξηγήσεως, * δεινότερως τῷ πλάσματι αὐτῶν καὶ δολίως ἐφαρμόζοντες αἰχμαλωτίζουν ἀπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας τοὺς μὴ ἐδραΐαν τὴν πίστιν εἰς ἓνα θεὸν πατέρα παντοκράτορα καὶ εἰς ἓνα κύριον Ἰησοῦν Χριστὸν τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ θεοῦ διαφυλάσσοντας.

31.15.7 | But also from the law and the prophets, since many parables and allegories were spoken and could be drawn into many things, they doubtfully twist the meaning through explanation, more dangerously for their creation and craftily fitting it, they capture those who do not have strong faith in one God the Father almighty and in one Lord Jesus Christ the Son of God, keeping them away from the truth.

31.16.1 | 16. Τὰ δὲ ἐκτὸς τοῦ Πληρώματος λεγόμενα ὑπ' αὐτῶν ἐστὶν τοιαῦτα· τὴν Ἐνθύμησιν τῆς ἄνω Σοφίας, ἣν καὶ Ἀχαμῶθ καλοῦσιν, ἀφορισθεῖσαν τοῦ Ε; Πληρώματος οὖν τῷ πάθει ΧΕγouaiv ἐν σκιᾷ καὶ κενώματος τόποις ἐκβεβράσθαι κατὰ ἀνάγκην· ἔξω γὰρ φωτὸς ἐγένετο καὶ Πληρώματος, ἄμορφος καὶ ἀνείδεος ὥσπερ ἔκτρωμα, διὰ τὸ μηδὲν κατειληφέναι.

31.16.1 | 16. But the things said by them outside the Fullness are like this: the Thought of the higher Wisdom, which they also call Achamoth, having been separated from the Fullness, was forced by the suffering of ΧΕγouaiv to fall into shadow and empty places; for it came out from the light and the Fullness, shapeless and without form, like a monster, because it had taken in nothing.

31.16.2 | οἰκτεῖραντα δὲ αὐτὴν τὸν Ε; Χριστὸν καὶ διὰ τοῦ Σταυροῦ ἐπεκταθέντα τῇ ἰδίᾳ δυνάμει μορφῶσαι μόρφωσιν, τὴν κατ' οὐσίαν μόνον ἀλλ' οὐ τὴν κατὰ γνῶσιν· καὶ πράξαντα τοῦτο ἀναδραμεῖν, συστειλαντα αὐτοῦ τὴν δύναμιν, καὶ καταλιπεῖν Ε;, ὅπως αἰσθομένη τοῦ περὶ αὐτὴν πάθους διὰ τὴν ἀπαλλαγὴν τοῦ Πληρώματος ὀρεχθῇ τῶν διαφερόντων. ἔχουσα τινὰ ὁδμὴν ἀφθαρσίας ἐγκαταλειφθεῖσαν αὐτῇ Ε; τοῦ Χριστοῦ καὶ τοῦ ἁγίου Πνεύματος.

31.16.2 | But the Christ Ε, having pity on her and stretched out through the Cross with his own power to shape a form, formed her only in essence but not in knowledge; and having done this, he ran back, withdrew his power, and left Ε, so that sensing the suffering around her, through the removal from the Fullness, she might desire the different ones. She had some trace of incorruption left to her by Ε, the Christ, and the holy Spirit.

31.16.3 | διὸ καὶ αὐτὴν τοῖς ἀμφοτέροις ὀνόμασι καλεῖσθαι, Σοφίαν τε πατρωνυμικῶς (ὃ γὰρ πατὴρ αὐτῆς Σοφία κληῖται) καὶ Πνεῦμα ἅγιον ἀπὸ τοῦ περὶ τὸν Χριστὸν πνεύματος.

31.16.3 | Therefore she is called by both names, Wisdom by her father's name (for her father is called Wisdom) and holy Spirit from the spirit around Christ.

31.16.4 | μορφωθεῖσαν δὲ αὐτὴν καὶ ἔμφρονα γενηθεῖσαν, παραυτίκα δὲ κενωθεῖσαν τοῦ ἀοράτως αὐτῇ συνόντος Λόγου τουτέστιν τοῦ Χριστοῦ, ἐπὶ ζήτησιν ὁρμῆσαι τοῦ καταλιπόντος αὐτὴν φωτὸς καὶ μὴ δυνηθῆναι καταλαβεῖν αὐτὸ διὰ τὸ κωλυθῆναι ὑπὸ τοῦ Ὁρου. καὶ ἐνταῦθα τὸν Ὅρον κωλύοντα αὐτὴν τῆς εἰς τοῦ μπροσθεν ὁρμῆς εἰπεῖν »Ἰαώ«· ὅθεν τὸ Ἰαώ ὄνομα γεγενῆσθαι φάσκουσι.

31.16.4 | And having been shaped and made sensible, she was immediately emptied of the invisible Word present with her, that is, of Christ, and set out to seek the light she had lost, but could not reach it because she was stopped by the Limit. And here they say the Limit stopped her from moving forward by saying "Iao"; from this, they say the name Iao came to be.

31.16.5 | μὴ δυνηθεῖσαν δὲ διοδεῦσαι τὸν Ὅρον διὰ τὸ συμπεπλέχθαι τῷ πάθει καὶ μόνην ἀπολειφθεῖσαν ἔξω, παντὶ μέρει τοῦ πάθους ὑποπεσεῖν, πολυμεροῦς καὶ πολυποικίλου ὑπάρχοντος, καὶ παθεῖν λύπην μὲν, ὅτι οὐ κατέλαβεν, φόβον δέ, μὴ καθάπερ αὐτὴν τὸ φῶς οὕτω καὶ τὸ ζῆν ἐπιλίπη, ἀπορίαν τε ἐπὶ τούτοις.

31.16.5 | But she was not able to pass the Limit because she was tangled with the suffering and left alone outside. She fell into every part of the suffering, which was many and varied, and felt pain because she did not reach it, fear that life and light might leave her just as they left her, and confusion because of these things.

31.16.6 | ἐν ἀγνοίᾳ δὲ τὰ πάντα· καὶ οὐ καθάπερ ἡ μήτηρ αὐτῆς, ἡ πρώτη Σοφία Αἰών, ἑτεροίωσιν ἐν τοῖς πάθεσιν εἶχεν, ἀλλὰ ἐναντιότητα. ἐπισυμβεβηκέναι δ' αὐτῇ καὶ ἑτέραν διάθεσιν, τὴν τῆς ἐπιστροφῆς ἐπὶ τὸν ζωοποιήσαντα.

31.16.6 | In ignorance about everything; and unlike her mother, the first Wisdom of the Age, who had acceptance in her sufferings, she had opposition. And another attitude came upon her, the attitude of turning back to the one who gives life.

31.16.7 | Ταύτην σύνταξιν καὶ οὐσίαν τῆς ὑλης γεγενῆσθαι λέγουσιν, ἐξ ἧς ὁδε ὁ κόσμος συνέστηκεν. ἐκ μὲν γὰρ τῆς

31.16.7 | They say this is the arrangement and substance of matter, from which this world was made. For from the turning ἐπιστροφῆς τὴν τοῦ κόσμου καὶ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ πᾶσαν ψυχὴν τὴν γένεσιν εἰληφέναι, ἐκ δὲ τοῦ φόβου καὶ τῆς λύπης τὰ λοιπὰ τὴν ἀρχὴν ἐσχηκέναι. ἀπὸ γὰρ τῶν δακρύων αὐτῆς γεγονέναι πᾶσαν ἔνυγρον οὐσίαν, ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ γέλωτος τὴν φωτεινὴν, ἀπὸ δὲ τῆς λύπης καὶ ἐκπλήξεως τὰ σωματικὰ τοῦ κόσμου στοιχεῖα.

back, every soul of the world and the Creator took its origin, and from fear and pain came the rest of the beginning. For from her tears came all the wet substance, from laughter the bright one, and from pain and shock the physical elements of the world.

31.16.8 | ποτὲ μὲν γὰρ ἔκλαιε καὶ ἔλυπεῖτο, ὡς λέγουσι, διὰ τὸ καταλελειφθαι μόνην ἐν τῷ σκότει καὶ τῷ κενώματι, ποτὲ Τε εἰς ἔννοιαν ἤκουσα τοῦ καταλιπόντος αὐτὴν φωτὸς διεχεῖτο καὶ ἐγέλα, ποτὲ δ' αὖ πάλιν ἐφοβεῖτο, ἄλλοτε δὲ διηπόρει καὶ ἐξίστατο.

31.16.8 | For sometimes she cried and was sad, they say, because she was left alone in the darkness and emptiness; sometimes, when the thought of the light that left her came, she laughed; sometimes again she was afraid, and at other times she was confused and amazed.

Section 17

31.17.1 | 17. Καὶ τί γάρ; τραγωδία πολλὴ λοιπὸν ἦν ἐνθάδε καὶ φαντασία, ἐνὸς ἐκάστου αὐτῶν ἄλλως καὶ ἄλλως σοβαρῶς ἐκρηγνυμένου, ἐκ ποταποῦ πάθους ἐκ ποίου στοιχείου ἢ οὐσίας τὴν γένεσιν εἰληφεν·

31.17.1 | And what then? There was a great tragedy here and imagination, with each one of them seriously telling in different ways from what kind of suffering and from what element the substance took its origin.

31.17.2 | ἃ καὶ εἰκότως δοκοῦσί μοι μὴ ἅπαντας θέλειν ἐν φανερῷ διδάσκειν, ἀλλ' ἦ μόνους ἐκείνους τὸς καὶ μεγάλους μισθοὺς ὑπὲρ τηλικούτων μυστηρίων τελεῖν δυναμένους.

31.17.2 | These things seem to me reasonably not to want to teach everyone openly, but only those who are able to perform great rites for such mysteries and earn great rewards.

31.17.3 | οὐκέτι γὰρ ταῦτα ὅμοια ἐκείνοις περὶ ὧν ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν εἶρηκε »δωρεὰν ἐλάβετε, δωρεὰν δότε«, ἀλλὰ ἀνακεχωρηκότα καὶ τερατώδη καὶ βαθέα μυστήρια μετὰ πολλοῦ καμάτου

31.17.3 | For these things are no longer like those about which our lord said, 'you have received a gift, give a gift,' but they have become withdrawn and monstrous and deep mysteries, coming about with much περιγινόμενα τοῖ φιλοψευδέσι.

trouble for those who love lies.

31.17.4 | τίς γὰρ οὐκ ἂν ἐκδαπανήσειε πάντα τὰ ὑπάρχοντα αὐτοῦ, ἵνα μάθῃ ὅτι ἀπὸ τῶν δακρύων τῆς Ἐνθυμήσεως τοῦ πεπονθότος Αἰῶνος θάλασσαι καὶ πηγαὶ καὶ ποταμοὶ καὶ πᾶσα ἔνυδρος οὐσία τὴν γένεσιν ἐεῖληφεν, ἐκ δὲ τοῦ γέλωτος αὐτῆς τὸ φῶς καὶ ἐκ τῆς ἐκπλήξεως καὶ ἀμηχανίας τὰ σωματικὰ τοῦ κόσμου στοιχεῖα;

31.17.4 | For who would not spend all that he has to learn that from the tears of the Thought of the Suffering Age, seas and springs and rivers and every watery substance have taken their origin, and from its laughter comes light, and from its surprise and confusion come the physical elements of the world?

31.17.5 | Βούλομαι δὲ καὶ αὐτὸς συνεισενεγκεῖν τι τῇ καρποφορίᾳ αὐτῶν. ἐπειδὴ γὰρ ὁρῶ τὰ μὲν γλυκέα ὕδατα ὄντα, οἷον πηγὰς καὶ ποταμοὺς καὶ ὄμβρους καὶ τὰ τοιαῦτα, τὰ δὲ ἐν ταῖς θαλάσσαις ἄλμυρά, ἐπινοῦ μὴ πάντα ἀπὸ τῶν δακρύων αὐτῆς προβεβλῆσθαι, διότι τὸ δάκρυον ἄλμυρόν τῇ ποιότητι ὑπάρχει.

31.17.5 | But I also want to add something to their fruitfulness. For since I see that some waters are sweet, like springs and rivers and rains and such, but those in the seas are salty, I think not all have come from its tears, because the tear is salty by nature.

31.17.6 | φανερόν οὖν ὅτι τὰ ἄλμυρά ὕδατα ταῦτά ἐστι τὰ ἀπὸ τῶν δακρύων. εἰκὸς δὲ αὐτὴν ἐν ἀγωνίᾳ πολλῇ καὶ ἀμηχανίᾳ γεγονυῖαν νυῖαν καὶ ἰδρωκένας. ἐντεῦθεν δὴ κατὰ τὴν ὑπόθεσιν αὐτῶν ὑπολαμβάνειν δεῖ, πηγὰς καὶ ποταμοὺς καὶ εἴ τινα ἄλλα ὕδατα γλυκέα ὑπάρχει τὴν γένεσιν [μὴ] ἐσχηκέναι ἀπὸ τῶν ἰδρώτων αὐτῆς.

31.17.6 | It is clear then that the salty waters are those from the tears. It is likely that she was born in great pain and trouble and sweat. From here, according to their idea, we must suppose that springs and rivers and any other sweet waters did not come from her tears but from her sweat.

31.17.7 | ἀπίθανον γάρ, μιᾶς ποιότητος οὕσης τῶν δακρύων, τὰ μὲν ἄλμυρά, τὰ δὲ γλυκέα ὕδατα ἐξ αὐτῶν προελθεῖν. τοῦτο δὲ πιθανώτερον, τὰ μὲν εἶναι ἀπὸ τῶν δακρύων, τὰ δὲ ἀπὸ τῶν ἰδρώτων.

31.17.7 | For it is impossible, with the tears being of one kind, that some waters are salty and others sweet and come from them. It is more likely that some come from the tears, and others from the sweat.

31.17.8 | ἐπειδὴ <δὲ> καὶ θερμὰ καὶ δριμύεα τινὰ ὕδατά ἐστιν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ, νοεῖν ὀφείλεις τί ποιήσασα καὶ ἐκ ποίου μορίου προήκατο κατο ταῦτα. ἀρμόζουσι γὰρ τοιοῦτοι καρποὶ τῇ ὑποθέσει αὐτῶν.

31.17.8 | Since there are also warm and sharp waters in the world, you must think what she did and from what part she came before these. Such fruits fit their idea.

31.17.9 | Διοδεύσασαν οὗ πᾶν πάθος τὴν Μητέρα αὐτῶν καὶ μόγις ὑπερκύψασαν ἐπὶ ἱκεσίαν τραπῆναι τοῦ καταλιπόντος αὐτὴν φωτὸς τουτέστιν τοῦ Χριστοῦ δευτέρου κατελθεῖν, τὸν Παράκλητον δὲ ἐξέπεμψεν Ε; αὐτὴν τουτέστι τὸν Σωτῆρα,

31.17.9 | After all their suffering had passed through their Mother, and they barely managed to turn to the plea of the light that had left her—that is, the second Christ to come down—he sent out the Comforter, that is, the Savior.

31.17.10 | ἐνδόντος αὐτῷ πᾶσαν τὴν δύναμιν τοῦ Πατρὸς καὶ πᾶν ὑπ’ ἐξουσίαν παραδόντος καὶ τῶν Αἰώνων δὲ ὁμοίως, ὅπως »ἐν αὐτῷ τὰ πάντα κτισθῇ, τὰ ὀρατὰ καὶ τὰ ἀόρατα, θρόνοι θεότητες κυριότητες«.

31.17.10 | When he entered, he received all the power of the Father and handed over everything under his authority, and also of the Ages, so that »in him everything might be created, the visible and the invisible, thrones, powers, and authorities«.

31.17.11 | ἐκπέμπεται δὲ πρὸς αὐτὴν μετὰ τῶν ἡλικιωτῶν αὐτοῦ τῶν ἀγγέλων. τὴν δὲ Ἀχαμῶθ ἐντραπεῖσαν αὐτὸν λέγουσιν πρῶτον μὲν κάλυμμα ἐπιθέσθαι δι’ αἰδῶ, μετέπειτα Τε ἰδοῦσαν αὐτὸν σὺν ὅλῃ τῇ καρποφορίᾳ αὐτοῦ προσδραμεῖν αὐτῷ, δύναμιν λαβοῦσαν ἐκ τῆς ἐπιφανείας αὐτοῦ.

31.17.11 | He is sent to her along with his elders, the angels. But Achamoth, ashamed, is said first to put on a veil out of shame, then, seeing him with all his fruitfulness, to run to him, having received power from his appearance.

31.17.12 | κάκεῖνον μορφῶσαι αὐτὴν μόρφωσιν τὴν κατὰ γνῶσιν καὶ ἱάσιν τῶν παθῶν ποιήσασθαι αὐτῆς, χωρίσαντα αὐτὰ αὐτῆς, μὴ ἀμελήσαντα δὲ αὐτῶν οὐ γὰρ ἦν δυνατόν ἀφανισθῆναι Ε; ὥς τὰ τῆς προτέρας, διὰ τὸ ἐκτικὰ ἦδη καὶ δυνατὰ εἶναι), ἀλλ’ ἀποκρίναντα χωρίσει συγχέαι

31.17.12 | And to shape her, he gave her a form according to knowledge and healing of her sufferings, separating them from her, but not neglecting them, for it was not possible for them to disappear (because they were already strong and powerful); instead, he answered by separating, mixing, καὶ πῆξαι καὶ ἐξ ἄσωμάτου πάθους εἰς ἄσώματον τὴν] ὕλην μεταβαλεῖν αὐτά· and fixing them, and by changing them from a bodiless suffering into a bodiless matter.

31.17.13 | Μ' οὕτως ἐπιτηδειότητα καὶ φύσιν ἐμπεποιηκέναι αὐτοῖς, ὥστε εἰς συγκρίματα καὶ σώματα ἐλθεῖν, πρὸς τὸ γενέσθαι δύο οὐσίας, τὴν φαύλην Ε; τῶν παθῶν, τὴν τε τῆς ἐπιστροφῆς ἐμπαθῆ· καὶ διὰ τοῦτο δυνάμει τὸν Σωτῆρα δεδημιουργηκέναι φάσκουσι.

31.17.13 | And so they say he made them fit and natural, so that they would come into mixtures and bodies, to become two substances: the weak one of sufferings, and the one of passionate return; and because of this, they say he created the Savior by power.

31.17.14 | τὴν δὲ Ἀχαμῶθ ἐκτὸς τοῦ πάθους γενομένην, καὶ] συλλαβουσάν τῃ χαρᾷ τῶν σὺν αὐτῷ φώτων τὴν θεωρίαν τουτέστιν τῶν ἀγγέλων τῶν μετ' αὐτοῦ) καὶ ἐγκισσῆσασαν σύτους κεκυηκέναι καρπούς κατὰ τὴν εἰκόνα Ε; διδάσκουσι, κῆμα πνευματικὸν καθ' ὁμοίωσιν γεγονὸς τῷ δορυφόρῳ τοῦ Σωτῆρος.

31.17.14 | But Achamoth, becoming outside of suffering, and holding fast to the joy of the lights with him—that is, the angels with him—and having taken root, they teach that she has borne fruits according to the image, a spiritual offspring made in the likeness of the Savior's attendants.

Section 18

31.18.1 | 18. Τριῶν οὖν ἤδη τούτων ὑποκειμένων κατ' αὐτούς, τοῦ με) ἐκ τοῦ πάθους, ἢ ὅλη· τοῦ δὲ ἐκ τῆς ἐπιστροφῆς, ὃ ἦν τὸ ψυχικόν· τοῦ Τε δὲ ἀπεκύησεν, τουτέστιν τὸ πνευματικόν, οὕτως ἐτράπη ἐπὶ τὴν μόρφωσιν αὐτῶν.

31.18.1 | So, according to them, of these three things that were the basis, the one from suffering was whole; the one from return was the soul; and the one that she gave birth to, that is, the spiritual, was thus turned into their form.

31.18.2 | ἀλλὰ τὸ μὲν πνευματικὸν μὴ δεδυνῆσθαι αὐτὴν μορφῶσαι, ἐπειδὴ ὁμοούσιον ὑπῆρχεν αὐτῇ. τετράφθαι δὲ ἐπὶ τὴν μόρφωσιν τῆς γενομένης ἐκ τῆς ἐπιστροφῆς αὐτῆς ψυχικῆς οὐσίας προβαλεῖν τε τὰ παρὰ τοῦ Σωτῆρος μαθήματα. καὶ πρῶτον Ε;

31.18.2 | But the spiritual could not shape her, since it was of the same substance as her. And it was turned fourfold into the form of the soul substance that came from her return, and the teachings from the Savior were also put forward. And first, Ε;

31.18.3 | μεμορφωκέναι αὐτὴν ἐκ τῆς ψυχικῆς οὐσίας λέγουσι τὸν Πατέρα καὶ βασιλέα πάντων, τῶν τε ὁμοουσίῳ αὐτῷ τουτέστιν τῶν ψυχικῶν, ἃ δὴ δεξιὰ καλοῦσι, καὶ τῶν ἐκ τοῦ πάθους καὶ τῆς ὕλης, ἃ δὴ ἀριστερὰ λέγουσι. πάντα τὰρ τὰ μετ' αὐτὸν φάσκουσι Ε;

31.18.3 | They say that the Father and king of all, and those of the same substance with him, that is, the souls, which they call the right side, and those from suffering and matter, which they call the left side, shaped her from the soul substance. For all things after him they say Ε;

31.18.4 | μεμορφωκέναι, λεληθότως κινούμενον κινούμενον ὑπὸ τῆς Μητρός· ὅθεν καὶ Μητροπάτορα καὶ Ἀπάτορα καὶ Δημιουργὸν αὐτὸν καὶ Πατέρα καλοῦσι, τῶν μὲν δεξιῶν πατέρα λέγοντες αὐτὸν τουτέστιν τῶν ψυχικῶν, τῶν δὲ ἀριστερῶν τουτέστιν τῶν ὑλικῶν δημιουργόν, συμπάντων δὲ βασιλέα.

31.18.4 | She was shaped, secretly moved and moved by the Mother; therefore they call him Mother-father and Fatherless and Creator and Father, saying he is the father of the right side, that is, of the souls, and the creator of the left side, that is, of the material things, and king of all.

31.18.5 | τὴν γὰρ Ἐνθύμησιν ταύτην βουλευθεῖσαν εἰς τιμὴν τῶν Αἰώνων τὰ πάντα ποιῆσαι, εἰκόνας λέγουσι πεποιηκέναι αὐτῶν, μᾶλλον δὲ τὸν Σωτῆρα δι' αὐτῆς. καὶ αὐτὴν με) † ἐν εἰκόνι τοῦ ἀοράτου Πατρὸς τετηρηκέναι, μὴ γινωσκομένην ὑπὸ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ, τοῦτον δὲ τοῦ μονογενοῦς υἱοῦ, τῶν δὲ λοιπῶν Αἰώνων τοὺς ὑπὸ τούτου γεγονότας ἀρχαγγέλους τε καὶ ἀγγέλους.

31.18.5 | For this Thought, wishing to make all things in honor of the Aeons, they say she made images of them, but more so the Savior through her. And she herself was kept in the image of the invisible Father, not known by the Creator, who is the only-begotten Son, and the rest of the Aeons, those made by him, the archangels and angels.

31.18.6 | Πατέρα οὖν καὶ θεὸν λέγουσιν αὐτὸν γεγονέναι τῶν ἐκτὸς τοῦ Πληρώματος, ποιητὴν ὄντα πάντων ψυχικῶν τε καὶ ὑλικῶν. διακρίναντα γὰρ τὰς δύο σύσεις συγκεχυμένας καὶ ἐξ ἁσώατων σωματοποιήσαντα, δεδημιουργηκέναι τὰ τε οὐράνια καὶ τὰ γήινα, καὶ γεγονέναι ὑλικῶν καὶ ψυχικῶν, δεξιῶν καὶ ἀριστερῶν δημιουργόν, κούφων

31.18.6 | So they say he became Father and god of those outside the Fullness, being the maker of all things, both soulful and material. For he separated the two mixed substances and made bodies from the immaterial, having created both the heavenly and the earthly, and became the maker of material and soulful, right and left, light and heavy, rising and falling.

καί βαρέων, άνωφερών και κατωφερών.

31.18.7 | έπτά γάρ ούρανοϋς κατεσκευακέναι, ών έπάνω τόν Δημιουργόν εΐναι λέγουσιν. και διά τοϋτο Έβδομάδα καλοϋσιν αυτόν, την δέ Μητέρα τήν Άχαμώθ Όγδοάδα, άποσώζουσιν τόν άριθμόν τής άρχεγόνου και πρώτης τοϋ Πληρώματος Όγδαάδος.

31.18.7 | For he made seven heavens, above which they say the Creator is. And for this reason they call him the Seventh, but the Mother Achamoth the Eighth, preserving the number of the original and first Eighth of the Fullness.

31.18.8 | τοϋς δέ έπτά ούρανοϋς οϋκ] εΐναι νοητούς φασιν, άγγέλους δέ αυτούς ϋποτίθενται, και τόν Δημιουργόν δέ και αυτόν άγγελον, θεώ δέ έοικότα, ως και τόν παράδεισον, ϋπερ τρίτον ούρανόν όντα, τέταρτον άρχάγγελον λέγουσι δυνάμει ϋπάρχειν και άπό τούτου τι είληφέναι τόν Άδάμ διατετριφότα έν αυτόϋ.

31.18.8 | But they say the seven heavens are not spiritual, but they suppose them to be angels, and even the Creator himself an angel, like god, as also the paradise, being above the third heaven, they say the fourth is an archangel by power, and from this one Adam was taken, having been nourished in him.

31.18.9 | Ταϋτα δέ τόν Δημιουργόν φάσκουσιν άφ' έαυτοϋ μέν ώησθαι <κατά Ε; κατασκευάζειν, πεποιηκέναι δ' αύτά τής Άχαμώθ προβαλλούσης. ούρανόν Ε; πεποιηκέναι μη είδότα ούρανόν' και άνθρωπον πεπλακέναι, άγνοοϋντα τόν] άνθρωπον' γήν τε δεδειχέναι, μη έπιστάμενον τήν] γήν'

31.18.9 | They say that the Creator thought he made these things by himself, but actually Achamoth made them appear. He did not know the heaven he made; and he formed man, not knowing what man is; and he showed the earth, not knowing the earth.

31.18.10 | και έπί πάντων οϋτως λέγουσιν ήγνοηκέναι αυτόν τας ιδέας ών έπολεί και αύτην την Μητέρα, αυτόν Τε μόνον ώησθαι πάντα εΐναι.

31.18.10 | And above all, they say he did not know the forms he used, nor even the Mother herself, but thought that he alone was everything.

31.18.11 | αύτίαν δ' αύτϋ γεγονέναι την Μητέρα τής ποιήσεως ταύτης φάσκουσι, την σϋτω βουληθεΐσαν προαγαγεΐν αυτόν,

31.18.11 | They say that the Mother of this creation came from him, and that she wanted to lead him on, being the head and κεφαλὴν με) καὶ ἀρχὴν τῆς ἰδίας οὐσίας, κύριον δὲ τῆς ὅλης πραγματείας.

source of his own being, and the master of the whole work.

31.18.12 | ταύτην δὲ τὴν Μητέρα καὶ Ὀγδοάδα καλοῦσι καὶ Σοφίαν καὶ Γῆν καὶ Ἱερουσαλὴμ καὶ ὄγιον Πνεῦμα καὶ Κύριον ἀρσενικῶς· ἔχειν ἔε τὸν τῆς Μεσότητος τόπον αὐτὴν καὶ εἶναι ὑπεράνω μὲν τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ, ὑποκάτω δὲ ἢ ἔξω τοῦ Πληρώματος μέχρι συντελείας.

31.18.12 | They call this Mother also the Eighth, and Wisdom, and Earth, and Jerusalem, and the Holy Spirit, and Lord in a masculine way; she has the place of the Middle, and is above the Creator, but below or outside the Fullness until completion.

Section 19

31.19.1 | 19. Ἐπεὶ οὖν τὴν ὑλικὴν οὐσίαν ἐκ τριῶν παθῶν συστήναι λέγουσι, φόβου τε καὶ λύπης καὶ ἀπορίας, ἐκ μὲν τοῦ φόβου φόβου καὶ τῆς ἐπιστροφῆς τὰ ψυχικὰ τὴν σύστασιν εἰληφέναι·

31.19.1 | Since then they say that the material substance is made up of three feelings, fear and pain and confusion, from fear and from turning back the soul took its formation;

31.19.2 | ἐκ μὲν τῆς ἐπιστροφῆς τὸν Δημιουργὸν βούλονται τὴν γένεσιν ἐσχηκέναι, ἐκ δὲ τοῦ φόβου τὴν λοιπὴν πᾶσαν ψυχικὴν ὑπόστασιν ὡς ψυχᾶς ἀλόγων ζώων καὶ θηρίων καὶ ἀνθρώπων.

31.19.2 | From turning back they want the Creator to have his origin, and from fear all the rest of the soul's being, like the souls of irrational animals and beasts and humans.

31.19.3 | Ε; διὰ τοῦτο ἀτονώτερον αὐτὸν ὑπάρχοντα πρὸς τὸ γινώσκειν τὰ πνευματικὰ αὐτὸν νενομικέναι μόνον εἶναι θεὸν καὶ διὰ τῶν προφητῶν εἰρηκέναι »ἐγὼ θεός, πλην ἐμοῦ οὐδεὶς«.

31.19.3 | Because of this, existing weaker toward knowing the spiritual things, they have only allowed him to be god, and through the prophets he has said, 'I am God, no one besides me.'

31.19.4 | ἐκ δὲ τῆς λύπης τὰ πνευματικὰ τῆς πονηρίας διδάσκουσι γεγενῆαι· ὅθεν Ε; τὸν Διάβολον τὴν γένεσιν ἐσχηκέναι, ὃν καὶ Κοσμοκράτορα καλοῦσι, καὶ τὰ δαιμόνια καὶ τοὺς ἀγγέλους καὶ πᾶσαν τὴν

31.19.4 | From pain, they say the spiritual things of evil have come; so they say the Devil has his origin, whom they also call the Ruler of the World, and the demons and the angels and all the spiritual being of evil.

πνευματικὴν τῆς | πονηρίας ὑπόστασιν.

31.19.5 | ἀλλὰ τὸν μὲν Δημιουργὸν υἱὸν ψυχικὸν τῆς Μητρὸς αὐτῶν λέγουσι, τὸν δὲ Κοσμοκράτορα κτίσμα τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ. καὶ τὸν μὲν Κοσμοκράτορα γινώσκειν τὰ ὑπὲρ αὐτόν, ὅτι πενῦμά ἐστι τῆς πονηρίας, τὸν δὲ Δημιουργὸν ἀγνοεῖν, ὅτε Ψυχικὸν ὑπάρχοντα.

31.19.5 | But they say the Creator is a son, a soul of their Mother, and the Ruler of the World is a creation of the Creator. And they know the Ruler of the World as the one above him, because he is a spirit of evil, but they do not know the Creator, since he is a soul.

31.19.6 | οἰκεῖν δὲ τὴν Μητέρα αὐτῶν εἰς τὸν ὑπερουράνιον τόποι τουτέστιν ἐν τῇ Μεσότητι, τὸν Δημιουργὸν δὲ εἰς τὸν ἐπουράνιον τόπον τουτέστιν ἐν τῇ Ἑβδομάδι, τὸν > Κοσμοδράτορα ἐν τῷ καθ' ἡμᾶς κόσμῳ.

31.19.6 | And they place their Mother in the highest place, that is, in the Midst; the Creator in the heavenly place, that is, in the Seventh Day; and the Ruler of the World in the world around us.

31.19.7 | ἐκ δὲ τῆς ἐκπλήξεως καὶ ἀμηχανίας ὡς ἐκ τοῦ > στασιμωτέρου τὰ σωματικὰ καθὼς προείπαμεν τοῦ κόσμου στοιχεῖα γεγονέναι. γῆν μὲν κατὰ τὴν ἐκπλήξεως στάσιν, ὕδωρ δὲ κατὰ τὴν φόβου κίνησιν, ἀέρα δὲ κατὰ τὴν λύπης πῆξιν. τὸ δὲ πῦρ ἅπασιν αὐτοῖς ἐμπεφυκέναι θάνατον καὶ φθοράν, ὡς καὶ τὴν ἄγνοιαν τοῖς τρισὶ πάθεσιν ἐγκεκρύφθαι οἰοασκousι.

31.19.7 | But from shock and confusion, as from the most unstable, the bodily elements of the world came to be, as we said before. The earth came from the shock of standing still, the water from the movement of fear, the air from the freezing of sadness. And fire brought death and decay to all of them, as if ignorance was hidden by the three feelings.

31.19.8 | Δημιουργήσαντα δὴ τὸν κόσμον πεποιηκέναι καὶ τὸν ἄνθρωπον τὸν χικόν, οὐκ ἀπὸ ταύτης δὲ τῆς ξηρᾶς Τῆς, ἀλλὰ ἀπὸ τῆς ἀοράτου οὐσίας, ἀπὸ τοῦ κεχυμένου καὶ ρευστοῦ τῆς ὕλης λαβόντα. καὶ εἰς τοῦτον ἐμφυσῆσαι τὸν ψυχικὸν διορίζονται.

31.19.8 | So the Creator made the world and the earthly man, not from this dry earth, but from the invisible substance, taking it from the poured and flowing matter. And they say he breathed into this the soul.

31.19.9 | καὶ τοῦτον εἶναι τὸν κατ' εἰκόνα καὶ ὁμοίωσιν γεγονότα, καὶ κατ' εἰκόνα μὲν τὸν ὑλικὸν ὑπάρχειν, παραπλήσιον μὲν, ἀλλ' οὐχ ὁμοούσιον ὄντα τῷ θεῷ. καθ' ὁμοίωσιν δὲ τὸν ψυχικόν, ὅθεν καὶ πνεῦμα ζωῆς τὴν οὐσίαν αὐτοῦ εἰρήσθαι, ἐκ πνευματικῆς ἀπορροίας οὔσαν.

31.19.9 | And this one is said to be made in image and likeness, and in image is the material part, similar indeed, but not of the same nature as god. In likeness is the soul, from which the spirit of life is said to be its essence, coming from a spiritual source.

31.19.10 | ὕστερον δὲ περιτεθεῖσθαι λέγουσιν αὐτῷ τὸν δερμάτινον χιτῶνα. τοῦτο δὲ τὸ αἰσθητὸν σαρκίον εἶναι θέλουσι.

31.19.10 | Later they say a leather tunic was put around him. And this they want to be the sensible fleshly part.

31.19.11 | The offspring of their Mother Achamoth, which according to the vision of the angels about the Savior was born, is said to be similar in nature to the spiritual Mother, and they say that it did not know the Creator and was secretly placed into it without knowing him, so that through it, sown into his soul and into this material body, conceived and grown in these things, it would become ready to receive the laughter. So it escaped notice, they say.

31.19.12 | τὸν Δημιουργὸν ὃ συγκατασπαρεῖς τῷ ἐμφυσήματι αὐτοῦ ὑπὸ τῆς Σοφίας πνευματικὸς ἄνθρωπος ἀρρήτῳ > προνοίᾳ. ὥς γὰρ τὴν Μητέρα ἡγνοῖ κέναι, οὕτω καὶ τὸ σολερνα ἀτῆς. ὃ δὴ καὶ αὐτὸ Ἐκκλησίαν εἶναι λέγουσιν, ἀντίτυπον τῆς ἁνῶς Ἐκκλησίας. καὶ τοῦτο εἶναι τὸν ἐν αὐτοῖς ἄνθρωπον ἀξιοῦσιν.

31.19.12 | The Creator, who was swallowed up with his breath by Wisdom, is a spiritual man with secret care. Just as he did not know the Mother, so he also did not know her fault. And indeed, they say this is the Church, a copy of the upper Church. And this is the man among them they honor.

31.19.13 | ὥστε ἔχειν αὐτοὺς τὴν μὲν ψυχὴν ἀπὸ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ, τὸ δὲ σῶμα ἀπὸ τοῦ χοῦς καὶ τὸ σαρκικὸν ἀπὸ τῆς

31.19.13 | So they have the soul from the Creator, the body from the chaos, and the fleshly part from matter, but the spiritual

ὑλης, τὸν δὲ πνευματικὸν ἄνθρωπον ἀπὸ Τῆς Μητρὸς Τῆς Ἀχαμώθ.

man from the Mother Achamoth.

Section 20

31.20.1 | 20. Τριῶν οὖν ὄντων τὸ μὲν ὕλικόν, ὃ καὶ ἀριστερὸν καλοῦσι, κατὰ ἀνάγκην ἀπόλλυσθαι λέγουσιν ἅτε μηδεμίαν ἐπιδέξασθαι πνοὴν ἀφθαρσίας δυνάμενον. τὸ δὲ ψυχικόν, ὃ καὶ δεξιὸν προσαγορεύουσιν, ἅτε μέσον ὄν τοῦ τε πνευματικοῦ καὶ τοῦ ὑλικοῦ, ἐκεῖσε χωρεῖν, ὅπου ἂν καὶ τὴν πρόσκλισιν ποιήσῃται.

31.20.1 | So, of the three, the material one, which they also call the left, they say must die by necessity because it cannot hold a breath of immortality. But the soul one, which they call the right, is like the middle between the spiritual and the material. It goes there, wherever it makes its turning.

31.20.2 | τὸ δὲ πνευματικὸν ἐκπεπέγφθαι, ὅπως ἐνθάδε τῷ ψυχικῷ συζυγὲν μορφωθῇ, συμπαιδευθὲν αὐτῷ ἐν τῇ ἀναστροφῇ. καὶ τοῦτ' εἶναι λέγουσι τὸ ἅλας καὶ τὸ φῶς τοῦ κόσμου. ἔδει γὰρ τῷ ψυχικῷ καὶ αἰσθητῶν παιδευμάτων. διὸ καὶ κόσμον κατεσκευάσθαι λέγουσι.

31.20.2 | But the spiritual one has been kindled, so that here it is joined with the soul, shaped and trained with it in its way of life. And they say this is the salt and the light of the world. For the soul needed lessons from the senses. That is why they say the world was made.

31.20.3 | καὶ τὸν σωτῆρα δὲ ἐπὶ τοῦτο παραγεγονέναι τὸ ψυχικόν, ἐπεὶ καὶ αὐτεξούσιόν ἐστιν, ὅπως αὐτὸν σώσῃ.

31.20.3 | And the soul has come to the savior for this reason, since it is also freewilled, so that it may save itself.

31.20.4 | ὣν γὰρ ἡμελλε σῶζειν, τὰς ἀπαρχὰς αὐτὸν εἰληφέναι φάσκουσιν, ἀπὸ μὲν τῆς Ἀχαμώθ τὸ πνευματικόν, ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ ἐνδεδύσθαι τὸν ψυχικόν χριστόν, ἀπὸ ἀπὸ δὲ τῆς οἰκονομίας περιτεθεῖσθαι σῶμα, ψυχικὴν ἔχον οὐσίαν, κατεσκευασμένον δὲ ἀρρήτῳ τέχνῃ πρὸς τὸ καὶ ὁρατὸν καὶ ψηλαφητὸν καὶ παθητὸν γενέσθαι. καὶ ὑλικὸν δὲ οὐδ' ὅτι οὐ εἰληφέναι λέγουσιν αὐτόν. μὴ γὰρ εἶναι τὴν ὑλὴν δεκτικὴν σωτηρίας.

31.20.4 | For since it was about to save, they say it took the first fruits, the spiritual from Achamoth, the soul anointed from the Creator, and from the plan was given a body, having a soul substance, made by an unspeakable art to become visible, touchable, and able to suffer. And they say it did not take any material at all, for matter is not able to receive salvation.

31.20.5 | τὴν δὲ συντέλειαν ἔσεσθαι, ὅταν μορφωθῇ καὶ τελειωθῇ γνώσει πᾶν τὸ πνευματικόν, τουτέστιν οἱ πνευματικοί(?) ἄνθρωποι οἳ τὴν τελείαν γνώσιν ἔχοντες περὶ θεοῦ καὶ > τῆς Ἀχαμῶθ μεμυημένοι μυστήρια.

31.20.5 | And the completion will be, when all the spiritual is shaped and perfected in knowledge, that is, the spiritual people having perfect knowledge about god and initiated into the mysteries of Achamoth.

31.20.6 | εἶναι δὲ τούτους > ὑποτίθενται. ἐπαιδεύθησαν δὲ τὰ ψυχικὰ οἱ ψυχικοὶ ἄνθρωποι, οἱ δὲ ἔργων καὶ πίστεως ψιλῆς βεβαιούμενοι καὶ μὴ τὴν τελείαν γνώσιν ἔχοντες. εἶναι δὲ τούτους ἀπὸ τῆς ἐκκλησίας ἡμᾶς λέγουσι.

31.20.6 | They say these are the ones. The soulish people were trained, those confirmed by works and simple faith and not having perfect knowledge. They say these are us from the church.

31.20.7 | διὸ καὶ ἡμῖν μὲν ἀναγκαῖον εἶναι τὴν ἀγαθὴν πράξιν ἀποφαίνονται ἄλλως γὰρ ἀδύνατον σωθῆναι), αὐτοὺς δὲ μὴ διὰ πράξεως ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸ φύσει πνευματικούς εἶναι πάντη τε καὶ πάντως σωθήσεσθαι δογματίζουσιν.

31.20.7 | Therefore, they say it is necessary for us to show good action (for otherwise it is impossible to be saved), but they teach that those people will be saved everywhere and completely, not through action but because they are spiritual by nature.

31.20.8 | ὥς γὰρ τὸ χοῖκὸν ἀδύνατον σωτηρίας μετασχεῖν οὐ γὰρ εἶναι δεκτικὸν αὐτῆς λέγουσιν αὐτό), οὕτως πάλιν τὸ πνευματικόν, ὃ αὐτοὶ εἶναι θέλουσιν, ἀδύνατον φθορὰν καταδέξασθαι, κἂν ὁποίαις συγκαταγένωνται πράξεσιν.

31.20.8 | For just as they say the earthly cannot receive salvation because it is not able to, so again the spiritual, which they want to be, cannot accept corruption, even if it joins with any actions.

31.20.9 | ὃν γὰρ τρόπον χρυσὸς ἐν βορβόρῳ κατατεθεὶς οὐκ ἀπβόαλλει τὴν καλλονὴν αὐτοῦ, ἀλλὰ τὴν ἰδίαν φύσιν διαφυλάττει, τοῦ βορβόρου μηδὲν ἀδικῆσαι δυναμένου τὸν χρυσόν, οὕτω δὲ καὶ αὐτοὺς λέγουσι, κἂν ἐν ὁποίαις ὑλικάῃς πράξεσι καταγένωνται, μηδὲν αὐτοὺς παραβλάπτεσθαι μηδὲ ἀποβάλλειν τὴν

31.20.9 | For just as gold, when placed in mud, does not lose its beauty but keeps its own nature, the mud not being able to harm the gold at all, so they say about those people, even if they join with any physical actions, nothing harms them or makes them lose their spiritual being.

πνευματικὴν ὑπόστασιν.

Section 21

31.21.1 | 21. Διὸ δὴ καὶ τὰ ἀπειρημένα πάντα ἀδεῶς οἱ τελειότατοι πράττουσιν αὐτῶν, περὶ ὧν αἱ γραφαὶ διβεβαιοῦνται τοὺς ποιοῦντας αὐτὰ βασιλείαν θεοῦ μὴ κληρονομήσειν.

31.21.1 | Therefore, even the most perfect of them do all the forbidden things without fear, about which the scriptures firmly say that those who do them will not inherit the kingdom of god.

31.21.2 | καὶ γὰρ εἰδωλόθυτα ἀδιαφόρως ἐσθαίουσι, μηδὲν μολύνεσθαι ὑπ' αὐτῶν ἡγούμενοι, καὶ ἐπὶ πᾶσαν ἑορτάσιμον τῶν ἐθνῶν τέρψιν εἰς τιμὴν τῶν εἰδώλων γινομένην πρῶτοι συνίασιν, ὥς μηδὲ τῆς παρὰ θεῷ καὶ ἀνθρώποις μεμισσημένης τῆς] τῶν θημριομάχων καὶ μονομαχίας ἀνδροφόνου θέας ἀπέχεσθαι ἐνίους αὐτῶν.

31.21.2 | For they eat idol meat without care, thinking they are not made unclean by it, and at every festival of the nations, where there is pleasure given to honor the idols, they are the first to join in, so that some of them do not even avoid the bloody shows of beast-fighting and one-on-one fighting, which are hated by god and people.

31.21.3 | οἱ δὲ καὶ ταῖς τῆς σαρκὸς ἡδοναῖς κατακόρως δουλεύοντες, τὰ σαρκικὰ τοῖς σαρκικοῖς τὰ πνευματικὰ τοῖς πνευματικοῖς ἀποδέδοσθαι λέγουσιν.

31.21.3 | But those who serve fully the pleasures of the flesh say that the things of the flesh belong to the flesh, and the spiritual things belong to the spiritual.

31.21.4 | καὶ οἱ μὲν αὐτῶν λάθρα τὰς διδασκομένας ὑπ' αὐτῶν τὴν διδαχὴν ταύτην γυναῖκας διφθείρουσιν, ὥς πολλάκις ὑπ' ἐνίων αὐτῶν ἐξαπατηθεῖσαι, ἔπειτα ἐπιστρέψασαι γυναῖκες εἰς τὴν ἐκκλησίαν τοῦ θεοῦ σὺν τῇ λοιπῇ

31.21.4 | And some of them secretly corrupt the women who are taught by them, because many times some of these women have been deceived, then having turned back, they come to the church of god with the rest.

31.21.5 | πλάνη καὶ τοῦτο ἐξωμολογήσαντο. οἱ δὲ καὶ κατὰ τὸ φανερόν ἀπερυθρίασαντες, ὧν ἂν ἐρασθῶσι γυναικῶν, ταύτας ἀπ' ἰδίας

31.21.5 | And they confessed this error too. But those who openly feel no shame, whatever women they desire, they consider those women as their own wives.

γαμετὰς ἡγήσαντο.

31.21.6 | ἄλλοι δ' αὖ πάλιν σεμνῶς κατ' ἀρχάς, ὥς μετὰ ἀδελφῶν προσπιούμενοι συνοικεῖν, προϊόντος τοῦ χρόνου ἡυλέγχθησαν, ἐγκύμονος τῆς ἀδελφῆς ὑπὸ τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ γενηθείσης.

31.21.6 | But others, at first in a serious way, as if living together with brothers, after time passed, were exposed when the sister became pregnant by the brother.

31.21.7 | Καὶ ἄλλα δὲ πολλὰ μυσαρὰ κα ἄθεα πράσσοντες ἡμῶν μέν, διὰ τὸν φόβον τοῦ θεοῦ φυλασσομένων καὶ μέχρις ἐννοίας καὶ λόγου ἀμαρτεῖν, κατατρέχουσιν ὥς ἰδιωτῶν καὶ μηδὲν ἐπισταμένων, ἑαυτοὺς δὲ ὑπερυψοῦσι, τελείους ἀποκαλοῦντες καὶ σπέρματα ἐκλογῆς.

31.21.7 | And doing many other filthy and godless things, they sin against us who are guarded by the fear of god and even by thought and reason. They run around like ignorant people who know nothing, but they boast about themselves, calling themselves perfect and the chosen seed.

31.21.8 | ἡμᾶς μὲν γὰρ ἐν χρήσει τὴν χάριν λαμβάνειν λέγουσι, διὸ καὶ ἀφαιρεθήσεσθαι αὐτῆς. αὐτοὺς δὲ ἰδιόκτητον ἄνωθεν ἀπὸ τῆς ἀρρήτου καὶ ἀνονομάστου συζυγίας κατεληλυθυῖαν ἔχειν τὴν χάριν, καὶ διὰ τοῦτο προστεθήσεσθαι αὐτοῖς. διὸ καὶ ἐκ παντὸς τρόπου δεῖν αὐτοὺς αἰεὶ τὸ τῆς συζυγίας μελετᾶν μυστήριον.

31.21.8 | For they say that we receive grace through use, and so it will be taken away from us. But they have grace as their own possession from above, from the unspeakable and unnamed union, and because of this, it will be added to them. Therefore, in every way, they must always care for the mystery of the union.

31.21.9 | καὶ τοῦτο πείθουσι τοὺς ἀνοήτους, αὐταῖς λέξεσι λέγοντες οὕτως. ὅς ἂν ἐν κόσμῳ γενόμενος γυναῖκα οὐκ ἐφίλησεν, ὥστε οὐτὴν κρατηθῆναι, οὐκ ἔστιν ἐξ ἀληθείας καὶ οὐ χωρήσει εἰς ἀλήθειαν. ὁ δὲ ἀπὸ κόσμου ὢν μὴ] κρατηθεὶς γυναικὶ οὐ χωρήσει εἰς ἀλήθειαν διὰ τὸ ἐν ἐπιθυμίᾳ κρατηθῆναι γυναικός.

31.21.9 | And they persuade the foolish with these very words, saying this: whoever, being in the world, has not kissed a woman so that he might be held by her, is not truly from the truth and will not enter into truth. But whoever, being out of the world, is not held by a woman will not enter into truth because he was held by a woman in desire.

31.21.10 | διὰ τοῦτο οὖν ἡμῖν, οὓς ψυχικοὺς δνομάζουσι καὶ ἐκ κόσμου εἶναι λέγουσι, καὶ] ἀναγκαίαν εἶναι τὴν ἐγκράτειαν καὶ ἀγαθὴν πράξιν, ἵνα δι' αὐτῆς ἔλθωμεν εἰς τὸν τῆς Μεσότητος τόπον, αὐτοῖς δέ, πνευματικοῖς τε καὶ τελείοις καλουμένοις, μηδαμῶς. οὐ γὰρ πρᾶξις εἰς Πλήρωμα εἰσάγει, ἀλλὰ τὸ σπέρμα τὸ ἐκεῖθεν νήπιον μὲν ἐκπεμπόμενον, ἐνθάδε > τελειούμενον.

31.21.10 | Because of this, then, for us, whom they call natural and say we are from the world, self-control and good action are necessary, so that through them we may come to the place of the Middle.
But for them, who are called spiritual and perfect, not at all. For their action does not lead to Fullness, but the seed sent from there is a child here, and is made perfect here.

31.21.11 | Ὅταν δὲ πᾶν τὸ σπέρμα τελειωθῇ, τὴν μὲν Ἀχαμῶθ τὴν Μητέρα αὐτῶν μεταστῆναι τοῦ τῆς Μεσότητος τόπου λέγουσι καὶ ἐντὸς Πληρώματος εἰσελθεῖν καὶ ἀπολαβεῖν τὸν νυμφίον αὐτῆς τὸν Σωτῆρα, τὸν ἐκ πάντων γεγονότα, ἵνα συζυγία γένηται τοῦ Σωτῆρος καὶ τῆς Σοφίας τῆς Ἀχαμῶθ. καὶ τοῦτο εἶναι νυμφίον καὶ νύμφην, νυμφῶνα Τε τὸ πᾶν Πλήρωμα.

31.21.11 | And when all the seed is made perfect, they say that Achamoth, their Mother, moves from the place of the Middle and enters into Fullness, and receives her bridegroom, the Savior, who came from all, so that a marriage may happen between the Savior and the Wisdom of Achamoth.
And this is the bridegroom and the bride, and the whole Fullness is their bridal chamber.

31.21.12 | τοὺς δὲ πνευματικοὺς ἀποδυσασμένους τὰς ψυχὰς καὶ πνεύματα νοερὰ γενομένους, ἀκρατήτως καὶ ἀοράτως ἐντὸς Πληρώματος εἰσελθόντας, νύμφας ἀποδοθήσεσθαι τοῖς περὶ τὸν Σωτῆρα ἀγγέλοις.

31.21.12 | But those spiritual ones who have stripped off their souls and become intelligent spirits, having entered into Fullness without self-control and unseen, will be given brides by the angels around the Savior.

31.21.13 | τὸν δὲ Δημιουργὸν μεταβῆναι καὶ αὐτὸν εἰς τὸν τῆς Μητρὸς Σοφίας τόπον, τουτέστιν ἐν τῇ Μεσότητι. τὰς τε τῶι δικαίων ψυχὰς ἀναπαύσεσθαι καὶ αὐτὰς ἐν τῷ τῆς Μεσότητος τόπῳ. μηδὲν γὰρ ψυχικὸν ἐντὸς Πληρώματος χωρεῖν.

31.21.13 | And that the Creator also passes into the place of the Mother Wisdom, that is, into the Middle. And the souls of the righteous rest and themselves are in the place of the Middle. For nothing soulful can enter into Fullness.

31.21.14 | τούτων δὲ γενομένων οὕτως τὸ ἐμφωλεῦον τῷ κόσμῳ πῦρ ἐκλάμψαν καὶ ἐξαφθὲν καὶ κατεργασάμενον πᾶσαν ὕλην συναναλωθήσεσθαι αὐτῇ καὶ εἰς τὸ μηκέτ' εἶναι χωρήσειν διδάσκουσι. τὸν δὲ Δημιουργὸν μηδὲν τούτων ἐγνωκέναι ἀποφαίνονται πρὸ τῆς τοῦ Σωτῆρος παρουσίας.

31.21.14 | And when these things have happened in this way, the fire dwelling in the world is said to have flashed and burned up, and having worked through all matter, it will be consumed with it and will no longer be able to exist. And they say that the Creator knew nothing of these things before the coming of the Savior.

Section 22

31.22.1 | 22. Εἰσὶ δὲ οἱ λέγοντες προβλέσθαι αὐτὸν καὶ χριστόν, υἱὸν ἴδιον, ἀλλὰ καὶ * ψυχικόν, > περὶ τούτου διὰ τῶν προφητῶν λελαληκέναι. εἶναι δὲ τοῦτον τὸν διὰ Μαρίας διοδεύσαντα, καθάπερ ὕδωρ διὰ σωλῆνος ὁδεύει, καὶ εἰς τοῦτον ἐπὶ τοῦ βαπτίσματος κατελθεῖν ἐκεῖνον τὸν ἀπὸ τοῦ Πληρώματος ἐκ πάντων Σωτῆρα ἐν εἴδει περιστερᾶς. γεγονέναι δὲ ἐν αὐτῷ καὶ τὸ ἀπὸ τῆς Ἀχαμῶθ σπέρμα πνευματικόν.

31.22.1 | 22. But those who say that he was foretold and anointed, a special son, but also * soulful, > about this have spoken through the prophets. And that this one traveled through Mary, just as water travels through a pipe, and that at his baptism the Savior from Fullness, who is from all, came down on him in the form of a dove. And that in him was also the spiritual seed from Achamoth.

31.22.2 | τὸν οὖν κύριον ἡμῶν ἐκ τεσσάρων τούτων σύνθετον γεγονέναι φάσκουσιν, ἀποσώζοντα τὸν τύπον τῆς ἀρχηγόνου καὶ πρώτης τετρακτύος, ἕκ τε τοῦ πνευματικοῦ ὃ ἦν ἀπὸ τῆς Ἀχαμῶθ καὶ ἐκ τοῦ ψυχικοῦ ὃ ἦν ἀπὸ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ καὶ ἐκ τῆς οἰκονομίας ὃ ἦν κατεσκευασμένον ἀρρήτῳ τέχνῃ καὶ ἐκ τοῦ Σωτῆρος ὃ ἦν > κατελθοῦσα εἰς αὐτὸν περιστερᾶ.

31.22.2 | They say then that our lord was made from these four combined, saving the pattern of the original and first fourfold, from the spiritual one who was from Achamoth, and from the soulful one who was from the Creator, and from the plan which was made by secret skill, and from the Savior who > came down on him as a dove.

31.22.3 | καὶ τοῦτον μὲν ἀπαθῆ διαμεμνηκέναι οὐ γὰρ ἐνεδέχετο παθεῖν αὐτόν, ἀκράτητον τητον καὶ ἀόρατον ὑπάρχοντα) καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἦρθαι, προσαγομένου αὐτοῦ τῷ Πιλάτῳ, τὸ εἰς

31.22.3 | And they say that he remembered being without suffering, for it was not possible for him to suffer, being strong and invisible. And for this reason, when he was brought before Pilate, the spirit of Christ αὐτὸν κατατεθὲν πνεῦμα χριστοῦ. ἀλλ' οὐδὲ τὸ ἀπὸ τῆς Μητρὸς σπέρμα πεπονθένει λέγουσιν. ἀπαθὲς γὰρ καὶ αὐτό, † τὸ πνευματικὸν καὶ ἀόρατον καὶ αὐτῷ τῷ Δημιουργῷ.

was placed in him. But they do not say that the seed from the Mother suffered. For that too is without suffering, spiritual, invisible, and also to the Creator.

31.22.4 | ἔπαθεν δὲ λοιπὸν ὁ κατ' αὐτοῦς ψυχικὸς Χριστὸς καὶ ὁ ἐκ τῆς οἰκονομίας κατεσκευασμένος μυστηριωδῶς, ἵν' ἐπιδείξῃ > αὐτοῦ ἡ Μήτηρ τὸν τύπον τοῦ ἄνω χριστοῦ, ἐκένου τοῦ ἐπεκταθέντος τῷ σταυρῷ καὶ μορφώσαντος τὴν Ἀχαμῶθ μόρφωσιν τὴν κατ' οὐσίαν. πάντα γὰρ ταῦτα τύπους ἐκείνων εἶναι λέγουσι.

31.22.4 | But then the soulful Christ and the one made by the plan in secret suffered, so that the Mother might show the pattern of the higher Christ, the empty one who was stretched out on the cross and shaped the form of Achamoth in essence. For they say all these are patterns of those.

31.22.5 | τὰς δὲ ἐσχηκυίας τὸ σπέρμα τῆς Ἀχαμῶθ ψυχὰς ἀμείνους λέγουσι γεγονέναι τῶν λοιπῶν. διὸ καὶ πλεον τῶν ἄλλων ἡγκπῆσθαι ὑπὸ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ, μὴ εἰδότος τὴν αἰτίαν, ἀλλὰ παρ' αὐτοῦ λογιζομένου εἶναι τοιαύτας.

31.22.5 | They say that the forms, the seed of Achamoth, became souls better than the others. And so they were more trapped by the Creator, not knowing the cause, but thinking these things came from him.

31.22.6 | οἷο καὶ εἰς προφήτας, φασίν, ἔτασσαν αὐτὰς καὶ ἱερεῖς καὶ βασιλεῖς. καὶ πολλὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ σπέρματος τούτου εἰρῆσθαι διὰ τῶν προφητῶν ἐξηγοῦνται, ἅτε ὑψηλοτέρας φύσεως ὑπάρχοντος. πολλὰ δὲ καὶ τὴν Μητέρα περὶ τῶν τέρω εἰρηκέναι λέγουσιν, ἀλλὰ καὶ διὰ τούτου καὶ τῶν ὑπὸ τούτου γενομένων ψυχῶν *.

31.22.6 | And they say that even one of the prophets set them as priests and kings. And many things were said by this seed through the prophets, because it has a higher nature. They also say that the Mother spoke many things about these, but also about the souls born from this seed.

31.22.7 | καὶ λοιπὸν τέμνουσι τὰς προφητείας, τὸ μὲν τι ἀπὸ τῆς Μητρὸς εἰρῆσθαι θέλοντες, τὸ δὲ τι ἀπὸ τοῦ σπέρματος, τὸ δὲ τι ἀπὸ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ.

31.22.7 | And then they cut up the prophecies, some wanting to say they come from the Mother, some from the seed, and some from the Creator.

31.22.8 | ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸν Ἰησοῦν ὡσαύτως τὸ μέν τι ἀπὸ τοῦ Σωτῆρος εἰρηκέναι, τὸ δέ τι ἀπὸ τῆς Μητρὸς, τὸ γε τι ἀπὸ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ, καθὼς ἐπιδείξομεν προϊόντος ἡμῖν τοῦ λόγου.

31.22.8 | But also about Jesus, some say certain things come from the Savior, some from the Mother, and some from the Creator, as we will show as our story goes on.

31.22.9 | τὸν δὲ Δημιουργόν, ἅτε ἀγνοοῦντα τὰ ὑπὲρ αὐτόν, κινεῖσθαι μὲν ἐπὶ τοῖς λεγομένοις, καταπεφρονηκέναι δὲ αὐτῶν, ἄλλοτε ἄλλην αἰτίαν νομίσαντα, ἢ τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ προφητεῦον, ἔχον καὶ αὐτὸ ἰδίαν τινὰ κίνησιν, ἢ τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἢ τὴν προοπλοκὴν τῶν χειρόνων.

31.22.9 | But the Creator, since he does not know the things beyond himself, is moved by what is said, but despises them, sometimes thinking another cause, either that the spirit that prophesies has its own kind of movement, or the human, or the weaving of the hands.

31.22.10 | καὶ οὕτως ἀγνοοῦντα διατετελεκέναι ἄχρι τῆς παρουσίας τοῦ Σωτῆρος· ἐλθόντος δὲ τοῦ Σωτῆρος μαθεῖν αὐτὸν παρ’ αὐτοῦ πάντα λέγουσιν καὶ ἄσμενον αὐτῷ προσχωρῆσαι χωρῆσαι μετὰ πάσης τῆς δυνάμεως αὐτοῦ,

31.22.10 | And so, not knowing, they continued until the coming of the Savior; when the Savior came, they say they learned everything from him and gladly joined him, joining with all his power,

31.22.11 | καὶ αὐτὸν εἶναι τὸν ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ ἐκατόνταρχον, λέγοντα τῷ σωτῆρι »καὶ γὰρ ἐγὼ ὑπὸ τὴν ἐμαυτοῦ τοῦ ἐξουσίαν ἔχω στρατιώτας καὶ δούλους, καὶ ὃ ἐὰν προστάξω, ποιοῦσι«.

31.22.11 | And that he is the centurion in the gospel, saying to the savior, “For I also have soldiers and servants under my own authority, and whatever I command, they do.”

31.22.12 | τελέσειν δὲ αὐτὸν τὴν κατὰ τὸν κόσμον οἰκονομίαν μέχρι τοῦ δέοντος καιροῦ, μάλιστα δὲ διὰ τὴν τῆς ἐκκλησίας ἐπιμέλειαν καὶ διὰ τὴν ἐπίγνωσιν τοῦ ἐτοιμασθέντος αὐτῷ ἐπάθλου, ὅτι εἰς τὸν τῆς Μητρὸς τόπον χωρήσει.

31.22.12 | And to complete the management of the world until the proper time, especially because of the care for the church and because of the knowledge of the reward prepared for him, since he will go to the place of the Mother.

Section 23

31.23.1 | 23. Ἀνθρώπων δὲ τρία γένη

31.23.1 | There are three kinds of people:

ὑφίστανται, πνευματικὸν χοῖκὸν ψυχικόν, καθὼς ἐγένοντο Κάϊν Ἄβελ Σήθ, <ἵνα δείξωσι> καὶ ἐκ τούτων τὰς τρεῖς φύσεις, οὐκέτι καθ' ἓνα ἀλλὰ κατὰ γένος.

spiritual, earthly, and soulish, just as Cain, Abel, and Seth were made, to show also from these the three natures, no longer one by one but by kind.

31.23.2 | καὶ τὸ μὲν χοῖκὸν εἰς φθορὰν χωρεῖν καὶ τὸ ψυχικόν, ἐὰν τὰ βελτίονα ἔληται ἐν τῷ τῆς Μεσότητος τόπῳ ἀναπαύσεσθαι· ἐὰν δὲ τὰ χείρω, χωρήσειν καὶ αὐτὸ πρὸς τὰ ὅμοια.

31.23.2 | And the earthly will go to decay, and the soulish, if it chooses the better things, will rest in the place of the Middle; but if it chooses the worse, it will also go to what is like itself.

31.23.3 | τὰ δὲ πνευματικά, ἃ ἐγκατασπεύρει ἡ Ἀχαμώθ, ἔκτοτε ἕως τοῦ νῦν δικαίαις ψυχαῖς παιδευθέντα ἐνθάδε καὶ ἐκτραφέντα, διὰ τὸ νήπια ἐκπέμπεσθαι, ὑστερον τελειότητος ἀξιωθέντα νύμφας ἀποδοθήσεσθαι τοῖς τοῦ Σωτῆρος ἀγγέλοις δογματίζουσι, τῶν ψυχῶν αὐτῶν κατ' ἀνάγκην ἐν Μεσότητι μετὰ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ ἀναπαυσαμένων εἰς τὸ παντελές.

31.23.3 | But the spiritual things, which the Wisdom of God sows, from then until now are trained and raised here in righteous souls, because they are sent out as infants; and later, having been made worthy of perfection, they will be given as brides to the angels of the Savior who teach, their souls necessarily resting in the Middle with the Creator to the full.

31.23.4 | καὶ αὐτὰς μὲν τὰς ψυχὰς πάλιν ὑπομερίζοντες λέγουσιν ἃς μὲν φύσει ἀγαθὰς, ἃς δὲ φύσει πονηράς. καὶ τὰς μὲν ἀγαθὰς ταύτας εἶναι τὰς δεκτικὰς τοῦσπέρματος ματος γινομένας, τὰς δὲ φύσει πονηράς μηδέποτε ἂν ἐπιδέξασθαι ἐκεῖνο τὸ σπέρμα.

31.23.4 | And dividing the souls again, they say some are naturally good, and others naturally bad. And those that are good are the ones able to receive that seed, but those naturally bad would never be able to receive that seed.

Section 24

31.24.1 | 24. Τοιαύτης δὲ τῆς ὑποθέσεως αὐτῶν οὔσης, ἣν οὔτε προφητὰι ἐκήρυξαν, οὔτε ὁ κύριος ἐδίδαξεν οὔτε ἀπόστολοι παρέδωκαν, ἣν περισσοτέρως κῦχοῦσιν πλεῖον τῶν ἄλλων ἐγνώκεναι, ἐξ ἀγράφων ἀναγινώσκοντες καὶ τὸ δὴ λεγόμενον ἐξ

31.24.1 | 24. And since their story is such, which neither prophets preached, nor the lord taught, nor apostles handed down, which they claim to know more than others, reading from unwritten things and trying to weave what is said from sand like ἄμμου σχοινία πλέκειν ἐπιτηδεύοντες, ropes,

31.24.2 | ἀξιοπίστως προσαρμόζειν πειρῶνται τοῖς εἰρημένοις ἥτοι παραβολὰς κυριακάς ἢ ῥήσεις προφητικάς ἢ λόγους ἀποστολικούς, ἵνα τὸ πλάσμα αὐτῶν μὴ ἀμάρτυρον εἶναι οοκῇ, τὴν μὲν τάξιν καὶ τὸν εἶρμόν τῶν γραφῶν ὑπερβαίνοντες καὶ ὅσον ἐφ' ἐαυτοῖς λύοντες τὰ μέλη τῆς ἀληθείας.

31.24.2 | they try to fit them reliably to what was said, either the lord's parables or the prophetic sayings or the apostolic words, so that their story will not be without witness, going beyond the order and connection of the scriptures and breaking apart the parts of the truth as it suits them.

31.24.3 | μεταφέρουσι δὲ καὶ σήμων ὑπὸ σοφοῦ τεχνίτου, λύσας τὴν ὑποκειμένην τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἰδέαν μετενέγκοι τὰς ψηφίδας ἐκείνας καὶ μεθαρμόσοι καὶ ποιήσοι μορφήν κυνὸς ἢ ἀλώπεκος καὶ ταύτην φαύλως κατεσκευασμένην,

31.24.3 | and they also take signs from a clever craftsman, having loosened the underlying idea of a person, they transfer those small pieces and reshape them and make the form of a dog or a fox, and this one poorly made,

31.24.4 | ἔπειτα διορίζοιτο καὶ λέγοι ταύτην εἶναι τὴν τοῦ βασιλέως ἐκείνην εἰκόνα τὴν καλήν, ἣν ὁ σοφὸς τεχνίτης κατεσκεύασεν, δεικνὺς τὰς ψηφίδας τὰς καλῶς ὑπὸ τοῦ τεχνίτου τοῦ πρώτου εἰς τὴν τοῦ βασιλέως εἰκόνα συντεθείσας, κακῶς δὲ ὑπὸ τοῦ ὑστέρου εἰς κυνὸς μορφήν μετενεχθείσας, καὶ διὰ τῆς τῶν ψηφίδων φαντασίας μεθοδεύοι τοὺς ἀπειροτέρους τοὺς κατάληψιν βασιλικῆς μορφῆς οὐκ ἔχοντας καὶ πείθοι ὅτι αὕτη ἡ σαπρὰ τῆς ἀλώπεκος ἰδέα ἐκείνη ἔστιν ἡ καλὴ τοῦ βασιλέως εἰκὼν.

31.24.4 | then he might fix it and say that this is the beautiful image of the king, which the clever craftsman made, showing the small pieces well joined by the first craftsman into the king's image, but badly changed by the later one into the form of a dog, and through the imagination of the small pieces he tricks those less skilled who do not understand the royal form and convinces them that this rotten idea of the fox is that beautiful image of the king.

31.24.5 | τὸν αὐτὸν δὲ τρόπον καὶ οὗτοι γραῶν μύθους συγκαττυσαντες, ἐπειτα βήματα καὶ λέξεις καὶ παραβολὰς ὅθεν καὶ ποθὲν αποσπῶντες, ἐφαρμόζειν βούλονται τοῖς μύθοις αὐτῶν τὰ λόγια τοῦ θεοῦ.

31.24.5 | in the same way, these men also put together old women's stories, then taking steps and words and parables from here and there, they want to fit god's words to their stories.

Section 25

31.25.1 | καὶ ὅσα μὲν τοῖς ἐντὸς τοῦ Πληρώματος ἐφαρμόξουσιν, εἰρήκαμεν. ὅσα δὲ καὶ τοῖς ἐκτὸς τοῦ Πληρώματος αὐτῶν προσοικειοῦν πειρῶνται ἐκ τῶν γραφῶν, ἔστιν τοιαῦτα.

31.25.1 | and how many things they will fit to those inside the Fullness, we have said. but as for those they try to bring near to those outside their Fullness from the scriptures, they are such things.

31.25.2 | τὸν κύριον ἐν τοῖς ἐσχάτοις τοῦ κόσμου τὸν ἔσχατον τῶν Αἰώνων γεγονὸς πάθος καὶ διὰ τούτου τοῦ τέλους ἐμφήνη τὸ τέλος τῆς περὶ τοὺς Αἰῶνας πραγματείας.

31.25.2 | the lord, at the last time of the world, having become the last of the Ages, suffers, and through this end, the end of the dealings about the Ages appears.

31.25.3 | τὴν δὲ δωδεκαετῇ παρθένον ἐκείνην, τὴν τοῦ ἀρχισυναγώγου θυγατέρα, ἣν ἐπίστας ὁ κύριος ἐκ νερῶν ἤγειρεν, τύπον εἶναι διηγοῦνται τῆς Ἀχαμῶθ, ἣν ἐπεκταθεὶς ὁ Χριστὸς αὐτῶν ἐμόρφωσεν καὶ εἰς αἴσθησιν ἤγαγε τοῦ καταλιπόντος αὐτὴν φωτός.

31.25.3 | and the twelve-year-old virgin, that daughter of the chief synagogue leader, whom the lord, standing over the waters, raised up, they say is a symbol of Achamoth, whom Christ stretched out and shaped, and led into the perception of the light she had left behind.

31.25.4 | ὅτι δὲ αὐτῇ ἐπέφανεν > ὁ σωτὴρ, ἐκτὸς ἐκτὸς οὐσῆς τοῦ Πληρώματος ἐν ἐκτρώματος μοίρᾳ, τὸν Παῦλον λέγουσιν εἰρηκέναι ἐν τῇ πρώτῃ πρὸς Κορινθίους »ἔσχατον δὲ πάντων ὡσπερεὶ τῷ ἐκτρώματι ὥφθη κάμοι«.

31.25.4 | because to her appeared the savior, being outside outside of the Fullness in a disfigured part, they say Paul said in the first letter to the Corinthians, “last of all, as if to a disfigured one, he appeared also to me.”

31.25.5 | τὴν τε μετὰ τῶν ἡλικιωτῶν τοῦ Σωτῆρος παρουσίαν πρὸς τὴν Ἀχαμῶθ ὁμοίως πεφανερωκέναι αὐτὸν ἐν τῇ αὐτῇ ἐπιστολῇ εἰπόντα »δεῖ τὴν γυναῖκα κάλυμμα ἔχειν ἐπὶ τῆς κεφαλῆς διὰ τοὺς ἀγγέλους«. καὶ ὅτι ἡκοντος τοῦ Σωτῆρος πρὸς αὐτὴν δὶ αἰδῶ κάλυμμα ἐπέθετο ἡ Ἀχαμῶθ <ἐπὶ τὸ πρόσωπον > Μωσέα

31.25.5 | and also the presence of the savior with the elders appeared to Achamoth in the same letter, saying, “a woman must have a covering on her head because of the angels.” and when the savior came to her, out of respect she put a covering over her face, making it clear that πεποιηκέναι φανερόν, κάλυμμα θέμενον ἐπὶ τὸ πρόσωπον αὐτοῦ.

Moses had a covering on his face.

31.25.6 | καὶ τὰ πάθη δὲ αὐτῆς ἃ ἔπαθεν *, καὶ τὴν ἀπορίαν δὲ ὡσαύτως ἔ τῷ

31.25.6 | and the sufferings she endured, they say the lord marked, and in saying on the cross, "my god, why have you left me," he showed that wisdom was left out of the light and was stopped by the boundary of the forward rush; and her sorrow in saying,
"my soul is very sad," and the fear in saying,
"father, if possible, let this cup pass from me," and the confusion also in saying, "and what shall I say? I do not know."

31.25.7 | Τρία δὲ γένη ἀνθρώπων οὕτως ὕλικόν ἐν τῷ ἀποκριθῆναι τῷ λέγοντι.

31.25.7 | and he teaches that three kinds of people have been shown like this. the first, the physical, in the answer to the one saying, "I will follow you," he said, "the son of man has no place to lay his head." the second, the natural, in the one saying, "I will follow you, but let me first go to my own," no one who puts a hand to the plow and looks back is fit for the kingdom.

31.25.8 | βασιλείᾳ τῶν οὐρανῶν» τοῦτον

31.25.8 | "for this one they say is of the middle kind; and that one also, who confessed most parts of righteousness but then did not want to follow. but defeated by wealth, he failed to become perfect, and they say he became of the natural kind."

31.25.9 | τὸ δὲ πνευματικὸν ἐν τῷ εἰπεῖν »ἄφες τοὺς νεκροὺς θάψαι τοὺς ἑαυτῶν

31.25.9 | and the spiritual in the saying, "let the dead bury their own dead; but you go νεκρούς· σὺ δὲ πορευθεὶς βασιλείαν τοῦ θεοῦ», καὶ ἐπὶ Ζακχαίου τοῦ τελώνου εἰπὼν »σπεύσας κατὰβηθι, ὅτι σήμερον ἐν τῷ οἴκῳ σου δεῖ με μεῖναι«· τούτους γένους καταγγέλλουσι γεγονέναι.

and proclaim the kingdom of God,” and also in the saying to Zacchaeus the tax collector, “hurry and come down, for today I must stay at your house.” they say these kinds have been shown.

31.25.10 | καὶ τὴν τῆς ζύμης παραβολὴν, ἣν ἡ γυνὴ ἐγκεκρυφέναι λέγεται εἰς ἀλεύρου σάτα τρία, τὰ τρία γένη δηλοῦν λέγουσι. γεναῖκα μὲν γὰρ τὴν Σοφίαν λέγεσθαι διδάσκουσιν. ἀλεύρου δὲ σάτα τρία τὰ τρία γένη τῶν ἀνθρώπων, πνευματικὸν ψυχικὸν χοϊκόν. ζύμην Τε αὐτὸν τὸν σωτῆρα εἰρησθαι διδάσκουσι.

31.25.10 | and the parable of the yeast, which the woman is said to have hidden in three measures of flour, they say shows the three kinds. for they teach that wisdom is called a woman. and the three measures of flour are the three kinds of people: spiritual, natural, and earthly. and the yeast they say is the savior himself.

31.25.11 | and paul clearly said earthly, natural, and spiritual. “the earthly is like this, such are the earthly,” where he says “but the natural person does not accept the things of the spirit,” and where he says “the spiritual person judges all things.” they say the “natural person does not accept the things of the spirit” is said about the creator, whom, being natural, he did not know, neither the spiritual mother nor her seed nor the ages in the fullness.

31.25.12 | ὅτι δὲ ὧν ἤμελλε σῶζειν ὁ Σωτὴρ, τούτων τὰς ἀπαρχὰς ἀνέλαβεν τὸν Παῦλον εἰρηκέναι »καὶ εἰ ἡ ἀπαρχὴ ἁγία, καὶ τὸ φύραμα«, ἀπαρχὴν μὲν τὸ πνευματικὸν εἰρησθαι διδάσκοντες, φήραμα δὲ ἡμᾶς τουτέστιν τὴν ψυχικὴν ἐκκλησίαν, ἧς τὸ φύραμα ἀνελιφέναι λέγουσιν αὐτὸν καὶ ἐν αὐτῷ συνανεστακέναι, ἐπειδὴ ἦν αὐτὸς ζύμη.

31.25.12 | because the savior was going to save some, he took the first fruits of these. paul said, “and if the first fruits are holy, so is the lump.” they teach that the first fruits are the spiritual ones, and the lump is us, that is, the natural church. they say he took the lump and raised it up with himself, since he was the yeast.

Section 26

31.26.1 | 26. Καὶ ὅτι ἐπλανήθη ἡ Ἀχάμωθ ἐκτὸς τοῦ Πληρώματος καὶ ἐμορφώθη φώθῃ ὑπὸ τοῦ Χριστοῦ καὶ ἀνεζητήθη ὑπὸ τοῦ Σωτῆρος, μηνύειν αὐτὸν λέγουσιν ἐν τῷ εἰπεῖν αὐτὸν ἐληλυθέναι ἐπὶ τὸ πεπλανημένον <πρόβατον>.

31.26.1 | 26. And that Achamoth was led astray outside the Fullness and was shaped by the light of Christ and was sought after by the Savior, they say this shows him when he says he came for the lost sheep.

31.26.2 | πρόβατον μὲν γὰρ πεπλανημένον τὴν Μητέρα αὐτῶν ἐξηγοῦντα λέγεσθαι, ἐξ ἧς τὴν ὧδε θέλουσιν ἐσπάρθαι ἐκκλησίαν· πλάνην δὲ τὴν ἐκτὸς Πληρώματος ἐν <πᾶσι> τοῖς πάθεσι ἐκκλησίαν· πλάνην δὲ τὴν ἐκτὸς Πληρώματος τίθενται.

31.26.2 | For the lost sheep is said to mean their Mother, from whom they want to snatch the church here; but the error is the church outside the Fullness in all its sufferings; they place the error outside the Fullness.

31.26.3 | τὴν δὲ γυναῖκα τὴν σαροῦσαν τὴν οἰκίαν καὶ εὐρίσκουσιν τὴν δραχμὴν τὴν ἄνω Σοφίαν διηγοῦνται λέγεσθαι, ἥτις ἀπολέσασα τὴν Ἐνθύμησιν αὐτῆς, ὕστερον καθαρισθέντων πάντων διὰ τῆς τοῦ Σωτῆρος παρουσίας εὐρίσκει αὐτήν, διὸ καὶ ταύτην ἀποκαθίστασθαι κατ' αὐτοὺς ἐντὸς Πληρώματος.

31.26.3 | And the woman who swept the house and found the coin is said to be the higher Wisdom, who, after losing her Thought, later finds it again when all are cleansed through the Savior's coming; therefore, according to them, she is restored inside the Fullness.

31.26.4 | Συμεῶνα <δὲ> τὸν εἰς τὰς ἀγκάλας λαβόντα τὸν Χριστὸν καὶ εὐχαριστήσαντα τῷ θεῷ καὶ εἰπόντα »νῦν ἀπολύεις τὸν δοῦλόν σου, δέσποτα, κατὰ τὸ ῥῆμά σου ἐν εἰρήνῃ« τύπον εἶναι τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ λέγουσιν, ὃς ἐλθόντος τοῦ Σωτῆρος ἔμαθε τὴν μετάθεσιν αὐτοῦ καὶ ηὐχαρίστησε τῷ Βυθῷ.

31.26.4 | But Simeon, who took Christ into his arms and thanked God, saying, "Now you let your servant go, master, according to your word in peace," they say is a symbol of the Creator, who, when the Savior came, learned his change and gave thanks to the Depth.

31.26.5 | καὶ διὰ τῆς Ἄννας τῆς ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ κηρυττομένης προφητίδος, ἑπτὰ ἔτη μετὰ ἀνδρὸς ἐξηκτίας, τὸν δὲ

31.26.5 | And through Anna, the prophetess preaching in the gospel, who lived seven years after her husband died, and then λοιπὸν ἅπαντα χρόνον χήρας μεμενηκυίας, ἄχρις οὗ τὸν σωτῆρα ἰδοῦσα ἐπέγνω αὐτὸν καὶ ἐλάλει περὶ αὐτοῦ πᾶσι, φανερώτατα τὴν Ἀχαμῶθ μηνύεσθαι διορίζονται, ἥτις πρὸς ὀλίγον ἰδοῦσα <τότε> τὸν Σωτῆρα μετὰ τῶν ἡλικιωτῶν αὐτοῦ, τῷ λοιπῷ χρόνῳ παντὶ μένουσα ἐν τῇ Μεσότητι προσεδέχετο αὐτόν, πότε πάλιν ἐλεύσεται καὶ ἀποκαταστήσει αὐτὴν τῇ αὐτῆς συζυγίᾳ.

remained a widow all the rest of the time, until she saw the Savior, recognized him, and spoke about him to all, they say she clearly shows the Achamoth, who, after seeing the Savior briefly then with his elders, stayed in the Middle for the rest of the time, waiting for when he will come again and restore her to her husband.

31.26.6 | καὶ τὸ ὄνομα δὲ αὐτῆς μεμνηῦσθαι ὑπὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος ἐν τῷ εἰρηκέναι »καὶ ἐδικαιώθη ἡ σοφία ἀπὸ τῶν τέκνων αὐτῆς«, καὶ ὑπὸ Παύλου δὲ οὕτως »σοφίαν δὲ λαλοῦμεν ἐν τοῖς τελείοις«.

31.26.6 | And her name is said to be announced by the Savior in the saying, "And wisdom was justified by her children," and also by Paul in this way, "But we speak wisdom among the perfect."

31.26.7 | καὶ τὰς συζυγίας δὲ τὰς ἐντὸς Πληρώματος τὸν Παῦλον εἰρηκέναι φάσκουσιν ἐπὶ ἐνὸς δείξαντα· περὶ γὰρ τῆς περ' τὸν βίον συζυγίας γράφων ἔφη »τὸ μυστήριον τοῦτο μέγα ἐστίν, ἐγὼ δὲ λέγω εἰς Χριστὸν καὶ τὴν ἐκκλησίαν«.

31.26.7 | And they say that Paul spoke about the unions within the Fullness, showing one example; for writing about the union concerning life, he said, "This mystery is great, but I speak about Christ and the church."

Section 27

31.27.1 | 27. Ἔτι δὲ Ἰωάννην τὸν μαθητὴν τοῦ κυρίου διδάσκουσι τὴν πρώτην Ὀγδοάδα μεμνησκέναι, αὐταῖς λέξεσι λέγοντες οὕτως·

31.27.1 | And still, they teach that John, the disciple of the lord, announced the first Week, with these very words, saying this way:

31.27.2 | Ἰωάννης, ὁ μαθητὴς τοῦ κυρίου, βουλόμενος εἰπεῖν τὴν τῶν ὅλων γένεσιν, καθ' ἣν πάντα προέβαλεν ὁ Πατήρ, ἀρχὴν τινα ὑποτίθεται τὸ πρῶτον γεννηθὲν ὑπὸ τοῦ θεοῦ, ὃ δὴ καὶ υἱὸν καὶ μονογενῆ θεὸν κέκληκεν, ἐν ᾧ τὰ πάντα ὁ Πατήρ

31.27.2 | John, the disciple of the lord, wanting to speak about the origin of all things, on which the Father displayed everything, sets down a certain beginning as the first born by God, whom he called both son and only-begotten god, in whom the Father displayed everything in seed προέβαλε σπερματικῶς.

31.27.3 | ὑπὸ δὲ τούτου φησὶ τὸν Λόγον προβεβλῆσθαι καὶ ἐν αὐτῷ τὴν ὅλην τῷ Αἰώνων οὐσίαν, ἣν αὐτὸς ἐμόρφωσεν ὁ Λόγος. ἐπεὶ οὖν περὶ πρώτης γενέσεως λέγει, καλῶς ἀπὸ τῆς ἀρχῆς τουτέστιν τοῦ Υἱοῦ καὶ τοῦ Λόγου τὴν διδασκαλίαν ποιεῖται.

31.27.3 | And he says that the Word was born first, and in him is the whole being of the Ages, which the Word shaped. So, since he speaks about the first birth, he rightly teaches from the beginning, that is, about the Son and the Word.

31.27.4 | λέγει δὲ οὕτως »ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦι ὁ Λόγος καὶ ὁ Λόγος ἦν πρὸς τὸν θεὸν καὶ θεὸς ἦν ὁ Λόγος.

31.27.4 | He says this way: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God."

31.27.5 | οὗτος ἦν ἐν ἀρχῇ πρὸς τὸν θεόν« πρότερον διαστείλας τὰ τρία, θεὸν καὶ Ἀρχὴν καὶ Λόγον, πάλιν αὐτὰ ἐνοῖ, ἵνα καὶ τὴν προβολὴν ἐκατέρων αὐτῶν δείξῃ, τοῦ τε Υἱοῦ καὶ τοῦ Λόγου, καὶ τὴν πρὸς ἀλλήλους ἅμα καὶ τὴν πρὸς τὸν Πατέρα ἔνωσιν.

31.27.5 | He was in the beginning with God; having first separated the three—God, the Beginning, and the Word—he joins them again, so that he may show both their distinction, of the Son and the Word, and their unity with each other and with the Father.

31.27.6 | ἐν γὰρ τῷ Πατρὶ καὶ ἐκ τοῦ Πατρὸς ἡ Ἀρχή, ἐν δὲ τῇ Ἀρχῇ καὶ ἐκ τῆς Ἀρχῆς ὁ Λόγος. καλῶς οὖν εἶπεν »ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦν ὁ Λόγος« ἦν γὰρ ἐν Υἱῷ. »καὶ ὁ Λόγος ἦν πρὸς τὸν θεόν« καὶ γὰρ ἡ Ἀρχή *. καὶ »θεὸς ἦι ὁ Λόγος«, ἀκολουθῶς· τὸ γὰρ ἐκ θεοῦ γεννηθὲν θεός ἐστιν. »οὗτος ἦν ἐν ἀρχῇ πρὸς τὸν θεόν« ἔδειξε τὴν τῆς προβολῆς τάξιν.

31.27.6 | For the Beginning is in the Father and comes from the Father, and the Word is in the Beginning and comes from the Beginning. So he rightly said, "In the beginning was the Word," for he was in the Son. "And the Word was with God," for the Beginning was too. And "the Word was God," follows; for what is born of God is God. "He was in the beginning with God" showed the order of distinction.

31.27.7 | »πάντα δι' αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο καὶ χωρὶς αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο οὐδὲ ἓω« πᾶσι γὰρ τοῖς μετ' αὐτὸν Αἰῶσι μορφῆς καὶ γενέσεως

31.27.7 | "Everything came into being through him, and without him not even one thing came into being." For the Word αἴτιος ὁ Λόγος ἐγένετο. ἀλλ' »ὃ γέγονεν ἐν αὐτῷ, φησί, ζωὴ ἐστίν«. ἐνθάδε καὶ συζυγίαν ἐμήνυσεν· τὰ μὲν γὰρ ὅλα ἔφη δι' αὐτοῦ γεγενῆσθαι, τὴν δὲ ζωὴν ἐν αὐτῷ.

became the cause of form and birth for all the ages after him. But “what has come into being in him,” he says, “is life.” Here he also showed their connection; for he said that all things came into being through him, but life is in him.

31.27.8 | αὕτη οὖν ἡ ἐν αὐτῷ γενομένη οἰκειότερα ἐστὶν ἐν] αὐτῷ τῶν δι' αὐτοῦ γενομένων· σύνεστι γὰρ αὐτῷ καὶ δι' αὐτοῦ καρποφορεῖ.

31.27.8 | This life, then, which was born in him, is closer to him than the things born through him; for it is joined with him and bears fruit through him.

31.27.9 | ἐπειδὴ γὰρ ἐπιφέρει »καὶ ἡ ζωὴ ἦν τὸ φῶς τῶν ἀνθρώπων«, Ἄνθρωπον εἰπὼν ἄρτι καὶ τὴν Ἐκκλησίαν ὁμωνύμως τῷ Ἀνθρώπῳ ἐμήνυσεν, ὅπως διὰ τοῦ ἐνὸς ὀνόματος δηλώσῃ τὴν τῆς συζυγίας κοινωνίαν· ἐκ γὰρ τοῦ Λόγου καὶ τῆς Ζωῆς Ἄνθρωπος γίνεταί καὶ Ἐκκλησία.

31.27.9 | For since he says, “And life was the light of men,” by saying “man” he just now showed the Church to be the same as man, so that through one name he might show the sharing of their connection; for from the Word and Life both man and Church come to be.

31.27.10 | φῶς δὲ εἶπεν τῶν ἀνθρώπων τὴν Ζωὴν διὰ τὸ πεφωτίσθαι αὐτοὺς ὑπ' αὐτῆς, ὃ δὴ ἐστὶ μεμορφῶσθαι καὶ πεφανερῶσθαι. τοῦτο δὲ καὶ ὁ Παῦλος λέγει »πᾶν γὰρ τὸ φανερούμενον φῶς ἐστίν«. ἐπεὶ τοίνυν ἡ Ζωὴ ἐφάνερωσε καὶ ἐγέννησε τὸν τε Ἄνθρωπον καὶ τὴν Ἐκκλησίαν, φῶς εἴρηται αὐτῶν.

31.27.10 | And he said that life is the light of men because they are enlightened by it, which means to be shaped and shown clearly. Paul also says this: “For everything that is made clear is light.” So since life revealed and gave birth to both man and the Church, they are called light.

31.27.11 | σαφῶς οὖν δεδήλωκεν ὁ Ἰωάννης διὰ τῶν λόγων τούτων τά τε ἄλλα καὶ τὴν τετράδα τὴν δευτέραν· Λόγον καὶ Ζωὴν, Ἄνθρωπον καὶ Ἐκκλησίαν. ἀλλὰ μὴν καὶ τὴν πρώτην ἐμήνυσεν τετράδα.

31.27.11 | So John clearly showed through these words both the other things and the second group of four: Word and Life, Man and Church. But indeed he also showed the first group of four.

31.27.12 | διηγούμενος γὰρ περὶ τοῦ

31.27.12 | For speaking about the savior σωτήρος καὶ λέγων πάντα τὰ ἐκτὸς τοῦ Πληρώματος δι' αὐτοῦ μεμορφῶσθαι, καρπὸν εἶναι φησιν αὐτὸν παντὸς τοῦ Πληρώματος.

and saying that all things outside the Fullness are shaped through him, he says that he is the fruit of the whole Fullness.

31.27.13 | καὶ γὰρ φῶς εἶρηκεν αὐτὸν τὸ ἐν τῇ σκοτίᾳ φαινόμενον καὶ μὴ καταληφθὲν ὑπ' αὐτῆς, ἐπειδὴ πάντα τὰ γενόμενα ἐκ τοῦ πάθους ἀρμόσας ἠγνοήθη ὑπ' αὐτῶν.

31.27.13 | For he also called him light, shining in the darkness and not overcome by it, since he joined all things that come from suffering and was ignored by them.

31.27.14 | καὶ υἱὸν Τε καὶ ἀλήθειαν καὶ ζῶν λέγει αὐτὸν καὶ »λόγον σάρκα γενόμενον· οὗ τὴν δόξαν ἐθεασάμεθα, φησί, καὶ ἡ δόξα αὐτοῦ οἷα ἦν ἡ τοῦ μονογενοῦς, ἡ ὑπὸ τοῦ Πατρὸς δοθεῖσα αὐτῷ, πλήρης χάριτος καὶ ἀληθείας».

31.27.14 | And he calls him son and truth and life, and “the word made flesh”; of whom he says, “we have seen his glory,” and his glory was like that of the only-begotten, given to him by the Father, full of grace and truth.

31.27.15 | λέγει Τε οὕτως »καὶ ὁ Λόγος σὰρξ ἐγένετο καὶ ἐσκήνωσεν ἐν ἡμῖν καὶ ἐθεασάμεθα τὴν δόξαν αὐτοῦ, δόξαν ὡς μονογενοῦς παρὰ Πατρός, πλήρης χάριτος καὶ ἀληθείας«· ἀκριβῶς οὖν καὶ τὴν πρώτην ἐμήνυσσε τετράδα, Πατέρα εἰπὼν καὶ Χάριν καὶ [τὸν] Μονογενῆ καὶ Ἀλήθειαν.

31.27.15 | He says thus, “And the Word became flesh and lived among us, and we saw his glory, glory like that of the only-begotten from the Father, full of grace and truth.” So he clearly revealed the first group of four, saying Father and Grace and the Only-Begotten and Truth.

31.27.16 | οὕτως ὁ Ἰωάννης περὶ τῆς πρώτης καὶ μητρὸς τῶν ὅλων Αἰώνων Ὁγδοάδος εἶρηκε. Πατέρα γὰρ εἶρηκε καὶ Χάριν καὶ Μονογενῆ καὶ Ἀλήθειαν καὶ Λόγον καὶ Ζῶν καὶ Ἄνθρωπον καὶ Ἐκκλησίαν.

31.27.16 | Thus John spoke about the first and mother of all ages, the Eighth. For he said Father and Grace and Only-Begotten and Truth and Word and Life and Man and Church.

Section 28

31.28.1 | 28. Ὁρᾷς, ἀγαπητέ, τὴν μέθodon, ἣν χρώμενοι φρεναπατῶσιν ἑαυτούς, ἐπηρεάζοντες ταῖς γραφαῖς, τὸ πλάσμα

31.28.1 | Do you see, dear one, the method by which, using it, they deceive themselves, twisting the scriptures, so that you may καὶ τὴν πονηρίαν τῆς πλάνης.

understand the trickery of their plan and the evil of their error from their own creation?

31.28.2 | πρῶτον μὲν γὰρ εἰ προέκειτο Ἰωάννη τὴν ἄνω Ὀγδοάδα μηνῦσαι, τὴν τάξιν ἂν τετηρήκει τῆς προβλῆς καὶ τὴν πρώτην τετράδα σεβασμιωτάτην οὖσαν, καθὼς λέγουσιν, ἐν πρώτοις ἂν τεθεῖκει τοῖς ὀνόμασι καὶ οὕτως ἐπεζεύχει τὴν δευτέραν, ἵνα διὰ τῆς τάξεως τῶν ὀνομάτων ἢ δειχθῇ τῆς Ὀγδοάδος, καὶ οὐκ ἐκκλησημένος, ἔπειτα ἀναμνησθεὶς ἐπ’ ἐσχάτῳ τῆς πρώτης ἐμέμνητο τετράδος.

31.28.2 | For first, if it was fitting for John to announce the upper Eighth, he would have kept the order of the arrangement and the first most revered four, as they say, he would have placed the names first and so would have bound the second, so that through the order of the names the Eighth might be shown, and he would not, after such a long time as if forgotten, then remembering at the end of the first, recall the four.

31.28.3 | ἔπειτα δὲ καὶ τὰς συζυγίας σημᾶναι θέλων καὶ τὸ τῆς Ἐκκλησίας οὐκ ἂν παρέλιπεν ὄνομα, ἀλλ’ ἢ καὶ ἐπὶ τῶν λοιπῶν συζυγιῶν ἀρκέσθη ἀρρένων προσηγορίᾳ, ὁμοίως δυναμένων κάκείνων συνυπακούεσθαι, ἵνα τὴν ἐνότητα διὰ πάντων ἢ πεφυλακῶς, <ἢ> εἰ τῶν λοιπῶν τὰς συζύγους κατέλεγε, καὶ τὴν τοῦ Ἀνθρώπου ἂν μεμνηνύκει σύζυγον καὶ οὐκ ἂν ἀφῆκεν ἐκ μαντείας ἡμᾶς λαμβάνειν τοῦνομα αὐτῆς.

31.28.3 | Then, wanting also to mark the pairs, he would not have left out the name of the Church, but either he would have been satisfied with the male name for the other pairs, which could also be heard with them, so that unity would be kept through all, or if he named the wives of the others, he would have revealed the wife of the Man and would not have let us take her name from guessing.

31.28.4 | Φανερά οὖν ἡ τῆς ἐξηγήσεως <αὐτῶν> παραποίησις. τοῦ γὰρ Ἰωάννου ἕνα θεὸν παντοκράτορα καὶ ἕνα μονογενῆ Χριστὸν Ἰησοῦν κηρύσσοντος δι’ οὗ τὰ πάντα γεγονέναι λέγει, τοῦτον υἱὸν θεοῦ *, τοῦτον μονογενῆ, τοῦτον ποιητὴν, τοῦτον φῶς ἀληθινὸν φωτίζον πάντα ἄνθρωπον, τοῦτον κόσμου ποιητὴν, τοῦτον εἰς τὰ ἴδια ἐληλυθότα, τοῦτον αὐτὸν σάρκα γεγονότα καὶ ἐσκηνωκότα ἐν ἡμῖν, —

31.28.4 | So the falsification of their explanation is clear. For John proclaims one almighty god and one only-begotten Christ Jesus, through whom he says all things were made, this son of god, this only-begotten, this creator, this true light who shines on every person, this maker of the world, this one who came into his own, this very one who became flesh and lived among us, —

31.28.5 | οἷτοι παρατρέποντες κατὰ τὸ πιθανὸν τὴν ἐξήγησιν ἄλλον μὲν τὸν Μονογενῆ θέλουσιν εἶναι κατὰ τὴν προβολὴν ὃν δὴ καὶ Ἀρχὴν καλοῦσιν, ἄλλον δὲ τὸν Σωτῆρα γεγονέναι θέλουσι καὶ ἄλλον τὸν Λόγον υἱὸν τοῦ Μονογενοῦς καὶ ἄλλον τὸν Χριστὸν εἰς ἐπανόρθωσιν τοῦ πληρώματος προβεβλημένον.

31.28.5 | These men, twisting the explanation in a likely way, want one to be the only-begotten, whom they indeed call the Beginning, another to have become the Savior, another the Word, son of the only-begotten, and another the Christ, set forward for the restoration of the fullness.

31.28.6 | καὶ ἕκαστον τῶν εἰρημένων ἄραντες ἀπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας <καὶ> καταχρησάμενοι τοῖς ὀνόμασιν εἰς ἰδίαν ὑπόθεσιν μετήνεγκαν, ὥστε κατ' αὐτοὺς ἐν τοῖς τοσοῦτοις τὸν Ἰωάννην τοῦ κυρίου Χριστοῦ Ἰησοῦ μνεῖαν μὴ ποιεῖσθαι.

31.28.6 | And each one, having taken away from the truth and misusing the names for their own purpose, carried them over so that, according to them, in so many ways John does not mention the Lord Christ Jesus.

31.28.7 | εἰ γὰρ Πατέρα εἶρηκε καὶ Χάριν καὶ Μονογενῆ καὶ Ἀλήθειαν καὶ Λόγον καὶ Ζωὴν καὶ Ἄνθρωπον καὶ Ἐκκλησίαν, κατὰ τὴν ἐκείνων ὑπόθεσιν περὶ τῆς πρώτης Ὀγδοάδος εἶρηκεν, ἐν ᾗ οὐδέπω Ἰησοῦς οὐδέπω Χριστός, ὁ τοῦ διδάσκαλος.

31.28.7 | For if he said Father and Grace and Only-begotten and Truth and Word and Life and Man and Church, according to their idea about the first Eighth, he spoke, in which neither Jesus nor Christ, the teacher's, was yet.

31.28.8 | ὅτι δὲ οὐ περὶ τῶν συζυγιῶν αὐτῶν ὁ ἀπόστολος εἶρηκεν, ἀλλὰ περὶ τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ, ὃν καὶ Λόγον οἶδεν τοῦ θεοῦ, αὐτὸς πεποίηκε φανερόν.

31.28.8 | But that the apostle did not speak about their pairs, but about our Lord Jesus Christ, whom he also knows as the Word of God, he himself made clear.

31.28.9 | ἀνακεφαλαιούμενος γὰρ περὶ τοῦ εἰρημένου αὐτῷ ἄνω ἐν ἀρχῇ Λόγου ἐπεξηγεῖται »καὶ ὁ Λόγος σὰρξ ἐγένετο καὶ ἐσκήνωσεν ἐν ἡμῖν«. κατὰ δὲ τὴν ἐκείνων ὑπόθεσιν οὐχ ὁ Λόγος ἐγένετο, ὅς τε οὐδὲ ἦλθεν Ποτε ἐκτὸς Πληρώματος, ἀλλὰ ὁ ἐκ πάντων γεγονώς καὶ μεταγενέστερος τοῦ

31.28.9 | For summing up about the Word said above in the beginning, it is explained: "and the Word became flesh and dwelt among us." But according to their idea, the Word did not become, who never came out of the Fullness, but the Savior who came after and was made from all things, later than the Word.

Section 29

31.29.1 | 29. Μάθετε οὖν, ἀνόητοι, ὅτι Ἰησοῦς ὁ παθὼν ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν, ὁ κατασκηνώσας ἐν ἡμῖν, οὗτος αὐτός ἐστιν ὁ Λόγος τοῦ θεοῦ. εἰ μὲν γὰρ ἄλλος τις τῷ Αἰώνων ὑπὲρ τῆς ἡμῶν αὐτῶν σωτηρίας σὰρξ ἐγένετο, εἰκὸς ἦν περὶ ἄλλου εἰρηκέναι τὸν ἀπόστολον· εἰ δὲ ὁ Λόγος [ὁ] τοῦ Πατρὸς ὁ καταβὰς αὐτός ἐστιν † καὶ ὁ ἀναβὰς, ὁ τοῦ μόνου θεοῦ μονογενῆς υἱός, κατὰ τὴν τοῦ Πατρὸς εὐδοκίαν σαρκωθείς ὑπὲρ ἀνθρώπων, οὐ περὶ ἄλλου τινὸς οὐδὲ περὶ Ὀγδοάδος <ὁ Ἰωάννης> τὸν λόγον πεποιήται, ἀλλ' τοῦ κυρίου Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ.

31.29.1 | So learn, foolish ones, that Jesus, suffering for us, dwelling in us, is this same Word of God. For if someone else of the Ages became flesh for our own salvation, it would be likely the apostle spoke about someone else; but if the Word of the Father himself, who came down and went up, the only-begotten Son of the one God, made flesh for humans according to the Father's good will, then John did not make the word about someone else or about the Eighth, but about the Lord Jesus Christ.

31.29.2 | οὐδὲ γὰρ ὁ Λόγος κατ' αὐτοὺς προηγουμένως σὰρξ γέγονεν. λέγουσι γὰρ τὸν Σωτῆρα ἐνδύσασθαι σῶμα ψυχικὸν ἐκ τῆς οἰκονομίας κατεσκευασμένον ἀρρήτῳ προνοίᾳ πρὸς τὸ ὁρατὸν γενέσθαι καὶ ψηλαφητόν.

31.29.2 | For according to them, the Word did not become flesh before. They say that the Savior put on a natural body, made by an unseen plan from the arrangement, to become visible and touchable.

31.29.3 | σὰρξ δὲ ἐστὶν ἡ ἀρχαία ἐκ τοῦ χοῦ κατὰ τὸν Ἀδὰμ ἢ] γεγонуῖα πλάσις ὑπὸ τοῦ θεοῦ, ἣν ἀληθῶς γεγονέναι τὸν Λόγον τοῦ θεοῦ ἐμήνυσεν ὁ Ἰωάννης.

31.29.3 | But flesh is the ancient formation made from dust according to Adam, created by God, which John truly showed that the Word of God became.

31.29.4 | καὶ λέλυται αὐτῶν ἡ πρώτη καὶ ἀρχέγονος Ὀγδοάς. ἐνὸς γὰρ καὶ τοῦ αὐτοῦ δεικνυμένου Λόγου καὶ Μονογενοῦς καὶ Ζωῆς καὶ Φωτὸς καὶ Σωτῆρος καὶ Χριστοῦ καὶ υἱοῦ θεοῦ, καὶ τούτου αὐτοῦ σαρκωθέντος ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν, λέλυται ἡ τῆς Ὀγδοάδος <αὐτῶν> ταύτης δὲ

31.29.4 | And their first and original Eighth is undone. For one and the same Word is shown, the Only-begotten and Life and Light and Savior and Christ and Son of God, and this same one became flesh for us. Their Eighth is undone, and with this undone, all their story has fallen apart, λελυμένης διαπέπτωκεν αὐτῶν πᾶσα ἡ ὑπόθεσις, ἣν ψευδῶς ὀνειρώττοντες κατατρέχουσι τῶν γραφῶν, ἰδίαν ὑπόθεσιν ἀναπλασάμενοι.

which they falsely run after in dreams of the scriptures, making up their own story.

31.29.5 | Ἐπειτα λέξεις καὶ ὀνόματα σποράδην κείμενα συλλέγοντες μεταφέρουσι καθὼς προειρήκαμεν ἐκ τοῦ κατὰ φύσιν εἰς τὸ παρὰ φύσιν, ὅμοια ποιοῦντες τοῖς ὑποθέσεις τὰς τυχούσας αὐτοῖς προβαλλομένοις, ἔπειτα περωμένοις ἐκ τῶν Ὀμήρου ποιημάτων μελετᾶν αὐτάς,

31.29.5 | Then, gathering words and names scattered here and there, they carry them, as we said before, from what is natural to what is unnatural, making the stories like the ones they happen to imagine for themselves, and then they try to study these from the poems of Homer.

31.29.6 | ὥστε τοὺς ἀπειροτέρους δοκεῖν ἐπ' ἐκείνης τῆς ἐξ ὑπογύου μεμελετημένης ὑποθέσεως Ὅμηρον τὰ ἔπη πεποιηκέναι καὶ πολλοὺς συναρπάζεσθαι διὰ τῆς ἐπῶν συνθέτου ἀκολουθίας, μὴ ἄρα ταῦθ' οὕτως Ὅμηρος εἴη πεποιηκώς·

31.29.6 | So that those less experienced think that Homer made the poems based on that story studied from the underworld, and that many are carried away by the way the verses follow each other, but surely Homer did not make them like this.

31.29.7 | ὥς ὁ τὸν Ἡρακλέα ὑπὸ Εὐρύσθεως ἐπὶ τὸν ἐν τῷ Ἄϊδι κύνα πεμπόμενον διὰ τῶν Ὀμηρικῶν στίχων γράφων οὕτως (οὐδὲν γὰρ παραδείγματος χάριν ἐπιμνησθῆνα καὶ τούτων, ὁμοίας καὶ τῆς αὐτῆς οὔσης <τῆς> ἐπιχειρήσεως τοῖς ἀμφοτέροις)·

31.29.7 | As one writing about Heracles being sent by Eurystheus to the dog in Hades through Homeric verses in this way (for I do not remember any example for comparison, and this attempt is similar and the same for both).

31.29.8 | ὥς εἰπὼν ἀπέπεμπε δόμων βαρέα στενάχονταφῶθ' Ἡρακλῆα, μεγάλων ἐπίστορα ἔργων, Εὐρύσθεύς, Σθενέλοιο παῖς Περσηιάδαο ἐξ Ἑρέβους ἄξοντα κύνα στυγεροῦ Ἀίδαο. βῆ ῥ' ἵμεν, ὥς τε λέων ὀρεσίτροφος ἀλκί πεποιθώς, καρπαλίμως ἀνὰ ἄστρῳ, φίλοι δ' ἅμα πάντες ἔποντο, νύμφαι τ' ἠΐθεοί τε πολύτλητοί τε γέροντες, οἵ κτ' ὀλοφυρόμενοι, ὥς εἰ θανατόνδε κιόντα. Ἑρμείας δ' ἀπέπεμπεν

31.29.8 | So saying, Eurystheus sent Heracles, heavy sighing from his house, the son of Sthenelus, Perseus' descendant, leading the dog of hateful Hades from Erebus. He went, like a mountain lion trusting in his strength, quickly through the city, and all his friends followed him, nymphs and young men and many old men, wailing sadly, as if he were going to death.
Hermes sent him off, and gray-eyed Athena; ιδε γλαυκῶπις Ἀθήνη ἤδεε γὰρ κατὰ θυμὸν ἀδελφεὸν ὥς ἐπονείτο.

for she knew in her heart how her brother was suffering.

31.29.9 | τίς οὐκ ἄν τῶν ἀπανούργων συναρπαγείῃ ὑπὸ τῶν ἐπῶν τούτων καὶ νομίσειεν οὕτως αὐτὰ Ὅμηρον ἐπὶ ταύτης τῆς ὑποθέσεως πεποιηκέναι;

31.29.9 | Who would not be carried away by these verses and think that Homer made them about this story?

31.29.10 | ὁ δ' ἔμπειρος τῆς Ὀμηρικῆς ὑποθέσεως <ἐπιγνώσεται ἐπιγνώσεται> μὲν τὰ ὑπόθεσιν οὐκ> ἐπιγνώσεται, εἰδὼς ὅτι τὸ μὲν τι αὐτῶν ἐστὶ περὶ Ὀδυσσεύος εἰρημένον, τὸ δὲ περὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Ἡρακλέος, τὸ δὲ περὶ τοῦ Πριάμου, τὸ δὲ περὶ Μενελάου καὶ Ἀγαμέμνονος· ἄρας δὲ αὐτὰ καὶ ἕνα ἕκαστον ἀποδοὺς τῇ ἰδίᾳ <βίβλῳ> ἐκποδῶν ποιήσει τὴν <παροῦσαν> ὑπόθεσιν.

31.29.10 | But the one experienced in the Homeric story will recognize the story, knowing that some of it is about Odysseus, some about Heracles himself, some about Priam, and some about Menelaus and Agamemnon; taking these and giving each one its own book, he will get rid of the present story.

31.29.11 | Τε καὶ ὁ τὸν κανόνα τῆς ἀληθείας ἀκλινῇ ἐν ἑαυτῷ κατέχων, ὃν διὰ τοῦ βαπτίσματος εἴληφεν, τὰ μὲν ἐκ τῶν γραφῶν ὀνόματα καὶ τὰς λέξεις καὶ τὰς παραβολὰς ἐπιγνώσεται, τὴν δὲ βλάσφημον ὑπόθεσιν ταύτην οὐκ καὶ γὰρ εἰ τὰς ψηφίδας γνωρίσει,

31.29.11 | And also the one who holds firmly to the rule of truth within himself, which he received through baptism, will recognize the names, words, and stories from the writings, but not this blasphemous story; for even if he knows the pieces, he will not accept it.

31.29.12 | ἀλλὰ τὴν ἀλώπεκα ἀντὶ τῆς βασιλικῆς εἰκόνης οὐ παραδέξεται· ἕνα ἕκαστον δὲ τῶν εἰρημένων ἀποδοὺς τῇ ἰδίᾳ τάξει καὶ προσαρμόσας τῷ τῆς ἀληθείας σωματίῳ γυμνώσει καὶ ἀνυπόστατον ἐπιδείξει τὸ πλάσμα αὐτῶν.

31.29.12 | But he will not accept the fox instead of the royal image; giving each one of the things said its own order and fitting it to the body of truth, he will show their creation as bare and without substance.

Section 30

31.30.1 | 30. Ἐπειδὴ <δὲ> τῇ σκηνῇ

31.30.1 | 30. Since in this scene the release ταύτη λείπει ἡ ἀπολύτρωσις, ἵνα τις τὸν μῆμον αὐτῶν περαιώσας τὸ ἀνασκευάζοντα λόγον ἐπενέγκῃ, καλῶς ἔχειν ὑπελάβομεν ἐπιδειῖξαι πρότερον ἐν οἷς οἱ πατέρες αὐτοὶ τοῦδε τοῦ μύθου διαφέρονται πρὸς ἀλλήλους, ὥς ἐκ διαφόρων πνευμάτων τῆς πλάνης ὄντες.

is missing, so that someone finishing their mime might bring the story that refutes it, we thought it right first to show how the fathers themselves differ from each other in this story, as if they come from different spirits of error.

31.30.2 | καὶ ἐκ τούτου γὰρ ἀκριβέστατα συνιδεῖν ἔσται (καὶ πρὸ τῆς ἀποδείξεως) βεβαίαν τὴν ὑπὸ τῆς ἐκκλησίας κηρυσσομένην ἀλήθειαν καὶ τὴν ὑπὸ τούτων παραπεποιημένην ψευδηγορίαν.

31.30.2 | And from this, it will be very clear (even before the proof) to see the firm truth preached by the church and the false teaching made up by these men.

31.30.3 | Ἡ μὲν γὰρ ἐκκλησία, καίπερ καθ' ὅλης τῆς οἰκουμένης ἕως περάτων τῆς γῆς διεσπαρμένη, παρὰ δὲ τῶν ἀποστόλων καὶ τῷ ἐκείνων μαθητῶν παραλαβοῦσα τὴν εἰς ἓνα θεὸν πατέρα παντοκράτορα τὸν τὸν οὐρανὸν καὶ τὴν γῆν καὶ τὰς θαλάσσας καὶ πάντα τὰ ἐν αὐτοῖς πίστιν

31.30.3 | For the church, although scattered throughout the whole world to the ends of the earth, received from the apostles and those same disciples the faith in one God the Father almighty, who made the heaven and the earth and the seas and all that is in them.

31.30.4 | καὶ εἰς ἓνα Χριστὸν Ἰησοῦν τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ θεοῦ τὸν σαρκωθέντα ὑπὲρ τῆς ἡμετέρας σωτηρίας

31.30.4 | And in one Christ Jesus, the Son of God, who was made flesh for our salvation.

31.30.5 | καὶ εἰς πνεῦμα ἅγιον τὸ διὰ τῷ προφητῶν κεκηρυχὸς τὰς οἰκονομίας καὶ τὴν ἔλευσιν καὶ τὴν ἐκ τῆς παρθένου γέννησιν καὶ τὸ πάθος καὶ τὴν ἔγερσιν ἐκ νεκρῶν καὶ τὴν ἔνσαρκον εἰς τοὺς οὐρανοὺς ἀνάληψιν τοῦ ἡγαπημένου * Χριστοῦ Ἰησοῦ τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν καὶ τὴν τῶν οὐρανῶν ἐν τῇ δόξῃ τοῦ πατρὸς παρουσίαν αὐτοῦ ἐπὶ τὸ ἀνακεφαλαιώσασθαι τὰ πάντα καὶ ἀναστῆσαι πᾶσα σάρκα πάσης

31.30.5 | And in the Holy Spirit, who through the prophets announced the plans, and the coming, and the birth from the virgin, and the suffering, and the resurrection from the dead, and the bodily ascension into the heavens of the beloved Christ Jesus our Lord, and his presence in the glory of the Father in the heavens to bring all things together and to raise up every flesh of all humanity, άνθρωπότητος,

31.30.6 | ἵνα Χριστῷ Ἰησοῦ τῷ κυρίῳ ἡμῶν καὶ θεῷ καὶ σωτῆρι καὶ βασιλεῖ κατὰ τὴν εὐδοκίαν τοῦ πατρὸς τοῦ ἀοράτου παῖ γόνυ κάμψη ἐπουρανίων καὶ ἐπιγείων καὶ καταχθονίων καὶ πᾶσα γλῶσσα ἐξομολογήσεται αὐτῷ καὶ κρίσιν δικαίαν ἐν τοῖς πᾶσι ποιήσεται,

31.30.6 | so that to Christ Jesus, our Lord and God and Savior and King, according to the good pleasure of the unseen Father, every knee in heaven and on earth and under the earth will bend, and every tongue will confess to him, and he will do a just judgment over all.

31.30.7 | τὰ με) πνευματικὰ τῆς πονηρίας καὶ ἀγγέλους τοὺς παραβεβηκότας καὶ ἐν ἀποστασίᾳ γεγονότας καὶ τοὺς ἀσεβεῖς καὶ ἀδίκους καὶ ἀνόμους καὶ βλασφήμους τῷ ἀνθρώπων εἰς τὸ αἰώνιον πῦρ πέμψη,

31.30.7 | he will send the evil spirits and the angels who have sinned and rebelled, and the ungodly and unjust and lawless and blasphemous among humans, into eternal fire,

31.30.8 | τοῖς δὲ δικαίοις καὶ ὁσίοις καὶ τὰς ἐντολὰς αὐτοῦ τητηρηκόσι καὶ ἐν τῇ ἀγάπῃ αὐτοῦ διαμεμενηκόσι (τοῖς <μὲν> τοῖς Τε ἐκ μετανοίας) ζωὴν χαρισάμενος ἀφθαρσίαν δωρήσεται καὶ δόξαν αἰώνιαν περιποιήσῃ —

31.30.8 | but to the righteous and holy, who have kept his commands and have remained in his love (to those who have repented), he will give life, grant incorruption, and will preserve eternal glory—

Section 31

31.31.1 | 30. τοῦτο τὸ κήρυγμα παρειαληφύα καὶ ταύτην τὴν πίστιν ὡς προέφραμεν ἡ ἐκκλησία, καίπερ ἐν ὅλῳ τῷ κόσμῳ διεσπαρμένη, ἐπιμελῶς φυλάσσει ὡς ἓνα οἶκον οἰκοῦσα καὶ ὁμοίως πιστεύει τούτοις ὡς μίαν ψυχὴν καὶ τὴν αὐτὴν ἔχουσα καρδίαν καὶ συμφώνως τοῦτα κηρύσσει διδάσκει καὶ παραδίδωσιν ὡς ἓν στόμα κεκτημένη.

31.31.1 | this preaching and this faith, as we said before, the church has received, and although scattered throughout the whole world, it carefully keeps them as one house living in it, and similarly believes these things as one soul and having the same heart, and agrees in preaching, teaching, and handing them down as one mouth having them.

31.31.2 | κἂν γὰρ αἱ κατὰ τὸν κόσμον διάλεκτοι ἀνόμοιαι, ἀλλ' ἡ δύναμις τῆς

31.31.2 | for even though the languages throughout the world are different, the παραδόσεως μία καὶ ἡ αὐτή, καὶ οὔτε αἱ ἐν Γερμανίαις ἰδρυμέναι ἐκκλησίαι ἄλλως πεπιστεύκασιν ἢ ἄλλως παραδιδόασιν οὔτε ἐν ταῖς Ἰβηρίαις οὔτε ἐν Κελτοῖς οὔτε κατὰ τὰς ἀνατολὰς οὔτε ἐν Αἰγύπτῳ οὔτε ἐν Λιβύῃ οὔτε αἱ κατὰ μέσα τοῦ κόσμου ἰδρυμέναι·

power of the tradition is one and the same, and neither the churches founded in Germany have believed or handed down differently, nor those in Iberia, nor in the Celts, nor in the East, nor in Egypt, nor in Libya, nor those founded in the middle of the world;

31.31.3 | ἀλλ' ὥσπερ ὁ ἥλιος, τὸ κτίσμα τοῦ θεοῦ, ἐν ὅλῳ τῷ κόσμῳ εἷς καὶ ὁ αὐτός, οὕτω καὶ τὸ * φῶς, τὸ κήρυγμα τῆς ἀληθείας, πανταχῇ φαίνει καὶ φωτίζει πάντας ἀνθρώπους τοὺς βουλομένους εἰς ἐπίγνωσιν ἀληθείας ἐλθεῖν,

31.31.3 | but just as the sun, God's creation, is one and the same throughout the whole world, so also the light, the preaching of the truth, shines everywhere and gives light to all people who want to come to the knowledge of the truth,

31.31.4 | καὶ οὔτε ὁ πάνυ δυνατὸς ἐν λόγῳ τῶν ἐν ταῖς ἐκκλησίαις προεστώτων ἕτερα τούτων ἐρεῖ (οὐδεὶς γὰρ ὑπὲρ διδάσκαλον) οὔτε ὁ ἀσθενὴς ἐν τῷ λόγῳ ἐλαττώσει τὴν παράδοσιν· μῖς γὰρ καὶ τῆς αὐτῆς πίστεως οὔσης, οὔτε ὁ πολὺ περὶ αὐτῆς δυνάμενος εἰπεῖν ἐπλεόνασεν οὔτε ὁ τὸ ὀλίγον ἡλαττόνησεν.

31.31.4 | and neither the very powerful among those leading in the churches will say anything different (for no one is above the teacher), nor will the weak in speech lessen the tradition; for since the faith is one and the same, neither the one who can say much about it has added anything, nor the one who can say little has taken anything away.

31.31.5 | Τὸ δὲ πλεῖον ἢ ἔλαττον κατὰ σύνεσιν εἶδέναι τινὰς οὐκ ἐν τῷ τῇ ὑπόθεσιν αὐτὴν ἀλλάσειν γίνεται καὶ ἄλλον θεὸν παρεπινοεῖν παρὰ τὸν δημιουργὸν καὶ ποιητὴν καὶ τροφέα τοῦδε τοῦ παντός, ὡς μὴ ἀρκουμένους τούτῳ, ἢ ἄλλον Χριστὸν ἢ ἄλλον Μονογενῆ,

31.31.5 | But to know more or less wisely does not mean to change the subject itself or to think of another god besides the creator and maker and nourisher of all this, as if this one is not enough, or to think of another Christ or another only-begotten one,

31.31.6 | ἀλλὰ ἐν τῷ τὰ ὅσα ἔν παραβολαῖς εἴρηται προσεπεξεργάζεσθαι καὶ συνοικειοῦν τῇ τῆς πίστεως ὑποθέσει καὶ ἐν τῷ τῇ τε πραγματείᾳ καὶ τὴν οἰκονομίᾳ τοῦ θεοῦ τὴν ἐπὶ τῇ

31.31.6 | but rather to add carefully and fit together what has been said in parables to the subject of faith, and to tell about both the work and the plan of God made for humanity, and that God was patient about άνθρωπότητι γενομένην έκδιηγείσθαι καὶ ὅτι έμακροθύμησεν ὁ θεὸς ἐπὶ τε τῇ τῶν παραβεβηκότων ἀγγέλων ἀποστασία καὶ ἐπὶ τῇ παρακοῇ

the angels who sinned and rebelled, and about the disobedience

31.31.7 | τῶι ἀνθρώπων σαφηνίζειν· καὶ διὰ τί τὰ μὲ πρόσκαιρα τὰ δὲ αἰώνια καὶ τὰ μὲ οὐράνια τὰ δὲ ἐπίγεια εἷς καὶ ὁ αὐτὸς θεὸς πεποίηκεν ἀπαγγέλλειν· καὶ διὰ τί ἀόρατος ὢν ἐφάνη τοῖς προφήταις ὁ θεὸς οὐκ ἐν μιᾷ ιδέᾳ, ἀλλὰ ἄλλως ἄλλοις συνιεῖν· καὶ διὰ τί διαθῆκαι πλείους γεγόνασι τῇ ἀνθρωπότητι μηνύειν, καὶ τίς ἐκάστης τῶν διαθηκῶν ὁ χαρακτήρ διδάσκειν·

31.31.7 | to make clear about humans; and why the temporary things and the eternal things, and the heavenly things and the earthly things, one and the same God made; to tell about this; and why God, being invisible, appeared to the prophets not in one form, but in different ways to different people; and why there have been many covenants to reveal himself to humanity, and what the mark of each covenant teaches;

31.31.8 | καὶ διὰ τί συνέκλεισε πάντα εἰς ἀπειθειαν ὁ θεός, ἵνα τοὺς πάντας ἐλεήσει, ἐξερευνᾷν· καὶ διὰ τί ὁ Λόγος τοῦ θεοῦ σὰρξ ἐγένετο καὶ ἔπαθεν, εὐχαριστεῖν· καὶ διὰ τί ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῶν καιρῶν ἡ τοῦ υἱοῦ τοῦ θεοῦ, τουτέστιν ἐν τῷ τέλει ἐφάνη ἡ ἀρχή, ἀπαγγέλλειν·

31.31.8 | and why God has locked all into disobedience, so that he might have mercy on all, to investigate; and why the Word of God became flesh and suffered, to give thanks; and why at the last times the rule of the Son of God, that is, the beginning, appeared, to tell about;

31.31.9 | καὶ περὶ τοῦ τέλους καὶ τῶν μελλόντων ὅσα τε κεῖται ἐν ταῖς γραφαῖς, ἀναπτύσσειν· καὶ τί ὅτι τὰ ἀπεγνωσμένα ἔθνη συγκληρονόμα καὶ σύσσωμα καὶ συμμέτοχα τῶν ἁγίων πεποίηκεν ὁ θεός, μὴ σιωπᾶν·

31.31.9 | and about the end and the things to come, as much as is written in the scriptures, to explain; and why God made the lost nations co-heirs and co-bodies and sharers with the saints, not to be silent;

31.31.10 | καὶ πῶς τὸ θνητὸν τοῦτο σαρκίον ἐνδύσεται ἀθανασίαν καὶ τὸ φθαρτὸν ἀφθαρσίαν, διαγγέλλειν· πῶς τε εἰρεῖ »ὁ οὐ λαὸς λαὸς καὶ ἡ οὐκ ἡγαπημένη καὶ πῶς »πλείονα τῆς ἐρήμου τὰ τέκνα, μᾶλλον ἢ τῆς ἐχούσης τὸν ἄνδρα«

31.31.10 | and how this mortal flesh will put on immortality and the perishable will put on imperishability, to announce; and how it will say “the people who were not a people, and the unloved,” and how “the children of the desert are more than those κηρύσσειν —

of the one who has a husband,” to preach—

31.31.11 | ἐπὶ τούτων γὰρ καὶ ἐπὶ τῶν ὁμοίων αὐτοῖς ἐπεβόησεν ὁ ἀπόστολος »ὦ βάθος πλούτου καὶ σοφίας καὶ γνώσεως θεοῦ, ὡς ἀνεξερεύνητα τὰ κρίματα αὐτοῦ καὶ ἀνεξιχνίαστοι αἱ ὁδοὶ αὐτοῦ«, ἀλλὰ οὐκ ἐν τῷ ὑπὲρ τὸν κτιστὴν καὶ δημιουργὸν Μητέρα τούτου καὶ αὐτῶν Ἐνθύμησιν Αἰῶνος πεπλανημένου παρεπινοεῖν καὶ εἰς τοσοῦτον ἤκειν βλασφημίας·

31.31.11 | for on these things and those like them the apostle shouted, “oh depth of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God, how unsearchable are his judgments and how untraceable his ways,” but not in the thought of the mother of this one above the creator and maker, and of those also, of a lost age, to come to such blasphemy;

31.31.12 | οὐδὲ ἐν τῷ ὑπὲρ ταύτην πάλιν Πλήρωμα τότε μὲν τριάκοντα, νῦν δὲ † ἀνήριθμον φύλον Αἰώνων ἐπιψεύδεσθαι, καθὼς λέγουσιν πάσης μίαν καὶ τὴν αὐτὴν πίστιν ἔχουσης εἰς πάντα τὸν κόσμον, καθὼς προέφαμεν.

31.31.12 | nor again in the fullness beyond this, then thirty, now an uncountable tribe of ages to be denied, as they say, all having one and the same faith throughout the whole world, as we said before.

Section 32

31.32.1 | 32. Ἴδωμεν νῦν καὶ τὴν τούτων ἄστατον γνώμην, δύο που καὶ τριῶν ὄντων πῶς περὶ τῶν αὐτῶν οὐ τὰ αὐτὰ λέγουσιν, ἀλλὰ τοῖς πράγμασιν καὶ τοῖς ὀνόμασιν ἐναντία ἀποφαίνονται.

31.32.1 | 32. now let us see also their unstable opinion, how, though there are two or three, they do not say the same things about the same matters, but speak against the facts and the names.

31.32.2 | ὁ μὲν γὰρ πρῶτος ἀπὸ τῆς λεγομένης Γνωστικῆς αἵρέσεως τὰς ἀρχὰς εἷς ἴδιον χαρακτηρὰ διδασκαλείου μεθαρμόσας Οὐαλεντίνος οὕτως ἐξεφόρησεν, ὀρισάμενος εἶναι δυάδα <τὴν>

31.32.2 | for the first one from the so-called Gnostic heresy, having changed the principles into a personal character of teaching, Valentinius declared this way, defining the pair to be some kind of...

31.32.3 | ἀνὸνόμαστον, ἧς τὸ μὲν τι καλεῖσθαι Ἄρρητον, τὸ δὲ Σιγὴν· ἔπειτα ἐκ ταύτης τῆς δυάδος δευτεραν δυάδα

31.32.3 | unnamed, of which one part he calls the Unutterable, and the other Silence; then from this pair a second pair has been προβεβλῆσθαι, ἧς τὸ μὲν τι ὀνομάζει, τὸ δὲ Ἀλήθειαν· ἐκ δὲ τῆς τετράδος ταύτης καρποφορεῖσθαι Λόγον καὶ Ζωήν, Ἄνθρωπον καὶ Ἐκκλησίαν· εἶναι τε ταύτην Ὅγδοάδα πρώτην, καὶ ἀπὸ μὲν τοῦ Λόγου καὶ τῆς Ζωῆς δέκα δυνάμεις λέγει προβεβλῆσθαι, produced, of which one he names, and the other Truth; and from this set of four come forth Word and Life, Man and Church; this is the first Eightfold, and from Word and Life he says ten powers have been produced, 31.32.4 | καθὼς προειρήκαμεν· ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ Ἀνθρώπου καὶ τῆς Ἐκκλησίας δώδεκα, ὧν μίαν ἀποστᾶσαν καὶ ὑστερήσασαν τὴν λοιπὴν πεποιῆσθαι.

31.32.4 | as we said before; and from Man and Church twelve, of which one having fallen away and lost, he made the rest.

31.32.5 | Ὅρους τε δύο ὑπέθετο, ἓνα μὲν μεταξὺ τοῦ Βυθοῦ καὶ τοῦ λοιποῦ Πληρώματος, διορίζοντα τοὺς γενεῶν καὶ τοὺς Αἰῶνας ἀπὸ τοῦ Πατρός, ἕτερον δὲ τὸν ἀφορίζοντα αὐτῶν τὴν Μητέρα ἀπὸ τοῦ Πληρώματος.

31.32.5 | he set two boundaries, one between the Depth and the rest of the Fullness, marking off the Aeons born from the Father, and another separating their Mother from the Fullness.

31.32.6 | καὶ τὸν Χριστὸν δὲ οὐκ ἀπὸ τῶν ἐν τῷ Πληρώματι Αἰώνων προβεβλῆσθαι ἀλλὰ ὑπὸ τῆς Μητρὸς ἔξω γενομένης κατὰ τὴν μνήμην τῶν κρειττόνων ἀποκεκυῆσθαι μετὰ σκιᾶς τινος.

31.32.6 | and Christ not to have come forth from the Aeons in the Fullness, but to have been born outside by the Mother, having been mixed with a certain shadow according to the memory of the greater ones.

31.32.7 | καὶ τοῦτον μὲν, ἅτε ἄρρενα ὑπάρχοντα, ἀποκόψαντα ἀφ' ἑαυτοῦ τὴν σκιὰν ἀναδραμεῖν εἰς τὸ Πλήρωμα, τὴν Μητέρα ὑπολειφθεῖσαν μετὰ τῆς σκιᾶς κεκενωμένην τε τῆς πνευματικῆς ὑποστάσεως ἕτερον υἱὸν προενέγκασθαι, καὶ τοῦτον εἶναι τὸν Δημιουργόν, ὃν καὶ παντοκράτορα λέγει τῶν ὑποκειμένων. συμπροβεβλῆσθαι δὲ καὶ ἀριστερόν ἄρχοντα ἐδογμάτισεν ὁμοίως τοῖς

31.32.7 | and this one, being male, cut off his shadow from himself and ran back into the Fullness, leaving the Mother behind, emptied of spiritual substance, and brought forth another son, and this one is the Creator, whom he also calls the ruler over those beneath him. and he also assigned a left ruler, in the same way as the false-named Gnostics will say.

ῥηθησομένοις ὑφ' ψευωνύμοις Γνωστικοῖς.

31.32.8 | καὶ τὸν Ἰησοῦν > ποτὲ μὲν ἀπὸ τοῦ συσταλέντος ἀπὸ τῆς Μητρὸς αὐτῶν συναναχθέντος <τε> τοῖς ὅλοις φησι, τουτέστιν <ἀπὸ> τοῦ Θελητοῦ, ποτὲ δὲ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀναδραμόντος εἰς τὸ Πλήρωμα, τουτέστιν τοῦ Χριστοῦ, ποτὲ δὲ ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἀνθρώπου καὶ τῆς Ἐκκλησίας.

31.32.8 | and Jesus sometimes he says came from the one drawn together from their Mother along with the whole, that is from the Willer; sometimes from the one who ran back into the Fullness, that is from Christ; sometimes from the Man and the Church.

31.32.9 | καὶ τὸ Πνεῦμα δὲ τὸ ἅγιον ὑπὸ τῆς Ἀληθείας φησὶ προβεβλῆσθαι εἰς ἀνάκρισιν καὶ καρποφορίαν τῶν Αἰώνων, ἀοράτως εἰς αὐτοὺς εἰσιόν' δι' οὗ τοὺς Αἰῶνας καρποφορεῖν τὰ φυτὰ τῆς. Πεπλήρωται τὰ Εἰρηναίου κατὰ τῶν Οὐαλεντίνων.

31.32.9 | and the holy Spirit, according to the Truth, says it has been sent forth for judgment and fruitfulness of the Aeons, invisibly entering into them; through which the Aeons bear fruit, the plants of it. The writings of Irenaeus against the Valentinians are full of this.

31.33.1 | 33. Καὶ ταῦτα μὲν καὶ τὰ τοιαῦτα * ὁ προειρημένος ἀνὴρ πρεσβύτης Εἰρηναῖος, ὁ κατὰ πάντα ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου κεκοσμημένος, ὡς γενναῖος ἀθλητῆς ὑπὸ <τοῦ> κυρίου προβεβλημένος καὶ τοῖς ἐπουρανίοις χαρίσμασι τοῖς κατὰ τὴν ἀληθινὴν Πίστιν καὶ γνῶσιν, καταπαλαίσας τε καὶ καταγωνισάμενος τὴν πᾶσαν αὐτῶν ληρώδη ὑπόθεσιν, διεξῆλθεν κατὰ λεπτόν τὰ ὑπ' αὐτῶν κενοφρονούμενα.

31.33.1 | 33. And these things and such, the aforementioned old man Irenaeus, adorned in every way by the holy spirit, as a brave athlete set forward by the lord and with the heavenly gifts according to true Faith and knowledge, having wrestled and fought against all their foolish ideas, went through carefully the empty words spoken by them.

31.33.2 | ἀκρότατα δὲ αὐτοὺς ἐν τῷ ἐξῆς δευτέρῳ αὐτοῦ λόγῳ καὶ τοῖς ἄλλοις διήλεγξεν περιττοτέρως, βουλόμενός πως τὸν χαμαὶ ῥιφέντα καὶ εἰς ἥτταν τραπέντα σῦραι καὶ ἐνώπιον πάντων θριαμβεῦσαι τε καὶ φωρᾶσαι τὴν ἐν αὐτῷ τῷ ῥιφέντι ἀναίσχυντόν τε καὶ ἀσθενῆ πρόκλησιν

31.33.2 | And most sharply he refuted them in the following second speech and the others, wanting somehow to drag down the one thrown to the ground and turned to defeat, and before all to both triumph and expose in him the shameless and weak

31.33.3 | ἡμεῖς δὲ ἀρκεσθέντες τοῖς τε παρ’ ἡμῶν λεχθεῖσιν ὀλίγοις καὶ τοῖς ὑπὸ τῶν τῆς ἀληθείας συγγραφέων τούτων λεχθεῖσιν τε καὶ συνταχθεῖσιν, καὶ ὁρῶντες ὅτι ἄλλοι πεπονήκασιν, φημί δὲ Κλήμης καὶ Εἰρηναῖος καὶ Ἰππόλυτος καὶ ἄλλοι πλείους, καὶ θαυμαστῶς τὴν κατ’ αὐτῶν πεποιήνται ἀνατροπὴν, οὐ πάννυ τι τῷ καμάτῳ προσθεῖναι ὥς προεῖπον ἠθελήσαμεν, ἱκανωθέντες προειρημένοις ἀνδράσιν καὶ αὐτὸ τοῦτο διανοηθέντες, ὅτι παντὶ συνετῷ καὶ ἀπὸ αὐτῶν τῶν ἐν τοῖς διδάγμασιν αὐτῶν λόγων ἡ ἀνατροπὴ αὐτῶν † κατ’ αὐτῶν

31.33.3 | But we, having been satisfied with the few things spoken by us and those spoken and written by the writers of truth, and seeing that others have worked harder—I say Clement and Irenaeus and Hippolytus and many others—and marveling at how wonderfully they have overturned what was made by them, did not want to add much to the effort, as I said before, being content with the men mentioned and thinking this very thing, that to every sensible person and from their own words in their teachings the overthrow of them is against them.

Section 34

31.34.1 | 34. Πρῶτον μὲν ὅτι διάφορα παρ’ αὐτοῖς τὰ φρονήματα καὶ ἕτερος τὰ τοῦ ἑτέρου καταλύειν ἐπαγγέλλεται. δεῦτερον δὲ ὅτι ἀσύστατα τὰ παρ’ αὐτοῖς μυθοποιήματα, οὔτε που γραφῆς νόμου οὔτε τινὸς προφήτου τῶν μετὰ Μωυσέα, ἀλλ’ οὔτε οὔτε τῶν αὐτοῦ εὐαγγελιστῶν, ἀλλ’ οὔτε μὴν τῶν ἀποστόλων.

31.34.1 | First, that their ideas are different and one promises to destroy the other’s. Second, that their stories are wildly made up, not from the law of scripture or any prophet after Moses, nor from his own gospel writers, nor even from the apostles.

31.34.2 | εἰ γὰρ ταῦτα ὑπῆρχεν, ὁ ἐλθὼν φωτίσαι τὴν οἰκουμένη κύριος καὶ πρὸ αὐτοῦ οἱ προφῆται, ἔπειτα δὲ καὶ οἱ ἀπόστολοι οἱ ἐλέγξαντες τὴν εἰδωλολατρειάν πᾶσάν τε παράνομον πρᾶξιν καὶ μὴ δειλιάσαντές γράφειν κατὰ πάσης παρανόμου διδασκαλίας καὶ ἐναντιότητος σαφῶς ἂν τὰ τοιαῦτα ἡμῖν κατήγγελλον,

31.34.2 | For if these things were true, the lord who came to enlighten the world, and before him the prophets, and then the apostles who exposed all idolatry and every unlawful act, and were not afraid to write clearly against every unlawful teaching and opposition, would have declared such things to us.

31.34.3 | καὶ μάλιστα αὐτοῦ τοῦ σωτῆρος λέγοντος ὅτι τοῖς μὲν ἔξω ἐν παραβολαῖς, ὑμῖν δὲ † τὰς παραβολὰς εἰς ἐπίλυσιν βασιλείας οὐρανῶν ῥητέον».

31.34.3 | And especially with the savior himself saying that to those outside he spoke in parables, but to you the parables must be explained about the kingdom of heaven.

31.34.4 | ὅσας γοῦν ἐν εὐαγγελίοις παραβολὰς εἴρηκεν εὐθὺς ἐπιλύσας φαίνεται. | ἀμέλει φησὶν καὶ τίς ὁ κόκκος τοῦ σινάπεως καὶ τίς ἡ ζύμη καὶ τίς ἡ γυνὴ ἢ βαλοῦσα τὴν ζύμην εἰς τὰ τρία σάτα, τίς ὁ ἀμπελών, τίς ἡ συκῆ, τίς ὁ σπορεύς, τίς ἡ καλλίστη γῆ.

31.34.4 | For as many parables as he spoke in the gospels, he immediately explains them. He says, 'And what is the mustard seed? And what is the yeast? And who is the woman who put the yeast into the three measures of flour? Who is the vineyard? Who is the fig tree? Who is the sower? Who is the best land?'

31.34.5 | καὶ μάτην οὗτοι ἐνθουσιῶνται ὑπὸ δαιμόνων ἐλαυνόμενοι. περὶ ὧν φησιν ὁ ἁγιώτατος Παῦλος ἀπόστολος ἐν ὑστέροις καιροῖς ἀποστήσονται τινες τῆς διδασκαλίας, προσέχοντες μύθοις καὶ διδασκαλίαις δαιμόνων».

31.34.5 | And in vain these people are excited, driven by demons. About these things the most holy Paul the apostle says that in later times some will turn away from the teaching, paying attention to myths and teachings of demons.

31.34.6 | καὶ πάλιν ὁ ἅγιος Ιάκωβος λέγων περὶ τῆς τοιαύτης διδασκαλίας ὅτι »οὐκ ἔστιν ἄνωθεν αὕτη ἡ σοφία κατερχομένη, ἀλλὰ ἐπίγειος ψυχικὴ δαιμονιώδης· ἡ δὲ ἄνωθεν σοφία πρῶτον μὲν ἀγνή ἐστίν, ἔπειτα εἰρηνικὴ εὐπειθὴς ἀδιάκριτος, μεστὴ ἐλέους καὶ καρπῶν ἀγαθῶν» καὶ τὰ ἑξῆς, ἧς οὐδὲ εἷς καρπὸς ἐν τοῖς προειρημένοις εὐρίσκεται.

31.34.6 | And again the holy James, speaking about this kind of teaching, says, 'This wisdom that comes down is not from above, but is earthly, natural, and demonic. But the wisdom from above is first pure, then peaceful, gentle, easy to obey, without favoritism, full of mercy and good fruits,' and the rest, of which not even one fruit is found in those mentioned before.

31.34.7 | παρ' αὐτοῖς γάρ »ἀκαταστασία καὶ πᾶν παράνομον πρᾶγμα«, δαιμόνων τε κυήματα καὶ συρίγματα δρακόντων, ἄλλοτε ἄλλως καὶ ἄλλο ἐκάστου αὐτῶν λαλοῦντος· παρ' οἷς οὐκ ἔλεος οὐκ οἶκτος εὐρίσκεται, ἀλλὰ διακρίσεις καὶ διαφοραί,

31.34.7 | For among them there is 'confusion and every unlawful thing,' and the spirits of demons and the hissing of dragons, sometimes in one way and sometimes another, each one speaking differently. Among them there is no mercy, καὶ οὐδαμοῦ ἀγνεία οὐδαμοῦ εἰρήνη οὐδαμοῦ ἐπιείκεια.

no pity, but divisions and disagreements, and nowhere purity, nowhere peace, nowhere gentleness.

Section 35

31.35.1 | 35. Βούλομαι δὲ πάλιν ἀναγκαζόμενος ὑπὸ τοῦ λόγου, εἰ καὶ παύσασθαι ὑπεσχόμην ὀλίγων ὀλίγων τῶν παρ’ αὐτοῖς εἰρημένων μνημονεύσας ἀνατρέψαι. οὐ γὰρ τοῦ κατὰ τέχνην μοι λόγου μέλει. ἀλλὰ τῆς τῶν ἐντυγχανόντων ὠφελείας.

31.35.1 | But I want, again forced by the word, even though I promised to stop, to turn back after recalling a few of the few things said among them. For I do not care about a skillful speech. But about the benefit of those who meet.

31.35.2 | λέγουσι τοίνυν ὅτι ὁ δωδέκατος αἰὼν ὁ ἐν ὑστερήματι γενόμενος παντελῶς τοῦ ἀριθμοῦ τῶν δώδεκα ἐξέπεσεν καὶ ἀπόλλυται ὁ ἀριθμὸς ὁ δωδέκατος.

31.35.2 | So they say that the twelfth age, which came last, completely fell out of the number of the twelve, and the twelfth number is lost.

31.35.3 | τοῦτο δὲ φασὶ γεγενῆσθαι τῷ τὸν Ἰούδαν, ὄντα δωδέκατον, ἐκπεπτωκέναι καὶ οὕτω τὸν δωδέκατον ἀριθμὸν ἡφανίσθαι· ὁμοίως δὲ καὶ περὶ τῆς αἱμορροούσης καὶ τῆς τὴν μίαν δραχμὴν ἀπὸ τῶν δέκα δραχμῶν ἀπολεσάσης.

31.35.3 | But they say this happened because Judas, being the twelfth, fell away, and so the twelfth number disappeared; similarly also about the woman with the bleeding and the one who lost the one drachma from the ten drachmas.

31.35.4 | δείκνυται δὲ ὅτι οὕτε ὁ δωδέκατος αἰὼν πρόσωπον τοῦ Ἰούδα ἔχειν δυνήσεται, ὡς τῷ ἁγιωτάτῳ Εἰρηναίῳ προεῖρηται, — Ἰούδας μὲν γὰρ παντελῶς ἀπόλωλεν, ὁ δωδέκατος δὲ λεγόμενος αἰὼν κατὰ τὸ αὐτῶν πλάσμα οὐκ ἐκενώθη· ἔστι γὰρ ἐνώπιον αὐτοῦ ὁ Μεταγωγεὺς ἢ ὁ Ὁροθέτης, φήσας πρὸς αὐτὸν Ἰαώ, ὡς αὐτοὶ φασὶ, καὶ οὕτως ἐστερεώθη, —

31.35.4 | It is shown that neither the twelfth age can have the face of Judas, as the most holy Irenaeus said — for Judas was completely lost, but the so-called twelfth age, according to their story, was not emptied; for the Transferrer or the Setter stood before it, saying to it ‘Iao,’ as they say, and so it was strengthened.

31.35.5 | οὐτε ἡ δώδεκα ἔτεσιν αἱμορροοῦσα τῷ αὐτῶν δράματι ὁμοιωθήσεται· ἐσώθη γὰρ μετὰ δώδεκα ἔτη, ἐν οἷς τῷ αἵματι τῆς ῥύσεως ἐφέρετο. οὐ γὰρ ἐν τοῖς ἑξώδεκα ἔτεσιν ἀπαθῆς διετέλει καὶ ἐν τῷ δωδεκάτῳ ἔρρευσεν, ἀλλὰ μᾶλλον ἐν τοῖς ἑνδεκα ἔρρει, τῷ δωδεκάτῳ δὲ σέσωσται, —

31.35.5 | Nor will the woman who bled for twelve years be like their drachma; for she was saved after twelve years, during which time her bleeding continued. For she did not remain without suffering during the twelve years, and it flowed in the twelfth, but rather it flowed mostly in the eleven years, and she was saved in the twelfth.

31.35.6 | οὐτε ἡ τὰς δέκα δραχμὰς κεκτημένη ἀπώλεσε τὴν μίαν εἰς τέλος, ἵνα ὁ αἰὼν τῆς ὕλης ἀπολωλὼς μυθεύηται παρ' αὐτοῖς· ἤψεν γὰρ τὸν λύχνον καὶ ἠύρεν τὴν δραχμήν.

31.35.6 | Nor did the woman who had ten drachmas lose one in the end, so that the age of matter, having been lost, might be made up by them; for she lit the lamp and found the drachma.

Section 36

31.36.1 | 36. Ἐκ τοίνυν τῶν δύο λόγων τούτων ἡ τριῶν τὰ πάντα αὐτῶν εὐθὺς καταληφθήσεται καταληφθήσεται δραματουργήματα καὶ ἀδρανῆ καὶ ἔωλα τοῖς τῆς φρονήσεως υἱοῖς καὶ τέκνοις τοῖς τῆς ἀγίας τοῦ θεοῦ καθολικῆς ἐκκλησίας.

31.36.1 | 36. From these two or three words, all their plays will immediately be understood and seen as weak and empty to the sons and children of the mind of the holy catholic church of God.

31.36.2 | ἵνα γὰρ μὴ κατὰ τῶν αὐτῶν φερόμενος εἰς μῆχος ἄπειρον ἐλάσω τὴν πραγματείαν, ἕως τῆς ἐνταῦθα ὑφηγήσεως ποιησάμενος τὴν ὑπόμνησιν καὶ ἐπιθεὶς πέρας τῇ

31.36.2 | For, so that I may not be carried away into endless length against the same things, I will make a note here of the explanation and put an end to it.

31.36.3 | τοσαύτη αὐτῶν μοχθηρία ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς βαδιοῦμαι, θεὸν ἐπικαλούμενος ὁδηγόν τε καὶ ἐπίκουρον τῆς ἡμῶν ἀσθενείας εἰς τὸ σωθῆναι ἀπὸ ταύτης καὶ τῶν προειρημένων αἰρέσεων καὶ τῶν μελλουσῶν ἀναδείκνυσθαι τοῖς τε φιλολόγοις καὶ βουλομένοις τὰ ἀκριβῆ εἰδέναι τῶν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ κενοφωνιῶν τε

31.36.3 | Because of their great wickedness, I go on to the following things, calling on God as guide and helper of our weakness, to be saved from this and from the heresies mentioned before, and from those about to be shown to lovers of words and those wanting to know the exact truth about the empty words and unstable bonds in the καὶ ἀσυστάτων δεσμῶν.

31.36.4 | εἰς πολλοὺς γὰρ οὗτος τὴν ἀαθτοῦ ὄνειροπολίαν ἐπισπείρας, Γνωστικὸν ἑαυτὸν καλέσας, πολλοὺς ὡς εἰπεῖν σκορπίους εἰς μίαν ἄλυσιν συνέδησεν, ὡς ἡ Παλαιὰ καὶ ἐναργὴς παραβολὴ ὑπάρχει. ὅτι ἄλυσίν τινα οἱ σκορπιοὶ ἀπὸ ἐνὸς εἰς τὸν ἕτερον δεσμοῦντες ἕως δέκα ἢ καὶ πλείους ἀπὸ στέγης ἢ δώματος ἑαυτοὺς χαλῶσι καὶ οὕτως μετὰ δόλου τὴν λύμην τοῖς ἀνθρώποις ἐργάζονται.

31.36.4 | For to many, this man, having spread his own daydream, calling himself a Gnostic, has bound many like scorpions into one chain, as the old and clear parable shows. That scorpions, tying themselves from one to another in bonds of ten or more, loosen themselves from a roof or house and so work harm to people by trickery.

31.36.5 | οὕτως καὶ οὗτος καὶ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ καλούμενοι Γνωστικοὶ τῆς πλάνης ἀρχηγέται γεγόνασι καὶ παρ αὐτοῦ τὰς προφάσεις εἰληφότες ἕκαστος ὑφ' ἐτέρου μαθητευθεὶς μετὰ τὸν διδάσκαλον προσθήκην τῆς πλάνης εἰργάσατο καὶ ἐτέραν αἵρεσιν εἰσηγήσατο, ἐχομένην τῆς προτέρας.

31.36.5 | Just so, this man and those called Gnostics from him have become leaders of deception, and each, having taken excuses from another and been taught after the teacher, has worked an addition of deception and introduced another heresy, holding on to the former one.

31.36.6 | καὶ οὕτω κατὰ διαδοχὴν εἰς διαφόρους αἱρέσεις αὐτοὶ οἱ κληθέντες Γνωστικοὶ ἐμερίσθησαν· παρὰ Οὐαλεντίνου μέντοι ὡς ἔφην καὶ τῶν πρὸ αὐτοῦ τὰς προφάσεις εἰληφότες.

31.36.6 | And so, in succession, those called Gnostics divided themselves into different heresies; yet from Valentinus, as I said, and from those before him, they took their excuses.

31.36.7 | ὅμως αἱ προειρημέναι σὺν τῇ τούτου τοῦ Οὐαλεντίνου Οὐαλεντίνου τῇ τῆς ἀληθείας διδασκαλίᾳ καταπατηθεῖσαι ὑφ' ἡμῶν παρείσθωσαν, ἡμεῖς δὲ τὰς ἐξῆς ἐν τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμει διασκοπήσωμεν.

31.36.7 | However, the things said before, along with those of this Valentinus, having been trampled underfoot by us against the teaching of truth, let them pass by; but we will examine the following things in the power of God.

Book 32

Section 1

32.1.1 | Παρελθόντες δὲ τὴν τοῦ Οὐαλεντίνου αἵρεσιν καὶ πολλὰ μοχθήσαντες ἐν τῇ ἀκανθῶδει αὐτοῦ σπορᾷ, διὰ πολλοῦ ὥς εἰπεῖν * καμάτου καὶ γεωργικῆς κακοπαθείας, ἐπὶ τὰ λείψανα τῆς ἀκανθώδους αὐτοῦ σπορᾶς καὶ ἐρπετώδους αὐτοῦ θηριομορφίας ἐλευσόμεθα,

32.1.1 | Having passed beyond the heresy of Valentinus and having struggled much in its thorny seed, through much, so to speak, toil and farming hardship, we will come to the remains of its thorny seed and its creeping beast-like shape.

32.1.2 | τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα αἰτησάμενοι παρὰ κυρίου εἰς τὸ δι' αὐτοῦ σκεπάσαι τὰς ψυχὰς τῇ ἐν θεῷ διδασκαλίᾳ καὶ σεμνῷ λόγῳ καὶ τοὺς ἰοὺς ἀνασπάσαι δυνθῆναι ἀπὸ τῶν οὕτως προειλημμένων.

32.1.2 | Asking the holy spirit from the lord to cover the souls through him with teaching in god and with a holy word, and to be able to pull out the poisons from those who have been taken in this way.

32.1.3 | ἄρξομαι δὲ περὶ τούτων λέγειν κατὰ διαδοχὴν τίς τίνος διάδοχος γεγένηται τῶν ἐξ αὐτοῦ ὀρμωμένων καὶ ἑτέραν παρὰ τὴν ἐκείνου σπορὰν διδασκόντων.

32.1.3 | I will begin to speak about these things in order, who has become the successor of whom among those who started from him, and who taught a different seed apart from that one.

32.1.4 | Σεκοῦνδος τοίνυν, τίς ἐξ αὐτῶν ὢν καὶ περισσώτερόν τι βουλόμενος φρονῆσαι, τὰ μὲν πάντα κατὰ τὸν Οὐαλεντίνον ἐξηγεῖται, περισσώτερον δὲ ἤχον εἰς ἀκοὰς τῶν ἐμβεβροντημένων ἐξήχησεν.

32.1.4 | Second then, one of them being and wanting to think a little more, explained all things according to Valentinus, but he sounded more loudly to the ears of those who were strengthened.

32.1.5 | οὗτος γὰρ κατὰ Οὐαλεντίνον ὢν ὥς προεῖπον, ὑπὲρ δὲ Οὐαλεντίνον φρονῶν, λέγει εἶναι τὴν πρώτην Ὀγδοάδα τετράδα δεξιὰν καὶ τετράδα ἀριστερόν, οὕτως παραδιδούς καλεῖσθαι τὴν μὲν μίαν φῶς,

32.1.5 | For he, being according to Valentinus as I said before, but thinking beyond Valentinus, says that the first eightfold is a right fourfold and a left fourfold, thus handing down that one is τὴν δὲ ἄλλην σκότος· called light, and the other darkness;

32.1.6 | τὴν δὲ ἀποστᾶσαν τε καὶ ὑστερήσασαν δύναμιν μὴ εἶναι ἀπὸ τῶν τριάκοντα αἰώνων, ἀλλὰ μετὰ τοὺς τριάκοντα αἰώνας, ὥς εἶναι ἀπὸ τῶν > μετὰ τὴν Ὀδοάδα τὴν ἄλλην κατωτέρω γενόμενων.

32.1.6 | But the power that has departed and fallen short is not from the thirty ages, but after the thirty ages, as it is from the other eightfold that comes later below.

32.1.7 | τὰ δὲ πάντα περὶ Χριστοῦ καὶ τῶν ἄλλων δογμάτων ὡσαύτως τῷ ἰδίῳ χορηγῶ τοῦ ἰοῦ καὶ δοτῆρι τοῦ δηλητηρίου Οὐάλεντίνῳ δογματίζει.

32.1.7 | And all things about Christ and the other teachings he also teaches according to his own giver of the poison and supplier of the venom, Valentinus.

32.1.8 | μὴ πολλῶν δὲ ὄντων τῶν ὑπὸ τούτου διαφόρως ξενολεκτουμένων ἐρκεσθῆναι μὲν ἡγησάμην δεῖν τοῖς προειρημένοις, ἔχουσι καὶ ἀφ' ἐαυτῶν τὴν ἀνατροπὴν· ὅμως δ' οὖν καὶ περὶ αὐτοῦ ὀλίγα λέξω, ἵνα μὴ δι' ἀπορίαν παρεληλυθέναι τὰ κατ' αὐτὸν δόξω.

32.1.8 | Since many things are called foreign words differently by this one, I thought it right to be content with what was said before, for they also have their own confusion. Still, then, I will say a few things about him, so that I will not seem to have passed over what is about him out of not understanding.

32.1.9 | εἰ γὰρ τετράδες δεξιαί καὶ εὐώνυμοι παρ' αὐτοῖς τάσσονται, εὐρεθήσεται τι ζητούμενον μέσον τοῦ τε δεξιοῦ καὶ τοῦ ἀριστεροῦ.

32.1.9 | For if right and left groups are set among them, something sought will be found in the middle of both the right and the left.

32.1.10 | πᾶν γὰρ ὁτιοῦν δεξιὰς ἔχον καὶ εὐωνύμους τάξεις μέσον ἔστηκε τῶν εὐωνύμων αὐτοῦ καὶ δεξιῶν καὶ οὐδαμοῦ δυνήσεται εἶναι δεξιὰ ἢ ἀριστερά, εἰ μὴ τι ἂν ἐκ μεσολαβοῦντος σώματος ἐκατέρου μέρους ἢ διάκρισις γένοιτο.

32.1.10 | For any groups that have right and favorable sides stand in the middle of their favorable and right sides, and nowhere can they be right or left, unless the difference comes from a body standing between each part.

32.1.11 | So then, foolish Secundus and those deceived by you, the very middle from which both left and right come down will be one thing, and it will not be able to be different from that one thing which falls down from the cause as both right and favorable. And by necessity, the whole will be drawn back into the one being, of which there is neither highest nor lowest place, unless those things made by it are beneath it.

32.1.13 | And this will be clear to those who learn the truth, that there is one god. And also a son and a holy spirit. If there is one god, from whom all things come, there is neither left side in him nor any other defect nor anything beneath him, except for the things made by him. But the things with the father and the son and the holy spirit are all well made and abundantly led into order by him.

Section 2

32.2.1 | 2. Εἰ δὲ καὶ πάλιν ἐρεῖ ὁ τοιοῦτος ἡμῖν προελθὼν ἕτερος ὄφεις, ὅτι τὰ μὲν δεξιὰ καὶ εὐώνυμα ἐκτὸς τοῦ ἐνὸς ὑπάρχει, αὐτὸς δὲ μεσαίτατός ἐστιν καὶ ἑαυτῷ μὲν προσάγεται τὰ δεξιὰ καὶ χαίρει τούτοις, δεξιὰ δὲ ταῦτα καλεῖ καὶ φῶς, τὰ δὲ εὐώνυμα ὡς ἀλλότρια αὐτοῦ καὶ ἐπὶ ἀριστερᾷ κείμενα ἀπωθεῖται, γεγέτω μοι πόθεν λαμβάνει ταύτην τὴν γεωμετρίαν, ἵνα καλῶς ῥυθμίση ἀμετάστατον δεξιάν τε καὶ εὐώνυμον.

32.2.1 | But if again such a one comes forward to us, another snake, and says that the right and favorable sides exist outside of the one, but he himself is in the middle and brings the right sides to himself and is glad about them, and calls these right sides light, but pushes away the favorable sides as foreign to him and lying on the left, let him show me where he gets this geometry, so that he may rightly arrange an unchanging right and favorable side.

32.2.2 | παρ' ἡμῖν γὰρ δεξιὰ εἰκότως ὀνομάζεται ἥτοι ἀριστερὰ ἀπὸ τῶν ἐν τῷ

32.2.2 | With us, right is properly called that which is opposite to the left, from the σώματι πεπηγμένων μελῶν, ἐν οἷς οὐδέποτε ἐναλλαγὴ γίνεται.

limbs fixed in the body, in which there is never any change.

32.2.3 | τὰ δὲ ἐκτὸς ἡμῶν δύναται εἶναι ποτὲ μὲν δεξιὰ, ποτὲ δὲ εὐώνυμα. παντὶ μὲν γὰρ τῷ ὁρῶντι κατὰ ἀνατολὴν νότος εἴτ' οὖν μεσημβρία δεξιὰ κληθήσεται. τὸ κλίμα δὲ τὸ βόρειον ἦτοι ἀρκτῶον ἀριστερόν.

32.2.3 | The things outside of us can sometimes be right, sometimes favorable.
For to anyone looking, south at sunrise or noon will be called right. But the northern region, or the Arctic, is left.

32.2.4 | τὸ δὲ ἀνάπαλιν ἐπὶ τὰ δυτικὰ μέρη ἀναστραφέντος ἀνθρώπου τινὸς εὐρεθήσεται ἑτερονύμως τὰ κλίματα· ὅπερ πρὸ ὥρας δεξιὸν ὑπῆρχεν νότιόν τε καὶ μεσημβρινόν, εἰς ἀριστερὰ αὖθις μεταβαλλόμενον, καὶ τὸ εἰς ἀριστερὰν τοῦ τινὸς κεκλιμένον ἀνθρώπου εἴτ' οὖν ἀρκτῶον εἴτ' οὖν βόρειον κλίμα, εἰς δεξιὰν αὐτοῦ μεταβαλλόμενον.

32.2.4 | But if a person turns around toward the western parts, the regions will be found with different names; what before was right, both south and noon, will again change to left, and what was leaning to the left of a person, whether the Arctic or northern region, will change to his right.

32.2.5 | ποῦ τοίνυν ὁ ἀπατεῶν ἐξηῦρεν ἑαυτῷ τὴν κατὰ θεὸν γεωμετρίαν; κοῖ ὦ τῆς τοιαύτης πολλῆς γηρολογίας τῆς τὰ πάντα συγχεύουσας.

32.2.5 | Where then did the cheat find for himself the geometry according to god?
And oh, the great old nonsense of such a thing that confuses everything.

32.2.6 | φάσκει δὲ τὸ γστέρημα μετὰ τοὺς τριάκοντα αἰῶνας γεγενῆσθαι. πόθεν ἄρα τὴν τοῦ γστερήματος φύσιν κατείληφας, ὦ οὔτος, ἢ τὴν ἀποστᾶσαν δύναμιν, λέγε;

32.2.6 | He says that the lack came to be after thirty generations. So where then did you learn the nature of the lack, you fool, or the power that left? Tell me.

32.2.7 | εἰ μὲν γὰρ εὖρες ταύτην ἀπὸ βλαστήματος τῶν ἄνω *, οὐ κτιστὴν ἀλλὰ γεννητὴν, ἐπειδὴ σοὶ τε καὶ τῷ σου ἐπιστάτῃ οὐκ ἐκτισμένα τὰ κτιστὰ ὀρίζεται, ἀλλὰ γεννητὰ καὶ ἀπὸ μετουσίας, ἐκάστης φύσεως παρ' ἐκάστης λαβούσης, τὰ σύθις γεννώμενα * ἀναφῦναι), ἄρα γε

32.2.7 | For if you found this from the sprouting of the things above, not created but born, since the created things are not defined for you and your master as created, but as born and from sharing, each nature taken from each, usually born things grow up, then indeed by your own word you κατὰ τὸν ἑαυτοῦ λόγον κατὰ σαυτοῦ ὕπλιζι.

fight against yourself.

32.2.8 | εἰ γὰρ ἀπὸ τῶν ἄνω καὶ ἡ ὑστέρα δύναμις καὶ ἡ ἀποστασία γεγένηται, ἔφυ δὲ ὥς εἰπεῖν καὶ ἐβλάστησεν, μετέχει ἅρα τῶν ἄνω χαρισμάτων, ἐπειδὴ τῷ Πληρώματι ἡ ὑστέρα καὶ τὸ Πλήρωμα τῇ ὑστέρα, καὶ οὐδὲν διενεχθήσεται τοῦτο πρὸς ἐκεῖνο οὔτε ἐκεῖνο πρὸς τοῦτο, ἐκατέρων κατὰ τὰ τέρματα ἀλλήλοις ἐπικονωνούντων.

32.2.8 | For if the later power and the falling away came from above, and it grew and sprouted, then it shares in the gifts from above, since the later belongs to the Fullness, and the Fullness belongs to the later, and nothing will be carried over from this to that or from that to this, but each communicates with the other according to their limits.

32.2.9 | καὶ ἐκ παντὸς λόγου διελεγχθήσῃ ἐξ ἐπισπορᾶς δαίμονος ἔχων τὴν τῆς πλάνης σου βόσκησιν, πάντων ἐλεεινῶν ἐλεεινότατε.

32.2.9 | And from every argument you will be proven wrong, having the feeding of your deception from the seed of a demon, most pitiful of all pitiful ones.

Section 3

32.3.1 | 3. "Ἴνα δὲ μὴ παραλείψωμέν τι τῶν παρά τισιν γινομένων τε καὶ λεγομένων, κἄν τε ἐν ἐκάστη· πολλοὶ εἶεν οἱ ἑξαρχοὶ καὶ αὐχοῦντες ἕτερα ἀνθ' ἑτέρων ὑπὲρ τοὺς αὐτῶν διδασκάλους μυθοποιεῖσθαι, ἔτι ἐπιμενῶ ὑφηγούμενος τοὺς ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ αἵρέσει ὄντας, ἕτερα δὲ παρὰ τούτους λέγοντας,

32.3.1 | So that we do not leave out anything of what happens and is said among some, even in each case; many are the leaders and boasting, making up different things instead of others beyond their own teachers. Still, I will continue guiding those who are in that very heresy, who say other things besides these.

32.3.2 | φημὶ δὲ περὶ Ἐπιφάνους τοῦ Ἰσιδώρου, ἐκ προφάσεως παραινετικῶν ῥημάτων ἑαυτὸν ἔτι εἰς περισσότερον βυθὸν ταλαιπωρίας καταγαγόντος, τάληθῃ μὲν εἰπεῖν ἀπὸ Καρποκράτους τοῦ ἰδίου πατρὸς κατὰ σάρκα εἰληφότος τὰς προφάσεις, συνημμένου δὲ τῇ αἵρέσει τοῦ προειρημένου Σεκούνδου καὶ αὐτοῦ τῶν

32.3.2 | I speak about Epiphanes, son of Isidore, who, under the pretense of encouraging words, has brought himself into a deeper pit of suffering. The true reasons come from Carpocrates, his own father by flesh, joined with the heresy of the mentioned Secundus, who himself belonged to the Secundians.

Σεκουνδιανῶν ὑπάρχοντος.

32.3.3 | πολλή γὰρ ἐκάστου τῶν πεπλανημένων πρὸς τὸν ἕτερον διαφορὰ καὶ συρφετώδης ὡς εἶπεῖν πολυμιξία κενοφωνίας.

32.3.3 | For there is much difference in each of the deceived toward the other, and a noisy confusion, so to speak, of empty words mixed together.

32.3.4 | οὗτος γὰρ ὁ Ἐπιφάνης, ὡς ἔφην, υἱὸς ὢν Καρποκράτους, μητρὸς δὲ Ἀλξανθρείας οὕτω καλουμένης, τούτοις ὡς προεῖπον συνάπτεται· ἀπὸ Κεφαλληνίας μὲν τὸ πρὸς πατρός γένος ὢν, ἑπτακαιδεκαετῇ <δὲ> βιώσας χρόνον θᾶττον τὸν κατέστρεψεν, τοῦ κυρίου ὥσπερ ἀκάνθας τοὺς φαύλους ἀπαλλάσσοντος, κρεῖττόν τι περὶ τῆς οἰκουμένης προνοοῦντος.

32.3.4 | For this Epiphanes, as I said, being the son of Carpocrates and of a mother called Alxantreia, is joined to these things as I said. From Cephallenia he comes on his father's side, and having lived seventeen years, he destroyed the time sooner, as if the Lord was removing the worthless like thorns, thinking something better about the world.

32.3.5 | μετὰ δὲ τὴν αὐτοῦ τελευτὴν οἱ πρὸς αὐτοῦ πεπλανημένοι τῆς ἀπ' αὐτοῦ πληγῆς οὐκ ἀπέσχοντο.

32.3.5 | And after his death, those deceived by him did not stop from the wound caused by him.

32.3.6 | ἐν Σάμῳ γὰρ ὡς θεὸς ἔτι καὶ εἰς δεῦρο τιμᾶται· τέμενος γὰρ αὐτῷ ἰδρύσαντες οἱ ἐπιχώριοι θυσίας καὶ τελετὰς ἐπιτελοῦσι κατὰ νεομηνίαν, βωμοὺς δὲ αὐτῷ ἔστησαν καὶ μουσεῖον εἰς ὄνομα αὐτοῦ περίπυστον ἀνεστήσαντο, τὸ δὴ Ἐπιφάνους μουσεῖον καλούμενον.

32.3.6 | For in Samos he is still honored as a god even now. The locals built a sanctuary for him and perform sacrifices and ceremonies at the new moon. They set up altars for him and raised a famous museum in his name, called the Museum of Epiphanes.

32.3.7 | θύουσι γὰρ αὐτῷ οἱ Κεφαλλῆνες εἰς τοσαύτην πλάνην ἐληλακότες καὶ σπένδουσι καὶ ἐν τῷ ἰδρυμένῳ αὐτοῦ τεμένει εὐώχοῦνται ὕμνους τε αὐτῷ ᾄδουσι.

32.3.7 | For the Cephallenians sacrifice to him, having been led into such great error, and they pour libations and feast in the sanctuary he founded, singing hymns to him.

32.3.8 | δι' ὑπερβολὴν δὲ τῆς ἐκείνου παιδείας, ἐγκυκλίου τε καὶ Πλατωνικῆς, ἢ πᾶσα τοῖς προειρημένοις κατὰ τε τὴν αἴρεσιν καὶ κατὰ τὴν ἑτέραν πλάνην, λέγω <δὲ> τὴν εἰς μανίαν τοὺς ἐπιχωρίους τρέψασαν, γέγονεν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ ἀπάτη.

32.3.8 | Because of the excess of that education, both the circular and the Platonic, all those mentioned before, both in their choice and in their other error—I say also the one that turned the locals into madness—came from deception by him.

32.3.9 | συνήπτετο γοῦν οὗτος ὁ Ἐπιφάνης Σεκούνδῳ καὶ τοῖς ἀμφ' αὐτόν. τὴν γὰρ αὐτοῦ ἰοβολίαν ἀπεμάξατο, λέγω > τὴν τῆς ἀδικούσης ἐρπετώδους φθορᾶς περιττολογίαν.

32.3.9 | This Epiphanes was certainly connected to Secundus and those around him. For he wiped away his poison, I mean the excessive talk of the wicked creeping decay.

Section 4

32.4.1 | 4. Ἰσιδωρον δὲ φάσκουσιν ἐν παραινέσεσι τῆς αὐτοῦ μοχθηρίας αἴτιον γεγενῆσθαι. εἰ δὲ καὶ αὐτὸς τὰ ἴσα φρονῶν καὶ ἐξ αὐτῶν ὁρμώμενος ἐτύγχανεν ἢ ἐκ φιλοσόφων μαθὼν παραινετικός τις καὶ αὐτὸς ὑπῆρχεν, οὐ πάνυ σαφῶς περὶ τοῦ Ἰσιδώρου γινῶναι ἡδυνήθημεν. πλὴν οὗτοι πάντες καττύουσι τὴν ἴσιν πραγματείαν.

32.4.1 | They say that Isidorus became the cause of his wickedness by his warnings. But even if he himself thought rightly and, starting from those things, happened to be or, having learned from philosophers, was also someone who gave advice, we were not able to know clearly about Isidorus. Yet all these people strike down the fair discussion.

32.4.2 | Πρῶτον μὲν οὖν ἐνομοθέτει αὐτὸς ὁ Ἐπιφάνης σὺν τῷ αὐτοῦ πατρί τε καὶ προστάτῃ τῆς αἰρέσεως Καρποκράτῃ καὶ τοῖς ἀμφαύτῳ κοινὰς εἶναι τὰς τῶν ἀνθρώπων γυναῖκας, ἔκ τε τῶν Πλάτωνος Πολιτειῶν τὴν πρόφασιν λαβὼν καὶ τὴν ἰδίαν ἐπιθυμίαν ἐκτελῶν.

32.4.2 | First of all, Epiphanes himself, together with his father and Karpocrates, the leader of the sect, made a law that the wives of men should be shared in common, taking the excuse from Plato's Republic and carrying out his own desire.

32.4.3 | ἐντεῦθεν δὲ τὴν ἀρχὴν ποιεῖται λέγων, ὥς ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ ἐξφέρεται τοῦ σωτῆρος φάσκοντος τρεῖς μὲν εὐνούχους

32.4.3 | From there he begins by saying that in the gospel of the savior it is reported that there are three kinds of eunuchs: the one εἶναι τὸν τε ἐξ ἀνθρώπων εὐνουχιζόμενον καὶ τὸν ἐκ γεννητῆς καὶ τὸν διὰ τὴν βασιλείαν τῶν οὐρανῶν ἑαυτὸν ἐκουσίως εὐνουχίσαντα, καὶ φησιν· made a eunuch by men, the one born that way, and the one who has made himself a eunuch willingly because of the kingdom of heaven, and he says:

32.4.4 | »οἱ τοίνυν κατὰ ἀνάγκη, οὐ κατὰ λόγον εὐνοῦχοι γίνονται. οἳ δὲ ἕνεκα τῆς βασιλείας τῶν οὐρανῶν ἑαυτοὺς εὐνουχίσαντες, διὰ τὰ ἐκ κοῦ γάμου συμβαίνοντα, φασί, τὸν ἐπιλογισμὸν τοῦτον λαμβάνουσιν, τὴν περὶ τὸν πορτ> τῶν ἐπιτηδείων ἀσχολίαν δεδιότες.

32.4.4 | »Those, then, who are eunuchs by necessity, not by choice, become eunuchs.
But those who have made themselves eunuchs for the sake of the kingdom of heaven, because of things that happen from marriage, they say, take this thought, fearing the trouble around the door of pleasures.

32.4.5 | καὶ <καὶ τῷ> »βέλτιον γαμῆσαι ἢ πυροῦσθαι, μὴ εἰς πῦρ ἐμβάλης τὴν ψυχὴν σου«, φησὶ λέγειν τὸν ἀπόστολον· ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτὸς ἀντέχων καὶ φοβούμενος, μὴ τῆς ἐγκρατείας ἀποπέσης. πρὸς γὰρ τὸ ἀντέχειν γινομένη ψυχὴ μερίζεται τῆς ἐλπίδος».

32.4.5 | And also, “It is better to marry than to burn, so that you do not throw your soul into the fire,” he says the apostle to say; enduring day and night and fearing that you do not fall away from self-control. For the soul that endures is divided from hope.

32.4.6 | »ἀντέχου τοίνυν« ὡς ἤδη προεῖπον, τῆς παραινέσεως εἰς μέσον φέρων τὸν λόγον φησὶ κατὰ λέξιν ὁ Ἰσίδωρος ἐν τοῖς Ἠθικοῖς ἀποσπερματίσας εὐσυνειδήτως προσεύχου. ὅταν δέ, φησὶν, ἡ εὐχαριστία ΣΟΥ εἰς αἵτησιν ὑποπέσῃ καὶ στῇς <εἰς> τὸ λοιπόν, οὐ κατορθώσας, [μὴ] αφαλῆναι, γάμησον».

32.4.6 | “Endure, then,” as I have already said, bringing the word into the middle of the advice, Isidore says exactly in the Ethics, “keep yourself pure and pray with a clear conscience.” And when, he says, your thanksgiving falls into a request and does not succeed in what follows, do not give up; marry.

32.4.7 | εἴτα πάλιν φησὶν «ἀλλὰ νέος τις ἢ πένης ἐστὶν ἢ κατωφερῆς (τουτέστιν ἀσθενής) καὶ οὐ θέλει γῆμαι κατὰ τὸν λόγον, οὗτος τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ μὴ χωριζέσθω».

32.4.7 | Then he says again, “But if someone is young or poor or weak (that is, sick) and does not want to marry according to the teaching, let that person not separate from the brother.”

32.4.8 | αἰσχροῦ δέ τινος ὑπονοίας ἑαυτῷ προσποριζόμενος δραματουργεῖ ὁ τάλας »λεγέτω« <γάρ> φησιν »ὅτι εἰσεγήλυθα ἐγὼ εἰς τὰ ἅγια, οὐδὲν δύναμαι παθεῖν«. ἂν δὲ ὑπόνοταν ἔχη, εἰπάτω· ἀδελφέ, ἐπίθεσ μοι χεῖρα, ἵνα μὴ ἀμαρτήσω, καὶ λήψεται βοήθειαν καὶ νοητὴν καὶ αἰσθητήν. θελησάτω μόνον ἀπαρτίσαι τὸ καλὸν καὶ ἐπιτεύξεται«.

32.4.8 | The poor man acts like a playwright, giving himself some shameful suspicions, saying, "Let him say, for I have entered the holy place, and I cannot suffer anything." But if he has a suspicion, let him say, "Brother, put your hand on me, so that I do not sin," and he will receive help that is both understood and felt. Let him only want to complete what is good, and he will succeed.

32.4.9 | Then he says again, "Sometimes we say with the mouth, 'I do not want to sin,' but the mind is set on sinning. Such a person does not do what is needed because of fear, so that punishment is not counted against them. But human nature has something necessary and natural, and some things are only natural. It has what is necessary and natural to be clothed, and also natural are the desires, but not necessary."

Section 5

32.5.1 | 5. »Ταύτας παρεθέμην τὰς φωνάς«, <φησὶν> ὁ κατὰ τούτων γράψας, »εἰς ἔλεγχον τῶν μὴ βιούντων ὀρθῶς«, καὶ Βασιλειδιανῶν καὶ Καρποκρα20 τIANῶν καὶ τῶν ἀπὸ Οὐαλεντίνου καὶ τῶν Ἐπιφάνους καλουμένων, ὧς δὴ συνήφθη Σκεοῦνδος ὁ προτεταγμένος.

32.5.1 | 5. "I have put these voices," says the one who wrote against them, "to show the fault of those who do not live rightly," both of the Basiledians and the Carpocratians and those called from Valentinus and Epiphanius, with whom Skeoundos the leader agreed.

32.5.2 | ἐξ ἀλλήλων γὰρ ἕκαστος, ἥτοι οὗτος ἐκείνῳ μεταδούς ἢ ἐκεῖνος τούτῳ. τὰ δεινὰ ἀπεμπολήσαντες καὶ εἷς τι πρὸς ἀλλήλους διαφερόμενοι, ὅμως ἐν μιᾷ

32.5.2 | For each one from the others, either this one sharing with that one or that one with this one. Having given up terrible things and differing in some ways toward each other, still they placed themselves in αἰρέσει ἑαυτοὺς κατέθεντο, one sect.

32.5.3 | »ὥστε καὶ ἔχειν ἐξουσίαν ἐδογμάτισαν καὶ τοῦ ἁμαρτάνειν διὰ τὴν τελειότητα, ἥ πάντως Τε σωθησομένων φύσει, κἄν τε νυνὶ ἁμάρτωσι, διὰ τὴν ἔμφυτον ἐκλογὴν, ἐπεὶ μηδὲ τὰ αὐτὰ αὐτοῖς πράττειν συγχωροῦσιν οἱ προπάτορες τῶν δογμάτων τούτων«.

32.5.3 | “So they decided to have the power to sin because of perfection, that is, surely by nature those who will be saved, and even if they sin now, because of the natural choice, since the ancestors of these teachings do not allow them to do the same things.”

32.5.4 | »Φασὶ δὲ καὶ οὗτοι ὡς ἐπὶ τὸ ὑψηλότερον καὶ γνωστικώτερον ἐπεκτεινόμενοι τὴν πρώτην τετράδα οὕτως· ἔστι τις πρὸ πάντων προαρχὴ προανεννόητος, ἄρρητός τε καὶ ἀνονόμαστος, ἣν ἐγὼ Μονότητα καλῶ. ταύτῃ τῇ Μονότητι συνυπάρχει δύναμις, ἣν καὶ αὐτὴν ὀνομάζω Ἐνότητα.

32.5.4 | They also say, reaching toward the higher and more knowing, the first group like this: there is one before all, a beginning before thought, both unspeakable and without a name, which I call Unity. With this Unity there exists a power, which I also call Oneness.

32.5.5 | αὕτη ἡ Ἐνότης ἢ τε Μονότης, τὸ Ἐν οὔσαι, προήκαντο, μὴ πρόέμεναι. ἀρχὴν ἐπὶ πάντων νητὴν, ἀγέννητόν τε καὶ ἀόρατον, ἣν ἀρχὴν ὁ λόγος Μονάδα καλεῖ.

32.5.5 | This Oneness and Unity, being the One, went before, not to go before. The beginning over all is pure, unbegotten, and unseen, which the word calls the Monad as beginning.

32.5.6 | ταύτῃ τῇ Μονάδι συνυπάρχει δύναμις ὁμοούσιος αὐτῇ, ἣν καὶ αὐτὴν ὀνομάζω τὸ Ἐν. αὗται αἱ δυνάμεις, ἢ τε Μονότης καὶ Ἐνότης, Μονάς τε καὶ τὸ Ἐν, προήκαντο τὰς λοιπὰς προβολὰς τῶν αἰώνων«.

32.5.6 | With this Monad there exists a power of the same nature as it, which I also call the One. These powers, both Unity and Oneness, the Monad and the One, went before the other projections of the ages.

Section 6

32.6.1 | 6. Εἴτα οἱ καλῶς συγγραψάμενοι τὴν ἀλήθειαν <περὶ> τούτων ἐν τοῖς σφῶν αὐτῶν συγγράμμασιν ἤλεγξαν

32.6.1 | Then those who wrote the truth well about these things in their own writings refuted them, both Clement, some

<αὐτούς>, Κλήμης τε, φασί τινες Ἀλεξανδρέα, ἕτεροι δὲ Ἀθηναῖον), say from Alexandria, and others an Athenian.

32.6.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ὁ ἱερὸς Εἰρηναῖος καταγελῶν αὐτῶν τὸ τραγικὸν ἐκεῖνο ὃ ἐπὶ τοῖς προειρημένοις εἰς μέσον φέρων ἤκεν· »ἰοῦ ἰοῦ καὶ φεῦ φεῦ.

32.6.2 | But also the holy Irenaeus, mocking their tragic thing, came in the middle of what was said before, saying: “Oh no, oh no, and alas, alas.”

32.6.3 | τὸ τραγικὸν ὡς ἀληθῶς ἐπειπεῖς ἔστιν ἐπὶ τῇ τοιαύτῃ συμφορᾷ τῶν τὰ γελοιώδη ταῦτα γεγραφότων τῆς τοιαύτης ὀνοματοποιίας καὶ τῇ τοσαύτῃ τόλμῃ, ὡς ἀπερυθριάσας τῷ ψεύσματι αὐτοῦ ὀνόματα τέθεικεν.

32.6.3 | The tragic thing, truly, is said about such a disaster of those who wrote these ridiculous things, with such naming and such boldness, that, blushing at their own lie, they gave names.

32.6.4 | ἐν γὰρ τῷ λέγειν »ἔστιν τις προαρχὴ πρὸ πάντων προανεννόητος, ἣν ἐγὼ Μονότητα καλῶ«, καὶ πάλιν »ταύτῃ τῇ Μονότητι συνυπάρχει δύναμις, ἣν καὶ αὐτὴν δνομάζω Ἐνότητα«, σαφέστατα ὅτι τε πλάσμα αὐτοῦ ἐστὶ τὰ εἰρημένα ὠμοόγηκε καὶ ὅτι αὐτὸς ὀνόματα τέθεικε τῷ πλάσματι, ὑπὸ μηδενὸς πρότερον ἄλλου τεθειμένα.

32.6.4 | For in what he says, “there is a certain beginning before all things, not thought of before, which I call Unity,” and again, “with this Unity there exists a power, which I also call Oneness,” it is very clear that what was said is a creation of theirs, and he himself gave names to this creation, names not given by anyone before.

32.6.5 | καὶ σαφές ἐστὶν ὅτι αὐτὸς ταῦτα τετόλμηκεν ὀνοματοποιῆσαι, καὶ εἰ μὴ παρῆν τῷ βίῳ αὐτός, οὐκ ἂν ἡ ἡλήθεια εἶχεν ὄνομα.

32.6.5 | And it is clear that he himself dared to give these names, and if he had not been alive, the truth would not have had a name.

32.6.6 | οὐδὲν οὖν κωλύει καὶ ἄλλον τινὰ ἐπὶ τῆς αὐτῆς ὑποθέσεως οὕτως ὀρίσασθαι ὀνόματα·

32.6.6 | Nothing, then, stops someone else from also giving names in the same way about the same idea.

32.6.7 | εἴτα λοιπὸν εἰς ταῦτα ὁ αὐτός

32.6.7 | Then, next, the same blessed μακάριος Εἰρηναῖος, ὥς γε προείπαμεν, γελοιώδη ἡήματα καὶ αὐτὸς †προεῖπεν, ἑτερωνυμίαν ἀφ' ἑαυτοῦ ὡς ἀντάξια τῆς αὐτῶν ληρωδίας χαριεντιζόμενος, πεπόνων γένη καὶ σικύων καὶ κολοκυνθῶν ὡς ἐπὶ ὑποκειμένων τινῶν ἐπιπλάσάμενος, † ὡς τοῖς τοῖς φιλοόγοις ἂν εἴη ἀφ' ὧν προανεγνώσαν.

Irenaeus, as we said before, also spoke foolish things, joking about different names from himself, matching their nonsense, making up kinds of melons and gourds and pumpkins as if they were real things under them, as if this would please the word-lovers who read before.

Section 7

32.7.1 | 7. Ἄλλοι δὲ πάλιν αὐτῶν τὴν πρώτην καὶ ἀρχέγονον Ὀγδοάδα τούτοις τοῖς ὀνόμασι κεκληκασί· πρῶτον Προαρχήν, ἔπειτα Ἀνεννόητον, τὴν δὲ τρίτην Ἀρρητον καὶ τὴν τετάρτην Ἀόρατον.

32.7.1 | 7. But others again have called their first and original group of eight by these names: first, 'Before-beginning,' then 'Unthought,' the third 'Unspoken,' and the fourth 'Unseen.'

32.7.2 | καὶ ἐκ μὲν τῆς πρώτης προαρχῆς προβελπῆσθαι πρῶτῳ καὶ πέμπτῳ > Ἀρχήν, ἐκ Τε τῆς ἀρχῆς τῆς] Ἀενονοήτου δευτέρῳ καὶ ἕκτῳ τόπῳ Ἀκατάληπτον, ἐκ δὲ τῆς Ἀρρήτου τρίτῳ καὶ ἑβδόμῳ τόπῳ Ἀνονόμαστον, ἐκ δὲ τῆς Ἀοράτου Ἀγέννητον, Πλήρωμα τῆς πρώτης Ὀγδοάδος.

32.7.2 | And from the first 'Before-beginning,' they say 'Beginning' comes first and fifth; from the 'Unthought' beginning, in the second and sixth place, 'Ungraspable'; from the 'Unspoken,' in the third and seventh place, 'Nameless'; and from the 'Unseen,' 'Ungenerated,' the fullness of the first group of eight.

32.7.3 | ταύτας βούλονται τὰς δυνάμεις προΟπχρ/κν τθΟ Βυθοῦ κα: ττ,ς ?νχ τελείων ζελείτερζ: -*νο»3:ν ὄντες καὶ Γνωστικῶν γνωστικώτεροι· πρὸς οὓς δικαίως ἂν τις ἐπιφωνήσειεν·

32.7.3 | They want these powers to be before the depth and the perfect beings, and even more knowing than the knowers of the Gnostics; to whom one might rightly shout out:

32.7.4 | ὦ ληρολόγοι σοφισταί. καὶ γὰρ περὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ Βυθοῦ διάφοροι γινώμαι παρ' αὐτοῖς. οἱ μὲν γὰρ αὐτὸν ἄζυγον γέγουσι, μήτε ἄρρενα μήτε θῆλυν μήτε ὅλως ὄντα τι, ἄλλοι δὲ ἀρρενόθηλυν αὐτὸν λέγουσιν εἶναι, ἐρμαφροδίτου φύσιν αὐτῷ

32.7.4 | "O foolish wise men! For even about the Depth they have different ideas. Some say it is unpaired, neither male nor female, nor really anything at all; others say it is both male and female, giving it a hermaphrodite nature.”

32.7.5 | Σιγὴν δὲ πάλιν ἄλλοι συνευνέτιν αὐτῷ προσάπτουσιν, ἵνα γένηται πρώτη συζυγία καὶ ἐκ τούτου καὶ ἐκ ταύτης τὰ κατάλοιπα οὕτω δραματουρήσωσι.

32.7.5 | Others add silence to it again, so that it may become the first pairing, and from this and that they may create the rest in this way.

32.7.6 | καὶ πολλή τις ἐστὶν ἐν αὐτοῖς ἡ εἰς ὕπνον βαθὺν τὸν νοῦν αὐτῶν καταφέρουσα ληρολόγος ὄνειροπολία.

32.7.6 | And there is much foolish dreaming in them that leads their mind down into a deep suspicion.

32.7.7 | Καὶ τί μοι ἐπὶ τὸ πολὺ κατατρίβεσθαι, φωρατῆς οὔσης τῆς κατ’ αὐτοὺς ὑποθέσεως καὶ τοῦ κατ’ αὐτῶν ἐλέγχου καὶ ἀνατροπῆς ἀπὸ τῶν προειρημένων παντὶ τῷ βουλομένῳ τῆς ζωῆς αὐτοῦ ἔχεσθαι καὶ μὴ ἄπατασθαι κενοῖς μύθοις;

32.7.7 | And why should i waste time mostly, since their idea is open to inspection and their claim can be tested and overturned by what has been said, for anyone who wants to live rightly and not be fooled by empty stories?

32.7.8 | ἀλλὰ ταῦτά μοι περὶ τούτων εἰρήσθω. παρελθὼν δὲ ταύτην ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς >, > ὁδὸν ἐμαυτῷ ἀσφαλῆ καὶ τρίβον λείαν, ὅπως τὰς τούτων μοχθηρίας διεξιῶν τε καὶ ἐλέγχων ἐμαυτόν τε καὶ τοὺς ἀκούοντας ἐν τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμει διασώσῃ διὰ τῆς τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν διδασκαλίας καὶ ἀληθινῆς θεωρίας.

32.7.8 | But let these things be said to me about these matters. And having passed beyond this, i will make a safe path and a smooth way for myself, so that by going through the troubles of these things and their tests, i may save both myself and those listening by the power of god through the teaching of our lord and true understanding.

32.7.9 | ὥς μύαγρον <οὖν> ταύτην τὴν ἔχιδναν, τὴν πολλαῖς ἐχίσναις ἐχίδναις ἐοικυῖαν τῷ ὑποδήματι τοῦ εὐαγγελίου καταπατήσαντες τὰς ἐξῆς διασκοπήσωμεν.

32.7.9 | Like a thorny snake, then, this one, which looks like many little snakes, let us step on it with the shoe of the gospel and carefully examine the way out.

Book 33

Section 1

33.1.1 | Τοὺς περὶ Μεκύνδον καὶ τὸν ὀνομασθέντα Ἐπιφάνην, ἐξ Ἰσιδώρου τὴν πρόφασιν εἰς ἑαυτοῦ ὑπόνοιαν ἀπεμπολήσαντα, Πτολεμαῖος διαδέχεται τῆς μὲν αὐτῆς τῶν καλουψενων Γνωστικῶν ὑπάρχων αἰρέσεως καὶ τῶν κατὰ Οὐαλεντίνον <εἰς ὦν> σὺν ἐτέροις τισίν, ἕτερα δὲ παρὰ τοὺς αὐτοῦ διδασκάλους ὑποτιθέμενος, οὗ καὶ τὸ ὄνομα ἀύχοῦσιν οἱ αὐτῷ πειθόμενοι.
Πτολεμαῖοι καλούμενοι.

33.1.1 | About those around Mekyndon and the one called Epiphanes, having given up Isidore's excuse as a suspicion against himself, Ptolemy takes over, being one of the same so-called Gnostic heresy and those following Valentinus with some others, but teaching different things from his own teachers, whose name those who follow him proudly carry. They are called Ptolemaians.

33.1.2 | Οὗτος τοίνυν ὁ Πτολεμαῖος καὶ οἱ σὺν αὐτῷ ἔτι ἐμπειρότερος ἡμῖν τῶν ἑαυτοῦ διδασκάλων προελήλυθε, τῇ ἐκείνων ὑφηγήσει προσθήκης τινὸς ὑπερβολὰς ἐξευρών.

33.1.2 | This Ptolemy, then, and those with him, even more experienced than their own teachers, came before us, finding some excess added to their guidance.

33.1.3 | δύο γὰρ οὗτος συζύγους τῷ θεῷ τῷ παρ' αὐτοῖς Βυθῷ καλουμένῳ ἐπενόησέν τε καὶ ἐχαρίσατο· ταύτας δὲ καὶ διαθέσεις ἐκάλεσεν, Ἐννοϊάν τε καὶ Θέλημα.

33.1.3 | For this man invented and gave two wives to the god called Bythos among them; and he called these arrangements Ennoia and Thelema.

33.1.4 | καὶ τὴν μὲν Ἐννοϊαν ἀεὶ συνυπάρξασαν αὐτῷ, ἐννοουμένην ἀεὶ τό τι προβαλέσθαι, τὸ δὲ Θέλημα ἐν αὐτῷ ἐπιγινόμενον. πρῶτον γὰρ ἐννοήθη <τι> προβαλεῖν, εἴτα, φησὶν, ἠθέλησεν.

33.1.4 | And Ennoia always existed together with him, always being thought of as something that comes forward, but Thelema came to be in him. For first, something was thought to come forward, then, he says, he willed it.

33.1.5 | διὸ καὶ τῶν δύο διαθέσεων τούτων ἡ καὶ δυνάμεων (δυνάμεις γὰρ αὐτάς πάλιν

33.1.5 | Therefore, of these two arrangements or powers (for he calls them καλεῖ), τῆς Ἐννοίας καὶ τῆς Θελήσεως ὥσπερ συγκραθεισῶν εἰς ἀλλήλας ἡ προβλὴ τοῦ Μονογενοῦς καὶ τῆς Ἀληθείας κατὰ συζυγίαν ἐγένετο.

powers again), Ennoia and Thelema, as if held together with each other, the projection of the Only-Begotten and Truth came to be as a pair.

33.1.6 | οὕστινας τύπους καὶ εἰκόνας τῶν δύο διαθέσεων τοῦ Πατρὸς προελθεῖν τῶν ἀοράτων ὁρατάς, τοῦ μὲν Θελήματος τὸν Νοῦν, τῆς δὲ Ἐννοίας τὴν Ἀλήθειαν· καὶ διὰ τοῦτο τοῦ > Θελήματος ὁ με) ἄρρην εἰκὼν γέγονεν, τῆς <δὲ> ἐγεννήτου Ἐννοίας ὁ δὲ] θῆλυς τοῦ Θελήματος].

33.1.6 | These are the types and images of the two arrangements of the Father coming forth from the invisible to the visible: the Mind from Thelema, and Truth from Ennoia; and because of this, the male image came from Thelema, and the female from the begotten Ennoia, the female of Thelema.

33.1.7 | τὸ Θέλημα τοίνυν δύνάμεις ἐγγέτο τῆς Ἐννοίας. ἐνενόει μὲν γὰρ αἰεὶ ἡ Ἐννοια τὴν προβολήν, οὐ μὲντοι προβαλεῖν αὐτὴν καθ' ἑαυτὴν ἠδύνατο ἃ ἐνενοεῖ· ὅτε δὲ ἡ τοῦ Θελήματος δύνάμεις ἐπεγένετο, τότε ὃ ἐνενόει προέβαλεν.

33.1.7 | Thelema then became the power of Ennoia. For Ennoia always thought of the projection, but she was not able to project it by herself what she thought of; but when the power of Thelema came to be, then what she thought she projected.

Section 2

33.2.1 | 2. Καὶ φεῦ τῆς τοιαύτης τοῦ ματαιόφρονος ληρωδίας· τοῦτο γὰρ | οὐκ ἂν οὐδὲ ἐπὶ ἀνθρώπου λαμβάνοιτο παρὰ τινι τῶν ἐχόντων Ὁ 400 ἐρρωμένην τὴν διάνοιαν, μήτι γε ἐπὶ θεοῦ.

33.2.1 | 2. And alas for such foolish nonsense; for this would not be accepted even from a person who has a strong mind, much less from a god.

33.2.2 | δοκεῖ δέ μοι φρονιμώτερος αὐτοῦ ὑπάρχειν Ὅμηρος ἐν τῷ τὸν Δία φροντίδα παρ' αὐτῷ ποιούμενον ἀναγράφεσθαι, μεριμνῶντά τε καὶ χαλεπαίνοντα καὶ ἄϋπνον παννύχως διατετελεκότα, τὸ πῶς τοῖς Ἀχαιοῖς ἐπιβουλεύσει, τῆς Θέτιδος αὐτὸν ἀξιώσεως εἰς τὸ δίκην τίσαι τοὺς τῶν Ἑλλήνων ἐξάρχους τε καὶ αὐτοὺς

33.2.2 | But it seems to me that Homer is wiser than him in the part where he writes about Zeus' care, worrying and being angry and staying sleepless all night, about how he would plot against the Achaeans, because Thetis asked him to punish the leaders of the Greeks and the Greeks themselves for their insult against Achilles.

Ἕλληνας διὰ τὴν πρὸς τὸν Ἀχιλλέα ὕβριν.

33.2.3 | οὐδὲν γὰρ οὗτος ὁ Πτολεμαῖος εἰς δόξαν τοῦ παρ' αὐτοῦ Πατρὸς τῶν ὅλων τοῦ] καὶ Βυθοῦ καλουμένου κύλογώτερον τῶν παρὰ Ὅμηρου εἰς τὸν Δία εἰρημένων ἐπενόησεν, ἀλλ' αὐτὸν κατείληφε μᾶλλον τὸν Δία, 33.2.3 | For this Ptolemy thought of nothing more clever about Zeus, called the Father of all and Depth, than what Homer said about Zeus; rather, Zeus himself held him.

33.2.4 | ὥς παρὰ Ὅμηρου λαβὼν τὴν ἔννοιαν· μᾶλλον γὰρ τὴν Ὀμηρικὴν κατάληψιν περὶ Διὸς καὶ Ἀχαιῶν εἰκότως ἂν φήσειεν <τις αὐτὸν ἐσχηκέναι>, τὴν τοσαύτην αὐτοῦ τόλμαν ἐξεμέσαντα, ἢ > περὶ τοῦ τῶν ὅλων καὶ ἅμα τῷ δελῆσαι καὶ ἐννοεῖται τοῦθ' ὅπερ καὶ ἠθέλησεν, τότε ἐννοούμενος ὅτε θέλει καὶ τότε θέλων ὅτε ἐννοεῖται, ὅλος ἐννοία ὢν,

33.2.4 | As having taken the idea from Homer; for rather he would say that someone held the Homeric understanding about Zeus and the Achaeans reasonably, having put aside so much boldness of his own, than about the ruler of all and at the same time to deceive—this is what he also meant and wished—then being understood as when he wants and then willing when he thinks, being the whole thought.

33.2.5 | ὅλος θέλημα ὢν, ὅλος νοπῦς, ὅλος φῶς, ὅλος ὀφθαλμός, ὅλος ἀκοή, ὅλος πηγὴ πάντων τῶν ἀγαθῶν καὶ οὐδενὸς εἶσω πάθους περιεχόμενος· θεὸς γάρ, καὶ οὐ φροντίζων καὶ ἀπορῶν ὥς ὁ Βυθὸς ἦτοι ὁ Ζεὺς, περὶ οὗ λέγοντα Ὅμηρον Πτολεμαῖος περὶ Βυθοῦ λέγων ἐμιμήσατο.

33.2.5 | Being all will, all mind, all light, all eye, all hearing, all source of all good things and holding no suffering inside; for he is a god, and not worrying or troubled like Depth or Zeus. About whom Homer speaks, Ptolemy imitated when speaking about Depth.

33.2.6 | εἰς δὲ περισσότερον ἔλεγχον τοῦ ἀπατεῶνος καθεξῆς ὑποτάξας παραθήσομαι τὰ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ φύσει Πτολεμαίου Φλώρᾳ τινὶ γυναικὶ γραφέντα ἐπαγωγὰ τε καὶ δηλητήρια ῥήματα, ἵνα μή τις νομίσειεν ἡμᾶς ἐξ ἀκοῆς μόνον τὸν ἀπατεῶνα ἐλέγχειν, μὴ πρότερον ἐντυχόντας τῇ παρ' αὐτοῦ πεποιημένῃ διδασκαλίᾳ· πρὸς γὰρ τοῖς εἰρημένοις καὶ τὸν νόμον τοῦ θεοῦ τὸν διὰ Μωυσέως

33.2.6 | For a fuller proof of the cheat, I will put in order and present the words written by Ptolemy to a woman named Flora, both spells and poisons, so that no one would think we only prove the cheat by hearsay, without first meeting the teaching made by him. For besides what has been said, he does not shame blaspheming the law of God through Moses. These are the things:

βλασφημιῶν οὐκ αἰσχύνεται), ἃ καὶ ἔστι ταῦτα Πτολεμαίου πρὸς Φλώραν.

Ptolemy to Flora.

Section 3

33.3.1 | 3. »Τὸν διὰ Μωσέως τεθέντα νόμον, ἀδελφή μου καλὴ Φλώρα, ὅτι μὴ πολλοὶ προκατελάβοντο, μήτε τὸ θέμενον αὐτὸν ἐγνωκότες μήτε τὰς προστάξεις αὐτοῦ ἀκριβῶς, ἡγοῦμαι καὶ σοὶ εὐσύνοπτον ἔσεσθαι μαθούσῃ τὰς διαφωνούσας γνώμας περὶ αὐτοῦ.

33.3.1 | 3. “The law set by Moses, my dear sister Flora, because many did not understand it beforehand, neither knowing the law itself nor its commands exactly, I think it will be clear to you too, if you learn the different opinions about it.”

33.3.2 | οἱ μὲν γὰρ ὑπὸ δεοῦ καὶ πατρὸς νενομοθετῆσθαι τοῦτον λέγουσιν, ἕτεροι δὲ τούτοις τὴν ἐναντίαν ὁδὸν τραπέντες καὶ τὴν τοῦ κόσμου προσάπτουσιν αὐτῷ δημιουργίαν, πατέρα καὶ ποιητὴν τοῦτον λέγοντες εἶναι τοῦδε τοῦ παντός.

33.3.2 | For some say this law was given by god and father, but others, turning the opposite way, claim it was set by the harmful devil who opposes, saying he is also the creator of the world, calling him the father and maker of all this.

33.3.3 | <πάντως διέπταισαν οὗτοι, διάδοντες ἀλλήλοις καὶ ἑκάτεροι αὐτῶν διαμαρτνόντες παρὰ ἀφίσιν αὐτοῖς τῆς τοῦ προκειμένου ἀληθείας.

33.3.3 | They all made mistakes, blaming each other and each one failing to let go of the truth about what was before them.

33.3.4 | οὔτε γὰρ ὑπὸ τοῦ τελείου θεοῦ καὶ πατρὸς φαίνεται τοῦτον τεθεῖσθαι ὑφ’ ἑτέρου πληρωθῆναι ἐνδεῖ, ἔχοντά τε προστάξεις ἀνοικείας τῇ τοῦ τοιοῦτου δεοῦ φύσει τε καὶ γνώμῃ· οὐτ’ αὖ πάλιν τῇ

33.3.4 | For this law does not seem to have been set by the perfect god and father (for it is following), being incomplete and needing to be filled by another, and having commands unsuitable to the nature and mind of such a god; nor again by the...

savior said: “a house or city divided against itself cannot stand,” our savior declared.

33.3.6 | ἔτι τε τὴν τοῦ κόσμου δημιουργίαν <αὐτοῦ>· ἰδίαν γέγει εἶναι τά τε πάντα δι’ αὐτοῦ γεγονέναι καὶ χωρὶς αὐτοῦ γεγονέναι οὐδὲν ὁ ἀπόστολος, προαποστερήσας τὴν τῶν ψευδηγορούντων ἀνυπόστατον σοφίαν, καὶ οὐ φθοροποιῶ θεοῦ, ἀλλὰ δικαίου καὶ μισοπονήρου· ἀπρονοήτων δὲ ἐστὶ ἀνθρώπων <τοῦτο>, τῆς προνοίας τοῦ δημιουργοῦ μὴ αἰτίαν καὶ μὴ μόνον τὸ τῆς ψυχῆς ὄμμα, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸ τοῦ σώματος πεπηρωμένων.

33.3.6 | Still, the creation of the world is his own, and all things came into being through him, and nothing came into being without him. The apostle, having rejected the baseless wisdom of false teachers, says that God is not destructive, but just and hating evil. This is something that unthinking people do not understand, not seeing the care of the creator, and not only the eye of the soul, but also the hardened eye of the body.

33.3.7 | εἰρημένων. πεπόνθασι δὲ τοῦτο ἰδίως ἑκάτεροι αὐτῶν, οἱ με) διὰ τὸ ἀγνοεῖν τὸν τῆς δικαιοσύνης δεόν, οἱ δὲ διὰ τὸ ἀγνοεῖν τὸν τῶν ὄλων πατέρα, ὃν μόνος ἐλθὼν ὁ μόνος εἰδὼς ἐφανερώσε.

33.3.7 | Having been said, each of them suffers this in their own way: some because they do not know what justice requires, and others because they do not know the father of all, whom alone the only one, knowing him, revealed when he came.

33.3.8 | περιλείπεται δὲ ἡμῖν ἀξιωθεῖσιν γε τῆς ἀυφοτέρων τούτων <γνώσεως>· ἐκφῆναί σοι καὶ αὐτόν τε τὸν νόμον, ποταπὸς τις εἴη, καὶ τὸν ὑφ’ οὗ τέειται, τὸν νομοθέτην, <τῶν>· ῥηθησομένων ἡμῶν τὰς ἀποδείξεις ἐκ τῶν τοῦ ἡμῶν λόγων παριστῶντες, δι’ ὧν μόνον ἔστιν ἀπταίστως ἐπὶ τὴν κατάληψιν τῶν ὄντων ὁδηγεῖσθαι.

33.3.8 | It remains for us, having been made worthy of knowing both these things, to explain to you what kind of law it is, and who the lawgiver is, showing the proofs of what has been said from our words, through which alone one is surely led to grasp what is real.

Section 4

33.4.1 | 4. Πρῶτον οὖν μαθητέον ὅτι ὁ

33.4.1 | First, then, it must be learned that σὺμπας ἐκεῖνος νόμος ὁ ἐμπεριεχόμενος τῇ Μωσέως πεντατεύχῳ οὐ πρὸς ἑνὸς τινος νενομοθέτηται, λέγω δὴ οὐχ ὑπὸ μόνου θεοῦ, ἀλλ’ εἰσὶ τινες αὐτοῦ προστάξεις καὶ ὑπ’ ἀνθρώπων τεθεῖσαι. καὶ τριχῇ τοῦτον διαιρεῖσθαι οἱ τοῦ σωτῆρος λόγοι διδάσκουσιν ἡμᾶς.

the whole law contained in Moses’ five books was not made by just one lawgiver, I mean not by God alone, but some of its commands were set by men too. And the words of the savior teach us that this law is divided into three parts.

33.4.2 | εἷς τε γὰρ αὐτὸν τὸ δεὸν καὶ τὴν τούτου νομοθεσίαν διαιρεῖται, > δὲ καὶ εἰς τὸν Μωσέα οὐ καθὰ δι’ αὐτοῦ νομοθετεῖ ὁ θεός, ἀλλὰ καθὰ ἀπὸ τῆς ἰδίας ἐννοίας ὁρμώμενος καὶ ὁ Μωσῆς ἐνομοθέτησέ τινα) καὶ εἰς τοὺς πρεσβυτεροὺς τοῦ λαοῦ διαιρεῖται, <οἱ> καὶ εὐρίσκονται ἐντολὰς τινὰς ἐνθέωτες ἰδίας.

33.4.2 | For it is divided both into God himself and his law, and also into Moses, for God does not make the law through him exactly, but Moses, moved by his own understanding, made some laws; and it is divided also into the elders of the people, who have their own commands given to them.

33.4.3 | πῶς οὖν τοῦτο οὕτως ἔχον ἐκ τῶν τοῦ σωτῆρος δείκνυται λόγων, μάθοις δ’ ἄν ἤδη.

33.4.3 | So then, how this is so is shown by the words of the savior, you would already learn.

33.4.4 | διαλεγόμενός που ὁ σωτὴρ πρὸς τοὺς περὶ τοῦ ἀποστασίου συζητοῦντας αὐτῷ, ὃ δὴ ἀποστάσιον ἐξεῖναι νενομόδετο, ἔφη αὐτοῖς ὅτι »Μωυσῆς πρὸς τὴν σκληροκαρδίαν ὑμῶν ἐπέτρεψεν τὸ ἀπολύειν τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ. ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς γὰρ οὐ γέγονεν οὕτως. δεὸς γάρ, φησί, συνέζευξε ταύτην τὴν συζυγίαν, καὶ ὃ συνέζευξεν ὁ κύριος, ἄνθρωπος, ἔφη, μὴ χωριζέτω«.

33.4.4 | Somewhere, the savior talking with those arguing about divorce, which was allowed by law, said to them, “Moses allowed a man to send away his wife because of your hard hearts. But from the beginning, it was not like this. For God joined this marriage, and what the Lord joined, no man,” he said, “should separate.”

33.4.5 | ἐνταῦθα ἕτερον μὲν <τὸν> τοῦ δεοῦ δείκνυσι νόμον, τὸν κωλύοντα κωρίζεσθαι γυναῖκα ἀνδρὸς αὐτῆς, ἕτερον δὲ τὸν τοῦ Μωσέως, τὸ διὰ τὴν σκληροκαρδίαν ἐπιτέποντα χωρίζεσθαι

33.4.5 | Here, one law shows the law of God, which stops a man from divorcing his wife, and another shows the law of Moses, which, because of hard hearts, allows this τοῦτο τὸ ζευγος.

couple to separate.

33.4.6 | καὶ δὴ κατὰ τοῦτο ἐναντία τῷ θεῷ νομοθετεῖ ὁ Μωσῆς· ἐναντίον γάρ ἐστι τῷ μὴ * διαζευγνύναι. ἐὰν μέντοι καὶ τὴν τοῦ Μωσέως γνώμην, καθ' ἣν τοῦτο ἐνομοθέτησεν, ἐξετάσωμεν, εὐρεθήσεται τοῦτο οὐ κατὰ προαίρεσιν ποιήσας τὴν ἑαυτοῦ, ἀλλὰ κατὰ ἀνάγκην διὰ τὴν τῶν νενομοθετημένων ἀσθένεωσαν.

33.4.6 | And indeed, in this way Moses makes a law against God; for it is against not to separate. But if we examine even Moses' opinion, by which he made this law, we will find that he did this not by his own choice, but out of necessity because of the weakness of those who were given the law.

33.4.7 | ἐπεὶ γὰρ τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ γνώμην φυλάττειν οὐκ ἠδύναντο οὗτοι, ἐν τῷ μὴ ἐξεῖναι αὐτοῖς ἀκβάλλειν τὰς γυναῖκας αὐτῶν, αἷς τινὲς αὐτῶν ἀηδῶς συνῶκουν καὶ ἐκινδύνεον ἐκ τούτου ἐκτρέπεσθαι πλεον εἰς ἀδικίαν καὶ ταύτης εἰς ἀπώλεταν, τὸ ἀηδὲς τοῦτο βουλόμενος ἐκκόψαι αὐτῶν ὁ Μωσῆς,

33.4.7 | For since those people could not keep God's law, and it was not allowed for them to send away their wives, some of them lived with them in a bad way and were in danger of turning more to wrongdoing and even to ruin. Moses wanted to cut off this bad thing from them.

33.4.8 | δι' οὗ καὶ ἀπόλλεσθαι ἐκινδύνεον, δευτέρον τινα, ὡς κατὰ περίστασιν ἦττον κακὸν ἀντὶ μείζονος ἀντικαταλασσόμενος, τὸν τοῦ ἀποστασίου νόμο ἀφ' ἑαυτοῦ ἐνομοθέτησεν αὐτοῖς, ἵνα, ἐὰν ἐκεῖνον μὴ δύνωνται φυλάσσειν,

33.4.8 | Because they were in danger of being destroyed through this, he made another law about divorce for them, as a less bad thing instead of a worse one, on his own authority, so that if they could not keep the first law,

33.4.9 | κἂν τοῦτόν τε φυλάξωσι καὶ μὴ εἰς ἀδικίας καὶ κακίας ἀκτραπῶσι, δι' ὧν ἀπώλεια αὐτοῖς ἔμελλεν τελετοτάτη ἐπακολουθήσειν.

33.4.9 | they might keep this one too and not turn to wrongdoing and evil, for through this loss the worst destruction was about to follow for them.

33.4.10 | αὕτη μὲν ἡ τούτου γνώμη, καθ' ἣν ἀντινομοθετῶν εὐρίσκεται τῷ θεῷ· πλὴν ὅτι γε Μωσέως αὐτοῦ δείκνυται ἐνταῦθα ἕτερος ὢν παρὰ τὸν τοῦ θεοῦ νόμον,

33.4.10 | This is the opinion about it, which is found to go against God's law; but since here another law of Moses is shown, different from God's law, it is certain, even ἀναμφισβήτητόν ἐστι, κἄν δι' ἐνὸς τανῶν ῶμεν δεδειχότες.

if we are now shown by one example.

33.4.11 | ὅτι δὲ καὶ τῶι πρεσβυτέρων εἰσὶν τινες συμπεπλεγμένοι παραδόσεις ἐν τῷ νόμῳ, δηλοῖ καὶ τοῦτο ὁ σωτήρ. »ὁ γὰρ δέός» φησὶν »εἶπεν, τίμα τὸν πατέρα σου καὶ τὴν μητέρα σου, ἵνα εὖ σοι γένηται.

33.4.11 | And that there are also some traditions mixed in with the law of the elders, the savior also shows this: 'For the god,' he says, 'said, honor your father and your mother, so that it may go well for you.'

33.4.12 | ὑμεῖς δέ, φησὶν, εἰρήκατε, τοῖς πρεσβυτέροις λέγων· δῶρον τῷ θεῷ ὃ ἐὰν ὠφελθῇς ἐξ ἐμοῦ, καὶ ἡκυρώσατε τὸν νόμον τοῦ θεοῦ, διὰ τὴν ψαράδοσιν ὑμῶν τῶι πρεσβυτέρων.

33.4.12 | But you, he says, said to the elders: 'A gift to God, whatever you may gain from me,' and you canceled the law of the god because of your tradition to the elders.

33.4.13 | τοῦτο Τε Ἡσαΐας ἐξεφώνησεν εἰπών· ὁ λαὸς οὗτος τοῖς χεῖλεσί με τιμᾷ, ἡ δὲ καρδία αὐτῶν πόρρω ἀπέχει ἀπ' ἐμοῦ. μάτη δὲ σέβονται με, διδάσκοντες διδασκαλίας, ἐντάλματα ἀνθρώπων».

33.4.13 | This Isaiah shouted out, saying:
'This people honor me with their lips, but their heart is far away from me. They worship me in vain, teaching human rules as commands.'

33.4.14 | σαφῶς οὖν ἐκ τούτων εἰς τρία διυρούμενος ὁ σύμπας ἐκεῖνος δείκνυται νόμος· Μωσέως τε γὰρ αὐτοῦ καὶ τῶν πρεσβυτέρων καὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ θεοῦ εὗρομεν νομοθεσίαν ἐν αὐτῷ. αὕτη μὲν οὖν ἡ διαίρεσις τοῦ σύμπαντος ἐκείνου νόμου ὥδε ἡμῖν διαιρεθεῖσα τὸ ἐν αὐτῷ ἀληθὲς ἀναπέφαγκεν.

33.4.14 | Clearly then, dividing that whole law into three parts, it is shown: for we find the law given by Moses, by the elders, and by the god himself in it. This division of that whole law, divided for us like this, has revealed the truth in it.

Section 5

33.5.1 | 5. Πάλιν δὲ δὴ τὸ ἓν μέρος, ὁ αὐτοῦ τοῦ θεοῦ νόμος, διαιρεῖται εἰς τρία τινά· εἷς τε τὴν καθαρὰν νομοθεσίαν τὴν ἀσύμπλοκον τῷ κακῷ, ὅς καὶ πυρίως νόμος γέγεται, ὃν οὐκ ὕλθε καταλῦσαι ὁ σωτήρ

33.5.1 | Again, the one part, the law of the god himself, is divided into three things: one is the pure law, free from evil, which is like fire; the savior did not come to destroy it but to complete it, for what he completed ἀλλὰ πληρῶσαι οὐ γὰρ ἦν ἀλλότριος αὐτοῦ ὃν ἐπλήρωσεν,· οὐ γὰρ εἶχεν τὸ τέλειον) καὶ εἰς τὸν συμπεπλεγμένον τῷ χείρονι καὶ τῇ ἀδικίᾳ, ὃν ἀνέβλεπεν ὁ σωτὴρ ἀνοίκειον ἔντα τῇ ἑαυτοῦ φύσει·

was not foreign to him, because it was not perfect; and another is the law mixed with worse things and injustice, which the savior removed as something strange to his own nature;

33.5.2 | διαιρεῖται Τε καὶ εἰς τὸ τυπικὸν καὶ αὐμβολικὸν τὸ κατ' εἰκόνα τῶν πνευματικῶν καὶ διαφερόντων νομοθετηθέν· ὃ μετέθηκεν ὁ σωτὴρ ἀπὸ αἰσθητοῦ καὶ καφινομένου ἐπὶ το πνευματικὸν καὶ ἀοράτον.

33.5.2 | and it is also divided into the symbolic and typical, made in the image of the spiritual and different laws; the savior changed these from something sensible and fading to something spiritual and invisible.

33.5.3 | καὶ ἐστὶ με) ὁ τοῦ θεοῦ νόμος, ὁ καθαρὸς καὶ ἀσύμπλοκος τῷ χείρονι, αὐτὴ ἡ δεκάλογος, οἱ δέκα λόγοι ἐκεῖνοι οἱ ἐν ταῖς δυσὶ πλαξὶ δεδιχασμένοι, εἷς τε ἀναίρεσιν τῷ ἀφεχτέων καὶ εἰς πρόσταξιν τῶν ποιητέων, οἱ καίπερ καθαρὰν ἔχοντες τὴν νομοθεσίαν, μὴ ἔχοντες δὲ τὸ τέλειον, εδέοντο τῆς παρὰ τοῦ σωτῆρος πληρώσεως.

33.5.3 | And there is the law of the god, the pure and free from worse things, that very ten-word law, those ten words cut into two tablets, one for taking away what must be avoided and one for ordering what must be done, which, though having pure law, did not have the perfect, and so needed the fulfillment from the savior.

33.5.4 | ὁ δὲ ἐστὶ] συμπεπλεγμένος τῇ δικίᾳ, οὗτος ὁ κατὰ τὴν ἄμυναν καὶ ἀνταπόδοσιν τῶν προκδικησάντων κείμενος, ὁφθαλμὸν ἀντὶ ὁφθαλμοῦ καὶ ὀδόνται ἀντὶ ὀδόντος ἐκκόπτεσθαι κελεύων καὶ φόνον ἀντὶ φόνου ἀμύνασθαι· οὐδὲν γὰρ ἦττον καὶ ὁ δεύτερος ἀδικῶν ἀδικεῖ, τῇ τάξει μόνον διαλλάσσει τὸ αὐτὸ ἐργαζόμενος ἔργον.

33.5.4 | But the one mixed with justice is the one based on defense and payback for those who did wrong before, ordering an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth to be cut off, and to defend murder with murder; for no less, the second wrongdoer does wrong, only changing the order while doing the same work.

33.5.5 | τοῦτο δὲ τὸ πρόσταγμα δίκαιον μὲν ἄλλως καὶ ἦν καὶ ἔστι, διὰ τὴν ἀσθένειαν τῷ νομοθετηθέντων ἐν παρεκβάσει τοῦ καθαροῦ νόμου τεθέν, ἀνοίκειον δὲ τῇ τοῦ

33.5.5 | But this command was and is just in a different way, because of the weakness of those who made the law, it was placed as a side step from the pure law, and it is not fitting with the father of all by nature and πατρὸς τῶν ὅλων φύσει τε καὶ ἀγαθότητι.

33.5.6 | ἴσως δὲ τοῦτο κατάλληλον, ἐπάναγκες δὲ μᾶλλον· ὁ γὰρ καὶ τὸν ἕνα φόνον οὐ βουλόμενος ἔσεσθαι ἐν τῷ γέγειν »οὐ φονεύσεις«, προστάξας τὸν φονέα ἀντιφονεύεσθαι, δεύτερον νόμον νομοθετῶν καὶ δυσὶ φόνοις βραβεύων ὁ τὸν ἕνα ἀπαγορεύσας ἔλαθεν ἑαυτὸν ὑπ’ ἀνάγκης κλαπεῖς.

33.5.6 | Maybe this was suitable, but more by force; for the one who did not want even one murder to happen, having commanded “you shall not murder,” ordering the murderer to be killed back, making a second law and judging with two murders, the one who forbade the one murder forgot himself, forced by necessity.

33.5.7 | διὸ δὴ ὁ ἀπ’ ἐκείνου παραγενόμενος υἱὸς τοῦτο τὸ μέρος τοῦ νόμου ἀνῆρηκεν, ὁμολογήσας καὶ αὐτὸ εἶναι τοῦ θεοῦ, <ὥσπερ> ἐν τοῖς ἄλλοις † καταριθμεῖται τῇ παλαιᾷ αἰρέσει καὶ ἐν οἷς ἔφη »ὁ θεὸς εἰπὼν· ὁ κακολογῶν πατέρα ἢ μητέρα θανάτῳ τελευτάτω«.

33.5.7 | Therefore, the son who came after that took away this part of the law, agreeing that it was also from god, as in other things, it is counted with the old belief, and in which he said, “the one who curses father or mother must die.”

33.5.8 | τὸ δὲ ἐστὶ μέρος αὐτοῦ τυπικόν, τὸ κατ’ εἰκόνα τῶν πνευματικῶν καὶ διαφερόντων κείμενον, τὰ ἐν προσφοραῖς λέγω καὶ περιτομῇ καὶ σαββάτῳ καὶ νηστείᾳ καὶ πάπᾳ καὶ ἀζύμοις καὶ τοῖς τοιούτοις νομοθετηθέντα.

33.5.8 | But this part is a symbolic one, made in the image of spiritual and different things; I mean those about offerings, circumcision, the sabbath, fasting, the Passover, unleavened bread, and laws like these.

33.5.9 | πάντα γὰρ ταῦτα, εἰκόνες καὶ σύμβολα ὄντα, τῆς ἀληθείας φανερωθείσης μετετέθη· κατὰ με) τὸ φαινόμενον καὶ <τὸ> σωματικῶς ἐκτελεῖσθαι ἀνηέθη, κατὰ δὲ τὸ πνευματικὸν ἀνελήφθη, τῶν μὲν ὀνομάτων τῶν αὐτῶν μενόντων, ἐνηλλαγμένων Τε τῶν πραγμάτων.

33.5.9 | For all these things, being images and symbols, were changed when the truth was revealed; according to the appearance and the bodily performance, they were taken away, but according to the spiritual meaning, they were received, the same names remaining, but the things changed.

33.5.10 | καὶ γὰρ προσφορὰρ προσφέρειν

33.5.10 | For the savior did order us to προσέταξεν ἡμῖν ὁ σωτήρ, ἀλλ' οὐχὶ τὰς δι' αλόγων ζώων ἢ τούτων τῶν θυμιαμάτων, ἀλλὰ διὰ πνευματικῶν αἰνῶν καὶ δοξῶν καὶ εὐχαριστίας καὶ διὰ τῆς εἰς τοὺς πλησίον κοινωνίας καὶ εὐποιίας.

offer sacrifices, but not those of irrational animals or these kinds of incense, but through spiritual praises and glory and thanks, and through sharing and kindness toward our neighbors.

33.5.11 | καὶ περιτομὴν περιτετμηθῆναι ἡμᾶς βούλεται, ἀλλ' οὐχὶ τῆς ἀκροβυστίας τῆς σωματικῆς, ἀλλὰ ἀλλὰ καρδίας τῆς πνευματικῆς καὶ τὸ σάββατον <δὲ> φυάσσειν·

33.5.11 | And he wants us to be circumcised, but not the bodily uncircumcision, but the spiritual circumcision of the heart, and to keep the sabbath.

33.5.13 | For he wants us to be idle from evil works. And to fast; but he does not want us to fast bodily, but spiritually, in which there is abstaining from all bad things. Yet fasting is kept also by our people according to the appearance, since it can be joined with reason when it is not done to imitate others, nor because of custom, nor because of a certain day set for this.

33.5.14 | ἅμα δὲ καὶ εἰς ἀνάμνησιν τῆς ἀληθινῆς νηστείας, ἵνα οἱ μὴδέπω ἐκείνην δυνάμενοι νηστεύειν ἀπὸ τῆς κατὰ τὸ φαινόμενον νηστείας ἔχωσι τὴν ἀνάμνησιν αὐτῆς.

33.5.14 | And also as a reminder of the true fasting, so that those who are not yet able to fast the true fasting may have the memory of it from the fasting according to appearance.

33.5.15 | καὶ τὸ πάπα δὲ ὁμοίως καὶ τὰ ἄζυμα, ὅτι εἰκόνες ἦσαν, δηλοῖ καὶ Παῦλος ὁ ἀπόστολος »τὸ δὲ πάπα ἡμῶν, λέγων, ἐτύθη Χριστός«, καὶ »ἵνα ᾗτε, φησίν, ἄζυμοι, μὴ μετέχοντες ζύμης (ζύμην δὲ νῦν τὴν κακίαν λέγει), ἀλλ' ᾗτε νέον φύραμα«.

33.5.15 | And the Passover and the unleavened bread too, because they were images, Paul the apostle also shows this, saying, "Our Passover was sacrificed, Christ," and "So you should be unleavened, not sharing in the yeast" (and yeast now means evil), "but you should be new dough.”

Section 6

33.6.1 | 6. Οὕτως γοῦν καὶ αὐτὸς ὁ τοῦ θεοῦ εἶναι νόμος ὁμολογούμενος εἰς τρία διαιρεῖται, εἷς τε τὸ πληρούμενον ἀπὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος (τὸ γάρ »οὐ φονεύσεις, οὐ μοιχεύσεις, οὐκ ἐπιορκήσεις« ἐν τῷ μὴδ’ ὀργισθῆναι μὴδὲ ἐπιθυμῆσαι μὴδὲ ὁμόσαι περιεῖληπται)·

33.6.1 | So then, even the law that is said to be from God is divided into three parts: one part is fulfilled by the savior (for “you shall not kill, you shall not commit adultery, you shall not swear falsely” includes not being angry, not wanting, and not swearing).

33.6.2 | διαιρεῖται δὲ καὶ εἰς τὸ ἀναιρούμενον τελείως. τὸ γάρ »ὀφθαλμὸν ἀντὶ ὀφθαλμοῦ καὶ ὀδόντα ἀντὶ ὀδόντος« συμπεπλεγμένον τῇ ἀδικίᾳ καὶ αὐτὸ ἔργον τῆς ἀδικίας ἔχον, ἀνῆρέθη ὑπὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος διὰ τῶν ἐναντίων.

33.6.2 | And it is also divided into what is completely done away with. For “an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth,” mixed with injustice and itself a work of injustice, was done away with by the savior through opposing things.

33.6.3 | τὰ δὲ ἐναντία ἀλλήλων ἐστὶν ἀναιρετικά· »ἐγὼ γὰρ λέγω ὑμῖν μὴ ἀντιστῆναι ὅλως τῷ πονηρῷ, ἀλλὰ ἐάν τις σε ῥαπίσῃ, στρέψον αὐτῷ καὶ τὴν ἄλλην σιαγόνα«.

33.6.3 | But the opposites of each other are things that take away; for “I say to you, do not resist the evil one at all, but if someone strikes you, turn to them the other cheek also.”

33.6.4 | διαιρεῖται δὲ καὶ εἰς τὸ μετατεθὲν καὶ ἐναλλαγὲν ἀπὸ τοῦ σωματικοῦ ἐπὶ τὸ πνευματικόν, τὸ συμβολικὸν τοῦτο <τὸ> κατ’ εἰκόνα τῶν διαφερόντων νενομοθετημένον.

33.6.4 | And it is also divided into what is changed and switched from the physical to the spiritual, this symbolic thing set by law according to the likeness of different things.

33.6.5 | αἱ γὰρ εἰκόνες καὶ τὰ σύμβολα παραστατικὰ ὄντα ἐτέρων πραγμάτων καλῶς ἐγίνοντο μέχρι μὴ παρῆν ἡ ἀλήθεια· παρούσης δὲ τῆς ἀληθείας τὰ τῆς ἀληθείας δεῖ ποιεῖν, οὐ τὰ τῆς εἰκόνης.

33.6.5 | For images and symbols, being representations of other things, were good until the truth was present; but when the truth is present, one must do the things of the truth, not those of the image.

33.6.6 | And these both his disciples and the apostle Paul showed: the one about images, as we already said, through the Passover and the unleavened bread, showing them for us; and the one about the mixed law with injustice, saying "the law of commandments in teachings was done away with"; and the one about the unmixed law with the worse, saying "the law is holy, and the commandment holy and just and good."

Section 7

33.7.1 | 7. Ὡς μὲν οὖν συντόμως ἔστιν εἰπεῖν, αὐτάρκως οἶμαί σοι δεδεῖχθαι καὶ τὴν ἐξ ἀνθρώπων παρεισδύσασαν νομοθεσίαν καὶ αὐτὸν τὸν τοῦ θεοῦ νόμον τριχῇ διαιρούμενον.

33.7.1 | So, since it is brief to say, i think it has been shown to you clearly both the human law that crept in and the very law of god divided into three parts.

33.7.2 | περιλείπεται Τε ἡμῖν τίς ποτέ ἐστιν οὗτος ὁ θεὸς ὁ τὸν νόμον δέμενος. ἀλλὰ καὶ τοῦτο ἡγοῦμαί σοι δεδεῖχθαι ἐπὶ τῶν προειρημένων, εἰ ἐπιμελῶς ἀκήκοας.

33.7.2 | What remains for us is who this god is who binds the law. But i also think this has been shown to you from what was said before, if you have listened carefully.

33.7.3 | εἰ γὰρ μήτε ὑπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ τελείου θεοῦ τέθιται οὗτος, ὡς ἐδιδάξαμεν, μήτε μὴν ὑπὸ ροῦ διαβόλου, ὃ μὴδὲ δεμιτόν ἐστιν εἰπεῖν, ἕτερός τίς ἐστι παρὰ τούτους οὗτος ὁ δέμενος τὸς νόμον.

33.7.3 | For if this one who binds the law is not set by the perfect god himself, as we taught, nor indeed by the spirit of the devil, which is not even easy to say, then this one who binds the law must be someone else besides these.

33.7.4 | οὗτος δὲ δημιουργὸς καὶ ποιητὴς τοῦδ' τοῦ παντός ἐστι κόσμου καὶ τῶν ἐν αὐτῷ· ἕτερος ὢν παρὰ τὰς τούτων οὐσίας μέσος > τούτων καθεστώς, ἐνδίκως καὶ

33.7.4 | This one is the creator and maker of this whole world and of the things in it; being different from their beings, he stands in the middle of them, and rightly he would τὸ τῆς μεσότητος ὄνομα ἀποφέροιτο ἄν.

33.7.5 | καὶ εἰ ὁ τέλειος δεὸς ἀγαθὸς ἐστὶ κατὰ τὴν ἑαυτοῦ φύσιν, ὥσπερ καὶ ἔστιν ἓνα γὰρ μόνον εἶναι ἀγαθὸν θεὸν τὸν ἑαυτοῦ πατέρα ὁ σωτὴρ ἡμῶν ἀπεφάνητο, ὃν αὐτὸς ἐφανερώσεν), ἔστι δὲ καὶ ὁ τῆς τοῦ ἀντικειμένου φύσεως κακὸς τε καὶ πονηρὸς ἐν ἀδικίᾳ χαρακτηριζόμενος, τούτων Τε οὖν μέσος καθεστὼς καὶ μήτε ἀγαθὸς ὢν μήτε μὴν κακὸς μήτε ἄδικος, ἰδίως Τε λεχθεῖη ἄν δίκαιος, τῆς κατ' αὐτὸν δικαιοσύνης ὢν βραβευτής.

33.7.5 | And if the perfect god is good by his own nature, as he is, for our savior showed that there is only one good god, his own father, whom he revealed himself, then there is also the nature of the object, which is bad and evil, marked by injustice. So this one, standing in the middle of these, is neither good nor bad nor unjust; he could be called just, as the judge of justice according to himself.

33.7.6 | καὶ ἔσται μὲν καταδεέστερος τοῦ τελείου δεοῦ καὶ τῆς ἐκείνου δικαιοσύνης ἐλάττων οὗτος ὁ δεός, ἅτε δὴ καὶ γεννητὸς ὢν καὶ οὐκ ἀγέννητος εἶς γὰρ ἐστὶν ἀγέννητος ὁ πατήρ, ἐξ οὗ τὰ πάντα, ἰδίως τῶν πάντων ἡρτημένων ἀπ' αὐτοῦ), μείζων δὲ καὶ κυριώτερος τοῦ ἀντικειμένου γενήσεται καὶ ἐτέρας οὐσίας τε καὶ φύσεως πεφυκὼς παρὰ τὴν ἐκατέρων τούτων οὐσίαν.

33.7.6 | And this god will be less than the perfect god and less than his justice, since he is begotten and not unbegotten; for the father alone is unbegotten, from whom all things come, especially all things depending on him. But he will be greater and more powerful than the object, and he is naturally of a different being and nature from the being of both these.

33.7.7 | τοῦ μὲν γὰρ ἀντικειμένου ἐστὶν ἡ οὐσία φθορά τε καὶ σκότος ὑλικὸς γὰρ οὗτος καὶ πολυσχικῆς), τοῦ δὲ πατρὸς τῶν ὅλων τοῦ ἀγεννήτου ἡ οὐσία ἐστὶν ἀφθαρσία τε καὶ φῶς αὐτοόν, ἀπλοῦν τε καὶ μονοειδές· ἡ δὲ τούτου οὐσία διττὴν μὲν τινα δύναμιν προήγαγεν, αὐτὸς δὲ τοῦ κρείττονός ἐστιν εἰκὼν.

33.7.7 | For the being of the object is decay and darkness, for it is material and many-sided; but the being of the father of all, the unbegotten, is incorruption and self-shining light, simple and single-formed. And the being of this one brought forth a twofold power, and he himself is the image of the stronger.

33.7.8 | μηδέ σε τανῦν τοῦτο θορυβεῖτω, δέλουσιν μαθεῖν πῶς ἀπὸ μιᾶς ἀρχῆς τῶν ὅλων, <ἀπλῆς> οὔσης τε καὶ μένης ἡμῖν καὶ πεπιστευμένης, τῆς ἀγεννήτου καὶ

33.7.8 | And do not be troubled by this now, showing how from one beginning of all, being simple and stable and trusted by us, the unbegotten and incorruptible and good αφθάρτου καὶ ἀγαθῆς, συνέστησαν καὶ αὗται αἱ φύσεις, ἥ τε τῆς φθορᾶς καὶ <ῆ> τῆς ἀνομοούσιοι αὗται καθεστῶσαι, τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ φύσιν ἔχοντος τὰ ὅμοια ἑαυτῷ καὶ ὁμοούσια γεννᾶν τε καὶ προφέρειν.

one, these natures also came together again, both that of decay and those unlike it, having come to be, having the nature of the good, producing and offering what is like and similar to itself.

33.7.9 | μαθήσῃ γάρ, θεοῦ διδόντος, ἐξῆς καὶ τὴν τούτων ἀρχὴν τε καὶ γέννησιν, ἀξιουμένη τῆς ἀποστολικῆς παραδόσεως, ἐκ διαδοχῆς καὶ ἡμεῖς παρελήφαμεν μετὰ καὶ τοῦ κανονίσαι πάντας τοὺς λόγους τῇ τοῦ σωτῆρος ἡμῶν διδασκαλίᾳ.

33.7.9 | For you will learn, God giving, next both the beginning and birth of these, worthy of the apostolic tradition, from succession, and we also received it along with arranging all the words according to the teaching of our savior.

33.7.10 | ταῦτά σοι, ὦ ἀδελφὴ μου Φλώρα, δι' ὀλίγων εἰρημένα οὐκ ἡτόνησα καὶ τὸ τῆς συντομίας προέγραψα ἅμα τε τὸ προκείμενον ἀποκρώντως ἐξέφηνα, ἃ καὶ εἰς τὰ ἐξῆς τὰ μέγιστα σοι συμβαλεῖται, ἔάν Τε ὡς καλὴ γῆ καὶ ἀγαθὴ γονίμων σπερμάτων τυχοῦσα τὸν δι' αὐτῶν καρπὸν ἀναδείξῃς. Πρὸς Φλώραν ἐπληρώθη.

33.7.10 | These things to you, my sister Flora, spoken briefly, I did not tire, and I wrote the summary, and at the same time clearly explained what lies ahead, which will greatly help you, if you, like good and fertile land, show the fruit born through them. To Flora, it is finished.

Section 8

33.8.1 | 8. Τίς δὲ τούτων τῶν ῥημάτων καὶ τῆς τοῦ γόητος τούτου καὶ [τῆς] τῶν σὺν αὐτῷ ἀνέξεται φρενοβλαβείας, Πτολεμαίου δέ φημι καὶ τῶν ἀμφ' αὐτόν, εἰς τοσοῦτον κυκλώντων καὶ καττυόντων πλάσματα;

33.8.1 | But who of these words and of this magic and of the madness that comes with it will bear it? I say Ptolemy and those around him, who have been so caught up and crushed by these creatures.

33.8.2 | οὔτε γὰρ τῶν παλαιῶν τραγωδοποιῶν τις οὔτε οἱ καθεξῆς μιμητοὶ τὸν τρόπον, οἱ περὶ Φιλιστίωνα λέγω καὶ Διογένη τὸν τὰ ἄπιστα γράψαντα ἢ οἱ ἄλλοι πάντες οἱ τοὺς μύθους ἀναγεγραφότες καὶ ῥαψωδήσαντες,

33.8.2 | For neither any of the old tragedians nor the later imitators—those around Philistion and Diogenes who wrote unbelievable things, and all the others who wrote down myths and recited them—were able to stamp out so great a τοσοῦτον ψεῦδος ἡδυνήθησαν ἐκτυπῶσαι, falsehood.

33.8.3 | ὥς οὗτοι τολμηρῶς φερόμενοι κατὰ τῆς ἑαυτῶν ζωῆς δεινὰ ἑαυτοῖς κατεσκεύασαν καὶ τὸν νοῦν τῶν πειθομένων αὐτοῖς ἀνθρώπων εἰς μωρὰς ζητήσεις περιέβαλον καὶ γενεαλογίας ἀπεράντους,

33.8.3 | Since these, boldly acting against their own lives, made terrible traps for themselves and wrapped the minds of the people who believed them in foolish questions and endless family trees,

33.8.4 | αὐτοὶ τὰ ἐν χερσὶ μὴ ἐπιστάμενοι καὶ τὰ ἐπουράνια ἐπαγγελλόμενοι μέτροις τισὶν ὁροθετεῖν καὶ τινων μαιωτικῶν μητρῶν ὥς ἐπουρανίων, τῶν οὐκ οὐσῶν ὥς ὑπαρχουσῶν ἐπιστήμας ἀναδεχόμενοι.

33.8.4 | They themselves, not knowing what was in their hands, promised things from the heavens and tried to set limits with certain measures and some magical mothers as if they were heavenly, accepting knowledge of things that do not exist as if they do exist.

33.8.5 | ἀκούσας δέ τις παρὰ τούτων. εἰ μὲν τῶν ἀφρονεστάτων εἴη, τῷ ψεύδει νομίζων τι παρ' αὐτοῖς μετάρσιον ἐγνωκέναι ῥαδίως ὑπαχθήσεται »ὅτι πᾶν ὄρνεον κατὰ γένος συνάγεται, καὶ τῷ ὁμοίῳ κολληθήσεται ἀνήρ«, φησὶν ἡ γραφή·

33.8.5 | If someone heard this from them, if it came from the most foolish, thinking that he had learned something useful from their lies, he would easily be led astray: "Every bird is gathered by kind, and a man sticks to his own kind," the writing says.

33.8.6 | εἰ δέ τις περιτύχοι αὐτοῖς τῶν συνετῶν καὶ τὸν εὐλογον λογισμὸν κεκτημένων, καταγελάσει μὲν τῆς τοσαύτης γηρωδίας, ἀπ' αὐτῆς δὲ τῆς ὑποθέσεως τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς λεγομένων τὴν ἀνατροπὴν εἴσεται. ἐλέγχονται γὰρ οὗτοι παντάπασι, καθ' ἑαυτῶν ὀπλιζόμενοι τὰ ψεύδη τῆς αὐτῶν ματαιοπονίας.

33.8.6 | But if someone wise and reasonable happened upon them, he would laugh at such old-fashioned nonsense, and from their story he would see how it falls apart. For these people are completely proven wrong, as they arm themselves with the lies of their own foolishness.

33.8.7 | πόθεν γὰρ ὑμῖν, ὧ οὗτοι Πτολεμαῖοι τε καὶ Πτολεμαῖαι, τοῦ Βυθοῦ τὰ μέτρα καὶ αἱ μαιώσεις τῶν τοκετῶν καὶ

33.8.7 | Where, then, do you, Ptolemies and Ptolemaias, get the measures of the deep and the shortenings of births and the rules γεννητικῶν ὑποδέσεων ἢ γνῶσις; of generation knowledge?

33.8.8 | ὥς γὰρ παρόντες καὶ τῶν ἐπουρανίων τὰς φύσεις θεασάμενοι θεασάμενοι καὶ ὥς αὐτοῦ προόντες τοῦ παρ' ὑμῖν Βυθοῦ καλουμένου, ἐπαγγέλεσθε τὴν εἴδησιν ἡμῖν ὑποδεικνύναι,

33.8.8 | For since you are here, having looked at the natures of the heavens and also having looked at the very deep called by you the Abyss, you promise to show us the knowledge.

33.8.9 | οὐδενὸς πώποτε τῶν προφητῶν τοῦτο εἰρηκότος, οὐκ αὐτοῦ Μωυσέως οὐ τῶν πρὸ αὐτοῦ οὐ τῶν μετ' αὐτὸν οὐ τῶν εὐαγγελιστῶν οὐ τῶν ἀποστόλων, εἰ μὴ ἄρα τὰ ἐθνόμυθα ποιήματα εἴποις τῶν περὶ Ὅρφέα τε καὶ Ἡσίοδον καὶ Ἰκέσιον καὶ Στησίχορον, παρ' οἷς αἱ τῶν ἀνθρώπων γενεαὶ μετεποιήθησαν εἰς θεῶν ἐπωνυμίας καὶ τὰ ἐν ἀνθρώποις τετελεσμένα ποιητικῶς ἐδραματουργήθη.

33.8.9 | Never has any prophet said this, neither Moses himself nor those before him nor those after him nor the gospel writers nor the apostles, unless you mean the stories made up by the nations about Orpheus and Hesiod and Hikesios and Stesichorus, among whom the generations of men were changed into the names of gods, and what was done among men was acted out poetically.

33.8.10 | κάκεῖνοι γὰρ οὕτως ἐνόμισαν, ἐκθειάσαντες <τε> τοὺς περὶ Δία καὶ Ρέαν καὶ καὶ Ἀθηνᾶν καὶ Ἀπόλλωνα καὶ Ἀφροδίτην καὶ τὰς τούτων κακίας γονὰν τιμήσαντες, εἰς φαντασίαν πολυθεΐας καὶ εἰδωλολατρείας τὸν κόσμον ἐνέβαλον.

33.8.10 | For they thought this way, worshiping those around Zeus and Rhea and also Athena and Apollo and Aphrodite, and honoring the bad deeds of these, they threw the world into the imagination of many gods and idol worship.

33.8.11 | ἀλλὰ οὐκέτι μοι πολλή τις χρεια γενήσεται εἰς τὴν σοῦ, ὦ Πτολεμαῖε, ἀνατροπὴν τε καὶ ἔλεγχον καὶ τῶν κατὰ σέ, ἤδη τῶν σῶν προπατόρων τὸν ἔλεγχον ἱκανῶς εἰληφόντων. διὰ δὲ τῶν προειρημένων τὴν κατὰ σοῦ ἀσχύνην ἡμῶν μετριότητος, ὅπως τὴν παρ' ἐκάστῳ ἔθνει κακῶς ἐπινενοημένην ὑπόθεσιν

33.8.11 | But now I will not need much time for your refutation, O Ptolemy, nor for the proof against you, since I have already taken enough proof against your ancestors.
Through what has been said before, showing your shame, I will expose the error of the others, calling on god as helper of our modesty, so that I may reveal and defeat the badly made-up story among each nation, asking for favor from god because of my serious effort.

Section 9

33.9.1 | 9. Ἵνα δὲ μὴ ἀβασάνιστα ἦ τὰ τρία σου λεξειδία, ἃ δὴ πρὸς Φλώραν τὸ γύναιον ἐπιστέλλων ἐκομπάσω, <ώ> Πτολεμαῖε ἀεὶ αἱ ὀφιώδεις διδασκαλῖαι γυναικάρια σεσωρευμένα ἀμαρτίαις ἀπατῶσι, κατὰ τὸν τοῦ ἀποστόλου γόγον), καὶ] αὐτὰς δὴ τὰς λέξεις καιρίως ἐνταῦθα παραθέμενος, καὶ τὴν αὐτῶν ἀνατροπὴν, ἀναγκαίαν οὖσαν εἰς τὸ μὴ καταλειφθῆναι ρίζαν τῆς ζιζανιώδους σου σπορᾶς, ἐξῆς ἀκολουθῶς ποιήσομαι.

33.9.1 | So that your three little words are not without trouble, which indeed I boast about when sending them to Flora the woman, O Ptolemy, always the snake-like teachings, like women, piled up with sins, deceive, according to the apostle's complaint, and placing these very words here at the right time, and their refutation, which is necessary so that the root of your troublesome sowing is not left behind, I will do the following one after another.

33.9.2 | Φάσκεις γάρ, ὦ οὗτος, τὸν νόμον τριχῇ διηρῆσθαι καὶ τὸ μὲν ἔχειν τι ἐκ τοῦ θεοῦ, τὸ δὲ ἐκ Μωυσέως, τὸ δὲ ἐκ τῶν πρεσβυτέρων.

33.9.2 | For you say, O you, that the law is divided into three parts: one part comes from god, another from Moses, and another from the elders.

33.9.3 | καὶ ὅτι μὲν <ᾧπερ> ἐκ τῶν πρεσβυτέρων οἷε γεγραμμένον οὐκ ἔχεις που ἀποδειῖξαι, τοῦτό ἐστι σῆλον. οὐδαμοῦ γὰρ ἐν νόμῳ ἐμφέρονται αἱ τῶν πρεσβυτέρων παραδόσεις. ἀλλὰ ἀγνοῶν καὶ τὰς βίβλους καὶ τὴν ἀλήθειαν φαντάζει συκοφαντῶν καὶ τὰς ἀκολουθίας † ἀγνοῶν ἐκάστης ἀκριβοῦς εἰδήσεως.

33.9.3 | And that what you think comes from the elders you have nowhere shown to be written down, that is a trick. For nowhere in the law are the traditions of the elders included. But, not knowing the books or the truth, you make a false show and, not knowing the exact details of each part, you follow blindly.

33.9.4 | αἱ γὰρ παραθήσεις τῶν πρεσβυτέρων δευτερώσεις παρὰ τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις λέγονται. εἰσὶ δὲ αὗται τέσσαρες· μία μὲν ἢ εἰς ὄνομα Μωυσέως φερομένη, δευτέρα δὲ ἢ τοῦ καλουμένου Ραββὶ Ἀκίβα, τρίτη Ἀδδᾶ ἦτοι Ἰούδα, τετάρτη τῶν υἱῶν Ἀσαμωναίου. ἐπεὶ ποῦ ἔχεις, φιλόνηκε καὶ

33.9.4 | For the traditions of the elders among the Jews are called “second things.” There are four of these: one is said to come from Moses’ name, the second from the one called Rabbi Akiba, the third from Adda, that is Judas, and the fourth from the sons of Asmonaeus. So where do you have this, ἀκατάστατε τὴν γνώμην.

you quarrelsome and confused mind?

33.9.5 | δεῖξαι ἐν ταῖς πέντε βιβλοῖς τῆς πεντατεύχου καὶ θεοῦ νομοθεσίας ὅτι ἐρρήθη ὁ λόγος ὁ παρὰ τῷ σωτῆρι εἰρημένος > ἐρεῖ τῷ πατρὶ αὐτοῦ κορβάν ὃ ἐστὶ δῶρον, οὐκ ὠφελήθησεται τι ἐξ αὐτοῦ;

33.9.5 | Show in the five books of the Pentateuch and God's law that the word said by the savior, "He will say to his father, 'Corban,' which means gift, nothing will be gained from it," was spoken.

33.9.6 | ἀλλὰ οὐχ ἔχεις δεῖξαι. ἄρα γοῦν ἐξέπεσέ σου ὁ λόγος, τοῦ ῥήματος οὐσαμοῦ ἐν τῇ πεντατεύχῳ ἐμφορομένου.

33.9.6 | But you do not have it to show. So then, your word has fallen away, being a saying brought from the Pentateuch.

33.9.7 | καὶ μάτην τὴν ὑπὸ σοῦ ἡπατημένην Φλώραν ἀφάντασας τὰ δὲ ὑπὸ Μωυσέως * οὐκ ἐκτὸς τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ αὐτὰ ἐνομοθετήθη, ἀλλὰ ἐκ τοῦ θεοῦ διὰ Μωυσέως, ὃ καὶ ἐξ αὐτῆς τῆς τοῦ σωτῆρος ἐπικρίσεως δέικνυται. αὐτὰς γὰρ ἅς παρήγαγες μαρτυρίας κατὰ σαυτοῦ ἐπισυνήγαγες.

33.9.7 | And in vain you have destroyed the deception made by you, Flora, but the things under Moses were not outside of God and were also established by law from God through Moses, which is also shown from the very judgment of the savior. For you gathered these as testimonies against yourself.

33.9.8 | φάσκει γὰρ ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ ὅτι »Μωυσῆς ἔγραψεν κατὰ τὴν σκληροκαρδίαν ὑμῶν«. ὃ δὲ ἔγραψε Μωυσῆς οὐκ ἐκτὸς βουλήσεως θεοῦ ἔγραψεν, ἀλλ' ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου ἐνομοθέτησε.

33.9.8 | For the lord says in the gospel, "Moses wrote because of your hard hearts." But Moses wrote not outside the will of God; he wrote, rather, from the holy spirit he established the law.

33.9.9 | γέγει γὰρ ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ »ὃ ὁ θεὸς ἀυνέζευξεν, ἄνθρωπος μὴ χωριζέτω«. καὶ πῶς συνέζευξεν, διεξῆλθεν * τὸ ῥῆμα ἵνα μάθωμεν λέγων »ἀντὶ τούτου καταλείψει ἄνθρωπος τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῦ καὶ τὴν μητέρα αὐτοῦ καὶ κολληθήσεται τῇ γυναικὶ αὐτοῦ, καὶ ἔσονται οἱ δύο εἷς

33.9.9 | For the lord says in the gospel, "What God has joined together, let no man separate." And how he joined them, the word went through so that we might learn, saying, "Instead of this, a man will leave his father and his mother and will cling to his wife, and the two will be one flesh."

σάρκα μίαν».

33.9.10 | εἶτα ἐπιφέρει λέγων »ὃ οὖν ὁ θεὸς συνέζευξεν, ἄνθρωπος μὴ χωριζέτω· καίτοι γε οὐδαμοῦ τοῦ κυρίου τοῦτο εἰρηκότος, ὁπηνίκα τὸν Ἀδὰμ καὶ τὴν Εὕαν ἔπλασεν ἢ μόνον »ποιήσωμεν αὐτῷ κατ' αὐτὸν βοηθόν».

33.9.10 | Then he adds, saying, “Therefore what God has joined together, let no man separate.” And yet the lord never said this when he made Adam and Eve, or only said, “Let us make a helper for him like himself.”

33.9.11 | ἀλλὰ τοῦτο ὑπὸ τοῦ Ἀδὰμ εἴρηται, ὅτε ἀνέστη ἐκ τοῦ ὕπνου καὶ εἶπεν »τοῦτο τοῦτο νῦν ὅστοῦν ἐκ τῶν ὀστέων μου καὶ σὰρξ ἐκ τῆς σαρκός μου· αὕτη κληθήσεται γυνὴ ὅτι ἐκ τοῦ ἀνδρὸς αὐτῆς ἐλήφθη αὕτη»· εἶτά φησιν »ἀντὶ τούτου καταλείψει ἄνθρωπος τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῦ καὶ τὴν μητέρα αὐτοῦ, καὶ κολληθήσεται τῇ γυναικὶ αὐτοῦ, καὶ ἔσονται οἱ δύο εἰς σάρκα μίαν·

33.9.11 | But this was said by Adam, when he woke from sleep and said, “This now is bone from my bones and flesh from my flesh; she will be called woman because she was taken from man.” Then he says, “Instead of this, a man will leave his father and his mother, and will cling to his wife, and the two will be one flesh.”

33.9.12 | οὐ τοῦ θεοῦ τοίνυν τοῦτο εἰπόντος, τοῦ δὲ Ἀδὰμ εἰρηκότος, τοῦ κυρίου δὲ ἐπιμαρτυροῦντος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ θεοῦ εἶναι τὸ ῥῆμα τὸ διὰ τοῦ Ἀδὰμ εἰρημένον, ἀπ' αὐτῆς τῆς ὑποδέσεως ἔδειξεν, ὅτι ἐκεῖ μὲν Ἀδὰμ εἴρηκεν θεοῦ δὲ βουλήσει ἐφθέγγετο καὶ ὥδε ὁ Μωυσῆς ἐνομοθέτησεν θεοῦ αὐτῷ καταγγείλαντος τὴν νομοθεσίαν. καὶ αὗται μὲν ἤδη αἱ δύο σου λέξεις διέπεσον, καὶ οὐ πόρρωθεν, ἀλλὰ ἀπ' αὐτῆς τῆς χρήσεως.

33.9.12 | Not because God said this, but because Adam said it, and the lord confirmed in the gospel that the word spoken through Adam is from God, he showed from this very example that Adam spoke by God's will. And here Moses also made the law, announcing it as given by God to him. And these two words of yours have already fallen, not far off, but from this very use.

33.9.13 | καὶ ὅτι μὲν νομοθεσία θεοῦ ἔστιν, τοῦτο δῆλον. πανταχοῦ δὲ θεὸς νομοθετεῖ τὰ μὲν εἰς χρόνους, τὰ δὲ εἰς τύπους, τὰ δὲ εἰς ἀποκάλυψιν τῶν μελλόντων ἔσεσθαι ἀγαθῶν, ὧν ἐλθὼν ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστὸς ἔδειξε τὴν πληρῶσιν ἐν τῷ

33.9.13 | And that it is God's law is clear. Everywhere God makes laws—some for times, some as signs, and some to reveal the good things that will come, which our lord Jesus Christ showed fulfilled in the gospel when he came.

εὐαγγελίῳ.

Section 10

33.10.1 | 10. Τὰ δὲ τῆς παρὰ σοὶ ἐτέρας θεῶν διαιρέσεως τριχῇ πάλιν διαιρεθείσης ἐπαναλαβὼν καὶ αὐτὰ δείξω παρὰ σοὶ σεσυκοφαντημένα καὶ οὐκ ἄλλο τι ὄν ἄλλὰ γόητος τὸ ἔργον.

33.10.1 | And about the threefold division of gods you have, once divided again, I will take it up and show it to you as slandered by you, and nothing else but the work of a sorcerer.

33.10.2 | ποῖος γὰρ ἡμῖν τρίτος θεὸς πάρεστιν, ἐκ δύο συσταθεὶς ὁμοιωμάτων καὶ οὐθ' ἕτερον ὢν τῶν δύο, οὔτε τὴν κακίαν ἔχων καὶ ἀδικίαν ὡς ἔφης, οὔτε τὴν ἀγαθότητα καὶ φωτεινὴν οὐσίαν, μεσαίτατος δὲ ὢν δίκαιος;

33.10.2 | For what kind of third god is there for us, made from two similar ones and neither different from the two, neither having the evil and wrong as you said, nor the goodness and bright nature, but being in the middle and just?

33.10.3 | καὶ γὰρ ἀληθῶς ἀλλότριος ὢν πάσης δικαιοσύνης εἰκότως ἀγνοεῖς τί ποτέ ἐστι δικαιοσύνη, ἐτέραν αὐτὴν παρὰ τὴν ἀγαθότητα νομίζων. πολὺ δὲ ἐλεγχθήσῃ, ὡς ῥαδιουργὲ καὶ ἀλλότριε τῆς ἀληθείας· οὐδαμόθεν γὰρ γίνεται τὸ δίκαιον ἀλλ' ἐξ ἀγαθότητος καὶ οὐδὲ ἄλλως τις γενήσεται ἀγαθός, εἰ μὴ ἢ δίκαιος.

33.10.3 | And truly, being strange to all justice, you naturally do not know what justice is, thinking it is different from goodness. But you will be proven very wrong, you trickster and stranger to the truth; for justice never comes from anywhere except goodness, and no one will be good in any other way unless they are just.

33.10.4 | ὅθεν καὶ ὁ κύριος, ἐπαινῶν τὴν νομοθεσίαν καὶ τοὺς αὐτῆς δικαίους, ἔλεγεν »κοσμεῖτε τοὺς τάφους τῶν προφητῶν καὶ οἰκοδομεῖτε τὰ μνημεῖα τῶν δικαίων, καὶ οἱ πατέρες ὑμῶν ἀπέκτειναν αὐτούς«. πόθεν δὲ γεγονάσι προφῆται καὶ δίκαιοί ἀλλ' ἢ ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ πατρὸς ἀγαθότητος;

33.10.4 | And so the lord, praising the law and its just men, said, "You honor the graves of the prophets and build the monuments of the righteous, and your fathers killed them." But where did the prophets and the just come from, if not from the goodness of the father?

33.10.5 | καὶ ἵνα δείξῃ ὅτι ἐν τῷ μέρει τῆς

33.10.5 | And to show that the just man ἀγαθότητος ὁ δίκαιος ἔστηκεν, ἔλεγεν »ὅμοιοι γένεσθε τῷ πατρὶ ὑμῶν τῷ ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς, ὅτι ἀνατέλλει αὐτοῦ τὸν ἥλιον ἐπὶ ἀγαθοὺς καὶ πονηροὺς καὶ βρέχει ἐπὶ δικαίους καὶ ἀδίκους«, ἕνα δείξει τὸ δίκαιον ἀγαθὸν καὶ τὸ ἀγαθὸν δίκαιον καὶ τὸ πονηρὸν ἄδικον καὶ τὸ ἄδικον πονηρὸν.

stands in part of goodness, he said, “Be like your father in heaven, who makes the sun rise on the good and the bad, and sends rain on the just and the unjust,” showing that the just is good, and the good is just,
and the bad is unjust, and the unjust is bad.

33.10.6 | Τὴν δὲ ἐπιπλοκὴν ἣν ἔφη τοῦ νόμου οὐ δύνασαι ἀποδείξει. ἐάγῃς γὰρ συκοφαντῶν τὸν νόμον, ἐπιπλοκὴν τινα αὐτῷ προσάπτων, διὰ τὸ εἰρηκέναι τὸν νόμον »ὀφθαλμὸν ἀντὶ ὀφθαλμοῦ καὶ ὀδόντα ἀντὶ ὀδόντος« καὶ ἐπειδὴ φονεύει ὁ νόμος τὸν φονευτήν.

33.10.6 | But you cannot prove the complication you said about the law. For you falsely accuse the law, adding some complication to it, because the law says “an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth,” and since the law kills the killer.

33.10.7 | ἀλλὰ ἐξ αὐτῆς τῆς τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ πραγματείας δειχθήσεται ὅτι οὐκ ἐπιπλοκὴ τις ἦν, ἀλλ’ ἡ αὐτὴ ἦν νομοθεσία καὶ τὸ αὐτὸ ἐνεργεῖ. τῇ ὑπὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος εἰρημένη ἐντολῇ ὅτι »ἐάν τίς σε τυπτησῇ εἰς τὴν δεξιὰν σιαγώνα, στρέψον αὐτῷ καὶ τὴν ἄλλην«.

33.10.7 | But from the very teaching of our lord Jesus Christ, it will be shown that there was no complication, but the same law and the same thing is at work. In the command given by the savior, “If someone strikes you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also.”

33.10.8 | καὶ ὁ νόμος πάλαι τοῦτο κατεσκεύαζε λέγων »ὀφθαλμὸν ἀντὶ ὀφθαλμοῦ, τουτέστιν »στρέψον αὐτῷ τὴν σιαγώνα«. ἵνα γὰρ διαφύγοι ἅ πάθοι ἂν εἰ πλήξει, παρεῖκε τὴν σιαγώνα τῷ τύπτοντι, εἰδὼς ὅτι εἰ ἀφέλοι ὀφθαλμόν. τὰ αὐτὰ πείσεται διὰ τὸν νόμον.

33.10.8 | For even the law long ago made this rule, saying “an eye for an eye,” that is, “turn to him the cheek.” For so that he might avoid suffering if he is struck, he lets the cheek be struck, knowing that if he took away an eye, the same thing would happen because of the law.

Section 11

33.11.1 | 11. Ὡς γὰρ ὁ πατὴρ βούλεται παιδεύειν τὰ τέκνα καὶ ἐκάστη ἡλικία ἄρμοζόμενος προβαίνει τῇ παιδείᾳ, καὶ οὐκ ἴσως τὸ μικρὸν βρέφος παιδεύει τῷ

33.11.1 | For just as the father wants to teach the children and moves forward with teaching fitting each age, so the little baby does not teach the boy, nor the boy in the μειρακίῳ οὐδὲ τὸ μειράκιον ὡσαύτως τῷ νεανίσκῳ οὐδὲ τὸν νεανίαν τῷ τελείῳ ἀνδρί,

same way the young man, nor the young man the full-grown man,

33.11.2 | ἀλλὰ τῷ μὲν ὑποτιθίῳ διὰ δακτύλου παιδεία γίνεται, παιδίῳ δὲ μείζονι διὰ χειρὸς ῥαπίσματος, μειρακίῳ δὲ διὰ ἱμάντος, νεανίσκῳ διὰ ῥάβδου, ἀνθρὶ δὲ ἐκδίκησις τῶν μειζόνων παραπτωμάτων μαχαίρᾳ διὰ νόμου, οὕτως καὶ ὁ κύριος ἐξῆς ἐνομοθέτει ἐκάστη γενεᾷ τὰ ἀρμόζοντα.

33.11.2 | but for the little child, teaching is done by a finger; for the bigger child, by the hand with a slap; for the boy, by a strap; for the young man, by a rod; and for the man, punishment for greater offenses by the sword according to the law. In this way, the lord rightly sets the proper things for each generation by law.

33.11.3 | ἐκείνους μὲν γὰρ φόβῳ ἐσωφρόνιζεν, ὡς παιδίῳ μικροῖς διαλεγόμενος καὶ ἀγνοοῦσι τὴν δύναμιν τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος, τοὺς δὲ τελείους τελείων ἡξίου μυστηρίων.

33.11.3 | For he disciplined those with fear, as when talking to small children who do not know the power of the holy spirit, but he made the perfect worthy of perfect mysteries.

33.11.4 | ρίων. καὶ ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ γὰρ οὕτω πως λέγει τοῖς μαθηταῖς ἐν πολλοῖς τόποις «οὐκ οἶδατε τί ποιῶ, ὕστερον δὲ γνώσεσθε», τουτέστιν ὅταν τέλειοι γένησθε· καὶ πάλιν «οὐκ ᾔδεισαν, ἕως ἀνέστη ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν».

33.11.4 | And in the gospel, he says to the disciples in many places, “you do not know what I am doing, but later you will understand,” meaning when you become perfect; and again, “they did not understand until he rose from the dead.”

33.11.5 | ὁ δὲ Παῦλος «οὐπω γὰρ ἠδύνασθε, ἀλλ’ οὐδὲ ἔτι δύνασθε», δεικνὺς ὅτι καιρῶν προϊόντων τελειότεραι ἐντολαί, οὔσαι μὲν αἱ αὐταί, μεταβαλλόμεναι δὲ εἰς ἐτέραν σχέσιν, ἀλλὰ τοῖς νέοις μὲν ἄλλως σκηματιζόμεναι, ἐτέρως δὲ τοῖς ἐντελεστέροις.

33.11.5 | But Paul says, “for you were not yet able, and now you are no longer able,” showing that with the passing of time the commandments become more perfect, being the same but changing into a different form, shaped one way for the young, and another way for the mature.

33.11.6 | νομόθετήσας γὰρ ὁ νόμος «ὀφθαλμὸν ἀντὶ ὀφθαλμοῦ» οὐκ εἶπεν

33.11.6 | For the law, having set the rule “an eye for an eye,” did not say to them, αὐτοῖς, ἐκβάλετε ὀφθαλμὸν ἀντὶ ὀφθαλμοῦ, ἀλλ’ ἐὰν ἐκβάλῃ τις ὀφθαλμόν, ἐκβληθήσεται ὁ ὀφθαλμὸς τοῦ ἐκβαλόντος· ἕκαστος δὲ φειδόμενος τοῦ ἰδίου σώματος παρεδίδου τὴν σιαγόνα τύπτεσθαι καὶ οὐκ ἔτυπτε.

“throw out an eye for an eye,” but if someone throws out an eye, the eye of the one who threw it out will be thrown out; and each, sparing his own body, would let his cheek be struck and did not strike back.

33.11.7 | καὶ ἀπὸ τότε ἐφυλάττετο τὰ νῦν ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ τηλαυγῶς ἐξηρημένα, τότε μὲν ἀνάγκη ὡς νέων σωφρονιζομένων, νῦν δὲ προαιρέσει ἅτε δὴ τελείων τειθομένων.

33.11.7 | And from that time, what is now clearly laid out in the gospel was guarded: then by necessity, as young people were being taught self-control; now by choice, since they are being made perfect.

33.11.8 | But if you say this is a puzzle, the saying “an eye for an eye” and “the murderer must be killed,” look, we also see about the day of judgment the savior saying “for his master will come” — and he was speaking about himself, being the master of all — and he says “and he will cut the servant in two and will put his part with the unbelievers.”

33.11.9 | οὐκοῦν καὶ κατὰ τοῦ σωτῆρος ἐξοπλίσῃ συκοφαντῶν πάλιν ῥήματα καὶ εἴποις ἂν τοῦτον μὴ εἶναι ἀγαθὸν καίτοι γε ἐκ πατρὸς ἀγαθοῦ γεγεννημένον καὶ ἀγαθὸν ὄντα), ἀλλὰ δίκαιον καὶ οὐθ’] ἕτερον παρὰ τὸν πατέρα.

33.11.9 | So then, you are arming slanderers against the savior again with words and sayings, and you might say he is not good (even though he was born from a good father and is good), but just and not different from the father.

33.11.10 | δύνασαι ἄρα καὶ αὐτὸν ἀπαλλοτριοῦν τῆς τοῦ πατρὸς οὐσίας, ὡς οὗτος, ὁ προελθὼν ἡμῖν πάλιν διαιρέτης καὶ γεωμέτρης τῶν νόμων, τριχῶς τὰ πάντα διαιρῶν.

33.11.10 | So you can even take away from him the nature of the father, oh you, who came before us again as a divider and measurer of the laws, dividing everything in three ways.

33.11.11 | καὶ τῷ μὲν εἰπεῖν ὅτι εἰς τύπους συμβολικῶς τινα ἐν τῷ νόμῳ γέγραπται, ὀλίγα παρήψω τῆς ἀληθείας, ἵνα διὰ τῶν ὀλίγων δυνηθῇς καὶ εἰς τὰ ἄλλα ἀπατῆσαι.

33.11.11 | And to say that some things are written in the law as symbolic types, I will leave out a little of the truth, so that through the little you might also be able to deceive about the other things.

33.11.12 | καὶ γὰρ τῷ ὄντι »ἐκεῖνοις τυπικῶς συνέβαινεν, ἐγγράφη δὲ ἡμῖν εἰς νουθεσίαν, εἰς οὓς τὰ τέλη τῶν αἰώνων κατήντησεν«, > φησιν ὁ ἀγιώτατος ἀπόστολος, περὶ τε περιτομῆς λέγων καὶ σαββάτου καὶ τῶν ἄλλων.

33.11.12 | And indeed, »to those things it happened as a type, but it was written for us as a warning, to whom the ends of the ages have come,« says the most holy apostle, speaking about circumcision and the Sabbath and the others.

33.11.13 | εἴθε δὲ τὰ πάντα ἡλήθευες καὶ οὐκέτι τρίτον μέσον θεὸν τὸν μὴ ὄντα ἔφερες ἡμῖν, μᾶλλον δὲ σαυτῷ καὶ τοῖς ὑπὸ σοῦ ἡπατημένοις.

33.11.13 | If only you were truly honest about everything and no longer brought to us a third middle god who does not exist, but rather to yourself and to those deceived by you.

Section 12

33.12.1 | 12. Νομίζω δὲ καὶ ἐν τῷ παρόντι ἱκανῶς πρὸς τὰς σου λέξεις, ὧ ἀγύρτα, εἰρησθαι, ὧν ποιήσας τὸν ἔλεγχον ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς αἱρέσεις βαδιοῦμαι, τὸν αὐτὸν θεὸν συνήθως ἐπικαλούμενος ἐπικουρῆσαι τῇ ἡμῶν μετριότητι εἰς τὸ φωρᾶσαι ἐκάστης αἱρέσεως παραπεποιημένης τὸν ἔλεγχον.

33.12.1 | But I think that even now enough has been said against your words, o trickster, since you made the proof and I go on to the next heresies, usually calling on the same god to help our modesty to expose the fault of each heresy.

33.12.2 | ὅτι μὲν γὰρ συρίγμασιν ἑαυτοῦ, ὡς ἀπὸ θαλάσσης ἀνελθὼν καραρίας καὶ ἔχιδναν προκαλούμενος, τὴν Φλώραν διὰ τῶν γραμμάτων αὐτὴν τε καὶ ἄλλους σὺν αὐτῇ ἡπάτησεν, δέδεικατι ἐν τοῖς εἰρημένοις· ἐν δὲ τῇ

33.12.2 | For indeed, by the hissing of himself, as if coming up from the sea a sea snake and provoking a viper, he deceived Flora through the letters, both her and others with her, as I have shown in what has been said; and in the...

33.12.3 | τῆς ἀληθείας σαγήνη ἥς τὸ αἶνιγμα ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ βασιλείαν οὐρανῶν ἀπεφάνηατο ἐνειλήσαντες καὶ τῶν πονηρῶν ἰχθύων ἵνα ὄντα αὐτὸν ἐλέγξαντες τῷ τὰ μοχθηρὰ ῥήματα αὐτοῦ φωρατὰ ποιῆσαι, τῇ τῆς ἀληθοῦς πίστεως διδασκαλίᾳ ἡττήσαμεν.

33.12.3 | By the snare of truth, whose riddle the lord showed in the gospel the kingdom of heaven, wrapping it up and also of the evil fish, so that being it, we exposed him by his wicked words to make them visible, we were defeated by the teaching of true faith.

33.12.4 | ἐν τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ τοίνυν δυνάμει συντρίψαντες τοῦτον αὐτοὶ μὲν θεῷ εὐχαριστήσωμεν, ἐπὶ δὲ τὰς ἐξῆς ὁμοίως ὡς προεῖπον προέρχεσθαι ἐπιβαλόμεθα. |

33.12.4 | Therefore, by the power of god, having crushed him, let us give thanks to god ourselves, and let us go on to the following things in the same way as I said before.

Book 34

Section 1

34.1.1 | Μάρκος δέ τις, ἀφ' οὗπερ οἱ Μαρκῶσιοι καλούμενοι, ἀπὸ τούτων ὀρμώμενος καὶ ἕτερα παρὰ τούτους τολμήσας κακὰ τῷ κόσμῳ ἐξήμεσε· τούτους γὰρ διαδέχεται τοὺς περὶ Σεκοῦνδον καὶ Ἐπιφάνη καὶ Πτολεμαῖον καὶ Οὐαλεντίνον, εἰς περισσοτέραν δὲ ἀγυρτώδη συνάθροισιν ἐπήρθη.

34.1.1 | But a certain Mark, from whom those called Markosians come, starting from these things and daring other bad things from them, stirred up trouble for the world; for these follow after those around Secundus and Epiphanes and Ptolemy and Valentinus, and he rose up into a larger, more deceitful gathering.

34.1.2 | γύναια γὰρ καὶ ἄνδρας παρ' αὐτοῦ πεπλανημένα τε καὶ πεπλανημένους ἐπηγάγετο, ὑποληφθεὶς ὁ ἐλεεινὸς διορθωτὴς εἶναι τῶν προειρημένων ἀπατεώνων, μαγικῆς ὑπάρχων κυβείας ἐμπειρότατος.

34.1.2 | For he led away women and men, both deceived and deceiving, being considered a miserable corrector of the previously mentioned deceivers, being very skilled in magic and dice-playing.

34.1.3 | ἀπατήσας δὲ τοὺς προειρημένους

34.1.3 | Having deceived all the ones πάντας καὶ τὰς προειρημένας προσέχειν αὐτῷ ὡς γνωστικωτάτῳ καὶ δύναμιν τὴν μεγίστην ἀπὸ τῶν ἀοράτων καὶ ἀκατονομάστων τόπων ἔχοντι, ὡς πρόδρομος ὢν ἀληθῶς τοῦ Ἀντιχρίστου ἀποδέδεικται.

mentioned before, and having them pay attention to him as the most knowing and having the greatest power from unseen and unnamed places, he has been shown truly to be the forerunner of the Antichrist.

34.1.4 | τὰ γὰρ Ἀναξιλᾶου παίγνια τῇ τῶν λεγομένων μάγων πανουργίᾳ συμμίξας, δι' αὐτῶν φαντάζων τε καὶ μαγεύων, εἰς ἔκπληξιν τοὺς ὁρῶντάς τε καὶ πειθομένους αὐτῷ περιέβαλεν, | ὡς καὶ οἱ αὐτοῦ αὐτοῦ ἔτι καὶ εἰς δεῦρο τοῦτο ἐπιτελοῦσιν.

34.1.4 | For mixing the tricks of Anaxilas with the cunning of the so-called magicians, through them he both showed illusions and performed magic, surrounding those who saw and believed him with amazement, as even his own people still do this up to now.

34.1.5 | οἱ δὲ τὰ ἀπὸ περιεργίας * ὁρῶντες δοκοῦσι δυνάμεις τινὰς ἐν χερσὶν αὐτοῦ ἐπιτελεῖσθαι καὶ τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς ταῦτα ποιοούντων.

34.1.5 | But those who see these things as tricks think that some powers are being done by his hands and by those who do these things near him.

34.1.6 | τὸν γὰρ νοῦν καὶ αὐτοὶ ἀπολέσαντες οὐχ ὁρῶσι, μὴ γινώσκοντες δοκιμάσαι, ὅτι ἀπὸ μαγείας ἢ σύστασις τοῦ παρ' αὐτοῦ παιγνίου ὡς ἔπος ἐπιτελεῖται. ἐπιτελεῖται. αὐτοὶ γὰρ ἐμβρόντητοι παντάπασι γεγόνασιν, ὑπαχθέντες κακῇ τινι ὑπονοίᾳ.

34.1.6 | For they themselves have lost their mind and do not see, not knowing to test, that the whole trick from him is done by magic, as one might say. They have become completely stunned, caught by some bad suspicion.

34.1.7 | φασὶ γὰρ τρία ποτήρια λευκῆς ὑάλου παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐτοιμάζεσθαι κεκραμένα λευκῷ οἴνῳ καὶ ἐν τῇ ἐπιτελουμένῃ παρ' αὐτοῦ ἐπώδῃ, τῇ νομιζομένῃ εὐχαριστίᾳ, μεταβάλλεσθαι εὐθύς, τὸ μὲν ἐρυθρὸν * ὡς αἷμα, τὸ δὲ πορφύρεον, τὸ δὲ κυάνεον.

34.1.7 | For they say that three cups of white glass are prepared by them, mixed with white wine, and in the spell performed by him, called a thanksgiving, they immediately change color: one to red like blood, another to purple, and the last to blue.

34.1.8 | Ἐγὼ τοίνυν ἵνα μὴ εἰς δεύτερον

34.1.8 | So then, to avoid tiring myself a κάματον ἑαυτὸν ἐπιδῶ, ἄρκεσθῆναι δεῖν ἡγησάμην τοῖς ἀπὸ τοῦ μακαριωτάτου καὶ ἁγιωτάτου Εἰργωαίου κατ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ Μάρκου καὶ τῶν ἐξ αὐτοῦ ὁρμωμένων πραγματευθεῖσιν, ἅτινα ἐνταῦθα πρὸς ἔπος ἐκθέσθαι ἐσπούδασα, καὶ ἔστιν τάδε. φάσκει γὰρ αὐτὸς Εἰργναῖος ὁ ἅγιος ἐν τῷ ὑποφαίνειν τὰ ὑπ' αὐτῶν γενόμενα, λέγων οὕτως· ΕΚ ΤΩΝ ΤΟΥ ΑΓΙΟΥ ΕΙΡΗΝΑΙΟΥ.

second time, I thought it enough to deal with the things from the most blessed and most holy Eirgwaeus, according to Mark himself and those who follow him, which I tried to set down here in order, and they are these. For Eirgnaeus the saint himself claims to reveal what happened under them, saying this: FROM SAINT EIRINAIOS.

Section 2

34.2.1 | Ποτήρια οἶνω κεκραμένα προσποιοῦμενος εὐχαριστεῖν καὶ ἐπὶ πλέον ἐκτείνων τὸν λόγον τῆς ἐπικλήσεως πορφύρεα καὶ ἐρυθρὰ ἀναφαίνεσθαι ποιεῖ, ὥς δοκεῖν τὴν ἀπὸ τῶν ὑπὲρ τὰ ὅλα Χάριν τὸ αἶμα τὸ ἑαυτῆς στάζειν ἐν τῷ ἐκείνου ποτηρίῳ διὰ τῆς ἐπικλήσεως αὐτοῦ καὶ ὑπεριμείρεσθαι τοὺς παρόντας ἐξ ἐκείνου γεύσασθαι τοῦ πόματος, ἵνα καὶ εἰς αὐτοὺς ἐπομβρήσῃ ἢ διὰ τοῦ μάγου τούτου κληζομένη Χάρις.

34.2.1 | Using cups mixed with wine, pretending to give thanks, and then stretching out the words of the call, he makes purple and red colors appear, as if the blood of Grace from above the heavens drips into his cup through his call, and those present are eager to taste the drink from it, so that the Grace praised through this magician might also pour down upon them.

34.2.2 | πάλιν δὲ γυναιξινέπιδους ἐκπόματα κεκραμένα αὐτὰς εὐχαριστεῖν ἐγκελεύεται παρεστῶτος τοῦ κεκομισμένον * ἐπιλέγων ἅμα οὕτως »ἢ πρὸ τῶν ὅλων,

34.2.2 | Again, giving drinks mixed for the women, he orders them to give thanks while he is present, adding at the same time, “the one before all things,

34.2.3 | ἡ ἀνεννόητος καὶ ἄρρητος Χάρις πληρώσαι σου τὸν ἔσω ἄνθρωπον καὶ πληθύναι ἐν σοὶ τὴν γνῶσιν αὐτῆς, ἐγκατασπείρουσα τὸν κόκκον τοῦ σινάπεως εἰς τὴν ἀγαθὴν γῆν».

34.2.3 | the unthought and unspeakable Grace, to fill your inner person and to grow within you the knowledge of it, sowing the mustard seed into the good earth.”

34.2.4 | καὶ τοιαῦτά τινα εἰπὼν καὶ ἐξοιστρήσας τὴν ταλαίπωρον θαυματοποιὸς ἀνεφάνη, τοῦ μεγάλου

34.2.4 | And having said such things and stirred up, the wretched wonder-worker appeared, filled from the large cup, so much πληρωθέντος ἐκ τοῦ μακροῦ ποτηρίου, ὥστε καὶ ὑπερεκχεῖσθαι ἐξ αὐτοῦ. καὶ ἄλλα τινὰ τούτοις παραπλήσια ποιῶν ἐξηπάτησε πολλοὺς καὶ ἀπαγέοχεν ὀπίσω αὐτοῦ.

that it even overflowed from it. And doing other things similar to these, he deceived many and led them away behind him.

34.2.5 | Εἰκὸς δὲ αὐτὸν καὶ δαίμονά τινα πάρεδρον ἔχειν, δι' οὗ αὐτὸς τε προφητεύειν δοκεῖ καὶ ὅσας ἀξίας ἡγεῖται <γενέσθαι> μετόχους τῆς χάριτος αὐτοῦ προφητεύειν ποιεῖ.

34.2.5 | It is likely that he has some kind of spirit as an assistant, through whom he himself seems to prophesy and makes those whom he thinks worthy to share in his grace also prophesy.

34.2.6 | μάλιστα γὰρ περὶ γυναῖκας ἀσχολεῖται καὶ τούτων τὰς εὐπαρύφους καὶ περιπορφύρους καὶ πλουσιωτάτας, ἃς πολλάκις ὑπάγεσθαι πειρώμενος, κολακεύων φησὶν αὐταῖς »μεταδοῦναί σοι θέλω τῆς ἐμῆς Χάριτος, ἐπειδὴ ὁ πατὴρ τῶν ὅλων τὸν ἄγγελόν σου διὰ παντὸς βλέπει πρὸ προσώπου αὐτοῦ. ὁ δὲ τόπος τοῦ Μεγέθους ἐν ἡμῖν ἐστί·

34.2.6 | For especially about women he busies himself, and those who are elegant, dressed in purple, and very rich, whom he often tries to lead away, flattering them he says, 'I want to share with you my Grace, since the father of all always watches your angel before his face. And the place of Greatness is in us.'

34.2.7 | δεῖ ἡμᾶς εἰς τὸ ἓν καταστῆναι. λάμβανε πρῶτον ἀπ' ἐμοῦ καὶ δι' ἐμοῦ τὴν Χάριν. εὐτρέπισον σεαυτὴν ὡς νύμφη ἐκδεχομένη τὸν νυμφίον ἑαυτῆς, ἵνα ἔσῃ ὃ ἐγὼ καὶ ἐγὼ ὁ σύ. καθίδρυσον ἐν τῷ ωυμφωνί σου τὸ σπέρμα τοῦ φωτός. λάβε παρ' ἐμοῦ τὸν νυμφίον καὶ χώρησον αὐτὸν καὶ χωρήθητι ἐν αὐτῷ. ἰδοὺ, ἡ Χάρις κατήλθεν ἐπὶ σέ· ἄνοιξον τὸ στόμα σου καὶ προφήτευσον».

34.2.7 | We must be made into one. First, receive from me and through me the Grace.
Make yourself glad like a bride waiting for her bridegroom, so that you will be what I am and I what you are. Plant in your bridechamber the seed of light. Take from me the bridegroom and welcome him, and be filled with him. Look, Grace has come down on you; open your mouth and prophesy.

34.2.8 | τῆς δὲ γυναικὸς ἀποκρινομένης »οὐ προεφήτευσα πώποτε καὶ οὐκ οἶδα προφητεύειν«, ἐπικλήσεις τινὰς ποιούμενος ἐκ δευτέρου εἰς κατάπληξιν τῆς ἀπατωμένης φησὶν αὐτῇ »ἄνοιξον τὸ στόμα σου <καὶ> λάλησον ὃ τι δήποτε

34.2.8 | But when the woman answered, 'I have never prophesied and I do not know how to prophesy,' making some calls again to amaze the deceived, he said to her, 'Open your mouth and speak whatever you want, καὶ προφητεύσεις».

and you will prophesy.'

34.2.9 | ἡ δὲ χαυνωθεῖσα καὶ κεπρωθεῖσα ὑπὸ τῶν προειρημένων, διαθερμανθεῖσα τὴν ψυχὴν ὑπὸ τῆς προσδοκίας τοῦ μέλλειν αὐτῆς προφητεύειν, τῆς καρδίας πλέον τοῦ δέοντος παλλούσης, ἀποτολμᾷ λαλεῖν ληρώδη καὶ τὰ τυχόντα,

34.2.9 | But the woman, ashamed and confused by what had been said, warmed in her soul by the hope of soon prophesying, with her heart beating more than it should, dared to speak foolish and random things,

34.2.10 | πάντα κενῶς καὶ τολμηρῶς, ἅτε ὑπὸ κενοῦ θερμομαμμένη πνεύματος (καθὼς ὁ κρείσσων ἡμῶν ἔφη περὶ τῶν τοιούτων <προφητῶν>, ὅτι τολμηρὸν καὶ ἀναιδὲς ψυχὴ κενῷ ἀέρι θερμαινόμενη)

34.2.10 | all empty and bold, as if warmed by empty spirit (just as our leader said about such prophets, that a bold and shameless soul is warmed by empty air)

34.2.11 | καὶ ἀπὸ τούτου λοιπὸν προφήτιδα ἑαυτὴν ὑπολαμβάνει καὶ εὐχαριστεῖ Μάρκῳ τῷ ἐπιδιδόντι τῆς ἰδίας χάριτος αὐτῇ καὶ ἀμείβεσθαι αὐτὸν πειρᾶται, οὐ μόνον κατὰ τὴν τῶν ὑπαρχόντων δόσιν (ὅθεν καὶ χρημάτων πλῆθος πολὺ συναγέοχεν), ἀλλὰ καὶ κατὰ τὴν τοῦ σώματος κοινωνίαν, κατὰ πάντα ἐνοῦσθαι αὐτῷ προθυμουμένη, ἵνα σὺν αὐτῷ κατέλθῃ εἰς τὸ ἕν.

34.2.11 | and from this time on she considers herself a prophetess and thanks Mark for giving her his favor, and tries to repay him, not only by the gifts she has (from which she gathered a great amount of money), but also by sharing her body, willing to be joined to him in every way, so that she may go down with him into oneness.

34.2.12 | Ἦδη δὲ τῶν πιστοτέρων τινὲς γυναικῶν τῶν ἔχουσῶν τὸν φόβον τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ μὴ ἐξαπατηθεῖσῶν, ἃς ὁμοίω; ταῖς λοιπαῖς ἐπετήδευσε παραπεῖθιν κελεύων αὐταῖς προφητεύειν, καὶ καταφυσήσασαι καὶ καταθεματίσασαι αὐτὸν ἐχωρίσθησαν τοῦ τοιούτου † θιάσου,

34.2.12 | and already some of the more faithful women who have the fear of god and are not deceived, whom did he try to persuade to prophesy like the others, and after breathing on them and cursing him, they separated themselves from such a group,

34.2.13 | ἀκριβῶς εἰδυῖαι ὅτι προφητεύειν οὐχ ὑπὸ Μάρκου τοῦ μάγος ἐγγίνεται τοῖς

34.2.13 | they know exactly that prophesying does not come to people from άνθρωποις, ἀλλ οἷς ἂν ὁ θεὸς ἄνωθεν ἐπιπέμῃ τὴν χάριν αὐτοῦ, οὗτοι θεόσδοτον ἔχουσι τὴν προφητείαν καὶ τότε λαλοῦσιν ἔνθα καὶ ὁπότε θεὸς βούλεται, ἀλλ' οὐχ ὅτε Μάρκος κελεύει.

Mark the magician, but to those whom god from above sends his grace, these have god-given prophecy and then they speak where and when god wants, but not when Mark commands.

34.2.14 | for the one who commands is greater and more powerful, since the greater leads and the lesser is subject. if then Mark or someone else commands, as they are used to at the dinners where these always play and urge each other to prophesy and to predict for their own desires, the one commanding would be greater and more powerful than the prophetic spirit, being a human, which is impossible.

34.2.15 | ἀλλὰ τοιαῦτα κελευόμενα ὑπ' αὐτῶν πνεύματα καὶ λαλοῦντα, ὁπότε βούλονται αὐτοί, ἐπίγεια καὶ ἀδρανῆ ἐστι, τολμηρὰ δὲ καὶ ἀναιδῆ, ὑπὸ τοῦ Σατανᾶ ἐκπεμπόμενα πρὸς ἐξαπάτησιν καὶ ἀπώλειαν τῶν μὴ εὖτονον τὴν πίστιν ἦν ἀπ' ἀρχῆς διὰ τῆς ἐκκλησίας παρέλαβον φυλασσόντων.

34.2.15 | but such spirits, commanded by them and speaking whenever they want, are earthly and inactive, bold and shameless, sent by Satan to deceive and destroy those who do not keep strong the faith they received from the beginning through the church.

Section 3

34.3.1 | 3. Ὅτι δὲ φίλτρα καὶ ἀγώγιμα πρὸς τὸ καὶ τοῖς σώμασιν αὐτῶν ἐνυβρίζειν ἐμποιεῖ οὗτος ὁ Μάρκος ἐνίαις τῶν γυναικῶν, εἰ καὶ μὴ πάσαις, αὗται πολλάκις ἐπιστρέψασαι εἰς τὴν ἐκκλησίαν τοῦ θεοῦ ἐξωμολογήσαντο, καὶ κατὰ τὸ σῶμα ἠχρεῖωσθαι ὑπ' αὐτοῦ καὶ ἐρωτικῶς πάνυ αὐτὸν πεφιληκέναι·

34.3.1 | 3. But that Mark uses love potions and charms to harm even their bodies, some of the women, though not all, after turning back many times to God's church, have confessed this, and said that their bodies were harmed by him and that they loved him very much in a sexual way;

34.3.2 | ὥστε καὶ διάκονόν τινα τῶν ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ τῶν] ἡμετέρων ὑποδεξάμενον αὐτὸν εἰς τὸν οἶκον αὐτοῦ περιπεσεῖν ταύτῃ τῇ συμφορᾷ, τῆς γυναικὸς αὐτοῦ εὐειδοῦς ὑπαρχούσης καὶ τὴν γνώμην καὶ τὸ σῶμα διαφθαρείσης ὑπὸ τοῦ μάγου τούτου καὶ ἑξακολουθησάσης αὐτῷ πολλῷ χρόνῳ·

34.3.2 | so that even a certain servant of ours in Asia, having welcomed him into his house, fell into this trouble, his wife being beautiful and having her mind and body corrupted by this magician, and she stayed with him for a long time;

34.3.3 | ἔπειτα μετὰ πολλοῦ κόπου τῶν ἀδελφῶν ἐπιστρεψάντων αὐτήν, τὸν ἅπαντα χρόνον ἑξομολογουμένη διετέλεσε, πενθοῦσα καὶ θρηνοῦσα ἐφ' ἧ ἔπαθεν ὑπὸ τοῦ μάγου διαφθορᾷ.

34.3.3 | then, after much effort by the brothers who turned her back, she spent the whole time confessing, mourning and crying over what she suffered from the magician's corruption.

34.3.4 | Καὶ μαθηταὶ δὲ αὐτοῦ τινες περιπολίζοντες ἐν τοῖς αὐτοῖς, ἑξαπατῶντες γυναικάρια πολλὰ διέφθειραν, τελείους ἑαυτοὺς ἀναγορεύοντες, ὡς μηδενὸς δυναμένου ἐξισωθῆναι τῷ μεγέθει τῆς γνώσεως αὐτῶν, μηδ' ἂν Παῦλον μηδ' ἂν Πέτρον εἵπης μηδ' ἄλλον τινὰ τῶν ἀποστόλων,

34.3.4 | and some of his followers going around in the same places, deceiving many women, corrupted them, calling themselves perfect, as if no one could be equal to the greatness of their knowledge, not even Paul or Peter or any other of the apostles,

34.3.5 | ἀλλὰ πλείω πάντων > ἐγνωκέναι καὶ τὸ μέγεθος τῆς γνώσεως τῆς ἀρρήτου δυνάμεως μόνους καταπεπωκέναι, εἶναι τε αὐτοὺς ἐν ὕψει ὑπὲρ πᾶσαν δύναμιν.

34.3.5 | but greater than all, they claimed to have known and to have been the only ones filled with the greatness of knowledge of the unspeakable power, and to be exalted above all power.

34.3.6 | διὸ καὶ ἐλευθέρως πάντα πράσσειν, μηδένα ἐν μηδενὶ φόβον ἔχοντας. διὰ γὰρ τὴν ἀπολύτρωσιν ἀκρατήτους <τε> καὶ ἀοράτους τῷ κριτῇ. εἴ δὲ καὶ ἐπιδόξασκεν αὐτῶν, παραστάντες αὐτῷ μετὰ τῆς ἀπολυτρώσεως | τάδε εἶποιεν· »ὦ πάρεδρε θεοῦ καὶ μυστικῆς πρὸ αἰώνων Σιγῆς, † ἦν τὰ Μεγέθη διὰ παντὸς βλέποντα τὸ πρόσωπον τοῦ Πατρός, ὁδηγῶ σοὶ καὶ

34.3.6 | therefore they also act freely in all things, having no fear of anyone in anything. for because of the redemption, they are uncontrolled and unseen by the judge. and he might seize them, standing beside him with the redemption, they would say these things: "O attendant of god and secret silence before the ages, who always sees the face of the Father, guiding and leading you, they pull up their forms, which that bold one imagined and set before us for the good of the Forefather, the images then as a reminder of the things above, as if in a dream — behold the judge is near and the herald calls me to defend myself;

34.3.8 | σὺ δέ, ὡς ἐπισταμένη τὰ ἀμφοτέρων, τὸν ὑπὲρ ἀμφοτέρων ἡμῶν λόγον ὡς ἓνα ὄντα τῷ κριτῇ παράστησον·

34.3.8 | but you, since you know about both, present the word about the one above both of us as one to the judge.

34.3.9 | ἡ δὲ Μήτηρ ταχέως ἀκούσασα τούτων τὴν Ὀμηρικὴν Ἄϊδος κυνέην αὐτοῖς περιέθηκε πρὸς τὸ ἀοράτως ἐκφυγεῖν τὸν κριτὴν καὶ παραχρῆμα ἀνασπάσασα αὐτοὺς εἰς τὸν νυμφῶνα εἰσήγαγε καὶ ἀπέδωκε τοῖς ἐκυτῶν νομφίας.

34.3.9 | but the Mother, quickly hearing these things, put on them the Homeric helmet of Hades to escape the judge unseen, and immediately pulling them up, she led them into the bridal chamber and gave them back to those who were pregnant with the bridal gift.

34.3.10 | Τοιαῦτα δὴ λέγοντες καὶ πράττοντες καὶ ἐν τοῖς καθ' ἡμᾶς κλίμασι τῆς Ῥοδανουσίας πολλὰς ἐξηπατήκασιν γυναῖκας, αἵτινες κεκαυτηριασμέναι τὴν ταύτην ἔχουσαι τὴν ἐπικαρπίαν τοῦ σπέρματος τῶν τέκνων τῆς γνώσεως.

34.3.10 | Saying and doing such things, they have deceived many women in the regions of the Rhodanousia near us, women who, their conscience burned, some openly confess, but others, ashamed, have completely turned away; some are unsure and suffer the fate of the proverb, being neither outside nor inside, having this fruit of the seed of the children of knowledge.

Section 4

34.4.1 | Οὗτος οὐ > Μάρκος μήτρان καὶ ἐκδοχεῖον τῆς Κολορβάσου Σιγῆς αὐτὸν μονώτατον γεγονέναι λέγων, ἅτε μονογενὴς ὑπάρχων, αὐτὸ τὸ τοῦ

34.4.1 | This man, not Mark, saying that he himself alone is the womb and vessel of Colorbasus Silence, being only one of a kind, thus the thing of Lack was somehow Ὑστερηματος <οὖν ὁ> κατατεθὲν εἰς αὐτὸν ὧδέ πως ἀπεκύησεν.

deposited in him and was born.

34.4.2 | αὐτὴν τὴν πανυπερτάτην ἀπὸ τῶν ἀοράτων καὶ ἀκατονομάστων τόπων τετράδα κατεληλυθῆναι σχήματι γυναικείῳ πρὸς αὐτὸν (ἐπειδὴ, φησί, τὸ ἄρρεν ὁ κόσμος φέρειν οὐκ ἠδύνατο) καὶ μηνῦσαι αὐτήν, τίς ἦν, καὶ τὴν τῶν πάντων γένεσιν, ἣν οὐδενὶ πώποτε οὐδὲ θεῶν οὐδὲ ἀνθρώπων ἀπεκάλυψε, τοῦτω μονωτάτῳ διηγήσασθαι οὕτως εἰποῦσαν·

34.4.2 | She herself, the highest of all, having come down from invisible and unnamed places in the form of a woman to him (because, she says, the world could not bear a male), to reveal herself, who she was, and the birth of all, which no god or human had ever revealed to anyone, to this one alone she told it, saying this:

34.4.3 | ὅτε τὸ πρῶτον ὁ Πατήρ, οὗ οὐκ ἔστιν > οὐδεὶς, ὁ ἀνεννόητος καὶ ἀνούσιος, ὁ μήτε ἄρρεν μήτε θῆλυ, ἠθέλησεν αὐτοῦ τὸ ἄρρητον ῥητὸν γενέσθαι καὶ τὸ ἀόρατον μορφωθῆναι, ἥνοιξε τὸ στόμα καὶ προήκατο λόγον ὅμοιον αὐτῷ· ὃς παραστὰς ὑπέδειξεν αὐτῷ ὃ ἦν, αὐτὸς τοῦ ἀοράτου μορφὴ φανείς.

34.4.3 | When at first the Father, of whom no one exists, the unthought and meaningless one, neither male nor female, wished that his unspoken become spoken and the invisible take form, he opened his mouth and brought forth a word like himself; who standing beside him showed him what he was, himself appearing as the form of the invisible.

34.4.4 | ἡ δὲ ἐκφώνησις τοῦ ὀνόματος καὶ ἦν ἡ συλλαβὴ αὐτοῦ στοιχείων τεσσάρων. ἐπισυνῆψεν <τε> τὴν δευτέραν, καὶ ἦν καὶ αὕτη στοιχείων ἑξῆς ἐλάλησε τὴν τρίτην, καὶ ἦν [καὶ] αὕτη στοιχείων δέκα. καὶ τὴν μετὰ ταῦτα ἐλάλησε καὶ ἦν [καὶ] αὕτη στοιχείων δεκαδύο. οὖν ἡ ἐκφώνησις τοῦ ὅλου ὀνόματος στοιχείων μὲν τριάκοντα, συλλαβῶν δὲ τεσσάρων.

34.4.4 | And the speaking of the name was like this: she spoke the first word of his name, which was the beginning, and it was a syllable of four elements. She added the second, and it also was of six elements. She spoke the third, and it also was of ten elements. And after these she spoke another, and it also was of twelve elements.
So the speaking of the whole name was thirty elements, and four syllables.

34.4.5 | ἕκαστον Τε τῶν στοιχείων ἴδια γράμματα καὶ ἴδιον χαραχτῆρα καὶ ἰδίαν

34.4.5 | Each of the elements has its own letters and its own mark and its own way of ἐκφώνησιν καὶ σχήματα καὶ εἰκόνας ἔχειν καὶ μηδὲν αὐτῶν εἶναι, ὃ τὴν ἐκείνου καθορᾷ μορφήν, οὐπὲρ αὐτὸ στοιχεῖόν ἐστίν· ἀλλὰ οὐδὲ γινώσκειν † αὐτόν, οὐδὲ μὴν τοῦ πλησίον αὐτοῦ ἕκαστον ἐκφώνησιν γινώσκειν, ἀλλὰ ὃ † αὐτὸς ἐκφωνεῖ, ὡς τὸ πᾶς ἐκφωνοῦντα τὸ ὅλον ἡγεῖσθαι ὀνομάζειν.

speaking and shapes and images, and none of them is what sees the form of that one, whose element it is; but it does not even know him, nor does it know the speaking of each one near him, but only what he himself speaks, as if the one who speaks all together calls the whole name.

34.4.6 | ἕκαστον γὰρ αὐτῶν μέρος ὄν τοῦ ὅλου τὸν ἴδιον ἦχον ὡς τὸ πᾶν ὀνομάζειν καὶ μὴ παύσασθαι ἡχοῦντα, μέχρις ὅτου ἐπὶ τὸ ἔσχατον γράμμα τοῦ ἐσχάτου στοιχείου μονογλωσσήσαντα καταντήσαι.

34.4.6 | For each of them, being a part of the whole, names its own sound as the whole, and does not stop sounding until it reaches the last letter of the last element, speaking with one voice.

34.4.7 | τότε δὲ καὶ τὴν ἀποκατάστασιν τῶν ὅλων ἔφη γενέσθαι, ὅταν τὰ πάντα κατελθόντα εἰς τὸ ἓν γράμμα μίαν καὶ τὴν αὐτὴν ἐκφώνησιν ἡχήσῃ· ἥς ἐκφωνήσεως εἰκόνα τὸ ἀμὴν ὁμοῦ λεγόντων ἡμῶν ὑπέθετο εἶναι. τοὺς δὲ φθόγγους ὑπάρχειν τοὺς μορφοῦντας τὸν ἀνούσιον καὶ ἀγέννητον Αἰῶνα· καὶ εἶναι τούτους μορφάς, αἵς ὁ κύριος ἀγγέλους εἴρηκε, τὰς διηνεκῶς βλεπούσας τὸ πρόσωπον τοῦ πατρός.

34.4.7 | Then he said that the restoration of all happens when everything comes down into one letter and sounds one and the same way; the image of this sound he supposed to be the “amen” that we say together. And the sounds exist that shape the meaningless and unbegotten Age; and these are the forms that the lord called angels, who always look at the face of the father.

34.4.8 | Τὰ δὲ ὀνόματα τῶν στοιχείων τὰ κοινὰ καὶ ῥητὰ Αἰῶνας καὶ λόγους καὶ ῥίζας καὶ σπέρματα καὶ πληρώματα καὶ καρποὺς ὠνόμασε, τὰ δὲ καθ’ ἓνα αὐτῶν καὶ ἐκάστου ἕδια ἐν τῷ ὀνόματι τῆς ἐκκλησίας ἐμπεριεχόμενα νοεῖσθαι ἔφη.

34.4.8 | He said that the common and clear names of the elements are Ages and words and roots and seeds and fullness and fruits, and that the parts of each one of them are to be understood as contained in the name of the church.

34.4.9 | ὧν στοιχείων τοῦ <ἐσχάτου> στοιχείου τὸ ὕστερον γράμμα φωνὴν προήκατο τὴν αὐτοῦ· οὗ <ὁ> ἦχος ἐξελθὼν κατ’ εἰκόνα τῶν στοιχείων

34.4.9 | Of these elements, the last letter of the last element gave its own sound; from this sound, going out, according to the image of the elements, it produced its own στοιχεῖα ἴδια ἐγέννησεν· ἐξ ὧν τὰ τε ἐνταῦθα διακεκοσμήσθαι φησι καὶ τὰ πρὸ τούτων γεγενῆσθαι.

elements; from these, he says, both those here were arranged and those born before them.

34.4.10 | τὸ μέντοι γράμμα αὐτό, οὗ ὁ ἦχος ἦν συνεπακολουθῶν τῷ ἦχῳ κάτω, ὑπὸ τῆς συλλαβῆς τῆς ἑαυτοῦ ἀνελήφθαι ἄνω λέγει, εἰς ἀναπλήρωσιν τοῦ ὕλου· μεμενηκέναι δὲ εἰς τὰ κάτω τὸν ἦχον, ὥσπερ ἔξω ριφέντα.

34.4.10 | But the letter itself, whose sound was following the sound below, he says was taken up above by the syllable of itself, to fill up the matter; and the sound stayed below, as if thrown outside.

34.4.11 | τὸ δὲ στοιχεῖον αὐτό, ἀφ' οὗ τὸ γράμμα σὺν τῇ ἐκφωνήσει τῇ ἑαυτοῦ συγκατῆλθε κάτω, [5] γραμμάτων εἶναι φησι τριάκοντα καὶ ἓν ἕκαστον τῶν τριάκοντα γραμμάτων ἐν ἑαυτῷ ἔχειν ἕτερα γράμματα, δι' ὧν τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ γράμματος ὀνομάζεται·

34.4.11 | But the element itself, from which the letter together with its utterance went down below, he says there are thirty-one letters, and each of the thirty has other letters within it, through which the name of the letter is named.

34.4.12 | καὶ αὖ πάλιν τὰ ἕτερα δι' ἄλλων ὀνομάζεσθαι γραμμάτων καὶ τὰ ἄλλα δι' ἄλλων, ὥς εἰς ἄπειρον ἐκπίπτειν τὸ πλῆθος τῶν γραμμάτων. οὕτω δ' ἂν σαφέστερον μάθοις τὸ λεγόμενον·

34.4.12 | And again, the other letters are named through other letters, and the others through others, so that the number of letters falls away into infinity. In this way, you would learn more clearly what is being said.

Section 5

34.5.1 | Τὸ δέλτα στοιχεῖον γράμματα ἐν ἑαυτῷ ἔχει πέντε, αὐτό τε τὸ δέλτα καὶ τὸ ε καὶ τὸ λάμβδα καὶ τὸ ταῦ καὶ τὸ ἄλφα, καὶ ταῦτα πάλιν τὰ γράμματα δι' ἄλλων γράφεται γραμμάτων καὶ τὰ ἄλλα δι' ἄλλων,

34.5.1 | The element delta has five letters in itself: delta itself, and epsilon, and lambda, and tau, and alpha. And these letters again are written through other letters, and the others through others.

34.5.2 | εἰ οὖν ἡ πᾶσα ὑπόστασις τοῦ δέλτα εἰς ἄπειρον ἐκπίπτει, αἰεὶ ἄλλων ἄλλα

34.5.2 | If then the whole being of delta falls away into infinity, always producing and γράμματα γεννώντων καὶ διαδεχομένων ἄλληλα, πόσῳ μᾶλλον ἐκείνου τοῦ στοιχείου μείζον εἶναι τὸ πέλαγος τῶν γραμμάτων;

following other letters one after another, how much greater than that element must the sea of letters be?

34.5.3 | καὶ εἰ τὸ ἐν γράμμα οὕτως ἄπειρον, ὅρα ὅλου τοῦ ὀνόματος τὸν βυθὸν τῶν γραμμάτων, ἐξ ὧν τὸν Προπάτορα ἢ Μάρκου Σιγῇ συνεστάναι ἐδογμάτισε.

34.5.3 | And if one letter is so infinite, see the depth of all the name of letters, from which the silence of Mark was said to have come forth as the ancestor.

34.5.4 | διὸ καὶ τὸν Πατέρα ἐπιστάμενον τὸ ἀχώρητον αὐτοῦ δεδοκέναι τοῖς στοιχείοις, ἃ καὶ Αἰῶνας καλεῖ, ἐνὶ ἐκάστῳ αὐτῶν τὴν ἰδίαν ἐκφώνησιν ἐκβοᾶν, διὰ τὸ μὴ δύνασθαι ἓνα τὸ ὅλον ἐκφωνεῖν.

34.5.4 | Therefore, the Father, knowing his uncontainable nature, gave it to the elements, which he also calls Aeons, each one of them shouting out its own special sound, because the whole could not be spoken by one alone.

34.5.5 | Ταῦτα δὲ σαφηνίσασαν αὐτῷ τὴν Τετρακτὺν εἰπεῖν· θέλω δὴ σοὶ καὶ αὐτὴν ἐπιδεῖξαι τὴν Ἀλήθειαν. κατήγαγον γὰρ αὐτὸν ἐκ τῶν ὑπερθεῶν δωμάτων, ἵν' ἐσίδῃς αὐτὴν γυμνὴν καὶ καταμάθῃς τὸ κάμ αὐτῆς, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀκούῃς αὐτῆς λαλούσης καὶ θαυμάσῃς τὸ φρόνιμον αὐτῆς.

34.5.5 | After making these things clear to him, he said to speak the Tetractys: 'I want to show you the Truth itself. For I have brought it down from the upper rooms, so that you may see it naked and learn its secret, but also hear it speaking and wonder at its wisdom.'

34.5.6 | ὅρα οὖν κεφαλὴν ἄνω, τὸ α καὶ τὸ ω, τράχηλον δὲ β καὶ ψ, ὦμους ἄμα χερσὶν γ καὶ χ, στήθη δ καὶ φ, διάφραγμα ε καὶ υ, κοιλίαν ζ καὶ τ, αἰδοῖα η καὶ σ, μηροὺς θ καὶ ρ, γόνατα ι καὶ π, κνήμας κ καὶ ο, σφυρὰ λ καὶ ξ, πόδας μ καὶ ν. τοῦτό ἐστι τὸ σῶμα τῆς κατὰ τὸν μάγον Ἀληθείας, τοῦτο τὸ σχῆμα τοῦ στοιχείου, οὗτος ὁ χαρακτήρ τοῦ γράμματος.

34.5.6 | Look then, the head above, alpha and omega; the neck, beta and psi; the shoulders together, gamma and chi; the chest, omicron and phi; the diaphragm, epsilon and upsilon; the belly, zeta and tau;
the private parts, eta and sigma; the thighs, theta and rho; the knees, iota and pi; the shins, kappa and omicron; the ankles, lambda and xi; the feet, mu and nu. This is the body of Truth according to the magician, this is the shape of the element, this is the mark of the letter.

34.5.7 | καὶ καλεῖ τὸ στοιχεῖον τοῦτο Ἄνθρωπον· εἶναί τε πηγὴν φησιν αὐτὸ παντὸς λόγου καὶ ἀρχὴν πάσης φωνῆς καὶ παντὸς ἀρρήτου ῥῆσιν καὶ τῆς σιωπωμένης Σιγῆς στόμα.

34.5.7 | And he calls this element Man; and he says it is the source of every word, the beginning of every sound, every unspeakable speech, and the mouth of silent Silence.

34.5.8 | καὶ τοῦτο μὲν τὸ σῶμα αὐτῆς· σὺ δὲ μετάρσιον ἐγελθρας το > διανοίας νόημα τὸν αὐτογεννήτορα καὶ πατροδότορα λόγον ἀπὸ στομάτων Ἀληθείας ἄκουσ.

34.5.8 | And this is its body; but you, the inward thought of the mind, hear the self-born and father-giving word from the mouths of Truth.

Section 6

34.6.1 | 6. Ταῦτα δὲ ταύτης εἰπούσης, προσβλέψασαν αὐτῷ τὴν Ἀλήθειαν καὶ ἀνοίξασαν τὸ στόμα λαλῆσαι λόγον· τὸν δὲ λόγον ὄνομα γενέσθαι καὶ τὸ ὄνομα τοῦτο εἶναι, ὃ γινώσκομεν καὶ λαλοῦμεν, Χριστὸν Ἰησοῦν· ὃ καὶ ὀνομάσασαν αὐτὴν παραυτίκα σιωπῆσαι.

34.6.1 | 6. And when Truth said these things, they looked up at her and opened their mouth to speak a word; and the word became a name, and this name is what we know and speak, Christ Jesus; and when they named her, they immediately fell silent.

34.6.2 | προσδοκῶντος δὲ τοῦ Μάρκου πλεῖόν τι μέλλειν αὐτὴν λέγειν, πάλιν ἡ Τετρακτὺς παρελθοῦσα εἰς τὸ μέσον φησὶν·

34.6.2 | And as Mark was expecting her to say a little more, the Tetractys came forward again into the middle and said:

34.6.3 | ὥς εὐκαταφρόνητον ἡγήσω τὸν λόγον, ὃν ἀπὸ στομάτων τῆς Ἀληθείας ἤκουσας. οὐ τοῦθ' ὕπερ οἶδας καὶ δοκεῖς >· πάλαι, ἐστὶν ὄνομα· φωνὴν γὰρ μόνον ἔχεις αὐτοῦ, τὴν δὲ δύναμιν ἀγνοεῖς.

34.6.3 | As if I would think little of the word you heard from the mouth of Truth. You do not know or think this is old; it is a name. For it has only a sound, but you do not know its power.

34.6.4 | Ἰησοῦς μὲν τὰρ ἐστὶν ἐπίσημον ὄνομα ἕξ ἔχον γράμματα, ὑπὸ πάντων τῶν

34.6.4 | Jesus is a well-known name with six letters, known by all who call it; but the τῆς κλήσεως γινωσκόμενον· τὸ δὲ παρὰ τοῖς Αἰῶσι τοῦ Πληρώματος, πολυμερὲς τυγχάνον, ἄλλης ἐστὶν μορφῆς καὶ ἐτέρου τύπου, γινωσκόμενον ὑπ' ἐκείνων τῶν συγγενῶν, ὧν τὰ Μεγέθη παρ' αὐτῷ ἐστι διὰ παντός.

one among the Aeons of the Fullness, which is many-formed, is of a different shape and another kind, known by those relatives, whose Sizes are always with it.

34.6.5 | Ταῦτ' οὖν τὰ παρ' ὑμῖν εἰκοσιτέσσαρα γράμματα ἀπορροίας ὑπάρχειν γίνωσκε τῶν τριῶν δυνάμεων εἰκονικὰς τῶν περιεχουσῶν τὸν ὅλον τῶν ἄνω στοιχείων ἀριθμόν.

34.6.5 | These, then, twenty-four letters among you are images of the outflow of the three powers, containing the whole number of the upper elements.

34.6.6 | τὰ με) γὰρ ἄφωνα γράμματα ἐννέα νόμισον εἶναι τοῦ Πατρὸς καὶ τῆς Ἀληθείας διὰ τὸ ἀφώνους αὐτοὺς εἶναι τουτέστιν ἀρρήτους καὶ ἀνεκλαλήτους·

34.6.6 | For the nine silent letters think of them as belonging to the Father and Truth because they are silent, that is, unspoken and beyond speech.

34.6.7 | τὰ δὲ ἡμίφωνα, ὀκτὼ ὄντα, τοῦ Λόγου καὶ τῆς Ζωῆς, διὰ τὸ μέσα ὥσπερ ὑπάρχειν τῶν τε ἀφώνων καὶ τῶν φωνήεντων καὶ ἀναδέχεσθαι τῶν μὲν ὑπερθεῖν τὴν ἀπόρροιν, τῷ δ' ὑπ' αὐτὰ τὴν ἀναφορὰν·

34.6.7 | And the eight half-voiced letters belong to the Word and Life, because they stand in the middle like a link between the silent and the voiced letters, receiving the outflow from above and sending it back below.

34.6.8 | τὰ δὲ φωνήεντα καὶ αὐτὰ ἐπτὰ ὄντα, τοῦ Ἀνθρώπου καὶ τῆς Ἐκκλησίας, ἐπεὶ διὰ τοῦ Ἀνθρώπου & φωνὴ προελοῦσα ἐμόρφωσε τὰ ὅλα. ὁ γὰρ ἦχος τῆς φωνῆς μορφήν αὐτοῖς περιεποίησεν.

34.6.8 | And the seven vowels, also being seven, belong to the Human and the Church, because through the Human the voice, bringing sound, shaped all things. For the sound of the voice gave form to them.

34.6.9 | ἔστιν & μὲν Λόγος ἔχων καὶ ἡ Ζωὴ τὰ ὀκτώ, ὁ δὲ Ἄνθρωπος καὶ ἡ Ἐκκλησία τὰ ἐπτὰ, ὁ δὲ Πατὴρ καὶ ἡ Ἀλήθεια τὰ ἐννέα.

34.6.9 | The Word and Life have the eight, the Human and the Church have the seven, and the Father and Truth have the nine.

34.6.10 | ἐπὶ Τε τοῦ ὑστερήσαντος λόγου ὁ ἀφεδρασθεὶς ἐν τῷ Πατρὶ κατήλθεν, ἐκπεμφθεὶς ἐπὶ τὸν ἀφ' οὗ ἔχωρίσθη ἐπὶ διορθώσει τῶν πραχθέντων, ἵνα ἡ τῶν πληρωμάτων ἐνότης ἰσότητα ἔχουσα καρποφορῇ μίαν ἐν πᾶσι τὴν ἐκ πάντων δύναμιν.

34.6.10 | Upon the T of the lacking word, the one having been set free in the Father went down, sent out to the one from whom it was separated, for the correction of what was done, so that the unity of the fullness, having equality, may bear one fruit in all, the power from all.

34.6.11 | καὶ οὕτως ὁ τῶν ἑπτὰ τὴν τῶν ὀκτὼ ἐκομίσατο δύναμιν καὶ ἐγένοντο οἱ ὅμοιοι τοῖς ἀριθμοῖς, ὀγδοάδες ὄντες, οἵτινες τρίς ἐφ' ἑαυτοὺς ἐλθόντες τὸν τῶν εἰκοσιτεσσάρων ἀνέδειξαν ἀριθμόν.

34.6.11 | And so the one of the seven took the power of the eight, and the places became like the numbers, being groups of eight, which coming three times upon themselves showed the number of twenty-four.

34.6.12 | τὰ μέντοι τρία στοιχεῖα, ἃ φησιν αὐτὸς τῶν τριῶν ἐν συζυγίᾳ δυνάμεων ὑπάρχειν, ἃ ἐστὶν ἕξ, ἀφ' ὧν ἀπερρῦη τὰ εἰκοσιτέσσαρα στοιχεῖα, τετραπλασιασθέντα τῷ τῆς ἀρρήτου τετράδος λόγῳ τὸν αὐτὸν αὐτοῖς ἀριθμὸν ποιεῖ, ἅπερ φησὶν τοῦ ἀνονομάστου ὑπάρχειν.

34.6.12 | But the three elements, which he says exist among the three paired powers, are six, from which the twenty-four elements flow, multiplied by the reason of the ineffable fourfold, making the same number for them, which he says belongs to the unnamed one.

34.6.13 | φορεῖσθαι δὲ αὐτὰ ὑπὸ τῶν τριῶν δυνάμεων εἰς ὁμοιότητα τοῦ ἀοράτου, ὧν στοιχείων εἰκόνας εἰκόνων τὰ παρ' ἡμῶν διπλᾶ γράμματα ὑπάρχειν, ἃ συναριθμούμενα τοῖς εἰκοσιτέσσαρσι στοιχείοις δυνάμει τῇ κατὰ ἀναλογίαν ὁ τῶν τριάκοντα ποιεῖ ἀριθμόν.

34.6.13 | They are carried by the three powers into the likeness of the invisible, whose elements' images are the double letters we have, which, counted with the twenty-four elements, by power according to proportion make the number of thirty.

34.7.1 | 7. Τούτου τοῦ λόγου καὶ τῆς οἰκονομίας ταύτης καρπὸν φησιν ἐν

34.7.3 | He said that man was made on the sixth day, and the arrangement is in the sixth day, which is the preparation, showing the last man as the rebirth of the first man, whose arrangement has a beginning and an end and is the sixth hour, in which he was nailed to the wood.

34.7.4 | τὸν γὰρ τέλειον Νοῦν, ἐπιστάμενον τὸν τῶν ἕξ ἀριθμόν, δύναμιν ποιήσεως καὶ ἀναγεννήσεως ἔχοντα, φανερωῶσαι τοῖς υἱοῖς τοῦ φωτὸς τὴν διὰ τοῦ φανέντος ἐπίσημος ἀριθμὸς συγκερασθεὶς τοῖς εἰκοσιτέσσαρσι στοιχείοις τὸ τριακονταγράμματον ὄνομα ἀπετέλεσεν.

34.7.4 | For the perfect Mind, knowing the number six, having the power of making and rebirth, to show to the sons of light the rebirth made through the revealed sign upon him. From this also the double letters have the marked number, he says. For the marked number mixed with the twenty-four elements made the thirty-letter name.

34.7.5 | Κέχρηται δὲ διακόνῳ τῷ τῶν ἑπτὰ ἀριθμῶν μεγέθει, ὡς φησιν ἡ Μάρκου Σιγή, ἵνα τῆς αὐτοβουλήτου βουλῆς φανερωθῇ ὁ καρπός. τὸν μέντοι ἐπίσημον τοῦτον ἀριθμόν ἐπὶ τοῦ παρόντος, φησί, τὸν ἐπὶ

34.7.5 | He used a servant of the size of the seven numbers, as Markos Sigē says, so that the fruit of the self-willed plan might be revealed. But this marked number, he says, formed on the present one, understand it as

τοῦ ἐπισήμου μορφωθέντα νόησον τὸν ὥσπερ μερισθέντα ἢ διχοτομηθέντα καὶ ἔξω μείναντα, ὅς τῃ ἑαυτοῦ δυνάμει τε καὶ φρονήσει διὰ τῆς ἀπ’ αὐτοῦ προβολῆς τοῦτον | τὸν τῶν ἐπτὰ δυνάμεων κατὰ μίμησιν τῆς ἐβδομάδος D228 δυνάμεως ἐψύχωσε κόσμον καὶ ψυχὴν ἔθετο εἶναι τοῦ ὁρωμένου παντός.

divided or cut in two and remaining outside, who by his own power and thought through his own projection gave life to this world and made it a soul according to the imitation of the sevenfold power of the week.

34.7.6 | κέχρηται οὖν καὶ αὐτὸς οὗτος τῷδε τῷ ἔργῳ ὡς αὐθαιρέτως ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ γενομένῳ, τὰ δὲ διακονεῖ, μιμήματα ὄντα τῷ ἀμιμήτῳ, τὴν Ἐνθύμησιν τῆς Μητρὸς.

34.7.6 | Therefore, he himself has also used this work, as something made by himself without permission, and the things serving are copies of the uncopyable, the Thought of the Mother.

34.7.7 | And the first heaven speaks the alpha, but the one after it the epsilon, and the third the eta, the fourth and middle of the seven voices the iota power, the fifth the omicron, the sixth the upsilon, and the seventh and fourth from the middle shouts the omega element, just as Markos Sigē, who babbles much but says nothing true, assures.

34.7.8 | αἵτινες δυνάμεις ὁμοῦ, φησί, πᾶσαι εἰς ἀλλήλας συμπλακεῖσαι ἡχοῦσι καὶ δοξάζουσιν ἐκεῖνον ὑφ’ οὗ προεβλήθησαν, ἡ δὲ δόξα τῆς ἡχῆς ἀναπέμπεται εἰς τὸν Προπάτορα. ταύτης μέντοι τῆς δοξολογίας τὸν ἦχον εἰς τὴν γῆν φερόμενόν φησι πλάστην γενέσθαι καὶ γεννήτορα τῶν ἐπὶ τῆς τῆς γῆς.

34.7.8 | These powers, he says, all joined together sound and praise the one from whom they came forth, and the praise of the sound is sent up to the Forefather. But he says that the sound of this praise, carried down to the earth, became the creator and father of those on the earth.

34.7.9 | Τε ἀπόδειξιν φέρει ἀπὸ τῶν ἄρτι γεννωμένων βρεφῶν, ὧν ἡ ψυχὴ ἅμα τῷ ἐκ μήτρας προελθεῖν ἐπιβοᾷ ἐνδὸς ἐκάστου τῶν στοιχείων τούτων τὸν ἦχον. καθὼς

34.7.9 | He brings proof from newborn babies, whose soul at the same time as coming from the womb calls out the sound of each one of these elements. Just as the οὗν αἱ ἑπτὰ, φησί, δυνάμεις δοξάζουσι τὸν Λόγον, οὕτως καὶ ἡ ψυχὴ ἐν τοῖς βρέφεσι κλαίουσα καὶ θρηνοῦσα * Μάρκον δοξάζει αὐτόν.

seven powers praise the Word, so also the soul in the babies, crying and mourning, praises Markos.

34.7.10 | διὰ τοῦτο δὲ καὶ τὸν Δαυὶδ εἰρηκέναι »ἐκ στόματος νηπίων καὶ θηλαζόντων κατηρτίσω αἶνον«, καὶ πάλιν »οἱ οὐρανοὶ διηγοῦνται δόξαν θεοῦ«· καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἔν τε πόνοις καὶ ταλαιπωρίαις ψυχὴ γενομένη, εἰς διωλισμὸν αὐτῆς, ἐπιφωνεῖ τὸ ω εἰς σημεῖον αἰνέσεως, ἵνα γνωρίσασα ἢ ἄνω ψυχὴ τὸ συγγενὲς αὐτῆς βοηθὸν αὐτῇ καταπέμψῃ.

34.7.10 | For this reason, David also said, “From the mouths of infants and nursing babies I will prepare praise,” and again, “The heavens declare the glory of God.” And for this reason, the soul, becoming through toil and suffering, for its purification, cries out the omega as a sign of praise, so that the soul above, knowing its kind helper, may send help down to it.

34.8.1 | 8. Καὶ περὶ μὲν τοῦ παντὸς ὀνόματος, τριάκοντα ὄντος γραμμάτων τούτου, καὶ τοῦ Βυθοῦ, τοῦ αὖξοντος ἐκ τῶν τούτου γραμμάτων, ἔτι τε > τῆς Ἀληθείας σώματος δωδεκαμελοῦς ὄντος, ἐκάστου > ἐκ δύο γραμμάτων συνεστῶτος, καὶ τῆς δωνῆς αὐτῆς, ἣν προσωμίλησε <προσωμίλησε μὴ> προσομιλήσασα, καὶ περὶ τῆς ἐπιλύσεως τοῦ μὴ λαληθέντος ὀνόματος καὶ περὶ τῆς τοῦ κόσμου ψυχῆς καὶ ἀνθρώπου, καθὰ ἔχουσι τὴν κατ’ εἰκόνα οἰκονομίαν, οὕτως ἐλήρησεν.

34.8.1 | 8. And about the name of the whole, which has thirty letters, and about the Depth, which grows from these letters, and also about the body of Truth, which has twelve parts, each made up of two letters, and about its sound, which it spoke closely, and about the unlocking of the unspoken name, and about the soul of the world and of man, as they have their order according to the image, he has filled it out like this.

34.8.2 | ἔξῃς δὲ ὡς ἀπὸ τῶν ὀνομάτων ἰσάριθμον δύνανται ἐπέδειξεν ἡ Τετρακτὺς αὐτῷ ἀπαγγελοῦμεν, ἵνα μηδὲν λάθῃ σε τῷ εἰς ἡμᾶς ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ λεγομένων ἐληλυθότων, ἀγαπητέ, καθὼς πολλάκις ἀπήτησας παρ’ ἡμῶν.

34.8.2 | Next, the Tetractys showed him an equal power from the names, which we will recite to you, so that nothing escapes you from what has come to us said by him, dear one, as you have often asked from us.

34.8.3 | Οὕτως οὖν ἀπαγγέλλει ἡ πάνσοφος αὐτῶν Σιγὴ τὴν γένεσθιν τῶν εἰκοσιτεσσάρων στοιχείων· τῇ Μονότητι συνυπάρχειν ἐνότητα, ἐξ ᾧ δύο προβολαί, καθὰ προεῖρηται, Μονάς τε καὶ τὸ Ἔν, δις δύο οὔσαι τέσσαρες ἐγένοντο· δις γὰρ δύο τέσσαρες.

34.8.3 | So then, their all-wise Silence tells the origin of the twenty-four elements: unity exists together with Oneness, from which come two projections, as said before, the Monad and the One; twice two being four.

34.8.4 | καὶ πάλιν αἱ δύο καὶ τέσσαρες εἰς τὸ αὐτὸ συντεθεῖσαι τὸν τῶν ἕξ ἐφανερώσαν ἀριθμόν, οὗτοι δὲ οἱ ἕξ τετραπλασιασθέντες τὰς εἰκοσιτέσσαρας ἀπεκύησαν μορφάς.

34.8.4 | And again, the two and the four joined together revealed the number six, and these six, multiplied by four, gave birth to the forms of the twenty-four.

34.8.5 | καὶ τὰ με) τῆς πρώτης τετράδος ὀνόματα, ἅγια ἁγίων νοούμενα καὶ μὴ δυνάμενα λεχθῆναι, γινώσκεσθαι ὑπὸ μόνου τοῦ Υἱοῦ, ἃ ὁ Πατὴρ οὐδενίνα ἐστίν· τὰ δὲ σεμνῶς καὶ μετὰ πίστεως ὀνομαζόμενα παρ' αὐτῷ ἐστὶ ταῦτα· Ἄρρητος καὶ Σιγὴ, Πατὴρ τε καὶ Ἀλήθεια.

34.8.5 | And the names of the first four, holy of holies, understood and not able to be spoken, are known only by the Son, whom the Father does not know at all; but those reverently and faithfully named by him are these: Unspoken and Silence, Father and Truth.

34.8.6 | ταύτης δὲ τῆς τετράδος ὁ σύμπαρ ἀριθμός ἐστι στοιχείων εἰκοσιτεσσάρων. τὸ γὰρ Ἄρρητος ὄνομα γράμματα ἔχει ἐν ἑαυτῷ ἑπτὰ, ἡ δὲ Σιγὴ πέντε καὶ ὁ Πατὴρ πέντε καὶ ἡ Ἀλήθεια ἑπτὰ, ἃ συντεθέντα ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτό, τὰ δις πέντε καὶ δις ἑπτὰ, τὸν τῶν εἰκοσιτεσσάρων ἀριθμόν ἀνεπλήρωσεν.

34.8.6 | The whole number of this fourfold is twenty-four elements. For the name Unspoken has seven letters in itself, Silence five, Father five, and Truth seven; when these are added together, twice five and twice seven, they complete the number twenty-four.

34.8.7 | ὡσαύτως δὲ καὶ ἡ δευτέρα τετράς, Λόγος καὶ Ζωή, Ἄνθρωπος καὶ Ἐκκλησία, τὸν αὐτὸν ἀριθμόν τῶν στοιχείων ἀνέδειξαν.

34.8.7 | Likewise, the second fourfold, Word and Life, Man and Church, showed the same number of elements.

34.8.8 | καὶ τὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος δὲ ῥητὸν ὄνομα Ἰησοῦς γραμμάτων ὑπάρχειν ἕξ· τὸ δὲ ἄρρητον αὐτοῦ γραμμάτων εἰκοσιτεσσάρων· υἱὸς Χριστὸς γραμμάτων δώδεκα, τὸ δὲ ἐν Χριστῷ ἄρρητον γραμμάτων πριτάκοντα. καὶ διὰ τοῦτο φησιν αὐτὸν α καὶ ω, ἵνα τὴν περιστερὰν μηνύσῃ, τοῦτον ἔχοντος τὸν ἀριθμὸν τούτου τοῦ ὀρνέου.

34.8.8 | And the Savior's spoken name, Jesus, has six letters; but his unspoken name has twenty-four letters. Son Christ has twelve letters, but the unspoken in Christ has fifty. And for this reason, he is called alpha and omega, to show the dove, having the number of this bird.

Section 9

34.9.1 | 9. Ὁ δὲ Ἰησοῦς ταύτην ἔχει, φησί, τὴν ἄρρητον γένεσιν. ἀπὸ γὰρ τῆς Μητρὸς τῶν ὅλων, τῆς πρώτης τετράδος, ἐν θυγατρὸς τόπῳ προῆλθεν ἡ δευτέρα τετράς καὶ ἐγένετο ὀγδοάς, ἐξ ἧς προῆλθεν δεκάς. οὕτως ἐγένετο δεκάς καὶ ὀγδοάς.

34.9.1 | Jesus has, he says, this unspoken origin. For from the Mother of all, the first fourfold, the second fourfold came forth in the place of a daughter and became an eighth, from which a tenth came forth. Thus, the tenth and the eighth came to be.

34.9.2 | ἡ οὖν δεκάς ἐπισυνελθοῦσα τῇ ὀγδοάδι καὶ δεκαπλασίονα αὐτὴν ποιήσασα τὸν τῶν ὀγδοήκοντα προεβίβασεν ἀριθμὸν, καὶ τὰ ὀγδοήκοντα πάλιν δεκαπλασιάσασα τὸν τῶν ὀκτακοσίων ἀριθμὸν ἐγέννησεν, ὥστε τὸν ἅπαντα τῶν γραμμάτων ἀριθμὸν ἀπὸ ὀγδοάδος εἰς δεκάδα προελθόντα ς καὶ ς καὶ ς, ὃ ἐστὶν Ἰησοῦς.

34.9.2 | So the tenth, having come together with the eighth and made it ten times greater, led the number of eighty; and having made the eighty ten times greater again, it gave birth to the number of eight hundred, so that the whole number of letters, going from the eighth to the tenth, is 3 and 3 and 3, which is Jesus.

34.9.3 | τὸ γὰρ Ἰησοῦς ὄνομα κατὰ τὸν ἐν τοῖς γράμμασιν ἀριθμὸν ὀκτακόσια ἐστὶν ὀγδοήκοντα ὀκτώ. ἔχεις σαφῶς καὶ τὴν ὑπερουράνιον τοῦ Ἰησοῦ κατ' αὐτοὺς γένεσιν.

34.9.3 | For the name Jesus, according to the number in the letters, is eight hundred eighty-eight. You clearly have also the heavenly origin of Jesus according to them.

34.9.4 | διὰ καὶ τὸν ἀλφάβητον τῶν Ἑλλήνων ἔχειν μονάδας ὀκτῶν καὶ δεκάδας ὀκτῶ καὶ εκατοντάδας ὀκτῶ, τὴν τῶν

34.9.4 | Because the Greek alphabet has eight ones, eight tens, and eight hundreds, showing the number eight hundred eightyὀκτακοσίων ὀγδοήκοντα ὀκτὼ ψῆφον ἐπιδεικνύοντα, τουτέστι τὸν Ἰησοῦν, ἐκ [τῶν] πάντων συνεστῶτα τῶν καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἄλφα καὶ ὦ ὀνομίζεσθαι αὐτόν, τὴν ἐκ πάντων γένεσιν σημαίνοντα.

eight, which is Jesus, made up of all these.
And for this reason, he is called alpha and omega, meaning the origin of all.

34.9.5 | καὶ πάλιν οὕτως· τῆς πρώτης τετράδος κατὰ πρόβασιν ἀριθμοῦ εἰς αὐτὴν συντιθεμένης ὁ τῶν δέκα ανεφάνη ἀριθμός. μία γὰρ καὶ δύο καὶ τρεῖς καὶ τέσσαρες ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸς συντεθεῖσαι δέκα γίνονται, ὃ ἐστὶν #x772;, καὶ τοῦτ' εἶναι θέλousι τὸν Ἰησοῦν.

34.9.5 | And again like this: the first group of four, added step by step to itself, showed the number of ten. For one and two and three and four, added together, become ten, which is ι (iota), and they want this to be Jesus.

34.9.6 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ὁ Χριστός, φησί, γραμμάτων ὀκτὼ ὧν τὴν πρώτην ὀγδοάδα σημαίνει, ἥτις τῷ ι συμπλακεῖσα τὸν Ἰησοῦν ἀπεκύησε.

34.9.6 | But also Christ, he says, having eight letters, means the first group of eight, which joined with i gave birth to Jesus.

34.9.7 | λέγεται δέ, φησί, καὶ Υἱὸς Χριστός, τουτέστιν Ἡ δωδεκάς· τὸ γὰρ Υἱὸς ὄνομα γραμμάτων ἐστὶ τεσάρων, τὸ δὲ Χριστὸς ὀκτὼ· ἅτινα συντεθέντα τὸ τῆς δωδεκάδος ἐπέδειξαν μέγεθος.

34.9.7 | He is also called Son Christ, that is,
The twelve; for Son is a name of four letters, and Christ of eight; which joined showed the size of the twelve.

34.9.8 | πρὶν μὲν οὖν φησί, τούτου τοῦ ὀνόματος τὸ ἐπίσημον φανῆναι, τουτέστιν τὸν Ἰησοῦν τὸν Υἱόν, ἐν ἀγνοίᾳ πολλῇ ὑπῆρχον οἱ ἄνθρωποι καὶ πλάνη·

34.9.8 | Before then, he says, the sign of this name appeared; that is, Jesus the Son, people were in great ignorance and error.

34.9.9 | ὅτε δὲ ἐφανερῶθη τὸ ἐξαγράμματον ὄνομα, ὃ σάρκα περιέβαλετο, ἵνα εἰς τὴν αἴσθησιν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου κατέλθῃ, ἔχον ἐν ἑαυτῷ αὐτὰ τὰ ἕξ καὶ τὰ εἰκοσιτέσσαρα, τότε γνώτες † αὐτόν ἐπαύσαντο τῆς ἀγνοίας, ἐκ θανάτου

34.9.9 | But when the six-letter name was revealed, which took on flesh to come down to human sense, having in itself those six and the twenty-four, then those who knew it stopped their ignorance, and rose from death to life, the name becoming for δὲ εἰς ζωὴν ἀνῆλθον, τοῦ ὀνόματος αὐτοῖς ὁδοῦ γενηθέντος πρὸς τὸν Πατέρα τῆς ἀληθείας.

them a way to the Father of truth.

34.9.10 | τεθελικέναι γὰρ τὸν Πατέρα τῶν ὅλων λῦσαι τὴν ἄγνοιαν καὶ καθελεῖν τὸν θάνατον. ἀγνοίας δὲ λύσις ἡ ἐπίγνωσις αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο. καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἐκλεχθῆναι τὸν κατὰ τὸ θέλημα αὐτοῦ κατ' εἰκόνα τῆς ἄνω δυνάμεως οἰκονομηθέντα Ἄνθρωπον.

34.9.10 | For the Father of all willed to end ignorance and bring down death. The ending of ignorance was the knowledge of him. And for this reason, the Man chosen according to his will, made in the image of the power above, was appointed.

Section 10

34.10.1 | Ἀπὸ τετράδος γὰρ * προῆλθον οἱ Αἰῶνες. ἦν δὲ ἐν τῇ τετράδι Ἄνθρωπος καὶ ἡ] Ἐκκλησία, Λόγος καὶ Ζωή. ἀπὸ τούτων οὓν δυνάμεις, φησὶν, ἀπορρυεῖσθαι ἐγενεσιουργήσαν τὸν ἐπὶ γῆς φανέντα Ἰησοῦν.

34.10.1 | For the Ages came from the group of four. And in the group of four was Man and the Church, Word and Life. From these, he says, powers flowing out created Jesus who appeared on earth.

34.10.2 | καὶ τοῦ μὲν Λόγου ἀναπεπληρωκέναι τὸν τόπον τὸν ἁγγελὸν Γαβριήλ, τῆς δὲ Ζωῆς τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα, το[ου δὲ Ἀνθρώπου τὴν τοῦ ὑψίστου δύναμιν, τὸ τῆς τῆς Ἐκκλησίας τόπον ἢ παρθένος ἐπέδειξεν.

34.10.2 | And of the Word, the angel Gabriel filled the place; of Life, the holy spirit; of Man, the power of the Most High; and the virgin showed the place of the Church.

34.10.3 | οὕτως τε ὁ κατ' οἰκοομίαν διὰ τῆς Μαρίας γενεσιουργεῖται παρ' αὐτῷ ἄνθρωπος, ὃν ὁ Πατὴρ τῶν ὅλων διελθόντα διὰ μήτρας ἐξελέξατο διὰ Λόγου εἰς ἐπίγνωσιν αὐτοῦ.

34.10.3 | Thus, the man according to plan is born through Mary by him, whom the Father of all, passing through the womb, chose through the Word for knowledge of himself.

34.10.4 | ἐλθόντος δὲ αὐτοῦ εἰς τὸ ὕδωρ ἀναδραμόντα ἄνω καὶ πληρώσαντα τὸν δωδέκατον ἀριθμόν, ἐν ᾧ ὑπάρχει τὸ

34.10.4 | And when he came to the water to go down into it, like a dove he ran up and filled the twelfth number, in which is the seed of those who were scattered to him σπερμα τούτων τῶν συσπαρέντων αὐτῷ καὶ συγκαταβάντων καὶ συναναβάντων.

and who went down with him and went up with him.

34.10.5 | αὐτὴν δὲ τὴν δύναμιν τὴν κατελθοῦσαν σπέρμα φησὶν εἶναι τοῦ Πατρὸς, ἔχον ἐν ἑαυτῷ καὶ τὸν Πατέρα καὶ τὸ Υἱόν, τὴν τε διὰ τούτων γινωσκομένην ἀνονόμαστον δύναμιν τῆς Σιγῆς καὶ τοὺς ἅπαντας Αἰῶνας.

34.10.5 | He says that the power going down is the seed of the Father, having in itself both the Father and the Son, and the unnamed power of Silence known through them, and all the Ages.

34.10.6 | καὶ τοῦτ' εἶναι τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ λαλήσαν διὰ τοῦ στόματος τοῦ Ἰησοῦ, τὸ ὁμολογήσαν σαν ἑαυτὸ Υἱὸν ἀνθρώπου καὶ φανερῶσαν τὸν Πατέρα· κατελθὼν τοι ἐγνώρισε δὲ τὸν Πατέρα † εἶναι οὗν † τὸν Ἰησοῦν ὄνομα μὲν τοῦ ἐκ τῆς οἰκονομίας ἀνθρώπου λέγει,

34.10.6 | And this is the spirit that spoke through the mouth of Jesus, who confessed himself the Son of man and revealed the Father; for it went down indeed into Jesus to be united with him. And he destroyed death, the savior from the plan; Jesus recognized the Father. Therefore, the name Jesus is said to be of the man from the plan,

34.10.7 | τεθεῖσθαι δὲ εἰς ἑξομοίωσιν καὶ μόρφωσιν τοῦ μέλλοντος εἰς αὐτὸν κατέρχεσθαι Ἀνθρώπου, ὃν χωρήσαντα αὐτὸν ἐσχηκέναι αὐτόν τε τὸν Ἀνθρωπον, αὐτόν τε τὸν Λόγον καὶ τὸν Πατέρα καὶ τὸν Ἄρρητον καὶ τὴν Σιγὴν καὶ τὴν Αλήθειαν καὶ Ἐκκλησίαν καὶ Ζωήν.

34.10.7 | To be placed into likeness and form of the one to come, the Man, who, holding him, has taken him in, both the Man himself, and the Word, and the Father, and the Unspoken, and Silence, and Truth, and Church, and Life.

Section 11

34.11.1 | 11. Ταῦτ' ἤδη ὑπὲρ τὸ ἰοῦ ἰοῦ καὶ τοῦτο τοῖς τοῦ ἀλφαβήτου γράμμασιν

34.11.1 | These things already are beyond the “woe, woe” and the “alas,” and beyond every tragic cry and insult; for who would not hate the maker of lies and evil? The truth, flowing as a shadow under Mark, has come to be, and this is marked by the κατεστιγμένην.

letters of the alphabet.

34.11.2 | νεωστὶ πρὸς τὸ ἀπ' ἀρχῆς, τὸ δὴ λεγόμενον χθὲς καὶ πρῶην, Ἕλληνες ὁμολογοῦσιν ἀπὸ Κάδμου πρῶτον ἕξ καὶ δέκα παρειληφέναι, εἴτα μετέπειτα προβαίνοντων τῶν χρόνων αὐτοὶ ἐξευρηκέναι ποτὲ μὲν τὰ δασέα, ποτὲ δὲ τὰ διπλᾶ, ἔσχον δὲ πάντων Παλαμήδην φασὶ τὰ μακρὰς τούτοις προστεθεικέναι.

34.11.2 | Recently, compared to the beginning, that is what was said yesterday and before, the Greeks agree that from Cadmus first sixteen letters were taken, then later as time went on they themselves found sometimes the rough sounds, sometimes the double ones, and last of all they say Palamedes added the long ones to these.

34.11.3 | πρὸ τοῦ οὖν <παρ' > Ἕλλησι ταῦτα οὐκ ἦν Ἀλήθεια· τὸ γὰρ σῶμα αὐτῆς κατὰ σέ, Μάρκε, μεταγενέστερον μὲν Κάδμου καὶ τῶν πρὸ αὐτοῦ, μεταγενέστερον δὲ τῶν τὰ λοιπὰ προστεθεικόντων στοιχεῖα, μεταγενέστερον δὲ καὶ σαυτοῦ. σὺ γὰρ μόνος <ὥς > εἶδωλον κατήγαγες τὴν ὑπὸ σοῦ λεγομένην Ἀλήθειαν.

34.11.3 | Before these things among the Greeks, there was no Truth; for the body of it, according to you, Mark, came later than Cadmus and those before him, later than the other added letters, and later even than yourself. For you alone brought down as a shadow the Truth spoken by you.

34.11.4 | Τίς δ' ἀνέξεταί σου τὴν τοσαῦτα φλυαροῦσαν Σιγὴν, ἣ τὸν ἀνονόμαστον ὀνομάζει καὶ τὸν ἄρρητον ἐξηγεῖται καὶ τὸν ἀνεξιχνίαστον ἐξιστοτεῖ καὶ ἡνοιχέναι τὸ στόμα φησὶν αὐτόν, ὃν ἀσώματον καὶ ἀνείδεον λέγεις, καὶ προενέγκασθαι Λόγον, ὥς ἐν τι τῶν συνθέτων ζώων·

34.11.4 | Who would not endure your so much babbling Silence, which names the nameless and explains the unspeakable and tells the story of the untraceable, and says that it opened its mouth, which you say is bodiless and unseen, and brought forward Reason, as one of the living creatures put together?

34.11.5 | τὸν τε Λόγον αὐτοῦ, ὅμοιον ὄντα τῷ προβαλόντι καὶ μορφὴν τοῦ ἀοράτου γεγονότα, στοιχείων μὲν εἶναι τριάκοντα, συλλαβῶν δὲ τεσσάρων· ἔσται οὖν κατὰ τὴν ὁμοιότητα τοῦ Λόγου ὁ Πατὴρ τῶν πάντων, ὥς σὺ φῆς, στοιχείων μὲν

34.11.5 | And his Reason, being like the one who brought it forth and having the form of the unseen, is said to be made of thirty elements and four syllables; so, according to the likeness of Reason, the Father of all will be, as you say, made of thirty elements τριάκοντα, συλλαβῶν δὲ τεσσάρων.

34.11.6 | ἢ πάλιν τίς ἀνέξεταιί σου εἰς σχήματα καὶ ἀριθμούς, ποτὲ μὲν πριάκοντα, ποτὲ δὲ εἰκοσιτέσσαρα, ποτὲ δὲ ἕξ μόνον, συγκλείοντος τὸ τῶν πάντων κτιστὴν καὶ δημιουργὸν καὶ ποιητὴν Λόγον τοῦ θεοῦ, κατακερματίζοντός <τε> αὐτὸν εἰς συλλαβὰς τέσσαρας, στοιχεῖα δὲ τριάκοντα, καὶ τὸν μὲν πάντων κύριον,

34.11.6 | Or again, who would endure your turning the Word of God, the creator and maker and craftsman of all, into shapes and numbers—sometimes thirty, sometimes twenty-four, sometimes only six—breaking it into four syllables and thirty elements, and making it the lord of all?

34.11.7 | τὸν ἑστερεωκότα τοὺς οὐρανοὺς, εἰς ὧν ὧν; κατὰγοντος ἀριθμόν, ὁμοίως καὶ αὐτὸν δὲ τὸν τὰ πάντα χωροῦντα Πατέρα, ἀχώρητον δὲ ὑπάρχοντα, εἰς τετράδα καὶ ὀγδοάδα καὶ δεκάδα καὶ δωδεκάδα ὑπομερίζοντος καὶ διὰ τῶν τοιούτων πολυπλασιασμῶν τὸ ἄρρητον καὶ ἀνεννόητον, ὡς σὺ σῆς, τοῦ Πατρὸς ἐκδιηγουμένου;

34.11.7 | The one who fixed the heavens, bringing them down to a number, and likewise the Father who holds all things and exists beyond space, dividing him into four, eight, ten, and twelve parts, and through such multiplications explaining the unspeakable and unthinkable, as you say, about the Father?

34.11.8 | καὶ ὃν ἀσώματον καὶ ἀνούσιον ὀνομάζεις, τὴν τούτου οὐσίαν καὶ τὴν ὑπόστασιν ἐκ πολλῶν γραμμάτων, ἐτέρων ἐξ ἐτέρων γεννωμένων, κατασκευάζεις, αὐτὸς Δαίδαλος δευδῆς καὶ τέκτων κακὸς γενόμενος τῆς προπανυπερτάτου δυνάμεως·

34.11.8 | And the one you call bodiless and without substance, you build his essence and being from many letters, born one from another, yourself becoming a crafty and bad builder of the highest power.

34.11.9 | καὶ ἡ ἀμέριστον φῆς εἶναι >, εἰς ἀφώνους καὶ φωνήεντας καὶ ἡμιφώνους φθόγγους ὑπομερίζων, τὸ ἄφωνον αὐτῶν τῷ τῶν πάντων Πατρὶ καὶ τῇ τούτου Ἐννοίᾳ ἐπιψευδόμενος, εἰς τὴν ἀνωτάτω βλασφημίαν καὶ μεγίστην ἀσέβειαν ἐμβέβληκας ἅπαντας τοὺς σοὶ πειθομένους.

34.11.9 | And you say it is indivisible, but you divide it into silent, vowel, and half-voiced sounds, falsely claiming their silence belongs to the Father of all and to his Thought, and you have thrown all who follow you into the highest blasphemy and greatest disrespect.

34.11.10 | διὸ &καὶ> δικαίως καὶ ἁρμοζόντως τῇ τοιαύτῃ σου τόλμῳ ὁ θεῖος πρεσβύτες καὶ κήρυξ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐμμέτρως ἐπιβεβόηκέ σοι, εἰπων οὕτως·

34.11.10 | Therefore, rightly and fittingly, with such boldness of yours, the divine elder and herald of truth has shouted at you in measured words, saying this:

34.11.11 | εἰδωλοποιεῖ Μάρκε καὶ τερατοσκόπε, ἀστρολογικῆς ἔμπειρε καὶ μαγικῆς τέχνης, δι' δι' κρατύνεις τῆς πλάνης τὰ διδάγματα, σημείας δεικνὺς τοῖς ὑπὸ σοῦ πλανωμένοις, ἀποστατικῆς δυνάμεως ἐγχειρήματα, ἃ σοὶ χορηγεῖ σὸς πατήρ Σατὰν ἀεὶ δι' ἀγγελικῆς δυνάμεως Ἀζαζήλ ποιεῖν, ἔχων σε πρόδρομον ἀντιθέου πανουργίας. καὶ ταῦτα μὲν ὁ θεοφιλὴς πρεσβύτες·

34.11.11 | Idol-maker Mark, and watcher of wonders, skilled in astrology and magic arts, you strengthen the teachings of error, showing signs to those led astray by you, attempts of rebellious power, which your father Satan always gives you, to do by angelic power Azazel, having you as the forerunner of godless craftiness. And these things said the god-loving elder;

34.11.12 | ἡμεῖς δὲ τὰ λοιπὰ τῆς μυσταγωγίας αὐτῶν μακρὰ ὄντα πειρασόμεθα βραχέως διεξελεῖν καὶ τὰ πολλῶ χρόνῳ κεκρυμμένα εἰς φανερόν ἀγαγεῖν. οὕτω γὰρ ἂν γένοιτο εὐέλεγκτα πᾶσι.

34.11.12 | But we, since the rest of their secret teachings are long, will try to go through them quickly and bring to light what has been hidden for a long time. For this way, they would be open to clear proof for all.

Section 12

34.12.1 | 12. Τὴν οὖν γένεσιν τῶν Αἰώνων αὐτῶν καὶ τὴν πλάνην τοῦ προβάτου καὶ ἀνεύρεσιν ἐνώσαντες ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ μυστικώτερον ἐπιχειροῦσιν ἀπαγγέλλειν οὗτοι οἱ εἰς ἀριθμοὺς τὰ πάντα κατὰγοντες, ἐκ μονάδος καὶ δυάδος φάσκοντες τὰ ὅλα συνεστηκέναι·

34.12.1 | So then, joining together the origin of their Aeons and the error of the sheep and their discovery, these who reduce everything to numbers try to tell a deeper mystery, saying that everything was made from one and two.

34.12.2 | καὶ ἀπὸ μονάδος ἕως τῶν τεσσάρων ἀριθμοῦντες οὕτω γεννῶσι τὴν δεκάδα. μία γὰρ καὶ δύο καὶ τρεῖς καὶ

34.12.2 | And by counting from one to four, they make the ten. For one and two and three and four joined together gave birth to τέσσαρες συντεθεῖσαι ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ τὸν τῶν δέκα Αἰώνων ἀπεκύησαν ἀριθμόν. πάλιν δ' αὖ ἡ δυὰς ἀέ αὐτῆς προελθοῦσα ἕως τοῦ ἐπισήμου, οἷον δύο καὶ τέσσαρες καὶ ἕξ, τὴν δωδεκάδα ἐπέδειξεν.

the number of the ten Aeons. Again, the two, going before it to the marked number, like two and four and six, showed the twelve.

34.12.3 | καὶ πάλιν ἀπὸ τῆς δυάδος ὁμοίως αριθμούντων ἡμῶν ἕως τῶν δέκα ἢ τριακοντάς ἀνεδείχθη, ἐν ᾗ ὀγδοὰς καὶ δεκάς καὶ δωδεκάς.

34.12.3 | And again, counting from the two in the same way up to ten, our thirty appeared, in which are eight, ten, and twelve.

34.12.4 | τὴν οὖν δωδεκάδα διὰ τὸ ἐπίσημον ἐσχηκέναι συνεπακολουθῆσαν αὐτῇ τὸ ἐπίσημον πάθος λέγουσι, καὶ διὰ τοῦτο περὶ τὸν δωδέκατον ἀριθμόν τοῦ σφάλματος γενομένου τὸ πρόβατον ἀποσκιρτήσαν πεπλανῆσθαι, ἐπειδὴ τὴν ἀπόστασιν ἀπὸ δωδεκάδος γεγενῆσθαι φάσκουσι.

34.12.4 | So, because the twelve had the marked sign, they say that the marked suffering followed it. And because the error happened around the twelfth number, the sheep ran away and got lost, since they say the separation came from the twelve.

34.12.5 | τῷ αὐτῷ τρόπῳ καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς † δωδεκάδος ἀποστᾶσαν μίαν δύναμιν ἀπολωλέναι μαντεύονται, καὶ ταύτην εἶναι τὴν γυναῖκα τὴν ἀπολέσασαν τὴν δραχμὴν καὶ ἄψασαν λύχνον καὶ εὐροῦσαν αὐτήν.

34.12.5 | In the same way, they say that a power that left the twelve was lost, and that this is the woman who lost the drachma, lit a lamp, and found it.

34.12.6 | οὕτως οὖν καὶ τοὺς ἀριθμοὺς τοὺς καταλειφθέντας — ἐπὶ μὲν τῆς δραχμῆς τοὺς ἑννέα, ἐπὶ δὲ τοῦ προβάτου τοὺς ἑνδεκα — ἐπιπλεκομένους ἀλλήλοις τὸν τῶν ἑνενήκοντα ἑννέα τίκτειν ἀριθμόν, ἐπεὶ ἑννάκις τὰ ἑνδεκα ἑνενήκοντα ἑννέα γίνεται. διὸ καὶ τὸ ἀμὴν τοῦτον λέγουσιν ἔχειν τὸν ἀριθμόν.

34.12.6 | So then, the numbers left behind — nine for the drachma, and eleven for the sheep — when joined together, give the number ninety-nine, since eleven times nine is ninety-nine. That is why they say this “amen” has that number.

34.12.7 | Οὐκ ὀκνήσω δὲ σοι καὶ ἄλλως

34.12.7 | I will not be slow to tell you also ἐξηγουμένων αὐτῶν ἀπαγγεῖλαι, ἵνα πανταχόθεν κατανοήσῃς τὸν καρπὸν αὐτῶν. τὸ γὰρ στοιχεῖον τὸ ἡ σὺν μὲν τῷ ἐπισήμῳ ὀγδοάδα εἶναι θέλουσιν, ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄλφα ὀγδὼ κείμενον τόπῳ· εἴτα πάλιν ἄνευ τοῦ ἐπισήμου ψηφίζοντες τὸν ἀριθμὸν αὐτῶν τῶν στοιχείων καὶ ἐπισυνθέντες μέχρι τοῦ ἥτα τὴν τριακοντάδα ἐπιδεικνύουσιν.

other explanations of them, so that you may understand their meaning from every side. For the letter eta, together with the mark, they want to be the eighth, because it is placed after alpha in the eighth place; then again, without the mark, counting the number of its letters and adding up to eta, they show the number thirty.

34.12.8 | ἀρξάμενος γὰρ <τις> ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄλφα καὶ τελευτῶν εἰς τὸ ἥτα τῷ ἀριθμῷ τῶν στοιχείων, ὑφεξαίρουμένος δὲ τὸ ἐπίσημον καὶ ἐπισυντιθεὶς τὴν ἐπαύξησιν τῶν γραμμάτων, εὐρήσει τὸν τῶν τριάκοντα ἀριθμόν.

34.12.8 | For someone starting from alpha and ending at eta, with the number of the letters, taking away the mark and adding the increase of the letters, will find the number thirty.

34.12.9 | μέχρι γὰρ τοῦ ε στοιχείου πεντεκαίδεκα γίνονται· ἔπειτα προστεθεὶς αὐτοῖς ὁ τῶν ἑπτὰ ἀριθμὸς β καὶ κ ἀπετέλεσε· προσελθὼν δὲ τούτοις τὸ ἡ, ὃ ἐστὶν ὀκτώ, τὴν θαυμασιωτάτην τριακοντάδα ἀνεπλήρωσεν. καὶ ἐντεῦθεν ἀποδεικνύουσι τὴν Ὀγδοάδα μητέρα τῶν τριάκοντα Αἰώνων.

34.12.9 | For up to the letter epsilon, they become fifteen; then adding to them the number of seven, beta and kappa, it made twenty-two; and adding to these the eta, which is eight, it completed the most wonderful thirty. And from here they show the eighth as the mother of the thirty Ages.

34.12.10 | ἐπεὶ οὖν ἐκ τριῶν δυνάμεων ἵνται ὁ τῶν τριάκοντα ἀριθμός, τρὶς αὐτὸς γενόμενος τὰ ἐνενήκοντα ἐποίησε· τρὶς γὰρ τριάκοντα ἐνενήκοντα. καὶ αὕτη δὲ ἡ τριάς ἐφ' ἑαυτῆς συντεθεῖσα ἐννέα ἐγέννησεν. οὕτως τε ἡ ὀγδοὰς τὸν τῶν ἐνενήκοντα ἐννέα παρ' αὐτοῖς ἀπεκύησεν ἀριθμόν.

34.12.10 | Since the number thirty is made from three powers, three times itself made ninety; for three times thirty is ninety. And the triad itself, combined with itself, gave birth to nine. So the eighth gave birth to the number ninety-nine beside them.

34.12.11 | καὶ ἐπεὶ ὁ δωδέκατος Αἰὼν ἀποστὰς κατέλειψε τοὺς ἄνω ἑνδεκα, κατάλληλον λέγουσι τὸν τύπον τῷ γραμμάτων τῷ σχήματι τοῦ † λόγου

34.12.11 | And since the twelfth Age, having gone away, left behind the upper eleven, they say the pattern of the letters fits the shape of the † word, for the lambda, which κεῖσθαι ἐνδέκατον γὰρ τῶν γραμμάτων κεῖται τὸ λ, ὃ ἐστὶν ἀριθμὸς τῶν τριάκοντα) καὶ κατ' εἰκόνα κεῖσθαι τῆς ἄνω οἰκονομίας, ἐπειδὴ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄλφα, χωρὶς τοῦ ἐπισήμου, αὐτῶν τῶν γραμμάτων ὁ ἀριθμὸς ἕως τοῦ λ συντεθειμένος κατὰ τὴν παραύξησιν τῶν γραμμάτων σὺν αὐτῷ τῷ λ τὸν τῶν ἐνενήκοντα ἐννέα ποιεῖται ἀριθμόν.

is the eleventh of the letters (and the number of thirty), is placed there. And it is placed like the upper arrangement, because from alpha, without the mark, the number of those letters up to lambda, added according to the increase of the letters with lambda itself, makes the number ninety-nine.

34.12.12 | ὅτι δὲ τὸ λ ἐνδέκατον ὄν τῇ τάξει ἐπὶ τὴν τοῦ ὁμοίου αὐτῷ κατῆλθεν ζήτησιν, ἵνα ἀναπληρώσῃ τὸν δωδέκατον ἀριθμόν, καὶ εὐρὸν † αὐτὸν ἐπληρώθη, φανερὸν εἶναι ἐξ αὐτοῦ τοῦ σχήματος τοῦ στοιχείου.

34.12.12 | Because the lambda, being the eleventh in order, came down to the place of the one like it in the search, to fill the twelfth number, and having found it, it was filled, it is clear from this shape of the element.

34.12.13 | τὸ γὰρ λ, ὥσπερ ἐπὶ τὴν τοῦ ὁμοίου αὐτῷ ζήτησιν παραγενόμενον καὶ εὐρὸν καὶ εἰς ἑαυτὸ ἀπάσαν † αὐτόν, τὴν τοῦ δωδεκάτου ἀνεπλήρωσεν χώραν, τοῦ Μ στοιχείους ἐκ δύο Α συγκειμένου.

34.12.13 | For the lambda, just as it came to the place of the one like it in the search and found it and filled it completely for itself, filled the space of the twelfth, made up of two As, the elements of M.

34.12.14 | διὸ καὶ φεύγειν αὐτοὺς διὰ τῆς γνώσεως τὴν τῶν ἐνεγέκοντα ἐννέα χώραν, τουτέστιν τὸ Ὑστέρημα, τύπον ἀριστερᾶς χειρός, μεταδιώκειν δὲ τὸ εἰ, ὃ προσθεθὲν τοῖς ἐνενήκοντα ἐννέα εἰς τὴν δεξιὰν αὐτοὺς χεῖρα μετέστησεν.

34.12.14 | Therefore, by knowledge, they also avoid the space of twenty-nine, that is, the Deficiency, a pattern of the left hand, but they chase away the epsilon, which, added to the twenty-nine, moved them to the right hand.

Section 13

34.13.1 | 13. Σὺ μὲν ταῦτα διερχόμενος, ἀγαπητέ, εὖ οἶδα ὅτι γελάσεις πολλὰ * τὴν τοιαύτην αὐτῶν οἰησίσοφον μωρίαν. ἄξιοι δὲ πένθους οἱ τῆλικαύτην θεοσέβειαν καὶ τὸ μέγεθος τῆς ἀΜῶς ἀρρήτου δυνάμεως καὶ τὰς τουσαύτας οἰκονομίας τοῦ θεοῦ διὰ

34.13.1 | 13. You, going through these things, dear one, I know well that you will laugh a lot at such proud foolishness of theirs. But those who treat such godliness and the greatness of the ineffable power of aMōs and so many arrangements of god τοῦ ἄλφα καὶ βῆτα καὶ δι' ἀριθμῶν οὕτως ψυχρῶς καὶ βεβιασμένως διασύροντες.

through alpha and beta and through numbers so coldly and harshly are worthy of mourning.

34.13.2 | ὅσοι δὲ ἀφίστανται τῆς ἐκκλησίας καὶ τούτοις τοῖς γραῶδεσι μύθοις πείθονται, ἀληθῶς & αὐτοκατάκριτοι, οὓς ὁ Παῦλος ἐγκελεύεται ἡμῖν μετὰ μίαν καὶ δευτέραν νουθεσίαν παραιτεῖσθαι.

34.13.2 | But those who leave the church and are persuaded by these old stories are truly self-condemned, whom Paul urges us to refuse after one and a second warning.

34.13.3 | Ἰωάννης δέ, ὁ τοῦ κυρίου μαθητής, ἐπέτεινε τὴν καταδίκην αὐτῶν, μηδὲ χαίρειν αὐτοῖς ὑφ' ἡμῶν λέγεσθαι βουληθείς· »ὁ γὰρ λέγων αὐτοῖς« φησί »χαίρειν κοινωνεῖ τοῖς ἔργοις αὐτῶν τοῖς πονηροῖς«.

34.13.3 | But John, the disciple of the lord, increased their condemnation, not wanting them to be said to rejoice by us; “for the one who says to them,” he says, “rejoice shares in their evil works.”

34.13.4 | καὶ εἰκότως· »οὐκ ἔστι γὰρ χαίρειν τοῖς ἀσεβέσιν« λέγει κύριος. ἀσεβεῖς δὲ ὑπὲρ πᾶσαν ἀσέβειαν οὗτοι οἱ τὸν ποιητὴν οὐρανοῦ καὶ γῆς, μόνον θεὸν παντοκράτορα, ὑπὲρ ὃν ἄλλος θεὸς οὐκ ἔστιν, ἐξ Ὑστερήματος καὶ αὐτοῦ ἐξ ἄλλου Ὑστερήματος γεγονότος προβεβλήσθαι λέγοντες· ὥστε κατ' αὐτοὺς εἶναι αὐτὸν προβολὴν τρίτου Ὑστερήματος.

34.13.4 | And rightly so; “for it is not right to rejoice with the godless,” the lord says.
And godless beyond all godlessness are those who say that the maker of heaven and earth, the only almighty god, above whom there is no other god, came from a lack and another lack, saying he was raised up from a third lack.

34.13.5 | ἣν γνώμην ὄντως καταφυσήσαντας καὶ καταθεματίσαντας δέον πόρρω ποιεῖν & φυγεῖν ἀπὸ αὐτῶν καὶ ἣ πλέον δισχυρίζονται καὶ χαίρουσιν ἐπὶ τοῖς παρευρέμασιν αὐτῶν, ταύτη μᾶλλον εἰδέναι πλέον αὐτοὺς ἐνεργεῖσθαι ὑπὸ τῆς ὀγδοᾶδος τῶν πονηρῶν πνευμάτων,

34.13.5 | This opinion, truly to be rejected and cursed, one must avoid far away; and even more so from those who insist and rejoice in their false teachings, knowing this better, they are rather being driven by the eighth of the evil spirits.

34.13.6 | καθάπερ οἱ εἰς φρενίτιδα διάθεσιν ἔμπεσόντες † ἢ πλέον γελῶσι καὶ ἰσχύειν δοκοῦσιν καὶ ὥς ὑγιαίνοντες πάντα πράττουσιν, ἓνια δὲ καὶ ὑπὲρ τὸ ὑγιαίνειν, ταύτῃ μᾶλλον κακῶς ἔχουσιν. ὁμοίως δὲ καὶ οὗτοι ἢ μᾶλλον ὑπερφρονεῖν δοκοῦσι καὶ ἐκνευρίζουσιν ἑαυτοὺς ὑπέρτονα τοξεύοντες, ταύτῃ μᾶλλον οὐ σωφρονοῦσιν.

34.13.6 | Just like those who fall into madness laugh more and seem strong and act as if they are healthy, and some even beyond being healthy, they are rather in worse condition; in the same way, these people, as much as they seem to be proud and anger themselves by shooting arrows too far, they are rather not wise.

34.13.7 | For when the unclean spirit of foolishness went out, then, having leisure, they did not find god but worldly pursuits, taking along seven other spirits more evil than itself and weakening their mind, as if able to think beyond god and making a plan for rebellion; the eighth of the evil spirits of foolishness was put into them.

34.14.1 | 14. Βούλομαι δὲ σοι καὶ ὥς αὐτὴν τὴν κτίσιν κατ' εἰκόνα τῶν ἀοράτων ὑπὸ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ, ὥς ἀγνοοῦντος αὐτοῦ, κατεσκευάσθαι διὰ τῆς Μητρὸς λέγουσιν διηγῆσασθαι.

34.14.1 | I want to tell you also how the creation itself was made in the image of the invisible things by the Creator, as if he did not know it, through the Mother.

34.14.2 | πρῶτον μὲν τὰ τέσσαρα στοιχεῖά φασιν, πῦρ ὕδωρ γῆν ἀέρα, εἰκόνα προβεβλῆσθαι τῆς ἄνω πρότης τετράδος, τὰς τε ἐνεργείας αὐτῶν συναριθμουμένας, οἷον θερμόν τε καὶ ψυχρόν, ξηρόν τε καὶ ὑγρόν, ἀκριβῶς ἐξεικονίζειν τὴν ογδοάδα.

34.14.2 | First, they say the four elements, fire, water, earth, and air, were made as an image of the upper first four, and their powers counted together, like hot and cold, dry and wet, exactly show the eighth.

34.14.3 | ἐξῆς * δέκα δυνάεις οὕτως καταριθμοῦσιν· ἑπτὰ μὲν † σωματικὰ

34.14.3 | Next, they count ten powers like this: seven are bodily and circular, which κυκλοειδῆ, ἃ καὶ οὐρανούς καλοῦσιν· ἔπειτα τὸν περιεκτικὸν αὐτῶν κύκον, ὃν καὶ ὄγδοον οὐρανὸν ὀνομάζουσι· πρὸς δὲ τούτοις ἥλιόν τε καὶ σελήνην. ταῦτα δέκα ὄντα τὸν ἀριθμὸν εἰκόνας λέγουσιν εἶναι τῆς ἀοράτου δεκάδος, τῆς ἀπὸ Λόγου καὶ Ζωῆς, προελθούσης,

they also call heavens; then the enclosing circle of these, which they call the eighth heaven; and besides these, the sun and the moon. These ten, they say, are the image of the invisible tenfold, which comes from the Word and Life.

34.14.4 | τὴν Τε δωδεκάδα μηνύεσθαι διὰ τοῦ ζωδιακοῦ καλουμένου κύκλου. τὰ γὰρ δώδεκα ζῳδία φανερώτατα τὴν τοῦ Ἀνθρώπου καὶ τῆς Ἐκκλησίας θυγατέρα δωδεκάδα σκιαγραφεῖν λέγουσιν.

34.14.4 | The twelve are shown through the circle called the zodiac. For the twelve signs of the zodiac most clearly show the twelve daughters of the Man and the Church.

34.14.5 | καὶ ἐπεὶ ἀντεπεζεύχθη, φασί, τῇ τῶν ὅλων φορᾷ ὡκυτάτῃ ὑπαρχούσῃ ὃ ὑπερθεν οὐρανὸς ὁ πρὸς αὐτῷ τῷ κύτει βαρύνων καὶ ἀντιταλαντεύων τὴν ἐκείνων ὡκύτητα τῇ ἑαυτοῦ βραδυτῇτι, ὥστε αὐτὸν ἐν τριάκοντα ἔτεσι τὴν περιόδον ἀπὸ σημείου ἐπὶ σημεῖον ποιεῖσθαι, εἰκόνα λέγουσιν αὐτὸν τοῦ Ὁρου τοῦ τὴν τριακοντῶνυμον Μητέρα αὐτῶν περιέχοντος.

34.14.5 | And since, they say, the heaven above, which is heavier and swings against the quickness of the whole movement below it, makes its cycle from one point to another in thirty years, they say it is the image of the Boundary that holds their thirty-named Mother.

34.14.6 | τὴν σελήνην τε πάλιν τὸν ἑαυτῆς οὐρανὸν ἐμπεριερχομένην τριάκοντα ἡμέραις διὰ τῶν ἡμερῶν τὸν ἀριθμὸν τῶν τριακοντα Αἰώνων ἐκτυποῦν.

34.14.6 | And the moon, again, going around its own heaven in thirty days, marks the number of the thirty Ages through the days.

34.14.7 | καὶ τὸν ἥλιον δὲ ἐν δεκαδύο μηνσὶν περιερχόμενον καὶ τερματίζοντα τὴν κυκλικὴν αὐτοῦ ἀποκατάστασιν, διὰ τῶν δώδεκα μηνῶν τὴν δωδεκάδα φανερὰν ποιεῖν, καὶ αὐτὰς δὲ τὰς ἡμέρας, δεκαδύο ὥρων τὸ μέτρον ἐχούσας, τύπον τῆς > φαιειῆς δωδεκάδος εἶναι.

34.14.7 | And the sun, going around and completing its cycle in twelve months, makes the twelve clear through the twelve months, and the days themselves, having the measure of twelve hours, are a pattern of the bright twelve.

34.14.8 | ἀλλὰ μὴν καὶ τὴν ὥραν φασί, τὸ δωδέκατον τῆς ἡμέρας, ἐκ τριάκοντα μοιρῶν κεκοσμηθῆναι διὰ τὴν εἰκόνα τῆς τριακοντάδος.

34.14.8 | But indeed they say that the hour, the twelfth part of the day, is arranged from thirty parts because of the image of the thirty.

34.14.9 | καὶ αὐτοῦ δὲ τοῦ ζωδιακοῦ κύκλου τὴν περίμετρον εἶναι μοιρῶν τριακοσίων ἐξήκοντα· ἕκαστον γὰρ ζῳδίων μοίρας ἔχειν τριάκοντα. οὕτως δὲ καὶ διὰ τοῦ κύκλου τὴν εἰκόνα τῆς συναφείας τῶν δώδεκα πρὸς τὰ τριάκοντα τετηρηθῆναι λέγουσιν.

34.14.9 | And the very zodiac circle has a perimeter of three hundred sixty degrees; for each sign has thirty degrees. Thus, they say that through the circle the image of the connection of the twelve to the thirty is kept.

34.14.10 | ἔτι μὴν καὶ τὴν γῆν εἰς δώδεκα κλίματα διζμῆσθαι φάσκοντες καὶ καθ' ἕκαστον κλίμα ἀνὰ > δύναμιν ἐκ τῶν οὐρανῶν κατὰ κάθετον ὑποδεχομένην καὶ ἐοικότα τίκτουσαν τέκνα τῇ καταπεμπούσῃ τὴν ἀπόρροϊαν δυνάμει τύπον εἶναι τῆς δωδεκάδος καὶ τῶν τέκνων αὐτῆς σαφέστατον διαβεβαιοῦνται.

34.14.10 | Still, they say that the earth is divided into twelve zones, and that each zone, according to the power it receives from the heavens straight down, and like a mother giving birth, produces children. They clearly confirm that this outflowing power is a pattern of the twelfth part and its children.

34.14.11 | Πρὸς δὲ τούτοις θελήσαντά φασι τὸν Δημιουργὸν τῆς ἄνω Ὀγδοάδος δυνηθέντα τὸ μόνιμον αὐτῆς καὶ αἰδίων ἐκτυπῶσαι, διὰ τὸ καρπὸν <αὐτὸν>; εἶναι Ὑστερήματος, εἰς χρόνους καὶ καιροὺς, ἀριθμούς τε πολυετεῖς τὸ αἰώνιον αὐτῆς κατατεθεῖσθαι, οἰόμενον ἐν τῷ πλήθει τῶν χρόνων μιμήσασθαι αὐτῆς τὸ ἀπέραντον.

34.14.11 | Besides these things, they say that the creator of the upper eighth, having been able to imprint its permanence and eternity, because its fruit is lack, places its eternal nature into times and seasons, and into many-year numbers, thinking that in the fullness of time it imitates its endlessness.

34.14.12 | ἐνταῦθα τε λέγουσιν, ἐκφυγούσης αὐτὸν τῆς Ἀληθείας, ἐπηκολουθηκέναι τὸ ψεῦδος, καὶ διὰ τοῦτο κατάλυσιν πληρωθέντων τῶν χρόνων

34.14.12 | Here they say that, with truth fleeing from it, falsehood followed, and because the times were fulfilled, its work was to be ended.

λαβεῖν αὐτοῦ τὸ ἔργον.

Section 15

34.15.1 | 15. Καὶ περὶ μὲν τῆς κτίσεως τοιαῦτα λέγοντες, καθ' ἑκάστην ἡμέραν ἐπιγεννᾷ ἕκαστος αὐτῶν, καθὼς δύναται, καινότερόν >. τέλειος γὰρ οὐδεὶς ὁ μὴ μεγάλα ψεύσματα παρ' αὐτοῖς καρποφορήσας.

34.15.1 | 15. And about creation, saying such things, each of them brings forth something new every day, as much as it can. For no one is perfect who has not produced great lies among them.

34.15.2 | ἐκ δὲ τῶν προφητικῶν ὅσα μεταμορφάζουσιν, ἀναγκαῖον μηνύσαντας τὸν ἔλεγχον αὐτοῖς ἐπάγειν. ὁ γὰρ Μωυσῆς, φασίν, ἀρχόμενος τῆς κατὰ τὴν κτίσιν πραγματείας, εὐθὺς ἐν ἀρχῇ τὴν Μητέρα τῶν ὅλων ἐπέδειξεν εἰπὼν »ἐν ἀρχῇ ἐποίησεν ὁ θεὸς τὸν οὐρανὸν καὶ τὴν γῆν«.

34.15.2 | And from the prophetic writings that change shape, it is necessary to bring a charge against them. For Moses, they say, starting the story of creation, immediately at the beginning showed the Mother of all, saying, "In the beginning God made the heaven and the earth."

34.15.3 | τέσσαρα οὖν ταῦτα ὀνομάσας, θεὸν καὶ ἀρχὴν, οὐρανὸν καὶ γῆν, τὴν τετρακτὺν αὐτῶν, ὡς αὐτοὶ λέγουσι, διετύπωσεν. καὶ τὸ ἀόρατον δὲ καὶ ἀπόκρυφον αὐτῆς μηνύοντα εἶπεῖν »ἡ δὲ γῆ ἦν ἀόρατος καὶ ἀκατασκεύαστος«.

34.15.3 | So then, having named these four, god and beginning, heaven and earth, he set down their fourfold pattern, as they say. And speaking of the invisible and hidden part of it, he said, "Now the earth was invisible and unformed."

34.15.4 | τὴν > δευτέραν τετράδα, γέννημα πρώτης τετράδος, οὕτως αὐτὸν εἰρηκέναι θέλουσιν, ἄβυσσον ὀνομάζοντα καὶ σκότος ἐν σφίσιν αὐτοῖς καὶ ὕδωρ καὶ τὸ ἐπφερόμενον τῷ ὕδατι πνεῦμα.

34.15.4 | The second fourfold, born from the first fourfold, they want him to have said like this: calling it abyss and darkness among them, and water, and the spirit moving over the water.

34.15.5 | μεθ' ἣν τῆς δεκάδος μηνμονεύοντα φῶς λέγειν καὶ ἡμέραν καὶ νύκτα, στερέωμά τε καὶ ἑσπέραν καὶ ὃ καλεῖται πρωῒ, ξηράν τε καὶ θάλασσαν, ἔτι

34.15.5 | After that, recalling the tenth, he says light and day and night, and the firmament and evening and what is called morning, and dry land and sea, and also τε βοτάνην καὶ δεκάτῳ τόπῳ τὸ ξύλον· plants, and in the tenth place, the tree;

34.15.6 | οὕτως τε διὰ τῶν δέκα ὀνομάτων τοὺς δέκα Αἰῶνας μεμνηυκέναι. τῆς δὲ δωδεκάδος οὕτως ἐξεικονίσθαι παρ' αὐτῷ τὴν δύναμιν· ἥλιον γὰρ λέγειν καὶ σελήνην, ἀστέρας τε καὶ καιροὺς, ἐνιαυτούς τε καὶ κήτη, ἔτι & ἔτι & ἰχθύας καὶ ἐρπετά, πετεινά τε καὶ τετράποδα, θηρία τε καὶ ἐπὶ πᾶσι τούτοις δωδέκατον τὸν ἄνθρωπον. οὕτως ὑπὸ τοῦ πνεύματος τὴν τριακοντάδα διὰ Μωυσέως εἰρησθαι διδάσκουσιν.

34.15.6 | So, through the ten names, they showed the ten Ages. And of the twelve, this is how he showed the power: for he says sun and moon, and stars and seasons, and years and sea creatures, also fish and reptiles, birds and four-footed animals, wild beasts, and over all these, the twelfth is man. So, by the spirit, the thirtyfold is said through Moses, they teach.

34.15.7 | ἀλλὰ μὴν καὶ τὸν πλαστὸν ἄνθρωπον κατ' εἰκόνα τῆς ἄνω δυνάμεως ἔχειν ἐν αὐτῷ τὴν ἀπὸ τῆς μιᾶς πηγῆς δύναμιν ἰδρῦσθαι δὲ ταύτην ἐν τῷ κατὰ τὸν ἐγκέφαλον τόπῳ), ἀφ' ἧς ἀπορρεῖν δυνάμεις τέσσαρας κατ' εἰκόνα τῆς ἄνω τετράδος καλουμένης, τὴν μὲν ὄρασιν, τὴν δὲ ἀκοήν, τὴν δὲ τρίτην ὁσφρησιν καὶ τὴν τετάρτην γεῦσιν.

34.15.7 | But indeed, the formed human, made in the image of the higher power, has within himself the power from the one source, placed in the part according to the brain; from this flow four powers, called in the image of the higher fourfold: the first is sight, the second hearing, the third smell, and the fourth taste.

34.15.8 | τὴν δὲ ὀγδοάδα φασὶν μηνύεσθαι διὰ τοῦ ἀνθρώπου οὕτως· ἀκοὰς μὲν δύο ἔχοντος καὶ τοσαύτας ὁράσεις, ἔτι τε ὁσφρήσεις δύο καὶ διπλὴν γεῦσιν, πικροῦ τε καὶ γλυκέος.

34.15.8 | They say the eighth is shown through the human like this: having two hearings and just as many sights, also two smells and a double taste, both bitter and sweet.

34.15.9 | ὅλον δὲ | τὸν ἄνθρωπον πᾶσαν τὴν εἰκόνα τῆς τριακοντάδος οὕτως ἔχειν διδάσκουσιν· ἐν μὲν ταῖς χερσὶ διὰ τῶν δακτύλων τὴν δεκάδα βαστάζειν, ἐν ὅλῳ δὲ τῷ σώματι εἰς δώδεκα μέλη διαιρουμένῳ τὴν δωδεκάδα. διαιροῦσι δὲ αὐτό, καθάπερ τὸ τῆς Ἀληθείας διήρηται παρ' αὐτοῖς σῶμα, περὶ οὗ προειρήκαμεν. τὴν τε οὖν

34.15.9 | They teach that the whole human has the entire image of the thirtyfold like this: in the hands, through the fingers, holding the ten; and in the whole body, divided into twelve parts, holding the twelve. They divide it just as the body of Truth is divided among them, which we mentioned before. And so, the eighth, being όγδοάδα, ἄρρητόν τε καὶ ἀόρατον οὖσαν, ἐν τοῖς σπλάγχνοις κρυβομένην νοεῖσθαι.

unspoken and unseen, is thought to be hidden in the internal organs.

Section 16

34.16.1 | 16. Ἥλιον δὲ πάλιν, τὸν μέγαν φωστῆρα, ἐν τῇ τετάρτῃ τῶν ἡμερῶν γεγονέναι διὰ τὸν τῆς τετράδος ἀριθμὸν φάσκουσι.

34.16.1 | They say that the sun, the great light, came into being on the fourth day because of the number of the fourfold.

34.16.2 | τῆς τε σκηνῆς τῆς ὑπὸ Μωυσέως κατασκευασθείσης αἷ ἀλύαι ἐκὶ βύσσου καὶ ὑακίνθου καὶ πορφύρας καὶ κοκκίνου γεγονυῖαι τὴν αὐτὴν παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐπέδειξαν εἰκόνα.

34.16.2 | They showed the curtains of the tent made by Moses, made of fine linen and hyacinth, and purple, and scarlet, as the same image among them.

34.16.3 | τὸν τε τοῦ ἱερέως ποδήρη, τέσσαρσι στοιχείοις λίθων πολυτελῶν κεκοσμημένον, τὴν τετράδα σημαίνειν διορίζονται· καὶ εἴ τινα <ὅλως> τοιαῦτα ἐν ταῖς γραφαῖς εἰς τὸν τῶν τεσσάρων δυνάμενα ἄγεσθαι ἀριθμὸν, διὰ τὴν τετρακτὸν αὐτῶν φασὶ γεγονέναι.

34.16.3 | The priest's robe, decorated with four kinds of precious stones, is said to mark the fourfold; and if anything like this at all appears in the scriptures connected to the power of the four, they say it came about because of their fourfold number.

34.16.4 | τὴν δὲ όγδοάδα πάλιν δείκνυσθαι οὕτως· ἐν τῇ όγδόῃ τῶν ἡμερῶν πεπλάσθαι λέγουσι τὸν ἄνθρωπον· ποτὲ μὲν γὰρ αὐτὸν τῇ ἔκτῳ βούλονται γεγονέναι, ποτὲ δὲ > τῇ όγδόῃ, εἰ μή τι τὸν μὲν χοϊκὸν ἐν τῇ ἔκτῃ τῶν ἡμερῶν ἐροῦσι πεπλάσθαι, τὸν δὲ σαρκικὸν ἐν τῇ όγδόῃ· διέσταλται γὰρ ταῦτα παρ' αὐτοῖς.

34.16.4 | The eighth is shown like this: they say that man was formed on the eighth day; sometimes they want him to have been made on the sixth, sometimes on the eighth, unless they say that the earthly part was formed on the sixth day, but the fleshly part on the eighth; for these ideas are different among them.

34.16.5 | ἔνιοι δὲ <καὶ> ἄλλον <εἶναι>· θέλουσι τὸ κατ' εἰκόνα καὶ ὁμοίωσιν θεοῦ γεγονότα ἀρσενόθηλυν ἄνθρωπον καὶ τοῦτον εἶναι τὸν

34.16.5 | Some also want there to be another man made in the image and likeness of god, a man who is both male and female, and this one is the spiritual man; πνευματικόν, ἄλλον δὲ τὸν ἐκ τῆς Τῆς πλασθέντα.

and another is the one formed from the earth.

34.16.6 | Καὶ τὴν τῆς κιβωτοῦ δὲ οἰκονομίαν ἐν τῷ κατακλυσμῷ, ἐν ᾗ ὀκτὼ ἄνθρωποι διεσώθησαν, φανερώτατά φασι τὴν σωτήριον ὀγδοάδα μηνύνειν. τὸ αὐτὸ δὲ καὶ τὸν Δαυίδ, ὃγδοον ὄντα τῇ γενέσει τῶν ἀδελφῶν αὐτοῦ, σημαίνειν. ἐτι μὴν καὶ τὴν περιτομὴν, οκταήμερον γινομένην, το περιτμημα τῆς ἄνω ὀγδοάδος δηλοῦν.

34.16.6 | And the arrangement of the ark in the flood, in which eight people were saved, they say most clearly shows the saving eighth. The same also means David, who was the eighth in the birth order of his brothers. Also, the circumcision, which happens on the eighth day, shows the cutting of the upper eighth.

34.16.7 | καὶ ἀπλῶς ὅσα εὐρίσκεται ἐν ταῖς γραφαῖς ὑπάγεσθαι δυνάμενα εἰς τὸ ἀριθμὸν τῶν ὀκτὼ τὸ μυστήριον τῆς ὀγδοάδος ἐκπληροῦν λέγουσιν.

34.16.7 | And simply, all that is found in the scriptures is said to be able to be brought under the number eight, fulfilling the mystery of the eighth.

34.16.8 | ἀλλὰ καὶ τὴν δεκάδα σημαίνεσθαι διὰ τῶν δέκα ἐθνῶν, ᾧ ἐπηγγείλατο ὁ θεὸς τῷ Ἀβραάμ εἰς κατάσχεσιν δοῦναι, λέγουσι., καὶ τὴν > Σάρραν δὲ οἰκονομίαν, ὡς μετὰ ἔτη δέκα δίδωσιν αὐτῷ τὴν ἐαυτῆς δούλην Ἄγαρ, ἵνα ἐξ αὐτῆς τεκνοποιήσῃται, τὸ αὐτὸ δηλοῦν.

34.16.8 | But also the ten is said to be signified by the ten nations, to whom God promised to give as an inheritance to Abraham. And the arrangement of Sarah, who after ten years gives him her own slave Hagar, so that he may have children from her, shows the same thing.

34.16.9 | καὶ ὁ δοῦλος δὲ ὁ > Ἀβραάμ πεμφθεὶς ἐπὶ Ῥεβέκκαν καὶ ἐπὶ τῷ φρέατι διδούς αὐτῇ ψέλια χρυσῶν δέκα, καὶ οἱ ἀδελφοὶ αὐτῆς κατέχοντες αὐτὴν ἐπὶ δέκα ἡμέρας, ἔτι τε Ῥοβοάμ ὁ τὰ δέκα σκῆπτρα λαμβάνων καὶ τῆς σκηνῆς αἱ δέκα αὐλαὶ καὶ οἱ στῦλοι οἱ δεκαπῆχες καὶ οἱ δέκα υἱοὶ Ἰακώβ ἐπὶ τὴν ὠνὴν τοῦ σίτου τὸ πρῶτον εἰς Αἴγυπτον πεμφθέντες καὶ οἱ δέκα ἀπόστολοι, οἷς φανεροῦται μετὰ τὴν ἐγερσιν ὁ κύριος, τοῦ Θωμᾶ μὴ παρόντος, τὴν ἀόρατον διετύπουν κατ' αὐτοῦς

34.16.9 | And the servant of Abraham sent to Rebecca, giving her ten gold coins at the well, and her brothers holding her for ten days, also Rehoboam who took the ten scepters, and the tent with its ten curtains, and the pillars ten cubits high, and the ten sons of Jacob sent first to buy grain in Egypt, and the ten apostles, to whom the lord showed himself after the resurrection, Thomas not being present, all clearly show the invisible ten in them.

δεκάδα.

Section 17

34.17.1 | 17. Τὴν δωδεκάδα δέ, περὶ ἣν καὶ τὸ μυστήριον τοῦ πάθους τοῦ Ὑστερήματος γεγονέναι, ἐξ οὗ πάθους τὰ βλεπόμενα κατεσκευάσθαι θέλουσιν, ἐπισήμως καὶ φανερώς πανταχῇ

34.17.1 | But the twelve, about which also the mystery of the Passion of the Deficiency happened, from which they want the visible things to be made, clearly and openly everywhere.

34.17.2 | They say it lies in the twelve sons of Jacob, from whom also the twelve tribes come, and the twelve stones of the breastplate, and the twelve bells, and the twelve stones placed under the mountain by Moses, likewise those with Jesus in the river and others on the other side, and those carrying the ark of the covenant, and those sent by Elijah in the burning of the calf, and the number of the apostles, and all simply things that keep the number twelve show their twelve.

34.17.3 | And the union of all these is called the thirty, because of the ark of Noah being thirty cubits high, and because Samuel laid Saul down among the thirty called men first, and because David hid for thirty days in the field, and because of those who came with him into the cave, and because the length of the holy tent was thirty cubits, and if they find any others equal in number to these, they like to show their thirty by such things.

Section 18

34.18.1 | 18. Ἀναγκαῖον <δὲ> ἡγησάμην προσθεῖναι τούτοις καὶ ὅσα περὶ τοῦ Προπάτορος αὐτῶν, ὃς ἄγνωστος ἦν τοῖς πᾶσι πρὸ τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ παρουσίας, ἐκλέγοντες ἐκ τῶν γραφῶν πείθειν ἐπιχειροῦσιν, ἵν' ἐπιδείξωσι τὸν κύριον ἡμῶν ἄλλον καταγγέλλοντα πατέρα παρὰ τὸν ποιητὴν τοῦδε τοῦ παντός, ὃν καθὼς προέφαμεν ἀσεβοῦντες Ὑστερήματος καρπὸν εἶναι λέγουσι.

34.18.1 | I thought it necessary to add to these also what is about their Forefather, who was unknown to all before the coming of Christ, choosing from the scriptures they try to persuade, so that they may show our lord as another father besides the maker of all this, whom, as we said before, they say is the fruit of lack, acting impiously.

34.18.2 | τὸν γοῦν προφήτην Ἡσαΐαν εἰπόντα »Ἰσραὴλ δέ με οὐκ ἔγνω καὶ ὁ λαὸς με οὐ συνῆκεν«, τὴν τοῦ ἀοράτου Βυθοῦ ἀγνωσίαν εἰρηκέναι μεθαρμόζουσι.

34.18.2 | At least the prophet Isaiah saying, “Israel did not know me, and the people did not understand me,” they interpret as saying the ignorance of the invisible Depth.

34.18.3 | καὶ διὰ Ὡσηὲ τὸ εἰρημένον »οὐκ ἔστιν ἐν αὐτοῖς ἀλήθεια οὐδὲ ἐπίγνωσις θεοῦ« εἰς τὸ αὐτὸ συντείνειν βιάζονται, καὶ τό »οὐκ ἔστιν ὁ συνιῶν ἢ ἐκζητῶν τὸν θεόν· πάντες ἐξέκλιναν, ἅμα ἡχρειώθησαν« ἐπὶ τῆς τοῦ Βυθοῦ ἀγνωσίας τάττουσι.

34.18.3 | And through Hosea, the saying “there is no truth in them nor knowledge of God” they force to mean the same thing, and the “no one understands or seeks God; all have turned away, together they have become worthless” they place on the ignorance of the Depth.

34.18.4 | καὶ τὸ διὰ Μωυσέως δὲ εἰρημένον »οὐδεὶς ὄψεται τὸν θεὸν καὶ ζήσεται« εἰς ἐκεῖνον ἔχειν πείθουσι τὴν ἀναφοράν. τὸν μὲν γὰρ ποιητὴν ἐπιψευδόμενοι ὑπὸ τῶν προφητῶν ἑωρᾶσθαι λέγουσι, τὸ δὲ <γεγραμμένον> »οὐδεὶς ὄψεται τὸν θεὸν καὶ ζήσεται« περὶ τοῦ ἀοράτου μεγέθους καὶ ἀγνώστου τοῖς πᾶσιν εἰρησθαι θέλουσι.

34.18.4 | And the saying through Moses, “no one will see God and live,” they persuade to refer to that. For denying the maker, they say he was seen by the prophets, but they want the written “no one will see God and live” to be about the invisible greatness unknown to all.

34.18.5 | καὶ ὅτι μὲν περὶ τοῦ ἀοράτου

34.18.5 | And that the saying “no one will πατὴρ καὶ ποιητοῦ τῶν ὅλων εἴρηται τό »οὐδεὶς ὄψεται τὸν θεόν« πᾶσιν ἡμῖν φανερὸν ἐστὶν· ὅτι δὲ οὐ περὶ τοῦ ὑπὸ τούτων παρεπινοομένου Βυθοῦ, ἀλλὰ περὶ τοῦ Δημιουργοῦ καὶ αὐτός ἐστιν ὁ ἀόρατος θεός, δειχθήσεται τοῦ λόγου προϊόντος.

see God” is about the invisible father and maker of all is clear to all of us; but that it is not about the Depth that is thought of by these people, but about the Creator, who himself is the invisible god, will be shown as the argument goes on.

34.18.6 | καὶ τὸν Δανιήλ δὲ τὸ αὐτὸν τοῦτο σημαίνειν ἐν τῷ ἐπερωτᾶν τὸν ἄγγελον τὰς ἐπιλύσεις τῶν παραβολῶν, ὡς μὴ εἰδότα· ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸν ἄγγελον ἀποκρυπτόμενον ἀέ αὐτοῦ τὸ μέγα μυστήριον τοῦ Βυθοῦ εἰπεῖν αὐτῷ »ἀπότρεχε Δανιήλ· οὗτοι γὰρ οἱ λόγοι ἐμπεφραγμένοι εἰσὶν, ἕως οἱ συνιέντες συνιῶσι καὶ οἱ λευκοὶ λευκανθῶσι« καὶ αὐτοὺς εἶναι τοὺς λευκοὺς καὶ [εὔ] συνιέντας ἀχύροισιν.

34.18.6 | And Daniel means the same thing when he asks the angel for the explanations of the parables, as if he did not know; but the angel, hiding the great mystery of the Depth from him, says, “Run away, Daniel; for these words are sealed until those who understand understand, and the white ones become white”; and they call those who are white and understand well by that name.

34.18.7 | Πρὸς δὲ τούτοις ἀμύθητον πηγὴς ἀποκρύφων καὶ νόθων γραφῶν, ἃς αὐτοὶς ἐπλασαν, παραφέρουσιν εἰς κατάπληξιν τῶν ἀνοήτων καὶ τὰ τῆς ἀληθείας μὴ ἐπισταμένων γράμματα.

34.18.7 | And on top of this, they bring in countless secret and false writings, which they themselves made up, to confuse the foolish and those who do not know the true writings.

34.18.8 | προσπαραλαμβάνουσι δὲ εἰς τοῦτο κάκεινο τὸ ῥαδιούργημα, ὡς τοῦ κυρίου παιδὸς ὄντος καὶ μανθάνοντος τὰ γράμματα, τοῦ διδασκάλου αὐτῷ φήσαντος, καθὼς ἔθος ἐστίν· εἰπὲ ἄλφα, ἀποκρίνασθαι τὸ ἄλφα.

34.18.8 | And they add to this and that trick, that since he was a child of the lord and learning the letters, his teacher told him, as is the custom, ‘say alpha, and answer with alpha.’

34.18.9 | πάλιν τε τὸ βῆτα τοῦ διδασκάλου κελεύοντος εἰπεῖν, ἀποκρίνασθαι τὸν κύριον· σύ μοι πρότερον ἐπεὶ τί ἐστι τὸ ἄλφα, καὶ τότε σοι ἐρῶ τί ἐστι τὸ βῆτα. καὶ τοῦτο ἐξηγοῦνται, ὡς αὐτοῦ μόνου τὸ ἄγνωστον ἐπισταμένου, ὃ ἐφανέρωσεν ἐν

34.18.9 | Again, when the teacher told him to say beta, he answered the lord: ‘you first tell me what alpha is, and then I will tell you what beta is.’ And they explain this as if only he knew the unknown, which he τῷ τύπῳ τοῦ αλφα.

showed in the form of alpha.

34.18.10 | Ἔνια Τε καὶ τῶν ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ κειμένων εἰς τοῦτον τὸν χαρακτῆρα μεθαρμόζουσιν, ὡς τὴν πρὸς τὴν μητέρα αὐτοῦ δωδεκαετοῦς ὄντος ἀπόκρισιν »οὐκ οἶδατε ὅτι ἐν τοῖς τοῦ πατρὸς μου δεῖ με εἶναι;« ὃν οὐκ ᾔδεισαν, φασί, πατέρα κατήγγελλεν αὐτοῖς· καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἐκπέμψαι τοὺς μαθητὰς εἰς τὰς δώδεκα φυλάς, κηρύσσοντας τὸν ἄγνωστον αὐτοῖς θεόν.

34.18.10 | Some also change certain things in the gospel to this meaning, like the answer he gave to his mother when he was twelve: 'didn't you know I must be in my father's house?' They say he did not know his father, but was telling them about the father; and because of this, he sent the disciples to the twelve tribes, preaching the god unknown to them.

34.18.11 | καὶ τῷ εἰπόντι αὐτῷ »διδάσκαλε ἀγαθέ« τὸν ἀληθῶς ἀγαθὸν θεὸν ὁμολογηκέναι εἰπόντα »τί με λέγεις ἀγαθόν; εἷς ἐστὶν ἀγαθός, ὁ πατήρ ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς«· οὐρανοὺς δὲ νῦν τοὺς Αἰῶνας εἰρησθαι λέγουσι.

34.18.11 | And to the one who said to him, 'good teacher,' he confessed the truly good god by saying, 'why do you call me good? there is only one who is good. the father in the heavens.' And now they say that 'heavens' means the ages.

34.18.12 | καὶ διὰ τοῦ μὴ ἀποκριθῆναι τοῖς εἰποῦσιν αὐτῷ »ἐν ποίᾳ δυνάμει τοῦτο ποιεῖς«, ἀλλὰ τῇ ἀντεπερωτήσῃ ἀπορῆσαι αὐτοὺς τὸ ἄρρητον τοῦ Πατρὸς ἐν τῷ <μῇ> εἰπεῖν δεδειχέναι αὐτὸν ἐξηγοῦνται.

34.18.12 | And because he did not answer those who said to him, 'by what power do you do this,' but by answering back, he left them confused, they explain that he showed he was not allowed to speak the unspeakable of the Father in the 'not.'

34.18.13 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῷ εἰρηκέναι »πολλάκις λάκις ἐπεθύμησα ἀκοῦσαι ἓνα τῶν λόγων τούτων, καὶ οὐκ ἔσχον τὸν ἐροῦντα« ἐμφαίνοντός φασιν εἶναι διὰ τοῦ »ἓνα« τὸν ἀληθῶς ἓνα θεόν, ὃν οὐκ ἐγνώκεισαν.

34.18.13 | But also in the saying, 'many times I wanted to hear one of these words, and I did not have the one to say it,' they say it shows that by 'one' is meant the truly one god, whom they did not know.

34.18.14 | ἔτι ἐν τῷ προσσχόντα αὐτὸν τῇ Ἱερουσαλὴμ δακρῦσαι ἐπ' αὐτὴν καὶ εἰπεῖν

34.18.14 | Still, when Jerusalem was about to weep over it and said, 'if you also knew »εἰ ἔγνωσ καὶ σὺ σήμερον τὰ πρὸς εἰρήνην; ἐκρύβη δὲ <ἀπὸ> σοῦ«, διὰ τοῦ »ἐκρύβη« ῥήματος τὸ ἀπόκρυφον τοῦ Βυθοῦ δεδηλωκέναι.

today the things that make for peace; but they were hidden from you,' by the word 'hidden' they say the secret of the Depth was shown.

34.18.15 | καὶ πάλιν εἰπόντα »δεῦτε πρὸς με πάντες οἱ κοπιῶντες καὶ πεφορτισμένοι, καὶ μάθετε ἀπ' ἐμοῦ«, τὸν τῆς ἀληθείας πατέρα κατηγγελκέναι. ὁ γὰρ οὐκ ᾔδεισαν, φασί, τοῦτο αὐτοῖς ὑπέσχετο διδάξαι.

34.18.15 | And again, when he said, 'come to me, all you who are tired and burdened, and learn from me,' they say he revealed the father of truth. For they say, they did not know that he promised to teach them this.

34.18.16 | <Ἀπόδειξιν> δὲ τῶν άνωτάτω καὶ οἰονεὶ κορωνίδα τῆς ὑποθέσεως οὐτῶν φέρουσι ταῦτα »ἐξομολογοῦμαί σοι, πάτερ, κύριε τῶν οὐρανῶν καὶ τῆς γῆς, ὅτι ἀπέκρυψας αὐτὰ ἀπὸ σοφῶν καὶ συνετῶν καὶ ἀπεκάλυψας αὐτὰ νηπίοις. οὐά, ὁ πατήρ μου, ὅτι ἔμπροσθέν σου εὐδοκία [μοι] ἐγένετο. πάντα μοι παρεδόθη ὑπὸ τοῦ πατρός μου, καὶ οὐδεὶς ἔγνω τὸν πατέρα, εἰ μὴ ὁ υἱός, καὶ τὸν υἱόν, εἰ μὴ ὁ πατήρ καὶ ὃς ἂν ὁ υἱὸς ἀποκαλύψῃ«.

34.18.16 | And the highest proof and the crown of the whole story is this: 'I praise you, father, lord of heaven and earth, because you hid these things from the wise and understanding, and revealed them to little children. Yes, father, because it pleased you before me. All things were given to me by my father, and no one knows the father except the son, and no one knows the son except the father and the one to whom the son reveals him.'

34.18.17 | ἐν τούτοις <γάρ> διαρρήδην φασὶ δεδειχέναι αὐτόν, ὡς τὸν ὑπ' αὐτῶν παρεξυρημένον πατέρα ἀληθείας πρὸ τῆς παρουσίας αὐτοῦ μηδὲ ἐνὸς πώποτε ἐγνωκότος, καὶ κατασκευάζειν θέλουσιν, ὡς τοῦ ποιητοῦ καὶ κτιστοῦ αἰεὶ ὑπὸ πάντων ἐγνωσμένου, καὶ ταῦτα τὸν κύριον εἰρηκέναι περὶ τοῦ ἀγνώστου τοῖς πᾶσι πατρός, ὃν αὐτοὶ καταγγέλλουσι.

34.18.17 | For in these things they openly say he was shown, that the father of truth, who was found by them, was never known by anyone before his coming, and they want to make it so that the creator and maker was always known by all, and they say the lord said these things about the unknown father to all, whom they proclaim.

Section 19

34.19.1 | 19. Τὴν δὲ τῆς ἀπολυτρώσεως <παρ' > αὐτοῖς παράδοσιν συμβέβηκεν ἀόρατον εἶναι καὶ ἀκατάληπτον, ἅτε † τῶν ἀκρατήτων καὶ ἀοράτων Μητέρα ὑπάρχουσιν καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἄστατον οὖσαν, οὐχ Ἀπλῶς οὐδὲ ἐνὶ λόγῳ ἀπαγγεῖλαι ἔστιν διὰ τὸ ἓνα ἕκαστον αὐτῶν, καθὼς αὐτοὶ βούλονται, παραδιδόναι αὐτήν. ὅσοι γὰρ εἰσι ταύτης τῆς γνώμης μυσταγωγοί, τοσαῦται καὶ ἀπολυτρώσεις.

34.19.1 | But the story of redemption handed down by them turned out to be invisible and impossible to understand, since it has a mother who is uncontrolled and unseen, and because of this is unstable.
It cannot simply be told in one word or another, because each one, as they want, hands it down differently. For as many as there are initiates of this belief, so many are the stories of redemption.

34.19.2 | καὶ ὅτι μὲν εἰς ἐξάρνησιν τοῦ βαπτίσματος τῆς εἰς θεὸν ἀναγεννήσεως καὶ πάσης τῆς πίστεως ἀπόθεσιν ὑποβέβληται τὸ εἶδος τοῦτο ὑπὸ τοῦ Σατανᾶ, ἐλέγχοντες αὐτοὺς ἀπαγγελοῦμεν ἐν τῷ προσηκόντι τοπῷ.

34.19.2 | And that this form has been subjected by Satan to a denial of baptism, of rebirth into God, and of all faith, we prove by showing their errors in the proper place.

34.19.3 | Λέγουσι δὲ αὐτὴν ἀναγκαίαν εἶναι τοῖς τὴν τελείαν γνῶσιν εἰληφόσιν, ἵνα εἰς τὴν ὑπὲρ πάντα δύναμιν ᾧσιν ἀναγεγεννημένοι. ἄλλως γὰρ ἄδύνατον > ἐντὸς Πληρώματος εἰσελθεῖν, ἐπεὶ δὴ αὕτη ἐστὶν ἡ εἰς τὸ βάθος τοῦ Βυθοῦ κατάγουσα κατ' αὐτούς.

34.19.3 | And they say it is necessary for those who have received perfect knowledge, so that they may be reborn into the power above all. For otherwise, it is impossible to enter within the Fullness, since this is what leads down into the depths of the Abyss, according to them.

34.19.4 | τὸ μὲν γὰρ βάπτισμα τοῦ φαινομένου Ἰησοῦ ἀφέσεως <εἶναι > ἁμαρτιῶν, τὴν δὲ ἀπολύτρωσιν τοῦ ἐν αὐτῷ Χριστοῦ εἰς τελείωσιν, καὶ τὸ μὲν ψυχικόν, τὴν δὲ πνευματικὴν εἶναι ὑφίστανται, καὶ τὸ μὲν βάπτισμα ὑπὸ Ἰωάννου κατηγγέλθαι εἰς μετάνοιαν, τὴν δὲ ἀπολύτρωσιν ὑπὸ Χριστοῦ κεκομίσθαι εἰς τελείωσιν.

34.19.4 | For the baptism of the visible Jesus is forgiveness of sins, and the redemption of Christ in him is for perfection. The one is natural, the other spiritual. The baptism was announced by John for repentance, but the redemption was brought by Christ for perfection.

34.19.5 | καὶ τοῦτ' εἶναι περὶ οὗ λέγει »καὶ

34.19.5 | And this is what he means when ἄλλο βάπτισμα ἔχω βαπτισθῆναι, καὶ πάννυ ἐπείγομαι εἰς αὐτό». ἀλλὰ καὶ τοῖς υἱοῖς Ζεβεδαίου, τὴν μητρὸς αὐτῶν αἰτούμενης τὸ καθίσαι αὐτοὺς ἐκ δεξιῶν καὶ ἐξ ἀριστερῶν μετ’ αὐτοῦ εἰς τὴν βασιλείαν, ταύτην προσθεῖναι τὴν ἀπολύτρωσιν τὸν κύριον λέγουσιν, εἰπόντα »δύνασθε τὸ βάπτισμα βαπτισθῆναι, ὃ ἐγὼ μέλλω βαπτίζεσθαι;«

he says, “I have another baptism to be baptized with, and how I am pressed to be baptized with it.” And also to the sons of Zebedee, when their mother asked that they sit at his right and left in the kingdom, they say the Lord added this redemption, saying, “Can you drink the baptism I am about to be baptized with?”

34.19.6 | καὶ τὸν Παῦλον ῥητῶς φάσκουσι τὴν ἐν Χριστῷ Ἰησοῦ ἀπολύτρωσιν πολλάκις μεμνησκέναι, καὶ εἶναι ταύτην τὴν ὑπ’ αὐτῶν ποικίλως καὶ ἀσυμφώνως παραδιδομένην.

34.19.6 | And they say that Paul clearly said many times about the redemption in Christ Jesus, and that this redemption is handed down by them in many different and conflicting ways.

Section 20

34.20.1 | 20. Οἱ μὲν γὰρ αὐτῶν νυμφῶνα κατασκευάζουσι καὶ μυσταγωγίαν ἐπιτελοῦσι μετ’ ἐπιρρήσεών τινων τοῖς τελουμένοις καὶ πνευματικὸν γάμον φάσκουσιν εἶναι τὸ ὑπ’ αὐτῶν γινόμενον κατὰ τὴν ὁμοιότητα τῶν ἄνω συζυγιῶν·

34.20.1 | For some of them build a bridal chamber and perform a secret rite with certain words over those taking part, and they say that the marriage they make is a spiritual one, like the unions above.

34.20.2 | οἱ δὲ ἄγουσιν ἐφ’ ὕδωρ καὶ βαπτίζοντες οὕτως ἐπιλέγουσιν »εἰς ὄνομα ἀγνώστου πατρὸς τῶν ὅλων, εἰς Ἀλήθειαν μητέρα > πάντων, εἰς τὸν κατελθόντα εἰς Ἰησοῦν εἰς ἔνωσιν καὶ ἀπολύτρωσιν καὶ κοινωνίαν τῶν δυνάμεων«.

34.20.2 | But others lead people to water and baptize them, saying, “In the name of the unknown father of all, in Truth the mother of all, in the one who came down into Jesus, for union and redemption and sharing of powers.”

34.20.3 | ἄλλοι δὲ Ἑβραϊκὰ τινὰ ὀνόματα ἐπιλέγουσι πρὸς τὸ μᾶλλον καταπλήξασθαι τοὺς τελουμένους, οὕτως· βασεμὰ χαμοσσή βααιανοορὰ μισταδία ρουαδὰ κουστὰ βαβοφὸρ καλαχθεῖ. τούτων δ’ ἡ ἐρμηνεία ἐστὶ τοιαύτη· ὑπὲρ πᾶσαν δύναμιν τοῦ

34.20.3 | Others use some Hebrew names to amaze those taking part even more, such as: basēma, chamossē, baainoora, mistadia, rouada, koustā, babophor, kalachthei. The meaning of these is this: I call upon the power above all of the Father, called light,

Πατρὸς ἐπικαλοῦμαι * φῶς ὀνομαζόμενον καὶ πνεῦμα ἀγαθὸν καὶ ζωή, ὅτι ἐν σώματι ἐβασίλευσας.

and the good spirit and life, because you have ruled in the body.

34.20.4 | ἄλλοι δὲ πάλιν τὴν λύτρωσιν * ἐπιλέγουσιν οὕτως· τὸ ὄνομα τὸ ἀποκεκρυμμένον ἀπὸ πάσης θεότητος καὶ κυριότητος καὶ ἀληθείας, ὃ ἐνεδύσατο Ἰησοῦς ὁ Ναζαρηνὸς ἐν ταῖς ζώναις τοῦ φωτὸς τοῦ Χριστοῦ, Χριστοῦ ζῶντος διὰ πνεύματος ἁγίου, εἰς λύτρωσιν ἀγγελικὴν, ὄνομα τὸ τῆς ἀποκαταστάσεως·

34.20.4 | Others again say the redemption like this: the name hidden from all godhood and power and truth, which Jesus the Nazarene put on in the bands of the light of Christ, the living Christ through the holy spirit, for angelic redemption, the name of restoration;

34.20.5 | Μεσσία οὐφαρέγνα μεμψαι μὲν χαλ δαίαν μοσομή δαέα ἀκφαρ νεψευ οὐα Ἰησοῦ Ναζαρία. καὶ τούτων δὲ ἡ ἐρμηνεία ἐστὶν τοιαύτη· οὐ διαίρω τὸ πνεῦμα, τὴν καρδίαν καὶ τὴν ὑπερουράνιον δύναμιν τὴν οἰκτίρμονα· ὀναίμην τοῦ ὀνόματός σου, σωτήρ ἀληθείας.

34.20.5 | Messiah oupharegna, I blame indeed chal daian mosome daea akphar nepseu ua Jesus Nazaria. And the meaning of these is this: I do not divide the spirit, the heart, and the merciful power above the sky; I bless your name, savior of truth.

34.20.6 | καὶ ταῦτα μὲν ἐπιλέγουσιν αὐτοὶ οἱ τελοῦντες, ὁ δὲ τετελεσμένος ἀποκρίνεται· ἐστήριγμα καὶ λελύτρωμαι καὶ λυτροῦμαι τὴν ψυχὴν μου ἀπὸ τοῦ αἰῶνος τούτου καὶ πάντων τῶν παρ' αὐτοῦ ἐν τῷ ὀνόματι τοῦ Ἰαῶ, ὃς ἐλυτρώσατα τὴν ψυχὴν αὐτοῦς εἰς, ἀπολύτρωσιν ἐν τῷ Χριστῷ τῷ ζῶντι.

34.20.6 | And these things they who perform say, but the one who is completed answers: I have been supported and freed and I ransom my soul from this age and all things from it in the name of Iao, who freed their soul for release in the living Christ.

34.20.7 | εἴτ' ἐπιλέγουσιν οἱ παρόντες· εἰρήνη πᾶσιν, ἐφ' οὗς τὸ ὄνομα τοῦτο ἐπαναπέπαυτι. ἔπειτα μυρίζουσι τὸν τετελεσμένον τῷ ὁπῶ τῷ ἀπὸ βαλσάμου. τὸ γὰρ μύρον τοῦτο τόποι τῆς ὑπὲρ τὰ ὅλα εὐωδίας εἶναι λέγουσιν.

34.20.7 | Then those present say: peace to all, on whom this name has rested again.
Then they anoint the completed one with the ointment from balsam. For they say this perfume is the place of the fragrance above all.

34.20.8 | Ἐνιοὶ δ' αὐτῶν τὸ μὲν ἄγειν ἐπὶ τὸ ὕδωρ περισσὸν εἶναι φάσκουσι, μίξαντες δὲ ἔλαιον καὶ ὕδωρ ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ μετ' ἐπιρρήσεων <τινῶν> αἷς προειρήκαμεν ἐπιβάλλουσι τῇ κεφαλῇ τῶν τελουμένων, καὶ τοῦτ' εἶναι τὴν ἀπολύτρωσιν θέλουσι. μυρίζουσι δὲ καὶ αὐτοὶ τῷ βαλσάμῳ.

34.20.8 | Some of them say it is better to bring water, but mixing oil and water together with certain words we said before, they put it on the head of those being completed, and they want this to be the release. They also anoint themselves with balsam.

34.20.9 | ἄλλοι δὲ ταῦτα πάντα παραιτησάμενοι φάσκουσι μὴ δεῖν τὸ τῆς ἀρρήτου καὶ ἀοράτου δυνάμεως μυστήριον δι' ὁρατῶν καὶ φθαρτῶν ἐπιτελεῖσθαι κτισμάτων, καὶ τῶν ἀενναίων καὶ ἀσωμάτων δι' αἰσθητῶν καὶ σωματικῶν.

34.20.9 | Others, rejecting all these things, say that the mystery of the unspeakable and invisible power should not be completed through visible and perishable creatures, nor of the unthinkable and incorporeal through sensible and bodily things.

34.20.10 | εἶναι δὲ τὴν τελείαν ἀπολύτρωσιν αὐτὴν τὴν ἐπίγνωσιν τοῦ ἀρρήτου Μεγέθους· ὑπ' ἀγνοίας γὰρ Ὑστερήματος καὶ πάθους γεγονότων διὰ γνώσεως καταλύεσθαι πᾶσαν τὴν ἐκ τῆς ἀγνοίας σύστασιν, ὥστ' εἶναι τὴν γνῶσιν ἀπολύτρωσιν τοῦ ἔνδον ἀνθρώπου.

34.20.10 | The perfect release is to be the knowledge of the unspeakable Size; for because of ignorance, lack, and suffering, all the structure made from ignorance is broken down through knowledge, so that knowledge is the release of the inner person.

34.20.11 | καὶ μήτε σωματικὴν ὑπάρχειν αὐτὴν φθαρτὸν γὰρ τὸ σῶμα) μήτε ψυχικὴν, ἐπὶ καὶ ἡ ψυχὴ ἐξ Ὑστερήματός > καὶ ἔστι τοῦ πνεύματος ὥσπερ οἰκητήριον· πνευματικὴν οὖν δεῖν καὶ τὴν λύτρωσιν ὑπάρχειν.

34.20.11 | And neither is it physical, for the body is perishable; nor is it psychic, since the soul also comes from lack; and the spirit is like a dwelling place. Therefore, the release must be spiritual.

34.20.12 | λυτροῦσθαι γὰρ διὰ γνώσεως τὸ ἔσω ἄνθρωπον τὸν πνευματικὸν καὶ ἀρκεῖσθαι αὐτοὺς τῇ τῷ ὅλῳ ἐπιγνώσει. καὶ ταύτην εἶναι λύτρωσιν ἀληθῆ. ΕΩΣ ΩΔΕ

34.20.12 | For the inner person, the spiritual one, is to be freed through knowledge, and they are to be satisfied with the full understanding. And this is the

Section 21

34.21.1 | 21. Ταύτην τὴν πᾶσαν ἀκριβῆ ἔρευναν ὁ μακάριος πρεσβύτες Εἰρηναῖος ἐποιήσατο, καθ' εἰρμὸν πάντα ἐκθέμενος τῆς αὐτῶν πάσης παραπεποιημένης διδασκαλίας. διόπερ δὴ, ὡς καὶ ἤδη μοι προδεδήλωται, ὅτι] τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἐσπουδασμένοις ἀρκεσθέντες πάντα πρὸς ἔπος, ὡς παρ' αὐτῷ ἐμφέρεται, παρεθήκαμεν.

34.21.1 | 21. The blessed old man Irenaeus made this whole careful investigation, setting out everything in order according to their entire trusted teaching. Therefore, as has already been shown to me, having given all things in words enough for those who studied under him, as it is said from him, we have handed it over.

34.21.2 | ἀνατραπήσονται δὲ ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν παρὰ τοῦ αγίου ἀνδρὸς εἰς ἀντίθεσιν τῆς αὐτῶν μοχθηρίας εἰρημένων. ἡμεῖς γὰρ πιστεύομεν, ὡς πάντῃ ἡ ἀλήθεια ὑποφαίνει καὶ ὁ εὐλόγος λογισμὸς ὑποτίθεται καὶ τῷ τῆς εὐσεβείας κανόνι συμπεφώνηται τῷ τε νόμῳ καὶ τοῖς προφήταις καὶ τοῖς ἀπὸ τῶν ἀνέκαθεν πατριάρχαις κατὰ ἀκολουθίαν τῇ τε αὐτοῦ τοῦ σωτῆρος διδαχῇ,

34.21.2 | But what was said by the holy man will be turned around against their wickedness. For we believe that truth shines everywhere, and good reason supports it, and it agrees with the rule of piety, with the law and the prophets, and with the ancient patriarchs in order, and with the teaching of the savior himself.

34.21.3 | τοῦ > καὶ τῶν αὐτοῦ ἀποστόλων σαφῶς ἡμᾶς διδασκόντων ἕνα ὁμολογεῖν θεὸν πατέρα, παντοκράτορα τῶν ὅλων, καὶ τὸν κύριον ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦν Χριστὸν καὶ τὸ ἅγιον αὐτοῦ πνεῦμα, μίαν ἀγίαν τριάδα ἄκτιστον, τῶν ἄλλων ἀπάντων ἐξ οὐκ ὄντων γενομένων μετὰ πατέρα καὶ υἱὸν καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα.

34.21.3 | And of him and his apostles clearly teaching us to confess one God the Father, almighty over all, and our Lord Jesus Christ, and his holy spirit, one holy and uncreated trinity, with all the others not existing, made after the Father and the Son and the holy spirit.

34.21.4 | τούτων δὲ Παρὰ πάντων τῶν προειρημένων ἁγίων προφητῶν τε καὶ εὐαγγελιστῶν καὶ ἀποστόλων σαφῶς ὡμολογημένων καὶ πεπιστευμένων, οὐκ ἂν δυνηθεῖν κυβευτικὴ τις ἐπίνοια ἀντισχεῖν

34.21.4 | But from all these, among the holy prophets and evangelists and apostles clearly confessed and believed before, no trick of thought could stand against the ray of truth, as has often been said to us fully in πρὸς τὴν ἀκτῖνα τῆς ἀληθείας, ὥς γε ἡμῖν πολλάκις κατὰ πλάτος εἴρηται ἐν τῇ πρὸς ἐκάστην αἵρεσιν ἀντιθέσει· answer to each heresy.

34.21.5 | ὥς ἐξ ἅπαντος φωρᾶσθαι καὶ τοῦτον τὸν ἀγύρτην καὶ θανατοποιὸν ἰσοτύπως ταῖς προειρημέναις ἐπιδείξω χάριν καὶ περιεργίας τὰ μεγάλα ταῦτα καττύσαντά τε καὶ μηχανησάμενον.

34.21.5 | As from everything it is shown clearly that this cheat and death-bringer in the same way for the sake of the above proofs and curiosity has made and invented these great things.

Section 22

34.22.1 | 22. Παρελθόντες δὲ καὶ τούτου τὴν μοχθηρίαν καὶ τῶν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ Μαρκωσίων λεγομένων ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς σπεύσωμεν, ὡ ἐπιπόθητοι, τὰς αὐτῶν ῥίζας πάλιν ἀνερευνῶντες καὶ τῶν καρπῶν αὐτῶν τὴν πικρίαν ἀφανίζοντες, τὴν τε ἀνατροπὴν καὶ τὰ κατ' αὐτοὺς πάντα ἐπιδεικνύντες, οὐχὶ εἰς βλάβην τῶν ἐντυγχανόντων, ἀλλὰ εἰς ἀποτροπὴν, 34.22.1 | 22. And passing over the wickedness of this one and the Marcionites who come from him, let us hurry, o eager ones, to search again their roots and reveal the bitterness of their fruits, showing both their overthrow and all things about them, not to harm those who meet them, but to turn them away.

34.22.2 | πρὸς τὸ μὴ πλησιάσαι μιᾷ τῶν προειρημένων αἱρέσεων ἢ τῶν μετέπειτα, ἀλλὰ ἀναγνόντας τὰ γεγραμμένα παρ' αὐτοῖς καὶ γνόντας τὰ ἁδόμενα καὶ καταγνόντας τῆς ἐκάστης αὐτῶν πλάνης τε καὶ ἐρπετώδους μοχθηρίας ἀποφεύγειν τε καὶ ὥς εἶπον μὴ πλησιάζειν.

34.22.2 | So that no one may come near to any one of the heresies mentioned before or those that follow, but reading what is written by them and knowing what is sung and recognizing the error and creeping wickedness of each, to avoid and, as i said, not to come near.

34.22.3 | διψάδα γάρ τινα ἔχιδνάν φασιν οἱ ἱστορήσαντες, ἢ οὕτως ἔοικεν λύμην τοιάνδε ἐμποιεῖν· ἐν τόποις γάρ τισιν, ὅπου πύελοι ἐν ταῖς πέτραις ἢ λιβάδες εἰσὶ μικραὶ ἀπὸ πετρῶν χεόμεναι εἰς ὑποδοχὴν τινα, ἢ αὐτὴ διψὰς ὕδωρ εὐρίσκουσα καὶ πιοῦσα τὸν ἰὸν ἐμβάλλει μετὰ τὸ πιεῖν εἰς τὰς προειρημένας στάσεις στάσεις τῶν

34.22.3 | For some say there is a thirst like a viper's, which seems to cause such pain; for in certain places, where small pools or trickles flow from rocks into some basin, the same thirst finds water and drinks it, then after drinking it throws its poison into the water's resting places, so that every animal coming near and drinking seems to ὕδατων, ὥστε πᾶν ζῶον πλησιάσαν καὶ ποτοῦ κορεσθὲν δοκεῖν μὲν ὠφελεῖσθαι ἐκ τοῦ μεταλαβεῖν, εὐθύς δὲ παρὰ τὸν ὑποδόχον τῶν ὑδάτων ἐκ τοῦ ἰοῦ τῆς διψᾶδος ὑποδεξάμενον καταπίπτειν καὶ θνήσκειν.

benefit from the drink, but right by the water's basin, having taken in the poison of the thirst, it falls down and dies.

34.22.4 | ἀλλὰ καὶ εἴ τινα πλήξειεν ἡ αὐτὴ διψάς, ἀπὸ τοῦ περισσοτέρως ἐν αὐτῇ καυστικοῦ ἰοῦ ἐπὶ ὄρεξιν δίψης καὶ πόματος προτρέπει τὸ πάθος τῆς ἀλγηδόνης προσφέρεσθαι τε αἰεὶ καὶ πίνειν ἐρεθίζει.

34.22.4 | But even if the same thirst strikes someone, because of the strong burning poison in it, it pushes the desire for thirst and drink, and the pain's suffering always makes one want to bring it on and drink.

34.22.5 | νομίζει δέ τι ὠφελεῖσθαι πρὸς τὴν λύμην ὃ πληγείς, ὁσάκις τῆς τοιαύτης θανατηφόρου ἀλγηδόνης * λαμβάνει, ἀλλὰ ἐν αὐτῷ τῷ πότῳ πληρωθείσης τῆς γαστρὸς καὶ μηκέτι > ὑποδεχομένης ὕστερον σὺν τῷ πόματι τὸ πνεῦμα ἀφίησιν.

34.22.5 | The one struck thinks he is helped against the pain, whenever he takes some of this deadly pain, but in that very drink, once the stomach is full and no longer able to receive, he lets go of his breath along with the drink.

34.22.6 | οὕτως καὶ οὗτος ἀπὸ πόματος τὸν θάνατον τοῖς παρ' αὐτοῦ ἠπατημένοις ἐξεργάζεται, οὔπερ ἰοῦ ἐν δυνάμει θεοῦ ρυσθέντες ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἴωμεν.

34.22.6 | In this way, this one brings death by drink to those deceived by it, whose poison, by the power of a god, having been escaped, let us go on to what follows.

Book 35

Section 1

35.1.1 | Κολόρβασος τούτοις ἔπεται ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ προειρημένου Μάρκου γοητείας τὸν ἔρανον ποιησάμενος, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ Πτολεμαίου ρίζης σκολόπων δίκην ἀναφύσας· ἕτερα <δὲ> πάλιν τούτους ἐνοχλεῖν τῷ κόσμῳ κέντρων δίκην ἐπενόησε, δῆθεν μείζονα ἐμπειρίαν, ὡς

35.1.1 | Kolorbasos follows these, having made a collection from the magic of the aforementioned Markos, but also having sprung up from the root of Ptolemaios like thorns; and again he thought up other things to bother these with the world like thorns, supposedly a greater experience, ἄνωθεν ἦκων, μηχανώμενος.

35.1.2 | καὶ τὰ μὲν πρῶτα σὺν τῷ Μάρκῳ ὑπάρχων ὁμοιογνώμονι αὐτῷ, δίκην δικεφάλου ὄφεως ὑπαρχούσης τῆς αὐτῶν αἰρέσεως, ὕστερον δὲ ὡς κεφαλὴ ἀπὸ σώματος ἐρπετοῦ τμηθεῖσα καὶ ἔτι ἐμπνέουσα πολλοὺς ἀφανίσας ἡδίκησεν, ὡς δῆθεν μεῖζόν τι καὶ ἐμπειρότερον παρὰ τοὺς σὺν αὐτῷ καὶ τοὺς πρῶτους δεικνύς.

35.1.2 | And the first things, being with Markos and sharing his opinion, like a two-headed snake belonging to their sect, later as a head cut off from the body of a serpent and still breathing, it harmed many by killing them unjustly, as if showing something greater and more skilled than those with him and the first ones.

35.1.3 | λέγει γὰρ τὴν πρώτην ὀγδοάδα οὐ καθ' ὑπόβασιν ἄλλον ὑπὸ ἄλλου Αἰῶνα προβεβλήσθαι, ἀλλ' ὁμοῦ καὶ εἰς ἅπαξ τὴν τῶν ἕξ Αἰώνων προβολὴν ὑπὸ τοῦ Προπάτορος καὶ τῆς Ἐννοίας αὐτοῦ τετέχθαι, ὡς αὐτὸς μαιωσάμενος, διαβεβαιούται. καὶ οὐκέτι ἐκ Λόγου καὶ Ζωῆς Ἀνθρωπον καὶ Ἐκκλησίαν, ὡς οἱ ἄλλοι, ἀλλ' ἐξ Ἀνθρώπου καὶ Ἐκκλησίας Λόγον καὶ Ζωὴν φασὶ τετέχθαι αὐτὸς καὶ οἱ αὐτοῦ.

35.1.3 | For he says that the first eighth was not sent one after another under different Ages, but that at once and for all the projection of the six Ages was born by the Forefather and his Thought, as he himself, having midwifed, confirms. And no longer from Word and Life are Man and Church, as others say, but from Man and Church are Word and Life born, he and his own say.

35.1.4 | But they say this in another way too, that when the Forefather thought to send forth, this was called Father; and since what was sent forth was truth, it was named Truth. When he wanted to show himself, this was called Man. Those he planned before sending forth were called Church; and Man [was called] the Word; this one is the firstborn son. Life follows the Word. And so the first eighth was completed.

35.1.5 | πολλὴ δὲ μάχη παρ' αὐτοῖς καὶ περὶ τοῦ Σωτῆρος. οἱ μὲν γὰρ αὐτὸν ἐκ πάντων γεγενῆσθαι λέγουσι, διὸ καὶ εὐδοκητὸν

35.1.5 | There is much fighting among them about the Savior. Some say he came from everything, and so he is called the one who καλεῖσθαι, ὅτι πᾶν τὸ πλήρωμα ἠϋδόκησεν δι' αὐτοῦ δοξάσαι τὸν Πατέρα· οἱ δὲ ἐκ μόνων τῶν δέκα αἰώνων τῶν ἀπὸ Λόγου καὶ Ζωῆς προβεβλημένων αὐτὸν λέγουσι], καὶ διὰ τοῦτο Λόγον καὶ Ζωὴν αὐτὸν x003E,; τὰ προγονικὰ ὀνόματα τὰ] διασφύζοντα· is well-pleasing, because the whole fullness was pleased to glorify the Father through him. Others say he came only from the ten Ages sent forth from Word and Life, and because of this they call him Word and Life, keeping the old names.

35.1.6 | οἱ δὲ ἐκ τῶν δώδεκα Αἰώνων τῶν ἐκ τοῦ Ἀνθρώπου καὶ Ἐκκλησίας γενομένων, καὶ διὰ τοῦτο υἱὸν ἀνθρώπου > ὁμολογεῖν, ὡσανεὶ ἀπόγονον Ἀνθρώπου· οἱ δὲ ὑπὸ τοῦ Χριστοῦ καὶ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος > εἰς στήριγμα τοῦ πληρώματος > γεγονέναι λέγουσιν αὐτόν, καὶ διὰ τοῦτο Χριστὸν λέγεσθαι αὐτόν, τὴν τοῦ Πατρὸς ἀφ' οὗ προεβλήθη διασφύζοντα προσηγορίαν.

35.1.6 | Others say he came from the twelve Ages made from Man and Church, and so they agree he is the son of man, like a descendant of Man. But some say he was made by Christ and the holy spirit as support for the fullness, and so he is called Christ, keeping the name from the Father from whom he was sent forth.

35.1.7 | ἄλλοι δέ, ὡς εἶπεῖν, τονὲς ἐξ αὐτῶν ῥαψωδοί, τὸν Προπάτορα τῶν ὅλων καὶ Προαρχὴν καὶ Προανεννόητον Ἄνθρωπον λέγουσι καλεῖσθαι. καὶ τοῦτ' εἶναι τὸ μέγα καὶ ἀπόκρυφον μυστήριον, ὅτι ἡ ὑπὲρ τὰ ὅλα δύναμις καὶ ἐμπεριεκτικὴ τῶν πάτων Ἄνθρωπος καλεῖται· καὶ διὰ τοῦτο υἱὸν Ἀνθρώπου ἑαυτὸν λέγειν τὸν σωτῆρα.

35.1.7 | Others, as you might say, some of them poets, say the Forefather of all and the First Beginning and the Before-Thought Man is called. And this is the great and hidden mystery, that the power above all and the one who holds everything is called Man; and so the Savior calls himself the son of Man.

Section 2

35.2.1 | 2. Αὕτη καὶ ἡ τοῦ Κολορβάσου μάταιος τῷ βίῳ καὶ φαντασιώδης διὰ ψοφημάτων κενοφωνία· ἥν ἔαν καταμάθοι τις, εἴσεται ἐκ τῶν πρὸ αὐτοῦ ὡς φιλοτιμία ἐστὶ τῆς ἐκάστου τούτων ὑπονοίας <αἰτία>.

35.2.1 | This and the vain talk of Kolorbasos are empty noise and showy nonsense in life; if someone studies it carefully, they will understand that the cause of each of these ideas before it is like ambition.

35.2.2 | κενοδοξῶν γὰρ ἕκαστος καὶ

35.2.2 | For each one is vain-glorious and βουλόμενος ἑαυτῷ συνάγειν ἄθροισμα ὥστε αὐτῷ ἔπεσθαι, ἃ ὑπεισηλθεν τὴν αὐτοῦ ἔννοιαν ἐψευδολόγησεν, οὔτε κατὰ προφητείαν φθεγγόμενος οὐ γὰρ πνεῦμα ἅγιον ἐλάλησεν ἐν αὐτοῖς) οὔτε ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν προφητῶν καὶ εὐαγγελίων ἀληθείας κἂν μίαν πρόφασιν ἐσχηκώς.

wanting to gather a collection for himself to follow, he lied about his own idea, neither speaking by prophecy (for he did not speak by the holy spirit in them) nor having even one reason from the truth of the prophets and gospels.

35.2.3 | ἀνατροπὴ δὲ τούτων πάντων τῆς ψευδωνύμου γνώσεως ὁ αὐτὸς τῆς ἀληθείας κατὰ τῶν πρώτων ῥηθεὶς λόγος. τῆς γὰρ Οὐαλεντίνου σχολῆς καὶ τῶν πρὸ αὐτοῦ οὗτοι πάντες ὑπάρχοντες καὶ τὸν νοῦν ἐκείνου ἄλλως ἄλλος ἐξηγησάμενοι, τὴν ἴσιν αὐτοῖς ὀφλήσουσιν αἰσχύνην.

35.2.3 | The overthrow of all these false knowledges is the same word spoken against the first, which is truth. For all these people, belonging to the school of Valentinus and those before him, each explained that mind differently, and they will owe to them equal shame.

35.2.4 | For great is the deception of empty noise that this Kolorbasos also brought to us. For he imposed on us, making up for the invisible, unseen, and holy god the father of all, the name ‘Man,’ so that he might yoke together with his own error the word of the savior, claiming himself son of Man, and might lead the minds of those who used him away from the true and clearest confession about himself of Christ, into confusion and empty noise of seeking, thinking that what is not is in the heavens.

35.2.5 | δῶμεν γὰρ αὐτὸν διὰ τὸ τὸν ἄνω που αὐτοῦ πατέρα Ἄνθρωπον καλεῖσθαι υἱὸν Ἀνθρώπου ἑαυτὸν ὀνομάζειν καὶ οὐκ ἀπὸ τῆς σαρκὸς ἧς ἔλαβεν ἀπὸ παρθενικῆς μήτρας τουτέστιν ἀπὸ Μαρίας τῆς ἁγίας γεννηθεὶς διὰ πνεύματος ἁγίου) κατὰ τὸν τοῦ ἐλεεινοῦ Κολορβάσου τούτου λόγον, —

35.2.5 | For let us say that he, because he calls his father above ‘Man,’ calls himself son of Man, and not from the flesh which he took from a virgin womb, that is, born of Mary the holy through the holy spirit, according to the word of that miserable Kolorbasos—

35.2.6 | τί ἂν εἴποι περὶ οὗτοῦ αὐτοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστός φησιν, ὡς τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις ἔλεγεν νῦν δέ με ζητεῖτε ἀποκτεῖναι ἄνθρωπον, ὃς τὴν ἀλήθειαν ὑμῖν λελάληκα, ἣν ἤκουσα παρὰ τοῦ πατρὸς μου·

35.2.6 | What would he say about this, whom our lord Jesus Christ himself says, as he was telling the Jews, ‘Now you seek to kill a man, who has spoken to you the truth, which I heard from my father’?

35.2.7 | καὶ οὐκέτι ἐνταῦθα εἶπεν, τοῦ ἀνθρώπου πατρὸς μου, ἀλλὰ περὶ μὲν πατρὸς ὁμολογῶν θεὸν τὸν τῶν ὅλων ἐσήμενεν, περὶ δὲ ἑαυτοῦ, ὅτι ἐνηνθρώπησεν ἐν ἀληθείᾳ, ἄνθρωπον ἑαυτὸν ἔφασκεν·

35.2.7 | And no longer there did he say ‘my father the man,’ but on the one hand, confessing the father as God, the ruler of all, he showed him; on the other hand, about himself, that he truly became a man, he said he was a man.

35.2.8 | ὡς καὶ οἱ ἀπόστολοί φασιν, ἵνα ἡ ἀλήθεια πανταχόθεν συσταθῇ καὶ γνωσθῇ πόθεν ἐστὶν τὰ τῷ κυρίῳ ὀνόματα συναφθέντα »Ἰησοῦν ἄνδρα ἀποδεδειγμένον εἰς ἡμᾶς σημεῖοις καὶ τέρασι· καὶ τὰ ἑξῆς.

35.2.8 | Just as the apostles say, so that the truth may be established everywhere and known where the names of the lord come from, ‘Jesus, a man proven to us by signs and wonders,’ and the rest.

35.2.9 | τί τοίνυν πρὸς ταῦτα φαίης ἂν, ὦ πάντων ἀνθρώπων ἐλεεινότατε, ἐπειδὴ ἄνωθεν ἦκεις φέρων ἡμῖν καινὰς ὀνομασίας καὶ σεμνύνη ἐφ’ οἷς τὸ τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ὄνομα αὐτῷ τῷ πάντων δεσπότῃ καὶ πατρὶ τῶν ὅλων προσάψαι ἐτόλμησας, ὡς ἐκ τούτου καλεῖσθαι τὸν κύριον υἱὸν Ἀνθρώπου διὰ τὸ τὸν πατέρα Ἀνθρωπον καλεῖσθαι.

35.2.9 | What then would you say to this, most miserable of all people, since you have come from above bringing us new names and boldly boast that you dared to attach the name ‘man’ to the lord, the master of all and father of all, so that the lord’s son is called ‘man’ because the father is called ‘man’?

35.2.10 | εὐρὲ ἡμῖν καὶ τίνα ἄλλην προσηγορίαν τῷ πατρὶ ἀρμόζουσιν < κατὰ> τό »ἄνδρα ἀποδεδειγμένον· ἀλλ’ οὐκ ἂν εὕροις ποτέ. εἰ γὰρ καὶ ἀνὴρ ἄνθρωπός ἐστι καὶ πρὸς ἀντιδιαστολὴν τῆς γυναικὸς τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἄνδρα καλοῦμεν,

35.2.10 | Find for us also some other name fitting the father according to ‘a man proven’; but you would never find one. For even if a man is a human and, by contrast to a woman, we call a man a man, still you could not manage to do anything with this.

ὅμως οὐκ ἂν καὶ ἐν τούτῳ μηχανήσασθαι τι δυνήθεις.

35.2.11 | ἄνευ γὰρ σχημάτων καὶ μελῶν κρυφίων τε καὶ ὁρατῶν ἀνὴρ οὐ δυνήσεται καλεῖσθαι. λέγομεν γὰρ καὶ τὴν γυναῖκα ἄνθρωπον, ἀλλ' οὐκ ἄνδρα. διὸ καὶ ὁ ἄνθρωπος λέγομεν καὶ ἡ ἄνθρωπος.

35.2.11 | For a man cannot be called a man without shapes and limbs, both hidden and visible. For we also call a woman a human, but not a man. That is why we say both a man and a woman as human.

35.2.12 | διαιροῦντες δὲ τὸ γένος ἰδιαζόντως τὴν μὲν θήλειαν γυναῖκα καλοῦμεν, τὸν δὲ ἄρρενα ἄνδρα. αὕτη γὰρ διάκρισις ἐστὶ τοῦ γένους ἄρρενος καὶ θηλείας, τὸ ἀνὴρ καὶ γυνή, διαιρουμένης τῆς τῶν γενῶν σχέσεως. ὁμωνυμικῶς δὲ ἄνθρωπος καὶ ὁ ἀνὴρ καὶ ἡ γυνή καλεῖται.

35.2.12 | Dividing the kind, we specially call the female a woman, and the male a man.
For this is the difference of the kind male and female, the man and woman, when the relation of the kinds is divided. Both man and woman are called human with the same name.

Section 3

35.3.1 | 3. Τούτων τοίνυν οὕτως ἐχόντων ἤκετέ μοι πάντες θεοῦ δοῦλοι, οἱ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐρασταί, καὶ γελάσατε τὸν ἀπατεῶνα καὶ ἀγύρτην Κολόρβασον, μᾶλλον δὲ πενθήσατε τοὺς ἀπατηθέντας καὶ ἑαυτοὺς καὶ πολλοὺς ἀπολέσαντας.

35.3.1 | So then, since these things are so, come to me, all slaves of god, lovers of truth, and laugh at the trickster and cheat Kolorbas, but more mourn those who were deceived, both themselves and many others lost.

35.3.2 | αὐτοὶ δὲ θεῷ εὐχαριστήσωμεν, ὥς διὰ μικρῶν καὶ ἀπλῶν λόγων ἡ ἀλήθεια τοὺς αὐτῆς υἱοὺς εἰς ὁδὸν εὐθεΐαν ὁδηγεῖν εἴωθεν καὶ τὰ σχέτλια καὶ πολύκομπα, διὰ πολλῆς μηχανῆς καλλωπισθέντα, διασκεδάννυσιν ἀνατρέπει τε καὶ ἀφανίζει, ἡσυχῇ βαίνουσα, ὥς σαφῶς ἔστιν ἐδεῖν ἀπὸ τοῦ προφητικοῦ λόγου.

35.3.2 | Let us ourselves give thanks to god, because through small and simple words, truth is used to guide its own children onto a straight path, and it breaks apart, overturns, and destroys the ugly and very tangled things, dressed up with much trickery, going quietly, as it is clear must be from the prophetic word.

35.3.3 | ἐγκαλῶν γὰρ ὁ προφήτης τοῖς τὰ δεινὰ περιεργαζομένοις καὶ πολύφημα

35.3.3 | For the prophet, accusing those who work out terrible things in detail and ἐπινοοῦσιν εἰς ἑαυτῶν ἀπάτην ἔλεγεν »διὰ τὸ μὴ θέλειν ὑμᾶς τὸ ὕδωρ τοῦ Σιλωὰμ τὸ πορευόμενον ἡσυχῇ, ἀνάγει ἐφ' ὑμᾶς κύριος τὸ ὕδωρ τοῦ ποταμοῦ, τὸν βασιλέα τῶν Ἀσσυρίων(.

invent many words for their own deception, said, “Because you do not want the water of Siloam flowing quietly, the lord will bring up on you the water of the river, the king of the Assyrians.”

35.3.4 | ὕδωρ γὰρ Σιλωὰμ ἐστὶν διδασκαλία τοῦ ἀπεσταλμένου. τίς δ' ἂν εἴη οὗτος ἀλλ ἢ ὁ κύριος Ἰησοῦς, Ἰησοῦς, ὁ ἀπὸ τοῦ θεοῦ πατρὸς αὐτοῦ ἀπεσταλμένος; ἡσυχῇ δὲ διὰ τὸ μηδὲν κενόφωνον μηδὲ ἐπίπλαστον*, ἀλλὰ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ* τὴν ἁγίαν αὐτοῦ νύμφην, τὴν παρ' αὐτῷ περιστερὰν καλουμένην διὰ τὸ ἄκακον καὶ ἡμερον καὶ καθαρῶτατον τοῦ ζώου ἐν τοῖς ἁσμασι τοῦ Σολομῶνος.

35.3.4 | For the water of Siloam is the teaching of the one sent. And who else could this be but the lord Jesus, Jesus, sent from his god and father? It flows quietly because it is neither empty-sounding nor made-up, but in truth, his holy bride, called the dove beside him, because of the innocent, gentle, and purest living thing in the songs of Solomon.

35.3.5 | καὶ ἐστὶ θαυμάσαι <ὡς> τὰς μὲν ἄλλας μὴ οὔσας αὐτοῦ, ἐπὶ δὲ τῷ ὀνόματι αὐτοῦ ἑαυτὰς κεκληκυίας, παλλακίδας ὠνόμασε καὶ βασιλίσσας διὰ τὸ βασιλεῦον ὄνομα, ὃ ἐκάστη Χριστὸν ἐπιγραφομένη ἑαυτῇ σεμνύνεται.

35.3.5 | And it is strange that the others are not his, but for his name, they called themselves his concubines and queens because of the ruling name, which each one, calling herself Christ, boasts about.

35.3.6 | But even if there are eighty concubines, who are the heresies, and then countless young women, he says, ‘one is my dove, my perfect one’—that is, the holy bride and universal church. The dove, as I said, because of the gentle, innocent, and pure living thing, and perfect because she receives perfect grace and knowledge from God the savior through the holy spirit.

35.3.7 | αὐτὸς οὖν ὁ νυμφίος, ὁ ἀπεσταλμένος ἐρμηνευόμενος τουτέστιν Σιλωὰμ, ὕδωρ ἔχει πορευόμενον ἡσυχῇ τουτέστιν διδασκαλίαν ἄδουπον καὶ

35.3.7 | So the bridegroom himself, the one sent, explained as Siloam, has water flowing quietly—that is, teaching without noise, without weariness, without show, έφοφοποιὸν καὶ ἀφαντασίαστον καὶ ἀκόμπαστον.

and without boasting.

35.3.8 | ἡ ὁὲ αὐτοῦ νύμφη καὶ αὐτὴ ἡσυχος περιστερά, μήτε ἰὸν ἔχουσα μήτε μυλοστομίδας μήτε κέντρα, ὥς οὗτοι πάντες οἱ ἐρπετόμορφοι καὶ ἰὸν ἀναβλυστάνοντες, ἕκαστος φιλοτιμησάμενος δηλητήριόν τι τῷ κόσμῳ κατασκευάσαι καὶ λυμήνασθαι τοὺς αὐτῷ πεισθέντας·

35.3.8 | His bride herself is a quiet dove, having neither poison nor sharp teeth nor stings, like all those reptile-shaped ones that spit poison, each one eager to make some poison for the world and to harm those who believe in it.

35.3.9 | ὧν καὶ οὗτος εἷς ὧν τυγχάνει ὁ ἐνταῦθά μοι σπουδασθεὶς φωραθῆναι διὰ θείου λόγου καὶ βοηθείας τῆς ἄνωθεν καὶ συντριβῆναι δίκην φαλαγγίου τετραγνάθου ἐρπετοῦ καλουμένου ἢ ὥς ἀπὸ ἀμφισβείνης τῆς δικεφάλου ἐχίδνης τμηθεῖσα κεφαλὴ ἐν συντομίᾳ κατακλασθῆναι.

35.3.9 | And he, being one of these, happened to be here, eager to be exposed through divine word and help from above, and to be crushed like a serpent called a four-jawed phalanx, or like the head cut off from a two-headed viper, to be broken quickly.

35.3.10 | παρελθὼν δὲ τοῦτον πάλιν τὰς ἐξῆς διασκοπήσω καὶ ταύτας διεξιὼν δι' εὐχῆς αἰτήσω τὰ μὲν κατ' αὐτάς κατὰ ἀλήθειαν ἐξειπεῖν, μηδένα δὲ βλάψαι ἢ αὐτὸς βλαβῆναι.

35.3.10 | Passing by, i will examine these next things again and, going through them, i will ask by prayer to speak the truth about them, and to harm no one or myself.

Book 36

Section 1

36.1.1 | Ἡρακλέων τις τοῦτον τὸν Κολόρβασον διαδέχεται, ἀφ' οὗπερ οἱ Ἡρακλεωνῖται καλούμενοι, οὐδὲν ἥττον τῆς παρὰ τούτοις κενοφωνίας * ἡσκημένος.

36.1.1 | A certain Heracleon accepts this Kolorbas, from whom those called Heracleontes come, no less trained in the empty speech used by them.

36.1.2 | καὶ ὅσα μὲν ἐκεῖνοι λέγουσι καὶ οὗτος ὀρίζεται κατὰ πάντα τρόπον, οἷα δὴ ἐξ αὐτῶν ὀρμώμενος καὶ παρ' αὐτῶν τὸν ἰὸν ἀπομαζάμενος· περισσότερον δὲ δῆθεν ὑπὲρ ἐκείνους ἐν ἑαυτῷ ἀνατυπώσάμενός τινα βούλεται ἐκείνους ὑπεραίρειν, ἵνα καὶ ἑαυτῷ συναγωγὴν ποιήσῃται τῶν ἡπατημένων.

36.1.2 | And whatever those men say, this one is set by all means, just as indeed having started from them and wiped away the poison from them; but more, apparently, wanting to stamp something in himself beyond them, to lift them up, so that he may also make a gathering of the deceived for himself.

36.1.3 | οὗτοι γὰρ πάντες εἰς ἑκατοντακέφαλον ἑαυτοὺς ἀνατυπώσαντες σῶμα ἢ ἑκατοντάχειρον, τὸν ποτε μυθεύμενον παρὰ τοῖς τῶν Ἑλλήνων ποιηταῖς ἐμιμήσαντο Κόττον ἢ Βριάρεων ὃν καὶ Αἰγαίωνα καλοῦσιν ἢ Γύην ἢ τὸν καλούμενον Ἄργον τὸν πολυόφθαλμον.

36.1.3 | For all these, having stamped themselves into a hundred-headed body or a hundred-handed one, once told by the Greek poets, imitated Cottus or Briareus, whom they also call Aegaeon, or Gyes, or the one called Argus with many eyes.

36.1.4 | οἷους ἐκεῖνοι ἐν ταῖς ἑαυτῶν ῥαψωδίαις τερατεύονται, ποιητευόμενοι καὶ λέγοντες ἔχειν τὸν μὲν ἑκατὸν χεῖρας καὶ ποτὲ μὲν πεντήκοντα κεφαλὰς ποτὲ δὲ ἑκατόν. τὸν δὲ ἑκατὸν ὀφθαλμούς — καὶ τούτου ἔνεκα φασὶ τὸν Ἑρμῆν καλεῖσθαι Ἀργειφόντην, ὥς τὸν Ἄργον τὸν πολυόφθαλμον πεφονευκότα —,

36.1.4 | The kind that those men make wonders of in their own rhapsodies, composing and saying that one has a hundred hands and sometimes fifty heads, sometimes a hundred. And that one has a hundred eyes — and because of this they say Hermes is called Argus-slayer, as the Argus with many eyes was killed —,

36.1.5 | οὕτω καὶ τούτων ἕκαστος βουλόμενος ἑαυτῷ ἀρχὴν προσθήσασθαι κεφαλὴν ἑαυτὸν ὠνόμασεν, ἕτερα ὑπαισφύρων παρὰ τὴν τῶν διδασκάλων αὐτοῦ ματαιοπονίαν καὶ μανιώδη διδασκαλίαν. ἵνα δὲ μὴ εἰς πολὺ μῆκος ἐλάσω τοῦ προοιμίου τὴν σύνταξιν, ἐλεύσομαι εἰς τὸ προκείμενον.

36.1.5 | Just so, each of these, wanting to set a beginning for himself, named himself head, bringing in other things besides the foolishness and mad teaching of his teachers. And so that I do not drag out the introduction too long, I will come to the main point.

Section 2

36.2.1 | 2. Ἡρακλέων τοίνυν οὗτος καὶ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ Ἡρακλεωνῖται ὡς προεῖπον ὁμοίως Μάρκῳ καὶ τισι τῶν πρὸ αὐτοῦ περὶ τῶν Ὀγδοάδων φάσκει, τῆς ἄνω φημί καὶ τῆς κάτω· ἔπειτα δὲ καὶ τὰς συζυγίας τῶν τριάκοντα Αἰώνων ἕως δοξάξει.

36.2.1 | So this Heracleon and those Heracleonites from him, as I said before, speak like Mark and some before him about the Ogdoads, the upper and the lower; and then also he will probably praise the pairs of the thirty Aeons.

36.2.2 | ἄνθρωπον δὲ καὶ αὐτὸς φάσκει εἶναι τὸν ἄνω τῶν ὅλων Πατέρα, ὃν καὶ Βυθὸν προσηγόρευσεν. βούλεται δὲ καὶ αὐτὸς αὐτὸν λέγειν μήτε ἄρρεν μήτε θῆλυ, ἐξ αὐτοῦ δὲ εἶναι τὴν τῶν ὅλων Μητέρα, ἣν καὶ Σιγὴν ὀνομάζει καὶ Ἀλήθειαν.

36.2.2 | And he himself says that the Father above all is a man, whom he also called Depth. And he wants to say that he is neither male nor female, and that from him is the Mother of all, whom he calls Silence and Truth.

36.2.3 | ἀπ' αὐτῆς δὲ εἶναι τὴν δευτέραν Μητέρα τὴν ἐν λήθῃ γενομένην, ἣν καὶ Ἀχαμῶθ καὶ αὐτὸς καλεῖ. ἐξ ἧς λοιπὸν τὰ πάντα ἐν ὑστερήματι κατέστη.

36.2.3 | And from her is the second Mother, who came into forgetfulness, whom he also calls Achamoth. From her, then, everything else came to be in deficiency.

36.2.4 | βούλεται δὲ πλείονα τῶν πρὸ αὐτοῦ καὶ οὗτος λέγειν, ἅτινά ἐστι τάδε· τοὺς τελευτῶντας ἀπ' αὐτῶν καὶ ἐπὶ αὐτὴν τὴν ἔξοδον φθάνοντας. ἀπὸ τοῦ προειρημένου Μάρκου τὰς προφάσεις εἰληφὼς οὐκέτι κατ' ἐκεῖνον λυτροῦται, ἀλλὰ ἄλλως οὗτος μεταχειρίζεται, λυτρούμενος δῆθεν πρὸς τῇ τελευτῇ τοὺς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἀπατηθέντας.

36.2.4 | And he wants to say more than those before him, which is this: those who die last and reach the exit first. Taking reasons from the Mark mentioned before, he no longer frees according to that one, but handles it differently, supposedly freeing those deceived by him at the end.

36.2.5 | ποτὲ γάρ τινες ἐξ αὐτῶν ἔλαιον ὕδατι μίξαντες ἐπιβάλλουσι τῇ κεφαλῇ τοῦ ἐξελθόντος, οἱ δὲ μύρον τὸ λεγόμενον ὀποβάλαμον καὶ ὕδωρ, τὴν μέντοι ἐπίκλησιν κοινὴν ἔχοντες, ὡς δὴ καὶ ὁ πρὸ αὐτοῦ Μάρκος ἐποιεῖτο, μετὰ προσθήκης τινῶν ὀνομάτων. ἡ δὲ ἐπίκλησίς ἐστιν αὕτη·

36.2.5 | For sometimes some of them mix oil with water and pour it on the head of the one who has come out, and others pour myrrh, called opobalsamum, and water, having a common invocation, just as Mark before him used to do, with the addition of some names. And the invocation is this:

36.2.6 | Μεσσία ούφαρέγνα μεμψαί μεν χαλ δαιαν μοσομή δαέα άκφαρ νεψευ ουα Ίησοῦ Ναζαρία.

36.2.6 | Messiah, bearer of light, blame not, but bring healing, help, and salvation, Jesus of Nazareth.

36.2.7 | τοῦτο δὲ ποιοῦσιν, ἵνα δῆθεν οἱ λαμβάνοντες ἐπὶ τῇ ἐξόδῳ ταύτας τὰς ἐπικλήσεις τὰς μετὰ τοῦ ὕδατος καὶ ἐλαίου ἦτοι μύρου ἀναμεμιγμένων ἀκράτητοι γένωνται καὶ ἀόρατοι ταῖς ἄνω ἀρχαῖς καὶ ἐξουσίαις, εἰς τὸ ὑπερβῆναι ἀοράτως τὸν ἔσω αὐτῶν ἄνθρωπον, φασίν, ὡς τῶν σωμάτων τούτων ἐν τῇ

36.2.7 | They do this so that those who receive these invocations with water and oil or myrrh mixed at the exit may become pure and invisible to the higher rulers and powers, to pass unseen with their inner person, they say, as with these bodies in
the...

36.2.8 | κτίσει καταλιμπανομένων, τῆς δὲ ψυχῆς αὐτῶν παρισταμένης τῷ Δημιουργῷ ἄνω τῷ ἐν Ὑστερήματι γεγονότι, ὥστε καὶ ἐκεῖσε καταμένειν παρ' αὐτῷ, ὑπεραναβαίνειν δέ, ὡς ἔφην, τὸν ἴσω ἄνθρωπον, &τὸν&; ἐσώτερον καὶ σώματος· ὃν δὴ θέλουσι [λέγειν] ἐκ τοῦ ἄνωθεν κατεληλυθέναι.

36.2.8 | with the bodies left behind in creation, and their soul standing before the Creator above, who is in lack, so that it may also remain there with him, and the inner person, the inner self and body, may go beyond, as I said, which they want to say has come down from above.

Section 3

36.3.1 | 3. Ἐγκελεύονται δὲ τοῖς οὕτω παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐμπεπαιγμένοις, ὅτι, φησίν, ἐὰν ἔλθῃς ἐπὶ τὰς ἀρχὰς καὶ ἐξουσίας, ἔχε ἐν μνήμῃ τάδε εἰπεῖν μετὰ τὴν ἐντεῦθεν τελευτήν· »ἐγὼ υἱὸς ἀπὸ Πατρός, Πατρὸς προόντος,

36.3.1 | 3. They are ordered by those who mock them, saying, if you come to the rulers and powers, remember to say these things after this end: "I am a son from the Father, the Father who went before,

36.3.2 | υἱὸς δὲ ἐν τῷ παρόντι· ἦλθον &δὲ&; πάντα ἰδεῖν τὰ ἴδια καὶ τὰ καὶ οὐκ ἀλλότρια δὲ παντελῶς, ἀλλὰ τῆς Ἀχαμῶθ, ἣτις ἐστὶν θήλεια καὶ ταῦτα ἑαυτῇ ἐποίησεν. κατάγω δὲ τὸ γένος ἐκ τοῦ

36.3.2 | a son in the present; I came to see everything that is mine and not at all foreign, but of Achamoth, who is female and made these things for herself. I lead my race from the one who went before and I go προόντος καὶ πορεύομαι πάλιν εἰς τὰ ἴδια, ὅθεν ἐλήλυθα».

back again to what is mine, where I came from.”

36.3.3 | καὶ ταῦτα εἰπόντα διαφεύγειν τὰς ἐξουσίας, ἔρχεσθαι δὲ ἐπὶ τοὺς περὶ τὸν Δημιουργὸν ἄνω περὶ τὴν πρώτην ὀγδοάδα· βούλονται γὰρ καὶ αὐτοὶ μετὰ τὸν Δημιουργὸν κάτω εἶναι ἐβδομάδα, αὐτὸν δὲ εἶναι ἐν τῷ ἐβδόμῳ >

36.3.3 | And after saying these things, he escapes the powers and goes up to those around the Creator above, to the first eighth; for they themselves want to be below with the Creator in the seventh, and him to be in the seventh.

36.3.4 | the eighth, in delay and in ignorance; and he says to those around the Creator who has come out of life, “I am a more honorable vessel than the female who made you. If your Mother does not know her own root, I know myself and understand where I am from, and I call upon the imperishable Wisdom, who is with the Father, and is the mother of your Mother, who has no father, nor a male partner;

36.3.5 | θήλεια δὲ ὑπὸ θηλείας γενομένη ἐποίησεν ὑμᾶς, ἀγνοοῦσα καὶ τὴν μητέρα αὐτῆς καὶ δοκοῦσα ἑαυτὴν εἶναι μόνην. ἐγὼ δὲ ἐπικαλοῦμαι αὐτῆς τὴν μητέρα».

36.3.5 | a female, born from a female, made you, not knowing even her own mother and thinking she was alone. But I call upon her mother.

36.3.6 | When those around the Creator heard these things, they were very disturbed and they realized the root and the kind of the Mother. But he went back to his own place, throwing off his chains and the angel, that is, the soul. For they think that there is something with body and soul and something else in a person. And these are the things that have come to us about redemption.

Section 4

36.4.1 | 4. Οἱ δὲ συνετοὶ κατακούσαντες τῆς περισσοτέρας αὐτῶν χλεύης καταγελάσαιεν τῆς μιμολογίας, ὡς ἕκαστος αὐτῶν ἕτερα παρὰ τὸν ἕτερον νομοθετεῖ ὡς βούλεται καὶ τῆς τόλμης ἑαυτοῦ οὐκ ἀνακόπτεται, ἀλλὰ ὅσαπερ δύναται ἕκαστος ἐπινοεῖ.

36.4.1 | But the wise, having heard most of their mocking, laughed at their imitation, since each of them makes laws different from the other as he wants, and does not stop his own boldness, but each one invents as much as he can.

36.4.2 | καὶ τῶν ἔτι εἰς δεῦρο γεννωμένων παρ' αὐτοῖς καὶ ἐπιφυσόμενων, οἳ καθ' ἡμέραν εὐρίσκουσιν τι καινὸν εἰπεῖν καὶ φαντάσαι τοὺς ἐπαγομένους, χαλεπὸν ἐστὶ πάντα τὰ τούτων * ζητῆσαι ἢ ἐξειπεῖν. ὅθεν ἀρκεσθήσομαι πάλιν τοῖς καὶ περὶ ταύτης τῆς αἰρέσεως εἰρημένοις, ἅτινα καὶ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἦλθεν ὑποδείξας.

36.4.2 | And those still born among them and growing up, who every day find something new to say and to show off to those who come, it is hard to search out or explain all their things. Therefore, I will be content again with what has been said about this sect, which also came to us as a sign.

36.4.3 | ἡ δὲ τοιαύτη διδασκαλία τίني οὐκ ἂν σαφὴς εἴη ὡς μῦθος ἐστὶ καὶ χλεύη τὸ πᾶν; πόθεν γάρ, ὦ οὗτος σὺ ἢ οἱ πρὸ σοῦ, τὸ σῶμα εἰλήφατε; τὴν δὲ ψυχὴν πόθεν; τὸν δὲ ἐσώτατόν σου ἄνθρωπον πόθεν;

36.4.3 | And such a teaching, to whom would it not be clear that it is all a story and mockery? For where, oh you or those before you, did you get the body? And where did you get the soul? And where did you get your innermost self, the human?

36.4.4 | καὶ εἰ μὲν ἄνωθεν ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄνω πνευματικοῦ, ὡς γέγεις δραματουργῶν καὶ ἐπαγγελίᾳ ἐλπίδος δεπρώσας τοὺς ὑπὸ σοῦ ἡπατημένους, ἵνα σκοπῶ τι ἐπαρθέντες ὑποσυρῶσι τῇ σῇ γεγοητευμένοι δραματουργίᾳ, λέγε, τίς ἡ κοινωνία τοῦ ἄνω πνευματικοῦ πρὸς τὸ ὑλικόν; τίς ἔτι ἡ τοῦ ὑλικοῦ πρὸς τὸ ψυχικόν;

36.4.4 | And if indeed from above, from the higher spiritual, as you are born of playwrights and having deceived those under you with a promise of hope, so that having been lifted up by some vision they are drawn along by your enchanted playwrighting, tell me, what is the connection of the higher spiritual to the material? What is the way of the material to the psychic?

36.4.5 | πῶς δὲ ὁ Δημιουργὸς τὰ μὴ ἑαυτοῦ ἐδημιούργει; πῶς δὲ ὁ ἄνω <πνευματικὸς> τὴν παρ' αὐτοῦ δύναμιν πνευματικὴν παρέσχεν τῷ μὴ καλῶς ἐργασαμένῳ Δημιουργῷ; πόθεν δὲ ὁ Δημιουργὸς ἀναμίξας τὸ ἑαυτοῦ ψυχικὸν μετὰ τοῦ ὑλικοῦ τῇ ὕλῃ μᾶλλον ἠθέλησεν ἐγκαταδοῦναι τὴν ἑαυτοῦ δύναμιν;

36.4.5 | But how does the Creator make things that are not his own? And how does the higher <spiritual> one give the spiritual power from himself to the Creator who did not work well? And where did the Creator, mixing his own psychic with the material, want to put his power into matter more?

36.4.6 | εἰ δὲ τὴν ἑαυτοῦ δύναμιν βούλεται ἐγκαταμίξει, οὐκ ἄρα ἄλλοτρία ἡ ὕλη. εἰ δὲ καὶ ἔστιν ἄλλοτρία, τίς αὐτῷ τῆς ὕλης παρέσχε τὴν ἐξουσίαν;

36.4.6 | But if he wants to mix his own power, then matter is not foreign. But if it is foreign, who gave him power over matter?

36.4.7 | καὶ πρῶτον λέγε μοι, ὦ ἀπατεῶν, πότερον μισῶν τὴν ψυχὴν κατέδησεν αὐτὴν τῇ ὕλῃ ἢ ἀγνοῶν τὸ ἐσόμενον;

36.4.7 | And first tell me, you trickster, did the soul, hating, bind itself to matter, or not knowing what would happen?

36.4.8 | ἀλλ' οἶδα ὅτι οὐδέτερον τούτων ἐρεῖς. ὕλην γὰρ οὐ λέγομεν τὸ σῶμα, μὴ γένοιτο, οὐδὲ τὰς τοῦ Μοῦ κτίσεις· ἀλλὰ ὕλην τινὰ οἶδεν ἡ γραφὴ μετὰ ταύτην τὴν φαύλην εἰς δὲ κατασκευὰς ἐκάστη τέχνη καὶ ἐργασίᾳ προκειμένην, ἄλλην τινά, λέγω δὲ τὴν ἐκ διανοίας φυομένην ῥυπαρὰν ἐνθύμησιν καὶ <τοὺς> βορβορώδεις λογισμοὺς ἀμαρτίας.

36.4.8 | But I know you will say neither of these. For we do not call the body matter, may it never be, nor the creations of the Muse; but the scripture knows some matter after this, foul and set against each skill and work for each craft, another kind, I mean the dirty thoughts growing from the mind and the muddy thoughts of sin.

36.4.9 | φύονται γὰρ ὡς ἀπὸ πηλοῦ δυσοδμία τε καὶ ἀκάθαρτος ἀποφορὰ λοιμῶδεις τε καὶ βορβορώδεις *, ὡς ὁ μακάριος Δαυὶδ διωκόμενος καὶ διαβαλλόμενος ὡς] ὑπὸ πονηρῶν ἀνθρώπων ἔλεγεν »ἐνεπάγην εἰς ὕλην βυθοῦ' καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

36.4.9 | For they grow like from clay a bad smell and unclean discharge, full of disease and mud, just as the blessed David, being chased and slandered by evil men, said, 'I was brought into the deep mire,' and what follows.

Section 5

36.5.1 | 5. Ἐπειδὴ δέ σοι δοκεῖ, Ἡρακλέων, τοῦτο λέγεσθαι ὕλην, τῶν ἀνθρώπων τὰ σώματα καὶ τὸν ἐνθάδε κόσμον ἅπαντα, ἐπὶ ποίῳ σκοπῶ τὴν ἑαυτοῦ ψυχὴν ὁ Δημιουργὸς τῇ ὕλῃ ἐγκατέμιξεν;

36.5.1 | Since it seems to you, Heracles, that the bodies of men and this whole world here are called matter, for what purpose did the Creator mix his own soul with matter?

36.5.2 | εἰ μὲν τὸ πονηρὸν ἀγνοῶν, οὐ δύναται δημιουργεῖν ὁ μὴ γινώσκων ὁ βούλεται δημιουργῆσαι. οὔτε γὰρ ἡμεῖς τι πράττομεν καθ' ἐκάστην τέχνην, ἐργαζόμενοι ὅπερ οὐ νοοῦμεν. καὶ προενθυμούμεθα γὰρ ὃ ἐπιτελεῖν βουλόμεθα καὶ οἶδαμεν πρὶν ποιῆσαι ὃ ἐπιτελέσαι προηρήμεθα.

36.5.2 | If he does not know the bad, he cannot create, the one who does not know what he wants to create. For we do not do any art each time, working on what we do not understand. And we think ahead about what we want to finish and know before we do what we chose to complete.

36.5.3 | καίτοι γε ἡμεῖς ἀσθενεῖς ὄντες καὶ πολλὰ ἀποδέοντες τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμεως, διὰ δὲ τῆς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ κεχαρισμένης συνέσεως τοῖς ἀνθρώποις οἶδαμεν καὶ νοοῦμεν. συμβέβηκεν δέ σοι, ὦ Ἡρακλέων, ἡ ἐκ θεοῦ σύνεσις εἰς βλάβην, ὅτι μὴ κατὰ θεὸν αὐτὴν πραγματεύῃ, ἀλλὰ κατὰ πονηρὰν ἐπιτήδευσιν.

36.5.3 | And yet, though we are weak and lack much of the power of god, through the understanding given by him to humans, we know and think. But it has happened to you, Heracles, that the understanding from god has turned to harm, because you do not use it according to god, but according to evil practice.

36.5.4 | ἔτι δὲ πάλιν ἐρῶ, πόθεν ἡ τοῦ πνευματικοῦ μίξις τῷ ψυχικῷ τε καὶ ὕλικῷ, ὃ δὴ λέγεται παρὰ σοὶ ἔσω ἄνθρωπος τῷ δευτέρῳ καὶ τρίτῳ ἔξω ἀνθρώπῳ συνημμένος, φημὶ δὴ ψυχῇ καὶ σώματι;

36.5.4 | And again I will ask, where does the mixing of the spiritual with the soul and the material come from, which you say is the inner man joined to the second and third outer man, that is, soul and body?

36.5.5 | καὶ εἰ μὲν ἐκ βουλήματος τῆς ἄνω δυνάμεως τοῦ τῶν ὅλων Πατρός, φημὶ δὲ τοῦ κατὰ σὲ Βυθοῦ, ἄρα γε οὐκ ἀκοινωνήτος τοῖς ἄνω ὡς ἔφην) ἡ ἐνταῦθα περὶ ἡμᾶς κτίσις συγκαταμιγνυμένη, διὰ

36.5.5 | And if indeed it comes from the will of the upper power, the Father of all, whom you call the Depth, then surely the creation mixed with us here is not separate from the upper, as I said, through the good pleasure

τῆς τοῦ Πατρὸς ἄνω εὐδοκίας καὶ τοῦ ἄνωθεν παρ' αὐτοῦ καταπεμφθέντος σπινθήρος, ὃ ἐστὶν ὁ πνευματικὸς κατὰ σὲ καὶ ἐσώτατος ἄνθρωπος.

of the Father above and the spark sent down from him above, which is the spiritual and innermost man according to you.

36.5.6 | εἰ δὲ λέγεις τὸν Δημιουργὸν τὸν ἐν ἐλαττώματι καὶ ὑστερήματι ἢ τὴν Μητέρα ἣν λέγεις Ἀχαμῶθ εἰληφέναι ἄνωθεν δύναμιν τουτέστιν τὸ πνευματικόν, οὐκέτι ἐν ὑστερήματι καὶ ἀγνοίᾳ ἐστὶν ὁ Δημιουργὸς οὔτε ἡ κατὰ σὲ Μήτηρ καλουμένη. πῶς γὰρ ἂν τις ἐν ἀγνοίᾳ εἴη τούτου οὐ ἐπιθυμεῖ; εἰ γὰρ ὅλως τοῦ κρείττονος ὀρέγεται, οἶδεν τὸ καλὸν καὶ τὸ ἀγαθόν· καὶ ὁ τὸ ἀγαθὸν ἐπιστάμενος καὶ μὴ στυγῶν τοῦτο ἀλλὰ ὀρεγόμενος, οὐκ ἐστὶν ἀλλότριος τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ.

36.5.6 | But if you say that the Creator is in defect and lack, or that the Mother, whom you call Achamoth, has received power from above—that is, the spiritual—then the Creator and the one you call the Mother are no longer in defect and ignorance. For how could someone be in ignorance of what they desire? If they long for something better, they know what is good and beautiful; and knowing the good and not hating it but desiring it, they are not strangers to the good.

Section 6

36.6.1 | 6. Καὶ ἵνα μὴ κατατρίβωμαι περὶ τὰς μηχανὰς τοῦ ἀγύρτου ἀσχολούμενος, τούτοις ἀρκεσθήσομαι. πᾶσα γὰρ αὐτοῦ ἔπεσεν ἡ ληρωδία ἀπὸ τοῦ τὸν πάντων δεσπότην πᾶσιν σαφῶς ὁμολογηθῆναι ἀγαθὸν ὄντα καὶ προγινώσκοντα καὶ δυνάμενον τὰ Πάντα ποιεῖν, καὶ ὥς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ πᾶσα φύσις ἢ ὑπάρχουσα κτιστὴ καλῶς γεγένηται.

36.6.1 | And so that I do not waste time on the tricks of the charlatan, I will be satisfied with these things. For all his foolish talk falls away from the clear truth that the master of all is good, known beforehand, and able to make all things, and that all created nature has been well made by him.

36.6.2 | οὔτε γὰρ δυνατὸν ἄνευ τοῦ θεοῦ τι εἶναι, ἀλλ' ἢ μόνον ἡ ἀματρία οὐκ ἔχουσα ἀρχὴν ρίζης οὐδὲ εἰς τέλος μένουσα, ἐν ἡμῖν δὲ ἐπεισάκτως γινομένη καὶ ἀφ' ἡμῶν πάλιν Πανομένη· ὥς καὶ πανταχοῦ κατὰ πασῶν τῶν αἱρέσεων ποιούμενος τὸν λόγον ἀπέδειξα,

36.6.2 | For it is not possible for anything to exist without god, but only sin, having no root or beginning, and not lasting to the end, comes into being in us by chance and is stopped again by us; as I have shown in my argument against all the heresies everywhere.

36.6.3 | ὅτι εἷς ἐστὶν ὁ θεὸς ὁ τὰ πάντα ποιήσας καὶ δημιουργήσας, ὁ πατὴρ τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ, καὶ εἷς ὁ μονογενὴς αὐτοῦ [καὶ] παῖς, ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν καὶ σωτὴρ καὶ θεός, καὶ ἐν τῷ ἁγίῳ αὐτοῦ πνεύματι,

36.6.3 | That there is one god who made and created all things, the father of our lord Jesus Christ, and one only-begotten son, our lord and savior and god, and one his holy spirit,

36.6.4 | μία τριάς ἁγία καὶ ὁμοούσιος, ἐξ ἧς τὰ πάντα καλῶς ἐκτισμένα, οὐ πονηρά τινα ἀλλὰ ἀγαθὰ, κατὰ τὴν οὕτως εὐδοκήσασαν ἀγαθότητα ἐξ οὐκ ὄντων κεκλημένα εἰς τὸ εἶναι.

36.6.4 | one holy and consubstantial trinity, from which all things are well created, not anything evil but good, called into being from nothing according to the goodness that so pleased.

36.6.5 | ᾧ θεῷ δόξα καὶ τιμὴ καὶ κράτος πατρὶ ἐν υἱῷ υἱῷ ἐν πατρὶ σὺν ἁγίῳ πνεύματι εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας τῶν αἰώνων. ἀμήν.

36.6.5 | to god be glory and honor and power, to the father in the son, the son in the father, with the holy spirit, forever and ever. amen.

36.6.6 | Ταύτης δὲ πάλιν ποιησάμενος τὴν ἀνατροπὴν διὰ βραχέων, ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς βαδισοῦμαι, τὸν πρὸς ἐκάστην κατὰ δύναμιν ποιοῦμενος ἔλεγχον καὶ οὕτως ἐπιτελῶν τὴν ἀνατροπὴν τῆς αὐτῶν λυμαντικῆς μοχθηρίας.

36.6.6 | and again making this reversal briefly, i go on to the following things, making a test for each one according to its power, and so completing the reversal of their harmful wickedness.

36.6.7 | σὴψ γὰρ οὗτος ἂν λέγοιτο δικαίως, ὃ οὐκ ὄφρις, ἀλλ' ὥς φασὶ χαλκέα πως ἐστι. τετράπουν ἐρπετόν, ἀσκαλαβώτη ἐοικός, οὗ ἡ μὲν τοῦ δῆγματος βλάβη εἰς οὐδὲν λογίζεται, τὸ δὲ πτύσμα ἢ ἐν βρώματι ἢ ἐν ποτῷ ἀκοντισθὲν θάνατον εὐθὺς τοῖς μεταλαμβάνουσιν ἐργάζεται· οἷα καὶ ἡ τούτου διδασκαλία.

36.6.7 | for this would rightly be called decay, which is not a snake, but as they say, something like bronze. a four-footed creeping thing, like a scorpion, whose bite causes no harm at all, but its spit, either in food or drink, thrown in, immediately works death on those who take it; such is also the teaching of this.

36.6.8 | ἀλλὰ καὶ τούτου τὸν ἔδον φωράσαντες καὶ τῇ τοῦ κυρίου δυνάμει

36.6.8 | but also having exposed this one's nature, and by the power of the lord wiping ἀπὸ φαρύγγων ἢ χειλέων τῶν μελλόντων βλάπτεσθαι ἀπομάξαντες τὰς ἐξῆς διέλθωμεν, ὡς προεῖπον, τῆς αὐτῶν βλάβης ποιοῦντες τὸν ἔλεγχον.

away the harm about to come from throats or lips, let us go through the following things, as i said before, making a test of their harm.

Book 37

Section 1

37.1.1 | Ὡς οὖν τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμει ἐπαγγελιάμενοι, θεοῦ βοηθοῦντος καὶ τὴν ἐξῆς ταύτη ὑφηγησόμεθα ταῖς πρότερον ἀκολουθήσασαν ματαιοφροσύναις αἵρεσιν Ὀφιτῶν, τὰ μὲν κατὰ τὰ αὐτὰ φερομένην τὰ δὲ διηλλαγμένην, λέγω δὲ τοῖς ἡθεσι καὶ σχήμασι τῶν χρωμένων αὐτῇ, ἵνα ἀπὸ τῆς μετεώρου πλάνης τῆς τούτων διαφωνίας παντί τῷ δῆλον ἔσῃται ὅτι πλάνη ἄγονται καὶ οὐκ ἀληθεία. φωραθήσεται δὲ νῦν τῷ λόγῳ καὶ ἐλεγχθήσεται ἡ κατ' αὐτοὺς ἄνοια.

37.1.1 | So then, by the power of god having promised, with god helping, i will guide you through what follows about the previously followed foolishness of the Ophite heresy, some things being the same, others changed. i speak about the customs and forms used by them, so that from the strange error of their disagreement it will be clear to everyone that they are led by error and not by truth. now their madness will be revealed by the word and shown to be wrong.

37.1.2 | Οἱ Ὀφῖται μὲν γάρ. ὡς προεῖπον, τὰς προφάσεις εἰλήφασιν ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ Νικολάου καὶ Γνωστικῶν καὶ τῶν πρὸ τούτων αἱρέσεων. Ὀφῖται δὲ καλοῦνται δι' ὃν δοξάζουσιν ὄφιν. ἄτοπα γὰρ καὶ οὗτοι ἐρεῦγονται, ὡς ἀπὸ τῆς προειρημένης βρώσεως τῆς δυσοδμίας ἐμπεπλησμένοι, καὶ ὡς καινὰ δαιμόνια ἀπατηθέντες οὗτοι τὸν ὄφιν ὡς προεῖπον δοξάζουσι.

37.1.2 | For the Ophites, as i said before, took their reasons from the heresies of Nicolas and the Gnostics and those before them. They are called Ophites because they honor the serpent. They act strangely, filled with the bad smell of the eating mentioned earlier, and being deceived by new demons, they honor the serpent as i said before.

37.1.3 | καὶ ὅρα εἰς ὅσῃν προέβη κακομηχανίαν ὁ τούτους ἀπατήσας ὄφιν. καθάπερ γὰρ ἐξ ὑπαρχῆς τοὺς περὶ Εὐάν καὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ ἠπάτησεν, οὕτω καὶ νῦν, κρύπτων ἑαυτὸν ἐν τε τῷ παρόντι καὶ ἐν τῷ χρόνῳ τῶν Ἰουδαίων ἄχρι τῆς τοῦ

37.1.3 | And see to what great trickery the serpent who deceived them has gone. Just as from the beginning he deceived those around Eve and Adam, so now also, hiding himself both in the present time and in the time of the Jews until the coming of Christ.

Χριστοῦ παρουσίας.

37.1.4 | εἴτα καὶ προβαινόντων τῶν χρόνων λίχνους ὄντας τοὺς ἀνθρώπους τῇ δι' αὐτοῦ ἐκ τῆς παρακοῆς ληφθείσῃ βρώσει ἔτι ὑπονοθεύων καὶ ἐρεθίζων εἰς περισσοτέραν ἀπάτην ἀπὸ τοῦ ὄντος θεοῦ ἀφίστησι, πολλὰ μὲν ὑπισχνούμενος αἰεὶ, ὥς καὶ ἐξ ἀρχῆς· καὶ γὰρ καὶ τότε ἠπάτησεν λέγων »ἔσεσθε ὡς θεοί«, εἴτα προιόντων τῶν χρόνων τὴν πολύμορφον καὶ τερατώδη φαντασίαν αὐτοῖς ἐξειργάσατο.

37.1.4 | Then, as time went on and people were weak because of the eating taken through disobedience by him, still secretly plotting and stirring up for more trickery, they turned away from the true god, always promising many things, just as from the beginning; for even then he deceived them by saying, 'you will be like gods.' Then, as time passed, he made for them many strange and monstrous visions.

37.1.5 | ἀπὸ γὰρ τοῦ ἐνὸς καὶ ἀληθινοῦ θεοῦ ἀποστήσας αὐτοὺς ἐνεκίσσησε πάλαι τὴν τῆς εἰδωλολατρείας καὶ πολυθείας βλάσφημον κενοφωνίαν. οὐ γὰρ ἦσαν θεοί, ὥσπερ οὐδέ εἰσιν, ἀλλὰ <μόνος> ὁ θεός· προεκίσσα δὲ τὴν εἰδωλομανίαν καὶ πολυθείαν καὶ ἀπατηλὴν διάνοιαν.

37.1.5 | For turning away from the one true god, he long ago planted the blasphemous empty noise of idol worship and many gods among them. For they were not gods, just as they are not, but only one god; and he pushed forward idol madness, many gods, and deceitful thinking.

37.1.6 | οὐκ ἦν δὲ αἴτιος μόνος ὁ φαινόμενος τότε ὄφης, ἀλλὰ ὁ ἐν τῷ ὄφει ὄφης λαλήσας (φημὶ δὲ <ὁ> διάβολος) καὶ τὴν ἀκοὴν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ταραξάς διὰ τῆς γυναικός.

37.1.6 | The serpent seen then was not the only cause, but the one serpent who spoke (I say the devil) and disturbed the hearing of the man through the woman.

37.1.7 | καὶ οὐδὲ τὸ ξύλον ἦν ἀμαρτία (θεὸς γὰρ οὐδὲν πονηρὸν φυτεύει), γνῶσιν δὲ ἐνεποίησε τὸ ξύλον τοῦ εἰδέναι ἀγαθὸν τε καὶ φαῦλον.

37.1.7 | And the tree was not sin (for god plants nothing evil), but the tree made knowledge of good and evil.

37.1.8 | καὶ οὐχὶ διὰ τὸ εἰδέναι ὁ θάνατος, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὴν παρακοήν. καὶ γὰρ ἡ πᾶσα τοῦ ἐχθροῦ τότε συσκευὴ οὐχ ἕνεκεν τοῦ βρώματος γέγονεν, ἀλλὰ ἕνεκεν τοῦ

37.1.8 | And death came not because of knowing, but because of disobedience. For all the enemy's plan then was not because of the food, but because he worked to bring ἐργάσασθαι αὐτοῖς τὴν παρακοήν.

them disobedience.

37.1.9 | ὁθεν παρακούσαντες τότε τοῦ μὲν παραδείσου ἔξωθεν γίνονται, ἐπιτιμηθέντες τιμηθέντες δικαιοτάτα, οὐ κατὰ μῖσος ἀλλὰ κατὰ ἐπιμέλειαν τοῦ θεοῦ. φησὶ γὰρ πρὸς αὐτοὺς ὁ κύριος »γῆ εἶ, καὶ εἰς γῆν ἀπελεύση«.

37.1.9 | So, after they disobeyed, they were sent out from paradise, being punished very justly, not out of hatred but out of god's care. For the lord says to them, 'You are dust, and to dust you will return.'

37.1.10 | ἔδει γὰρ τὸν ὄντως ὄντα τεχνίτην κεραμέως δίκην ἐπιμελόμενον τοῦ ιδίου διὰ χειρῶν πεπλασμένου αὐτοῦ πλάσματος τε καὶ ἄγγους, τοῦτο ὕστερον ἐν ἐλαττώματι γεγονὸς διὰ τῆς παρακοῆς καὶ ὡς εἰπεῖν, ἔτι πηλοῦ ὄντος καὶ ὡς ὑπὸ ῥαγάδος ἀπόρριμμα γεγονότος τοῦ ἄΠους, μὴ ἑᾶσαι οὕτως ἀλλὰ μεταβαλεῖν εἰς τὸ ἀρχαῖον φύραμα,

37.1.10 | For it was necessary that the truly existing one, like a potter caring for his work made by his own hands, both the form and the vessel, which later came to be flawed because of disobedience and, so to speak, still being clay and like a broken piece thrown away by the Footless one, should not allow it to stay that way but change it back into the original clay,

37.1.11 | ἵνα αὖθις ἐν τῇ παλιγγενεσίᾳ ἀνασκευάσῃ τὸ ἄγγος ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει εἰς τὴν ἀρχαίαν φαιδροτητα καὶ ἔτι περιττότερον,

37.1.11 | so that again in the rebirth the vessel may be restored in the resurrection to its original brightness and even more perfect,

37.1.12 | τουτέστιν * τὰ σώματα τῶν τὰ ἀδικώτατα πραξάντων καὶ μετανοησάντων καὶ ἀποστάντων τῶν ιδίων σφαλμάτων καὶ ἐν τῇ γνώσει τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ τελειωθέντων, ἵνα γένηται τοῦ σώματος ἡ ἀνάστασις ἐκ τῆς γῆς, ὡς τὸ φύραμα μαλαχθὲν παρὰ τοῦ τεχνίτου καὶ] αὖθις εἰς τὴν ἀρχαίαν καὶ ἔτι βελτίω ἀνατύπωσιν κατασκευάζεται.

37.1.12 | that is, the bodies of those who did the worst things and repented and turned away from their own mistakes and were made perfect in the knowledge of our lord Jesus Christ, so that the resurrection of the body may come from the earth, like clay softened by the potter and again shaped into the original and even better form.

Section 2

37.2.1 | 2. Τοιαύτη μὲν ἦν ἡ ἐπιβουλὴ τοῦ

37.2.1 | Such was the snake's plot against ὄφως πρὸς τὴν Εὐάν. ἐξ ἀρχῆς γὰρ λίχνος ἡ ἀνθρωπεία φύοις καὶ ὑπαγομένη ἀεὶ τοῖς τῆς κενοφωνίας δόγμασι καὶ κεναῖς ὑποσχέσεσι.

Eve. For from the beginning, humanity grew weak and was always led by the empty words and empty promises of nonsense.

37.2.2 | καὶ πάλαι μὲν κρυπταζόμενος ὁ αὐτὸς οὐκ ἐδήλου τῆς αὐτοῦ ἰοβολίας τὸ πέρας, ὕστερον δὲ μετὰ τὴν ἔνσαρκον Χριστοῦ παρουσίαν ἐξήμεσέν τε καὶ ἀπέπτυσε τὴν πᾶσαν αὐτοῦ ἰώδη καὶ μοχθηρὰν ἐπίνοιαν τῆς κακονοίας· οὗτος γὰρ προεβάλετο ἑαυτὸν ἐν τῇ τῶν ἡπατημένων διανοίᾳ δοξάζεσθαι ὡς θεὸς καὶ προσκυνεῖσθαι.

37.2.2 | And long ago, hiding himself, he did not show the end of his poison; but later, after the incarnation of Christ, he was tamed and spat out all his poison and evil plan of wickedness. For he had put himself forward in the mind of the deceived to be honored as a god and worshiped.

37.2.3 | γινώσκεται δὲ ὁ αὐτὸς ὄφιν διὰ τε τῆς αὐτοῦ σχολῆς ταύτης καὶ δι' ὄφως τοῦ αἰσθητοῦ τὴν ἀπάτην ἐμποιῶν. ὄφιν δὲ δῆθεν ἡ θεία γραφὴ καλεῖ τὸν διάβολον, οὐ πάντως ὄντα τοιοῦτον τῇ μορφῇ, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸ φαίνεσθαι τοῖς ἀνθρώποις σκολιώτατον καὶ τὸ ἐν πρώτοις ἐν ὄφει ἐνεργηθὲν τῆς ἀπάτης σκευώρημα.

37.2.3 | The same snake is known both by this trick of his and by being a snake that causes deception to the senses. The divine scripture calls the devil a snake, not because he truly is such in form, but because he appears to people as very crooked, and at first his trick was worked out in the form of a snake.

37.2.4 | παρὰ τοῖς τοίνυν τὴν ἀλήθειαν ἐπιγινώσκουσι καταγέλαστον τοῦτο τὸ δόγμα καὶ οἱ αὐτῷ προσανέχοντες, τὸν ὄφιν ὡς θεὸν δοξάζοντες. μηκέτι γὰρ δυνάμενος ὁ διάβολος τὴν ἀνδρείαν διάνοιαν τὴν ἀπὸ τοῦ κυρίου λαβοῦσαν τὴν δύναμιν τῆς ἀληθείας ἀπατᾶν τρέπεται ἐπὶ τὸ θῆλυ τουτέστιν τὴν τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἄγνοιαν καὶ πείθει τοὺς ἐν τῇ ἀγνοίᾳ, ἐπειδὴ οὐ δύναται τὸν στερεὸν λογισμὸν ἀπατῆσαι.

37.2.4 | Among those who know the truth, this teaching and those who put up with it, praising the snake as a god, are laughable. For no longer able, the devil turns to the female—that is, the ignorance of people—and persuades those in ignorance, since he cannot deceive the strong mind that has received courage and the power of truth from the lord.

37.2.5 | θηλυκοῖς γὰρ ἀεὶ διανοήμασι προσπελάζει, ἡδονῇ τε καὶ ἐπιθυμίᾳ

37.2.5 | For he always attacks female thoughts, that is, ignorance in people that is τουτέστι τῇ ἀγνοίᾳ τῇ ἐν ἀνθρώποις θηλυνομένη καὶ οὐχὶ τῷ στερεῷ λογισμῷ τῷ εὐλόγως τὰ πάντα νοοῦντι καὶ θεὸν ἀπὸ τοῦ κατὰ φύσιν νόμου ἐπιγινώσκοντι.

made soft by pleasure and desire, and not the strong mind that thinks everything reasonably and knows god from the natural law.

37.2.6 | λέγει γὰρ ἑαυτὸν εἶναι Χριστὸν ὁ παρ' αὐτοῖς ὄφεις, μᾶλλον δὲ οὐκ αὐτός οὐ γὰρ δύναται φθέγξασθαι), ἀλλὰ ὁ τὴν αὐτῶν ἔννοιαν οὕτω φρονεῖν παρασκευάσας διάβολος.

37.2.6 | For the snake among them says that he is Christ, but rather it is not he himself (for he cannot speak), but the devil who has prepared their mind to think this way.

37.2.7 | τίς τοίνυν ἐδὼν τὸν ὄφιν οὐκ ἐπιγνώσεται τὸν ἐχθρὸν καὶ φεύξεται; τούτου γὰρ ἔνεκεν καὶ ὁ κύριος αὐτὸν τοῦτον τὸν ὄφιν εἰς ἐχθρίαν κατέστησε τοῦ τῶν ἀνθρώπων γένους, ἐπειδὴ ὅλως σκεῦος διαβόλου γέγονεν κτήνος ὢν καὶ δέ αὐτοῦ ἠπάτησεν ὁ διάβολος τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ, ἵνα ἰδόντες τὴν τούτου ἐχθρίαν τοῦ αἰσθητοῦ ὄψεως ἀποδιδράσκῃσι τῆς ἀπάτης τὴν ἐπιβουλήν καὶ μισήσωσιν ὡς εἶπεῖν θεάσασθαι καὶ τὸ εἶδος.

37.2.7 | Who then, having seen the snake, will not recognize the enemy and run away? For this reason, the lord made this snake an enemy of the human race, since it has become completely the devil's tool, being a beast. And the devil deceived man with it in the garden, so that, seeing the enemy in this sensible snake, they would run away from the trick and the plot, and hate it, as if to say, they have seen even its shape.

Section 3

37.3.1 | 3. Ἀποδιδόασι δὲ καὶ οὗτοι οἱ Ὀφῖται καλούμενοι τούτῳ τῷ ὄφει τὴν πᾶσαν γνῶσιν, λέγοντες ὅτι | οὗτος ἀρχὴ γνώσεως γέγονεν D264 τοῖς ἀνθρώποις, μυθῶδως παρεισφέροντες τὰ παρ' αὐτοῖς νομιζόμενα μυστήρια, μιμολογήματα δὲ ὄντα καὶ χλεύης ἔμπλεα καὶ ματαιοφροσύνης.

37.3.1 | And these same people called Ophites also give all knowledge to this snake, saying that it became the beginning of knowledge for humans, slyly mixing in the mysteries they believe in, which are really just stories full of mockery and foolishness.

37.3.2 | μῦθοι γὰρ ὡς ἀληθῶς οὗτοι· φάσκουσι γὰρ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄνω Αἰῶνος προβεβλήσθαι Αἰῶνας καὶ κατώτερον

37.3.2 | For these are truly myths; they claim that from the upper Age, Ages have come forth, and that Ialdabaoth was born γεγενῆσθαι τὸν Ἰαλδαβαῶθ· τοῦτον δὲ προβελῆσθαι κατὰ ἀδράνειαν καὶ ἄγνοιαν τῆς ἰδίας μητρὸς τουτέστι τῆς ἄνω Προυνίκου.

later. And they say that he came forth through laziness and ignorance of his own mother, that is, the upper Prunikos.

37.3.3 | ταύτην γάρ φασι τὴν Προυνίκον κατεληλυθέναι εἰς τὰ ὕδατα καὶ μιχθῆναι αὐτοῖς καὶ μὴ δεδυνῆσθαι εἰς τὰ ἄνω χωρεῖν διὰ τὸ μεμῖχθαι τῷ βάρει τῆς ὕλης· ἐπιμεμῖχθαι γὰρ αὐτὴν τοῖς ὕδασι καὶ τῇ ὕλῃ καὶ μηκέτι δυνηθῆναι ἀναχωρεῖν.

37.3.3 | For they say that this Prunikos went down into the waters and mixed with them, and was not able to go back up because she was mixed with the weight of matter; for she was mixed with the waters and matter and could no longer return upward.

37.3.4 | ἐπῆρεν δὲ ἑαυτὴν κατὰ βίαν εἰς τὰ ἀνώτερα καὶ ἐξέτεινεν ἑαυτὴν καὶ οὕτως γέγονεν <ὁ> ἀνώτερος οὐρανός. καὶ παγεῖσα ἡρῇται, μηκέτι δυναμένη μῆτε ἄνω ἀναβῆναι μῆτε κάτω κατελθεῖν, ἀλλὰ εἰς τὸ μεσαίτατον παγεῖσά τε καὶ ἐκτεταμένη ἔμεινε.

37.3.4 | She lifted herself by force into the higher places and stretched herself out, and so the higher heaven came to be. And she was frozen, found no longer able to go up or down, but frozen and stretched out, she stayed in the middle place.

37.3.5 | κάτω μὲν γὰρ κατενεχθῆναι οὐκ ἠδύνατο, ὅτι οὐκ ἦν συγγενής· ἄνω δὲ οὐκ ἠδύνατο χωρεῖν, διὰ τὸ βαρεῖσθαι ἐκ τῆς ὕλης ἧς προσέλαβεν.

37.3.5 | For she was not able to go down because she was not related; and she was not able to go up because she was weighed down by the matter she had taken on.

37.3.6 | κατὰ δὲ τὴν αὐτῆς ἄγνοιαν προβληθεὶς ὁ Ἰαλδαβαῶθ ἦλθεν εἰς τὰ κατώτατα καὶ ἐποίησεν ἑαυτῷ ἑπτὰ υἱούς, οἵτινες ἑαυτοῖς οὐρανοὺς ἑπτὰ ἐποίησαν. αὐτὸς δὲ ἀποκλείσας τὰ ὑπὲρ αὐτὸν ἀπέκρυπτεν, ἵνα οἱ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ υἱοὶ προβληθέντες ἑπτὰ μὴ γινώσκωσι τὰ ὑπὲρ αὐτόν, κατώτεροι ὄντες αὐτοῦ, ἀλλ' αὐτόν μονωτάτως. καὶ οὗτός ἐστι, φασίν, ὁ θεὸς τῶν Ἰουδαίων ὁ Ἰαλδαβαῶθ.

37.3.6 | Because of her ignorance, Ialdabaoth was produced and came into the lowest places, and he made for himself seven sons, who made for themselves seven heavens. He himself shut off and hid what was above him, so that his seven sons, being lower than him, would not know what was above him, but only him alone. And this one, they say, is the god of the Jews, Ialdabaoth.

37.3.7 | ἀλλ' οὐκ ἔστιν οὕτως, μὴ γένοιτο, ἀλλὰ μέλλει κρίνειν αὐτοὺς ὁ θεὸς ὁ παντοκράτωρ, θεὸς ὢν καὶ Ἰουδαίων καὶ Χριστιανῶν καὶ πάντων, καὶ οὐ Ἰαλδαβαῶθ τις ὢν κατὰ τὴν αὐτῶν ληρώδη μυθολογίαν.

37.3.7 | But it is not so, may it never be; instead, the almighty god, god of Jews and Christians and all, will judge them, and not some Ialdabaoth, according to their foolish story.

Section 4

37.4.1 | 4. Εἴτα, φασίν, ἀποκεκλεισμένων τῶν ἄνω διὰ τῆς τοῦ Ἰαλδαβαῶθ ἐπινοίας οὗτοι οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ γεγεννημένοι ἑπτὰ υἱοὶ ἦτοι Αἰῶνες ἦτοι θεοὶ ἦτοι ἄγγελοι (καλοῦνται γὰρ παρ' αὐτοῖς ὀνόμασι διαφόροις) κατὰ τὴν ιδέαν τοῦ αὐτῶν πατρὸς Ἰαλδαβαῶθ ἔπλασαν τὸν ἄνθρωπον, οὐ ῥαδίως οὐδὲ ταχέως, ἀλλὰ τῷ αὐτῷ τρόπῳ ὥ καὶ αἱ πρότεραι αἰρέσεις ἐμηχανήσαντο ἐν τῇ αὐτῶν κενοφωνίᾳ. φασὶ γὰρ καὶ οὗτοι ἦν ἔρπετον ὁ ἄνθρωπος ὡς σκώληξ, μὴ δυνάμενος μήτε ἀνακύφειν μήτε ὀρθοῦσθαι.

37.4.1 | Then, they say, with the ones above shut out by the plan of Ialdabaoth, these seven sons born from him—either called Aeons or gods or angels (for they are called by different names by them)—shaped man according to the idea of their father Ialdabaoth, not easily or quickly, but in the same way that earlier groups also tried in their empty noise. For they say this too: man was a creeping thing like a worm, unable to lift his head or stand up.

37.4.2 | πρὸς ἐπιβουλὴν δὲ τοῦ Ἰαλδαβαῶθ ἡ ἄνω Μήτηρ ἡ καλουμένη Προῦνικος, βουλομένη κενῶσαι τὸν Ἰαλδαβαῶθ ἀπὸ τῆς αὐτοῦ δυνάμεως ἧς ἐξ αὐτῆς μετέσχεν, ἐνήργησεν ἐν αὐτῷ εἰς τὸν ἄνθρωπον τὸν ἀπὸ τῶν τέκνων αὐτοῦ πεπλασμένον, κενῶσαι τὴν αὐτοῦ δύναμιν καὶ ἀποστεῖλαι ἀπ' αὐτοῦ σπινθῆρα ἐπὶ τὸν ἄνθρωπον (τὴν ψυχὴν δῆθεν) διανοοῦμένη.

37.4.2 | Against the plan of Ialdabaoth, the upper Mother called Prunikos, wanting to empty Ialdabaoth of the power he took from her, worked within him toward the man made from his children, to empty his power and send a spark from him to the man (the soul, supposedly), she thought.

37.4.3 | καὶ τότε, φησὶν, ἔστη ὁ ἄνθρωπος ἐπὶ τοὺς πόδας καὶ ὑπερβέβηκε τῇ διανοίᾳ τοὺς ὀκτὼ οὐρανούς καὶ ἐπέγνων καὶ ᾔνεσε τὸν ἄνω Πατέρα τὸν ἐπάνω τοῦ

37.4.3 | And then, he says, the man stood on his feet and, by his mind, crossed over the eight heavens and knew and praised the upper Father above Ialdabaoth.

Ἰαλδαβαώθ.

37.4.4 | καὶ τότε ὁ Ἰαλδαβαώθ πόνῳ φερόμενος διὰ τὸ ἐπιγνωσθῆναι τὰ ἀνώτατα αὐτοῦ, ἐπέβλεψε κάτω ἐν πικρίᾳ πρὸς τὴν ὑποστάθμην τῆς ὕλης καὶ γεγέννηκε δύναμιν ὀφιομόρφον ἰδέαν ἔχουσαν, ὃν καὶ υἱὸν αὐτοῦ καλοῦσι.

37.4.4 | And then Ialdabaoth, troubled because the highest things about him were known, looked down in bitterness at the base of matter and gave birth to a power shaped like a serpent, which they also call his son.

37.4.5 | καὶ οὕτως οὗτος, φησὶν, ἀπεστάλη καὶ ἡπάτησε τὴν Εὕαν. ἡ δὲ ἤκουσεν αὐτοῦ καὶ ἐπείσθη ὥς υἱὸς θεοῦ καὶ πεισθεῖσα ἔφαγεν ἀπὸ τοῦ ξύλου τῆς γνώσεως.

37.4.5 | And so this one, he says, was sent and tricked Eve. And she heard him and was convinced he was a son of god, and, convinced, she ate from the tree of knowledge.

Section 5

37.5.1 | 5. Εἴτα ὅταν ταύτην τὴν μωρίαν διηγῶσιν καὶ τὸ γελοῖον τῆς ἐπιτηδεύσεως ταύτης, τὴν τραγικὴν ὡς εἰπεῖν ποιησάμενοι ὑπόθεσιν καὶ τὸ κωμικὸν τοῦτο δρᾶμα, ἄρχονται τινα ἡμῖν ὑποφαίνειν εἰς παράστασιν τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς λεγομένων ψευδῶν θεῶν ὅτι »οὐχὶ καὶ τὰ ἔγκατα ἡμῶν, δι' ὧν ζῶμεν καὶ τρεφόμεθα, ὀφιοειδῆ ὑπάρχει;

37.5.1 | Then, whenever they tell this foolish story and the ridiculousness of this trick, making it like a tragic plot and this drama comic, some rulers seem to show us in the play of the false gods they talk about that "aren't even the inside parts of us, through which we live and are fed, shaped like a snake?"

37.5.2 | ἄλλα δὲ ὅσα τοῖς ἡπατημένοις παρεισφέρουσιν εἰς τὴν ἑαυτῶν πλάνην καὶ ληρώδη ὑπόνοιαν. διὰ τοιαύτην δὲ αἰτίαν, φασί, τὸν ὄφιν δοξάζομεν, ὅτι ὁ ὄφιν αἴτιος τῆς γνώσεως γεγέννηται τῷ πλήθει.

37.5.2 | But other things they bring in to those who are tricked, into their own error and foolish suspicion. For this reason, they say, we honor the serpent, because the serpent became the cause of knowledge for the many.

37.5.3 | ὁ δὲ Ἰαλδαβαώθ, φασὶν, οὐκ ἤθελεν μνησθῆναι τὴν ἄνω Μητέρα οὔτε τὸν Πατέρα τοῖς ἀνθρώποις. ἔπεισε δὲ ὁ ὄφιν

37.5.3 | But Ialdabaoth, they say, did not want to mention the upper Mother or the Father to humans. The serpent persuaded καὶ γινῶσιν ἥνεγκεν, ἐδίδαξέν τε τὸν ἄνθρωπον καὶ τὴν γυναῖκα τῶν ἄνω μυστηρίων τὸ πᾶν τῆς γνῶσεως.

and brought knowledge, and taught both man and woman all the mysteries of the upper knowledge.

37.5.4 | διὸ ὁ πατὴρ ὀργισθεὶς, τουτέστιν ὁ Ἰαλδαβαώθ, δέ ἦν ὑπέδειξεν τοῖς ἀνθρώποις γινῶσιν, κατέβαλεν αὐτὸν ἀπ’ αὐρανοῦ.

37.5.4 | Therefore the father, angry—that is, Ialdabaoth—threw down from heaven the knowledge he had shown to humans.

37.5.5 | καὶ ἔνθεν βασιλέα τὸν ὄφιν ἀπ’ οὐρανοῦ λέγουσιν οἱ τὴν μερίδα τοῦ ὄφεως καὶ οὐδὲν ἕτερον κεκτημένοι. δοξάζουσιν οὖν αὐτὸν διὰ τὴν τοιαύτην, φασί, γινῶσιν καὶ ἄρτον αὐτῷ προσφέρουσιν.

37.5.5 | And from there they say the serpent is king from heaven, those who have only a part of the serpent and nothing else. So they praise him for this kind of knowledge, and they offer him bread.

37.5.6 | ἔχουσι γὰρ φύσει ὄφιν τρέφοντες ἐν κίστη τινί, ὃν πρὸς τὴν ὥραν τῶν αὐτῶν μυστηρίων τοῦ φωλεοῦ προφέροντες καὶ στιβάζοντες ἐπὶ τραπέζης ἄρτους προσκαλοῦνται τὸν αὐτὸν ὄφιν· ἀνοιχθέντος δὲ τοῦ φωλεοῦ πρόεισι. καὶ οὕτως ἀνελθὼν κατὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ φρόνησιν ὁ ὄφιν καὶ πανουργίαν, ἥδη γινώσκων τὴν αὐτῶν μωρίαν ἄνεισιν ἐπὶ τὴν τράπεζαν καὶ ἐνειλεῖται τοῖς ἄρτοις. καὶ ταύτην φασὶν εἶναι τελείαν θυσίαν.

37.5.6 | For they have a serpent by nature, feeding it in a basket, which at the time of their mysteries they bring from the nest and pile on the table breads, calling the same serpent. When the nest is opened, it comes out. And so the serpent, going up according to its own mind and craftiness, already knowing their foolishness, goes up to the table and wraps itself around the breads. And they say this is a perfect sacrifice.

37.5.7 | ὅθεν καί, ὡς ἀπὸ τινος ἀκήκοα, οὐ μόνον κλῶσι τοὺς ἄρτους ἐν οἷς ὁ αὐτὸς ὄφιν εἰλήθη καὶ ἐπιδιδόασιν τοῖς λαμβάνουσιν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἕκαστος ἀσπάζεται τὸν ὄφιν ἐκ στόματος, ἥτοι γοητεία τινὶ ἐπασθέντος τοῦ ὄφεως εἰς ἡμερότητα ἢ ἐξ ἐτέρας ἐνεργείας διαβόλου πρὸς ἀπάτην τούτων ὑποκοριζομένου τοῦ ζώου.

37.5.7 | Therefore, and as I have heard from someone, not only do they break the breads in which the same serpent was wrapped and give them to those who receive them, but also each one kisses the serpent from its mouth, either having been caught by some kind of magic of the serpent for tamelessness, or by another power of the devil to deceive those who are fooled by the animal.

37.5.8 | προσκυνοῦσι δὲ τὸν τοιοῦτον καὶ εὐχαριστίαν ταύτην ἐπιφημίζουσι τὴν δι' αὐτοῦ ἐνειληθέντος γεγενημένην καὶ αὐθις δι' αὐτοῦ, ὡς φασι, τῷ ἄνω Πατρὶ ὕμνον ἀναπέμποντες οὕτως τὰ μυστήρια αὐτῶν ἐπιτελοῦσι.

37.5.8 | And they worship such a one and call this thanksgiving made by the serpent having been wrapped twice and again twice, as they say, sending up a hymn to the Father above, thus they complete their mysteries.

Section 6

37.6.1 | 6. Μωρίαν δὲ εἴποι τις ἂν καὶ χλεύης ἔμπλεον <τοῦτο>· καὶ οὔτε ἀνατροπῆς ἀπὸ θείας γραφῆς ἐπιζητουμένης δεήσει τοῦτο, ἀλλ' αὐτὸ καθ' ἑαυτὸ τῷ τὸν νοῦν ἔχοντι ἐρρωμένον κατὰ θεὸν γελοιῶδες δειχθήσεται. εὐθὺς γὰρ πᾶσα ἡ αὐτῶν κενοφωνία ληρώδης τις εὐρεθήσεται. | εἰ γὰρ φησὶ Προύνικόν φασιν εἶναι, πῶς ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ ὀνόματος οὐ τὸ σαθρὸν τῆς διανοίας αὐτῶν φωραθήσεται, ὡς ἤδη προεῖπον; πᾶν γὰρ τὸ προυνικευόμενον ἄχρηστον· εἰ δὲ ἄχρηστον, οὐκ ἐν τοῖς προκριτέοις τακτέον. καὶ πῶς ἐπαινετὸν εἶη τὸ ἄχρηστον;

37.6.1 | 6. Someone might say this is foolish and full of mockery; and it does not need to be rejected by divine scripture, but by itself, to the one who has understanding and is strong in god, it will be shown to be ridiculous. For immediately all their empty talk will be found silly. For if they say it is Prunikos, how will not the weakness of their mind be seen from that very name, as I already said? For everything that is prunikos is useless; and if it is useless, it should not be counted among the important things. And how could the useless be praised?

37.6.3 | πῶς δὲ οὐχὶ μυθῶδες τὸ λέγειν ὅτι ἡ Προύνικος τὸν Ἰαλδαβαῶθ ἐκένωσε καὶ ὁ σπινθήρ εἰς τὰ κάτω κατήλθεν ἀπὸ τοῦ κενωθέντος, ἐν δὲ τῷ ἀνθρώπῳ γεγωνὸς ἐπέγων τὸν ἀνώτερον τοῦ κεκενωμένου;

37.6.3 | But how is it not a myth to say that Prunikos emptied Ialdabaoth, and the spark went down below from what was emptied, and becoming a man, it came upon the one above the emptied one?

37.6.4 | καὶ θαῦμα μέγιστον, ὡς ὁ ἄνθρωπος, ἐν ᾧ ὁ ἐλάχιστος σπινθήρ, ἐπιγινώσκει ὑπὲρ τοὺς πεπλακότες ἀγγέλους. οἱ γὰρ πεποιηκότες τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἄγγελοι εἴτουν υἱοὶ τοῦ Ἰαλδαβαῶθ οὐκ ἐπέγνωσαν τὰ ἐπάνω τοῦ Ἰαλδαβαῶθ, ὁ δὲ ὑπ' αὐτῶν γεγενημένος διὰ

37.6.4 | And a great wonder, that the man, in whom the smallest spark is, knows above the fallen angels. For the angels who made the man, whether sons of Ialdabaoth, did not know what was above Ialdabaoth, but the one born from them through the spark knew.

37.6.5 | αὐτοὶ τοίνυν ἑαυτοὺς ἀνατρέπουσι διὰ τῶν ιδίων δογμάτων, πῇ μὲν τὸν ὄφιν δοξάζοντες, πῇ δὲ ἀπατηλὸν αὐτὸν πρὸς τὴν Εὐάν γεγεννημένον φάσκοντες ἐν τῷ εἰπεῖν ἡπάτησε τὴν Εὐάν·

37.6.5 | So they themselves overthrow themselves through their own teachings, some praising the serpent, others saying it was deceitful toward Eve, and in saying this, it deceived Eve.

37.6.6 | καὶ πῇ μὲν Χριστὸν αὐτὸν καταγγέλλουσι, πῇ δὲ υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνωτέρου Ἰαλδαβαῶθ τοῦ τοὺς υἱοὺς ἀδικήσαντος ἐν τῷ ἀποκλεῖσαι ἀπ’ αὐτῶν τὴν > ἄνω γνῶσιν καὶ τὴν Μητέρα ἀθετήσαντος καὶ τὸν ἄνω Πατέρα, εἰς τὸ μὴ εἶναι δοξάζειν τοὺς ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ γεγεννημένους υἱοὺς τὸν ἀνώτερον αὐτοῦ Πατέρα.

37.6.6 | And some proclaim Christ himself, while others say he is the son of the higher Ialdabaoth, who wronged his sons by cutting off from them the higher knowledge and denying the Mother and the higher Father, so that he would not let the sons born from him honor the higher Father.

37.6.7 | How then can the heavenly king be the serpent, if he was raised against the Father? And how, if he gives knowledge, is he said to have deceived Eve by trickery? But he who gives knowledge through trickery no longer gives knowledge, but instead ignorance in place of knowledge, as you can truly see that this is completed in them. For having ignorance, they think this is knowledge, and in this they are true, in speaking their own knowledge as trickery and ignorance.

37.7.1 | 7. Φέρουσι δὲ καὶ ἄλλας μαρτυρίας λέγοντες ὅτι καὶ Μωυσῆς ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ τὸν ὄφιν τὸν χαλκοῦν ὑψώσε προστησάμενος, ἵνα ἱάμα τοῖς ὑπὸ ὀφείας δακνομένοις γένηται. εἶναι γὰρ τοῦτο τὸ εἶδος ἰατρικὸν τοῦ δήγματος λέγουσι. πάλιν δὲ καθ’

37.7.1 | They also bring other proofs, saying that Moses in the desert raised up the bronze serpent, setting it up so that it would be a cure for those bitten by a serpent. For they say this form is healing for the bite. But again, they decide these ἐαυτῶν ταῦτα ὀρίζονται.

37.7.2 | εἰ γὰρ ὄφεων ἦν τὰ δῆγματα, βλαβερὰ δὲ ταῦτα, ἄρα ὁ ὄφης οὐκ ἀγαθός. τὸ δε ὑψωθὲν ὑπὸ Μωυσέως τότε διὰ τῆς θεωρίας τὴν ἴασιν ἐποιεῖτο, οὐ διὰ τὴν τοῦ ὄφεως φύσιν ἀλλὰ τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ εὐδοκίαν, δι' ὄφεως ὥσπερ ἀντίδοτον τοῖς τότε δεδηγμένοις ἐργαζομένου.

37.7.2 | For if the bites were from serpents, and these bites were harmful, then the serpent is not good. But the thing raised up by Moses then brought healing through the vision, not because of the nature of the serpent, but because of the will of God, working as a kind of antidote for those bitten at that time.

37.7.3 | οὐδὲν δὲ θαυμαστὸν εἰ δι' ὧν τις ἐβλάβη, διὰ τούτων θεραπείας ἔτυχεν· καὶ μή τις κακιζέτω τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ κτίσιν, ὡς ἄλλοι πλανώμενοι πάλιν λέγουσι.

37.7.3 | Nothing is strange if someone was harmed by something, and through these things found healing; and no one should insult the creation of God, as others wandering say again.

37.7.4 | προετυποῦτο δὲ τοῦτο τοῖς ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ διὰ τὴν αἰτίαν, ἣν ἐλθὼν ὁ κύριος λέγει ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ ὅτι »ὡς ὑψώσε Μωυσῆς τὸν ὄφιν ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ, οὕτως ὑψωθῆναι δεῖ τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου«, ὃ καὶ γέγονεν.

37.7.4 | This was a sign before for those in the desert because of the reason that the Lord came and said in the gospel, "Just as Moses lifted up the serpent in the desert, so the Son of Man must be lifted up," which also happened.

37.7.5 | δίκην γὰρ ὄφεως ἀτιμάσαντες τὸν σωτῆρα ἀπὸ ἀπὸ ἐπιβουλῆς τῆς τοῦ ὄφεως ἡδικοῦντο, φημὶ δὲ τοῦ διαβόλου. καὶ καθάπερ ἐν τῷ ὑψώματι τοῦ ὄφεως ἴασις ἐγένετο τοῖς δεδηγμένοις, οὕτως ἐπὶ τῇ τοῦ Χριστοῦ σταυρώσει λύτρα γέγονε ταῖς ἡμῶν ψυχαῖς ἀπὸ τῶν ἐν ἡμῖν γενομένων δηγμάτων τῆς ἁμαρτίας.

37.7.5 | For dishonoring the savior like a serpent, they were wronged by the attack of the serpent, I say the devil. And just as healing happened to those bitten by the lifting up of the serpent, so on the cross of Christ a ransom was made for our souls from the bites of sin within us.

37.7.6 | φέρουσι δὲ καὶ αὐτὸ τοῦτο τὸ ῥητὸν πρὸς μαρτυρίαν οἱ αὐτοὶ λέγοντες ὅτι οὐχ ὀρᾷς ὡς εἶπεν ὁ σωτήρ, ὃν τρόπον

37.7.6 | They also bring this saying as proof, the same ones saying, "Don't you see how the savior said, 'Just as Moses lifted up ὑψωσε Μωυσῆς τὸν ὄφιν ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ, οὕτως ὑψωθῆναι δεῖ τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου; καὶ διὰ τοῦτο καὶ ἐν ἄλλῳ τόπῳ, φασί, λέγει ὅτι »γίνεσθε φρόνιμοι ὡς ὁ ὄφιν καὶ ἀκέραιοι ὡς ἡ περιστέρα. καὶ τὰ εἰς σύμβολα διδασκαλίας ἡμῖν ἐκ θεοῦ καλῶς τεταγμένα οὗτοι εἰς τὴν ἑαυτῶν ἐπίνοιαν τὴν ἡπατημένην φέρουσιν.

the serpent in the desert, so the Son of Man must be lifted up?” And because of this, in another place, they say he said, “Be wise as the serpent and innocent as the dove.” And these things, well arranged by God as symbols of teaching for us, they carry into their own deceived thinking.

Section 8

37.8.1 | 8. Ὁ γὰρ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστὸς καὶ θεὸς Λόγος, ὁ ἐκ πατρὸς πρὸ πάντων τῶν αἰώνων ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόνως γεννηθεὶς, οὐκ ὄφιν (μὴ γένοιτο), ἀλλὰ κατὰ τοῦ ὄφεως αὐτὸς ἦλθεν.

37.8.1 | For our Lord Jesus Christ and God the Word, born from the Father before all ages without beginning and without time, is not a serpent (may it never be), but he came against the serpent himself.

37.8.2 | ἐὰν δὲ εἴπῃ »γίνεσθε φρόνιμοι ὡς ὁ ὄφιν καὶ ἀκέραιοι ὡς ἡ περιστέρα«, δεῖ ἡμᾶς ἐρωτᾶν καὶ γινώσκειν διὰ τί τὰ δύο ταῦτα πρόσωπα ἡμῖν εἰς διδασκαλίαν παρεισῆγαγεν, τῆς τε περιστερᾶς καὶ τοῦ ὄφεως.

37.8.2 | But if he says, “Be wise as the serpent and innocent as the dove,” we must ask and understand why he brought these two figures to us for teaching, both the dove and the serpent.

37.8.3 | οὐδὲν δὲ ἐν τῷ ὄφει φρόνιμον, πλὴν &τῶν&; δύο τούτων, ὅτι ἐν τῷ γινώσκων ὅτι ἐν τῇ κεφαλῇ αὐτοῦ ἡ πᾶσα ζωὴ αὐτοῦ τυγχάνει καὶ δεδιὼς τὴν άνωτέρω πρὸς αὐτὸν εἰρημένην ἀπὸ τοῦ θεοῦ διὰ τὸν ἄνθρωπον προσταγὴν ὅτι »φυλάξεις αὐτοῦ κεφαλὴν, αὐτὸς δέ σου πτέρναν«, ὅλον τὸ σῶμα ἐνείλησας ἐπὶ τὴν κεφαλὴν αὐτοῦ κρύπτει μὲν τὸ κρανίον ἑαυτοῦ, παραδίδωσι δὲ τὸ ἄλλο σῶμα ἐν ὑπερβολῇ πανουργίας.

37.8.3 | There is nothing wise in the serpent, except for these two things: that in knowing that all its life is in its head, and fearing the command from God given for man that “you will guard its head, but it will strike your heel,” it wraps its whole body around its head, hiding its skull, but it gives over the rest of its body in great craftiness.

37.8.4 | οὕτω θέλει ἡμᾶς ὁ μονογενὴς θεὸς ὁ ἐκ πατρὸς προελθὼν ἐν καιρῷ διωγμοῦ

37.8.4 | This is how the only-begotten God, who came from the Father, wants us in καὶ ἐν καιρῷ πειρασμοῦ τὰ πάντα ἡμῶν παραδιδόναι μαχαίρᾳ τε καὶ πυρί, φυλάττειν δὲ ἑαυτῶν τὴν κεφαλὴν, τουτέστιν Χριστὸν μὴ ὀρνεῖσθαι, ἐπειδὴ περ κεφαλὴ παντὸς ἀνθρώπου Χριστός, κεφαλὴ δὲ γυναικὸς ὁ ἀνὴρ, κεφαλὴ δὲ Χριστοῦ ὁ θεός», κατὰ τὸν ἀπόστολον.

times of trouble and testing to give up everything to sword and fire, but to guard the head of ourselves—that is, Christ—not to be like a bird, since Christ is the head of every person, the man is the head of the woman, and God is the head of Christ, as the apostle says.

37.8.5 | ἕτερον πάλιν ἔχει φρονιμότητος ὁ ὄφης, ὥς φασιν οἱ φυσιολόγοι περὶ τοῦτου τοῦ ζώου. ὅταν γὰρ διψήσας ἀπὸ τοῦ φωλεοῦ προέλθοι ἐπὶ τι ὕδωρ ἵνα πῖνῃ, οὐ συμπαλαμβάνει λαμβάνει τὸν ἰὸν μεθ’ ἑαυτοῦ, ἀλλὰ ἐν τῷ φωλεῷ καταλιμπάνει καὶ οὕτως ἐλθὼν λαμβάνει τὸ πόμα τῶν ὕδάτων.

37.8.5 | The serpent has another kind of cleverness, as naturalists say about this animal. For when it comes out of its hole thirsty to drink some water, it does not take its poison with it, but leaves it in the hole, and so coming, it takes the drink of the waters.

37.8.6 | καὶ αὐτοὶ οὖν τοῦτο μιμησώμεθα, ἵνα, ὅταν ἐρχώμεθα ἐπὶ τὴν ἁγίαν τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίαν ἢ εἰς εὐχὴν ἢ εἰς τὰ τοῦ θεοῦ μυστήρια, μὴ φέρωμεν μεθ’ ἑαυτῶν κακίαν ἢ ἡδονὴν ἢ ἐπιθυμίαν ἢ ἔχθραν ἢ τι ἕτερον ἐν ταῖς διανοίαις αὐτῶν.

37.8.6 | And so we too should imitate this, so that when we come to the holy church of God, or to prayer, or to the mysteries of God, we do not bring with us evil or pleasure or desire or hatred or anything else in our thoughts.

37.8.7 | ἐπεὶ πῶς ἂν καὶ τὴν περιστερὰν μιμήσασθαι δυνηθῇμεν, μὴ ἐκτὸς γενόμενοι κακίας, καίτοι γε τοῦ γένους τῆς περιστερᾶς ἐν πολλοῖς πράγμασιν οὐκ ἐπαινουμένου;

37.8.7 | Since how could we also imitate the dove, not becoming outside of wickedness, even though the kind of the dove is in many ways not praised?

37.8.8 | ἀκόλαστον γὰρ γένος περιστερᾶς καὶ πολυμιξίας μὴ ἀνακοπτόμενον, λάγνον τε καὶ καθ’ ὥραν ἡδονῇ προσανακείμενον, πρὸς δὲ τούτοις ἄτονον καὶ βληχρὸν.

37.8.8 | For the kind of dove is wild and does not stop from much mixing, and is lustful and lies down with pleasure at the right time, and besides these things, it is weak and sickly.

37.8.9 | διὰ δὲ τὸ ἄκακον καὶ μακρόθυμον καὶ ἀμνησικάκον τοῦ ζώου, ἔτι μὴν καὶ διὰ τὸ ἐν εἶδει περιστερᾶς πεφάνθαι τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα, μιμήσασθαι ἡμᾶς βούλεται ὁ θεῖος λόγος τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος τὴν βούλησιν καὶ τῆς ἀκάκου περιστερᾶς τὴν ἀκακίαν, ὄντας μὲν ἡμᾶς φρονίμους εἰς τὸ ἀγαθόν, ἀκεραίους δὲ εἰς τὸ κακόν. καὶ λέλυται ἡ τούτων πᾶσα δραματουργία.

37.8.9 | Because of the innocence and patience and forgetfulness of wrong of the animal, and also because the holy spirit has appeared in the form of a dove, the divine word of the holy spirit wants us to imitate the will and the innocence of the innocent dove, making us wise for good and pure from evil. And all the work of these things has been completed.

37.8.10 | εὐθύς γὰρ ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος κατ' ἄλλου τινὸς τὸ πανοῦργον καὶ ἐπίβουλون οὐχ ὀρίζεται περισσοτέρως ἀλλὰ κατὰ τοῦ διαβόλου καὶ τοῦ ὄφεως, λέγων »φοβοῦμαι δὲ μή πως ὡς ὁ ὄφις ἠπάτησεν Εὐάν ἐν τῇ πανουργίᾳ αὐτοῦ, φθαρῇ τὰ νοήματα ὑμῶν ἀπὸ τῆς ἀπλότητος καὶ ἀγνείας Χριστοῦ καὶ δικαιοσύνης'.

37.8.10 | For immediately the holy apostle, in another place, does not describe the crafty and treacherous one more clearly than as against the devil and the serpent, saying, "But I fear that just as the serpent deceived Eve by his craftiness, your minds may be corrupted from the simplicity and purity of Christ and righteousness."

37.8.11 | ὁρᾷς ὡς φθορὰν ἀπέφηνεν ὁ ἀπόστολος καὶ πανουργίαν δεινὴν καὶ ἀπάτην τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ ὄφεως πρὸς τὴν Εὐάν πεπραγματευμένα καὶ οὐκ ἐπαινετόν τι παρὰ τοῦ αὐτοῦ γεγεννημένον ὑπέδειξε.

37.8.11 | Do you see how the apostle showed destruction and terrible craftiness and deceit done by the serpent to Eve, and did not point out anything praiseworthy that came from the same?

Section 9

37.9.1 | 9. Πανταχόθεν τοίνυν φωρατὴ καὶ ἔκδηλος ἡ τούτων ἄνοια ἐστὶ παντὶ τῷ βουλομένῳ εἰδέναι τὴν τῆς ἀληθείας διδασκαλίαν καὶ πνεύματος ἁγίου γνῶσιν.

37.9.1 | So, from every side, the foolishness of these things is clear and obvious to anyone who wants to know the teaching of truth and the knowledge of the holy spirit.

37.9.2 | ἵνα δὲ μὴ ἀναλίσκω χρόνον, καὶ ταύτην διαπλευσάμενος τὴν χαλεπὴν καὶ δύσπλουν τοῦ πελάγους ζάλην ἐπὶ τὰς ἐτέρας θαλαττίους ποντοπορείας τὸ σκάφος ὀπλίσομαι, ἐπιμελῶς τοὺς ἀνέχοντας

37.9.2 | But so that I do not waste time, and having sailed through this difficult and stormy sea, I will prepare the ship for other sea voyages, carefully holding the ropes firmly in my hands.

κρατῶν ἐν τῇ

37.9.3 | τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμειν καὶ εὐχαῖς ἁγίων, ὅπως παραπλέοντες κατοπτεύσωμεν τῶν ἀγρίων κυμάτων τὴν κύρτωσιν καὶ τῶν ἐν τοῖς πελάγεσι θηρίων ἰοβόλων τὰς μορφάς, ἄπληκτοι δὲ ἀπὸ σμυραινώδους ἰοῦ καὶ τρυγόνος καὶ δρακαίνης καὶ καρχαρίου καὶ σκορπαίνης περᾶσαι καὶ τοῦ εὐδίου τῆς ἀληθείας λιμένος δι' εὐχῆς καὶ ἱκεσίας ἐπιτυχεῖν δυνηθείμεν,

37.9.3 | by the power of god and the prayers of the holy ones, so that sailing past, we might watch the curve of the wild waves and the deadly shapes of the beasts in the seas, and unharmed by the poisonous sting of the sea nettle, the stingray, the sea snake, the shark, and the scorpion fish, we might pass through and reach the calm harbor of truth by prayer and supplication.

37.9.4 | πληρουμένου καὶ ἐν ἡμῖν τοῦ ῥητοῦ τοῦ »οἱ καταβαίνοντες εἰς τὴν θάλασσαν τὰς ἀρετὰς τοῦ κυρίου διηγῆσονται«. ἐφ' ἑτέραν τοίνυν ταύτης καθεξῆς τὴν πορείαν ποιήσομαι πρὸς διήγησιν.

37.9.4 | and being filled also in us with the saying, "those who go down to the sea will tell the virtues of the lord." Therefore, I will make the journey of this one in order, for the telling.

Book 38

Section 1

38.1.1 | Καϊανοὶ τινες ὀνομάζονται ἀπὸ τοῦ Κάϊν εἰληφότες τὴν ἐπωνυμίαν τῆς αἰρέσεως. οὗτοι γὰρ τὸν Κάϊν ἐπαινοῦσι καὶ πατέρα ἑαυτῶν τοῦτον τάττουσι, καὶ αὐτοὶ ὡς εἶπεν ὡς ἀπὸ διαφορᾶς ἐπαναστάσεως κυμάτων ὀρμώμενοι, οὐκ ἔξω ὄντες τοῦ αὐτοῦ σάλου καὶ κλύδωνος, καὶ ὡς ἀπὸ ἀκανθῶδους ὕλης προκύψαντες, οὐκ ἐκτὸς ὄντες παντὸς τοῦ σωροῦ τῶν ἀκανθῶν, εἰ καὶ διάφοροι τῷ ὀνόματί εἰσιν. ἀκανθῶν μὲν γὰρ γένη πολλά, ὅμως ἐν ἅπασιν τὸ μοχθηρὸν τῆς κεντρῶδους ἀδικίας ἔνεστιν.

38.1.1 | Some are called Caians from Cain, having taken the name of the sect. For they praise Cain and set him as their father, and they themselves, as if stirred up by a difference of rebellious waves, are not outside the same turmoil and storm, and as if born from thorny wood, they are not outside the whole heap of thorns, even if they differ in name. For there are many kinds of thorns, yet in all of them is the evil of the stinging injustice.

38.1.2 | Οὐτοί φασι τὸν Κάϊν ἐκ τῆς ἰσχυροτέρας δυνάμεως ὑπάρχειν καὶ τῆς ἄνωθεν αὐθεντίας, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸν Ἡσαῦ καὶ τοὺς περὶ Κορὲ καὶ τοὺς Σοδομίτας, τὸν δὲ Ἄβελ ἐκ τῆς ἀσθενεστέρας δυνάμεως εἶναι·

38.1.2 | They say that Cain comes from the stronger power and the authority from above, but also Esau and those around Kore and the Sodomites, while Abel is from the weaker power.

38.1.3 | * δὲ τούτους πάντας παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐπαινετοὺς καὶ τῆς αὐτῶν συγγενείας. σεμνύνονται γὰρ συγγενεῖς εἶναι τοῦ Κάϊν καὶ τῶν Σοδομιτῶν καὶ Ἡσαῦ καὶ Κορέ. καὶ οὗτοι, φασίν, εἰσὶ τῆς τελείας καὶ ἄνωθεν γνώσεως.

38.1.3 | But all these are praised by them as well as of their own family. For they boast that they are relatives of Cain and the Sodomites and Esau and Kore. And they say that these are of perfect and heavenly knowledge.

38.1.4 | διὸ καὶ τὸν ποιητὴν τοῦ κόσμου τούτου φασὶ περὶ τὴν τούτων ἀνάλωσιν ἐσχολακότα μηδὲν δεδυνῆσθαι αὐτοὺς βλάψαι. ἐκρύβησαν γὰρ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ καὶ μετεβλήθησαν εἰς τὸν ἄνω αἰῶνα, ὅθεν ἡ ἰσχυρὰ δύναμις ἐστὶ. πρὸς ἑαυτὴν γὰρ ἡ Σοφία αὐτοὺς προσήκατο, ἰδίους αὐτῆς ὄντας.

38.1.4 | Therefore, they say that the maker of this world, because of their wasting, did not have the power to harm them at all. For they hid themselves from him and changed into the upper age, where the strong power is. Wisdom belongs to them alone, being their own.

38.1.5 | καὶ τούτου ἕνεκεν τὸν Ἰούδαν ἀκριβῶς τὰ περὶ τούτων ἐπεγνωκέναι λέγουσι. καὶ τοῦτον γὰρ θέλουσιν εἶναι συγγενῇ ἑαυτῶν καὶ ἐν γνώσεως ὑπερβολῇ τὸν αὐτὸν καταριθμοῦσιν, ὥστε καὶ συνταγματίον τι φέρειν ἐξ ὀνόματος αὐτοῦ, ὃ εὐαγγέλιον τοῦ Ἰούδα καλοῦσι.

38.1.5 | And because of this, they say that Judas knew exactly about these things. For they want him to be their relative, and they count him as the same one in great knowledge, so that he even carries a kind of document from his name, which they call the gospel of Judas.

38.1.6 | καὶ ἄλλα τινὰ συγγράμματα ὡσαύτως πλάττονται κατὰ τῆς Ὑστέρας, ἣν Ὑστέραν τὸν ποιητὴν τοῦ παντός τούτου κύτους οὐρανοῦ τε καὶ γῆς καλοῦσι, καὶ μὴ δύνασθαι φασι ἄλλως σωθήσεσθαι τινας, ἐὰν μὴ διὰ πάντων χωρήσωσιν, ὥς καὶ ὁ Καρποκράτης λέγει.

38.1.6 | And other writings are also made up against Hyster, whom they call Hyster, the maker of this whole universe, both heaven and earth, and they say that no one can be saved otherwise, unless they go through everything, as Carpocrates also says.

Section 2

38.2.1 | 2. Ἐκαστος γὰρ αὐτῶν δῆθεν, διὰ τὴν πρόφασιν ταύτην ἀρρητοποιῶν κοῖ αἰσχροουργίας ἐπιτελῶν ἀμαρτημάτων τε ὅσα ἔστιν πράττων, ἐπικαλεῖται ἐκάστου ἀγγέλου ὄνομα, τῶν τε ὄντων ἀγγέλων καὶ τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς πλαστῶς λεγομένων· καὶ ἐκάστῳ τούτων προσάπτει τι ἔργον ἀθέμιτον τῶν ἐπὶ γῆς ἀμαρτημάτων, τὴν πρᾶξιν τὴν ἐδίαν εἰς ὄνομα οὐ βούλεται ἀγγέλου ἀναφέρειν.

38.2.2 | καὶ ὅταν ταῦτα πράττωσιν, οὕτως λέγουσιν »ὁ δεῖνα ἄγγελε, καταχρῶμαί σου τὸ ἔργον· ἡ δεῖνα ἐξουσία, πράττω σου τὴν πρᾶξιν«.

38.2.3 | καὶ τοῦτο γινῶσις τελεία παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐστὶ λεγόμενον, ἐπειδὴ ἀδεῶς ἐπὶ τὰς ἀθεμίτους αἰσχροουργίας ὁρμᾶν τὰς προφάσεις δῆθεν ἀπὸ τῶν προειρημένων μητέρων καὶ πατέρων αἰρέσεων, φημί <δὲ> Γνωστικῶν καὶ Νικολάου καὶ τῶν σὺν Οὐαλεντίνου τε καὶ Καρποκράτους, ἐσχήκασιν.

38.2.4 | Πόη δὲ ἦλθεν εἰς ἡμᾶς καὶ βιβλίον ἐν ᾧ ἐπλάσαντο ῥήματά τινα ἀνομίας πλήρη, οὕτως περιέχον, »ὅτι, φησὶν, οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ ἄγγελος ὁ τὸν Μωυσέα τυφλώσας καὶ οὗτοί εἰσιν οἱ ἄγγελοι οἱ τοὺς περὶ Κορὲ καὶ Δαθὰν καὶ Ἀβειρῶν κρύψαντες καὶ μεταστήσαντες«.

38.2.5 | πάλιν δὲ ἄλλο συνταγμάτιον ἄλλοι πλάττουσιν ἐξ ὀνόματος Παύλου τοῦ

38.2.1 | For each of them, supposedly, because of this excuse, speaking secret things and doing shameful acts and sins as many as there are, calls on the name of each angel, both the real angels and those falsely said to be with them; and to each of these they attach some unlawful deed of sins on earth, the action they want to bring up in the name of the angel.

38.2.2 | And when they do these things, they say, "O such-and-such angel, I use your power; O such-and-such authority, I do your deed."

38.2.3 | And this is called perfect knowledge among them, because they boldly use excuses to rush into unlawful shameful acts, supposedly from the mothers and fathers of the heresies mentioned before, I say of the Gnostics and Nicolas and those with Valentinus and Carpocrates, they have held this.

38.2.4 | But Poë came to us with a little book in which they made up some words full of lawlessness, saying this: "This is the angel who blinded Moses, and these are the angels who hid and moved those around Korah, Dathan, and Abiram."

38.2.5 | Again, others make another little book from the name of Paul the apostle, full ἀποστόλου, ἀρρητουργίας ἔμπλεον, ὥ και οἱ Γνωστικοὶ λεγόμενοι χρῶνται, ὃ Ἀναβατικὸν Παύλου καλοῦσι, τὴν πρόφασιν εὐρόντες ἀπὸ τοῦ λέγειν τὸν ἀπόστολον ἀναβεβηκέναι ἕως τρίτου οὐρανοῦ και ἀκηκοέναι ἄρρητα ῥήματα, ἃ οὐκ ἔξδν ἀνθρώπῳ λαλῆσαι. και ταῦτα, φασίν, ἐστὶ τὰ ἄρρητα ῥήματα.

of secret words, which even the so-called Gnostics use, and they call it Paul's 'Ascent,' finding the excuse from the saying that the apostle went up to the third heaven and heard secret words that no human can speak. And they say these are the secret words.

38.2.6 | διδάσκουσι δὲ ταῦτα και τὰ τοιαῦτα, τοὺς πονηροὺς τιμῶντες και τοὺς ἀγαθοὺς ἀπαγορεύοντες. εἶναι γάρ<φασιν> ὡς προεῖπον, τὸν Κάιν τῆς ἰσχυροτέρας δυνάμεως και τὸν Ἄβελ τῆς ἀσθενεστέρας. ταύτας δὲ τὰς δυνάμεις τῇ Εὐᾶ προσπλακείσας γεγεννηκέναι τὸν Κάιν και τὸν Ἄβελ, και εἶναι τῆς μὲν τὸν Κάιν τῆς δὲ τὸν Ἄβελ,

38.2.6 | They teach these things and such, honoring the wicked and forbidding the good. For they say, as I said before, that Cain belongs to the stronger power and Abel to the weaker. And these powers, by deceiving Eve, gave birth to Cain and Abel, with Cain belonging to one and Abel to the other.

38.2.7 | εἶναι δὲ <και> τὸν Ἀδὰμ και τὴν Εὐᾶν ἀπὸ τῶν τοιούτωνδυνάμεων εἴτουν ἀγγέλων γεγεννημένους· και τοὺς γεννηθέντας παῖδας, Κάιν τέ φημι και Ἄβελ, ἐρίσαι πρὸς ἀλλήλους και τὸν γεγεννημένον ἀπὸ ἰσχυρᾶς δυνάμεως πεφονευκέναι τὸν ἀπὸ τῆς ἡττονος δυνάμεως και ἀσθενεστέρας.

38.2.7 | And they say that Adam and Eve were born from such powers, either angels. And the children born, I say Cain and Abel, fought against each other, and the one born from the stronger power killed the one from the weaker and weaker power.

Section 3

38.3.1 | 3. Τὰ δὲ αὐτὰ μυθώδη και οὗτοι παραπλέκουσι τῇ περὶ τῶν αὐτῶν δηλητηρίων τῆς ἀγνωσίας δόσει, τοῖς πειθομένοις ἐπιβουλεύοντες ὅτι δεῖ πάντα ἄνθρωπον ἑαυτῷ ἐλέσθαι τὴν ἐσχυροτέρον δύναμιν και τῆς ἡττονος και ἀτόνου ἀποχωρίζεσθαι, τουτέστιν τῆς τὸν οὐρανὸν ποιησάσης και τὴν σάρκα και τὸν κόσμον, και ὑπερβαίνειν εἰς τὰ ἀνώτατα διὰ τῆς

38.3.1 | 3. And these same storytellers also mix in the poison of ignorance about their own things, plotting against those who listen, saying that every person must choose for themselves the stronger power and separate from the weaker and powerless one—that is, the one who made the sky and the flesh and the world—and rise above to the highest things through the τοῦ Χριστοῦ σταυρώσεως.

cross of Christ.

38.3.2 | διὰ γὰρ τοῦτο, φασίν, ἦλθεν ἄνωθεν, ἵνα ἐν αὐτῷ ἐνεργηθῇ δύναμις ἰσχυρά, κατὰ τῆς ἀσθενεστέρας δυνάμεως τὸ τρόπαιον λαβοῦσα καὶ τὸ σῶμα παραδοῦσα. καὶ οἱ μὲν αὐτῶν τοῦτο λέγουσιν, ἄλλοι δὲ ἄλλα.

38.3.2 | For because of this, they say, he came from above, so that in him strong power might be active, having taken the victory against the weaker power and giving up the body. And some of them say this, but others say different things.

38.3.3 | οἱ μὲν γὰρ λέγουσι διὰ τὸ πονηρὸν εἶναι τὸν Χριστὸν παραδοθῆναι αὐτὸν ὑπὸ τοῦ Ἰούδα, βουλόμενον διαστρέφειν τὰ κατὰ τὸν νόμον. ἐπαινοῦσι γὰρ τὸν Κάϊν καὶ τὸν Ἰούδαν, ὡς ἔφην, καὶ λέγουσι· τούτου ἕνεκεν παραδέδωκεν αὐτόν, ἐπειδὴ ἠβούλετο καταλύειν τὰ καλῶς δεδιδαγμένα.

38.3.3 | For some say that because Christ was evil, he was handed over by Judas, wanting to change what the law says. They praise Cain and Judas, as I said, and say: for this reason he was handed over, because he wanted to destroy what was well taught.

38.3.4 | ἄλλοι δὲ τῶν αὐτῶν· οὐχὶ φασίν, ἀλλὰ ἀγαθὸν αὐτὸν ὄντα παρέδωκεν κατὰ τὴν ἐπουράνιον γνῶσιν. ἔγνωνσαν γάρ, φασίν, οἱ ἄρχοντες ὅτι ἐὰν ὁ Χριστὸς παραδοθῇ σταυρῷ κενοῦται αὐτῶν ἡ ἀσθενὴς δύναμις.

38.3.4 | But others of the same people say: no, not so, but because he was good, he was handed over according to heavenly knowledge. For the rulers knew, they say, that if Christ is handed over to the cross, their weak power would be emptied.

38.3.5 | καὶ τοῦτο, φησί, γνοὺς ὁ Ἰούδας ἔσπευσεν καὶ πάντα ἐκίνησεν ὥστε παραδοῦναι αὐτόν, ἀγαθὸν ἔργον ποιήσας ἡμῖν εἰς σωτηρίαν. καὶ δεῖ ἡμᾶς ἐπαινεῖν καὶ ἀποδιδόναι σὺτῷ τὸν ἔπαινον, ὅτι δι' αὐτοῦ κατεσκευάσθη ἡμῖν ἡ τοῦ σταυροῦ σωτηρία καὶ ἡ διὰ τῆς τοιαύτης ὑποθέσεως τῶν ἄνω ἀποκάλυψις.

38.3.5 | And this, he says, knowing it, Judas hurried and moved everything so that he might hand him over, doing a good work for our salvation. And we must praise and give him the praise, because through him the salvation of the cross was prepared for us and the revelation of the things above through such a plan.

38.3.6 | Κατὰ πάντα δὲ τρόπον οὗτοι ἡπάτηνται, οὐκ ἀγαθὸν τινα τιμῶντες ἢ

38.3.6 | In every way these people are deceived, not honoring or praising anything ἐπαινοῦντες. δῆλον δὲ ὅτι ἐκ τοῦ διαβόλου αὐτοῖς ταῦτα ὑπέσπαρται, τὰ τῆς ἀγνοίας λέγω καὶ ἀπάτης.

good. It is clear that these things have been planted in them by the devil, I mean those of ignorance and trickery.

38.3.7 | πληροῦται δὲ ἐπ’ αὐτοῖς τὸ γεγραμμένον »οὐαὶ τοῖς λέγουσι τὸ καλὸν πονηρὸν καὶ τὸ πονηρὸν ἀγαθόν, οἱ τιθέντες τὸ σκότος φῶς καὶ τὸ φῶς σκότος, οἱ λέγοντες τὸ γλυκὺ πικρὸν καὶ τὸ πικρὸν γλυκύν«.

38.3.7 | And upon them is fulfilled what is written: “Woe to those who call good evil and evil good, who put darkness for light and light for darkness, who call sweet bitter and bitter sweet.”

38.3.8 | πάντῃ γὰρ ἐκφωνεῖ παλαιὰ καὶ καινὴ διαθήκη τοῦ Κάϊν τὴν ἀσέβειαν ἐπισημασμένην. οὗτοι δὲ τούναντίον, τοῦ σκότους ὄντες ἐρασταὶ καὶ τῶν κακοποιῶν μιμηταί. τὸν Ἀβελ μισοῦσι, τὸν δὲ Κάϊν ἀγαπῶσι καὶ τῷ Ἰούδᾳ τὸν ἔπαινον διδόασιν.

38.3.8 | For everywhere the old and new covenant loudly proclaim the godlessness of Cain. But these people are the opposite, being lovers of darkness and imitators of evildoers. They hate Abel, but they love Cain and give praise to Judas.

38.3.9 | φθοριμαίαν δὲ γινώσκοντες ζοῦνται, δύο τάττοντες δυνάμεις, ἀσθενεστέραν τε καὶ δυνατωτέραν, ἀντιμαχομένας [δὲ] πρὸς ἀλλήλας, ποιοῦσας δὲ ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ οὐ γνώμης ἀλλοίωσιν, ἀλλὰ τῶν γεγεννημένων τοὺς μὲν κατὰ φύσιν ἀπὸ κακίας τὴν οὐσίαν ἔχειν, τοὺς δὲ ἀπὸ ἀγαθότητος. οὐδένα δὲ κατὰ γνώμην ἀγαθὸν ἢ φαῦλον εἶναι λέγουσιν, ἀλλὰ κατὰ φύσιν.

38.3.9 | They live by knowing destruction, setting two powers, one weaker and one stronger, against each other, making in the world not a change of opinion, but that some things by nature have their being from evil, and others from goodness. And they say that nothing is good or bad by opinion, but by nature.

Section 4

38.4.1 | 4. Καὶ πρῶτον ἴδωμεν περὶ τοῦ Κάϊν, ὡς ἡ μὲν παλαιὰ διαθήκη φησὶν »ἐπικατάρατος σὺ ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς, ἥτις ἔχανε τὸ στόμα αὐτῆς δέξασθαι τὸ αἷμα τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ σου ἐκ χειρὸς σου« καὶ πάλιν »ἐπικατάρατος σὺ ἐν τοῖς ἔργοις σου, καὶ

38.4.1 | And first let us see about Cain, how the old covenant says, “Cursed are you from the earth, which opened its mouth to receive the blood of your brother from your hand,” and again, “Cursed are you in your works, and you will be groaning and ἔση στένων καὶ τρέμων ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς».

trembling on the earth.”

38.4.2 | συνωδὰ δὲ τῇ παλαιᾷ διαθήκῃ ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ περὶ τούτου λέγει, Ἰουδαῖοι ἔλεγον »ἡμεῖς πατέρα ἔχομεν τὸν θεόν«. ὁ δὲ κύριος πρὸς αὐτοὺς ἔφη »ὐμεῖς υἱοὶ ἐστε τοῦ πατρὸς ὑμῶν τοῦ διαβόλου, ὅτι ψεύστης ἐστίν, ὅτι ὁ πατὴρ αὐτοῦ ψεύστης ἦν. ἐκεῖνος ἀνθρωποκτόνος ἦν καὶ ἐν τῇ ἀληθείᾳ οὐκ ἔμεινεν· ὅταν λαλήῃ τὸ ψεῦδος, ἐκ τῶν ἰδίων λαλεῖ, ὅτι καὶ ὁ πατὴρ αὐτοῦ ψεύστης ἦν«.

38.4.2 | And together with the old covenant, the lord in the gospel speaks about this, saying, the Jews said, “We have God as our father.” But the lord said to them, “You are children of your father the devil, because he is a liar, and his father was a liar. He was a murderer and did not stand in the truth; when he speaks lies, he speaks from his own, because his father was a liar.”

38.4.3 | ὅθεν καὶ αἱ ἄλλαι αἱρέσεις ἀκούουσιν τὸ ῥῆμα τοῦτο πατέρα μὲν τῶν Ἰουδαίων φάσκουσιν εἶναι τὸν διάβολον ἔχειν δὲ πατέρα ἄλλον καὶ τὸν αὐτοῦ πατέρα πάλιν πατέρα.

38.4.3 | Therefore, the other heresies hearing this saying claim that the Jews have the devil as their father, but they themselves have another father, and the father of that one is again a father.

38.4.4 | ἀλλὰ ἀθυρογλώττως φθέγγονται, τὴν διάνοιαν τυφλώττοντες. καὶ γὰρ ἐπὶ τὸν πάντων δεσπότην, θεὸν Ἰουδαίων καὶ Χριστιανῶν καὶ πάντων, τὴν συγγένειαν ἐκείνῳ ἀνάγουσι, τοῦτον πατέρα τοῦ ἐκείνου πατρὸς εἶναι λέγοντες, τὸν νομοθετήσαντα διὰ Μωυσέως καὶ τοσαῦτα θαυμάσια πεποιηκότα. οὐκ ἔστιν δὲ τοῦτο, ὦ ἀγαπητοί.

38.4.4 | But they speak without sense, blinding their minds. For even to the master of all, the god of Jews and Christians and everyone, they trace the family line, saying he is the father of that father, the one who gave the law through Moses and did so many wonders. But this is not so, dear friends.

38.4.5 | αὐτὸς γὰρ εὐθύς φησιν] ὁ κύριος, ἐν ᾧ πᾶσιν ἡμῶν τὴν ἐπιμέλειαν ποιούμενος, ἕνα μὴ ἐν παρεκβάσει γενώμεθα τοῦ προκειμένου ἕτερα ἀνθ’ ἐτέρων σοφιζόμενοι καὶ διανοούμενοι, λέγων πατέρα αὐτῶν εἶναι τὸν διάβολον Ἰούδαν *,

38.4.5 | For the lord himself says straight away, caring for all of us, that we should not stray from what is set before us by making up other things instead of these, saying that the devil is their father, Judas*.

38.4.6 | ὃν καὶ Σατανᾶν κέκληκεν καὶ διάβολον λέγων πρὸς τοὺς μεθητάς »οὐχὶ τοὺς δώδεκα ὑμᾶς ἐξελεξάμην καὶ εἷς ἐξ ὑμῶν διάβολος;« οὐχὶ διάβολον λέγων φύσει, ἀλλὰ κατὰ τὴν γνώμην.

38.4.6 | He also called him Satan and said to his followers, “Did I not choose you twelve, and one of you is a devil?” He did not call him a devil by nature, but according to what he thought.

38.4.7 | πάλιν δὲ ἐν ἑτέρῳ τόπῳ λέγει πάτερ κύριε οὐρανοῦ καὶ γῆς, τήρησον τούτους οὓς δέδωκάς μοι. ὅτε ἦμην μετ’ αὐτῶν, ἐφύλαξα αὐτούς, καὶ οὐδεὶς ἐξ αὐτῶν ἀπώλετο εἰ μὴ ὁ υἱὸς τῆς ἀπωλείας.

38.4.7 | Again, in another place, he says, “Father, lord of heaven and earth, keep those whom you gave me. When I was with them, I protected them, and none of them was lost except the son of destruction.”

38.4.8 | πάλιν ἄλλοτε λέγει ὅτι »δεῖ τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου παραδοθῆναι κατὰ τὸ γεγραμμένον περὶ αὐτοῦ. οὐαὶ δὲ δὶ οὐ παραδοθήσεται. συνέφερεν γὰρ αὐτῷ εἰ οὐκ ἐγεννήθη«, καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

38.4.8 | Again, at another time, he says, “The son of man must be handed over as it is written about him. But woe to the one who hands him over. It would be better if he had never been born,” and the rest follows.

38.4.9 | ἄρα γοῦν ἐξ ἀπαντος ἔγνωμεν ὡς περὶ τοῦ Ἰούδα ἔλεγεν τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις· »ᾧ γάρ τις ἡττηται, τούτῳ καὶ δεδούλωται«, καὶ ᾧ τις πείθεται, τοῦτον πατέρα ἔσχηκεν καὶ ἀρχηγὸν τῆς αὐτοῦ πειθοῦς.

38.4.9 | So then, from everything, we understood that he was speaking to the Jews about Judas: “For whoever is defeated by someone becomes a slave to that one,” and if someone obeys, he has that one as a father and leader of his obedience.

38.4.10 | φησὶν οὖν ὁ κύριος »ὁμῆτε υἱοὶ τοῦ πατρὸς ὑμῶν τοῦ διαβόλου ἐστέ«, ἐπειδὴ ἀντὶ τοῦ Χριστοῦ τῷ Ἰούδᾳ ἐπείσθησαν, καθάπερ ἀπὸ θεοῦ ἐκκλίνας ἢ Εὐὰ τῷ ὄφει ἐξ ἀρχῆς ἐπείσθη.

38.4.10 | So the lord says, “You are children of your father the devil,” because instead of Christ, they obeyed Judas, just as Eve, turning away from God, was persuaded by the serpent from the beginning.

38.4.11 | ἐπειτα ὅτι καὶ ψεύστης ἦν οὐ μόνον, ἀλλὰ καὶ κλέπτης κατὰ τὸ ἐν τῷ

38.4.11 | Then, because he was not only a liar but also a thief, as it is said in the εὐαγγελίῳ εἰρημένον. διὸ καὶ αὐτῷ παρέδωκε τὸ γλωσσόκομον, ἵνα ἀναπολόγητος ᾦ διὰ φιλαργυρίαν τὸν ἴδιον δεσπότην παραδοὺς εἰς χεῖρας ἀνθρώπων.

gospel, therefore he was given the money bag, so that, for love of money, he would be without excuse for handing over his own master into the hands of men.

38.4.12 | τίς οὖν ὁ τούτου πατήρ, ὁ πρὸ αὐτοῦ ψεύστης ὑπάρχων, ἀλλ' ἢ ὁ Κάϊν, οὗ μιμητὴς ὁ Ἰούδας; ἐκεῖνος γάρ, ψευδάμενος τῷ ἀδελφῷ ὡς ἐν φιλαδελφίᾳ, ἠπάτησε καὶ παρέπεισεν διὰ τοῦ ψεύδους καὶ ἐξαγαγὼν αὐτὸν ἐν τῷ πεδίῳ ἐπάρας τὴν χεῖρα ἀπέκτεινεν.

38.4.12 | Who then is the father of this one, who was a liar before him, except Cain, whose imitator Judas is? For he, lying to his brother as if in brotherly love, deceived and persuaded him by lying, and leading him out into the field, lifted up his hand and killed him.

38.4.13 | οὕτω καὶ ὁ Ἰούδας »τί θέλετέ μοι« φησὶ δοῦναι, καὶ ἐγὼ αὐτὸν παραδώσω ὑμῖν;« καὶ »ὃν ἂν φιλήσω. αὐτός ἐστι, κρατήσατε αὐτόν«. καὶ ἐλθὼν ὁ προδότης »χαῖρε Ῥαββί« ἔλεγε, τοῖς χεῖλεσι τιμῶν, καρδίαν δὲ πόρρω ἀπέχουσιν θεοῦ κεκτημένος.

38.4.13 | So Judas said, "What do you want me to give you, and I will hand him over to you?" And "The one I kiss, he is the one; grab him." And the traitor came, saying, "Greetings, Rabbi," honoring with his lips but having a heart far away from God.

Section 5

38.5.1 | 5. Ἄρα γοῦν οὗτος ὁ Ἰούδας, πατήρ αὐτῶν γενόμενος κατὰ τὴν ἀρνησιθεΐαν καὶ προδοσίαν, Σατανᾶς ὑπάρξας καὶ διάβολος οὐ τῇ φύσει. ἀλλὰ τῇ γνώμῃ, υἱὸς γεγένηται οὗτος κατὰ μίμησιν τοῦ Κάϊν τοῦ ἀνθρωποκτόνου τοῦ ψεύστου, ἐπειδὴ καὶ ὁ πατήρ αὐτοῦ πρὸ αὐτοῦ ψεύστης ἦν, οὐχὶ ὁ Ἀδὰμ ἀλλ' ὁ διάβολος,

38.5.1 | So then this Judas, becoming their father in denial and betrayal, became Satan and the devil not by nature but by choice.
But by his mind, he became a son in imitation of Cain, the man-killer and liar, since his father before him was a liar, not Adam but the devil.

38.5.2 | οὗ τὴν μίμησιν ἴσχεν ἐν τῇ ἀδελφοκτονίᾳ καὶ μίσει καὶ ψεύδει καὶ πρὸς θεὸν ἀντιλογίᾳ, τῷ λέγειν, »μὴ φύλαξ εἰμὶ τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ μου; οὐκ οἶδα ποῦ ἐστίν· οὕτω καὶ ὁ διάβολος τῷ κυρίῳ φησὶ μὴ

38.5.2 | whose imitation he held in brother-killing and hatred and lying and arguing against God, saying, "Am I my brother's keeper? I do not know where he is." So also the devil says to the Lord, "Does Job δωρεὰν σέβεται Ἰὼβ τὸν θεόν;» worship God for nothing?”

38.5.3 | ἐπειδὴ γὰρ αὐτὸς ὁ διάβολος τῷ ψεύδει ἀπατᾷ τὴν Εὕαν καὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ, ἕτερα ἀνθ’ ἐτέρων λέγων καὶ φιλίαν προσποιητὴν ἐνδεικνύμενος, ὅτι »ἔσεσθε ὡς θεοί, καὶ οὐκ ἀποθανεῖσθε«, τοῦτον μιμούμενος ὁ Κάϊν προσχήματι φιλαδελφίας ἡπάτα τὸν ἀδελφὸν λέγων »διέλθωμεν εἰς τὸ πεδίον«.

38.5.3 | For the devil himself deceives Eve and Adam with a lie, saying different things to each and showing false friendship, that “you will be like gods, and you will not die.” Imitating this, Cain, pretending brotherly love, tricks his brother by saying, “Let us go out to the field.”

38.5.4 | διὰ τοῦτο καὶ ὁ ἅγιος Ἰωάννης εἶπεν »ὁ μισῶν τὸν ἀδελφὸν αὐτοῦ, οὗτος οὐ τετελείωται ἐν τῇ ἀγάπῃ, ἀλλὰ ἐκ τοῦ Κάϊν ἐστίν, ὃς ἀπέκτεινε τὸν ἀδελφὸν αὐτοῦ. καὶ διὰ τί αὐτὸν ἀπέκτεινεν; ὅτι ἦν πονηρὰ τὰ ἔργα αὐτοῦ καὶ ἐζήλωσε τὰ ἔργα αὐτοῦ, ὅτι ἦν καλὰ«.

38.5.4 | For this reason, the holy John said, “Whoever hates his brother is not made perfect in love, but is from Cain, who killed his brother. And why did he kill him? Because his works were evil, and he was jealous of his brother’s works, because they were good.”

38.5.5 | οὕτω καὶ οὗτοι μᾶλλον φθονοῦντες τῷ Ἀβελ τῷ καλὰ ἔργα ἔχοντι, τὸν δὲ Κάϊν τιμῶντες, πῶς οὐκ ἐλέγχονται, διαρρήδην τοῦ σωτῆρος λέγοντος καὶ ἀπότομον ἀπόφασιν ὀρίζοντος αὐτοῖς ὅτι »ζητηθήσεται ἀπὸ τῆς γενεᾶς ταύτης πᾶν αἷμα δίκαιον ἀπὸ Ἀβελ τοῦ δικαίου τὸ ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς ἐκκεχυμένον ἕως Ζαχαρίου τοῦ προφήτου, οὐ ἀπεκτείνετε μέσον τοῦ ναοῦ καὶ τοῦ θυσιαστηρίου« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς;

38.5.5 | In the same way, these men, envying Abel who had good works, but honoring Cain, how are they not blamed, when the Savior clearly says and sharply decides for them that “from this generation every righteous blood will be demanded, from Abel the righteous, who was shed from the beginning, to Zechariah the prophet, whom you killed between the temple and the altar”? And what about what follows?

Section 6

38.6.1 | 6. Οὐκ ἄρα τοίνυν ὡς οὗτοί φασι διὰ γνῶσιν ὁ Ἰούδας παρέδωκε τὸν σωτῆρα οὐδὲ οἱ Ἰουδαῖοι μισθὸν ἔχουσι σταυρώσαντες τὸν κύριον, καίτοι γε διὰ

38.6.1 | 6. So then, not as these say, Judas handed over the Savior because of knowledge, nor do the Jews have a reward for crucifying the Lord, even though we σταυροῦ ἐχόντων ἡμῶν τὴν σωτηρίαν.

have salvation through the cross.

38.6.2 | οὐτε γὰρ παρέδωκεν αὐτὸν Ἰούδας, ἵνα γένηται ἡμῖν εἰς σωτηρίαν, ἀλλὰ κατὰ ἄγνοιαν καὶ ζῆλον καὶ φιλαργυρίαν ἀρνησιθεΐας.

38.6.2 | For Judas did not hand him over so that he might become salvation for us, but out of ignorance, jealousy, and love of money, denying him.

38.6.3 | κἂν τε γὰρ εἴποι ἡ γραφὴ τὸν Χριστὸν μέλλοντα σταυρῷ παραδίδοσθαι ἢ κἂν εἴπῃ ἡ θεία γραφὴ τὰ ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῶν ἡμερῶν δι' ἡμῶν ἐπιτελούμενα ἀτοπήματα, οὐ πάντως εὗροι ἂν τις ἡμῶν τῶν τὰ παράνομα πραττόντων ἀπολογίαν, τὴν τῆς γραφῆς μαρτυρίαν προφέρων προθεσπιζούσης ταῦτα ἔσεσθαι.

38.6.3 | For even if the scripture says that Christ was about to be handed over to the cross, or even if the divine scripture says that the last things of the days happen to us as strange events, no one of us who do wrong will fully find a defense, offering the testimony of scripture that these things will happen.

38.6.4 | οὐ γὰρ ὅτι εἶπεν ἡ γραφὴ ποιοῦμεν, ἀλλ' ὅτι ἐμέλλομεν ποιεῖν προεῖπεν ἡ γραφή, διὰ τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ πρόγνωσιν καὶ ἵνα θεὸς ἀγαθὸς ὑπάρχων, ἐπιφέρων δὲ τὴν ὀργὴν κατὰ τῶν ἀμαρτανόντων μὴ ὑποληφθῇ πάθει συνεχόμενος.

38.6.4 | For it is not that the scripture said what we do, but that the scripture foretold what we were about to do, because of God's foreknowledge, and so that God, being good, might bring the punishment against sinners without holding back his anger.

38.6.5 | ἡ γὰρ καθ' ἐκάστου τῶν ἀμαρτανόντων παρὰ θεοῦ ὀργὴ οὐκ ἀπὸ πάθους ὀρμαῖται· ἀπαθὲς γὰρ τὸ θεῖον, ἐπιφέρει δὲ τὴν ὀργὴν κατὰ ἀνθρώπων οὐ πάθει ληφθὲν ἀγανακτήσεως οὐδὲ ὀργῇ ἡττηθὲν καὶ κρατούμενον. δείκνυσι γὰρ τὸ ἀπαθὲς ὁ θεός, προειπὼν ἡμῖν τὴν ἐσομένην κρίσιν καὶ τὴν δικαίαν παρ' αὐτοῦ τιμωρίαν γινομένην, ἵνα τὸ ἀπαθὲς σημάνη τῆς θεότητος.

38.6.5 | For the anger of God against each sinner does not come from passion; for the divine is without passion, but brings anger against people not taken from suffering, nor defeated and controlled by anger. For God shows that he is without passion, having foretold to us the coming judgment and the just punishment from him, so that the without-passion nature shows the godhead.

38.6.6 | προεῖπεν τοίνυν ἡ γραφὴ κατὰ πρόγνωσιν προασφαλιζομένη καὶ

38.6.6 | So the scripture foretold, being secured by foreknowledge and teaching, so διδάσκουσα, ἵνα μὴ ἐμπέσωμεν εἰς ὀργὴν ἀνήκεστον θεοῦ, τὴν οὐ πάθει ὀρισθεῖσαν οὐδὲ συμβαίνουσιν ἀπὸ ἥττης, ἀλλὰ δικαιοῦσιν τοῖς τὴν ἁμαρτίαν ἐκτελοῦσιν ἀνθρώποις προετοιμασθεῖσαν καὶ μὴ μετανοοῦσιν ἐξ ἀληθείας.

that we do not fall into the incurable anger of God, which is defined as without passion and does not happen from defeat, but is most justly prepared for people who commit sin and do not truly repent.

Section 7

38.7.1 | 7. Οὕτω καὶ ἐπὶ τοῦ σταυροῦ, οὐχ ὅτι εἶπεν ἡ θεία γραφή, ἐσταύρωσαν Ἰουδαῖοι καὶ παρέδωκεν Ἰούδας τὸν σωτῆρα, ἀλλ' ὅτι ἔμελλεν παραδιδόναι Ἰούδας καὶ Ἰουδαῖοι σταυροῦν, τούτου ἔνεκα προεῖπεν ἡ θεία γραφή ἐν τῇ παλαιᾷ διαθήκῃ καὶ ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ.

38.7.1 | 7. So also about the cross, it is not that the divine scripture said, 'the Jews crucified and Judas handed over the savior,' but because Judas and the Jews were going to hand him over to be crucified, for this reason the divine scripture foretold it in the old covenant and the lord in the gospel.

38.7.2 | ὥστε οὖν οὐκ ἐν γνώσει τῆς ἐσομένης εὐεργεσίας τῷ κόσμῳ παραδέδωκε τὸν κύριον Ἰούδας, ὡς ἐκεῖνοι λέγουσιν, ἀλλ' εἰδὼς μὲν ὅτι ὁ αὐτοῦ δεσπότης ὑπῆρχεν, ἀγνοῶν δὲ ὅτι σωτηρία ἔσται τῷ κόσμῳ.

38.7.2 | So then, Judas did not hand over the lord to the world in knowledge of the coming good, as some say, but knowing that he was his master, yet not knowing that there would be salvation for the world.

38.7.3 | How could he care for the salvation of people, hearing from the savior's own that he is a son of destruction? And that it is better for him if he had not been born, and that friend, on whom he relies, and that one of you will hand me over, and that the one who eats bread with me lifts his heel against me? As the gospel has it, from the earlier witness of the Psalter: 'Woe to the one through whom the son of man is handed over.'

38.7.4 | αὐτὸς γὰρ ὁ Ἰούδας περὶ ἑαυτοῦ τὸ πᾶν ὑπέφηγεν καὶ τὴν τῶν ἐπαινούντων

38.7.4 | For Judas himself took full blame for himself and the foolishness of those αὐτὸν ἄνοιαν καὶ ἄφ' ἑαυτοῦ ἤλεγξεν, εἰ ἄκων ἀλλ' ὁμῶς μετὰ τὸ λαβεῖν τὸ τίμημα τὰ τριάκοντα ἀργύρια ὕστερον μεταμεληθεὶς καὶ ἀποστρέψας τὰ ἀργύρια, ὥς κακὸν τι πεπραχὼς, κακὸν μὲν ἑαυτῷ κακὸν δὲ καὶ τοῖς σταυρώσασιν.

praising him, and he judged himself, that although unwilling, yet after receiving the payment of thirty pieces of silver, he later regretted it and turned back the silver, as if he had done something bad, bad for himself and bad also for those who crucified [the lord].

38.7.5 | ὁ δὲ κύριος ἀγαθὸν δι' ἑαυτοῦ ἐπιτελῶν ἡμῖν τε καὶ τῷ κόσμῳ ἑαυτὸν παραδέδωκεν, ἵνα γένηται ἡμῖν σωτηρία.

38.7.5 | But the lord, doing good through himself for us and for the world, handed himself over, so that salvation might come to us.

38.7.6 | ἄρα οὖν οὐχὶ τῷ Ἰούδᾳ τῷ προδοτῇ ὁμολογοῦμεν τὴν χάριν, ἀλλὰ τῷ ἐλεήμονι σωτῆρι, τῷ τὴν ψυχὴν θέντι ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν τῶν ἰδίων αὐτοῦ προβάτων, καθὼς αὐτὸς εἶπε.

38.7.6 | So then, we do not give thanks to Judas the betrayer, but to the merciful savior, who gave his life for us, his own sheep, just as he said.

38.7.7 | πῶς γὰρ ὁ νομίσας ἀγαθὸν ἐπιτελέσαι ὕστερον λέγει ὅτι »μεταμελήμην παραδεδωκὼς αἷμα ἄθῳον« καὶ ἀπέστρεψε τὰ ἀργύρια, καθὼς ἦν περὶ αὐτοῦ γεγραμμένον ἐν τοῖς προφήταις καὶ ἀπέστρεψε τοὺς τριάκοντα ἀργυροῦς, τὴν τιμὴν τοῦ τετιμημένου παρὰ τῶν υἱῶν Ἰσραὴλ«, καὶ πάλιν ἐν ἄλλῳ προφῆτῃ »εἰ δίκαιόν ἐστιν ὑμῖν, δότε τὸν μισθόν μου ἢ ἀπείπασθε«,

38.7.7 | For how could he, thinking he did good, later say, "I regret handing over innocent blood," and return the silver, just as it was written about him in the prophets? He returned the thirty pieces of silver, the price set by the sons of Israel for the honored one, and again in another prophet it says, "If it is right for you, pay my wage, or leave me alone."

38.7.8 | καὶ πάλιν ἐν ἄλλῳ προφῆτῃ καὶ ἔδωκεν τὸ ἀργύριον τὴν τιμὴν τοῦ τετιμημένου, καὶ εἶπεν, κάθεσ αὐτὸ εἰς τὸ χωνευτήριον καὶ ἴδε εἰ δόκιμόν ἐστιν, ὥς ἐδοκιμάσθη ἀπὸ τῶν υἱῶν Ἰσραὴλ«.

38.7.8 | And again in another prophet it says, "They gave the silver, the price of the honored one," and he said, "Put it into the potter's field and see if it is right, as I was tested by the sons of Israel."

38.8.1 | 8. Καὶ πόσα ἔστιν ἀπὸ τῆς θείας γραφῆς συλλέγειν περὶ τῶν τελειωθέντων ἐν τῷ κυρίῳ ἡμῶν, οὐ κατὰ τὴν Ἰούδα πρὸς τὸ ἀγαθὸν ἐνέργειαν, ἀλλὰ κατὰ τὴν τοῦ σωτῆρος ἡμῶν καὶ κυρίου Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ τοῦ υἱοῦ τοῦ θεοῦ ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν οὐ κατὰ ἀνάγκην ἀλλὰ ἐκ προαιρέσεως ἑαυτοῦ) παράδοσιν καὶ οἰκονομίαν τοῦ σταυροῦ ὑπὲρ τῆς ἡμῶν σωτηρίας.

38.8.1 | And how much can be gathered from the divine scripture about those perfected in the Lord our God, not according to Judas acting for good, but according to our savior and Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who for us, not by force but by his own choice, gave himself up, handing himself over and managing the cross for our salvation.

38.8.2 | οἶδα δὲ εἰς πολὺν ὄγκον ἄγων τὰς μαρτυρίας, ὡς λέγει πάλιν ἄλλος προφήτης »γενέσθω ἡ ἑπαυλις αὐτοῦ ἔρημος καὶ τὴν ἐπισκοπὴν αὐτοῦ λαβέτω ἕτερος«^{*},

38.8.2 | But I know, carrying many testimonies, as another prophet says again, “Let his house become a desert, and let another take his oversight.”

38.8.3 | ὅς »πρηνὴν γενόμενος ἐλάκησε μέσος καὶ ἐξεχύθη πάντα τὰ σπλάγχνα αὐτοῦ« καὶ τὸ πέρας ἀγχόνῃ χρησάμενος † ἔδειξεν τὸ πᾶν τῆς αὐτοῦ σωτηρίας διολέσας τῷ διαπεσεῖν τῆς ἐλπίδος κατὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ ἄτακτον καὶ προπετῇ κατὰ τοῦ δεσπότου αὐτοῦ ἐπιβουλήν καὶ ἔνεκεν φιλαργυρίας ἐπ’ ἀρνησιθεΐαν ·

38.8.3 | Who, lying face down, was pierced in the middle and all his insides were poured out; and by using the end of a rope, he showed the whole of his salvation, breaking apart the hope of the one who planned against his master in a reckless and rash way, and because of greed, for denial.

38.8.4 | ὡς καὶ οἱ ἀπόστολοι ἀντ’ αὐτοῦ εἰς τὸν αὐτῶν ἀριθμὸν Ματθίαν κατέστησαν, λέγοντες »ἀφ’ οὗ παρέβη Ἰούδας ἀπελθεῖν εἰς τὸν τόπον τὸν ἑδιον«.

38.8.4 | Just as the apostles, instead of him, appointed Matthias to their number, saying, “Since Judas turned away, he went to his own place.”

38.8.5 | ποῖον δὲ τοῦτον ἀλλ’ ἢ ὃν ἀπεφῆνατο αὐτῷ ὁ σωτὴρ λέγων ὅτι ἐστὶν υἱὸς ἀπωλείας; οὗτος γὰρ ἀφωρίσθη αὐτῷ τόπος ὁ τῆς ἀπωλείας, ἔνθα ἔσχεν ἀντὶ μερίδος μερίδα καὶ ἀντὶ ἐπισκοπῆς

38.8.5 | Which one is this, if not the one the savior declared to him, saying that he is a son of destruction? For this one was marked out for him a place of destruction, where he took a share instead of a portion, and instead of apostolic oversight, the place ἀποστολικῆς τὸν τόπον τῆς ἀπωλείας.

38.8.6 | Περὶ τούτου δὲ ἱκανῶς ἔχειν τὰ εἰρημένα νομίσαντες καθεξῆς πάλιν ἐφ' ἑτέραν ἴωμεν, ὧς ἀγαπητοί, τὰ σκολιὰ πάλιν καὶ θηριώδη καὶ ἰοβόλα διδάγματα ἀποκαλύπτοντες τῶν παρὰ ταῖς λοιπαῖς ἐξ ἐπιπλάστου διαβολικῆς ἐπιπνοίας τῷ κόσμῳ λύμης ἔνεκα ἐμβεβροντημένων.

38.8.6 | About this, thinking that what was said is enough, let us go again one after another, dear ones, revealing again the crooked and wild and poisonous teachings among the rest, which have been thunderstruck upon the world because of grief from the false breath of the devil.

38.8.7 | τῶν γὰρ τοιούτων τὴν γνώμην τῶν τοῦ χειρόνος ὀρεγομένων, ἐψκυῖαν τῷ γένει τοῦ βουπρήστου κανθάρου, ἀποκαλύψαντες οὐσάν τε ἐπιβλαβῇ ἐν τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμει καταθλάσαντες, ἐπὶ τὴν τῶν ἄλλων ἔρευναν τὸν νοῦν ἐπιβαλόμενοι τὸν θεὸν ἀρωγὸν ἐπικαλεσώμεθα, ὡς Χριστοῦ παῖδες.

38.8.7 | For the opinion of those who desire the worse, like a swift beetle of the ox-blister kind, revealing and crushing harmful things by the power of god, let us, calling on god as our helper, put our mind to the search of the others, oh children of Christ.

Book 39

Section 1

39.1.1 | Σηθιανοὶ πάλιν αἵρεσις ἑτέρα ἐστὶν οὕτω καλουμένη, οὐ πανταχοῦ δὲ αὕτη εὐρίσκεται οὔτε ἡ πρὸ ταύτης ἡ τῶν Καϊανῶν λεγομένη· τάχα δὲ ἤδη καὶ αἱ πλείους τούτων ἐξερριζώθησαν ἐκ τοῦ κόσμου. τὸ γὰρ οὐκ ἐκ θεοῦ ὄν οὐ σταθήσεται, ἀλλὰ καιρῷ μὲν ἀκμάζει, εἰς τὸ παντελὲς δὲ διαρκῶς οὐκ ἐμπαραμένει.

39.1.1 | The Sethians are again a different sect, called this way, but they are not found everywhere, nor is the one before them called the Cainites. Perhaps most of these have already been uprooted from the world. For what is not from god will not last, but grows strong for a time, and does not remain forever.

39.1.2 | τάχα δὲ οἶμαι ἐν τῇ τῶν Αἰγυπτίων χώρᾳ συντετυχηκέναι καὶ ταύτῃ τῇ αἵρεσει οὐ γὰρ ἀκριβῶς τὴν χώραν μένηνμαι, ἐν ἣ αὐτοῖς συνέτυχον· καὶ τὰ μὲν κατὰ ἱστορίαν φῶσει αὐτοψία περὶ ταύτης

39.1.2 | I think perhaps this sect also happened in the land of the Egyptians, for I do not remember the land exactly where I met them; and some things about them we learned by seeing them ourselves, and ἔγνωμεν, τὰ δὲ ἐκ συγγραμμάτων περὶ αὐτῆς ἐμάθομεν.

other things we learned from writings about them.

39.1.3 | Οὗτοι γὰρ οἱ Σηθιανοὶ ἀπὸ Σῆθ τοῦ υἱοῦ τοῦ Ἀδάμ σεμνύνονται τὸ γένος κατὰγειν αὐτόν τε δοξάζουσι καὶ εἰς αὐτὸν πάντα ὅσα περ ἀρετῆς εἶναι * ἀναφέρουσι, τὰ τε τῆς ἀρετῆς τεκμήρια καὶ δικαιοσύνης καὶ ὅσα τοιαῦτα ὑπάρχει. οὐ μὴν δὲ ἀλλὰ καὶ Χριστὸν αὐτὸν ὀνομάζουσι καὶ αὐτὸν εἶναι τὸν Ἰησοῦν διαβεβαιοῦνται.

39.1.3 | For these Sethians boast that they come from Seth, the son of Adam, and they praise him, and they bring everything that is virtue back to him, both the proofs of virtue and of justice and all such things. Yet they also call him Christ and claim that he is Jesus.

39.1.4 | διδάσκουσι δὲ αὐτῶν τὴν διδασκαλίαν οὕτω, ὅτι, φησὶν, ἐξ ἀγγέλων γεγένηται τὰ πάντα καὶ οὐκ ἐκ τῆς ἄνω δυνάμεως.

39.1.4 | They teach their lesson like this: they say that everything was made by angels and not by the power above.

Section 2

39.2.1 | 2. Οὗτοι γὰρ συνφδὰ λέγουσι τῇ πρώτῃ αἰρέσει τῶν Καϊανῶν κατὰ τοῦτο τὸ μέρος· γεγενῆσθαι ἐξ ὑπαρχῆς εὐθύς δύο ἀνθρώπους καὶ ἐκ τῶν δύο εἶναι τὸν Κάϊν καὶ τὸν Ἀβελ, περὶ τούτων τε στασιάζσαντας τοὺς ἀγγέλους εἰς <πόλεμον πρὸς> ἀλλήλους ἤκειν, οὕτω τε πεποιηκέναι ἀποκτανθῆναι τὸν Ἀβελ ὑπὸ τοῦ Κάϊν·

39.2.1 | For they say along with the first heresy of the Cainites in this way: that two men came into being right from the beginning, and from the two were Cain and Abel. About these, the angels, having rebelled, came to fight against each other, and so it happened that Abel was killed by Cain.

39.2.2 | ἦν γὰρ ἡ στάσις σις τοῖς ἀγγέλοις ἀγωνιζομένοις περὶ τῶν γενῶν τῶν ἀνθρώπων, * τούτων τῶν δύο, τοῦ γεγεννηκότος τὸν Κάϊν καὶ τοῦ γεγεννηκότος τὸν Ἀβελ.

39.2.2 | For the conflict was among the angels fighting over the kinds of humans, these two, Cain who was born and Abel who was born.

39.2.3 | κεκρατηκέναι δὲ τὴν ἄνω δύναμιν, ἣν Μητέρα φάσκουσι καὶ Θήλειαν· δοκεῖ

39.2.3 | But the power above, which they call Mother and Female, has won. For it γὰρ αὐτοῖς εἶναι καὶ μητέρας ἄνω καὶ θηλείας καὶ ἄρρενας, ὀλίγου δὲ δεῖ καὶ συγγενείας καὶ πατριαρχίας λέγειν. ἐπεὶ οὖν κεκράτηκε, φασὶν, ἡ Μήτηρ καὶ Θήλεια καλουμένη,

seems to them that there are mothers above and females and males, and they hardly need to speak of family ties and patriarchies. Since then this Mother and Female, as they say, has won,

39.2.4 | γνοῦσα ὅτι ἀπέκτανται Ἄβελ, ἐνθυμηθεῖσα ἐποίησε γεννηθῆναι τὸν Σῆθ καὶ ἐν τούτῳ ἔθετο τὴν αὐτῆς δύναμιν, καὶ καταβαλοῦσα | ἐν αὐτῷ σπέρμα τῆς ἄνωθεν δυνάμεως καὶ τὸν σπινθῆρα τὸν ἄνωθεν πεμφθέντα εἰς πρώτην καταβολὴν τοῦ σπέρματος καὶ συστάσεως.

39.2.4 | Knowing that Abel was killed, she thought and made Seth be born, and in him she placed her power, and putting into him the seed of the power from above and the spark sent from above as the first foundation of the seed and its formation.

39.2.5 | καὶ εἶναι ταύτην σύστασιν τῆς δικαιοσύνης καὶ ἐκλογὴν σπέρματος καὶ γένους, ὅπως διὰ τῆς αὐτῆς συστάσεως καὶ τούτου τοῦ σπέρματος καθαιρεθῶσιν αἱ δυνάμεις τῶν ἀγγέλων τῶν τὸν κόσμον πεποιηκότων καὶ τοὺς δύο ἀπ' ἀρχῆς ἀνθρώπους.

39.2.5 | And this is the formation of justice and the choosing of seed and family, so that through this formation and this seed the powers of the angels who made the world and the two humans from the beginning may be destroyed.

39.2.6 | διὰ ταύτην οὖν τὴν αἰτίαν καὶ τὸ γένος τοῦ Σῆθ ἀφορισθὲν ἐντεῦθεν κατάγεται, ἐκλογῆς ὃν καὶ διακεκριμένον τοῦ ἄλλου γένους.

39.2.6 | Because of this cause, then, the family of Seth is set apart and comes from here, being chosen and separated from the other family.

39.2.7 | προβαινόντων γὰρ τῶν καιρῶν, φασί, καὶ ὁμοῦ ὄντων τῶν δύο γενῶν, τοῦ τε Κάϊν καὶ τοῦ Ἄβελ, εἰς τὸ αὐτό > συνελθόντων διὰ κακίαν πολλὴν καὶ ὁμοῦ μιχθέντων, ἀποβλέψασα ἡ πάντων Μήτηρ καθαρὸν τὸ σπέρμα τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἡβουλήθη ἀπεργάσασθαι, ὥς προεῖπον, διὰ τὸ τὸν Ἄβελ ἀπεκτάνθαι, καὶ τοῦτον τὸν Σῆθ ἐξελέξατο καὶ καθαρὸν ἔδειξεν καὶ ἐν τούτῳ τὸ σπέρμα μόνῳ τῆς αὐτῆς

39.2.7 | For as the times went on, they say, and the two families, of Cain and Abel, were together, meeting in great evil and mixing together, the Mother of all, looking away, wanted to make pure the seed of humans, as I said before, because Abel was killed, and she chose Seth and showed him as pure, and in him alone she placed the seed of the same strength and purity.

συνάμεως καὶ καθαρότητος κατέθετο.

Section 3

39.3.1 | 3. Ἰδοῦσα δὲ πόλιν πολλὴν ἐπιμιξίαν καὶ ἄτακτον ὁρμὴν τῶν ἀγγέλων καὶ τῶν ἀνθρώπων, εἰς μῖξιν τῶν δύο γενῶν ἐλθόντων, καὶ συστάσεις τινὰς γενῶν τὴν αὐτῶν ἀταξίαν ἐμποιήσασαν, πορευθεῖσα πάλιν ἡ αὐτὴ Μήτηρ τε καὶ Θήλεια κατακλυσμὸν ἤνεγκε καὶ ἀπώλεσε πᾶσαν στάσιν ἀνθρώπου παντός > γένους ἐναντίου, ἵνα δῆθεν τὸ καθαρὸν γένος τὸ ἀπὸ τοῦ Σήθ καὶ δίκαιον μόνον μείνῃ ἐν κόσμῳ, εἰς σύστασιν τοῦ ἄνωθεν γένους τε καὶ σπινθήρος τῆς δικαιοσύνης.

39.3.1 | And seeing a great city with mixing and wild violence of angels and humans, coming to a mixing of the two families, and some gatherings of families made their disorder, the same Mother and Female brought a flood again and destroyed every fight of humans of every opposite family, so that only the pure family from Seth and the just one might remain in the world, for the joining of the family from above and the spark of justice.

39.3.2 | ἔλαθον δὲ αὐτὴν πάλιν οἱ ἄγγελοι καὶ εἰσέδυσαν τὸν Χάμ εἰς τὴν κιβωτόν, ὄντα τοῦ αὐτῶν σπέρματος. ὁκτώ γὰρ ψυχῶν σωθεισῶν ἐν τῇ τότε λάρνακι τοῦ Νῶν ἑπτὰ μὲν εἶναι τοῦ καθαροῦ γένους φασί, τὸν δὲ ἓνα εἶναι τὸν Χάμ τῆς ἄλλης δυνάμεως ὑπάρχοντα, ὃν εἰσδῦναι λαθόντα τὴν ἄνω Μητέρα.

39.3.2 | But the angels did not notice her again, and they put Ham into the ark, being of their seed. For eight souls were saved in Noah's ark at that time; they say seven were from the pure family, and one was Ham, belonging to the other power, whom the Mother above put in secretly.

39.3.3 | ὑπὸ τῶν ἀγγέλων δὲ τὸ τοιοῦτο συσκευασθὲν οὕτως ἀποτελεσθῆναι· ἐπειδὴ γάρ, φασίν, ἔγνωσαν οἱ ἄγγελοι ὅτι μέλλει πᾶν τὸ σπέρμα αὐτῶν ἀπαλείφεσθαι ἐν τῷ κατακλυσμῷ, πανουργίᾳ τινὶ τὸν προειρημένον Χάμ εἰς διατήρησιν τοῦ ὑπ' αὐτῶν κτισθέντος γένους τῆς κακίας παρεισέβαλον.

39.3.3 | But the angels planned for this to happen in this way; for when they learned that all their seed would be wiped out in the flood, by some trick they snuck in the said Ham to keep the evil family they had made.

39.3.4 | καὶ ἐκ τούτου λήθη καὶ πλάνη περὶ τοὺς ἀνθρώπους καὶ ἄτακτοι φοραὶ ἁμαρτημάτων καὶ πολυμιξία κακίας ἐν τῷ

39.3.4 | And from this came forgetfulness and error among people, and wild acts of sin and much mixing of evil in the world.

κόσμῳ γεγένηται. καὶ οὕτως ὁ κόσμος εἰς τὸ ἀρχαῖον τῆς ἀταξίας αὖθις ἀνέκαμψεν καὶ ἐνεπλήσθη κακῶν ὡς ἐξ ἀρχῆς πρὸ τοῦ κατακλυσμοῦ.

And so the world turned back again to the old disorder and was filled with evils just like before the flood.

39.3.5 | ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ Σῆθ κατὰ σπέρμα καὶ κατὰ διαδοχὴν γένους ὁ Χριστὸς ἦλθεν αὐτὸς Ἰησοῦς, οὐχὶ κατὰ γέννησιν ἀλλὰ θαυμαστῶς ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ πεφηνῶς, ὅς ἐστὶν αὐτὸς ὁ Σῆθ ὁ τότε καὶ <Χριστὸς> νῦν τῷ γένει τῶν ἀνθρώπων, ἀπὸ τῆς Μητρὸς ἄνωθεν ἀπεσταλμένος.

39.3.5 | But from Seth, through seed and family line, Christ himself came as Jesus, not by birth but wonderfully shown in the world, who is the same Seth then and Christ now to the human race, sent from above by the Mother.

Section 4

39.4.1 | 4. Ταῦτα πάντα οὕτω γεγενῆσθαι φασιν ἐκεῖνοι. μωρὰ δὲ καὶ ἀδρανῆ καὶ κενοφωνίας ἔμπλεα τὰ τοιαῦτα κηρύγματα, ὡς παντὶ τῷ δηλὸν ἐστίν.

39.4.1 | 4. They say that all these things happened just like that. But such messages are full of foolishness, laziness, and empty talk, as it is clear to everyone.

39.4.2 | οὐ γὰρ δύο ἄνθρωποι ἐπλάσθησαν, ἀλλὰ εἷς ὁ Ἀδὰμ καὶ ἐκ τοῦ Ἀδὰμ ὃ τε Κάϊν καὶ Ἀβελ καὶ Σῆθ· καὶ οὐκέτι ἐκ δύο ἀνθρώπων, ἀλλ' ἐξ ἑνὸς * ἕως τοῦ κατακλυσμοῦ, τῶν γενῶν ὅλων > τοῦ Ἀδὰμ ἐχόντων τὰς ἑαυτῶν συστάσεις ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ.

39.4.2 | For not two people were made, but one, Adam, and from Adam came Cain and Abel and Seth; and no longer from two people, but from one, up to the flood, all the generations of Adam having their own groups in the world.

39.4.3 | ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ κατακλυσμοῦ ἐκ τοῦ Νῶε πάλιν, τοῦ ἑνὸς ἀνθρώπου, καὶ οὐκ ἐκ διαφόρων ἀνθρώπων, ἀλλὰ ἀπὸ ἑνὸς τοῦ Νῶε τοῦ κατὰ διαδοχὴν ἐκ σπέρματος τοῦ Σῆθ πᾶν γένος τῶν ἀνθρώπων, οὐκ εἰς δύο διαιρούμενον, ἀλλὰ εἰς ἓν γένος.

39.4.3 | But from the flood, again from Noah, one man, and not from different men, but from one, Noah, all the race of men by succession from the seed of Seth, not divided into two, but into one race.

39.4.4 | ἀφ' οὐπερ καὶ Νῶε καὶ ἡ αὐτοῦ

39.4.4 | From these, then, both Noah and γυνή καὶ Σήμ, Χάμ καὶ Ἰάφεθ, οἱ τούτου παῖδες, καὶ τρεῖς γυναῖκες τῶν αὐτοῦ παίδων ἀπὸ τοῦ Σήθ τὸ γένος κατὰγουσι πάντες καὶ οὐχὶ ἀπὸ δύο ἀνθρώπων τῶν μὴ γενομένων κατὰ τὴν τούτων μυθοποιίαν.

his wife, and Shem, Ham, and Japheth, his children, and the three wives of his children, all come from the race of Seth, and not from two men who did not exist according to their story-making.

Section 5

39.5.1 | 5. Βίβλους δὲ τινὰς συγγράφοντες ἐξ ὀνόματος μεγάλων ἀνδρῶν, ἐξ ὀνόματος μὲν Σήθ ἑπτὰ λέγουσιν εἶναι βίβλους, ἄλλας δὲ βίβλους ἑτέρας Ἀλλογενεῖς οὕτω καλοῦσιν, ἄλλην δὲ ἐξ ὀνόματος Ἀβραάμ, ἣν καὶ ἀποκάλυψιν φάσκουσιν εἶναι, πάσης κακίας ἔμπλεον, ἑτέρας δὲ ἐξ ὀνόματος τοῦ Μωυσέως καὶ ἄλλας ἄλλων.

39.5.1 | Some write books named after great men. From the name of Seth, they say there are seven books. Other books, different ones, the Allogenes call like this. Another from the name of Abraham, which they say is a revelation, full of all evil. Others from the name of Moses, and others from different men.

39.5.2 | εἰς μωρίαν δὲ πολλὴν τὸν νοῦν ἑαυτῶν κατὰγοντες γυναῖκά τινα Ὡραίαν λέγουσιν εἶναι τοῦ Σήθ. ὅρα δέ μοι, ἀγαπητέ. τὴν τούτων ἄνοιαν, ἵνα κατὰ πάντα τρόπον καταγνῶς τῆς αὐτῶν δραματουργίας καὶ μυθώδους ματαιοφροσύνης καὶ ἐπιπλάστου ληρολογίας.

39.5.2 | Bringing their mind to great foolishness, they say there is a woman named Horaia, of Seth. But look, my dear, so that you may fully see their madness, in every way, of their playwriting and story-making vanity and false nonsense.

39.5.3 | εἰσὲ μὲν γὰρ ἄλλαι τινὲς αἱρέσεις, αἵτινες δύνανται τινα εἶναι λέγουσιν, ἣν καλοῦσιν τικῶς Ὡραίαν· τὴν παρ' ἄλλοις τοίνυν νομιζομένην δύνανται Ὡραίαν τε καλουμένην οὗτοι γυναῖκα τοῦ Σήθ λέγουσιν.

39.5.3 | For there are some other groups, who say there is a certain power, which they call the power of Horaia; this power, thought to be among others, they call Horaia, and they say she is the wife of Seth.

39.5.4 | ὅθεν δυνάμεθά τε ἀποδείξαι, ὥς ἴστε, ἀγαπητοί, καὶ φύσει ἄνθρωπον τὸν Σήθ καὶ οὐχὶ ἄνωθέν τι παρηλλαγμένον λαβόντα, ἀδελφόν τε ὄντα φύσει τοῦ Κάϊν

39.5.4 | From this you can also show, as you know, dear ones, that Seth is by nature a human and not someone changed from above, and that he is by nature the brother of Cain and Abel, from one father and one καὶ Ἄβελ ἐξ ἑνὸς πατρὸς καὶ μιᾶς μητρός.

39.5.5 | »ἔγνω γάρ« φησὶν »Ἀδὰμ Εὕαν τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ καὶ συλλαβοῦσα ἔτεκε τὸν Κάϊν«, καὶ ἐπέθετο αὐτῷ ὄνομα Κάϊν, ὅπερ ἐρμηνεύεται κτήσις, λέγων »ἐκτησάμην υἱὸν διὰ κυρίου θεοῦ«.

39.5.5 | “For Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and gave birth to Cain,” and he gave him the name Cain, which means possession, saying “I have gotten a son through the Lord God.”

39.5.6 | καὶ πάλιν <κατὰ> τὸν Ἄβελ »ἔγνω Ἀδὰμ Εὕαν τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ καὶ συλλαβοῦσα ἔτεκεν υἱὸν καὶ ἐκάλεσε τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ Ἄβελ«.

39.5.6 | And again, according to Abel, “Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and gave birth to a son, and he called his name Abel.”

39.5.7 | καὶ μετὰ πολλὰ μετὰ τὸ ἀποθανεῖν τὸν Ἄβελ »καὶ ἔγνω Ἀδὰμ Εὕαν τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ, καὶ συλλαβοῦσα ἔτεκεν υἱόν, καὶ ἐκάλεσε τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ Σήθ«, ὅπερ ἐρμηνεύεται ἀνταλλαγή· »ἀνέστησεν γάρ μοι ὁ θεὸς σπέρμα ἀντὶ Ἄβελ, ὃν ἀπέκτεινε Κάϊν«.

39.5.7 | And after many days, after Abel died, “Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and gave birth to a son, and he called his name Seth,” which means replacement; “for God has raised up for me a seed instead of Abel, whom Cain killed.”

39.5.8 | τὸ δέ »ἐκτησάμην διὰ θεοῦ« καὶ »ἀνέστησέν μοι ὁ θεός· ἵνα θεὸν δείκνυσι τὸν πάντων ποιητὴν καὶ δότην τῶν γεγεννημένων.

39.5.8 | But “I acquired it through God,” and “God raised it up for me,” to show God as the maker of all and the giver of those born.

39.5.9 | ὅτι δὲ οὗτοι ἴσχον γυναῖκας, ὃ τε Κάϊν καὶ ὁ Σήθ, δῆλον· ὁ γὰρ Ἄβελ νεώτερος ἀπεκτάνθη, μηδέπω γήμας.

39.5.9 | That both Cain and Seth had wives is clear; for Abel, who was younger, died before he was married.

Section 6

39.6.1 | 6. Ὡς δὲ ἐν τοῖς Ἰωβηλαίοις εὕρίσκεται, τῇ καὶ λεπτῇ Γενέσει καλουμένη, καὶ τὰ ὀνόματα τῶν γυναικῶν

39.6.1 | And as it is found in the Jubilees, which is also called the Lesser Genesis, the book contains the names of the wives of τοῦ τε Κάϊν καὶ τοῦ Σήθ ἡ βίβλος περιέχει, ἵνα κατὰ πάντα τρόπον οὗτοι καταισχυνθῶσιν οἱ τοὺς μύθους τῷ βίῳ ῥαψωδήσαντες.

both Cain and Seth, so that in every way those who make up stories about life may be put to shame.

39.6.2 | τοῦ γὰρ Ἀδὰμ γεννήσαντος υἱοὺς κοὶ θυγατέρας ἀνάγκη γέγονε κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ ἀδελφαῖς ταῖς ἰδίαις συναφθῆναι τοὺς παῖδας· οὐ γὰρ ἦν παράνομον τὸ τοιοῦτον.

39.6.2 | For when Adam had sons and daughters, it was necessary at that time for the children to marry their own sisters; for such a thing was not unlawful.

39.6.3 | ἐπεὶ μηδὲν ἕτερον γένος ἦν. καὶ γὰρ καὶ αὐτὸς ὡς ἔπος εἶπεῖν ὁ Ἀδὰμ τῇ ἰδίᾳ θυγατρὶ σχεδὸν τῇ ἐκ τοῦ σώματος αὐτοῦ καὶ ὀστέων πλασθείσῃ συνήφθη, κατὰ συζυγίαν αὐτῷ ἐκ θεοῦ πεπλασμένη, καὶ οὐκ ἦν παράνομον.

39.6.3 | Since there was no other kind. For Adam himself, so to speak, was joined in marriage to his own daughter, who was made from his body and bones, a wife created for him by God, and it was not unlawful.

39.6.4 | οἳ τε τούτου υἱοὶ συνήφθησαν, ὁ μὲν Κάϊν τῇ ἀδελφῇ τῇ μείζονι Σαυῇ οὕτω καλουμένῃ, ὁ δὲ Σήθ τρίτος υἱὸς μετὰ τὸν Ἄβελ γεννηθεὶς τῇ λεγομένῃ αὐτοῦ ἀδελφῇ Ἀζουρά.

39.6.4 | And the sons of this man were joined in marriage: Cain with his older sister called Sauê, and Seth, the third son born after Abel, with his sister called Azourá.

39.6.5 | γεγόνاسι δὲ τῷ Ἀδὰμ καὶ ἄλλοι υἱοί, ὡς ἡ λεπτὴ Γένεσις περιέχει, ἐννέα μετὰ τοὺς τρεῖς τούτους, ὡς εἶναι αὐτῷ δύο μὲν θυγατέρας, ἄρρενας δὲ δώδεκα, ἓνα μὲν ἀποκτανθέντα, ἑνδεκα δὲ περὶλειφθέντας τῷ βίῳ.

39.6.5 | Adam also had other sons, as the detailed Genesis says, nine after these three, and he had two daughters, twelve sons, one of whom was killed, and eleven who remained alive.

39.6.6 | ἔχεις δὲ καὶ τούτων τὴν ἔμφασιν ἐν τῇ Γένεσει τοῦ κόσμου καὶ πρώτῃ βίβλῳ παρὰ Μωυσῆ, οὕτω φασκούσῃ »καὶ ἔζησεν Ἀδὰμ ἑτη ἐννακόσια τριάκοντα, καὶ ἐγέννησεν υἱοὺς καὶ θυγατέρας, καὶ

39.6.6 | You also have the account of these things in the Genesis of the world, the first book by Moses, which says, “And Adam lived nine hundred and thirty years, and he had sons and daughters, and he died.”

ἀπέθανεν».

Section 7

39.7.1 | 7. Πλατυνθέντων δὲ τῶν ἀνθρώπων καὶ τῆς γενεᾶς τοῦ Ἀδὰμ ἐπεκτεινομένης ἡ ἀκρίβεια ἢ κατὰ τὸν γάμον τὸν σεμνὸν ἐπλατύνετο καθεξῆς προβαίνουσα.

39.7.1 | 7. As people grew numerous and Adam's family spread out, the strictness about the holy marriage was gradually relaxed step by step.

39.7.2 | καὶ ἐπεὶ περ γεγόνασι παῖδες τῷ Ἀδὰμ καὶ παῖδες παίδων, θυγατέρες δὲ ἐκ τούτων κατὰ διαδοχὴν γένους ἐγεννήθησαν, λοιπὸν οὐκέτι τὰς ἑαυτῶν ἀδελφὰς πρὸς γάμον ἤγοντο, ἀλλὰ εἰς εὐνομίαν κατέστη καὶ πρὸ τοῦ διὰ Μωυσέως ἐγγράφου νόμου ὁ κατὰ τὸν σεμνὸν γάμον θεσμὸς καὶ ἐκ τῶν πατραδέλφων αὐτῶν τὰς γαμετὰς ἑαυτῶν ἤγοντο.

39.7.2 | And since children were born to Adam, and children of those children, and daughters from these in order of family, from then on they no longer married their own sisters, but the rule of holy marriage was established even before the law written by Moses, and they took wives from their own cousins.

39.7.3 | καὶ οὕτως πλατυνομένων ἄρτι τῶν ἀνθρώπων συνεμίγη τὰ δύο γένη, τοῦ τε Κάιν πρὸς τὸ γένος τοῦ Σὴρ καὶ τοῦ Σὴθ πρὸς θάτερον, καὶ τὰ ἄλλα τῶν υἱῶν τοῦ Ἀδὰμ γένη.

39.7.3 | And so, as people increased, the two groups mixed together: the family of Cain with the family of Ser, and the family of Seth with another, along with the other families of Adam's sons.

39.7.4 | ἐντεῦθεν λοιπὸν τοῦ κατακλυσμοῦ ἄρδην τὸ πᾶν τῆς στάσεως τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἀπολέσαντος διαπεφύλακται μόνος Νῶε εὐρὼν χάριν παρὰ τῷ θεῷ, δίκαιος εὐρεθεὶς ἐν τῇ κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ γενεᾷ.

39.7.4 | From then on, after the flood, with all the evil of people completely destroyed, only Noah was kept safe, having found favor with God, being found righteous in the generation of that time.

39.7.5 | λάρνακα δὲ κατὰ τὰ ἔλη πρότερον ἡμῖν εἰρημένα κατεσκεύασεν ἑαυτῷ ἐκ προστάγματος θεοῦ, ὡς ἔχουσιν αἱ ἀληθιναὶ γραφαί, ἐν ἧ διασεσῶσθαι ἡ αὐτὴ

39.7.5 | But the ark, according to what the Greeks told us before, he made for himself by God's command, as the true writings say, in which the same book of truth claims φάσκει τῆς ἀληθείας βίβλος αὐτόν τε καὶ τὰς προειρημένας ἅμα ἅμα αὐτῷ ἑπτὰ ψυχάς, φημὶ δὲ τὴν τε ἰδίαν σύζυγον καὶ τοὺς τρεῖς υἱοὺς γυναικῶν τε τούτων ὁμοίως τρεῖς.

that he was saved along with the seven souls mentioned before, I say his own wife and the three sons and also their wives, three in the same way.

39.7.6 | ἐκ τούτου δὲ λείψανα γεγενῆσθαι τῆς κατὰ τὸν ἄνθρωπον συστάσεως ἐν κόσμῳ πάλιν ἡ ἀλήθεια συνίστησιν. ὅθεν κατὰ γενεὰν προβαίνοντων * καὶ κατὰ διαδοχὴν υἱοῦ πατέρα διαδεχομένου εἰς γενεὰς πέντε ὁ αἰὼν ἐλήλακεν.

39.7.6 | From this, the truth shows that the remains of human order in the world were formed again. So, as generations went on and son followed father in succession, the age lasted for five generations.

Section 8

39.8.1 | 8. Καὶ γέγονεν κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ ἡ τῆς Βαβυλῶνος κτίσις ἐν τῇ τῶν Ἀσσυρίων γῇ καὶ ὁ ὑπ' αὐτῶν οἰκοδομηθεὶς τότε πύργος.

39.8.1 | And it happened at that time the founding of Babylon in the land of the Assyrians, and the tower then built by them.

39.8.2 | ἦσαν δὲ κατὰ τοῦτον τὸν καιρὸν ὡς ἦδη ἐν ταῖς πρότερον αἰρέσεσι διηγησάμην κατὰ τὸν εἰρμόν τῶν ἄνω μοι γενεῶν πραγματευθειῶν, οἱ πάντες ἑβδομήκοντα δύο ἄνδρες τὸν ἀριθμόν, ἀρχηγοὶ τε καὶ κεφαλαιωταί, τοῦ μὲν Χάμ γένους τριάκοντα δύο καὶ τοῦ Ἰάφεθ δεκαπέντε, τοῦ δὲ Σὴμ εἴκοσιπέντε. καὶ οὕτως ὁ πύργος καὶ ἡ Βαβυλὼν ἐγένετο.

39.8.2 | And at that time, as I have already told before in the earlier stories according to the order of the generations I studied above, there were seventy-two men in total, leaders and chiefs, thirty-two from the family of Ham, fifteen from Japheth, and twenty-five from Shem. And so the tower and Babylon were made.

39.8.3 | ἐκ τούτου διεσπάρησαν ἐπὶ πᾶσαν τὴν γῆν φυλαὶ τε καὶ γλῶσσαι. καὶ ἐπεὶ οἱ ἑβδομήκοντα δύο <οἱ> τότε τὸν οἰκοδομοῦντες ταῖς γλώσσαις διεσκεδάσθησαν, συγχυθέντες καὶ ἀπὸ μιᾶς ἥς ἤδεισαν *, ἐμπνευσθέντες ἐκ θεοῦ βουλήσεως ἄλλος ἄλλην ἐσχήκασιν.

39.8.3 | From this, they were scattered over all the earth, tribes and languages. And since the seventy-two who were building then were scattered by their languages, confused and from the one they knew, inspired by God's will, each took a different one.

39.8.4 | ἐξ ὧν περ καὶ μέχρι δεῦρο ἡ σύστασις τῶν λαλιῶν ἐνέστηκεν, ὥστε <τῶ> βουλομένῳ ἔνεστιν εὐρεῖν ἕκαστον ἀρχηγὸν ἐκάστης γλώσσης, ὡς Ἴωυ[ν]άν μὲν τὴν Ἑλληνίδα ἴσχεν, 39.8.4 | From this, even until now, the division of languages has stood, so that anyone who wants can find the leader of each language, as Ion had the Greek language,

39.8.5 | ἐξ οὗ περ καὶ Ἴωνες κέκληνται, οἱ τὴν παλαιὰν γλῶσσαν τῶν Ἑλλήνων ἔχοντες, Θήρας δὲ <τῶν> τῶν Θρακῶν, Μοσὸχ τὴν Μοσσυνοίκων Θοβέλ τὴν τῶν Θετταλῶν, Λοῦδ τὴν Λυδῶν, Γεφάρ τὴν Γασφηνῶν, Μιστρέμ τὴν τῶν Αἰγυπτίων, Ψοὺς τὴν τῶν Ἀξωμιτῶν, Ἀρμώτ τὴν τῶν Ἀράβων, καὶ τῶν λοιπῶν ἕκαστος, ἵνα μὴ καθ' ἓνα λέγω, ἰδίαν ἐνεπνεύσθη γλῶσσαν. καὶ οὕτως ἐκάστης γλώσσης ἡ διαδοχὴ ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ πεπλάτνυται.

39.8.5 | From this, the Ionians are called, who had the old language of the Greeks; Theras had that of the Thracians; Mosoch had that of the Mossynoeci; Thobel had that of the Thessalians; Loud had that of the Lydians; Gephar had that of the Gasphenians; Mistrem had that of the Egyptians; Psous had that of the Axomites; Armot had that of the Arabs; and each of the others, so that I do not speak of them all in one way, was given a special language.
And so the succession of each language has spread throughout the world.

Section 9

39.9.1 | 9. Πόθεν τοίνυν οὗτοι ἐψευδηγόρησαν αὐτῶν τὰ ῥήματα, παρενθέντες τὴν ἑαυτῶν μυθοποιίαν, φανταζόμενοι καὶ ὀνειροπολοῦντες τὰ μὴ ὄντα ὡς ὄντα καὶ τὰ ὄντα τῆς ἑαυτῶν διανοίας διασκεδαννύντες; ἀλλὰ τὸ πᾶν τοῦ διαβόλου βούλημα ὃ ἐνεκίσσησε ταῖς τῶν ἀνθρώπων ψυχαῖς.

39.9.1 | 9. So where did these people lie about their words, adding their own stories, imagining and dreaming things that are not real as if they were real, and scattering the real things of their own minds? But all of this is the devil's plan, which he put into the souls of humans.

39.9.2 | ἔστιν δὲ ἰδεῖν καὶ θαυμάσαι ὡς ἐν πολλοῖς μὲν ἀτοπήμασι τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἠπάτησε καὶ εἰς παρανομίαν κατέσπασεν, εἷς τε πορνείας καὶ μοιχείας καὶ ἀσελγείας, εἰδωλομανίας τε καὶ γοητείας καὶ αἱματεκχυσίας ἀρπαγὰς τε καὶ ἀπληστίας, κυβείας τε καὶ ἀδηφαγίας καὶ ὅσα τοιαῦται 39.9.2 | It is also clear and amazing how in many strange ways he deceived people and led them into lawlessness, into prostitution and adultery and shamelessness, into idol worship and magic and bloodshed, robbery and greed, gambling and gluttony, and all such things. But before the coming of οὐδαμοῦ δὲ πρὸ τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ παρουσίας ἐτόλμησεν εἰς τὸν ἑαυτοῦ δεσπότην φθέγγασθαι βλάσφημόν τινα λόγον ἢ ἄνταρσιν ἐννοῆσαι.

Christ, he never dared to speak a blasphemous word against his master or to think such a thing.

39.9.3 | ἀνέμενεν γὰρ τὴν τοῦ Χριστοῦ παρουσίαν, ὡς λέγει »περὶ σοῦ γέγραπται ὅτι τοῖς ἀγγέλοις αὐτοῦ ἐντελεῖται περὶ σοῦ καὶ ἐπὶ χειρῶν ἀροῦσί σε«.

39.9.3 | For he was waiting for the coming of Christ, as it says, "It is written about you that he will command his angels concerning you, and they will lift you up in their hands."

39.9.4 | ἤκουεν γὰρ αἰὲ τῶν προφητῶν καταγγελλόντων τὴν τοῦ Χριστοῦ παρουσίαν, λύτρωσιν <τε> ἐσομένην ἁμαρτησάντων καὶ διὰ Χριστοῦ μετανοούντων, ἐνόμιζεν τε τεύξασθαι τιнос ἐλέους.

39.9.4 | For he always heard the prophets announcing the coming of Christ, the redemption that would be for sinners and for those who repent through Christ, and he thought he would receive some mercy.

39.9.5 | ὅτε δὲ εἶδεν ὁ τάλας τὸν Χριστὸν μὴ δεξάμενον αὐτοῦ τὴν περὶ σωτηρίας ἐπιστροφὴν, ἀνοίξας τὸ στόμα κατὰ τοῦ ἰδίου δεσπότης τὴν βλασφημίαν ἐξήμεσε, τοῖς ἀνθρώποις ὑπόνοιαν ἐμβαλὼν ἀρνεῖσθαι μὲν τὸν ὄντα, τὸν δὲ μὴ ὄντα ζητεῖν.

39.9.5 | But when the poor man saw that Christ did not accept his turning toward salvation, he opened his mouth and raged in blasphemy against his own master, planting suspicion among people to deny the one who is, and to seek the one who is not.

39.9.6 | οὕτως τοίνυν καὶ οὗτοι ἐλεγχθήσονται κατὰ πάντα τρόπον ἡπατημένοι. ὁ γὰρ Σῆθ τέθνηκε καὶ τὰ ἔτη αὐτοῦ ἀναγέγραπται. βιώσας γὰρ ἑτη ἑννακόσια δεκαδύο τὸ χρεὼν ἀπέδωκε, γεννήσας υἱοὺς καὶ θυγατέρας, ὥς φησιν ἡ θεία γραφή.

39.9.6 | So then, these too will be proven wrong in every way, having been deceived. For Seth died, and his years are recorded. Having lived one hundred ninety-two years, he paid what he owed, having begotten sons and daughters, as the holy scripture says.

39.9.7 | κατὰ διαδοχὴν δὲ δὲ τούτου παῖς, Ἐνὼς δὲ ἦν τούτῳ ὄνομα, καὶ αὐτὸς

39.9.7 | In turn, his son, Enos, had this name, and he himself, having lived nine βιώσας ἑτη ἑννακόσια πέντε ὑπήλλαξε τὸν καθ' ἡμᾶς βίον, γεννήσας υἱοὺς καὶ θυγατέρας, ὡς ἔχει ἡ αὐτὴ βίβλος τῆς ἀληθείας.

hundred five years, passed on the life we have, having begotten sons and daughters, as the same book of truth says.

Section 10

39.10.1 | 10. Πόθεν τοίνυν ὁ Σῆθ ὁ τότε τελευτήσας, οὗ καὶ υἱοὶ κατὰ διαδοχὴν βιώσαντες τοῦ βίου ἐπαύσαντο, εὐρεθήσεται κύριος ὁ ἀπὸ Μαρίας γεννηθεὶς τῆς ἀειπαρθένου εὐδοκήσας ἐπὶ ζωῇ τῶν ἀνθρώπων, ὁ γεννηθεὶς ἀχρόνως, ὁ ὢν πρὸς τὸν πατέρα αἰεὶ, ἐνυπόστατος θεὸς λόγος,

39.10.1 | 10. So where then will the lord be found, who was born from Mary the ever-virgin, pleased with the life of humans, who was born without time, who is always with the father, the true god and word, after Seth died long ago, and his sons lived their lives in turn and then stopped?

39.10.2 | ἐλθὼν δὲ ἐπ' ἐσχάτου τῶν ἡμερῶν καὶ εἰς ἑαυτὸν δὲ ἀναπλασάμενος ἀπὸ μήτρας παρθενικῆς σάρκα καὶ ψυχὴν τὴν ἀνθρωπείαν εἰληφὼς οὕτως ἐνανθρωπήσας τελειότατα,

39.10.2 | And coming at the last of the days, and having formed himself again into flesh from a virgin womb, and having taken a human soul, thus becoming fully human,

39.10.3 | κηρύξας ἡμῖν ζωῆς τὰ μυστήρια, δικαιοσύνης τε ἐργάτας τοὺς αὐτοῦ μαθητὰς καταστήσας καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ διδασκαλίαν δι' ἑαυτοῦ τε καὶ δι' αὐτῶν παιδεύσας τὸ γένος τῶν ἀνθρώπων, οὐ τὰ τῶν Σηθιανῶν ἀποκαλύψας οὐδὲ Σῆθ ἑαυτὸν ὀνομάσας, ὡς οὗτοι ληροῦντες καὶ μέθη τινὶ συνεχόμενοι ἀπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐκπεπτώκασι;

39.10.3 | having preached to us the secrets of life, and making his own followers workers of justice, and teaching the human race through himself and through them, not revealing the things of the Sethians, nor calling himself Seth. How then have they, being drunk and foolish, fallen away from the truth?

39.10.4 | Τὰ δὲ νῦν συντόμου οὔσης τῆς * αἵρέσεως, οὐκ ἐνδεθεῖς ἐπεκτεῖναι τὸν κατ' αὐτῆς ἔλεγχον ἀρκοῦμαι τοῖς παροῦσι μόνοις. εὐτρωτος γὰρ ἡ τούτων ἄνοια καὶ ἑαυτὴν δυναμένη τε ἐλέγξει καὶ φωρᾷσαι, οὐ μόνον περὶ τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἀγωγῆς καὶ

39.10.4 | But now, since the heresy is short, not needing to stretch out the refutation against it, i think the present ones alone are enough. For their foolishness is weak and able to expose and destroy itself, not only about the way of Christ and the slandered σεσυκοφαντημένης διδασκαλίας τοῦ τὸν Σῆθ αὐτὸν νομίζειν τε καὶ διαβεβαιοῦσθαι εἶναι, ἀλλὰ καὶ εἰς τὴν περὶ τῶν δύο ἀνθρώπων ὑπόθεσιν.

teaching that he himself is Seth and is thought to be and claimed to be, but also about the story of the two men.

39.10.5 | εἰ γὰρ αἱ δυνάμεις ἄνωθεν ἐσχήκασιν τὴν ἀρχὴν, οὐκ ἂν ἄνευ τῆς μιᾶς, ἣν δὴ καὶ Μητέρα φάσκουσι τῶν ὅλων εἶναι, ἐγένετό τε καὶ ἐπράχθη τὰ ὑπὸ τῶν δύο πραχθέντα. εὐρίσκεται γὰρ ἡ μία αἰτία τῶν δύο δυνάμεων, καὶ ἄνευ αὐτῆς μηδὲν τῶν γενομένων γεγονέναι.

39.10.5 | For if the powers above held the beginning, it would not have happened or been done without the one, which they say is the mother of all. For one cause of the two powers is found, and without it nothing that happened has happened.

39.10.6 | καὶ ἀναδραμοῦνται πάλιν ἐπὶ τὸ ὁμολογεῖν ἓνα εἶναι δεσπότην τῶν πάντων καὶ δημιουργὸν καὶ κτιστὴν τῶν ὅλων, ἅπασι μιᾶς δεικνυμένης ἀρχῆς.

39.10.6 | And they run back again to confess that there is one master of all, and creator and maker of everything, showing one beginning only once.

39.10.7 | ἀλλὰ καὶ περὶ ταύτης τῆς αἵρέσεως ταῦτα φήσαντες καὶ ἀποκαλύψαντες τὸν ἰὸν τῆς ἐρπετώδους αὐτῶν ἐκ γένους ἀσπίδων γονῆς, ἐφ' ἑτέραν πάλιν ἴωμεν, ἀγαπητοί, τῇ αὐτῇ ἀκολουθίᾳ τῆς πραγματείας.

39.10.7 | But also about this heresy, having said these things and revealed the poison of their serpent-like kind from the race of shields, let us go again, beloved, to another part of the same discussion.

Book 40

Section 1

40.1.1 | 1. Ἀρχοντικῶν τις αἵρεσις τούτοις ἔπεται, οὐκ ἐν πολλοῖς δὲ τόποις αὕτη φέρεται ἢ μόνον ἐν τῇ Παλαιστίνῳ ἐπαρχίᾳ· μετήνεγκαν δὲ τὸν αὐτῶν ἰὸν ἤδη που καὶ εἰς τὴν μεγάλην Ἀρμενίαν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῇ

40.1.1 | 1. A certain heresy of the Archontics follows these, but it is not found in many places, only in the province of the Palestinians; yet their poison has already been carried somewhere even into Greater Armenia, and also in the...

40.1.2 | μικρᾷ Ἀρμενίᾳ τοῦτο τὸ ζιζάνιον ἤδη ἔσπαρται ὑπὸ ἀνδρός τινος ἐπιδημήσαντος τῇ Παλαιστινῶν γῇ ἀπὸ Ἀρμενίας ἐν χρόνοις Κωνσταντίου περὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ τελευτὴν, Εὐτάκτου ὀνόματι, μᾶλλον δὲ ἀτάκτου τὸν τρόπον καὶ μαθόντος τὴν κακοδιδασκαλίαν ταύτην, εἶτα ἐπανελθόντος εἰς τὰ οἰκεῖα καὶ διδάξαντος.

40.1.2 | This weed has already been sown in Lesser Armenia by a certain man who traveled to the land of the Palestinians from Armenia around the time of Constantine's death, named Eutaktos, or rather, disorderly in his way, and after learning this bad teaching, then returning home and teaching it.

40.1.3 | μετέλαβεν δέ, ὡς ἔφην, ἐν Παλαιστίνῃ ὡς ἀπὸ ἀσπίδος ἰὸν ἀπὸ Πέτρου τινὸς γέροντος, ἀναξίως Πέτρου καλουμένου, ὃς κατῴκει ἐν τῇ τῆς Ἐλευθεροπόλεως > Ἱερουσαλὴμ ἐνορίᾳ, ἐπέκεινα τῆς Χεβρὼν σημείοις τρισί· Καφαρβαριχὰ τὴν κώμην καλοῦσιν.

40.1.3 | As I said, he took in Palestine, like poison from a shield, from a certain old man named Peter, unworthy to be called Peter, who lived in the parish of Eleutheropolis near Jerusalem, beyond the three signs of Hebron; they call the village Kapharbariha.

40.1.4 | οὗτος ὁ γέρων τὰ πρῶτα ἔνδυμα εἶχεν ἔκπληκτον, ὑποκρίσεως γέμον· ἔξωθεν μὲν γὰρ ἀληθῶς κώδιον προβάτου ὑπάρχων ἄρπαξ. ἀναχωρητὴς γὰρ ἐδόκει

40.1.4 | This old man had at first a shocked appearance, full of hypocrisy; for outwardly he truly wore the skin of a sheep, but inside he was a wolf, a robber. He seemed to be a recluse, sitting in a certain cave, who supposedly gathered many into apostasy and was called a father because of his old age and appearance. He gave his possessions to the poor and did acts of charity every day.

40.1.5 | ἐν δὲ τῇ πρώτῃ ἡλικίᾳ αὐτοῦ ἐν πολλαῖς αἱρέσεσιν ἐξητάσθη, ἐπὶ Ἀετίου δὲ τοῦ ἐπισκόπου κατηγορηθεὶς καὶ ἐλεγχθεὶς

40.1.5 | In his early years, he was tested in many heresies, and under bishop Aetius, he was accused and proven guilty. Then, having rejected the Gnostic heresy, he was removed from the presbytery. For if he was ever appointed to that position, after being judged by Aetius, he was chased away and went to live in Arabia in Kokaba, where the roots of the Ebionites and Nazarenes began, as I have shown in many heresies τοῦ τόπου τούτου ἐσήμανα.

about that place.

40.1.6 | ὕστερον δὲ ὡς σωφρονισθεὶς πρὸς τὸ γῆρας πάλιν ἐπανῆλθε, φέρων ἑαυτῷ ταύτην τὴν ἰοβολίαν κρύβδην καὶ παρὰ πᾶσιν ἀγνοούμενος, ἕως ὅτε εἰς ἕσχατον ἀφ’ ὧν εἰς ὧτά τινων ἐψιθύρισε ῥημάτων ἐλεγχοίς τοιοῦτος ὑφ’ ἡμῶν ἀνεθεματίσθη καὶ ἐλήλεγκεται διὰ τῆς ἡμῶν βραχύτητος.

40.1.6 | Later, when he was corrected because of old age, he came back again, secretly carrying this poison and being unknown to everyone, until finally, after whispering some words into the ears of some people, he was proven wrong and cursed by us and shown to be guilty by our shortness.

40.1.7 | καὶ ἐκάθισεν ἐν τῷ σπηλαίῳ λοιπόν, βδελυχθεὶς ὑπὸ πάντων καὶ μονωθεὶς ἀπὸ τῆς ἀδελφότητος καὶ ἀπὸ πλείστων τῶν τῆς ζωῆς ἑαυτῶν ἐπιμελομένων.

40.1.7 | And he sat in the cave from then on, hated by all and separated from the brotherhood and from most of those who cared for their own lives.

40.1.8 | πρὸς τοῦτον τὸν γέροντα καταχθεὶς ὁ προειρημένος Εὐτακτος, εἴ γε Εὐτακτος, ἀπὸ τῆς Αἰγύπτου διερχόμενος καὶ μεταλαβὼν τῆς τοῦ γέροντος κακοδιδασκαλίας, ὡς μεγάλην ἐμπορίαν τὸ δηλητήριον τοῦτο λαβὼν εἰς τὴν ἑαυτοῦ πατρίδα ἀπεκόμισεν· ἦν γὰρ ἀπὸ τῆς μικρᾶς Ἀρμενίας ὡς ἔφην ὁρμώμενος, τῶν Σατάλης πλησίον τόπων.

40.1.8 | To this old man came down the aforementioned Eutaktos, if indeed Eutaktos, passing through Egypt and taking part in the old man’s false teaching, and seeing this poison as a great trade, he carried it back to his own homeland; for he set out from little Armenia, near the lands of Satales, as I said.

40.1.9 | ἐπανελθὼν γοῦν εἰς τὴν ἑαυτοῦ πατρίδα πολλοὺς ἔχρανε τῆς αὐτῆς μικρᾶς Ἀρμενίας, προσφθαρεῖς τισι πλουσίοις συγκλητικῇ τέτινι καὶ ἄλλοις περιβλέπτοις, δι’ ὧν διαφανῶν ἀνδρῶν πολλοὺς ἐκέϊσε ἀπώλεσε. τάχιον δὲ αὐτὸν ὁ κύριος τοῦ βίου ἐξήλειψεν, πλὴν ὅτι ἔσπειρε τὸ ἑαυτοῦ ζιζάνιον.

40.1.9 | Returning then to his own homeland, he poisoned many in that same little Armenia, corrupting some rich men with some kind of influence and others well-known, through whom many strong men there he destroyed. But the master of life quickly wiped him out, except that he had sown his own weed.

Section 2

40.2.1 | 2. Καὶ αὐτοὶ δὲ ὁμοίως βίβλους

40.2.5 | φασὶ δὲ εἶναι καθ' ἕκαστον

40.2.1 | 2. And they themselves also forged for themselves some secret books, whose names are these: one they call the small Harmony book, and the other the great Harmony. But they pile up some other books for themselves too, so that if they meet with any, they may seem to confirm their own error through many.

40.2.2 | Already they have also used them among those called Allogenes; for these are the books so called. They take passages from the Ascending Isaiah, and also from some other secret ones.

40.2.3 | The whole comes from the book called Harmony, in which they say there is an eighth heaven and a seventh, and that each heaven has rulers; and that there are seven heavens, with one ruler for each heaven, and ranks for each ruler, and that the bright Mother is highest in the eighth, just like the other sects.

40.2.4 | And some of them, stained in their bodies with wild lust, are caught in sin, while others pretend to fast and deceive the unlearned people, showing off a kind of holy rejection, as if they live alone.

40.2.5 | They say that for each heaven, as I οὐρανόν, ὡς προεῖπον, ἀρχὴν καὶ ἐξουσίαν καὶ ἀγγελικὰς τινὰς ὑπηρεσίας, ἐκάστου ἄρχοντος ἑαυτῷ γεγεννηκότος καὶ πεποιηκότος ὑπηρεσίαν· μὴ εἶναι δὲ σαρκὸς ἀνάστασιν, ἀλλὰ μόνον ψυχῆς.

said before, there is a ruler and power and some angelic servants, each ruler having servants born and made by himself; and that there is no resurrection of the body, but only of the soul.

40.2.6 | ἀναθεματίζουσιν τε τὸ λουτρόν, κᾶν τε εἴεν τινες ἐν αὐτοῖς προειλημμένοι καὶ βεβαπτισμένοι. τὴν τε τῶν μυστηρίων μετοχὴν καὶ ἀγαθότητα ἀθετοῦσιν ὡς ἄλλοτρίαν οὕσαν καὶ εἰς ὄνομα Σαβαώθ γεγεννημένην· αὐτὸν γὰρ θέλουσιν εἶναι κατὰ τινὰς τῶν ἄλλων αἱρέσεων ἐν τῷ ἑβδόμῳ οὐρανῷ τυραννοῦντα καὶ κατὰ τῶν ἄλλων κατισχύοντα.

40.2.6 | They curse the bath, even if some among them have been chosen and baptized. They reject the sharing in the mysteries and goodness, saying it belongs to someone else and was made in the name of Sabaoth; for they want him to be, according to some other sects, ruling in the seventh heaven and having power over the others.

40.2.7 | βρωμα δὲ λέγουσιν εἶναι ἀρχῶν καὶ ἐξουσιῶν τὴν ψυχὴν, ἄνευ δὲ αὐτῆς μὴ δύνασθαι αὐτοὺς ζῆν, διὰ τὸ ἀπὸ τῆς ἄνωθεν ἰκμάδος αὐτὴν εἶναι καὶ δύναμιν αὐτοῖς παρέχειν.

40.2.7 | They say that the soul is the food of rulers and powers, and without it they cannot live, because it comes from above and gives them strength.

40.2.8 | ἐν γνώσει δὲ ταύτην γενομένην καὶ φυγοῦσαν τὸ βάπτισμα τῆς ἐκκλησίας καὶ τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ Σαβαώθ τοῦ τὸν νόμον δεδωκότος ἀνιέναι καθ' ἕκαστον οὐρανόν οὕτως ὑπερβαίνειν πρὸς τὴν ἀνωτέραν Μητέρα καὶ Πατέρα τῶν ὅλων, ὅθεν δὴ κατήλθεν εἰς τόνδε τὸν κόσμον.

40.2.8 | Knowing this, and fleeing the baptism of the church and the name of Sabaoth, who gave the law to forgive each heaven and give an answer to each power, and so to go beyond to the higher Mother and Father of all, from whom indeed he came down into this world.

40.2.9 | ἤδη δὲ εἶπον ὡς ἀναθεματίζουσι τὸ βάπτισμα, ὡς »μυῖαι θανατοῦσαι σαπριοῦσαι σκευασίαν ἐλαίου ἡδύσματος«, ὡς ἐπὶ τούτων καὶ τῶν ὁμοίων αὐτοῖς ἡ παραβολὴ τῷ Ἐκκλησιαστῇ εἴρηται. μυῖαι γάρ εἰσιν ὡς ἀληθῶς θανατοῦσαι καὶ θάνατον ἐμποιοῦσαι καὶ σαπρίζουσαι τὸ

40.2.9 | I already said that they curse the baptism, calling it “flies that kill and rot the mixture of sweet-smelling oil,” and that the parable about these and others like them is told to the Preacher. For they are truly flies that kill and bring death and rot the fragrant oil of the sweet smell, the holy μυρεψικὸν ἔλαιον τοῦ ἡδύσματος, τὰ ἅγια τοῦ θεοῦ μυστήρια τὰ ἐν τῷ λουτρῷ ἡμῶν εἰς ἄφεσιν ἁμαρτιῶν κεχαρισμένα.

mysteries of God in the bath that have been given to us for the forgiveness of sins.

Section 3

40.3.1 | 3. Θαυμάσειε δ' ἄν τις εὐρών καὶ παρὰ τοῖς φυσιολόγοις τινὰ ὠφελείας ἔμπλεα, ἀπεικασθεὶς τῇ τῆς μελίττης συνέσει, τῆς ἐφ' ἅπαντα. μὲν τὰ βλαστήματα ἐφιζανούσης, τὰ χρήσιμα δὲ ἐαυτῇ ἐπισυναγούσης ὁ γὰρ συνετὸς ἄνθρωπος οὐδαμόθεν ζημιοῦται,

40.3.1 | Someone would wonder, finding even from naturalists some useful things, compared to the understanding of the bee, which is over everything. For it gathers useful plants while the plants grow, since a wise person is harmed nowhere.

40.3.2 | ἀλλ' ἢ πανταχόθεν κερδαίνει, ἀσύνετος δὲ ζημιωθήσεται, ὥς καὶ ὁ ἅγιος προφήτης λέγει »τίς συνετὸς καὶ συνήσει ταῦτα; καὶ ὃ λόγος κυρίου ἐστί, καὶ γινώσκεται αὐτά, ὅτι εὐθεῖαι αἱ ὁδοὶ κυρίου, ἀσεβεῖς δὲ ἀσθενήσουσιν ἐν αὐταῖς;«

40.3.2 | But he gains everywhere, while the foolish one will be harmed, as the holy prophet says, "Who is wise and understands these things? And to whom does the word of the Lord belong, and he will know them, that the ways of the Lord are straight, but the wicked will weaken in them?"

40.3.3 | εὐρομεν γὰρ καὶ παρὰ τοῖς καλουμένοις φυσιολόγοις, μᾶλλον δὲ ἡμεῖς αὐτοὶ ὁρῶμεν, ὥς τὸ τῶν κανθάρων γένος τὸ παρὰ τισὶ βυλάρων καλούμενον, συνήθειαν ἔχει ἐν τῇ δυσωδίᾳ καὶ κόπρῳ ἀνακυλίεσθαι· καὶ αὕτη αὐτοῖς τροφή τε καὶ ἐργασία, ἄλλοις δὲ τὴν αὐτὴν τούτων βορβορώδη τροφήν εἰς μὲν ἐπάχθειαν καὶ δυσοδμίαν*.

40.3.3 | For we have found even among those called naturalists, but especially we ourselves see, that the kind of flies called by some "carrion flies" have the habit of rolling in stench and dung; and this is food and work for them, but for others the same muddy food causes disgust and bad smell.

40.3.4 | καὶ μελίσσαις μὲν αὕτη ἡ κόπρος καὶ δυσωδία θάνατος, βυλάρους δὲ ἐστὶν ἐργασία κοὶ τροφή καὶ πραγματεία. τοῖς δὲ μελίσσαις τούναντίον ἡ εὐοδμία καὶ τὰ ἄνθη καὶ τὰ μύρα εἰς ἀναψυχὴν, κτῆσιν τε

40.3.4 | And for bees, this dung and stench means death, but for the flies it is work and food and business. But for the bees, on the other hand, the sweet smell and the flowers and the perfumes bring refreshment, and καὶ ἔδωδὴν, εἰς ἐργασίαν τε καὶ πραγματείαν, τοῖς δὲ κανθάρους τοῖς προειρημένοις εἴτ' οὖν βυλάροις ἐναντία τὰ τοιαῦτα.

also property and food, and work and business; but for the flies, or the flies mentioned before, these things are the opposite.

40.3.5 | ὁ γὰρ βουλόμενος τούτους δοκιμάσαι, ὥς φασιν οἱ φυσιολόγοι. ἀπὸ μύρου (φημὶ δὲ ὀποβαλσάμου ἢ νάρδου) λαβὼν καὶ προσενέγκας τοῖς κανθάρους θάνατον αὐτοῖς ἐμποιεῖ· εὐθὺς γὰρ τελευτῶσι, μὴ φέροντες τὴν εὐωδίαν.

40.3.5 | For the one wishing to test these things, as the naturalists say: taking some perfume (I say either opobalsamum or nard) and offering it to the flies, he causes death to them; for they die immediately, not bearing the sweet smell.

40.3.6 | οὕτω καὶ οὗτοι τῆς μὲν λαγνείας καὶ πορνείας καὶ κακίας ὀρεγόμενοι εἰς τὰ πονηρὰ ἔχουσι τὴν ἑαυτῶν ἐλπίδα, πλησιάσαντες δὲ τῷ ἁγίῳ λουτρῷ καὶ τῇ εὐοσμίᾳ ἀποθνήσκουσιν, εἰς τὸν θεὸν βλασφημοῦντες καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ κυριότητα ἀθετοῦντες.

40.3.6 | In the same way, these people, wanting lust, sexual sin, and evil, hold on to their own hope; but when they come near the holy bath and the sweet smell, they die, blaspheming god and denying his power.

Section 4

40.4.1 | 4. Ἐκ μιᾶς δὲ ἢ δύο μαρτυριῶν αὐτοὺς ἀνατρέψομεν. εἰ γὰρ καὶ ἀρχαὶ καὶ ἐξουσίαι εἰσὶ καλούμεναι, οὐκ ἐκτὸς θεοῦ αὐταὶ γεγόνασιν, μάλιστα ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς.

40.4.1 | From one or two testimonies we will overturn them. For even if there are beginnings and powers called, they did not come from outside god, but especially among the heavens.

40.4.2 | οἶδεν γὰρ ἡ γραφὴ λέγειν ἀγγέλους καὶ ἀρχαγγέλους, οὐκ εἰς ἐναντιότητα τεταγμένους, ἀλλὰ »λειτουργικὰ πνεύματα εἰς διακονίαν ἀποστελλόμενα διὰ τοὺς μέλλοντας κληρονομεῖν σωτηρίαν«.

40.4.2 | For the scripture knows to say angels and archangels, not set against each other, but "ministering spirits sent out for service to those about to inherit salvation."

40.4.3 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς καθ' ἐκάστην βασιλείαν πολλαὶ ἀρχαί, ἀλλὰ ὑπὸ ἓνα βασιλέα. »αἱ γὰρ οὗσαι ἐξουσίαι ἐκ

40.4.3 | For even on earth, in each kingdom, there are many rulers, but under one king.
"For the powers that exist are appointed by θεοῦ τεταγμένοι εἰσὶν», ὡς λέγει ὁ ἀπόστολος· »ὥστε οὖν ὁ ἀνθιστάμενος τῇ ἐξουσίᾳ τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ διαταγῇ ἀνθέστηκεν.

god,” as the apostle says; “so then the one who opposes the power set by god has opposed it.”

40.4.4 | οἱ γὰρ ἄρχοντες οὐκ εἰσὶ κατὰ τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ, ἀλλὰ ὑπὲρ τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ, καὶ οὐκ εἰσὶ κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας, ἀλλὰ ὑπὲρ τῆς ἀληθείας. θέλεις δέ, φησί, τὴν ἐξουσίαν μὴ φοβεῖσθαι; τὸ καλὸν ποιεῖ καὶ ἔξεις ἔπαινον ἐξ αὐτῆς. οὐ γὰρ εἰκὴ τὴν μάχαιραν φορεῖ· διάκονος γὰρ ἐστὶν εἰς αὐτὸ τοῦτο ἐκ θεοῦ τεταγμένος τῷ τὸ κακὸν πράττοντι.

40.4.4 | For the rulers are not against what is good, but for what is good, and they are not against the truth, but for the truth. You want, he says, not to fear the authority? Do what is good and you will have praise from it. For it does not carry the sword for nothing; it is a servant for this very purpose, appointed by god against the one who does wrong.

40.4.5 | καὶ ὁρᾷς ὡς ἡ ἐξουσία αὕτη ἡ κοσμικὴ ἐκ θεοῦ τέτακται, καὶ μαχαίρας ἔλαβε τὴν ἐξουσίαν· οὐκ ἀλλαχόθεν δέ ποθεν, ἀλλὰ ἐκ θεοῦ εἰς ἐκδίκησιν. καὶ οὐ δυνάμεθα λέγειν διὰ τὸ εἶναι ἀρχὰς καὶ ἐξουσίας ἐν κόσμῳ τὸν βασιλέα τούτων μὴ εἶναι βασιλέα, ἀλλὰ εἶναι > τὰς ἀρχὰς καὶ τὰς ἐξουσίας, εἶναι δὲ καὶ τὸν τούτων βασιλέα.

40.4.5 | And you see how this worldly authority is appointed by god, and it received the power of the sword; not from somewhere else, but from god for punishment. And we cannot say, because there are rulers and authorities in the world, that the king of these is not a king, but that the rulers and authorities exist, and that he is also their king.

40.4.6 | So then, on earth we see that the rulers are not against the king, but are under him to manage the whole kingdom and keep the land in order, where there are murders and fights, ignorance and teachings, laws and lawlessness. And for this reason there are authorities, so that everything may be well arranged and managed by god’s order in the whole world.

40.4.7 | οὕτω καὶ ἐν οὐρανῷ, μάλιστα δὲ ἐξαίρετως ἐκεῖ, ἔνθα οὐ φθόνος οὐ παρανομία οὐ παρανομία οὐκ ἐναντιότης

40.4.7 | Just so it is in heaven, especially there, where there is no envy, no lawlessness, no opposition, no rebellion, no

οὐ στάσις οὐχ ὄρκος οὐχ ἀρπαγὴ | οὐδέ τι ἕτερον τῶν τοιούτων, ἐξουσίαι τεταγμέναι εἰσὶ δι' ἄλλην πραγματείαν.

oath, no theft, or anything else like that; the authorities are set for a different purpose.

40.4.8 | ποῖαν δέ φημι, ἀλλ' ἡ διὰ τὸν ῥυθμὸν τοῦ ὕμνου, διὰ τὴν ἄνω ἀκήρατον δοξολογίαν, δι' ἣν ἠθέλησεν ὁ ἄφθονος ἡμῶν θεὸς καὶ βασιλεὺς χαρίσασθαι ἐκάστῳ τῶν ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γεγεννημένων δόξαν προσήκουσαν, ἵνα τῆς αὐτοῦ βασιλείας τὸ φαιδρὸν καὶ ἀκατάληπτον καὶ ἔκπληκτον αἰεὶ δοξάζεται. σαφῶς τοίνυν ἐκεῖνοι πεπλάνηνται, τὴν χάριν τοῦ θεοῦ ἀγνοήσαντες.

40.4.8 | What kind do i say? It is for the rhythm of the hymn, for the pure praise above, through which our generous god and king wanted to give to each of those made by him the glory that belongs to them, so that the bright, unfathomable, and amazing kingdom of his is always praised. Clearly then, those people are mistaken, having ignored the grace of god.

Section 5

40.5.1 | 5. Φασὶ δὲ οὗτοι, ὥς καὶ ἄνω μοι προδεδήλωται, τὸν διάβολον εἶναι υἱὸν τῆς ἐβδόμης ἐξουσίας τουτέστι τοῦ Σαβαώθ. εἶναι δὲ τὸν Σαβαώθ θεὸν τῶν Ἰουδαίων, τὸν δὲ διάβολον πονηρὸν αὐτοῦ υἱόν, ὄντα δὲ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς ἐναντιοῦσθαι τῷ ἰδίῳ πατρὶ.

40.5.1 | They say, as has been shown to me above, that the devil is the son of the seventh authority, that is, of Sabaoth. And Sabaoth is the god of the Jews, but the devil is his evil son, who on earth opposes his own father.

40.5.2 | καὶ τὸν αὐτοῦ πατέρα μήτε τοιοῦτον εἶναι μήτε πάλιν εἶναι τὸν ἀκατάληπτον θεόν, ὃν Πατέρα φασίν, ἀλλὰ ἀριστερεᾶς εἶναι ἐξουσίας.

40.5.2 | And they say that his father is neither such nor again the unfathomable god, whom they call Father, but that he is of the left powers.

40.5.3 | ἕτερον δὲ πάλιν μῦθον λέλουσιν οἱ τοιοῦτοι, ὅτι, φησίν, ὁ διάβολος ἐλθὼν πρὸς τὴν Εὐάν συνήφθη αὐτῇ ὡς ἀνὴρ γυναικὶ καὶ ἐγέννησεν ἐξ αὐτῆς τὸν τε Κάϊν καὶ τὸν Ἀβελ.

40.5.3 | But again, such people tell another story, saying that the devil came to Eve, joined with her like a man to a woman, and gave birth from her to both Cain and Abel.

40.5.4 | διὸ ἐπανεῖστη ὁ εἷς τῶ ἐνί, διὰ ζῆλον ὃν εἶχον πρὸς ἀλλήλους, οὐχὶ διὰ τό πως

40.5.4 | Therefore one rose up against the other, because of jealousy they had toward εὐηρεστηκέναι τὸν Ἄβελ θεῶ, ὡς ἔχει ἡ ἀλήθεια, ἀλλὰ ἕτερον πλαζόμενοι λόγον λέγουσιν· ἐπειδὴ, φησὶν, ἐρῶντες ἦσαν ἀμφοτέροι τῆς ἀδελφῆς τῆς ἰδίας αὐτῶν, τούτου χάριν ἐπανεστὴ ὁ Κάϊν τῷ Ἄβελ καὶ ἀπέκτεινεν αὐτόν. φύσει γὰρ αὐτούς φασιν ἐκ τοῦ σπέρματος τοῦ διαβόλου ὡς προεῖπον γεγενῆσθαι.

each other, not because Abel pleased god in any way, as the truth is, but they tell another story, wandering from the truth: since, they say, both were in love with their own sister, for this reason Cain rose up against Abel and killed him. For by nature they say they were born from the seed of the devil, as I said before.

40.5.5 | φέρουσι δὲ μαρτυρίας, ὅταν θελήσωσιν ἀπατᾶν τινας, ἀπὸ τῶν θείων βιβλίων, ὡς καὶ ἐν ἄλλῃ μοι αἰρέσει τοῦτο εἴρηται, <ὅτι> ὁ σωτὴρ πρὸς τοὺς Ἰουδαίους ἔλεγεν »ὁμεῖς ἐκ τοῦ Σατανᾶ ἐστε« καὶ »ὅταν λαλῇ τὸ ψεῦδος, ἐκ τῶν ἰδίων λαλεῖ, ὅτι καὶ ὁ πατὴρ αὐτοῦ ψεύστης ἦν«·

40.5.5 | They bring testimonies, when they want to deceive some, from the divine books, as it is also said in another heresy to me, that the savior said to the Jews, “you are from Satan” and “when he speaks lies, he speaks from himself, because his father was a liar.”

40.5.6 | ἵνα δῆθεν εἴπωσι <ἐκ> τοῦ διαβόλου εἶναι τὸν Κάϊν, ἐπειδὴ εἴρηκεν ὅτι ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς ἀνθρωποκτόνος ἦν καὶ *,

40.5.6 | So that they might say Cain is from the devil, since it was said that he was a murderer from the beginning, and *

40.5.7 | ἵνα δείξῃ πατέρα μὲν αὐτοῦ εἶναι τὸν διάβολον, τοῦ δὲ διαβόλου εἶναι πατέρα τὸν ἄρχοντα τὸν ψεύστην, ὃν βλασφημοῦντες κατὰ τῆς ἑαυτῶν κεφαλῆς φασιν αὐτὸν εἶναι τὸν Σαβαώθ οἱ ἀνόητοι,

40.5.7 | to show that his father is the devil, and that the devil’s father is the ruler, the liar, whom, blaspheming against their own head, the foolish say is Sabaoth.

40.5.8 | νομίζοντες ὄνομα εἶναι τοῦ] θεοῦ τινὸς τὸ Σαβαώθ, ὡς ἤδη καὶ ἐν ταῖς πρότερον αἰρέσεσι διὰ πλάτους ἡμῶν παπραγμάτευται περὶ ἐρμηνείας τοῦ Σαβαώθ καὶ ἄλλων ὀνομασιῶν, τοῦ τε Ἑλὶ καὶ τοῦ Ἑλωείμ, τοῦ τε Ἑλ καὶ τοῦ Σαδδαῖ τοῦ τε Ἑλλιών τοῦ τε Παββωνὶ τοῦ τε Ἰὰ τοῦ τε Ἀδωναῖ τοῦ τε Ἰαβέ,

40.5.8 | thinking that Sabaoth is the name of some god, as already in earlier heresies they have tricked us with false explanations about the meaning of Sabaoth and other names, both Eli and Elohim, El and Shaddai, also Elion, Rabboni, Ia, Adonai, and Iave.

40.5.9 | ὥς ὀνομασίαι εἰσὶ δοξολογιῶν ἅπασαι ἐρμηνευόμεναι καὶ οὐχ ὀνόματά ἐστὶ θετὰ ὥς εἶπεν τῇ θεότητι, ἅτινα καὶ ἐνταυθοῖ σπουδασθήσονται ἐρμηνευθέντα κεῖσθαι·

40.5.9 | because all these names are titles of praise, explained as such, and are not names given to the godhead, so to speak; these will also be carefully studied here, once their meanings are explained.

40.5.10 | τὸ Ἦλ θεός, τὸ Ἐλωεὶμ θεὸς ἀεὶ, τὸ Ἠλὶ θεός μου, τὸ Σαδδαῖ ὁ ἰκανός, τὸ Ῥαββωνὶ ὁ κύριος, τὸ Ἰὰ κύριος, τὸ Ἀδωναῖ ὁ ὢν κύριος, τὸ Ἰαβὲ ὃς ἦν καὶ ἔστιν ὁ ἀεὶ ὢν, ὥς ἐρμηνεύει τῷ Μωυσῇ »ὁ ὢν ἀπέσταλκέ με, ἐρεῖς πρὸς αὐτούς«, καὶ τὸ Ἑλλίων ὑψιστος, καὶ τὸ Σαβαὼρ δυνάμεων ἐρμηνεύεται. κύριος οὖν Σαβαὼθ κύριος τῶν δυνάμεων.

40.5.10 | 'El' means god, 'Elohim' means god always, 'Eli' means my god, 'Shaddai' means the sufficient one, 'Rabboni' means the lord, 'Ia' means lord, 'Adonai' means the existing lord, 'Iave' means the one who was and is, the always existing one, as Moses explains, 'the one who is sent me, you will say to them'; and 'Elion' means the highest, and 'Sabaoth' means of powers. So, Lord Sabaoth means Lord of the powers.

40.5.11 | πάντα γὰρ > πρόσκειται ὅπου τοῦ Σαβαὼθ ὄνομα λέγει ἡ γραφή· ἡ γὰρ > οὐ μόνον ἐκφωνεῖ λέγουσα· εἶπέ μοι Σαβαὼθ ἡ ἐλάλησε Σαβαὼθ«, ἀλλὰ εὐθὺς λέγει κύριος Σαβαὼθ. οὕτως γὰρ ἡ Ἑβραϊς φάσκει »Ἀδωναῖ Σαβαὼθ«, ὅπερ ἐρμηνεύεται κύριος τῶν δυνάμεων.

40.5.11 | For everywhere the name Sabaoth is said in scripture, it is always added with 'Lord.' For it does not just say, 'Sabaoth said to me' or 'Sabaoth spoke,' but it immediately says, 'Lord Sabaoth.' This is how the Hebrews say, 'Adonai Sabaoth,' which means 'Lord of the powers.'

Section 6

40.6.1 | 6. Καὶ μάτην παρ' αὐτοῖς τε καὶ τοῖς ὁμοίοις κατὰ τὴν τύφλωσιν τῆς διανοίας αὐτῶν τὰ καλῶς εἰρημένα συκοφαντεῖται.

40.6.1 | 6. And in vain among them and those like them, because of the blindness of their mind, what has been well said is slandered.

40.6.2 | οὔτε γὰρ περὶ διαβόλου τῷ σωτῆρι ἐν τῷ πρὸς Ἰουδαίους λόγῳ εἴρηται, ὥς παντὶ τῷ σαφὲς εὐρίσκεται τῷ τῇ ἀληθείᾳ ἀκολουθοῦντι, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸν Ἰούδαν αὐτοῖς

40.6.2 | For neither about the devil is said to the savior in the speech to the Jews, as everything clear is found by the one following the truth, but because of Judas he ἔλεγε τὸ ῥῆμα.

spoke the word to them.

40.6.3 | οὐκ ἦσαν γὰρ τέκνα τοῦ Ἀβραάμ, τοῦ αὐτὸν ὑποδεξαμένου ὑπὸ τὴν δρυὶν τῆς Μαρμρῆ πρὸ τῆς ἐνσάρκου αὐτοῦ παρουσίας ἀλλὰ υἱοὺς ἑαυτοῦς κατεδίκασαν γενέσθαι τῆς τοῦ Ἰούδα προδοσίας, τοῦ ὑπὸ τοῦ κυρίου σατανᾶ καὶ διαβόλου ὠνομασμένου, ὡς λέγει «οὐχὶ δώδεκα ὑμᾶς ἐξελεξάμην, καὶ εἷς ἐξ ὑμῶν ἐστὶν διάβολος;»

40.6.3 | For they were not children of Abraham, who welcomed him under the oak of Mamre before his coming in the flesh, but they condemned themselves to become sons of Judas' betrayal, who was called by the lord Satan and devil, as he says, "Did I not choose twelve of you, and one of you is a devil?"

40.6.4 | καὶ τούτου ἕνεκα τὰ τῆς αὐτοῦ κακοτροπίας ὁ κύριος ἐρμηνεύων ἔλεγεν ὅτι «ὅταν λαλῇ τὸ ψεῦδος, ἐκ τῶν ιδίων λαλεῖ, ὡς καὶ ἀλλαχοῦ τὸ εὐαγγέλιον λέγει ὅτι «κλέπτης ἦν καὶ τὸ γλωσσόκομον αὐτὸς ἐβάσταζεν».

40.6.4 | And because of this, the lord, explaining his bad behavior, said that "when he speaks a lie, he speaks from his own," as the gospel also says elsewhere, "he was a thief and he himself carried the money bag."

40.6.5 | οὗτος οὖν ὁ διάβολος κληθεὶς Ἰούδας πατέρα ἔσχε τὸν Κάϊν, διὰ ψεύδους ἀπατήσαντα τὸν ἀδελφὸν αὐτοῦ Ἀβελ καὶ ἀποκτείναντα, ὡς καὶ ἐρωτώμενος ὑπὸ τοῦ κυρίου «ποῦ Ἀβελ ὁ ἀδελφός σου;» ψευδόμενος ἔλεγεν «οὐκ οἶδα».

40.6.5 | This devil, called Judas, had Cain as his father, who through lies deceived his brother Abel and killed him, as when asked by the lord, "Where is your brother Abel?" he lied and said, "I do not know."

40.6.6 | εἰκότως οὖν καὶ οὗτος τὸν φύσει διόβολον μιμησάμενος τοῖς τρόποις υἱὸς αὐτοῦ κατ' ἀξίαν ἀνηγόρευται ὑπὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος. «ὥ γὰρ ἡττηταί τις, τούτῳ καὶ δεδούλωται,» καὶ ἡμῶν δὲ ἕκαστος ὅτι οὖν ἂν ἐπιτελέσῃ, τοὺς τοῦτο προτετελεκότας πατέρας ἔξει μιμησάμενος.

40.6.6 | So it is fitting that this one, imitating the devil by nature, is rightly called his son by the savior. "For whoever is defeated is also enslaved by that one," and each of us, whatever we do, will have fathers who did this before us, if we imitate them.

40.6.7 | σαφῶς τοίνυν ἐφράσθη ἡ παρὰ τοῦ κυρίου λεχθεῖσα ῥῆσις ὅτι «ὕμεῖς τέκνα

40.6.7 | Clearly then, the saying spoken by the lord was shown, that "you are children ἐστὲ τοῦ διαβόλου» καὶ πάλιν »ὅταν λαλῇ τὸ ψεῦδος, ἐκ τῶν ἰδίων λαλεῖ, ὅτι ὁ πατὴρ αὐτοῦ ψεύστης ἐστίν», ἵνα εἴπῃ Ἰούδαν καὶ Κάιν· of the devil,” and again, “when he speaks a lie, he speaks from his own, because his father is a liar,” so that he might speak of Judas and Cain;

40.6.8 | εἴτα καὶ γὰρ ὁ πατὴρ αὐτοῦ ψεύστης ἦν«, ἵνα εἴπῃ αὐτὸν τὸν διάβολον, διὰ τὰ ὁμοίως πεπραγματοτευμένα ἐκάστῳ τούτων. ἐμπνεύσας γὰρ ἐν στόματι τοῦ ὄφρεως ψευδῇ πάντα λελάληκεν ὁ διάβολος καὶ οὕτως τότε ἐξηπάτησε τὴν Εὐάν.

40.6.8 | Then also, “his father was a liar,” so that he might call him the devil, because each of these did similar things. For the devil, having breathed lies through the mouth of the serpent, spoke all falsehoods and so deceived Eve at that time.

40.6.9 | καὶ ἀνήρηται παρὰ τούτοις ἡ πεπλανημένη μυθοποιία, κἂν λέγῃ ἡ γραφή »ὥς ὁ Κάιν ἀπέκτεινε τὸν ἀδελφὸν αὐτοῦ, ὅτι ἐκ τοῦ διαβόλου ἦν«. ἐδείχθη γὰρ παντάπασιν, > οὐχὶ διὰ τὸ τὴν Εὐάν, ἐκ τοῦ σπέρματος τοῦ διαβόλου συλλαβοῦσαν ὥς κατὰ συζυγίαν γάμου καὶ συνάφειαν σωμάτων, γεγεννηκέναι τὸν Κάιν καὶ τὸν Ἄβελ, ὥς τούτοις εδοξεν, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸ ὁμότροπον καὶ μίμημα τῆς τοῦ διαβόλου κακοτροπίας υἱὸς αὐτοῦ ἦκουσε.

40.6.9 | And the mistaken story is taken away by these things, even if the scripture says “just as Cain killed his brother, because he was from the devil.” For it was clearly shown, not because Cain was born from the devil’s seed through Eve, as if by marriage and joining of bodies, as some thought, but because he was called his son due to the similar and copied evil nature of the devil.

40.7.1 | 7. Πάλιν δὲ λέγουσιν οἱ αὐτοὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ συναφθέντα τῇ Εὐᾷ τῇ ἰδίᾳ γαμετῇ γεγεννηκέναι τὸν Σήθ, φύσει ἴδιον αὐτοῦ υἱόν. καὶ τότε φασὶ τὴν ἄνω δύναντα σὺν τοῖς ὑπουργοῖς τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ θεοῦ ἀγγέλοις καταβεβηκέναι καὶ ἡρπακέναι αὐτὸν τὸν Σήθ, 40.7.1 | 7. Again, those same people say that Adam, joined with Eve his own wife, had Seth, his own son by nature. And then they say that the power above, along with the angels who serve the good god, came down and took Seth away.

40.7.2 | ὃν καὶ Ἀλλογενῇ καλοῦσι, καὶ ἀνενηνοχέναι ἄνω που καὶ ἀναθρέψαι χρόνῳ ἱκανῶ, ἵνα μὴ ἀποκτανθῇ, καὶ μετὰ χρόνον πολὺν πάλιν κατενηνοχέναι εἰς

40.7.2 | They also call him Allogenes, and say he was taken up above and kept safe for a long time, so he would not be killed, and after a long time was brought back τόνδε τὸν κόσμον καὶ πνευματικὸν ἀπεργάσασθαι αὐτὸν καὶ † σωματικόν, εἰς τὸ μὴ κατισχύειν τὸν τε > κατ' αὐτοῦ καὶ τὰς ἄλλας ἐξουσίας καὶ ἀρχὰς τοῦ κοσμοποιοῦ θεοῦ.

down to this world to make it spiritual and also physical, so that neither he nor the other powers and rulers of the world-making god would be strong against him.

40.7.3 | μηκέτι δὲ αὐτόν φασι λελατρευκέναι τῷ τε ποιητῇ καὶ δημιουργῷ, ἐπεγνωκέναι δὲ τὴν ἀκατονόμαστον δύναμιν καὶ τὸν ἄνω ἀγαθὸν θεόν, τούτῳ > λελατρευκέναι καὶ κατὰ τοῦ ποιητοῦ τοῦ κόσμου καὶ ἀρχῶν καὶ ἐξουσιῶν πολλὰ ἀποκεκαλυφέναι. † ὧ δὲ καὶ βίβλους τινὰς ἐξετύπωσαν εἰς ὄνομα αὐτοῦ τοῦ Σῆθ γεγραμμένας, παρ' παρ' αἰτοῦ αὐτὰς δεδόσθαι λέγοντες, ἄλλας δὲ εἰς ὄνομα αὐτοῦ καὶ τῶν ἐπτὰ υἱῶν αὐτοῦ.

40.7.3 | They say he no longer worshipped the maker and creator, but knew the unnamed power and the good god above, and worshipped him instead, and revealed many things against the maker of the world and the rulers and powers. So they also printed some books in his name, written for Seth, saying they were given by him, and others in the name of him and his seven sons.

40.7.5 | φασὶ γὰρ αὐτὸν ἐπτὰ γεγεννηκέναι > Ἀλλογενεῖς καλουμένους, ὡς καὶ ἐν ἄλλαις αἰρέσεσιν εἰρήκαμεν, Γνωστικῶν φημι καὶ Σηθιανῶν.

40.7.5 | For they say he had seven sons called Allogenes, as we said in other sects, which I call Gnostics and Sethians.

40.7.6 | οὗτοι δὲ καὶ ἄλλους προφήτας φασὶν εἶναι, Μαρτιάδην τινὰ καὶ Μαρσιανόν, ἀρπαγέντας εἰς τοὺς οὐρανοὺς καὶ διὰ ἡμερῶν τριῶν καταβεβηκότας.

40.7.6 | They say these are also other prophets, a certain Martiadis and Marsianos, who were taken up into the heavens and came down after three days.

40.7.7 | καὶ πολλὰ ἐστὶν ἃ μυθοποιοῦντες πλαστῶς ἐκτυποῦσι, βλάσηφημά τε πλάττοντες κατὰ τοῦ ὄντος θεοῦ παντοκράτορος, πατρὸς τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ, ὡς ἄρχοντας ὄντος καὶ πονηρίας εὐρετοῦ, ὡς ἀπ' αὐτῶν τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς λόγων ἀλίσκονται.

40.7.7 | And there are many things they falsely make up and print, inventing blasphemies against the true almighty god, the father of our lord Jesus Christ, saying he is a ruler and the source of evil, as if they are lost from the very words they have.

40.7.8 | Εἰ γὰρ πονηρῶν ἐστὶν εὐρετὴς καὶ κακοποιός, πῶς εὐθὺς οὐκ ἀγαθὸς εὐρεθῆι, ὥς καὶ ἐν ταῖς ἄλλαις αἰρέσεσιν εἶπαμεν, κατὰ πορνείας καὶ μοιχείας καὶ ἀρπαγῆς καὶ πλεονεξίας νομοθετήσας; θεὸν γὰρ αὐτὸν τῶν Ἰουδαίων καὶ αὐτοὶ λέγουσιν· τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις δὲ τὸν νόμον ἔδωκεν, ἐν ᾧ πάντα ταῦτα ἀπηγόρευσεν ὡς εὐρετὴν αὐτὸν λέγουσιν εἶναι. πῶς δὲ πατὴρ τοῦ Σατανᾶ κληθεῖται ὁ κατ' αὐτοῦ τὰ τοσαῦτα ὑποδείξας;

40.7.8 | For if he is the source of evil and wrongdoing, how would he not be found good right away, as we said also in other groups, making laws about prostitution and adultery and robbery and greed? For they themselves say he is the god of the Jews; and he gave the law to the Jews, in which he forbade all these things, though they say he is the source of them. But how could he be called the father of Satan, since he showed so many things against him?

40.7.9 | And if he is different from the god above, as they say, and is not the almighty god, the king and lord of us, who is clearly god and lord in the law and the prophets and the gospels and the apostles, the father of our lord Jesus Christ, how is it that the lord himself clearly teaches us in the gospel, saying, "I thank you, father, lord of heaven and earth," to show that his father is the god of all?

40.8.1 | 8. Καὶ περὶ νεκρῶν ἀναστάσεως ὑποφαίνων ἔσεσθαι πάλιν φησὶν ὁ ἐξ αὐτοῦ υἱός «λύσατε τὸν ναὸν τοῦτον, καὶ ἐν τρισὶν ἡμέραις ἐγερῶ αὐτόν»· ναὸν δὲ ἔλεγε τὸ ἴδιον σῶμα, λυόμενον μὲν διὰ χειρῶν ἀνθρώπων τουτέστιν ἀποκτείνομενον.

40.8.1 | 8. And about the resurrection of the dead, the son from him says there will be again, "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up"; but by temple he meant his own body, which was being destroyed by the hands of men, that is, being killed.

40.8.2 | τὸ δὲ μὴ δὲ σῶμα, ἀλλὰ δοκῇσει φαινόμενον, ὥς οὗτοι πάλιν λέγουσιν, οὐκ ἂν ἡδύνατο εἰς χεῖρας ἔρχεσθαι ἐγείρεσθαι

40.8.2 | But that it is not the body, but seems to appear, as they say again, it could not have come into hands and been raised τε τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ, καθὼς ἐπηγγείλατο.

on the third day, as he promised.

40.8.3 | δέδεικται τοίνυν σαφῶς διὰ τῆς τοιαύτης οἰκονομίας ἀναντίρρητος ἡ τῶν νεκρῶν ἀνάστασις καὶ <ᾧ> οὔτε χρεία ἐστὶν ἀπολογίας τῇ ἵνα λαλήσῃ πρὸς ἐκάστην ἐξουσίαν πλάττονται γὰρ καὶ τοῦτο, ὡς εἴρηται), ἀλλὰ τῆς τοῦ κυρίου εὐεργεσίας τῆς διὰ τῶν ἔργων καὶ τῆς πίστεως συνισταμένης, ὡς λέγει ὁ ἀγιώτατος Παῦλος,

40.8.3 | It is clearly shown then through such arrangement that the resurrection of the dead is undeniable, and that no defense is needed for whoever speaks to each authority (for they also invent this, as has been said), but it depends on the lord's kindness, shown through works and faith, as the most holy Paul says.

40.8.4 | γράφων τῷ Τιμοθέῳ διὰ τούτων τῶν λόγων »ὅπως γινώσκεις πῶς δεῖ ἐν κυρίου περιπατεῖν, ἣτις ἐστὶν ἐκκλησία θεοῦ ζώντος, στῦλος καὶ ἐδραίωμα τῆς ἀληθείας«, »ἦν οἱ πολλοὶ ἀφέντες εἰς μύθους καὶ εἰς μωρολογίας ἐξετράπησαν«, »μὴ νοοῦντες μήτε ἃ λέγουσι μήτε περὶ τίνων διαβεβαιοῦνται« ὧν ἐστὶ Φύγελος καὶ Ἑρμογένης.

40.8.4 | Writing to Timothy through these words, "so that you may know how one must walk in the lord, which is the church of the living god, a pillar and foundation of the truth," "which many, having left, turned to myths and foolish talk," "not understanding neither what they say nor about what they are so sure," "of whom are Phygelos and Hermogenes."

40.8.5 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῇ δευτέρᾳ ἐπιστολῇ Ὑμέναιον καὶ Φιλητὸν περὶ τὴν ἀλήθειαν ἡστοχηκέναι λέγει, οἵτινες καὶ αὐτοὶ ταύτῃ τῇ αἰρέσει ἐξη|κολούθησαν, ἄλλον θεὸν καταγγέλοντες καὶ γενεαλογίας ἀπεράντους, καὶ πλάνην ἐπισπεύροντες τοῖς ἀνθρώποις καὶ λέγοντες μὴ ἐκ θεοῦ γεγενῆσθαι τὸν κόσμον, ἀλλὰ ὑπὸ ἀρχῶν καὶ ἐξουσιῶν, τὴν δὲ ἀνάστασιν ἤδη γεγενῆσθαι διὰ τῶν γεννωμένων τέχνων ὑπὸ ἐκάστου τῶν γεννώντων, τὴν δὲ τῶν νεκρῶν οὐ λέγουσιν ἔσεσθαι.

40.8.5 | But also in the second letter he says that Hymenaeus and Philetus missed the truth, who themselves followed this heresy, proclaiming another god and endless genealogies, and spreading error among people, saying that the world was not made by god, but by rulers and authorities, and that the resurrection has already happened through the arts of each one who gives birth, but they do not say that there will be a resurrection of the dead.

40.8.6 | καὶ ὁρᾶτε, ἀδελφοί, τὸν χαρακτῆρα τῆς ἀληθείας καὶ τὸν ἔλεγχον τούτων

40.8.6 | And you see, brothers, the mark of the truth and the proof of their lawlessness.

παρανομίας.

40.8.7 | Ὑπολαμβάνω δὲ καὶ περὶ τούτων ἱκανῶς εἰρησθαι· ὅθεν ταύτην παραλιπὼν ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς τὴν πορείαν ποιήσομαι, ἐκεῖνο μόνον εἰπὼν, ὥς πάνυ φαίνεται ἔοικυῖα αὕτη διὰ τῆς πολυωνύμου ἀρχοντικῆς ὀνομασίας τῇ πολυπλόκῳ ἔρπετῶν κακοηθείᾳ.

40.8.7 | I think I have said enough about these things; so leaving this behind, I will go on to what follows, only saying this: it clearly seems to be like this because of the many-named noble title and the twisted evil of creeping things.

40.8.8 | τρόπον γάρ τινα ἐκ πολλῶν ἔρπετῶν ἀναμίξ τῆς αὐτῶν πλάνης συνηγμένη ἐστὶν ἡ ἰοβολία, οἷον τὸ θρασὺ ἔχουσα τοῦ δράκοντος, τὸ δολερὸν τοῦ φουσάλου, τὴν ἀνθέλκυσιν τῆς πνοῆς τοῦ βαί[τ]ωνος, τὸ γαῦρον τοῦ ἀκοντίου, τὸ προπετὲς τοῦ ὀστρακίτου.

40.8.8 | For in a way the poison is gathered from many creeping things mixed with their error, like the boldness of the dragon, the trickiness of the blowfish, the sucking in of the breath of the viper, the pride of the javelin, the rashness of the shellfish.

40.8.9 | τούτων δὲ πάντων τὴν κεφαλὴν καταπατήσαντες τῇ τῆς ἀληθείας ὑποθέσει ἐπὶ τὰς λοιπὰς διέλθωμεν, ἐπιπόθητοι, τὴν ἐκάστης πλάνην ἀποκαλύψαι ἐν θεῷ πειρώμενοι.

40.8.9 | Having trampled down the head of all these things under the foundation of truth, let us go on to the rest, eager to try to reveal the error of each one in god.

Book 41

Section 1

41.1.1 | Κέρδων τις τούτους καὶ τὸν Ἡρακλέωνα διαδέχεται ἐκ τῆς αὐτῆς ὡν σχολῆς, ἀπὸ Σίμωνός τε καὶ Σατορνίλου λαβὼν τὰς προφάσεις. οὗτος μετανάστης γίνεται ἀπὸ τῆς Συρίας καὶ ἐπὶ τὴν Ῥώμην ἔλθων λυμεὼν τις πέφηνεν ἑαυτῷ τε καὶ τοῖς αὐτῷ πειθομένοις, ὁ ἐλεεινότατος.

41.1.1 | A certain Kerdon shares these and Heracleon too, being from the same school, having taken the reasons from Simon and Saturnilus. He became a refugee from Syria and, coming to Rome, he appeared as a destroyer to himself and to those who obeyed him, the most miserable one.

41.1.2 | ἔλεινῇ γὰρ ἡ φύσις τῶν ἀνθρώπων, ὅταν καταλείψασα τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ ὁδὸν πλανᾶται, καὶ ἀπόλωλεν ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ κλήσεως ἑαυτὴν ἀφορίσασα.

41.1.2 | For the nature of humans is miserable, when having left the way of god, it wanders, and having cut itself off from the call of god, it is lost.

41.1.3 | συμβέβηκε γὰρ τοῖς τοιούτοις ἡ τοῦ κυνὸς παροιμία, ὃς τῇ σκιᾷ προσέχων οὐ κατεῖχεν ἐν τῷ στόματι *, ἐμβλέπων εἰς ὕδωρ καὶ νομίσας τὴν ἐν τῷ ὕδατι σκιὰν μείζονα εἶναι τῆς ἐν τῷ στόματι αὐτοῦ ἐδωδῆς, ἀνοίξας τὸ στόμα καὶ τὴν οὖσαν ἀπώλεσεν.

41.1.3 | For it happened to such people like the proverb of the dog, who, paying attention to the shadow, held it not in his mouth, looking into the water and thinking the shadow in the water was bigger than the food in his mouth, he opened his mouth and lost what he had.

41.1.4 | οὕτω καὶ οὗτοι τὴν ὁδὸν εὐρόντες καὶ βουλόμενοι σκιᾶς περιγενέσθαι τῆς ἐν τῇ ὑπονοίᾳ αὐτῶν γενομένης τὴν οὖσαν ἐν τῷ στόματι αὐτῶν ὡς εἰπεῖν ἐκ θεοῦ τροφὴν κεχαρισμένην οὐ μόνον ἀπώλεσαν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ὄλεθρον ἑαυτοῖς ἐπεσπάσαντο.

41.1.4 | So also these, having found the way and wanting to get more than the shadow in their thought, the food in their mouth, so to speak, given by god, they not only lost it, but also brought destruction upon themselves.

41.1.5 | Οὗτος τοίνυν ὁ Κέρδων ἐν χρόνοις Ὑγίνου γέγονεν ἐπίσκοπου, τοῦ ἕνατον κλῆρον ἄγοντος ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν περὶ Ἰάκωβον καὶ Πέτρον καὶ Παῦλον ἀποστόλων διαδοχῆς. τὸ δὲ κήρυγμα αὐτοῦ τῆς τῶν προειρημένων αἵρεσιάρχων φλυαρίας μετέχον τὸ αὐτὸ μὲν εἶναι δοκεῖ, παρήλλακται δὲ παρ' αὐτῷ τοῦτον ἔχον τὸν τρόπον·

41.1.5 | This Kerdon then became bishop in the time of Hyginus, holding the ninth rank from the line of apostles about Jacob, Peter, and Paul. And his preaching seemed to share the same nonsense as the heresy leaders mentioned before, but it was changed by him in this way:

41.1.6 | Δύο καὶ οὗτος ἀρχὰς κεκήρυχεν τῷ βίῳ καὶ δύο δῆθεν θεοὺς, ἓνα ἀγαθὸν καὶ [ἓνα] ἄγνωστον τοῖς ἅπασιν, ὃν καὶ πατέρα τοῦ Ἰησοῦ κέκληκεν, καὶ ἓνα τὸν Δημιουργόν, πονηρὸν ὄντα καὶ γνωστόν, λαλήσαντα ἐν τῷ νόμῳ καὶ ἐν] τοῖς προφήταις φανέντα καὶ ὁρατὸν πολλάκις

41.1.6 | This man also preached two beginnings in life and two so-called gods, one good and one unknown to all, whom he called the father of Jesus, and one the Creator, being evil and known, who spoke in the law and in the prophets, appearing and often becoming visible.

γενόμενον.

41.1.7 | μὴ εἶναι δὲ τὸν Χριστὸν γεγεννημένον ἐκ Μαρίας μηδὲ ἐν σαρκὶ πεφηνέναι, ἀλλὰ δοκῇσιν ὄντα καὶ δοκῇσιν πεφηνότα, δοκῇσιν δὲ τὰ ὅλα πεποιηκότα. καὶ αὐτὸς δὲ σαρκὸς ἀνάστασιν ἀπωθεῖται, παλαιὰν δὲ ἀπαγορεύει διαθήκην τὴν τε] διὰ Μωυσέως καὶ τῶν προφητῶν, ὥς ἄλλοτρίαν οὖσαν θεοῦ.

41.1.7 | He said that Christ was not born from Mary nor appeared in the flesh, but seemed to be and seemed to have appeared, and seemed to have made everything. And he himself rejected the resurrection of the flesh, and forbade the old covenant through Moses and the prophets, saying it was foreign to God.

41.1.8 | ἐληλυθέναι δὲ τὸν Χριστὸν ἀπὸ τῶν ἄνωθεν ἐκ τοῦ ἀγνώστου πατρός, εἰς ἀθέτησιν τῆς τοῦ κοσμοποιοῦ καὶ δημιουργοῦ ἐνταῦθα, φησὶν, ἀρχῆς καὶ τυραννίδος, ὥσπερ ἀμέλει καὶ πολλοὶ τῶν αἰρέσεων ἐξεῖπαν.

41.1.8 | He says that Christ came from above, from the unknown father, to reject the ruler and creator of the world here, the beginning and tyrant, just as many heresies have also said carelessly.

41.1.9 | ὀλίγῳ δὲ τῷ χρόνῳ οὗτος ἐν Ῥώμῃ γενόμενος μεταδέδωκεν αὐτοῦ τὸν ἰὸν Μαρκίωνι· διόπερ τοῦτον ὁ Μαρκίων διεδέξατο.

41.1.9 | After a short time, this man, having come to Rome, passed on his poison to Marcion; therefore Marcion accepted him.

Section 2

41.2.1 | 2. Τῆς δὲ αἰρέσεως ὡσαύτως φωρατῆς οὔσης ἐν συντόμῳ περὶ ταύτης ἡμῖν ἔσται ὁ λόγος. ἀρξόμεθα δὲ πάλιν τῆς κατ' αὐτοῦ ἀνατροπῆς ἀπ' αὐτῶν τῶν παρ' αὐτοῦ λεγομένων.

41.2.1 | Since the heresy is also obvious, our talk about it will be short. We will begin again with the overthrow of what is said by those who follow him.

41.2.2 | ὅτι μὲν γὰρ δύο ἀρχὰς ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ εἶναι ἀδύνατον δῆλον. ἢ γὰρ αἱ δύο ἐκ μιᾶς εἰσὶ τινος ἢ ἡ μὲν ἐστὶ δευτέρα ἢ δὲ τῆς δευτέρας αἰτία καὶ ἀρχή. ζητηθήσεται οὖν ἥτοι αἰτία τῶν δύο ἢ ὁποτέρᾳ τούτων ἀρχή

41.2.2 | It is clear that it is impossible for two beginnings to be the same. For either the two come from one source, or one is second and the other is the cause and beginning of the second. So, we must ask whether there is a cause of the two, or ούσα τῆς ἐτέρας * ὡς ἔφην.

whether one of these is the beginning of the other, as I said.

41.2.3 | καὶ οὕτως ἐκ παντὸς τρόπου ἐπὶ τὴν μίαν ἀνακτέον τὴν διάνοιαν, τὴν εὕρισκομένην πρώτην, ἐξ ἧς καὶ ἡ δευτέρα ἦτοι ἀμφοτέραι, καθὼς δέδεικται, ὡς ἔφην].

41.2.3 | And so, in every way, the mind must be returned to the one, the first found, from which the second, or both, come, as has been shown, as I said.

41.2.4 | It is impossible for the two beginnings to be the same, but also not possible for one to be different from the other. For if they are different, there are two, and by the number two they have gone beyond the one number. Since we seek the one and first number, the two are under one number and a higher one, which is the cause of the two.

41.2.5 | οὐ γὰρ αἱ δύο, αἱ μετὰ τὸν ἕνα ἀριθμὸν ἢ τὴν μίαν ἀρχὴν καὶ πρώτην, αἰτίαι δύνανται εἶναι, τοῦ ἐνικοῦ ἀριθμοῦ καὶ ἀνωτάτου ἀεὶ ζητουμένου.

41.2.5 | For the two, which come after the one number or the one and first beginning, cannot be causes of the one number and highest, which is always being sought.

41.2.6 | εἰ γὰρ αἱ δύο εὐρεθήσονται μιᾶς οὔσαι συμφωνίας καὶ συγχαίρουσαι καὶ συμφωνοῦσαι ἀλλήλαις, ἐν τῷ τὴν μὲν μίαν παραμένειν τῆς ἐτέρας εὐδοκούσης καὶ τῆς ἄλλης δὲ χαιρούσης τῇ τῆς ἐτέρας συζυγίᾳ, ἢ στάσις τίς ἐστὶν ἀνὰ μέσον ἀμφοτέρων;

41.2.6 | For if the two are found to be one in agreement and rejoicing and harmonizing with each other, while one wishes to stay with the other and the other rejoices in the company of the first, what is the conflict between them in the middle?

41.2.7 | εἰ δὲ στασιάζουσι κοὶ ἰσχύουσιν ἅμα ἀμφοτέραι πρὸς ἀλλήλας ἐπ' ἴσης, οὐκέτι Χριστὸς ὁ ἐλθὼν διὰ τὴν ἀθέτησιν τῆς μιᾶς δυνήσεται καταλῦσαι τὴν ταύτης τυραννίδα, αὐτῆς ἀντεχούσης καὶ

41.2.7 | But if they fight and both are equally strong against each other, then Christ, who came because of the breaking of the one, will no longer be able to end its rule, since it holds on and is able to fight δυναμένης πρὸς τὴν ἄνω ἀόρατον καὶ ἀκατονόμαστον ἀγωνίζεσθαι ἀντέχειν τε καὶ μηδέποτε δυναμένης καταλύεσθαι.

against the unseen and unnamed higher one, and never can be destroyed.

Section 3

41.3.1 | 3. Λέγει δὲ ὁ ἡλίθιος καὶ τὸν νόμον καὶ τοὺς προφῆτας τῆς φαύλης καὶ ἐναντίος εἶναι ἀρχῆς, τὸν δὲ Χριστὸν τῆς ἀγαθῆς.

41.3.1 | 3. The fool says that the law and the prophets belong to the bad rule, but Christ belongs to the good one.

41.3.2 | πόθεν οὖν οἱ προφῆται τὰ εἰς Χριστὸν τετυπωμένα προανεφώνησαν, εἰ μὴ μία ἦν καὶ ἡ αὐτὴ δύναμις ἡ λαλήσασα ἐν νόμῳ καὶ ἐν προφήταις καὶ εὐαγγελίοις; καθάπερ λέγει »ὁ λαλῶν ἐν τοῖς προφήταις ἰδοὺ πάρεμι« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

41.3.2 | Where then did the prophets announce beforehand the things about Christ, if not that the same power spoke in the law and in the prophets and in the gospels? Just as it says, "the one speaking in the prophets, 'Behold, I am here,'" and what follows.

41.3.3 | πόθεν δὲ καὶ ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ † προανεφώνει λέγων »εἰ Μωυσῆ ἐπιστεύετε, καὶ ἐμοὶ ἂν ἐπιστεύετε. ἐκεῖνος γὰρ περὶ ἐμοῦ ἔγραψε«.

41.3.3 | And where also does the Lord announce beforehand in the gospel, saying, "If you believe Moses, you would also believe me. For he wrote about me."

41.3.4 | καὶ πολλὰ μοι ἔστι περὶ μαρτυριῶν λέγειν, καθὼς συναγείρας σχολὴν ἑαυτῷ ἐποίησεν ὁ ἐπὶ συγκυρήματι πονηρῷ τῷ κόσμῳ ἐπιβλαστήσας καὶ πλανήσας τοὺς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ πεπλανημένους.

41.3.4 | And there are many things for me to say about the testimonies, since the one who appeared at an evil time in the world gathered leisure for himself and misled those who were led astray by him.

41.3.5 | παρελεύσομαι δὲ καὶ ταύτην, ὥσει βέμβικος καὶ πεμφρηδόνος τῶν ὀδυνοποιῶν ἐκ πετεινῶν κνωδάλων ὀρμωμένων ὑπὸ μίαν θῆξιν ἐκπετασθέντων τὴν ἀνάλωσιν ποιησάμενος διὰ τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ ἐναργεστάτης πίστεώς τε καὶ σωτηριώδους διδασκαλίας τοῦ κυρίου

41.3.5 | But I will pass over this too, like a cicada and a cricket among painful birds, driven by one nest, having spread out their noise, making destruction through the most clear faith of God and the saving teaching of our Lord Jesus Christ, who said, "Watch

ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ τοῦ εἰπόντος »βλέπετε μὴ πλανηθῆτε· that you are not led astray.”

41.3.6 | πολλοὶ γὰρ ἐλεύσονται ψευδοπροφηταὶ καὶ τοῦ ἀποστόλου <τοῦ> περὶ τῶν αὐτῶν καὶ ψευδοδιδασκάλων καὶ ψευδαδελφῶν φήσαντος καὶ ἡμᾶς ἀσφαλισμένου· ἐπὶ ταῖς ἐξῆς <τε> κατὰ τὴν ἀκολουθίαν τῶν ἄλλων ποιήσομαι τὴν ὑφήγησιν.

41.3.6 | For many false prophets will come, and the apostle also spoke about the same things, about false teachers and false brothers, and he warned us; next, according to the order of the others, I will make the explanation.

Book 42

Section 1

42.1.1 | Μαρκίων, ἀφ’ οὗπερ οἱ Μαρκιωνισταί, ἐκ τούτου τοῦ προειρημένου μένου Κέρδωνος τὴν πρόφασιν εἰληφὼς καὶ αὐτὸς μέγας ὄφρις προῆλθεν τῷ βίῳ, πολὺ δὲ πλῆθος ἐξαπατήσας ἔτι εἰς δεῦρο εἰς πολλοὺς τρόποις προεστήσατο διδασκαλεῖον.

42.1.1 | Marcion, from whom the Marcionites come, having taken the excuse from the aforementioned Kerdon, also went before in life as a great serpent, and having deceived a large crowd, he still led a school in many ways to many people here.

42.1.2 | ἡ δὲ αἵρεσις ἔτι καὶ νῦν ἔν τε Ρώμῃ καὶ ἐν τῇ Ἰταλίᾳ, ἐν Αἰγύπτῳ τε καὶ ἐν Παλαιστίνῃ, ἐν Ἀραβίᾳ τε καὶ ἐν τῇ Συρίᾳ, ἐν Κύπρῳ τε καὶ Θηβαΐδι, οὐ μὴν ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῇ Περσίδι καὶ ἐν ἄλλοις τόποις εὕρισκεται. μεγάλως γὰρ ὁ πονηρὸς ἐν αὐτῷ κατίσχυσε τὴν ἀπάτην.

42.1.2 | The heresy even now is found in Rome and in Italy, in Egypt and in Palestine, in Arabia and in Syria, in Cyprus and Thebaid, and also in Persia and other places. For the evil one greatly strengthened his deceit in it.

42.1.3 | Οὗτος τὸ γένος Ποντικὸς ὑπῆρχεν, Ἑλενοπόντου δὲ φημι, Σινώπης δὲ πόλεως, ὡς πολλὸς περὶ αὐτοῦ ᾄδεται λόγος.

42.1.3 | This man was of the Pontic race, I say of Hellenopontus, of the city of Sinope, as much talk is sung about him.

42.1.4 | τὸν δὲ πρῶτον αὐτοῦ βίον

42.1.4 | At first, he supposedly lived a life of παρθενίαν δῆθεν ἥσκει· μονάζων γὰρ ὑπῆρχεν καὶ ἐπισκόπου τῆς ἡμετέρας ἀγίας καθολικῆς ἐκκλησίας. χρόνου δὲ προϊόντος προσφθείρεται παθένῳ τινὶ καὶ ἐξαπατήσας τὴν παρθένον ἀπὸ τῆς ἐλπίδος αὐτὴν τε καὶ ἑαυτὸν κατέσπασε καὶ τὴν φθορὰν ἀπεργασάμενος ἐξεοὔται τῆς ἐκκλησίας ὑπὸ τοῦ ἰδίου πατρός.

virginity; for he lived alone and was a bishop of our holy catholic church. But as time passed, he was corrupted by some passion, and having deceived the virgin of hope, he destroyed both her and himself, and having worked ruin, he was cast out of the church by his own father.

42.1.5 | ἦν γὰρ αὐτοῦ ὁ πατὴρ δι' ὑπερβολὴν εὐλαβείας τῶν διαφανῶν καὶ σφόδρα τὰ] τῆς ἐκκλησίας ἐπιμελομένων, διαπρέπων ἐν τῇ τῆς ἐπισκοπῆς λειτουργίᾳ.

42.1.5 | For his father was, because of excessive piety, one of those who clearly and greatly cared for the things of the church, standing out in the service of the bishopric.

42.1.6 | πολλὰ δὲ δῆθεν ὁ Μαρκίων καθικετεύσας καὶ αἰτήσας μετάνοιαν οὐκ εἴληφε παρὰ τοῦ ἰδίου πατρός. πόνος γὰρ εἶχε τὸν ἀξιόλογον γέροντα καὶ ἐπίσκοπον, ὅτι οὐ μόνον ἐξέπεσεν ἀλλ' ὅτι καὶ αὐτῷ τὸ αἷσχος ἔφερεν.

42.1.6 | But Markion, although begging and asking for repentance, did not receive it from his own father. For the worthy old man and bishop was troubled, because not only had he fallen away, but he also brought shame upon himself.

42.1.7 | So then he did not get from him, through the flattery he needed, and not bearing the mockery from many, he fled from his own city and went to Rome itself, after Hyginus, the bishop of Rome, had died (he was the ninth from Peter and Paul, the apostles). And having come together with the elders who were still there, and those coming from the apostles' disciples, he asked to be gathered, but no one agreed to him.

42.1.8 | ζήλῳ λοιπὸν ἐπαρθείς, ὥς οὐκ ἀπείληφε τὴν προεδρίαν τε καὶ τὴν εἰσδυσιν τῆς ἐκκλησίας, ἐπινοεῖ ἑαυτῷ καὶ προσφεύγει τῇ τοῦ ἀπατεῶνος Κέρδωνος

42.1.8 | Then, filled with jealousy, since he did not lose the leadership and entry into the church, he planned for himself and fled αἰρέσει.

to the heresy of the deceiver Cerdo.

Section 2

42.2.1 | 2. Καὶ ἄρχεται ὡς εἰπεῖν ἐξ αὐτῆς τῆς ἀρχῆς καὶ ὡς ἀπὸ θυρῶν τῶν ζητημάτων προτείνειν τοῖς κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ πρεσβυτέροις τοῦτο τὸ ζήτημα λέγων »εἴπατέ μοι, τί ἐστι τό· οὐ βάλλουσιν οἶνον νέον εἰς ἀσκοὺς παλαιοὺς οὐδὲ ἐπίβλημα ῥάκους ἀγνάφου ἐπὶ ἱματίῳ παλαιῷ εἰ δὲ μή γε, καὶ τὸ πλήρωμα αἶρει καὶ τῷ παλαιῷ οὐ συμφωνήσει.

42.2.1 | And he begins, as if from the very start, and as if from the doors of questions, to offer this question to the elders of that time, saying, "Tell me, what is this: they do not put new wine into old wineskins, nor a patch of unshrunk cloth on old clothes; if not, the fullness will lift and it will not agree with the old."

42.2.2 | μεῖζον γὰρ σχίσμα γενήσεται«. καὶ ὡς τοῦτο ἤκουσαν οἱ ἐπιεικεῖς καὶ πανάγιοι τῆς ἀγίας τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίας πρεσβύτεροι καὶ διδάσκαλοι, τὸν τῆς ἀκολουθίας τε καὶ ἁρμονίας ἀποδιδόντες λόγον καὶ φράζοντες αὐτῷ μετὰ ἐπιεικειᾶς ἔλεγον·

42.2.2 | "For a greater split will happen." And when the gentle and very holy elders and teachers of the holy church of God heard this, giving an answer of order and harmony, they said to him with gentleness:

42.2.3 | τέκνον, τοῦτό ἐστιν ἀσκοὶ παλαιοί, αἱ τῶν Φαρισαίων καρδίαι καὶ γραμματέων, παλαιωθεῖσαι ἐν ἁμαρτήμασι καὶ μὴ δεξάμεναι τὸ κήρυγμα τοῦ εὐαγγελίου·

42.2.3 | Child, this means old wineskins, the hearts of the Pharisees and scribes, worn out by sins and not accepting the preaching of the gospel;

42.2.4 | καὶ τὸ ἱμάτιον τὸ παλαιόν, ὡς ὁ Ἰούδας παλαιωθεὶς ἐν φιλαργυρίᾳ οὐκ ἐδέξατο τοῦ καινοῦ καὶ ἁγίου καὶ ἐπουρανίου τὸ τῆς ἐλπίδος κήρυγμα, καίτοι συναφθεὶς τοῖς ἑνδεκα ἀποστόλοις καὶ κληθεὶς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ κυρίου,

42.2.4 | and the old garment, like Judas, worn out by love of money, did not accept the new, holy, and heavenly preaching of hope, even though he was joined with the eleven apostles and called by the Lord himself,

42.2.5 | περισσότερον σχίσμα ἴσχε δι' ἐαυτοῦ, μηδενὸς αἰτίου αὐτῷ γενομένου, ἐπειδὴ ἡ διάνοια αὐτοῦ οὐ συμφερόνηκε

42.2.5 | he held back a greater split through himself, though no one was to blame for him, because his mind did not agree with τῇ ἄνω ἐλπίδι καὶ ἐπουρανίῳ κλήσει τῶν μελλόντων ἀγαθῶν ἀντὶ τῶν ἐνταῦθα χρημάτων τε καὶ κόμπου καὶ φιλίας παρερχομένης ἐλπίδος τε καὶ ἡδονῆς.

the higher hope and heavenly calling of the good things to come, instead of the present wealth and pride and friendship that pass away, and hope and pleasure.

42.2.6 | Ὁ δέ· οὐχ οὕτως. φησὶν, ἀλλὰ ἄλλα ἐστὶ παρὰ ταῦτα, ἀντιλέγων ὁ Μαρκίων. ἐπειδὴ <δὲ> μὴ ἠθέλησαν αὐτὸν οὖν φανερώς αὐτοῖς ἔλεγε· τί μὴ ἠθελήσατέ με ὑποδέξασθαι;

42.2.6 | But no, it is not like that. Markion says other things against these. Since they did not want him, he spoke to them secretly: 'Why did you not want to accept me?'

42.2.7 | τῶν δὲ λεγόντων ὅτι οὐ δυνάμεθα ἄνευ τῆς ἐπιτροπῆς τοῦ τιμίου πατρός σου τοῦτο ποιῆσαι·

42.2.7 | But those who said, 'We cannot do this without the approval of your honorable father,'

42.2.8 | For faith is one and agreement is one, and we cannot oppose the good fellow worker, your father. So, being jealous and then filled with great anger and pride, such a person works the split, setting up his own choice for himself and saying, 'I will split your church and put a split in it forever.' And truly, he made a real split, not a small one, but he did not split the church; he split himself and those who believed him.

42.3.1 | 3. Ἔλαβε Τε τὴν πρόφασιν παρὰ τοῦ προειρημένου Κέρδωνος, γόητος καὶ ἀπατηλοῦ. καὶ αὐτὸς μὲν γὰρ δύο κηρύττει ἀρχάς, προσθεὶς δὲ πάλιν ἐκείνῳ, φημὶ τῷ Κέρδωνι, ἔτερόν τι παρ' ἐκεῖνον δείκνυσι, λέγων τρεῖς εἶναι ἀρχάς, μίαν μὲν τὴν ἄνω ἀκατονόμαστον καὶ ἀόρατον, ἣν καὶ ἀγαθὸν θεὸν βούλεται λέγειν, μηδὲν δὲ τῶν

42.3.1 | 3. You took the excuse from the mentioned Kerdon, a sorcerer and deceiver. For he himself preaches two beginnings, but adding to that, I say that Kerdon shows something different from him, saying there are three beginnings: one above, unnamed and unseen, which he wants to call a good god, who created έν τῷ κόσμῳ κτίσασαν· nothing in the world;

42.3.2 | ἄλλον δὲ εἶναι ὁρατὸν θεὸν καὶ κτιστὴν καὶ δημιουργόν· διάβολον δὲ τρίτον ὡς εἰπεῖν καὶ μέσον τῶν δύο τούτων, τοῦ τε ὁρατοῦ καὶ τοῦ ἀοράτου. τὸν δὲ κτιστὴν καὶ δημιουργὸν καὶ ὁρατὸν θεὸν εἶναι τῶν Ἰουδαίων, εἶναι δὲ αὐτὸν κριτήν.

42.3.2 | Another is a visible god, creator and maker; and a third, the devil, as you might say, is between the two, both the visible and the invisible. The creator and maker and visible god is the god of the Jews, and he is the judge.

42.3.3 | παρ' αὐτῷ δὲ τῷ Μαρκίῳ καὶ παρθενία κηρύσσεται, νηστείαν δὲ κατὰ τὸ σάββατον κηρύττει. μυστήρια δὲ δῆθεν παρ' αὐτῷ ἐπιτελεῖται τῶν κατηχουμένων ὁρώντων· ὕδατι δὲ οὗτος ἐν τοῖς μυστηρίοις χρῆται.

42.3.3 | But from him, Marcion, virginity is preached, and fasting according to the Sabbath is preached. And mysteries are said to be performed by him for those being taught who watch; and he uses water in the mysteries.

42.3.4 | τὸ δὲ σάββατον νηστεύειν διὰ τοιαύτην αἰτίαν φάσκει· ἐπειδὴ, φησί, τοῦ θεοῦ τῶν Ἰουδαίων ἐστὶν ἡ ἀνάπαυσις τοῦ πεποιηκότος τὸν κόσμον καὶ ἐν τῇ ἑβδόμῃ ἡμέρᾳ ἀναπαυσάμενου, ἡμεῖς νηστεύσωμεν ταύτην, ἵνα μὴ τὸ καθήκον τοῦ θεοῦ τῶν Ἰουδαίων ἐργαζώμεθα.

42.3.4 | He says to fast on the Sabbath for this reason: because the rest of the god of the Jews is the one who made the world, and on the seventh day, having rested, we should fast on that day, so that we do not do the duty of the god of the Jews.

42.3.5 | τὴν τῆς σαρκὸς δὲ ἀθετεῖ ἀνάστασιν, καθάπερ πολλοὶ τῶν αἰρέσεων· ψυχῆς δὲ ἀνάστασιν εἶναι λέγει καὶ ζωὴν καὶ σωτηρίαν μόνης.

42.3.5 | But he rejects the resurrection of the flesh, just like many of the heresies; he says that the resurrection of the soul is the only one that is life and salvation.

42.3.6 | οὐ μόνον δὲ παρ' αὐτῷ ἐν λουτρὸν δίδοται, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἕως τριῶν λουτρῶν καὶ ἐπέκεινα ἕξεστι διδόναι παρ' αὐτοῖς τῷ βουλομένῳ, ὡς παρὰ πολλῶν ἀκήκοα.

42.3.6 | Not only is one bath given by him, but also up to three baths, and beyond that it is allowed to give to anyone who wants, as I have heard from many.

42.3.7 | συμβέβηκε δὲ τοῦτο γενέσθαι αὐτῷ τὸ ἐφίεσθαι τρία ἢ καὶ πλείω λουτρὰ διδύσθαι, δι' ἣν ὑπεῖχεν χλεύην παρὰ τῶν αὐτὸν ἐγνωκότων μαθητῶν αὐτοῦ ἐκ παραπτώματός μάτος τε καὶ φθορᾶς τῆς εἰς τὴν παρθένον γεγενημένης.

42.3.7 | It happened that he wanted to give three or even more baths, for which he suffered mockery from his own disciples who knew him, because of a mistake and corruption that had come upon the virgin.

42.3.8 | When the virgin was corrupted in his own city and, having run away in a great sin, was found, the beggar thought up for himself a second bath, saying that it is allowed to give up to three baths, that is, three baptisms for the forgiveness of sins, so that if someone falls into the first, he may take a second after repenting, and a third in the same way, if he sins after the second.

42.3.9 | φέρει δὲ δῆθεν, ἵνα τὴν ἑαυτοῦ χλεύην ἀνασώσῃ, εἰς παράστασιν αὐτοῦ ὅτι [τὸ] μετὰ τὸ αὐτοῦ παράπτωμα πάλιν ἐκαθαρίσθη καὶ λοιπὸν ἐν ἀθώοις ὑπάρχει, μαρτυρίαν περὶ τούτου ψευδηγορῶν ὡς πιθανήν, δυναμένην ἐξαπατῆσαι οὐ τοῦτο δὲ σημαίνουσιν ὃ αὐτὸς λέγει·

42.3.9 | he pretends, in order to save his own mockery, to show that after his sin he was cleansed again and now lives among the innocent, giving false testimony about this that seems believable, able to deceive, but this is not what he himself means.

42.3.10 | ὅτι, φησί, βαπτισθεὶς ὁ κύριος ὑπὸ τοῦ Ἰωάννου ἔλεγε τοῖς μαθηταῖς· »βάπτισμα ἔχω βαπτισθῆναι, καὶ τί θέλω εἰ ἤδη τετέλεκα αὐτό;« καὶ πάλιν »ποτήριον ἔχω πιεῖν, καὶ τί θέλω εἰ ἤδη πληρώσω αὐτό;« καὶ οὕτω τὸ διδόναι πλείω βαπτίσματα ἐδογματίσεν.

42.3.10 | he says that, having been baptized by John, the lord said to the disciples: 'I have a baptism to be baptized with, and what do I want if I have already finished it?' and again, 'I have a cup to drink, and what do I want if I have already filled it?' and so he taught to give more baptisms.

42.4.1 | 4. Οὐ μόνον δὲ τοῦτο, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸν νόμον ἀποβάλλει καὶ πάντας προφῆτας,

42.4.1 | not only this, but also he throws away the law and all the prophets, saying λέγων ἐκ τοῦ ἄρχοντος τοῦ τὸν κόσμον πεποιηκότος τοὺς τοιούτους πεπροφητευκέναι.

that such people have prophesied from the ruler who made the world.

42.4.2 | Χριστὸν δὲ λέγει ἄνωθεν ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀοράτου καὶ ἀκατονομάστου πατρὸς καταβεβηκέναι ἐπὶ σωτηρίᾳ τῶν ψυχῶν καὶ ἐπὶ ἐλέγχῳ τοῦ θεοῦ τῶν Ἰουδαίων καὶ νόμου καὶ προφητῶν καὶ τῶν τοιούτων.

42.4.2 | but he says that Christ came down from above, from the invisible and unnamed father, for the salvation of souls and for the judgment of God against the Jews and the law and the prophets and such things.

42.4.3 | καὶ ἄχρι Ἄιδου καταβεβηκέναι τὸν κύριον, ἵνα σώσῃ τοὺς περὶ Κάϊν καὶ Κορὲ καὶ Δαθὰν καὶ Ἀβειρών, Ἡσαῦ τε καὶ πάντα τὰ ἔθνη τὰ μὴ ἐγνωκότα τὸν θεὸν τῶν Ἰουδαίων·

42.4.3 | and that the lord went down even to Hades, to save those around Cain and Korah and Dathan and Abiram, and Esau and all the nations that did not know the God of the Jews;

42.4.4 | τοὺς δὲ περὶ Ἀβελ καὶ Ἐνῶχ καὶ Νῶε καὶ Ἀβραὰμ καὶ Ἰσαὰκ καὶ Ἰακώβ καὶ Μωυσέα, Δαυίδ τε καὶ Σολομῶντα ἐκεῖ καταλελοιπέναι, διότι ἐπέγνωσαν, φησί, τὸν θεὸν τῶν Ἰουδαίων, ὄντα ποιητὴν καὶ κτιστὴν, καὶ τὰ καθήκοντα αὐτοῦ πεποιήκασιν καὶ οὐχὶ τῷ θεῷ τῷ ἀοράτῳ ἑαυτοὺς προσανέθεντο.

42.4.4 | but those around Abel and Enoch and Noah and Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and Moses, and also David and Solomon, he left there, because, he says, they knew the God of the Jews, who is maker and creator, and they did what was right for him and did not offer themselves to the invisible god.

42.4.5 | δίδωσι καὶ ἐπιτροπὴν γυναιξὶ βάπτισμα διδόναι. παρ' αὐτοῖς γὰρ πάντα χλεύης ἔμπλεα καὶ οὐδὲν ἕτερον, ὁπότε καὶ τὰ μυστήρια ἐνώπιον κατηχουμένων ἐπιτελεῖν τολμῶσιν.

42.4.5 | he even gives permission for women to baptize. for among them there is nothing but mockery, full of scorn, whenever they dare to perform the mysteries in front of those being taught.

42.4.6 | μῶσιν. ἀνάστασιν δὲ ὡς εἶπον οὗτος λέγει οὐχὶ σωμάτων, ἀλλὰ ψυχῶν καὶ σωτηρίαν ταύταις ὀρίζεται, οὐχὶ τοῖς σώμασιν. καὶ μεταγγισμοὺς ὁμοίως τῶν

42.4.6 | he says that the resurrection, as i said, is not of bodies, but of souls, and salvation is set for these, not for the bodies. and he claims also that souls are ψυχῶν καὶ μετενσωματώσεις ἀπὸ σωμάτων εἰς σώματα φάσκει.

transferred and reborn from bodies into bodies.

Section 5

42.5.1 | 5. Πανταχόθεν δὲ πίπτει ἡ αὐτοῦ ματαία κενοφωνία, ὡς ἤδη μοι ἐν ἄλλαις αἱρέσεσι πεπραγμάτευται. πῶς γὰρ ἀναστήσεται ἡ μὴ πεπτωκυῖα ψυχή; ἀνάστασις δὲ πῶς αὐτῆς κληθήσεται, τῆς μὴ πεσοῦσης ψυχῆς;

42.5.1 | his empty, loud talk falls apart everywhere, as i have already seen in other heresies. for how will a soul that has not fallen rise? and how will the resurrection be called that of a soul that has not fallen?

42.5.2 | πᾶν γὰρ τὸ πῖπτον ἀναστάσεως δεῖται· πίπτει δὲ οὐχὶ ψυχή, ἀλλὰ σῶμα. ὅθεν καὶ δικαίως πτῶμα αὐτὸ ἡ συνήθεια εἴωθεν καλεῖν καὶ αὐτὸς ὁ κύριος εἰπὼν ὅτι »ὅπου πτῶμα, ἐκεῖ συναχθήσονται οἱ ἀετοί«.

42.5.2 | for everything that falls needs a resurrection; it is not the soul that falls, but the body. and so rightly the usual way is to call it a corpse, and the lord himself said, ‘where the corpse is, there the eagles will gather.’

42.5.3 | καὶ γὰρ ἐν τοῖς μνήμασιν οὐ κατακλείομεν ψυχάς, ἀλλὰ σώματα κατατιθέαμεν ἐν γῇ καταχώσαντες, ὧν ἡ ἀνάστασις εἰς ἐλπίδα ἔχει τὸ κήρυγμα, καθάπερ ὁ τοῦ σίτου κόκκος·

42.5.3 | for in tombs we do not lock up souls, but we place bodies in the ground, burying them, whose resurrection the message holds as hope, just like a grain of wheat;

42.5.4 | ὡς καὶ ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος τὴν μαρτυρίαν ἤνεγκεν περὶ τοῦ κόκκου τοῦ σίτου καὶ τῶν ἄλλων σπερμάτων καὶ αὐτὸς δὲ ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ ὅτι ἐὰν μὴ πεσῶν ὁ κόκκος τοῦ σίτου ἀποθάνῃ,

42.5.4 | just as the holy apostle gave testimony about the grain of wheat and the other seeds, and the lord himself said in the gospel that unless the grain of wheat falls and dies,

42.5.5 | μόνος μένει« ὁ δὲ ἅγιος ἀπόστολός φησιν »ἄφρων« (ἄφρονα γὰρ καλεῖ τὸν ἄπιστον τὸν ὅλως ἀμφιβάλλοντα καὶ λέγοντα »πῶς ἡ ἀνάστασις γίνεται; ποίῳ δὲ σώματι ἔρχονται;« καὶ εὐθὺς πρὸς τοὺς τοιούτους φησίν) »ἄφρων, σὺ δὲ σπεῖρεις

42.5.5 | it remains alone. but the holy apostle says ‘fool’ (for he calls the unbeliever foolish, the one who doubts completely and says ‘how does the resurrection happen? and with what body do they come?’ and immediately to such οὐ ζωογονεῖται, ται, ἐὰν μὴ ἀποθάνῃ».

people he says) ‘fool, what you sow does not come to life unless it dies.’

42.5.6 | καὶ ἔδειξεν ἕξ απαντος η γραφη του πεπτωκοτος κοκκου τουτεστιν του σωματος τοῦ θαπτομένου καὶ οὐ ψυχῆς τὴν ἀνάστασιν γίνεσθαι.

42.5.6 | and the scripture showed completely that the resurrection happens from the fallen grain, that is, from the body being buried and not from the soul.

42.5.7 | πῶς δὲ ψυχὴ ἐλεύσεται μόνη; πῶς δὲ βασιλεύσει μόνη ἢ ὁμοῦ σὺν σώματι ἐργασαμένη τὸ δίκαιον ἢ τὸ φαῦλον; ἔσται γὰρ ἐναντία καὶ οὐ δικάια η κρίσις.

42.5.7 | but how will the soul come alone? how will it rule alone, the soul that worked with the body, whether in good or bad? for the judgment will be against and not fair.

Section 6

42.6.1 | 6. Πῶς δὲ συσταθήσεται ὁ παρ’ αὐτῷ τῷ Μαρκίῳ τριῶν ἀρχῶν λόγος; πῶς δὲ ὁ] ἀγαθὸς εὑρεθήσεται <ὁ> ἐν τοῖς τοῦ φαύλου ἔργον ἐπιτελῶν ἢ σωτηρίας ἢ τῶν ἄλλων;

42.6.1 | but how will the teaching of the three principles of Marcion, who is with him, be put together? how will the good one be found doing the work of the bad one, either of salvation or of the others?

42.6.2 | εἰ γὰρ οὐκ αὐτοῦ τυγχάνει ὁ κόσμος, ἀπέστειλεν δὲ αὐτοῦ τὸν μονογενῆ εἰς τὸν κόσμον λαβεῖν ἐκ τοῦ κόσμου τοῦ ἄλλοτρίου ἢ μὴ αὐτὸς ἔσπειρεν μηδὲ ἐποίησεν, εὑρεθήσεται ἢ τῶν ἄλλοτρίων ἐφιέμενος ἢ πενίαν ὑφιστάμενος καὶ ἴδια μὴ ἔχων, ἐπὶ τὰ ἄλλότρια ἑαυτὸν ἐπιδιδούς, ὅπως ἑαυτῷ προσπορίσῃται ἢ μὴ πρότερον ἔχει.

42.6.2 | for if the world does not belong to him, but he sent his only son into the world to take from the foreign world what he neither sowed nor made, will he be found longing for what is foreign or suffering poverty and having nothing of his own, giving himself over to foreign things so that he may get for himself what he did not have before?

42.6.3 | πῶς δὲ κριτὴς ἀνὰ μέσον ἀμφοτέρων γενήσεται ὁ δημιουργός; εἴτα τίνας ἔχει κρίναι; εἰ γὰρ τῶν ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄνω σκευῶν δικαστὴς προκαθέζεται, ἰσχύει ὑπὲρ τὸν ἄνω, ἐπειδὴ φέρει εἰς μέσον τῶν αὐτοῦ κριτηρίων τὰ τοῦ ἄνω ὑπάρχοντα,

42.6.3 | but how will the creator become a judge in the middle of both? then whom does he have to judge? for if the judge of the things from above is set before, he has power over the one above, since he brings into the middle of his own judges the things ὥς τῷ Μαρκίῳ ἐδόξε.

belonging to the one above, as it seemed good to Marcion.

42.6.4 | καὶ εἰ ὅλως κριτὴς τυγχάνει, δίκαιός ἐστι. δείξομεν δὲ ἀπὸ τοῦ δικαίου ὀνόματος ὅτι ταυτόν ἐστι τὸ ἀγαθὸν καὶ τὸ δίκαιον. πᾶν γὰρ ὃ δίκαιόν ἐστι, τοῦτο καὶ ἀγαθόν.

42.6.4 | and even if he happens to be a judge, he is just. and we will show from the name just that good and just are the same. for everything that is just is also good.

42.6.5 | ἀπὸ γὰρ τοῦ ἀγαθὸν εἶναι τὸ ἀγαθὸν χαρίζεται δικαίως μετὰ ἀληθείας τῷ ἀγαθῷ δράσαντι καὶ οὐκέτι ἔσται πρὸς τὸ ἀγαθὸν ἐναντίος τῷ ἀγαθῷ, κατὰ δικαιοσύνην τὸ ἀγαθὸν τῷ ἀγαθῷ παρέχων καὶ τῷ φαύλῳ τὴν ἐπιτιμίαν τῆς τιμωρίας.

42.6.5 | for from being good, the good rightly gives grace with truth to the one who does good, and it will no longer be against the good to the good, giving the good to the good according to justice, and the punishment of penalty to the wicked.

42.6.6 | οὐδὲ πάλιν ἀγαθὸς ἂν εἴη ὁ τῷ πονηρῷ τὸν ἀγαθὸν μισθὸν ἐπὶ τῷ τέλει ἀποδιδούς μὴ μετανοοῦντι, εἰ καὶ ἐν τῷ παρόντι ἀνατέλλοι αὐτοῦ τὸν ἥλιον ἐπὶ ἀγαθοῦς καὶ φαύλους καὶ τὸν ὑετὸν αὐτοῦ παρέχοι διὰ τὸ νῦν αὐτεξούσιον τοῖς τε πονηροῖς καὶ ἀγαθοῖς ἀνθρώποις.

42.6.6 | nor again would he be good who, giving the good reward to the wicked at the end without repenting, even if now his sun rises on both good and wicked and he gives rain to both, because now he is free to both wicked and good people.

42.6.7 | ἀγαθὴ γὰρ οὐκέτι ἔσται φύσις καὶ δικαία τοῦ τῷ πονηρῷ μισθὸν ἐν τῷ μέλλοντι αἰῶνι σωτηρίας παρέχοντος καὶ οὐ μᾶλλον μισοῦντος τὸ πονηρὸν καὶ φαῦλον.

42.6.7 | for good nature and justice will no longer be if it gives the wicked a reward of salvation in the coming age and does not hate the wicked and evil more.

42.6.8 | ὁ δὲ τρίτος εὕρισκόμενος παρ' αὐτῷ πονηρός, εἰ ἔχει τὴν ἐξουσίαν τὰ πονηρὰ ἐργάζεσθαι καὶ κατισχύειν τῶν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ ἢ τῶν ἄνωθεν ἀγαθῶν ἢ τοῦ μέσου δικαίου, εὐρεθήσεται ἰσχυρότερος

42.6.8 | but the third, being found wicked by him, if he has the power to do wicked things and to be stronger than those in the world or the good ones above or the middle just one, this one will be found stronger οὗτος τῶν δύο θεῶν τῶν παρὰ Μαρκίωνι λεγομένων, ἐπειδὴ ἐξουσιάζει ἀρπάζειν τὰ ἀλλότρια· than the two gods spoken of by Marcion, since he has the power to seize what belongs to others;

42.6.9 | καὶ ἀδρανεῖς λοιπὸν καταψηφισθήσονται οἱ δύο παρὰ τὸν ἕνα πονηρόν. οἱ μὴ δυνάμενοι ἀντέχειν καὶ ῥύεσθαι ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀρπάζοντος τὰ αὐτῶν ὄντα καὶ εἰς πονηρίαν μεταβάλλοντος.

42.6.9 | and so the two will be judged powerless against the one wicked. those who cannot stand firm and protect themselves from the one who seizes what is theirs and turns it to evil.

Section 7

42.7.1 | 7. ἄλλως δὲ πάλιν νοήσωμεν, ἵνα τὴν χλεύην τοῦ ἀγύρτου φωράσωμεν τῆς ματαιοφροσύνης. εἰ γὰρ ὅλως ὁ πονηρὸς πονηρὸς ὑπάρχει, ἀρπάζει δὲ τοὺς ἀγαθοὺς ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ καὶ τοὺς δικαίους ἀπὸ τοῦ δικαίου, ἰδίους δὲ οὐχ ἀρπάζει μόνους, εὐρεθήσεται ὁ πονηρὸς οὐκέτι πονηρὸς, τῶν ἀγαθῶν ὀρεγόμενος καὶ ἐπιδικαζόμενος ὡς βελτιόνων.

42.7.1 | but let us think again in another way, so that we may expose the mockery of the shameless vanity. for if the wicked is entirely wicked, and he seizes the good from the good and the just from the just, but does not seize only his own, the wicked will be found no longer wicked, since he desires and claims the good as better.

42.7.2 | εἰ δὲ καὶ τοὺς ἰδίους κρίνει τιμωρίαν τε τοὺς ἀδικήσαντας ἀπαιτεῖ, οὐκέτι πονηρὸς ἔσται ὁ πονηρῶν δικαστὴς ὑπάρχων. καὶ εὐρεθήσεται κατὰ πάντα τρόπον ἢ αὐτοῦ ὑπόθεσις ἐαυτὴν ἀνατρέπουσα.

42.7.2 | but if he also judges his own and demands punishment for those who did wrong, the wicked one acting as judge will no longer be wicked. and in every way his case will be found to overturn itself.

42.7.3 | but again, tell me from where the three beginnings have been taken to exist. and who set the definition for these? for if each is limited in its own place, the three will no longer be found perfect when defined in some containing places. instead, the container of each will be found greater than what it contains, and the god would no longer be the contained one, but rather the

containing definition.

42.7.4 | εἰ δὲ καὶ εἰς ταύτῳ ἀλλήλοις γενόμενοι νόμενοι ἕκαστος κατὰ οἴεσιν τὸν )λίον ἐκληρώθη τόπον καὶ ἕκαστος ἐν τῷ ἰδίῳ ὧν τῷ ἐτέρῳ οὐκ ἐντρίβεται οὐΤε ἐπέρχεται, οὐκέτι αἱ ἀρχαὶ ἀλλήλαις ἐναντία οὐδέ τις αὐτῶν φαύλη εὐρεθήσεται, οἷα τὸ κατὰ τὸ δίκαιον καὶ ἡσυχον καὶ εὐσταθὲς τῶν ἰδίων ἐπιμέλῃσθαι καὶ μὴ περαιτέρω βαίνειν ἐπιβάλλεσθαι.

42.7.4 | but if each, becoming laws for one another in the same place, was assigned a place according to its own opinion, and each stays in its own place without going into another, then the beginnings will no longer be opposed to one another, nor will any of them be found bad, because they take care of their own in a just, calm, and steady way and do not go beyond that.

42.7.5 | εἰ δὲ ὁ μὲν πονηρὸς ὑπὸ τοῦ ἄνω κατισχύεται καὶ βιάζεται καὶ καταπονεῖται, μεμερισμένος ὧν καὶ ἐν ἰδίῳ τόπῳ ὑπάρχων, οὗ τόπου τῷ ἄνω ἀγαθῷ οὐδὲν προσῆκει, οὐδέ τι ὑπ' αὐτοῦ κέκτισται τῶν ἐνταῦθα (λέγω ἐν τῷ τοῦ πονηροῦ τόπῳ), τυραννικώτερος μᾶλλον εὐρεθήσεται ὁ ἄνω καὶ οὐκέτι ἀγαθός, τὸν ἴδιον υἱὸν εἴτ' οὖν Χριστὸν ἀποστείλας, ἵνα τὰ ἀλλότρια λάβῃ.

42.7.5 | but if the wicked one is overpowered, forced, and worn out by the one above, being divided and existing in his own place, a place that has nothing to do with the good above, and nothing there is made by him (I mean in the place of the wicked), then the one above will be found more tyrannical and no longer good, even if he sends his own son, whether Christ, to take what belongs to others.

42.7.6 | καὶ ποῦ ὁ ὅρος ὁ διρίζων τὰς τρεῖς ἀρχὰς κατὰ τὸν τοῦ ἀγύρτου τῆς ὑποθέσεως λόγον; ζητηθήσεται γὰρ τέταρτός τις ἐπιεικέστατος καὶ τῶν τριῶν σοφώτερος, ὁριογνώμων τε καὶ ἐπιστήμων, ὃς τὰ μέτρα ἐκάστῳ διένειμέν τε καὶ τοὺς τρεῖς εἰρηνοποίησεν, ἵνα μὴ στασιάζαιεν πρὸς ἀλλήλους μηδὲ εἰς τὰ ἄλλου ἄλλος ἀποστέλλοι.

42.7.6 | and where is the definition that divides the three beginnings according to the speech of the fortune-teller of the hypothesis? for a fourth one will be sought, most fair and wiser than the three, both a judge of boundaries and knowledgeable, who will give each its measure and make the three peaceful, so that they do not rebel against one another nor send one another into another's place.

42.7.7 | καὶ οὗτος μὲν πείσας τὰς τρεῖς ἀρχὰς εὐρεθήσεται τέταρτος καὶ σοφώτερος καὶ ἐπιεικέστερος. καὶ αὐτὸς δὲ

42.7.7 | and this one, having persuaded the three beginnings, will be found fourth and wiser and more fair. and he himself will ἐν ἰδίῳ τόπῳ πάλιν ζητηθήσεται, ἀφ' οὗπερ εἰς μέσον ἦλθεν τῶν τριῶν καὶ ἐκάστῳ τὸ μέρος σοφῶς διώρισεν, ἵνα μὴ ἀλλήλους ἀδικοῖεν.

again be sought in his own place, from which he came into the middle of the three and wisely divided the part to each, so that they do not wrong one another.

42.7.8 | εἰ δὲ ἐν τοῖς τοῦ ἐνός, λέγω δὴ τοῦ δημιουργοῦ αἱ δύο ἀρχαὶ εἰσιν ἐμπολιτευόμεναι, ὃ τε πονηρὸς τοῖς τοῦ δημιουργοῦ † χώραις τε καὶ χώροις καὶ ὁ τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ Χριστὸς ἐπιδημήσας. οὐκέτι ἄρα κριτὴς καὶ δημιουργὸς μόνον ὁ κριτὴς εὑρεθήσεται, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀγαθός, συγχωρῶν τοῖς δυσὶν εἰς τὰ ἴδια ποιεῖν ὃ βούλονται· ἢ ἀδρανὴς εὑρεθήσεται καὶ μὴ ἰσχύων κωλύσαι τῶν ἰδίων τοὺς ἀλλοτρίους ἄρπαγας.

42.7.8 | but if among the things of the one, I mean the creator, the two beginnings live together, both the evil one in the creator's lands and places and the good Christ having come to dwell, then no longer will the judge and creator be found only as judge, but also good, allowing the two to do in their own what they want; or he will be found inactive and not strong enough to stop the strangers from seizing what is theirs.

42.7.9 | εἰ δὲ καὶ ἥσσων τῇ δυνάμει ἐστίν, οὐκέτι εὑρεθήσεται ἡ δημιουργία συνεστῶσα, ἀλλ' ἐξέλιπεν ἑκπαλαι, ἀναρπαζομένη καθ' ἐκάστην ἡμέραν ὑπὸ τοῦ πονηροῦ εἰς τὸ ἴδιον μέρος καὶ ὑπὸ τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ εἰς τὰ ἄνω. καὶ πῶς ἔτι ἡ δημιουργία σταθήσεται;

42.7.9 | but if it is even weaker in power, the creation will no longer be found together, but long ago it disappeared, being snatched away each day both by the evil one into his own part and by the good one upward. and how will the creation still stand?

42.7.10 | εἰ δὲ ὅτι χρόνῳ λήξει λέγεις καὶ δυνατόν ταύτην ὅλως λήγειν διὰ τῆς τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ ἐπιμελείας, οὐκοῦν ὁ ἀγαθὸς αἷτιος τῆς βλάβης ἔσται ὁ μὴ πάλαι ποιήσας, ὅπερ ὕστερον ἀγαθὸν ἔδοξεν ἐπιτελεῖν, μήτε μὴν πεποιηκὼς ἀπὸ τῶν ἀνέκαθεν, πρὶν ἢ τοὺς πλείους ἀδικηθῆναι καὶ ἐν καθέξει αὐτοὺς γενέσθαι τοῦ κριτοῦ καὶ κάτω μεμενηκέναι;

42.7.10 | but if you say that it will end in time and that it is possible for this to end completely through the care of the good one, then surely the good one will be the cause of the harm, since he did not act long ago, which later seemed good to complete, neither having made it from the beginning, before most were wronged and became subject to the judge and remained beneath?

42.8.1 | 8. Πάλιν δὲ τὰ τῆς θείας γραφῆς

42.8.1 | 8. But again, not understanding the οὐκ ὀρθῶς νοῶν προφέρει καὶ τοὺς ἀκεραίους ἐξαπατᾷ διαστρέφων τὸ τοῦ ἀποστόλου ῥητόν, ὅτι »Χριστὸς ἡμᾶς ἐξηγόρασεν ἐκ τῆς κατάρας τοῦ νόμου, γενόμενος ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν κατάρ« καὶ φησιν· εἴ ἦμεν αὐτοῦ, οὐκ ἂν τὸ ἡγόραζεν· things of the divine scripture correctly, he leads astray even the pure ones by twisting the saying of the apostle, which is, “Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law, becoming a curse for us,” and he says: if we were his, he would not have redeemed us.

42.8.2 | ἀγοράσας δὲ εἰς ἀλλότριον κόσμον ἦλθεν ἡμᾶς ἐξαγοράσαι τοὺς οὐκ ὄντας αὐτοῦ. ποίημα γὰρ ἦμεν ἐτέρου καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἡμᾶς αὐτὸς ἡγόραζεν εἰς τὴν ἑαυτοῦ ζωὴν.

42.8.2 | Having bought us into a foreign world, he came to redeem those who were not his. For we were the creation of another, and because of this, he himself redeemed us into his own life.

42.8.3 | ἀγνοεῖ δὲ ὅλως ὁ ἡλίθιος ὅτι οὔτε Χριστὸς κατάρα γεγένηται μὴ γένοιτο), ἀλλὰ τὴν κατάραν τὴν διὰ τὰς ἀμαρτίας ἡμῶν ἀφεῖλεν, ἑαυτὸν σταυρώσας καὶ γενόμενος θάνατος θανάτῳ διὰ τὰς ἀμαρτίας ἡμῶν] καὶ κατάρα αὐτὸς τῇ κατάρᾳ γενόμενος. διὸ οὐκ ἔστι Χριστὸς κατάρα, ἀλλὰ τῆς κατάρας λύσις, εὐλογία δὲ πᾶσι τοῖς εἰς αὐτὸν ἀληθῶς πεπιστευκόσιν.

42.8.3 | The fool completely ignores that Christ did not become a curse (may it never be), but removed the curse because of our sins, by crucifying himself and becoming death to death because of our sins, and becoming a curse to the curse. Therefore, Christ is not a curse, but the release from the curse, and a blessing to all who truly believe in him.

42.8.4 | οὕτω καὶ τὸ »ἐξηγόρασεν« *. οὐκ εἶπεν »ἡγόρασεν«· οὔτε γὰρ εἰς ἀλλότριον ἦλθεν ἀρπάσαι ἢ ἀγοράσαι. εἰ γὰρ ἡγόρασεν, μὴ ἔχων ἡγόρασε καὶ ὡς πτωχὸς ἂ μὴ εἶχεν ἐκτήσατο.

42.8.4 | So also the word “redeemed.” He did not say “bought”; for he did not come to seize or buy into a foreign place. For if he had bought, he would have bought without having, and like a poor man, gained what he did not have.

42.8.5 | καὶ εἰ ὁ κεκτημένος ἡμᾶς πέπρακεν, ἀπορήσας πέπραχεν. ἀπὸ τίνος ἄρα δανειστοῦ ἐλαυνόμενος. ἀλλ’ οὐκ ἔχει οὕτως. οὔτε γὰρ εἶπεν »ἡγόρασεν«, ἀλλ’ »ἐξηγόρασεν«.

42.8.5 | And even if the owner had sold us, he sold in confusion. So he was driven by some lender. But it is not so. For he did not say “bought,” but “redeemed.”

42.8.6 | ὅμοιον δὲ τούτῳ ὁ αὐτὸς ἅγιος ἀπόστολος φησιν »ἐξαγοραζόμενοι τὸν ὅτι αἱ ἡμέραι πονηραὶ εἰσι«. καὶ οὐχ ἡμέρας ἀγοράζομεν, οὐδὲ τιμὴν ἡμερῶν δίδομεν, ἀλλὰ τὸ δι' ὑπομονὴν * καὶ τὸ μελλητικὸν τῆς μακροθυμίας σημαίνων τοῦτο ἔφη.

42.8.6 | And similar to this, the same holy apostle says, “redeeming the time, because the days are evil.” And we are not buying days, nor paying the price of days, but through patience. And he meant this as a sign of the future bearing of long-suffering.

42.8.7 | So, by saying “he redeemed the cause,” he showed his taking up for us in the world in a bodily presence, through which the God who is without suffering accepted to suffer for us, remaining in his own impassibility of his deity. And this same one accepted to suffer for us, not buying us from others, but taking up the charge for us of the cross, by choice and not by force. Therefore, the argument of Marcion is refuted in every way.

42.8.8 | καὶ πολλὰ ἐστὶ τὰ πρὸς ἀνατροπὴν τῆς τούτου μηχανῆς καὶ τραγωδίας ἐξ εὐσεβοῦς λογισμοῦ καὶ εὐλόγου ὁρμώμενα ἐμφάσεως ἐν τῇ πρὸς αὐτὸν ἀντιρρήσει.

42.8.8 | And there are many things against the overturning of this scheme and tragedy, arising from a pious thought and good reason, showing clearly in the reply against him.

Section 9

42.9.1 | 9. Ἐλεύσομαι δὲ εἰς τὰ ὑπ' αἰ' τοῦ γεγραμμένα, μᾶλλον δὲ ἐρραδιουργημένα. οὗτος γὰρ ἔχει εὐαγγέλιον μόνον τὸ κατὰ Λουκᾶν, περικεκομμένον ἀπὸ τῆς ἀρχῆς διὰ τὴν τοῦ σωτῆρος σύλληψιν καὶ τὴν ἐνσαρκον αὐτοῦ παρουσίαν.

42.9.1 | I will come to the things written by the one called Ai, or rather, cleverly made up. For he has only the gospel according to Luke, cut off from the beginning because of the Savior's conception and his bodily presence.

42.9.2 | οὐ μόνον δὲ τὴν ἀρχὴν ἀπέτεμεν ὁ

42.9.2 | Not only did the one who harmed λυμηνάμενος ἑαυτὸν <μᾶλλον> ἥπερ τὸ εὐαγγέλιον, ἀλλὰ καὶ τέλους καὶ τῶν μέσων πολλὰ περιέκοψε τῶν τῆς ἀληθείας λόγων ἄλλα δὲ παρὰ τὰ γεγραμμένα προστέθεικεν, μόνῳ δὲ κέχρηται τούτῳ τῷ χαρακτῆρι, τῷ κατὰ Λουκᾶν εὐαγγελίῳ.

himself cut off the beginning more than the gospel, but he also cut off many parts of the end and the middle of the true words, and added some things not written, using only this gospel according to Luke as his source.

42.9.3 | ἔχει δὲ καὶ ἐπιστολὰς παρ' αὐτῷ τοῦ ἁγίου ἀποστόλου δέκα, αἷς μόναις κέχρηται, οὐ πᾶσι δὲ τοῖς ἐν αὐταῖς γεγραμμένοις, ἀλλὰ τινὰ αὐτῶν περιτέμνων, τινὰ δὲ ἀλλοιῶσας κεφάλαια. ταύταις δὲ ταῖς δυσὶ βίβλοις κέχρηται· ἄλλα δὲ συντάγματα ἀφ' ἑαυτοῦ συνέταξε τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ πλανωμένοις.

42.9.3 | He also has ten letters from the holy apostle, which he alone used, not all that is written in them, but cutting some parts out and changing some chapters. He used these two books, but he made other writings by himself for those who were led astray by him.

42.9.4 | αἱ δὲ ἐπιστολαὶ αἱ παρ' αὐτῷ λεγόμεναί εἰσι· πρώτη μὲν πρὸς Γαλάτας, δευτέρα δὲ πρὸς Κορινθίους, τρίτη πρὸς Κορινθίους δευτέρα, τετάρτη πρὸς Ῥωμαίους, πέμπτη πρὸς Θεσσαλονικεῖς, ἕκτη πρὸς Θεσσαλονικεῖς δευτέρα, ἑβδόμη πρὸς Ἐφεσίους, ὀγδόη πρὸς Κολασσαεῖς, ἐνάτη πρὸς Φιλήμονα, δεκάτη πρὸς Φιλιππησίους· ἔχει δὲ καὶ τῆς πρὸς Λαοδικέας λεγομένης μέρη.

42.9.4 | The letters that are said to be from him are: first to the Galatians, second to the Corinthians, third the second to the Corinthians, fourth to the Romans, fifth to the Thessalonians, sixth the second to the Thessalonians, seventh to the Ephesians, eighth to the Colossians, ninth to Philemon, tenth to the Philippians. He also has parts of the one called to the Laodiceans.

42.9.5 | ἐξ οὐπερ χαρακτῆρος τοῦ παρ' αὐτῷ σωζομένου, τοῦ τε εὐαγγελίου καὶ τῶν ἐπιστολῶν τοῦ ἀποστόλου, δεῖξαι αὐτὸν σὺν θεῷ ἔχομεν ἀπατεῶνα καὶ πεπλανημένον καὶ ἀκρότατα διελέγξει.

42.9.5 | From the copy of the gospel and the letters of the apostle that we have from him, we have to show him with God as a deceiver and a person who is led astray, and to prove this very clearly.

42.9.6 | ἐξ αὐτῶν γὰρ ἀναμφιβόλως τῶν παρ' αὐτοῦ ὁμολογουμένων ἀνατραπήσεται. ἐκ γὰρ τῶν αὐτῶν ἔτι παρ' αὐτῷ λειψάνων τοῦ τε εὐαγγελίου καὶ τῶν ἐπιστολῶν εὐρισκομένων δειχθήσεται ὅ

42.9.6 | For from those that are confessed to be from him without doubt, he will be overthrown. For from those same ones, even the fragments of the gospel and the letters found from him, it will be shown to Χριστὸς τοῖς συνετοῖς μὴ ἀλλότριος εἶναι παλαιᾶς διαθήκης καὶ οἱ προφηῖται οὖν οὐκ ἀλλότριοι ὄντες τῆς τοῦ κυρίου ἐνδημίας the wise that Christ is not strange to the old covenant, and so the prophets, not being strangers to the Lord's dwelling...

42.9.7 | καὶ ὅτι ἀνάστασιν σαρκὸς ὁ ἀπόστολος κηρύττει καὶ δικαίους τοὺς προφήτας ὀνομάζει καὶ ἐν σωζομένοις ὑπάρχοντας τοὺς περὶ Ἀβραάμ καὶ Ἰσαὰκ καὶ Ἰακώβ καὶ πάντα ὅσα ἐστὶ τῆς ἁγίας τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίας σωτήριά τε καὶ ἅγια καὶ ἐκ θεοῦ ἐστηριγμένα ἐν τε τῇ πίστει καὶ ἐν τῇ γνώσει καὶ ἐν ἐλπίδι καὶ διδασκαλίᾳ.

42.9.7 | and that the apostle proclaims the resurrection of the flesh and calls the prophets righteous, and that those around Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob are saved, and all that belongs to the holy church of God, both salvation and holiness, are founded by God in faith, knowledge, hope, and teaching.

Section 10

42.10.1 | 10. Παραθήσομαι δὲ καὶ ἦν ἐποίησάμην κατ' αὐτοῦ πραγματείαν πρὶν τοῦ ταύτην μου τὴν σύνταξιν ἐσπουδακέναι διὰ τῆς ὑμῶν τῶν ἀδελφῶν προτροπῆς ποιήσασθαι.

42.10.1 | 10. But I will also put forward the discussion I made about him before I worked hard on this writing of mine, because of the encouragement from you, the brothers.

42.10.2 | ἀπὸ ἐτῶν ἱκανῶν, ἀνερευνῶν τὴν β' γ'.

42.10.2 | For many years, investigating the false accusations and foolish teaching invented by this Marcion, I took into my hands the very books he owns, both the gospel he calls his own and the so-called apostolic book, and having gone through them carefully and arranged them in order, from the two books mentioned before that could refute him, I made a kind of summary, then I arranged chapters and wrote for each saying α, β, γ.

42.10.3 | καὶ οὕτως ἕως τέλους διεξῆλθον, ἐν οἷς φαίνεται ἡλιθίως καθ' ἑαυτοῦ ἔτι ταύτας τὰς παραμεινάσας τοῦ τε σωτῆρος

42.10.3 | And so i went through them all the way to the end, where it shows that he still foolishly holds on to these words left καὶ τοῦ ἀποστόλου λέξεις φυλάττων.

over from both the savior and the apostle.

42.10.4 | αἱ μὲν γὰρ αὐτῶν παρηλλαγμένως ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἐρραδιουργήθησαν καὶ ὥς οὐκ εἶχεν τοῦ κατὰ Λουκᾶν εὐαγγελίου τὸ ἀντίγραφον οὔτε ἡ τοῦ ἀποστολικοῦ χαρακτήρος ἔμφασις·

42.10.4 | For some of them were cleverly changed by him, as if he did not have a copy of the gospel according to Luke, nor the clear mark of the apostolic character.

42.10.5 | ἄλλα δὲ φύσει ὥς ἔχει καὶ τὸ εὐαγγέλιον καὶ ὁ ἀπόστολος, μὴ ἀλλαγέντα ὑπ' αὐτοῦ, δυνάμενα δὲ αὐτὸν διελέγχειν, δι' ὧν δεικνύται <ἡ> παλαιὰ διαθήκη συμφωνοῦσα πρὸς τὴν νέαν καὶ ἡ καινὴ πρὸς τὴν παλαιὰν διαθήκην·

42.10.5 | But others, by their nature, are just as the gospel and the apostle have them, not changed by him, and able to refute him, through which it is shown that the old covenant agrees with the new, and the new with the old covenant.

42.10.6 | ἄλλαι δὲ πάλιν λέξεις τῶν αὐτῶν βιβλίων ὑποφαίνουσαι Χριστὸν ἐν σαρκὶ ἐληλυθέναι καὶ ἐν ἡμῖν τελείως ἐνηνθρωπηκέναι·

42.10.6 | But other words from the same books show Christ coming in the flesh and fully becoming human in us.

42.10.7 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἄλλαι πάλιν ὁμολογοῦσαι τὴν τῶν νεκρῶν ἀνάστασιν καὶ τὸν θεὸν ἓνα ὄντα κύριον πάντων παντοκράτορα, αὐτὸν ποιητὴν οὐρανοῦ καὶ γῆς καὶ πάντων τῶν ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς γενομένων, καὶ οὔτε παραχαράσσουν τοῦ εὐαγγελίου τὴν κλῆσιν οὔτε μὴ ἀρνούμεναι τὸν ποιητὴν καὶ δημιουργὸν τῶν πάντων, ἀλλὰ δηλοῦσαι τὸν σαφῶς ὁμολογημένον ὑπὸ τοῦ χαρακτήρος τοῦ ἀποστολικοῦ καὶ τοῦ εὐαγγελικοῦ κηρύγματος.

42.10.7 | But also others again confess the resurrection of the dead and that God is one, the lord of all, the almighty, the maker of heaven and earth and all things on the earth, and neither falsify the calling of the gospel nor deny the maker and creator of all, but show clearly what is confessed by the mark of the apostolic and gospel preaching.

42.10.8 | καὶ ἔστιν τὰ ἡμῖν πεπραγματευμένα ἐν ὑποκειμένοις παρατιθέμενα, ἅτινά ἐστι τάδε· Προοίμιον

42.10.8 | And there are things done by us, placed below, which are these: <lg><l>Introduction to the subject and

Section 11

42.11.1 | Ὅτι φίλον ἐστὶ τὰς τοῦ ἀπατηλοῦ τὰς ἐπιπλάστους τοῦ αὐτοῦ βουλήματος συλλεγεμένῳ πονήματι ἐντυχεῖν μὴ

42.11.1 | To anyone who loves to examine closely the false ideas of the deceitful Markion and to recognize the fake tricks of his same teaching, may they not hesitate to meet this collected work.

42.11.2 | ἐκ γὰρ τοῦ παρ' αὐτῷ εὐαγγελίου τοῦτο γυμνάσιον ὀξύτητος, πρὸς ἔλεγχον τῶν ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἐπινενοημένων ξενολεξιῶν.

42.11.2 | For from the gospel of him we have carefully placed what opposes his crafty trickery, so that those who want to meet the work may have this exercise of sharpness, for the testing of the strange words invented by him.

42.11.3 | ὁ μὲν γὰρ χαρακτήρ τοῦ κατὰ

42.11.3 | For the mark on the one according to Luke means the gospel; but since it is cut off, having neither a beginning nor middle nor end, it holds the way like a garment worn out by many seeds.

42.11.4 | εὐθύς μὲν γὰρ ἐν τῇ ἀρχῇ πάντα τὰ

Ζαχαρίου καὶ τῆς ἐν Βηθλεὲμ γεννήσεως, γενεαλογίας καὶ τῆς τοῦ βαπτίσματος ὑποθέσεως —

42.11.4 | For straight away at the beginning, all things from the start that Luke has done, that is, as he says, "since many have tried," and what follows, and about Elizabeth and the angel announcing to Mary the virgin, and about John and Zechariah, and the birth in Bethlehem, the genealogy, and the setting up of the baptism—

42.11.5 | ταῦτα πάντα περικόψας ἀπεπήδησεν καὶ ἀρχὴν τοῦ εὐαγγελίου

42.11.5 | Cutting all these things out, he jumped over them and set this as the 42.11.6 | From here then he begins and does not stay in order again, but cuts off some things as I said before, and adds others up and down, not walking straight but twisting everything around, and it is: a) “Go, show yourself to the priest and offer for your cleansing, as Moses commanded”; b) “So that this may be a witness to you,” instead of where the savior said to them as a witness;

c) “So that you may know that the Son of Man has authority to forgive sins on earth”;
d) “The Son of Man is lord of the Sabbath”; e) “Judas Iscariot, who became a traitor”; instead of “he went down with them,” it has “he went down in them”; f) “And all the crowd sought to touch him. And he, lifting up his eyes,” and what follows; g) “In the same way your fathers did to the prophets”; h) “I tell you, you will find no such faith in Israel”; i) The changed “Blessed is he who will not be offended in me,” for it was like to John; j) “He is the one of whom it is written: Behold, I send my angel before your face”; k) “And entering the house of the Pharisee he reclined. The woman standing behind, the sinner, wet his feet with her tears and anointed and kissed them”; and again “This one wet my feet with tears and anointed and kissed them”; l) It did not have “his mother and his brothers,” but “your mother and your brothers”; m) Many of them woke up; but he, having risen, rebuked the wind and the sea; n) “And it happened as he was going down, crowds pressed on him; and a woman touched him and was healed of her bleeding; and the Lord said, ‘Who touched me?’” and again, “Someone touched me, for I knew power went out from me”; o) “Looking up to heaven he blessed them”; p) “Saying, the Son for three loaves?” and further, “Ask and it will be given to you. For which of you, if a son asks his father for a fish, will give him a snake instead of a fish, or a scorpion instead of an egg? If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts, how much more the Father?”; x) The part about Jonah the prophet is cut off; it had “this generation will not be given a sign.” It did not have about Nineveh and the queen of the south and Solomon; y) Instead of “You pass by the judgment of God,” it had “You pass by the calling of God”; z) “Woe to you, for you build the tombs of the prophets, and your fathers killed them”; aa) It did not have “Therefore the wisdom of God said: I send them prophets,” nor about the blood of Zechariah and Abel and the prophets, that it will be demanded from this generation; ab) “I say to my friends: Do not fear those who kill the 42.11.8 | By his trickery, as also in the previously mentioned gospel, he inserted fragments of the true gospel, if one must speak the truth, but having cunningly devised everything, he mixed them in badly.

From the letter to the Romans, with him it is d, but in the apostolic it is a. a (28): "All who sinned without law will perish without law, and all who sinned under the law will be judged by the law. For it is not the hearers of the law who are righteous before God, but the doers of the law will be justified." b (29):
"Circumcision indeed is profitable if you keep the law; but if you are a lawbreaker, your circumcision has become uncircumcision." c (32): "Having the form of knowledge and truth in the law." d (31): "For Christ, while we were still weak, died at the right time for the ungodly." e (32): "So the law is holy, and the commandment is holy and just and good." f (33): "That the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us." g (34): "For the end of the law is Christ, unto righteousness for everyone who believes." h (35): "For the one who loves his neighbor has fulfilled the law." To the arrangement, cleverly made and in some words having a false addition, not for help, but for worse and harmful strange words against the sound faith from the very same mind that is thunderstruck.

42.11.13 | These things have been worked out and much meddled with by us from the scripture spoken before him, both of the apostle and of the gospel according to Luke, so that all who try might be able to know to speak against his error, that some changed words have been arranged by trickery,

42.11.14 | But whatever is not found in the proper places, taken away, exists because of his boldness; for these things seemed to the beastly one alone to be against his false mind.

42.11.15 | There is a third thing of ours in love of beauty: to gather together all that has been found both from him and from us, agreeing and having meaning about the bodily coming of the savior and the witness of agreement of the new with the old covenant, and the confession of the son of god in the gospel, confessing god as maker of heaven and earth, and him speaking in the law and in the prophets, and that this one is his own father.

42.11.17 | And so that the difficulties in it, darkly ignored by some, may not be brought in, again I will explain the numbers of the titles of the first, second, and third chapters in order, for the reason each word was examined and here changed. I will begin to speak thus: Commentary [a] from the gospel according to Markinus. [a.] “Go, show yourself to the priest and offer concerning your cleansing, as Moses commanded”; “that this may be a testimony to you” instead of what the savior said, “as a testimony to them.” Reproof [a]. How could the lord, who according to the law and according to the god of the law, having his teaching, as you say, speak to those healed by him, I say to the leper: “Go, show yourself to the priest”? For saying “priest” does not reject the priesthood of the law; “and offer concerning your cleansing,” even if you cut off “the gift,” it will appear from “offer” that it speaks about a gift: “concerning your cleansing, as Moses commanded.” For if the command of Moses advises to offer, it neither rejects nor blasphemes the god of the law, but agrees both himself and his father god, who gave the law to Moses. But you twisted the saying, Markion, instead of saying “as a testimony to them,” you say “a testimony to you.” And I will clearly refute this against your own head. For if he said “a testimony to you,” he would make him a false witness that “I did not come to abolish the law or the prophets, but to fulfill.” Commentary [b]. “So that you may know that the son of man has authority to forgive sins on earth.” Reproof [b]. If he calls himself the son of man, the only-begotten son of god does not deny his humanity, and it is vain for you to sing what seems to appear. And if he has authority on earth, the earth is not foreign to his works and to his father. Commentary [c]. “The son of man is lord also of the Sabbath.” Reproof [c]. Immediately two in one, both son of man and lord of the Sabbath, the savior confesses himself teaching, so that the Sabbath is not considered foreign to his work, even if the last son of man is called from the incarnation. Commentary [d]. “Judas Iscariot, who became a traitor.” Instead of “he went down with him,” it has “he went down among them.” Reproof [d]. Judas Iscariot, “who became a traitor.” Of whom, say. Certainly of the one seized, yes, and crucified and having suffered much. How then, seized, is he crucified, who does not fall under touch according to your word, Markion? For you say it is an appearance. Your suspicion will be refuted by the writing “Judas the traitor.” For he betrayed and handed over into the hands of men his own master. Nothing helped you to say “he went down among them” instead of “with them.” For you cannot imagine the one falling under touch later by touch, as you say. Commentary [e]. "And all the crowd sought to touch him. And he, lifting up his eyes" and what follows. Reproof [e]. How again could the crowd touch the one not having touch? And what eyes did he lift to the heavens, not fitting from the flesh? But to show that the mediator of god and men, the man Christ Jesus, having both, from men the flesh, and from god the father the invisible essence. Commentary [f]. "According to the same, your fathers did to the prophets." Reproof [f]. If he remembers prophets, he does not deny prophets; if he avenges the murder of the prophets and reproaches those who killed and persecuted, he is not a stranger to the prophets, but their god, who made their assembly. Commentary [g]. "I say to you, such faith not even in Israel was found." Reproof [g]. If not even in Israel such faith was found as in the centurion coming from the nations, then the faith of Israel does not shine. For if he was of a foreign god and not of his and his father, he would not make this praise. Commentary [h]. Changed is "Blessed is the one who will not be offended in me"; for it was as to John. Reproof [h]. Even if it was as to John, or to the savior himself, he blesses those not offended, either in him or in John, so that they do not make for themselves what they do not hear from him. But he has a greater vision, for which the savior naturally said: "that no one may consider greater than John the one appointed among those born of women," and he is greater in the kingdom, clearly as god of him. For the only-begotten did not come to speak secretly or to flee from his own preaching. For he says, "I am the way and the truth." Therefore, neither the way has error nor the truth, hiding itself, speaks falsehood. Commentary [i]. "He is the one concerning whom it is written: Behold, I send my angel before your face.” Reproof [i].

 If the only-begotten son of god knows John and foreknows, and foreknowing shows to those willing to know the truth that this is the one concerning whom it is written “I send my angel before your face,” then the one who wrote and said “I send my angel before your face,” the eternal god, who spoke in the prophets and in the law, was not a stranger to his own son Jesus Christ.
 For he sends his angel before his face, before the son honored by the father. For he did not send his angel to a stranger servant, who was opposed to him according to your word, Markion. Commentary [j]. “And entering the house of the Pharisee, he reclined. And the woman standing behind, the sinful one, wet his feet with tears and anointed and kissed.” Reproof [j]. The “entering” shows body; for house shows also a part of the body. And reclining is nothing else, for it shows the one having bulk lying down. And the woman wetting the feet with tears is not imaginary feet nor appearance; for she anointed and wet and kissed, perceiving the touch of the body. Commentary [k]. And again: “She wet my feet with tears and anointed and kissed.” Reproof [k]. So that you do not think, Markion, that only among men the sinful woman wet and anointed and kissed the feet of the savior, the savior himself confirms that these things happened not by appearance but from truth, to rebuke the Pharisee and you, Markion, and those against you, insisting and saying “she anointed and kissed my feet.” But what feet except those from flesh and bones and the rest? Commentary [l]. “He did not have ‘his mother and his brothers,’ but only ‘your mother and your brothers.’” Reproof [l].
 Even if you cut off the explicit saying of the gospel, so that you make the evangelist not agree with what is said by some words “your mother and your brothers,” you cannot surpass the truth. For why did he not call many mothers? Why did he not say many fathers? How many say many things about Homer? Some say Egyptian, others Chian, others Colophonian, others Phrygian, others Smyrnian, Meletus and Critheis; but those about Aristarchus said Athenian; others Lydian of Maios, others Cyprian of Propodiades, a neighbor of the Salaminian district, yet a man. Because he was born among many fathers, he led many into different opinions. But speaking about god and Christ, they did not take many mothers, but the one truly having born him, and not many brothers, but the sons of Joseph from his truly other wife; and you cannot arm yourself against the truth. And do not be deceived by the saying, which the lord said: “Who is my mother and my brothers?” For he did not deny the mother, but overturned the untimely of what was said, so great a crowd standing around and his saving teaching being poured out and he himself on the healings and the preaching made him say “Behold your mother and your brothers.” And if not because of joy he allowed it (not as not knowing that they mocked before hearing, but fully knowing that they stood outside), since he overturned with rebuke the untimely voice of what was said, as he once said to Peter, “Get behind me, Satan, because you do not think the things of god but the things of men.” Commentary [m]. “When they increased, he fell asleep; but rising, he rebuked the wind and the sea.” Reproof [m]. Who fell asleep, say. You do not dare to speak about deity; if you say it, you contradict yourself and blaspheme. But it is clear to everyone that the one truly made man needed sleep because of the bodily nature. For those who woke him did not see an appearance but true humanity. Moving hands carelessly and shouting testify that they woke him. "For he rose," he says, the god having flesh, the one coming down from heaven and clothing himself with flesh for us, "he rose" as man, "he rebuked" as god the sea and made calm. Commentary [n]. "And it happened as he went away, the crowds pressed upon him. And a woman having touched him was healed of her blood, and the lord said, 'Who touched me?'" And again, "Someone touched me. For I knew power went out from me." Reproof [n]. "As he was going away," and he did not say "as he was going away from him," so that he would not form him otherwise than the following followers. But "the crowds pressed upon him" — the spirit the crowds could not press. And the woman touched and was healed, not touching air but human touch. So that he shows that not only the touch of his body was made by the woman, he teaches by saying "Who touched me? For I knew power went out from me." Commentary [o]. "Looking up to heaven, he blessed them." Reproof [o]. If he looked up to heaven and blessed them, he would not have had the shapes of eyes and other limbs. Commentary [p]. "Saying, the son of man must suffer many things and be killed and after three days rise." Reproof [p]. If the only-begotten son of god confesses himself son of man and to suffer and be killed, this axe is to cut off all your root, Markion born of thorns and dry cloud, a barren and autumnal tree. For he says again "and after three days rise." What is the rising but the one having suffered and buried in the tomb? Appearance or wind or spirit or fantasy did not bring about burial and resurrection. Commentary [q]. "And behold, two men talked with him, Elijah and Moses in glory." Reproof [q]. Perhaps, I think, through these words the sickle of holy Zacharias is shaped against you, Markion, cutting off all your falsehood invented against the law and prophets. For since you were about to reject law and prophets, claiming them alien to the savior and his glory and his inspired teaching, he brought both with him in his own glory and showed to his disciples, and the disciples to us and the world, that is to every man willing to live, so that through the first as a sickle you cut the roots, and through the second as a sickle of the word of truth you cut off your branches, which make chaff and deadly to men, a slimy poison of blasphemy. For if Moses was alien, who long ago believed in the law under Christ, and the prophets were alien, he would not have revealed them with him in his own glory. For see the wonder, that he showed them neither in the tomb nor by the cross, but when he revealed the part of his glory as a pledge to us, then he brought the saints, Moses and Elijah, with him, so that he might show the same as heirs of his kingdom.

Commentary [r]. “From the cloud a voice: This is my beloved son.” Reproof [r]. It is clear to everyone that the cloud is not highest nor above heaven, but in the creation around us, from where the voice was carried to the savior. If therefore the father speaks also in the cloud, showing to the disciples his son, the creator is not another, but the same, who through the cloud testified to his own son and not to the lords above heaven alone, as you say.

Commentary [s]. “I prayed for your disciples.” It had after “they could not cast it out” “and to them: O unbelieving generation, how long will I bear with you?” Reproof [s]. The “how long” is a sign of the bodily presence of time, and the “O unbelieving generation,” as of the prophets working signs in his name and believing, as Elijah is found doing, and Elisha and the others.

Commentary [t]. "For the son of man is about to be delivered into the hands of men." Reproof [t]. The emphasis of son of man and being delivered into the hands of men is not of appearance or fantasy, but of body and limbs seen. Commentary [u]. "Did you not read what David did? He entered the house of god." Reproof [u]. If the house of god means the house of the tabernacle made by Moses, it does not reject the law nor the god who dwells in the law. For he says god who is his father, or the only-begotten himself.
 For the trinity is accustomed to work in law and prophets and gospels and apostles.
 Commentary [v]. "I thank you, lord of heaven." It did not have "and earth" nor "father." It is refuted: for below it had "yes, the father." Reproof [v]. He thanks the lord of heaven, even if you remove "and earth" and cut off "father," so that you do not show the father of him saying the creator, Markion. For the members of truth remain alive. Just as you left in a fragment forgotten, Markion, the "yes, the father." It is proven then that Christ thanks his own father and calls him lord of heaven and does not deny him. And great is your madness, not understanding the journey of truth.
 Commentary [w]. He said to the lawyer, "What is written in the law?" And answering after the lawyer's answer, he said, "You have answered rightly. Do this and you will live." Reproof [w]. The son of god being truth deceived none asking about life; for he came for the life of men. Therefore, caring for life and showing the law to the one keeping it, and the one answering according to the law said rightly and "do this and live," who would be so thunderstruck as to obey Markion, blaspheming god and the law and the grace of the gospel given to men, and to be carried away with him who has neither law nor holy spirit in his teaching?

Commentary [x]. And he said, "Who of you having a friend will go to him at midnight asking for three loaves?" And further, "Ask and it will be given. For who of you, the son of a father, will ask for a fish and give him a serpent instead of a fish, or a scorpion instead of an egg? If then you, being evil, know how to give good gifts, how much more the father?" Reproof [x]. The voluntary shamelessness of the state is refuted by this saying. For the state is not by self-control nor by good reward and hope of struggle, but by impiety and ill temper of evil suspicion. For this one teaches not to partake, saying those partaking of flesh are guilty in the judgment, as if eating souls. The whole is foolish. For the soul is not the flesh, but the soul is in the flesh, and we do not say the soul in animals is as precious as in men, but soul is only for living the animal. This is falsely assumed by many heresies. For Valentinus and Colorbasus, all Gnostics and Manichaeans, say the soul is transfused and reincarnated in ignorance of men, as they say by some myth; they say it returns and reincarnates into each animal until it knows and is purified and changed to the heavenly. First, his whole myth is refuted. For no one else can know the truth beyond our lord Jesus Christ, who came for the lost sheep, that is for the souls of men; who caring for them healed bodily and spiritually, as lord of body and soul and giver of life here and the coming life; those who died, I say Lazarus and the son of the widow and the daughter of the chief synagogue raised from the dead, not bringing them to evil, as they dogmatize the body to be corrupt, but doing good and knowing that the life here in flesh is appointed by him and the coming resurrection of flesh and soul. And if he knew that one soul is in animals and men, and came to save the soul, he should not have ordered one cleansed and demon-possessed (I mean the one coming out of the tombs) to command the demons to go away and kill two thousand pigs, if the souls of men and pigs were equal. For how caring for one, he destroyed two thousand? And if again as a serpent he twisted, contriving and saying he freed them from bodies so they might go up, Lazarus freed from the body should not return to the body, but rather the demon-possessed should be freed from the bonds of the body. But he did not do so; he rather foresaw the body knowing what was profitable. Your word about soul fell, Markion, and those like you and other heresies. And again about your pretended state I will speak, because you say it is evil and unlawful to partake of flesh. The savior refutes you, knowing better and teaching better than such a saying; for he says, "Who of you will ask for a fish and not give him a serpent instead of a fish or a scorpion instead of an egg?" And later he says, "If you being evil know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more your heavenly father?" If then he called good gifts fish and egg, it is not evil to partake with thanksgiving given from god, and your ill temper is refuted everywhere. Commentary [y]. He cut off the part about Jonah the prophet. For it had "this generation will not be given a sign." It did not have about Nineveh and the queen of the south and Solomon. Reproof [y]. And in these you cannot cut off, Markion, to escape the truth. For if you remove the part about Jonah the prophet, which signifies the economy of the savior, and remove also the part about the queen of the south and Solomon and Nineveh, the saving plan and the preaching of Jonah, the very preceding word of the savior refutes you. For he says, "This generation asks for a sign, and no sign will be given to it,” as of the signs given by god from heaven to the generation before this; as Elijah made a sign by fire coming down from heaven and taking the sacrifice, and Moses cut the sea, and Joshua of Naue made the sun and moon stand still. And in every way, even if the deceiver hides the written, he harms not the truth but alienates himself from the truth. Commentary [z]. Instead of “you pass over the judgment of god,” it had “you pass over the calling of god.” Reproof [z]. Where do you not refute, and where does not the testimony gather against you? For the first agree with the later, refuting your trickery. If he says, “You break the traditions of your elders and pass over the mercy and judgment of god,” learn from what time he blames them for doing this, and when the tradition became theirs of the elders, and you will find that of Adda after the return from Babylon, of Akiba and before the Babylonian captivity, of the sons of Asmonaeus in the times of Alexander and Antiochus, a hundred ninety years before the coming of Christ. So at least from then by law was judgment and by prophets mercy, and your deceitful word falls everywhere.

Commentary [aa]. “Woe to you, for you build the tombs of the prophets, and your fathers killed them.” Reproof [aa]. If he cares for the prophets, reproaching those who killed them, the prophets were not strangers but servants sent by him and the father and the holy spirit, preparing for his incarnation, and they testified in the new covenant.
Moses says, “The lord will raise up for you a prophet like me,” and before him Jacob says, up, you slept; a ruler will not fail from Judah,” and shortly after, “Until he comes to whom the things are laid up, and he is the

And in this you have great shame, Markion, of the character of truth being preserved and of your cuttings of the stolen places found and taken from you and refuted. Commentary [ac]. “I say to my friends, do not fear those who kill the body, but fear the one who after killing has authority to throw into hell.” It did not have “Have not five been lost before god?” Reproof [ac]. The saying “I say to my friends, do not fear those who kill the body, but fear the one having authority after killing the body to throw the soul into hell,” forces you, Markion, to confess the rest of the parable. For without god nothing happens, even if you remove the part about sparrows. Defend then about what you left out, Markion, and answer us what you think about the one having authority to cast out. For if you say he is the father of Christ, the good god called by you, even if you divide badly, you still hold the part about the father. But if you say not this one, but the creator, the judge by nature singing, tell me who gave him the authority? For if he has it by himself, then he is great and has authority; if he has authority to judge, also to save. For the one able to judge can also release. Or else, if the good god throwing souls into hell is not saving them, caring for souls everywhere, would he be good? Or that he can but does not want? He can be saved from hell, but does not want; and where is goodness? But if, since he made all, he has authority and judges, how does the upper god you make up save some partially? For if he saves from others, you make him partial, not good to all but partially. Commentary [ad]. Instead of “he will confess before the angels of god,” it says “before god.” Reproof [ad]. He is refuted everywhere not going according to god, even if he changes the truth in a very short saying. For whoever dares to change what is written from the beginning does not stand in the way of truth. Commentary [ae]. It did not have “God clothes the grass.” Reproof [ae]. Even if you do not allow the written as said by the savior, the places in the gospel of the holy church are preserved, even if you deny god the all-making and caring for all by his word, even to the grass, and confessed by the savior. Commentary [af]. “But your father knows that you need these,” meaning bodily things. Reproof [af]. The father knows that the disciples will need bodily things and provides for such. He provides not in another age but here, not making the provision of his servants in strangers but in those created by him. Commentary [ag]. “Seek the kingdom of god, and all these things will be added to you.” Reproof [ag]. If we are nourished by another and another god of the kingdom of heaven exists, how then will the word agree? For either these things are his and the kingdom is his; therefore he adds all these things, which are his, because of the toil of desire for his kingdom; or the kingdom and the other age are his, and the creator’s are these things, and the creator consents to the upper kingdom, sharing those seeking the righteousness of the upper kingdom. Since there is one good will and not differing, no longer are there two or three principles; for truly there is one god who made all, made well and not contrary. Our sinning and falling is in willing and not willing. Commentary [ah]. Instead of "your father is your father," it had. Reproof [ah]. And in this you do no wrong, but confirm. For by confessing the savior to care for the father here, you confirm him. Commentary [ai]. Instead of the second or third watch, it had the evening watch. Reproof [ai]. The beastly one is refuted, having twisted the divine words to his own suspicion. For the watches are not daily but nightly, from evening to the first watch of the advance, not from dawn to evening, as he wanders, tricking. Commentary [aj]. Who is the one cutting the servant? Say. If the creator and his part will put with the unbelievers. Reproof [aj]. The god spoken by you who will do this, his are the faithful; for punishing the servant who does not do well, he puts his part with the unbelievers. If the father of Christ is or Christ himself who will do this, clearly you watch the testimony against yourself, confessing that Christ or his father will do this, undoubtedly confessing the same judge, the same good, and one, the one caring for both here and there. Commentary [ak]. Do not ever be dragged to the judge, and the judge will deliver you to the agent. Reproof [ak]. You call the creator judge, and each of his angels agent, who will demand from sinners what they have done. But what else than sins and mistakes, which even Jesus abhors, do you say to forbid? If then the good god abhors, and the judge and creator abhor the same, he is one and the same, shown by the work and the one goodness. Commentary [al]. It was cut off from the coming of some shining to him about the

Galileans, whose blood Pilate mingled with their sacrifices, up to where it speaks about the ten in Siloam and eight dying in the tower, and “unless you repent” and what follows to the parable of the fig tree, about which the farmer said he digs and puts dung, and if it does not bear fruit, cut it off. Reproof [al]. The thief made this removal, hiding the truth from himself, because the lord agreed with the just judge those things to Pilate and that those in Siloam died sinners and were thus punished by god. And when some craftily make royal commands, refuted are the fools by the copies from the archives, safely kept. So also from the royal house, that is the holy church, the gospel spoken refutes those destroying the good garments, the pigs. Commentary [am]. This daughter of Abraham, whom Satan bound. Reproof [am]. If the lord cares for the daughter of Abraham, the Abraham is not alien. For he confesses that he is pleased with him, showing pity to his daughter. Commentary [an]. He cut off again “then you will see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of god,” and instead made “when you see all the righteous in the kingdom of god, and you thrown out” — but he made “outside,” where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth. Reproof [an]. How the traces of truth appear. For no one can hide the way. He can deceive men and hide it from the ignorant, but from those who have tried it, impossible. For he cannot make the earth where the way was vanish. Even if he darkens it, the place of the way remaining is refuted by those knowing the one who made the way a trick. See then the traces of the following. For to whom was this word said but to the Jews? And if to the Jews, he already showed them inside and throwing out from the righteous. Who then are these but their fathers,

Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and the prophets? For he did not say you will see Abraham entering and you not entering, but see the righteous in the kingdom, and you thrown out. And about the thrown out he spoke futurally, but about the righteous already showed them not strangers according to the flesh nor the calling, but called with them, and already justified before his incarnation. And if remaining outside, as the fathers inside, whence is the gnashing of teeth in judgment, fool, if there is no resurrection of bodies? Commentary [ao]. He cut off again “they will come from east and west and recline in the kingdom, and the last will be first,” and “the Pharisees coming saying, go out and go, for Herod wants to kill you,” and he said, “Go and say to that fox, until where he said no prophet will arise outside Jerusalem,” and “Jerusalem, the one killing the prophets and stoning the sent ones,” and “I often wanted to gather your children as a hen,” and “I leave your house to you,” and “you will not see me until you say blessed.” Reproof [ao]. See such boldness; how much removal of the gospel? As if someone takes a living being and cuts off half the body and tries to persuade the ignorant with half, saying it is such a living being and nothing is removed from it. Commentary [ap]. Again he cut off all the slander of the two sons, the one having the part of the existing and spending recklessly and the other. Reproof [ap]. Nothing will change the following of trickery from those daring before. But the harm comes on himself, the truth against god being weakened. Commentary [aq]. The law and the prophets until John and all are forced into it. Reproof [aq]. If he calls law and prophets and does not mean lawlessness, nor calls the prophets false, it is clearly confessed that the savior was testified by the prophets and shown that they prophesied about him. Commentary [ar]. About the rich man and Lazarus the poor, that he was comforted by angels in Abraham’s bosom. Reproof [ar]. Behold, even in life and blessed and in the inheritance of rest is Abraham by the lord.

 Therefore, Markion blasphemes Abraham, knowing his master and saying to him, “Lord, the judge of all the earth.” For behold, by this lord he was testified to be righteous and not alien to the life restored by the savior. Commentary [as]. Now Lazarus is comforted. Reproof [as]. If Lazarus is comforted in Abraham’s bosom, Abraham is not outside the comfort of life. Commentary [at]. Abraham said, “They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them,” since they will not listen even to the one raised from the dead. Reproof [at]. Not as still in the world and as deceived, Abraham testifies to the law of Moses and the prophets, not as not knowing what will come from them, but after the rest there. For after death he is testified by the savior in the parable to have gained salvation by the law and prophets, and having done these before the law.
 Likewise those after who kept the law and obeyed the prophets go to his bosom and to life with him; one was Lazarus, who by law and prophets was worthy of the living bosom of Abraham’s blessedness.
 Commentary [au]. He cut off “You say we are useless servants; what we ought to do we have done.” Reproof [au]. And the safety of the lord’s teaching does not accept. For securing his disciples so that they do not lose the reward of the work through pride, he admonishes humility. But he does not accept this; for he was blind in all and not in truth. Commentary [av]. When the ten lepers did other things instead. Saying that many lepers were in the days of Elisha the prophet and none was cleansed except Naaman the Elisha prophet and himself fulfilling the things equally foretold by him, to refute Markion and all denying god’s prophets.

Commentary [aw]. “Days will come when you will desire to see one of the halves of the son of man.” Reproof [aw]. He counts days and years and calls himself son of man, so he showed the measure of age and days of preaching. Therefore, the word is not without flesh, but the good pleasure is in body. Commentary [ax]. “Someone said to him, Teacher, good one, what must I do to inherit eternal life? He said, Do not call me good. One is good, god.” He added there “the father,” and instead of “you know the commandments,” he says “I know the commandments.” Reproof [ax]. So that he does not show the commandments already written, he says “I know the commandments.” The whole chapter is clear from the following. And if he calls the father good and god, he rightly teaches from the law of his father the one wishing to inherit life, and does not reject nor push away, but rather confirms those living in the law to have inherited eternal life, Moses and the other prophets. Commentary [ay]. “And it happened as he approached Jericho, a blind man cried out, ‘Jesus, son of David, have mercy on me.’ And when he was healed, he said, ‘Your faith has saved you.’” Reproof [ay]. In faith there is no lie. For if he lies, it is not faith. For he says “Son of David,” and the one confessing the name is praised and not rebuked as a liar but blessed as faithful.
Therefore, the one granted to the blind to and born by the holy spirit. Commentary [az]. He cut off “Taking the twelve, he said, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and all things written by the prophets about the son of man will be fulfilled. For he will be delivered and killed and on the third day will rise.” He cut off all these. Reproof [az]. So that he may not stand upright in anything, nor be refuted tricking in every way. He hid the sufferings, so that he might deny the passion. Later, confessing him crucified, the pain of trickery will be in vain for him. Commentary [ba]. He cut off the chapter about the donkey and Bethphage and about the city and the temple, because it was written, “My house will be called a house of prayer, but you make it a den of robbers.” Reproof [ba]. The evil does not see its own refutation, for it blinds. It thinks it can hide the way of truth, which is impossible. For it immediately leapt, leaving out all the chapters before, because the place testified of the temple being his own and built in his name, and leaving all the following journey from Jericho, how he came to Bethphage. For by nature it was an old road leading to Jerusalem through the Mount of Olives, not unknown to those who record the place. But so that the trickster hiding the things happening on the way and in the temple spoken by the savior before this word may be refuted, I say “My house will be called a house of prayer,” and what follows as the prophecy has it. Commentary [bb]. “And they sought to lay hands on him, and they feared.” Reproof [bb]. It was seen and explained in the previous refutation with the phrase, with a summary of what was fitting. Commentary [bc]. Again he cut off the parts about the vineyard given to the farmers and “What then is the stone rejected by the builders?” Reproof [bc]. This will not harm us. from us but harmed himself and his own. For the refutation against him is sufficient by many testimonies. Commentary [bd]. He cut off "But concerning the resurrection of the dead, Moses showed on the bush, as he calls the lord the god of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob. But god is of the living, not of the dead." Reproof [bd]. Marvel at the foolishness of the fool, how he does not understand that this testimony is equal to that of Lazarus the poor and the parable of those not forgiven entering the kingdom. Of these parables he left the remains and did not cut off, but left "There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth" for his shame. The finger wet in water after the release from here because of Lazarus, and the gnashing of teeth said by the rich man to Abraham because of Lazarus, and the gnashing of teeth and weeping is a sign of resurrection of bodies, even if the beast cuts off the places about resurrection of the dead spoken truly by the lord. Commentary [be]. It did not have these "But the dead rise, and Moses showed saying god of Abraham and god of Isaac and god of Jacob is god of the living." Reproof [be]. Because he wanted to belittle the savior, we twice insert some of the written things. Already in the above refutation the objection against his trickery was made. Commentary [bf]. Again he cut off "A hair of your head will not perish." Reproof [bf]. Commentary [bg]. Again he cut off "Then those in Judea should flee to the mountains" and what follows, because of the things brought in the saying "Until all the written is fulfilled." Reproof [bg]. It seems he has acquired forgetfulness, perhaps all foolish, and does not know that even if a small saying is left by him, it makes refutation, and each of many sayings cut off by him. Nothing therefore will hinder the one willing to oppose these cut-off testimonies the things confessed by him. For it will be shown according to these cuttings of him in which Abraham said after death, "They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them." For what the prophets and Moses said was from god the father and from him the lord son of god and the holy spirit, which were rightly written to be fulfilled. Commentary [bh]. "He conferred with the captains how he would betray him to them." Reproof [bh]. O madness of Markion! "He conferred," who else but Judas? What else to do but betray the savior? But the savior being betrayed is no longer an appearance but truth. For if he were only spirit, he would not be betrayed to fleshly men. But being man, having become by touch, clothing himself in flesh, he willingly handed himself over into hands of human nature. The contrary they say out of ignorance. For once talking with some of his disciples to a Markionist and saying that in the gospel it has that he took the spirit into the desert to be tempted by the devil, I heard from him how Satan could tempt the god being and his consort and lord (as you say) Jesus his master. I answered him with the help of god from underground, saying, "Do you not believe that Christ was crucified?" And he said, "Yes," and did not deny. "Who crucified him?" I said. "Men." Then I said to him, "Who is stronger, men or the devil?" And he said, "The devil." When he said this, I answered, "If the devil is stronger than men, and men the weaker crucified Christ, it is no wonder if he was tempted by the devil." For Christ gave himself willingly and not by necessity for us, suffering in truth, not by weakness but by choice, as a sign for us and against the devil, and for our salvation in the passion of the cross, for the condemnation of sin and the defeat of death. Commentary [bi]. "And he said to Peter and the rest, 'Go and prepare that we may eat the Passover.'" Reproof [bi]. A cloud of arrows is against you in one testimony, Markion. For if he commands to prepare to eat the Passover, and the Passover was celebrated before Christ suffered, it certainly had the establishment of the law. And according to the law of Christ it was clear that he did not come to abolish the law but to fulfill it. And if a king does not abolish the law, the law's arrangement is not profaned nor disobeyed by the king. Since the law and the arrangement are acknowledged, if the king adds to the arrangement a greater gift, the addition is made by authority. Since the law and the gift according to addition are of one and the same legislation, it is clear to everyone that the old covenant is not contrary to the gospel nor the following of the prophets. But against you, Markion, you brought many refutations, rather forced by the truth itself. For the old Passover was nothing but a lamb sacrifice and meat food, with living participation with unleavened bread. And who forced you not to remove completely your refutation against yourself or (as I said) the truth? For the lord Jesus ate with his disciples, fulfilling the Passover according to the law. And do not say that when he was about to fulfill the mystery, he said beforehand, "I want to eat the Passover with you." So that the truth may shame you in every way, he does not do the mystery at the beginning, so that he may not deny, but he says, "After we have eaten," and "this is this and that," and he did not leave any place for trickery. For he showed that after eating the Passover according to the Jews, that is after the meal, he came to the mystery. Commentary [bj]. "And the twelve apostles reclined with him, and he said, 'With desire I desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer.'" Reproof [bj]. The savior reclined, Markion, and the twelve apostles with him.

 If he reclined and they reclined with him, one word cannot have one meaning and another, even if in value and manner there is difference. For either you will say the twelve seemed to recline or that he truly having flesh truly reclined. And "With desire I desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer," to show the Passover before his passion in the law, foreshadowing and becoming the confirmation of his passion and more perfect calling. And showing, as the holy apostle says, "The law became a tutor to us for Christ." If the law is a tutor to Christ, the law is not alien to Christ.
 Commentary [bk]. He cut off "For I say to you, I will not eat it until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of god." Reproof [bk]. He took this away and tricked, so that he may not do it in the kingdom of god food or drink. Not knowing the beast that the earthly things can be spiritual and heavenly, partaking as we do not know. For the savior testifies again and says, "You will sit at my table eating and drinking in the kingdom of heaven." Or he cut off again these, so that he may make those in the law have no place in the kingdom of heaven. Whence then did Elijah and Moses appear with him on the mountain in glory? But no one will be able against the truth. Commentary [bl]. He cut off "When I sent you, did you lack anything?" and what follows because of "And this written must be fulfilled, and he was counted with the lawless." Reproof [bl]. Even if you cut off the words, from the work the places appear, the law going before and the prophets proclaiming and the lord fulfilling.
 Commentary [bm]. "He was taken away as a stone cast, and kneeling he prayed." Reproof [bm]. Kneeling he placed visibly and sensibly performed the act of kneeling; therefore the only-begotten did not dwell without flesh.

For to him “every knee shall bow in heaven and on earth and under the earth,” in heaven spiritually, on earth visibly, under the earth in his own form. So he fulfilled all in truth, being seen and found by touch to the disciples and not appearing. Commentary [bn]. “And Judas approached to kiss him and said.” Reproof [bn]. He approached a master truly having flesh and god having taken a body, to kiss true lips and not seeming and appearing. Commentary [bo]. He cut off what Peter did when he struck and cut off the ear of the servant of the high priest. Reproof [bo]. Seeming to honor Peter, the deceiver hides what truly happened of the praise of the savior by cutting the saying. But it will not help; for after cutting off the ear the lord took it again and healed it, so that it may be shown that he is god and did a work of god. Commentary [bp]. “Those holding him mocked, beating and striking and saying, ‘Prophecy, who hit you?’” Reproof [bp]. That those holding and mocking and beating and striking and saying “Who hit you?” was not an appearance but a touch of the body and a sign of fleshly existence, and it is clear to everyone, even if you are blind, Markion, not willing to confess the clear truth of god. Commentary [bq]. He added after “This one we found perverting the nation” “and destroying the law and the prophets.” Reproof [bq]. How will he not be exposed, how will he not be refuted perverting the way of the lord? For when you add here the unrecorded, you slander yourself — for I would not say the lord — and saying “This one we found perverting the people, saying he is Christ king,” the opposite of this refutes you, foolish one, saying the savior “I did not come to abolish the law and the prophets but to fulfill.” Therefore the same one saying “I did not come to abolish” cannot be accused of Commentary [br]. Addition after "commanding not to give taxes" "and turning away wives and children." Reproof [br]. Who makes for himself a precipice, fulfilling the written, "Who is evil to himself, what good will he be?" For every example of evil and danger of journey is to cut off the written and add what is not written, especially in the gospel unbreakable forever. And these of addition have neither place nor riddle. For Jesus did not turn away wives or children; for he said "Honor your father and mother" and "What god joined, let no man separate." But if he says "If anyone does not leave father and mother and brothers and wife and children and the rest, he is not my disciple," not to hate fathers, but not to be led by fathers and mothers by command of another faith or way contrary to the teaching of the savior. Commentary [bs].

"And coming to the place called Skull, they crucified him and divided his clothes, and the sun was darkened." Reproof [bs]. Glory to the merciful god, who bound your chariots, Pharaoh Markion, and wanting you to escape drowning them in the sea. For he having no flesh cannot be crucified. How did you not flee this great saying? How did you not try to hide this great matter, which destroyed all your contrived trickery from the beginning? For if he was crucified, how do you not see the crucified having touch and hands and feet fastened with nails? It could not be an appearance or phantom, as you say, but truly a body, which the lord took from Mary (flesh by nature ours and bones and the rest), since it is confessed also by you to have been crucified. Commentary paradise." Reproof [bt]. You rightly and fittingly cut this off, Markion; for you took from yourself the entrance to paradise. For neither will you enter nor will you allow those with you. For by nature those wandering and deceived hate the good.

 Commentary [bu]. “And crying out with a loud voice, he breathed his last.” Reproof [bu]. If he breathed his last, Markion, and gave a loud voice, whence did he breathe out or what was breathed out? It is clear, even if you do not say, that the soul with the deity went out from the body, the body remaining breathless, as truth has it. Commentary [bv].
 “And behold, a man named Joseph took down the body, wrapped it in linen, and laid it in a tomb hewn out.” Reproof [bv]. If “taking down” and “wrapping” and “laying in a hewn tomb” do not persuade you, Markion, who is more foolish than you? What else more clear did the scripture have to show, when it showed the tomb and the place and the form and the position of the body for three days and the wrapping of the linen, to show the whole truth? Commentary [bw].
 “And returning, the women rested on the Sabbath according to the law.” Reproof [bw].
 Whence did the women return? And why is “rested” written, but to show the scripture’s testimony, refuting your folly, Markion?
 Behold, women testify and apostles and Jews and angels and Joseph, who truly took down and wrapped the body. Who will adorn himself who condemns himself twisting as it is written? Commentary [bx]. “Those in bright clothing said, ‘Why do you seek the living among the dead? He has risen; remember what he said while still with you, that the son of man must suffer and be delivered.’” Reproof [bx]. Even these holy angels do not persuade you, Markion, confessing that he was between the dead for three days, but living thereafter and no longer dead, always living in deity and not at all dead, dead according to the flesh for three days and again living. For they say to them, “He has risen, he is not here.” But what is the rising if not that he also slept? For they tell more clearly, “Remember, he said these things to you still living, that the son of man must suffer.” Commentary [by]. He cut off what was said to Cleopas and the other when he met them, “O foolish and slow to believe all that the prophets spoke; was it not necessary to suffer these things?” And instead of “On these things the prophets spoke to you,” he made “On what I spoke to you.” He is refuted because “When he broke the bread, their eyes were opened and they recognized him.” Reproof [by]. Whence was the breaking of the bread? Say, Markion, from fantasy or from a body working truly?

For rising from the dead in his holy body he rose in truth. But you made, Markion, instead of “Is it not these things that the prophets spoke?” “Is it not these things that I spoke to you?” If he said to them “I spoke to you,” they would know him from the word “I spoke to you.” How then in the breaking of the bread does he say, “Their eyes were opened and they recognized him and he vanished”? For it was fitting for him being god to change his body into spiritual, showing it to be true body and vanishing when he wished, because all things are possible for him. For even Elisha, being a prophet and having received grace from god, asked god to strike those seeking him with blindness, and they were struck and did not see him as he was. But also in Sodom the angels hid the door of Lot, and the Sodomites did not see it. Is not the door of Lot an appearance, Markion? You have no reply. For he clearly broke the bread and gave it to his disciples. Commentary [bz].

my feet, that spirit has no bones as you see

If he did not confess these things from him, his deception was plausible and his followers had forgiveness; but now since he confessed and did not remove these sayings, they read them also, and his sin and theirs remain, and his and theirs fire is unremovable to the unrepentant, clearly taught by the savior that even after resurrection he has bones and flesh, as he himself testified saying “As you see me having.”

does these will live in them.” Reproof a1: The “know that the righteous will live by faith” is according to what the apostle said from the old scripture, which is from the apostle for our life, spoken from the law and the prophets about the new covenant and the partner of our hope. And the “under a curse” means that in the law there was a threat against Adam’s disobedience, until the one from above came and, clothing himself in a body from Adam’s seed, changed the curse into a blessing. Commentary b2: “Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree.” “But the one from the promise, through freedom.” Reproof b2: The holy apostle again shows the plan of the incarnation and the cross in breaking the curse, which was foretold in the scripture, clearly showing that the law of the scripture is not alien. For it prophesied and testified to those who belong to him. Commentary c3: “I testify again that a man who is circumcised is a debtor to keep the whole law.” Reproof c3: The “is a debtor” no longer speaks as about a burden, but about a heavier load that can be lightened, one being master, able both to weigh down and to lighten through the choice of those not refusing to accept salvation through his grace in his incarnation. Commentary d4: Instead of “a little yeast leavens the whole dough,” he made “tricks.” Reproof d4: So that nothing true might be found with him, almost nowhere without easy work has he added to the scriptures. But from this sequence the meaning of the word appears; for yeast is the form of dough’s work and from the dough the leavening, and the original would not have shown the form if he had wisely made the parable of the riddle. Commentary e5: “For the whole law is fulfilled in this: You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” Reproof e5: Who needs the holy apostle to use the law if the new covenant has alienated the old law? But to show that the two covenants of the one God and the agreement according to the fulfilling of the law through love of neighbor are balanced in the two covenants, the perfect work of the law he called love. Commentary f6: “Now the works of the flesh are clear, which are fornication, uncleanness, licentiousness, idolatry, sorcery, hatred, strife, jealousy, anger, factions, divisions, heresies, envy, drunkenness, carousing, which I forewarn you, as I also said before, that those who do such things will not inherit the kingdom of God.” Reproof f6: O wonderful mysteries and opposite examples of God. For the flesh brought upon all these evils. But the flesh was not always; but on the sixth day of creation, when Adam was made, the flesh came to be; from then it had a beginning, I say from creation, so that those saying evil always and from the beginning might be refuted. For neither was the flesh made sinful, so that the maker might be blamed for sin, making sinful flesh, nor was evil before the creation. But after time, in disobedience, Adam, having free will, chose sin for himself, I say, making the disobedience of his master through disobedience. Where then was evil before the flesh existed? And how did it not immediately produce evil when made, but only later? So the story about the origin of evil is removed. For evil cannot be from the beginning, since in the later flesh evil has the power to be or not to be, and the flesh is not again an heir of the heavens, and let no one take the holy apostle’s saying “flesh and blood shall not inherit the kingdom of God” as meaning all flesh. For how can flesh be blamed that did not do the things said before? And from other proofs I will show what is sought. “Who will bring a charge against God’s elect?” How will Mary the holy, after flesh, inherit the kingdom of heaven, she who did not fornicate, did not act licentiously, did not commit adultery, nor did any works of unclean flesh, but remained pure? So it is not about flesh not inheriting the kingdom of heaven, but about fleshly men who take evil through the flesh, which is fornication, idolatry, and the like. And your plot is refuted everywhere, Markion, the truth coming before and the firm preaching of life being secured. Commentary g7: "Those who belong to Christ have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires." Reproof g7: If those of Christ crucified the flesh, Markion, it is clear that the servants of Christ, with their desires and passions, showed pure flesh and imitated Christ, showing him crucified in flesh. Therefore, they also thought like their master and crucified the flesh. And if they crucified the flesh, it is impossible for flesh to reign without Christ, as the holy apostle shows in another saying: "As you share in the sufferings of Christ, so also share in the glory." Commentary h8: "Even those who are circumcised do not keep the law themselves." Reproof h8: So the earlier circumcision was not forbidden at its time if it kept the law. But the law announced Christ coming to give the law of freedom, and circumcision in the flesh at Christ's time no longer served; for the true one through Christ came, of which that was a type. But those still sealed in that, even if they keep the whole law, will no longer be counted as keeping the law; for the law said about Christ, "You will listen to him," and those not listening to Christ, "their circumcision becomes uncircumcision," and keeping the law is no longer keeping. So the law and circumcision are good, since from them and through them we knew Christ and his perfect law and perfect circumcision. From the letter to the Corinthians a1: “It is written: I will destroy the wisdom of the wise and reject the understanding of the prudent.” Reproof a1: If the apostle reads from the prophets’ writings testimony for truth and good teaching, the prophets of truth and good God and his good teaching are not alien. Commentary b2: “So that the one who boasts may boast in the Lord.” Reproof b2: If the one boasting in the Lord is praised by the prophet, and the Lord is known as the God of the law, the judge, creator, and just, this is none other than the Father of Christ, whose disciple Paul is; for from the prophet’s teaching the teacher was established among the nations by Christ Paul, watering the church he believed in with pure water. Commentary c3: “The rulers of this age are being destroyed.” Reproof c3: If there are many rulers of this age, but such are destroyed, Markion, you must no longer seek the roots of three rulers, but investigate another myth of many rulers and many roots and great tragedy. And whenever you fabricate slanders (for you find none), you will meet the “being destroyed”; and from the word “being destroyed” the root of your imagined rulerless rulers will be removed. For every end is not eternal, but if it had a beginning of being, it would want to be the cause of non-being, beginning of being. The being is Father and Son and Holy Spirit; the non-being is all created things, having a beginning of being, among which is the so-called evil and being evil, beginning from men who were never beings; the beginning of evil having been, after which man who never was will no longer be evil. For it will be removed because the being does not consent to the beginning having been and making itself evil; it will cease after the resurrection, not only that but also from the preaching of the law and before the law from many living according to natural law, and even more from the incarnation of Christ, and most perfectly from the resurrection of the dead, since "they are sown in corruption, they are raised in incorruption," no longer working evil, no longer dying. And that it will cease is testified by the same word of the apostle saying "the rulers of this age are being destroyed." And your hypothesis, Markion, is removed everywhere, being fanciful, false, unstable, and unreasonable. Commentary d4: "It is written: He catches the wise in their craftiness. And again: The Lord knows the thoughts of men, that they are vanity." Reproof d4: The "it is written" is for use as prophecy and the "the Lord knows" is acknowledged, not alien to the one reading the word, a saying of the holy apostle, from whom the use is taken. From this use the character appears not alien to the apostle's preaching from the old covenant, from which his testimony was composed. Commentary e5: "For our Passover Christ was sacrificed." Reproof e5: If the apostle confesses Passover and Christ sacrificed, he does not deny the Passover of Christ, the lamb according to the law truly sacrificed and not seeming, of which the lamb was a type, Christ sacrificed not without flesh. For how could spirit be sacrificed? It is clear that it could not. Not being able to be sacrificed without flesh, but being truly sacrificed, as confessed by the apostle's undoubted testimony. Therefore it is clearly proven from all that the law is not alien, borne by type until the perfect and manifest lamb sacrificed in truth, Christ, of whom in old times the lamb sacrificed was a type. "Our Passover was sacrificed, Christ." Commentary f6: "Do you not know that the one joined to a prostitute is one body? For the two will be one flesh." Reproof f6: If the law is not true, why do the true take testimonies from the law? One of them is the holy apostle Paul, who took this testimony with many others into a clear presentation of truth and preaching of the good God.

 the name Moses, but you helped us, and against yourself you have tightened the testimony everywhere, confessing ignorantly that the law of Moses is from God from “in the law of Moses” and “the law says.” For the apostle continues, adding after what he said, “Does God take care of oxen?
 Or was it said for us?” If the law said it for the apostles, then the God in the law who spoke cares for the apostles of Christ in not muzzling them, that is, to speak the teaching of Christ or to have daily food from the people without lack. So the apostles did not know alien God, nor do the apostles think of another God. If the holy apostle said apostles testify for all, “Does God take care of oxen?
 But he said it for us.” And if he said it for the apostles, the creator is of men and animals, from which oxen and ostriches, reptiles and locusts, sea creatures and others; so he cares for all according to each one’s proportion.
 And he cares for all in saying “Save men and animals, Lord,” and in saying “Who gave the raven food?” and “The young ravens cry to the Lord seeking food,” and “You will give food in due time to all.” But he did not urge not to muzzle oxen treading out grain, since he would show that God cannot feed his creation except through the food given by men to animals. The holy apostle showed not that God cares for oxen through lack of food by urging not to muzzle such, but by the riddle concerning the apostles to signify the relation. For he cares for all visible things and likewise cares for all. The apostle did not write against the Savior so that many might use it as an excuse. For birds are smaller than oxen, about which the Savior said, "Five sparrows are sold for two asses," and again, "Are not two sparrows sold for one ass?" If two sparrows are sold for one ass and one of them will not fall into a trap without your Father in heaven, he cares for all, and cares more for the greater according to the greater kind of spiritual service. So it is acknowledged from all that the same maker and creator and lawgiver of the old and new covenant is God, good and just and Lord of all. Commentary h8: "Does God take care of oxen?" Reproof h8: It has already been discussed and explained broadly in the previous saying. Therefore I thought it unnecessary to speak again about it and was content with what was said before. Commentary i9: "I do not want you to be ignorant, brothers, that our fathers were under the cloud and all passed through the sea and all ate the same spiritual food and all drank the same spiritual drink. For they drank from a spiritual rock following them; the rock was Christ. But he was not pleased with most of them." Reproof i9: O great madness. Who with eyes of the rising sun would be deceived from the light? For if the holy apostle says that our fathers were under the cloud and passed through the sea and ate spiritual food and drink, and that the rock was Christ, who is the rock, who says that Christ was not pleased with most of them, certainly because of their unlawful deeds? If they were not pleased with those working unlawfully according to the law, then he is angry with such, since he gave the law and judges it, given in due time and rightly served until his incarnation. It is fitting for the householder to order properly at each time what is fitting for his servants.

Then he immediately says, "These things happened as types to them, but written for our instruction." If what happened as types to them was written for our instruction, the one who wrote the events cared for our instruction, making the instruction not to be desires of evil. The one not wanting us to be desires of evil is good and not evil. In these things we are urged to be, the same good and just God, the God of the written before and the later instructed, creator and lawgiver and giver of the gospels and guide of the apostles. Commentary j10: "What then Markion added "what is sacrificed to the temple." Reproof j10: "What then do I say?

What is sacrificed to idols is anything? But what you sacrifice, you sacrifice to demons and not to God." The apostle did not forbid the old time of the fathers until Jerusalem was established to say those sacrificing to idols sacrifice to demons and not to God. He did not condemn those sacrificing to God when sacrifices were needed. He condemns those sacrificing to idols, not for sacrificing, but for sacrificing to idols instead of God. For they do not sacrifice to work for themselves food granted from God for participation, but sacrifice to demons and in vain. But you, Markion, adding "what is sacrificed to the temple," as a herdsman mixing the two names, holy and idol, connect the two ways.
And this is not so. If after the coming of the new covenant he sacrificed to Christ privately and living things were offered in his name, your slanderous lie might be plausible, that those now sacrificing to God sacrifice to Christ, but those then sacrificing in the temple of Jerusalem and to idols sacrifice to demons and not God. No living thing sacrificed to Christ from Christ's coming and new covenant, your addition is clear. And if the word about temple sacrifice and idol sacrifice was by nature in the apostle, still one and the same was judged by those having reasonable judgment, the word being used abusively by the apostle because of the human custom always calling the idol holy. And your lying tongue fell everywhere, the truth being shown, that those sacrificing to idols (that is, what they called holy sacrifice) work lies, sacrificing to demons and not to God; but not those who once sacrificed according to the law rightly. Now no longer being so, since God willed, as Jeremiah said, "Why do you bring me incense from Sheba and cinnamon from a far land? Your sacrifices did not please me," and "Take away your sacrifices, Israel, and eat the flesh." For God did not command your fathers in the day he took their hand to bring them out of Egypt concerning sacrifices, but commanded each to do justice to his neighbor. And when he said he did not command, and in the law said to Moses, "If any of the sons of Israel bring a sacrifice from oxen or sheep, let him bring a perfect male," and again, "If one sins and commits a fault, let him bring a sheep," and again, "If the people sin, let them bring a calf," he showed that he accepted the sacrifices once offered for the salvation of the people, not needing them nor willing them, but consenting to their weakness and human limitation, so that from polytheism to the knowledge of the one God the mind of men might be brought. For their mind was firmly established in sacrifice as piety, offered to idols for atonement and salvation, and hard to bear because of custom, so he made them turn from this until the name of God from the many-god fantasy, willing to change their customs into him, so that knowing the one and believing the one they might safely hear from him, "Shall I eat the flesh of bulls or drink the blood of goats?" and "For forty years you brought me sacrifices in the wilderness, house of Israel." And though many sacrifices were brought then to show that they were not offered to him, though he accepted them and they were offered in his name, yet because of their custom in such things, he wanted to change them from the custom of many into the one and from the one the rest drunkenness, that he neither needed nor wants, and will cut off the whole matter of sacrifices through the incarnation of Christ, the one perfect sacrifice finishing all the previous ones, which is the sacrifice of Christ, "For our Passover was sacrificed Christ," according to the scripture; of which sacrifice and Passover and teaching the law became a tutor, guiding through the type and restoring to the perfect teaching. Commentary k11: "A man should not cover his head, being the glory and image of God." Reproof k11: The apostle defines not only man as the image of God, but also glory. And by head he means the body hair, which is personal in the body and not in the soul. So the work of God is not alien, since he confesses him from the old to be fulfilled in the new covenant. Commentary l12: "But God combined the body." Reproof l12: If God combined the body, the apostle preaches no other God but the being, confessing God made the body with its members, knowing no other God but the creator, good and just, maker of all, from whom all work exists, man well combined by him with his members. Commentary m13: Markion, being mistaken, after "But in the church I want to speak five words with my mind," added "because of the law." Reproof m13: So tongues are from the gift of the spirit. What tongues does the apostle mean? So that the Hebrews might know the Hebrew sounds differently and variously in the sixteenth word well varied with wisdom, and also the proud tongue of the Greeks boasting, speaking Attic and Aeolic and Doric, some among the Corinthians making spitting and hissing, to whom the letter was sent. And he confessed that the gift was spiritual to use Hebrew words and teach the law, but not only that, but also the others, taking down the proud Greek language, he said he spoke rather in their tongues, because he was Hebrew from Hebrews, brought up at the feet of Gamaliel, whose letters among Hebrews are praised and the gift of the spirit is a gift. Therefore, writing also to Timothy about the same, he said, "From childhood you have known the holy letters." And adding to those from Greek poets and orators, claiming the same, he said, "I speak more languages than all of you," to show his Greek education also in experience. For his character shows he was in early education, which Epicureans and Stoics could not resist, being overturned by the reasonable reading of the inscription on the altar "To the unknown God," clearly read by him and immediately translated "Whom you ignorantly worship, this I proclaim to you," and again saying, "One of their own prophets lazy bellies," to show Epimenides, an ancient philosopher and creator of the Cretan idol; from whom Callimachus the Libyan extended the testimony to himself, falsely speaking about Zeus, "Cretans are always liars; and for your tomb, O lord, the Cretans made it, but you did not die; for you are always." And you see how the holy apostle speaks about tongues, "But I want to speak five words in the church with my mind," that is, through interpretation "to speak." As the prophet in the Holy Spirit brings to mind to light through prophecy to help the listeners, so I also want, he says, to speak for the hearing of the church and building, and not through the pride of Greek and Hebrew to build myself, the one knowing and not the church through the language he knows. But you added, Markion, "because of the law," as if the apostle said, "I want to speak five words in the church because of the law." Be ashamed, Babylon second and new Sodom of many mixtures. How long will you confuse tongues? How long will you dare against those not wronged by you? For you seek to force angelic powers, casting out the words of truth from the church, saying to holy Lot, "Take these men out." And what you attempt against yourself you attempt in invisibility and sitting in darkness, feeling the door and not finding it until the sun rises and you see the day of judgment, in which fire will meet your false accusation. For this awaits you, as you see. Neither does "because of the law" lie with the apostle, nor have you made it. If the apostle said "because of the law," he said it in harmony with his Lord, not to abolish the law but to fulfill it. Commentary n14: "It is written in the law that I will speak to this people in other tongues and with lips of others." Reproof n14: If the Lord did not fulfill what was said in the law, why was the apostle needed to remind what from the law is fulfilled in the new covenant? As the Savior showed that he was the one who spoke then in the law and set limits with threats, saying to them, "Therefore I was angry with this generation and said, they always wander in their heart, and I swore they will not enter my rest.” Therefore he promised to speak to them in other tongues, as he spoke, and they did not enter. For this is found saying to his disciples, “To you the mysteries of the kingdom are given, but to them in parables, so that seeing they may not see,” and what follows. Everywhere in the new covenant what is fulfilled from the old is clear to all that the two covenants are not of another God and another God, but the two covenants of the same one. Commentary o15: “Let the women keep silent in the church; for they are not permitted to speak, but to be submissive, as the law says.” Reproof o15: If the holy apostle orders according to the law the good order in the holy church of God, the law is not disorderly, since from it the good order is transferred, nor is the law of another God, putting the woman under the man. This is fitting also to the apostle in the church’s lawgiving, as he says, “As the law says.” Where did the law say but in saying to Eve, “Your turning to your husband and he shall rule over you”? For even if in other places, here is the beginning. If from then the woman was subject by God’s command to the man, and the apostle accordingly puts her under, he does not oppose the one who made man and woman God, and by commanding shows fully that the apostle lawgiver of God is of the same God, whose was the law and the whole old covenant, and the same new covenant, that is, the two covenants, which put the woman then and now under the man by pious and counterbalancing good order. Commentary p16: About the resurrection of the dead: “I make known to you, brothers, the gospel which I preached to you,” and that “if Christ has not been raised, your faith is vain,” and what follows, “So we preach and so you believed,” “that Christ died and was buried and rose on the third day,” “When this mortal puts on immortality, then the saying written will come true: Death is swallowed up in victory.” Reproof p16: “I make known to you, brothers, the gospel which I preached to you.” If he preached it and again makes it known, there is no other gospel nor other knowledge after the one and only, which happens through the four gospels and the apostles, to refute Markion who came after so many years, after the times of the so-called Hyginus, bishop of the Romans, ninth from the completion of the apostles Peter and Paul. Therefore the same apostle, securing, said, “If anyone preaches to you a gospel contrary to what you received, let him be accursed,” knowing by the Holy Spirit that Markion and those after him will distort the well-established way.

Therefore he no longer said “I preach to you,” but “I make known to you the gospel,” not another, but “which I already preached to you,” making a reminder to you. “I make known to you by what word I preached to you, if you hold fast, unless you believed in vain.” For if you do not hold fast, as I preached to you, you believed in vain without it. “For I preached to you that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures, and that on the third day he rose again according to the scriptures,” and not according to myth nor according to the teaching of those who will speak later what is not written. The Jews say on their own that he did not rise, Markion and others say on their own he seemed to have suffered and been buried, but I am sure according to the scriptures. Immediately he adds, “So we preach and so you believed, that Christ died and was buried and rose on the third day,” and immediately, “If the dead do not rise, neither has Christ risen; and if Christ has not risen, our preaching is in vain.” And after all this, "For this mortal must put on immortality, and this corruptible must put on incorruption." He did not say this mortal will contain immortality or this corruptible will contain incorruption, but this mortal and corruptible must put on immortality and incorruption. What mortal is this but the body, which will not only contain immortality but also dwell in it and will put on immortality, not the body being cast off and the soul not dying putting on immortality, but the mortal putting on immortality and the corruptible incorruption, that is, the body. For death and decay are temporary because of the release brought to it through Adam's disobedience.

And since he says about the future that good things will be perfected in it through the promise, he means that the word written will be fulfilled then, "Death is swallowed up in victory," to show the future resurrection of the dead; since death is partly swallowed up in Christ's resurrection and those raised with him ("For many bodies of the saints rose," as the gospel says, "and entered with him into the holy city"), then it is swallowed up in victory when it is completely destroyed by all. The letter to the deceived by you open their eyes and flee from you as from a terrible serpent devouring those near. If "all the promises of God are yes in him," the apostle knows the promises of God through the law and the prophets, so in Christ the yes of the promises of fullness was confirmed. Christ is not alien to the old law and prophets, nor to the God who spoke in the law and fulfilled his promises in Christ. Nor is Christ opposed to the God who gave the law and the prophets. For because in him the promised promises became yes, therefore also through him the Amen to God; the God the Father who promised, Christ who confirmed, and the Lord who keeps the Amen through him in those confirmed by the promise through him and who know the Father spoken in the law and given in the gospel to the believers,

 Christ Jesus the Lord, and ourselves your servants for Jesus’ sake, because God said, ‘Out of darkness light will shine.’” Reproof b2 and c2: The apostles do not preach themselves but Christ Jesus the Lord.
 Therefore there is no heresy nor church named after Paul or Bartholomew or Thaddaeus, but from the beginning one preaching of all the apostles, preaching not themselves but Christ Jesus the Lord.
 Therefore all gave the church one name, not their own but of their Lord Jesus Christ, called Christians from Antioch; which is the only catholic church, having no other name but Christ’s, being the church of Christians, not of Christs but Christians, of the one existing, called Christians from the one Christ. After this all its preachers are not of the same character, appearing by the added names of Manichaeans, Simonian, Valentinians, and Ebionites; of whom one is you, Markion, and those deceived by you call your name, as if preaching yourself and not Christ. Then he says, “For God said, ‘Out of darkness light will shine.’” And which God is this but the one shown in the prophet as light shining out of darkness, that is, light and knowledge in Christ shining in the hearts of us who once were idol-worshipping nations, now knowing God, the one then foretold in the prophet, the light shining in the world, showing that the God of the old and new covenant is not alien. So it has become custom for us to believe, Markion, from what you have of the remaining fragments of the gospel, and not to be deceived by you. Commentary c3 and z3: "Having the same spirit of faith, we also believe, therefore we also speak." He cut off "according to what is written." Reproof c3 and z3: No place will serve you where you dare. And even if you cut off "according to what is written," the sequence of the written word appears. For from "I believed, therefore I spoke," rightly putting equal things, the apostle said, "Having the same spirit of faith, we also believe, therefore we also speak." And it is clear to everyone that in the 115th psalm with the heading Hallelujah, which is David's book and prophesied by him, the word "I believed" is written. From this the apostle took the saying and likewise said, "Therefore we also believe and speak," being one of the number of apostles; therefore he does not say "Therefore I believed and spoke," but "We believe, therefore we speak," to join himself with the other apostles, and he says "Having the same spirit," to show that the spirit speaking in David is the same spirit in the apostles from whom he then prophesied, in which spirit they also believe and speak. Much injustice and greed of thoughts, so to speak. For the apostle says one and the same spirit, how then does Markion's madness, confessing that the holy apostle said this word, dare to say the spirit then was different from the one in the apostles? The letter to the Romans d2: For so it lies with Markion, so that nothing right is with him.

Commentary a1 and k2: "Those who sinned lawlessly will perish lawlessly, and those who sinned under the law will be judged by the law. For not the hearers of the law are righteous before God, but the doers of the law will be justified." Reproof a1 and k2: If those who sinned lawlessly perish lawlessly, the law is responsible for salvation, guarding and not letting those who guard perish. And if those who sinned through the law will be judged by the law, then the law is judge of violations, not destruction but righteous judgment, judging the transgressors. "For not the hearers of the law are righteous before God, but the doers of the law will be justified." If the law justifies the doer, the law is not unjust nor evil, through which those who keep the law become righteous. And from the law is the faith prophesied to Christ, without which no one will be justified, and in which believing according to the testimony prophesied by the law no one can be justified again, since Christ is the fulfillment of the law for righteousness, showing that without law and Christ there is no righteousness. For neither Jews without Christ will be justified not having received Christ, nor you, Markion, will be justified denying the law. Commentary b2 and l2: "Circumcision is profitable if you keep the law; but if you are a transgressor of the law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision." Reproof b2 and l2: If the holy apostle shows that circumcision is profitable, who will put a blemish among the profitable, but if it will be like the debt? You seem to this, Markion; for he also opposed what was said by God, persuading Eve, saying "You will not die." For he joined the law with circumcision and showed circumcision to be fitting with the law and confessed that the same God gave the commandment of circumcision and gave the law for help, from which Christ, believed in, gives perfect things to believers to speak and do. Commentary c3 and m3: “Having the form of knowledge and truth in the law.” Reproof c3 and m3: If knowledge has form, and from the form the appearance is seen, the apostles and their disciples having knowledge and truth know from the form of the law the appearance, that is, knowledge and truth. So the law of knowledge and truth is not alien. For through the form in it the preachers of truth recognized knowledge and truth. Commentary d4 and n4: “Yet Christ, being our weakness, died at the right time for the ungodly.” Reproof d4 and n4: The “yet” and “died” signify truth, not seeming. For if it were seeming, what need for “yet” to be said, since Christ could always and then and now seem and not be said “yet being our weakness”? From “yet” he gave the time to die and justified death, so that he who died once for sinners and no longer dying might no longer need to die.

Commentary e5 and o5: The law is joined with the holy and in it the commandment made, secured by three testimonies, calling it holy and just and good, to rebuke you, Markion, and teach us that the law is holy, whose commandment is holy and good, and itself is holy and good and just, so the good commandment is called good and the holy being holy and just being called just, of the one being then and now, the one being holy and just and good. Therefore his commandment from then and now in law and new covenant is holy and just and good.
Commentary f6 and p6: “That the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us.” Reproof f6 and p6: If in the apostles and in us the righteousness of the law is fulfilled, how do you, Markion, dare to say the apostles of God? Commentary g7 and q7:

righteousness to everyone who believes.” Reproof g7 and q7: If Christ has come for righteousness to everyone who believes, not of the law being perfected, unless Christ perfects by his own presence, you will not be perfected, O Jews, remaining in the law, unless you believe in Christ dwelling in you.
 But neither will you, Markion, be saved in Christ, rejecting the beginning of the preaching and the root, which is the law, from which Christ being known perfects the one not hating the law as alien to Christ.
 Commentary h8 and r8: “The one who loves his neighbor has fulfilled the law.” Reproof h8 and r8: If the law is fulfilled through loving the neighbor, the law of Christ and God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ and God is not alien. The one commanding to love the neighbor; for God is love, and all things preached by him are always preached alike, then and now, in the old and new covenant. From the letter to the Thessalonians a1, the fifth letter (so it lies in Markion), the eighth from the apostle, all of Markion’s things are twisted from it, and we have not added anything from it. From the second letter to the Thessalonians, the sixth letter in Markion, the ninth from the apostle, similarly twisted by Markion, again we have not taken anything. From the letter to the Ephesians, the seventh in Markion, the sixth from the apostle, these: Commentary a13: “Remember you once were Gentiles, called uncircumcision by the circumcision made by hand in the flesh, that at that time you were without Christ, alienated from the citizenship of Israel and strangers to the covenants of promise, having no hope and without God in the world; but now in Christ Jesus you who once were far have become near in his blood. For he is our peace, who made the two one.” And what follows.
 Reproof a13: The “remember” means time and the "called by the so-called" means types of things, and "in the flesh" to show the type waiting in the flesh for the time of the spirit, to show the perfect things from the type. For without Christ the citizenship of Israel was alien to the uncircumcision, and alien and strange to the promise and covenant, and those coming from it had no hope but were godless in the world, as shown from the apostle's words. But you, Markion, neither see nor hear, since if you understood how many goods the law is responsible for to those living in the law at that time, "For in Christ Jesus you who once were far have become near in his blood. For he is our peace, who made the two one." If he made the two one and did not remove one and keep the other, then the first is not alien to him nor the second divided from the first, but the two were united into one, not simply or seemingly, but clearly in his blood, as the apostle's sure teaching shows. Commentary b14: "Therefore he says, 'Awake, sleeper, and arise from the dead, and Christ will shine on you.'" Reproof b14: Why does the apostle say "therefore he says" but from the old? It is clear it is from Elijah. Where did Elijah rush? But he was one of the prophets living according to the law, urged by law and prophets. If he prophesied in Christ, "Awake, sleeper, and arise from the dead, and Christ will shine on you," then the original was fulfilled through Lazarus and the others, about whom the same doubted, Martha and Mary saying, "He already stinks, he is the fourth day," and those of the chief synagogue saying, "Do not trouble the teacher anymore," and he saying, "Do not be afraid; for he is not dead but sleeping." Clearly from then the preaching called resurrection through Christ to be, and showed the power of prayer, to show the power of Christ, that as it is easy for man not to raise the dead but the sleeping by voice, so it was ready for Christ to say, "Lazarus, come out," and "Talitha cumi," that is, "Arise, girl." Through these and clear proofs the word signified our calling from dead works and heavy sleep of those once sleeping, raising both Christ and through the calling enlightening us; which became this second relation. The perfect and universal expected, when the same one saying "I am the resurrection" calls all and raises in body and soul and enlightens in his coming presence. Commentary c3 and s3:

"Instead of this a man will leave his father and mother and cling to his wife, and the two will be one flesh," instead of "to the wife." Reproof c3 and s3: It has been shown many times that what is in the law is not alien to what is taught by the apostle, even if you, Markion, cut off "to the wife." For from "the two will be one flesh" your whole trickery will be clear. From the letter to the Colossians, the eighth in Markion, the sixth from the apostle: Commentary a18:
"Therefore let no one judge you in food or drink or in part of a feast or new moon or Sabbaths, which are a shadow of things to come." Reproof a18: Shadows come from nowhere, Markion, but from body, and body cannot be a shadow without appearing from it. Therefore those deceived by you through still keeping the truth of the divine scriptures' fragments are persuaded that the rules then about food and drink and part of feasts and new moons and Sabbaths were not alien, appointed timely about shadows of good things to come, through which we received the body of the present good things, shadowed in the law and perfected in Christ. To Philemon b2: So it lies in Markion, but with the apostle it lies last; in some copies the thirteenth before the fourteenth have the tenth to the Hebrews before the two to Timothy and Titus and Philemon. All the copies preserved and true have the letter to the Romans first, not as you, Markion, put the letter to the Galatians first. Still from this letter to Philemon we have not taken anything. We place it because it lies completely twisted with him. To Philippians i12: So it lies in Markion last and tenth, but with the apostle sixth. Similarly from it we have not chosen anything, because it lies twisted with him. This is the complete composition of Markion from the remaining words saved from the gospel according to Luke and the apostle; from which having read the things according to him from those saved by him we have placed the refutations.

He added in his own apostolic called and the one called to Laodicea a1 and m1 commentary: "One Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in all." Reproof a1 and m1: In harmony with Ephesians, Markion, going, you gathered these testimonies from the so-called letter to Laodicea, so that at the end of the composition we might learn knowing what is according to you and knowing what is against you to condemn the falsely invented differences of three rulers without beginning having differences among themselves. For the holy apostle's plan and secured preaching is not so, but otherwise according to your work. For he clearly said, "One Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God the same Father of all, the same over all, the same through all and in all," through law and prophets and in all apostles and in the following.

Section 13

42.13.1 | Αὕτη μὲν ἡμῶν ἡ προθεωρηθεῖσα ἐν τοῖς προειρημένοις σύνταφισ, ἀναλεχθεῖσιν ἀπὸ τῆς παρ' αὐτῷ τῷ Μαρχίῳ ἐτι σωζομένης γραφῆς, ἥς τὴν ἀνάλεξιν σκοπήσας τις ἐκπλαγείη τὰς τοῦ μεγαλοδῶρου θεοῦ οἰκονομίας.

42.13.1 | This is our composition already seen in the things said before, taken from the writing still saved from Markion himself, whose reading, if someone looked at carefully, would be amazed at the plans of the generous God.

42.13.2 | ἐκάστου γὰρ πράγματος διὰ τριῶν μαρτυριῶν ἐπιβεβαιουμένου καὶ συνισταμένου, ὡς ἐνταῦθα ψιλῶς ὁ θεὸς ἐχαρίσατο συνάψαι (ὡς ἔφην) ἡμᾶς κατὰ οἰκονομίαν ἑβδομήκοντα μὲν ὀκτὼ μαρτυρίας ἀπο τοῦ εὐαγγελίου, τεσσαράκοντα δὲ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀποστόλου;

42.13.2 | For every matter is confirmed and established by three testimonies, as here God clearly granted to bind us by plan with seventy-eight testimonies from the gospel and forty from the apostle.

42.13.3 | καὶ ταύτας παρ' αὐτῷ εἰς ἔτι καὶ δεῦρο σωζομένας τε καὶ οὐκ ἀμφιβαλλομένας, ὡς εἶναι τὰς πάσας ἐκατὸν δεκαοκτὼ, ἀντιλεγούσας δὲ πάσας τῇ αὐτοῦ Μαρκίῳ γνῶμῃ, ὡς ἀπὸ προσώπου ὀνόματος κυρίου διὰ τῶν δεκαοκτὼ καὶ τῆς αὐτοῦ ἐνδεξίου εὐλογίας διὰ τῶν ἑκατόν.

42.13.3 | And these, still saved and not doubted from him here, as being all one hundred and eighteen, opposing all by his own Markion's opinion, as from the face of the Lord's name through the eighteen and his right blessing through the hundred.

42.13.4 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐπ' ἄλλης περισσῆς πρὸς ἐπὶ τούτοις * ἐκτὸς τοῦ εὐαγγελίου καὶ τοῦ

42.13.4 | But also beyond this, besides the gospel and the apostle; for it did not seem ἐποστόλου· οὐ γὰρ ἔδοξε τῷ ἐλλεινιστάτῳ Μαρκίῳ ἀπὸ τῆς πρὸς Ἐφεσίους ταύτην τὴν μαρτυρίαν λέγειν, ἀλλὰ τῆς πρὸς Λαοδικέας, τῆς μὴ οὖσης ἐν τῷ ἀποστόλῳ.

good to the most miserable Markion to say this testimony is from the letter to the Ephesians, but from the letter to the Laodiceans, which is not in the apostle.

42.13.5 | αἷς μὴ ἐντυγχάνων ἡλιθίως ὁ κτηνώδης καὶ ἐν πολλοῖς πεσὼν ὁ τάλας οὐχ ὁρᾷ τὴν κατ' αὐτοῦ ἀνατροπὴν καθ' ἐκάστην ἡμέραν ὁμολογουμένην. καὶ μηδεὶς θαυμάζει περὶ τούτου.

42.13.5 | To these, not meeting foolishly, the beastly and in many ways lying wretched man does not see the overturning against him, confessed every day. And no one should be amazed about this.

42.13.6 | πῶς γὰρ ἡδύνταο οὗτος, ἐπαγγελιάμενος ἔχειν τι τοῦ εὐαγγελίου καὶ τοῦ ἀποστόλου, μὴ οὐχὶ κἂν ὀλίγα τῆς γραφῆς σφάζειν ῥήματα;

42.13.6 | For how could this man, claiming to have something of the gospel and the apostle, not save at least a few words of the scripture?

42.13.7 | ὅλου γὰρ τοῦ σώματος ζῶντος ὡσεῖπε τῆς θείας γραφῆς, ποῖον ἠύρισκε μέλος νεκρὸν κατὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ γνώμην, ἵνα παρῃσαγάγῃ ψ εὐδος κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας;

42.13.7 | For of the whole living body, so to speak, of the divine scripture, what part did he find dead according to his opinion, so that he might introduce a lie against the truth?

42.13.8 | ἀλλ' ὡς εἰπεῖν ἐλώβησε καὶ ἀκρωτηριάσας παρέκοψε πολλὰ τῶν μελῶν, κατέσχευεν δὲ ἐνὶ τινὰ παρ' ἐαυτῷ. καὶ αὐτὰ δὲ τὰ κατασχεθέντα ἔτι ζῶντα οὐ δύναται νεκροῦσθαι, ἀλλ' ἔχει μὲν τὸ ζωτικὸν τῆς ἐμφάσεως, κἂν τε μυρίως παρ' αὐτῷ κατὰ λεπτὸν ἀποτμηθεῖ.

42.13.8 | But, so to speak, he seized and cut off many parts, and kept some for himself.
And even those parts kept still living cannot be killed, but have the life of appearance, even if they are cut off in many small pieces by him.

Section 14

42.14.1 | 14. Ἔτι δὲ μετὰ ταῦτα πάντα ἐπεμνήσθημεν ὡς τινὲς ἀπὸ τῶν αὐτῶν Μαρχιωνιστῶν, εἰς βυθὸν βλασφημίας παρπεπτωκότες καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς ἐαυτῶν

42.14.1 | And still after all this we remembered that some of the same Marcionites have fallen into a deep pit of blasphemy, and have been completely δαιμονιώδους διδασκαλίας ἐμβρόντητοι παντάπασι γεγονότες καὶ οὗ ἐδόκουν κυρίου μόνον κὰν δι' ὀνόματος μνημόνευειν καὶ αὐτοῦ ἀθυρογλώσσως ἐτέρως τὴν αὐτοῦ θεότητα ἀποστρέφοντες, τὸ ὄνομα τῆς ἄνωθεν γεννήσεως κακίζειν οὐκ ἐντρέπονται.

struck down by their own demonic teaching. And though they seemed to honor the lord only by name, they turn away from his deity with careless words, and are not ashamed to speak badly of the name of the one born from above.

42.14.2 | τινὲν γὰρ αὐτῶν τετολμήκασιν, ὥς ἔφην, αὐτὸν τὸν κύριον εἶναι υἱὸν τοῦ πονηροῦ λέγειν οὐκ αἰσχυνόμενοι, ἄλλοι δὲ οὐχί, ἀλλὰ τοῦ κριτοῦ τε καὶ δημιουργοῦ.

42.14.2 | For some of them have dared, as i said, to say that the lord himself is the son of the evil one without shame, while others say he is not, but the judge and creator.

42.14.3 | εὐσπλαγχνότερον <δὲ> γεγονότα καὶ ἀγαθὸν ὄντα καταλείψαι μὲν τὸν ἴδιον αὐτοῦ πατέρα κάτω (πῇ μὲν λεγόντων τὸν δημιουργόν, ἄλλων δὲ τὸν πονηρόν), ἄνω δὲ ἀναδεδραμηκέναι πρὸς τὸν ἐν ἐατονομάστοις τόποις ἀνθὸν θεὸν καὶ αὐτῷ προσκεκολλησθαι.

42.14.3 | But more merciful and good was it to leave his own father below (some say the creator, others the evil one), and to have run up above to the god who is called by his own name in the places above, and to have joined himself to him.

42.14.4 | πεμφθέντα δὲ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ εἰς τὸν κόσμον καὶ πρὸς ἀντιδικίαν τοῦ ἰδίου πατρὸς ἐλθόντα τὸν Χριστὸν [καὶ] καταλῦσαι αὐτοῦ τὸ πάντα ὅσα ὁ κατὰ φύσιν πατὴρ αὐτοῦ ἐνομοθέτει, ἦτοι ὁ λαλήσας ἐν τῷ νόμῳ ἦτοι ὁ τῆς κακίας θεὸς ὁ παρ' αὐτῶν ἐν τῇ τρίτῃ ἀρχῇ τὸν δημιουργὸν λέγων, ἄλλος δὲ τὸν πονηρόν.

42.14.4 | But having been sent by him into the world and coming against his own father, Christ came to break down all that the father according to nature made a law, that is, the one who spoke in the law, or the god of evil, whom they call the creator in the third power, while others call him the evil one.

Section 15

42.15.1 | 15. Ταῦτα δὲ δῆλα παντὶ τῷ σύνεσιν κεκτημένῳ ὑπάρχει, ὅτι ἀκαθάρτου πνεύματός ἐστιν ἡ φρόνησις καὶ ἡ διδασκαλία καὶ οὔτε χρεῖα ἦν περὶ ταύτης τῆς ὑποθέσεως ἀπολογεῖσθαι ἢ ἐλεγχον παριστᾶν καταντικρὺ Μαρκίωνος

42.15.1 | 15. But these things are clear to everyone who has any understanding, that the mind and teaching are from an unclean spirit, and there was no need to defend this matter or to show proof against Marcion, who in every way made forgetfulness of life τοῦ ἑαυτοῦ κατὰ πάντα τὴν ἐπιλησμονὴν τῆς ζωῆς ποιησαμένου.

for himself.

42.15.2 | φωραθήσεται γὰρ παρὰ πᾶσι τοῖς συνετοῖς τὸ βλάσφημον αὐτοῦ κενοφώνημα καὶ τολμηρὸν τῆς ἀπωλείας ἐνέργημα.

42.15.2 | For to all the wise will be shown his blasphemous empty word and the bold work of destruction.

42.15.3 | ἀλλ' ἐπειδὴ εἰώθημεν μὴ ἔαν ἀκανθῶν τόπον, ἀλλὰ ἐντέμνῃ τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ μαχαίρᾳ, »τῇ ὑπὲρ πᾶσαν μάχαιραν διστομον <τομωτέρω> καὶ διικνουμένη ἄχοι μερισμῶν ψυχῆς καὶ πνεύματος, ἁρμῶν τε καὶ μυελῶν« κατὰ τὸ γεγραμμένον, ὀλίγα καὶ εἰς τοῦτο εἶπεῖν οὐκ ἀποκνήσομεν.

42.15.3 | But since it is usual not to leave a place for thorns, but to cut with the sword of god, "the two-edged sword sharper than any sword and piercing to the division of soul and spirit, joints and marrow," according to what is written, we will not be afraid to say a few things even for this.

Section 16

42.16.1 | 16. Πρῶτον μὲν γὰρ ὅτι εἰ ἀγαθὸς ἐκ πονηροῦ γεγένηται, οὐκέτι τῶν ἀρχῶν σταθήσεται ὁ λόγος. δύναται γὰρ καὶ ὁ αὐτοῦ πατήρ, εἰ πονηρὸς ὑπάρχει (ὅπερ μὴ γένοιτο, ἀλλὰ ἀγαθὸς ἐστὶ), μεταβληθῆναι τὴν γνώμην, ὥσπερ ὁ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γεγεννημένος μεταβέβληται.

42.16.1 | First, if something good has come from something bad, the argument about the origins will no longer stand. For even his own father, if he is bad (which may it not be, but is good), could change his mind, just as the one born from him has changed.

42.16.2 | τὸ δὲ ἕτερον. εἰ ὅλως ἦλθεν ὁ μονογενὴς ἄνθρωπος σῶσαι καὶ ληστὴν εἰσαγαγεῖν εἰς παράδεισον καὶ τελώνην καλέσαι ἀπὸ τελωνίου εἰς μετάνοιαν καὶ πόρνην ἀλείφουσιν αὐτοῦ τοὺς πόδας ἰάσασθαι ἀπὸ πορνείας, ἔτι δὲ καὶ <ἄλλαῖα> ἀγαθὰ πράττει, διότι ἀγαθὸς ὑπάρχει καὶ εὖσπλαγχνος καὶ ἐλεήμων,

42.16.2 | The other point is this. If the only-begotten came at all to save people and to bring a thief into paradise, and to call a tax collector to repentance, and to heal a prostitute anointing his feet from her sin, and also does other good things, because he is good and kind and merciful,

42.16.3 | πολλῶ οὖν μᾶλλον ἔδει ἐπὶ τὸν ἴδιον αὐτοῦ πατέρα τὸν οἶκτον αὐτοῦ ἀναλαβεῖν καὶ αὐτὸν πρῶτον μεταθεῖναι εἰς τὸ σωτηριῶδες, ἵνα πρῶτον τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῦ μεταβαλὼν τελείως ἐνδείξῃται τὴν τελείαν ἀγαθότητα, τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῦ οἰκτείρας, ὥς καὶ γέγραπται »ποιεῖν τὸ ἀγαθὸν πρῶτον εἰς τοὺς οἰκτεῖους τῆς πίστεως«, πόσω γε μᾶλλον ἐλεᾷν τοὺς ἑαυτῶν πατέρας.

42.16.3 | so much more then he should have taken up pity for his own father and first changed him to what saves, so that by first completely changing his father he would show perfect goodness, pitying his father, as it is also written “to do good first to those of the household of faith,” how much more then to have mercy on one’s own fathers.

42.16.4 | Τὸ δὲ ἕτερον ἔτι προστέρεικα τῇ φράσει καὶ τῷ ἐλέγχῳ τῷ πρὸς τὸν Μαρκίωνα, ὅτι εἰ μὲν τοῦ ἐνός ἐστιν υἱὸς καὶ πρὸς τὸν ἕτερον προσέφυγεν, οὐ πιστὸς παραδεχθήσεται παρὰ τῷ ἐτέρῳ.

42.16.4 | The other point I add to the phrase and the argument against Marcion is this: if he is the son of one, and has turned to the other, he will not be accepted as trustworthy by the other.

42.16.5 | ὁ γὰρ συνείδησιν εἰς τὸν ἴδιον αὐτοῦ πατέρα μὴ φυλάξας οὐδὲ παρὰ τῷ ἐτέρῳ πιστευθήσεται ἀπὸ τῶν παρ’ αὐτοῦ προαγόντως πεπραγμένων.

42.16.5 | For he who has not kept conscience toward his own father will not be trusted by the other because of what he has done before him.

42.16.6 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἄλλως πάλιν. ἄρ’ αὖ γε τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ θεοῦ κατηγορήσει< > πάλιν, ὃ Μαρκίων, δι’ ἀπορίαν τοῦ πεμπομένου μὴ δυνηθέντος σῶσαι τοὺς παρ’ αὐτοῦ σωζομένους καὶ παρ’ αὐτοῦ διὰ Χριστοῦ ἐλεηθέντας;

42.16.6 | But also again in another way. Would you accuse the good god again, Marcion, because the one sent was not able to save those saved by him and shown mercy by him through Christ?

42.16.7 | εἰ μὴ γὰρ ἀπέφυγε κατὰ τὸν τοῦ Μαρκίωνος λόγον ὁ Χριστὸς πρὸς τὸν ἄνω θεόν, οὐκ ἠγόρευε ὁ ἀγαθὸς θεὸς τινα ἀποστεῖλαι, εἰ μὴ ἐν προσκρούσει ὁ τοῦ Χριστοῦ πατήρ, ὥς ὁ Μαρκίων λέγει, πρὸς τὸν ἴδιον αὐτοῦ υἱὸν γεγένηται.

42.16.7 | For if Christ did not escape, according to Marcion’s story, to the higher god, the good god would not have been able to send anyone, unless the father of Christ, as Marcion says, clashed with his own son.

42.16.8 | καὶ ἄλλως δέ· εἰ τοῦ δημιουργοῦ υἱὸς ἐστίν, ἀντίκειται δὲ τῇ δημιουργίᾳ καὶ τῷ τοῦ πατρὸς ἔργῳ, πρῶτον μὲν εἰς τὸν κόσμον τοὺς ἀνθρώπους [πρῶτον] εἶχεν ἐξολοθρεῦσαι, ἵνα ἀφανίσῃ τὸ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἰδίου πατρὸς δεδημιουργημένον, ὡς ἀντίδικος γενόμενος τῆς τοῦ πατρὸς διαθέσεως.

42.16.8 | And also in another way: if he is the son of the creator, but opposes the creation and the work of the father, first he tried to destroy the people in the world, to wipe out what was made by his own father, as if he became an opponent of the father's plan.

42.16.9 | Or again, having received the power of healing and care and salvation, he should have shown the work of love for humanity first to his own father and first convinced his father to become like himself, so that by becoming like himself, both he and his father would be the one and the same goodness responsible for the salvation of people.

42.16.10 | ἀλλ' οὐχ οὕτως ἔχει ὡς ὁ τούτου κενοφωνούμενος μυθώδης λόγος *. οὔτε γὰρ τρεῖς ἀρχαὶ οὔτε ἄλλος πατὴρ Χριστοῦ οὐδὲ κακίας ἐστὶ γέννημα.

42.16.10 | But it is not so, as the empty and false story of this man says. For there are neither three beginnings nor another father of Christ, nor is he born of evil.

42.16.11 | μὴ γένοιτο. φησὶ γάρ »ἐγὼ ἐν τῷ πατρὶ καὶ ὁ πατὴρ ἐν ἐμοί«. καὶ εἰ μὲν νόθως λέγει πατέρα ἔχειν, οὐ δύναται αὐτοῦ ὁ νόθος πατὴρ καλούμενος ἐν αὐτῷ εἶναι οὐδὲ αὐτὸς ἐν τῷ πατρὶ.

42.16.11 | May it not be. For he says, 'I am in the father and the father is in me.' And if he speaks falsely about having a father, then the false father cannot be called to be in him, nor can he himself be in the father.

42.16.12 | ὁ δὲ κατὰ φύσιν αὐτοῦ πατέρα αἰεὶ ἀγαθὸν καὶ θεὸν αἰεὶ καὶ πάντων δημιουργόν, ἐν αὐτῷ δὲ ὄντα καὶ σὺν αὐτῷ ὑπάρχοντα διδάσκων καὶ ἀληθεύων, κατὰ τοῦ Μαρκίωνος τὴν ἀπειλὴν διεξέρχεται λέγων »ὁ μὴ τιμῶν τὸν υἱὸν ὡς τιμᾷ τὸν

42.16.12 | But his natural father is always good and always God and the creator of all, and teaching and telling the truth about the one who is in him and exists with him, he goes through the threat of Marcion saying, 'Whoever does not honor the son as he honors the father, the wrath of God stays πατέρα, ἡ ἀργὴ τοῦ θεοῦ ἐπ’ αὐτὸν μένει».

on him.’

42.16.13 | ἤδη δὲ ἐν πολλαῖς μαρτυρίαις ἐδείξαμεν τὸν ἕνα ὄντα θεόν, τὸν πατέρα τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ ἁγαρὸν ὄντα καὶ ἀγαθὸν γεννήσαντα, ἀγάπην ὄντα καὶ ἀγάπην γεννήσαντα, πηγὴν ὄντα ζωῆς καὶ ζωῆς πηγὴν γεννήσαντα («παρὰ σοὶ γὰρ πηγὴ ζωῆς» φησὶν ἡ γραφή), ἀλήθειαν ὄντα καὶ ἀλήθειαν γεννήσαντα, φῶς ὄντα καὶ φῶς γεννήσαντα, ζῶν ὄντα καὶ ζῶν γεννήσαντα ἀνάρχως καὶ αἰδίως καὶ ἀχρόνως. καὶ ἐλέγχεται κατὰ πάντα ἡ τοῦ Μαρκόωνος πλάνη.

42.16.13 | Already in many proofs we have shown the one God who exists, the father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who is good and who is also good as a father, who is love and who also fathered love, who is the source of life and who fathered the source of life (“for with you is the source of life,” says the scripture), who is truth and who fathered truth, who is light and who fathered light, who is life and who fathered life without beginning, without end, and without time. And the error of Marcion has been refuted in every way.

42.16.14 | Since these things stand so, and since the overthrow of the deceiver has been worked out for us in God through much and true teaching, again for what follows, now that this great shield has been trampled down by the truthful word of the savior who said, ‘I have given you power to walk on snakes and scorpions and over all the power of the enemy,’ let us also set ourselves to examine and refute the foolishness of others, calling on God as helper in all things.

Section 1

43.1.1 | Δουκιανός τις ἀρχαῖος, οὐχ ὁ νῦν ἐν χρόνοις Κωνσταντίνου γεγονώς τοῦ γέροντος, ὃς δῆθεν οἱ Ἀρειανοὶ ἐν μάρτυσιν ἐπιψηφίζονται. ἦν γὰρ καὶ οὗτος ὁ Δουκιανός, ὁ πρόσφατός φημι,

43.1.1 | There was an ancient Doukianos, not the one who lived in the time of old Constantine, whom the Arians claim as a witness. For this Doukianos too, I say, was close to the Arian heresy, about which later προσανέχων τῇ τῶν Ἀρειανῶν αἵρέσει, περὶ οὗ ὕστερον ἐν τῇ κατ' αὐτῶν ἀνατροπῇ λέζομεν. νῦν δὲ πρὸς τὸν προειρημένον ἀρχαῖον Δουκιανὸν ἀποτείνεται ὁ λόγος.

we speak in their overthrow. But now the talk is about the ancient Doukianos mentioned before.

43.1.2 | οὗτος γὰρ συνεπόμενος τῷ προειρημένῳ Μαρκίῳ καὶ ἀπὸ τούτου ἀποσχίσας καὶ αὐτὸς ἄθροισμα ἐαυτῷ ποιησάμενος αἵρέσεως προέστη, ἀφ' οὗ περ οἱ Δουκιανισταὶ οἱ ἀρχαῖοι καλούμενοι.

43.1.2 | For he followed the Markion mentioned before, and breaking away from him, he gathered a group for himself and led a heresy, from which the ancient Doukianists are called.

43.1.3 | κατὰ πάντα μὲν οὖν κατὰ τὸν Μαρκίωνα δογματίζει, κέχρηται δὲ ὡς ὁ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐλθὼν λόγος καὶ ἡ περὶ αὐτοῦ ἔμφασις *. ἀρχαίων γὰρ τούτων ὄντων καὶ θᾶττον κατασβεσθέντων δυσχερὴς γεγένηται ἡμῖν, ὡς ἀληθῶς ἔστιν εἰπεῖν, ἡ κατ' αὐτοὺς ἔρευνα. ἃ δὲ ἀπὸ μέρους ἔγνωμεν τῶν αὐτοῦ ἔστι τάδε.

43.1.3 | In all things then he teaches according to Markion, and he uses, as the story that came to us and the emphasis about him show. Since these are ancient and soon put out, the search about them has become hard for us, truly to say, according to them. But what we have learned in part about him is this.

43.1.4 | μετὰ τὸ συστήναι δῆθεν ἕτερον μὲν τὸν δημιουργὸν καὶ κριτὴν καὶ δίκαιον, ἕτερον δὲ τὸν ἀγαρὸν ὡσαύτως καὶ ἕτερον τὸν πονηρόν, βούλεται χρῆσθαι καὶ μαρτυρίαις τισὶ κατὰ τὸν Μαρκίωνα κατὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ ὑπόνοιαν ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν προφητῶν γραφῆς, φημὶ δὲ τῷ »μάταιος ὁ δουλεύων κυρίῳ« καὶ τῷ εἰρημένῳ »ἀντέστησαν θεῷ καὶ ἐσώθησαν«.

43.1.4 | After setting up, as they say, one creator and judge and just, and another also good, and another evil, he wants to use some testimonies according to Markion, according to his idea, from the writings of the prophets. I say this about 'the one who serves the lord is useless' and about the saying 'they opposed God and were saved.'

43.1.5 | τέλεον δὲ οὗτος παρὰ τὴν τοῦ διδασκάλου αὐτοῦ διδασκαλίαν ἀπαρνεῖται τὸν γάμον καὶ ἀγνείαν ἀσκεῖ, οὐ δὲ ἀγνείαν ἀλλ' ἵνα ἀθετήσῃ τὰ ἔργα τοῦ δημιουργοῦ, διδάσκων μὴ συνάπτεσθαι γάμῳ – »ἀφ' οὗ γάμος, εὐθηνία« φησί »διὰ τῆς παιδοποιίας ἐν κόσμῳ τῷ δημιουργῷ

43.1.5 | Completely, this one, against the teaching of his teacher, denies marriage and practices purity, not for purity's sake but to reject the works of the creator, teaching not to join in marriage — 'from marriage comes happiness,' he says, 'through having children in the world from γίνεται» – πρὸς ἀντίθεσιν τῆς τοῦ δημιουργοῦ καὶ κτιστοῦ διὰ τῆς παιδοποιίας ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ εὐθηνίας.

the creator’ — in opposition to the creator and maker’s happiness through having children in the world.

43.1.6 | φωραθήσεται δὲ ὁ τοιοῦτος καὶ διελεγθήσεται ἀπὸ μὲν τῆς ἤδη πρὸς τὸν αὐτοῦ ἐπιστάτην ἀντιθέσεως, διὰ πολλῶν ποιησαμένων ἡμῶν τὴν πρὸς αὐτὸν ἀντιλογίαν τε καὶ ἀνατροπὴν, ἐν ὁποίαις τε καὶ ὁπόσαις συνάδει τὸ εὐαγγέλιον τῇ

43.1.6 | Such a person will be exposed and proven wrong, both by the opposition already made against his master, through many things we do to argue and overturn him, in which and how many ways the gospel agrees with the...

43.1.7 | with the old covenant, and as our lord himself admits, the world’s creation is his own and the father’s work, to sum up especially well a very important saying by the holy John: ‘in the beginning was the word, and the word was with God, and the word was God. everything came to be through him, and without him not even one thing came to be’ and what follows.

Section 2

43.2.1 | 2. Ἀλλὰ γε ὁ τοιοῦτος εὐθὺς ἀνατραπήσεται. εἰ γὰρ καὶ βούλοιο λέγειν ὅτι ἀντιθέσεως χάριν καὶ καθαιρέσεως τῶν ὑπὸ τοῦ δημιουργοῦ ἐνταῦθα γενομένων ἢ τοῦ γάμου αὐτῷ συνάφεια ἀθετεῖται, ἵνα μὴ τῷ δημιουργῷ συμπράξειεν, ὥστε ἀπέχεσθαι παντάπασιν τοῦ ἔργου τοῦ δημιουργοῦ, πῶς οὐχὶ ἄλογος αὐτῷ ἢ ὑπόνοια καὶ φωρατὴ καὶ εὐθυέλεγκτος;

43.2.1 | But indeed such a person will be immediately overturned. For even if he wanted to say that, for the sake of opposition and destruction of what was made by the creator here, the connection of marriage to him is denied, so that he would not cooperate with the creator, and so completely avoid the creator’s work, how is not his suspicion unreasonable, exposed, and easily proven wrong?

43.2.2 | ἰδοὺ γὰρ ἀπὸ τῆς κτίσεως καὶ τῆς τοῦ δημιουργοῦ δημιουργίας καὶ τῶν ἐδωδῶν καὶ τῶν ἀμφίων [καὶ] τὴν χρῆσιν

43.2.2 | Look, for from creation and the creator’s making, and from the foods and clothes, and the use of drinks and foods, the

πομάτων τε καὶ βρωμάτων' μέτεισιν ὁ μὴς κῆαι ὁ ἀγύρτης καὶ ἄλλως οὐ δυνήσεται ἐκφυγεῖν καὶ μὴ οὐχὶ τοῦτοις χρῆσθαι.

beggar and the thief share; and in no other way can they escape and not use these things.

43.2.3 | Θεὸς γὰρ ὁ πάντων δεσπότης καὶ δημιουργὸς πάντων ἐπιμελόμενος καὶ ἐπὶ τοῦς πονηροῦς καὶ ἀγαθοὺς ἀνατέλλει αὐτοῦ τὸν ἥλιον, καὶ ἐπὶ τοὺς αὐτὸν βλασφημοῦντας καὶ ἐπὶ τοὺς αὐτὸν δοξάζοντας πέμπει αὐτοῦ τὸν ὑετὸν καὶ πάντας τρέφει,

43.2.3 | For God, the master and creator of all, cares for everyone and causes the sun to rise on both the wicked and the good, and sends rain on those who curse him and on those who praise him, and feeds them all,

43.2.4 | οὐκ ἀλόγῳ τινὶ καὶ ἀναισθητῷ ὀρισμῷ, ἀλλὰ ἐκδικίᾳ τῇ παρ' αὐτοῦ ὀρισθείσῃ ἐν τῇ μελλούσῃ κρίσει μακροθυμῶν καὶ ὀρισμοῖς ἰδίῳ καὶ σοφίᾳ, ἵν' οἱ μετανοήσαντες τῆς παρ' αὐτοῦ ἀμνηστίας τυχόντες τὸ σωτήριον | κτήσιντο.

43.2.4 | not by some unreasonable and senseless rule, but by a justice set by him in the coming judgment, patient and with his own rules and wisdom, so that those who repent after his punishment might receive salvation.

43.2.5 | εἰς δὲ ἐπιμένοντες ταῖς αὐτῶν βλασφημίαις ὑπονοίαις καὶ ματαιοφροσύναις, ταῖς μὴ ἐκ θεοῦ αὐτοῖς δοθείσαις, τὸ τῆνικαὶ μετὰ τὴν ἐντε[θεν] ἀπαλλαγὴν, τοῦ αὐτεξουσίῳ μηκέτι αὐτοῖς συμπαράμενοντος,* ἀλλὰ οὔτε διὰ θυμὸν αὐτοῖς τὴν τότε ἐσομένην κρίσιν οὔτε ὡς ἐν ὀργῇ ἐπιφέρων τὰ ἐσόμενα*,— 43.2.5 | but if they kept on with their blasphemous doubts and foolish thoughts, which were not given to them by God, then after their release from that place, when their free will no longer helped them, neither through anger would he bring the coming judgment on them, nor as if in rage would he bring what was going to happen,—

43.2.6 | ὅλα γὰρ προεθέσπισεν διὰ | τὴν οὐκ εἶσω παθῶν περιεχομένην αὐτοῦ θεότητα —, ἀλλὰ δι' ἣν ἕκαστος τῶν * ἐπὶ βλάβῃ ἑαυτοῦ τι ἐργαζόμενος ἑαυτῷ παραίτιος γεγένηται *, τοῦ θεοῦ ἀναιτίου ὄντος τῆς καθ' ἡμᾶς παρεκτροπῆς τε καὶ τῆς ἐκ ταύτης καθ' ἡμῶν μελλούσης ἔσεσθαι

43.2.6 | for he planned everything because of the godhead within him not affected by suffering, but through which each one who harms himself by his own actions becomes responsible to himself, while God is without blame for our turning away and for the punishment that will come to us καταδίκης.

because of it.

43.2.7 | Ἐν ἅπασιν οὖν καὶ οὗτος φωραθήσεται, ταῖς πρότερον καὶ μετέπειτα ἐγκαταμιχθεὶς αἵρέσεσιν, ἐκ τοῦ ἀριθμοῦ »τῶν τῆς ἀπωλείας τέκνων« ὑπάρχων, δηλοῦσης τῆς ἀληθείας καὶ τοῦ φωτὸς τοῦ εὐαγγελίου, φωτεινῶς τὴν πᾶσαν οἰκουμένην καταυγάζοντος καὶ σώζοντος τοὺς υἱοὺς τῆς ἀληθινῆς πίστεως ἐν ἀληθείᾳ.

43.2.7 | So in all things this one will also be revealed, mixed before and after with heresies, being counted among the “children of destruction,” showing the truth and the light of the gospel, brightly shining over the whole world and saving the sons of true faith in truth.

43.2.8 | ὥς οὖν ἐκ συντόμου † σκοποῦ ὄφιν παρακύψαντα διὰ μικροῦ τινος σκεύους ἀνελόντες θανατωθεῖσάν & τε & ταύτην καταλελοιπότες ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἴωμεν κατὰ τὴν ἐπαγγελίαν, τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ συμπαραλαβόντες βοήθειαν εἰς τὸ παραστῆσαι τὴν αὐτοῦ ἀλήθειαν.

43.2.8 | So then, as from a short view a snake peeking out and taking a small vessel, having been killed and leaving this behind, let us go on to the next things according to the promise, taking with us the help of God to stand firm in his truth.

Book 44

Section 1

44.1.1 | 1. Τοῦτον τὸν προειρημένον Λουκιανὸν διαδέχεται Ἀπελλῆς, οὐχ ὁ ἅγιος ἐκεῖνος ὁ ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου ἀποστόλου συνιστώμενος, ἀλλ’ ἕτερος ἐξ οὗπερ Ἀπελλιᾶνοί, ὧν καὶ αὐτὸς συσχολαστῆς αὐτοῦ Λουκιανοῦ καὶ μαθητῆς τοῦ προειρημένου Μαρκίωνος, ὥς ἐκ μιᾶς ρίζης πολλῶν ἀκανθῶν ὑλομανήσασαι παραφυάδες.

44.1.1 | 1. This Lucian mentioned before is taken over by Apelles, not that holy one who is appointed by the holy apostle, but another, from whom the Apelleans come, who was also a follower of that Lucian and a student of the Lucian mentioned before, like a branch growing wild from one root of many thorns.

44.1.2 | ἕτερα δὲ οὗτος παρὰ τοὺς ἄλλους βούλεται δογματίζειν καὶ κατὰ μὲν τοῦ ἑαυτοῦ διδασκάλου ὀπλιζάμενος ἑαυτὸν

44.1.2 | But this one wants to teach different things from the others, and, having armed himself against his own καὶ κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας, εἰς τὸ συναγεῖρειν ἑαυτῷ καὶ αὐτὸς σχολὴν πεπλανημένων ἀνθρώπων, τὰ τοιαῦτα βούλεται δογματίζειν, φάσκων μὲν ὅτι οὐχ teacher and against the truth, he wants to gather for himself a group of confused people, and he wants to teach such things, claiming that not...

44.1.3 | οὕτως, φησί, γεγένηται, ἀλλὰ πεπλάνηται Μαρκίων, ἵνα πανταχόθεν ἑαυτῇ ἐλέγχους ἃ τε ἡ ἄνοια καὶ ἡ ἀνομία ἐν ἑαυτῇ συντριβομένη φανήσεται καὶ καθ' ἑαυτῆς τὴν ἀνατροπὴν ἐπεγείρουσα, τῆς ἀληθείας ἀεὶ ἐδραίας οὔσης καὶ μὴ χρεῖαν ἐχούσης βοηθείας, ἀλλὰ αὐτοσυστάτου οὔσης καὶ παρὰ θεῷ τῷ ὄντως <ὄντι> ἀεὶ συνιστωμένης.

44.1.3 | You say that Marcion did not become like this, but he was mistaken, so that foolishness and lawlessness, testing itself everywhere and breaking itself, will be shown, and raising its own overthrow, while the truth is always firm and does not need help, but is self-established and always stands by God, who truly exists.

44.1.4 | φάσκει γοῦν οὗτος ὁ προειρημένος Ἀπελλῆς καὶ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ ὅτι οὐκ εἰσὶ τρεῖς ἀρχαὶ οὔτε δύο, ὥς τοῖς περὶ Λουκιανὸν καὶ Μαρκίωνα ἔδοξεν, ἀλλὰ, φησὶν, εἷς ἐστὶν ἀγαθὸς θεὸς καὶ μία ἀρχὴ καὶ μία δύναμις ἀκατονόμαστος· ᾧ ἐνὶ θεῷ ἡγουν μᾶ ἀρχῇ οὐδὲν μεμέληται τῶν ἐνταῦθα ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ τοῦ τῷ γεγεννημένων,

44.1.4 | This Apelles mentioned before, and those who come from him, say that there are not three beginnings nor two, as it seemed about Lucian and Marcion, but, he says, there is one good god and one beginning and one power without a name; to this one god, that is, one beginning, none of the things that have happened here in this world matter.

44.1.5 | ἀλλὰ ὁ αὐτὸς ἅγιος ἄνωθεν θεὸς καὶ ἀγαθὸς ἐποίησεν ἕνα ἄλλον θεόν· ὁ δὲ γενόμενος ἄλλος θεὸς ἔκτισε τὰ πάντα, οὐρανὸν καὶ γῆν καὶ πάντα τὰ ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ.

44.1.5 | But the same holy god above and good made another god; and the other god who came into being created everything, the sky and the earth and all things in the world.

44.1.6 | ἐπέβη δὲ οὐκ ἀγαθὸς καὶ τὰ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γενόμενα, φησὶν, οὐκ ἀγαθῶς εἰργασμένα, ἀλλὰ κατὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ φαύλην διάνοιαν τὰ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ * ἔκτισται.

44.1.6 | But he who is not good came upon them, and the things made by him, he says, were not made well, but according to his bad mind the things made by him were created.

44.1.7 | Τίς δὲ ἀνέξεται τῶν τοιούτων λόγων καὶ οὐ μᾶλλον καταγελάσειε τῆς τοιαύτης ματαιοπονίας; κατὰ γὰρ δύο τρόπους εὐπερήσεται οὐχ ἄρμοδίως πράττων, χρώμενος τῇ τοιαύτῃ ὑπονόᾳ.

44.1.7 | Who will put up with such words and not laugh even more at such foolishness? For in two ways he will be proud, acting wrongly, using such a trick.

44.1.8 | καὶ διὰ τοῦτο πρὸς αὐτὸν ὡς πρὸς παρόντα ἐρῶ· λέγε μοι, ὦ οὔτος. δώσεις γάρ, ὦ Ἀπελλῇ, ἢ τὸν θεὸν ἄγνωστον τῶν μελλόντων πεποιηκότα θεὸν ὃν φάσκεις τὰ ποιήματα κακῶς δεδημιουργηκέναι, ἢ προγινώσκοντα μὲν ὅτι τοιοῦτος ὁ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ κτιζόμενος θεὸς ἀποβήσεται, τούτου χάριν αὐτὸν πεποιηκέναι, ἵνα μὴ αἴτιος γένηται τῶν κακῶς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ δεδημιουργημένων.

44.1.8 | And for this reason I will speak to him as if he is here: Tell me, Apelles. Will you give that god, unknown to the future, whom you say made the works badly, or will you say that he knew beforehand that the god made by him would turn out this way, and for that reason made him, so that he would not be the cause of the badly made things?

44.1.9 | καὶ ἔσται ἐξ ἅπαντος ὁ ἄνω θεὸς αὐτὸς δημιουργός, ποιήσας τὸν ἕνα τὸν τὰ πάντα πεποιηκότα, καὶ ἔσται οὐκέτι αἴτιος ὁ τὰς κτίσεις πεποιηκώς, ἀλλὰ ὁ ἄνω θεὸς ὁ τὸν κτιστὴν ποιήσας καὶ ὢν αὐτὸς τῶν πάντων δημιουργός.

44.1.9 | And the god above himself will be the creator, having made the one who made all things, and the one who made the creatures will no longer be the cause, but the god above, who made the creator and is himself the maker of all things.

Section 2

44.2.1 | Χριστὸν δὲ ἥκειν φησὶν ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῶν καιρῶν, υἱὸν ὄντα τοῦ ἄνω ἀγαθοῦ θεοῦ, καὶ τὸ ἅγιον αὐτοῦ πνεῦμα ὡσαύτως ἐπὶ σωτηρίᾳ τῶν εἰς γνῶσιν αὐτοῦ ἐρχομένων,

44.2.1 | But you say that Christ will come at the last times, being the son of the good god above, and his holy spirit also will come for the salvation of those who come to know him,

44.2.2 | καὶ ἐλθόντα οὐ δοκῇσι πεφνηνέναι, ἀλλὰ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ σάρκα εἰληφέναι, οὐκ ἀπὸ Μαρίας τῆς παρθένου, ἀλλὰ ἀληθινὴν μὲν ἐσχηκέναι τὴν σάρκα καὶ σῶμα, οὔτε

44.2.2 | And coming, he will not seem to have appeared, but truly will have taken flesh, not from Mary the virgin, but truly will have had flesh and body, neither from

<δ> από σπέρματος ἀνδρὸς οὔτε ἀπὸ γυναικὸς παρθένου.

the seed of a man nor from a virgin woman.

44.2.3 | ἀλλὰ ἔσχεν μὲν σάρκα ἀληθινήν, τούτῳ <δ> τῷ τρόπῳ· καί, φησὶν, ἐν τῷ ἔρχεσθαι ἀπὸ τῶν ἀπουρανίων ἦλθεν εἰς τὴν γῆν καὶ συνήγαγεν ἑαυτῷ ἀπὸ τῶν τεσσάρων στοιχείων σῶμα.

44.2.3 | But he had true flesh, in this way; and, you say, in coming down from the heavenly places he came to the earth and gathered for himself a body from the four elements.

44.2.4 | καὶ πῶς καὶ οὗτος οὐκ ἐπείγεται εἰς τὸ φωραθῆναι αὐτοῦ τὴν ἀνομίαν ἀκολουθοῦσαν ταῖς τῶν παλαιῶν Ἑλλήνων ποιητῶν περὶ τῆς κενοφωνίας ταύτης δόξαις; φάσκει γὰρ καὶ οὗτος, ὡς ἐκεῖνοι καὶ ἔτι ψυχροτέρως παρ' ἐκείνους λέγων, τὸν σωτῆρα ἑαυτῷ ὑποστήσασθαι τὸ σῶμα.

44.2.4 | And how is it that this one is not eager for his lawlessness to be seen, following the beliefs of the old Greek poets about this empty noise? For he also says, even more coldly than they, that the savior took on a body for himself.

44.2.5 | ἀπὸ γὰρ τοῦ ξηροῦ τὸ ξηρὸν καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ θερμοῦ τὸ θερμὸν καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ ὕγροῦ τὸ ὑγρὸν καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ ψυχροῦ τὸ ψυχρὸν βκαὶ οὕτως πλάσας ἑαυτῷ σῶμα ἀληθινῶς πέφηνεν ἐν κόσμῳ καὶ ἐδίδαξεν ἡμᾶς τὴν ἄνω γνῶσιν,

44.2.5 | For from the dry comes the dry, and from the warm comes the warm, and from the wet comes the wet, and from the cold comes the cold; and thus having formed a body for himself, he truly appeared in the world and taught us the higher knowledge,

44.2.6 | καταφρονεῖν τε τοῦ δημιουργοῦ καὶ ἀρνεῖσθαι αὐτοῦ τὰ ἔργα, ὑποδείξας ἡμῖν ἐν ποίᾳ γραφῇ ποῖά ἐστι τὰ ψύσει ἐξ αὐτοῦ εἰρημένα καὶ ποῖά ἐστι τὰ ἀπὸ τοῦ δημιουργοῦ. »οὕτως γάρ, φησὶν, ἔφη ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ, γίνεσθε δόκιμοι τραπεζῖται· χρῶμαι γάρ, φησὶν, ἀπὸ πάσης γραφῆς ἀναλέγων τὰ χρήσιμα«.

44.2.6 | and to despise the creator and deny his works, showing us in which scripture the things falsely said come from him and which come from the creator. "For so," he says, "he said in the gospel, 'become approved servants; for I use,' he says, 'from every scripture, choosing the useful things.'"

44.2.7 | εἶτα, φησὶν, ἔδωκεν ὁ Χριστὸς

44.2.7 | Then, he says, Christ gave himself ἐαυτὸν παθεῖν ἐν αὐτῷ τῷ σώματι καὶ ἐσταυρώθη ἐν ἀληθείᾳ καὶ ἐτάφη ἐν ἀληθείᾳ καὶ ἀνέστη ἐν ἀληθείᾳ καὶ ἔδειξεν αὐτὴν τὴν σάρκα τοῖς ἐαυτοῦ μαθηταῖς.

to suffer in that very body and was truly crucified and was truly buried and truly rose again, and he showed that flesh to his own disciples.

44.2.8 | καὶ ἀναλύσας, φησὶν, αὐτὴν τὴν ἐνανθρώπησιν ἐαυτοῦ ἀπεμέρισε πάλιν ἐκάστῳ τῶν στοιχείων τὸ ἴδιον ἀποδούς, τὸ θερμὸν τῷ θερμῷ, τὸ ψυχρὸν τῷ ψυχρῷ, τὸ ξηρὸν τῷ ξηρῷ, τὸ ὑγρὸν τῷ ὑγρῷ· καὶ οὕτως διαλύσας ἀπ' αὐτοῦ πάλιν τὸ ἔνσαρκον σῶμα ἀνέπτυε εἰς τὸν οὐρανόν ὅθεν καὶ ἦκε.

44.2.8 | And having undone, he says, that becoming human of his, he gave back again to each of the elements its own, the warm to the warm, the cold to the cold, the dry to the dry, the wet to the wet; and thus having undone the embodied body from himself again, he ascended into the heaven from where he also came.

Section 3

44.3.1 | 3. Καὶ ὧ πολλῆς δραματουργίας τῶν τὰ τοιαῦτα λεγόντων, ὡς παντὶ τῷ σαφὲς εἶη μίμων μᾶλλον ἐργαστήριον ἢ περ ἐπαγγελίας ζωῆς ἢ συνέσεως χαρακτηρὰ κεκτημένων.

44.3.1 | And how much acting there is among those who say such things, as if the clear place for mimics were more a workshop than a promise of life or a mark of gained understanding.

44.3.2 | εἰ γὰρ ὅλως ἔλυσεν αὐτὸ τὸ σῶμα ὅπερ εἴληφε, τίνι τῷ λόγῳ ἀπ' ἀρχῆς αὐτὸ ἐαυτῷ κατεσκεύαζεν;

44.3.2 | For if the very body that he took was completely undone, why from the start did he prepare it for himself by word?

44.3.3 | εἰ δὲ κατεσκεύαζε διὰ τινὰ χρῆσιν, ἀπετέλεσε δὲ τὸ ἔργον τῆς χρήσεως, ἔδει καταλείψαι αὐτὸ ἐν τῇ γῇ, μάλιστα καθ' ὕμῃς & τοῦ & τῆς κατὰ τὴν ἀνάστασιν τῆς σαρκὸς ἐλπίδος εἰδούς μὴ χρεῖαν ἔχοντος τελειωθῆναι.

44.3.3 | But if he prepared it for some use, and the work of the use was finished, he should have left it in the earth, especially among you who have no need of the hope of resurrection of the flesh to be made perfect.

44.3.4 | ἀλλὰ ἀνέστησεν αὐτὸ πάλιν, ἵνα εἰς κάματον ἐαυτὸν μείζονα ἐμβάλῃ, ἵνα μηδὲν ὠφελήσῃ, κατασκευάζων καὶ ἐν μνήματι ἀποτιθέμενος καὶ διαλύων καὶ μερίζων

44.3.4 | But he raised it up again, to bring greater trouble on himself, so that he might help nothing, preparing it and placing it in a tomb, and breaking it apart and dividing it ἐκάστῳ τῶν στοιχείων ὅπερ παρ' αὐτοῦ εἴληφεν, ὡς εὐγνώμων χρεωφειλέτης.

to each of the elements what he had taken from them, like a grateful debtor.

44.3.5 | καὶ εἰ ὅλως ἐκάστῳ <τὸ ἴδιον> ἀπεδίδου, τούτέστιν τὸ ψυχρὸν τῷ ψυχρῷ καὶ τὸ θερμὸν τῷ θερμῷ, ἡδύνατο ταῦτα μὴ ὀρᾶσθαι τοῖς μαθηταῖς τοῖς αὐτοῦ, ἀλλ' οὐ μὴν τὸ σῶμα τὸ ξηρὸν. πάντως γὰρ τὸ ξηρὸν σῶμά ἐστι, σὰρξ καὶ ὀστέα, καὶ τὸ ὕγρὸν πάντως ἐχῶρές εἰσι καὶ σὰρξ εἰς ὕγρότητα διαλυομένη· ἅτινα πάντως τοῖς ἀποστόλοις φανερώτατα ἀποτιθέμενος ἐσήμανεν,

44.3.5 | And if he gave back to each its own, that is, the cold to the cold and the warm to the warm, he could have kept these things hidden from his own disciples, but not the dry body. For the dry body is always flesh and bones, and the wet parts are always flesh dissolving into moisture; these things he clearly showed to the apostles when he laid them down.

44.3.7 | ὥς καὶ τὸ πρῶτον ὅτε ἐθάπτετο τὸ αὐτοῦ σῶμα κατηξιοῦτο Ἰωσήφ ὁ ἀπὸ Ἀριμαθαίας ἐντυλίξαι αὐτὸ ἐν σινδόνι καὶ ἀποθέσθαι ἐν μνήματι.

44.3.7 | Just as at first, when his body was buried, Joseph of Arimathea thought it right to wrap it in a linen cloth and place it in a tomb.

44.3.8 | ἅμα δὲ καὶ αἱ γυναῖκες εἶχον ἰδεῖν ποῦ κατελείβθη τὰ λείψανα, ἵνα αὐτὰ τιμήσωσι διὰ μύρων καὶ ἀρωμάτων, ὥς τὸ πρῶτον.

44.3.8 | At the same time, the women were allowed to see where the body was left, so that they could honor it with myrrh and spices, just like at first.

44.3.9 | ἀλλ' οὐδαμοῦ τὸ ψεῦδος ὑμῶν τοῦτο δεδ;λωται, ὧ Ἀπελληανοί, ἀπὸ ἐνὸς τῶν ἀγίων ἀποστόλων· οὐ γὰρ ἔστιν. ἀλλὰ τοὺς μὲν ἀοράτους ὁρατῶς εἶδον δύο ἄνδρας καὶ αὐτὸν εἰς οὐρανὸν ἀνερχόμενον καὶ ὑπὸ νεφέλης φωτεινῆς ὑπολαμβανόμενον, λείψανον δὲ αὐτοῦ οὐδαμοῦ καταλελειμμένον· οὐ γὰρ ἐχρῆν οὐδὲ ἐνεδέχετο. καὶ ψεύδεται Ἀπελλῆς καὶ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ Ἀπελληανοί.

44.3.9 | But nowhere is your lie shown, o Apellanians, from one of the holy apostles; for it is not. But they saw two men visibly, the invisible ones, and him going up into heaven and taken up under a bright cloud, and no part of him left anywhere; for it was neither needed nor possible. And Apelles and those Apellanians from him lie.

Section 4

44.4.1 | 4. Τὰ ὅμοια δὲ τῷ ἑαυτοῦ ἐπιστήτη Μαρκίῳ περὶ τῆς ἄλλης σαρκὸς καὶ τῶν ἄλλων ὁμοίως ἐδογματίσεν, φάσκων μὴ εἶναι ἀνάστασιν ωκερῶν, καὶ τὰ ἄλλα ὅσα περ * ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς, ἔδοξεν ὁμοίως δογματίζειν.

44.4.1 | And to his own teacher Marcion, about the other flesh and the others, he likewise gave a teaching, saying that there is no resurrection of the body, and the other things just as on earth, he seemed to teach the same way.

44.4.2 | ἀνατραπήσεται δὲ ὁ αὐτοῦ λογισμὸς λῆρὸς τις ὧν καὶ κατὰ πάντα τρόπον πεπλανημένος. οὔτε γὰρ ἰσχύσει σκότος ἔνθα τὸ φῶς παραφαίνεται οὔτε τὸ ψεῦδος σταθήσεται * οὔσης σκότος ἔνθα τὸ φῶς παραφαίνεται οὔτε τὸ ψεῦδος σταθήσεται * οὔσης τῆς ἀληθείας.

44.4.2 | His own thought will be overturned, being foolish and completely mistaken. For neither will darkness have power where the light shines through, nor will falsehood stand where truth is present.

44.4.3 | εἰ γὰρ ὅλως κέχρησαι ταῖς γραφαῖς, ὧ Ἀπελλῇ καὶ οἱ ἀπὸ σοῦ Ἀπελλιανοί, ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν γραφῶν εὐρεθήσεσθε ἐλεγχόμενοι· πρῶτον μὲν, ὅτι κατ' εἰκόνα θεοῦ ἐποίησεν ὁ θεὸς τὸν ἄνθρωπον,

44.4.3 | For if you have truly used the scriptures, o Apelles and the Apellanians from you, you will be found refuted by those very scriptures; first, that God made man in the image of God,

44.4.4 | ὁ δὲ ποιήσας ἔφη »ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον κατ' εἰκόνα ἡμετέραν καὶ καθ' ὁμοίωσιν«· ὡς εἴ τις ἀπὸ τῆς σου πεπλανημένης αἰρέσεως ἐπιστρέψει πρὸς τῆς ἀλήθειαν, ὡς ἀπὸ σκότους ἀποδράσας καὶ ἀπὸ νυκτὸς ἀναστὰς εὐροὶ ἂν τὸ φῶς αὐτῷ ἀνατεῖλαν τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ γνώσεως ἡλίου δίκην καὶ ὑπὲρ κήλιν.

44.4.4 | But the one who made said, "Let us make man in our image and likeness." So if anyone from your mistaken sect would turn back to the truth, like escaping from darkness and rising from night, he would find the light of God's knowledge shining for him like the sun, even brighter than the sun.

44.4.5 | φανήσεται γὰρ παντὶ τῷ τὸν εὖλογον λογισμὸν κεκτημένῳ ὅτι ὁ εἰπὼν »ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον« ὁ θεὸς ἐστὶν ὁ τῶν ὅλων πατήρ· συγκαλεῖται δὲ μεθ' ἑαυτοῦ τὸν αἰεὶ ὄντα σὺν σαύτῳ θεὸν Λόγον υἱὸν μονογενῆ, ἐξ αὐτοῦ ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόνωνος γεγεννημένον, ἅμα δὲ καὶ τὸ ἅγιον αὐτοῦ πνεῦμα τὸ οὐκ ἀλλότριον αὐτοῦ οὐδὲ τοῦ

44.4.5 | For it will be clear to everyone who has good sense that the one who said "Let us make man" is God the Father of all; and he calls with him the always existing God the Word, his only Son, born from him without beginning and without color, and at the same time his holy spirit, which is αὐτοῦ ἰδίου υἱοῦ.

not foreign to him nor to his own Son.

44.4.6 | εἰ γὰρ ἄλλος ἦν ὁ πλάσας τὸν ἄνθρωπον τουτέστιν καὶ τὸν κόσμον κτίσας, ἄλλος δὲ ὁ ἄνω ἀγαθὸς θεὸς παρ' οὗ κατεῆλθεν ὁ Χριστός, οὐκ ἂν ὁ Χριστὸς ἐλάβανεν ἑαυτῷ σῶμα καὶ ἔπλασε, τὴν εἰκόνα τοῦ δημιουργοῦ εἰς ἑαυτὸν ἀνατυπῶν.

44.4.6 | For if another had made man, that is, made the world, and another was the good God above from whom Christ came down, Christ would not have taken a body for himself and formed it, re-imprinting the image of the creator on himself.

44.4.7 | ἀλλὰ δῆλον ὅτι αὐτὸς ἐστὶν ὁ δημιουργὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου καὶ τοῦ κόσμου, ὃς εἶπεν ὁ πατήρ »ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον κατ' εἰκόνα ἡμετέραν καὶ καθ' ὁμοίωσιν«.

44.4.7 | But it is clear that he himself is the creator of man and of the world, to whom the father said, "Let us make man in our image and likeness."

44.4.8 | ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ ἐνὸς ὁ τότε τὸν ἄνθρωπον πεποιηκώς, πλάσας τε ἐκ γῆς τὸ τοῦ Ἀδάμ σῶμα καὶ ποιήσας αὐτὸ εἰς ψυχὴν ζῶσαν.

44.4.8 | And from the one who then made man, shaping from the earth the body of Adam and making it into a living soul.

44.4.9 | διὸ καὶ ἐμαρτύρησεν ὁ ἅγιος Ἰωάννης ἐν τῷ ἁγίῳ εὐαγγελίῳ λέγων ὅτι »ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦν ὁ Λόγος, καὶ ὁ Λόγος ἦν πρὸς τὸν θεόν, καὶ θεὸς ἦν ὁ λόγος. οὗτος ἦν ἐν ἀρχῇ πρὸς τὸν θεόν· πάντα δι' αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο, καὶ χωρὶς αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο οὐδὲ ἓν« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

44.4.9 | Therefore the holy John also testified in the holy gospel saying, "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was in the beginning with God. All things came into being through him, and without him not even one thing came into being," and the things that follow.

44.4.10 | εἰ δὲ <πάντα> ἐν αὐτῷ ἐγένετο καὶ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο, αὐτὸς τότε τὸν Ἀδὰμ ἔπλασε καὶ αὐτὸς πάλιν τὸ σῶμα ἀπὸ Μαρίας τῆς παρθένου εἰς ἑαυτὸν ἀνεπλάσατο καὶ τελείως τὴν πᾶσαν αὐτοῦ ἐνανθρώπησιν συνήνωσε τὴν ὑπ' αὐτοῦ τότε πλασθεῖσαν καὶ νῦν ἐν ἑαυτῷ

44.4.10 | But if all things came into being in him and through him, then he himself shaped Adam, and he himself again formed the body from Mary the virgin into himself, and completely joined all his human nature, the one then shaped by him and now united in himself.

συνενωθεῖσαν.

44.4.11 | εἰ δὲ ἄλλοτρίαν ἐργασίαν εἰς ἑαυτὸν ἔλαβε τοῦ κακῶς τὴν πλάσιν πλάσαντος καὶ κακοῦ ὑπάρχοντος κατὰ τὴν σοῦ διδασκαλίαν, καὶ εἰ ὅλως κέχρηται τοῖς κακοῖς πιήμασιν οἷς ὁ κατὰ σὲ κακὸς ποιητὴν εἰργάσατο, ἄρα ἐπεμίγη τῇ κακίᾳ τοῦ ποιητοῦ χρήσει τε καὶ εὐεργεσίᾳ καὶ τῇ ἰδίᾳ αὐτοῦ εἰκόνι. ἀλλὰ οὐκ κένδέχεται.

44.4.11 | But if he took someone else's work into himself, the one who made the bad creation badly and is evil according to your teaching, and if he used at all the evil things that the evil maker made, then he mixed the evil of the maker with his use and kindness and with his own image. But that is not possible.

44.4.12 | εἰ γὰρ ἐνηνθρώπησεν, οὐ μόνον σάρκα εἵληφεν ἀλλὰ καὶ ψυχὴν. δῆλον γὰρ ἔσται τοῦτο· ἐπεὶ πόθεν ἔλεγεν »ἐξουσίαν ἔχω λαβεῖν τὴν ψυχὴν μου καὶ θεῖναι αὐτήν«;

44.4.12 | For if he became human, he took not only flesh but also a soul. This will be clear; for where else would he say, "I have the power to take my soul and to lay it down"?

44.4.13 | τὴν πᾶσαν τοίνυν πραγματείαν ἀναδεξάμενος, τὴν ῥηθεῖσαν ὑπὸ τοῦ δημιουργοῦ εἰκόνα, πᾶσαν † πραγματείαν ἀνεδέξατο, ἐν τῷ σώματι καὶ ψυχῇ

44.4.13 | Having taken on the whole task, the image spoken of by the creator, he took on the whole task, in body and soul.

44.4.14 | ἐλθὼν ὁ Λόγος καὶ ἐν ὁποίοις ἅπασιν ἐστὶν ὁ ἄνθρωπος. τούτων δὲ οὕτως τελεσθέντων ἐξ ἅπαντος ἡμαυρώται σου τὸ δηλητήριον, καὶ ἔπεςεν σου ἡ στάσις ἡ ἀθεμελίωτος, μὴ ἔχουσα πῆξιν ἐδραιώματος ἀληθείας.

44.4.14 | The word came and in whatever way a person is made up. And when these things were completed in this way, your poison was completely taken away, and your unstable rebellion, having no firm foundation of truth, was destroyed.

Section 5

44.5.1 | 5. Εἰ δὲ καὶ ἃ βούλει λαμβάνεις ἀπὸ τῆς θείας γραφῆς καὶ ἃ βούλει καταλιμπάνεις, ἄρα γοῦν κριτὴς προεκάθισας, οὐχ ἑρμηνευτὴς τῶν νόμων ἀλλὰ ἐκλεγὺς τῶν οὐ κατὰ τὸν νοῦν σου ραφέντων, ἀλλὰ ὄντων μενάλξιρινων παρὰ

44.5.1 | But if you take what you want from the divine scripture and leave behind what you want, then surely you have set yourself up as a judge, not an interpreter of the laws, but a changer of what was written not according to your mind, but being true in σοὶ δὲ μεταποιηθέντων ψευδῶς κατὰ τὸν νοῦν τῆς σοῦ ἀπάτης καὶ τῶν ὑπὸ σοῦ ἡπατημένων.

itself, and changed falsely according to the mind of your deception and those deceived by you.

44.5.2 | εἰ δὲ καὶ ὅλως κατὰ ποιητῆς τὰ ἐνταῦθα εἰργάσατο, φημὶ δὲ τὸν κόσμον, τίνας ἔνεκα ἦλθεν ὁ ἀπὸ ἀγαθοῦ⁷ πατρὸς εἰς τόνδε τὸν αἰῶνα; καὶ εἰ μὲν ἵνα σώσῃ ἀνθρώπους, ἄρα τῶν ιδίων ἐπεμελήσατο καὶ οὐκέτι ἄλλος εἶη ὁ δημιουργός·

44.5.2 | But even if the maker created everything here, I say the world—why did the one from the good father come into this age? And if it was to save people, then he cared for his own, and there was no other creator.

44.5.3 | εἰ δὲ οὐ τῶν ιδίων προενόει, βούλεται δὲ ἐν τοῖς ἀλλοτρίοις ἐπεμβαίνειν καὶ τὰ οὐκ ὄντα αὐτοῦ διασώζειν, ἢ κόλαξ ἐστὶ τοῖς ἀλλοτρίοις προσλιπαρῶν ἢ κενόδοξος, ἵνα κρείττων τοῦ κτιστοῦ φανῇ πρὸς τὰ ἀλλότρια ἃ διασώζειν πειρᾶται, τῶν μὴ ιδίων ἐφριέμενος, καὶ οὐκέτι ἔσται ἀληθινός·

44.5.3 | But if he did not care for his own, and wants to interfere in others' things and save what is not his, then he is either a flatterer clinging to others or a vain man, trying to seem better than the created things by saving what belongs to others, aiming at what is not his own, and he will no longer be true.

44.5.4 | ἢ ὅτι μέτριός ἐστι κατὰ σέ, ὦ ἀγύρτα, καὶ μὴ ἔχων κτίσιν ἑαυτοῦ, τὰ ἀλλότρια ἐπιθυμῶν ταῦτα συλᾶν πειρᾶται, ἀπὸ τῶν ἀλλοτρίων ἑαυτῷ περιποιούμενος ψυχὰς τὰς οὐκ οὐσας αὐτοῦ καὶ τοῦ αὐτοῦ πατρός.

44.5.4 | Or is it that you are average, you beggar, and having no creation of your own, you try to steal these things that belong to others, taking souls that are not yours or your father's from others for yourself?

44.5.5 | εἰ δὲ αὐτοῦ μὲν εἰσιν αἱ ψυχαὶ καὶ ἄνωθεν ἐλθοῦσαι φαίνονται, ἄρα εἰς ἀγαθὸν κόσμον ἀπεστάλησαν παρὰ τοῦ ἄνωθεν κατὰ σέ ἀγαθοῦ θεοῦ καὶ οὐκ εἰς πονηρὸς ἔργον.

44.5.5 | But if the souls are indeed his and seem to have come from above, then they were sent to a good world by the good god above you, and not for an evil purpose.

44.5.6 | εἰ δὲ ἀπεστάλησαν διὰ τина μὲν χρῆσιν ἣν τάχα μυθπ[ποεὸς. εἰσελθοῦσαι δὲ μετέπεσον εἰς ἐτέραν, τουτέστιν ἵνα

44.5.6 | But if they were sent for some use, which perhaps is made up, and having entered, they fell into another, that is, to do δίκαιόν τι πράξωσι, πονηρόν δὲ εἰργάσαντο, ὁφθήσεται ὁ ἀποστείλας αὐτὰς πρόγωνσιν ἂν μὴ ἔχων· ἐπειδὴ γὰρ ἀπέστειλεν αὐτὰς δι' ἕτερον καὶ ἕτερόν τι εὐρέθησαν ἐργασάμεναι.

something just, but they did something evil, the one who sent them will be shown to be a bad ancestor if he does not have control; for he sent them for one thing, and they were found to have done another.

44.5.7 | ἢ πάλιν ἐὰν εἴπῃς ὅτι οὐ κατὰ τὴν αὐτιοῦ βούλησιν ἐληλύθασιν ἀλλὰ κατὰ τυραννίδα τοῦ ἀφαρπάζοντος, ἄρα ἰσχυρός ἐστὶν ὁ κτισθεὶς ὑπὸ τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ θεοῦ πονηρὸς ρὸς δημιουργὸς παρὰ τὸν ἀγαθὸν θεόν, ὅτι τὰ αὐτοῦ ὑπάρχοντα ἀφαρπάξας ἐχρήσατο.

44.5.7 | Or again, if you say that they did not come by their own will but by the tyranny of the one who snatches away, then the one created by the good god is strong against the evil creator beside the good god, because he took and used what was his own by force.

44.5.8 | πόθεν δὲ οὐ διελεγχθήσῃ, αὐτοῦ τοῦ σωτῆρος φασκοντος ὅτι »ἐξουσίαν ἔχω τὴν ψυχὴν μου θεῖναι καὶ λαβεῖν αὐτήν«, ὥς αὐτοῦ μὲν ψυχὴν εἰληφότος καὶ θέντος καὶ πάλιν λαβόντος, ὥς οὐκ ἄλλοτριαν εἶναι τὴν ψυχὴν καὶ ἐτέρου δημιουργοῦ.

44.5.8 | But how will it not be tested, when the savior himself says, "I have the power to put down my soul and to take it up," as if he took his own soul and put it down and took it up again, showing that the soul is not someone else's and not from another creator?

44.5.9 | πάλιν δὲ εὐρεθήσεται ἀγαθὸν σῶμα φορῶν. οὐ γὰρ ἂν πεισθήσεται ἀγαθὸς τις χρησθαι πονηρῷ ἔργῳ, ἵνα μὴ ἀπὸ τοῦ μετέχειν μέρους τοῦ πονηροῦ καὶ αὐτὸς χρανθήσεται τῇ τῆς ἐπιμίξεως πονηρίᾳ.

44.5.9 | Again, a good body will be found wearing it. For no good person would be convinced to use an evil deed, so that he himself would not be harmed by sharing in the evil of the mixture.

44.5.10 | εἰ δὲ καὶ αὐτὸ ἀνέστησε, λέγε μοι, τί ἵνα ποιήσῃ μετὰ ἀνάστασιν καὶ αὐτὸ πάλιν καταλέλοιπεν μερίσας τοῖς τέσσαρσι στοιχείοις, τῷ θερμῷ ὑγρῷ τὸ ὑγρόν;

44.5.10 | But if it also rose again, tell me, what will it do after the resurrection, if it again left parts divided among the four elements, the wet in the warm?

44.5.11 | εἰ γὰρ ἤγειρεν αὐτὸ ἵνα πάλιν αὐτὸ λύσῃ, ἄρα δραματουργίας τὸ ἔργον

44.5.11 | For if he raised it only to dissolve it again, then this would be an act of drama, τοῦτο εἶη καὶ οὐκ ἀληθείας. ἤγειρεν δὲ αὐτὸ ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς ὁ Χριστὸς καὶ συμπαρέλαβεν ἐαυτῷ ὅπερ ἀνεπλάσατο εἰς ἐαυτόν, σῶμα σὺν ψυχῇ καὶ πάσῃ τῇ ἐνανθρωπήσει τελειοτάτως· not truth. But our lord Jesus Christ raised it and took back with him what he had formed into himself, body with soul and all of the incarnation perfectly.

44.5.12 | ἐπειδὴ γὰρ συνεκάθισε κατὰ τὸν ἀποστολικὸν λόγον ὅτι »ὁ θεὸς ἤγειρε καὶ συνεκάθισεν ἐν τοῖς ἐπουρανίοις«, ὡς μαρτυσιν »ἄνδρες Γαλιλαῖοι, τί ἐστήκατε ἀτενίζοντες εἰς τὸν οὐρανόν; οὗτος ὁ Ἰησοῦς ὁ ἀφ’ ὑμῶν ἀναληφθεὶς εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν οὕτως ἐλεύσεται ὃν τρόπον ἐθεάσασθε αὐτὸν ἀναλαμβανόμενον«.

44.5.12 | For he sat down together, according to the apostolic word, that “God raised and sat down in the heavens,” as the witness says, “Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking up at the sky? This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will come back in the same way you saw him going up.”

Section 6

44.6.1 | 6. καὶ ἵνα μὴ πάλιν δοθῇ σοι πρόφασις πανηρίας κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας, μετὰ χρόνον πολὺν τῆς τοῦ σωτῆρος ἡμῶς ἀναλήψεως Στέφανος ὁ ἅγιος τοῦ θεοῦ μάρτυς λιθαζόμενος ὑπὸ τῶν Ἰουδαίων ἀπεκρίνατο λέγων »ἰδοὺ, ὁρῶ τὸν οὐρανὸν ἠνεψγμένον καὶ τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἐστῶτα ἐκ δεξιῶν τοῦ πατρός«,

44.6.1 | And so that no excuse of wickedness is given to you again against the truth, long after the Savior’s ascension, Stephen, the holy martyr of God, being stoned by the Jews, answered saying, “Look, I see the heavens opened and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of the Father.”

44.6.2 | ἵνα δείξη αὐτὸ τὸ σῶμα ἐν ἀληθείᾳ εἰς πνευματικὸν ἀναστὰν σὺν τῇ θεότητι τοῦ μονογενοῦς ὅλον εἰς πνευματικὸν ἐνωθὲν καὶ εἰς θεότητα συνηνωμένον.

44.6.2 | So that it may show that body truly risen to a spiritual one, together with the divinity of the only-begotten, wholly joined to the spiritual and united to the godhead.

44.6.3 | ἄνω δὲ αὐτὸ τὸ ἅγιον σῶμα σὺν τῇ θεότητι ὅλος θεός, εἷς υἱός, ὁ ἅγιος τοῦ θεοῦ καθεζόμενος ἐν δεξιᾷ τοῦ πατρός, ὡς ἔχει καὶ τὸ τοῦ Μάρκου εὐαγγέλιον καὶ τῶν ἄλλων εὐαγγελιστῶν »καὶ ἀνῆλθεν εἰς οὐρανοὺς καὶ ἐκάθισεν ἐν δεξιᾷ τοῦ πατρός«, καὶ πανταχόθεν διαπεσεῖταί σου

44.6.3 | And above, that holy body together with the divinity, fully God, one Son, the holy one of God sitting at the right hand of the Father, as the gospel of Mark and the other evangelists say, “and he went up into heaven and sat at the right hand of the Father.” And from everywhere your false καὶ τῶν ὑπὸ σοῦ πεπλανημένων ὁ ἀγύρτης λόγος.

teaching and those led astray by you will fall away.

44.6.4 | καὶ περὶ νεκρῶν ἀναστ;σεως ἄκουε τοῦ ἀποστόλου λέγοντος ὅτι »δεῖ τὸ φθαρτὸν τοῦτο ἐνδύσασθαι ἀφθαρσίαν καὶ τὸ θνητὸν τοῦτο ἐνδύσασθαι ἀθανασίαν«.

44.6.4 | And about the resurrection of the dead, listen to the apostle saying, “this perishable must put on imperishability, and this mortal must put on immortality.”

44.6.5 | For if the mortal did not have to put on immortality and the perishable did not have to put on imperishability, the immortal one would not have come to die, so that in him he might suffer and, not being held by death for three days, he might rise and bring up with himself what is joined to the divinity and his glory. So that from his good dwelling among us we might hold all hope in truth, showing himself to us as a pattern and a pledge for hope of all life’s fulfillment.

44.7.1 | 7. Τούτων δὲ οὕτως ἐχόντων καὶ ῥηθέντων, τίς ἔτι μοι χρειά ἐστὶ κατατρίβεσθαι περὶ τούτου τοῦ ζωπύρου σφηκίου καὶ οὐδενὸς ὄντος, ἀνατροπῆς ἔνεκα ἢ ἄλλης τινὸς πραγματείας; ἀφ’ ἑαυτοῦ γὰρ τὸ κέντρον ἀπώλεσε καὶ † ἀπαράλλακτον αὐτοῦ τὸ τῆς πλάνης παραπεποιημένον δόγμα καὶ ἀγυρτᾶδες δέδεικται.

44.7.1 | 7. And with these things being so and having been said, who still needs to waste time on this life-giving wasp that is nothing, for the sake of overthrow or any other argument? For it has destroyed its own sting, and its unshakable teaching, mixed with error, has been shown to be a fraud and a trickster.

44.7.2 | φασι γὰρ τὸ ὀδυνηρὸν σφηκίον, ὃ ζωπορὸν τινες κεκλήκασιν, ἔχειν μὲν κέντρον ἰοβόλον βραχύ, περιωδυνίαν πολλὴν οὐ κεκτημένον, ἀλλὰ κατὰ τὴν

44.7.2 | For they say that the painful wasp, which some have called life-giving, does have a short, venomous sting, but it does not cause much pain, rather it is venomous αὐτοῦ δύναμιν ἰοβόλον ὄν.

according to its power.

44.7.3 | ἐπὰν δέ τις διερχόμενος τὸν αὐτοῦ φωλεὸν ἢ καλιὰν καθέλοι — ἐν γὰρ θάμνοις βοτανῶν ποιεῖται καὶ κηρίου δίκην ἐαυτῷ σίμβλους τινάς, ἐν οἷς σίμβλοις ἐγκατατίθεται τὴν αὐτοῦ γονὴν καὶ ποιεῖται ἐαυτῷ τὰ γεννήματα — εἰ δέ τις διερχόμενος ῥάβδῳ ἢ ξύλῳ νύξας τὸ κηρίον ὥς ἔφην καταβάλοι, ἐξέρχεται θυμούμενον αὐτὸ δὴ τὸ δεινὸν μὲν βληχρὸν δὲ σφηκίον·

44.7.3 | But if someone goes through its nest or hive — for it makes these in bushes of plants and makes for itself certain signs like wax, in which signs it lays its eggs and makes its young — if someone goes through and strikes the hive with a stick or wood, as I said, the terrible but weak wasp comes out angry.

44.7.4 | καὶ ἐὰν εὖρη πέτραν πλησίον ἢ ξύλον, ἀπὸ τοῦ ἐμπλήσαντος αὐτὸ θυμοῦ ροίζῳ μὲν ἐφίσταται καὶ ὀρμᾷ κπαίνει τὴν πέτραν· καὶ τὴν μὲν πέτραν οὐδὲν ἀδικεῖ ἀλλὰ οὔτε τὸ ξύλον οὔτε μὴν τὸν ἄνθρωπον, κἂν τε δάκοι, ἀλλὰ πρὸς ὀδύνην ὀλίγην·

44.7.4 | And if it finds a stone or wood nearby, from the anger that fills it, it stands on the stone with a buzzing sound and rushes to strike the stone. And it does no harm to the stone, nor to the wood, nor even to the person, even if it bites, but only causes a little pain.

44.7.5 | οὐκὲν δὲ ἀδικεῖ μάλιστα τὴν πέτραν, ἀλλὰ τὸ μὲν κέντρον ἀπόλλυσι καὶ οὕτω φθείρεται, ἡ δὲ πέτρα οὐδὲν ἀδικη θήσεται ὑπὸ τοῦ τοιοῦτου.

44.7.5 | It does no harm especially to the stone, but it destroys the sting and is ruined in this way, and the stone will not be harmed at all by such a thing.

44.7.6 | οὕτω καὶ αὕτη ἡ σφηκιώδης ζωπύρου δίκην μικρὰν ἔχουσα τὴν περιωδυνίαν ἀνατραπήσεται, τῇ πέτρᾳ συντυχοῦσα τουτέστιν τῇ ἀληθείᾳ καὶ τὸ κέντρον ἀπολέσασα.

44.7.6 | In this way, too, this wasp-like creature, having a small but sharp pain, will be turned over when it meets the stone, that is, the truth, and loses its sting.

44.7.7 | ταύτην δὲ διελθὼν ἐπὶ τὰς ἑτέρας πάλιν βαδιοῦμαι, κατὰ τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ ἐλπὰδα πιστεύων ὅτι τὸ ἐπάγγελμα ἐν θεῷ πληρωθήσεται.

44.7.7 | Having passed beyond this, I go again to the others, trusting in the hope of god that the promise will be fulfilled in god.

Book 45

Section 1

45.1.1 | Τούτων καθεξῆς <Σευῆρος> ἔπεται, ἦτοι. σύγχρονος ἦτοι περὶ τὸν χρόνον *· οὐκ ἔχω γὰρ περὶ τοῦ χρόνου αὐτοῦ ἀσφαλῶς λέγειν, πλὴν σύνεγγυς ἀλλήλων ἦσαν. ὁμως δὲ τὰ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐλθόντα διηγῆσομαι.

45.1.1 | In order, <Severus> follows these, either a contemporary or about the time *; for I do not have sure knowledge about his time, only that they were close to each other. Still, I will tell what has come down to us.

45.1.2 | Σευῆρός τις ἀνέστη, ἐξ οὗπερ οἱ Σευηριανοὶ καλούμενοι, καθεξῆς συνεπόμενος τῷ προειρημένῳ Ἀπελλῇ. τὰ δὲ παρ' αὐτῷ μυθολογήματα ταῦτά ἐστιν ἄτινα μέλλω λέγειν.

45.1.2 | A certain Severus arose, from whom the Severians are called, following in order the aforementioned Apelles. The myths told by him are these which I am about to tell.

45.1.3 | βούλεται δὲ καὶ αὐτὸς ἀρχαῖς τε καὶ ἐξουσίαις προσάπτειν τὴν καθ' Ἡμᾶς κτίσιν, εἶναι τε ἐν ἀκατονομάστῳ τινὶ ἀνωτάτῳ τε οὐρανῷ καὶ αἰῶνι ἀγαθόν τινα θεόν.

45.1.3 | He also wants to connect the creation among us with ancient times and powers, and to say that there is a good god in an unnamable highest sky and age.

45.1.4 | τὸν δὲ διάβολον υἱὸν εἶναι φάσκει τοῦ μεγάλου ἄρχοντος τῆς τῶν ἐξουσιῶν τάξεως, ᾧ ὄνομα τίθεται πῇ μὲν Ἰαλδαβαώθ, πῇ δὲ Σαβαώθ· τοῦτον δὲ γεννηθέντα ἐξ αὐτοῦ εἶναι ὄφιν.

45.1.4 | He says that the devil is the son of the great ruler of the order of powers, whose name is sometimes given as Ialdabaoth, sometimes as Sabaoth; and that this one was born from him as a serpent.

45.1.5 | ἀπὸ δὲ τῆς ἄνω δυνάμεως καταβεβλήσθαι εἰς τὴν γῆν καὶ κατεληλυθότα ὀφειέκελον ὄντα εἰς οἶστρον ἐληλακέναι καὶ τῇ γῇ μεμίχθαι ὥσπερ γυναικί, καὶ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τὸ σπέρμα ἀποσπερματίσαντος τῆς γονῆς τὴν ἄμπελον βεβλαστηκέναι.

45.1.5 | He was thrown down from the power above to the earth, and having come down, being like a serpent, he was driven into madness and mixed with the earth like a woman; and from him, having scattered the seed, the vine of birth has grown.

45.1.6 | διὸ δὴ μυθολογῶν εἰς παράστασιν τῆς αὐτῶν ληρωδίας τὸ ὀφειέκελον τῆς ἀμπέλου περιφερὲς <βούλεται> ἐκτυποῦν, λέγων διὰ τὸ σκαληνὸν τοῦ φυτοῦ εἶναι αὐτὸ ὄφεως δίκην· καὶ τὴν μὲν λευκὴν εἶναι ὡς ὄφιν, τὴν δὲ μέλαιναν ὡς δράκοντα.

45.1.6 | Therefore, telling myths to show their foolishness, he wants to portray the vine as serpent-like, saying that because the plant is twisted, it is like a snake; and that the white one is like a serpent, but the black one like a dragon.

45.1.7 | εἶναι δὲ καὶ τοὺς ῥᾶγας τῆς ἀμπέλου ὥσπερ ἰοῦ ῥαθάμιγγας εἴτουν σταγόνας, δαὶ τὸ κυκλοειδὲς ἢ τὸ μείουρον καὶ διαμφὲς ἐκάστον ῥωγὸς στρογγυλώσεως.

45.1.7 | And the grapes of the vine are like drops of poison or small drops, because each round part of the grape is circular or divided.

45.1.8 | τὸν δὲ οἶνον ἐκ τῆς ὑποθέσεως ταύτης ὄντα τὸν νοῦν θολοῦν τῆς ἀνθρωπότητος καὶ πῇ μὲν εἰς θέλξιν ἀφροδισίων ἄγειν, πῇ δὲ εἰς οἷστρον ἐγείρειν, ἢ δ' αὖ πάλιν ὀργὴν ἐμποιεῖν διὰ τὸ κεπροῦσθαι τὸ σῶμα ἐκ τῆς ἀπὸ τοῦ οἴνου δυνάμεως καὶ τοῦ ἰοῦ τοῦ προειρημένου δράκοντος. ὅθεν ἀπέχονται οἴνου παντελῶς οἱ τοιοῦτοι.

45.1.8 | And wine, from this idea, is the mind that confuses human nature, and on the one hand leads to the charm of desire, on the other hand stirs up madness, and again causes anger because the body is poisoned by the power of the wine and the poison of the dragon mentioned before. Therefore, such people completely avoid wine.

Section 2

45.2.1 | 2. Φάσκουσι δὲ καὶ τὴν γυναῖκα εἶναι ἔργον τοῦ Σατανᾶ, καθάπερ καὶ οἱ Ἀρχοντικοὶ τοῦτο ἔφασαν. διὸ τοὺς γάμῳ πλησιάζοντας τοῦ Σατανᾶ τὸ ἔργον πληροῦν λέγουσιν.

45.2.1 | They also say that woman is the work of Satan, just as the Archontics said this. Therefore, those who come near marriage fulfill the work of Satan, they say.

45.2.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ τοῦ ἀνθρώπου τὸ μὲν ἥμισυ εἶναι τοῦ θεοῦ, τὸ δὲ ἥμισυ τοῦ διαβόλου. ἐπ' ὀμφαλοῦ γὰρ καὶ ἀνωτάτω εἶναι τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμεως λέγει τὴν

45.2.2 | But also, half of a person belongs to god, and the other half to the devil. For he says that the body is highest at the navel by the power of god, and lowest from the πλάσιν, ἀπὸ δὲ ὀμφαλοῦ καὶ κατωτάτω τῆς πονηρᾶς ἐξουσίας τὴν πλάσιν.

navel by the power of evil.

45.2.3 | διόπερ φησὶ πάντα τὰ καθ' ἡδονὴν καὶ οἷστρον καὶ ἐπιθυμίαν ἀπ' ὀμφαλοῦ καὶ κατωτάτω γίνεσθαι. ἀλλὰ καὶ αἱ ἄλλαι αἱρέσεις τοῦτο ἔφασαν εἶναι.

45.2.3 | Therefore, he says that all things of pleasure and passion and desire come from the navel and below. But also, the other heresies said this is so.

Section 3

45.3.1 | 3. Ὅθεν καὶ οὗτος ἀλίσκεται κατὰ πάντα τρόπον τοῖς ἄλλοις ἐπακολουθῶν ἀγύρταις τοῖς τὰ δηλητήρια τῷ βίῳ κατασκευάσασιν. ἀνατραπήσεται γὰρ ῥαδίως· οὐ γὰρ παμπόλλου ἐπικηθήσεται καμάτου ἢ πρὸς αὐτὸν ἀνατροπή.

45.3.1 | 3. Therefore, this one is caught in every way following the other tricksters who have made poisons for life. For he will be easily overthrown; the overthrow against him will not need much effort.

45.3.2 | ὅλον γὰρ τὸ σῶμα συγκεκρασμένον τοῖς καλῶς ἐν αὐτῷ γεγονόσιν ἐκ θεοῦ, φημὶ δὲ ὀρέξεσιν οὐ δι' ἀτοπίαν τάξιν (λέγω δὲ τὸ ὀρέγεσθαι ὑπνου βρωτῶν πόματος ἐνδύσεως καὶ τῶν ἄλλων πάντων τῶν εἰς τὰ ἴδια καὶ θεῶ εὐάρεστα ἡμῖν συμβαινόντων), ὥς καὶ αὐτὴν τὴν ὄρεξιν τῆς κατὰ τὸ σῶμα ἐπιθυμίας οὐκ ἄταπον οὔσαν παραστήσαιμ' ἄν.

45.3.2 | For the whole body, mixed with the good things in it from god, I say that the desires are not out of place (I mean the reaching for sleep, food, drink, clothes, and all the other things that happen for ourselves and please god), so I would not call the desire for bodily pleasure improper.

45.3.3 | ἔστιν γὰρ πρὸς παιδοποιίαν ἐν σεμνότητι δοθεῖσα καὶ εἰς δόξαν τοῦ ποιήσαντος τὰ πάντα, καθάπερ τῇ γῇ τὰ σπέρματα εἰς ἐπίχυσιν πλήθους τῶν ὑπὸ θεοῦ κεκτισμένων καλῶν γεννημάτων, * δέ φημι καὶ ἀκροδρύων, οὕτως καὶ τῇ ἀνθρωπότητι εἰς τὸ πληρῶσαι τὸ »αὐτξάνεσθε καὶ πληθύνεσθε, καὶ πληρώσατε τὴν γῆν«.

45.3.3 | For it is given for childbearing in reverence and for the glory of the one who made all things, just as the earth receives seeds to pour forth many good creatures made by god. And just as with nut trees, so also with humanity, to fulfill the command: “grow and multiply, and fill the earth.”

Section 4

45.4.1 | 4.Κέχρηνται δὲ οἱ τοιοῦτοι καὶ ἀποκρύφους τισίν, ὥς καὶ ἀκηκόαμεν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν μέρει ταῖς ῥηταῖς βίβλοις, λεξιθηροῦντες ἐκεῖνα μόνα, ἅτινα κατὰ τὸν νοῦν αὐτῶν παραπλέκοντες ἐτέρως μεταχειρίζονται.

45.4.1 | Such people have also used secret things, as we have heard, but only partly in the written books, hunting for words there alone, which they twist according to their own thinking and use differently.

45.4.2 | οὔτε γὰρ ἡ ἄμπελος ἐκ διαβόλου πεφύτευται οὔτε ἐξ ὄφεως ἔσχε τὴν σποράν, ὥς παντὶ τῷ δῆλόν ἐστι. πῶς γὰρ εἴη τοῦτο, αὐτοῦ τοῦ κυρίου ἐπιμαρτυροῦντος καὶ λέγοντος ὅτι »οὐ μὴ πῖω [αὐτὸ] ἐκ τοῦ γεννήματος τῆς ἀμπέλου ταύτης, ἕως ἄν πῖω αὐτὸ καινὸν μεθ' ὑμῶν ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ τῶν οὐρανῶν«;

45.4.2 | For neither is the vine planted by the devil, nor did the serpent have the seed, as it is clear to everyone. How could this be, when the lord himself testifies and says, "I will not drink from the fruit of this vine until I drink it new with you in the kingdom of heaven"?

45.4.3 | καὶ ἐπειδὴ ἡ ἀλήθεια τὰς ἑαυτῆς ἀκτῖνας ἀποστίλβουσα εἰς τὸ παντελὲς κατὰ πρόγνωσιν θεοῦ τῶν ἐπιφερομένων κακῶν εἰς ἔλεγχον προετύπου τοὺς αὐτῆς λόγους, πανταχοῦ προεθέσπισε τὸ θεῖον γράμμα τὴν ἀναίρεσιν τῶν μελλόντων κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐπεγείρεσθαι·

45.4.3 | And since the truth, sending out its own rays fully according to God's foreknowledge, made the words of those who bring evils a pattern for proof, everywhere the divine scripture set before us the undoing of those who will rise up against the truth;

45.4.4 | ὥς διαρρήδην αὐτός που ὁ κύριος εἰς ἔλεγχον τοῦ ἐλεεινοῦ καὶ πεπλανημένου Σευήρου φάσκει, αὐτὸς ἑαυτὸν τὴν ἄμπελον λέγων »ἐγὼ εἰμι ἡ ἄμπελος ἡ ἀληθινή«. εἰ δὲ ὅλως ψεκτὸν ἦν τὸ τῆς ἀμπέλου ὄνομα, οὐκ ἂν τοῦ ὀνόματος εἰς ἑαυτὸν ἐποιεῖτο τὴν ὁμοίτητα.

45.4.4 | As the lord himself surely openly says to refute the miserable and mistaken Severus, calling himself the vine, "I am the true vine." But if the name of vine were completely false, he would not make the likeness of the name for himself.

45.4.5 | ἀλλὰ καὶ οἱ ἀπόστολοί φασι ἐν τῇ διατάξει τῇ καλουμένῃ ὅτι »φυτεία θεοῦ

45.4.5 | But even the apostles say in the order called that "the planting of God and καὶ ἀμπελῶν ἡ καθολικὴ ἐκκλησία»· the vine is the universal church”;

45.4.6 | ἀλλὰ καὶ αὐτὸς ὁ κύριος πάλιν ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ ποιούμενος τὴν τοῦ ἀμπελῶνος παραβολήν, ὅτι »άνήρ τις οἰκοδεσπότης εἶχεν ἀμπελῶνα καὶ ἐξέδοτο αὐτὸν γεωργοῖς καὶ ἔπεμψε ζητῶν καρπὸν καὶ οὐκ ἔδωκαν»,

45.4.6 | But even the lord himself again in the gospel making the parable of the vineyard, that “a certain man, a householder, had a vineyard and gave it out to farmers and sent them to seek fruit, and they did not give any,”

45.4.7 | ἀλλὰ καὶ πάλιν »άνήρ τις οἰκοδεσπότης ἔχων ἀμπελῶνα ἐξῆλθε ζητῶν ἐργάτας εἰς τὸν ἀμπελῶνα καὶ περὶ τρίτην ὥραν καὶ ἕκτην καὶ ἐνάτην καὶ ἑνδεκάτην»·

45.4.7 | But also again “a certain man, a householder having a vineyard, went out seeking workers into the vineyard at the third hour and the sixth and the ninth and the eleventh”;

45.4.8 | ὥς ἐξ ἅπαντος τὸ τῆς ἐπιτηδεύσεως σκευώρημα καὶ τούτου τοῦ ἀπατεῶνος πανταχόθεν ἔχει τὸν τιτρώσκεσθαι λόγῳ τῆς ἀληθείας. κἂν τε γὰρ ἐπιφαίνεται τὸ σκότος φωτὸς μὴ παρόντος, δὲ ὀλίγου σπινθῆρος ἡ αὐτοῦ ἀφάντως τῆς ἀνατροῆς γενήσεται.

45.4.8 | As from all the work of the craft and this cheat everywhere has the wounding by the word of truth. And even if the darkness appears as light when light is not present, soon a spark will make its hiding of the truth come to light.

45.4.9 | συντόμως δὲ κέχρημαι τῇ αἰρέσει διὰ τὸ ἤδη ἐξειπεῖν ὅτι εὐάλωτος ὑπάρχουσα οὐ πολλῆς δεῖται ἐργασίας πρὸς σύστασιν τῆς κατ’ αὐτῆς ἀληθείας· μάλιστα δὲ ὅτι τάχα οἶμαι καὶ μηκέτι ἐκ ταύτης ὑπάρχειν τινάς, ἀλλ’ ἢ ἄρα σπανίους ἐν τοῖς ἀνωτάτω μέρεσιν.

45.4.9 | Briefly I have used the heresy because I have already said that being unconquerable it does not need much work for the establishment of the truth about it; and especially because I think soon there will no longer be any from it, but only rare ones in the highest parts.

45.4.10 | Ἀπὸ ταύτης δὲ παρελθόντες, ὥσπερ σκορπὸν δεινὸν καταπατήσαντες ἀθρόως, τὰς ἐξῆς διασκοπήσωμεν, θεοῦ τὴν δύναμιν ἐπικαλούμενοι εἰς βοήθειαν τοῦ τε τὸ ἀληθὲς εἰπεῖν καὶ τοῦ αὐτὸν ἐμὲ

45.4.10 | Leaving this behind, just like crushing a terrible scorpion all at once, let us carefully examine the following things, calling on God’s power to help both to speak the truth and for me not to be μὴ βλάπτεσθαι, μάλιστα περὶ τῆς τοιαύτης δεινῆς καὶ ὀλετηρίου τῶν δογμάτων μέλλοντα ὑποφαίνειν κακοτροπίας. | harmed, especially about such terrible and destructive teachings that are about to show their evil nature.

Book 46

Section 1

46.1.1 | Τατιανὸς τις ἀνέστη τούτους διαδεξάμενος ἥτοι κατὰ τοὺς αὐτῶν χρόνους ὧν ἢ μετ' αὐτοὺς πάλιν τὴν ἑαυτοῦ τῆς κενοφωνίας διδασκαλίαν προστησάμενος.

46.1.1 | A certain Tatian rose up, taking over from them, either living in their times or after them, again setting up his own teaching of empty words.

46.1.2 | καὶ τὰ μὲν πρῶτα, οἷα δὴ ἀπὸ Ἑλλήνων ὀρμώμενος καὶ τῆς τῶν Ἑλλήνων παιδείας ὑπάρχων, συνακμάζει Ἰουστίνῳ τῷ φιλοσόμῳ, ἀνδρὶ ἁγίῳ καὶ φίλῳ θεοῦ, τῷ ἀπὸ Σαμαρειτῶν εἰς Χριστὸν πεπιστευκότι.

46.1.2 | And the first things, since he started from the Greeks and was part of Greek education, he attacks Justin the philosopher, a holy man and friend of God, who trusted in Christ from the Samaritans.

46.1.3 | οὗτος γὰρ ὁ Ἰουστίνος Σαμαρείτης ἦν τὸ γένος, εἰς Χριστὸν &δ> πεπιστευχῶς καὶ μεγάλως ἐξασκηθεὶς ἀρετῆς τε βίον ἐνδειξάμενος τὸ τέλος ὑπὲρ Χριστοῦ μαρτυρήσας τελείου στεφάνου καταξιοῦται ἐπὶ τῆς Ῥωμαίων ἐπὶ Ῥουστικοῦ ἡγεμόνος καὶ Ἀδριανοῦ βασιλέως, ἐτῶν τριάκοντα ὑπάρχων ἐν καθεστῶσιν ἡλικίᾳ.

46.1.3 | For this Justin was a Samaritan by birth, and trusting in Christ, greatly trained, showing a life of virtue, at the end for Christ having witnessed, he deserves a perfect crown under the Roman ruler Rusticus and Emperor Hadrian, being thirty years old in rank.

46.1.4 | τούτῳ ὁ προειρημένος Τατιανὸς συνακμάσας τὰ πρῶτα καλῶς φερόμενος καὶ τῇ πίστει ἐρρωμένος ἐτύγχανεν, ὅσον ἦν σὺν τῷ ἁγίῳ Ἰουστίνῳ τῷ μάρτυρι.

46.1.4 | To this man, the aforementioned Tatian, attacking, at first doing well and strong in faith, he was as much as he was with the holy Justin the martyr.

46.1.5 | ὅτε δὲ ἐτελεύτα Ἰουστίνος ὁ ἅγιος, ὥσπερ τυφλὸς χειραγνγούμενος <δς> ὑπὸ τοῦ χειραγωγοῦ καταλειφθεὶς καὶ καταλειφθεὶς ἐπὶ κρημνὸν ἑαυτὸν ἐκδοὺς διὰ τὴν προσοῦσαν αὐτῷ τύφλωσιν καταφέρεται ἀνεπισχέτως, ἕως εἰς θάνατον κατενεχθεὶς, οὕτω καὶ αὐτός.

46.1.5 | But when holy Justin died, like a blind man being led by a guide who is left behind, and left on a cliff, giving himself over because of the blindness coming upon him, he suffers without holding back until he is brought to death, so too he.

46.1.6 | Καὶ ἦν μὲν Σύρος τὸ γένος, ὡς ἡ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐλθοῦσα γνῶσις περιέχει· τὸ δὲ αὐτοῦ διδασκαλεῖον προεστήσατο ἀπ' ἀρχῆς μὲν ἐν τῇ Μέσῃ τῶν ποταμῶν, ὡς περὶ τὸ δωδέκατον ἔτος Ἀντωνίνου τοῦ εὐσεβοῦς Καίσαρος ἐπικληθέντος.

46.1.6 | And he was Syrian by birth, as the knowledge that has come to us shows; and his school was set up from the beginning in the middle of the rivers, around the twelfth year of Antoninus the pious Caesar.

46.1.7 | ἀπὸ Ῥώμης γὰρ μετὰ τὴν τοῦ ἁγίσε διατρίβων, κακῇ διανοίᾳ περιπεσὼν αἰῶνάς μέρη καὶ ἐκεῖσε διατρίβων, κακῇ διανοίᾳ περιπεσὼν αἰῶνάς τινας κατὰ τοὺς μύθους Οὐαλεντίνου καὶ ἀρχάς τινας καὶ προβολὰς καὶ αὐτὸς εἰσηγήσατο.

46.1.7 | For after spending time in Rome with the saint, falling into a bad way of thinking, he spent many years there; falling into a bad way of thinking, he introduced some legends of Valentinus and some beginnings and ideas.

46.1.8 | τὸ δὲ πλεῖστον τοῦ αὐτοῦ κηρύγματος ἀπὸ Ἀντιοχείας τῆς πρὸς Δάφνην καὶ ἐπὶ τὰ τῶν Κυλίκων μέρη, ἐπὶ πλεῖον δὲ ἐν τῇ Πισιδίᾳ ἐκράτυνεν· ἀπὸ τούτου γὰρ κατὰ διαδοχὴν οἱ Ἐγκρατῖται λεγόμενοι τοῦ ἰοῦ μετεσχηκότες ὑπάρχουσι.

46.1.8 | But most of his preaching was from Antioch near Daphne and in the regions of Cilicia, and even more he gained strength in Pisidia; for from this place, in succession, those called the Encratites came to have the poison.

46.1.9 | λέγεται δὲ τὸ διὰ τεσσάρων εὐαγγέλιον ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γεγενῆσθαι, ὅπερ κατὰ Ἑβραίους τινὲς καλοῦσι.

46.1.9 | It is said that the gospel through the four was made by him, which some call the Hebrew gospel.

Section 2

46.2.1 | Τὰ αὐτὰ δὲ ταῖς παλαιαῖς αἰρέσεσι

46.2.1 | He teaches the same things as the καὶ οὗτος δογματίζει. καὶ πρῶτον μὲν φάσκει μὴ σῶζεσθαι τὸν Ἀδάμ. ἐγκράτειαν δὲ οὗτος κηρύττει, τὸν δὲ γάμον πορνείαν καὶ φθορὰν ἡγεῖται, φάσκων μηδὲν διαλλάττειν πορνείας τὸν γάμον, ἀλλὰ τὸ αὐτὸ εἶναι.

old heresies. First, he says that Adam is not saved. He preaches self-control, but he thinks marriage is sin and ruin, saying that marriage is no different from sin, but the same thing.

46.2.2 | ὅθεν ἐν τῷ προσχήματι τῆς ἐγκρατείας καὶ τοῦ ἐγκρατητικοῦ ἥθους κυβευτικὴν ἔσχε τὴν ἀγωγὴν, ὡς λύκος ἄρπαξ ἐνδυόμενος προβάτου κώδιον καὶ πλανῶν τῷ προσκαίρῳ προσχήματι τοὺς ἀπατωμένους.

46.2.2 | Therefore, under the appearance of self-control and a self-controlled character, he had a deceitful way, like a wolf seizing by wearing a sheep's skin and deceiving those who are fooled by the timely appearance.

46.2.3 | μυστηρίοις δὲ ὡσαύτως κέχρηται κατὰ μίμησιν τῆς ἁγίας ἐκκλησίας, ὕδατι δὲ μόνῳ χρώμενος ἐν τοῖς αὐτοῖς μυστηρίοις.

46.2.3 | He also used mysteries in the same way, imitating the holy church, but he used only water in those same mysteries.

46.2.4 | Πεσεῖται δὲ καὶ οὗτος κατὰ πάντα τρόπον, ἀσύστατον ἔχων τὸ κήρυγμα (ἤδη δὲ καὶ οὗτος κατασβεσθεὶς οἶμαι ἔληξε καὶ τὸ αὐτοῦ διδασκαλεῖον). πόθεν γὰρ οὐκ ἐλεγχθήσεται ὁ τοιοῦτος;

46.2.4 | And this one will fall in every way, having an unstable preaching (and now, I think, after being put out, his teaching has also ended). For how will such a person not be proven wrong?

46.2.5 | πρῶτον μὲν γὰρ κατὰ τὰ ἄνω ἡμῖν προδεδηλωμένα καὶ πρὸς τὰς οὕτω φασκούσας αἱρέσεις *, ὅτι ἀδύνατον εἶναι πολλὰς ἀρχὰς γεννητικὰς τῶν κατὰ διαδοχὴν γεννωμένων.

46.2.5 | For first, as has been clearly shown to us above and against those who claim such things, it is impossible for there to be many original beginnings of things born one after another.

46.2.6 | αἱ γὰρ οὖσαι πολλαὶ καὶ μία, <ἅτε> ἐκ τῆς μιᾶς ὑπάρχουσαι [ἐκ] τῆς οὕσης [μιᾶς τῆς] αἰτίας τῶν πασῶν, εὖρεθήσονται· καὶ οὐκέτι πολλαὶ ἀρχαὶ ἀλλ' ἢ μία ἡ τούτων αἰτία γεγονυῖα, καὶ ἀναχθήσεται τὰ πάντα εἰς τὴν μίαν

46.2.6 | For the many things that exist come from one, since they come from the one cause of all things; they will be found. And no longer many beginnings, but one cause of these things has come to be, and everything will be traced back to the one μοναρχίαν καὶ διέπεσεν ἡ τοῦ τοιοῦτου πιθανολογία * καὶ οὐκ ἀλήθεια, οὐδὲ τὴν πιθανολογίαν δυναμένη ἔχειν. μωρὸν γὰρ τὸ ὅλον κήρυγμα.

rule. And the argument of such a person has fallen apart and is not true, nor can it hold as a good argument. For the whole preaching is foolish.

46.2.7 | καὶ εἰ ὁ Ἀδὰμ οὐ σώζεται, τὸ φύραμα, οὐδέ τι <τῶν ἀπὸ> τοῦ φυφάματος σώζεται. εἰ γὰρ ὁ πρωτόπλαστος καὶ ἐξ ἀθίκτου γῆς γενόμενος σωτηρίας οὐ μεθέξει, πῶς τὰ ἐξ αὐτοῦ γεγεννημένα ἔξει σωτηρίαν;

46.2.7 | And if Adam is not saved, the offspring is not saved either, nor anything from the offspring. For if the first-formed man, made from untouched earth, does not share in salvation, how will those born from him have salvation?

Section 3

46.3.1 | 3. Κατὰ γὰρ δύο τρόπους εὐρεθήσεται καθ' ἑαυτοῦ λέγων. φάσκει γὰρ τὸν γάμον εἶναι οὐκ ἐκ τοῦ θεοῦ, ἀλλὰ πορνείαν εἶναι αὐτὸν καὶ μύσος· καὶ ἑαυτὸν ἀπὸ γάμου ὑπάρχοντα καὶ ἐκ γυναικὸς γεγεννημένον καὶ ἐκ σπορᾶς ἀνδρὸς ἡγεῖται σώζεσθαι.

46.3.1 | For he will be found speaking in two ways about himself. For he claims that marriage is not from god, but is fornication and shame; and he thinks that he, being from marriage and born from a woman and from the seed of a man, is saved.

46.3.2 | ἄρα οὖν πάλιν ἀνέλυσε τὴν αὐτοῦ κατὰ τοῦ γάμου βλασφημίαν. εἰ γὰρ οὗτος ἐκ γάμου ὑπάρχων σωτηρίαν ἔξει, ἄρα οὐ βδέλυγμα ὁ γάμος, ὁ γεννῶν τοὺς τῆς σωτηρίας μετέχοντας, οἷω δ' ἂν θέλοι τρόπῳ λέγειν.

46.3.2 | So then he again took back his blasphemy against marriage. For if this one, being from marriage, will have salvation, then marriage is not a disgrace, since it produces those who share in salvation, however anyone wants to say it.

46.3.3 | εἰ δὲ συσταίῃ ὁ κατ' αὐτὸν λόγος ὅτι ἀθέμιτός ἐστιν ὁ γάμος, ἄρα μᾶλλον ὁ Ἀδὰμ σωθήσεται, μὴ ἀπὸ γάμου ὀρμώμενος, ἀλλὰ ἐν χειρὶ πατρὸς καὶ υἱοῦ καὶ ἁγίου πνεύματος πεπλασμένος κατὰ τὸ εἰρημένον ὑπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ ἁγίου πατρὸς πρὸς τὸν υἱὸν ὅτι »ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον κατ' εἰκόνα ἡμετέραν καὶ καθ' ὁμοίωσιν«.

46.3.3 | But if his argument that marriage is unlawful is true, then Adam will be saved more, not coming from marriage, but formed by the hand of the father and the son and the holy spirit, according to what the holy father said to the son: "let us make man in our image and likeness."

46.3.4 | πῶς δὲ οὐ σῶζεται ὁ Ἀδὰμ ὁ παρὰ σοὶ ἀπελπιζόμενος, ὅποτε αὐτὸς ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς χριστὸς ἐλθὼν εἰς τὸν κόσμον νεκροὺς μετὰ τὴν τελευτὴν ἐγείρει ἐν αὐτῷ τῷ σώματι, ὡς τὸν Λάζαρον καὶ τὸν υἱὸν τῆς χήρας καὶ τὴν θυγατέρα τοῦ ἀρχισυναγώγου;

46.3.4 | How then is Adam not saved by you, who despair, when our lord Jesus Christ himself, having come into the world, raised the dead in his own body after death, like Lazarus and the son of the widow and the daughter of the synagogue leader?

46.3.5 | καὶ εἰ αὐτὸς οὐκ ἦν ὁ τὸν Ἀδὰμ πλάσας ἐκ χοῶς ἀπ' ἀρχῆς, πῶς πτύσας χαμαὶ ἐποίησε πηλὸν καὶ ἐπέθετο ἐπὶ τοὺς ὀφθαλμοὺς τοῦ τυφλοῦ τοῦ ἐκ γεννιᾶς καὶ ἐποίησεν αὐτὸν βλέπειν,

46.3.5 | And if he himself was not the one who formed Adam from dust at the beginning, how did he spit on the ground and make clay and put it on the eyes of the man blind from birth and made him see?

46.3.6 | ἵνα δείξῃ ἑαυτὸν μὲν εἶναι τὸν πλάστην σὺν τῷ πατρὶ καὶ τῷ ἁγίῳ πνεύματι, καὶ τὸ ἐλλειπὲς μέρος ἐν τῷ ἀπὸ γεννητῆς γεγεννημένῳ τυφλῷ διὰ τοῦ πηλοῦ προστιθεὶς τῷ λείποντι τόπῳ;

46.3.6 | So that he might show himself to be the maker with the father and the holy spirit, and that the missing part in the man born blind from birth was added through the clay to the lacking place?

46.3.7 | διορθώσεως γὰρ ἕνεκεν τοῦ λείποντος μέρους φαίνεται τοῦτο σας καὶ αὐτὸς τὸν πρωτόπλαστον ἀπολλύει, τοὺς δὲ ἄλλους σῶζει, ὦ πολλή σου ματαιοφροσύνη, Τατιανέ.

46.3.7 | For this shows that it is for the correction of the missing part, and he himself destroys the first man, but saves the others, oh how foolish you are, Tatian.

46.3.8 | ἀδυναμίαν γὰρ τῷ κυρίῳ κατὰ δύναμιν προσάπτεις τῷ μὴ δυναμένῳ τὸν πρωτόπλαστον αὐτοῦ, διὰ μίαν παρακοὴν ἐκβεβλημένον τοῦ παραδείσου καὶ παιδείας οὐ τῆς τυχοῦσης, μετασχόντα, ἐν ἰδρωτί καὶ καμάτῳ διατετελεκότα καὶ κατέναντι παραδείσου κατωκηκότα, ὅπως μνημονεῖται τῆς ἀγαθῆς *, διὰ τῆς εἰς, μνήμην μετανοίας σῶζειν·

46.3.8 | For you blame the lord's weakness on the power of the one who cannot, the first man of his, cast out from paradise for one disobedience and not having the right training, having shared in sweat and hard work, and having settled opposite paradise, so that he might remember the good, and through this memory of repentance be saved;

46.3.9 | ἡ * δυναμένῳ μὲν, μὴ ἐλεοῦντι δέ. δι' ἣν τοίνυν αἰτίαν ἄχρι τῶν καταχθονίων χριστὸς κατήλθεν, τίτι τῷ λόγῳ τὸ τριήμερον κοιμηθεὶς πεπονθὼς ἀνέστη; πῶς δὲ πληροῦται <τό> »ἵνα καὶ νεκρῶν καὶ ζώντων κυριεύσῃ; ποίων δὲ ζώντων καὶ νεκρῶν ἀλλ' ἢ τῶν χρηζόντων τῆς αὐτοῦ ἄνω καὶ κάτω ἐπικουρίας;

46.3.9 | Or able, yes, but not merciful. For this reason, then, Christ came down even to the underworld. Why did he, having slept for three days according to the word, suffer and rise again? And how is the phrase “so that he might rule over both the dead and the living” fulfilled? Which living and dead does it mean, if not those needing his help from above and below?

46.3.10 | πῶς δὲ ἔσται τὰ ἀπὸ τοῦ φυράματος ἁγία, εἰ αὐτὸ τὸ φύραμα οὐκ ἔστιν ἅγιον, ὡς καὶ παρὰ τῷ ἁγίῳ ἀποστόλῳ ἐμφέρεται; ρεταί; φάσκει γὰρ καὶ περὶ Εὕας ὁ αὐτὸς ἀπόστολος ὅτι »σωθήσεται διὰ τῆς τεκνογονίας, ἐὰν μείνωσιν ἐν πίστει καὶ δικαιοσύνῃ«.

46.3.10 | But how can what comes from the dough be holy, if the dough itself is not holy, as is also said by the holy apostle? For the same apostle says about Eve that “she will be saved through childbearing, if they continue in faith and righteousness.”

Section 4

46.4.1 | 4. Καὶ πολλὰ ἔστι περὶ τούτων λέγειν, ὡς παντὶ τῷ σύνεσιν κεκτημένῳ φανήσεται ἢ πρόχειρος βλασφημία καὶ ἐσκοτωμένη διάνοια τοῦ Τατιανοῦ καὶ τῶν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ Τατιανῶν καλουμένων.

46.4.1 | And there is much to say about these things, as to anyone who has common sense, the ready blasphemy and darkened mind of Tatian and those called Tatianists from him will become clear.

46.4.2 | παρὶ ὧν συντόμως διεξελθόντες τὰ κατ' αὐτοὺς βλαβερά καὶ καωνώπων δικην δήγματα, ἐλαίου ἰκμάδα τῆς τοῦ κυρίου διδασκαλίας τοῖς δεδηγμένοις ὑπὸ τῶν Τατιανοῦ λόγων ἐπιθέμενοι ἰασάμεθα διὰ τῆς τοῦ κυρίου ἀληθείας καὶ δυνάμεως. αὐτοῦ λέγοντος ὅτι ὅς κ' ἦλθον εἰ μὴ διὰ τὸ πρόβατον τὸ πεπλανημένον οἴκου Ἰσραὴλ«.

46.4.2 | About these things, having gone through briefly the harmful and painful wounds caused by the words of Tatian, we healed those who were wounded by applying the oil of the Lord's teaching, through the truth and power of the Lord.
He said that “I did not come except for the lost sheep of the house of Israel.”

46.4.3 | διὸ καὶ ἐν παραβολαῖς ἔλεγεν ὅτι ἄνθρωπός τις κατέβαινεν ἀπὸ Ἱερουσαλὴμ εἰς Ἱεριχὼν, ὃν δὴ καὶ λησταῖς περιπεσεῖν διηγείτο, ἵνα δείξῃ τὸ πρόβατον καὶ τὸν ἀπὸ Ἱερουσαλὴμ καταβεβηκότα, τὸν ἀπὸ τῆς δόξης τῆς μείζονος εἰς ἐλάττωσιν κατενεχθέντα καὶ τὸν ἀπὸ τῆς μιᾶς ἐντολῆς τοῦ ἰδίου ποιμένος ἀποσπασθέντα καὶ πεπλανημένον.

46.4.3 | Therefore, he also said in parables that a certain man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he told how he fell among robbers, to show the sheep and the one who went down from Jerusalem, the one who was brought down from greater glory to a lesser place, and the one who was taken away and lost from the one shepherd's single command.

46.4.4 | ὅθεν καὶ τὸν ἅγιον Ἀδὰμ τὸν πατέρα <ἡμῶν> ἐν ζωῇ πεπιστεύκαμεν· δι' ὃν καὶ τοὺς ἀπ' αὐτοῦ ἡμᾶς πάντας Χριστὸς ἦλθεν, τοῖς μὲν πάλαι αὐτὸν γινώσκουσι καὶ μὴ πλανηθεῖσιν ἀπὸ τῆς αὐτοῦ θεότητος ἕνεκεν δὲ σφαλμάτων ἐν Αἰδῇ κατεσχημένοις ἀμνηστίαν χαρίσασθαι, τοῖς μὲν ἔτι ἐν κόσμῳ διὰ μετανοίας, τοῖς δὲ ἐν Αἰδῇ δι' ἐλέους καὶ σωτηρίας.

46.4.4 | From there also we have believed in holy Adam, our father, as alive; through whom Christ came to all of us, to those who long ago know him and are not lost from his godhood, to grant forgiveness to those held in Hades because of mistakes, to some still in the world through repentance, and to others in Hades through mercy and salvation.

Section 5

46.5.1 | 5. Διὸ καὶ θαυμάσαι ἔστι τὸν εἰδότα, ὡς καὶ ἐν βίβλοις ἠρῆκαμεν, μὲν, τὸν κύριον ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦν χριστὸν ἐν τῷ Γολγοθᾷ ἐσταυρωθῆναι.

46.5.1 | Therefore, it is right to wonder at the one who knew, as we also found in books, that our Lord Jesus Christ was crucified at Golgotha.

46.5.2 | οὐκ ἄλλη που ἀλλ' ἢ ἐνθα ἔκειτο τὸ τοῦ Ἀδὰμ σῶμα. ἐξελθὼν γὰρ ἐκ τοῦ παραδείσου καὶ κατωκηκὼς κατέναντι αὐτοῦ πολλῷ τῷ χρόνῳ καὶ διὰ πολλῶν τῶν ἡμερῶν διελθὼν ὕστερον ἦλθε καὶ ἐν τῷ τόπῳ τούτῳ, Ἱεροσολύμων δέ φημι, τὸ χρεὼν ἀποδεδωκὼς [καί] ἐκεῖσε ἐτάφη ἐν τῷ τόπῳ τῷ Γολγοθᾷ.

46.5.2 | Not somewhere else, but where the body of Adam lay. For having come out of paradise and living opposite it for a long time, and after many days had passed, he later came also to this place, and I say to Jerusalem, having paid what was owed, and there he was buried in the place called Golgotha.

46.5.3 | ὅθεν εἰκότως τὸ ἐπώνυμον ὁ τόπος

46.5.3 | From there, naturally, the place ἔσχε, Κρανίου ἐρμηνευόμενος τόπος, ἧς ὀνομασίας τὸ σχῆμα τοῦ τόπου ἐμφερίαν τινα οὐχ ὑποδείκνυσιν.

took its name, meaning ‘place of the skull,’ a name whose shape shows something about the place but does not fully explain it.

46.5.4 | οὐτε γὰρ ἐν ἄκρᾳ τινὲν κεῖται, ἵνα κρανίον τοῦτο ἐρμηνεύηται, ὥς <ὁ> ἐπὶ σώματος κεφαλῆς τόπος λέγεται, οὐτε <ἐπὶ> σκοπιᾶς.

46.5.4 | For it does not lie on any high point, so that it would be called ‘skull’ as a place on the head of a body, nor on a lookout.

46.5.5 | καὶ γὰρ οὐτε ἐν ὕψει κεῖται παρὰ τοὺς ἄλλους τόπους· ἀντικρυς γὰρ ἐστὶ τὸ τοῦ Ἑλαιῶνος ὄρος ὑψηλότερον καὶ ἀπὸ σημείων ὀκτὼ ἢ Γαβᾶων ὑψηλοτάτη, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἡ ἄκρᾳ ἢ ποτὲ ὑπάρχουσα ἐν Σιών, νῦν δὲ τμηθεῖσα, καὶ αὐτὴ ὑψηλότερα ὑπῆρχεν τοῦ τόπου.

46.5.5 | And indeed, it does not lie on a height compared to the other places; for right across is the Mount of Olives, higher, and from eight points the highest is Gabbatha, and also the summit that once was in Zion, now cut down, was itself higher than the place.

46.5.6 | πόθεν οὖν ἡ ἐπωνυμία τοῦ Κρανίου, ἀλλ’ ἐπειδὴ τοῦ πρωτοπλάστου ἀνθρώπου ἐκεῖ τὸ κρανίον ἠϋρηται καὶ ἐκεῖ τὸ λείψανον ἐναπέκειτο, τούτου ἕνεκα Κρανίου τόπος ἐπεκέκλητο·

46.5.6 | Where then comes the name of the Skull? But since the skull of the first-formed man was found there, and there the body was laid, for this reason the place was called the Skull.

46.5.7 | ἐφ’ οὗ σταυρωθεὶς ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς ὁ Χριστὸς διὰ τοῦ ῥεύσαντος ἀπ’ αὐτοῦ ὕδατος καὶ τὴν αἵματος διὰ τῆς νυχθείσης αὐτοῦ πλευρᾶς αἰνιγματωδῶς ἔδειξεν τὴν ἡμῶν σωτηρίαν, ἀπὸ τῆς ἀρχῆς τοῦ φυράματος ἀρξάμενος ῥαντίζειν τὰ λείψανα τοῦ προπάτορος,

46.5.7 | On which our lord Jesus Christ was crucified, through the water and blood flowing from his pierced side, he mysteriously showed our salvation, beginning from the start of the world to sprinkle the remains of the first father,

46.5.8 | ἵνα καὶ ἡμῖν ὑποδείξῃ τὸν ῥαντισμὸν τοῦ αὐτοῦ αἵματος, εἰς κάθαρσιν τῆς ἡμῶν κοινώσεως καὶ ψυχῆς μετανοοῦσης καὶ εἰς ὑπόδειγμα φυράσεως καὶ καθαρμοῦ ῥύπου τῶν ἡμετέρων

46.5.8 | so that he might also show us the sprinkling of the same blood, for the cleansing of our fellowship and the soul’s repentance, and as a sign of the washing away and cleansing of the dirt of our sins, ἀμαρτημάτων γενόμενον, τὸ ἐκχυθὲν ὕδωρ ἐπὶ τὸν ὑποκείμενον τῷ τόπῳ καὶ τεθαμμένον εἰς ἐλπίδα αὐτοῦ τε καὶ ἡμῶν τῶν ἐξ αὐτοῦ γεγεννημένων.

the water poured out on the place beneath and buried there became a hope for him and for us who are born from him.

46.5.9 | διὸ καὶ ἐνταῦθα ἐπληροῦτο τὸ εἰρημένον »ἐγείρε ὁ καθεύδων καὶ ἀνάστα ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν καὶ ἐπιφάσει σοι ὁ Χριστός«. εἰ γὰρ καὶ περὶ ἡμῶν λέγει τῶν νενεκρωμένων τοῖς ἔργοις καὶ τῶν καθευσόντων ἐν βάθει ὕπνου τῆς ἀγνωσίας, ἀλλ' οὖν γε ἐκεῖθεν ἡ ἀρχὴ τῆς αἰνίξεως * περιέχει τὸν τρόπον.

46.5.9 | therefore here was fulfilled the saying, "awake, sleeper, and rise from the dead, and Christ will shine on you." for though it speaks about us, who are dead in our deeds and sleeping in the deep sleep of ignorance, yet from there the beginning of the riddle holds the way.

46.5.10 | καὶ οὐχ ἀπλῶς οὐδὲ ἀργῶς· »ἀνέστη«, γὰρ φησι, »πολλὰ σώματα τῶν ἀγίων«, ὡς ἔχει τὸ εὐαγγέλιον, »καὶ εἰσῆλθον σὺν αὐτῷ εἰς τὴν ἁγίαν πόλιν« καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν, ἀνέστησαν ψυχαὶ τῶν ἀγίων, ἀλλὰ σώματα φύσει τῶν ἀγίων καὶ εἰσῆλθον μετ' αὐτοῦ εἰς τὴν ἁγίαν πόλιν καὶ τὰ ἑξῆς.

46.5.10 | and not simply or slowly; for it says, "many bodies of the saints rose," as the gospel has it, "and they went with him into the holy city," and it did not say, the souls of the saints rose, but the bodies by nature of the saints, and they went with him into the holy city, and what follows.

46.5.11 | Πανταχόθεν τοίνυν ἀποκρουσάμενοι τοῦ κώνωπος τούτου τὰ δήγματα δι' ἐλαίου τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ φιλανθρωπίας καὶ κυρίου ἡμῶν ἐνδημίας καὶ φωτὸς τοῦ εὐαγγελίου τῆς ἀληθείας, ἐπὶ τὰς ἑξῆς κατὰ τὸ εἰωθὸς πάλιν προσελθεῖν ἐν τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμει σπεύσωμεν.

46.5.11 | turning away from the bites of this mosquito on all sides, by the oil of the kindness of God and our Lord's presence and the light of the gospel of truth, let us hurry to come again to the following things by the power of God, as is usual.

Book 47

Section 1

47.1.1 | Ἐγκρατῖταί τινες οὕτω καλούμενοι τοῦτον τὸν Τατιανὸν διαδέχονται, φύσει

47.1.1 | Some called Enkratites accept this Tatian, naturally being led astray and ὕπ' αὐτοῦ πεπλανημένοι τε καὶ ἡπατημένοι, ἕτερα δὲ παρὰ τοῦτον φρονήσαντες καὶ εἰς μείζονα πάλιν ἐρεσχελίαν ἐάντοῦς ἐκδεδωκότες.

deceived by him, while others thought differently from him and gave themselves again to a greater error.

47.1.2 | πληθύνουσι δὲ οὗτοι καὶ εἰς δεῦρο ἐν τε τῇ Πισδίᾳ καὶ ἐν τῇ Φρυγίᾳ τῇ κεκαυμένῃ οὕτω καλουμένῃ. ἴσως γὰρ κατὰ θεοῦ κόσμῳ διὰ τὸ κεκαθῦσθαι τοὺς οἰκήτορας ἀπὸ τῆς διαστροφῆς τῆς τοιαύτης καὶ τοσαύτης πλάνης· πολλὰ γὰρ αἱρέσεις ἐν τῷ χώρῳ.

47.1.2 | These also increase even here in Pisidia and in Phrygia, which is called “the burned land.” Perhaps it is by God’s order, to drive out the people from such great and twisted error. For there are many heresies in the region.

47.1.3 | εἰσὶ δὲ καὶ ἐν μέρεσι τῆς Ἀσίας καὶ ἐν τῇ Ἰσαύρῳ καὶ Παμφύλῳ μέρος, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐπὶ τῆς Ἀντιοχείῳ τῆς Συρίας, οὐ πάντῃ δέ, * ἢ τοιαύτη αἵρεσις.

47.1.3 | There are also some in parts of Asia and in the region of the Isaurians and Pamphylians, and even in Antioch of Syria, but not everywhere, such a heresy.

47.1.4 | Φάσκουσι δὲ καὶ οὗτοι ἀρχὰς τινὰς εἶναι τὴν τε τοῦ διαβόλου <δύναμιν> ἀντικειμένην πρὸς τὰ τοῦ θεοῦ ποιήματα, [καὶ] μὴ ὑποτασσομένου θεῷ, ἀλλὰ ἰσχύοντος καὶ πράττοντος ὡς κατὰ ἰδίαν ἐξουσίαν καὶ οὐχ ὡς ἐν παρεκτροπῇ γενομένου· οὐ γὰρ κατὰ τὴν ἐκκλησίαν ἐγούσιν, ἀλλὰ ἄλλως παρὰ τὸ τῆς ἀληθείας κήρυγμα.

47.1.4 | They also say that there are some beginnings, the power of the devil set against the works of God, and not being subject to God, but acting and having strength as if by their own authority, and not as something done by mistake; for they do not lead according to the church, but differently from the preaching of the truth.

47.1.5 | κέχρηται δὲ γραφαῖς πρωτοτύπως ταῖς λεγομέναις Ἀνδρέου καὶ Ἰωάννου Πράξεσι καὶ Θωμᾷ καὶ ἀποκρύφους τις καὶ οἷς βούλονται λόγοις τῆς παλαιᾶς διαθήκης.

47.1.5 | They have used writings for the first time called the Acts of Andrew and John, and of Thomas, and some secret ones, and whatever words they want from the Old Testament.

47.1.6 | τὸν δὲ γάμον σαφῶς τοῦ διαβόλου ὀρίζονται· ἔμψυχα δὲ βδελύσσονται,

47.1.6 | They clearly say that marriage is from the devil; and they hate living beings, ἀπαγορεύοντες οὐχ ἕνεκεν ἐγκρατείας οὔτε πολιτείας, ἀλλὰ κατὰ φόβον καὶ ἰνδαλμὸν τοῦ μὴ καταδικασθῆναι ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν ἐμψύχων μεταλήψεως.

forbidding marriage not for self-control or way of life, but out of fear and a vision of not being condemned by the suffering of living beings.

47.1.7 | κέχρηται δὲ καὶ αὐτοὶ μυστηρίοις δι' ὕδατος· οἶνον δὲ ὅλως οὐ μεταλαμβάνουσι, φάσκοντες εἶναι διαβολικὸν καὶ τοὺς πίνοντας καὶ τοὺς χρωμένους ἀνόμους εἶναι παρὰ τοῖς οὕτω πεπλανημένοις τὰ πάντα μανίας ἔμπλεα.

47.1.7 | They themselves also use mysteries with water; but they do not at all share in wine, saying it is from the devil, and that those who drink it and use it are lawless among those so completely filled with madness.

47.1.8 |

47.1.8 |

47.1.9 | καὶ γὰρ ἔστιν ἰδεῖν καὶ θαυμάσαι καὶ εἰς ἐκπληξιν ἐλθεῖν τὸν συνετὸν ἄνθρωπον περὶ πάντων ὁριοῦν ὧν οἱ ἄλλότριοι λέγουσιν τε καὶ πράττουσιν, ἀσυστάτως τῶν πάντων περ' αὐτοῖς αὐτοῖς λεγομένων τε καὶ γινομένων καὶ μηδεμίαν ἔμφασιν ἀληθείας ἐπιδεχομένων.

47.1.9 | For it is possible to see and wonder and be amazed at the wise person who sets limits on everything that outsiders say and do, confused about all things said and done by those same outsiders, and accepting no sign of truth.

Section 2

47.2.1 | 2. Εἰ γὰρ κέχρηται παλαιᾷ καὶ νέᾳ διαθήκῃ, πῶς ἀρχαὶ διάφοροι εὐρεθήσονται, τῶν δύο διαθηκῶν συμφωνουσῶν περὶ μιᾶς * θεότητος τὴν γνώσιν κηρυττουσῶν;

47.2.1 | For if they have used the old and the new covenant, how will different beginnings be found, when the two covenants agree about the knowledge of one godhead?

47.2.2 | εἰ δὲ καὶ νεκρῶν εἴη ἀνάστασις, πῶς ἔτι ὁ σεμνὸς γάμος τοῦ διαβόλου εὐρεθήσεται; ὁπότε θεὸς λέγει »αὐξάνεσθε καὶ πληθύνεσθε«, καὶ τοῦ κυρίου ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ λέγοντος »ὃ ὁ θεὸς συνέζευξεν, ἄνθρωπος μὴ χωριζέτω« καὶ τοῦ ἀποστόλου φάσκοντος »τίμιος ὁ γάμος καὶ

47.2.2 | But if there is a resurrection of the dead, how will the solemn marriage of the devil still be found? When god says, "Be fruitful and multiply," and the lord says in the gospel, "What god has joined, let no one separate," and the apostle says, "Marriage ἡ κοίτη ἀμίαντος».

is honorable and the bed undefiled.”

47.2.3 | ἀλλὰ ἐλεγχόμενοι βλασφημοῦσι τοῦτον μεθυστὴν καλοῦντες, εἰς ἑαυτῶν δὲ γνώμην καὶ παράστασιν μυθολογίας κατὰ τῶν πινόντων τὸν οἶνον ἐπιλαμβάνονται τινα θηρολεκτοῦντες καὶ φασιν ἐκ τοῦ πονηροῦ τὸ τοιοῦτον εἶδος εἶναι· »ἔπιε, γάρ φησι, Νῶς ἀπὸ τοῦ οἴνου καὶ ἐγυμνώθη, καὶ Λώτ, φησί,

47.2.3 | But when they are proven wrong, they blaspheme, calling him a drunkard, and in their own opinion and story against those who drink wine, they catch hold of someone, speaking like a wild beast, and say that this kind is from the evil one: “For he says, Noah drank wine and became naked, and Lot, he says,”

47.2.4 | μεθυσθεὶς θυγατράσιν ἰδίαις κατὰ ἄγνοιαν συνεμίγη καὶ διὰ μέθης γέγονεν ἡ μοσχοποιία· καὶ φησιν ἡ γραφή· τίни θόρυβος; τίни μάζαι; τίни ἀηδίαὶ καὶ λέσχαι; τίни συντρίμματα διὰ κενῆς; τίνος πελιδνοὶ οἱ ὀφθαλμοί; οὐ τῶν χρονιζόντων ἐν οἴνοις, οὐ τῶν ἐξιχνευόντων ποῦ πότοι γίνονται;»

47.2.4 | Drunk, he unknowingly slept with his own daughters, and through drunkenness, the birth of a mule happened. And the scripture says: ‘What noise is this? What crowds? What unpleasant talk and gatherings? What broken pieces for nothing? Whose eyes are dull? Not of those who are long in wine, not of those who trace where drinks come from?’

47.2.5 | καὶ ἄλλα τινὰ τοιαῦτα ἐξιχνεύοντες συσσωρεύουσι διὰ τὴν ἑαυτῶν πιθανότητα, οὐκ εἰδότες ὅτι πᾶν τὸ ἄμετρον πανταχῇ λυπηρὸν καὶ ἔξω τοῦ προκειμένου ἀπηγορευμένον ὑπάρχει.

47.2.5 | And tracing out some other things like these, they pile them up for their own persuasion, not knowing that all excess everywhere is painful and is forbidden beyond what is proper.

47.2.6 | καὶ γὰρ οὐ μόνον ἐπὶ οἴνῳ τοῦτο εἶποίμ’ ἂν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐπὶ πάσῃ ἀπληστίᾳ. τοῦτο γὰρ καὶ ὁ κύριος ἐδίδασκε φάσκων »μὴ βαρυνέσθωσαν, φησίν, ὑμῶν αἱ καρδίαι ἐν κραυπάλῃ καὶ μέθῃ καὶ μερίμναις βιωτικαῖς» καὶ τό »εἰ ἀπληστότερος εἶ, μὴ ἐπιθύμει τῶν τοῦ πλουσίου βρωμάτων· ταῦτα γὰρ ἔχεται ζωῆς ψευδοῦς».

47.2.6 | For I would say this not only about wine, but also about all greed. For the lord taught this too, saying, “Don’t let your hearts be weighed down with drunkenness and wine and worries about life.” And “If you are more greedy, don’t desire the rich man’s food; for these things are full of false life.”

47.2.7 | περισσοτέρως δὲ ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος ἀπλήστους καὶ ἀδηφάγους ἐκκόπτων λαιμάργοις ἐπιθυμίαις ἐπαρώμενος ἔφη »τὰ βρώματα τῇ κοιλίᾳ καὶ ἡ κοιλία τοῖς βρώμασιν· ὁ δὲ θεὸς καὶ ταύτην καὶ ταῦτα καταργήσει«.

47.2.7 | More fully, the holy apostle, cutting down the greedy and gluttonous, stirred up by lustful desires, said, “Food is for the stomach, and the stomach is for food; but God will destroy both this and those.”

47.2.8 | ἀλλὰ καὶ Ἡσαῦ τὰ πρωτοτόκια δι’ ἐψέματος πυροῦ ἀπώλεσεν, ὡς φησιν ἡ γραφή, τὸ αὐτὸ καλοῦσα ἔψημα πυροῦ καὶ φακῆς (οἶμαι δὲ τάχα ὅτι οὐκ ἀπὸ πυροῦ τουτέστιν ἀπὸ σίτου ἦν, ἀλλὰ τάχα ὡς ἤδη ἐψημένον λείψανον φακοῦ καὶ ἔτι ἐπιτεθὲν πυρὶ τὸ αὖθις πυρωθὲν ἡ γραφή <ἔψημα> πυροῦ διηγῆσατο, διὰ τὸ ἐπιθερμανθῆναι μετὰ τὸ ψυχρωθῆναι).

47.2.8 | But also Esau lost his birthright because of cooked wheat, as the scripture says, calling the same thing cooked wheat and lentils. (I think probably it was not from wheat, that is from grain, but maybe it was already cooked leftover lentils, and then heated again by fire. The scripture told “cooked wheat” because it was warmed after it had cooled.)

47.2.9 | καὶ ὡς ἐκεῖνος δι’ οἶνον ἐγυμνώθη μηδὲν ἀδικηθεὶς, οὕτως οὗτος μᾶλλον διὰ πείναν καὶ ἀπληστίαν τὰ πρωτοτόκια ἀπολέσας [μᾶλλον] ὑπὲρ τὸν οἶνον ἡδίκηται. καὶ οὐδὲν ἰσχύει ἐγγὺς τῆς ἀληθείας παραπεποιημένη λέξις οὐδὲ μυθώδης τις ἐπινενοημένη δραματουργία.

47.2.9 | And just as that one was stripped because of wine without being wronged, so this one lost his birthright more because of hunger and greed, and was wronged more than by wine. And no word, neither made up nor invented like a play, has any power near the truth.

Section 3

47.3.1 | 3. Σεμνύνονται δὲ δῆθεν ἐγκράτειαν, σφαλερῶς τὰ πάντα ἐργαζόμενοι, μέσον γυναικῶν εὕρισκόμενοι καὶ γυναῖκας πανταχόθεν ἀπατῶντες, γυναιξὶ δὲ συνοδεύοντες καὶ συνδιαιτώμενοι καὶ ἐξυπηρετούμενοι ὑπὸ τῶν τοιούτων, ἔξω μὲν τῆς ἀληθείας ὄντες, »μόργωσιν μόνον κεκτημένοι, τὴν δὲ δύναμιν αὐτῆς τῆς εὐσεβείας ἡρνημένοι«.

47.3.1 | They boast about self-control, but do everything wrongly, being found among women and deceiving women everywhere. And they go with women, live with them, and are served by such women, while being outside the truth, having only a little power, but denying the strength of true piety.

47.3.2 | οἷου γὰρ ἂν τις ἔργου καταλείψη

47.3.2 | For if someone leaves out a part of μέρος, τὸ πᾶν πλήρωμα ἀφῆκεν διὰ τοῦ ἐνὸς μέρους τοῦ καταλειμμένου. ὅθεν τὰ παρ’ αὐτοῖς μυστήρια δι’ ὕδατος μόνον γίνεται, οὔτε μυστήρια ὄντα, ἀλλὰ κατὰ μίμησιν τῶν ἀληθινῶν [τὰ] ψευδῆ γινόμενα.

a work, they have left the whole work incomplete because of the one part left out.
So the mysteries with them happen only through water, not really mysteries, but false things made to imitate the true ones.

47.3.3 | ὅθεν καὶ ἐν τούτῳ ἐλεγχθήσονται ἀπὸ τοῦ εὐθέος τοῦ σωτῆρος λόγου τοῦ λέγοντος »οὐ μὴ πῖω ἀπὸ τοῦ γεννήματος τούτου τῆς ἀμπέλου ταύτης, ἕως ἂν πῖω αὐτὸ καινὸν ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ τῶν οὐρανῶν μεθ’ ὑμῶν«.

47.3.3 | Therefore, in this also they will be tested by the straight word of the savior who says, ‘I will not drink from the fruit of this vine until I drink a new one with you in the kingdom of heaven.’

47.3.4 | Πάλιν οὖν ταύτην παρωσάμενοι χειρὶ κραταιᾷ τῆς ἀληθείας ὡς κνώδαλον όδυνηρὸν όδόντων ἀφηρημένον ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἴωμεν, συνήθως τὸ θεὸν τῶν ὅλων ἐπικαλούμενοι όδηγόν τε καὶ ἀμυντῆρα τῶν δεινῶν, ἐπίκουρόν τε τῆς φρονήσεως δότην τε ὄντα αὐτὸν τῆς σοφίας,

47.3.4 | Again then, having taken this with a strong hand of truth like a painful splinter removed from the teeth, let us go on to the following things, usually calling on the god of all as guide and defender against troubles, and also helper of understanding and giver of wisdom.

47.3.5 | ἵν’ ἡμεῖς παρ’ αὐτοῦ τάληθῆ μανθάνοντες τὰς τῶν ἄλλων * ἀποκαλύπτειν δυνηθεῖμεν καὶ τὴν κατ’ αὐτῶν ἀντίδοτον ἱατρικὴν ἐκ πολλῶν μυρεφικῶν εἰδῶν ἀπὸ τοῦ λόγου τῆς ἀληθείας κατασκευάσαι, τοῖς ἤδη

47.3.5 | So that we, learning the truths from him, might be able to reveal the secrets of others and prepare a healing medicine against them from many fragrant kinds, made from the word of truth, for those already wounded toward healing, and for those seeking treatment, and for those about to know what they did not know before, to prevent suffering, and for our salvation and the god’s reward, which will be freely given.

Book 48

Section 1

48.1.1 | Ἀπὸ τούτων ἑτέρα πάλιν αἵρεσις ἀνακύπτει τῶν φρυγῶν καλουμένη, λουμένη, σύγχρονος γενομένη τούτοις καὶ αὐτοὺς διαδεχομένη.

48.1.1 | From these, another heresy again arises among the Phrygians, called Loumene, a new one made at the same time as these and following them.

48.1.2 | οὗτοι γὰρ γεγόνασι περὶ τὸ ἐννεακαιδέκατον ἔτος Ἀντωνίνου τοῦ εὐσεβοῦς τοῦ μετὰ Ἀδριανόν, καὶ ὁ Μαρκίων δὲ καὶ οἱ περὶ Τατιανὸν καὶ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ διαδεξάμενοι Ἐγκρατῖται ἐν χρόνοις Ἀδριανοῦ καὶ μετὰ Ἀδριανόν.

48.1.2 | For these came about around the nineteenth year of Antoninus the Pious, who came after Hadrian, and Marcion and those around Tatian and those who followed him, the Encratites, in the times of Hadrian and after Hadrian.

48.1.3 | Οὗτοι γὰρ οἱ κατὰ Φρύγας καλούμενοι δέχονται καὶ αὐτοὶ πᾶσαν γραφὴν παλαιᾶς καὶ νέας διαθήκης καὶ νεκρῶν ἀνάστασιν ὁμοίως λέγουσι, Μοντανὸν δέ τινα προφήτην ἀύχοῦσιν ἔχειν καὶ Πρίσκιλλαν καὶ Μαξίμιλλαν προφήτιδας· οἷς προσέχοντες τὸν νοῦν ἐξετράπησαν.

48.1.3 | For these, who are called after Phrygia, also accept all the writings of the old and new covenant and say the resurrection of the dead in the same way, but they boast that they have a certain Montanus as a prophet and Priscilla and Maximilla as prophetesses; paying attention to these, their mind was turned away.

48.1.4 | περὶ δὲ πατρὸς καὶ υἱοῦ καὶ ἁγίου πνεύματος ὁμοίως φρονοῦσι τῇ ἁγίᾳ καθολικῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ, ἀπέσχισαν δὲ ἑαυτούς, »προσέχοντες πνεύμασι πλάνης καὶ διδασκαλίαις δαιμονίων«, λέγοντες ὅτι »δεῖ ἡμᾶς, φησί, καὶ τὰ χαρίσματα δέχεσθαι«.

48.1.4 | About the father and the son and the holy spirit, they think the same as the holy catholic church, but they cut themselves off, "paying attention to spirits of error and teachings of demons," saying that "we must also accept the gifts."

48.1.5 | καὶ ἡ ἁγία δὲ τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησία ὁμοίως τὰ χαρίσματα δέχεται, ἀλλὰ τὰ ὄντως χαρίσματα καὶ ἤδη ἐν ἁγίᾳ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίᾳ διὰ πνεύματος ἁγίου

48.1.5 | And the holy church of God also accepts the gifts, but the true gifts, already tested in the holy church of God through the holy spirit by prophets and apostles δεδοκιμασμένα παρά τε προφητῶν καὶ ἀποστόλων καὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ κυρίου, and the lord himself,

48.1.6 | φάσκοντος τοῦ ἀποστόλου Ἰωάννου ἐν τῇ ἐπιστολῇ ὅτι »δοκιμάζετε τὰ πνεύματα, εἰ ἔστιν ἐκ τοῦ θεοῦ« καὶ πάλιν δὲ λέγοντος ὅτι »ἠκούσατε ὅτι Ἀντίχριστος ἔρχεται καὶ νῦν Ἀντίχριστοι πολλοὶ γεγόνασιν. ἐξ ἡμῶν ἐξῆλθον, ἀλλ’ οὐκ ἦσαν ἐξ ἡμῶν· εἰ γὰρ ἦσαν ἐξ ἡμῶν, μεμενήμεν ἂν μεθ’ ἡμῶν· ἀλλ’ ἵνα γνωσθῶσιν ὅτι οὐκ ἦσαν ἐξ ἡμῶν. τούτου χάριν γράφω ὑμῖν, τεκνία« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

48.1.6 | The apostle John says in his letter, “Test the spirits to see if they are from God,” and again he says, “You heard that the Antichrist is coming, and now many antichrists have appeared. They went out from us, but they were not really from us. If they had been from us, they would have stayed with us. But this happened so that it might be clear that they were not from us.
For this reason I write to you, children,” and what follows.

48.1.7 | ἀληθῶς οὖν οὗτοι οὐκ εἰσὶν ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν ἁγίων. ἐξέβησαν γὰρ τῇ αὐτῶν φιλονεικίᾳ, προσανέχοντες καὶ πνεύμασι πλάνης καὶ μυθολογίας.

48.1.7 | Truly then, these are not from those holy ones. For they went out because of their quarrels, following spirits of error and stories.

Section 2

48.2.1 | 2. Ἰδοὺ γὰρ ἐξ αὐτῆς τῆς ὑποθέσεως ἐλέγχονται μὴ δυνάμενοι πληροῦν τὰ ὑπ’ αὐτῶν ἐν φιλονεικίᾳ ὑπισχνούμενα. εἰ γὰρ δεῖ χαρίσματα δέχεσθαι καὶ δεῖ εἶναι ἐν ἐκκλησίᾳ χαρίσματα, πῶς οὐκέτι μετὰ Μοντανὸν καὶ Πρίσκιλλαν καὶ Μαξίμιλλαν ἔχουσι προφήτας; ἄρα ἤργησεν ἡ χάρις; οὐκ ἀργεῖ δὲ ἡ χάρις ἐν ἁγίᾳ ἐκκλησίᾳ· μὴ γένοιτο.

48.2.1 | Look, from this very claim they are proved wrong, because they cannot fulfill what they promise in quarrels. For if gifts must be received, and there must be gifts in the church, how is it that after Montanus and Priscilla and Maximilla they no longer have prophets? Has grace stopped? Grace does not stop in the holy church; may it never be.

48.2.2 | εἰ δὲ ἕως τινὸς προεφήτευσαν οἱ προφητεύσαντες καὶ * οὐκέτι προφητεύουσιν, ἄρα οὔτε Πρίσκιλλα οὔτε Μαξίμιλλα προεφήτευσαν, * μετὰ τὰς προφητείας τὰς διὰ τῶν ἁγίων ἀποστόλων

48.2.2 | If those who prophesied did so only up to a certain point and no longer prophesy, then Priscilla and Maximilla did not prophesy after the prophecies through the holy apostles were tested in the holy έν τῇ ἀγίᾳ ἐκκλησίᾳ δοκιμασθείσας.

church.

48.2.3 | κατὰ δύο οὖν τρόπους ἐλεγχθήσεται ἡ αὐτῶν ἄνοια· ἢ γὰρ δείξωσιν εἶναι προφήτας μετὰ Μαξίμιλλαν, ἵνα μὴ ἀργήσῃ ἡ παρ’ αὐτοῖς λεγομένη χάρις, ἢ οἱ περὶ Μαξίμιλλαν ψευδοπροφητῆται εὗρεθήσονται, μετὰ τὸν ὄρον τῶν προφητικῶν χαρισμάτων τολήσαντες οὐκ ἀπὸ ἀγίου πνεύματος, ἀλλ’ ἀπὸ πλάνης δαιμονίων ἐνθουσιασθῆναι καὶ φαντασιάζειν τοὺς ἀκούοντας αὐτῶν.

48.2.3 | Their foolishness will be proved wrong in two ways: either they will show that there are prophets after Maximilla, so that the grace said to be with them does not stop, or false prophets will be found around Maximilla, who, after the time of prophetic gifts, dared to be filled not with the holy spirit but with the deception of demons, and to trick those who hear them.

48.2.4 | Καὶ ὅρα πῶς ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν παρ’ αὐτοῖς λεγομένων ὁ ἔλεγχος πρὸς αὐτοὺς ῥηθήσεται. φάσκει γὰρ ἡ λεγομένη παρ’ αὐτοῖς Μαξίμιλλα ἡ προφητις ὅτι, φησί »μετ’ ἐμὲ προφήτης οὐκέτι ἔσται, ἀλλὰ συντέλεια«.

48.2.4 | And see how the proof from those things said about them will be spoken against them. For the so-called Maximilla the prophetess says, “After me there will be no more prophets, but the end.”

48.2.5 | ἰδοὺ δὲ ἐκ πανταχόθεν φαίνεται τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα καὶ τὰ πνεύματα τῆς πλάνης· ὅσα γὰρ οἱ προφητῆται εἰρήκασιν καὶ μετὰ συνέσεως παρακολουθοῦντες ἐφθέγγοντο, καὶ ἐτελέσθη τὰ παρ’ αὐτῶν εἰρημένα καὶ ἔτι πληροῦται.

48.2.5 | Look, the holy spirit and the spirits of deception are seen everywhere. For all that the prophets said, and spoke carefully after thinking, has come true from what they said, and is still being fulfilled.

48.2.6 | αὕτη δὲ εἶπε μετ’ αὐτὴν εἶναι συντέλειαν, λειαν, καὶ οὕτω συνετελέσθη, μάλιστα τοσούτων βασιλέων γενομένων καὶ τοσούτου χρόνου ὑπερβεβηκότος.

48.2.6 | But she said that after her there would be an end, a finishing, and it has not yet finished, especially with so many kings having come and so much time having passed.

48.2.7 | ἔτη γὰρ εἰσιν ἑκτοτε πλείω ἐλάσσω διακόσια † ἐνενήκοντα ἕως τοῦ ἡμετέρου

48.2.7 | For there have been more or less two hundred ninety years since our time, χρόνου, δωδεκάτου ἔτους Οὐαλεντινιανοῦ καὶ Οὐάλεντος καὶ <ὀγδόου> Γρατιανοῦ βασιλείας, καὶ οὕτω ἡ συντέλεια κατὰ τὴν αὐχήσασαν ἑαυτοὴν προφήτιδα, μὴ γνοῦσαν μηδὲ τὴν ἡμέραν τῆς αὐτῆς τελευτῆς.

the twelfth year of Valentinian and Valens and the eighth of Gratian's reign, and the end has not come, according to the prophetess who spoke proudly, not even knowing the day of her own death.

48.2.8 | καὶ ἰδεῖν ἔστι πῶς πάντες οἱ ἀπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας ἑαυτοὺς ἀπαλλοτριώσαντες, ὅτι οὐκ ἐν εὐσταθείᾳ τινὶ λόγῳ μεμενήκασιν, ἀλλ' ὡς νήπιοι ὑπὸ τοῦ αἰὲ πλανῶντος ὄφεως παραπεπλεγμένοι εἰς ἀπώλειαν ἑαυτοὺς ἐκδεδώκασι καὶ εἰς τὸ γενέσθαι κατάβρωμα τοῦ λύκου ἔξω τῆς μάνδρας εὐρεθέντες παρελκυσθῆναι <τε> καὶ οὕτως ἀπολέσθαι, μὴ μάνδρας τοῦντες τὴν ἀρχήν, ἀλλὰ καταλείψαντες τὴν ἀλήθειαν, ἐν ναυαγίῳ ἑαυτοὺς καὶ ἐν κλύδωνι τῆς πάσης πλάνης παραδεδώκασιν.

48.2.8 | And it is possible to see how all those who have turned themselves away from the truth, because they have not stood firm in any stable word, but like children caught by the serpent who always deceives, have handed themselves over to destruction and, found outside the sheepfold, to become food for the wolf, have been dragged away and so lost, not guarding the flock as the leaders, but leaving the truth behind, have given themselves over to shipwreck and the storm of complete deception.

48.2.9 | εἰ γὰρ λέγει Μαξιμίλλα ὅτι προφήτης οὐκέτι ἔσται, ἄρα ἀναιρεῖ τὸ εἶναι παρ' αὐτοῖς τὸ χάρισμα καὶ εἰς ἔτι δεῦρο φέρεσθαι. εἰ δὲ ἕως αὐτῆς μένει τὸ χάρισμα, ὡς προεῖπον ἄρα καὶ αὐτὴ οὐ μετέσχε τῶν χαρισμάτων.

48.2.9 | For if Maximilla says that there will be no more prophets, then she takes away the gift from them and that it will still be brought here. But if the gift remains until her time, then as I said before, she also did not share in the gifts.

Section 3

48.3.1 | 3. Πεπλάνηται γάρ· ἐσφράγισε γὰρ ὁ κύριος τὴν ἐκκλησίαν καὶ ἐπλήρωσεν <ἐν> αὐτῇ τὰ χαρίσματα. ὅτε γὰρ ἦν χρεῖα προφητῶν, ἐν ἀληθινῷ πνεύματι καὶ ἐρρωμένη διανοίᾳ καὶ παρακολουθοῦντι νῶ οἱ αὐτοὶ ἅγιοι τὰ πάντα ἐπροφήτευσον, ἐμπιπλῶμενοι πνεύματος ἁγίου, κατὰ τὴν ἀναλογίαν <τῆς πίστεως> τῶν ἐκ πνεύματος χαρισμάτων ἐκάστῳ διδομένων

48.3.1 | For they have been led astray; for the lord sealed the church and filled it with gifts. For when there was need of prophets, in true spirit and strong mind, and with a following understanding, the holy ones themselves prophesied everything, filled with the holy spirit, according to the measure of faith, giving gifts from the spirit to each one, and according to the measure καὶ κατὰ τὴν ἀναλογίαν τῆς πίστεως πρὸς τὸ συμφέρον.

48.3.2 | τί οὖν συμφέρον οὗτοι εἰρήκασιν ἢ ποῖον ἀνάλογον τῆς πίστεως; πῶς δὲ οὐχὶ μᾶλλον οὗτοί εἰσιν περὶ ὧν εἶπεν ὁ κύριος ὅτι »προσέχετε ἀπὸ τῶν ψευδοπροφητῶν, οἵτινες ἔρχονται πρὸς ὑμᾶς ἐν ἐνδύμασι προβάτων, ἔσω δὲ εἰσὶ λύκοι ἄρπαγες«.

48.3.2 | What then is the benefit they spoke of, or what is the measure of faith? And how are they not more truly those about whom the lord said, “Beware of the false prophets, who come to you dressed as sheep, but inside they are ravenous wolves”?

48.3.3 | συγκρίνοντες γὰρ τὰ παρ’ αὐτῶν εἰρημένα καὶ <τὰ> κατὰ τὴν παλαιὰν διαθήκην καὶ καινὴν ἐν ἀληθείᾳ ὄντα καὶ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ γενόμενα καὶ πεπροφητευμένα δοκιμάσωμεν, ποία <ὄντως> προφητεία τυγχάνει, ποία δὲ ψευδοπροφητεία.

48.3.3 | For comparing what they have said with what is in the old and new covenant, which is true and has truly happened and been prophesied, let us test which prophecy is real and which is false prophecy.

48.3.4 | ὁ προφήτης πάντα μετὰ καταστάσεως λογισμῶν καὶ παρακολουθήσεως ἐλάλει καὶ ἐφθέγγετο ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου, τὰ πάντα ἐρρωμένως λέγων ὡς Μωυσῆς ὁ θεράπων τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ πιστὸς ἐν οἴκῳ ὁ βλέπων * ἐλέγετο ὁ προφήτης ἐν τῇ παλαιᾷ διαθήκῃ.

48.3.4 | The prophet spoke everything with careful thought and attention, and he spoke out from the holy spirit, saying everything strongly, just as Moses, the servant of God and faithful in the house, who saw, was called the prophet in the old covenant.

48.3.5 | »ὄρασις, <γάρ> φησιν, ἣν εἶδεν Ἡσαΐας υἱὸς Ἀμὼς ὁ προφήτης· »εἶδον <τὸν> κύριον, φησί, καθεζόμενον ἐπὶ θρόνου ὑψηλοῦ καὶ ἐπηρμένον· καὶ εἶδον Σεραφίμ καὶ Χερουβίμ, καὶ ἤκουσα κυρίου λέγοντος πρὸς με· βάδιζε, εἰπὸν τῷ λαῷ τούτῳ, ἀκοῇ ἀκούσητε καὶ οὐ μὴ συνῆτε, καὶ βλέποντες βλέψητε καὶ οὐ μὴ ἴδῃτε«. καὶ ἀκούσας παρὰ τοῦ κυρίου ἐλθὼν πρὸς τὸν λαὸν ἔφη

48.3.5 | “Vision,” he says, “that Isaiah, son of Amos, the prophet, saw.” “I saw the lord,” he says, “sitting on a high and raised throne; and I saw Seraphim and Cherubim, and I heard the lord saying to me: ‘Go, say to this people, ‘You will hear, but you will not understand, and you will see, but you will not perceive.’” And hearing this from the lord, he came to the people and said, “Thus says the lord.”

»τάδε λέγει κύριος«.

48.3.6 | οὐχ ὁρᾷς ὅτι παρακολουθοῦντος ὁ λόγος καὶ οὐκ ἐξισταμένου, οὔτε ὡς ἐξισταμένης διανοίας ἢ φθογγῇ ἀπεδίδοτο;

48.3.6 | Don't you see that the word follows closely and does not wander, nor is the sound given as if the mind were wandering?

48.3.7 | ὡσαύτως δὲ καὶ Ἰεζεκιὴλ ὁ προφήτης ἀκούων παρὰ κυρίου ὅτι »ποίησον σεαυτῷ ἄρτον ἐπὶ κόπρου ἀνθρωπείας«, ἔλεγε »μηδαμῶς, κύριε· οὐδέποτε κοινὸν ἢ ἀκάθαρτον εἰσῆλθεν εἰς τὸ στόμα μου«.

48.3.7 | And likewise Ezekiel the prophet, hearing from the lord, "Make for yourself bread on human dung," said, "Never, lord; common or unclean has never entered my mouth."

48.3.8 | γινώσκων γὰρ τὴν δι' ἀπειλὴν λεγομένην πρὸς αὐτὸν ῥῆσιν ὑπὸ κυρίου, [καὶ] οὐχ ὡς ἐν ἐκστάσει διανοίας φερόμενος ἐπεβάλλετο τοῦτο πράττειν, ἀλλὰ ἡξίου, ἐρρωμένην ἔχων τὴν διάνοιαν καὶ παρακολουθοῦσαν, καὶ ἔλεγε »μηδαμῶς, κύριε«. ταῦτα γὰρ <τῶν> ἀληθῶς προφητῶν, ἐν ἀγίῳ πνεύματι ἐρρωμένην ἔχόντων τὴν διάνοιαν, καὶ ἡ διδασκαλία καὶ ἡ διαλογία.

48.3.8 | For knowing the word said to him by the lord through a threat, and not being carried away as if in a trance of the mind, he was not forced to do this, but he demanded, having a strong and attentive mind, and said, "Never, lord." For these things belong to the true prophets, having a mind strengthened by the holy spirit, and both teaching and reasoning.

48.3.9 | πῶς δὲ Δανιὴλ οὐχ εὐρίσκεται πάσης συνέσεως ἔμπλεως καὶ τοῖς φρονήμασι παρακολουθῶν, ὃς τὰ αἰνίγματα τῷ Ναβουχοδονόσορ ἐπέλυσε καὶ ἃ ἐκεῖνος δι' ὄνειράτων ἐθέασατο καὶ ἀπέστη ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ ἑωρακότος,

48.3.9 | But how is Daniel not found full of all understanding and following with his thoughts, who solved the riddles for Nebuchadnezzar and what he saw through dreams and turned away from what he had seen,

48.3.10 | οὗτος ὑπεμύνησκε καὶ τὴν ἐπίλυσιν εὐθὺς ἐπέφερεν ἐρρωμένη καταστέσει καὶ ὑπερβολῇ χαρίσματος, περιττοτέρως τὴν φρόνησιν ἔχων ὑπὲρ

48.3.10 | This one also reminded and immediately brought the solution, in a strong state and with an abundance of gift, having wisdom beyond all men because of πάντα ἄνθρωπον διὰ τὸ χάρισμα τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος, τὸ σοφίζον ὄντως τὸν προφήτην καὶ τοὺς διὰ τοῦ προφήτου τῆς διδασκαλίας τῆς ἀληθείας καταξιουμένους.

the gift of the holy spirit, truly making the prophet wise and those through the prophet worthy of the teaching of truth.

48.3.11 | ἃ δὲ οὗτοι ἐπαγγέλλονται προφητεύειν, οὐδὲ εὐσταθοῦντες φانوῦνται οὔτε παρακολουθίαν λόγου ἔχοντες. λοξὰ γὰρ τὰ παρ' αὐτῶν ῥήματα καὶ σκαληνὰ καὶ οὐδεμιᾶς ὀρθότητος ἐχόμενα.

48.3.11 | But what these men claim to prophecy is not shown to be steady or to have a clear flow of speech. For their words are twisted and crooked and have no correctness at all.

Section 4

48.4.1 | 4. Εὐθύς γὰρ ὁ Μοντανός φησιν »ἰδοῦ, ὁ ἄνθρωπος ὥσει λύρα κάγῳ ἐφίπταμαι ὥσει πλῆκτρον· ὁ ἄνθρωπος κοιμᾶται κάγῳ γρηγορῶ. ἰδοῦ, κύριός ἐστιν ὁ ἐξιστάνων καρδίας ἀνθρώπων καὶ διδοὺς καρδίαν ἀνθρώποις«.

48.4.1 | For Montanus immediately says, “Look, the man is like a lyre, and I fly like a plectrum; the man sleeps, and I am awake.
Look, the Lord is the one who shakes the hearts of men and gives a heart to men.”

48.4.2 | τίς τοίνυν τῶν παρακολουθούντων καὶ μετὰ συνέσεως δεχομένων τὸν τῆς ὠφελείας λόγον καὶ τῆς ἑαυτῶν ζωῆς ἐπιμελομένων οὐ καταγνώσεται τῆς τοιαύτης παραπεποιημένης ὑποθέσεως καὶ τοῦ λόγου τοῦ ἀχούοντος ἑαυτὸν ἐν προφήταις καταλέγεσθαι, μὴ δυναμένου τὰ ὅμοια λέγειν προφήταις;

48.4.2 | Who then, of those listening carefully and accepting the word for help and caring for their own life, will not reject such a made-up story and the speech that boasts it is counted among prophets, but cannot say things like true prophets?

48.4.3 | οὔτε γὰρ πνεῦμα ἅγιον ἐλάλησεν ἐν αὐτῷ. τὸ γὰρ εἰπεῖν »ἐφίπταμαι καὶ πλήσσω καὶ γρηγορῶ καὶ ἐξιστᾷ κύριος καρδίας«, ἐκστατικοῦ ῥήματα ὑπάρχει ταῦτα καὶ οὐχὶ παρακολουθοῦντος, ἀλλὰ ἄλλον χαρακτῆρα ὑποδεικνύοντος παρὰ τὸν χαρακτῆρα τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος τοῦ ἐν

48.4.3 | For neither the holy spirit spoke in him. To say “I fly and strike and am awake, and the lord shakes hearts,” these are words of being beside oneself and not making sense, showing a different character than the character of the holy spirit who spoke through prophets.

προφήταις λελαληκότος.

48.4.4 | Εἰ δὲ θελήσουσι παραπλέkein τῇ ἀληθείᾳ τὸ ψεῦδος καὶ ἀνοητεῖν τὸν νοῦν τῶν τῆς ἀκριβείας ἐπιμελομένων, ἑαυτοῖς τε ἐπισωρεύουσι λόγους, δι' ὧν παραποιετεύονται τὴν ἑαυτῶν πλάνην, ὁμοιά τινα εἶναι λέγοντες, ἵνα δὴ παραστήσωσιν * ἀπὸ τοῦ τὴν ἁγίαν γραφὴν εἰρηκέναι »ἐπέβαλεν ὁ θεὸς ἕκστασιν ἐπὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ καὶ ὑπνωσε«, ἀλλὰ οὐκέτι ὁμοιον τοῦτο εἶη ἐκείνῳ.

48.4.4 | But if they want to mix lies with the truth and make foolish the minds of those who care about accuracy, they pile up words for themselves, by which they change their own error, saying it is something like this, to show from holy scripture the words "God put a trance on Adam and made him sleep," but this would no longer be like that.

48.4.5 | οὐ γὰρ καὶ ἐνταῦθα σῶμα ἔμελλε πλάσσειν ὁ θεός, ἀφ' οὗ εἰς ἕκστασιν ἔφευγεν, ἵνα τὰ ὅμοια ἐπενέγκῃ δι' ὑπερβολὴν τῆς φιλανθρωπίας.

48.4.5 | For God was not about to form a body here either, from which he brought into a trance, so that he might bring similar things by the excess of his love for people.

48.4.6 | τῷ γὰρ Ἀδὰμ ἐπήνεγκε τὴν ἕκστασιν τοῦ ὕπνου, οὐκ ἕκστασιν φρενῶν. ἕκστασις δὲ κατὰ διαφορὰς πολλὰς ἔχει τὸν τρόπον. ἕκστασις δι' ὑπερβολὴν θαύματος λέγεται καὶ ἕκστασις λέγεται ἡ μανία διὰ τὸ ἐκστῆναι τοῦ προκειμένου.

48.4.6 | For to Adam he brought the trance of sleep, not a trance of the mind. And trance has many kinds by differences in how it happens. Trance is called because of great wonder, and trance is also called madness because of standing outside what is normal.

48.4.7 | ἐκείνη δὲ ἡ τοῦ ὕπνου ἕκστασις κατ' ἄλλον τρόπον ἐρρέθη, κατὰ τὴν φυσικὴν ἐνέργειαν, μάλιστα διὰ τὸ βαθυτάτως αὐτὴν ἐπενηνέχθαι τῷ ἁγίῳ Ἀδὰμ καὶ ἐν χειρὶ θεοῦ πεπλασμένῳ.

48.4.7 | But that trance of sleep was said in another way, according to natural action, especially because it was brought most deeply to holy Adam, who was formed by the hand of God.

Section 5

48.5.1 | 5. Καὶ γὰρ ἀληθῶς ἔστιν ἰδεῖν ὡς δικαίως ἕκστασιν ταύτην ἡ θεία γραφὴ κέκληκεν. ἐν τῷ γὰρ ὑπνοῦν τὸν ἄνθρωπον

48.5.1 | And truly it is right to see that the divine scripture called this a trance. For in the sleeping person all the senses are μεθίστανται πᾶσαι αἱ αἰσθήσεις, εἰς ἀνάπαυσιν τραπεῖσαι, ὥς οἶον εἰπεῖν παροῦσα ἡ διορατικὴ οὐχ ὀρᾷ· ἀποκέκλεισται γὰρ τὸ ὄμμα καὶ ἡσυχάζει τὸ κινοῦν ἐν τῷ ἀνθρώπῳ πνεῦμα εἴτ' οὖν <ή> ψυχὴ.

changed, turned toward rest, so to speak, the seeing part does not see; for the eye is closed and the spirit or soul that moves in the person is quiet.

48.5.2 | δυσοδμίας οὔσης ἐν οὔκῳ ἢ καὶ εὐοδμίας, καίτοι γε παρούσης τῆς ὀσφραντικῆς αἰσθήσεως, οὐκ ἀντιλαμβάνεται· ἐξέστη γὰρ ἡ τοιαύτη αἴσθησις εἰς ἀνάπαυσιν τραπεῖσα.

48.5.2 | When there is a bad smell or even a good smell, yet the sense of smell is present, it does not notice; for such a sense has been changed, turned toward rest.

48.5.3 | πικρῶν ὄντων χυμῶν ἐν τῷ στόματι ἢ ἀλμυρῶν ἢ γλυκέων τὸ γευστικὸν οὐκ αἰσθάνεται, ἐπειδὴ γὰρ ἐν ἐκστάσει τῆς ἀναπαύσεως κεῖται μὴ ἐνεργοῦν, ὅπερ ἐν τῷ ὕπαρ ὄντι ἐνήργει.

48.5.3 | When bitter, salty, or sweet juices are in the mouth, the sense of taste does not notice, because in the trance of rest it lies not working, which it does when awake.

48.5.4 | ἀκοὴ πάρεστιν, ἀλλὰ ἀργεῖ τὸ ἀκουστικὸν κατὰ τὴν αἴσθησιν. καὶ πολλάκις τινῶν λαλούντων ἐν οἴκῳ, εἰ μὴ τι διυπνισθῇ ὁ ἄνθρωπος, οὐκ ἐπακούει τῶν παρά τινων ῥηθέντων διὰ τὸ ἀποστῆναι τὴν ἐνέργειαν πρὸς τὴν ὥραν.

48.5.4 | Hearing is present, but the hearing part is slow in sensing. And often, when some people are talking in the house, if a person is not somewhat awake, he does not hear what is said by some, because the activity has stopped for the time.

48.5.5 | τινῶν κνωδάλων διερχομένων διὰ τοῦ ἡμετέρου σώματος οὐκ αἰσθανόμεθα τῆς αὐτῶν περὶ τὸ σῶμα ἡμῶν ἀφῆς, εἰ μὴ τι βαρέως ἡμῖν ἐπιθῶνται τὰ κνώδαλα, ὥς τοῦ παντὸς ὀργάνου διὰ τὴν ἀνάπαυσιν τοῦ ὕπνου ἐκστάντος ἀπὸ τῆς ἐνεργίας.

48.5.5 | When some insects pass through our body, we do not feel their touch around our body, unless the insects press heavily on us, because the whole organ, resting in sleep, is away from activity.

48.5.6 | τὸ μὲν γὰρ ὄργανον, φύσεως ὄν γίνης καὶ περὶ τὴν ψυχὴν ἔχον, διὰ τὸ οὕτως ἐκ θεοῦ [τὸ] χρήσιμον ἡμῖν

48.5.6 | For the organ, being of earthly nature and near the soul, because it has become useful to us by god's design, is γεγενῆσθαι ἀποδίδοται αὐτῷ καιρὸς given a time to shift away from the clearest sense into a state of rest; but the soul itself does not leave its leadership or its mind.

48.5.7 | πολλάκις γὰρ φαντάζεται καὶ ὁρᾷ ἐαυτὴν ὡς ἐν ἐγρηγόρσει καὶ περιπατεῖ καὶ ἐργάζεται καὶ ποντοπορεῖ καὶ δημηγορεῖ, καὶ ἐν πλείοσι καὶ ἐν μείζοσι τούτων δι' ὄνειράτων ἐαυτὴν θεωμένη·

48.5.7 | For often it imagines and sees itself as awake, and walks and works and sails and speaks in public, and in many and greater things it sees itself through dreams.

48.5.8 | οὐ μὴν κατὰ τὸν ἀφραίνοντα καὶ ἐν ἐκστάσει γινόμενον ἐκστατικὸν ἄνθρωπον, τὸν τῷ σώματι καὶ τῇ ψυχῇ ἐγρηγορότα τὰ δεινὰ μεταχειριζόμενον καὶ πολλάκις ἐαυτῷ δεινῶς χρώμενον καὶ τοῖς πέλας· ἀγνοεῖ γὰρ ἃ φθέγγεται καὶ πράττει, ἐπειδήπερ ἐν ἐκστάσει γέγονεν ἀφροσύνης ὁ τοιοῦτος.

48.5.8 | Not like the mad and stunned man who is beside himself, using terrible things against his body and soul while awake, and often harming himself and those near him; for he does not know what he says and does, since he has become foolish in his stunned state.

Section 6

48.6.1 | 6. Ταῦτα δὲ πάντα διὰ τό »ἐπέβαλε κύριος ἔκστασιν ἐπὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ καὶ ὑπνωσεν« ἀνάγκην ἐσχέκαμεν, ὧ ἐπιπόθητοι, συναγαγεῖν <περὶ> τὰς διαφορὰς τῶν τρόπων τῆς ἐκστάσεως.

48.6.1 | All these things we have been forced to gather about the differences of the kinds of ecstasy because of the phrase 'the lord laid ecstasy upon Adam and put him to sleep,' dear friends.

48.6.2 | καὶ ἐφράσαμεν δι' ἣν αἰτίαν ἐκεῖ παρὰ κυρίου ἔκστασις εἴρηται ἢ τοῦ ὕπνου μετοχή, ὅτι διὰ τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ φειδῶ καὶ φιλανθρωπίαν, ἣν πᾶσι μὲν ἀνθρώποις ὁ αὐτὸς δεδώρηται εἰς τὸ μεταφέρεισθαι τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἀπὸ μερίμνης εἰς ἀνάπαυσιν ὕπνου καὶ τῶν ἐν τῷ βίῳ χρειωδῶν πραγμάτων·

48.6.2 | And we wondered why there the ecstasy of sleep is called ecstasy by the lord, because of God's kindness and love for people, which he has given to all so that a person may be carried away from worry into the rest of sleep and the necessary tasks of life.

48.6.3 | ἐκεῖ δὲ περιττοτέρως ἐκείνην ἐκστασιν κέκληκε διὰ τὸ ποιῆσαι αὐτὸν πρὸς τὴν ὥραν μὴ αἰσθάνεσθαι πόνου, δι' ἣν ἔμελλε λαμβάνειν πλευρὰν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ καὶ πλάσσειν αὐτῷ αὐτὴν εἰς γυναῖκα.

48.6.3 | But there he called that ecstasy more than usual, to make him not feel pain at the time when he was about to take a rib from him and shape it into a woman for him.

48.6.4 | ἀλλὰ οὐκ ἦν ἐν ἐκστάσει φρενῶν καὶ διανοημάτων. εὐθύς γὰρ ἀναστὰς ἐπέγων καὶ εἶπε »τοῦτο νῦν ὅστοῦν ἐκ τῶν ὀστέων μου καὶ σὰρξ ἐκ τῆς σαρκός μου· αὕτη κληθήσεται γυνή, ὅτι ἐκ τοῦ ἀνδρὸς αὐτῆς ἐλήφθη αὐτή«.

48.6.4 | But he was not in a state of ecstasy of mind or thoughts. For immediately rising up, he urged on and said, "This now is bone from my bones and flesh from my flesh; she will be called woman, because she was taken from man."

48.6.5 | καὶ ἐπίσταται γάρ, ὡς ὁρᾷς, καὶ τὰ πρῶτα καὶ τὰ παρόντα καὶ προφητεύει περὶ τῶν μελλόντων. ἰδοὺ γὰρ ἐπέγνω τὰ πρῶτα ὅτε ἦν ἐν ὕπνῳ, λέγων ὅτι »ὅστοῦν ἐκ τῶν ὀστέων μου«· καὶ ἐπέγνω τὰ παρόντα, μετὰ τὸ πλασθῆναι τὴν γυναῖκα ἐπιγνοὺς αὐτὴν ἀπὸ τοῦ σώματος <αὐτοῦ>· ἡρμήνην·

48.6.5 | And he knows, as you see, both the first things and the present things, and he predicts about the things to come. For he recognized the first things when he was asleep, saying, "a bone from my bones"; and he recognized the present things, after the woman was formed, knowing she was joined from his body.

48.6.6 | καὶ ἐπροφήτευσεν περὶ τῶν ἐσομένων, ὅτι »ἐνεκεν τούτου καταλείψει ἄνθρωπος τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῦ καὶ τὴν μητέρα αὐτοῦ καὶ προσκολληθήσεται τῇ γυναικὶ αὐτοῦ, καὶ ἔσονται οἱ δύο εἰς σάρκα μίαν«. ταῦτα δὲ οὐκ ἐκστατικοῦ ἀνδρὸς οὐδὲ ἀπαρακολουθήτου, ἀλλὰ ἐρρωμένην ἔχοντος τὴν διάνοιαν.

48.6.6 | And he prophesied about what would happen, saying, "Because of this, a man will leave his father and his mother and will stick to his wife, and the two will be one flesh." But these things were not said by a man in ecstasy or not paying attention, but by one having a strong mind.

48.7.1 | 7. Εἰ δὲ καὶ περὶ τοῦ »ἐγὼ εἶπον ἐν τῇ ἐκστάσει μου, πᾶς ἄνθρωπος ψεύστης« λεκτέον, ἐτέρα πάλιν αὐτοῦ ἢ δύναμις, οὐχ

48.7.1 | 7. But if also about "I said in my ecstasy, every man is a liar" it must be said, again his power is different, not like some ὃν τρόπον * τινὸς ἀφραίνοντος ἀνθρώπου καὶ ἐκστατικοῦ (μὴ γένοιτο), man losing his mind and being in ecstasy (may it not happen).

48.7.2 | ἀλλὰ ὑπερθαυμάζοντος καὶ διανοομένου ὑπὲρ τὸν κατὰ τὴν συνήθειαν λογισμὸν <περὶ> τῶν <ἀ>συμμέτρως ὁρωμένων τε καὶ πραττομένων· ἐπειδὴ γὰρ ἐθαύμασεν ὁ προφήτης καὶ διὰ θαυμασμὸν ἐνταῦθα λέγει. γεγόνασι δὲ ἐν ἐκστάσει οἱ προφηταί, οὐκ ἐν ἐκστάσει λογισμῶν.

48.7.2 | But instead, he was amazed beyond the usual thinking and understanding about the things seen and done out of measure; for the prophet was amazed, and because of this wonder, he speaks here.
The prophets have been in ecstasy, but not in the ecstasy of thoughts.

48.7.3 | γέγονε γὰρ καὶ Πέτρος ἐν ἐκστάσει, οὐχὶ μὴ παρακολουθῶν τῷ λόγῳ, ἀλλὰ ὁρῶν ἀντὶ τῆς καθημερινῆς ἀκολουθίας ἕτερα παρὰ τὰ τοῖς ἀνθρώποις ὁρώμενα·

48.7.3 | For Peter also was in ecstasy, not ignoring the word, but seeing instead of the usual routine things different from what people normally see;

48.7.4 | »εἶδε γὰρ ὁθόνην καθιεμένην τέσσαρσιν ἀρχαῖς δεδεμένην, καὶ πάντα τὰ τετράποδα καὶ ἐρπετὰ καὶ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ τὰ πετεινὰ ἐν αὐτῇ«.

48.7.4 | For he saw a sheet spread out, tied at the four corners, and all the four-footed animals and reptiles and the birds of the sky in it.

48.7.5 | ὅρα δὲ ὅτι παρηκολούθει καὶ οὐκ ἦν ἐν ἐκστάσει φρενῶν ὁ ἅγιος Πέτρος. ὅτε γὰρ ἤκουσεν <τό> »ἀναστὰς θῦσον καὶ φάγε«, οὐχ ὥς μὴ τὸν νοῦν ἐρρωμένος ἐπέισθη, ἀλλὰ φησι πρὸς τὸν κύριον »μηδαμῶς, κύριε· οὐδέποτε γὰρ κοινὸν ἢ ἀκάθαρτον εἰσῆλθεν εἰς τὸ στόμα μου«.

48.7.5 | But see that the holy Peter was paying attention and was not out of his mind in ecstasy. For when he heard the words “Get up, kill, and eat,” he was not forced by a weak mind, but he said to the Lord, “Never, Lord; for nothing common or unclean has ever entered my mouth.”

48.7.6 | καὶ Δαυὶδ δὲ ὁ ἅγιος εἶπεν ὅτι » <εἶπον ἐγώ·> πᾶς ἄνθρωπος ψεύστης«. ὁ δὲ λέγων »εἶπον ἐγώ« ἰδίᾳ ἔλεγεν, καὶ περὶ τῶν ἀνθρώπων ὅτι, ἔλεγε, ψεύδονται·

48.7.6 | And the holy David said, “I said, every man is a liar.” The one saying “I said” was speaking privately, and about people, saying that, he said, they lie.

48.7.7 | ἄρα αὐτὸς οὐκ ἐψεύδετο, ἐκπληττόμενος δὲ καὶ θαυμάζων τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ φιλανθρωπίαν καὶ τὰ αὐτῷ παρὰ τοῦ κυρίου κεκηρυγμένα ἐθαύμαζε καθ' ὑπερβολὴν καὶ ὁρῶν πάντα ἄνθρωπον ἐνδεόμενον τοῦ ἐλέους τοῦ θεοῦ μένω κυρίῳ τὸ ἀληθεύειν ἐπέδωκε, πάντα δὲ ἄνθρωπον ὑπὸ ἐπιτίμιον ἔγνω, ἵνα δείξη τὸ ἀληθινὸν πνεῦμα, τὸ ἐν προφήταις λαλήσαν καὶ τὰ βάθη αὐτοῖς ἀποκαλύψαν τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ γνώσεως ἀκριβεάς.

48.7.7 | So he himself was not lying, but amazed and wondering at God's love for people and the things proclaimed to him by the Lord, he marveled greatly. And seeing every person in need of God's mercy, he gave to the Lord the truthfulness, but he knew every person was under punishment, so that he might show the true spirit, which spoke through the prophets and revealed to them the deep truths of God's knowledge exactly.

48.7.8 | ἐγένετο δὲ καὶ Ἀβραὰμ ἐν ἐκστάσει, οὐκ ἐν ἐκστάσει φρενῶν ἀλλὰ ἐν ἐκστάσει φόβου. ἔβλεπεν γὰρ κλίβανον καὶ λαμπάδας περὶ τὴν τοῦ ἡλίου δύσιν * καὶ ἄλλοι προφήται ὁρῶντες τὰ ὁράματα ἐν διανοίᾳ ἐρρωμένη ἔλεγον, ὡς ὁ Μωυσῆς φησιν »ἔμφοβός εἰμι καὶ ἔντρομος«.

48.7.8 | And Abraham was also in a trance, not a trance of the mind but a trance of fear. For he saw a furnace and torches around the sunset. And other prophets, seeing the visions with a strong mind, said, as Moses says, "I am fearful and trembling."

48.7.9 | ἔγνω δὲ Ἀβραὰμ τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ κυρίου λεγόμενα· »συνώσκων, γὰρ <φησι>, γνώσῃ ὅτι πάροικον ἔσται τὸ σπέρμα σου ἐν γῇ ἀλλοτρίᾳ ἔτη τετρακόσια«.

48.7.9 | But Abraham understood what was said by the Lord; for he says, "You will know that your descendants will be strangers in a foreign land for four hundred years."

48.7.10 | καὶ ὁρᾷς ὡς ἔστιν ἰδεῖν τὰ πάντα ἐν ἀληθείᾳ παρὰ τοῖς προφήταις εἰρημένα καὶ ἐν ἐρρωμένη διανοίᾳ καὶ σώφρονι λογισμῷ, καὶ οὐκ ἐν παραπληξίᾳ.

48.7.10 | And you see how it is to truly see all things as spoken by the prophets, with a strong mind and wise thought, and not in confusion.

48.8.1 | 8. Εἰ δὲ καὶ πάλιν θελήσουσι λέγειν <ῥτι> »οὐχ ὁμοία τὰ πρῶτα χαρίσματα τοῖς ἐσχάτοις«, πόθεν τοῦτο

48.8.1 | 8. But if they want to say again, "The first gifts are not like the last," where do they have to show this? For the holy ἔχουσι δεῖξαι; ὁμοίως γὰρ ἀλλήλοις οἱ ἅγιοι προφητῇται καὶ οἱ ἅγιοι ἀπόστολοι προεφήτευσαν.

prophets and the holy apostles prophesied in the same way to each other.

48.8.2 | πρῶτον μὲν οὖν ἀνερχομένου τοῦ σωτῆρος εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν οἱ ἰδόντες τοὺς δύο τοὺς ἐν ἐσθήσεσι λευκαῖς οὐκ ἐν παραπληθίᾳ ὁρῶσιν, ἀλλὰ ἤκουον ἐρρωμένη τῇ διανοίᾳ ὅτι »ἄνδρες Γαλιλαῖοι, τί ἐστήκατε εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀτενίζοντες; οὗτος ὁ Ἰησοῦς ὁ ἀφ’ ὑμῶν εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀναληφθεὶς οὕτως ἐλεύσεται« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

48.8.2 | First, then, as the savior was going up into heaven, those who saw the two men in white clothes did not see in confusion, but they heard with a strong mind that “Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking into heaven? This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will come in the same way,” and what follows.

48.8.3 | εἴτα δὲ καὶ Πέτρος, ὡς ἔφην, ὁρῶν καὶ ἀκούων καὶ ἀποκρινόμενος καὶ λέγων »μηδαμῶς, κύριε«, εὐσταθῶν ἦν τῇ διανοίᾳ.

48.8.3 | Then also Peter, as I said, seeing and hearing and answering and saying, “No, lord,” was steady in his mind.

48.8.4 | Ἄγαβος γὰρ προφητεύων ἔλεγεν καὶ μετὰ σχήματος θαυμαστοῦ αἰνιττόμενος, λαβὼν τὴν ζώνην τοῦ Παύλου καὶ δῆσας τοῖς ἰδίῳις ποσὶν φησὶν »οὗτος οὗ ἐστὶν ἡ ζώνη αὕτη, δῆσουσιν αὐτὸν καὶ ἀποίσουσιν εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ«.

48.8.4 | For Agabus, prophesying, said and with a strange sign hinting, taking the belt of Paul and tying it to his own feet, said, “This one, whose belt this is, they will tie him up and take him to Jerusalem.”

48.8.5 | ἀλλὰ καὶ πάλιν ἐν Ἀντιοχείᾳ κατηλθόντες προφητῇται καὶ κατήγγελλον λιμὸν ἔσεσθαι καθ’ ὅλης τῆς οἰκουμένης, καὶ οὐ διέπεσεν ὁ τούτων λόγος· ἀλλ’ ἵνα δείξῃ αὐτοὺς ἀληθεῖς προφήτας, ἡ γραφὴ εὐθὺς ἐπιφέρει λέγουσα »ἣτις ἐγένετο ἐπὶ Κλαυδίου Καίσαρος«.

48.8.5 | But also again in Antioch prophets came down and announced that there would be a famine over the whole world.
And the word of these did not fail; but to show them true prophets, the scripture immediately brings up saying, “which happened under Claudius Caesar.”

48.8.6 | Παῦλος δὲ ὁ ἀγιώτατος ἀπόστολος προφητεύων ἔλεγε »τὸ δὲ πνεῦμα ῥητῶς λέγει, ἐν ἐσχάταις ἡμέραις ἐνστήσονται

48.8.6 | But Paul, the most holy apostle, prophesying, said, “But the spirit clearly says, in the last days hard times will come,” καιροὶ χαλεποί» καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς, and the things that follow,

48.8.7 | καὶ πάλιν ἄλλοτε ὅτι »ἀποστήσονται τινες τῆς ὑγιαίνουσας διδασκαλίας, προσέχοντες <πνεύμασι> πλάνοις καὶ διδασκαλίαις δαιμόνων, κωλύοντων γαμεῖν, ἀπέχεσθαι βρωμάτων, ἃ ὁ θεὸς ἔκτισεν εἰς μετάληψιν ἡμῖν τοῖς μετὰ εὐχαριστίας <λαμβάνουσιν>·«.

48.8.7 | And again at another time, that “some will turn away from the healthy teaching, paying attention to spirits of error and teachings of demons, forbidding marriage, and avoiding foods, which God created to be received with thanks by those who believe.”

48.8.8 | ὡς σαφῶς <τοῦτο>· ἐφ’ ὑμῖν καὶ τοῖς ὁμοίοις ὑμῖν πεπλήρωται, ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν προκειμένων <δῆλον>· αἱ γὰρ πλείους τῶν αἱρέσεων τούτων τὸ γαμεῖν κωλύουσιν, ἀπέχεσθαι βρωμάτων παραγγέλλουσιν, οὐχ ἕνεκεν πολιτείας προτρεπόμενοι, οὐχ ἕνεκεν ἀρετῆς μείζονος καὶ βραβείων καὶ στεφάνων, ἀλλὰ βδελυκτὰ ταῦτα <τὰ>· ὑπὸ τοῦ κυρίου γεγενημένα ἡγούμενοι.

48.8.8 | As clearly this has come upon you and those like you, it is clear from these things said; for most of these heresies forbid marriage, they order to avoid foods, not encouraging this for the sake of citizenship, not for a greater virtue and rewards and crowns, but thinking these things hateful that were made by the lord.

Section 9

48.9.1 | 9. Ἡ δὲ ἁγία ἐκκλησία καὶ παρθενίαν δοξάζει καὶ μονότητα καὶ ἀγνείαν καὶ χηροσύνην ἐπαινεῖ καὶ γάμον σεμνὸν τιμᾷ καὶ δέχεται, πορνείαν δὲ καὶ μοιχείαν καὶ ἀσέλγειαν ἀπαγορεύει,

48.9.1 | But the holy church praises virginity and singleness and purity and widowhood, and honors and accepts a holy marriage, but forbids fornication and adultery and lewdness,

48.9.2 | ὅθεν ἰδεῖν ἔστιν τὸν χαρακτῆρα τῆς ἁγίας καθολικῆς ἐκκλησίας καὶ τοὺς παραπεποιημένους τῶν ἄλλων τρόπους, <ὥς> καὶ τὸν δοκιμάσαντα ἀποδιδράσκειν ἀπὸ πάσης πλάνης καὶ σκολιᾶς ὁδοῦ καὶ τρίβου ἀνάντου διακειμένης.

48.9.2 | From this you can see the character of the holy catholic church and the ways of those who have been made different from others, as well as the one who has tested and runs away from every error and crooked path and steep way.

48.9.3 | ἔφην γὰρ ἄνω ὡς ἀπὸ τοῦ ἁγιωτάτου ἀποστόλου προεῖρηται καὶ πάλιν ἐρῶ, ὅτι ἀσφαλιζόμενος ἡμᾶς καὶ τὸν χαρακτῆρα τῆς ἁγίας ἐκκλησίας διαιρῶν ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν αἱρέσεων πλάνης ἔφη, ὡς τολμηρῶς τὰ ἐκ θεοῦ καλῶς τεταγμένα ἀπαγορεύοντες νομοθετοῦσι, φήσας περὶ τῶν κωλύοντων γαμεῖν καὶ ἀπέχεσθαι βρωμάτων.

48.9.3 | For I said above, as it is spoken by the most holy apostle, and again I will say, that he, securing us and dividing the character of the holy church from the error of heresies, said that they boldly forbid the good things set by God, making laws about those who forbid marriage and abstain from foods.

48.9.4 | καὶ γὰρ συμμετρία τινὶ * ὁ θεὸς Λόγος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ φήσας »θέλεις τέλειος γενέσθαι;«, συγγνωμονῶν τῇ τῶν ἀνθρώπων πλάσει καὶ ἀσθενεῖα χαίρει μὲν ἐπὶ τοῖς τὰ δοκίμια τῆς θεοσεβείας δυναμένοις ἐνδείκυνσθαι καὶ παρθενίαν ἀσκεῖν αἰρουμένοις καὶ ἀγνείαν καὶ ἐγκράτειαν, τὴν δὲ μονογαμίαν τιμᾷ.

48.9.4 | For God the Word said in the gospel with some balance, "Do you want to be perfect?" Forgiving the weakness and error of people, he is glad about those who can show proofs of godliness and choose to practice virginity and purity and self-control, and he honors monogamy;

48.9.5 | εἰ καὶ μάλιστα τὰ χαρίσματα τῆς ἱερωσύνης διὰ τῶν ἀπὸ μονογαμίας ἐγκρατευομένων καὶ τῶν ἐν παρθενίᾳ διατελούντων τῷ κόσμῳ προδιετύπου, ὡς καὶ οἱ αὐτοῦ ἀπόστολοι τὸν ἐκκλησιαστικὸν κανόνα τῆς ἱερωσύνης εὐτάκτως καὶ ὁσίως διετάξαντο.

48.9.5 | Even if especially the gifts of the priesthood are shown through those who practice self-control in monogamy and those who remain in virginity as a pattern to the world, just as his own apostles orderly and piously arranged the church rule of the priesthood.

48.9.6 | εἰ δέ τις κατὰ ἀσθένειαν ἐπιδηθεῖη μετὰ τὴν τελευτὴν τῆς ἰδίας γαμετῆς συναφθῆναι δευτέρῳ γάρῳ, οὐκ ἀπαγορεύει τοῦτο ὁ κανὼν τῆς ἀληθείας, τουτέστιν τὸν μὴ ὄντα ἱερέα.

48.9.6 | But if someone, because of weakness, needs after the death of their own spouse to be joined to a second wife, the rule of truth does not forbid this, that is, for someone who is not a priest.

48.9.7 | οὗτοι δὲ κωλύουσι κατὰ τὸ εἰρημένον »κωλύοντων γαμεῖν« ἐκβάλλουσι γὰρ τὸν δευτέρῳ γάμῳ

48.9.7 | But these ones stop it according to what was said, 'it is forbidden to marry again'; for they cast out the one joined in a συναφθέντα καὶ ἀναγκάζουσι μὴ δευτέρῳ γάμῳ συνάπτεσθαι.

second marriage and force him not to join in a second marriage.

48.9.8 | ἡμεῖς δὲ οὐκ ἀνάγκην ἐπιτιθέαμεν, ἀλλὰ παραινοῦμεν μετὰ συμβουλίας ἀγαθῆς προτρεπόμενοι τὸν δυνάμενον, οὐκ ἀνάγκην δὲ ἐπιτιθέαμεν τῷ μὴ δυναμένῳ, ἀλλὰ οὐδὲ ἐκβάλλομεν αὐτὸν ἀπὸ τῆς ζωῆς.

48.9.8 | But we do not put on a rule by force, but we encourage with good advice, urging the one who can; but we do not put on a rule by force for the one who cannot, and we do not cast him out from life.

48.9.9 | ὁ γὰρ ἅγιος λόγος πάντῃ ἐκήρυξε τὴν ἀσθένειαν τῶν ἀσθενούντων βαστάζειν, ὥς καὶ ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος εὐθὺς εὐρεθήσεται λέγων καὶ ἐλέγχων τοὺς τοιούτους * μὴ ὄντας τοῦ αὐτοῦ χαρίσματος ὅτι »νεωτέρας χήρας παραιτοῦ·

48.9.9 | For the holy word everywhere declared to carry the weakness of the weak, just as the holy apostle will be found immediately saying and rebuking those such ones, not having the same gift, that 'you should refuse younger widows.'

48.9.10 | μετὰ γὰρ τὸ καταστρηνιάσαι τοῦ Χριστοῦ γαμεῖν θέλουσιν, ἔχουσαι τὸ κρίμα, ὅτι τὴν πρώτην πίστιν ἠθέτησαν«. αἱ γὰρ ἐπαγγελιάμεναι καὶ ἀθετήσασαι ἔχουσι κρίμα, αἱ δὲ μὴ ἐπαγγελιάμεναι, ἀλλὰ συναφθεῖσαι δι' ἀσθένειαν κρίμα οὐχ ἔξουσιν. εἰ δὲ κρίμα ἔμελλον ἔχειν, πῶς ἔλεγε »γαμεῖτωσαν, οἰκοδεσποτεῖτωσαν;«

48.9.10 | For after the Christ has grown old, they want to marry, having judgment, because they have rejected the first faith. For those who promised and then broke it have judgment, but those who did not promise, but were joined because of weakness, will not have judgment. If they were going to have judgment, how would he say 'let them marry, let them manage the household'?

Section 10

48.10.1 | 10. Πᾶς τοίνυν προφητεύων παρακολουθῶν εὐρίσκεται, κἂν τε ἐν τῇ παλαιᾷ διαθήκῃ κἂν τε ἐν τῇ καινῇ, ὥς καὶ ὁ ἅγιος Ἰωάννης ἐν τῇ Ἀποκαλύψει ἔλεγε »τάδε ἀπεκάλυψε κύριος τοῖς αὐτοῦ δούλοις διὰ τοῦ δούλου αὐτοῦ Ἰωάννου«

48.10.1 | 10. So every one who prophesies is found following, whether in the old covenant or in the new, just as the holy John said in the Revelation, 'the Lord revealed these things to his servants through his servant John,' and 'thus says

καὶ »τάδε λέγει κύριος«.

the Lord.'

48.10.2 | ὁ ταῦτα δὲ λέγων ἐρρωμένην εἶχε τὴν διάνοιαν καὶ παρηκολούθει, ἰδοὺ τοίνυν * »τάδε λέγει κύριος« καὶ »ὄρασις ἦν εἶδεν«.

48.10.2 | But the one saying these things had a strong mind and paid close attention, so now see, 'thus says the Lord' and 'the vision that he saw.'

48.10.3 | But Montanus, this one boasting that he was a prophet and leading astray those deceived by him, speaks wildly against the divine scripture. For he says in his so-called prophecy, 'what do you say about the man saved beyond human? For the righteous will shine a hundred times brighter than the sun, and the small ones saved among you will shine a hundred times brighter than the moon.'

48.10.4 | ὁ δὲ κύριος ἐλέγχει τὸν τοιοῦτον, ὁ ἔχων τὴν ἐξουσίαν χαρίσασθαι τὸ λάμπειν τὰ πρόσωπα τῶν ἁγίων καὶ φαιδρύναι τὸ πρόσωπον τοῦ Μωυσέως καὶ μεταβάλλων τοὺς ἁγίους αὐτοῦ ἐν τῇ μελλούσῃ ἀναστάσει τῶν σωμάτων, τοὺς σπειρομένους ἐν ἀτιμᾷ καὶ ἐγειρομένους ἐν δόξῃ, οὐκ ἄλλα σώματα παρὰ τὰ ὄντα,

48.10.4 | But the Lord rebukes such a one, the one having the power to grant the shining of the faces of the saints and to brighten the face of Moses, and changing his saints in the coming resurrection of the bodies, those sown in dishonor and raised in glory, not other bodies than the ones they have,

48.10.5 | ἀλλὰ αὐτὰ τὰ ὄντα ἐγειρόμενα ὅλα, λαμβάνοντα δὲ δόξαν παρ' αὐτοῦ μετὰ τὴν ἀνάστασιν παρὰ τοῦ τὴν δόξαν ἀφθόνως παρέχοντος τοῖς ἑαυτοῦ ἁγίοις, ἐπειδὴ ἔχει τὴν ἐξουσίαν δοῦναι καὶ χαρίσασθαι ὡς θεὸς καὶ κύριος.

48.10.5 | but all those very bodies being raised, receiving glory from him after the resurrection from the one who abundantly gives glory to his own saints, since he has the power to give and grant as God and Lord.

48.10.6 | ἔχων δὲ τοῦ χαρίσασθαι καὶ ἐξουσίαν; οὐκ ἐπηγγέλατο κατὰ

48.10.6 | but having the power to grant, he did not promise according to Montanus, but

τὸν Μοντανόν, ἀλλὰ φησι »λάμπει ὑμῶν τὰ πρόσωπα ὡς ὁ ἥλιος«. | εἰ τοίνυν ὁ ἔχων τὴν ἐξουσίαν καὶ ἀληθῶς ὑπάρχων δεσπότης καὶ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστὸς ὡς ὁ ἥλιος λέγει τὰ πρόσωπα τῶν δικαίων λάμπειν, πῶς ὁ Μοντανὸς ἐπαγγέλλεται περισσότερον ἑκατονταπασίονα;

he says, 'your faces will shine like the sun.' | if then the one having the power and truly being our master and lord Jesus Christ says the faces of the righteous will shine like the sun, how does Montanus promise a hundred times more?

48.10.7 | εἰ ἦν ἄρα ὅμοιος εἶη ἐκείνῳ τῷ ἐπαγγελιαμένῳ τοῖς περὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ ὅτι ἔσεσθε ὡς θεοὶ [φήσαντι] καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς ὑπαρχούσης αὐτοῖς δόξης καὶ παραδείσου τρυφῆς παρασκευάσαντι αὐτοῖς τὴν ἐκβολὴν γενέσθαι καὶ εἰς φθορὰν θανάτου κατενεχθῆναι.

48.10.7 | if then it were like to that promised to those around Adam, that you will be like gods, and from the glory they have and the paradise of delight prepared for them, to be cast out and brought to the destruction of death.

Section 11

48.11.1 | 11. Ἔτι δὲ προστίθῃσιν ὁ αὐτὸς Μοντανὸς οὕτως λέγων »ἐγὼ κύριος ὁ θεὸς ὁ παντοκράτωρ καταγινόμενος ἐν ἀνθρώπῳ«.

48.11.1 | 11. And still Montanus adds, saying, "I am the Lord God Almighty who takes account in a man."

48.11.2 | ἄρα γοῦν καλῶς ἡμᾶς ἡ θεία γραφὴ ἐπασφαλίζεται καὶ ἡ ἀκολουθία τῆς τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος διδασκαλίας, νουθετοῦσα ἡμᾶς, ἵνα γινώσκωμεν ποῖά ἐστι τὰ μιμηλὰ τοῦ ἄλλοτρίου πνεύματος καὶ τὰ ἀντίθετα πρὸς τὴν ἀλήθειαν.

48.11.2 | So then, surely the divine scripture is well secured and the teaching of the holy spirit follows, warning us, so that we may know what the imitators of a foreign spirit are like and what is against the truth.

48.11.3 | ὅτε γὰρ εὐθὺς τοῦτο εἶπε Μοντανός, ὑπόνοιαν ἡμῖν δέδωκεν ἀναμνησθῆναι τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ κυρίου εἰρημένα. οὕτως γὰρ φησιν ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ »ἐγὼ ἦλθον ἐν τῷ ὀνόματι τοῦ πατρός μου, καὶ οὐκ ἐδέξασθέ με.

48.11.3 | For when Montanus said this straight away, he gave us a suspicion to remember what the Lord had said. For the Lord says in the gospel, "I came in the name of my father, and you did not accept me."

48.11.4 | ἄλλος ἐλεύσεται ἐπὶ τῷ ἰδίῳ ὀνόματι, καὶ δέξονται τὸν τοιοῦτον· ἀσύμφωνος τοίνυν παντάπασιν ὁ τοιοῦτος τῶν θείων γραφῶν ἠὲ ῥέθη, ὡς παντὶ τῷ σαφὲς εἶη [τῷ] νουνεχῶς ἐντυγχάνοντι. εἰ τοίνυν ἀσύμφωνος ὑπάρχει, ἀλλότριός ἐστι τῆς ἁγίας καθολικῆς ἐκκλησίας <αὐτὸς> καὶ ἢ κατ' αὐτὸν ἀχούσα αἴρεσις προφήτας ἔχειν καὶ χαρίσματα, ἃ μὴ εἴληφεν, ἀλλὰ ἐκ τούτων ἀπέστη.

48.11.4 | Another will come in his own name, and they will accept someone like that.” So this kind is completely against the divine scriptures, as it is clear to anyone who thinks carefully. If then it is against, it is foreign to the holy catholic church, and the heresy that boasts about it has prophets and gifts it did not receive, but turned away from these.

48.11.5 | τίς τοίνυν τολμήσειε παρακολουθῶν τούτους προφήτας καλεῖν καὶ μὴ μάλλον πλάνους εἶναι <φήσειεν> τοὺς τοιούτους; Χριστὸς γὰρ ἡμᾶς ἐδίδαξε λέγβν ὅτι »τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ παράκλητον ἀποστέλλω ὑμῖν« καὶ τὰ σημεῖα διδοὺς ἔλεγεν ὅτι »ἐκεῖνός με δοξάσει« ὡς τὰ ἀληθῆ ἔστιν ἰδεῖν ὅτι οἱ ἅγιοι ἀπόστολοι τὸ παράκλητον πνεῦμα λαβόντες κύριον ἐδόξασαν, οὗτος δὲ ὁ Μοντανὸς ἑαυτὸν δοξάζει·

48.11.5 | Who then would dare to call these men prophets while watching them, and not rather say that they are deceivers? For Christ taught us, saying, “I send you the Spirit, the Comforter,” and giving signs, he said, “He will glorify me,” so it is true to see that the holy apostles, having received the Comforter Spirit, glorified the Lord, but this Montanus will glorify himself.

48.11.6 | ὁ κύριος τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῦ ἐδόξασε καὶ ὁ κύριος πάλιν [ὁ] Χριστὸς τὸ πνεῦμα ἐδόξασε, λέγων αὐτὸ πνεῦμα ἀληθείας, Μοντανὸς δὲ ἑαυτὸν δοξάζει μόνον καὶ λεῖγει εἶναι πατέρα παντοκράτορα καὶ τὸ ἐν αὐτῷ ἐνοικῆσαν *, ἵνα πανταχόθεν δειχθῇ οὐκ αὐτὸς ὢν οὐκ ἐπ' ἐκείνου ἀπεσταλμένος οὐδὲ παρ' αὐτοῦ λαμβάνων.

48.11.6 | The Lord glorified his father, and the Lord Christ again glorified the Spirit, calling it the Spirit of truth. But Montanus glorifies only himself and says he is the almighty father and the one dwelling in him, so that it may be shown everywhere that he is neither himself nor sent by him nor receiving from him.

48.11.7 | »ἐν τῷ γὰρ κυρίῳ ἠυδόκησε πᾶν τὸ πλήρωμα τῆς θεότητος κατοικῆσαι σωματικῶς« καὶ »ἀπὸ τοῦ πληρώματος αὐτοῦ πάντες οἱ προξῆται εἰλήφασιν« κατὰ τὸν τοῦ ἁγίου Ἰωάννου λόγον.

48.11.7 | “For in the Lord all the fullness of the Godhead was pleased to dwell bodily,” and “from his fullness we have all received grace,” according to the word of holy John.

48.11.8 | καὶ ὅρα πῶς πάντες οἱ παλαιοὶ Χριστὸν κατήγγελλον καὶ οἱ μετέπειτα Χριστὸν ἐδόξασαν καὶ αὐτὸν ὡμολόγησαν, Μοντανὸς δὲ εἰσέρρησεν ἑαυτὸν τινὰ λέγων, ὅπως δευχθῇ ὅτι οὔτε αὐτὸς ἔστιν οὔτε ἀπ’ αὐτοῦ ἀπέσταλται οὔτε παρ’ αὐτοῦ τι εἴληφεν.

48.11.8 | And see how all the old ones proclaimed Christ, and those who came later glorified Christ and confessed him, but Montanus pushed himself in, saying something, so that it might be shown that he is neither himself nor sent by him nor has received anything from him.

48.11.9 | Εἰτάλιν φησὶ τὸ ἐλεεινὸν ἄνθρωπ’ ἄριον Μοντανὸς ὅτι «οὔτε ἄγγελος οὔτε πρέσβυς, ἀλλ’ ἐγὼ κύριος ὁ θεὸς πατήρ ἦλθον». ταῦτα δὲ λέγων φωραθήσεται ἀλλότριος ὢν, Χριστὸν μὴ δοξάζων, ὃν πᾶν χάρισμα ἐκκλησιαστικὸν ἐν ἐκκλησίᾳ τῇ ἁγίᾳ δοθὲν ἐν ἀληθείᾳ ἐδόξασεν.

48.11.9 | Then the miserable little man Montanus says again, “I came not as an angel or an elder, but as the Lord God the Father.” But saying these things, he will be shown to be a stranger, not glorifying Christ, whom every church gift given in the holy church in truth glorified.

48.11.10 | εὐρεθήσεται γὰρ ἐκτὸς εἶναι σώματος ἐκκλησίας καὶ κεφαλῆς τοῦ σύμπαντος καὶ »μὴ κρατῶν τὴν κεφαλὴν, ἐξ ἧσπερ πᾶν τὸ σῶμα συναρμολογούμενον αὖξει« κατὰ τὸ γεγραμμένον. ὁ γὰρ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστὸς υἱὸν ἑαυτὸν ἔδειξεν, ὅντως ὢν υἱὸς ἐν ἀληθείᾳ, Μοντανὸς δ’ ἑαυτὸν καὶ πατέρα λέγει.

48.11.10 | For he will be found outside the body of the church and the head of the whole, and “not holding the head, from which the whole body, joined and knit together, grows,” as it is written. For our Lord Jesus Christ showed himself to be his son, truly a son in truth, but Montanus calls himself both son and father.

Section 12

48.12.1 | 12. Πῶς τοίνυν, ὦ Φρύγες ἡμῖν πάλιν ἐπαναστάντες πολέμιοι καὶ μεμορφωμένοι εἰς Χριστιανικὴν ἐπίκλησιν, βαρβάρων δὲ ἐπανηρημένοι μάχην καὶ τῶν Τρώων καὶ Φρυγῶν μιμούμενοι τὸ πολέμιον, πῶς πεισθῶμεν ὑμῖν λέγουσι διὰ χαρίσματα ἀφεστάναι τῆς ἐκκλησίας;

48.12.1 | So then, how, o Phrygians, having risen up against us again as enemies and shaped into a Christian name, but taken up battle like barbarians and imitating the fight of the Trojans and Phrygians against us, how can we believe you when you say that you have left the church through gifts?

48.12.2 | οὐκέτι γὰρ χαρίσματα εἴη τὰ ἀλλότρια χαρισμάτων ὄντα καὶ παρὰ τὸν χαραδτήρα τὸν ὑπὸ κυρίου ὑπισχνούμενον, ὡς οἱ καθ' ὑμᾶς προφητῇται λέγουσιν.

48.12.2 | For no longer would the gifts be gifts, if they were foreign gifts and against the mark promised by the Lord, as the prophets among you say.

48.12.3 | εἰσάγετε δὲ ἡμῖν πάλιν καὶ Μαξίμιλλαν· καὶ γὰρ καὶ τὰ ὀνόματα ὑμῶν διηλλαγμένα καὶ φοβερῶτατα καὶ οὔτε προσηνές τι καὶ γλυκύτατον ἔχοντα, ἀλλὰ ἅγιόν τι καὶ βαρβαρικόν.

48.12.3 | Bring to us again also Maximilla; for even your names are changed and very terrible, and have neither anything friendly nor very sweet, but something holy and barbaric.

48.12.4 | εὐθύς γὰρ αὕτη ἡ Μαξίμιλλα ἢ παρὰ τοῖς τοιούτοις κατὰ Φρύγας οὕτω καλουμένοις — ἀκούσατε, ὦ παῖδες Χριστοῦ, τί λέγει· »ἐμοῦ μὴ ἀκούσητε, ἀλλὰ Χριστοῦ ἀκούσατε«.

48.12.4 | For immediately this Maximilla, among those called Phrygians like these — listen, children of Christ, to what she says: “Do not listen to me, but listen to Christ.”

48.12.5 | καὶ ἐν οἷς ἔδοξε Χριστὸν δοξάζειν πεπλάνηται. εἰ γὰρ ἦν τοῦ Χριστοῦ, ἔλεγεν ἂν κατὰ τοὺς ἁγίους ἀποστόλους ὡς ἕκαστος <αὐτῶν> λέγει, Πέτρος μὲν πρῶτος λέγων ὅτι «ἡμεῖς παρ' αὐτοῦ ἠκούσαμεν» καὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ κυρίου λέγοντος »ὃ ὑμῶν ἀκούων ἐμοῦ ἀκούει« καὶ τοῦ Παύλου λέγοντος »μιμηταί μου γίνεσθε, καθὼς καὶ ἐγὼ Χριστοῦ«.

48.12.5 | And in the things where it seemed right to praise Christ, she was mistaken. For if she belonged to Christ, she would speak according to the holy apostles, as each of them says: Peter first saying, “we heard from him,” and the Lord himself saying, “he who listens to you listens to me,” and Paul saying, “become imitators of me, just as I am of Christ.”

48.12.6 | αὕτη δὲ ἀληθεῦει φευδομένη, καὶ μὴ βουλομένη. καλῶς γὰρ λέγει φάσκουσα μὴ αὐτῆς ἀκούειν, ἀλλὰ Χριστοῦ. πολλάκις γὰρ τὰ ἀκάθαρτα πνεύματα πνεύματα ἀναγκάζεται ἑαυτὰ καθαιρεῖν, <ὡς> οὐκ ὄντα τῆς ἀληθείας, καὶ ὑποφαίνειν τὸν κύριον αὐτῶν, θέλοντα καὶ μὴ θέλοντα, δι' ἀνάγκην·

48.12.6 | But she speaks the truth while lying, and not wanting to. For she says rightly that you should not listen to her, but to Christ. For many times unclean spirits are forced to take away themselves, as not being of the truth, and to show their master, willing or not, by force;

48.12.7 | ὥς ἡ παιδίσκη ἡ ἔχουσα πνεῦμα Πύθωνος ἔλεγεν »οὗτοι οἱ ἄνθρωποι τοῦ θεοῦ δοῦλοι τοῦ ὑψίστου εἰσί«, καὶ τότε »τί ἦλθες πρὸ καιροῦ βασανίσαι ἡμᾶς οἷδαμέν σε τίς εἶ, ὁ ἅγιος τοῦ θεοῦ«, οὕτως καὶ αὕτη ἀναγκαζομένη ἔλεγεν αὐτῆς μὴ ἀκούειν ἀλλὰ Χριστοῦ.

48.12.7 | Just as the girl who had the spirit of Python said, "These men are servants of the Most High God," and "Why have you come before your time to torture us? We know who you are, the holy one of God," so too she, being forced, said not to listen to her but to Christ.

48.12.8 | πῶς οὖν τοῦτο οἱ παρ' αὐτῆς ἀκηκοότες καὶ αὐτῇ πεπιστευκότες βούλονται αὐτῆς ἀκούειν, παρ' αὐτῆς μαθόντες μὴ αὐτῆς ἀκούειν ἀλλὰ κυρίου; καὶ γὰρ ἀληθῶς ἐπίγεια φθεγγομένης αὐτῆς, εἰ παρῇν αὐτοῖς σύνεσις, οὐκ ἔδει αὐτὴν ἀκούεσθαι. καὶ μὴ λέγε ὅτι παρηκολούθει.

48.12.8 | How then do those who heard her and trusted her want to listen to her, after learning from her not to listen to her but to the Lord? For truly, when she spoke on earth, if they had understanding, they should not have listened to her. And do not say that they followed her.

48.12.9 | οὐ γὰρ παρακολουθοῦντός ἐστιν τὸ διδάσκειν καὶ ἑαυτὸν ἀνατρέπειν. εἰ γὰρ ὅλως λέγει »μὴ ἀκούετε μου«, ποῖον ἦν τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ λαλοῦν ἐν αὐτῇ; εἰ γὰρ αὕτη ἔλεγεν ἡ ἄνθρωπος.

48.12.9 | For teaching and turning oneself around is not following. For if she says at all, "Do not listen to me," what kind of spirit was speaking in her? For if she herself said this, what kind of person was she?

48.12.10 | ἄρα οὐκ ἦν ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ. ἡ γὰρ λέγουσα »μὴ ἀκούετε μου« δῆλον ὅτι τὸ ἀνθρώπινον ἔλεγε καὶ οὐκ ἦν ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ. εἰ δὲ μὴ οὕσα ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ ἄνωθεν, οὕσα δὲ τοῦ ἀνθρώπινου φρονήματος, ἀλλὰ ἀνθρωπίνῳ φρονήματι ἐλάλει καὶ ἐφθέγγετο.

48.12.10 | So then, she was not in the holy spirit. For the one saying "Do not listen to me" clearly spoke the human, and was not in the holy spirit. But if she was not in the holy spirit from above, but was of human thinking, then she spoke and spoke out with human thinking.

48.12.11 | εἰ δὲ πνεύματι ἁγίῳ ἐλάλει καὶ ἐπροφήτευε, ποῖον ἦν ἄρα τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον τὸ λέγον »ἐμοῦ μὴ ἀκούετε;« καὶ πολλή ἐστι τῆς ἀπάτης ἡ τύφλωσις καὶ μέγας ἐστὶν ὁ τοῦ θεοῦ λόγος, ὁ κατὰ πάντα τρόπον ἡμᾶς συνετίζων εἰς τὸ εἰδέναι ἡμᾶς ποῖς τὰ ἐκ τοῦ πνεύματος

48.12.11 | But if she spoke and prophesied in the holy spirit, then what kind of holy spirit was it that said, "Do not listen to me"? And the blindness of deception is very great, and the word of god is very great, which in every way warns us to know which things were spoken from the holy τοῦ ἁγίου λελαλημένα, πῇ μὲν ἐκ προσώπου πατρὸς, πῇ δὲ ἐκ προσώπου τοῦ υἱοῦ, πῇ δὲ ἐκ προσώπου τοῦ ἁγίου πωεύματος.

spirit, some from the face of the father, some from the face of the son, and some from the face of the holy spirit.

48.12.12 | καὶ εἰ τὸ ἐν μαξιμίλλῃ πνεῦμα <πνεῦμα> ἅγιον ἦν, οὐκ ἀπηγόρευε τὰ ἴδια ῥήματα· »ἐν γὰρ ἐστὶ τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα, τὸ διαιροῦν ἐκάστῳ ὡς βούλεται«.

48.12.12 | And if the spirit in Maximilla was a holy spirit, it would not forbid its own words; for the holy spirit is one, dividing to each as it wishes.

48.12.13 | εἰ δὲ ἔχει ἐξουσίαν διαιρεῖν ὡς βούλεται, λέγεται δὲ πνεῦμα γνώσεως καὶ πνεῦμα εὐσεβείας καὶ λέγεται πνεῦμα Χριστοῦ [εἶναι] καὶ πνεῦμα πατρὸς, τὸ ἐκ τοῦ πατρὸς ἐκπορευόμενον καὶ τοῦ υἱοῦ λαμβάνον, οὐκ ἀλλότριον πατρὸς καὶ υἱοῦ ὄν, ἄρα οὐκ ἔλεγε »μὴ ἀκούετέ μου«.

48.12.13 | But if it has the power to divide as it wishes, it is called the spirit of knowledge and the spirit of piety, and it is called the spirit of Christ and the spirit of the father, coming forth from the father and receiving from the son, not being foreign to the father and son, so it did not say, “Do not listen to me.”

48.12.14 | τὰ γὰρ Χριστοῦ τὸ πνεῦμα ἐλάλει καὶ ὁ Χριστὸς τὸ πνεῦμα ἀποστέλλει καὶ ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ ἐκβάλλει τὰ δαιμόνια, καὶ ὁ υἱὸς τὰ τοῦ πατρὸς λέγει καὶ ὁ πατὴρ τὸν υἱὸν ἡγίασε καὶ ἀπέστειλεν εἰς τὸν κόσμον, ἵνα γινώσκωσιν αὐτὸν καὶ δοξάσωσι, καθὼς δοξάζοθσι τὸν πατέρα.

48.12.14 | For the spirit speaks the things of Christ, and Christ sends the spirit, and in the holy spirit he casts out demons; and the son speaks the things of the father, and the father made the son holy and sent him into the world, so that they may know him and honor him, just as they honor the father.

48.12.15 | καὶ διέπεσε κατὰ πάντα τρόπον ἡ τῶν ἀπαλλοτριούντων ἑαυτοὺς διάνοια ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἀκολουθίας.

48.12.15 | And the mind of those who separate themselves from Christ's following fell away in every way.

Section 13

48.13.1 | 13. Φάσκει δὲ πάλιν ἡ αὐτὴ Μαξιμίλλα, ἡ τῆς παρακολουθείας γυνῶσις καὶ διδασκαλία, ἵνα καὶ χλευαστικῶς εἴπω, ὅτι »ἀπέστειλέ με κύριος τούτου τοῦ πόνου

48.13.1 | But again Maxsimilla herself claims, the knowledge and teaching of the following, so that I might say it mockingly, that “the lord sent me as a heretical καὶ τῆς συνθήκης καὶ τῆς ἐπαγγελίας αἰρετιστὴν μηνυτὴν ἐρμηνευτὴν, ἠναγκασμένον, θέλοντα καὶ μὴ θέλοντα, γνωθεῖν γινῶσιν θεοῦ».

messenger and interpreter of this pain and agreement and promise, forced, willing and unwilling, to know the knowledge of god.”

48.13.2 | σκοπήσωμεν οὖν τῆς ἡμῶν ζωῆς τὴν εὐσταθεῖ βᾶσιν καὶ τὴν ὁδὸν τοῦ φωτός, ὧ ἀγαπητοί, καὶ μὴ σφαλῶμεν διὰ τῶν λόγων τοῦ δι’ ἐναντίας καὶ τοῦ βοσκήματος τοῦ ἄλλοτρίου πνεύματος.

48.13.2 | Let us then look carefully at the steady foundation of our life and the path of light, dear friends, and not slip because of the words of the opposite and the feeding of the foreign spirit.

48.13.3 | ὄρα γὰρ ἐνταῦθα τ[ον οὕτω λαλήσαντα, ἠναγκασμένον ἐαυτ[ον ἀποφάναντα, οὐχ ἐκουσίᾳ γνώμῃ. ὁ δὲ κύριος ἡμῶν οὐκ ἄχων ἦλθεν εἰς τὸν κόσμον οὐδὲ μετὰ ἀνάγκης ὑπὸ πατρὸς ἀπεστάλη, ἀλλὰ ἅμα σὺν πατρὶ ἔχων τ[ο θέλειν καὶ σὺν ἁγίῳ πνεύματι τὸ παρέχειν·

48.13.3 | For see here one who spoke like this, forced to deny himself, not by his own will. But our lord did not come into the world unwillingly, nor was he sent by the father out of necessity, but having the will together with the father and giving it together with the holy spirit.

48.13.4 | καὶ ὡς αὐτὸς ἅμα σὺν πατρὶ τὸ θέλειν ἔχει καὶ τὸ οὐχὶ μετὰ ἀνάγκης καὶ τὴν χάριν πᾶσι διδόναι, ἀλλὰ δι’ ὑπερβολὴν φιλανθρωπίας, οὕτω καὶ οὗς ἐκάλεσε μετὰ προαιρέσεως κέκληκεν, οὐκ ἀνάγκην ἐπιβάλλων, οὐ κλοιὸν ἐπιτιθέμενος.

48.13.4 | And just as he himself has the will together with the father, and not unwillingly, and gives grace to all, but through great love for mankind, so also he called those whom he chose with free will, not imposing necessity, nor laying a trap.

48.13.5 | φάσκει γὰρ ὅτι »οἱ διψῶντες ἔλθατε πρὸς με« καὶ πάλιν »εἴ τις θέλει ἔρχεσθαι πρὸς με, ἀρνησάσθω ἐαυτὸν καὶ ἀκολουθεῖτω μοι« καὶ διὰ Ἡσαΐου τὸ αὐτὸ φθγγόμενος ἔλεγεν »ἐὰν θέλητε καὶ εἰσακούσητέ μου« καὶ ὕστερον, ἵνα δείξῃ ὁ προφήτης [ὅτι] τίς ἐστὶν ὁ λέγων, ἔφη »τὸ γὰρ στόμα κυρίου ἐλάλησε ταῦτα«.

48.13.5 | For he says, “those who are thirsty, come to me,” and again, “if anyone wants to come to me, let him deny himself and follow me,” and through Isaiah, saying the same thing, “if you are willing and listen to me,” and later, to show who is speaking, he said, “for the mouth of the lord has spoken these things.”

48.13.6 | καὶ ὁρᾷς κατὰ πάντα τρόπον τὴν

48.13.6 | And do you see in every way the πρὸς τὸ θεῖον γράμμα τούτων διαφωνίαν καὶ τὴν ἀλλοίαν ὑπόνοιαν τε καὶ ὑπόληψιν παρὰ τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ πίστιν καὶ ἀκολουθίαν; disagreement with the divine writing of these things, and the different suspicion and doubt against the faith and following of God?

48.13.7 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ Μαξίμιλλα τοὺς θέλοντας καὶ μὴ θέλοντας ἔλεγεν ἀναγκάζειν, ὡς καὶ ἐξ αὐτοῦ τοῦ ῥητοῦ ψεύσεται ἡ τοιαύτη. οὔτε γὰρ θέλοντας ἐδίδαξε γινῶσιν θεοῦ? ἦν οὐκ ᾔδει οὐδὲ τοὺς μὴ θέλοντας ἠνάγκασεν.

48.13.7 | For Maximin also said that he forced those who wanted and those who did not want, so such a saying will lie even from him. For he did not teach knowledge of God to those who wanted, whom he did not know, nor did he force those who did not want.

48.13.8 | αὐτίκα <γοῦν> οὐ πάντες οἱ ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ οἶδασιν τί ἔστιν ὄνομα Μαξιμίλλης οὐδὲ τῶν αὐτῆς λόγων τὸ παράφθεγμα. καὶ κατὰ πάντα τρόπον διέπεσεν ἡ τούτων πεπλανημένη ἐπίνοια, οὐκ οὔσα τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ ἀληθείας.

48.13.8 | Right away, not all people in the world know what the name Maximin means, nor the corruption of her own words. And in every way, the mistaken idea of these things fell away, not being the truth of God.

Section 14

48.14.1 | 14. Τιμῶσι δὲ οἱ τοιοῦτοι καὶ τόπον τινὰ ἔρημον ἐν τῇ Φρυγίᾳ, Πέπουζαν ποτε καλουμένην πόλιν, νῦν δὲ ἡδαφισμένην, καὶ φασιν ἐκεῖσε κατιέναι τὴν ἄνωθεν Ἱερουσαλήμ.

48.14.1 | Such people also honor a certain deserted place in Phrygia, once called Pepuza, now destroyed, and they say that the heavenly Jerusalem descends there.

48.14.2 | ὅθεν ἐκεῖ ἀπερχόμενοι μυστήρια τινα ἐπιτελοῦσιν ἐν τῷ τόπῳ καὶ ἀγιαζοῦσιν <ἑαυτούς>, ὡς ὑπολαμβάνουσιν. ἔστι γὰρ καὶ τὸ γένος ἐν τῇ Καππαδοκίᾳ καὶ Γαλατίᾳ καὶ ἐν τῇ προειρημένῃ Φρυγίᾳ, ὅθεν κατὰ Φρύγας ἡ αἵρεσις καλεῖται· ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν Κιλικίᾳ καὶ ἐν Κωνσταντινουπόλει τὸ πλεῖστον.

48.14.2 | From there, going away, they perform some mysteries in that place and make themselves holy, as they think. For the group is also in Cappadocia and Galatia and in the Phrygia mentioned before, from where the sect is called after the Phrygians; but also mostly in Cilicia and in Constantinople.

48.14.3 | Ἵνα δὲ μηδὲν καταλείψωμεν τῶν πρὸς ὄνομα ἐκάστης αἰρέσεως ὑφ' ἡμῶν προδεδηλωμένης, καὶ περὶ τοῦ Τασκοδρουγῖτων ὀνόματος αὖθις ἐροῦμεν· ἔστι γὰρ τὸ ὄνομα τοῦτο ἢ ἐν αὐτῇ ταύτῃ ἢ ἐν τῇ μετ' αὐτὴν τῶν Κυϊντιλλιανῶν καλουμένη· ἀπ' αὐτῶν γὰρ τούτων ὀρμᾶται καὶ τοῦτο τὸ ὄνομα.

48.14.3 | So that we leave nothing out about the name of each sect already explained by us, we will speak again about the name of the Taskodrugites; for this name is either in this very group or in the one called the Quinctillians after them; for this name comes from those people.

48.14.4 | καλοῦνται δὲ διὰ τοιαύτην αἰτίαν Τασκοδρουγῖται· τασκὸς παρ' αὐτοῖς πάσσαλος καλεῖται, δροῦγγος δὲ μυκτῆρ εἴτ' οὖν ρύγχος καλεῖται, καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ τιθεῖναι ἑαυτῶν τὸν δάκτυλον τὸν λεγόμενον λιχανὸν ἐπὶ τὸν μυκτῆρα ἐν τῷ εὐχεσθαι, δῆθεν κατηφείας χάριν καὶ ἐθελοδοκαιοσύνης, ἐκλήθησαν ὑπὸ τινῶν Τασκοδρουγῖται τουτέστιν πασσαλορυγχῖται.

48.14.4 | They are called Taskodrugites for this reason: a peg is called taskos by them, and druggos is a nose or snout; and because they put their finger, called lichanos, on the nose when praying, supposedly for the sake of sadness and self-righteousness, some called them Taskodrugites, that is, peg-nosed.

48.14.5 | ἐν ταύτῃ δὲ τῇ αἰρέσει ἢ ἐν τῇ συζόγῳ αὐτῆς τῇ τῶν Κυϊντιλλιανῶν εἴτ' οὖν Πρισκιλλιανῶν καὶ Πεπουζιανῶν καλουμένη, δεινόν τι καὶ ἀθέμιτον ἔργον φασὶ γίνεσθαι.

48.14.5 | In this sect, or in its partner group called the Quinctillians, or Priscillians and Pepuzians, they say a terrible and unlawful act happens.

48.14.6 | παῖδα γὰρ κομιδῇ νήπιον ὄντα κατὰ ἐορτὴν τινα δι' ὅλου τοῦ σώματος κατακεντῶντες χαλκαῖς ῥαφίσι τὸ αἷμα αὐτοῦ προσπορίζονται ἑαυτοῖς, εἰς ἐπιτήδευσιν δῆθεν θυσίας.

48.14.6 | For they carry a child, still a baby, during a certain festival, and by piercing all over his body with bronze needles, they collect his blood for themselves, supposedly as part of a sacrifice.

Section 15

48.15.1 | 15. Ἀρκεῖ δὲ ἡμῖν ἃ καὶ περὶ ταύτης εἰρήκαμεν, ὧς ἐπιπόθητοι. ἐπηγγελάμεθα γὰρ ἀπὸ ἐκάστης ἧς ἴσμεν αἰρέσεως μὴ φθονῆσαι, ἀλλὰ ὑποφῆναι ἃ

48.15.1 | That is enough for us about this, dear friends. For we promised not to speak badly of any sect we know, but to report what we have learned by hearing, by τε δι' ἀκοῆς ἅ τε διὰ συγγραμμάτων, ἅ τε δι' ἐγγράφων καὶ ἅ τε ὑπὸ τινων ἀληθῶς πιστωσαμένων τὴν ἡμῶν ἔννοιαν κατελήφαμεν, writings, by documents, and by some who truly trusted our understanding.

48.15.2 | ἵνα μηδέν τι περιττὸν ὧν γε ἔγνωμεν ποιησάμενοι <μὴ> ὑπὸ συνείδησιν δόξωμεν εἶναι μὴ ὀρθὰ καὶ αὐτοὶ ἐφευρίσκοντες κατὰ ἀνθρώπων λέγειν, ἀλλὰ ὑποπίπτοντες πάθει ᾧ καὶ αὐτοὶ ὑπέπεσαν, ἀλήθειαν μὴ λέγοντες, ἀλλὰ κηρύττοντες ἅ μὴ ἐωράκασιν οὐδὲ ἤκουσαν οὐδὲ παρὰ τῆς ἀληθοῦς διδασκαλίας τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος παρελήφασιν·

48.15.2 | So that we do nothing extra beyond what we have learned, and do not seem to ourselves to be wrong in conscience by making things up about people, but instead falling into the same error we ourselves fell into, not speaking the truth, but proclaiming things we have neither seen nor heard, nor received from the true teaching of the holy spirit;

48.15.3 | ἀκριβῶς δὲ πάντα ὡς ἄφην διερχόμενοι περὶ ἐκάστης αἰρέσεως, τὰ μὲν δεινὰ ἀποκαλύπτοντες εἰς διόρθωσιν τῶν παρεντυγχανόντων καὶ διὰ τῆς ἀνατροπῆς τῆς ἀπὸ θείων λόγων καὶ ἐξ ὀρθῶν λογισμῶν ποιούμενοι ἱατικὸν ὡς εἰπεῖν φάρμακον, κατὰ διττοὺς τρόπους κατασκευάζοντες <αὐτὸ> ἐν κυρίῳ,

48.15.3 | Carefully going through everything about each sect as I was allowed, revealing the terrible things to correct those who fall into them, and by overturning them with divine words and right reasoning, making a kind of healing medicine, so to speak, in two ways preparing it in the lord,

48.15.4 | τοῖς μὲν διερχομένοις εἰς τὸ ἀνασφῆλαι τῆς νόσου καὶ τῆς τοσαύτης ἀλγηδόνης, τοῖς δὲ μὴδὲ παρεμπεσοῦσί ποτε <εἰς> προκαταληπτικὸν ὡς εἰπεῖν [τὸ] βοήθημα,

48.15.4 | to those going through it, to remove the disease and so much pain, and to those who never even fall into it, as a kind of preventive help, so to speak,

48.15.5 | τοῦ τῆς ἀληθείας φαρμάκου μεταδιδόντες τοῖς συνετοῖς μαθηταὶ καὶ αὐτοὶ κληθῶμεν τῶν τοῦ κυρίου μαθητῶν καὶ αὐτοῦ τοῦ σωτῆρος, βοηθοῦ ὑπάρχοντος σωμάτων καὶ ψυχῶν.

48.15.5 | Sharing the medicine of truth with the wise, let us also be called disciples of the lord's disciples and of the savior himself, being a help to bodies and souls.

48.15.6 | ὥς δὲ καὶ τὴν ἐνταῦθα ἱκανῶς ἔχειν ἡγησάμενοι περὶ ταύτης τῆς αἰρέσεως ἐργασίαν σὺν δυνάμει Χριστοῦ ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς προβῆναι ἑαυτοὺς ἐπιδῶμεν, τὸν μὲν ἰὸν καὶ τὰ ἀγκιστροειδῆ τῶν όδόντων αὐτῆς φάρμακα ἐν τῷ τῆς ἀληθείας τοῦ σταυροῦ ξύλῳ καταθλάσαντες, τῇ αἱμορροΐᾳ ἐχίδνη ἐοικυίας, ἥς ἡ λύμη τῶν δεδηγμένων τὸ αἷμα παντὸς τοῦ σώματος ἐκκρίνει καὶ οὕτως τὸν θάνατον ἐμβάλλει.

48.15.6 | And since we thought it was enough here about this sect, with the power of Christ let us set ourselves to go on to the following work, crushing the poison and the hook-like drugs of its teeth on the wood of the cross, the truth, like a snake causing bleeding, whose bite makes the blood flow out of the whole body and so brings death.

48.15.7 | αὕτη γὰρ καὶ ἡ τῶν Κυϊντιλλιανῶν αἵρεσις τοῦτο ἐπιτελεῖ. ἀφθόρου γὰρ παιδὸς κατακεντᾷ τὸ σῶμα καὶ τὸ αἷμα πρὸς μετάληψιν ἀποφέρεται, * δῆθεν τοῦτο εἰς μυσταγωγίαν ὀνόματος Χριστοῦ, τοὺς ἡπατημένους πλανήσασα.

48.15.7 | For this is also what the sect of the Quintiilians does. It pierces the body of an immortal child and takes the blood for communion, pretending this is a secret rite in the name of Christ, deceiving those who are fooled.

48.15.8 | ἡμεῖς δὲ ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἐν δυνάμει Χριστοῦ προερχόμενοι τὴν αὐτοῦ ἀλήθειαν ἐπικαλεσώμεθα, ὅπως ἐκάστης πλάνης ίχνηλατήσαντες τὴν δύναμιν, φωράσαντές τε καὶ ἐλέγξαντες θεῷ ἐν ᾗ πασι συνήθως εὐχαριστήσωμεν. |

48.15.8 | But we, going on to the next things with the power of Christ, will call on his truth, so that, tracking down the power of every deception, having exposed and refuted it before God in all things, we may give thanks as usual.

Book 49

Section 1

49.1.1 | Κυϊντιλλιανοὶ δὲ πάλιν, οἱ καὶ Πεπουζιανοὶ καλούμενοι, Ἀρτοτυρίται τε καὶ Πρισκιλλιανοὶ λεγόμενοι, οἱ αὐτοὶ μὲν ὄντες <τοῖς> κατὰ Φρύγας καὶ ἐξ αὐτῶν ὀρμώμενοι, διήρηνται δὲ κατὰ τινα τρόπον.

49.1.1 | The Quintiilians again, who are also called Pepuzians, and who are called Artotyrites and Priscillians, are the same ones who follow the ways of Phrygia and come from them, but they are divided in a certain way.

49.1.2 | φασὶ γὰρ οὗτοι οἱ Κυῖντιλλιανοὶ εἴτ' οὖν Πρισκιλλιανοὶ ἐν τῇ Πεπούζῃ ἢ Κυῖντιλλαν ἢ Πρίσκιλλαν (οὐκ ἔχω <γὰρ> ἀκριβῶς λέγειν), μίαν δὲ ἐξ αὐτῶν ὡς προεῖπον ἐν τῇ Πεπούζῃ κεκαθευθηκέναι καὶ τὸν Χριστὸν πρὸς αὐτὴν ἐληλυθέναι συνυπνωκέναι τε αὐτῇ

49.1.2 | For these Quintilians, or Priscillians, in Pepouza or Quindilla or Priscilla (I do not know exactly how to say it), one of them, as I said before, has fallen asleep in Pepouza, and Christ has come to her and has slept together with her.

49.1.3 | τούτῳ τῷ τρόπῳ, ὡς ἐκείνη ἀπατωμένη ἔλεγεν· »ἐν ἰδέᾳ, φησί, γυναικός, ἐσχηματισμένος ἐν στολῇ λαμπρᾷ ἦλθε πρὸς με Χριστὸς καὶ ἐνέβαλεν ἐν ἐμοὶ τὴν σοφίαν καὶ ἀπεκάλυψέ μοι τουτονὶ τὸν τόπον εἶναι ἅγιον καὶ ὧδε τὴν Ἱερουσαλὴμ ἐκ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ κατιέναι«.

49.1.3 | In this way, as she, being deceived, said: "In a vision," she says, "a woman, dressed in bright clothes, came to me, Christ, and put wisdom into me and revealed to me that this place is holy and that Jerusalem is coming down here from heaven."

49.1.4 | διό φασὶ καὶ ἄχρι τῆς δεῦρο μυεῖσθαί τινες οὕτω γυναῖκας ἐκεῖσε ἐν τῷ τόπῳ καὶ ἄνδρας, πρὸς τὸ ἐπιμεινάσας αὐτάς ἢ αὐτοὺς.

49.1.4 | Therefore, they say that even until now some women and men are initiated there in that place, to stay with them.

49.1.5 | τὸν Χριστὸν θεωρῆσαι. γυναῖκες γοῦν παρ' αὐτοῖς καλοῦνται προφήτιδες. οὐ πάνυ δὲ σαφῶς οἶδα εἰ παρ' αὐτοῖς ἢ παρὰ τοῖς κατὰ Φρύγας· ὁμοῦ γὰρ εἰσὶ καὶ τὸ αὐτὸ φρόνημα κέκτληται.

49.1.5 | To see Christ. Women, at least, among them are called prophetesses. But I do not know clearly if it is among them or among those in Phrygia; for they have the same belief and share the same mind.

Section 2

49.2.1 | 2. Κέχρηται δὲ οὗτοι παλαιᾷ καὶ καινῇ διαθήκῃ καὶ ἀνάστασιν νεκρῶν ὁμοίως φάσκουσι. Κυῖντιλλαν δὲ ἔχουσιν ἀρχηγὸν ἅμα Πρισκίλλῃ, τῇ καὶ παρὰ τοῖς κατὰ Φρύγας.

49.2.1 | They use both the old and new covenant and say the same about the resurrection of the dead. They have Quinctilla as their leader, along with Priscilla, who is also among those in Phrygia.

49.2.2 | φέρουσι δὲ μαρτυρίας πολλὰς ματαίας, χάριν διδόντες τῇ Εὐᾶ, ὅτι πρώτη βέβρωκεν ἀπὸ τοῦ ξύλου τῆς φρονήσεως· καὶ τὴν ἀδελφὴν τοῦ Μωυσέως προφήτιδα λέγουσιν, εἰς μαρτυρίαν τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς καθισταμένων γυναικῶν ἐν κλήρῳ. ἀλλὰ καί, φησί, τέσσαρες θυγατέρες ἦσαν τῷ Φιλίππῳ προφητεύουσαι.

49.2.2 | They bring many false testimonies, giving honor to Eve, because she first ate from the tree of knowledge; and they call the sister of Moses a prophetess, as proof of the women appointed among them in the ministry. But, he says, Philip had four daughters who prophesied.

49.2.3 | πολλάκις δὲ ἐν τῇ αὐτῶν ἐκκλησίᾳ εἰσέρχονται λαμπαδηφοροῦσαι ἑπτὰ τινες παρθένοι, λευχείμονες παρθένοι, λευχείμοννες δῆθεν ἐρχόμεναι, ἵνα προφητεύσωσι τῷ λαῷ.

49.2.3 | Often in their church enter seven virgins carrying torches, white-clothed virgins, coming supposedly white-clothed, to prophesy to the people.

49.2.4 | αἱ δὲ τρόπον τινὰ ἐνδεικνύμεναι ἐνθουσιασμοῦ τοῖς παροῦσι λαοῖς ἀπάτην ἐργάζονται κλαίειν τε ποιοῦσιν πάντας ὥς εἰς οἶκτον μετανοίας ἄγουσαι, δάκρυα χέμεναι καὶ σχήματί τινι ἐποδυρόμεναι τὸν τῶν ἀνθρώπων βίον.

49.2.4 | And they, showing a kind of enthusiasm to the people present, work a trick and make everyone cry as if moved to sorrowful repentance, shedding tears and wearing some kind of expression of mourning for human life.

49.2.5 | ἐπίσκοποί τε παρ' αὐτοῖς γυναῖκες καὶ πρεσβύτεροι γυναῖκες καὶ τὰ ἄλλα. ὧν μηδὲν διαφέρειν φασὶν »ἐν γὰρ Χριστῷ Ἰησοῦ οὔτε ἄρσεν οὔτε θῆλυ«.

49.2.5 | And with them are women as bishops and women as elders and the rest. They say there is no difference in these things, "for in Christ Jesus there is neither male nor female."

49.2.6 | ταῦτά ἐστιν ἃ κατελήφαμεν. Ἀρτοτυρίτας δὲ αὐτοὺς καλοῦσιν ἀπὸ τοῦ ἐν τοῖς αὐτῶν μυστηρίοις ἐπιτιθέντας ἄρτον καὶ τυρὸν [καί] οὕτως ποιεῖν τὰ αὐτῶν μυστήρια.

49.2.6 | These are the things we have learned. They call themselves Artotyrites because in their mysteries they put on bread and cheese, and so they perform their mysteries.

Section 3

49.3.1 | 3. πᾶσα δὲ ἀνθρώπων χλεύη ἐν τῷ ἀποστῆναι <καθέστηκεν> ἀπὸ τῆς ὀρθῆς πίστεως καὶ εἰς ἀμηχανίαν τρέπεσθαι καὶ εἰς διαφορὰς ἐνθουσιασμῶν τε καὶ ὀργίων. ἐκβακχευόμεναι γὰρ αἱ διάνοιαι ἀεὶ τοὺς μὴ κατέχοντας τὴν ἄγκυραν τῆς ἀληθείας, ἀλλ’ ἐπιδιδόντας ἑαυτοὺς τῷ * φέρουσι κατὰ πᾶσαν ὁτιοῦν αἰτίαν.

49.3.1 | Every mockery of people has come to be from turning away from the true faith and turning into confusion and into disputes of enthusiasm and wild rites. For the minds are always Bacchic, those who do not hold fast to the anchor of truth, but give themselves over to whatever cause carries them.

49.3.2 | κἄν τε γὰρ γυναῖκες παρ’ αὐτοῖς εἰς ἐπισκοπὴν καὶ πρεσβυτέριον καθίστανται διὰ τὴν Εὐάν, ἀκούσωσι τοῦ κυρίου λέγοντος »πρὸς τὸν ἄνδρα σου ἡ ἀποστροφή σου καὶ αὐτός σου κυριεύσει«.

49.3.2 | And even if women among them are made bishops and elders because of Eve, they hear the Lord saying, “Your turning away is toward your husband, and he will rule over you.”

49.3.3 | λέληθε δὲ αὐτοὺς καὶ ὁ ἀποστολικὸς λόγος ὅτι »γυναικὶ οὐκ ἐπιτρέπω λαλεῖν οὔτε αὐθεντεῖν ἄνδρός« καὶ πάλιν »οὐ γάρ ἐστιν ἄνθρωπος ἐκ γυναικός, ἀλλὰ γυνὴ ἐξ ἀνδρός« καὶ »ὁ Ἀδὰμ οὐκ ἠπάτηται, ἀλλ’ ἡ Εὐά πρώτη ἀπατηθεῖσα ἐν παραβάσει γέγονεν«. καὶ ὧς τῆς πολυφόρου πλάνης τοῦ κόσμου τούτου.

49.3.3 | But the apostolic word is also hidden from them, that “I do not allow a woman to speak or to have authority over a man,” and again, “For man did not come from woman, but woman from man,” and “Adam was not deceived, but Eve was the first to be deceived in transgression.” Oh, the many-sided deception of this world!

49.3.4 | διὸ ὡς νωδὸν τι καὶ ἀφροσύνης ἔμπλεον ἀσκαλαβώτου δίκην * ταύτην παρελθὼν ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς βαδιοῦμαι, ὧς ἀγαπητοί, θεὸν ἐπικαλούμενος καλούμενος εἰς βοήθειαν τῆς ἡμετέρας ταπεινότητος καὶ εἰς πλήρωσιν τῆς ἡμῶν ἐπαγγελίας.

49.3.4 | Therefore, like a scorpion full of sting and foolishness, passing over this, I go on to the following things, dear ones, calling on God, who is called for help for our humility and for the fulfillment of our promise.

Book 50

Section 1

50.1.1 | Ἀπὸ τούτων τῶν δύο αἱρέσεων τῶν ὁμοῦ ἀλλήλαις μιχθεισῶν, κατὰ Φρύγας τε καὶ Κυῖντιλλιανῶν ἥτοι Πρισκιλλιανῶν, ἀνέκυψε πάλιν τῷ κόσμῳ ἑτέρα αἵρεσις Τεσσαρεσκαίδεκατιτῶν οὕτως καλουμένη.

50.1.1 | From these two heresies mixed together, among the Phrygians and the Quinctillians, or Priscillians, another heresy arose again in the world, called the Fourteenth.

50.1.2 | καὶ οὗτοι μὲν πάντα ἔχουσιν ὡς ἡ ἐκκλησία, σφάλλονται δὲ ἀπὸ πάντων διὰ τὸ μὴ τῇ ἀκολουθίᾳ καὶ τῇ διδασκαλίᾳ τοῦ θεσμοῦ προσανέχειν, Ἰουδαίκοις ἔτι μύθοις προσανέχοντες. καὶ οὐδὲ τὰ ἴσα αὐτοῖς δογματίζουσιν· οὐ γὰρ ἃ λέγουσιν οἶδασιν οὔτε περὶ τίνων διαβεβαιοῦνται.

50.1.2 | And these have everything like the church, but they fall away from all because they do not follow the order and teaching of the law, still adding Jewish myths. And they do not even hold to their own teachings; for they do not know what they say nor what they are sure about.

50.1.3 | ἅπαξ γὰρ τοῦ ἔτους μίαν ἡμέραν τὸ Πάσχα οἱ τοιοῦτοι φιλονείκως ἄγουσι, καίτοι γε περὶ πατρὸς καὶ υἱοῦ καὶ ἁγίου πνεύματος καλῶς καὶ ἴσως ἢ καὶ ἁγίως ἔχοντες, προφήτας τε δεχόμενοι καὶ ἀποστόλους καὶ εὐαγγελιστάς, ἀνάστασιν δὲ σαρκὸς ὁμοίως ὁμολογοῦντες καὶ κρίσιν ἐσομένην καὶ ζωὴν αἰώνιον.

50.1.3 | For once a year, on one day, such people celebrate the Passover with rivalry, and yet about the father and the son and the holy spirit they hold well and maybe rightly, accepting prophets and apostles and evangelists, and they also agree on the resurrection of the flesh and that there will be judgment and eternal life.

50.1.4 | περιέπεσαν δὲ ἀστοχήματι καὶ οὐ τῷ τυχόντι οὗτοι, δῆθεν κεχρημένοι τῷ ῥητῷ ᾧ εἶπεν ὁ νόμος ὅτι »ἐπικατάρατος ὃς οὐ ποιήσει τὸ Πάσχα τῇ τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτῃ τοῦ μηνός».

50.1.4 | But they fell into error, not by chance, these people who claim to follow the law's clear command that "cursed is the one who does not celebrate the Passover on the fourteenth of the month."

50.1.5 | ἕτεροι δὲ ἐξ αὐτῶν τὴν αὐτὴν μίαν ἡμέραν ἄγοντες καὶ τὴν αὐτὴν μίαν ἡμέραν νηστεύοντες καὶ τὰ μυστήρια ἐπιτελοῦντες, ἀπὸ τῶν Ἄκτων δῆθεν

50.1.5 | Others among them celebrate on the same one day and fast on the same one day and perform the mysteries, proudly claiming to have found the exact time from

Πιλάτου ἀρχοῦσι τὴν ἀκρίβειαν εὐρηκέναι, ἐν οἷς ἐμφέρεται τῇ πρὸ ὀκτῶ καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων τὸν σωτῆρα πεπονθέναι.

the Acts of Pilate, where it shows that the savior suffered on the eighth day before the April calends.

50.1.6 | καὶ ἐν ἐκείνῃ τῇ ἡμέρᾳ βούλονται ἄγειν τὸ Πάσχα ὅποιᾳ δᾶν ἐμπέσῃ ἡ τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτῃ τῆς σελήνης· οἱ δὲ ἐν τῇ Καππαδοκίᾳ τὴν αὐτὴν μίαν ἡμέραν τὴν πρὸ ὀκτῶ καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων ἄγουσι.

50.1.6 | And on that day, they want to celebrate the Passover whenever the fourteenth of the moon falls; but those in Cappadocia celebrate on the same one day, the eighth day before the April calends.

50.1.7 | καὶ ἐν αὐτοῖς δὲ στάσις οὐχ ἡ τυχοῦσα, τῶν μὲν λεγόντων τῇ τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτῃ τῆς σελήνης, τῶν δὲ πρὸ ὀκτῶ καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων.

50.1.7 | And among them, there is a quarrel not by chance, between those saying on the fourteenth of the moon, and those on the eighth day before the April calends.

50.1.8 | ἔτι δὲ εὗραμεν ἀντίγραφα Ἰακτων Πιλάτου, ἐν οἷς σημαίνει πρὸ δεκαπέντε καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων τὸ πάθος γεγενῆσθαι· τάλῃθι δέ, ὥς ἐκ πολλῆς ἀκριβείας ἔγνωμεν, ἐν τῇ πρὸ δεκατριῶν καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων τὸν σωτῆρα πεπονθέναι κατελιθήκαμεν· τινὲς δὲ τῇ πρὸ δέκα καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων λέγουσιν.

50.1.8 | And still, we found copies of the Acts of Pilate, in which it shows that the suffering happened fifteen days before the April calends; but the truth, as we learned from much accuracy, is that we have found the savior suffered thirteen days before the April calends; some say it was ten days before the April calends.

50.1.9 | ἐξέπεσον δὲ καὶ οὗτοι τοῦ προκειμένου. δέδια δὲ καὶ περὶ τούτων ἐπὶ πλεῖστον μηκῦναι τὸ λόγον· πολλὰ γὰρ ἔχομεν λέγειν.

50.1.9 | And these also fell from what was set before. And they feared mostly to lengthen the speech about these things; for we have much to say.

Section 2

50.2.1 | 2. Πληρώσας γὰρ ὁ νομοθέτης τὸν πάντα νόμον | Μωυσῆς, ἐκ θεοῦ λαβὼν τὸ πρόσταγμα ἐν τῇ ἐσχάτῃ βίβλῳ τουτέστιν Δευτερονομίᾳ τίθησι πάσας τὰς κατέρας, οὐ μόνον περὶ Πάσχα ἀλλὰ καὶ περὶ περιτομῆς καὶ περὶ δεκατώσεως καὶ

50.2.1 | For Moses, the lawgiver, having fulfilled the whole law, receiving the command from god in the last book, that is Deuteronomy, sets all the curses, not only about Passover but also about circumcision προσφορῶν·

and tithes and offerings;

50.2.2 | ὥστε οὖν εἰ μίαν κατάραν πεφεύγασιν, εἰς πολλὰς ἑαυτοὺς ἐνέπειραν· εὐρεθήσονται γὰρ ἐπικατάρατοι μὴ περιτεμνόμενοι, ἐπικατάρατοι μὴ ἀποδεκατοῦντες καὶ ἐπικατάρατοι γίνονται μὴ εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ προσφέροντες.

50.2.2 | So then, if they have escaped one curse, they bring upon themselves many; for they will be found cursed if they do not get circumcised, cursed if they do not give tithes, and cursed if they do not bring offerings to Jerusalem.

50.2.3 | καὶ ὦ τῶν ἀνθρώπων τῶν εἰς πολλὰς ἑαυτοὺς ἐρεσχελίας ἐμβαλλόντων· ἀληθῶς γὰρ ἔστιν εἰπεῖν ἐκεῖνο τὸ ῥῆμα τὸ συνεντὸν τοῦ Ἐκκλησιαστοῦ, τὸ ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου ἡμῖν διεσταλμένον ὅτι »τοῦτο ἔγων ὁ Ἐκκλησιαστής, ὅτι ὁ θεὸς συνεντὸν ἀνθρώπον ἐποίησεν εὐθεῖ, αὐτοῖ δὲ ἐζήτησαν αὐτοῖς πολλὰς ὁδοῦε«.

50.2.3 | And oh, the people who bring many troubles upon themselves! Truly, it is right to say that saying of the wise man from Ecclesiastes, given to us by the holy spirit, that “this was the task of the wise man, that god made a sensible man straight, but they searched for many ways for themselves.”

50.2.4 | πόθεν γὰρ οὐ διαπίπτει τούτων ἡ διάνοια; πρῶτον γὰρ εἰ τῇ τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτῃ τὸ Πάσχα ἄγουσι, χρεῖαν ἔχουσι τὸ πρόβατον λαβεῖν ἀπὸ δεκάτης καὶ τηρεῖν αὐτὸ ἕως τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτης, καὶ οὐκέτι μία ἡμέρα ἔσται τῆς νηστείας ἀλλὰ πέντε, ἢ τε δεκάτη καὶ ἑνδεκάτη καὶ δωδεκάτη καὶ τρισκαίδεκάτη καὶ τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτη·

50.2.4 | For how could the mind not fall into these things? First, if they bring the Passover on the fourteenth day, they need to take the lamb from the tenth day and keep it until the fourteenth, and the fast will no longer be one day but five—the tenth, the eleventh, the twelfth, the thirteenth, and the fourteenth.

50.2.5 | ἐὰν δὲ πρὸς ἑσπέραν τυθῇ τὸ Πάσχα, ἡ αὐτὴ τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτη ἐπιφώσκουσα ἕξ ἐπιτελεῖ ἡμέρας ἐν τῇ νηστείᾳ, καὶ οὐκέτι μία ἔσται τῆς νηστείας καὶ διέπεσεν ἡ περιμῖς ἡμέρας αὐτῶν ζήτησις, οὐ μία τις οὔσα.

50.2.5 | But if the Passover is kept at evening, the same fourteenth day, shining, will complete six days of fasting, and the fast will no longer be one day, and their concern about one day has fallen away, not being one.

50.2.6 | ἔστι γὰρ τὰ πρωτότυπα

50.2.6 | For the original things are joined συνεζευγμένα καὶ ἐζημίωνται οὐκ ὀλίγην κατὰ θεὸν πραγματείαν. ἔδει γὰρ τὸν Χριστὸν ἐν τῇ τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτῃ ἡμέρᾳ θύεσθαι κατὰ τὸν νόμον, ὅπως λήξῃ παρ' αὐτοῖς τὸ φωτίζον αὐτοὺς φῶς κατὰ τὸν νόμον, τοῦ ἡλίου ἀνατείλαντος καὶ σκεπάσαντος τῆς σελήνης τὸ σέλας.

together and suffer no small loss before god. It was necessary for Christ to be sacrificed on the fourteenth day according to the law, so that the light shining on them according to the law would end, with the rising of the sun and the hiding of the moon's light.

50.2.7 | ἀπὸ γὰρ τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτης καὶ κάτω φθίνει τὸ φαινόμενος τῆς σελήνης· οὕτω καὶ ἐν τῷ νόμῳ ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ παρουσίας καὶ πάθους ἡμαυρώθη ἡ Ἰουδαϊκὴ συναγωγὴ, κατηύγασε δὲ τὸ εὐαγγέλιον, μὴ καταλυθέντος τοῦ νόμου ἀλλὰ πληρωθέντος, μὴ καταργηθέντος τοῦ τύπου ἀλλὰ παραστήσαντος τὴν ἀλήθειαν.

50.2.7 | For from the fourteenth day and after, the appearance of the moon fades; so also in the law, from the coming and suffering of Christ, the Jewish gathering was darkened, but the gospel shone, not by the law being destroyed but by being fulfilled, not by the type being done away with but by the truth being shown.

50.2.8 | οὕτω γὰρ καὶ ἐν τῷ πεποιηκέναι τὸ Πάσχα ἐν τῇ Ἰεριχῷ εὐθὺς ἐπήνεγκεν ἡ θεία γραφὴ λέγουσα »καὶ ἐποίησαν οἱ υἱοὶ Ἰσραὴλ τὸ Πάσχα καὶ ἔφαγον ἐν Γαλγάλοις, καὶ ἐξέλιπε τὸ μάννα«,

50.2.8 | For so also in the making of the Passover in Jericho, the divine scripture immediately brought this saying: "And the sons of Israel made the Passover and ate in the plains of Jericho, and the manna ceased."

50.2.9 | προσμαρτυροῦσα αὐτοῖς [ἡ θεία γραφὴ] καὶ προφητεύουσα ὅτι τῷ πάθει κυρίου διὰ τὴν αὐτῶν ἐπαρνησιθεΐαν λήξει πρᾶ' αὐτοῖς ἡ βρώσις ἡ ἀγγελικὴ καὶ ἐπουράνιος, ὅπερ μάννα παρ' αὐτοῖς κέκληται.

50.2.9 | The divine scripture bears witness to them and foretells that because of the lord's suffering, and their denial of him, the angelic and heavenly food, which is called manna among them, will end for them.

Section 3

50.3.1 | 3. Πανταχόθεν δὲ ἡ ἀγία τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησία περὶ τῆς χρείας ταύτης τῆς μυσταγωγίας συλλέγουσα τὸν σύνδεσμον οὐ διαπίπτει τῆς ἀληθείας.

50.3.1 | Everywhere the holy church of God, gathering about this need for initiation, holds fast to the bond and does not fall away from the truth.

50.3.2 | κέχρηται γὰρ οὐ μόνον τῇ τεσσαρεσκαιδεκάτῃ, ἀλλὰ καὶ τῇ ἑβδομάδι τῇ κατὰ περίοδον ἀναδουκλουμένη <ἐν τῇ> τάξει τῶν τοῦ σαββάτου ἑπτὰ ἡμερῶν, ἵνα κατὰ τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ κυρίου γενόμενα <ὡς> κατὰ τὸ πρωτότυπον εἴῃ ἡ ἀνάστασις τε καὶ εὐωχία.

50.3.2 | For it has been used not only on the fourteenth day, but also on the seventh, which comes around in the cycle within the order of the seven days of the sabbath, so that according to what happened by the lord, the resurrection and feast would be like the original.

50.3.3 | καὶ κέχρηται οὐ μόνον τῇ τεσσαρεσκαιδεκάτῃ τῆς σελήνης, ἀλλὰ καὶ τῷ δρόμῳ τοῦ ἡλίου, ἵνα μὴ ἐν ἐνιαυτῷ δύο Πάσχα ποιοῦντες ἐν τῷ ἑτέρῳ μηδὲ ἐν Πάσχᾳ τελέσωμεν.

50.3.3 | And it has been used not only on the fourteenth of the moon, but also in the course of the sun, so that by not making two Passovers in one year, we do not celebrate even one Passover in the other.

50.3.4 | διὸ παρατηρούμεθα μὲν τὴν τεσσαρεσκαιδεκάτην, ὑπερβαίνομεν δὲ τὴν ἰσημερίαν φέρομέν τε ἐπὶ τὴν ἁγίαν κυριακὴν τὸ τέλος τῆς συμπληρώσεως· λαμβάνομεν δὲ τὸ πρόβατον ἀπὸ δεκάτης, <τὸ> ὄνομα Ἰησοῦ ἐπιγνόντες διὰ τοῦ ἰώτα, ἵνα μὴ λάθῃ ἡμᾶς μηδὲν τῶν κατὰ τὴν ἀλήθειαν πᾶσαν τῆς ζωτικῆς ταύτης τοῦ Πάσχα * τῆς ἐκκλησιαστικῆς καὶ ἀληθινῆς πραγματείας.

50.3.4 | Therefore we watch the fourteenth, we pass over the equinox, and we carry the end of the completion to the holy Lord's day; and we take the lamb from the tenth, knowing the name of Jesus through the iota, so that nothing of all the true and living matter of this Passover, the church's and true celebration, escapes us.

50.3.5 | ὑπερβήσομαι δὲ καὶ τοῦτο τὸ ἐμφύσημα τοῦ βαιῶνος εἴτ' οὖν φυσάλου ὄφεως, διὰ τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ δυνάμεως ἐπισφραγισάμενος καὶ ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς τὸν νοῦν προτείνων, θεὸν συνήθως ἐπικαλούμενος εἰς βοήθειαν. |

50.3.5 | But I will go beyond even this breath of the serpent, whether it is a blowing snake, sealed by the power of Christ, and putting forward my mind to what follows, usually calling on God for help.

Book 51

Section 1

51.1.1 | Καθεξῆς δὲ τούτων τῶν αἱρέσεων μετὰ τὴν κατὰ Φρύγας τε καὶ Κυῖντιλλιανούς καὶ Τεσσαρεσκαίδεκατίτας οὕτω καλουμένους, ἀνεφύη τῷ βίῳ αἵρεσις ἐτέρα, ὥσπερ ἔρπετον ἀσθενές, μὴ δυνάμενος ἀντισχεῖν πρὸς τὴν ὁσμὴν τῆς δικτάμνου εἴτ' στύρακος ἢ λιβανωτίδος ἢ τῆς ἀβροτόνου ἢ τῆς ὁσμῆς τῆς ἀσφάλτου ἢ τοῦ θυμιάματος ἢ τοῦ λίθου τοῦ γαγάτου ἢ τοῦ κέρατος τῆς ἐλάφου.

51.1.1 | One after another, after the heresies of Phrygians and Quintillians and the so-called Fourteen, another heresy grew up in life, like a weak snake, not able to stand against the smell of dittany or styrax or frankincense or abrotanum or the smell of asphalt or incense or the stone of gagates or the horn of the deer.

51.1.2 | φασὶ γὰρ οἱ ἐν τῇ πείρᾳ τούτων γεγονότες ταῦτα τὰ εἶδη ἀπελαστικά εἶναι ἔρπετῶν ἰοβόλων· καὶ τὴν μὲν δίκταμνον τίκταμνον τινὲς καλοῦσιν ἀπὸ τοῦ τοῦ παῖδας τῶν ἰατρῶν κεχρηῆσθαι ταύτῃ εἰς τὴν τῶν τικτουςῶν γυναικῶν βοήθειαν. ὥστε ἀφ' ἡμῶν εἰκότως ἀπεικάζεσθαι εἰς τὸν ἄνωθεν ἐλθόντα θεὸν Λόγον ἀπὸ τῶν ἐπουρανίων, ἐκ πατρὸς ἀχρόνως καὶ ἀνάρχως γεγεννημένον.

51.1.2 | For those who have tested these things say that these kinds are poisonous snakes to be driven away; and some call dittany “tikta,” because the children of doctors used it to help women giving birth. So it is fitting for us to compare it to the Word of God who came down from above, born from the Father without time and without beginning.

51.1.3 | φησὶ γὰρ ὁ Σολομῶν περὶ τῆς ἄφρονος καὶ φαύλης γυναικὸς ὅτι «μισεῖ λόγον ἀσφαλείας» οὕτως καὶ οὗτοι τὰ στερεὰ τοῦ κηρύγματος μεμισήκασιν, ἐπίγειοι ὄντες καὶ πρὸς τὰ ἐπουράνια ἀπεχθανόμενοι.

51.1.3 | For Solomon says about the foolish and bad woman that “she hates words of safety”; so these men have hated the solid parts of the preaching, being earthly and hating the things above.

51.1.4 | ὅθεν δεδιότες τὴν φωνὴν τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος τὴν λέγουσαν »φωνὴ κυρίου καταρτιζομένη ἐλάφους« * τοῦ εἰπόντος τοῖς ἑαυτοῦ δούλοις καὶ ἀποστόλοις »ἰδοὺ δέδωκα ὑμῖν τὴν ἐξουσίαν πατεῖν ἐπὶ ὄφεις

51.1.4 | Therefore, fearing the voice of the holy spirit saying “the voice of the lord is making strong the deer,” * who said to his own servants and apostles, “behold, I have given you the power to walk on snakes and

καὶ σκορπίους πίοις καὶ ἐπὶ πᾶσαν τὴν δύναμιν τοῦ ἐχθροῦ».

scorpions and poisonous things, and over all the power of the enemy.”

51.1.5 | αὕτη γὰρ ἦν ἡ φωνὴ ἡ καταρτιζομένη ἐλάφους, ἡ δοθεῖσα εἰς τὸν κόσμον διὰ τῶν ἁγίων ἀποστόλων καὶ εὐαγγελιστῶν καταπατῆσαι τὴν τοῦ διαβόλου ἐναντιότητα· ἐξ ὧν <ὧν> ὁ ἅγιος Ἰωάννης ἀκρότατα ἐπέστησε καὶ διήλεγξα τὴν δύναμιν τῶν πεπλανημένων καὶ ὀφιομόρφων.

51.1.5 | For this was the voice making strong the deer, given into the world through the holy apostles and evangelists to trample down the opposition of the devil; from whom the holy John especially stood against and exposed the power of the deceived and snake-shaped ones.

Section 2

51.2.1 | 2. Ἀλλὰ οὐκ ἰσχύσουσιν ἐν τῇ κιβωτῶν οἱ τοιοῦτοι. ἐπιτρέπεται γὰρ ὁ ἅγιος Νῶε κατὰ τὸ ῥῆμα κυρίου ἐπασφαλίσασθαι τὴν τοιαύτην, ὥς φησι πρὸς αὐτόν »ἀσφαλτώσεις αὐτὴν ἔσωθεν καὶ ἔξωθεν«, ἵνα δείξῃ τὸ εἶδος τῆς ἁγίας τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίας, ἐχούσης τῆς ἀσφάλτου τὴν δύναμιν, τὴν ἀποδιώκουσαν τὰ δεινὰ καὶ ὀλετήρια ἐρπετώδη διδάγματα· ὕπου γὰρ θυμιᾶται ἡ ἄσφαλτος, οὐκ ἰσχύει στήναι ὄφεις.

51.2.1 | But such men will not be strong in the ark. For holy Noah is allowed, according to the word of the lord, to secure such a thing, as he says to him, “you will secure it inside and outside,” to show the form of the holy church of God, having the power of asphalt, which drives away terrible and deadly creeping teachings; for asphalt smells hiddenly, a snake cannot stand on it.

51.2.2 | ἐκάρωσε τοίνυν αὐτοὺς τὸ ἅγιον θυμίαμα τοῦ στύρακος καὶ παραιτοῦνται τούτου τὴν εὐωδίαν καὶ * τῆς ἀβροτόνου εἴτ’ οὖν λιβανωτίδος ἡ δύναμις, κατ’ αὐτοῦ τοῦ ὄφeos ἐπιφύσσα καὶ ἐπάνω τοῦ λωλεοῦ αὐτοῦ ἐκβλαστήσσα.

51.2.2 | So the holy incense of styrax burned them, and they reject its fragrance and the power of the perfume or of frankincense, which breathed against the snake itself and grew even on its ruin.

51.2.3 | ἔνθα γὰρ τὸν Χριστὸν ἐκ παρατριβῆς ψιλὸν ἄνθρωπον ἐκήρυττεν ὁ Ἐβίων καὶ ὁ Κήρινθος καὶ οἱ ἄμφ’ αὐτούς, φημί δὲ ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ, ἐκεῖ τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον ἀνέτειλε τῷ κόσμῳ ταύτην τὴν ἁγίαν

51.2.3 | For there the Ebion and the Cerinthus and those around them preached Christ as a mere man by rubbing against him, I say in Asia, there the holy spirit rose to the world this holy herb or shrub, which βοτάνην εἴτ' οὖν θάμνον, τὴν ἀποδιώξασαν τὸν ὄφιν καὶ λύσασαν τὴν τοῦ διαβόλου τυραννίδα.

drove away the snake and broke the rule of the devil.

51.2.4 | ἐκεῖ γὰρ ὁ ἅγιος Ἰωάννης μεθ' ἡλικίαν γηραλέαν ἐπιτρέπεται ὑπὸ τοῦ πνεύματος τοῦ ἁγίου κηρῦξαι καὶ ἀνακάμψαι τοὺς ἐν τῇ ὁδῷ πεπλανημένους· οὐ μετὰ ἀνάγκης, ἀλλὰ μετὰ προαιρέσεως τοῖς πειθομένοις ἀποκαλύψας θεοῦ τὸ φῶς τὸ ἐν τῇ ἀγίᾳ θεοῦ διδασκαλίᾳ.

51.2.4 | For there the holy John, in old age, is allowed by the holy spirit to preach and bring back those who have gone astray on the way; not by force, but by choice, revealing to those who obey the light of God in the holy teaching of God.

51.2.5 | ἀλλ' ἕως πότε μηκύνω τὸν λόγον; καὶ γὰρ τῷ μὲν ὄντι ὅπου ἀναφύει ἡ ἀβρότονος, ἐκεῖ ὄφιν οὐκέτι ἐγκαταμένει οὔτε ἐμφωλεύει, καὶ ὅπου θεοῦ ἀληθῆς διδασκαλία, οὐ κατισχύσει κατοικητήριον ἐρπετῶδους διδασκαλίας, ἀλλὰ διολεῖται.

51.2.5 | But how long shall I make the speech longer? For wherever the gentle plant grows, there the snake no longer stays or lives, and wherever the true teaching of God is, the home of the creeping teaching will not stand strong, but will be destroyed.

Section 3

51.3.1 | 3. Φάσκουσι τοίνυν οἱ ἄλογοι — ταύτην γὰρ αὐτοῖς ἐπιτίθημι τὴν ἐπωνυμίαν· ἀπὸ γὰρ τῆς δεῦρο οὕτως κληθήσονται καὶ οὕτως, ἀγαπητοί, ἐπιθῶμεν αὐτοῖς ὄνομα, τουτέστιν Ἀλόγων.

51.3.1 | 3. So the Unreasoning say — for this name I give to them; from now on they will be called this way, and so, dear ones, let us give them a name, that is, the Unreasoning.

51.3.2 | εἶχον μὲν γὰρ τὴν αἵρεσιν * καλουμένην, ἀποβάλλουσιν Ἰωάννου τὰς βίβλους. ἐπεὶ οὖν τὸν Λόγον οὐ δέχονται τὸν παρὰ Ἰωάννου κεκηρυγμένον, ἄλογοι κληθήσονται.

51.3.2 | For they had the sect called * that rejects John's books. Since then they do not accept the Word proclaimed by John, they will be called Unreasoning.

51.3.3 | ἀλλότριοι τοίνυν παντάπασιν ὑπάρχοντες τοῦ κηρύγματος τῆς ἀληθείας ἀρνοῦνται τὸ καθαρὸν τοῦ κηρύγματος καὶ

51.3.3 | Being completely strangers to the preaching of the truth, they deny the pure preaching and neither accept John's gospel οὔτε τὸ τοῦ Ἰωάννου εὐαγγέλιον δέχονται οὔτε τὴν αὐτοῦ Ἀποκάλυψιν.

nor his Revelation.

51.3.4 | καὶ εἰ μὲν ἐδέχοντο τὸ εὐαγγέλιον, τὴν δὲ Ἀποκάλυψιν ἀπεβάλλοντο, ἐλέγομεν ἄν, μή πη ἄρα κατὰ ἀκριβολογίαν τοῦτο ποιοῦνται, ἀπόκρυφον μὴ δεχόμενοι διὰ τὰ ἐν τῇ Ἀποκαλύψει βαθέως καὶ σκοτεινῶς εἰρημένα.

51.3.4 | And if they accepted the gospel but rejected the Revelation, we would say, perhaps not exactly, that they do this because they do not accept the secret things said deeply and darkly in the Revelation.

51.3.5 | ὁπότε δὲ οὐ δέχονται φύσει τὰ βιβλία τὰ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου Ἰωάννου κεκηρυγμένα, παντὶ τῷ δῆλον εἶη ὅτι οὗτοι εἰσι καὶ οἱ ὅμοιοι τούτοις, περὶ ὧν εἶπεν ὁ ἅγιος Ἰωάννης ἐν ταῖς καθολικαῖς ἐπιστολαῖς ὅτι »ἐσχάτη ὥρα ἐστὶ καὶ ἠκούσατε ὅτι Ἀντίχριστος ἔρχεται· καὶ νῦν ἰδοὺ Ἀντίχριστοι πολλοί« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

51.3.5 | So when they do not accept by nature the books proclaimed by holy John, it is clear to everyone that these people and those like them are the ones about whom holy John said in the general letters, 'It is the last hour, and you have heard that the Antichrist is coming; and now, look, many antichrists have come,' and what follows.

51.3.6 | προφασίζονται γὰρ οὗτοι, αἰσχυνόμενοι ἀντιλέγειν τῷ ἁγίῳ Ἰωάννῃ διὰ τὸ εἰδέναι αὐτοὺς τὸν αὐτὸν ἐν ἀριθμῷ τῶν ἀποστόλων ὄντα καὶ ἡγαπημένον ὑπὸ τοῦ κυρίου, ᾧ ἄξιως τὰ μυστήρια ἀπεκάλυπτεν καὶ ἐπὶ τὸ στήθος αὐτοῦ ἀνέπεσε, καὶ ἑτέρως αὐτὰ ἀνατρέπειν πειρῶνται. λέγουσι γὰρ μὴ εἶναι αὐτὰ Ἰωάννου ἀλλὰ Κηρίνου καὶ οὐκ ἄξια αὐτὰ φασιν εἶναι ἐν ἐκκλησίᾳ.

51.3.6 | For these people make an excuse, ashamed to argue against holy John because they know he was the same in number as the apostles and loved by the lord, to whom he revealed the mysteries rightly and who leaned on his chest. But they try to turn these things around in another way. They say these things are not John's but Cerinthus's, and they say they are not worthy to be in the church.

Section 4

51.4.1 | 4. Καὶ ἀπ' αὐτῆς τῆς ἐπιβολῆς εὐθὺς ἐλέγχονται, »μήτε ἃ λέγουσι νοοῦντες μήτε περὶ τίνων διαβεβαιοῦνται«. πῶς γὰρ ἔσται Κηρίνου τὰ κατὰ Κηρίνου λέγοντα;

51.4.1 | And from this very claim they are immediately proven wrong, 'neither do they understand what they say nor are they sure about whom they speak.' For how could the things about Cerinthus be said by Cerinthus himself?

51.4.2 | Κήρινθος γὰρ πρόσφατον καὶ ψιλὸν τὸν Χριστὸν λέγει ἄνθρωπον, ὁ δὲ Ἰωάννης αἰεὶ ὄντα <αὐ>τὸν Λόγον κεκήρυξε καὶ ἄνωθεν ἦκοντα καὶ σαρκωθέντα. ἀπ’ αὐτῆς τοίνυν τῆς εἰσβολῆς ἐλέγχεται ἡ τούτων μάταιος συκοφαντία μωρὰ τις οὖσα καὶ μὴ νοοῦσα πόθεν διελέγχεται.

51.4.2 | For Cerinthus says that Christ is a recent and mere man, but John always proclaimed the Word himself, coming from above and made flesh. From this very attack, then, their foolish slander is proven false, being senseless and not understanding where it is refuted.

51.4.3 | δοκοῦσι γὰρ καὶ αὐτοὶ τὰ ἴσα ἡμῖν πιστεύειν, μὴ κατέχοντες δὲ τὰ ἀσφαλῆ τοῦ ἐκ θεοῦ οἰκονομηθέντος ἡμῖν διὰ τοῦ ἁγίου Ἰωάννου κηρύγματος εὐρεθήσονται διελεγχόμενοι ἐν οἷς ἀγνοοῦσι, πῶς κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐπαίρονται τὴν φωνήν.

51.4.3 | For they themselves seem to believe the same things as we do, but not holding firmly to what has been given to us safely from God through the holy preaching of John, they will be found proven wrong in the things they do not understand, how they raise their voice against the truth.

51.4.4 | καὶ ἐάν γε θελήσωσιν ἀνανῆψαί τε καὶ κατανοῆσαι, γνώσονται· ἡμεῖς γὰρ τὰς ἀπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος διδασκαλίας, ἀξιολόγως καὶ ἡσφαλισμένως ἐχούσας, οὐκ ἀποβάλλομεν.

51.4.4 | And if indeed they wish to recover and understand, they will know; for we do not reject the teachings from the holy spirit, which we hold worthy and firmly established.

51.4.5 | φάσκουσι γὰρ καθ’ ἑαυτῶν, οὐ γὰρ εἴποιμι κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας, ὅτι οὐ συμφωνεῖ τὰ αὐτοῦ βιβλία τοῖς λοιποῖς ἀποστόλοις. καὶ δοκοῦσι λοιπὸν ἐπιλαμβάνεσθαι τῆς ἀγίας καὶ ἐνθέου διδασκαλίας.

51.4.5 | For they say on their own, for I would not speak against the truth, that his books do not agree with the other apostles. And so they seem to take hold of the holy and inspired teaching.

51.4.6 | καὶ τί, φησὶν, εἶπεν; ὅτι »ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦν ὁ Λόγος, καὶ ὁ Λόγος ἦν πρὸς τὸν θεόν, καὶ θεὸς ἦν ὁ Λόγος« καὶ ὅτι »ὁ Λόγος σὰρξ ἐγένετο καὶ κατεσκήνωσεν ἐν ἡμῖν καὶ

51.4.6 | And what, he says, did he say? That “in the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God,” and that “the Word became flesh and εἶδομεν τὴν δόξαν αὐτοῦ, δόξαν ὡς μονογενοῦς παρὰ πατρός, lived among us, and we saw his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father,” 51.4.7 | πλήρης χάριτος καὶ ἀληθείας» καὶ εὐθύς »Ἰωάννης μαρτυρεῖ καὶ κέκραγε λέγων ὅτι οὗτός ἐστιν ὃν εἶπον ὑμῖν» καὶ ὅτι »οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ ἀμνὸς τοῦ θεοῦ, ὁ αἴρων τὴν ἁμαρτίαν τοῦ κόσμου» καὶ καθεξῆς φησι »καὶ εἶπον αὐτῷ οἱ ἀκούσαντες, Ῥαββί, ποῦ μένεις;».

51.4.7 | full of grace and truth,” and immediately “John testifies and cries out, saying, ‘This is the one I told you about,’ and that ‘This is the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world’; and one after another he says, ‘And those who heard him said, Rabbi, where do you live?’”

51.4.8 | ἅμα δὲ ἐν ταύτῃ »τῇ αὔριον, φησίν, ἠθέλησεν ἐξελθεῖν εἰς τὴν Γαλιλαίαν καὶ εὕρισκε Φίλιππον καὶ λέγει αὐτῷ ὁ Ἰησοῦς, ἀκολούθει μοι».

51.4.8 | At the same time, he says, “The next day, he wanted to go out into Galilee and he finds Philip and Jesus says to him, ‘Follow me.’”

51.4.9 | καὶ μετὰ τοῦτο ὀλίγῳ πρόσθεν φησίν »καὶ μετὰ τρεῖς ἡμέρας γάμος ἐγένετο ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας, καὶ ἐκλήθην ὁ Ἰησοῦς καὶ οἱ μαθηταὶ αὐτοῦ εἰς τὸ δεῖπνον τοῦ γάμου καὶ ἦν ἐκεῖ ἡ μήτηρ αὐτοῦ».

51.4.9 | And after this, a little later, he says, “And after three days, a wedding happened in Cana of Galilee, and Jesus and his disciples were invited to the wedding feast, and his mother was there.”

51.4.10 | οἱ δὲ ἄλλοι εὐαγγελισταὶ φάσκουσιν αὐτὸν ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ πεποιηκέναι τεσσαράκοντα ἡμέρας, πειραζόμενον ὑπὸ τοῦ διαβόλου, καὶ τότε ὑποστρέψαντα παραλαβεῖν τοὺς μαθητάς.

51.4.10 | But the other gospel writers say that he spent forty days in the wilderness, being tested by the devil, and then returned to take up the disciples.

51.4.11 | καὶ οὐκ οἶδασιν οἱ ἀπαρακολούθητοι ὅτι ἐκάστῳ εὐαγγελιστῇ μεμελέτηται συμφώνως μὲν τοῖς ἐτέροις λαλῆσαι τὰ ὑπ’ ἐκείνων εἰρημένα, ἅμ δὲ τὰ μὴ ὑπ’ ἐκείνων ῥηθέντα, παραλειφθέντα δὲ οὕτως ἀποκαλύπτει· οὐ γὰρ ἦν αὐτῶν τὸ θέλημα, ἀλλὰ ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου ἡ

51.4.11 | And those who do not follow do not know that each gospel writer has taken care to speak in agreement with the others about what was said by them, but also to reveal what was not said by them and what was left out; for it was not their own will, but the following and teaching came from ἀκολουθία καὶ ἡ διδασκαλία.

the holy spirit.

51.4.12 | εἰ γὰρ τούτου βούλονται ἐπιλαμβάνεσθαι, μαθέτωσαν ὅτι οἱ ἄλλοι τρεῖς οὐκ ἀπὸ τῆς αὐτῆς ἐνήρξαντο ἀκολουθίας. Ματθαῖος γὰρ πρῶτος ἄρχεται εὐαγγελίζεσθαι, τούτῳ γὰρ ἦν ἐπιτετραμμένον τὸ εὐαγγέλιον κηρῦσαι ἀπ' ἀρχῆς, ὡς καὶ ἐν ἄλλῃ αἰρίεσει περὶ τούτου διὰ πλάτους εἰρήκαμεν· οὐδὲν δὲ ἡμᾶς λυπήσει καὶ αὐτοῖς περὶ τῶν αὐτῶν διαλαβεῖν, εἰς παράστασιν ἀληθείας καὶ ἔλεγχον τῶν πεπλανημένων.

51.4.12 | For if they want to take hold of this, let them learn that the other three did not begin from the same starting point. For Matthew begins first to preach the gospel, because it was given to him to proclaim the gospel from the beginning, as we have also said in other choices about this at length. And it will not trouble us to speak again about the same things, as a way to show the truth and to check those who are mistaken.

51.5.1 | 5. Οὗτος τοίνυν ὁ Ματθαῖος καταξιούται <πρῶτος κηρῦξαι> τὸ εὐαγγέλιον, ὡς ἔφην, καὶ δικαιοσύνην, ἔδει γὰρ τὸν ἐπὶ πολλῶν ἁμαρτημάτων ἐπιστρέψαντα καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ τελωνείου ἀναστάντα καὶ ἀκολουθήσαντα τῷ ἐλθόντι ἐπὶ σωτηρίᾳ τοῦ γένους τῶν ἀνθρώπων καὶ λέγοντι »οὐκ ἦλθον καλεῖσαι δικαίους, ἀλλὰ ἁμαρτωλοὺς εἰς μετάνοιαν«, εἰς ὑπόδειγμα ἡμῖν τοῖς μέλλουσι σῶζεσθαι <ὁμοίως> τῷ ἐν τῷ τελωνεῖῳ ἀνάχθοντι καὶ ἀπὸ ἀδικίας ἀναστρέψαντι, <πρῶτον> παρασχέσθαι τὸ κήρυγμα τῆς σωτηρίας, ἵνα ἀπ' αὐτοῦ μάθωσιν οἱ ἄνθρωποι τὴν τῆς παρουσίας φιланθρωπίαν.

51.5.1 | 5. This Matthew, then, is worthy to be the first to proclaim the gospel, as I said, and rightly so. For it was fitting that the one who turned away from many sins and rose from the tax collector's booth and followed the one who came for the salvation of the human race and said, "I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance," should be a pattern for us who are about to be saved in the same way as the one who was raised from the tax booth and turned away from wrongdoing, to first offer the message of salvation, so that people may learn from him the kindness of his coming.

51.5.2 | μετὰ γὰρ τὴν ἄφεσιν τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν ἐδωρήσατο αὐτῷ καὶ ἀνάστασιν νεκρῶν καὶ κάθαρσιν λέπρας καὶ ἰαμάτων δυνάμεις καὶ ἀπέλασιν δαιμονίων, ἵνα μὴ μόνον ἀπὸ τοῦ λόγου πείσῃ τοὺς ἀκούοντας, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ ἔργου <δύνηται>

51.5.2 | For after the forgiveness of sins, he gave him the power of resurrection of the dead, and cleansing of leprosy, and healing, and driving out demons, so that he might not only convince those who hear by words, but also by the work itself be able to

proclaim the good news to those who are lost that they will be saved through repentance, and to those who have fallen that they will rise again, and to the dead that they will be given life.

51.5.3 | καὶ αὐτὸς μὲν οὖν ὁ Ματθαῖος Ἑβραϊκοῖς γράμμασι γράφει τὸ εὐαγγέλιον καὶ κηρύττει, καὶ ἄρχεται οὐκ ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς, ἀλλὰ διηγεῖται μὲν τὴν γενεαλογίαν ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἀβραάμ· »Ἀβραάμ, φησὶν, ἐγέννησε τὸν Ἰσαὰκ καὶ Ἰσαὰκ τὸν Ἰακώβ« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς ἄχρι τοῦ Ἰωσήφ καὶ μαρίας.

51.5.3 | And Matthew himself writes the gospel in Hebrew letters and preaches, and he does not begin from the very start, but he tells the genealogy from Abraham: “Abraham,” he says, “begot Isaac, and Isaac begot Jacob,” and so on up to Joseph and Mary.

51.5.4 | And from the beginning he arranges saying, “The book of the genealogy of Jesus Christ, son of David,” then he says, “son of Abraham,” then coming to the thing sought, he says, “Now the birth of Jesus Christ was like this: when his mother Mary was engaged to Joseph, before they came together, she was found to have in her womb from the Holy Spirit. And Joseph, being just, wanted to quietly send her away.”

51.5.5 | καὶ ἰδοὺ, ἄγγελος κυρίου ἐφάνη αὐτῷ κατ’ ὄναρ λέγων, μὴ ἀπολύσῃς τὴν γυναῖά σου· τὸ γὰρ ἐν αὐτῇ γεννηθὲν ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου.

51.5.5 | And look, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, “Do not send away your wife; for what is born in her is from the Holy Spirit.”

51.5.6 | ἰδοὺ γάρ, γεννήσει υἱόν, καὶ καλέσεις τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ Ἰησοῦν. οὗτος σώσει τὸν λαὸν αὐτοῦ ἀπὸ τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν. καὶ τοῦτο, φησί, γέγονεν, ἵνα πληρωθῇ τὸ ῥηθὲν ὑπὸ κυρίου διὰ τοῦ προφήτου λέγοντος· ἰδοὺ ἡ παρθένος ἐν γαστρὶ ἔξει, 51.5.6 | For look, she will give birth to a son, and you will call his name Jesus. He will save his people from their sins. And this happened, he says, to fulfill what was said by the Lord through the prophet: “Look, the virgin will be with child, and the

καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

51.5.7 | καὶ ἐγερθεὶς, φησὶν, ἀπὸ τοῦ ὕπνου ἐποίησεν οὕτως ὁ Ἰωσήφ καὶ παρέλαβε τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ, καὶ οὐκ ἐγίνωσκεν αὐτήν, ἕως οὔ ἔτεκε τὸν υἱὸν αὐτῆς τὸν πρωτότοκον, καὶ ἐκάλεσε τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ Ἰησοῦν.

51.5.7 | And getting up, he says, from sleep Joseph did so and took his wife, and he did not know her until she gave birth to her firstborn son, and he called his name Jesus.

51.5.8 | τοῦ δὲ Ἰησοῦ γεννηθέντος, φησὶν, ἐν Βηθλεὲμ τῆς Ἰουδαίας ἐν ἡμέραις Ἡρώδου τοῦ βασιλέως, ἰδοὺ μάγοι ἀπὸ ἀνατολῶν παρεγένοντο εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ λέγοντες, ποῦ ἐστὶν ὁ τεχθεὶς βασιλεὺς τῶν Ἰουδαίων; εἶδομεν γὰρ τὸν ἀστέρα αὐτοῦ ἐν τῇ ἀνατολῇ καὶ ἦλθομεν προσκυνῆσαι αὐτῷ.

51.5.8 | And Jesus being born, he says, in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, look, wise men from the east came to Jerusalem saying, “Where is the one born king of the Jews? For we saw his star in the east and we came to worship him.”

51.5.9 | ποῦ οὖν ἡ πραγματεία τοῦ Ζαχαρίου, ποῦ τὰ τῷ Λουκᾷ πεπραγματευμένα; ποῦ ἡ ὁπτασία τοῦ ἀγγέλου; ποῦ ἡ προφητεία Ἰωάννου τοῦ βαπτιστοῦ; ποῦ ἡ τοῦ Ζαχαρίου ἐπιτίμησις, τοῦ μὴ δύνασθαι αὐτὸν λαλεῖν ἄχρις οὔ γένηται τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ ἀγγέλου λελαλημένα;

51.5.9 | Where then is the story of Zacharias, where the things done by Luke? Where is the vision of the angel? Where is the prophecy of John the Baptist? Where is the rebuke of Zacharias, that he could not speak until the things spoken by the angel happened?

51.5.10 | Where are the things said by Gabriel to the virgin? Where is the showing of Mary’s calmness, her answering the angel with understanding, as she asked, “How will this be, since I do not know a man?” And the clear, exact explanation, as he said to her, “The Spirit of the Lord will come on you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you”?

Section 6

51.6.1 | 6. Τί οὖν ἐροῦμεν; ἐπεὶ μὴ κατήγγειλεν ὁ Ματθαῖος τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ Λουκᾶ ῥηθέντα, ἄρα ἀσύμφωνος εἶη ὁ ἅγιος Ματθαῖος πρὸς τῆς ἀλήθειαν; ἢ οὐκ ἀληθεύει ὁ ἅγιος Λουκᾶς, εἰπὼν <οὐδὲν>; περὶ τῶν πρώτων τῶ Ματθαίῳ πεπραγματευμένων;

51.6.1 | So what shall we say? Since Matthew did not report the things said by Luke, is holy Matthew then not agreeing with the truth? Or is holy Luke not telling the truth, saying nothing about the first things done by Matthew?

51.6.2 | οὐχὶ ἐκάστῳ ἐμέρισεν ὁ θεός, ἵνα οἱ τέσσαρες εὐαγγελισταὶ ὀφείλοντες κηρῆσαι εὖρωσιν ἕκαστος τί ἐργάσωνται καὶ τὰ μὲν συμφώνως καὶ ἴσως κηρύξωσιν, ἵνα δείξωσιν ὅτι ἐκ τῆς αὐτῆς πηγῆς ὥρμηνται, τὰ δὲ ἐκάστῳ παραλειφθέντα ἄλλος διηγήσεται, ὥς ἔλαβε παρὰ τοῦ πνεύματος μέρος τῆς ἀναλογίας; τί δὲ ποιήσωμεν;

51.6.2 | Did God not give to each one a part, so that the four evangelists, each needing to proclaim, might find what each should work on and preach some things alike and maybe the same, to show that they came from the same source, but other things left out by each one another might tell, as each received from the spirit a share of the message? What then shall we do?

51.6.3 | Ματθαίου μὲν κηρύττοντος ἐν Βηθλεὲμ τὴν Μαριάμ γεγεννηκέναι, κατὰ <τε>; τὰς παρ' αὐτῷ γενεαλογίας ἀπὸ Ἀβραάμ καὶ Καὶδ * τὴν ἔνσαρκον Χριστοῦ θεοφάνειαν, ὥς οὐχ

51.6.3 | While Matthew was preaching in Bethlehem that Mary had given birth, according to the genealogies from Abraham and David, the visible showing of Christ's incarnation, as not...

51.6.4 | εὐρίσκεται ὁ ἅγιος Μάρκος ταῦτα λέγων, ἀλλὰ ἀπὸ τῆς ἐν τῷ Ἰορδάνῃ πραγματείας ποιεῖται τὴν εἰσαγωγὴν τοῦ εὐαγγελίου καὶ φησιν »ἀρχὴ τοῦ εὐαγγελίου, ὥς γέγραπται ἐν Ἰσαΐα τῷ προφήτῃ, φωνὴ βοῶντος ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ«, *.

51.6.4 | The holy Mark is not found saying these things, but he makes the introduction of the gospel from the events at the Jordan and says, "The beginning of the gospel, as it is written in Isaiah the prophet, a voice crying out in the wilderness."

51.6.5 | οὕτω καὶ τὰ τῷ ἐγίῳ Ἰωάννῃ πεπραγματευμένα καὶ ἐν ἁγίῳ πνεύματι ἡσφαλισμένα τὴν φροντίδα ἔσχεν, οὐ περὶ τῶν ἤδη κεκηρυγμένων πολλάκις μόνον

51.6.5 | In the same way, the things done by John the Baptist and secured by the holy spirit were his concern, not only to speak about what had already been preached λέγειν, ἀλλὰ περὶ τῶν ἀναγκαίως ὑπὸ τῶν ἄλλων εἰς αὐτὸν κηρυγμάτων καταλειφθέντων.

many times, but about those things necessarily left to him by the others' preaching.

51.6.6 | Ἡ γὰρ πᾶσα τῶν εὐαγγελίων ὑπόθεσις τοιοῦτον εἶχε τὸν τρόπον. Ματθαίου μὲν γὰρ κекηρυχότος τὸν Χριστὸν γεννηθέντα καὶ ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου συλληφθέντα, ἐκ σπέρματός <τε> Δαυὶδ καὶ Ἀβραάμ κατὰ σάρκα οἰκονομηθέντα, πλάνη τις γεγένηται τοῖς μὴ νενοηκόσιν (οὐ τοῦ εὐαγγελίου αἰτίου ὄντος αὐτοῖς εἰς τὸ πλανηθῆναι, ἀλλὰ τῆς αὐτῶν διανοίας πεπλανημένης) τὰ εἰς παράστασιν τῆς περὶ τῶν αὐτῶν πληροφορίας ἀπὸ τοῦ εὐαγγελίου καλῇ ὑπονοίᾳ ἐπινενοημένα.

51.6.6 | For the whole story of the gospels had this kind of way. For Matthew preached Christ as born and conceived by the holy spirit, managed according to the flesh from the seed of David and Abraham. A certain mistake has happened to those who have not understood (not because the gospel is the cause of their being mistaken, but because their own mind is mistaken) about the details of the information concerning these things, which are well hinted at in the gospel's presentation.

51.6.7 | ἔνθεν γὰρ οἱ περὶ Κήρινθον καὶ Ἐβίωνα ψιλὸν αὐτὸν ἄνθρωπον κατέσχον καὶ * Μήρινθον καὶ Κλεόβιον εἴτ' οὖν Κλεόβουλον καὶ Κλαύδιον καὶ Δημᾶν καὶ Ἑρμογένην, τοὺς ἀγαπήσαντας τὸν ἐνταῦθα αἰῶνα καταλείψαντας τὴν ὁδὸν τῆς ἀληθείας.

51.6.7 | For from there, those about Cerinthus and Ebion held him as a mere man, and [also] Merinthus and Cleobius, or Cleobulus and Claudius and Demas and Hermogenes, who loved the age here and left behind the way of truth.

51.6.8 | ἀντιλέγοντες γὰρ τοῖς τοῦ κυρίου μαθηταῖς κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ ἀπὸ τῆς κατὰ τὸν Ἀβραάμ καὶ Δαυὶδ γενεαλογίας τὴν αὐτῶν ἄνοιαν παριστᾶν ἐπειρῶντο, οὐ καλῶς μὲν οἰόμενοι, πλὴν ἐντεῦθεν τὴν πρόφασιν θηρώμενοι.

51.6.8 | For opposing the Lord's disciples at that time, they tried to show their foolishness from the genealogy according to Abraham and David, not thinking rightly, but only looking for an excuse there.

51.6.9 | ἀντελέγοντο γὰρ πολλάκις ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου Ἰωάννου καὶ τῶν ἀμφ' αὐτόν, Λευκίου καὶ ἄλλων πολλῶν, παρατρίψασα δὲ ἑαυτῆς τὸ μέτωπον ἢ ἀναισχυντία τὰ

51.6.9 | For they were often contradicted by the holy John and those around him, Lucius and many others, but shamelessness, rubbing its own forehead, tried eagerly to bring upon itself its own ἐαυτῆς κακὰ ἐπισπᾶσθαι ἐφιλοτιμήσατο.

evils.

51.6.10 | εὐθὺς δὲ μετὰ τὸν Ματθαῖον ἀκόλουθος γενόμενος ὁ Μάρκος τῷ ἁγίῳ Πέτρῳ ἐν Ῥώμῃ ἐπιτρέπεται τὸ εὐαγγέλιον ἐκθέσθαι καὶ γράψας ἀποστέλλεται ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου Πέτρου εἰς τὴν τῶν Αἰγυπτίων χώραν.

51.6.10 | Right after Matthew, Mark became a follower of holy Peter in Rome, and he was allowed to write the gospel, and after writing it, he was sent by holy Peter to the land of the Egyptians.

51.6.11 | οὗτος δὲ εἷς ἐτύχανεν ἐκ τῶν ἑβδομήκοντα δύο, τῶν διασκορπισθέντων ἐπὶ τῷ ῥήματι ᾧ εἶπεν ὁ κύριος »ἐάν μή τις φήγῃ μου τὴν σάρκα καὶ πῖν μου τὸ αἷμα, οὐκ ἔστι μου ἄξιος«, ὥς τοῖς τὰ εὐαγγέλις ἀναγνοῦσι σαφὴς <εἶη> ἡ παράστασις· ὁμῶς διὰ Πέτρου ἐπανακάμψας εὐαγγελίζεσθαι καταξιοῦται, πνεύματι ἁγίῳ ἐμπεφορημένος.

51.6.11 | This one was one of the seventy-two, those scattered by the word which the lord said, "If anyone does not eat my flesh and drink my blood, he is not worthy of me," so that the reading of the gospel might be clear; yet through Peter, returning, he is considered worthy to preach the gospel, filled with the holy spirit.

51.6.12 | ἄρχεται δὲ κηρύττειν ὅθεν τὸ πνεῦμα αὐτῷ παρεκελεύσατο, τὴν ἀρχὴν τάττων ἀπὸ πεντεκαιδεκάτου ἔτους Τιβερίου Καίσαρος, μετὰ ἔτη τριάκοντα τῆς τοῦ Ματθαίου πραγματείας.

51.6.12 | He begins to preach where the spirit urged him, setting the start from the fifteenth year of Tiberius Caesar, after thirty years of Matthew's work.

51.6.13 | δευτέρου δὲ γενομένου εὐαγγελιστοῦ καὶ γῇ περὶ τῆς ἁνωθεν καταγωγῆς τοῦ θεοῦ Λόγου τηλαυγῶς σημήναντος, ἀλλὰ πάντῃ μὲν ἐμφαντικῶς, οὐ μὴν κατὰ ἀκριβολογίαν τοσαύτην, γέγονε τοῖς προειρημένοις ἡπατημένοις εἰς δεύτερον σκότῳ τῶν διανοημάτων τοῦ μὴ καταξιοθῆναι πρὸς φωτισμὸν τοῦ εὐαγγελίου·

51.6.13 | When a second evangelist appeared, and the earth clearly showed the heavenly origin of the word of God, though everywhere plainly, yet not with such exact wording, to those mentioned before, deceived, there came a second confusion of thoughts because they were not worthy to be enlightened by the gospel.

51.6.14 | λεγόντων αὐτῶν ὅτι ἰδοὺ καὶ

51.6.14 | They said that here is a second δεύτερον εὐαγγέλιον περὶ Χριστοῦ σημαῖνον καὶ οὐδαμοῦ ἄνωθεν λέγον τὴν γέννησιν ἀλλὰ, φησὶν, ἐν τῷ Ἰορδάνῃ κατήλθεν τὸ πνεῦμα ἐπ’ αὐτὸν καὶ * φωνή· οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ υἱός μου ὁ ἀγαπητός, ἐφ’ ὃν ἡύδόκησα.

gospel about Christ, and nowhere does it say his birth is from above, but, he says, the spirit came down on him at the Jordan, and a voice said, ‘This is my beloved son, in whom I am pleased.’

Section 7

51.7.1 | 7. Ἐπειδὴ δὲ ταῦτα οὕτως ἐν τοῖς τοιούτοις ἀνοήτοις ἐτελεῖτο, ἀναγκάζει τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα καὶ ἐπινύττει τὸν ἅγιον Λουκᾶν ὡς ἀπὸ βάθους κατωτάτου τὴν διάνοιαν τῶν ἡπατημένων ἀνενέγκει καὶ τὰ ὑπὸ τῶν ἄλλων καταλειφθέντα αὐθις ἐπιβάλλεσθαι.

51.7.1 | 7. And since these things were happening like this among such foolish people, the holy spirit forces and urges the holy Luke to bring up from the very bottom the thoughts of those deceived, and to add again what was left out by the others.

51.7.2 | ἵνα δὲ μή τις τῶν πεπλανημένων ἡγήσεται μυθωδῶς αὐτὸν ἐκφράσαι τὴν γέννησιν, ἐπὶ τὰ ἄνω ἀναφέρει τὸ ἔρηρον,

51.7.2 | So that no one among the deceived might be led astray by telling stories when he speaks of the birth, he points upward to the desert,

51.7.3 | διὰ δὲ τὴν ἀκρίβειαν ἀληθείας ἐμμάρτυρας τοὺς ὑπηρέτας τοῦ λόγου γενομένους παρειαγάγει φάσκων »ἐπειδὴ περ πολλοὶ ἐπεχείρησαν«, ἵνα τινὰς μὲν ἐπιχειρητὰς δείξῃ, φημὶ δὲ τοὺς περὶ Κήρινθον καὶ Μήρινθον καὶ τοὺς ἄλλους·

51.7.3 | But for the sake of exact truth, he brings in as witnesses the servants of the message, saying, “Since many have tried,” to show some of the ones who tried, I say those around Cærinthus and Mærinthus and the others;

51.7.4 | εἴτα τίφησιν; »ἔδοξε κάμοι καθεξῆς παρηκολουθηκότι ἄνωθεν τοῖς αὐτόπταις καὶ ὑπηρέταις τοῦ λόγου γενομένοις γράψαι σοι, κράτιστε θεόφιλε (εἴτ’ οὖν τινὶ θεοφίλῳ τότε γράφων τοῦτο ἔλεγεν ἢ παντὶ ἀνθρώπῳ θεὸν ἀγαπῶντι), ἵνα ἐπιγνῶς περὶ ὧν, φησί, κατηχήθης λόγων τὴν ἀσφάλειαν·

51.7.4 | Then he says; “It seemed good to me also, having carefully followed from the beginning the eyewitnesses and the servants of the message, to write to you, most excellent Theophilus (whether then he was writing to some Theophilus or to every person loving God), so that you may know the certainty of the words about which, you say, you were taught.”

51.7.5 | καὶ τὴν μὲν κατήχησιν προτεταγμένην ἔφασκεν, ὡς ἤδη ὑπὸ ἄλλων μὲν κεκατηχήσθαι, οὐκ ἀσφαλῶς δὲ παρ’ αὐτῶν μεμαθῆναι τὴν ἀκρίβειαν.

51.7.5 | And he said that the teaching already given had been taught by others, but not learned from them with certainty.

51.7.6 | εἰτά φησιν »ἐγένετο ἐν ἡμέραις Ἡρώδου τοῦ βασιλέως ἐξ ἐφημερίας Ἀβιά τοῦ ἀρχιερέως ἱερεὺς τις ὀνόματι Ζαχαρίας καὶ γυνὴ αὐτῷ ἐκτῶν θυγατέρων Ἀαρών, ἥ ὄνομα Ἐλισάβετ«.

51.7.6 | Then he says, “In the days of Herod the king, there was a priest named Zechariah from the division of Abijah, and his wife was from the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth.”

51.7.7 | καὶ ἄρχεται πρὸ τοῦ Ματθαίου· ὁ μὲν γὰρ Ματθαῖος ἐσήμανε τριακονταετὴ χρόνον ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς, ὁ δὲ Μάρκος τὰ μετὰ τὰ τριακοντα ἔτη ἔτατεν, τὴν ἐν τῷ Ἰορδάνῃ γενομένην ἐν ἀληθείᾳ πραγματείαν, ὅμοια τῷ Ματθαίῳ καὶ τῷ Λουκᾷ.

51.7.7 | And it begins before Matthew; for Matthew marked thirty years from the start, but Mark placed the events after the thirty years, the true account that happened in the Jordan, similar to Matthew and Luke.

51.7.8 | ὁ δὲ ματθαῖος ἀπὸ τριακονταετοῦς χρόνου πρὸ τῆς ἐν τῷ Ἰορδάνῃ καὶ τοῦ βαπτίσματος πραγματείας τὸ διήγημα ἐποιεῖτο· Λουκᾶς δὲ πρὸ τοῦ χρόνου τοῦ συλληφθῆναι τὸν σωτῆρα ἐν γαστρὶ ἀπὸ ἑξ μηνῶν τὸν χρόνον ἐδήλου, καὶ ἐννέα μηνῶν πάλιν καὶ ὀλίγων ἡμερῶν τῆς συλλήψεως τοῦ κυρίου, ὡς εἶναι τὸν πάντα χρόνον τριακοντα ἐν ἔτος καὶ ἐπέκεινα.

51.7.8 | But Matthew made the story from thirty years before the account in the Jordan and the baptism; Luke showed the time before the Savior was conceived in the womb by six months, and again nine months and a few days from the Lord’s conception, so that the whole time was thirty-one years and after.

51.7.9 | διηγεῖται δὲ καὶ τὴν τῶν ποιμένων διὰ [τὴν] τῶν εὐαγγελισαμένων ἀγγέλων θεοπτίαν, καὶ ὡς ἐγεννήθη ἐν Βηθλεὲμ καὶ ἐσπαργανώθη ἐν φάτνῃ καὶ τῇ ὀγδόῃ περιετμήθη, καὶ ὡς ἐν τεσσαράκοντα ἡμέραις κατὰ τὸν νόμον προσφορὰν ὑπὲρ

51.7.9 | He also tells about the shepherds seeing God through the angels who brought the good news, and how he was born in Bethlehem and wrapped in swaddling clothes in a manger, and on the eighth day he was circumcised, and how after forty days they made the offering for him according to the law, and how Simeon held him in his arms, and how Anna, the daughter of Phanuel, gave thanks, and how he went to Nazareth, and how every year he went up to Jerusalem with his parents to do what the law required for him, which Matthew did not include, nor Mark, nor even John.

Section 8

51.8.1 | 8. ὅθεν καὶ τινες ἄλλοι ἐξ Ἑλλήνων φιλοσόφων, φημὶ δὲ Πορφύριος καὶ Κέλσος καὶ φιλοσαββάτιος, ὁ ἐκ τῶν Ἰουδαίων ὀρμώμενος δεινὸς καὶ ἀπατεῶν πραγματείας διεξιόντες ἀνατροπὴν τῶν ἀγίων εὐαγγελιστῶν κατηγοροῦσι, ψυκικοὶ καὶ σαρκικοὶ ὑπάρχοντες, κατὰ σάρκα δὲ στρατευόμενοι καὶ θεῷ εὐαρεστῆσαι ἀδυνάτως ἔχοντες καὶ τὰ διὰ τοῦ πνεύματος <εἰρημένα>

51.8.1 | From this, some other Greek philosophers, I say Porphyry and Celsus and Philosabbathaeus, who came from the Jews and were terrible and deceitful snakes, going against the gospel story, accuse the holy evangelists, being natural and fleshly, fighting according to the flesh and unable to please God, and the things said through the spirit.

51.8.2 | μὴ νενοηκότες. ἕκαστος γὰρ <αὐτῶν> προσκόπτων τοῖς λόγοις τῆς ἀληθείας διὰ τὴν ἐν αὐτῷ τύφλωσιν τῆς ἀγνώσεως, εἰς τοῦτο ἐμπίπτοντες ἔλεγον· πῶς δύναται ἡ αὐτὴ ἡμέρα [εἶναι] τῆς ἐν Βηθλεὲμ γεννήσεως αὐτῇ καὶ περιτομῇ ἔχειν ὀκταήμερον καὶ διὰ τεσσαράκοντα ἡμερῶν τὴν ἐν Ἱεροσολύμοις ἄνοδον καὶ τὰ ἀπὸ Συμεῶνος καὶ Ἄννας εἰς αὐτὸν τετελεσμένα, ὁπότε ἐν τῇ

51.8.2 | not understanding. For each of them, stumbling over the words of truth because of the blindness of ignorance in them, fell into this and said: how can the same day be both the birth in Bethlehem and the circumcision on the eighth day, and after forty days the going up to Jerusalem and the things done for him by Simeon and Anna, all at once?

51.8.3 | νυκτικὴ ἢ ἐγεννήθη πέφηνεν αὐτῷ, φησὶν, ἄγγελος, μετὰ τὴν τῶν μάγων ἔλευσιν τῶν ἐλθόντων προσκυνῆσαι αὐτῷ καὶ ἀνοιξάντων τὰς πύρας καὶ

51.8.3 | He was born at night, an angel said to him, after the coming of the wise men who came to worship him and opened their treasures and offered gifts. As it says, “An προσενεγκάντων, ὥς φησιν »ῥωθη αὐτῷ ἄγγελος λέγων· ἀναστὰς λάβε τὴν γυναῖκά σου καὶ τὸ παιδίον, καὶ πορεύου εἰς Αἴγυπτον, ὅτι ζητεῖ Ἡρώδης τὴν ψυκὴν τοῦ παιδίου».

angel appeared to him saying: get up, take your wife and the child, and go to Egypt, because Herod is seeking the child's life."

51.8.4 | εἰ τοίνυν ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ νυκτὶ ἣ γεγέννηται παρλήφθη εἰς Αἴγυπτον καὶ ἐκεῖ ἦν, ἕως ὅτου ἀπέθανεν Ἡρώδης, πόθεν δύναται ἐπιμεῖναι [καὶ] ὀκταήμερον καὶ περιτμηθῆναι; ἢ πῶς μετὰ τεσσαράκοντα * εὐρίσκεται Λουκᾶς ψευδόμενος, ὥς φασὶ βλασφημοῦντες κατὰ τῆς ἑαυτῶν κεφαλῆς, ὅτι φησὶν »ἐν τῇ τεσσαρακοστῇ ἡμέρᾳ ἀνήνεγκαν αὐτὸν εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ κάκεῖθεν <ὑπέστρεψαν> εἰς Ναζαρέτ«;

51.8.4 | If then he was born on that very night and taken to Egypt and stayed there until Herod died, how can he stay and be circumcised on the eighth day? Or how can Luke be found lying after forty days, as those who blaspheme against their own head say, because he says, "On the fortieth day they brought him to Jerusalem and from there returned to Nazareth"?

51.9.1 | Καὶ οὐκ οἶδασιν οἱ ἀγνωσίᾳ κατεχόμενοι τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος τὴν δύναμιν· ἐκάστῳ γὰρ τῶν εὐαγγελιστῶν ἐδωρήσατο ἐκάστου χρόνου καὶ καιροῦ διηγεῖσθαι τὰ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ πληρωθέντα. καὶ ὁ μὲν Ματθαῖος διηγησάμενος μόνον ὅτι ἐγεννήθη ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ καὶ ὅτι συνελήφθη ἄνευ σπέρματος ἀνδρός, οὐδὲν περὶ περιτομῆς εἶπεν οὐδὲ περὶ τῶν δύο ἐτῶν τι τῶν εἰς αὐτὸν μετὰ τὴν γέννησιν γεγεννημένων, ἀλλὰ διηγεῖται τὴν ἔλευσιν τῶν μάγων,

51.9.1 | And those held back by ignorance of the holy spirit do not know its power. For to each of the gospel writers he gave the gift to tell the truth about what happened in each time and season. And Matthew, telling only that he was born by the holy spirit and conceived without a man's seed, said nothing about circumcision or about the two years after his birth, but he tells the story of the coming of the wise men.

51.9.2 | ὥς ἐπιμαρτυρεῖ ἡμῖν ὁ ἀληθὴς τοῦ θεοῦ λόγος, ἐρωτῶντος τοῦ Ἡρώδου παρὰ τῶν μάγων τὸν χρόνον καὶ ἡκριβωκότος τοῦ φαινομένου ἀστέρος, καὶ τῶν μάγων τὴν ἀπόκρισιν, ὅτι ἀπὸ δύο ἐτῶν καὶ κατωτέρω· ὥς μὴ εἶναι τὸν χρόνον τοῦτον τὸν τῷ Λουκᾷ πεπραγματευμένον.

51.9.2 | As the true word of God testifies to us, when Herod asked the wise men about the time and carefully examined the star that appeared, and the wise men answered that it was from two years old and younger, so that this time is not the one Luke described.

51.9.3 | ἀλλ' ὁ μὲν Λουκᾶς τὰ πρὸ <τῶν> δύο ἐτῶν διηγείται, Ματθαῖος δὲ εἰπὼν τὴν γέννησιν ἀπεπήδησεν εἰς τὸν διετὴ χρόνον καὶ ἐδήλωσε τὰ γενόμενα μετὰ <τὰ> δύο ἔτη.

51.9.3 | But Luke tells about the time before two years, while Matthew, after saying the birth, jumps to the two-year time and shows what happened after two years.

51.9.4 | διὸ καὶ ὁ Ἡρώδης διανοηθεὶς τοῦτο μετὰ τὸ ἀπονεῦσαι τοὺς μάγους δι' ἑτέρας ὁδοῦ ᾠήθη ἐν τῷ πλήθει τῶν παίδων καὶ αὐτὸν <τὸν> γεννηθέντα εὐρεθήσεσθαι καὶ σὺν αὐτοῖς ἀποκτείνυσθαι.

51.9.4 | Therefore, Herod, thinking this after sending the wise men away by another route, thought that the child born would be found among the many children and killed along with them.

51.9.5 | ἐκέλευσε γὰρ τοὺς ἐν τοῖς ὁρίοις Βηθλεὲμ παῖδας ἀποκτανθῆναι, τοὺς ἀπὸ δύο ἐτῶν καὶ κατωτέρω, ἕως αὐτῆς τῆς ἡμέρας ἧς οἱ μάγοι παρ' αὐτῷ ἐγένοντο. ἔθεν οὖν τίς οὐ φανεῖται ὅτι ὅτε ἦλθον οἱ μάγοι δύο ἦν ἐτῶν ὁ παῖς γεγεννημένος;

51.9.5 | For he ordered the children in the region of Bethlehem to be killed, those from two years old and younger, up to the very day when the wise men came to him.
So from this, how is it not clear that when the wise men came, the child had been born two years before?

51.9.6 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ αὐτὴ ἡ πραγματεία τὴν πάσαν ἀκρίβειαν σαφηνίζει. ὁ μὲν γὰρ Λουκᾶς λέγει ἐσπαργανῶσθαι τὸν παῖδα εὐδὺς γεγεννημένον καὶ κεῖσθαι ἐν φάτνῃ καὶ ἐν σπηλαίῳ διὰ τὸ μὴ εἶναι τόπον ἐν τῷ καταλύματι.

51.9.6 | And indeed, the whole account makes everything clear with exactness. For Luke says the child, having been born, was wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger and in a cave because there was no place in the inn.

51.9.7 | ἀπογραφὴ γὰρ τότε ἦν καὶ οἱ διασκορπισθέντες ἀπὸ τοῦ χρόνου τῶν πολέμων τῶν ἐπὶ τοῖς Μακκαβαίοις γεγονότων ἐπὶ τὰ πανταχοῦ γῆς διεσκορπίσθησαν καὶ ὀλίγοι παντελῶς ἔμειναν ἐν Βηθλεὲμ κατοικοῦντες· διὸ ἐν τινὶ τῶν ἀντιγράφων τῶν εὐαγγελιστῶν καλεῖται πόλις τοῦ Δαυίδ, ἐν ἄλλῳ δὲ

51.9.7 | For there was a census then, and those scattered from the time of the wars during the Maccabees had spread out all over the earth, and very few remained living in Bethlehem; therefore, in one copy of the Gospels it is called the city of David, but in another it is called a village because κώμην αὐτὴν φάσκει διὰ τὸ εἰς ὀλίγην γῆν αὐτὴν ἠκέναι.

it had come to be a small land.

51.9.8 | ὅτε δὲ γέγονε τὸ κέλευσμα Αὐγούστου τοῦ βασιλέως καὶ ἀνάγκην ἔσχον οἱ διεσκορπισμένοι κατὰ τὰ αὐτῶν γένη ἐλθεῖν εἰς τὸν τόπον ἵνα ἀπογραφῶσιν, ἐπιρρέοντα τὰ πλήθη ἐνέπλησε τὸν τόπον καὶ οὐκ ἦν τόπος ἐν τῷ καταλύματι διὰ τὴν συνέχειαν.

51.9.8 | But when the order of Augustus the king happened, and those scattered by their clans had to come to the place to be registered, the flowing crowds filled the place, and there was no room in the inn because of the crowding.

51.9.9 | λοιπὸν δὲ μετὰ τὴν ἀπογραφὴν ἀπῆλθεν ἕκαστος ὅποι γῆς τὴν καταμονὴν τῆς κατοικήσεως εἶχε· διὸ καὶ πλάτος ἐτύγγανεν ἐν τῇ γῇ.

51.9.9 | Then after the census, each one went away to whatever land had the place for their living; therefore, there was also space in the land.

51.9.10 | ἐρχόμενοι δὲ ὡς εἰπεῖν μνήμης ἕνεκα τῶν ἐκεῖ γεγεννημένων & τοῦ & πρῶτου ἐνιαυτοῦ τελεσθέντος καὶ τοῦ δευτέρου πληρωθέντος ἦλθον οἱ γονεῖς ἐκεῖσε ἀπὸ τῆς Ναζαρέτ ὡς εἰς τὴν πανήγυριν ταύτην.

51.9.10 | Coming, as it were, for the sake of memory of those things that happened there, the first year having been completed and the second having been filled, the parents came there from Nazareth as to this festival.

51.9.11 | διὸ καὶ ἡ ἔλευσις τῶν μάγων γεγένηται κατὰ τὴν τοιαύτην συγκυρίαν οὐκέτι ἴσως πῃ ἐν τῇ καταλύσει τότε τῆς Μαρίας καὶ Ἰωσήφ διὰ τὴν τῆς ἀπογραφῆς παρουσίαν τῇ ὑπὸ τοῦ Λουκᾶ εἰρημένῃ. οὐ γὰρ ἡῦρον τὴν Μαριάμ ἐν τῷ σπηλαίῳ, ὅπου ἐγέννησεν· ἀλλὰ ὡς ἔχει τὸ εὐαγγέλιον, ὅτι ὠδήγει αὐτούς, φησίν,

51.9.11 | Therefore the coming of the magi happened at such a time, no longer perhaps at the lodging then of Mary and Joseph because of the census presence mentioned by Luke. For they did not find Mary in the cave where she gave birth; but as the gospel says, that he leads them, he says,

51.9.12 | ὁ ἀστήρ ἄχρι τοῦ τόπου οὗ ἦν ἐκεῖ τὸ παιδίον· καὶ εἰσελθόντες θόντες εἰς τὸν οἶκον ἡῦρον τὸ βρέφος μετὰ Μαρίας, οὐκέτι ἐν φάτνῃ οὐκέτι ἐν σπηλαίῳ, ἀλλὰ

51.9.12 | The star went ahead to the place where the child was. And entering the house, they found the baby with Mary, no longer in a manger, no longer in a cave, but

έν οίκῳ· ἵνα γνωσθῇ τῆς ἀληθείας ἡ ἀκρίβεια καὶ τοῦ χρόνου τῶν δύο ἐτῶν τὸ διάστημα, τουτέστιν ἐξότου ἐγεννήθη ἔως ὅτε παρεγένοντο οἱ μάγοι.

in a house; so that the exact truth and the time of the two years' span might be known—that is, from when he was born until the magi came.

51.9.13 | καὶ κατ' ἐκείνην τὴν νύκτα μετὰ δύο ἔτη τῆς γεννήσεως ὥφθη ὁ ἄγγελος καὶ εἶπε παραλαβεῖν τὴν μητέρα καὶ τὸ παιδίον εἰς γῆν Αἰγύπτου. διὸ οὐκέτι Ἰωσήφ ἀνακάμπει εἰς Ναζαρέτ, ἀλλὰ ἀποδιδράσκει ἅμα τῷ παιδί καὶ τῇ μητρὶ αὐτοῦ εἰς Αἴγυπτον καὶ ἄλλα δύο ἔτη ποιεῖ ἐκεῖδε· καὶ οὕτως πάλιν ὁ ἄγγελος μετὰ τὴν τοῦ Ἡρώδου τελευτὴν * ἐπιστρέφει ἐπὶ τὴν Ἰουδαίαν.

51.9.13 | And at that night, two years after the birth, the angel appeared and said to take the mother and the child into the land of Egypt. Therefore Joseph no longer returns to Nazareth, but escapes together with the child and his mother into Egypt, and stays there for another two years; and so again the angel, after the death of Herod, returns to Judea.

Section 10

51.10.1 | 10. Τῷ γὰρ τριακοστῷ τρίτῳ τοῦ Ἡρώδου γεννᾶται ὁ κύριος, τριακοστῷ πέμπτῳ ἦλθον οἱ μάγοι, τριακοστῷ ἐβδόμῳ ἔτει τελευτᾷ ὁ Ἡρώδης καὶ διαδέχεται Ἀρχέλαος ὁ υἱὸς αὐτοῦ τὸ βασιλεῖον, ποιήσας ἔτη ἑννέα βασιλεύων, καθάπερ μοι ἤδη ἐν ἄλλοις τόποις εἴρηται.

51.10.1 | For in the thirty-third year of Herod, the lord is born; in the thirty-fifth year, the magi came; in the thirty-seventh year, Herod dies, and Archelaus, his son, succeeds to the kingdom, ruling for nine years, just as I have already said in other places.

51.10.2 | ἀνεχώρησεν οὖν ἀκούσας περὶ Ἀρχελάου καὶ ἐλθὼν κατώκησεν εἰς Ναζαρέτ καὶ ἐκεῖθεν πάλιν κατ' ἔτος ἐνῆει εἰς Ἱερουσαλήμ.

51.10.2 | So he withdrew after hearing about Archelaus, and having come, he lived in Nazareth; and from there again each year he went to Jerusalem.

51.10.3 | ὁρᾷς ὅση τυγχάνει ἀκρίβεια ἐν τοῖς θείοις εὐαγγελίοις περὶ ἐκάστης πραγματείας. οἱ δὲ ἀγνοοῖα φερόμενοι, τὸν ἑαυτῶν νοῦν σκοτώσαντες οὐκ ἴσασι τὸ τέλος ἐκάστου λόγου, ἀλλὰ ἀπλῶς κατὰ τῶν ἁγίων &εὐαγγελιστῶν; ἐπαίρουσι τὸ στόμα καὶ χαλῶσι τὴν

51.10.3 | You see how much accuracy there is in the holy gospels about each story. But those carried away by ignorance, having killed their own mind, do not know the end of each word, but simply against the holy evangelists they raise their mouth and loosen their tongue, saying nothing in truth γλῶτταν, μηδὲν μὲν λέγοντες ἐν ἀληθείᾳ, ἐαυτοὺς δὲ τῆς ζωῆς ἀπαλλοτριοῦντες.

and losing their own life.

51.10.4 | Ἐνθεν γοῦν ὁ Λουκᾶς μετὰ τὸ διηγήσασθαι τὰ πρῶτα πάλιν λέγει πῶς ἐν τῷ δωδεκάτῳ ἔτει ἀνῆλθεν εἰς Ἱερουσαλήμ, ἵνα μὴ παραλείψῃ τόπον τοῖς νομίσασιν αὐτὸν ἀπλῶς ἄνδρα τέλειον ἐν κόσμῳ πεφηνέναι καὶ εἰς τὸν Ἰορδάνην πρὸς τὸν Ἰωάννην ἠκέναι, ὡς ὑπελήφθη ὑπὸ τε Κηρίνου καὶ Ἐβίωνος καὶ τῶν ἄλλων.

51.10.4 | From there then Luke, after telling the first things, again says how in the twelfth year he went up to Jerusalem, so that he would not leave out a place for those who thought him simply a perfect man in the world and that he came to the Jordan to John, as was boasted by Cerinthus and Ebion and the others.

51.10.5 | δεινὸς γὰρ ὁ ὄφεις σκαληνῶς διαβαίνων ἐν μιᾷ γνώμῃ οὐχ ἴσταται, ἀλλὰ τοῖς μὲν δοκεῖ ἐκ παρατριβῆς καὶ σπέρματος ἀνδρὸς γεγενῆσθαι, τοῖς δ' ἄλλοις ἀπλῶς ἄνθρωπος πεφηνέναι.

51.10.5 | For the serpent is terrible, moving crookedly in one direction and does not stand still, but to some it seems to have come from rubbing and the seed of a man, while to others it simply appears as a man.

51.10.6 | διὸ κατὰ τὸ λεπτὸν τὰ πάντα σηηγούμενοι οἱ ἅγιοι εὐαγγελισταὶ ἀκριβοῦσι. καὶ φύσει ὁ Λουκᾶς ὡς ἀπὸ κάτωθεν ἐπὶ τὰ ἄνω ἀναφέρων τὴν διάνοιαν φάσκει »ἦν δὲ Ἰησοῦς ἀρχόμενος εἶναι ὡς ἐτῶν τριάκοντα, ὧν υἱὸς ὡς ἐνομίζετο τοῦ Ἰωσήφ«.

51.10.6 | Therefore, keeping silent about the details, the holy evangelists make everything exact. And by nature, Luke, lifting his mind from below to above, says, “Jesus was about thirty years old when he began, being, as was thought, the son of Joseph.”

51.10.7 | τὸ δὲ νομίζεσθαι οὐκ ἀληθές ἐστίν, ἀλλὰ ἐν τάξει μὲν πατὴρ ἐτύχανεν ὁ Ἰωσήφ διὰ τὸ οὕτως τῷ θεῷ δεδόχθαι, οὐκ ἦν δὲ πατήρ ὁ μὴ πρὸς τὴν Μαριάμ ἐσχηκὼς συνάφειαν ἢ μόνον ὅτι ἀνὴρ ἐκλήθη διὰ τὸ μεμνηστεῦθαι πρεσβύτης ὀγδοήκοντα ἐτῶν που τυγχάνων πλείω ἐλάσσω καὶ ἔχων ἕξ υἱοὺς ἀπὸ τῆς ὄντως αὐτοῦ γαμετῆς πρώτης, ταύτην δὲ τὴν οἰκονομίαν παρειληφώς, ὡς καὶ ἄλλῃ που

51.10.7 | But the belief is not true; Joseph was in the line of fathers because this was accepted by God, but he was not a father who had a relationship with Mary, only called a husband because he was betrothed.
He was an old man, about eighty years old, probably older or younger, and had six sons from his first true wife. Having taken on this arrangement, I have gone into more detail about this elsewhere.

ἀκριβέστερον περὶ τούτου διήλθον.

51.10.8 | πῶς οὖν ὁ μὴ ἔχων συνάφειαν πατὴρ αὐτοῦ ἐτύγχανεν; ὅπερ ἀδύνατον.

51.10.8 | How then could he be called his father if he had no relationship with her? That is impossible.

Section 11

51.11.1 | 11. Ἀλλὰ ἐρεῖς μοι, πῶς οὖν ἀνήρ αὐτῆς ἐκέκλητο, εἰ μὴ ἔσχε ταύτην; ὁ δὲ ταῦτα ἀμφιβάλλων ἀγνοεῖ τὰ κατὰ τὸν νόμον, ὅτι ἐξότε ὀνομάζεται γυνὴ ἀνδρί, κἂν τε παρθένος εἴη κἂν τε ἐν οἴκῳ πατρὸς ἔτι ὑπάρχει, γυνὴ τοῦ ὀνομασμένου λέγεται ἢ τοιαύτη· τούτου ἕνεκεν ὁ ἅγιος ἄγγελός φησι «μὴ φοβηθῆς παραλαβεῖν τὴν γυναῖκά σου».

51.11.1 | But you will say to me, how then was the man called her husband if he did not have her? He who doubts this does not know the law, that a woman is called a wife of a man, even if she is a virgin and still lives in her father's house; such a woman is called the wife of the man named. Because of this, the holy angel says, "Do not be afraid to take your wife."

51.11.2 | καὶ ἵνα μὴ τις νομίσῃ ὅτι πλάνη τις <ἐστίν> ἐν τοῖς εὐαγγελίοις — ἐκπληκτον γὰρ τὸ μυστήριον καὶ ἡ διήγησις ὑπὲρ ἀνθρώπων, μόνοις δὲ τοῖς υἱοῖς τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος ἐστι πᾶσα λεία τε καὶ πεφωτισμένη —,

51.11.2 | And so that no one thinks there is some mistake in the gospels — for the mystery is amazing and the story beyond human understanding, and only the children of the holy spirit have all the right and clear understanding —

51.11.3 | <φησί> «ἦν ὡς ἐτῶν τριάκοντα, ὡς ἐνομίζετο υἱὸς τοῦ Ἰωσήφ τοῦ Ἡλὶ τοῦ Ματθάν», καὶ ἀναφέρει τὴν γέννησιν ἐπὶ τὸν Ἀβραάμ, ὅθεν καὶ ὁ Ματθαῖος ἐνήρξατο, ὑπερβαίνει δὲ τὸν Νῶε καὶ φθάνει ἐπὶ τὸν Ἀδάμ, ἵνα τὸν ἀπὸ πρώτης πλασθέντα σημάνῃ, ζητούμενον διὰ τοῦ ἀπὸ τοῦ φυράματος αὐτοῦ ἐλθόντος τουτέστιν ἀπὸ τῆς ἁγίας παρθένου Μαρίας.

51.11.3 | He says, "he was about thirty years old, as he was thought to be the son of Joseph, son of Eli, son of Matthan," and he traces the birth back to Abraham, where Matthew also began. He goes beyond Noah and reaches Adam, to show the one created first, who is sought through the one coming from his seed—that is, from the holy virgin Mary.

51.11.4 | ἦλθε γὰρ δι' ἐκεῖνον τὸν ποτε

51.11.4 | For he came through that one πλασθέντα καὶ τοὺς ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ γεγεννημένους, θέλοντας ζωὴν αἰώνιον κληρονομήσαι· ὑπερβὰς δὲ τὸν Ἀδὰμ λέγει »τοῦ θεοῦ«.

once created and those born from him, wanting to inherit eternal life; and going beyond Adam, he says “of God.”

51.11.5 | ἐντεῦθεν λοιπὸν ἦν φανερώτατον ὅτι τοῦ μὲν θεοῦ ἦν υἱός, διὰ δὲ τοῦ σπέρματος τοῦ Ἀδὰμ κατὰ διαδοχὴν ἐν σαρκὶ παρεγένετο. ἀλλὰ οὐκ ἔσχον πάλιν φωτισμὸν οἱ πεπλανημένοι, ἀντέλεγον δὲ τῷ λόγῳ, ἑαυτοὺς πλανῶντες· καὶ τὸ ψεῦδος ἀγαπῶντες· ὑπὲρ τὴν ἀλήθειαν.

51.11.5 | From there on, it was very clear that he was the son of God, but through the seed of Adam, he came in the flesh in order.
Yet the confused did not have understanding again; they argued against the word, deceiving themselves and loving falsehood more than the truth.

51.11.6 | ἔφασκον δὲ ὅτι ἰδοὺ ἰδοὺ τρίτον εὐαγγέλιον τὸ κατὰ Δουκᾶν. τοῦτο γὰρ ἐπετράπη τῷ Δουκᾷ, ὅντι καὶ αὐτῷ ἀπὸ τῶν ἑβδομήκοντα δύο τῶν διασκορπισθέντων ἐπὶ τῷ τοῦ σωτῆρος λόγῳ, διὰ δὲ Παύλου τοῦ ἁγίου πάλιν ἐπανακάμψαντι πρὸς τὸν κύριον ἐπιτραπένται τε αὐτοῦ κηρῦξαι τὸ εὐαγγέλιον.

51.11.6 | They said, “Look, look, here is the third gospel, the one according to Luke. For this was allowed to Luke, who was one of the seventy-two scattered over the word of the savior, and through Paul the holy one, who returned again to the lord, it was allowed for him to preach the gospel.”

51.11.7 | καὶ κηρύττει πρῶτον ἐν Δαλματία καὶ Γαλλίᾳ καὶ ἐν Ἰταλίᾳ καὶ Μακεδονίᾳ. ἀρχὴ δὲ ἐν τῇ Γαλλίᾳ, ὡς καὶ περὶ τινων τῶν αὐτοῦ ἀκολούθων λέγει ἐν ταῖς αὐτοῦ ἐπιστολαῖς ὁ αὐτὸς Παῦλος. »Κρήσκης, φησὶν, ἐν τῇ Γαλλίᾳ«. οὐ γὰρ ἐν τῇ Γαλατίᾳ, ὡς τινες πλανηθέντες νομίζουσιν, ἀλλὰ ἐν τῇ Γαλλίᾳ.

51.11.7 | And he first preaches in Dalmatia and Gaul and in Italy and Macedonia. But the beginning is in Gaul, as Paul himself says about some of his followers in his letters: “of Crescus,” he says, “in Gaul.” For not in Galatia, as some mistaken people think, but in Gaul.

Section 12

51.12.1 | 12. Πλὴν ἐπὶ τὸ προκείμενον ἐλεύσομαι. ἀνενέγκαντος γὰρ τοῦ Λουκᾶ τὰς γενεαλογίας ἀπὸ τῶν κάτω ἐπὶ τὰ ἄνω καὶ φθάσαντος τὴν ἔμφασιν ποιήσασθαι

51.12.1 | But now I will come to the main point. For Luke brought the genealogies from the bottom up and reached the emphasis on the presence of the Word of τῆς ἄνωθεν τοῦ θεοῦ Λόγου παρουσίας ὁμοῦ τε συναφθέντος τῇ ἐνσάρκῳ αὐτοῦ οἰκονομίᾳ, ἵνα ἀποτρέψῃται ἀπὸ τῶν πεπλανημένων τὴν πλάνην, οὐκ ἐνόησαν.

God from above, joined together with his coming in the flesh, so that he might turn away the error from those who were mistaken, but they did not understand.

51.12.2 | διὸ ὕστερον ἀναγκάζει τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα τὸν Ἰωάννην, παραιτούμενον εὐαγγελίσασθαι δι' εὐλάβειαν καὶ ταπεινοφροσύνην, ἐπὶ τῇ γηραλέᾳ αὐτοῦ ἡλικίᾳ μετὰ ἑτηένενήκοντα τῆς αὐτοῦ ζωῆς, μετὰ τὴν ἀπὸ τῆς Πάτμου ἐπάνοδον τὴν ἐπὶ Κλαυδίου γενομένην Καίσαρος καὶ μετὰ ἱκανὰ ἔτη τοῦ διατρίψαι αὐτὸν ἐπὶ τῆς Ἀσίας, [ἀναγκάζεται] ἐκθέσθαι τὸ εὐαγγέλιον.

51.12.2 | Therefore later the holy spirit forces John, who was refusing to preach out of reverence and humility, at his old age, ninety years of his life, after his return from Patmos during the reign of Claudius Caesar, and after spending enough years in Asia, to set forth the gospel.

51.12.3 | καὶ οὐκ ἦν αὐτῷ χρεια περὶ τῆς ἐνσάρκου παρουσίας λεπτολογεῖν· ἤδη γὰρ ἠσφάλιστο. ἀλλὰ ὡς κατόπιν τινῶν βαίνων καὶ ὁρῶν αὐτοὺς ἐπὶ τὰ ἔμπροσθεν ὄντας καὶ ἐπὶ τὰ τὰ τραχύτατα ἑαυτοὺς ἐκδεδωκότας καὶ πλάνα καὶ ἀκανθώδη, ἀνακαλέσασθαι αὐτοὺς εἰς εὐθεῖαν ὁδὸν προενοεῖτο καὶ ἀσφαλιζόμενος ἐπικηρυκεύσασθαι αὐτοῖς καὶ εἰπεῖν· τί πλανάσθε; ποῖ τρέπεσθε; ποῖ πλανᾶσθε, Κήρινθε καὶ Ἐβίων καὶ οἱ ἄλλοι; οὐκ ἔστιν οὕτως ὡς νομίζετε.

51.12.3 | And he had no need to go into detail about the coming in the flesh; for that was already settled. But as if following some people and seeing them looking ahead and having given themselves over to the roughest errors and thorns, he intended to call them back to the straight path and, being sure, to proclaim to them and say: 'Why do you wander? Where do you turn? Where do you wander, Cerinthus and Ebion and the others? It is not as you think.'

51.12.4 | ναί, ἐγεννήθη ὁ Χριστὸς κατὰ σάρκα δηλόν· ἰδοὺ γὰρ αὐτὸς ὁμολογῶ ὅτι ὁ Λόγος σὰρξ ἐγένετο. ἀλλὰ μὴ ἐξότε ἐγένετο σὰρξ, νομίσητε τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι· οὐκ ἔστι γὰρ ἀπὸ χρόνων Μαρίας μόνον, ὡς ἕκαστος ἡμῶν ἀφ' ὅτου γεννᾶται ὑπάρχει, πρὶν δὲ τοῦ γεννηθῆναι οὐκ ἔστιν.

51.12.4 | Yes, Christ was born in the flesh, that is clear; for see, I myself confess that the Word became flesh. But do not think that he became flesh only recently; it is not just from the time of Mary, as each of us exists from the time we are born, but before being born, we do not exist.

51.12.5 | ὁ δὲ ἅγιος θεὸς Λόγος, ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ

51.12.5 | But the holy God, the Word, the θεοῦ, ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, οὐκ ἔστιν ἀπὸ χρόνων Μαρίας μόνον οὔτε ἀπὸ χρόνων Ἰωσήφ μόνον, οὔτε Ἡλὶ οὔτε Λευὶ οὔτε Ζοροβάβελ οὔτε Σαλαθιήλ οὔτε Νάθαν οὔτε Δαυὶδ οὔτε ἀπὸ Ἰακώβ οὔτε ἀπὸ Ἰσαὰκ οὔτε ἀπὸ χρόνων τοῦ Ἀβραάμ οὔτε Νῶε οὔτε Ἀδὰμ οὔτε ἀπὸ τῆς πέμπτης ἡμέρας οὔτε ἀπὸ τῆς τετάρτης ἡμέρας οὔτε ἀπὸ τῆς τρίτης οὔτε ἐξότε ὁ κόσμος, ἀλλὰ »ἐν ἀρχῇ son of God, our Lord Jesus Christ, is not only from the time of Mary, nor only from the time of Joseph, nor from Eli, nor Levi, nor Zerubbabel, nor Salathiel, nor Nathan, nor David, nor from Jacob, nor from Isaac, nor from the time of Abraham, nor Noah, nor Adam, nor from the fifth day, nor from the fourth day, nor from the third, nor since the world, but ‘in the beginning...’

51.12.6 | ἦν ὁ Λόγος καὶ ὁ Λόγος ἦν πρὸς τὸν θεὸν καὶ θεὸς ἦν ὁ Λόγος. πάντα δι’ αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο, καὶ χωρὶς αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο οὐδὲ ἓν ὃ γέγονε» καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς. [»καὶ ὁ Λόγος σὰρξ ἐγένετο καὶ ἐσκήνωσεν ἐν ἡμῖν,

51.12.6 | The Word was, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. All things came into being through him, and without him not one thing came into being that has come to be. And the rest: ‘And the Word became flesh and lived among us,’

51.12.7 | And we saw him. Then there came a man sent from God, whose name was John. He came as a witness, to testify about the light, so that all might believe through him. He was not the light, but he came to testify about the light. The true light, which gives light to every person coming into the world, was in the world, and the world came into being through him, but the world did not know him. He came to his own, and his own did not receive him. But to all who received him, he gave the power to become children of God—who were born not from blood or flesh, but from God.

51.12.8 | καὶ ὁ Λόγος, φησί, σὰρξ ἐγένετο, καὶ κατεσκήνωσεν ἐν ἡμῖν. Ἰωάννης μαρτυρεῖ καὶ κέκραγε λέγων· οὗτος ἦν ὃν εἶπον ὑπὲρ» καὶ ὅτι »ἐκ τοῦ πληρώματος αὐτοῦ πάντες ἡμεῖς ἐλάβομεν«. καὶ λέγει

51.12.8 | And the Word, he says, became flesh and lived among us. John testifies and shouts, saying: ‘This is the one I spoke about.’ And that ‘from his fullness we all received.’ And he says, ‘I am not the Christ, »οὐκ εἰμὶ ἐγὼ ὁ Χριστός, ἀλλὰ φωνὴ βοῶντος ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ«.

but the voice of one crying out in the wilderness.'

Section 13

51.13.1 | 13. Καὶ ὅτε διήγηται ταῦτα πάντα, λέγει »ταῦτα ἐγένετο ἐν Βηθαβαρᾷ«· ἐν δὲ ἄλλοις ἀντιγράφοις »ἐν Βηθανίᾳ, πέραν τοῦ Ἰορδάνου«.

51.13.1 | And when he tells all these things, he says, 'These things happened in Bethabara'; but in other copies, 'in Bethany, beyond the Jordan.'

51.13.2 | καὶ μετὰ ταῦτα δείκνυσιν ὅτι εἶπον αὐτῷ οἱ ἀπὸ Ἰωάννου μαθηταί· »Ραββί, ποῦ μένεις; ὁ δὲ εἶπε· δεῦτε καὶ ἴδετε· καὶ ἀπῆλθον, καὶ παρ' αὐτῷ ἔμειναν τὴν ἡμέραν ἐκείνην.«

51.13.2 | And after these things, they show that the disciples of John said to him, 'Rabbi, where are you staying?' And he said,
'Come and see.' And they went and stayed with him that day.

51.13.3 | καὶ τῇ αὔριον, »ῥα ἦν ὥς δεκάτη, ἦν Ἀνδρέας ὁ ἀδελφὸς Σίμωνος Πέτρου, εἷς ἐκ τῶν δύο τῶν ἀκολουθησάντων αὐτῷ· εὕρισκει αὐτὸς πρῶτον τὸν ἀδελφὸν τὸν ἴδιον Σίμωνα καὶ λέγει αὐτῷ· εὕρηκαμεν Μεσσίαν, τὸν μεθερμηνευόμενον Χριστόν. οὗτος ἤγαγεν αὐτὸν πρὸς τὸν Ἰησοῦν. ἐμβλέψας αὐτῷ ὁ Ἰησοῦς εἶπε· σὺ εἶ Σίμων ὁ υἱὸς Ἰωνᾶ, σὺ κληθήσῃ Κηφᾶς, ὃ ἐρμηνεύεται Πέτρος.

51.13.3 | And the next day, about the tenth hour, Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, one of the two who followed him, finds his own brother Simon first and says to him, 'We have found the Messiah,' which means Christ. He brought him to Jesus. Looking at him, Jesus said, 'You are Simon, son of Jonah; you will be called Cephas,' which means Peter.

51.13.4 | τῇ ἐπαύριον ἠθέλησεν ἐξελθεῖν εἰς τὴν Γαλιλαίαν καὶ εὕρισκει Φίλιππον καὶ λέγει αὐτῷ ὁ Ἰησοῦς· ἀκολούθει μοι. ἦν δὲ Φίλιππος ἀπὸ Βηθσαιδᾶ, ἐκ τῆς πόλεως Ἀνδρέου καὶ Πέτρου. εὕρισκει Φίλιππος τὸν Ναθαναὴλ καὶ λέγει αὐτῷ· ὃν ἔγραψε μουσῆς ἐν τῷ νόμῳ καὶ οἱ προφῆται εὕρηκαμεν, Ἰησοῦν υἱὸν Ἰωσήφ τὸν ἀπὸ Ναζαρέτ. καὶ εἶπεν αὐτῷ Ναθαναὴλ· ἐκ Ναζαρέτ δύναταί τι ἀγαθὸν εἶναι; λέγει

51.13.4 | The next day he wanted to go out into Galilee and finds Philip and Jesus says to him, 'Follow me.' Philip was from Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.
Philip finds Nathanael and says to him, 'We have found the one Moses wrote about in the law and the prophets, Jesus, son of Joseph from Nazareth.' Nathanael said to him, 'Can anything good come from Nazareth?' Philip said to him, 'Come and αὐτῷ ὁ Φίλιππος· ἔρχου καὶ ἴδε.

see.'

51.13.5 | ἰδὼν δὲ ὁ Ἰησοῦς τὸν Ναθαναήλ ἐρχόμενον πρὸς αὐτὸν λέγει περὶ αὐτοῦ· ἴδε ἀληθῶς Ἰσραηλίτης, ἐν ᾧ δόλος οὐκ ἔστι. λέγει αὐτῷ Ναθαναήλ· πόθεν με γινώσκεις; ἀπεκρίθη Ἰησοῦς καὶ εἶπεν αὐτῷ, πρὸ τοῦ σε Φίλιππον φωνῆσαι ὄντα ὑπὸ τὴν συκὴν εἰδόν σε. ἀπεκρίθη αὐτῷ Ναθαναήλ καὶ εἶπε· Ῥαββί, σὺ εἶ ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ θεοῦ, σὺ εἶ ὁ βασιλεὺς τοῦ Ἰσραήλ.

51.13.5 | Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him and said about him, 'Look, truly an Israelite, in whom there is no deceit.' Nathanael said to him, 'How do you know me?' Jesus answered and said to him, 'Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you.' Nathanael answered him and said, 'Rabbi, you are the son of God, you are the king of Israel.'

51.13.6 | ἀπεκρίθη αὐτῷ ὁ Ἰησοῦς καὶ εἶπεν αὐτῷ· ὅτι εἰπόν σοι ὅτι εἶδόν σε ὑποκάτω τῆς συκῆς, πιστεύεις; μείζονα τούτων ὄψει. καὶ εἶπεν αὐτῷ· ἀμὴν ἀμὴν λέγω ὑμῖν, ὅψεσθε τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀνεωγμένον καὶ τοὺς ἀγγέλους τοῦ θεοῦ ἀναβαίνοντας καὶ καταβαίνοντας ἐπὶ τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου.

51.13.6 | Jesus answered him and said, 'Because I told you that I saw you under the fig tree, do you believe? You will see greater things than these.' And he said to him, 'Truly, truly, I say to you, you will see heaven opened and the angels of God going up and down on the Son of Man.'

51.13.7 | καὶ τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τῇ τρίτῃ γάμος ἐγένετο ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας· καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς, ἵνα δείξῃ μετὰ τὰς τεσσαράκοντα ἡμέρας τοῦ πειρασμοῦ καὶ μετὰ τὴν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ πειρασμοῦ ἐπάνοδον καὶ ὁρμὴν τὴν ἐπὶ Ναζαρέτ καὶ Γαλιλαίαν, ὡς οἱ ἄλλοι τρεῖς εὐαγγελισταὶ ἔφησαν, πάλιν ἐπὶ τὸν Ἰορδάνην αὐτὸν ἡκέναι·

51.13.7 | And on the third day there was a wedding in Cana of Galilee, and the following things, to show after the forty days of testing and after his return from the testing, the movement toward Nazareth and Galilee, as the other three evangelists said, that he came again to the Jordan.

51.13.8 | ὡς καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ λόγου Ἰωάννου δειχθήσεται, φήσαντος οὕτως ὅτε εἶδεν αὐτὸν ἐρχόμενον τῇ ἐπαύριον [λέγει] »ἴδε ὁ ἀμνὸς τοῦ θεοῦ, ὁ αἴρων τὴν ἁμαρτίαν τοῦ κόσμου«. καὶ πάλιν τῇ ἄλλῃ ἡμέρᾳ ὡς εἶδεν αὐτὸν περιπατοῦντα ἔφη· »οὗτός ἐστι περὶ οὗ εἶπον ὑμῖν, ὁ ὀπίσω μου ἐρχόμενος ἔμπροσθέν μου γέγονεν, ὅτι πρῶτός μου

51.13.8 | As it will also be shown from the word of John, who said this when he saw him coming the next day, 'Look, the lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world.' And again on another day, when he saw him walking, he said, 'This is the one about whom I told you, the one coming after me has become before me, because he was ἦν«· »καὶ ἐμαρτύρησε, φησὶν, Ἰωάννης λέγων ὅτι τεθέαμαι τὸ πνεῦμα ἐν εἵδει περιστερᾶς καταβαῖνον καὶ ἐρχόμενον ἐπ’ αὐτόν«.

first.’ And John testified, saying, ‘I saw the Spirit descending like a dove and coming upon him.’

51.13.9 | τὸ δὲ »ἐμαρτύρησε« καὶ τὸ »οὗτός ἐστιν ὃν εἶπον ὑμῖν«, ὡς ἤδη περὶ ἄλλου καὶ ἄλλου καιροῦ παρωχημένου λέγων, ἵνα δείξῃ οὐ τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι καιρὸν τοῦτον ἐκείνῳ τῷ τοῦ βαπτίσματος χρόνῳ, ἀλλὰ ἄλλον παρ’ ἐκεῖνον.

51.13.9 | But the words ‘he testified’ and ‘this is the one I told you about,’ as if speaking about another time and another occasion having passed, show that this time is not the same as that time of baptism, but a different one from that.

51.13.10 | οὕτε γὰρ εὐθὺς ἀπὸ τοῦ πειρασμοῦ πρὸς τὸν Ἰωάννην ἀφικνεῖται, ἀλλὰ πρῶτον μὲν εἰς τὸν Γαλιλαῖαν, ἔπειτα δὲ ἀπὸ τῆς Γαλιλαίας ἐπὶ τὸν Ἰορδάνην, ὅπερ ἦν τοῦτο πρὸς τὸν Ἰωάννην *· διὸ λέγει ὅτι »οὗτος ἦν ὃν εἶπον ὑμῖν« καὶ ἔτι τὸ εὐαγγέλιόν φησι »καὶ ἐμαρτύρησεν Ἰωάννης ὅτι τεθέαμαι«, ὡς ἤδη τοῦ πράγματος πρὸς καιροῦ τινος γεγονότος.

51.13.10 | For he does not come straight from the testing to John, but first to Galilee, and then from Galilee to the Jordan, which was toward John. Therefore he says, ‘This is the one I told you about,’ and the gospel also says, ‘And John testified that I saw,’ as if some time had already passed in the matter.

Section 14

51.14.1 | 14. Μετὰ ταῦτα ἀρχὴ κλήσεως τῶν περὶ Πέτρον ἀπὸ Ἀνδρέου σημαίνεται. ἀνῆλθε γὰρ παρ’ αὐτῷ Ἀνδρέας εἰς τῶν δύο τῶν ἀκολουθησάντων αὐτῷ, μαθητευομένων μὲν παρ’ Ἰωάννου, ἔτι δὲ ἐν τῇ Γαλιλαίᾳ παραμενόντων καὶ <κατὰ> καιροῦς τῷ Ἰωάννῃ σχολάζόντων.

51.14.1 | 14. After this, the beginning of the calling of those around Peter is shown by Andrew. For Andrew, one of the two who followed him, came to him, being taught by John, while they were still staying in Galilee and sometimes spending time with John.

51.14.2 | καὶ εὐθὺς μείναντος Ἀνδρέου ἐκείνην τὴν ἡμέραν (ὥρα ἦν ὡς δεκάτῃ), συμβέβηκεν αὐτῇ τῇ ἡμέρᾳ ἀπαντῆσαι αὐτὸν τῷ ἰδίῳ ἀδελφῷ Σίμωνι καὶ εἰπεῖν τὰ προειρημένα, ὅτι εὗρήκαμεν Μεσσίαν, καὶ

51.14.2 | And as soon as Andrew stayed that day (it was about the tenth hour), it happened on that same day that he met his own brother Simon and told him the things said before, that we have found the ἀγαγεῖν αὐτὸν πρὸς τὸν κύριον καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς, [καὶ] ὡς ἔχει ἡ ἀκολουθία, ὅτι εἶπεν αὐτῷ· σὺ κληθήσῃ Κηφᾶς.

Messiah, and led him to the Lord and what followed, and how the following happened, that he said to him: 'You will be called Cephas.'

51.14.3 | »καὶ τῇ ἐπαύριον ἠθέλησεν, φησὶν, ἐξελθεῖν εἰς τὴν Γαλιλαίαν καὶ εὐρίσκει Φίλιππον καὶ λέγει αὐτῷ ὁ Ἰησοῦς· ἀκολουθεῖ μοι. ἦν δὲ Φίλιππος ἀπὸ Βηθσαϊδά, ἐκ τῆς πόλεως Ἀνδρέου καὶ Πέτρου».

51.14.3 | And the next day he wanted, he says, to go out into Galilee and he found Philip and Jesus said to him: 'Follow me.' Now Philip was from Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.

51.14.4 | καὶ ὁρᾷς ὅτι τοῦτο διανοηθῆναι ἡμῖν δίδωσιν ὅτι τῶν δύο τῶν ἀκολουθησάντων, μαθητευομένων μὲν τῷ Ἰωάννῃ, μόνον ἐνὸς τὸ ὄνομα εἶρηκεν ὅτι Ἀνδρέας ἦν, τοῦ δὲ ἄλλου οὐκ εἶρηκεν·

51.14.4 | And you see that he lets us think this, that of the two who followed, being taught by John, only the name of one is said, that it was Andrew, but the other's name is not said.

51.14.5 | ὡς διανοεῖσθαι ἡμᾶς τοῦτον [εἶναι] οὗ τὸ ὄνομα οὐκ εἶρηκε, διὰ τὸ ὁμόχωρον διὰ τὸ σύσκηνον διὰ τὸ ὁμότεχνον διὰ τὸ ὁμοεργὲς ἢ τὸν Ἰωάννην εἶναι ἢ τὸν Ἰάκωβον, ἕνα & δὲ τῶν υἱῶν Ζεβεδαίου.

51.14.5 | So that we think this one, whose name is not said, is either John or James, one of the sons of Zebedee, because of the same region, the same town, the same trade, or the same work.

51.14.6 | ἔδει γὰρ τούτους πρῶτον κληθῆναι, ἔπειτα τὸν Φίλιππον, κατὰ τὴν ἀκολουθίαν ὡς τέτακται ἐν τοῖς εὐαγγελίοις· Πέτρος πρῶτος, ἔπειτα Ἀνδρέας, εἶτα Ἰάκωβος, εἶτα Ἰωάννης, μετὰ τούτους Φίλιππος. ἀλλὰ περὶ τούτων τὰ νῦν ἐάσθω λέγειν· πολλὴ γάρ ἐστιν τῆς πραγματείας ταύτης ἡ ἀκολουθία.

51.14.6 | For these had to be called first, then Philip, according to the order as it is set in the gospels: Peter first, then Andrew, then James, then John, after them Philip. But about these let it be said now; for the following of this matter is much.

Section 15

51.15.1 | 15. Εἰς δὲ τὸ ζητούμενον

51.15.1 | But to return to what is asked, ἀνακαμπτέον * ὅπερ ἐστὶ κατανοῆσαι, ὅτι καθάπερ τῷ Ἰωάννῃ ἤδη μαθητευόμενοι * καὶ τὸν ἰδίαν τέχνην ἐργαζόμενοι καὶ τῇ μαθητεία προσανέχοντες, ὡσαύτως καὶ παρὰ τῷ Ἰησοῦ ποιήσαντες πρῶτην ἡμέραν, τῇ ἐξῆς ἀπελθόντες πάλιν ἐν τῇ ἀλείᾳ ἐσχόλαζον, ὡς ἔχουσιν αἱ ἀκολουθίαι τῶν ἐτέρων εὐαγγελίων.

which is to understand clearly, just as they were already learning from John and working at their own trade and adding to their learning, so also with Jesus, on the first day they did this, and the next day, having gone away, they were again fishing, as the stories in the other gospels show.

51.15.2 | μετὰ γὰρ τὸ τῇ αὐρίῳ ἐξελθεῖν τὸν Ἰησοῦν εὐθὺς ἡ ἀκολουθία φάσκει ὅτι »τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ γάμος ἐγένετο ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας καὶ ἦν ἐκεῖ ἡ μήτηρ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ· ἐκλήθη δὲ καὶ ὁ Ἰησοῦς καὶ οἱ μαθηταὶ αὐτοῦ εἰς τὸν γάμον".

51.15.2 | For after Jesus went out the next day, the story says that "on the third day there was a wedding in Cana of Galilee, and Jesus' mother was there; Jesus and his disciples were also invited to the wedding."

51.15.3 | ἀπὸ δὲ ἐκατέρων τῶν τῆς λεπτολογίας ῥημάτων καὶ ὑποθέσεως ἰστέον ἐστίν, ὅτι καὶ ἐτέρους συμπαρεῖληφε μαθητάς, οἵτινες σὺν αὐτῷ ἔμειναν, τάχα δὲ οἱ περὶ Ναθαναὴλ καὶ Φίλιππον καὶ ἄλλοι τινές. οἱ γὰρ περὶ Ἀνδρέαν ἀνεχώρησαν· οἱ δὲ παρ' αὐτῷ μεμενηκότες ἐκλήθησαν καὶ αὐτοὶ εἰς τοὺς γάμους.

51.15.3 | From each detail of the story, it must be understood that he also took other disciples with him, who stayed with him, probably those around Nathanael and Philip and some others. For those with Andrew left; but those who stayed with him were also invited to the wedding.

51.15.4 | καὶ μετὰ τὰ ποιῆσαι τοῦτο πρῶτον σημεῖον κατελθὼν εἰς τὰ μέρη τῆς Καφαρναοῦμ ἐκεῖ κατώκησε. καὶ λοιπὸν σημεῖα ἐκεῖ ἄρχεται ἐργάζεσθαι ἕτερα, ὅτε τὴν τοῦ ξηρὰν ἔχοντος χεῖρα ἰάσατο,

51.15.4 | And after doing this first miracle, he went down to the region of Capernaum and lived there. And from then on, he began to work other miracles there, when he healed the man who had a withered hand,

51.15.5 | ἀλλὰ καὶ τὴν πενθερὰν τοῦ Πέτρου, τοῦ μὲν ἀπὸ Βηθσαϊδᾶ ὄντος γήμαντος δὲ ἀπὸ Καφαρναοῦμ, οὐ μακρὰν ὄντων τῶν τόπων τούτων τῷ διαστήματι, ταύτην ἀπὸ τοῦ πυρετοῦ ἀνῆκεν καὶ θεραπευθεῖσα διηκόνει· ὥστε εἶναι αστ;

51.15.5 | But also the mother-in-law of Peter, who was from Bethsaida but married from Capernaum, not far from these places at that time, he freed her from the fever, and after she was healed, she served them; ταύτην τὴν ἀκολουθίαν.

so this was the service.

51.15.6 | And after this, he went back to Nazareth, where he was brought up. Then he read from the book of the prophet Isaiah. After that, he spoke to them first, saying, "Surely you will tell me the proverb, 'Doctor, heal yourself; do here also the things we heard were done in Capernaum in your own country.'" And do you see how true the story is? "And because of their unbelief," he says, "he did no miracle at all."

51.15.7 | κάκειθεν παρελθὼν εἰς τὴν Καφαρναοὺμ πάλιν κατώκησε. καὶ ἐλθὼν εἰς τὰ μέρη τῆς θαλάσσης, ὡς φησιν ὁ Ματθαῖος, εἶδε Σίμωνα Πέτρον καὶ Ἀνδρέαν τὸν ἀδελφὸν αὐτοῦ βάλλοντας τὰ δίκτυα καὶ πάλιν Ἰάκωβον καὶ Ἰωάννην υἱοὺς Ζεβεδαίου, καὶ τέλεον αὐτοὺς ἐκάλεσε καὶ ῥίψαντες λοιπὸν τὰ δίκτυα ἠκολούθησαν αὐτῷ.

51.15.7 | And from there, going away, he lived again in Capernaum. And coming to the parts by the sea, as Matthew says, he saw Simon Peter and Andrew his brother casting nets, and also James and John, sons of Zebedee. And he called them fully, and after throwing down the nets, they followed him.

51.15.8 | But Luke also points out the exactness of the matter, saying that they followed him without turning back, no longer delaying the call, saying, "When he came to the lake of Gennesaret, he saw Simon and Andrew fixing the nets, and he got into the boat, which was Simon Peter's and Andrew's" (this means that he was already with them, in knowledge, because of their habit and closeness), and having gotten in, he sat down.

51.15.9 | ὅτε λέγει τῷ Πέτρῳ μετὰ τὴν διδασκαλίαν »ἐπανάγαγε εἰς τὸ βάθος καὶ χαλάσατε τὰ δίκτυα«, οἱ δὲ εἶπον »ἐπιστάτα« (ἤδη γὰρ διὰ τὴν τοῦ Ἰωάννου μαρτυρίαν ἐπιστάτην αὐτὸν ἐκάλουν οἱ πρότερον <περι> αὐτοῦ ἀκούσαντες ὅτι »ἰδοῦ, ὁ ἀμνὸς τοῦ θεοῦ ὁ αἴρων τὴν ἁμαρτίαν τοῦ κόσμου«, καὶ ὅτι παρ’ αὐτῷ ἔμειναν τὴν μίαν ἡμέραν).

51.15.9 | When he says to Peter after the teaching, “Put out into the deep and let down your nets,” they said, “Master” (because already from John’s testimony they called him master, having heard before about him, “Look, the lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world,” and that they stayed with him one day).

51.15.10 | καὶ εἰς τὴν δευτέραν ἐξῆλθον μετέπειτα ἄγραν, ἐπὶ τῷ πλήθει τῶν ἐχθύνων αὐτῶν θαυμασάντων καὶ Πέτρου λέγοντος ὅτι »ἔξελθε ἀπ’ ἐμοῦ, ὅτι ἀνὴρ ἁμαρτωλὸς εἰμι, κύριε« τάχα γὰρ καὶ μετεμέλετο διὰ τὸ πρότερον αὐτὸν κεκληθῆσθαι καὶ ἐπιστρέψαι ἐπὶ τοὺς ἰχθύας καὶ τὴν πᾶσαν ἐργασίαν τῆς ἀλείας.

51.15.10 | And on the second time they went out to fish again, amazed at the great number of fish, and Peter said, “Go away from me, Lord, because I am a sinful man.” For he probably regretted having been called before and returning to the fish and all the work of fishing.

51.15.11 | ὁ δὲ εἶπε »μὴ φοβοῦ«, παραθαρσύνων αὐτόν, ὅτι οὐκ ἀπηγορεύθη ἀλλὰ ἔτι δύναται τῆς κλήσεως ἔχεσθαι, ὅτι, φησὶν, ἀπὸ τοῦ νῦν ἀνθρώπους ἔση ζωγρῶν· ὅτε καὶ τοῖς μετόχοις τοῖς ἐν τῷ ἐτέρῳ πλοίῳ ἔνευσαν εἰς σύλληψιν ἢ κειν τῆς αὐτῆς ἄγρας.

51.15.11 | But he said, “Do not be afraid,” encouraging him, because he was not forbidden but still able to hold on to the call, saying, “From now on you will catch people.” Then he signaled to the partners in the other boat to come and help with the same catch.

51.15.12 | ἦσαν γὰρ κοινωνοί, ὥς φησι, τῷ Σίμωνι· καθάπερ ἄνω κάμοι προδεδήλωται ἐκ τῆς ὑποθέσεως ταύτης <τῶν> δύο μὲν ἀκολουθησάντων αὐτῷ παρὰ Ἰωάννου <δὲ> ἀκηκοότων *, ὧν δύο εἰς ἦν ὁ Ἀνδρέας, <καθὼς> ἔφημεν, διανενοημένοι καλλίστως τὸν ἕτερον εἶναι πάλιν τάχα ἕνα τῶν υἱῶν Ζεβεδαίου διὰ τε τὸ συνεργὸν καὶ μέτοχον καὶ κοινωνικόν.

51.15.12 | For they were partners, as it says, with Simon; just as has been shown above from this story, two followed him from John’s side, having heard, and of these two one was Andrew, as we said, thinking very well that the other was probably one of the sons of Zebedee because he was a coworker, partner, and companion.

51.15.13 | καὶ λοιπὸν μετὰ ταῦτα πάντα καταλείψαντες οἱ τέσσαρες τὰ τε πλοῖα καὶ ἀπλῶς ἅπαντα, ὥς φησιν, ἀφέντες εἰς τὴν γῆν ἠκολούθησαν αὐτῷ, ὥς ἔχει ἡ τοῦ Λουκᾶ μαρτυρία.

51.15.13 | And then, after all these things, the four left behind both the boats and everything completely, as it says, leaving them on the land, they followed him, as Luke's account tells it.

51.15.14 | ὥστε ἐξ ἅπαντος δείκνυσθαι ὅτι οὐδεμία σκολιότης οὐδ' ἐναντιότης ἐν τοῖς ἁγίοις εὐαγγελίοις οὐδὲ παρὰ τοῖς εὐαγγελισταῖς εὐρίσκεται, ἀλλὰ πάντα σαφῆ.

51.15.14 | So it is shown from everything that there is no crookedness or opposition in the holy gospels, nor among the gospel writers, but everything is clear.

51.15.15 | χρόνων δέ εἰσι διαστάσεις· ἐντεῦθεν γὰρ καὶ ἐπέκεινα, τῶν περὶ Πέτρον καὶ Ἰωάννην λοιπὸν συναγθέντων καὶ ἀκολουθούντων, ἐγένετο διδάσκων ἐν πάσῃ τῇ Γαλιλαίᾳ καὶ ἐν τῇ Ἰουδαίᾳ, καὶ λοιπὸν πλατυνομένου τοῦ κηρύγματος τὰ ἐξῆς τῶν θεοσημείων ἐπετέλει. ὥστε εἶναι ἐξ ἅπαντος τὴν ἀκολουθίαν ὧδε·

51.15.15 | But there are gaps in the times; for from here and beyond, after those gathered around Peter and John and following, he began teaching throughout all Galilee and in Judea, and then the preaching grew wider, completing the following signs. So the following is the whole sequence here:

Section 16

51.16.1 | 16. πρῶτον μὲν βαπτισθέντος αὐτοῦ κατ' Αἰγυπτίους Ἀθὺρ δωδεκάτῃ, † ὥς ἔφημεν, πρὸ ἑξ εἰδῶν Νοεμβρίων — τουτέστιν πρὸ ἐξήκοντα ἡμερῶν πλήρης τῆς ἡμέρας τῶν Ἐπιφανείων, ἥ ἐστὶν ἡμέρα τῆς αὐτοῦ κατὰ σάρκα γεννήσεως,

51.16.1 | 16. First, after he was baptized according to the Egyptians on the twelfth of Athyr, as we said, six days before the twenty-ninth of November—that is, sixty full days before the day of Epiphanies, which is the day of his birth in the flesh,

51.16.2 | ὥς ἔχει ἡ μαρτυρία τοῦ κατὰ Λουκᾶν εὐαγγελίου, ὅτι »ἦν Ἰησοῦς ἀρχόμενος εἶναι ὥς ἐτῶν τριάκοντα, ὦν υἱὸς ὥς ἐνομίζετο τοῦ Ἰωσήφ«. ἦν γὰρ τῷ μὲν ὄντι εικοσι ἑννέα ἐτῶν καὶ μηνῶν δέκα, ὅτε ἐπὶ τὸ βάπτισμα ἦκε, τριάκοντα μὲν

51.16.2 | As the testimony of the gospel according to Luke says, "Jesus was about thirty years old, being thought to be the son of Joseph." For in truth he was twenty-nine years and ten months when he came to baptism, thirty years but not full; therefore

ἐτῶν, ἀλλ' οὐ πλήρης· διὸ λέγει »ἀρχόμενος εἶναι ὡς ἐτῶν τριάκοντα« — λοιπὸν ἐξεβλήθη εἰς τὴν ἔρημον.

it says "about thirty years old." After that, he was sent out into the wilderness.

51.16.3 | ἀπ' ἐντεῦθεν οὖν αἱ τεσσαράκοντα ἡμέραι τοῦ πειρασμοῦ ἀκολούθως φαίνονται καὶ αἱ δύο τοῦ πειρασμοῦ ἐπὶ τὴν Γαλιλαίαν, τουτέστιν εἰς τὴν Ναζαρετ καὶ περὶ τὰ ὅρια αὐτῆς, καὶ μία ἡμέρα ὅτε ἦλθεν πρὸς Ἰωάννην, 51.16.3 | From there, then, the forty days of the temptation follow, and the two days of the temptation in Galilee, that is, in Nazareth and around its borders, and one day when he came to John,

51.16.4 | ὅτε ἔφη ὁ Ἰωάννης »ἴδε, ὁ ἀμνὸς τοῦ θεοῦ ὁ αἴρων τὴν ἁμαρτίαν τοῦ κόσμου«, καὶ ἡ ἐπαύριον <ὅτε> »τάλιν εἰστήκει ὁ Ἰωάννης καὶ ἐκ τῶν μαθητῶν αὐτοῦ δύο καὶ ἐμβλέψας τῷ Ἰησοῦ περιπατοῦντι λέγει· ἴδε, ὁ Χριστὸς ὁ ἀμνὸς τοῦ θεοῦ«. εἴτα φησὶν »ἤκουσαν οἱ δύο μαθηταὶ αὐτοῦ καὶ ἠκολούθησαν τῷ Ἰησοῦ«.

51.16.4 | When John said, "Look, the lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world," and the next day, when "John was standing again with two of his disciples, and seeing Jesus walking, he said, 'Look, the Christ, the lamb of God.'" Then he says, "The two disciples heard him and followed Jesus."

51.16.5 | αὕτη δὲ ἦν οκτωκαιδεκάτη μετὰ τὸν πειρασμὸν ἡμέρα, καθὼς προείπαμεν, πρώτη δὲ ἀπὸ Ἰωάννου ὅτε ἠκολούθησαν τῷ Ἰησοῦ οἱ περὶ Ἀνδρέαν καὶ παρ' αὐτῷ ἔμειναν τὴν ἡμέραν ἐκείνην (ὥρα ἦν ὡς δεκάτη), ὅτε καὶ τὸν ἑαυτοῦ ἀδελφὸν Σίμωνα εὗρων ὁ Ἀνδρέας ἤγαγε πρὸς τὸν Ἰησοῦν.

51.16.5 | This was the eighteenth day after the temptation, as we said before. It was the first day from John when those around Andrew followed Jesus and stayed with him that day (it was about the tenth hour), when Andrew found his own brother Simon and brought him to Jesus.

51.16.6 | εἴτα λέγει τὸ εὐαγγέλιον »τῇ ἐπαύριον ἠθέλησεν ἐξελθεῖν εἰς τὴν Γαλιλαίαν καὶ εὗρίσκει Φίλιππον καὶ λέγει αὐτῷ ὁ κύριος· ἀκολούθει μοι«. αὕτη δὲ ἦν ἐννεακαιδεκάτη ἡμέρα μετὰ τὸν πειρασμόν, ὡς ἔχει ἡ ἀκολουθία τοῦ εὐαγγελίου, * Φιλίππου τὴν κλῆσιν καὶ τοῦ

51.16.6 | Then the gospel says, "The next day he wanted to go out into Galilee and finds Philip and the Lord says to him, 'Follow me.'" This was the nineteenth day after the temptation, as the order of the gospel goes, * the calling of Philip and Nathanael.

Ναθαναήλ.

51.16.7 | καὶ λοιπὸν τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ, λέγει, γάμος ἐγένετο ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας, μετὰ τὰς δύο τὰς προειρημένας ἀπὸ Ἰωάννου ἡμέρας. προστιθεμένων τοίνυν τῶν εἴκοσι ἡμερῶν ταῖς τεσσαράκοντα τοῦ πειρασμοῦ δύο μῆνες τελοῦνται, οἵτινες τοῖς δέκα μηνὶ συναπτόμενοι ἐνιαυτὸν τελοῦσιν, ὃ ἐστὶ πλήρωμα τριάκοντα ἐτῶν ἀπὸ τῆς γεννήσεως τοῦ κυρίου,

51.16.8 | καὶ εὐρίσκεται τὸ πρῶτον σημεῖον τῆς τοῦ ὕδατος εἰς οἶνον μεταβολῆς ἐν τῷ τέλει τοῦ τριακοστοῦ ἔτους ποιήσας ὁ Χριστός, ὡς ἔστιν σοι καταληπτέον ταῖς τῶν εὐαγγελίων ἀκολουθίαις προσσχόντι ἀκριβῶς.

51.16.9 | λοιπὸν δ' ἀπὸ τοῦ πρώτου σημείου τούτου τὰ τε ἄλλα σημεῖα ἐργάζεται καὶ τὸ κήρυγμα διδάσκει, δεικνυμένης εἰς ἅπαντας ἀνθρώπους τῆς θαυμαστῆς καὶ ἀρρήτου αὐτοῦ φιланθρωπίας καὶ εὐαγγελικῆς θαυματουργίας, ὡς πολλάκις ἠναγκάσθην φῆσαι διὰ τὴν τῶν ἡπατημένων ἀγνωσίαν τῶν ἀντιλέγειν ἀκολουθῶς ἐκτεθείση.

Section 17

51.17.1 | 17. Οὐκ ἐάσει γὰρ χώραν ἡ τοσαύτη ἀκριβὴς ἀπόδειξις τοῖς ἐναντιούμενοις ἑαυτοῖς· οὐ γὰρ λέγω τῇ ἀληθείᾳ, ἐπεὶ μὴδὲ δύνανται.

51.17.2 | δηλοῦται γὰρ ὅτι ἀπὸ

51.16.7 | And then on the third day, it says, a wedding happened in Cana of Galilee, after the two days already mentioned from John. Adding the twenty days to the forty of the temptation, two months are completed, which joined to the ten months make a year, which is the full thirty years from the birth of the lord, 51.16.8 | And the first sign is found of the water turning into wine at the end of the thirtieth year, made by Christ, as you must understand carefully by following the order of the gospels exactly.

51.16.9 | And then from this first sign, he works the other signs and teaches the preaching, showing to all people his wonderful and unspeakable love for humankind and gospel miracles, as I was often forced to say because of the ignorance of those deceived, to reply afterward as it will be explained.

51.17.1 | For such a precise proof will not leave room to those opposing themselves; for I do not speak against the truth, since they cannot even do that.

51.17.2 | For it is clear that the beginning of βαπτίσματος ἡ ἀρχὴ τῆς λοιπῆς πραγματείας γέγονεν· οὕτω γὰρ δείκνυται ὡς ὁ κύριος μετὰ τὴν ἡμέραν τοῦ βαπτίσματος ἐν τῷ πειρασμῷ γέγονε τῶν τεσσαράκοντα ἡμερῶν ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ περὶ ᾧ τῷ πνεύματι τῷ ἁγίῳ διὰ Ἰωάννου οὐ πεφρόντισται σημαίνει· ἥδη γὰρ ἦν τοῦτο διὰ τῶν τριῶν εὐαγγελιστῶν λιστῶν σημανθέν.

the rest of the story came from the baptism; for it shows that the lord, after the day of baptism, was in the forty days of testing in the desert, about which the holy spirit through John did not care to mark; for this had already been marked through the three lists of the evangelists.

51.17.3 | καὶ πάλιν τοῖς ἄλλοις εὐαγγελισταῖς περὶ τῶν ἄλλων οὐ πεφρόντισται, διὰ τὸ ἕκαστον ἀφ' ἑκάστου βοηθεῖσθαι. καὶ γὰρ παρὰ πάντων συλλεγομένη ἡ ἀλήθεια δείκνυται μία τις οὔσα καὶ πρὸς ἑαυτὴν μὴ στασιάζουσα.

51.17.3 | And again, the other evangelists did not care to mention the others, because each one helps from each; for the truth, gathered from all, shows itself as one and does not fight against itself.

51.17.4 | ἐκεῖθεν γὰρ εὐθὺς ἀπὸ τοῦ πειρασμοῦ, ὡς ἔφην, εἰς τὴν Ναζαρέτ ἔρχεται καὶ μένει ἐκεῖ, οὕπω τινὸς μαθητοῦ μετ' αὐτοῦ ὄντος. κακεῖθεν κατέρχεται πρὸς τὸν Ἰωάννην, ὅτε εὐθὺς διὰ τοῦ Ἀνδρέου καλεῖται ὁ Πέτρος, εἴτα Φίλιππος καὶ διὰ Φιλίππου Ναθαναήλ.

51.17.4 | From there, straight away from the testing, as I said, he goes to Nazareth and stays there, not yet having any disciple with him. And from there he goes down to John, when Peter is called right away through Andrew, then Philip, and through Philip, Nathanael.

51.17.5 | μηδεὶς δὲ καὶ τοῦτο ἀμφιβάλλων περιεργαζέσθω, ὁρῶν ὅτι Ἀνδρέας πρῶτος ὑπήντησε τῷ Ἰησοῦ, ἔπειτα Πέτρος καὶ δι' αὐτοῦ ἐκλήθη, ἵνα ἄρξηται καὶ περὶ τούτου ἀσχάλλειν.

51.17.5 | And let no one doubt or be too curious about this, seeing that Andrew first met Jesus, then Peter was called through him, so that it may begin to be explained about this too.

51.17.6 | ἡ μὲν γὰρ συνάντησις τῷ Ἀνδρέᾳ πρώτῳ γεγένηται, μικροτέρῳ ὄντι τοῦ Πέτρου τῷ χρόνῳ τῆς ἡλικίας· ὕστερον δὲ πάλιν, ὅτε ἡ τελεία αὐτοῖς ἀπόταξις γεγένηται, ἀπὸ τοῦ Πέτρου γέγονεν. ἀφηγεῖτο γὰρ τοῦ ἰδίου ἀδελφοῦ καὶ ᾗδει ὁ κύριος τοῦτο, ὅτι θεὸς ἐστὶν εἰδὼς τὰς

51.17.6 | For the meeting happened first to Andrew, who was younger than Peter in age; but later again, when they had fully separated, it happened from Peter. For it was told by his own brother, and the lord knew this, because he is God, knowing the inclinations of hearts and who is worthy to κλίσεις τῶν καρδιῶν καὶ γινώσκων τίς ἐν πρώτοις ἔξιος τάττεσθαι, καὶ ἐξελέξατο τὸν Πέτρον ἀρχηγὸν εἶναι τῶν αὐτοῦ μαθητῶν, ὡς πανταχοῦ σαφῶς ἀποδέδεικται.

be placed first, and he chose Peter to be the leader of his disciples, as has been clearly shown everywhere.

51.17.7 | μετέπειτα γὰρ ἐλθόντων αὐτῶν καὶ μεινάντων παρ’ αὐτῷ τὴν πρώτην ἡμέραν ὡς ἔφην, τῇ δευτέρᾳ ὁδευσάντων, τῇ τρίτῃ δὲ ἡμέρᾳ τοῦ θεοσημείου τοῦ πρώτου γενομένου, [καὶ] τινῶν συνόντων αὐτῷ (οὐ τοῦ Ἀνδρέου οὐδὲ τοῦ Πέτρου οὐδὲ τοῦ Ἰωάννου οὐδὲ τοῦ Ἰακώβου, ἀλλὰ τῶν περὶ Ναθαναὴλ καὶ Φίλιππον καὶ ἄλλων τινῶν, ὡς ἔστι συνιέναι),

51.17.7 | For after they came and stayed with him the first day, as I said, on the second day they went on, and on the third day of the first miracle happening, and some were with him (not Andrew, nor Peter, nor John, nor James, but those around Nathanael and Philip and some others, as it is possible to understand), 51.17.8 | ἐξῆς λοιπὸν μετὰ τὸ ἐλθεῖν αὐτὸν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ καὶ ἀνελθεῖν λάλιν εἰς Ναζαρέτ κάκειθεν πάλιν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ καὶ ποιῆσαι μέρος τι τῶν σημείων, ἀνῆλθεν πάλιν εἰς Ναζαρέτ καὶ ἀνέγνω τὸ βιβλίον Ἡσαΐου τοῦ προφήτου, ὅπου λέγει »πνεῦμα κυρίου ἐπ’ ἐμέ, οὗ εἵνεκεν ἔχρισέν με εὐαγγελίσασθαι πτωχοῖς« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς. ἦν δὲ μετὰ τὴν ἡμέραν τῶν Ἐπιφανείων τοῦτο γινόμενον μετὰ ἡμέρας τινάς.

51.17.8 | Next, after he came to Capernaum and went up to speak in Nazareth, and from there again to Capernaum and did some of the signs, he went up again to Nazareth and read the book of Isaiah the prophet, where it says, “the spirit of the lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to preach good news to the poor,” and the rest. This happened after the day of Epiphany, after some days.

51.17.9 | καὶ μετὰ τὸ παραδοθῆναι τὸν Ἰωάννην κατελθὼν πάλιν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ λοιπὸν κατώκησεν, ὅτε ἡ τελεία κλήσις τῶν περὶ Πέτρον καὶ Ἰωάννην γεγένηται, ἐλθόντος αὐτοῦ παρὰ τὴν λίμνην Γεννησαρέθ. καὶ οὕτως ἡ πᾶσα ἀκολουθία ἀναλογῖται, οὐδενὸς ἀντιθέτου ὑπάρχοντος, ἀλλὰ πάσης τῆς τῶν εὐαγγελίων πραγματείας τηλαυγεστάτης οὔσης καὶ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ κεκηρυγμένης.

51.17.9 | And after John was handed over, he went down again to Capernaum and stayed there, when the full calling of those around Peter and John had happened, when he came by the lake of Gennesaret.
And so the whole following fits, with nothing against it, but with all the gospel’s story being very clear and truly preached.

51.17.10 | Τί οὖν ἔδοξε τούτοις <τοῖς>

51.17.10 | What then seemed right to those τὸν ἴδιον νοῦν ἀπατήσασι καὶ τὴν αἵρεσιν δικαίως γὰρ ἄλογον τὴν αὐτῶν αἵρεσιν κακλήκαμεν διὰ τὸ μὴ δέχεσθαι αὐτοῦ τὸν ἄνωθεν ἐλθόντα θεὸν Λόγον τὸν διὰ Ἰωάννου κεκηρυγμένον.

who were deceived in their own mind and their heresy? For we have rightly called their heresy foolish because they did not accept the God who came from above, the Word preached through John.

51.17.11 | μὴ νοοῦντες γὰρ τὴν δύναμιν τῶν εὐαγγελίων φασί· πῶς οἱ ἄλλοι εὐαγγελιστὰι εἰρήκασιν ὅτι φυγὰς ὥχετο ἀπὸ προσώπου Ἡρώδου ὁ Ἰησοῦς εἰς Αἴγυπτον καὶ μετὰ τὴν φυγὴν ἐλθὼν κατέμεινεν εἰς Ναζαρέτ, εἶτα λαβὼν τὸ βάπτισμα ἀπῆλθεν εἰς τὴν ἔρημον καὶ μετὰ τοῦτα ἀνέκαμψε καὶ μετὰ τὸ ἀνακάμψαι ἦρξατο κηρύττειν.

51.17.11 | For they do not understand the power of the gospel, they say: how then did the other evangelists say that Jesus fled from Herod's face to Egypt, and after the flight came and stayed in Nazareth, then having received baptism he went into the desert, and after this recovered and after recovering began to preach?

Section 18

51.18.1 | 18. τὸ δὲ εὐαγγέλιον τὸ εἰς ὄνομα Ἰωάννου, φασί, ψεύδεται· μετὰ γὰρ τὸ εἰπεῖν ὅτι ὁ Λόγος σὰρξ ἐγένετο καὶ ἐσκήνωσεν ἐν ἡμῖν καὶ ὀλίγα τινά, εὐθὺς λέγει ὅτι γάμος ἐγένετο ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας.

51.18.1 | But the gospel in the name of John, they say, lies; for after saying that the Word became flesh and lived among us for a little while, it immediately says that a wedding happened in Cana of Galilee.

51.18.2 | καὶ οὐ μέμνηνται οἱ ἀφροσύνην ἐαυτοῖς ἐπισπώμενοι ὡς Ἰωάννης μετὰ τὸ εἰπεῖν τὸν Λόγον σάρκα γεγενῆσθαι καὶ ἐσκηνωκέναι ἐν ἡμῖν τουτέστιν ἄνθρωπον γεγονέναι, καὶ <αὐτὸς> λέγει, ὅτι ἦλθε πρὸς τὸν Ἰωάννην τὸν βαπτιστὴν ἐν τῷ Ἰορδάνῃ καὶ ἐβαπτίσθη ὑπ' αὐτοῦ·

51.18.2 | And they do not remember, bringing foolishness on themselves, that John, after saying the Word became flesh and lived among us, that is, became a man, also says that he came to John the Baptist at the Jordan and was baptized by him;

51.18.3 | αὐτὸς <γὰρ> Ἰωάννης μαρτυρεῖ λέγων τὸν βαπτιστὴν Ἰωάννην εἰρηκέναι »οὗτός ἐστι περὶ οὗ εἶπον ὑμῖν«, καὶ πάλιν ὅτι »τεθέαμαι τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον καταβαῖνον ἐν εἴδει περιστερᾶς καὶ

51.18.3 | For John himself the Baptist testifies, saying the Baptist John said, "This is the one I told you about," and again, "I saw the Holy Spirit coming down like a dove and staying on him," and "This is the μένον ἐπ’ αὐτόν», καί »οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ αἴρων τὴν ἁμαρτίαν τοῦ κόσμου«.

one who takes away the sin of the world.”

51.18.4 | ὁρᾷς ὅτι οὐδὲν κατὰ ἐπιλησμονὴν ὕφηγεῖται, παρέλειψε δὲ ὁ Ἰωάννης τὰ τῷ Ματθαίῳ πραγματευθέντα. οὐ γὰρ ἦν χρεία ἐκείνων οὐκέτι, ἀλλὰ τῆς τελείας φράσεως πρὸς ἀντίρρησην τῶν νομιζόντων ἀπὸ Μαρίας καὶ δεῦρο Χριστὸν αὐτὸν καλεῖσθαι καὶ υἱὸν θεοῦ, καὶ εἶναι μὲν πρότερον ψιλὸν ἄνθρωπον, κατὰ προκοπὴν δὲ εἰληφέναι τὴν τοῦ υἱοῦ τοῦ θεοῦ προσηγορίαν.

51.18.4 | You see that he does not lead by forgetting anything, but John left out what was done in Matthew. For there was no need for those things anymore, but the perfect statement was made against those who think that Christ was called from Mary only now and the son of God, and that he was first a mere man, but by progress received the title of son of God.

51.18.5 | διὸ τῶν ἀναγκαίων ἐπιμέλεται, (πάντων μὲν μεγάλων ὄντων καὶ ἀναγκαίων, περιττότερον δὲ τῶν ἐπουρανίων), ποιούμενος τὴν διήγησιν τῆς ἄνωθεν οἰκονομίας.

51.18.5 | Therefore he takes care of the necessary things, all of them great and necessary, and even more important than the heavenly ones, making the story of the plan from above.

51.18.6 | λέγουσι δὲ τὸ κατὰ Ἰωάννην εὐαγγέλιον ἀδιάθετον εἶναι, ἐπεὶ μὴ ταῦτα ἔφη, λέγω δὲ τὰ κατὰ τὸν πειρασμὸν τῶν τεσσαράκοντα ἡμερῶν, καὶ οὐκ ἀξιοῦσιν αὐτὸ δέχεσθαι, κατὰ πάντα πεπλανημένοι καὶ τυφλώττοντες τὴν διάνοιαν.

51.18.6 | They say that the gospel according to John is not complete, since he did not say these things. But I speak about the temptation of the forty days, and they do not accept it, being completely mistaken and blinding their understanding.

Section 19

51.19.1 | 19. Τέταρτος γὰρ τῶν εὐαγγελιστῶν κατὰ διαδοχὴν ἐλθὼν ὁ μακάριος Ἰωάννης, πρῶτος μὲν ὢν ἐν τῇ κλήσει μετὰ Πέτρον καὶ Ἀνδρέα σὺν Ἰακώβῳ τῷ ἀδελφῷ αὐτοῦ, τελευταῖος δὲ τοῖς χρόνοις εὐγγελιστάμενος, τὰ πρὸ αὐτοῦ καλῶς τεταγμένα οὐκ ἐμερίμνησεν ἐκθέσθαι, ἀλλὰ προλαμβάνει τῶν ῥηθέντων τὰ μὴ ῥηθέντα καὶ <οὕτως>

51.19.1 | For the blessed John, coming fourth in order among the gospel writers, was first in calling along with Peter and Andrew and James his brother, but last in time to write the gospel. He did not worry about setting forth well what came before him, but instead he goes ahead of what was said to speak what was not said, and so he διαλέγεται.

51.19.2 | ὁ Ματθαῖος γὰρ ἄρχεται ἀπὸ Ἀβραάμ, μετὰ δὲ τὴν ἀρχὴν καὶ μετὰ δύο ἔτη τῆς γεννήσεως πάλιν ποιεῖται τὴν ὑφήγησιν. Μάρκος δὲ ἄρχεται ἀπὸ πεντεκαιδεκάτου ἔτους Τιβερίου Καίσαρος, <τὴν> μεσότητα τῶν μετὰ τὴν ἀρχὴν <οὐ> διηγούμενος. Λουκᾶς δὲ ἀρχὴν πρὸ τῆς ἀρχῆς ἐπήγαγε, τὴν περὶ τῆς Ἑλισάβετ καὶ Μαρίας πρὸ τοῦ ἐγκύμονα <αὐτὰς> εἶναι γεγεννημένην πραγματείαν.

51.19.2 | For Matthew begins from Abraham, and after the beginning and two years of the birth he again makes the introduction. But Mark begins from the fifteenth year of Tiberius Caesar, not telling the middle part after the beginning. And Luke brought the beginning before the beginning, the story about Elizabeth and Mary before they were pregnant.

51.19.3 | Ἰωάννης δέ, ἔτι πρότερος μὲν ὦν τῇ κλήσει, ὕστερος δὲ τούτων κηρύξας, ἐπασφαλίζεται τὴν πρὸ τῆς ἐνσάρκου παρουσίας πραγματείαν. πνευματικὰ γὰρ ἦν τὰ πλεῖστα τὰ ὑπ' αὐτοῦ λεγόμενα, τῶν σαρκικῶν ἥδη ἐπασφалиσθέντων.

51.19.3 | But John, being earlier in calling but later than these in preaching, confirms the story before the coming in the flesh. For most of what he said was spiritual, the earthly things having already been confirmed.

51.19.4 | διὸ πνευματικῶς τὴν ὑφήγησιν ποιεῖται τῆς ἄνωθεν ἀπὸ πατρὸς ἀνάρχου δωρεᾶς ἡμῖν ἐλθούσης, κατὰ εὐδοκίαν <δὲ> πατρὸς ἐν τῇ μήτρᾳ τῆς ἁγίας παρθένου οἰκονομηθείσης.

51.19.4 | Therefore, he makes the introduction spiritually of the gift coming down from above from the father without beginning, according to the good pleasure of the father, managed in the womb of the holy virgin.

51.19.5 | καὶ τὸ ἀναγκαίως δὲ ζητούμενον οὐκ ἀπεσιώπησεν, ἀλλὰ πνεύματι ἁγίῳ κινούμενος τὸν πρὸ τῶν αἰώνων <εἰς> αἰεὶ ὄντα θεὸν Λόγον, ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόνως ἐκ πατρὸς γεγεννημένον, ἐν σαρκὶ δὲ ἐληλυθότα δι' ἡμᾶς ἐδήλωσεν, ἵνα ἀπὸ τεσσάρων εὐαγγελιστῶν τὴν πᾶσαν γνῶσιν κατὰ τε τὴν σάρκα καὶ κατὰ τὴν θεότητα ἀκριβῶς κατάσχωμεν.

51.19.5 | And what must be asked, he did not keep silent, but moved by the holy spirit, he revealed the god the word who was before the ages, without beginning and without color born from the father, and having come in the flesh for us, so that from the four evangelists we may fully hold all knowledge both according to the flesh and according to the godhead accurately.

Section 20

51.20.1 | 20. Τελειωθέντων γὰρ πάντων τῶν κατὰ τὸ βάπτισμα καὶ κατὰ τὸν πειρασμόν, ἐλθόντος τοῦ Ἰησοῦ λοιπον καὶ ὀλίγων ἡμερῶν <χρόνον>, καθὼς πολλάκις εἶπον, διατρίψαντος ἔν τε τῇ Ναζαρέτ καὶ ἐν τοῖς ὁρίοις αὐτῆς καὶ περὶ τὴν Καφαρναούμ, μετὰ <τε> τὸ συναντῆσαι τῷ Ἰωάννῃ ἐπὶ τοῦ Ἰορδάνου * καὶ τῇ ἐπαύριον τινὰς τῶν μαθητῶν συμπαρειληφότος, πρῶτον τοῦτο σημεῖον ἐν Κανᾷ πεποίηκε τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ ἀπὸ Ἰωάννου, εἰκοστῇ δὲ τῆς ἀπὸ τοῦ πειρασμοῦ ἐπανόδου, καὶ <ἄρχεται> τοῦ κηρύγματος.

51.20.2 | οὔτε γὰρ πρὸ τοῦ πειρασμοῦ ἐν γάμῳ φάσκει τὸν Χριστὸν ἠκέναι οὐθ' ὅλως τι τῶν θεοσημείων εἰργάσατο <πρὶν> ἢ τοῦ κηρύγματος ἤρξατο, εἰ μὴ τι ἃ λέγεται περὶ αὐτοῦ ἐν παιγνίῳ ὅτε παιδίον ἦν πεποιηκέναι.

51.20.3 | ἔδει γὰρ καὶ παιδικὰ ἔχειν αὐτὸν σημεῖα, ἵνα μὴ πρόφασις γένηται ταῖς ἄλλαις αἰρέσεσι λέγειν ὅτι ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἰορδάνου ἦλθεν<ν ὁ> Χριστὸς εἰς αὐτόν, ὅπερ ἐστὶν ἡ περιστέρα· τοῦτο γὰρ φασὶ διὰ τὴν ψῆφον τοῦ ωϚ καὶ ἄλφα, ὃ ἐστὶ περισσευρά, ἐπέπερ ἔφη ὁ σωτὴρ »ἐγὼ εἰμι τὸ ἄ καὶ ἐγὼ εἰμι τὸ ωϚ«.

51.20.4 | διὸ καὶ ἐν τῷ δωδεκάτῳ ἔτει τῆς γεννήσεως αὐτοῦ εἰσάγει τὸν Ἰησοῦν ὁ Λουκᾶς εἰρηκότα πρὸς τὴν Μαριάμ ζητοῦσαν αὐτόν, ἡνίκα τοῖς διδασκάλοις προσδιελέγετο ἐν Ἱεροσολύμοις·

51.20.1 | 20. For when all things according to the baptism and according to the testing were completed, Jesus having come and spent a little time, as I have often said, staying both in Nazareth and in its borders and around Capernaum, after meeting John at the Jordan and the next day taking some of the disciples with him, he first did this sign at Cana on the third day from John, on the twentieth day from the return from the testing, and the preaching begins.

51.20.2 | For neither before the testing did he say that Christ had come to a wedding, nor at all did he work any of the signs from God before he began the preaching, except for some things said about him done in play when he was a child.

51.20.3 | For it was necessary for him to have signs from childhood, so that it would not become an excuse for other heresies to say that Christ came to him from the Jordan, which is the dove. For they say this because of the letter omega and alpha, which is the dove, since the savior said, "I am the alpha and I am the omega."

51.20.4 | Therefore, in the twelfth year of his birth, Luke introduces Jesus, as he said to Mary who was looking for him, when he was talking with the teachers in Jerusalem;

51.20.5 | “Didn’t you know that I must be in my father’s things?” so that the word of those saying that he became the son of God from the time of baptism, when the dove came to him, which they say is the Christ, would fall, and so that it would be clearly known that the Word of God came down from above and, coming, was made flesh from Mary, and at the Jordan the spirit came down on him,

51.20.6 | ἵνα σημάνη τίς ἐστὶν ὁ μαρτυρούμενος μενος ἀπὸ τοῦ πατρὸς ὅτι »οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ υἱός μου ὁ ἀγαπητός, αὐτοῦ ἀκούετε«, καὶ ἵνα γένηται τοῦτο ὑπόδειγμα τοῖς μέλλουσιν ἐν αὐτῷ φωτίζεσθαι, ὅτι καταξιωθήσονται & πνεύματος ἁγίου ἐν τῷ λουτρῷ [τῆς] δωρεᾶς καὶ ἀφέσεως ἁμαρτιῶν διὰ τῆς χάριτος τῆς ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ δοθείσης.

51.20.6 | so that it would show who the one being testified to by the father is, that “this is my beloved son, listen to him,” and so that this would become an example for those who will be baptized in him, that they will be worthy of the holy spirit in the bath of the gift and forgiveness of sins through the grace given by him.

Section 21

51.21.1 | 21. Ἀπὸ τότε δὲ τὰ τέλεια ἤρξατο ποιεῖν θεοσημεῖα ἐν τῷ καιρῷ τοῦ κηρύγματος (»τοῦτο & γὰρ; πρῶτον σημεῖον ἐποίησεν ὁ Ἰησοῦς, φησὶν, ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας), οὐχὶ πρὸ βαπτίσματος, 51.21.1 | 21. But from then on, he began to do the great signs at the time of the preaching (for “this was the first sign that Jesus did,” it says, in Cana of Galilee), not before baptism,

51.21.2 | ὥς πολλάκις ἔφην, ἀλλ’ ὅτε ἀνέκαμψεν ἀπὸ πειρασμοῦ, τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ μετὰ τὰς δύο ἃς παρ’ αὐτῷ ἔμειναν οἱ δύο μαθηταὶ τοῦ Ἰωάννου, οἱ ἀκούσαντες καὶ ἀκολουθήσαντες αὐτῷ·

51.21.2 | as I often said, but when he recovered from the test, on the third day after the two days that the two disciples of John stayed with him, those who heard and followed him;

51.21.3 | ὥς εὐθὺς μετὰ τὰς δύο ἡμέρας, ἃς

51.21.3 | Just after the two days they spent ἐποίησαν παρ’ αὐτῷ, ἐπιφέρει λέγων »καὶ ἐξῆλθεν εἰς τὴν Γαλιλαίαν καὶ εὐρῶν Φίλιππον εἶπεν· ἀκολούθει μοι«.

with him, he goes and says, “And he went out into Galilee, and finding Philip, he said, ‘Follow me.’”

51.21.4 | εἶτα εὐθὺς τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ γάμος ἐγένετο ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας. ἔδει γὰρ αὐτὸν ἀπελθόντα εὐθὺς γάμων τελουμένων εἰς τὴν τιμὴν αὐτῶν κληθῆναι, ἐπ’ εὐλογία τοῦ γάμου.

51.21.4 | Then immediately on the third day a wedding happened in Cana of Galilee. For it was necessary for him, having gone away at the time of the wedding celebrations, to be called to honor them, for the blessing of the wedding.

51.21.5 | καὶ φησι »γάμος ἐγένετο τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας καὶ ἦν ἡ μήτηρ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ ἐκεῖ, ἐκλήθη δὲ καὶ Ἰησοῦς καὶ οἱ μαθηταὶ αὐτοῦ οἱ μετ’ αὐτοῦ εἰς τὸν γάμον«.

51.21.5 | And he says, “A wedding happened on the third day in Cana of Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there. Jesus and his disciples who were with him were also invited to the wedding.”

51.21.6 | »καὶ ὑστερήσαντος, φησὶν, οἴνου, λέγει ἡ μήτηρ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ· οἶνον οὐκ ἔχουσι. καὶ λέγει αὐτῇ ὁ Ἰησοῦς· τί ἐμοὶ καὶ σοί, γύναι; οὐπω ἤκει ἡ ὥρα μου«.

51.21.6 | And when the wine ran out, the mother of Jesus says, ‘They have no wine.’ And Jesus says to her, ‘What to me and to you, woman? My hour has not yet come.’

51.21.7 | * μετὰ τὸ ἐλθεῖν αὐτὸν ἀπὸ τῆς ἐρήμου κατὰ τὴν ἀκολουθίαν τοῦ πειρασμοῦ καὶ παραληφθῆναι εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ καὶ στῆναι ἐπὶ τῷ πτερυγίῳ τοῦ ἱεροῦ καὶ ἀπὸ Ἱεροσολύμων ἀνενεχθῆναι εἰς ὄρος ὑψηλὸν λίαν, ὅπερ παρὰ πολλοῖς λέγεται εἶναι τὸ Θαβὼρ ὄρος, ὃ ἐρμηνεύεται Ἰταβύριον· τοῦτο δὲ ἐστὶν ἐν τῇ Γαλιλαίᾳ.

51.21.7 | After he came from the desert following the testing, and was taken up to Jerusalem and stood on the wing of the temple, and was carried from Jerusalem to a very high mountain, which many say is Mount Tabor, which is explained as Itabyrion; and this is in Galilee.

51.21.8 | ταύτην γὰρ τὴν ἀκολουθίαν ὁ Ματθαῖος ὑπέθετο, ὅς φησιν »ἀκούσας δὲ ὁ Ἰησοῦς ὅτι Ἰωάννης παρεδόθη, ἦλθεν εἰς τὴν Γαλιλαίαν«.

51.21.8 | For Matthew assumed this sequence, who says, ‘And Jesus, hearing that John was handed over, came into Galilee.’

51.21.9 | ὁ δὲ Λουκᾶς καὶ τὴν ἀπὸ τοῦ ὄρους ὁρμὴν ἀκριβῶς δηλώσας πρῶτον μὲν περὶ τοῦ ὄρους εἰπὼν καὶ τῶν βασιλειῶν ὧν ἔδειξε τῷ κυρίῳ ὁ διάβολος, ὕστερον λέγει περὶ τοῦ πτερυγίου καὶ Ἱερουσαλήμ, καὶ ὡς ἀνέκαμψεν εἰς τὴν Γαλιλαίαν καὶ Ναζαρέτ. συνωδὰ δὲ καὶ ὁ Ματθαῖος λέγει »καταλιπὼν τὴν Ναζαρέτ ἦλθεν εἰς τὴν Καφαρναούμ«.

51.21.9 | But Luke, clearly showing the movement from the mountain, first speaks about the mountain and the kingdoms which the devil showed to the lord; later he speaks about the wing and Jerusalem, and how he returned to Galilee and Nazareth. And Matthew also adds, 'Leaving Nazareth, he came into Capernaum.'

51.21.10 | ἦλθε γὰρ εἰς Ναζαρέτ κάκειθεν εἰς τὸν Ἰορδάνην πρὸς τὸν Ἰωάννην, καὶ μετὰ τὸ διελθεῖν διὰ τοῦ Ἰορδάνου πάλιν τὴν ὁρμὴν ἔσχεν ἐπὶ τὰ οἰκεία ἔνθα ἀνετέθραπτο, πρὸς τὴν μητέρα ἐν Ναζαρέτ, ἐκεῖ τε παραμείνας δύο ἡμέρας, ὅτε καὶ οἱ περὶ Ἀνδρέαν παρ' αὐτῷ ἔμειναν, λοιπὸν ἠπείγετο τῆς σωτηρίας τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἕνεκεν τοῦ κηρύγματος ἄρξασθαι·

51.21.10 | For he came into Nazareth and from there to the Jordan to John, and after passing through the Jordan, he again moved toward his own home where he was raised, to his mother in Nazareth. There he stayed two days, when also those around Andrew stayed with him. Then he was eager to begin the preaching for the sake of the salvation of people.

51.21.11 | καὶ ἔμεινε μὲν δύο ἡμέρας διὰ τὸ διὰ χρόνου ἠκέναι, ἔχων μεθ' ἑαυτοῦ οὓς ἤδη παρείληφε μαθητάς, καὶ ἀπολύσας τοὺς δύο τοὺς ἀκολουθήσαντας αὐτῷ εὐθὺς ἐξῆλθεν ἐπὶ τὴν Γαλιλαίαν διὰ τὸ κήρυγμα καὶ διὰ τὸ ἔργον τοῦ θεοσημείου τοῦ ἐν τῷ γάμῳ ἐπιτελεσθέντος.

51.21.11 | And he stayed two days because of the time it took to come, having with him those he had already taken as disciples. And after sending away the two who had followed him, he immediately went out into Galilee for the preaching and because of the miracle done at the wedding.

51.21.12 | βλέπε γὰρ πῶς ἐπασφαλίζεται <ἡμᾶς> ὁ λόγος, ὡς Ἰωάννης ὁ βαπτιστὴς μαρτυρεῖ λέγων ὡς παρωχηκός ἤδη τοῦ ἔργου ὅτι »κἀγὼ οὐκ ᾔδην αὐτόν, ἀλλ' ὁ πέμψας με βαπτίζειν εἶπέ μοι· ἐφ' ὃν ἂν ἴδῃς τὸ πνεῦμα καταβαῖνον ἐν εἴδει περιστερᾶς, οὗτός ἐστιν«.

51.21.12 | For see how the word is confirmed to us, as John the Baptist testifies saying that the work had already begun, 'And I did not know him, but the one who sent me to baptize said to me, "On whom you see the spirit coming down in the form of a dove, this is he."'

51.21.13 | ἀποστέλλων γὰρ ὁ πατὴρ τὸν Ἰωάννην βαπτίζειν τοῦτο αὐτῷ τὸ σημεῖον ἔδωρήσατο, ἵν' ὅταν ἴδῃ, ἐπιγνῶ τὸν ἄνωθεν τῷ κόσμῳ ἀποσταλέντα σωτῆρα καὶ εὐεργέτην τῶν ἡμετέρων ψυχῶν.

51.21.13 | For the father sending John to baptize gave him this sign, so that when he saw it, he would recognize the savior and helper of our souls, sent from above to the world.

51.21.14 | Ἀνατρέπονται τοίνυν οἱ τοιοῦτοι αἰρεσιῶται ἀπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας τῶν θείων γραφῶν καὶ τῆς ἀκριβείας, μάλιστα ἀπὸ τῆς συμφωνίας τῶν τεσσάρων εὐαγγελίων. οὐ γάρ τις τῶν εἰς φρονούντων ἀποβάλοιτο τὰ τῷ ἁγίῳ πνεύματι διὰ τῶν θείων εὐαγγελίων ἀκριβῶς πάντη πεπραγματοθμένα.

51.21.14 | So these kinds of heretics are overturned from the truth of the divine scriptures and from exactness, especially from the agreement of the four gospels. For no one who is wise would reject what the holy spirit has worked out exactly everywhere through the divine gospels.

51.21.15 | κἂν τε γὰρ λέγωσιν, ὅτι ὁ μὲν Ματθαῖος καὶ Μάρκος καὶ Λουκᾶς οἱ εὐαγγελισταὶ διηγίσαντο περὶ τοῦ σωτῆρος ὅτι μετὰ τὸ βάπτισμα ἀνήχθη εἰς τὴν ἔρημον καὶ ἐποίησεν ἡμέρας τεσσαράκοντα πειραζόμενος καὶ μετὰ τὸν πειρασμὸν ἀκούσας ὅτι Ἰωάννης παρεδόθη ἐλθὼν κατῴκησεν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ τὴν παραθαλάσσιον, ὁ δὲ Ἰωάννης ψεύδεται μὴ εἰπὼν περὶ τούτων,

51.21.15 | For even if they say that Matthew and Mark and Luke the evangelists told about the savior that after the baptism he went up into the desert and spent forty days being tested, and after the testing, hearing that John was arrested, he came and lived in Capernaum by the sea, John lies if he did not say these things.

51.21.16 | ἀλλ' εὐθὺς ἀπὸ πρώτης, ὅτε ἦλθεν ὁ σωτὴρ πρὸς τὸν Ἰωάννην, καὶ τὰ ἄλλα ὅσα † λέγει αὐτὸν πεποιηκέναι, φανήσονται κατὰ πάντα [κατὰ] τὴν ἀκρίβειαν τῶν εὐαγγελίων ἡγνοηκότες.

51.21.16 | But right from the beginning, when the savior came to John, and the other things that he says he did, they will all be shown exactly as the gospels say, having been ignored.

51.21.17 | Ἰωάννης γὰρ ὁ εὐαγγελιστὴς πρὸ τοῦ παραδοθῆναι τὸν βαπτιστὴν Ἰωάννην σημαίνει τὸν κύριον μετὰ τὰς ἡμέρας τοῦ πειρασμοῦ * πρὸς αὐτὸν

51.21.17 | For John the evangelist, before John the baptizer was handed over, shows the lord as having come to him after the days of testing. For how, after John was ἐληλυθέναι. πῶς γὰρ Ἰωάννου παραδοθέντος ἐνεδέχετο ἔτι τὸν σωτῆρα πρὸς αὐτὸν πάλιν ἐλθεῖν ἐπὶ τὸν Ἰορδάνην; handed over, could it still be possible for the savior to come to him again at the Jordan?

51.21.18 | οὐκ ἔγνωσαν δὲ ὅτι οἱ ἄλλοι τρεῖς εὐαγγελισταὶ τὸν χρόνον τὸν μετὰ τὸ παραδοθῆναι τὸν Ἰωάννην διηγοῦνται ἀκριβῶς λέγοντες· »ἀκούσας δὲ ὁ Ἰησοῦς ὅτι παρεδόθη ὁ Ἰωάννης, καταλιπὼν τὴν Ναζαρέτ κατώκησεν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ τὴν παραθαλάσσιον«. καὶ ὁρᾷς ὅτι κατὰ ἀλήθειαν τὰ πάντα τοῖς τέτρασιν εὐαγγελισταῖς συμφώνως εἴρηται.

51.21.18 | They did not know that the other three evangelists tell exactly the time after John was handed over, saying: “And Jesus, hearing that John was handed over, left Nazareth and lived in Capernaum by the sea.” And you see that all things are truly said in agreement with the four evangelists.

51.21.19 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ φαίνεται <κατὰ> τὴν ἀκολουθίαν πάλιν διηγούμενος ὁ Ἰωάννης, ὅτι μετὰ τὸ ποιῆσαι τὸ πρῶτον σημεῖον τὸν σωτῆρα καὶ ἐλθεῖν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ, ποιῆσαι τε ἐκεῖ τινα σημεῖα ἀναβῆναί τε εἰς Ναζαρέτ καὶ ἀναγνῶναι τὸ βιβλίον, παραδοθέντος λοιπὸν τοῦ βαπτιστοῦ ἦλθεν καὶ κατώκησεν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ <οὐ> πολλὰς ἡμέρας.

51.21.19 | And indeed it also appears according to the order again, John tells that after doing the first sign, the savior came to Capernaum and did some signs there, went up to Nazareth and read the book, and after the baptizer was handed over, he came and lived in Capernaum not many days.

51.21.20 | οὗται δὲ εἰσιν αἱ μετὰ τὴν ἡμέραν τῶν Ἐπιφανείων καὶ τὴν ἐπὶ Καφαρναοὺμ καὶ ἐπὶ Ναζαρέτ ἔλευσιν αὐτοῦ καὶ τὴν εἰς Ἱεροσόλυμα διὰ τὸ Πάσχα ἄνοδον καὶ <πάλιν> πάλιν ἐλθεῖν πρὸς τὸν Ἰωάννην ὅπου ἐβάπτιζεν εἰς Αἰνῶν <ἐγγὺς> τοῦ Σαλήμ.

51.21.20 | These are the ones after the day of the Epiphanies and his coming to Capernaum and to Nazareth, and his going up to Jerusalem for Passover, and again and again coming to John where he was baptizing at Aenon near Salem.

51.21.21 | οὕτω γὰρ λέγει »μετὰ τοῦτο κατήλθεν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ αὐτὸς καὶ ἡ μήτηρ αὐτοῦ καὶ οἱ ἀδελφοὶ αὐτοῦ, καὶ ἐκεῖ ἔμειναν οὐ πολλὰς ἡμέρας« (οὕτω γὰρ ἐδήλου τὴν τελείαν καταμονὴν περὶ ἧς

51.21.21 | For so he says, “After this he went down to Capernaum, he and his mother and his brothers, and there they stayed not many days”; (for he had not yet shown the full stay about which he later ὕστερον εἶπεν <ὅτι> μετὰ τὸ παραδοθῆναι τὸν Ἰωάννην ἐλθὼν κατώκησεν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ τὴν παραθαλάσσιον.)

said, “that after John was handed over, he came and lived in Capernaum by the sea”).

51.21.22 | »καὶ ἐγγὺς ἦν τὸ Πάσχα τῶν Ἰουδαίων (ὡς λέγει) καὶ ἀνέβη εἰς Ἱεροσόλυμα ὃ Ἰησοῦς καὶ εὗρεν τοὺς πωλοῦντας ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ τοὺς βόας καὶ τὰ πρόβατα καὶ <τὰς> περιστεράς καὶ τοὺς κερματιστὰς καθημένους«.

51.21.22 | “And the Passover of the Jews was near (as he says), and Jesus went up to Jerusalem and found those selling oxen and sheep and doves in the temple, and the money changers sitting there.”

51.21.23 | καὶ μετὰ τὸ ἐκβαλεῖν τοὺς αὐτοὺς κερματιστὰς καὶ τοὺς πωλοῦντας τὰς περιστεράς καὶ τὰ ἄλλα, καὶ εἰρηκέναι· ἄρατε ταῦτα ἔνθεν καὶ μὴ ποιῆτε τὸν οἶκον τοῦ πατρὸς μου οἶκον ἐμπορίου, καὶ ἀκηκοέναι παρ’ αὐτῶν »τί σημεῖον δεῖκνύεις ἡμῖν ὅτι ταῦτα ποιεῖς;« καὶ εἰπεῖν, αὐτοῖς »λύσατε τὸν ναὸν τοῦτον καὶ ἐν τρισὶν ἡμέραις ἐγείρω αὐτόν«, ὅτι Νικόδημος ἦλθε πρὸς αὐτόν,

51.21.23 | And after he drove out the same money changers and those selling doves and the others, and said, “Take these away from here, and do not make my Father’s house a house of trade,” and they heard from them, “What sign do you show us that you do these things?” and he said to them, “Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up,” because Nicodemus came to him,

51.21.24 | καὶ μετὰ τὸ εἰπεῖν πολλὰ φησὶν »ἦλθεν ὁ Ἰησοῦς καὶ οἱ μαθηταὶ αὐτοῦ εἰς τὴν Ἰουδαίαν γῆν καὶ ἐκεῖ διέτριβεν μετ’ αὐτῶν καὶ ἐβάπτιζεν. ἦν δὲ καὶ Ἰωάννης <βαπτίζων> ἐν Αἰνῶν ἐγγὺς τοῦ Σαλήμ, ὅτι ὕδατα πολλὰ ἦν ἐκεῖ· οὐπω γὰρ ἦν βεβλημένος εἰς τὴν φυλακὴν ὁ Ἰωάννης«.

51.21.24 | And after saying many things, he says, “Jesus came and his disciples into the land of Judea, and there he stayed with them and was baptizing. And John was also baptizing in Aenon near Salem, because there was much water there; for John had not yet been put into prison.”

51.21.25 | τοῦ δὲ Ἰωάννου πολλὰ εἰπόντος, ὅτι »ὃ ἔχων τὴν νύμφην νυμφίος ἐστίν«, εἶτα λέγει τὸ εὐαγγέλιον »ὥς οὖν ἔγνω ὁ Ἰησοῦς ὅτι ἤκουσαν οἱ Φαρισαῖοι ὅτι Ἰησοῦς πλείονας μαθητὰς ποιεῖ καὶ βαπτίζει <ἢ> Ἰωάννης (καίτοι γε

51.21.25 | But John said many things, that “the one who has the bride is the bridegroom,” then the gospel says, “So when Jesus knew that the Pharisees heard that Jesus made more disciples and baptized more than John (though Jesus himself was not baptizing, but his disciples were), he left the land of Judea and went back again into Galilee.”

51.21.26 | ἔδει δὲ αὐτὸν διέρχεσθαι διὰ τῆς Σαμαρείας· ὅτε ἐπὶ τῷ φρέατι ἐκαθέσθη καὶ τῇ Σαμαρεῖτιδι διελέχθη καὶ ἀνήγγειλεν ἡ Σαμαρεῖτις περὶ αὐτοῦ τοῖς ἐν τῇ πόλει καὶ ἦλθον πρὸς αὐτὸν οἱ Σαμαρεῖται καὶ παρεκάλουν αὐτὸν μεῖναι παρ’ αὐτοῖς· καὶ ἔμεινεν ἐκεῖ δύο ἡμέρας καὶ πολλῶ πλείους ἐπίστευσαν διὰ τὸν λόγον αὐτοῦ.

51.21.26 | It was necessary for him to go through Samaria; so when he sat by the well and talked with the Samaritan woman, she told about him to the people in the town, and the Samaritans came to him and asked him to stay with them. And he stayed there two days, and many more believed because of his word.

51.21.27 | «μετὰ δὲ τὰς δύο ἡμέρας ἦλθεν εἰς τὴν Γαλιλαίαν» καὶ ἦν τις βασιλικὸς οὗ ὁ υἱὸς ἡσθένει ἐν Καφαρναούμ, ὅτε εἶπεν αὐτῷ ὁ Ἰησοῦς «πορεύου· ὁ υἱός σου ζῇ» καὶ ἐπίστευσεν καὶ ἰάθη ὁ παῖς. καὶ λέγει τὸ εὐαγγέλιον & τοῦτο; δεύτερον πάλιν σημεῖον ἐποίησεν ὁ Ἰησοῦς ἐλθὼν ἐκ τῆς Ἰουδαίας εἰς τὴν Γαλιλαίαν.

51.21.27 | After the two days, he came into Galilee. And there was a royal official whose son was sick in Capernaum. When Jesus said to him, “Go; your son lives,” he believed, and the boy was healed. And the gospel says, “This was the second sign Jesus did after coming from Judea into Galilee.”

51.21.28 | «μετὰ τοῦτο ἦν ἑορτὴ τῶν Ἰουδαίων (οἶμαι δὲ ὅτι περὶ ἄλλης ἑορτῆς Ἰουδαίων λέγει, ἢ Πεντηκοστῆς ἢ σκηνοπηγιῶν) καὶ ἀνέβη Ἰησοῦς εἰς Ἱεροσόλυμα, ὅτε ἐπὶ τῆς προβατικῆς κολυμβήθρας ἐλθὼν ἐν σαββάτῳ ἰάσατο τὸν τριάκοντα ὀκτὼ ἔτεσιν ἐν ἀσθενείᾳ παραλελυμένον.

51.21.28 | After this, there was a feast of the Jews (but I think it is about another Jewish feast, either Pentecost or Tabernacles), and Jesus went up to Jerusalem. When he came to the pool of Bethesda on the Sabbath, he healed a man who had been sick and paralyzed for thirty-eight years.

51.21.29 | ἀπ’ ἐντεῦθεν λοιπὸν πληρωθέντος τοῦ δεκτοῦ ἐνιαυτοῦ ἤρξαντο αὐτὸν διώκειν ἐξότε τὸν ἐπὶ τῆς κολυμβήθρας παραλυτικὸν ἰάσατο ἐν σαββάτῳ· εἴτα πάλιν λέγει «ἐπὶ πλείον ἐδίωκον οἱ Ἰουδαῖοι τὸν Ἰησοῦν, ὅτι οὐ μόνον ἔλυε τὸ σάββατον, ἀλλὰ καὶ πατέρα

51.21.29 | From then on, after the feast was over, they began to chase him because he healed the paralytic at the pool on the Sabbath. Then again it says, “The Jews were even more against Jesus, because he not only broke the Sabbath, but also called God his own Father, making himself equal to ἴδιον ἔλεγεν τὸν θεόν, ἴσον ἑαυτὸν ποιῶν τῷ θεῷ».

God.”

51.21.30 | πῶς οὖν οὐ καταγνωστέαι αἱ αἱρέσεις ἐλλιπῇ ποιοῦσαι τὸν υἱὸς τὸν πατέρα; »ἴσον« γὰρ [φασίν] »ἑαυτὸν ποιῶν τῷ θεῷ«, λέγει τὸ εὐαγγέλιον.

51.21.30 | How then could the heresies that make the son less than the father not be blamed? For the gospel says, “making himself equal to God.”

51.21.31 | »μετὰ δὲ ταῦτα ἀπῆλθεν ὁ Ἰησοῦς πέραν τῆς θαλάσσης τῆς Γαλιλαίας τῆς Τιβεριάδος, ἠκολούθει δὲ αὐτῷ ὄχλος πολὺς, ὁρῶντες τὰ σημεῖα ἃ ἐποίει ἐπὶ τῶν ἀσθενούντων. ἀνῆλθεν οὖν ὁ Ἰησοῦς εἰς τὸ ὄρος καὶ ἐκεῖ ἐκαθέζετο μετὰ τῶν μαθητῶν αὐτοῦ. ἦν δὲ <ἐγγὺς> τὸ Πάσχα ἡ ἑορτὴ τῶν Ἰουδαίων.»

51.21.31 | After these things, Jesus went across the sea of Galilee, which is Tiberias. A large crowd followed him, seeing the signs he did on the sick. So Jesus went up to the mountain, and there he sat down with his disciples. The Passover, the feast of the Jews, was near.

51.21.32 | λοιπὸν ὡς λέγει τὰ ἄλλα εὐαγγέλια, παραδοθέντος τοῦ Ἰωάννου ἐλθὼν κατώκησεν εἰς Καφαρναοὺμ τὴν παραθαλάσσιον· ὡς καὶ αὐτὸς Ἰωάννης συνῶδὰ τοῖς ἄλλοις εὐρίσκεται λέγων. τοῦ γὰρ Πάσχα ἐν μηνὶ Μαρτίῳ ἢ Ἀπριλίῳ γινομένου ἐξ ἅπαντος δείκνυνται ἄλλοι ὄντες καιροὶ ἐν οἷς ὁ σωτὴρ μετὰ τὸν πειρασμὸν πρὸς τὸν Ἰωάννην ἀφικνεῖται.

51.21.32 | So then, as the other gospels say, after John was handed over, he came and lived in Capernaum by the sea. John himself is also found agreeing with the others, saying this. For the Passover, which happens in the month of March or April, shows the time when the savior, after the testing, arrives at John.

Section 22

51.22.1 | 22. Κατηγοροῦσι δὲ οἱ αὐτοὶ πάλιν τοῦ ἁγίου εὐαγγελιστοῦ, μᾶλλον δὲ αὐτοῦ τοῦ εὐαγγελίου, ὅτι, φησίν, ὁ Ἰωάννης ἔφη δύο Πάσχα τὸν σωτὴρα πεποιηκέναι ἐν περιόδῳ ἐνιαυτῶν δύο, οἱ δὲ ἄλλοι εὐαγγελισταὶ περὶ ἐνὸς Πάσχα διηγοῦνται.

51.22.1 | The same people accuse again the holy evangelist, or rather his gospel, saying that John said the savior made two Passovers in a period of two years, but the other evangelists tell about one Passover.

51.22.2 | καὶ οὐκ ἴσασιν οἱ ἰδιῶται ὅτι οὐ μόνον δύο Πάσχα ὁμολογεῖ τὰ εὐαγγέλια, ὡς πανταχόθεν ἐδείξαμεν, ἀλλὰ δύο μὲν πρῶτα λέγει καὶ αὐτὸ δὲ ἐν ᾧ πέπονθεν ὁ σωτὴρ ἄλλο Πάσχα, ὡς εἶναι τρία Πάσχα ἀπὸ τοῦ χρόνου τοῦ βαπτίσματος καὶ τῆς ἀρχῆς τοῦ κηρύγματος ἐπὶ τρισὶν ἔτεσιν ἕως τοῦ σταυροῦ.

51.22.2 | And the common people do not know that the gospels confess not only two Passovers, as we have shown everywhere, but first they say two, and also another Passover when the savior suffered. So there are three Passovers from the time of baptism and the start of preaching, lasting three years until the cross.

51.22.3 | Γεννᾶται μὲν γὰρ ὁ σωτὴρ τεσσαρακοστῷ δευτέρῳ ἔτει Αὐγούστου βασιλέως τῶν Ῥωμαίων ἐν ὑπατείᾳ τοῦ αὐτοῦ Ὁκταίου Αὐγούστου τὸ τρισκαιδέκατον καὶ Σιλανοῦ, ὡς ἔχει τὰ παρὰ Ῥωμαίοις ὑπατάρια.

51.22.3 | For the savior is born in the forty-second year of Augustus, king of the Romans, in the thirteenth consulship of the same Octavius Augustus and Silanus, as the Roman records of consuls show.

51.22.4 | κεῖται γὰρ ἐν αὐτοῖς οὕτως·
»τούτων ὑπατευόντων, φημὶ πρὸ ὀκτῶ εἰδῶν Ἰανουαρίων μετὰ δεκατρεῖς ἡμέρας τῆς χειμερινῆς τροπῆς καὶ τῆς τοῦ φωτὸς καὶ ἡμέρας προσθήκης.«

51.22.4 | For it is written in them like this:
“During their consulship, I say, on the thirteenth day of January, after the winter solstice and the addition of light and day.”

51.22.5 | ταύτην δὲ τὴν ἡμέραν ἑορτάζουσιν Ἕλληνες, φημὶ δὲ οἱ εἰδωλόλατραι, τῇ πρὸ ὀκτῶ καλανδῶν Ἰανουαρίων, τῇ παρὰ Ῥωμαίοις καλουμένῃ Σατουρνάλια, παρ’ Αἰγυπτίοις δὲ Κρόνια, παρὰ Ἀλεξανδρεῦσι δὲ Κικέλλια.

51.22.5 | This day the Greeks celebrate, I say, the idolaters, on the eighth day before the kalends of January, which the Romans call Saturnalia, the Egyptians call Kronia, and the people of Alexandria call Kikellia.

51.22.6 | τῇ γὰρ πρὸ ὀκτῶ καλανδῶν Ἰανουαρίων τοῦτο τὸ τιμῆμα γίνεται, ὃ ἐστὶ τροπή, καὶ ἄρχεται αὖξιν ἡ ἡμέρα τοῦ φωτὸς λαμβάνοντος τὴν προσθήκην, πληροὶ δὲ δεκατριῶν ἡμερῶν ἀριθμὸν εἰς τὴν πρὸ ὀκτῶ εἰδῶν Ἰανουαρίων, ἕως ἡμέρας τῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ γεννήσεως προστιθεμένου τριακοστοῦ ὥρας ἐκάστη

51.22.6 | For on the eighth day before the kalends of January this part happens, which is the turning, and the day of light begins to grow by taking the addition. It fills the number of thirteen days up to the eighth day before the ides of January, until the day of Christ’s birth, with the thirtieth hour added to each day.

51.22.7 | As the wise Ephraim among the Syrians also testified to this word in his explanations, saying, "For thus was arranged the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, the birth in the flesh, or the perfect incarnation, which is called the Epiphany, from the beginning of the increase of light over a period of thirteen days. For this too must be a symbol of the number of our Lord Jesus Christ and his twelve disciples, who completed the number of thirteen days of the increase of light."

51.22.8 | How many other things there are for the subject and proof of this word, I say about the birth of Christ. It has happened and is happening. For even some part of the truth, forced to agree, the leaders of idol worship and deceivers, to trick those who believe them, the idolaters, in many places hold a great festival on the very night of the Epiphany, so that those who hope in error will not seek the truth.

51.22.9 | πρῶτον μὲν ἐν Ἀλεξανδρείᾳ ἐν τῷ Κορείῳ <οὐ>τω καλουμένῳ ναὸς δέ ἐστι μέγιστος τουτέστιν τὸ τέμενος τῆς Κόρης.

51.22.9 | First, in Alexandria at the place called Koreion; it is a great temple, that is, the sanctuary of Kore.

51.22.10 | ὅλην γὰρ τὴν νύκτα ἀγρυπνήσαντες ἐν ᾠσμασί τισι καὶ αὐλοῖς τῷ εἰδώλῳ ἄδοντες καὶ παννυχίδα

51.22.10 | For the whole night, staying awake with some songs and flutes, singing to the idol and keeping the all-night vigil, διατελέσαντες μετὰ τὴν τῶν ἀλεκτρυόνων κλαγγὴν κατέρχονται λαμπαδηφόροι εἰς σηκόν τινα ὑπόγαιον καὶ ἀναφέρουσι φράκον τι ξύλιον <έν> φορεῖν καθεζόμενον γυμνόν, ἔχον σφραγίδά τινα σταυροῦ ἐπὶ τοῦ μετώπου διάχρυσον καὶ ἐπὶ ταῖς ἑκατέραις χερσὶν ἄλλας δύο τοιαύτας σφραγίδας καὶ ἐπ' αὐτοῖς τοῖς δυσὶ γονάτοις ἄλλας δύο, ὁμοῦ δὲ [τάς] πέντε σφραγίδας ἀπὸ χρυσοῦ τετυπωμένας καὶ περιφέρουσιν αὐτὸ τὸ ξόανον ἐπτάκις κυκλώσαντες τὸν μεσαίτατον ναὸν μετὰ αὐλῶν καὶ τυμπάνων καὶ ὕμνων καὶ κωμάσαντες καταφέρουσιν αὐτὸ αὐθις εἰς τὸν ὑπόγαιον τόπον. ἐρωτώμενοι δὲ ὅτι τί ἐστὶ τοῦτο τὸ μυστήριον ἀποκρίνονται καὶ λέγουσιν ὅτι ταύτη τῇ ὥρᾳ σήμερον ἡ Κόρη (τουτέστιν ἡ παρθένος) ἐγέννησε τὸν Αἰῶνα.

after the crowing of the roosters, torchbearers go down into an underground shrine and carry back a wooden image sitting naked on a throne, having a golden cross-shaped mark on its forehead and two other such marks on each hand, and on its two knees two more, five marks in all, stamped in gold. They carry this statue seven times around the central temple with flutes, drums, hymns, and revelry, and then bring it back again to the underground place. When asked what this mystery means, they answer and say that at this hour today the Kore (that is, the virgin) gave birth to Aion.

51.22.11 | This also happens in Petra, the city (which is the capital of Arabia, that is Edom, as written in the scriptures), in the idol's temple there. They praise the virgin in the Arabian language, calling her Hama, that is, Kore. So, the virgin and the one born from her, Dushara, that is, the only-begotten of the lord. This also happens in Elusa, the city, on that same night, just as in Petra and Alexandria.

51.22.12 | ἐκ πολλῶν δὲ ἡναγκάσθημεν παραστῆσαι διὰ τοὺς ἀπειθοῦντας ὅτι τὰ Ἐπιφάνεια καλῶς εἴρηται ἡ ἐνσαρκος γέννησις τοῦ σωτῆρος ἡ ἐν Βηθλεὲμ γενομένη, ὀγδόῃ ὥρᾳ γεννηθέντος αὐτοῦ καὶ ἐπιφανέντος τοῖς ποιμέσι καὶ τῷ κόσμῳ διὰ τῆς τῶν ἀγγέλων μαρτυρίας·

51.22.12 | Because many forced us to explain to the disobedient that the Epiphanies rightly mean the birth in flesh of the savior, which happened in Bethlehem, born at the eighth hour and revealed to the shepherds and the world through the testimony of the angels;

51.22.13 | The star also appeared to Mary and Joseph. At that hour, the star appeared in the east to the magi, about two years after their arrival in Jerusalem and Bethlehem. At that time, Herod carefully asked the magi about the time the star appeared, and he heard from them that it was about two years earlier or less. This is why the word “Epiphanies” got its name, from Herod saying “of the star that appeared.”

51.22.14 | διὰ τῶν μὲν λεγόντων ὅτι »ποῦ ἐστὶν ὁ βασιλεὺς ὁ τεχθεὶς τῶν Ἰουδαίων; εἶδομεν γὰρ αὐτοῦ τὸν ἀστέρα ἐν τῇ ἀνατολῇ καὶ ἤλθομεν προσκυνῆσαι αὐτῷ«, ὁ Ἡρώδης οὐ περὶ ψιλοῦ ὀνόματος ἀνθρώπου βασιλέως τὸ πρᾶγμα ἐσκόπησε.

51.22.14 | Because of those saying, “Where is the king born of the Jews? For we saw his star in the east and came to worship him,” Herod did not think about a small name of a human king.

51.22.15 | For he thought about the matter and was amazed that many kings were born in Jerusalem: first Saul from the tribe of Benjamin, second David from the tribe of Judah, and David's son Solomon; Solomon's son was Rehoboam, and his sons followed in order. But never did a star appear for any one of them, nor did magi come to worship the born king—except this time alone. So, thinking about this, someone forced his mind toward knowing the truth, learning that this sign was not of a man, but only of the lord.

51.22.16 | διὸ οὐκέτι περὶ βασιλέως ἡρώτα

51.22.16 | Therefore he no longer asked ἐπιγείου ἢ ἀνθρώπου, ἀλλὰ περὶ Χριστοῦ, λέγων τοῖς γραμματεῦσι καὶ ἱερεῦσι »ποῦ ὁ Χριστὸς γεννᾶται;« καὶ ἤκουσε παρ’ αὐτῶν »ἐν Βηθλεὲμ τῆς Ἰουδαίας« καὶ παρὰ μὲν τούτων ἐρωτήσας τὸν τόπον ἔγων, παρὰ δὲ τῶν μάγων τὸν χρόνον.

about a king on earth or a man, but about the Christ, saying to the scribes and priests, “Where is the Christ born?” And he heard from them, “In Bethlehem of Judea.” And from them he asked about the place, but from the magi about the time.

51.22.17 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ αὐτοὶ οἱ μάγοι μετὰ διετίαν ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τῶν Ἐπιφανείων εἰς Βηθλεὲμ ἐγένοντο καὶ τὰ δῶρα προσήνεγκαν, [καὶ] τὴν σμύρναν καὶ τὸν χρυσὸ καὶ τὸν λίβανον. ἐν αὐτῇ γὰρ τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τῶν Ἐπιφανείων αἱ ἀρχαὶ γεγόνασιν πολλῶν [πραγμάτων] σημείων τῆς ἐπιφανείας.

51.22.17 | For even the magi came to Bethlehem on that same day of the Epiphany after two years, and they brought gifts: myrrh, gold, and frankincense. For on that same day of the Epiphany many signs of the appearance happened.

51.22.18 | And this was the day, as I said before and often must say again, in the twelfth year of the rule of Octavius Augustus and Silanus, on the eighth day before the Ides of January, thirteen days after the day of light and the day of increase, which is from the turning of winter—that is, from eight days before the Kalends of January until this birthday and Epiphany day, because of the sign shown before—this day completes the thirteenth number of the savior and his twelve disciples. So the savior is born in the forty-second year of Augustus, king of the Romans, in the rule of...

51.22.19 | προγεγραμμένη, μετὰ εἰκοσιεννέα ἔτη τῆς Αὐγούστου | πρὸς Ἰουδαίους συναφείας· βασιλεύει δὲ Αὔγουστος δεκατρία ἔτη πρὶν ἢ τὴν Ἰουδαίαν τελείως συναφθῆναι Ῥωμαίοις.

51.22.19 | already mentioned, after twenty-nine years of Augustus’ rule over the Jewish region; Augustus ruled for thirteen years before Judea was fully joined to the Romans.

51.22.20 | And Augustus also ruled for six years more than four years of his reign, with more or less friendship of the Romans toward the Jews, and an alliance sent, and a governor appointed, and parts of taxes paid to the Romans for five years more or less, until Judea was fully handed over and became subject to them, after the rulers from Judea ended and Herod was placed from the nations.

51.22.21 | But indeed after a convert, then Christ was born in Bethlehem of Judea and came for the preaching, after the rulers from Judea and Aaron, who were leaders of the anointed, ended, lasting until Alexander, who was leader of Christ and Christ of Alexandra; on them was fulfilled the prophecy of Jacob, "A ruler will not fail from Judah, and a leader from his thighs, until the one to whom it belongs comes, and he himself is the hope of the nations," which is the lord who was born.

51.22.22 | All these things were completed, starting from the birth in Bethlehem, which happened in the forty-second year of the whole reign of Augustus, which was the fifth year after the rule of Antipater, the father of Herod, when there was friendship of the Romans toward the Jews and parts of gifts, and after the rule of Antipater from the sixth year of Augustus until the ninth of him, Herod was placed from the tenth year and parts of taxes were given until the thirteenth year, which was the fourth year of the reign of Herod placed by Augustus.

ὑπὸ Αὐγούστου·

51.22.23 | μετὰ δὲ τὸ τέταρτον ἔτος Ἡρώδου λοιπὸν τελείως παραδοθείσης τῆς Ἰουδαίας ἕως τριακοστοῦ τρίτου ἔτους Ἡρώδου, Αὐγούστου δὲ τεσσαράκοντα δύο ἔτη πληρώσαντος, κρατηθείσης < τε > τῆς πάσης Ἰουδαίας, ὡς ἔφην, μετὰ τὸ ποιῆσαι αὐτὴν εἰκοσιεννέα ἔτη ὑπόφορον Ῥωμαίοις, καὶ μετὰ τὸ κατασταθῆναι ἐπίτροπον τὸν Ἀντίπατρον Ἡρώδου πατέρα, μετὰ τε τὸ Ἡρώδην βασιλέα κατασταθῆναι ὑπὸ Αὐγούστου ἐν τῷ δεκάτῳ ἔτει τοῦ αὐτοῦ Αὐγούστου ἐπὶ τῆς Ἰουδαίας.

51.22.23 | But after the fourth year of Herod, with Judea fully handed over until the thirty-third year of Herod, and Augustus having completed forty-two years, Judea was held, as I said, after being subject to the Romans for twenty-nine years, and after Antipater, the father of Herod, was appointed governor, and after Herod was placed king by Augustus in the tenth year of the same Augustus over Judea.

51.22.24 | 1. These things happened in the thirteenth year of the consulship of Octavius Augustus and Silanus, as I have often said, the consuls who followed one after another were as follows: 2. Lentulus and Piso. 3. Lucius Caesar and Paulus. 4. Vindicius and Varus. 5. Lamia and Servilius Nonnius. 6. Magnus Pompeius and Valerius. 7. Lepidus and Arugius. 8. Caesar and Capito. 9. Creticus and Nerua. 10. Camillus and Quintilianus. 11. Camerus and Sabinus. 12. Dolabella and Silanus. 13. Lepidus and Taurus. 14. Flangus and Silanus. 15. The two Sexti. 16. Pompeius Magnus and Apuleius. 17. Brutus and Flangus. 18. Taurus and Libo. 19. Crassus and Rufus. 20. The second consulship of Tiberius Caesar and the second of Drusus Germanus. 21. Silanus and Valbus. 22. Messala and Gratus. 23. The third consulship of Tiberius Caesar and the third of Drusus Germanus. 24. Agrippa and Galbus. 25. Pollio and Veterus. 26. Cethigonus and Varus. 27. The second consulship of Agrippa and Lentulus Galbus.

51.23.1 | 23. Καὶ ὁρᾷς ὅτι τριακονταετῆς ἐστὶν χρόνος. Διὸ ἐφιλοτιμησάμεθα τὰς καθεξῆς ὑπατείας ἀκριβῶς θέσθαι, εἰς τὸ τοὺς διερχομένους ἰδεῖν ὅτι οὐκ ἔστιν τι παραπεποιημένον ἐν τῷ θείῳ δόγματι τῆς ἀληθείας, ἀλλὰ μετὰ ἀκριβείας τὰ πάντα τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ κεκήρυκται.

51.23.1 | And you see that the time is thirty years. Therefore, we took care to set the consuls in order exactly, so that those who go through them may see that nothing has been added wrongly in the sacred teaching of truth, but that everything has been proclaimed to the church with accuracy.

51.23.2 | Τίς γὰρ ἀριθμήσας τὰς μὴ δυναμένας σφαλῆναι καθ' εἰρμὸν ὑπατείας οὐ καταγνώσεται τῶν νομιζόντων διαφωνίαν εἶναι ἐν τῷ τῶν ἐτῶν ἀριθμῷ τῷ παρὰ τοῖς εὐαγγελισταῖς ἁδομένῳ;

51.23.2 | For who, having counted the consuls in order, not able to be mistaken, will blame those who think there is disagreement in the number of years sung by the gospel writers?

51.23.3 | διὰ τοῦτο γὰρ καὶ ἔπεσον αἱ πρότρον περὶ Οὐάλεντίνου καὶ τινὰς ἄλλους αἱρέσεις, αἱ μυθωδῶς ἀναγραψάμεναι τοὺς τριάκοντα αἰῶνας, οὓς ἐνόμισαν ἀπεικάζειν τοῖς τοῦ σωτῆρος ἔτεσιν, ἵνα δῆθεν δύνωνται τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς αἰώνων καὶ ἀρχῶν ἀναγράφειν τὴν μυθοποιίαν.

51.23.3 | For this reason, the earlier writings about Valentinus and some other heresies fell, which falsely wrote down the thirty ages, which they thought matched the years of the savior, so that they might seem able to write the myth about the ages and rulers among them.

51.23.4 | εὐρίσκεται γὰρ ἐν τῷ τριακοστῷ τρίτῳ ἔτει τῆς αὐτοῦ ἐνσάρκου παρουσίας πάσχων ὁ μονογενὴς ἀπαθὴς ὢν ἄνωθεν θεὸς Λόγος, σάρκα δὲ < προσλαβὼν καὶ > ἀναδεξάμενος ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν παθεῖν, ἵνα τὸ τοῦ θανάτου καθ' ἡμῶν

51.23.4 | For in the thirty-third year of his bodily presence, the only-begotten, suffering yet without suffering, the Word of God from above, having taken on flesh and accepted to suffer for us, so that he might χειρόγραφον λύση.

destroy the written record of death for us.

51.23.5 | μετ' ἐκείνην γὰρ τὴν ὑπατείαν τὴν ἐντῷ τριακοστῷ ἔτει αὐτοῦ σημειομένην ἄλλη ὑπατεία γέγονεν, Λεγομένη τῶν δύο Γεμινῶν· εἴτα ἄλλη ὑπατεία Ῥούφου καὶ Ῥουβελλίωνος, Καὶ οὕτως ἐνεστῶσης τῆς ὑπατείας τῆς μετὰ τὴν ὑπατείαν < Ῥούφου καὶ > Ῥουβελλίωνος, ἥτις ὕστερον ἦλθεν Οὐίννικίου καλεῖσθαι Καὶ Λογγίνου Κασσίου, < ἐν τῷ τριακοστῷ τρίτῳ αὐτοῦ ἔτει ὅπερ ἦν > ὀκτωκαιδέκατον Τιβερίου Καίσαρος, πάσχει ὁ σωτὴρ [ἐν] τῇ πρὸ δεκατριῶν καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων.

51.23.5 | For after that consulship marked in his thirtieth year, another consulship happened, called that of the two Geminus; then another consulship of Rufus and Rubellius. And so, during the consulship after the consulship of Rufus and Rubellius, which later came to be called that of Vinnicius and Longinus Cassius, in his thirty-third year, which was the eighteenth of Tiberius Caesar, the savior suffers in the thirteen days before the calends of April.

51.23.6 | Καὶ ἐλήλεγκεται τούτων ἀπάντων ἡ πλάνη, εὐρισκομένης σαφῶς τῆς κατὰ τὴν ἀλήθειαν διδασκαλίας, ὥς οὐ μόνον δύο χρόνων περίοδοι ἑορτῆς Πάσχα ἐν τοῖς εὐαγγελίοις ἐμφέρονται, ἀλλὰ καὶ τριῶν.

51.23.6 | And the error of all these things has been proven, clearly finding the teaching according to the truth, that not only two-year periods of the Passover festival are shown in the gospels, but also three.

Section 24

51.24.1 | 24. Γεννηθέντος γὰρ αὐτοῦ ἐν τῷ Ἰανουαρίῳ μηνὶ τουτέστιν πρὸ ὀκτῶ εἰδῶν Ἰανουαρίων — ἥτις ἐστὶ κατὰ Ῥωμαίου Πέμπτη Ἰανουαρίου ἐσπέρα εἰς ἔκτην ἐπιφώσκουσα, κατ' Αἰγυπτίους Τυβὶ ἐνδεκάτη, κατὰ Σύρους εἴτ' οὖν Ἑλλήνας Αὐδυναίου ἔκτη, κατὰ Κυπρίους εἴτ' οὖν Σαλαμινίους πέμπτου Πέμπτη, κατὰ Παφίους Ἰουλίου τεσσαρεσκαίδεκάτη, κατὰ Ἀραβας Ἀλεῶμ μία καὶ εἰκάς, κατὰ Καππάδοκας Ἀταρτᾶ τρισκαίδεκάτη, κατὰ Ἀθηναίους Μαιμακτηριῶνος Πέμπτη, κατὰ Ἑβραίου Τηβήθ πέμπτη·

51.24.1 | For he was born in the month of January, that is, eight days before the Ides of January — which is, according to the Romans, the evening of the fifth of January shining toward the sixth, according to the Egyptians the eleventh of Tybi, according to the Syrians or Greeks the sixth of Audynaïos, according to the Cypriots or Salaminioi the fifth of the fifth, according to the Paphioi the fourteenth of July, according to the Arabs the first and twentieth of Aleom, according to the Cappadocians the thirteenth of Atarta, according to the Athenians the fifth of Maimakterion, according to the Hebrews the fifth of Tebeth;

51.24.2 | For it was necessary here also to be fulfilled what the prophet said, “the ark of God came to us” (meaning the full incarnation of Christ), “on the fifth day of the fifth month,” as it was then completed among the Hebrews; which first indeed to the fulfilled, and many of the nations following it, I say the Romans complete it on the fifth evening shining toward the sixth, the Cypriots hold the fifth day of the month, and the Egyptians by nature, and the Salaminiens also hold the very fifth month, as the Hebrews also count the fifth from the new year that begins with them —

51.24.4 | διῆλθεν οὖν τὰς προειρημένας

Νοεμβρίων,

51.24.4 | So he passed the twenty-nine mentioned consulships full, and into the thirtieth consulship, I say, around the tenth month, he came to John and was baptized in the Jordan river in the thirtieth year of his fleshly birth, before the month of November came,

51.24.5 | That is, according to the Egyptians, Athyr the twelfth; according to the Greeks, Dios the eighth; according to the Salaminians, also called Constantinae, the third of Choiak the sixth; according to the Paphian, Apogonicus the seventeenth;

Ἀπελλαίου ἐκκαιδεκάτῃ, κατὰ Καππάδοκας Ἀρατατὰ πεντεκαιδεκάτῃ, κατὰ Ἀθηναίους Μεταγειτνιώνος ἐβδόμῃ, κατὰ Ἑβραίους Μαρεσουὰν εὐαγγέλιον, according to the Arabs, Angathalbaeith the second and twentieth; according to the Macedonians, Apellaios the seventeenth; according to the Cappadocians, Aratath the fifteenth; according to the Athenians, Metageitnion the seventh; according to the Hebrews, Maresuan, the gospel,

51.24.6 | ὡς ἐπιμαρτυρεῖ Μου τῷ λόγῳ τὸ ἅγιον κατὰ Λουκᾶν εὐαγγέλιον, ὡς πολλάκις ἔφην, ᾧ δέ πως λέγον »ἦν δὲ ὁ Ἰησοῦς ἀρχόμενος εἶναι ὡς ἐτῶν τριάκοντα, ὧν υἱὸς ὡς ἐνομίζετο τοῦ Ἰωσήφ«·

51.24.6 | As the holy gospel according to Luke testifies to me in the word, as I have often said, saying something like this: “Now Jesus was beginning to be about thirty years old, being the son as was thought of Joseph.”

51.24.7 | And from then, from Athyr the twelfth, “he was preaching the acceptable year of the Lord,” according to what was said in the prophet Isaiah: “The spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to bring good news to the poor; he has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind, to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord and the day of vengeance.”

Section 25

51.25.1 | 25. Ὡς ἀληθῶς γὰρ ἐκήρυξεν ἐνιαυτὸν κυρίου δεκτόν, τουτέστιν μὴ ἀντιλεγόμενον. τὸν γὰρ πρῶτον ἐνιαυτὸν μετὰ < τὸ > τριακοστὸν ἔτος τῆς αὐτοῦ ἐνσάρκου παρουσίας ἐκήρυσσε καὶ πάντες κατεδέχοντο, καὶ οὔτε Ἰουδαῖοι ἀντέλεγον οὔτε ἔθνη οὔτε Σαμαρεῖται, ἀλλὰ πάντες ἡδέως ἤκουον αὐτοῦ.

51.25.1 | For truly he preached the acceptable year of the Lord, that is, not to be opposed. For he preached the first year after his thirty years of fleshly presence, and all accepted it, and neither Jews opposed nor Gentiles nor Samaritans, but all gladly heard him.

51.25.2 | ἐν ᾧ ἐνιαυτῷ ἄνεισιν εἰς

51.25.2 | In that year he went up to

Ἱεροσόλυμα, μετὰ τὸ βαπτισθῆναι καὶ διελθεῖν τὰς τεσσαράκοντα ἡμέρας τοῦ πειρασμοῦ καὶ ἅς προείπαμεν εἴκοσι ἔως τοῦ πρώτου σημείου καὶ ἐκλέξασθαι τοὺς ἑαυτοῦ μαθητάς·

Jerusalem, after being baptized and passing through the forty days of testing, and as we said before, up to the first sign, and choosing his own disciples;

51.25.3 | ἀνακάμψας ἀπὸ τοῦ πειρασμοῦ ἐπὶ τὸν Ἰορδάνην καὶ διελθὼν διὰ τῆς θαλάσσης τῆς Τιβεριάδος, ἐπὶ τὴν Ναζαρετ πορευόμενος ἀνέβη δηλονότι εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ καὶ ἐν μέσῳ τῆς ἑορτῆς ἐκέκραγε λέγων »εἴ τις διψᾷ, ἐρχέσθω πρὸς με καὶ πινέτω«, καὶ οὕτως ἀπῆλθεν εἰς Ναζαρετ καὶ εἰς τὴν Ἰουδαίαν καὶ εἰς τὴν Σαμάρειαν καὶ εἰς τὰ μέρη Τύρου.

51.25.3 | Having recovered from the testing, he went back to the Jordan, and passing through the sea of Tiberias, going to Nazareth, he clearly went up to Jerusalem, and in the middle of the festival he shouted, saying, "If anyone is thirsty, let them come to me and drink," and so he went away to Nazareth and to Judea and to Samaria and to the regions of Tyre.

51.25.4 | καὶ πληρωθέντος τοῦ πρώτου ἐνιαυτοῦ πάλιν ἄνεισιν εἰς Ἱερουσαλὴμ καὶ λοιπὸν ἐζήτουν αὐτὸν πιάσαι ἐν τῇ ἑορτῇ καὶ ἐφοβήθησαν· ἐν ᾗ ἑορτῇ ἔλεγεν ὅτι »οὐκ ἀναβαίνω εἰς τὴν ἑορτὴν ταύτην«. οὐ γὰρ ἐφεύδετο, μὴ γένοιτο.

51.25.4 | And when the first year was completed, he went up again to Jerusalem, and they kept trying to catch him during the festival, but they were afraid; during that festival he said that "I will not go up to this festival." For he was not pretending, God forbid.

51.25.5 | »μεσαζούσης γὰρ τῆς ἑορτῆς ἦλθε« φησί »καὶ ἀνέβη εἰς Ἱεροσόλυμα«, »καὶ ἔλεγον· οὐχ οὗτός ἐστιν ὃν ἐζήτουν πιάσαι; Καὶ ἰδοὺ ἐν παρρησίᾳ λαλεῖ· μὴ ἄρα ἔμαθον οἱ ἱερεῖς ὅτι οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ χριστός;

51.25.5 | "For in the middle of the festival he came," he says, "and went up to Jerusalem," "and they were saying, 'Isn't this the one they were trying to catch? And look, he is speaking openly.' Surely the priests have learned that he is the Christ?"

51.25.6 | ἀλλὰ οἶδαμεν οἵτος πόθεν ἐστίν«. Μυστηριωδῶς γὰρ καὶ πνευματικῶς αὐτοῦ διαλεγομένου τοῖς αὐτοῦ ἀδελφοῖς οὐκ ἤδεισαν τί ἔλεγεν. ἔλεγε γὰρ αὐτοῖς γῆ ἀναβαίνειν εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν ἐν τῇ ἑορτῇ ἐκείνῃ μηδὲ εἰς τὸν σταυρόν, τοῦ τελετῶσαι τέως τὴν οἰκονομίαν τοῦ

51.25.6 | "But we know where he is from." For when he was speaking mysteriously and spiritually with his own brothers, they did not understand what he was saying. For he was telling them not to go up to heaven at that festival, nor to the cross, in order to complete first the plan of his suffering and mentioned, the two Geminus ones and that 51.25.8 | in the third term of office, in the third month of it, after January and February, in the month of March, the mystery of the suffering is completed by the impassible god the Word, suffering in the flesh for us, yet remaining impassible, as Peter says, "having been put to death in the flesh, but made alive in the spirit."

Section 26

51.26.1 | 26. Πάσχει δὲ ἐν τῇ πρὸ δεκατριῶν καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων * ὑπερβεβηκότων αὐτῶν μίαν * ἐσπέραν τουτέστιν ἐν τῇ τεσσαρεσκαίδεκαταΐας σελήνης νυκτερινῇ μέσῃ.

51.26.1 | 26. And he suffers on the day before the thirteenth of the kalends of April, having passed one evening, that is, in the middle of the fourteenth lunar night.

51.26.2 | προέλαβον γὰρ καὶ ἔφαυον τὸ πολλάκις εἶπαμεν ἔφαγον οὖν τὸ Πάσχα πρὸ δύο ἡμερῶν τοῦ* φαγεῖν τουτέστι τῇ τρίτῃ ἐσπέρας ὅπερ ἔδει τῇ πέμπτῃ

51.26.2 | For they ate the Passover early, as the gospel says and we have said many times; so they ate the Passover two days before they were supposed to eat it, that is, on the third evening instead of the fifth ἐδπέρας· τεσσαρεσκαιδεκάτη γὰρ οὕτως ἦν ἡ Πέμπτη.

evening; for the fourteenth was thus the fifth day.

51.26.3 | συλλαμβάνεται δὲ τῇ αὐτῇ τρίτῃ δεκαδύο καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων ἐπιφώσκουσα κυριακὴ πεντεκαιδεκάτη νυκτερινή·

51.26.3 | He is arrested on the same third evening, which was the eleventh night of the moon, before the sixteenth kalends of April; April's Thursday was the thirteenth day by day, the fourteenth night before the fourteenth kalends of April, the Sabbath on the fourteenth day before the thirteenth kalends; April's Sabbath was the fifteenth day before the twelfth kalends of April, and the rising Lord's day was the fifteenth night.

51.26.4 | ὅπερ ἦν φωτισμὸς Ἄιδου καὶ γῆς καὶ οὐρανοῦ καὶ <ἰσότης> νυκτὸς καὶ ἡμέρας, διὰ τὴν πεντεκαιδεκάτην τῆς σελήνης καὶ τὸν τοῦ ἡλίου δρόμον· ὅτι καὶ ἀνάστασις καὶ ἰσημερία πρὸ ἑνδεκα καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων <ἐγένετο>, περὶ ἣν πλανηθέντες <οἱ Ἰουδαῖοι> ὑπέρβατον μίαν ἡμέραν ἐποίησαν, ὥς προεῖπον.

51.26.4 | This was the light of Hades and earth and sky, and the equality of night and day, because of the fifteenth of the moon and the sun's course; for the resurrection and the equinox happened before the eleventh kalends of April, about which, having been confused, the Jews made one day too many, as I said before.

51.26.5 | ἔχει δὲ ὥρας τρεῖς ἡ ψῆφος τῆς λεπτολογίας*, ἥτις ἐμπίπτει δι' ἐτῶν τριῶν, παρ' αὐτοῖς διαφωνουμένη ἡμέραν μίαν·

51.26.5 | The vote of the fine detail has hours, which fall over three years, with one day differing among them.

51.26.6 | προστιθέασιν γὰρ τῷ σεληνιακῷ δρόμῳ μετὰ τὰς τριακοσίας πεντήκοντα τέσσαρας ἡμέρας καὶ ἄλλας κατ' ἔτος τέσσαρας ὥρας, ὥς εἶναι εἰς τρία ἔτη ἡμέραν μίαν.

51.26.6 | For they add to the lunar course, after the three hundred fifty-four days, four more hours each year, so that in three years there is one day.

51.26.7 | διὸ παρ' αὐτοῖς πέντε μῆνες τελοῦνται ἐμβόλιμοι εἰς ἕτη δεκατέσσαρα, διὰ τὸ ἀφαιρεῖσθαι ἀπὸ τοῦ ἡλιακοῦ δρόμου τῶν τριακοσίων ἐφήκοντα πέντε ἡμερῶν καὶ ὥρων τριῶν τὴν * ὥραν μίαν· προστιθεμένων γὰρ τῶν † ὥρων λοιπὸν γίνονται τξε ἡμέραι * παρὰ ὥραν μίαν·

51.26.7 | Therefore, among them, five months are added as leap months in fourteen years, because from the solar course of three hundred sixty-five days and three hours, one hour is taken away; for when the remaining hours are added, the days become one hour less.

51.26.8 | ὅθεν οὗτοι ἐξάκις πολυπλασιάσαντες τὰ ιδξ ἕτη διὰ † τοῦ πδ ἔτους ἐν τῷ ὀγδοηκστῷ πέμπτῳ τιθέασιν ἐμβόλιμον ἓνα μῆνα, εἰς τὸ εἶναι τριάκοντα καὶ ἓνα μῆνας εἰς τὰ ὀγδοήκοντα καὶ πέντε ἕτη, οἵτινες ὠφείλον εἶναι κατὰ τὴν ἀκρίβειαν τριάκοντα εἰς μῆν καὶ † καξ ἡμέραι καὶ ὥραι γξ.

51.26.8 | Therefore, these, having multiplied the years by six many times through the fifteenth year, place one leap month in the eighty-fifth year, so that there are thirty-one months in eighty-five years, which by accuracy should be thirty-one months and also three days and three hours.

Section 27

51.27.1 | 27. Ἐνεκεν τοίνυν τούτου τότε σφαλέντες οὐ μόνον προέλαβον θορυβοῦμενοι τὰς δύο ἡμέρας βεβρωκότες τὸ Πάσχα, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὴν ὑπέρβατον προσθέντες μίαν ἡμέραν *, κατὰ πάντα τρόπον αὐτοὶ μὲν σφαλέντες· ἡ δὲ οἰκονομία τῆς ἀληθείας ἀκριβέστατα πάντα ἡμῖν σωτηριωδῶς εἰργάσατο.

51.27.1 | Because of this then, having made a mistake, they not only went ahead, confused, having eaten the Passover two days early, but also added one extra day beyond the limit; in every way they themselves were mistaken, but the arrangement of the truth worked everything out for us most accurately and savingly.

51.27.2 | ὅθεν καὶ αὐτὸς ὁ σωτὴρ τὸ Πάσχα τελειώσας ἐξῆλθεν εἰς τὸ ὄρος μετὰ τὸ βεβρωκέναι· »ἐπιθυία ἐπιθυμήσας«.

51.27.2 | Therefore, the savior himself, having finished the Passover, went out to the mountain after having eaten, "desiring with desire."

51.27.3 | καὶ ἐκεῖνο τὸ Πάσχα τὸ Ἰουδαϊκὸν μετὰ τῶν μαθητῶν ἔφαγεν, οὐκ ἄλλως

51.27.3 | And that Jewish Passover he ate with the disciples, not breaking the law in ποταλύση τὸν νόμον, ἀλλὰ πληρώση.

any way, but fulfilling it.

51.27.4 | καὶ οὕτως μετὰ τὸ ὑπερβῆναι τριακοστὸν ἔτος ὅτε ἐβαπτίσθη καὶ μετὰ τὸ τρακοστὸν πρῶτον, κηρύξας πληρέστατον ἐνιαυτὸν δεκτὸν καὶ γῇ ἀντικεγόμενον, κηρύξας δὲ ἄλλον ἐνιαυτὸν ἀντιλεγόμενον καὶ ἐν διωγμῷ ὄντα ἐγοτούμενόν τε, καὶ μετὰ τοῦτο ἄλλον ἐνιαυτὸν ὑπερβάς ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν γενεθλίων αὐτοῦ ἡμέρας τουτέστιν Ἐπιφανείων,

51.27.4 | And so, after passing the thirtieth year when he was baptized, and after the thirty-first, having preached a very full acceptable year and a land opposing it, and having preached another year opposing and being in persecution and being mocked, and after that having passed another year from the day of his birth, that is, Epiphanies,

51.27.5 | ἥτις τυγχάνει πέμπτη εἰς ἕκτην ἐπιφώσκουσα Ἰανουαρίου μηνός, κατὰ δὲ Αἰγυπτίους Τυβὶ ἐνδεκάτῃ, ἐπὶ ὅλας ἐβδομήκοντα τέσσαρας ἡμέρας, ὡς προείπαμεν, ἕως τῆς πρὸ δεκατριῶν καλανδῶν Ἀπριλλίων, * καὶ ἔτη πληρέστατα καὶ ἐβδομήκοντα τέσσαρας ἡμέρας τριάκοντα δύο ἔτη πληρέστατα καὶ ἐβδομήκοντα τέσσαρας ἡμέρας ἀπὸ Ἐπιφανείων. καὶ ἀναστὰς κατ' Αἰγυπτίους Φαμενώθ ἕμέρας ἀπὸ Ἐπιφανείων.

51.27.5 | Which happens to be the fifth or sixth day shining in the month of January, but according to the Egyptians, Tybi the eleventh, lasting all seventy-four days, as we said before, until the thirteenth day before the kalends of April, and full years and seventy-four days, thirty-two full years and seventy-four days from Epiphanies. And having risen according to the Egyptians, Phamenoth days from Epiphanies.

51.27.6 | καὶ ἀναστὰς κατ' Αἰγυπτίους φαμενώθ ἕκτη καὶ εἰκάδι, ἥτις ἦν ἰσημερία παρελθούσης νυκτὸς καὶ ἰσονυκτία μετὰ τὴν πέμπτην & καὶ εἰκάδα καὶ πρὸ ιϛ' αϛ' καλανδ[ων Ἀπριλλίων *, ἵνα εὑρεθῶσι πάντες ψευδόμενοι οἱ μὴ ὄντες υἱοὶ τῇ ἀληθείας.

51.27.6 | And having risen according to the Egyptians on the sixth and twentieth of Phamenoth, which was the equinox of the past night and equal night after the fifth and twentieth and before the twelfth kalends of April, so that all who lie and are not sons of the truth may be found out.

51.28.1 | 28. Εὐθύς πρῶτος Οὐαλεντίνος * δραματουργήσας, τριάκοντα ἡμῖν αἰῶνας ἀπὸ τοῦ τριακονταστοῦς νομίζων * τῆς τοῦ σωτῆρος ἀναγωγῆς καὶ ἀνδρώσεως τῆς

51.28.1 | 28. Immediately first, Valentinus, having written plays, thinking thirty generations from the thirtieth reckoning of the savior's birth and the growth of his age, αὐτοῦ ἡλικίας, οὐκ εἰδὼς ὅτι οὐ τριάκοντα ἔτη μόνον ἐποίησεν, not knowing that he did not make only thirty years,

51.28.2 | ἀλλὰ ἐν τῷ τριακοστῷ ἐβαπτίσθη μετὰ τὸ πληρῶσαι εἰκοσιεννέα ἔτη καὶ μῆνας δέκα, τῇ δωδεκάτῃ ὡς προεῖπον Ἀθύρ, πρὸ ἕξ εἰκῶν Νοεμβρίων, καὶ μετὰ ταῦτα κηρύξας * ἐνιαυτὸν κυρίου δεκτὸν καὶ ἑβδομήκοντα τέσσαρας ἡμέρας ἀντιλεγόμενας, ἐξότε ἐβαπτίσθη πρὸ <πρῶτον> ἐνιαυτὸν ἄλλον ἐνιαυτὸν ἀντιλεγόμενον καὶ ἑβδομήκοντα τέσσαρας ἡμέρας ἀντιλεγόμενας, ἐξότε ἐβαπτίσθη πρὸ <ἐξήκοντα ἡμερῶν> τῶν αὐτοῦ γενεθλίων·

51.28.2 | but in the thirtieth year he was baptized after completing twenty-nine years and ten months, on the twelfth, as I said before, Athyr, six days before November, and after this having preached a year of the lord accepted and seventy-four days counted back, then he was baptized before another year counted back and seventy-four days counted back, then he was baptized before sixty days of his own birthday;

51.28.3 | ὥστε εἶναι τὰ πάντα ἔτη τῆς ἐνσάρκου αὐτοῦ παρουσίας ἕως τοῦ πάθους ἀπὸ τῆς γεννήσεως λϚβϚ ἔτη καὶ οϚδϚ ἡμέρας, ἀπὸ δὲ ἀρχῆς * ὑπατείας Σιλανοῦ καὶ Νερούα δύο ἔτη καὶ ρϚλϚδϚ ἡμέρας. καὶ ἐλήλεγκται μὲν ἐνταῦθα ὁ προειρημένος Οὐαλεντίνος καὶ οἱ πολλοὶ οἱ κατ' αὐτὸν ἀφραίνοντες.

51.28.3 | so that all the years of his bodily presence until the suffering from birth are forty-two years and eight days, and from the start of the consulship of Silanus and Nero two years and one hundred and twenty-eight days. And here the aforementioned Valentinus and many who follow him have been proven wrong.

51.28.4 | ἡλέγχθησαν δὲ καὶ οἱ ἀποβαλλόμενοι τὸ κατὰ ἰωάννην εὐαγγέλιον, οὓς δικαίως Ἀλόγους καλέσαιμι, ἐπειδὴ τὸν Λόγον τοῦ θεοῦ ἀποβάλλονται, τὸν διὰ Ἰωάννου κηρυχθέντα πατρικὸν θεὸν Λόγον, ἀπ' οὐρανοῦ κατεληλυθότα καὶ σωτηρίαν ἡμῖν ἐργασάμενον <διὰ> τῆς πάσης ἐνσάρκου αὐτοῦ παρουσίας,

51.28.4 | And those who reject the gospel according to John have also been proven wrong, whom I rightly call 'illogical,' since they reject the Word of God, the Word preached by John, the fatherly God, who came down from heaven and worked salvation for us through his whole bodily presence.

51.28.5 | ὅτι ἀπὸ τε τῶν ὑπατειῶν καὶ ἀπὸ τῶν ἐτῶν καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς συστάσεως τοῦ προξήτου Ἡσαΐου καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ κατὰ

51.28.5 | because from the consuls and from the years and from the appointment of the procurator Isaiah, and from the

Λουκᾶν εὐαγγελίου καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ κατὰ Ἰωάννην. καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ κατὰ Ματθαῖον καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ κατὰ Μάρκον καὶ ἀπαξαπλῶς πανταχόθεν ἠλέγχθησαν οἱ πεπλανημένοι, gospel according to Luke, and from that according to John, and from that according to Matthew, and from that according to Mark, all the deceived have been proven wrong everywhere at once.

51.28.6 | ὅτι οὐ μόνον ἐν Πάσχα μετὰ τὴν ἀρχὴν τοῦ κηρύγματος κατὰ περίοδον χρόνου ἐνιαυτοῦ ἀπετέλεσεν, ἀλλὰ καὶ περιόδους τριῶν ὑπατειῶν παρὰ τι ἐπλήρωσε μετὰ τὸ ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἰωάννου βάπτισμα.

51.28.6 | because not only one Passover after the start of the preaching, according to a period of one year, was completed, but also periods of three consulates were almost filled after the baptism by John.

51.28.7 | καὶ ἐξέπεσεν ὁ τῶν ἀπαρακολουθήτων λόγος παντάπασι τῆς πλάνης * καὶ ἀνοίας καὶ ἀμαθίας, οὐ μόνον μὴ γινωσκούσης τὴν ἑαυτῆς ζωὴν, ἀλλὰ καὶ φευδῶς κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας μάτην ἐπιστρατευομένης.

51.28.7 | and the word of those who do not follow fell completely into error and foolishness and ignorance, not only not knowing their own life, but also falsely fighting against the truth in vain.

Section 29

51.29.1 | 29. Εὐρήκαμεν γὰρ καὶ ἐμφερόμενόν που <έν> τοῖς λόγοις τούτοις γεγραμμένον ὅτι ὁ ἐκ τοῦ θεοῦ Λόγος [τοῦ θεοῦ] ἐγεννήθη περὶ τὸ τεσσαραδοστὸν ἔτος Αὐγούστου, ὅπερ λέληθε τ[ον γρα΄φαντα, ἢ τῆς διὰ τοῦ βῆτα φήφου ἀπαλειφθείσης καὶ τοῦ μῦ μόνον παραμεμνηκότος μ ἐποίησε μόνον ἔτη· τῷ γὰρ τεσσαρακοστῷ δευτέρῳ ἔτει Αὐγούστου ἐγεννήθη.

51.29.1 | for we have found and somewhat shown in these words written that the Word from God [of God] was born around the fortieth year of Augustus, which the writer hid, either by erasing the letter beta and leaving only the letter mu, making it only years; for he was born in the forty-second year of Augustus.

51.29.2 | φάσκει δὲ ὅτι πρὸ δεκαδύο καλανδῶν Ἰουλίῳ ἢ Ἰουνίῳ (οὐκ ἔχω λέγειν) ἐν ὑπατεῖᾳ Σουλπικίου Καμμαρίνου † Βεττέῳ Πομπηϊανῷ ὑπάτοις

51.29.2 | he says that twelve days before the calends of July or June (I am not sure which) under the consulship of Sulpicius Cammarinus and Vettius Pompeyanus, the <συνελήφθη>·

consuls, he was conceived;

51.29.3 | <καί> τοῦτο δὲ ἐσκόπησα, ὅτι οἱ εἰπόντες τὴν ἡμέραν τῆς συλλήψεως καὶ ὡς εὐηγγελίσατο ὁ Γαβριὴλ τὴν παρθένον, εἶπαν <τοῦτο διὰ> τὴν ὑπόνοιαν [τῶν] τινῶν † λεγόντων ἐν παραδόσει ὡς ὅτι διὰ ἑπτὰ μηνῶν ἐγεννήθη.

51.29.3 | and I noticed this, that those who said the day of conception and how Gabriel announced the good news to the virgin said this because of the suspicion of some who say in tradition that he was born after seven months.

51.29.4 | εὐρήκαμεν γὰρ ἀπὸ τούτου τοῦ † προπόσων ἕως ἑνδεκάτης Τηβὶ καὶ πρὸ ὀκτῶ εἰδῶν Ἰανουαρίων, ὅτε ἀληθῶς τὰ θεοφάνεια ἐγένετο καὶ ἐγεννήθη, ἑπτὰ μηνῶν χρόνον κατὰ τὸν σεληνιακὸν δρόμον παρὰ ἡμέρας τέσσαρας.

51.29.4 | for we have found from that conception until the eleventh of the month Tebi and before the eighth of January, when the true epiphany happened and he was born, seven months of time according to the lunar course plus four days.

51.29.5 | ὥστε οὖν εἰ εὗροις ἐνν παρασημειώσεσί που <ταῦτα> γεγραμμένα, μὴ σφάλλου περὶ τὴν εἴδησιν. τῷ μὲν γὰρ ὄντι ἡ βεβαία γέννησις τοῦ Χριστοῦ Τυβὶ ἑνδεκάτῃ ἐστί.

51.29.5 | so then if you find these things written somewhere in signs, do not be mistaken about the knowledge. for indeed the sure birth of Christ is on the eleventh of Tebi.

51.29.6 | τινὲς δὲ φασιν ὡς δέκα μῆνας ἐνεκυμονήθη παρὰ ἡμέρας ιϛδϚ καὶ ὥρας ὀκτώ, ὡς εἶναι ἐννέα μῆνας καὶ ἡμέρας δεκαπέντε καὶ ὥρας τέσσαρας, αἰνιττόμενοι τὸ παρὰ τῷ Σολομῶντι εἰρημένον »δεκαμηνιαίῳ χρόνῳ παγεῖς ἐν αἵματι«.

51.29.6 | some say that he was pregnant for ten months, twelve days, and eight hours, meaning nine months, fifteen days, and four hours, hinting at what Solomon said: "he was held in blood for ten months."

51.29.7 | ὅμως ἐκ πανταχόθεν <δέδεικται ὅτι τῇ> ἑνδεκάτῃ Τυβὶ κατ' Αἰγυπτίους ἡ προειρημένη τοῦ κυρίου ἔνσαρκος γέννησις ἐγένετο. καὶ περὶ αὐτὴν τὴν ἑνδεκάτην μετὰ ἔτη τριάκοντα γέγονε

51.29.7 | however, it has been shown from all sides that on the eleventh of Tebi, according to the Egyptians, the mentioned birth of the lord in flesh happened. and about that eleventh, after thirty years, the τὸ πρῶτον σημεῖον ἐν κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας, ὅτι τὸ ὕδωρ οἶνος ἐγένετο.

first sign happened in Cana of Galilee, that the water became wine.

Section 30

51.30.1 | 30. διὸ καὶ ἐν πολλοῖς τόποις ἄχρι τῆς δεῦτο τουτὶ γίνεται διὰ τὸ τότε γεγενημένον θεοσήμειον εἰς μαρτύριον τοῖς ἀπιστοῦσιν, ὡς μαρτυροῦσιν ἐν πολλοῖς τόποις τηγαί τε καὶ ποταμοὶ εἰς οἶνον ματαβαλλόμενοι·

51.30.1 | 30. therefore, in many places up to this day, this happens because of the god-sign that happened then as a witness to those who do not believe, as they witness in many places that springs and rivers are changed into wine;

51.30.2 | Κιβύρης μὲν τῆς πόλεως τῆς Καρίας ἡ πηγή, καθ' ἣν ἤντλησαν ὥραν οἱ διάκονοι καὶ εἶπεν »δότε τῷ ἀρχιτρικλίνῳ« μαρτυρεῖ δὲ καὶ ἡ ἐν Γεράσῃ τῆς Ἀραβίας πηγὴ ὡσαύτως· αὐτοὶ <γὰρ ἡμεῖς> πεπόκαμεν ἀπὸ τῆς Κιβθρ<ικ>ης, ἡμέτεροι δὲ ἀδελφοὶ ἀπὸ τῆς ἐν Γεράσῃ πηγῆς τῆς ἐν τῷ μαρτυρίῳ.

51.30.2 | the spring of Kibyra, the city of Caria, from which the servants drew water at the hour and said, “give to the chief banquet officer”; and also the spring in Gerasa of Arabia bears witness in the same way; for we ourselves have drunk from the spring of Kibyra, and our brothers from the spring in Gerasa, I speak as a witness.

51.30.3 | πολλοὶ δὲ καὶ ἐν Αἰγύπτῳ περὶ τοῦ Νείλου τοῦτο μαρτυροῦσι. διόπερ ἐν τῇ ἐνδεκάτῃ τοῦ Τθβὶ κατ' Αἰγυπτίους πάντες ὕδρευονται ὕδωρ καὶ ἀποτιθέασιν ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ Αἰγύπτῳ καὶ ἐν πολλαῖς πατρίσιν.

51.30.3 | many also in Egypt near the Nile bear witness to this. therefore, on the eleventh of Tebi according to the Egyptians, everyone draws water and stores it in Egypt itself and in many homelands.

51.30.4 | οὕτως γὰρ εὐρίσκεται μετὰ τὴν δωδεκάτην Ἀθύρ, ἀπελθόντος καὶ πειρασθέντος τεσσαράκοντα ἡμέρας καὶ ἐλθόντος εἰς Ναζαρὲτ καὶ μείναντος ὡσεὶ ἐβδομάδας δύο καὶ ἡμέρας τρεῖς, κατελθεῖν ἐπὶ τὸν Ἰορδάνην πρὸς τὸν Ἰωάννην διατελέσαι τε πρώτην καὶ δευτέραν ἡμέαν καὶ ἀνακάμψαι εἰς Ναζαρὲτ καὶ μεῖναι ὡσαύτως πρώτην καὶ δευτέραν ἡμέραν καὶ ἐξελθεῖν τῇ

51.30.4 | for so it is found after the twelfth Athyr, after going away and being tested for forty days, and coming to Nazareth and staying about two weeks and three days, to go down to the Jordan to John and spend the first and second day, and return to Nazareth and stay also the first and second day, and then go out to the...

51.30.5 | τρίτη ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας, ὡς πληροῦσθαι τὰς πάσας ἡμέρας $\text{ξ}^{\text{ξ}}$ ἀπὸ τοῦ βαπτίσματος, τεσσαράκοντα μὲν τοῦ πειρασμοῦ καὶ τὰς εἰς ναζαρέτ δύο ἐβδομάδας <καὶ δύο ἡμέρας> καὶ τὰς ἄλλας δύο, καὶ τῇ τρίτῃ τὸ σημεῖον τοῦ ὕδατος ἐν τῷ γάμῳ γεγενῆσθαι.

51.30.5 | on the third day in Cana of Galilee, so that all the days are completed, forty from the testing, and the two weeks and two days in Nazareth, and the other two, and on the third the sign of the water happened at the wedding.

51.30.6 | μετέπειτα ἠκέναι αὐτὸν ἐν Καφαρναοὺμ καὶ ἐργάσασθαι ἕτερα, ὡς ἔφαμεν πολλάκις, καὶ πάλιν εἰς Ναζαρέτ ἀνελθὼνα ἀναγνῶναι τὸ βιβλίον Ἡσαΐου τοῦ προφήτου. διὸ λέγουσι »ποίησον καὶ ὧδε σημεῖα ὅσα ἠκούσαμεν ἐν Καφαρναοὺμ σε πεποιηκέναι«

51.30.6 | afterwards he came to Capernaum and did other things, as we have said many times, and again went up to Nazareth to read the book of the prophet Isaiah. therefore they say, “do also here the signs that we heard you did in Capernaum.”

51.30.7 | ὕστερον δὲ πάλιν ἐλθόντα αὐτὸν εἰ καφαρναοὺμ ἐκεῖθεν διαβῆναι ἐπὶ τὴν λίμνην εἴτ’ οὖν θάλασσαν Γεννησαρέθ, τέλεόν <τε> τοὺς περὶ Πέτρον ἐκλελέχθαι καὶ οὕτως ἐκεῖθεν συνάψαι τὴν πᾶσαν τοῦ κηρύγματος τελείωσιν.

51.30.7 | later, again coming to Capernaum, from there to cross over to the lake, whether the sea of Gennesaret, to complete the ones chosen around Peter, and so from there to finish all the preaching.

51.30.8 | κατὰ γὰρ τὴν ἀκολουθίαν, ὡς ἔφαμεν, μετὰ τὰς $\text{μ}^{\text{ξ}}$ <ἡμέρας> καὶ τὰς ἄλλας δύο ἐβδομάδας καὶ δύο ἡμέρας τὰς <ἐν Ναζαρέτ> πρὸς Ἰωάννην ἐγένετο πρώτην ἡμέραν καὶ τὴν αὖριον· <ἀπ’> αὐτοῦ δὲ ἀνακάμψαντος Ναζαρέτ καὶ μείναντος ἀπὸ ὥρας δεκάτης ἄχρι ἐσπέρας, τῇ δὲ ἄλλῃ ἡμέρᾳ ἐξελθόντος καὶ συναντήσαντος Φιλίππῳ ὃ εἰσι δύο ἡμέραι,

51.30.8 | for according to the sequence, as we said, after the forty days and the other two weeks and two days in Nazareth, it happened on the first day to John and the next day; and from there, returning to Nazareth and staying from the tenth hour until evening, on the next day, going out and meeting Philip, which is two days.

51.30.9 | λοιπὸν τὸ ἀμετάστατον τῆς ἀκριβείας τὸ εὐαγγέλιον δείκνυσιν διὰ τὰς πρῦτας δύο, ἃς ἐλθὼν ἔμεινεν,

51.30.9 | so then, the gospel shows the unchanging accuracy through the first two days, which he came and stayed, saying, “on

<λέγον> »τῇ τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ γάμος ἐγένετο ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας», ὅπερ σύμβολον ἦν τῆς ἐκκλησίας· ἐν γὰρ τῇ the third day there was a wedding in Cana of Galilee,” which was a symbol of the church; for in the...

51.30.10 | τρίτῃ ἡμέρᾳ τῆς ἐν τῇ καρδίᾳ τῆς γῆς αὐτοῦ πραγματείας, ἥς † ἐν τῇ γῇ ἐποίησε μετὰ τὸ πάθος, ἀναστὰς γάμον συνῆπτε τῇ Κανᾷ· Κανᾷ γὰρ ἔρμηνός·

51.30.10 | on the third day of his work in the heart of the earth, which he did on earth after his suffering, rising he joined a wedding to Cana; for Cana means 'revelation'.

51.30.11 | ἡ κτησαμένη. τίς δέ ἐστιν ἡ κτησαμένη ἀλλ' ἢ ἡ κληρονόμος περὶ ἧς ὁ ψαλμωδὸς ἐν τῷ πέμπτῳ ψαλμῷ ἔλεγεν »ὕπερ τῆς κληρονομώσεως» καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς; γάμος γὰρ ὡς ἀληθῶς οὗτος εὐλογημένος, ἀπὸ τοῦ τύπου ἐκείνου λαβὼν τὴν πρόφασιν.

51.30.11 | the acquired one. but who is the acquired one except the heir, about whom the psalmist said in the fifth psalm, “for the one who will inherit,” and what follows? for truly this is a blessed wedding, taking its reason from that symbol.

51.30.12 | ἐκεῖ μὲν γὰρ γάμος ἦν αἰσθητὸς ἐν Κανᾷ τῆς Γαλιλαίας καὶ ὕδωρ ἀληθῶς οἶνος γεγονός· καὶ ἐκλήθη κατὰ δύο τρόπους, ἵνα τὸ ὕδαρ ἐκ τῶν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ ἐκβαλεομένων ἐπιστύψῃ <διὰ> τοῦ γάμου εἰς σωφροσύνην καὶ εἰς σεμνότητα, καὶ ἵνα τὸ λεῖπον ἐπιδιορθώσῃται εἰ εὐφρασίαν <διὰ> τοῦ λυσιπόνου οἴνου καὶ τῆς χάριτος,

51.30.12 | there indeed was a wedding seen in Cana of Galilee, and water truly became wine; and it was called in two ways, so that the watery things poured out in the world might be changed through the wedding into self-control and respect, and so that what was lacking might be fixed with joy through the strong wine and grace,

51.30.13 | ἵνα κατὰ πάντα τρόπον ἀποφράξῃ τὰ στόματα τῶν κατὰ τοῦ † κυρίου ἐπεγειρομένων καὶ ἵνα δείξῃ ὅτι αὐτὸς θεὸς ἐστὶ σὺν πατρὶ καὶ ἁγίῳ πνεύματι αὐτοῦ, τὸ ὕδωρ τῇ ἀμπέλῳ παρέχων χροῖζον <τε> αὐτὸ ἐν αὐτῇ εἰς οἶνον εἰς εὐφρασίαν ἀνθρώπων. ἐν ἄλλῳ δὲ τόπῳ μακρότερον περὶ τούτων διηγησάμεθα, ἐνταῦθα δὲ ὡς ἐν

51.30.13 | so that in every way it might shut the mouths of those who rise against the lord, and so that it might show that he himself is god with the father and his holy spirit, giving water to the vine and changing it in it into wine for the joy of people. in another place we told more at length about these things, but here we ran through the word as in a side path.

51.30.14 | ὅμως δύο Πάσχα μὲν μετὰ τὴν ἀρχὴν τοῦ κηρύγματος ὁ σωτὴρ ποιεῖται καὶ τῷ τρίτῳ πάσχει, ὡς πληροῦσθαι τὰ ἤδη μοι κατὰ λεπτὸν εἰρημένα περὶ ἡμερῶν καὶ μηνῶν καὶ ὑπατειῶν. καὶ πανταχόθεν διέπεσεν τούτων πεπλανημένος ὁ λόγος, τῶν εὐαγγελίων συνωδὰ πρὸς ἄλληλα ἐχόντων καὶ μηδ' ὀποτέρου τῶν εὐαγγελιστῶν ἀντίθετα πρὸς τὸν ἕτερον ἔχοντος.

51.30.14 | however, the savior makes two passovers after the beginning of the preaching and suffers on the third, so that what I have already said in detail about days and months and years might be fulfilled. and everywhere this word was spread, the gospels agreeing with each other and not one of the evangelists ever having anything against another.

Section 31

51.31.1 | 31. Ἐλεύσομαι δὲ πάλιν εἰς τὸ προκείμενον. φάσκει πάλιν ὁ Λουκᾶς, μαρτυρῶν μου τοῖς πολυμερῶς καὶ πολυτρόπως εἰρημένοις, ὅτι »ἐγένετο ἐν σαββάτῳ δευτεροπρώτῳ«, ἵνα δείξη σάββατον πρῶτον εἶναι τὸ ἀπ' ἀρχῆς ὀρισθὲν καὶ ρηθὲν ὑπὸ τοῦ κυρίου ἐν τῇ κοσμοποιίᾳ, κατὰ περίοδον ἀπὸ τότε ἄχρι τοῦ δεῦρο κατὰ ἑπτὰ ἡμέρας ἀνακυκλούμενον, [τοῦτο εἶναι πρῶτον]· δεύτερον δὲ σάββατον τὸ ἀπὸ νόμου ὠρισμένον.

51.31.1 | i will come back again to what is before. luke says again, bearing witness to what i have said many times and in many ways, that "it happened on the second first sabbath," to show that the first sabbath was the one set from the beginning and spoken by the lord in the making of the world, going around in a cycle of seven days from then until now, [this is the first]; the second sabbath is the one set by the law.

51.31.2 | for he says that "you will take for yourself a yearly lamb, spotless and male (which was a symbol of the savior), from the tenth of the month, and it will be kept until the fourteenth, and you will sacrifice it in the evening on the fourteenth day; and it will be a sabbath for you, a holy day, and you will eat unleavened bread for seven days, and on the seventh day you will make it holy."

51.31.3 | καὶ ὁρᾶτε ὅτι δεύτερον καλεῖται σάββατον μετὰ τὸ πρῶτον σάββατον ἡ τοιαύτη ἀγία τοῦ προβάτου ἡμέρα, εἰς σάββατον ἁγιασθεῖσα, κἄν τε κυριακὴ εἴη κἄν τε δευτέρα κἄν τε τρίτη σαββάτων καταντήση.

51.31.3 | and you see that the second sabbath after the first sabbath is called such a holy day of the lamb, made holy as a sabbath, whether it falls on a sunday or on a monday or on a tuesday of the sabbaths.

51.31.4 | εἰς δὲ ἑπτὰ ἡμέρας πάλιν ἀνακυκλούμενον δεύτερον καλεῖται πρῶτον, ἵνα δείξῃ ἐντεῦθεν ὅτι οὐ μόνον ὁ Ἰωάννης περὶ περιόδου χρόνου ἐνιαυτῶν δύο καὶ τριῶν ἑορτῶν τοῦ Πάσχα ἐσήμανεν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ὁ Λουκᾶς καὶ οἱ ἄλλοι.

51.31.4 | but the first sabbath is called the second, because it comes back around again after seven days, to show from here that not only John marked the time of two or three years of the Passover festivals, but also Luke and the others did.

51.31.5 | οὕτως γὰρ φάσκει ὁ νόμος »ἀριθμήσεις σεαυτῷ ἑπτὰ ἑβδομάδας ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς δράγματος τοῦ βαλεῖν δρέπανον ἐπ’ ἀμητῷ καὶ ποιήσεις ἑβδόμην ἑβδομάδα ἡμέραν ἁγίαν κυρίου«, σημαίνων περὶ Πεντηκοστῆς.

51.31.5 | for the law says, “you will count for yourself seven weeks from the start of the time to put the sickle to the standing grain, and you will make the seventh week a holy day to the lord,” meaning about Pentecost.

51.31.6 | μετὰ γὰρ τὸ θῦσαι τὸ Πάσχα εἴσω τριῶν ἡμερῶν τουτέστιν μετὰ τρεῖς ἡμέρας τοῦ προβάτου προσέταττε τὸ δράγμα εἰσφέρεισθαι, ἵνα σημάνη τὸ εὐλογημένον δράγμα ἐγειρόμενον ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν μετὰ τρίτην ἡμέραν, τῆς γῆς αὐτὸ προφερούσης

51.31.6 | for after sacrificing the Passover, within three days—that is, after three days of the lamb—it ordered the sickle to be brought in, to show the blessed sickle rising from the dead after the third day, with the earth bringing it forth.

51.31.7 | καὶ αὐτοῦ αὐτὸ πάλιν κοιμιζομένου ἀπ’ αὐτῆς ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει <ἐκ> τοῦ μνήματος καὶ μένοντος σὺν τοῖς μαθηταῖς τὰς τεσσαράκοντα ἡμέρας καὶ ἐπὶ τῷ τέλει τῆς Πεντηκοστῆς εἰσφέροντος αὐτὸ εἰς τὰ ἐπουράνια τῷ πατρὶ·

51.31.7 | and it itself again being brought back from there in the resurrection from the tomb and staying with the disciples for forty days, and at the end of Pentecost bringing it into the heavens to the father;

51.31.8 | τὸ πρωτότοκον τῶν πρωτοτόκων, ἡ ἀπαρχὴ ἡ ἀγία, τὸ δράγμα ὃ ἐδράξατο ἀπὸ Μαρίας, ἡ ἀγκάλη ἡ ἐναγκαλισθεῖσα ἐν θεῷ, ὁ καρπὸς τῆς κοιλίας, ἡ ἀπαρχὴ τῆς ἄλλω.

51.31.8 | the firstborn of the firstborn, the holy firstfruits, the sickle which he took from Mary, the embrace embraced in God, the fruit of the womb, the firstfruits of the harvest.

51.31.9 | οὐκέτι γὰρ μετὰ Πεντηκοστὴν τὸ δρέπανον ἀπαρχὴν θεῷ προσφέρει· »οὐκέτι γὰρ κύριος ἀποθνήσκει, θάνατος αὐτοῦ οὐκέτι κυριεύει« κατὰ τὸ γεγραμμένον.

51.31.9 | for no longer after Pentecost does the sickle offer firstfruits to God; »for the lord no longer dies, death no longer rules him« as it is written.

51.31.10 | καὶ ὁρᾷς πόσα θεοῦ μυστήρια προετύπου ὁ νόμος καὶ ἐπλήρου τὸ εὐαγγέλιον. πόθεν δὲ οὐκ ἔχομεν τούτων δεῖξαι τὴν σαφήνειαν; διὰ δὲ τὸ μὴ εἰς πλάτο φέρειν τὸν λόγον ἐπὶ τὴν ἀκολουθίαν πάλιν ἐπιστρεπτέον.

51.31.10 | and you see how many mysteries of God the law foreshadows and the gospel fulfills. but where do we have clear proof of these? because we should not stretch the word too far, we must turn back again to the sequence.

51.31.11 | φαίνεται δὲ ἀπὸ τε τῶν σταχυῶν καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀμητοῦ καὶ τῶν μαθητῶν ὡς μετὰ τεσσαράκοντα ἡμερῶν πειρασμὸν ταῦτα πάντα διηγείται ὁ Ἰωάννης καὶ Λουκᾶς καὶ οἱ πάντες.

51.31.11 | and it is clear from both the ears of grain and the harvest and the disciples that after about forty days john and luke and all of them tell this whole story.

Section 32

51.32.1 | 32. Οὐκ αἰδοῦνται δὲ πάλιν οἱ τοιοῦτοι κατὰ τῶν ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου Ἰωάννου εἰρημένων ἐξοπλιζόμενοι, νομίζοντες μὴ πῃ ἄρα δύνανται τὴν ἀλήθειαν ἀνατρέπειν, οὐκ εἰδότες ὅτι καθ' ἑαυτῶν μᾶλλον ὀπλίζονται ἢ περ κατὰ τῆς ὑγιοῦς διδασκαλίας.

51.32.1 | but such people are not ashamed again to arm themselves against what the holy john said, thinking that maybe they can overturn the truth, not knowing that they are arming themselves more against themselves than against the sound teaching.

51.32.2 | φάσκουσι δὲ κατὰ τῆς Ἀποκαλύψεως τάδε χλευάχοντες οὕτως· »τί με, φησὶν, ὠφελεῖ ἡ Ἀποκάλυψις Ἰωάννου, λέγουσά μοι περὶ ἑπτὰ ἀγγέλων καὶ ἑπτὰ σαλπίγγων;«

51.32.2 | they say these things mocking against the revelation like this: “what good, he says, is the revelation of john to me, telling me about seven angels and seven trumpets?”

51.32.3 | οὐκ εἰδότες πῶς ἀναγκαῖα καὶ ὠφέλιμα τὰ τοιαῦτα ὑπῆρξεν [ἐν] τῇ ὀρθότητι τοῦ κηρύγματος.

51.32.3 | not knowing how necessary and helpful such things were in the correctness of the preaching.

51.32.4 | ὅσα γὰρ ἦν ἐν νόμῳ καὶ ἐν προφήταις σκοτεινὰ καὶ αἰνιγματώδη, ταῦτα ὁ κύριος ὠκονόμησε διὰ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος εἰς ἡμῶν σωτηρίαν »τῷ δούλῳ αὐτοῦ Ἰωάννῃ« ἀποκαλύψαι, τὰ ἐκεῖσε σκοτεινὰ ὧδε εἰς πνευματικὰ καὶ ἔκδηλα κηρύττων, * πνευματικῶς δὲ ἡμῖν τὰ αὐτὰ ὠκονόμει.

51.32.4 | for all that was dark and puzzling in the law and in the prophets, the lord arranged through the holy spirit to reveal to us for our salvation “to his servant john,” proclaiming here what was dark there in a spiritual and clear way, and he arranged the same things for us spiritually.

51.32.5 | καὶ ἐκ δερμάτων μὲν τότε κατασκευάζει τὴν σκηνήν, τῶν δερμάτων ἡρυθοδανωμένων καὶ ὑακινθίνων καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς, ἵνα δείξῃ τὴν σκηνήν ἐκεῖσε σκηνήν μὲν οὖσαν, ἀπεκδεχομένην δὲ τὴν τελειοτάτην σκηνήν τοῦ Χριστοῦ.

51.32.5 | and from skins then he makes the tent, from skins dyed red and blue and the rest, to show that the tent there was a tent, but was waiting for the most perfect tent of christ.

51.32.6 | δέρμα γὰρ ἀπὸ σώματος γίνεται, νεκρὸν ὄν, ὡς σκίασμα σώματος ζῶντος, ἵνα δείξῃ σώματα εἶναι τὴν σκηνήν τοῦ θεοῦ· ἐπειδὴ γὰρ ἐν σώμασιν ἁγίοις κατασκηνοῖ θεός, πληρουμένου τοῦ ῥητοῦ ὅτι »κατασκηνώσω ἐν αὐτοῖς καὶ ἐμπεριπατήσω«.

51.32.6 | for skin comes from a body, being dead, like a shadow of a living body, to show that the tent of god is a body; because god dwells in holy bodies, fulfilling the saying, “i will dwell in them and walk among them.”

51.32.7 | ἔμελλεν οὖν πλάνη τις γίνεσθαι ἐν πιστοῖς, εἰ μὴ ἡ βίβλος πνευματικῶς ἡμῖν

51.32.7 | so then there was about to be some confusion among the faithful, if the ἀπεκαλύφθη, ἵνα μάθωμεν μὴ σαλπίγγων εἶναι χρεῖαν, ἀλλὰ εἰδέναι * ὅτι πνευματικὴ ἐστὶν ἡ πᾶσα τοῦ θεοῦ πραγματεία, book had not been revealed to us spiritually, so that we might learn there is no need for trumpets, but to know that all the work of god is spiritual,

51.32.8 | ἵνα μὴ κατὰ τὰς Ἰουδαϊκὰς χαλκᾶς σάλπιγγας λάβωμεν ἢ ἀργυρᾶς, ἀλλὰ πνευματικῶς νοήσωμεν ἀπ’ οὐρανοῦ εἶναι τῆς ἐκκλησίας τὸ κήρυγμα, ὡς καὶ ἄλλη που εἶπεν »ἐν ἐκείνῃ τῇ ἡμέρᾳ σαλπιούσιν ἐν τῇ σάλπιγγι τῇ μεγάλῃ«.

51.32.8 | so that we do not take the trumpets according to the jewish bronze or silver ones, but understand spiritually that the preaching of the church is from heaven, as it is said somewhere else, “on that day they will blow the trumpet loudly.”

51.32.9 | σάλπιγγες γὰρ ἦσαν οἱ προφῆται, σάλπιγξ δὲ μεγάλη ἡ ἁγία φωνὴ τοῦ κυρίου ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ. διὰ τοῦτο καὶ ἀγγέλοις ἐδόθη ἀποκαλύψαι ἡμῖν· »σαλπίζει, γὰρ φησί, καὶ οἱ νεκροὶ ἀναστήσονται«.

51.32.9 | for the prophets were trumpets, but the great trumpet is the holy voice of the lord in the gospel. for this reason it was given to angels to reveal to us: “for he says, the dead will also be raised by the trumpet.”

51.32.10 | εἰ δὲ χλευάζονται παρ’ ὑμῖν, ὧ οὔτοι, αἱ τῶν ἀγγέλων σάλπιγγες διὰ τὸ ἐν τῇ Ἀποκαλύψει γεγράφθαι, χλευάζεται ἄρα καὶ ἡ παρὰ τῷ ἁγίῳ ἀποστόλῳ σάλπιγξ εἰρημένη· »καταβήσεται, γὰρ φησιν, κύριος ἀπ’ οὐρανοῦ ἐν τῇ ἐσχάτῃ σάλπιγγι καὶ οἱ νεκροὶ ἀναστήσονται ἐν τῇ ἐσχάτῃ ἡμέρᾳ ἐν φωνῇ ἀρχαγγέλου«.

51.32.10 | but if these trumpets of the angels are mocked by you, then the trumpet said by the holy apostle is also mocked: “for the lord will come down from heaven with the last trumpet, and the dead will rise on the last day with the voice of the archangel.”

51.32.11 | συνάδοντος τοίνυν τοῦ Παύλου τῷ ἁγίῳ ἀποστόλῳ Ἰωάννῃ ἐν τῇ Ἀποκαλύψει, ποία τις ὑπολείπεται ἀντιλογία; πῶς δὲ οὐκ εὐθὺς ἐκάστη πλάνη ἐλεγχθήσεται, τοῦ θεοῦ ἐν ἐκάστῳ <ὑπὲρ> τῶν ἁγίων δεδωκότος μαρτυρίαν;

51.32.11 | so with paul the holy apostle agreeing with john in the revelation, what argument is left? and how will not every error be immediately shown wrong, since god has given testimony through each of the saints?

Section 33

51.33.1 | 33. Εἴτά τινες ἐξ αὐτῶν πάλιν ἐπιλαμβάνονται τούτου τοῦ ῥητοῦ ἐν τῇ αὐτῇ Ἀποκαλύψει καὶ φάσκουσιν ἀντιλέγοντες ὅτι »εἶπεν πάλιν· γράψον τῷ ἀγγέλῳ τῆς ἐκκλησίας τῆς ἐν Θυατείροις, καὶ οὐκ ἔνι ἐκεῖ ἐκκλησία Χριστιανῶν ἐν Θυατείροις. πῶς οὖν ἔγραφε τῇ μὴ οὔσῃ;«

51.33.1 | 33. Then some of them again take up this saying in the same Revelation and say, arguing against it, “He said again: ‘Write to the angel of the church in Thyatira,’ but there is no church of Christians in Thyatira. So how was he writing to one that does not exist?”

51.33.2 | καὶ εὐρίσκονται οἱ τοιοῦτοι ἑαυτοὺς † ἀναγκάζοντες ἐξ αὐτῶν ὧν κηρύττουσι ὑπὲρ τῆς ἀληθείας ὁμολογεῖν. ἐὰν γὰρ εἴπωσιν »οὐκ ἔνι νῦν ἐκκλησία εἰς Θυάτειρα« δεικνύουσι προπεφητευκέναι τὸν Ἰωάννην.

51.33.2 | And such people find themselves forced by those whom they preach about the truth to admit. For if they say, “There is no church now in Thyatira,” they show that John prophesied wrongly.

51.33.3 | ἐνοικησάντων γὰρ τούτων ἐκεῖσε [καὶ] τῶν κατὰ Φρύγας καὶ δίκην λύκων ἀρπαξάντων τὰς διανοίας τῶν ἀκεραίων πιστῶν, μετήνεγκαν τὴν πᾶσαν πόλιν εἰς τὴν αὐτῶν αἵρεσιν, οἳ τε ἀρνούμενοι τὴν Ἀποκάλυψιν κατὰ τοῦ λόγου τούτου εἰς ἀνατροπὴν κατ’ ἐκεῖον καιροῦ ἐστρατεύοντο.

51.33.3 | For these people lived there, and like wolves in Phrygia, they seized the minds of the pure faithful, and they brought the whole city into their heresy. Those who denied the Revelation, because of this saying, fought against it to overthrow it at that time.

51.33.4 | νῦν δὲ διὰ τὸν Χριστὸν ἐν τῷ χρόνῳ τούτῳ, μετὰ χρόνον ϞϚϚϚ ἐτῶν, ἔστιν <ἐκεῖ>; ἡ ἐκκλησία καὶ αὕξει, <εἰ>; καὶ ἄλλοι τινὲς ἐκεῖσε τυγχάνουσι· τότε δὲ ἡ πᾶσα ἐκκλησία ἐκενώθη εἰς τὴν κατὰ Φρύγας.

51.33.4 | But now, because of Christ, at this time, after 42 years, the church is there and grows, and some others also happen to be there. But then, the whole church was emptied into the heresy in Phrygia.

51.33.5 | διὸ καὶ ἐσπούδασε τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα ἀποκαλύψαι ἡμῖν πῶς ἤμελλε πλανᾶσθαι ἡ ἐκκλησία μετὰ τὸν χρόνον τῶν ἀποστόλων, τοῦ τε Ἰωάννου καὶ τῶν

51.33.5 | Therefore, the holy spirit hurried to reveal to us how the church was going to be led astray after the time of the apostles, of John and those after him, which was a καθεξῆς, ὃς ἦν χρόνος μετὰ τὴν τοῦ σωτῆρος ἀνάληψιν *, ἐπὶ ἐνενήκοντα τρισὶν ἔτεσιν, ὡς μελλούσης τῆς ἐκεῖσε ἐκκλησίας πλανᾶσθαι καὶ χωνεύεσθαι ἐν τῇ κατὰ Φρύγας αἵρέσει.

time after the savior's ascension, for ninety-three years, as the church there was about to be led astray and swallowed up in the heresy in Phrygia.

51.33.6 | οὕτω γὰρ εὐθὺς διελέγχει <αὐτοὺς>· ὁ κύριος ἐν τῇ Ἀποκαλύψει λέγων »γράψον τῷ ἀγγέλῳ τῆς ἐν Θυατείροις ἐκκλησίας· τάδε λέγει ὁ ἔχων τοὺς ὀφθαλμοὺς αὐτοῦ ὡς φλόγα πυρὸς καὶ οἱ πόδες αὐτοῦ ὅμοιοι χαλκολιβάνῳ· οἶδά σου τὰ ἔργα καὶ τὴν πίστιν καὶ ἀγάπην καὶ τὴν διακονίαν, καὶ ὅτι τὰ ἔσχατά σου πλείονα τῶν πρώτων.

51.33.6 | For so the lord immediately rebukes them in the Revelation, saying, “Write to the angel of the church in Thyatira: These things says the one who has eyes like a flame of fire and feet like burnished bronze: I know your works and your faith and your love and your service, and that your last deeds are more than the first.

51.33.7 | ἔχω δὲ κατὰ σοῦ, ὅτι ἀφεῖς τὴν γυναιῖκα Ἰεζάβελ ἀπατᾶν τοὺς δούλους μου, λέγουσαν ἑαυτὴν προφῆτιν, διδάσκουσάν φαγεῖν εἰδωλόθυτα καὶ πορνεύειν. καὶ ἔδωκα αὐτῇ χρόνον μετανοῆσαι καὶ οὐ θέλει μετανοῆσαι ἐκ τῆς πορνείας αὐτῆς».

51.33.7 | But I have this against you, that you let the woman Jezebel deceive my servants, saying she is a prophetess, teaching them to eat food sacrificed to idols and to commit sexual sin. And I gave her time to repent, but she does not want to repent from her sexual sin.

51.33.8 | οὐχ ὁρᾶτε, ὧ οὔτοι, ὅτι περὶ τῶν γυναικῶν λέγει τῶν ἐν οἰήσει προφητείας ἀπατωμένων καὶ ἀπατωσῶν πολλούς; φημὶ δὲ περὶ Πρισκίλλας καὶ Μαξιμίλλας καὶ Κυϊντίλλας, ὧν ἡ ἀπάτη οὐ λέληθε τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον,

51.33.8 | Do you not see, you people, that he is talking about the women who are deceived by false prophecy and who deceive many? I speak about Priscilla and Maximilla and Quintilla, whose deception the holy spirit has not hidden.

51.33.9 | ἀλλὰ προεθέσπισε προφητικῶς ἐν τῷ στόματι τοῦ ἁγίου Ἰωάννου, πρὸ κοιμήσεως αὐτοῦ προφητεύσαντος ἐν χρόνοις Κλαυδίου Καίσαρος καὶ ἀνωτάτω, ὅτε εἰς τὴν Πάτμον νῆσον ὑπῆρχεν· ὁμολογοῦσι γὰρ καὶ οὔτοι ἐν Θυατείροις

51.33.9 | But she spoke prophetically through the mouth of the holy John, before his death, prophesying in the time of Claudius Caesar and later, when he was on the island of Patmos; for these things are also said to have been fulfilled in Thyatira.

ταῦτα πεπληρῶσθαι.

51.33.10 | ἄρα γοῦν κατὰ προφητείαν ἔγραφε τοῖς ἐκεῖ ἐν Χριστῷ κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ πεπολιτευμένοις ὅτι ἤμελλεν ἑαυτὴν γυνὴ προφήτιν καλεῖν. καὶ διέπεσεν ὁ κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐπεγειρόμενος πανταχόθεν ἐπινενοημένος λόγος, δεικνυμένου τοῦ κατὰ τὴν Ἀποκάλυψιν λόγου προφητικοῦ ὄντος ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου κατὰ ἀλήθειαν.

51.33.10 | So then, at least according to prophecy, he wrote to those there in Christ living at that time that a woman would call herself a prophet. And the word, rising up against the truth and planned from everywhere, was explained, showing that the prophetic word in Revelation truly comes from the holy spirit.

Section 34

51.34.1 | 34. Ἐπαίρονται δὲ πάλιν τῇ διανοίᾳ οἱ αὐτοὶ λεξιθηροῦντες ἀπείρως, ἵνα δόξωσι παρεκβάλλειν τὰ τοῦ ἁγίου ἀποστόλου βιβλία, φημὶ δὲ τοῦ αὐτοῦ Ἰωάννου τό τε εὐαγγέλιον καὶ τὴν Ἀποκάλυψιν (τάχα δὲ καὶ τὰς ἐπιστολάς· συνάδουσι γὰρ καὶ αὗται τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ καὶ τῇ Ἀποκαλύψει), καὶ φασιν ὅτι »εἶδον, καὶ εἶπε τῷ ἀγγέλῳ·

51.34.1 | Again, those same endless word-hunters lift up their minds, so that they may seem to go beyond the books of the holy apostle. I mean the gospel of the same John and the Revelation (and maybe even the letters; for these also agree with the gospel and the Revelation). And they say, 'I saw, and I said to the angel.'

51.34.2 | λῦσον τοὺς τέσσαρας ἀγγέλους τοὺς ἐπὶ τοῦ Εὐφράτου. καὶ ἤκουσα τὸν ἀριθμὸν τοῦ στρατοῦ, μύριαι μυριάδες καὶ χίλιαι χιλιάδες καὶ ἦσαν ἑνδεδυσμένοι θώρακας πυρίνους καὶ θειώδεις καὶ ὑακινθίνους».

51.34.2 | 'Release the four angels who are at the Euphrates.' And I heard the number of the army, ten thousand times ten thousand and a thousand times a thousand, and they were dressed in fiery, sulfurous, and hyacinth-colored armor.'

51.34.3 | ἐνόμισαν γὰρ οἱ τοιοῦτοι μή πη ἄρα γελοῖον < τί > ἐστὶν ἡ ἀλήθεια. ἐὰν γὰρ λέγῃ τοὺς τέσσαρας ἀγγέλους τοὺς ἐν τῷ Εὐφράτῃ καθεζομένους, ἵνα δείξῃ τὰς διαφορὰς τῶν ἐκεῖσε ἐθνῶν καθεζομένων ἐπὶ τὸν Εὐφράτην, οἵτινές εἰσιν Ἀσσύριοι, Βαβυλώνιοι καὶ Μῆδοι καὶ

51.34.3 | For these men thought, 'Surely what is truth is ridiculous.' For if he says the four angels sitting at the Euphrates, it is to show the differences of the nations sitting there by the Euphrates, who are Assyrians, Babylonians, Medes, and Πέρσαι.

Persians.

51.34.4 | οὕται γὰρ αἱ τέσσαρες βασιλεῖαι κατὰ διαδοχὴν ἐν τῷ Κανιήλ ἐμφέρονται, ὧν πρῶτοι Ἀσσύριοι ἐβασίλευσαν καὶ Βαβυλώνιοι ἐν χρόνοις αὐτοῦ, Μῆδοι δὲ διεδέξαντο, μετ' αὐτοὺς δὲ Πέρσαι, ὧν πρῶτος γέγονε Κῦρος βασιλεύς.

51.34.4 | For these four kingdoms are shown in order in Daniel, of which first the Assyrians ruled, and the Babylonians in his time, then the Medes took over, and after them the Persians, whose first king was Cyrus.

51.34.5 | τὰ γὰρ ἔθνη ὑπὸ ἀγγέλους τεταγμένα εἰσίν, ὡς ἐπιμαρτυρεῖ μοι Μωσῆς ὁ ἅγιος τοῦ θεοῦ θεράπων, τὸν λόγον κατὰ ἀκολουθίαν ἐρμηνεύων καὶ λέγων »ἐπερώτησον τὸν πατέρα σου καὶ ἀναγγελεῖ σοι, τοὺς πρεσβυτέρους σου καὶ ἐροῦσί σοι· ὅτε διεμέριζεν ὁ ὕψιστος ἔθνη, ὡς διέσπειρεν υἱοὺς Ἀδάμ, ἔστησεν ὅρια ἐθνῶν κατὰ ἀριθμὸν ἀγγέλων θεοῦ· καὶ ἐγενήθη μερὶς κυρίου λαὸς αὐτοῦ Ἰακώβ, σχοίνισμα κληρονομίας αὐτοῦ Ἰσραήλ«.

51.34.5 | For the nations are set under angels, as holy Moses, the servant of God, testifies to me, explaining the word in order and saying, "Ask your father, and he will tell you; your elders will speak to you: When the Most High divided the nations, as he scattered the sons of Adam, he set the borders of the nations according to the number of God's angels; and a portion of the Lord became his people, Jacob, the rope of his inheritance, Israel."

51.34.6 | εἰ οὖν τὰ ἔθνη ὑπὸ ἀγγέλους εἰσὶ τεταγμένα, δικαίως εἶπε· »λῦσον τοὺς τέσσαρας ἀγγέλους τοὺς ἐπὶ τοῦ Εὐφράτου, ἐφισταμένους δηλονότι καὶ ἐπεχομένους ἐπιτρέπειν τοῖς ἔθνεσιν εἰς πόλεμον, ἕως καιροῦ μακροθυμίας κυρίου, ἕως προστάξῃ δι' αὐτῶν ἐκδικίαν γενέσθαι τῶν ἁγίων αὐτοῦ.

51.34.6 | If then the nations are set under angels, he rightly said, "Release the four angels at the Euphrates," who clearly stand over and hold back, allowing the nations to go to war, until the time of the Lord's patience, until he commands through them that justice be done for his holy ones.

51.34.7 | κρατοῦνται γὰρ οἱ ἐπιτεταγμένοι ἄγγελοι ὑπὸ τοῦ πνεύματος, μὴ ἔχοντες καιρὸν ἐπιδρομῆς, διὰ τὸ μηδέπω λύειν αὐτοὺς τὴν δίκην τοῦ τὰ λοιπὰ ἔθνη λύεσθαι ἔνεκεν τῆς εἰς τοὺς ἁγίους ὑβρεως. λύνονται δὲ οἱ τοιοῦτοι καὶ ἐπέρχονται τῇ γῇ, ὡς Ἰωάννης προφητεύει καὶ οἱ λοιποὶ

51.34.7 | For the angels appointed are held back by the spirit, not having the time to attack, because the punishment for the other nations has not yet been released on account of their insult against the holy ones. But such angels will be released and come upon the earth, as John the prophet προφητῶν·

and the other prophets foretell.

51.34.8 | ὅτι δὲ θειώδεις καὶ πυρίνους καὶ ὑακινθίνους θώρακας ἐσήμαινεν, οὐδεὶς ἀμφιβάλλῃ. ἐκεῖνα γὰρ τὰ ἔθνη ἀπὸ τῆς τοιαύτης χροῆς ἔχει τὴν ἀμφίαν. τὰ μὲν γὰρ θειώδη ἱμάτια χροῆς τῆς ἐστὶ μελίαν οὕτω καλουμένη ἐρεῶ, τὰ δὲ πύρινα, ἵνα εἴπῃ τὰ κόκκινα ἐνδύματα καὶ τὰ ὑακίνθινα, ἵνα δείξῃ τὴν καλλαΐνην ἐρεῶν.

51.34.8 | That he meant sacred, fiery, and dark blue breastplates, no one doubts. For those nations wear clothes of such colors. The sacred clothes are made of a soft wool called mīlīnē; the fiery ones are the red clothes, and the dark blue ones show the beauty of the soft wool.

51.35.1 | 35. Ἀλλὰ οὗτοι μὴ δεξάμενοι πνεῦμα ἅγιον ἀνακρίνονται μὲν πνευματικῶς, μὴ νοοῦντες τὰ τοῦ πνεύματος καὶ κατὰ τῶν λόγων τοῦ πνεύματος βουλόμενοι λέγειν καὶ οὐκ εἰδότες τὰ ἐν τῇ ἀγίᾳ ἐκκλησίᾳ χρίσματα, ἅτινα ἀληθῶς καὶ εὐσταθῶς ἐν παραδολουθήσει καὶ ἐρρωμένῳ νῶ τοῦ πνεύματος τὸ ἅγιον διηγήσατο, οἳ τε ἅγιοι προφητῶν καὶ οἱ ἅγιοι ἀπόστολοι·

51.35.1 | But these, not having received the holy spirit, are judged spiritually, not understanding the things of the spirit and wanting to speak against the words of the spirit, and not knowing the anointings in the holy church, which truly and firmly, in faithful teaching and strong mind, the holy spirit revealed, both the holy prophets and the holy apostles.

51.35.2 | ἐν οἷς καὶ ὁ ἅγιος Ἰωάννης διὰ τοῦ εὐαγγελίου καὶ τῶν ἐπιστολῶν καὶ τῆς Ἀποκαλύψεως ἐκ τοῦ αὐτοῦ χαρίσματος τοῦ ἁγίου μεταδέδωκε τῇ ἀγίᾳ ἐκκλησίᾳ.

51.35.2 | In these, the holy John also shared from the same gift of the holy spirit to the holy church through the gospel, the letters, and the Revelation.

51.35.3 | φθάνει δὲ καὶ ἐπ' αὐτοὺς τὸ εἰρημένον ὅτι »τῷ βλασφημοῦντι εἰς τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον, οὐκ ἄφεθήσεται αὐτῷ οὔτε ἐν τούτῳ τῷ αἰῶνι οὔτε ἐν τῷ μέλλοντι«. καὶ γὰρ κατὰ τῶν ῥημάτων τῶν ὑπὸ τοῦ πνεύματος εἰρημένων οὗτοι ἐστρατεύσαντο.

51.35.3 | The saying also applies to them: "Whoever blasphemes against the holy spirit will not be forgiven, neither in this age nor in the one to come." For they fought against the words spoken by the spirit.

51.35.4 | Τῶν δὲ τοιούτων καὶ τοσούτων εἰρημένων κατὰ τῆς τοιαύτης αἰρέσεως ἱκανῶς ἔχειν νομίσαντες καὶ ὥς σκολόπενδραν ἢ ἱούλον καλούμενον ἐρπετὸν πολὺποδα, ὀλίγον μὲν τῇ δυνάμει καὶ τῇ περιωδυνίᾳ τοῦ, πολὺπουν δὲ καὶ μακροεἶκελον, τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμει καὶ ἀληθείᾳ καταπατήσαντες ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς πάλιν προβαίνοντες σὺν τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμει ἴωμεν, ἀγαπητοί. |

51.35.4 | Thinking that what has been said against such heresy and so much of it is enough, and calling it a thorn or a many-legged creeping insect, small in power and pain but crafty and long-lasting, we trample it down by the power and truth of God. Let us go forward again with the power of God, dear friends.

Book 52

Section 1

52.1.1 | Ἀσπάλακα καλοῦσιν τι ζῷον ἐν τῇ γῇ κάτω ἐμφωλεῦον τετράπουν τετράπουν ῥῆττόν τε τὴν γῆν καὶ ἐν τοῖς μυχαιτάτοις αὐτῆς ἔχον ἑαυτοῦ τὴν οἴκησιν. τὰ δὲ πάντα τοῦ ζώου ὑπάρχει ὥσπερ μικροῦ σκύλακος κυνός, τὴν αὐτὴν περιφέρειαν τῆς ἡλικίας ἔχον, ᾧ οὐδ' ὅλως ὑπάρχει ὄρασις.

52.1.1 | They call a certain animal Aspalax, a four-legged creature living underground, digging the earth and having its home in its deepest parts. The whole body of the animal is about the size of a small puppy, with the same shape as a mole, but it has no sight at all.

52.1.2 | ἐρημωτικὸν δὲ ὄν τὸ ζῷον κάτωθεν ἐκριζοῖ πάντα τὰ τῶν ἀνθρώπων γεωργήματα, τὰ τε σικυήλατα πάντα μάλιστα καὶ τὰ δριμέα φυτεύματα κρομμύων τε καὶ σκορόδων, βολβῶν καὶ τῶν τοιούτων, κρίνων τε καὶ τῶν ἄλλων.

52.1.2 | Being a destroyer, the animal roots up all the crops of people from below, especially all the gourds and sharp plants like onions and garlic, bulbs and such, lilies and others.

52.1.3 | ἐὰν δὲ λαθὼν ἐν τῷ Ῥήττειν φθάσῃ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς ἔξω εἰς τὸν ἀέρα γενέσθαι ἢ ἀλοὺς θηρευθεῖν ὑπὸ τῶν ἀνθρώπων, γελοῖόν τι ἐμποιεῖ πᾶσι τοῖς τοῦτο τὸ ζῷον θηρεύουσιν.

52.1.3 | If, by chance, it comes out above the ground at Rhettium into the open air or is caught by people, it makes a funny sound to all who hunt this animal.

52.1.4 | οὕτως καὶ αὐτὸς ἐπιχειρῶ λέγειν περὶ τῆς νυνὶ μετὰ χεῖρας <οὔσης> αἰρέσεως, ὥς μὲν κατὰ τὴν καρδίαν τυφλώττει καὶ ἀνοητεῖ, ἐρημίαν δὲ ἑαυτῇ ἐργάζεται καὶ τὴν στάσιν ἑαυτῆς κάτωθεν ἐκτέμνει, ῥιζῶν τε πολλῶν <φημί δὲ> τῶν εἰς αὐτὴν ἐμπεπτωκότων ἀνδρῶν τὴν λύμην ἀπεργάζεται.

52.1.4 | So I myself try to speak about the current faction with hands involved, that it blinds and makes foolish according to the heart, but it works destruction for itself and cuts down its own foundation from below, and I say it causes pain to many men who have fallen into it.

52.1.5 | τοῖς δὲ συνετοῖς εἴ ποτε γένοιτο κατοπτρευθῆναι αὐτήν, γέλωτα οὐ τὸν τυχόντα παρασκευάζει· ὥς καὶ τὸ προειρημένον ζῶον διὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ τύφλωσιν ἐμπαιζόμενον <καὶ> διὰ τὴν ἀορασίαν [καὶ] μὴ εὐρίσκον ποῦ τὴν εἰσαγωγὴν ποιήσασθαι, οὕτως καὶ αὕτη ἡ αἵρεσις.

52.1.5 | But for the wise, if ever it should be seen clearly, it does not cause laughter for the one who happens upon it; just as the animal mentioned before, because of its blindness and not seeing and not finding where to make its entrance, so also this faction.

52.1.6 | ἐπέθεντο γὰρ ἑαυτοῖς τοῦ Ἀδάμ τὸ ὄνομα. τοῦτο δὲ ἀπὸ ἀκοῆς ἀνδρῶν πολλῶν ἀκηκοότες φαμέν· οὐ γὰρ ἐν συγγράμμασιν ἠῦραμεν οὔτε μὴν περιετύχομεν τοιοῦτοισι τισί.

52.1.6 | For they put the name of Adam on themselves. But we say this from hearing many men; for we have not found it in writings, nor have we come across it in such things.

52.1.7 | πολλῶν οὖν εἰρηκότων ἄξιον καὶ αὐτῆς μνησθῆναι ἐδικαιώσαμεν. διὸ καὶ δικαίως ταύτην παρεικάσαμεν τῷ προειρημένῳ τυφλῷ ζῳῷ καὶ ἀνδράσιν οὐ τάχιον φαινομένῳ, διὰ τὸ κρύβδην ἐν τῇ γῇ εἶναι καὶ κάτωθεν τὴν λύμην ἐργάζεσθαι.

52.1.7 | Since many have spoken, we thought it right to mention this one too. So we rightly added it to the animal mentioned before, blind and not quickly seen by men, because it secretly lives in the earth and works destruction from below.

52.1.8 | περιγέλαστος δέ ἐστι, καὶ ἐσκεπτόμην μὴ δ' ὅλως εἰς ἀριθμὸν αὐτὴν φέρειν. διὰ δὲ τὸ ὅλως ἦχον αὐτῆς εἶναι ἐν κόσμῳ, οὐδὲν λυπήσειε τὸν συνετὸν ἀκροατὴν περὶ πάντων εἰδέναι τῶν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ ὑπὸ τοῦ διαβόλου ζιζανίων

52.1.8 | It is very laughable, and i was thinking not to even count it at all. But because its noise is everywhere in the world, it would not upset a wise listener who knows about all the weeds sown in the έσπαρμένων.

world by the devil.

52.1.9 | εἴτε γὰρ ἔστιν ἡ τοιαύτη εἴτε μὴ ἔστι, πολλῶν λεγόντων ἀκηκοότι ἀσφαλείας χάριν καὶ περὶ αὐτῆς εἶπεῖν εὐλογόν μοι πέφηνε καὶ μὴ παραλείψαι, κἄν τε καταλέλυσται καὶ οὐκέτι ὑπάρχει. οὐ γὰρ ἀσφαλῶς ἐπίσταμαι εἰ ἔτι ἔστιν ἢ μὴ ἔστι. τί δὲ εἰς μακρὸν ἀποτείνομαι χρόνον τῷ προοιμίῳ χρώμενος πρὸς διήγησιν; ἄρξομαι δὲ τὸ γελοῖον διηγεῖσθαι, μᾶλλον δὲ τὸ πένθος· ἅμα γὰρ τὰ δύο ἔχει, γελοῖον καὶ πένθος, <πένθος μὲν> ὅτι πῶς ὁ διάβολος ἐνεκύησεν ἐν τῇ τῶν ἀνθρώπων διανοίᾳ χλευάσαι τὸ πλάσμα τὸ ἐκ θεοῦ πεπλασμένον, γελοῖον δὲ περὶ τῶν μήτε ὁρώντων μήτε τι συνετὸν διανενοημένων.

52.1.9 | For whether such a thing exists or not, since i have heard many speak about it, it seemed reasonable to me to say something about it for safety's sake and not to leave it out, even if it has been destroyed and no longer exists. For i do not know for sure whether it still exists or not. Why do i spend so much time on this introduction before telling the story? I will begin to tell the funny part, or rather the sad part; for it has both, funny and sad. The sad part is how the devil got into the minds of humans to mock the creature made by god, and the funny part is about those who neither see nor think wisely.

Section 2

52.2.1 | 2. Πρῶτον γὰρ φασι τοὺς τοιούτους τὰς αὐτῶν ἐκκλησίας ἥτοι φωλεοὺς καὶ σπήλυγγας (οὕτω γὰρ εἴπομι τὰς τῶν αἰρέσεων, συνελεύσεις) ἐν ὑποκαύστοις οἰκοδομεῖσθαι ὑποκαίειν τε κάτωθεν, διὰ τὸ εἶναι αἶθρην εἰς θάλψιν τῶν ἔνδον ἐν τῷ οἰκίσκῳ συναγομένων.

52.2.1 | For first, they say that such people build their gatherings, either nests or caves (for so i will call the meetings of the sects), in places that are heated from below and burn underneath, because the heat helps warm the smoke inside the little house where they meet.

52.2.2 | ἐν δὲ τῷ εἰσιέναι ἱματιοφύλακές εἰσί τινες πρὸς ταῖς θύραις δίκην καμψαρίων ὑπ' αὐτῶν ἐπιτεταγμένοι καὶ ἕκαστος εἰσιὼν, ἥτοι ἀνὴρ ἥτοι γυνή, ἐκδυόμενος ἔξω εἴσεισι γυμνὸς ὥς ἀπὸ μητρὸς ὄλῳ τῷ σώματι, οἳ τε δοκοῦντες αὐτῶν ἀρχηγοὶ καὶ διδάσκαλοι πάντες ὥς ἐκ μητρὸς καθέζονται, οἱ μὲν ἄνω οἱ δὲ κάτω ἀναμῖξ καὶ σποράδην.

52.2.2 | And at the entrance, there are some cloak-guards by the doors, set by them like gatekeepers, and each person entering, whether man or woman, undresses outside and enters naked as if just from the womb with their whole body. Those who seem to be their leaders and teachers all sit as if from a mother, some above, some below, mixed and scattered around.

52.2.3 | εἰσὶ δὲ πάντες παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐγκρατεῖς δῆθεν λεγόμενοι τε καὶ κομπάζοντες, καὶ παρθένοι, ὥς ἑαυτοὺς ἀπατῶσι· τὰς τε ἀναγνώσεις καὶ τὰ ἄλλα αὐτῶν πάντα γυμνοὶ ὄντες τελοῦσιν.

52.2.3 | And all of them are said to be self-controlled and boast about it, and virgins, as if they deceive themselves; they perform their readings and all their other things while being naked.

52.2.4 | εἰ δὲ δόξειέ τινα, ὥς καὶ τοῦτο λέγουσιν, ἐν παραπτώματι γενέσθαι, οὐκέτι τοῦτον συνάγουσι· φάσκουσι γὰρ αὐτὸν &εἶναι>· τὸν Ἀδὰμ τὸν βεβρωκότα ἀπὸ τοῦ ξύλου καὶ κρίνουσιν ἐξεοῦσθαι ὥς ἀπὸ τοῦ παραδείσου τοῦτον ἐκ τῆς αὐτῶν ἐκκλησίας. ἡγοῦνται γὰρ τὴν ἑαυτῶν ἐκκλησίαν εἶναι τὸν παράδεισον καὶ αὐτοὺς εἶναι τοὺς περὶ Ἀδὰμ καὶ Εὕαν.

52.2.4 | And if it seems to anyone, as they also say, to fall into a fault, they no longer gather that person; for they say he is Adam who ate from the tree, and they judge that he must be cast out from their church as from paradise. For they think their church is paradise, and they themselves are those around Adam and Eve.

52.2.5 | τίνι οὖν τῷ λόγῳ ὑποκαίουσι τὸν οἰκίσκον, ἵνα μὴ τὸ κρύος αὐτῶν ἐφάψηται; Ἀδὰμ γὰρ καὶ Εὕα οὐκ ἐν ὑποκαύστῳ οἴκῳ τὴν δίαιταν εἶχον οὔτε ἐν φλογμῷ τινι ὑπεπιέζοντο οὔτε κρύος αὐτοὺς ἐφόρτου.

52.2.5 | So why do they put a kind of under-heater under the little house, so that the cold will not touch them? For Adam and Eve did not live in a heated house, nor were they pressed by any fire, nor did cold weigh on them.

52.2.6 | They had the purest air and with every kind of good balance, properly measured by god, neither made harsh by cold nor weighed down by the most unpleasant burning heat of a heatwave. The place was arranged with a diet of ambrosia, very well made by god, filled with cheerfulness and good living, and it neither shivered from cold nor suffered from heat, as I said. Since they needed these kinds of things, clearly the mockery happens among them.

Section 3

52.3.1 | 3. Εἴτα δὲ καὶ τὸ ἕτερον σκοπήσωμεν, πῶς ἡ πᾶσα πλάνη διελέγχεται, ὅτι οὐ μίαν ὥραν ἐκεῖνοι γυμνοὶ ἦσαν, ἀλλὰ διηνεκῶς »καὶ οὐκ ἡσχύνοντο«. τούτοις δὲ οὐ διὰ τὸ μὴ αἰσχύνεσθαι ἢ γύμνωσις, κἄν τε οὕτως αὐτοὶ νομίσωσιν, ἀλλ' ἔνεκεν ἀκορέστου ἡδονῆς, κόραις ὀφθαλμῶν ἐμποιούσης τὴν θέλξιν.

52.3.1 | 3. Then let us also look at the other point, how the whole mistake is shown, that those people were not naked for just one hour, but always “and they were not ashamed.” Their nakedness is not because they did not feel shame, even if they think so, but because of endless pleasure, making their eyes full of delight.

52.3.2 | ἀφήρηται γὰρ ἀπ' αὐτῶν ἡ αἰδὼς ἡ ἐν πάσαις ἀγίαις γραφαῖς ἐπαινουμένη καὶ ἀληθῶς πεπλήρωται τὸ παρὰ τῷ προφῆτῃ εἰρημένον, τό »ὄψις πόρνῃς ἐγένετό σοι, ἀπηναισχύντησας πρὸς πάντας«.

52.3.2 | For shame has been taken away from them, the shame praised in all holy writings, and truly is fulfilled what the prophet said, “you have become the face of a prostitute, you have shamelessly acted toward everyone.”

52.3.3 | μετὰ δὲ τὴν ὥραν ἐκείνην ἔξω ἱματίοις ἀμφιέννυνται καὶ οὐκέτι εἰσὶν ὁ Ἀδάμ, οὔτε γὰρ εὐθὺς ἐκεῖνος καὶ ἡ αὐτοῦ γυνὴ ἱματίων ἠυπόρησαν, ἀλλὰ πρῶτον μὲν φύλλα συκῆς ἑαυτοῖς ἔρραψαν, ἔπειτα δὲ χιτῶνες δερμάτινοι αὐτοῖς ἐδόθησαν καὶ οὕτως μετὰ πολὺν χρόνον τῆς αὐτῶν ζωῆς »ἡ παμποίκιλος τοῦ θεοῦ« σοφία τὴν εἵδησιν αὐτοῖς ἐνέβαλε τῶν ἀμφίων.

52.3.3 | After that hour, they put on clothes outside and were no longer Adam, for neither he nor his wife immediately had clothes, but first they sewed fig leaves for themselves, then leather tunics were given to them, and so after a long time of their life, “the many-colored wisdom of god” put knowledge of clothing on them.

52.3.4 | καὶ κατὰ πάντα τρόπον οὗτοι χλευασθήσονται, λέγοντες ἑαυτοὺς εἶναι τοὺς περὶ Ἀδάμ, καταψευδόμενοι ἑαυτῶν καὶ ἅμα ἀληθεύοντες.

52.3.4 | And in every way these people will be mocked, saying they are the ones around Adam, lying to themselves and at the same time telling the truth.

52.3.5 | ὅτι μὲν γὰρ οὗτοι Ἀδὰμ οὐχ ὑπάρχουσι, τοῦτο δῆλον ἐκ πολλῶν τεκμηρίων, ὡς καὶ ὑπεδείξαμεν· ὅτι δὲ ὑπὸ τοῦ νοητοῦ ὄφρεως ἐμπαίζονται, τοῦτο δῆλον διὰ τῆς παραπεποιημένης αὐτῶν σχηματουργίας καὶ γυμνώσεως καὶ

52.3.5 | For indeed these people are not Adam, this is clear from many proofs, as we have also shown; but that they are mocked by the invisible serpent is clear through their made-up shapes and nakedness and αίσχύνης καὶ χλεύης.

shame and mockery.

52.3.6 | Οὐκ ἄξιον δὲ ἡμᾶς περὶ πολλοῦ ποιεῖσθαι τούτων τὴν ἀνατροπὴν. οὔτε γὰρ τὸ ὅμοιον αὐτῶν ζῶον σκευῶν πολεμικῶν ἢ μεγάλων ὅπλων ἐπιδέεται πρὸς ἀναίρεσιν.

52.3.6 | It is not worth for us to care much about overturning these things. For neither does an animal like them need war gear or big weapons to be destroyed.

52.3.7 | διὰ γὰρ μικρᾶς ῥάβδου τὸ τοιοῦτον ἀφανίζεται. πολλάκις δὲ μετὰ τὸ ἀνενεχθῆναι ἐκ τοῦ φωλεοῦ καταλιμπάνεται μόνον καὶ ἑαυτῷ διαφθείρεται, γελώμενον καὶ ἐμπαιζόμενον καὶ μὴ εὐρίσκον τὴν καταφυγὴν, ὥς καὶ οὔτοι ἄλόντες αἰσχύνονται διὰ τῆς παγγελλάστου χλεύης καὶ ἀσέμνου διαγωγῆς καὶ ὑποθέσεως τῆς ληρωδίας.

52.3.7 | For by a small rod such a thing is destroyed. And often, after being taken out of its hole, it is left alone and destroys itself, laughing and mocking and not finding a refuge, just as these people, caught, are ashamed because of the shameless mockery and rude behavior and the cause of foolishness.

52.3.8 | τὰς δὲ ἐξῆς διασκοπήσοντες πάλιν εὐξώμεθα κύριον ἀρήγειν ἡμῖν εἰς τὴν τῶν ἄλλων εὕρεσιν τε καὶ ἀνατροπὴν καὶ ἡμῶν καὶ τῶν ἐντυγχανόντων σωτηρίαν.

52.3.8 | Looking carefully at the following things, let us again pray that the lord will help us in finding and overturning the others, and in the salvation of ourselves and those who meet us.

Section 1

53.1.1 | Σαμψαίων τινῶν ἐν τῇ Περαιᾷ, περὶ ὧν ἤδη ἐν ταῖς ἄλλαις αἱρέσεσιν ἐπεμνήσθημεν, τῶν δὲ καὶ Ἑλεσαίων καλουμένων, αἵρεσις τις ὑπάρχει ἐν τῇ Περαιᾷ οὕτω καλουμένη χώρα πέραν τῆς ἀλυκῆς ἥτοι νεκρᾶς καλουμένης θαλάσσης, ἐν <τε> τῇ Μωαβίτιδι χώρᾳ περὶ τὸν χειμάρρουν Ἀρνῶν καὶ ἐπέκεινα ἐν τῇ Ἰτουραίᾳ καὶ Ναβατίτιδι, ὥς καὶ ἤδη μοι

53.1.1 | Among some Sampsaions in the Peraea, about whom we have already mentioned in other sects, there is a sect called Elesaions. This sect exists in the Peraea, a land so called beyond the salt or dead sea, that is, in the Moabite region around the stream Arnon and beyond, in Ituraea and Nabathaeon land, as has already been shown to me many times πολλάκις περὶ τούτων δεδήλωται.

about these places.

53.1.2 | οὗτοι γὰρ ἀύχοῦσι τὸν Ἡλξαῖον αὐτῶν εἶναι διδάσκαλον, ἔτι δὲ καὶ εἰς δεῦρο τοῦ γένους αὐτοῦ ὑπαρχούσας δύο γυναῖκας, προσκυνουμένας ὡς θεὰς δῆθεν διὰ τὸ εἶναι αὐτὰς ἐκ σπέρματος εὐλογημένου.

53.1.2 | For they boast that Helxaios is their teacher, and also that two women still exist here from their race, worshiped as goddesses because they come from a blessed seed.

53.1.3 | κέχρηται δὲ τῇ βίβλῳ ταύτῃ καὶ Ὅσσαῖοι καὶ Ἐβιωναῖοι καὶ Ναζωραῖοι, ὡς καὶ ἤδη πολλάκις εἶπον. φύσει δὲ οὗτοι οἱ Σαμψαῖοι ἐξ αὐτῆς ὀρμῶνται, οὔτε Χριστιανοὶ ὑπάρχοντες οὔτε Ἰουδαῖοι οὔτε Ἕλληνες, ἀλλὰ μέσον ὁπλῶς ὑπάρχοντες οὐδὲν εἰσι. φασὶ δὲ καὶ ἄλλο βιβλίον ἔχειν Ἰεξαὶ λεγόμενον ἀδελφοῦ τοῦ Ἡλξαῖ.

53.1.3 | The Ossaeans, Ebionites, and Nazoraeans also use this book, as I have said many times before. By nature, these Sampsaions come from this source; they are neither Christians nor Jews nor Greeks, but stand in the middle, and they are nothing. They say they also have another little book called Iexai, said to be by the brother of Helxai.

53.1.4 | θεὸν δὲ ἓνα λέγουσι καὶ δῆθεν αὐτὸν σέβουσι βαπτισμοῖς τισὶ χρώμενοι· πρόσκεινται δὲ Ἰουδαίοις οὐκ ἐν ἅπασιν. ἀπέχονται δὲ καὶ ἐμψύχων τινὲς ἐξ αὐτῶν.

53.1.4 | They say there is one god, and they worship him, using certain baptisms; but they do not agree with the Jews in everything. They also avoid some living beings among them.

53.1.5 | ὑπεραποθνήσκουσι δὲ τῶν ἐκ γένους τοῦ Ἡλξαῖ. καὶ ἐν μὲν τῷ χρόνῳ τούτῳ ἠκηκόειν ὅτι τέθνηκεν ἡ μία γυνὴ ἡ Μαρθοῦς καλουμένη, ἔμεινε δὲ καὶ ἔτι νῦν Μαρθάνα, εἰ μὴ καὶ αὐτὴ τέθνηκεν.

53.1.5 | The women from the family of Helxai are dying out. And at this time, it was heard that one woman called Marthous had died, but Martha still remains even now, unless she too has died.

53.1.6 | εἴποτε δὲ ἔξοδον εἶχον αἱ τοιαῦται ποι βαδίζουσαι, σανεπόμενοι οἱ ὄχλοι αὐτῶν τὸν χοῦν τῶν ποδῶν λαμβάνοντες ἰάσεως ἔνεκεν δῆθεν καὶ τὸν σίελον τῶν πτυσμάτων ὡσαύτως μεγάλως

53.1.6 | Whenever such women had a chance to go out walking, their crowds would follow, taking the dust from their feet for healing, and they also used the spit from their mouths in charms and amulets, ἐμπαιζόμενοι ἐχρῶντο ἐν φυλακτηρίοις τε καὶ περιάπτοις. πᾶσα γὰρ πλάνη ἔσχε πρῶτον τὴν τύφλωσιν, ἔπειτα τὴν κενοφωνίαν.

playing with it greatly. For every deception first had blindness, then empty speech.

53.1.7 | καὶ οὔτε προφήτας δέχονται οἱ τοιοῦτοι οὔτε ἀποστόλους, τὰ πάντα δὲ παρ' αὐτοῖς ἡπάτηται. τετίμηται δὲ αὐτοῖς τὸ ὕδωρ καὶ τοῦτο ὡς θεὸν ἡγοῦνται, σχεδὸν φάσκοντες εἶναι τὴν ζωὴν ἐκ τούτου.

53.1.7 | And such people accept neither prophets nor apostles; everything among them is deception. Water is honored by them, and they even think of it as a god, almost saying that life comes from it.

53.1.8 | Χριστὸν δὲ ὀνόματι ὁμολογοῦσι, κτίσμα αὐτὸν ἡγούμενοι καὶ ἀεὶ ποτε φαινόμενον, καὶ πρῶτον μὲν πεπλάσθαι αὐτὸν ἐν τῷ Ἀδάμ, ἐκδύεσθαι δὲ αὐτὸν τὸ σῶμα τοῦ Ἀδάμ καὶ πάλιν ἐνδύεσθαι, ὅτε βούλεται.

53.1.8 | They confess a Christ by name, thinking him a creature and always appearing, and first to have been formed in Adam, then to take off the body of Adam, and again to put it on whenever he wants.

53.1.9 | καλεῖσθαι δὲ αὐτὸν Χριστὸν καὶ εἶναι τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα τὸ ὕψος ἑκάστον αὐτῶν ἔχον, ὑπάρχουσιν, ἐνενήκοντα ἑξ μιλίων τὸ ὕψος ἑκάστον αὐτῶν ἔχον, τὸν τε Χριστὸν καὶ τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον, καὶ τὸ πλάτος εἰκοσιτεσσάρων, καὶ πολλὰ ληρώδη ἕτερα *.

53.1.9 | They say that Christ is called and is the holy spirit, each of them having a height of fifty-six miles, existing, each having that height, both Christ and the holy spirit, and a width of twenty-four, and many other foolish things.

Section 2

53.2.1 | 2. Ἦδη δὲ περὶ τούτων πολλάκις ἐν ἄλλαις αἰρέσεσι διηγούμενος τὰς ἀνατροπὰς πεποίημαι· διὸ οὐκ ἀναγκαῖον ἡγησάμην περὶ πολλοῦ ποιήσασθαι τὴν αὐτῶν κατάλυσιν τῆς ἀνατροπῆς, ὡς ἤδη ἡμῶν ἐργασαμένων εἰς αὐτὸν τὸν Ἡλξαῖον εἶτ' οὖν Ἡλξαῖ καὶ τοὺς ἀπ' αὐτοῦ ἐν ταῖς ἄλλαις προδεδηλωμέναις αἰρέσεσι· πᾶσι γὰρ φωρατὸς ὁ τοιοῦτος καὶ ἡ ἐξ αὐτοῦ

53.2.1 | Already about these things many times in other heresies I have told the overturnings and have made them clear; therefore I did not think it necessary to make much of their overthrow of the overturning, since we have already worked against Helxaios himself, or Helxaios and those from him, in the other heresies already shown; for such a one and the αἵρεσις ὅτι πεπλάνηται.

heresy from him is clear to all that it is mistaken.

53.2.2 | ὥς οὖν σαύραν ἡλιακὴν πεπαικότες ῥάβδῳ ἐλπίδος Χριστοῦ καὶ τοῦ σταυροῦ ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἔωμεν. ἄξιον γάρ ἐστιν ᾧ ὀνόματι ἑαυτοὺς καὶ οὗτοι ὠνόμασαν, τῷ αὐτῷ κεχρησθαι αἰνίγματι εἰς φράσιν τῆς αὐτῶν παραπεποιημένης ἐπωνυμίας. Σαμψαῖοι γὰρ ἐρμηνεύονται Ἡλιακοί·

53.2.2 | So then, like a sun lizard playing with a rod, let us hope in Christ and the cross for what follows. For it is fitting that those who called themselves by the same name, as they did, use the same riddle to explain the meaning of their made-up name. For Sampsaiaans are interpreted as Heliaians.

53.2.3 | διὸ καὶ τοῦ ζώου ἐπεμνήσθημεν. ταύτην γὰρ σαύραν οὕτω κυκλήσκουσιν ἡλιακὴν οἱ ἄνθρωποι. χείρων δὲ ἢ αἵρεσις αὕτη τῆς σαύρας, μηδὲ τὸ ἀκαριαῖον τῆς ὠφελείας αὐτῆς ἔχουσα. ἐκείνη γὰρ ἀμβλυωπήσασα χρόνῳ ἀναβλέπει διὰ ἡλιακῆς στροφάλιγγος· ἐν φωλεῷ <γὰρ> πρὸς ἀνατολὴν προσέχοντι ἑαυτὴν προσθλίψασα καὶ νηστεύσασα πρὸς ἀνατολὴν <τε> κατανοοῦσα ἀποτίθεται τὴν ἀμβλυωπίαν· αὕτη δὲ φημι ἢ αἵρεσις ἐν ἅπασιν <τὴν> ἀφροσύνην κέκτηται τοῦ ζώου, οὐ μὴν καὶ τὸ ὀλίγον τοῦ ἐπαίνου.

53.2.3 | Therefore, we also remembered the animal. For people call this lizard a sun lizard. But this heresy is worse than the lizard, having not even a moment of usefulness. For that one, being cross-eyed, looks up over time through a sun dizziness; for in a nest facing east, it crushes itself and fasts toward the east, and thinking carefully toward the east, it gets rid of the cross-eyed sight. But I say this heresy has all the foolishness of the animal, though it has a little bit of praise.

53.2.4 | οὕτως οὖν καὶ αὕτη ἡ αἵρεσις, σαύρα ἡμῖν λεχθεῖσα ἡλιακή, [καὶ] καταπατηθεῖσα ὑπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας † αὐτοῦ μενέτω, μηδὲν κατισχύουσα κατὰ τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ ἀληθείας· ἡμεῖς δὲ ἐπὶ τὰς ἄλλας, ὡς εἴπαμεν, ἐξορμήσωμεν.

53.2.4 | So then, this heresy also, called the sun lizard by us, let it remain trampled under the truth, not having any power against the truth of God. But we, as we said, will set out against the others.

Book 54

Section 1

54.1.1 | Ἀνέστη πάλιν Θεόδοτος τις, ἀπόσπασμα ὑπάρχων ἐκ τῆς προειρημένης ἀλόγου αἰρέσεως, τῆς ἀρνούμενης τὸ κατὰ Ἰωάννην εὐαγγέλιον καὶ τὸν ἐν αὐτῷ <κηρυχθέντα> ἐν ἀρχῇ ὄντα θεὸν Λόγον καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ Ἀποκάλυψιν,

54.1.1 | Again, a certain Theodotus arose, being a fragment from the previously mentioned irrational heresy, which denies the gospel according to John and the God Word who was preached in the beginning in it, and his Revelation.

54.1.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ταῖς ἄλλαις αἰρέσεσι ταῖς προειρημέναις συγγενόμενός τε καὶ συνυπάρξας καὶ κατὰ τὸν κρόνον αὐτὰς διαδεξάμενος, ἐξ οὗπερ οἱ Θεοδοτιανοὶ καλούμενοι. καὶ εἰ μὲν ὑπάρχει ἔτι ἡ αἵρεσις ἀγνοοῦμεν, τὰ δὲ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἀπὸ συγγραμμάτων ἐλθόντα ἐροῦμεν.

54.1.2 | But also being related and existing together with the other heresies mentioned before, and having taken them over in time, from which the ones called Theodotians come. And if the heresy still exists, we do not know; but we will speak of the things that have come to us from writings.

54.1.3 | Οὗτος ὁ Θεόδοτος ἀπὸ Βυζαντίου μὲν ὠρμάτο, τῆς νυνὶ Κωνσταντινουπόλεως καλουμένης, σκυτεὺς τὴν τέχνην, πολυμαθὴς δὲ τῷ λόγῳ.

54.1.3 | This Theodotus came from Byzantium, now called Constantinople, a tentmaker by trade, but very learned in speech.

54.1.4 | οὗτος ἅμα τισὶ πλείοσιν ἐν καιρῷ διωγμοῦ ἐνστάντος (οὐκ οἶδα εἰπεῖν ἐν ποίῳ διωγμῷ) ἀπὸ τοῦ τῆς πόλεως ἄρχοντος συλληφθεὶς [μετὰ πλειόνων] καὶ ἐξετασθεὶς σὺν τοῖς ἄλλοις ὑπὲρ Χριστοῦ, οἱ μὲν ἄλλοι πάντες θεοῦ δοῦλοι τὸ νίκος ἀπενεγκάμενοι βραβείων ἔτυχον ἐπουρανίων ὑπὲρ Χριστοῦ μαρτυρήσαντες,

54.1.4 | This man, at the same time when many were under persecution (I do not know in what persecution), was arrested by the city ruler, along with many others, and examined for Christ. The others, all servants of God, having won the victory, received heavenly rewards for witnessing for Christ.

54.1.5 | οὗτος δὲ Χριστὸν ἀρνησάμενος καὶ παραπεσὼν τοῦ σκοποῦ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐν παρεκβάσει γεγένηται, καὶ ἀπὸ αἰσχύνης

54.1.5 | But this one, denying Christ and falling away from the goal of truth into error, and being insulted by many with πολλῆς ὑπὸ πολλῶν ὀνειδιζόμενος ἀπέδρασε τῆς ἑαυτοῦ πατρίδος καὶ ἀναβὰς εἰς Ῥώμην ἐκεῖσε διέτριβεν.

great shame, fled from his own country and went up to Rome, where he stayed.

54.1.6 | ἐπιγνωσθεὶς δὲ ὑπὸ τῶν ἐν Ῥώμῃ, πάλιν ἐκεῖ τῷ αὐτῷ ὀνειδεῖ ὑπέπεσε διὰ τὸ ἐγκαλεῖσθαι αὐτὸν ὑπὸ τῶν αὐτὸν εἰδόντων ἕνεκεν τῆς πολυμαθείας, ὅτι ἀνὴρ πολυμαθὴς ὢν ἐξέπεσε τῆς ἀληθείας.

54.1.6 | But when he was recognized by those in Rome, there he again suffered the same insult because he was accused by those who knew him for his great learning, since a very learned man had fallen away from the truth.

54.1.7 | εἰς ἑαυτοῦ δὲ δῆθεν κακὴν ἀπολογία ἐπινενόηκε τοῦτ' ὅτι καὶ τὸν δόγμα, φήσας ὅτι »θεὸν ἐγὼ οὐκ ἡρνησάμην, ἀλλὰ ἄνθρωπον ἡρνησάμην«. εἴτα ἐρωτώμενος »ποῖον ἄνθρωπον« ἀπεκρίνατο λέγων »Χριστὸν ἡρνησάμην ἄνθρωπον«.

54.1.7 | And for himself, he thought up a bad excuse, this new teaching, saying, "I did not deny God, but I denied a man." Then when asked, "What kind of man?" he answered, saying, "I denied Christ as a man."

54.1.8 | Ἐντεῦθεν οὕτως ἑαυτῷ ἐδογμάτισε | δόγμα καὶ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ συσταθέντες θεοδοτιανοί, ψιλὸν ἄνθρωπον φάσκοντες εἶναι τὸν Χριστὸν καὶ ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνδρὸς γεγεννησθαι.

54.1.8 | From there, he made for himself this teaching, and those who followed him, the Theodotians, said that Christ was just a man and was born from the seed of a man.

54.1.9 | εἴτα εἰς κακὴν ἑαυτοῦ ἀπολογία ὅσαπερ χρήσιμα εὔρεν (οὐχ ἄγνως οἰόμενος, ἀλλὰ προφάσει τῆς αὐτοῦ παρεκτροπῆς ταῦτα ἑαυτῷ ἐπισωρεύων) συνήγαγεν, »ὅτι, φησὶν, ὁ Χριστὸς ἔφη· νῦν δὲ με ζητεῖτε ἀποκτεῖναι ἄνθρωπον, ὃς τὴν ἀλήθειαν ὑμῖν λελάληκα«. ὁρᾷ, φησὶν, ὅτι ἄνθρωπός ἐστιν.

54.1.9 | Then for a bad excuse for himself, he gathered all the useful things he found (not thinking purely, but piling these up as a cover for his own error), saying, "Christ said: 'Now you want to kill a man, who has spoken the truth to you.'" He says, "You see, he is a man."

Section 2

54.2.1 | 2. ἀλλ' οὐκ ἔγνω ὁ τάλας ὅτι ἐν

54.2.1 | But the poor man did not know that ταύτῳ ὁ κύριος λέγει »τὴν ἀλήθειαν, ἣν ἤκουσα παρὰ τοῦ πατρὸς μου«. πατέρα δὲ ἑαυτοῦ λέγει τὸν θεόν· οὐ γὰρ ἄνθρωπον.

the Lord says in the same place, “the truth, which I heard from my father.” And by father he means God, not a man.

54.2.2 | εἰ γὰρ παρὰ ἀνθρώπου ἀκήκοεν, οὐκ ἔκαυχᾶτο τῇ μαρτυρίᾳ τῆς ἀληθείας, λέγων παρὰ ἀνθρώπων τὴν ἀλήθειαν ἀκηκοέναι· ἀλλ’ ἵνα σημάνη θεὸν αὐτὸν ὄντα ἐκ πατρὸς ἄνωθεν γεγεννημένον, ἄνθρωπον δὲ δι’ ἡμᾶς γενόμενον καὶ ἐν σαρκὶ ἀποκτανθέντα, ἐν θεότητι δὲ αἰεὶ ζῶντα.

54.2.2 | For if he had heard from a man, he would not have boasted in the witness of the truth, saying he heard the truth from men; but to show that he is God, born from the Father above, and a man made for us, who died in the flesh, yet always lives in godliness.

54.2.3 | Εἴτά φησι μηδὲ ἁμαρτίαν πεποιθέναι ἀρνησάμενον τὸν Χριστόν, »αὐτοῦ, φησί, τοῦ Χριστοῦ εἰπόντος· πᾶσα βλασφημία ἀφεθήσεται τοῖς ἀνθρώποις«, καὶ »ὁ λέγων λόγον εἰς τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἀφεθήσεται αὐτῷ· τῷ δὲ βλασφημοῦντι εἰς τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα, οὐκ ἀφεθήσεται αὐτῷ«.

54.2.3 | Then he says that he has not sinned by denying Christ, “because,” he says, “Christ said: ‘Every blasphemy will be forgiven to men,’” and “whoever speaks against the Son of Man will be forgiven; but whoever blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven.”

54.2.4 | καὶ ἄγνοεῖ ὁ ἐλεεινὸς ἄνθρωπος ὅτι βουλόμενος ὁ κύριος προασφαλίσασθαι τὴν σωτηρίαν τῶν ποτὲ αὐτὸν βλασφημησάντων καὶ ἐπανακαμπτόντων εἰς μετάνοιαν, ἵνα μὴ ὀρίσῃ αὐτοῖς καταδίκην, τὸν λόγον προθεσπίζει, δι’ ὑπερβολὴν πραότητος καὶ φιλανθρωπίας

54.2.4 | And the poor man does not know that the Lord, wanting to secure the salvation of those who once blasphemed him and then turned back to repentance, so that he would not set a sentence against them, speaks this word out of great gentleness and love for people.

54.2.5 | καὶ διὰ τὸ εἰδέναι αὐτὸν μέλλοντάς τινας ἐπανίστασθαι καὶ βλασφημεῖν τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα καὶ ἐν τάξει δούλου αὐτὸ ὀρίζεσθαι καὶ κτιστὸν καὶ ἀλλότριον τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ οὐσίας.

54.2.5 | And because he knew that some would rise up and blaspheme the Holy Spirit, and that it would be set in the order of a servant, and be created and foreign to the essence of God.

54.2.6 | διὸ ἐπασφαλιζόμενός φησιν »ὃ δὲ βλασφημῶν εἰς τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον, οὐκ ἀφεθήσεται αὐτῷ, οὔτε ἐνταῦθα οὔτε ἐν τῷ μέλλοντι αἰῶνι«, οὐκ ἐπαινῶν τοὺς βλασφημοῦντας αὐτόν, ἀλλὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ πρόγνωσιν καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ φιланθρωπίαν δεικνύς, προασφαλιζομένην τὴν σωτηρίαν τῶν ἀπὸ βλασφημίας αὐτοῦ μετανοοῦντων.

54.2.6 | Therefore, he says, “but whoever blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven, neither in this age nor in the age to come,” not praising those who blaspheme him, but showing his foreknowledge and his love for people, securing the salvation of those who repent from blaspheming him.

54.2.7 | αὐτὸς γὰρ πάλιν φησὶν »ὃ ἀρνησάμενός με ἔμπροσθεν τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἀρνηθήσεται ἐνώπιον τοῦ πατρὸς μου«, καὶ πάλιν »ἀρνήσομαι αὐτόν«, καὶ πάλιν »ὃ ὁμολογῶν ἐν ἐμοί, ὁμολογήσω αὐτὸν ἐνώπιον τοῦ πατρὸς μου«.

54.2.7 | For he himself says again, “whoever denies me before people will be denied before my Father,” and again, “I will deny him,” and again, “whoever confesses me, I will confess him before my Father.”

Section 3

54.3.1 | 3. Καὶ πάλιν δὲ ὁ αὐτὸς Θεόδοτος φησι· »καὶ ὁ νόμος περὶ αὐτοῦ ἔφη· προφήτην ἐκ τῶν ἀδελφῶν ὑμῶν ἐγερεῖ ὑμῖν κύριος ὡς ἐμέ· αὐτοῦ ἀκούσατε. Μωυσῆς δὲ ἄνθρωπος ἦν· ὁ οὖν ἐκ θεοῦ ἐγειρόμενος Χριστὸς οὗτος, φησὶν, ἦν, ἀλλὰ ἄνθρωπος, ἐπειδὴ ἐξ αὐτῶν ἦν, ὡς καὶ ὁ Μωυσῆς ἄνθρωπος ἦν«.

54.3.1 | And again the same Theodotus says: “And the law about him said: ‘The Lord will raise up for you a prophet from among your brothers like me; listen to him.’ But Moses was a man; so the Christ who was raised up by God, he says, was a man too, because he was from them, just as Moses was a man.”

54.3.2 | καὶ οὐκ οἶδεν ἐν ἑαυτῷ ὁ ἐν παραπτώματι γεγονὼς Θεόδοτος πῶς πάλιν ἐκάστη λέξις ἔχει τὴν ἑαυτῆς ἀσφάλειαν·

54.3.2 | And Theodotus, who fell into error, did not know in himself how each word again has its own sure meaning;

54.3.3 | ὅτι μὲν γὰρ ἐξ ἀδελφῶν αὐτὸν ἡγειρεν ὁ κύριος, διὰ τὸ ἐκ Μαρίας αὐτὸν γεγεννηθῆσθαι, ὡς λέγει »ἰδοὺ ἡ παρθένος ἐν γαστρὶ ἔξει, καὶ τέξεται υἱόν«· καὶ παρθένος

54.3.3 | For indeed the Lord raised him from among brothers, because he was born of Mary, as it says, “Look, the virgin will have in her womb, and she will give birth to μένουσα »έν γαστρὶ ἔξει« (οὐκ ἐκ σπέρματος ἀνδρός), »καὶ τέξεται υἱόν« (δηλὸν ἐν σαρκὶ τὸ γέννημα <τὸ> ἀπὸ παρθένου γεννώμενον), ἀλλὰ »καλέσουσι τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ Ἐμμανουήλ, ὃ ἐρμηνεύεται θεὸς μεθ’ ἡμῶν«.

a son.” And the virgin stays “in her womb” (not from a man’s seed), “and she will give birth to a son” (clearly the child in the flesh born from a virgin), but “they will call his name Emmanuel, which means God with us.”

54.3.4 | ἔστιν γὰρ θεὸς καὶ ἄνθρωπος· θεὸς μὲν ἀπὸ πατρὸς γεγεννημένος ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόνως, ἄνθρωπος δὲ ἀπὸ Μαρίας διὰ τὴν ἔνσαρκον παρουσίαν.

54.3.4 | For he is both God and man; God born from the Father without beginning and without time, and man from Mary because of the bodily presence.

54.3.5 | Εἴτά φησι· »καὶ αὐτὸ τὸ εὐαγγέλιον ἔφη τῇ Μαρίᾳ· πνεῦμα κυρίου ἐπελεύσεται ἐπὶ σέ, καὶ οὐκ εἶπε· πνεῦμα κυρίου γενήσεται ἐν σοί«.

54.3.5 | Then he says: “And the gospel said to Mary: the spirit of the Lord will come upon you,” and he did not say, “the spirit of the Lord will be in you.”

54.3.6 | διὸ ἐκ πανταχόθεν φιλονεικῶν ὁ ἀνόητος ἄνθρωπος ἐκπίπτει τῆς ἀληθείας. ἀσφαλιζομένη γὰρ ἡ γραφὴ πανταχόθεν τὴν ἡμετέραν ζωὴν, ἵνα τὴν τριάδα δείξῃ πάντῃ τε καὶ ἐν παντὶ εἶδει συνοῦσαν ἑαυτῇ καὶ συνεργοῦσαν, ἵνα μή τινες εἴπωσιν ὥς καὶ πολλοὶ προφασίζονται ἑαυτοῖς κακά, ἀλλοτριοῦντες τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα τοῦ Χριστοῦ καὶ <τοῦ> πατρός, τούτου ἕνεκεν ὁ ἄγγελος λέγει τῇ

54.3.6 | Therefore, the foolish man, always arguing, falls away from the truth. For the scripture protects our life everywhere, to show the Trinity always and in every way united with itself and working together, so that no one says, as many wrongly claim, blaming themselves, that the holy spirit of Christ and the Father is separate. Because of this, the angel says to the...

54.3.7 | Μαριάμ »πνεῦμα κυρίου ἐπελεύσεται ἐπὶ σέ καὶ ἐπισκιάσει σοι δύναμις ὑψίστου«, εἴτα μετέπειτα »διὸ καὶ τὸ γεννώμενον ἅγιον κληθήσεται υἱὸς θεοῦ«.

54.3.7 | to Mary, “the spirit of the Lord will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you,” then later, “therefore the one born will be called holy, the Son of God.”

54.3.8 | καὶ οὐκ εἶπε μόνον »τὸ γεννώμενον«, ἀλλὰ »διὸ καὶ τὸ

54.3.8 | and he did not say only “the one born,” but “therefore also the one born,” to γεννώμενον», ἵνα δείξη <τὸν> ἄνωθεν θεὸν Λόγον καὶ ἐν μήτρᾳ γενόμενον καὶ εἰς ἐαυτὸν ἀναπλασάμενον τὴν ἐαυτοῦ ἐνανθρώπησιν [καὶ] κατὰ τὴν ἐαυτοῦ εὐδοκίαν· καὶ δι’ ἣν ὥκονόμησεν ἐαυτοῦ ἐνανθρώπησιν εἰς ἡμῶν σωτηρίαν προστίθῃσι »διὸ καὶ τὸ γεννώμενον ἅγιον κληθήσεται υἱὸς θεοῦ«.

show the God above, the Word, who was born in a womb and shaped his own becoming human according to his own will;
and through this he arranged his becoming human for our salvation, adding “therefore also the one born will be called holy, the Son of God.”

54.3.9 | εἰ γὰρ εἶπε »πνεῦμα ἅγιον εἰσελεύσεται εἰς σέ«, οὐκέτι υἱὸν θεοῦ ἦν ἡγεῖσθαι ἐν σαρκὶ παραγεγονότα, ἀλλὰ πνεῦμα ἅγιον ἐν σαρκὶ παραγεγονέναι.

54.3.9 | for if he had said “the holy spirit will enter into you,” then he would no longer think of the Son of God as having come in the flesh, but as the holy spirit having come in the flesh.

54.3.10 | ὅτι δὲ ἄνωθέν ἐστιν ἐλθὼν ὁ Λόγος, ὁ Ἰωάννης σαφηνίσας τὴν τοῦ ἀγγέλου εὐαγγελικὴν φωνὴν λέγει »ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦν Λόγος, καὶ ὁ Λόγος ἦν πρὸς τὸν θεὸν καὶ θεὸς ἦν ὁ Λόγος. πάντα δι’ αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο, καὶ χωρὶς αὐτοῦ ἐγένετο οὐδὲ ἓν«.

54.3.10 | because the Word came from above, John makes clear the angel’s good news voice by saying, “In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. All things came into being through him, and without him not even one thing came into being.”

54.3.11 | εἶτα μετὰ ταῦτα »καὶ ὁ Λόγος σὰρξ ἐγένετο« καὶ οὐκ εἶπε »τὸ πνεῦμα σὰρξ ἐγένετο«, οὐδὲ εἶπε »Χριστὸς ἄνθρωπος ἐγεννήθη«.

54.3.11 | then after these things he said, “and the Word became flesh”; and he did not say, “the spirit became flesh,” nor did he say, “Christ was born a man.”

54.3.12 | πάντῃ γὰρ ἀσφαλιζομένη ἡ θεία γραφή θεὸν καὶ ἄνθρωπον αὐτὸν ἐπίσταται· θεὸν ἀπὸ θεοῦ ἄνωθεν ἦκοντα, ἄνθρωπον δὲ ἀπὸ Μαρίας ἄνευ σπέρματος ἀνδρὸς γεγεννημένον. τῶν δύο τούτων ἀληθινῶν ὁ ἐκτὸς βαίνων οὐχ ὑπάρχει τῆς ἀληθείας.

54.3.12 | for the holy scripture is always sure, and it knows him as both God and man; God coming from God above, and man born from Mary without a man’s seed. of these two true things, the one who goes beyond does not belong to the truth.

Section 4

54.4.1 | 4 Προφασίζεται πάλιν ὁ τάλας Θεόδοτος λέγων »ὅτι καὶ ὁ Ἰερεμίας περὶ αὐτοῦ ἔφη ὅτι ἄνθρωπός ἐστιν, καὶ τίς γινώσεται αὐτόν;« καὶ οὐκ οἶδεν <ὁ> > ἑαυτὸν τῆς ἀληθείας ἀποξενώσας ὅτι, ὡς ἔφην,

54.4.1 | again the poor Theodotus makes an excuse, saying, “for even Jeremiah said about him that he is a man, and who will know him?” and he does not know himself, having cut himself off from the truth, that, as i said, 54.4.2 | ἐκάστη λέξις ἔχει τὴν ἑαυτῆς δύναμιν τῆς ἐρμηνείας. ὁ γὰρ ἄνθρωπος ὢν πάντως ὑπὸ πολλῶν γινώσκεται τῶν αὐτὸν γινωσκόντων· φημὶ δὲ πατὴρ καὶ μητὴρ, ἀδελφῶν τε καὶ συγγενῶν, συσκήνων τε καὶ γειτόνων, πολιτῶν τε καὶ οἰκετῶν.

54.4.2 | each word has its own power of meaning. for a man is always known by many who know him; i say by his father and mother, brothers and relatives, those who live with him and neighbors, citizens and servants.

54.4.3 | ἐνταῦθα δὲ ἡ γραφὴ τὸ θαυμαστὸν διηγουμένη τῆς ὅλης αὐτοῦ πραγματείας ἄνθρωπον μὲν ἔφη διὰ τὴν ἑνσαρκον παρουσίαν, τῷ δὲ »τίς γινώσεται αὐτόν« ἐσήμανε περὶ τῆς αὐτοῦ θεότητος τῆς ἀκαταλήπτου.

54.4.3 | here the scripture tells the wonderful story of his whole work: it said he was a man because of his fleshly presence, but the “who will know him” meant about his godhood, which cannot be grasped.

54.4.4 | ἐπειδὴ γάρ »οὐδεὶς οἶδε τὸν υἱὸν εἰ μὴ ὁ πατὴρ καὶ τὸν πατέρα οὐδεὶς οἶδεν εἰ μὴ ὁ υἱὸς καὶ ὃ ἂν ἀποκαλυψῇ«, οὐδεὶς οὖν γινώσεται αὐτόν, ἂν μὴ <αὐτὸς> αὐτῷ ἀποκαλύψῃ.

54.4.4 | for “no one knows the son except the father, and no one knows the father except the son and anyone to whom he reveals him,” so no one will know him unless he himself reveals him to them.

54.4.5 | ἀποκαλύπτει δὲ διὰ ἁγίου πνεύματος τοῖς αὐτοῦ δούλοις τὴν αὐτοῦ καὶ τὴν τοῦ αὐτοῦ πατρὸς θεότητα καὶ δόξαν καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ βιωὴν αἰώνιον τὴν μέλλουσαν καὶ τὰ αὐτοῦ μυστήρια καὶ διδασκαλίαν καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ δι’ ἡμᾶς ἑνσαρκον ἀληθῆ παρουσίαν, ὅτι θεὸς

54.4.5 | he reveals through the holy spirit to his servants his own and his father’s godhood and glory, and his eternal life to come, and his mysteries and teaching, and his true fleshly presence for us, that he is god from above and man from mary.

ἄνωθεν καὶ ἄνθρωπος ἀπὸ Μαρίας.

Section 5

54.5.1 | 5. Εἴτα ὁ αὐτός φησι πάλιν Θεόδοτος ὅτι »καὶ Ἰσαΐας περὶ αὐτοῦ ἔφη ὅτι ἄνθρωπος εἰδὼς φέρειν μαλακίαν· καὶ εἶδομεν αὐτὸν ἐν πληγῇ καὶ ἐν κακώσει καὶ ἡτιμᾶσθη καὶ οὐκ ἐλογίσθη«. ἀλλὰ οὐκ οἶδε πῶς πάλιν ἐλέγχεται ὁ κτηνήδης.

54.5.1 | then the same one, theodotus, says again that »and isaiah said about him that he is a man, saying this way: because a man knows how to bear weakness; and we saw him in pain and in suffering and he was dishonored and not considered.« but he did not know how the beastly one is proven wrong again.

54.5.2 | ἐν αὐταῖς γὰρ ταῖς λέξεσιν Ἰσαΐας οὕτως εἶπεν »ὡς πρόβατον ἐπὶ σφαγὴν ἦχθη, καὶ ὡς ἀμνὸς ἐναντίον τοῦ κείραντος αὐτὸν ἄφωνος· οὕτως οὐκ ἀνοίγει τὸ στόμα αὐτοῦ· ἐν τῇ ταπεινώσει αὐτοῦ ἡ κρίσις αὐτοῦ ἦρθη«.

54.5.2 | for in these words isaiah said this way: »like a sheep he was led to the slaughter, and like a lamb before the shearer, silent; so he does not open his mouth; in his humility his judgment was taken away.«

54.5.3 | εἰτά φησιν »τὴν γενεὰν αὐτοῦ τίς διηγῆσεται, ὅτι αἴρεται ἀπὸ ἀνθρώπων ἡ ζωὴ αὐτοῦ«, καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν »αἴρεται ἡ ζωὴ <ἀπ' > αὐτοῦ«, ἀλλὰ »ἀπὸ ἀνθρώπων«.

54.5.3 | then he says »who will tell about his generation, because his life is taken away from men«, and he did not say »his life is taken away from him«, but »from men«.

54.5.4 | αἰεὶ γὰρ ὁ Λόγος ζῶν ἐστὶν ὑπάρχων τε καὶ τὸ ζῆν ἀφ' ἑαυτοῦ ἔχων καὶ ζῶν τοῖς αὐτὸν ἡγαπηκόσι διδούς· ἐξ ἀνθρώπων μὲν ἡ ζωὴ αὐτοῦ ἦρθη, * ἀφ' ἑαυτοῦ ζωὴ ὦν. »ζῶν γὰρ ὁ Λόγος« καὶ πᾶσι ζῶν παρέχων τοῖς ἐπ' αὐτὸν ἐλπίσασιν ἐν ἀληθείᾳ. καὶ τό »τὴν γενεὰν αὐτοῦ τίς διηγῆσεται;«

54.5.4 | for the Word is always living and existing, and having life from itself and giving life to those who love it; his life was taken away from men, * but being life from itself. »for the Word is living« and giving life to all who have hoped in it in truth. and the »who will tell about his generation?«

54.5.5 | *. εἰ ἦν ἄνθρωπος ψιλὸς ἀπὸ Μαρίας γεγεννημένος, εὐδιήγητος ἄρα ἦν ἡ αὐτοῦ

54.5.5 | *. if he were a mere man born from Mary, then his birth would be easy to γέννησις. ἐπειδὴ δλε ἐστὶ πρὸ τοῦ Δαυὶδ <καὶ> πρὸ τοῦ Ἀβραάμ, — explain. but since he is before David and before Abraham, —

54.5.6 | »Ἀβραάμ γὰρ ὁ πατὴρ ὑμῶν, φησὶν, ἐπεθύμησεν ἰδεῖν τὴν ἡμέραν μου, καὶ εἶδε καὶ ἐχάρη·« εἴτα αὐτῶν θαυμαζόντων καὶ λεγόντων »πεντήκοντα ἔτη οὕτω ἔχεις, καὶ τὸν Ἀβραάμ ἐώρακας;«, ἐλέγχων Θεόδοτον καὶ τοὺς ἀπίστους καὶ ἐπαρνησιθεοὺς Ἰουδαίους ἔφη »ἀμὴν ἀμὴν λέγω ὑμῖν, ὅτι πρὸ Ἀβραάμ ἐγὼ εἰμι«.

54.5.6 | "Abraham is your father, he says, he longed to see my day, and he saw it and was glad." Then, when they marveled and said, "You are not yet fifty years old, and you have seen Abraham?" he, rebuking Theodotos and the unbelieving and denying Jews, said, "Truly, truly I say to you, before Abraham I am."

54.5.7 | ἦν γὰρ πρὸ Ἀβραάμ ἀληθῶς καὶ πρὸ Νῶε καὶ πρὸ Ἀδᾶμ καὶ πρὸ τοῦ κόσμου καὶ πρὸ οὐρανοῦ καὶ πρὸ τοῦ χρόνου τοῦ κόσμου καὶ πρὸ πάντων τῶν κτισμάτων, ἄχρονος ὢν, —

54.5.7 | for he truly was before Abraham and before Noah and before Adam and before the world and before the sky and before the time of the world and before all the created things, being without time, —

54.5.8 | διὸ καὶ ἄφραστος καταγγέλλεται ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος διὰ Ἡσαΐου ὅτι »τὴν γενεὰν αὐτοῦ τίς διηγήσεται; ὅτι αἴρεται ἐκ τῆς γῆς ἡ ζωὴ ἡ ζωὴ αὐτοῦ«.

54.5.8 | therefore he is also declared beyond words by the holy spirit through Isaiah, saying, "Who will tell his generation? For his life is taken from the earth, his life."

54.5.9 | Ἀλλὰ φησιν, »εἶπαν οἱ ἀπόστολοι ἄνδρα ἀποδεδειγμένον εἰς ὑμᾶς σημεῖοις καὶ τέρασι, καὶ οὐκ εἶπαν· θεὸν ἀποδεδειγμένον«.

54.5.9 | but he says, "the apostles said a man proven to you by signs and wonders," and they did not say, "a god proven."

54.5.10 | ἐλέγχῃ δὲ πάλιν, Θεόδοτε, ὅτι πάλιν οἱ αὐτοὶ ἀπόστολοι ἐν ταῖς αὐταῖς Πράξεσιν ἔφησαν, ὡς ὁ μακάριος Στέφανός φησιν »ἰδοὺ ὁρῶ τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀνεῳγμένον καὶ τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἐστῶτα ἐκ δεξιῶν τοῦ θεοῦ«.

54.5.10 | but again, Theodotus, be tested, for again the same apostles said in the same Acts, as the blessed Stephen says, "Look, I see the heaven opened and the son of man standing at the right hand of god."

Section 6

54.6.1 | 6. Πάλιν δὲ προφασίζεται λέγων ὅτι »ἐφη περὶ αὐτοῦ ὁ ἀπόστολος ὅτι μεσίτης θεοῦ καὶ ἀνθρώπων, ἄνθρωπος Χριστὸς Ἰησοῦς»,

54.6.1 | 6. Again he argues, saying that “the apostle said about him that he is the mediator of god and men, the man Christ Jesus,”

54.6.2 | καὶ οὐκ οἶδε πῶς πάλιν καθ’ ἑαυτοῦ ἐπεγείρει. ὁ γὰρ εἰπὼν »μεσίτης θεοῦ καὶ ἀνθρώπων, <ἄνθρωπος> Χριστὸς Ἰησοῦς« αὐτὸς ἐσαφήνισε λέγων »προορισθέντος υἱοῦ θεοῦ ἐν δυνάμει κατὰ πνεῦμα ἁγιοσύνης ἐξ ἀναστάσεως νεκρῶν, τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ«, καὶ πάλιν »γενόμενος ἐκ γυναικός, γενόμενος ὑπὸ νόμον«.

54.6.2 | and he does not know how again he raises himself up. For the one saying “mediator of god and men, the man Christ Jesus” made it clear himself by saying “having been appointed son of god in power according to the spirit of holiness by the resurrection of the dead, our lord Jesus Christ,” and again “being born of a woman, being born under the law.”

54.6.3 | τούτων δὲ ποιούμενος τῶν λέξεων τὴν ἀσφάλειαν φησιν »εἴπερ εἰσὶ λεγόμενοι θεοὶ πολλοὶ καὶ κύριοι πολλοί, ἡμῖν δὲ εἷς θεός, ἐξ οὗ τὰ πάντα, καὶ εἷς κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός,

54.6.3 | and making these words his proof, he says, “If there are called gods many and lords many, but to us there is one god, from whom are all things, and one lord Jesus Christ,”

54.6.4 | “through whom are all things, and we also through him.” But if “through whom are all things, and we also through him,” then the only-begotten would not be a mere man, born from Mary until now, nor from the seed of a man. For how could all things be through him, the things made before him according to your word, if he were a mere man? Or how could all things made before him be known and come into him? And from every side fell away the foolishness of this.

54.6.5 | Ἐν αὐτῷ δὲ τῷ διαλόγῳ ἅμα τὴν τε

54.6.5 | But in this very discussion, having περὶ αὐτοῦ γινώσκοντες καὶ τὴν ἀνατροπὴν καθ' ἑκάστην λέξιν, ὑπερβησόμεθα κατὰ τὸ ἔθος τῆς ἀκολουθίας, ὥστερ τι μέρος ἐρπετοῦ ἔτι σκαρίζοντος τῇ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐλπίδι καὶ πίστει πεπαικότες καὶ ἀνελόντες, τὰς <τε> ἑξῆς διασκοπήσωμεν καὶ περιβλέπεσθαι τὰς θηριωδεστάτας αἱρέσεις σπεύσωμεν.

said both the knowledge about him and the refutation of each word, we will go beyond according to the usual order of the argument, so that like a part of a creeping thing still crawling, having been strengthened and lifted up by the hope and faith of truth, we will examine what follows and hurry to look around the most wild heresies.

Book 55

Section 1

55.1.1 | Μελχισεδεκianoὺς πάλιν ἕτεροι ἑαυτοὺς καλοῦσιν, ἀποσπασθέντες τάχα ἀπὸ τῶν Θεοδοτιανῶν καλουμένων.

55.1.1 | Others again call themselves Melchizedekians, having perhaps separated from those called Theodotians.

55.1.2 | οὗτοι τὸν Μελχισεδεκ τὸν ἐν ταῖς γραφαῖς λεγόμενον δοξάζουσι, μεγάλην τινὰ δύναμιν ἡγούμενοι. εἶναι δὲ αὐτὸν ἄνων ἐν ἀκατονομάστοις τόποις καὶ <ἀληθ>ῶς εἶναι τοῦτον οὐ μόνον δύναμιν τινα, ἀλλὰ καὶ μειζότερον τοῦ Χριστοῦ τῇ

55.1.2 | These people honor Melchizedek, the one mentioned in the scriptures, thinking he has great power. And they say he is unknown in unnamed places and truly that he is not only some power, but even greater than Christ in...

55.1.3 | They claim this by their own error. But they think Christ simply came later and was made worthy of that order, supposedly because of the saying, "you are a priest forever in the order of Melchizedek." They say Christ is lower than Melchizedek. For if he were not placed in some second introduction, he would not need that order. Since he is placed in an introduction, he would not need that order.

55.1.4 | Περὶ αὐτοῦ δὲ τοῦ Μελχισεδέκ φασιν ὅτι »ἀμήτωρ, ἀπάτωρ, ἀγενεαλόγητος« <ἐγένετο>, ἐκ τῆς πρὸ Ἑβραίους τοῦ ἁγίου Παύλου ἐπιστολῆς παριστᾶν βουλόμενοι.

55.1.4 | About Melchizedek they say that he “became motherless, fatherless, without genealogy,” trying to show this from the letter to the Hebrews by holy Paul.

55.1.5 | πλάττουσι δὲ ἑαυτοῖς καὶ βίβλους ἐπιπλάστους, ἱαυτοὺς ἀπατῶντες.

55.1.5 | They also make for themselves forged books, deceiving themselves.

55.1.6 | Ἐξ αὐτῶν δὲ τῶν ῥητῶν ἡ αὐτῶν ἀνατροπὴ γίνεται. ὥς γὰρ λέγει περὶ τοῦ κυρίου ὁ Δαυὶδ προφητεύων, κατὰ τὴν τάξιν Μελχισεδέκ ἱερέα αὐτὸν καθίστασθαι, ἐν ταύτῃ ἔσσεσθαι τὸν Χριστὸν ἱερέα διηγεῖται ἡ θεία γραφή.

55.1.6 | From their own words comes their own defeat. For as David the prophet says about the Lord, that he is made a priest according to the order of Melchizedek, in the same passage the holy scripture tells that Christ will be a priest.

55.1.7 | εὐρίσκεται δὲ εὐθὺς λέγων * »ἀφομοιούμενος τῷ υἱῷ τοῦ θεοῦ μένει ἱερεὺς εἰς τὸ διηνεκές«. εἰ δὲ ἀφομοιοῦται τῷ υἱῷ τοῦ θεοῦ, οὐκ ἴσος τυγχάνει τῷ υἱῷ τοῦ θεοῦ.

55.1.7 | It is found immediately saying, “being made like the Son of God, he remains a priest forever.” But if he is made like the Son of God, he is not equal to the Son of God.

55.1.8 | πῶς γὰρ δύναται τὸ δοῦλον εἶναι ἴσον τῷ δεσπότῃ; ὁ μὲν γὰρ Μελχισεδέκ ἄνθρωπος ἦν, τὸ δὲ »ἀπάτωρ, ἀμήτωρ« οὐ διὰ τὸ μὴ ἔχειν αὐτὸν πατέρα ἢ μητέρα λέγεται, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸ μὴ ἐν τῇ θείᾳ γραφῇ

55.1.8 | For how can a servant be equal to his master? Melchizedek was a man, but the phrase “without father, without mother” is not said because he had no father or mother, but because in the holy scripture it is not...

55.1.9 | κατὰ τὸ φανερώτατον ἐπινομάσθαι. πολλοὺς γὰρ ἐφαντασίασε τὰ βαθύτατα τῆς θείας γραφῆς καὶ ἔνδοξα καὶ ὑπεραίροντα διάνοιαν ἀνθρωπίνης φύσεως. οἱ μὲν γὰρ ἐν τῇ Πέτρᾳ τῆς Ἀραβίας, τῇ Ῥοκόμ τε καὶ Ἐδῶμ καλουμένῃ, τὸν Μωυσέα διὰ τὰ θεοσήμεια

55.1.9 | to be called by the most obvious name. For many have imagined the deepest things of the holy scripture and the glorious and surpassing mind of human nature. Some, in Petra of Arabia, called Rocom and Edom, admiring Moses because of the signs from God, worshiped after making an θαυμάζοντες προσκυνεῖν τὴν αὐτοῦ ποτε εἰκόνα ἀνατυπωσάμενοι † προσεκύνουν πεπλανημένοι, οὐ τοῦ δικαίου αἰτίου αὐτοῖς γενομένου, ἀλλὰ τῆς πλάνης αὐτῶν διὰ τοῦ δικαίου ἐν τῇ ἀγνοίᾳ φαντασίαν πράγματος αὐτοῖς συναγοῦσης.

image of him. They worshiped, being deceived, not because he was just, but because their error, through the just one, gathered to them an imagined thing in ignorance.

55.1.10 | ἐν δὲ τῇ Σεβαστείᾳ τῇ ποτὲ Σαμαρείᾳ καλουμένῃ, τὴν θγατέρα Ἰεφθάε θεοποιήσαντες ἔτι ταύτῃ τελετὴν κατ' ἔτος ἄγουσιν.

55.1.10 | But in Sebaste, once called Samaria, having made the daughter of Jephthah a goddess, they still hold a yearly festival for her.

55.1.11 | οὕτω καὶ οὗτοι ἀκούοντες τὰ ἔνδοξα καὶ σοφὰ τῆς γραφῆς ῥήματα εἰς ἀνοησίαν ἐξέτρεψαν καὶ εἰς ὑπέρογκον διάνομιαν ἀρθέντες τὴν ὁδὸν τῆς ἀληθείας κατέλιπον, καὶ μύθους ἑαυτοῖς πλασάμενοι κατὰ πάντα ἐλεγχθήσονται.

55.1.11 | In the same way, these people, hearing the glorious and wise words of scripture, turned them into foolishness and, filled with proud thoughts, left the path of truth. They made up stories for themselves and will be proven wrong in every way.

Section 2

55.2.1 | 2. Καὶ γὰρ παρά τισι τοῦ Μελχισεδέκ ὁ πατήρ τε καὶ ἡ μήτηρ ἐμφέρεται· οὐκ ἔχει δὲ κατὰ τὰς ῥητὰς γραφὰς καὶ ἐνδιαθέτους τοῦτο. εἶπον δὲ τινες Ἡρακλᾶν τινα καλεῖσθαι τὸν αὐτοῦ πατέρα, μητέρα δὲ Ἀστιάθ, τὴν δὲ καὶ Ἀστοριανήν. ἦν δὲ οὗτοῦ ἐξ ἐνὸς τῶν υἱῶν τῶν ἐπιχωρίων κατ' ἐκεῖνο καιροῦ τῶν ἐν Σαυῇ πεδιάδι κατοικούντων.

55.2.1 | 2. For some say that Melchizedek had a father and a mother; but this is not found in the clear writings and instructions. Some said that his father was called Heracles, and his mother Astarte, who was also called Astorian. She was from one of the local sons living at that time in the plain of Sawe.

55.2.2 | Σαλήμ δὲ ἡ πόις ἐκαλεῖτο, περὶ ἧς ἄλλος ἄλλως ἐξέδωκε καὶ ἄλλος ἄλλως. οἱ μὲν γὰρ φασιν αὐτὴν εἶναι τὴν νῦν Ἱερουσαλήμ καλουμένην, ποτὲ δὲ Ἰεβούς λεγομένην, ἄλλοι δὲ ἔφασαν ἄλλην τινὰ Σαλήμ εἶναι ἐν τῷ πεδίῳ Σικίμων, κατάντικρυ τῆς νυνὶ Νεαπόλεως οὕτω

55.2.2 | The city was called Salem, but different people gave different accounts about it. Some say it is the city now called Jerusalem, once called Jebus; others said there was another Salem in the plain of Shikim, right across from what is now καλουμένης.

called Neapolis.

55.2.3 | εἴτε οὖν ἐντεῦθεν ἢ καὶ ἐκεῖθεν (οὐ μακρὰν <γὰρ> ἀλλήλων ἀφεστήκασιν οἱ τόποι) ὅμως ἡ ὑπόθεσις δηλοῖ τὸ ἔργον. »ἐξήνεγκε«, γάρ φησι, τῷ Ἀβραάμ ἄρτους καὶ οἶνον, καὶ ἦν ἱερεὺς τοῦ ὑψίστου κατ' ἐκεῖνον τὸν χρόνον», ὃς εὐλόγησε τὸν Ἀβραάμ καὶ δεκάτην ἔλαβε παρ' αὐτοῦ.

55.2.3 | So whether from here or from there (for the places are not far apart), the story still shows the deed. For it says, 'he brought bread and wine to Abraham, and he was priest of the Most High at that time,' who blessed Abraham and took a tenth from him.

55.2.4 | ἔδει γὰρ τὸν ἱερέα τοῦ ὑψίστου παρὰ δούλου θεοῦ τιμηθῆναι, καὶ πρῶτον μὲν τὸν Ἀβραάμ προσενέγκαι τῷ ἐν ἀκροβυστίᾳ ἱερεῖ ἐρουργοῦντι, ἐπειδὴ ἐξ αὐτοῦ ἔμελλε τοῦ Ἀβραάμ ἐκ περιτομῆς γίνεσθαι ἡ ἱερωσύνη, ἵνα »πᾶν ὕψωμα ἐπαιρόμενον κατὰ τῆς γνώσεως τοῦ θεοῦ« ταπεινωθῇ,

55.2.4 | For the priest of the Most High must be honored by the servant of God, and first of all Abraham must offer to the priest who works circumcision, since from him the priesthood of Abraham was to come through circumcision, so that "every high thing raised against the knowledge of God" might be humbled.

55.2.5 | πρὸς τὸ μὴ αὐχοῦσαν τῇν περιτομὴν ἐπὶ τῇ ἱερωσίᾳ δύνασθαι ἀντιλέγειν τῇ τῆς ἀγίας θεοῦ ἐκκλησίᾳ ἱερωσίᾳ, τῇ μὴ παρατηρουμένῃ σαρκὸς περιτομῇ ἢ ἀκροβυστίᾳ, ἔχουσιν δὲ τὴν μείζονα καὶ τελειοτάτην περιτομήν, τὸ λουτρὸν τῆς παλιγγενεσίας.

55.2.5 | So that the circumcision, which does not boast, would not be able to oppose the priesthood of the holy church of God, which does not pay attention to the circumcision of the flesh or uncircumcision, but has the greater and most perfect circumcision, the washing of rebirth.

55.2.6 | εἰ γὰρ Ἀβραάμ τῷ Μελχισεδέκ προσήνεγκε δεκάτην, οἱ δὲ ἀπὸ Ἀβραάμ τῷ Λευὶ προσφέρουσι καὶ τῷ Ἀαρών, μετὰ χρόνον δὲ τοῦ πάλιν εἶναι τὴν ἐρωσύνην ἐκ περιτομῆς διὰ Ἀαρών καὶ τῶν υἱῶν αὐτοῦ καθεξῆς φάσκει ἡ γραφὴ διὰ τοῦ Δαυὶδ (μετὰ γενεὰς δεκαδύο τῆς τοῦ Λευὶ γεννήσεως, ἑπτὰ δὲ ἀπὸ τῆς Ἀαρών διαδοχῆς) ἐν τῷ Μελχισεδέκ τὴν ἱερωσύνην ἵστασθαι, φύσει ἔδειξεν οὐκ ἐν τῇ παλαιᾷ τῆς περιτομῆς ἱερωσίᾳ τὸ

55.2.6 | For if Abraham gave a tenth to Melchizedek, but those from Abraham offer to Levi and Aaron, yet after time the law says that the priesthood comes again from circumcision through Aaron and his sons in order, through David (twelve generations after the birth of Levi, and seven after the succession of Aaron) it shows that the priesthood belongs to Melchizedek by nature, not that the priestly order ἱερατικὸν ἐπιμένειν τάγμα· continues in the old circumcision.

55.2.7 | μετετίθετο γὰρ εἰς τὴν πρὸ τοῦ Λευὶ καὶ πρὸ Ἀαρὼν κατὰ τὴν τάξιν Μελχισεδέκ ἱερωσύνην, ἥτις νυνὶ ἐν τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ πολιτεύεται, ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ κυρίου ἐνσάρκου παρουσίας καὶ δεῦρο, μηκέτι τοῦ σπέρματος κατὰ διαδοχὴν ἐκλεγομένου, ἀλλὰ τοῦ κατὰ ἀρετὴν τύπου ζητουμένου.

55.2.7 | For the priesthood was transferred to the order of Melchizedek before Levi and before Aaron, which now exists in the church, from the time of the Lord's coming in the flesh until now, no longer chosen by descent from seed, but sought by the kind of virtue it shows.

55.3.1 | 3. Πρώτη γὰρ ἱερωσύνη ἐν ἀκροβυστίᾳ διὰ τοῦ Ἀβελ τελεῖται, ἀλλὰ καὶ καθεξῆς διὰ τοῦ Νῶε·

55.3.1 | For the first priesthood is performed without circumcision through Abel, but also in order through Noah.

55.3.2 | τρίτη δὲ διὰ τοῦ Μελχισεδέκ, τοῦ γεῖται, ἐξ ἄλλων δὲ γενεαλογεῖται.

55.3.2 | But the third is through Melchizedek, who is without father, without mother, without genealogy, from having neither beginning of days nor end of life.

55.3.3 | πόσοι δὲ ἄλλοι οὐ γενεαλογοῦνται κατὰ τὸ φανερώτατον; Δανιὴλ Σεδράχ Μισάκ Ἀβδεναγὼ Ἡλίας ὁ Θεσβίτης· ἐν πάσαις γὰρ ῥηταῖς βίβλοις οὐδαμοῦ ἐμφέρονται τούτων οἱ πατέρες ἢ αἱ μητέρες. ἵνα μὴ διὰ τοῦτο πλάνη τις γένηται, οὐδὲν λυπήσει ἃ καὶ ἐν παραδόσεσι κατειλήφμεν λέγειν.

55.3.3 | But how many others are not traced by genealogy in the clearest way? Daniel, Shadrach, Meshach, Abednego, Elijah the Tishbite; for in all the written books, neither their fathers nor their mothers are shown anywhere. So that no one may be led into error because of this, it will not harm to say what we have also received in traditions.

55.3.4 | εὐρήκαμεν γὰρ τοῦ Δανιὴλ τὸν πατέρα Σαβαάν τινα καλούμενον. τοῦ δὲ Ἡλίας φύσει καὶ τὴν πατριαρχίαν ὡσαύτως ἠϋραμεν, ἥντινα καὶ καθ' εἰρμόν

55.3.4 | For we have found that Daniel's father is called a certain Sabaaan. And about Elijah, by nature and also his family line, we have found it too, which I will ὑφηγήσομαι οὕτως·

explain according to the order like this:

55.3.5 | Ἡλίας ὁ Θελοβίτης ἀδελφὸς γένονεν Ἰωδαὲ τοῦ ἱερέως, ἐξ ἱερέων δῆθεν κλαὶ αὐτὸς ὑπάρχων, υἱὸς δὲ τοῦ Ἀχινάαμ· Ἀχινάαμ δὲ υἱὸς τοῦ Σαδώκ, Σαδώκ δὲ τοῦ Ἀχινάαμ τοῦ Ἀμορία, Ἀμορίας υἱὸς [τοῦ Ἀμορία] τοῦ Ῥαζαζά, Ῥαζαζά τοῦ Ἀζία, Ἀζία τοῦ Φινεές, Φινεές υἱὸς τοῦ Ἐλεάζαρ, Ἐλεάζρ υἱὸς τοῦ Ἀαρών, τοῦ ἱερέως δηλονότι· Ἀαρών υἱὸς τοῦ Ἀμράμ, Ἀμράμ τοῦ Καάθ, Καάθ τοῦ Λευί, Λευὶ τρίτος υἱὸς τοῦ Ἰακώβ· Ἰακώβ δὲ ἀδελφὸς μὲν Ἡσαῦ, παῖς δὲ τοῦ Ἰσαάκ, Ἰσαάκ υἱὸς τοῦ Ἀβραάμ.

55.3.5 | Elijah the Tishbite became the brother of Jodae the priest, who was said to be from priests himself, and he was the son of Achinaam; Achinaam was the son of Zadok, Zadok of Achitob the Amorite, the Amorite son of Razaza, Razaza of Aazia, Aazia of Phinees, Phinees the son of Eleazar, Eleazar the son of Aaron, the priest of course; Aaron was the son of Amram, Amram of Kaath, Kaath of Levi, Levi the third son of Jacob; Jacob was the brother of Esau, the child of Isaac, Isaac the son of Abraham.

55.3.6 | ἐν δὲ ταῖς ῥηταῖς βίβλοις οὐ πάνυ σαφῶς αἱ τούτων γενεαλογίαι ἐμφέρονται ἢ μόνον ἐν ταῖς Παραλειπομέναις τῆς κατὰ τὸν Ἡλίαν ὑποθέσεως μέρη. φύσει δὲ τῶν τριῶν παίδων, Σεδράχ Μιχάκ Ἀβδεναγώ, οὔτε ἐν παραδόσεσιν οὔτε ἐν ἀποκρύφοις τοὺς πατέρας ἠύραμεν.

55.3.6 | But in the written books, the genealogies of these are not very clear, or only in the parts of Chronicles about Elijah's story. By nature, of the three boys, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, we have found neither in traditions nor in hidden writings their fathers.

55.3.7 | τί οὖν ἐροῦμεν; ἄρα κάκεῖνοι, οἱ περ Σεδράχ Μισάκ Ἀβοδεναγώ, φαντάσουσιν ἡμᾶς λογίζεσθαι ἃ μὴ χρὴ καὶ ὑπερόγκως θαυμάζειν ὑπὲρ τὸ μέτρον ἐκάστην ὑπόθεσιν, ἀπάτορας καὶ ἀμήτορας αὐτοὺς λογισάμενοι;

55.3.7 | What then shall we say? Could it be that those three, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, imagine that we think things we should not and admire each story too much, counting them as fatherless and motherless?

55.3.8 | ἀλλὰ μὴ γένοιτο. ὅροι γὰρ ἐτέθησαν ἡμῖν καὶ θεμέλιοι εἰς οἰκοδομὴν τῆς πίστεως καὶ ἀποστόλων παραδόσεις καὶ γραφαὶ ἅγιοι καὶ διαδοχαὶ διδασκάλων, καὶ ἐκ πανταχόθεν ἡ ἀλήθεια τοῦ θεοῦ ἡσφάλισται καὶ μηδεὶς ἀπατάσθω

55.3.8 | But may it not be. For limits have been set for us and foundations for building faith, both the traditions of the apostles and the holy scriptures and the passing down of teachers, and from everywhere the truth of God has been secured, and let no one be κενοῖς μύθοις.

deceived by empty stories.

Section 4

55.4.1 | 4. Ἐπανελεύσομαι δὲ πάλιν εἰς τὰ προκείμενα, εἰς ἅπερ οὗτοι φαντάζονται περὶ τοῦ Μελχισεδέκ. ὅτι μὲν γὰρ ἅγιος ὁ δίκαιος ὑπῆρχε καὶ ἱερεὺς τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ βασιλεὺς τῆς Σαλὴν δῆλον, ἀλλ' οὐ τῆς ἐν οὐρανῷ ὑπάρχων <τάξεως> καὶ ἀπ' οὐρανοῦ καταβεβηκώς·

55.4.1 | I will return again to the things before, to what they imagine about Melchizedek. For it is clear that he was holy, righteous, a priest of God, and king of Salem, but not of the order existing in heaven, nor having come down from heaven.

55.4.2 | »οὐδεὶς γὰρ ἀναβέβηκεν εἰς τὸν οὐρανόν, εἰ μὴ ὁ ἐκ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ καταβάς, ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου«, φησὶν ὁ ἅγιος καὶ ἀψευδὴς θεὸς Λόγος.

55.4.2 | For no one has gone up into heaven except the one who came down from heaven, the Son of Man, says the holy and truthful Word of God.

55.4.3 | τὴν δὲ τάξιν τοῦ Μελχισεδέκ κηρύττουσα ἡ θεία γραφὴ καὶ τὸ πνεῦμα ῥητῶς διδάσκον τὴν μετάρθεσιν ἔδειξε τῆς ἱερωσύνης ἀπὸ παλαιᾶς συναγωγῆς καὶ τοῦ * ἔθνους εἰς τῆς ἔθνους κάλλιστον καὶ ὑπέρτατον καὶ οὐ μετοχῇ σαρκὸς διαδοχῆς ἠνωμένον.

55.4.3 | The divine scripture, proclaiming the order of Melchizedek, and the spirit clearly teaching, showed the transfer of the priesthood from the old assembly and the nation to the most beautiful and highest nation, united not by fleshly succession.

55.4.4 | ὁ γὰρ Μελχισεδέκ ὁ ἅγιος οὗτος οὐκέτι μετ' αὐτὴν διαδοχὴν ἔσχεν, ἀλλὰ οὐδὲ ἀφαίρεσιν τῆς ἱερωσύνης. ἔμεινε γὰρ αὐτὸς ἱερεὺς τὸν πάντα χρόνον τῆς αὐτοῦ ζωῆς καὶ ἔτι ἐν τῇ γραφῇ ᾄδεται ἱερεὺς, μηδενὸς αὐτὴν διαδεξαμένου ἢ ἀνατρέψαντος τὴν κατὰ τὸν χρόνον τῆς αὐτοῦ ὑπηρεσίας ἱερωσύνην οὕτω καὶ ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν, οὐκ ὢν ἄνθρωπος,

55.4.4 | For this holy Melchizedek no longer had succession with them, nor was the priesthood taken away. For he remained a priest all the time of his life, and in the scripture he is still called a priest, with no one taking over from him or overturning the priesthood during the time of his service. So also our Lord, not being a man,

55.4.5 | ἀλλὰ θεοῦ ἅγιος θεὸς Λόγος, υἱὸς υἱὸς θεοῦ γεννηθεὶς ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόνως,

55.4.5 | but God's holy God Word, the son born of God the son without beginning and ἀεὶ σὺν πατρὶ ὧν, γενόμενος δὲ δι' ἡμῆς ἐκ Μαρίας ἄνθρωπος καὶ οὐκ ἀπὸ σπέρματος ἀνδρός, τὴν δὲ ἱερωσύνην * τῷ πατρὶ προσφέρει, ἐξ ἀνθρωπότητος τὸ φύραμα λαβών, ἵνα ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν ἱερεὺς καταστῇ without time, always with the Father, and becoming man through us from Mary and not from a man's seed, offers the priesthood to the Father, having taken the nature from humanity, so that he may become a priest for us.

55.4.6 | κατὰ τὴν τάξιν Μελχισεδέκ, τὴν μὴ ἔχουσαν διαδοχὴν. μένει γὰρ τὰ ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς δῶρα προσφέρων, πρῶτον μὲν ἑαυτὸν διὰ τοῦ σταυροῦ προσενέγκας, ἵνα λύσῃ πᾶσαν θυσίαν παλαιᾶς διαθήκης, τὴν ἐντελεστέραν [δὲ] καὶ ζῶσαν ὑπὲρ παντὸς τοῦ κόσμου ἱεουργήσας·

55.4.6 | according to the order of Melchizedek, which has no succession. For he remains offering gifts for us forever, first offering himself through the cross, to end every sacrifice of the old covenant, and then serving the perfect and living one for the whole world;

55.4.7 | αὐτὸς ἱερεῖον, αὐτὸς θῦμα, αὐτὸς ἱερεὺς, αὐτὸς θυσιαστήριον, αὐτὸς θεός, αὐτὸς ἄνθρωπος, αὐτὸς βασιλεύς, αὐτὸς ἀρχιερεὺς, αὐτὸς πρόβατον, αὐτὸς ἀρνίον, τὰ πάντα ἐν πᾶσιν ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν γενόμενος, ἵνα ἡμῖν ζωὴ κατὰ πάντα τρόπον γένηται, καὶ ἱερωσύνης αὐτοῦ τὸ ἀμετάστατον ἐδραῖωμα εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας ἀπεργάσῃται, οὐκέτι κατὰ τὰ σπερματικὰ καὶ τὰς διαδοχὰς μερίζων, ἀλλὰ κατὰ τὸ δικαίωμα φυλάττεσθαι ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ δωρούμενος.

55.4.7 | he himself is the priest, he himself the sacrifice, he himself the priest, he himself the altar, he himself God, he himself man, he himself king, he himself high priest, he himself the sheep, he himself the lamb, becoming all things in all ways for us, so that life may be ours in every way, and that the unchanging foundation of his priesthood may be made for all ages, no longer divided by birth or succession, but kept by right, given in the holy spirit.

Section 5

55.5.1 | 5. Φαντάζονται δὲ πάλιν ἄλλοι, <ἄλλα> περὶ τούτου τοῦ Μελχισεδέκ λέγοντες. σαρκικῶς γὰρ οἱ τοιοῦτοι ἀνεκρίθησαν, πνευματικῶς μὴ νευνοκότες τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου ἀποστόλου ἐν τῇ αὐτῇ ἐπιστολῇ

55.5.1 | 5. But again others imagine different things about this Melchizedek, speaking. For such people were judged in a fleshly way, not understanding spiritually what the holy apostle said in the same letter.

55.5.2 | τῇ πρὸς Ἑβραίους εἰρημένα. καὶ ὁ

55.5.2 | In the letter to the Hebrews, it is μὲν Ἱερακᾶς ὁ Αἰγύπτιος αἵρεσιάρχης τό »ἀφομοιούμενος, φησί, τῷ υἱῷ τοῦ θεοῦ μένει ἱερεὺς εἰς τὸ διηνεκές«· said. And Hierakas the Egyptian, the heresiarch, says, “He remains a priest forever, being made like the Son of God.”

55.5.3 | ὥς ἀπὸ τῆς λέξεως ἧς εἶπεν ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος »τὸ δὲ πνεῦμα ὑπερεντυγχυῖ πᾶρ ἡμῶν στεναγμοῖς ἀλαλήτοις«. ὁ δὲ ἐπιστάμενος τὸ φρόνημα τοῦ πνεύματος οἶδεν ὅτι ὑπὲρ ἐκλ.εκτῶν ἐντυγχάνει τῷ θεῷ. ἐξέπεσε δὲ καὶ οὗτος παντελῶς τοῦ προκειμένου.

55.5.3 | From the word that the holy apostle said, “But the spirit helps us in our weakness with groans that cannot be expressed.” But the one who understands the mind of the spirit knows that it prays to God for the chosen ones. This one also completely fell away from what was being discussed.

55.5.4 | οὐ γὰρ σύρκα ἐνεδύσατο τὸ πνεῦμά ποτε· σύρκα δὲ μὴ ἐνδυσάμενον οὐκ εἶχεν εἶναι βασιλεὺς τῆς Σαλήμ καὶ ἱερεὺς τόπου τινός.

55.5.4 | For the spirit never put on flesh; and without putting on flesh, he could not have been king of Salem and priest of any place.

55.5.5 | καιρῷ δὲ ὅτε περὶ τούτου τοῦ Ἱερακᾶ καὶ τῆς αὐτοῦ αἵρέσεως τὴν ἀνατροπὴν ποιήσομαι, τότε ἐν πλάτει περὶ τούτων διηγήσομαι, τῆς δὲ ἀκολουθίας τὰ νῦν ἐπιλήψομαι.

55.5.5 | And when I make the overthrow of Hierakas and his heresy about this time, then I will tell at length about these things, but now I will take up the following.

Section 6

55.6.1 | Πόσα δὲ περὶ τούτου τοῦ Μελχισεδέκ καὶ ἄλλοι φαντάζονται Σαμαρεῖται μὲν γὰρ τοῦτον νομίζουσιν εἶναι υἱὸν τοῦ Νῶε τὸν Σήμ.

55.6.1 | But how many others imagine about this Melchizedek! For the Samaritans think that he is the son of Shem, the son of Noah.

55.6.2 | καταγέλαστοι δὲ καὶ αὐτοὶ εὐρεθήσονται. ἀσφαλιζομένη γὰρ ἡ θεία γραφὴ πάντα μετὰ εὐταξίας κατὰ πάντα τὴν ἀλήθειαν ὠχύρωσε, οὐκ εἰς μάτην τοὺς χρόνους τάξασα καὶ τὰ ἔτη ἐκάστης τῶν πατέρων ζωῆς καὶ διαδοχῆς

55.6.2 | They themselves will be found ridiculous. For the divine scripture, being sure, arranged everything in order with all truth, not in vain setting the times and numbering the years of each of the fathers’ ἀριθμήσασα.

lives and successions.

55.6.3 | ὅτε γὰρ Ἀβραὰμ ὑπῆρχεν ὀγδοήκοντα ὀκτὼ ἢ καὶ ἐνενήκοντα ἐτῶν πλείω ἐλάσσω, ὁ Μελχισεδέκ αὐτῷ ὑπηντᾶτο καὶ ἐξέβαλεν αὐτῷ ἄρτους καὶ οἶνον, προτυπῶν τῶν μυστηρίων τὰ αἰνίγματα·

55.6.3 | For when Abraham was eighty-eight or even ninety years old, Melchizedek met him and brought out bread and wine, foreshadowing the mysteries with riddles;

55.6.4 | ἀντίτυπα τοῦ <σώματος τοῦ κυρίου, αὐτοῦ τοῦ> κυρίου ἡμῶν λέγοντος ὅτι »ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ ἄρτος ὁ ζῶν«, καὶ ἀντίτυπα τοῦ αἵματος αὐτοῦ τοῦ ἐκ τῆς πλευρᾶς αὐτοῦ ρεύσαντος εἰς κάθαρσιν τῶν κεκοινωνμένων καὶ ῥαντισμὸν καὶ σωτηρίαν τῶν ἡμετέρων ψυχῶν.

55.6.4 | types of the body of the lord, our lord himself saying, "I am the living bread," and types of his blood flowing from his side for the cleansing of those who share in it and for the sprinkling and salvation of our souls.

55.6.5 | ὁ δὲ τοῦ ἀβραὰμ πατὴρ Θάρρα ἐβδομηκοστὸν κατὰ γων ἔτος τὸν Ἀβραὰμ ἐγέννησεν, καὶ γέγονεν ἔτη ἑκατὸν ἑξήκοντα κοντα πλείω ἐλάσσω. Ναχώρ δὲ ἐγέννησε τὸν Θάρρα ἐβδομήκοντα ἐννέα ἐτῶν ἐπάρχων, καὶ γέγονε σλϷλθϷθϷ ἔτη.
Σερούχ δὲ ἐγέννησε τὸν Ναχώρ ρϷλϷ ἐτῶν ὑπάρχων, καὶ γεγόνασιν ἔτη τξθ.

55.6.5 | But the father of Abraham, Terah, having lived seventy years, gave birth to Abraham, and he lived one hundred sixty years more or less. Nahor gave birth to Terah when he was seventy-nine years old, and he lived ___ years. Serug gave birth to Nahor when he was ___ years old, and he lived ___ years.

55.6.6 | Ῥαγαῦ δὲ ἐγέννησε τὸν Σερούχ ὑπάρχων ρϷλϷβϷ ἐτῶν, καὶ γέγονε πεντακοσιοστὸν πρῶτον ἔτος. Φάλεκ δὲ ἐγέννησε τὸν Ῥαγαῦ ὦν ρϷλϷ ἐτῶν, καὶ γένονεν ἔτη ἑξακόσια τριάκοντα ἔν. Ῥεβερ δὲ ἐγέννησε τὸν φάλεκ ἐν ἔτει ρϷλ Ϸ δϷ τῆς αὐτοῦ ζωῆς, καὶ γεγόνασιν ἑπτακόσια ἑξήκοντα πέντε ἔτη.

55.6.6 | Ragau gave birth to Serug when he was 162 years old, and he lived 501 years.
Peleg gave birth to Ragau when he was 162 years old, and he lived 631 years. Eber gave birth to Peleg in the year 164 of his life, and he lived 775 years.

55.6.7 | Σάλα δὲ ἐγέννησε τὸν Ῥεβερ

55.6.7 | Salah gave birth to Eber when he was 130 years old, and he lived 895 years. Kenan gave birth to Salah when he was 210 years old, and he lived 1,004 years. Arphaxad gave birth to Kenan when he was 135 years old, and he lived 1,240 years.

55.6.8 | Σῆμ δὲ ρξβξ ἔτει τῆς αὐτοῦ ζωῆς, ὁ προειρημένος καὶ ξαντασιαζόμενος παρὰ τοῖς Σαμαρείταις εἶναι Μελχισεδέκ, ἐγέννησε τὸν Ἀρφαξὰδ, καὶ ὁμοῦ γέγονεν ἔτη χίλια διακόσια τεσσαράκοντα ἕως τοῦ χρόνου τοῦ Ἀβραάμ, καθ' ὃν συνήντησε τῷ Μελχισεδέκ ἐπανιῶν ἀπὸ τῆς κοπῆς τῶν περὶ Ἀμαρφαλ καὶ Ἀριὼχ καὶ Χοδολλογομὸρ καὶ Θαλγὰ τῶν βασιλέων.

55.6.8 | Shem, at 182 years of his life, the one mentioned before and thought by the Samaritans to be Melchizedek, gave birth to Arphaxad, and he lived 1,241 years until the time of Abraham, when he met Melchizedek returning from the defeat of the kings around Amraphel, Arioch, Chedorlaomer, and Tidal.

55.6.9 | οὐ, ἔζησε δὲ Σῆμ τοσαῦτα ἔτη κατὰ τὴν τούτων ληρώδη φαντασίαν, ἀλλὰ ρξβξ ἐτῶν ὦν ἐγέννησε τὸν Ἀρφαξὰδ, ἐν τῷ δευτέρῳ ἔτει μετὰ τὸν κατακλυσμὸν. »καὶ ἔζησε μετὰ ταῦτα, ὥς φησιν ἡ θεία γραφή, φξ ἔτη, καὶ ἐγέννησεν υἱοὺς καὶ θυγατέρας, καὶ ἀπέθανε«.

55.6.9 | No, Shem did not live so many years according to their wild imagination, but being 100 years old he gave birth to Arphaxad, in the second year after the flood. “And he lived after that,” as the holy scripture says, “500 years, and he had sons and daughters, and he died.”

55.6.10 | τοίνυν αὐτοῦ ζήσαντος ἑξακόσια καὶ δύο ἔτη καὶ τελευτήσαντος πῶς ἡδύνατο φθάσαι εἰς χίλια καὶ διακόσια τεσσαράκοντα καὶ ἕν ἔτη, ἵνα ὁ Σῆμ ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ Νῶς τοῦ πρὸ δέκα γενεῶν τοῦ Ἀβραάμ κληθεῖη Μελχισεδέκ παρὰ τούτοις, μετὰ δέκα γενεάς, ἔτη δὲ χίλια διακόσια τεσσαράκοντα ἕν; καὶ ὧ τῆς πολλῆς τῶν ἀνθρώπων πλάνης.

55.6.10 | So, since he lived 602 years and then died, how could he reach 1,241 years, so that Shem, the son of Noah, ten generations before Abraham, would be called Melchizedek by these people, after ten generations, living 1,241 years? Oh, the great confusion of many people!

55.6.11 | κατὰ δὲ ψήφον ἄλλων

55.6.11 | But according to the count of ἀντιγράφων ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ Σὴμ ἡλικίας, ἐξότε γεγένηται ὁ αὐτὸς Σὴμ, ὡς τοῦ προδεδηλωμένου χρόνου τῆς [τε]τοῦ Ἀβραὰμ συναντήσεως τῷ Μελχισεδέκ, ἥτις ἦν ἐν ογδοηκοστῷ ὀγδόῳ ἔτει τῆς αὐτοῦ ζωῆς ἢ ἐνεηκοστῷ, γίνεται ἐξακόσια εἴκοσι ὀκτῶ ἔτη πλείω ἐλάσσω, ὥστε ἐξ ἅπαντος μὴ δύνασθαι εἰς τὸν προδεδηλωμένον τοῦ Ἀβραὰμ χρόνον τὸν Σὴμ φθάνειν, ἵνα καὶ Μελχισεδέκ νομισθεῖ. καὶ διέπεσε πανταχόθεν καὶ ἡ τῶν Σαμαρειτῶν χυδαιολογία.

other copies from the age of Shem, if the same Shem was born as the time before mentioned of the meeting with Melchizedek, which was in the eighty-eighth or ninetieth year of his life, it becomes more or less 628 years, so that altogether he cannot reach the time before mentioned of Abraham, to be called Melchizedek. And everywhere the foolish talk of the Samaritans fell apart.

Section 7

55.7.1 | 7. Ἰουδαῖοι δὲ πάλιν φάσκουσι τὸν τοιούτον δίκαιον μὲν εἶναι καὶ ἀγαθὸν καὶ ιερέα τοῦ ὑψίστου, ὡς ἔχει ἡ θεία γραφή, διὰ δὲ τὸ υἱὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι πόρων, φασί, τὴν μητέρα αὐτοῦ μὴ γεγράφθαι μηδὲ τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῦ γινώσкасθαι.

55.7.1 | But the Jews again say that such a man is righteous and good and a priest of the Most High, as the holy scripture says, but because his son is a poor man, they say that his mother was not written down, nor was his father known.

55.7.2 | ἐξέπεσε δὲ καὶ τούτων ὁ ληρώδης λόγος. καὶ γὰρ καὶ ῥαὰβ πόρνη ὑπῆρχε καὶ ἔστι γεγραμμένη, καὶ Ζαμβρί πορνεύσας γέγραπται καὶ Χασβιεὶ μετ' αὐτοῦ, καίπερ ἄλλοτρία οὔσα καὶ οὐκ ἀπὸ γένους Ἰσραὴλ ἀναγομένη. * καὶ »πᾶς ὁ μὴ διὰ τῆς θύρας εἰσερχόμενος, ὡς ἔφη τὸ ἅγιον εὐαγγέλιον, ληστής καὶ οὐ ὢν ποιμὴν ὑπάρχει«.

55.7.2 | And the foolish talk fell away from these things too. For Rahab was a prostitute and is written down, and Zambri is written to have committed prostitution, and Hasviei with them, even though she was a stranger and not descended from the family of Israel. And “everyone who does not enter through the door, as the holy gospel says, is a robber and not a shepherd.”

55.7.3 | Ἐν δὲ τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ φύσει τινὲς διαφόρως τοῦτον τὸν Μελχισεδέκ ὀρίζονται. οἱ μὲν γὰρ αὐτὸν νομίζουσι φύσει τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ θεοῦ, ἐν ἰδέᾳ δὲ ἀνθρώπου τότε τῷ Ἀβραὰμ πεφηνέναι.

55.7.3 | In the church, some by nature define this Melchizedek differently. For some think him by nature the son of god, but in the form of a man he then appeared to Abraham.

55.7.4 | ἐκπίπτουσι δὲ καὶ αὐτοὶ τοῦ προκειμένου· οὐ γάρ τις ἐαυτῷ ὅμοιος γενήσεται ποτε, ὥς ἔχει ἡ θεία γραφή ὅτι »ἀφομοιούμενος τῷ υἱῷ τοῦ θεοῦ μένει ἱερεὺς εἰς τὸ διηνεκές«.

55.7.4 | They themselves also fall from what is said. For no one will ever become like himself, as the divine scripture says, "being made like the son of god, he remains a priest forever."

55.7.5 | τῷ ὄντι δὲ »ὃ μὴ γενεαλογούμενος ἐξ αὐτῶν τὸν Ἀβραὰμ δεδεκάτωκεν· ἐπειδὴ γὰρ οὐκ ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν Ἰσραηλιτῶν γενεαλογεῖται, γενεαλογεῖται δὲ ἐξ ἀνθρώπων ἄλλων.

55.7.5 | But in truth, "he who is not descended from them has received Abraham"; for since he is not descended from those Israelites, he is descended from other men.

55.7.6 | τούτων πάντων τὸν κατάλογον ποιησάμενοι, <ῶν> διὰ τὴν αἵρεσιν ταύτην ἐπεμνήσθημεν, [καὶ] ὥς ἐν παρεκβάσει περὶ τούτων διηγησάμεθα.

55.7.6 | Having made a list of all these things, of which we remembered because of this heresy, and as a side note about these things we told.

Section 8

55.8.1 | 8. Εἰς ὄνομα δὲ τούτου τοῦ Μελχισεδέκ ἡ προειρημένη αἵρεσις καὶ τὰς προσφορὰς ἀναφέρει καὶ αὐτὸν εἶναι εἰσαγωγέα πρὸς τὸν θεὸν λέγει καὶ δι' αὐτοῦ, φησί, δεῖ τῷ θεῷ προσφέρειν, ὅτι ἄρχων ἐστὶ δικαιοσύνης, ἐπ' αὐτὸ τοῦτο κατασταθεὶς ὑπὸ τοῦ θεοῦ ἐν οὐρανῷ, πνευματικός τις ὢν καὶ εἰς ἱερωσύνην θεοῦ τεταγμένος.

55.8.1 | 8. In the name of this Melchizedek, the heresy mentioned before brings up the offerings and says that he is an introducer to God, and through him, it is necessary to offer to God, because he is a ruler of justice, having been appointed by God in heaven, being a kind of spirit and assigned to the priesthood of God.

55.8.2 | καὶ δεῖ ἡμᾶς αὐτῷ προσφέρειν, φασίν, ἵνα δι' αὐτοῦ προσενεχθῇ ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν καὶ εὕρωμεν δι' αὐτοῦ ζωήν.

55.8.2 | And they say that we must offer to him, so that through him it may be brought on our behalf and we may find life through him.

55.8.3 | καὶ Χριστὸς μὲν, φησίν, ἐξελέγη, ἵνα

55.8.3 | And Christ, he says, was chosen to ἡμᾶς καλέσῃ ἐκ πολλῶν ὁδῶν εἰς μίαν ταύτην τὴν γνῶσιν, ὑπὸ θεοῦ κεχρισμένος καὶ ἐκλεκτὸς γενόμενος, ἐπειδὴ ἀπέστρεψεν ἡμᾶς ἀπὸ εἰδώλων καὶ ὑπέδειξεν ἡμῖν τὴν ὁδόν. ἐξ οὗπερ ὁ ἀπόστολος ἀοσταλὲς ἀπεκάλυψεν ἡμῖν ὅτι μέγας ἐστὶν ὁ Μελχισεδέκ καὶ ἱερεὺς μένει εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα.

call us from many ways to this one knowledge, having been anointed and made chosen by God, because he turned us away from idols and showed us the way.
From this, the apostle, inspired, revealed to us that Melchizedek is great and remains a priest forever.

55.8.4 | καὶ θεωρεῖτε πηλίκος οὗτος, καὶ ὅτι τὸ ἥσσον ἐκ τοῦ μείζονος εὐλογεῖται, καὶ διὰ τοῦτο, φησί,

55.8.4 | And you see how great this one is,
and that the lesser is blessed by the greater, and for this reason, he says,

55.8.5 | καὶ τὸν Ἀβραάμ τὸν πατριάρχην εὐλόγησεν, ὡς μείζων ὢν, οὗ ἡμεῖς ἐσμὲν μύσται, ὅπως τύχωμεν καὶ αὐτοὶ ἡμεῖς παρ' αὐτοῦ τῆς εὐλογίας.

55.8.5 | And he blessed Abraham the patriarch, as being greater, of whom we are followers, so that we ourselves may also receive blessing from him.

Section 9

55.9.1 | 9. Καὶ ὡς ἀταῖος πασῶν αἱρέσεων ἡ διάνοια. ἰδοὺ γὰρ καὶ οὗτοι ἡρνήσαντο τὸν αὐτῶν δεσπότην τὸν »ἀγοράσαντα αὐτοὺς τῷ ἰδίῳ αὐτοῦ αἵματι«, τὸν οὐκ ἀπὸ Μαρίας ἐναρξάμενον, ὡς αὐτοὶ νομίζουσιν,

55.9.1 | And how foolish is the mind of all heresies. For look, even these denied their master, 'who bought them with his own blood,' not beginning from Mary, as they themselves think,

55.9.2 | ἀλλ' αἰεὶ ὄντα πρὸς τὸν πατέρα θεὸν Λόγον, γεγεννημένον ἐκ τοῦ πατρὸς ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόνως, ὡς πᾶσα γραφὴ διηγεῖται· ὃ καὶ εἶπεν ὁ πατήρ »ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον κατ' εἰκόνα ἡμετέραν καὶ καθ' ὁμοίωσιν«, καὶ οὐχὶ τῷ Μελχισεδέκ.

55.9.2 | but always being the Word with the Father God, born from the Father without beginning and without time, as all scripture tells. To him the Father said, 'let us make man in our image and likeness,' and not to Melchizedek.

55.9.3 | εἰ μὲν γὰρ καὶ ἱερεὺς [ἐστι] τοῦ θεοῦ τοῦ ὑψίστου ἐν τῇ ἰδίᾳ γενεᾷ γεγένηται καὶ οὐκ ἔσχε διαδοχὴν μετ' αὐτόν, ἀλλ' οὐκ ἔστιν ἄνωθεν ἀπ' οὐρανοῦ

55.9.3 | For if he is a priest of the Most High God in his own generation and did not have a successor after him, he did not come καταβάς.

down from above from heaven.

55.9.4 | οὐ γὰρ εἶπεν ἡ γραφή ὅτι »κατήνεγκε « ἄρτον καὶ οἶνον, ἀλλὰ »ἐξήνεγκεν« αὐτῷ τε καὶ τοῖς μετ' αὐτοῦ, ὥς ἀπὸ τῶν βασιλέων ἀποδεξόμενος τὸν διερχόμενον πατριάρχην·

55.9.4 | For the scripture did not say that he 'carried' bread and wine, but that he 'brought' them to him and to those with him, as one receiving the passing patriarch from the kings.

55.9.5 | καὶ εὐλόγησεν αὐτὸν διὰ τὴν προσοῦσαν αὐτῷ δικαιοσύνην καὶ τὸ πιστὸν καὶ τὸ εὐλαβὲς τοῦ ἀνδρός, ὅτι ἐν ἅπασι δοκιμασθεὶς ἐν οὐδενὶ ἐξέπεσε τῆς δικαιοσύνης ὁ πατριάρχης, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τούτῳ συνεργὸν ἔσχε τὸν θεὸν κατὰ τῶν † ἀληθῶς ἐπελθόντων τῇ τῶν Σοδομιτῶν χώρᾳ καὶ ἀφελομένων καὶ τὸν ἀδελφιδοῦν αὐτοῦ τὸν ἅγιον Λώτ, ὃν καὶ ἀπέστρεψε μετὰ τῆς πάσης σκυλεύσεως καὶ λαφυραγωγίας.

55.9.5 | And he blessed him because of the righteousness coming to him and the faithful and devout man, because the patriarch was tested in all things and did not fall from righteousness in any. But even in this, God had him as a partner against those truly coming upon the land of the Sodomites and taking away his holy nephew Lot, whom he also turned back with all the plunder and spoils.

55.9.6 | πόθεν δὲ οὐ δεῖξωμεν ξωμεν ὅτι ἦν ἀεὶ ↑ υἱὸς σὺν πατρί; »ἐν ἀρχῇ γὰρ ἦν ὁ Λόγος, καὶ ὁ Λόγος ἦν πρὸς τὸν θεόν, καὶ θεὸς ἦν ὁ Λόγος«, καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν »ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦν ὁ Μελχισεδέκ οὐδὲ θεὸς ἦν ὁ Μελχισεδέκ«.

55.9.6 | But why should we not show that he was always the son with the father? "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God," and he did not say "In the beginning was Melchizedek, nor was Melchizedek God."

55.9.7 | καὶ πάλιν »ἦλθεν οὖν ὁ κύριος πρὸς τὸν Ἀβραάμ, καὶ ἔβρεξε κύριος παρὰ κυρίου πῦρ καὶ θεῖον ἐπὶ Σόδομα καὶ Γόμορρα«. καὶ αὐτὸς ὁ ἀπόστολός λός φησιν »εἷς θεός, ἐξ οὗ τὰ πάντα, καὶ εἷς κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, δι' οὗ τὰ πάντα«.

55.9.7 | And again, "Then the lord came to Abraham, and the lord rained fire and divine judgment on Sodom and Gomorrah." And the same apostle says, "One God, from whom all things, and one lord Jesus Christ, through whom all things."

55.9.8 | καὶ ἵνα μή τις εἴῃ· οὐκοῦν ποῦ ἐστὶ τὸ πνεῦμα, ἐπειδήπερ περὶ ἐνὸς καὶ ἐνὸς

55.9.8 | And so that no one says, "Then where is the spirit, since you speak about διηγείται; οὐκ ἔδει τὸ πνεῦμα αὐτοσύστατον γίνεσθαι ἑαυτοῦ· αἰεὶ γὰρ φυλάττεται ἡ θεία γραφή ὑπογραμμὸς ἡμῖν γίνεσθαι. ἐφθέγγετο ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ ὁ ἀπόστολος καὶ ἔλεγεν »εἷς θεός, ἐξ οὗ τὰ πάντα καὶ εἷς κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, δι' οὗ τὰ πάντα«. ἦν δὲ ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ λέγων τοῦτο· οὐ γὰρ ἵνα λείψῃ ἡ τριάς.

one and one?' The spirit did not need to become independent of itself; for the divine scripture is always kept as a guide for us. The apostle spoke in the holy spirit and said, 'One God, from whom all things, and one lord Jesus Christ, through whom all things.' He was speaking in the holy spirit; not so that the Trinity would be lacking.

55.9.9 | αὐτὸς δὲ ὁ κύριος σαφῶς λέγει ὅτι »ἀπελθόντες βαπτίσατε πάντα τὰ ἔθνη εἰς ὄνομα πατρὸς καὶ υἱοῦ καὶ ἁγίου πνεύματος«. καὶ πάλιν ὁ ἀπόστολος λέγει »ἐν δὲ ἐστὶν τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ διαιροῦν ἐκάστῳ ὡς βούλεται πρὸς τὸ συμφέρον«.

55.9.9 | But the lord himself clearly says, "Go and baptize all the nations in the name of the father and the son and the holy spirit." And again the apostle says, "There is one spirit that divides to each as he wants for the good."

55.9.10 | ἰδοὺ τοίνυν πατήρ, ἰδοὺ υἱός, ἰδοὺ πνεῦμα ἅγιον, καὶ οὐδαμοῦ περὶ Μελχισεδέκ λέγει ὅτι ἐν τοῖς χαρίσμασιν † δωρεῖται οὔτε ἐν τοῖς ὑψώμασι. καὶ μάτην παρὰ τούτοις ἄδεται τὰ ψευδῆ καὶ ἐπινενοημένα τῶν προσκομμάτων, οὐκ ἀπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας αὐτοῖς συμβαίνοντα, ἀλλὰ ἐξ αὐτοῦ τοῦ συρίγματος τοῦ δράκοντος, ὡς ἐκάστην αἵρεσιν ἡδυνήθη ἀπατῆσαί τε καὶ πλανῆσαι.

55.9.10 | Look then, father, look son, look holy spirit, and nowhere does it say about Melchizedek that he is given gifts or honors. And in vain among these are sung lies and made-up things of the sects, not coming from the truth for them, but from the hiss of the dragon, as each heresy was able to deceive and lead astray.

55.9.11 | Ἦλθε δὲ πάλιν εἰς ἡμᾶς ὥς τινες περιττότερον τῶν προειρημένων πάντων πλανηθέντες καὶ περισσοτέρᾳ ἀλαζονείᾳ ἐννοίας ἀρθέντε ἐτόλμησαν εἰς ἀπορίαν διανοημάτων τραπῆναι καὶ εἰς βλάβημον ἔννοιαν ἐλθεῖν καὶ εἰπεῖν τὸν αὐτὸν Μελχισεδέκ εἶναι τὸν πατέρα τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ χριστοῦ.

55.9.11 | But again some came to us, more strange than all that was said before, having been led astray and lifted up with greater pride in their thoughts, they dared to turn to confusion of ideas and to harmful thinking, and to say that Melchizedek is the father of our lord Jesus Christ.

55.9.12 | καὶ ὦ τῆς τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἀφυλάκτου ἐννοίας καὶ ἀπατωμένης

55.9.12 | And oh, the careless mind of people and the deceived heart that does not καρδίας καὶ μὴ ἐχούσης στάσιν ἀληθείας. ἀπὸ τοῦ γὰρ τὸν ἀπόστολον λέγειν ἀπάτορα καὶ ἀμήτορα τὸν μελχισεδέκ καὶ ἀγενεαλόγητον, διὰ τὸ ὑπέρογκον τῆς φράσεως πλανηθέντες τῇ ἐννοίᾳ οἱ τοιούτοι καὶ * διανοηθέντες τὰ * εἰς τὸν πατέρα τῶν ὅλων ἀναλογοῦντα ἐν ἑαυτοῖς ἀνετύπωναν βλασφημίας πλάνην.

hold to the truth. For since the apostle says that Melchizedek is without father and mother and without genealogy, because of the lofty way of speaking, those people were led astray in their thinking and, considering things that belong to the father of all, they formed in themselves a pattern of blasphemous error.

55.9.13 | ἀπὸ τοῦ γὰρ τὸν πατέρα τῶν ὅλων, θεὸν τὸν παντοζωῆς μήτε πατέρα ἔχειν μήτε μητέρα μήτε ἀρχὴν ἡμερῶν μήτε ζωῆς τέλος (τοῦτο γὰρ <παρὰ> πᾶσιν ὠμολόγηται) ἀπεικάσαντες τούτῳ τὸν Μελχισεδέκ διὰ τὸ περὶ αὐτοῦ οὕτω τὸν ἀπόστολον εἰρηκέναι εἰς ἀφροσύνης βλασφημέαν πεπτώκασι, μὴ νοήσαντες τὰ ἄλλα τὰ περὶ αὐτοῦ εἰρημένα.

55.9.13 | For since the father of all, God who gives all life, has neither father nor mother nor beginning of days nor end of life (this has been agreed upon by all), they made Melchizedek like this because the apostle said so about him, and they have fallen into foolish blasphemy, not understanding the other things said about him.

55.9.14 | περὶ γὰρ τοῦ Μελχισεδέκ εἴρηται ὅτι »ἦν ἱερεὺς τοῦ ὑψίστου«. εἰ οὖν ὑψιστός ἐστιν οὗτος καὶ πατήρ, ἄρα ἐτέρου ὑψίστου ὑπάρχων ἱερεὺς οὐκέτι αὐτὸς εἴη πατήρ τῶν ὅλων, ἱερατεύων ἐτέρῳ ὑψίστῳ.

55.9.14 | For it is said about Melchizedek that “he was priest of the Most High.” If then this one is the Most High and father, being priest of another Most High, he would no longer be the father of all, serving another Most High.

55.9.15 | καὶ ὧς τῆς τῶν ἀνθρώπων χυδαιότητος τῆς τὰ ἀληθινὰ μὴ κατανοούσης, ἐπὶ τὰ πλάνα δὲ ἑαυτὴν τρεπούσης. τὸ πέρας γὰρ τῆς ἐπιλύσεως τοῦ παντὸς ζητήματος ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος συναγαγὼν ἔφη »ὁ δὲ μὴ γενεαλογούμενος ἐξ αὐτῶν« (δῆλον δέ· ἀλλὰ ἐξ ἐτέρων) »δεδεκάτωκε τὸν Ἀβραάμ«, καὶ πάλιν »ὅς ἐν ταῖς ἡμέραις τῆς σαρκὸς αὐτοῦ δεήσεις καὶ ἱκεσίας ἐποιεῖτο, φησί, πρὸς τὸν δυνάμενον αὐτὸν σῶσαι«· ὅτι δὲ <ὁ> πατήρ σάρκα οὐκ ἐνεδύσατο δῆλον.

55.9.15 | And oh, the low mind of people who do not understand the truth, turning themselves to error. For the holy apostle, gathering the end of the solution to the whole question, said, “he who is not descended from them” (meaning, not from those others) “received tithes from Abraham,” and again, “who in the days of his flesh offered prayers and requests,” he says, “to the one able to save him”; and it is clear that the father did not put on flesh.

55.9.16 | Καὶ περὶ τούτων δὲ ἱκανῶς διαλεχθέντες καταλείψωμεν τὴν αἵρεσιν, ὥσπερ μυογαλίδιον λίθῳ πεπαικότες διὰ τῆς στερεᾶς πίστεως καὶ ἐδραιώματος καὶ φυγόντες τὸ ἰοβόλον αὐτῆς δηλητήριον. τὸ γὰρ μυογαλίδιον φασι πρὸς μὲν τὴν ὥραν μηδὲν ἀδικεῖν τὸν δακνόμενον, χρόνῳ δὲ τινὶ τὸ σῶμα ἀφανίζειν καὶ εἰς λώβησιν κελεφίας ἕως ὅλων τῶν μελῶν ἔγειν τὸν ἐπιβουλευθέντα.

55.9.16 | And having talked enough about these things, let us leave the heresy behind, like a splinter stuck in stone, through strong faith and firmness, and fleeing its poisonous venom. For they say a splinter does no harm at first to the one bitten, but after some time it destroys the body and causes a sore with pus that spreads to all the limbs of the one attacked.

55.9.17 | οὕτω καὶ αὕτη ἡ αἵρεσις * τῇ διανοίᾳ τοῖς εὐθὺς περὶ τούτων ἀκούσασι φαίνεται ὡς οὐδὲν *, προσεντρίβομένη δὲ ἡ τῶν λόγων παρολκὴ ζητήματα ἐμποιεῖ καὶ ὥσπερ ἀφανισμὸν τοῖς μὴ τυχοῦσι κοῦ βοηθήματος τῆς ἀντιδότου ταύτης, τῆς παρ' ἡμῶν γενομένης κατ' αὐτῆς ἀνατροπῆς τε καὶ ἀντιλογίας. οὐ τάχιον δὲ φαινεται τὸ ζῶον.

55.9.17 | So also this heresy seems nothing to those who hear about these things right away in their mind, but being rubbed against, the trick of words brings in troubles and, like destruction, to those who do not get help from this antidote, which is the overturning and argument against it made by us. The beast does not seem quick.

55.9.18 | ἐν νυκτὶ γὰρ ἐστὶ πορευόμενον καὶ οὕτω τὴν βλάβην ἐργάζεται, μάλιστα δὲ ἐν τῇ τῶν Αἰγυπτίων χώρᾳ, ὡς ἰστέον ἐστὶ τοῖς τὴν γνῶσιν τοῦ ζώου ἐπισταμένοις, ὅτι οὐ παρέργως οὔτε σεσυκοφαντημένως τῆς τοῦ ζώου ὑποθέσεως πεποιήμεθα τὴν μνήμην, ἀπεικάσαντες αὐτὸ τῇ παρὰ τῆς αἰρέσεως βλάβῃ· τοιοῦτο γὰρ αὐτῆς τὸ ἀδίκημα ὑπάρχει.

55.9.18 | For it moves at night and works its harm then, especially in the land of the Egyptians, as those who know about the creature understand. We did not make the memory of the creature's nature false or twisted, but showed it as the harm caused by the heresy. For its wrongdoing is just like that.

55.9.19 | ἐφεξῆς δὲ βαδιοῦμαι ἐπὶ τὰς ἄλλας, ὅπως τὸ ἐπάγγελμα ἐν θεῷ πληρῶσαι καταξιωθέντες τῷ θεῷ εὐχαριστήσωμεν.

55.9.19 | Next, I go on to the others, so that having been made worthy to fulfill the promise in God, we may thank God.

Book 56

Section 1

56.1.1 | Τούτοις καθεξῆς συνέπεται Βαρδησιάνης τις οὕτω καλούμενος. ὁ δὲ Βαρδησιάνης οὗτος, ἐξ οὐπὲρ ἡ αἵρεσις τῶν Βαρδησιανιστῶν γεγένηται, ἐκ Μεσοποταμέας μὲν τὸ γένος ἦν, τῶν κατὰ τὴν Ἐδεσσηνῶν πόλιν κατοικούντων.

56.1.1 | After these, one called Bardesian follows in order. This Bardesian, from whom the heresy of the Bardesians came, was from Mesopotamia, of those living near the city of Edessa.

56.1.2 | ὅς τὰ μὲν πρῶτα ἄριστός τις ἀνὴρ ἐτύγχανε, λόγους δὲ οὐκ ὀλίγους συνεγράψατο, ὁπηνίκα ἐρρωμένην εἶχε τὴν διάνοιαν. ἐκ γὰρ τῆς ἀγίας τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίας ὠρμάτο, λόγιός τις ὢν ἐν ταῖς δυσὶ γλώσσαις. Ἑλληνικῇ τε διαλέκτῳ καὶ τῇ τῶν Σύρων φωνῇ.

56.1.2 | He was at first a very good man, and he wrote many speeches, when his mind was strong. For he came from the holy church of god, being a learned man in two languages: the Greek dialect and the speech of the Syrians.

56.1.3 | Αὐγάρῳ δὲ τῷ τῷ, Ἐδεσσηνῶν δυναστέϊ, ἀνδρὶ ὁσιωτάτῳ καὶ λογιωτάτῳ, ἐξοικειούμενος τὰ πῶτα καὶ συμπράττων, ἅμα τε καὶ τῆς αὐτοῦ μετασχὼν παιδείας. διήρκεσε μὲν μετὰ τὴν ἐκείνου τελευτὴν ἄχρι τῶν χρόνων Ἀντωνίνου Καίσαρος, (οὗ τοῦ Εὐσεβοῦς καλουμένου, ἀλλὰ τοῦ Οὐήρου).

56.1.3 | He became close to Augarus, the ruler of the Edessans, a very holy and learned man, sharing everything and working together, and also sharing in his education. He continued after the death of that man until the time of the emperor Antoninus Caesar (not the one called Eusebius, but the one called Vero).

56.1.4 | ὅς πολλὰ <πρὸς> Ἀβειδὰν τὸν ἀστρονόμον κατὰ εἰμαρμένης λέγων συνελογίσατο, καὶ ἄλλα δὲ κατὰ τὴν εὐσεβῆ πίστιν ἐμφέρεται αὐτοῦ συντάγματα.

56.1.4 | He, speaking much to Abeidas the astronomer about fate, reasoned together with him, and other writings also come from him according to pious faith.

56.1.5 | Ἀπολλωνίῳ δὲ τῷ τοῦ Ἀντωνίνου ἐταίρῳ ἀντήρε, παραιτούμενος ἀρνήσασθαι τὸ Χριστιανὸν ἑαυτὸν λέγειν. ὁ

56.1.5 | To Apollonius, the companion of Antoninus, he replied, refusing to say that he was a Christian. But almost in order, he δὲ σχεδὸν ἐν τάξει ὁμολογίας κατέστη λόγους τε συνετοὺς ἀπεκρίνατο ὑπὲρ εὐσεβείας ἀνδρείως ἀπολογούμενος, θάνατον μὴ δεδιέναι φήσας, ὃν ἀνάγκη <ἔφη> ἔσσεσθαι, κἄν τε τῷ βασιλεῖ μὴ ἀντείποι.

gave wise words, bravely defending his faith, saying he was not afraid of death, which he said would come by force, even if he did not speak against the king.

56.1.6 | καὶ οὕτως ὁ ἀνὴρ τὰ πάντα μεγάλως ἦν κεκοσμημένος, ἕως ὅτε τῷ ἀστοχήματι τῆς ἑαυτοῦ αἱρέσεως περίεπεσε, δίκην νηὸς γεγωνὸς καλλίστης φόρτον τε ἀσυνείκαστον ἐμβαλλομένης καὶ παρὰ τὰς ὄχθας τοῦ λιμένος λακισθείσης ἀπολεσάσης τε τὴν ἅπασαν πραγματείαν καὶ ἑτέροις τοῖς ἐπιβάταις θάνατον ἐμποιήσας.

56.1.6 | And so the man was greatly honored in all things, until he fell into error because of his own heresy, becoming like a ship with the finest cargo thrown into an unbreakable storm, and after being wrecked near the shores of the harbor, losing all his work and bringing death to the other passengers as well.

Section 2

56.2.1 | 2. Προσφθείρεται γὰρ οὗτος Οὐαλεντίνοις καὶ ἐκ τῆς αὐτῶν μοχθηρίας ἀνιμᾶται τὸ δηλητήριον τοῦτο καὶ ζιζανιώδες, πολλὰς τε καὶ αὐτὸς ἀρχὰς καὶ προβολὰς εἰσηγησάμενος καὶ τὴν τῶν νεκρῶν ἀνάστασιν ἀρνησάμενος ἐδογμάτισε ταύτην τὴν αἵρεσιν.

56.2.1 | For this man is added to the Valentinians, and from their wickedness he takes up this poison and weed, and having introduced many beginnings and claims himself, and denying the resurrection of the dead, he made this heresy a teaching.

56.2.2 | χρῆται δὲ νόμῳ καὶ προφήταις, παλαιᾷ τε καὶ νέᾳ διαθήκῃ, καὶ ἀποκρύφους τισὶν ὡσαύτως.

56.2.2 | He uses the law and the prophets, both from the old and the new covenant, and also some secret writings.

56.2.3 | ἀνατραπήσεται δὲ καὶ οὗτος μετὰ πάντων τῶν πρὸ αὐτοῦ τε καὶ τῶν μετ’ αὐτὸν ἀπαλλοτριώσας ἑαυτὸν τῆς ἀληθείας καὶ ὥς ἀπὸ λαμπάδος πυρὸς φωτεινῆς εἰς ἀσβόλην μεταβεβλημένος.

56.2.3 | And he too will be overthrown along with all those before and after him, having taken himself away from the truth, and like from a bright torch’s fire changed into smoke.

56.2.4 | Περὶ μὲν γὰρ νεκρῶν ἀναστάσεως ἤδη ἡμῖν ἐν πολλαῖς αἰρέσεσιν εἴρηται· οὐ λυπήσει δὲ καὶ αὖθις ἐν τῇ πρὸς τοῦτον ἀνατροπῇ χρήσασθαι ὀλίγοις λόγοις. εἰ μὲν γὰρ τὴν παλαιὰν διαθήκην δέχη.

56.2.4 | For about the resurrection of the dead, it has already been said to us in many heresies; and it will not cause pain to use a few words again in the overthrow against this one. If indeed he accepts the old covenant.

56.2.5 | ὦ οὗτος, καὶ τὴν καινὴν ὡσαύτως. πόθεν οὐκ ἐλεγχθήσῃ παραφθείρων τὴν τῆς ἀληθείας ὁδὸν καὶ ἑαυτὸν ἀποξενῶν τῆς τοῦ κυρίου ἐν ἀληθείᾳ ζωῆς;

56.2.5 | O this one, and the new one just the same. From where will he not be proven wrong, corrupting the way of truth and making himself a stranger to the lord's life in truth?

56.2.6 | ὅτι μὲν γὰρ αὐτὸς ὁ κύριος πρῶτος, ἵνα γένηται ἡμῖν ἀρραβὼν τῆς ἀναστάσεως καὶ πρωτότοκος ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν, καὶ ἀπέθανεν ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν καὶ ἀνέστη, <δῆλον> καὶ οὐχ

56.2.6 | For indeed the lord himself first, so that he might become for us a pledge of the resurrection and the firstborn from the dead, died for us and rose, it is clear and not...

56.2.7 | ἀπλῶς ἐν δοκίσει πέπονθεν· ἐτάφη γὰρ καὶ τὸ σῶμα αὐτοῦ ἐβάστασαν. καὶ μαρτυρεῖ μὲν Ἰωσήφ ὁ ἀπὸ Ἀριμαθαίας, μαρτυροῦσι καὶ αἱ φέρουσαι μύρα εἰς τὸ μνήμα καὶ ἡ τῶν ἑκατὸν λιτρῶν τῆς ἀλόης ὀλκή, ὅτι οὐκ ἦν δόκησις οὐδὲ φαντασία.

56.2.7 | He did not simply suffer in appearance; for he was buried, and they carried his body. Joseph of Arimathea testifies, and the women who brought spices to the tomb, and the large amount of aloe, a hundred pounds, all show that it was not just a show or a vision.

56.2.8 | μαρτυροῦσι δὲ καὶ οἱ ἄγγελοι ταῖς γυναιξὶ πεφηνότες ὅτι »ἀνέστη. οὐκ ἔστιν ὧδε· τί ζητεῖτε τὸν ζῶντα μετὰ τῶν νεκρῶν;«

56.2.8 | The angels also testify to the women, having appeared, saying, "He has risen. He is not here; why do you seek the living among the dead?"

56.2.9 | καὶ οὐκ εἶπαν ὅτι οὐκ ἀπέθανεν, ἀλλὰ ἀνέστη, ὁ πεπονθὼς ἐν σαρκί, ζῶν δὲ αἰεὶ ἐν πνεύματι καὶ ἀπαθὴς ὢν ἐν τῇ ἰδίᾳ θεότητι, ὁ ἄνωθεν αἰεὶ ἐκ πατρὸς

56.2.9 | And they did not say that he did not die, but that he rose, the one who suffered in the flesh, yet always living in spirit and being without suffering in his own divinity, γεγεννημένος ὑπάρχων, ὁ ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῶν ἡμερῶν εὐδοκήσας ἀπὸ Μαρίας τῆς παρθένου γενέσθαι ἄνθρωπος, ὡς μαρτυρεῖ Παῦλος ὁ ἅγιος λέγων »γενόμενος ἐκ γυναικός, γενόμενος ὑπὸ νόμον«.

the one always born from the Father above, who in the last days chose to become a man from Mary the virgin, as the holy Paul testifies, saying, "Born of a woman, born under the law."

56.2.10 | ἄρα γε οὐπω ἤκουσας τοῦ ῥητοῦ τοῦ λέγοντος ὅτι »δεῖ τὸ φθαρτὸν τοῦτο ἐνδύσασθαι ἀφθαρσίαν καὶ τὸ θνητὸν τοῦτο ἐνδύσασθαι ἀθανασίαν«; ἢ οὐκ ἔπεισέ σε Ἡσαΐας ὁ προφήτης λέγων »καὶ ἀναστήσονται οἱ νεκροί, καὶ ἐγερθήσονται οἱ ἐν τοῖς μνημείοις;«, αὐτὸς δὲ ὁ κύριος λέγων ὅτι »καὶ ἐγερθήσονται μὲν οὗτοι εἰς ζωὴν αἰώνιον καὶ οὗτοι εἰς κόλασιν αἰώνιον»;

56.2.10 | So you have not yet heard the speaker saying, "This perishable must put on imperishability, and this mortal must put on immortality"? Or has not Isaiah the prophet convinced you, saying, "And the dead will rise, and those in the graves will be raised"? And the Lord himself says that "some will be raised to eternal life, and others to eternal punishment"?

56.2.11 | ἢ οὐ μέμνησαι τοῦ Ἀβελ μετὰ θάνατον τῆς πρὸς θεὸν ὁμιλίας, ὡς οὐ τὴν ψυχὴν λέγει ἐντυγχάνειν καὶ βοᾶν πρὸς τὸν θεόν, ἀλλὰ τὸ αἷμα; αἷμα δὲ οὐ ψυχὴ ὑπάρχει, ἀλλ' ἐν τῷ αἵματι ἡ ψυχὴ ἐστίν.

56.2.11 | Or do you not remember Abel after his death speaking to God, saying that it is not the soul that meets and cries out to God, but the blood? And blood is not a soul, but the soul is in the blood.

56.2.12 | σῶμα γάρ ἐστι τὸ αἶμα ὁρατόν, ἡ δὲ ψυχὴ ἀόρατός τις ὑπάρχουσα ἐν τῷ αἵματι ἔχει τὸν χῶρον. καὶ ἐκ πανταχόθεν ἐλήλεγκταί σου, ὦ Βαρδησιάνη. ἡ κακοπιστία. ἀνατρεπομένη ἐξ αὐτῆς τῆς ἀληθείας.

56.2.12 | For blood is a visible body, but the soul is something invisible existing in the blood and has its place there. And your bad faith has been proven from all sides, Bardesanes. It is overturned by the very truth itself.

Section 3

56.3.1 | 3. Περὶ δὲ πολλῶν ἀρχῶν ἐπειδήπερ πολλάκις κατὰ τῶν οὕτως λεγόντων πολλὰ εἶπον. ἐνταῦθα οὐ πολλὴν ποιοῦμαι τὴν περὶ τούτου διαλογὴν, ἀλλ' ὥς ἐν <παρεκβάσει> ὑπομνήσομαι

56.3.1 | 3. About many beginnings, since I have often said many things against those who speak like this. Here I will not make much of the discussion about this, but as a kind of side note I will remind you of what τοῦ ἁγίου ἀποστόλου φάσκοντος ὅτι »ἡμῖν εἷς θεὸς ὁ πατήρ, ἐξ οὗ τὰ πάντα καὶ ἡμεῖς εἰς αὐτόν, καὶ εἷς κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, δι' οὗ τὰ πάντα καὶ ἡμεῖς δι' αὐτοῦ«.

the holy apostle says: “We have one God the Father, from whom are all things and we for him, and one Lord Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and we through him.”

56.3.2 | πῶς οὖν πολυθεΐα ἔσται καὶ πολλαὶ ἀρχαί, εἰ »εἷς κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, δι' οὗ τὰ πάντα καὶ ἡμεῖς δι' αὐτοῦ«; ἄρα οὖν εἷς ἐστὶν ὁ ποιητὴς καὶ οὐ πολλοὶ θεοὶ οὔτε πολλοὶ αἰῶνες.

56.3.2 | How then will there be many gods and many beginnings, if “there is one Lord Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and we through him”? So then, there is one creator and not many gods or many ages.

56.3.3 | ἔφη γὰρ εἷς »εἴπερ εἰσὶ πολλοὶ θεοὶ λεγόμενοι«. τὸ δὲ »λεγόμενοι« ὥς <περί> οὐχ ὑπαρχόντων ἀπεφάνετο· διὰ δὲ τοὺς τῶν Ἑλλήνων λεγομένους, οὓς ἐθεοποίησαν, ἡλιόν τε καὶ σελήνην, ἄστρα τε καὶ τὰ τούτοις ὅμοια, ἀποφηνάμενος ἀπέκλεισε πάντων τῶν πεπλανημένων τὴν διάνοιαν.

56.3.3 | For he said “one” if “many gods are said to be.” The word “said” shows that they do not really exist; but because of those Greeks who are called gods, whom they made gods—the sun and the moon, stars and things like these—he showed this and shut off the mind of all who are mistaken.

56.3.4 | Τῆς δὲ ὑγιοῦς πίστεως πανταχόθεν σωζομένης, ἐδραιώμα<τος> οὔσης καὶ σωτηρίας τῶν πιστῶν, ῥαδίως ἢ πασῶν τῶν αἰρέσεων ἐπινενοημένη κενολεξία προσανετράπη. ὥς καὶ οὗτος ἀνατραπείς καὶ ἐλεεινὸν ἑαυτὸν καταστήσας καὶ ἑαυτὸν ἀποξενώσας τῆς ζωῆς.

56.3.4 | With sound faith being saved everywhere, and being a foundation and salvation for believers, the empty talk invented by all heresies was easily turned back. Like this one too was overturned, making himself miserable and alienating himself from life.

56.3.5 | φησὶ γὰρ ὁ προφήτης πρὸς τὴν ἁγίαν τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίαν ὅτι »θήσομαι ἄνθρακα τὸν λίθον σου καὶ τοὺς θεμελίους σου σάπφειρον καὶ τὰ τεῖχη σου λίθους ἐκλεκτοὺς καὶ τὰς ἐπάλξεις σου ἱάσπιν«. εἴτα ὑστερόν φησι »πᾶσα φωνὴ ἢ ἐπαναστήσεται ἐπὶ σέ. πάντας αὐτοὺς ἠττήσεις, ἐπὶ δὲ σέ οὐ κατευοδωθήσεται«.

56.3.5 | For the prophet says to the holy church of God, “I will make your stones into coal and your foundations into sapphire, and your walls into chosen stones and your towers into jasper.” Then later he says, “Every voice that rises up against you, you will defeat them all, but against you it will not succeed.”

56.3.6 | οὐδὲν γὰρ κατισχύσει πρὸς τὴν τῆς ἀληθείας πίστιν. ἐπειδήπερ »ἐπὶ τὴν πέτραν ὡκοδόμηται, καὶ πύλαι Ἰδου οὐ κατισχύσουσιν αὐτῆς«, ὡς ἐπηγγέλατο αὐτῇ ὁ ἅγιος θεὸς Λόγος, ὁ βασιλεὺς αὐτῆς καὶ νυμφίος καὶ κύριος αὐτῆς καὶ δεσπότης, ᾧ δόξα, τιμὴ καὶ κράτος πατρὶ ἐν υἱῷ σὺν ἁγίῳ πνεύματι εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας τῶν αἰώνων, ἀμήν.

56.3.6 | For nothing will have power against the faith of truth. Since “on the rock it is built, and the gates of Hades will not have power over it,” as the holy God’s Word promised to it, its king and bridegroom and lord and master, to whom be glory, honor, and power with the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit forever and ever. Amen.

56.3.7 | Ταύτης δὲ καὶ αὐτῆς καταπατηθείσης τῆς αἰρέσεως, * ὡς ἀπὸ τομῆς ὄφως οὖσα κεφαλὴ καὶ ἔτι σκαρίζουσα, τῷ ξύλῳ τῆς ζωῆς παισθεῖσα, αὐτοὶ <δὲ> θεῷ εὐχαριστοῦντες ἐπὶ τὰς ἄλλας πάλιν διασκοποῦντες ἴωμεν, ἀγαπητοί.

56.3.7 | And when this heresy itself was trampled down, * like the head of a snake cut off but still twitching, struck by the wood of life, let us, giving thanks to God ourselves, go on to look at the others again, dear friends.

Book 57

Section 1

57.1.1 | Ἐτερος δὲ πάλιν μετὰ τοῦτον Νόητος ὀνόματι ἀνέστη, οὐ πρὸ ἐτῶν πλειόνων, ἀλλ’ ὡς ἀπὸ χρόνου ἐτῶν τούτων ἑκατὸν τριάκοντα πλείω ἐλάσσω, Ἀσιανὸς τῆς Ἐφέσου πόλεως ὑπάρχων·

57.1.1 | Another again after this one, named Noetus, rose up, not many years before, but about a hundred thirty more or less from that time, being an Asian from the city of Ephesus;

57.1.2 | ὃς ἄλλοτρίῳ πνεύματι φερόμενος ἠθέλησεν ἅψ’ ἑαυτοῦ ἃ μήτε προφητῇται <ἐκήρυξαν> μήτε ἀπόστολοι μήτε ἐξ ὑπαρχῆς κατέσχεν ἡ ἐκκλησία μήτε ἐνενοήθη λέγειν τε καὶ διδάσκειν, αὐτὸς ἅψ’ ἑαυτοῦ ἐπάρματι μανίας ἐπαρθεὶς ἐτόλμησε λέγειν, τὸν παρέρα πεπονθέναι·

57.1.2 | who, carried by a strange spirit, wanted on his own to say what neither prophets proclaimed nor apostles, nor what the church held from the beginning or thought to say and teach; he himself, carried away by a frenzy of madness, dared to say that the one who suffered had passed away;

57.1.3 | ἔτι δὲ μείζονί τινι τύφῳ καὶ παραφροσύνῃ ἐνεχθεὶς ἑαυτὸν ἔλεγε Μωυσέα καὶ τὸν ἀδελφὸν αὐτοῦ Ἀαρών.

57.1.3 | Still, caught in a greater blindness and madness, he called himself Moses and his brother Aaron.

57.1.4 | ἀλλὰ μετὰξὺ τούτων ἀπὸ τῆς περὶ αὐτοῦ ἐνηχίσεως οἱ μακάριοι πρεσβύτεροι τῆς ἐκκλησίας μετακαλεσάμενοι αὐτὸν ἐξήταζον περὶ τούτων ἀπάντων καὶ εἰ ταύτην τὴν βλασφημίαν περὶ πατρὸς προηγάγετο.

57.1.4 | But meanwhile, because of the noise about him, the blessed elders of the church called him over and questioned him about all these things, and whether he was spreading this blasphemy about the father.

57.1.5 | ὁ δὲ τὰ πρῶτα μὲν ἡρνεῖτο ἐπὶ τοῦ πρεσβυτερίου ἀγόμενος, διὰ τὸ μηδένα πρὸ αὐτοῦ ἐξεμέσαι ταύτην τὴν δεινὴν καὶ ἀλετήριον πικρίαν.

57.1.5 | But at first he denied it, being led before the council, because no one before him had tasted this terrible and bitter poison.

57.1.6 | ὕστερον δέ, ἀφ' ἧς εἶχε λύσσης εἷς τινας ἄλλος ἐμβαλὼν ὡς εἰπεῖν καὶ σὺν αὐτῷ ὥσπερ δέκα ἄνδρας ἐπαγόμενος, εἰς τυφὸν μείζονα καὶ θράσος ἐπαρθεὶς τολμηρὸς <τε> γεγονὼς παρρησίᾳ λοιπὸν τὴν αἵρεσιν ἐδογματίζε.

57.1.6 | But later, after he had madness, when another man came in, so to speak, bringing with him about ten men, he was lifted up into greater blindness and boldness, and having become daring, he openly declared the heresy from then on.

57.1.7 | πάλιν δ' αὖ οἱ αὐτοὶ πρεσβύτεροι προσκαλεσάμενοι αὐτόν τε καὶ τοὺς προσφθαρέντας αὐτῷ ἀνθρώπους περὶ τῶν αὐτῶν πάλιν ἠρώτων.

57.1.7 | But again, the same elders called him and the men who had joined him, and they asked them again about the same things.

57.1.8 | ὁ δὲ ἅμα τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ πεπλανημένοις ὑποτρίψας τὸ μέτωπον λοιπὸν παρρησίᾳ ἀντέλεγε, φάσκων ὅτι »τί γὰρ κακὸν πεποίηκα ὅτι ἓνα θεὸν δοξάζω; ἓνα θεὸν ἐπίσταμαι καὶ οὐκ ἄλλον πλὴν αὐτοῦ, γεννηθέντα πεπονθότα

57.1.8 | And he, rubbing his forehead with those who had been led astray by him, answered boldly from then on, saying, "What wrong have I done that I honor one god? I know one god and no other besides him, born, suffered, and died."

ἀποθανόντα».

57.1.9 | ὥς οὖν ἐν τούτοις ἔμενεν, ἐξέωσαν αὐτὸν τῆς ἐκκλησίας ἅμα τοῖς ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ εἰς τὸ ἴδιον δόγμα μεμαθητευμένοις. ἐτελεύτα δὲ αὐτὸς ἑναγχος ἅμα τῷ ἰδίῳ ἀδελφῷ, οὐχ ὡς Μωυσῆς ἐν δόξῃ οὐδὲ ὁ αὐτοῦ ἀδελφὸς ὡς Ἀαρὼν ἐν τιμῇ ἐτάφη. ἐρρίφησαν γὰρ ὡς παραβάται καὶ οὐδεις αὐτοὺς τῶν θεοσεβῶν περιέστειλε.

57.1.9 | So, as he stayed in these things, they cast him out of the church together with those who had been taught by him into his own teaching. And he died nearby with his own brother, not as Moses in glory, nor was his brother buried with honor like Aaron. For they were thrown away as lawbreakers, and no one among the god-fearing buried them.

57.1.10 | μετὰ τοῦτο οἱ ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ τὸν νοῦν φθαρέντες ἐκράτουναν τοῦτ’ ὁ δόγμα, τούτος τοῖς ῥητοῖς ὑπαχθέντες οἷς καὶ ὁ αὐτῶν κακοδιδάσκαλος ἐξ ἀρχῆς.

57.1.10 | After this, those who had their minds corrupted by him took control of this teaching, while he was brought under the rhetoricians, who were also their bad teacher from the start.

57.1.11 | ὅτε γὰρ ἐρωτώμενος ἀπὸ τοῦ πρεσβυτερίου ἔφη ἓνα θεὸν δοξάζειν, ἤκουε παρ’ αὐτῶν φιλαλήδως ὅτι ἓνα θεὸν δοξάζομεν καὶ αὐτοί, ἀλλ’ ὡς οἱ δαμεν δικαίως δοξάζειν·

57.1.11 | For when he was asked by the elders, he said that he honors one god, and he heard from them kindly that they also honor one god, but as they think rightly to honor him.

57.1.12 | καὶ ἓνα Χριστὸν ἔχομεν, ἀλλ’ ὡς οἶδαμεν ἓνα Χριστόν, υἱὸν θεοῦ, παθόντα καθὼς ἔπαθεν, ἀποθανόντα καθὼς ἀπέθανεν, ἀναστάντα, ἀνελθόντα εἰς τὸν οὐρανόν, ὄντα ἐν δεξιᾷ τοῦ πατρός, ἐρχόμενον κρῖναι ζῶντας καὶ νεκρούς. ταῦτα λέγομεν μεμαθηκότες ἀπὸ τῶν θείων γραφῶν, ἃ καὶ ἐπιστάμεθα.

57.1.12 | And we have one Christ, but as we know one Christ, the son of God, who suffered as he suffered, died as he died, rose, went up into heaven, is at the right hand of the father, coming to judge the living and the dead. These things we say having learned from the holy scriptures, and we also understand them.

Section 2

57.2.1 | 2. Ἐκ τούτου οὖν Νοντιανοὶ ἀπόσπασμα ὄντες αὐτοῦ καὶ οἱ ἐξ αὐτῶν

57.2.1 | 2. From this then, the Nondians, being a group from him and those from τουτὶ τὸ δόγμα δοξάζουσιν, ἐκ τῶν ῥητῶν τούτων πειρώμενοι συνιστᾶν τὴν κατ’ αὐτοὺς ἐμμανῆ διδασκαλίαν. ἀφ’ ὧν εἶπεν ὁ θεὸς πρὸς Μωυσῆν »ἐγὼ θεὸς τῶν πατέρων ὑμῶν· ἐγὼ | πρῶτος καὶ ἐγὼ μετὰ ταῦτα· οὐκ ἔσονται σοι θεοὶ ἕτεροι« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

them, will honor this teaching, trying from these words to show the fierce teaching according to them. From which God said to Moses, “I am the God of your fathers; I am first and I am after these; there will not be other gods for you,” and what follows.

57.2.2 | ἔλεγον οὖν· ἡμεῖς τοίνυν αὐτὸν οἶδαμεν μόνον. εἰ τοίνυν ἐλθὼν Χριστὸς ἐγεννήθη, αὐτὸς ἐστὶ πατήρ, αὐτὸς υἱός· ἄρα <ὁ> αὐτὸς ἐστὶ θεὸς ὁ αἰὶ <ὢν>· καὶ νῦν ἐλθὼν·

57.2.2 | They were saying then: we know him alone. So if Christ came and was born, he is the father himself, he is the son; then he is the same God who always is and now has come.

57.2.3 | ὡς λέγει ἡ γραφή »οὗτος ὁ θεὸς σου, οὐ λογισθήσεται ἕτερος πρὸς αὐτόν· ἐξεῦρε πᾶσαν ὁδὸν ἐπιστήμης καὶ ἴδωκεν αὐτὴν Ἰακώβ τῷ παιδί αὐτοῦ Ἰσραὴλ τῷ ἡγαπημένῳ ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ· μετὰ ταῦτα ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς ὥφθη καὶ τοῖς ἀνθρώποις συνανεστράφη«.

57.2.3 | As the scripture says, “This is your God; no other will be counted beside him.
He found every way of knowledge and Jacob saw it for his child Israel, the one loved by him; after this he appeared on the earth and lived among people.”

57.2.4 | ὁρᾷς, φησί, πάλιν πῶς ἡ θεία γραφή ἡμᾶς συνετίζει, τοῦ μὴ ἄλλον καὶ ὄλλον θεὸν ἡγεῖσθαι, φάσκοῦσα ὅτι αὐτὸς θεὸς ἐστὶ <ὁ> μόνος ὢν καὶ αὐτὸς ὕστερον ὀφθεῖς;

57.2.4 | You see, he says, again how the divine scripture teaches us not to think there is another or different god, saying that he himself is the only god and also later appeared?

57.2.5 | πάλιν δὲ ἄλλῳ ῥητῷ κέχρηται τούτῳ, ὡς λέγει »έκοπ[']ιασεν Αἴγυπτος καὶ ἐμπορία Αἰθιοπῶν, καὶ οἱ Σαβαῖν ἄνδρες ὑψηλοὶ ἐπὶ σὲ διαβήσονται καὶ σοὶ δοῦλοι ἔσονται καὶ πορεύσονται ὀπίσω σου δεδμένοι χειροπέδαις καὶ ἐν σοὶ προσκυνήσουσι καὶ ἐν σοὶ προσεύξονται, ὅτι ἐν σοὶ θεὸς ἐστὶ καὶ οὐκ ἔστι θεὸς πλην σοῦ. σὺ γὰρ εἶ θεός, καὶ οὐκ ἦνδεῖμεν, ὁ θεὸς

57.2.5 | Again, in another passage they used this, as it says, “Egypt has grown tired and the trade of the Ethiopians, and the men of Sheba, tall men, will cross over to you, and they will be your servants and will go behind you bound with chains, and they will worship you and pray to you, because in you there is a god and there is no god besides you. For you are god, and we did τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ σωτήρ».

not know, the god of Israel, the savior.”

57.2.6 | ὁρᾷς, φησί, πῶς αἱ θεῖαι γραφαὶ ἓνα θεὸν σημαίνουσι καὶ καταγγέλλουσιν αὐτὸν <γενόμενον> ἐμθανῆ; καὶ ὁμολογουμένως εἷς ἐστίν, ὁ αὐτὸς αἰεὶ ὢν.

57.2.6 | You see, he says, how the divine scriptures point to one god and announce that he became human? And it is agreed that there is one, the same one always being.

57.2.7 | καὶ τούτου ἕνεκα οὐ πολλοὺς θεοὺς λέγομεν, ἀλλὰ ἓνα θεόν, τὸν αὐτὸν ἀπαθῆ, αὐτὸν πατέρα τοῦ υἱοῦ, αὐτὸν υἱὸν καὶ πεπονθότα, ἵνα σῶσῃ ἡμᾶς ἐν τῷ ἰδίῳ πάθει, καὶ οὐ δυνάμεθα ἄλλον λέγειν· δῆθεν ἀπὸ τοῦ ἐπιστάτου αὐτῶν μεμαθηκότες ταύτην τὴν ὁμολογίαν καὶ τὴν πονηρὰν ταύτην ὑπόνοιαν καὶ λυμαντικὴν μαρίαν.

57.2.7 | And because of this, we do not say many gods, but one god, the same one without suffering, the same father of the son, the same son who has suffered, so that he might save us in his own suffering, and we cannot say another; clearly, having learned this same confession from their leader, we have this evil suspicion and harmful doubt.

57.2.8 | Εἴτα ἄλλα ῥητὰ φέρουσιν εἰς σύστασιν ἑαυτῶν, ὡς ὁ αὐτῶν διδάσκαλος ἔλεγεν ὅτι »καὶ ὁ ἀπόστολος τούτοις μαρτυρεῖ τοῖς λόγοις φάσκων· ὦν οἱ πατέρες, ἐξῶν ὁ Χριστὸς τὸ κατὰ σάρκα, ὁ ὢν ἐπὶ πάντων θεὸς εὐλογητὸς εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας, ἀμήν».

57.2.8 | Then they bring other sayings to support themselves, as their teacher said, and the apostle also testifies to these words, saying: “who are the fathers, from whom Christ came in the flesh, the blessed god over all forever, amen.”

57.2.9 | βούλονται δὲ διηγεῖσθαι μονοκῶλως, τοῦτον τὸν τρόπον ὡς Θεόδοτος· ἐκεῖνος μὲν φύσει ἀκροτάτως ἄνθρωπον ψιλὸν διηγάμενος, οὗτος δὲ πάλιν ἄλλην ἀκρότητα μονοτόπως, τὸν αὐτὸν πατέρα θεὸν καὶ υἱὸν καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα ἐν σαρκὶ πεπονθότα καὶ γεννηθέντα ἡγησάμενος.

57.2.9 | They want to explain in one way only, like Theodotus; he, by nature, explained the highest kind of plain human, but this one again in a single way thinks the same father, god, and son, and holy spirit suffered in flesh and was born.

57.2.10 | οὔτε οὖν ἐκεῖνοι οἱ ἀπὸ Θεοδότου

57.2.10 | So neither those from Theodotus τι ἐν ἀληθείᾳ ἔφασαν οὔτε οὗτος ὁ Νόητος καὶ οἱ ἀπ’ αὐτοῦ, ἀνόητος δὲ μᾶλλον τῇ δυνάμει, καθάπερ αἱ θεῖαι γραφαὶ ἀμφοτέρους καὶ πάντας τοὺς πεπλανημένους διελέγχουσι.

truly said anything, nor this Noetus and those from him; rather, he is more foolish in power, just as the holy scriptures prove both and all the deceived.

Section 3

57.3.1 | 3. Παντὶ δὲ τῷ τὸν νοῦν εἰς θεὸν * κεκτημένῳ καὶ ἐν θεῖᾳ γραφῇ καὶ ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ κατηυγασμένῳ εὐθυέλεγκτος ὁ αὐτῶν λόγος καὶ πάσης ἀνοίας ἔμπλεως φανεῖται.

57.3.1 | 3. But to everyone who has their mind set on god and is enlightened by the holy scripture and the holy spirit, their teaching is clearly wrong and full of all kinds of foolishness.

57.3.2 | τόλμης γὰρ τὸ ἔργον καὶ τυφλώσεως * ἡ διάνοια φάσκουσα τὸν αὐτὸν πατέρα ὄντα καὶ τὸν αὐτὸν αὐτὸν υἱὸν καὶ τὸν αὐτὸν πεπονθότα· ὥς καὶ ἀπ’ ὀρθοῦ λογισμοῦ καὶ εὐλόγου κριθήσονται οἱ τὰ τοιαῦτα φάσκοντες.

57.3.2 | For the work of boldness and blindness is the mind claiming the same father to be also the same son and the same one to have suffered; as those who say such things will be judged by right reason and sound judgment.

57.3.3 | πῶς γὰρ εἴη πατήρ ὁ αὐτὸς καὶ υἱὸς ὑπάρχων; εἰ γὰρ υἱὸς ὑπάρχει, πάντως που τινὸς υἱὸς εἴη, ἀφ’ οὗπερ γεγέννηται.

57.3.3 | For how could the father be the same as the son? For if there is a son, he must be the son of someone, from whom he was born.

57.3.4 | εἰ δὲ πατήρ ἐστιν, ἑαυτὸν γεννᾶν ἀδύνατον. πάλιν δὲ τὸ καλούμενον υἱὸς ἑαυτὸν οὐκ ἐγέννησεν, ἀλλὰ ἐκ πατρὸς γεγέννηται. καὶ ὧ τῆς τῶν ἀνθρώπων πολλῆς φρενοβλαβείας καὶ ἀκατορθώτου λογισμοῦ.

57.3.4 | But if he is the father, it is impossible for him to beget himself. And again, the one called son did not beget himself, but was begotten from the father.
Oh, the great madness and wrong thinking of many people!

57.3.5 | ἔστι γάρ, ἔστιν τὸ εὐλογον οὐχ ὥς οὔτοι δοξάζουσιν, ἀλλ’ ὥς ἡ ἀλήθεια διὰ τῆς θείας γραφῆς ἡμῖν ὑποδείκνυσιν. εὐθύς γὰρ φάσκει ὁ κύριος λέγων· »ίδού, συνήσει

57.3.5 | For it is so, it is reasonable not as they think, but as the truth shows us through the holy scripture. For the lord immediately says: “Look, my beloved child, ὁ παῖς μου ὁ ἀγαπητός, ὃν ἠρέτισα, ὃν ἠγάπησεν ἡ ψυχὴ μου· θήσομαι τὸ πνεῦμά μου ἐπ’ αὐτῷ».

whom I have chosen, whom my soul has loved; I will put my spirit upon him.”

57.3.6 | καὶ ὁρᾷς πῶς φωνὴ μὲν πατρὸς δείκνυσιν σύσει υἱόν, ἐφ’ ᾧ καὶ τὸ πνεῦμα αὐτοῦ τίθησιν.

57.3.6 | And you see how the voice of the father shows the son as united, upon whom he also puts his spirit.

57.3.7 | εἴτα δὲ αὐτὸς ὁ μονογενὴς φησι »δόξασόν με, πάτερ, ἐν τῇ δόξῃ ἣ εἶχον παρὰ σοὶ πρὸ τοῦ τὸν κόσμον γενέσθαι«. ὁ δὲ λέγων »πάτερ, δόξασόν με« οὐχ ἑαυτὸν πατέρα καλεῖ, πατέρα δὲ τὸν αὐτοῦ γινώσκει.

57.3.7 | Then the only-begotten himself says, “Father, glorify me in the glory I had with you before the world was made.” And the one saying “Father, glorify me” does not call himself father, but knows his own father.

57.3.8 | πάλιν δὲ ἐν ἄλλῳ τόπῳ »ἦλθε φωνὴ ἀπ’ οὐρανοῦ, οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ υἱός μου, αὐτοῦ ἀκούσατε«. καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν »ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ υἱός μου, ἐμοῦ ἀκούσατε«, οὐδὲ πάλιν »γέγονα υἱάς«, ἀλλὰ » οὗτος ὁ υἱός μου, αὐτοῦ ἀκούσατε».

57.3.8 | Again, in another place, a voice came from heaven, “This is my son, listen to him.” And he did not say, “I am my son, listen to me,” nor again, “I have become a son,” but “This is my son, listen to him.”

57.3.9 | καὶ τῷ εἰπεῖν »ἐγὼ καὶ ὁ πατήρ μου ἓν ἐσμεν«, οὐκ εἶπεν »ἐγὼ καὶ ὁ πατήρ μου εἷς εἰμι«, ἀλλὰ » ἐγὼ καὶ ὁ πατήρ μου ἓν ἐσμεν«. τὸ δὲ »ἐγὼ καὶ ὁ πατήρ«, ὄντος τοῦ ἄρθρου τοῦ »ὁ« καὶ τοῦ »καί« ἀνά μέσον, σημαίνει πατέρα φύσει πατέρα καὶ υἱὸν φύσει υἱόν.

57.3.9 | And when he said, “I and my father are one,” he did not say, “I and my father am one,” but “I and my father are one.” And the “I and the father,” because of the article “the” and the “and” in the middle, means the father is father by nature and the son is son by nature.

Section 4

57.4.1 | 4. Καὶ πάλιν περὶ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος »ἐὰν ἀπέλθω, ἐκεῖνος ἔρχεται, τὸ πνεῦμα τῆς ἀληθείας«. πολὺ δὲ σαφέστατόν ἐστι τοῦτο τό »ἐγὼ ὑπάγω καὶ ἐκεῖνος ἔρχεται«. οὐκ εἶπεν »ἐγὼ ὑπάγω

57.4.1 | And again about the holy spirit, “If I go away, he will come, the spirit of truth.” But this “I am going and he is coming” is much clearer. He did not say, “I am going and I am coming,” but from the “I” and “he”

καὶ ἐγὼ ἔρχομαι», ἀλλὰ ἀπὸ τοῦ »ἐγώ« καὶ »ἐκεῖνος« ἐσήμανεν ἐνυπόστατον τὸν υἱόν, ἐνυπόστατον τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα.

he showed that the son is a person, and the holy spirit is a person.

57.4.2 | καὶ πάλιν »τὸ πνεῦμα τῆς ἀληθείας τὸ ἐκ τοῦ πατρὸς ἐκπορευόμενον καὶ ἐκ τοῦ ἐμοῦ λαμβάνον«, ἵνα δείξῃ ἐνυπόστατον τὸν πατέρα, ἐνυπόστατον τὸν υἱόν καὶ ἐνυπόστατον τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα.

57.4.2 | And again, "the spirit of truth, who proceeds from the father and receives from me," to show that the father is a person, the son is a person, and the holy spirit is a person.

57.4.3 | καὶ πάλιν δὲ ἐπὶ τοῦ Ἰορδάνου ἄνωθεν ὁ πατὴρ ἐλάλει, υἱὸς δὲ ἐν Ἰορδάνῃ κατήρχετο, τὸ δὲ πνεῦμα μεσαίτατον ἐν εἵδει περιστερᾶς ἐφαίνετο καὶ ἦλθεν ἐπ' αὐτόν, καίτοι γε τοῦ πνεύματος μὴ φορέσαντος σάρκα μήτε ἐνδυσαμένου μένου σῶμα.

57.4.3 | And again, above the Jordan the father spoke, the son was going down into the Jordan, and the spirit appeared in the middle as a dove and came upon him, even though the spirit did not carry a body or wear a lasting flesh.

57.4.4 | διὰ δὲ τὸ μὴ ἠομίζεσθαι συναλοιφήν εἶναι πρὸς τὸν υἱόν, τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα σχηματίζεται ἐν εἵδει περιστερᾶς διὰ τὸ ἀπτάνεσθαι φύσει ἐνυπόστατον τὸ πνεῦμα.

57.4.4 | Because it is not thought to share substance with the son, the holy spirit takes the shape of a dove, because the spirit is by nature invisible.

57.4.5 | πόθεν δὲ ἀλλαχόθεν οὐκ ἔχομεν δεῖξαι κατὰ τούτων τῶν τῇν φρενοβλάβειαν ἐαυτοῖς ἐγκισσώντων; εἰ μὲν γὰρ ἀληθεύει ἡ αὐτῶν διάνοια καὶ ὁ λόγος ὁ ἕωλος καὶ μὴ ἔχων σύστασιν μήτε δύναμιν μήτε συνέσεως λογισμὸν ἢ ἔμφασιν, ἄρα γοῦν ἐκβληταὶ εἰσὶν αἱ γραφαί, αἱ πάντη μὲν πατέρα πατέρα γινώσκουσιν καὶ υἱὸν υἱὸν καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα ἅγιον πνεῦμα.

57.4.5 | But from somewhere else do we not have proof against those who stick to their own madness? For if their mind and their empty word, which has no order, no power, no understanding, no reason, no meaning, are true, then surely the scriptures are nonsense, which everywhere know the father as father, the son as son, and the holy spirit as holy spirit.

57.4.6 | Ἀλλὰ τί φάσκεῖς, ὦ οὔτος; μὴ

57.4.6 | But what do you say, you? Surely πολυθεΐαν ἡγήσονται οἱ τὸ σέβας ἀληθινῶς τῇ τριάδι ποσφύροντες, οἵτινές εἰσιν υἱοὶ τῆς ἀληθείας καὶ τῆς μόνης ἀποστολικῆς καὶ καθολικῆς ἐκκλησίας; καὶ οὐχ οὕτως.

those who truly honor the triad would not think it is many gods, those who are sons of truth and of the one apostolic and universal church. And it is not so.

57.4.7 | τίς γὰρ οὐκ ἐρεῖ ἓνα θεὸν εἶναι τῆς ἀληθείας, πατέρα παντοκράτορα, ἐξ οὗπερ ὁ μονογενὴς υἱὸς ἐν ἀληθείᾳ θεὸς Λόγος, ἐνυπόστατος Λόγος, γεγεννημένος ἀληθινῶς ἐξ αὐτοῦ ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόζυνως;

57.4.7 | For who would not say that there is one true god, the almighty father, from whom the only-begotten son, truly god the word, the real word, is born truly from him without beginning and without color?

57.4.8 | διὸ ἓνα θεὸν ἀσφαλῶς κηρύττει ἡ ἐκκλησία, πατέρα καὶ υἱόν· διότι »ἐγὼ ἐν τῷ πατρὶ καὶ ὁ πατὴρ ἐν ἐμοί, καὶ οἱ δύο ἓν ἐσμεν«, τουτέστιν μία θεότης καὶ ἓν θέλημα καὶ μία κυριότης.

57.4.8 | Therefore the church surely proclaims one god, father and son; because “I am in the father and the father is in me, and the two are one,” that is, one godhead and one will and one lordship.

57.4.9 | ἐξ αὐτοῦ δὲ τοῦ πατρὸς καὶ τὸ πνεῦμα ἐκπορεύεται, ἐνυπόστατον ὄν καὶ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ τέλειον, τὸ πνεῦμα τῆς ἀληθείας, τὸ φωτίζον τὰ πάντα, τὸ ἐκ τοῦ υἱοῦ λαμβάνον, τὸ πνεῦμα τοῦ πατρός. τὸ πνεῦμα τοῦ Χριστοῦ.

57.4.9 | And from that father also the spirit proceeds, being real and truly perfect, the spirit of truth, the one who lights up all things, the one who takes from the son, the spirit of the father. The spirit of Christ.

57.4.10 | διὸ μίαν θεότητα οἶδεν ἡ ἐκκλησία· εἷς θεὸς ὁ τῆς ἀληθείας πατήρ, πατὴρ τελείος ἐνυπόστατος καὶ υἱὸς υἱὸς τέλειος ἐνυπόστατος καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα ἅγιον πνεῦμα τέλειον ἐνυπόστατον, μία θεότης καὶ δεσποτεία μία κυριότης.

57.4.10 | Therefore the church knows one godhead; one god the father of truth, a perfect real father, and a son a perfect real son, and a holy spirit a perfect real holy spirit, one godhead and one power, one lordship.

57.4.11 | διὸ πανταχοῦ σαφῶς κεκηρύχασιν αἱ θεῖαι γραφαὶ ἓνα θεόν, τουτέστιν τριάδα ὁμοούσιον, αἰὶ οὔσαν τῆς αὐτῆς θεότητος, τῆς αὐτῆς κυριότητος.

57.4.11 | Therefore, everywhere the holy scriptures clearly proclaim one god, that is, a triad of the same substance, always being of the same godhead, the same lordship.

57.4.12 | καὶ διέπεσεν ἐκ πανταχόθεν ὁ τῆς ἀνοησίας σου λόγος, ὦ Νόητε. τοίνυν φωνάς, σκοπῖν ἐξ ὑπαρχῆς χρῆ καὶ οὕτως τὰ αὐτοῦ κεφάλαια ἀνατρέπειν.

57.4.12 | And your word of foolishness fell from everywhere, O wise one. Therefore, you must look carefully at the sounds from the beginning and so overturn his main points.

Section 5

57.5.1 | 5. Πρῶτον μὲν οὖν ἐπιδὴ παρήγαγε τὸ κεφάλαιον ὅτι »εἷς θεός, ἐξ οὗ τὰ πάντα καὶ ἡμεῖς εἰς αὐτόν, καὶ εἷς κύριος Ἰησοῦς χριστός, δι' ὃς τὰ πάντα καὶ ἡμεῖς δι' αὐτοῦ«, οὐχ ὁρᾷς ὅτι λέγων »εἷς θεός, ἐξ οὗ τὰ πάντα καὶ ἡμεῖς εἰς αὐτόν«, πῶς τὴν μίαν ἀρχὴν σημαίνει ἵνα μὴ εἰς πολλὰς ἀρχὰς τρέψῃ τὴν διάνοιαν καὶ εἰς πολυθεΐαν ἀγάγῃ τῆς πολυθεΐας;

57.5.1 | First then, since he brought forward the point that “there is one god, from whom all things and we come to him, and one lord Jesus Christ, through whom all things and we come through him,” don’t you see that by saying “one god, from whom all things and we come to him,” he means the one source, so that the mind does not turn to many sources and lead to many gods from the belief in many gods?

57.5.2 | ὁρᾷς γὰρ πῶς ἐνὶ ὀνόματι κέχρηται καὶ μιᾷ ὀνομασίᾳ, οὐκ ἀρνούμενος τὸν μονογενῆ θεόν. οἶδε γὰρ αὐτὸν κύριον καὶ οἶδεν αὐτὸν θεόν· διὸ ἀσφαλιζόμενος λέγει »καὶ εἷς αὐτὸν κύριον καὶ οἶδεν αὐτὸν θεόν· διὸ ἀσφαλιζόμενος λέγει »καὶ εἷς κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, δι' οὗ τὰ πάντα«.

57.5.2 | For you see how he used one name and one naming, not denying the only-begotten god. For he knows him as lord and he knows him as god; therefore, being sure, he says “and one lord Jesus Christ, through whom all things.”

57.5.3 | καὶ ἐπὶ μὲν τοῦ κυρίου τοῦτο λέγων οὐ τοῦ αὐτὸν ἐσήμανεν εἶναι πατέρα καὶ τὸν αὐτόν, ἀλλὰ ἔσειξε τὸν μὲν πατέρα πατέρα ὄντα, τὸν δὲ υἱὸν υἱὸν ἀξέθῳ,

57.5.3 | And by saying this about the lord, he did not mean that he is the same as the father, but he showed that the one is father as father, and the son as son distinctly,

57.5.4 | ἐπειδὴ τῷ εἶναι »εἷς θεός« ἐπὶ τῷ πατρὶ οὐχ ὡς ἀρνούμενος ἐπὶ τῷ υἱῷ τὸ εἶναι θεός <ἐλεγεν> (εἰ γὰρ μὴ θεός, οὔτε κύριος· ἐπιδὴ δὲ κύριος, καὶ θεός),

57.5.4 | Since he did not deny that the son is god when he said “one god” about the father (for if he were not god, he would not be lord; but since he is lord, he is also god), ἀλλὰ εἰς μίαν ὀνομασίαν ἄγειν ἀναγκαζόμενος ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος ἔφραζεν ἡμῖν τὴν πίστιν, ἐιργάζων ἓνα κύριον σημαίνων, ἅρα γε καὶ θεόν.

but was forced by the holy spirit to bring them under one name, the holy apostle showed us the faith clearly by meaning one lord, and so also god.

57.5.5 | Ἀλλὰ μηδεὶς νομιζέτω, ἐπιδὴ λέγει ἓνα καὶ ἓνα, μὴ ἅρα παρέλιπε τὸν ἀριθμὸν τῆς τριάδος, ἐπειδὴ οὐκ ὠνόμασε τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα. οἰομάσας γὰρ πατέρα καὶ υἱὸν θεὸν καὶ κύριον, ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ ὠνόμασεν. οὐ γὰρ ἐπιδὴ εἶπεν »εἷς θεός«, περὶ πατρός.

57.5.5 | But let no one think, just because he says one and one, that he left out the number of the trinity, since he did not name the holy spirit. For having named the father and the son as god and lord, he named them in the holy spirit. For he did not say "one god" only about the father.

57.5.6 | »ἐξ οὗ τὰ πάντα«, ἡρνήσατο αὐτὸν [τὸ] εἶναι κύριον· οὐδὲ πάλιν ἐπιδὴ εἶπε »καὶ εἷς κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός«, ἡρνήσατο εἶναι αὐτὸν θεόν,

57.5.6 | "From whom are all things," he denied him to be lord; nor again, since he said "and one lord Jesus Christ," did he deny him to be god,

57.5.7 | ἀλλὰ καθάπερ ἐπὶ τῷ πατρὶ ἡρκέσθη ἐπὶ τῇ μιᾷ ὀνομασίᾳ, λέγων »εἷς θεός«, σὺν δὲ τῷ θεῷ δῆλον ὅτι ἔστι καὶ κύριος, οὕτω καὶ ἐπὶ τῷ υἱῷ ἡρκέσθη τῷ »εἷς κύριος· σὺν δὲ τῷ »[εἷς] κύριος« σύνεστι καὶ τὸ θεός.

57.5.7 | but just as concerning the father he was satisfied with one name, saying "one god," and with god it is clear that he is also lord, so also concerning the son he was satisfied with "one lord"; and with "one lord" god is also understood.

57.5.8 | λέγων ἐν περὶ πατρὸς καὶ υἱοῦ, οὐ κοῦφος ἦν ἀπὸ πνεύματος ἁγίου, ἀλλὰ ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ, ὡς ἔφην, ἐφθέγγετο. εἴωθε δὲ ἀεὶ τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα οὐ σύστασιν ἑαυτοῦ ποιούμενον *, ἵνα μὴ ἡμῖν ὑπογραμμὸν δώσει τοῦ περὶ ἑαυτῶν * καὶ ἡμᾶς τὴν σύστασιν <ἑαυτῶν> ποιήσασθαι.

57.5.8 | speaking about the father and the son, he was not silent about the holy spirit, but spoke in the holy spirit, as i said. the holy spirit has always been used without making a separate group, so that it would not give us a pattern about itself and make us form a group for ourselves.

57.5.9 | ἅρα οὖν »εἷς θεός ὁ πατήρ, ἐξ οὗ τὰ πάντα, καὶ εἷς κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, δι’

57.5.9 | so then, "one god the father, from whom all things, and one lord Jesus Christ, οὗ τὰ πάντα [ἢ δι' ὃν τὰ πάντα]», καὶ ἓν τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα, οὐκ ἀλλότριον θεοῦ, ἐνυπόστατον δὲ ὄν, διότι πνεῦμα θεοῦ καὶ πνεῦμα ἀληθείας καὶ πνεῦμα πατρὸς καὶ πνεῦμα Χριστοῦ.

through whom all things,” and one holy spirit, not foreign to god, but existing in being, because it is the spirit of god and the spirit of truth and the spirit of the father and the spirit of Christ.

Section 6

57.6.1 | 6. Εἰ δὲ χρεῖα εἰπεῖν καὶ περὶ τοῦ »έκοπίασεν Αἴγυπτος καὶ ἐμπορία Αἰθιοπῶν, καὶ οἱ Σαβαεῖν ἄνδρες ὑψηλοὶ ἐπὶ δὲ διαβήσονται [καὶ τό »σὺ εἶ θεός καὶ οὐκ ἠδαιμεν«] καὶ σοὶ δοῦλοι ἔσονται, καὶ πορεύσονται ἀπίσω σου δεδεμένοι χεροπέσαις καὶ ἐν σοὶ προσκυνήσουσι καὶ ἐν σοὶ προσεύξονται, ὅτι ἐν σοὶ θεός ἐστι καὶ οὐκ ἔστι θεὸς πλὴν σοῦ· σὺ γὰρ εἶ θεός· καὶ οὐκ ἠδαιμεν, ὁ θεὸς τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ σωτήρ«, λέξει δέ. »οὐχ ὁρᾷς, φησὶν, ὅτι εἷς θεός ἐστιν.

57.6.1 | 6. But if it is necessary to speak also about “Egypt grew tired and the trade of the Ethiopians, and the men of Sheba are tall and will cross over, and ‘you are god and we did not know it,’ and your servants will be, and they will go after you bound with chains and will worship in you and pray in you, because in you there is god and there is no god besides you; for you are god. And we did not know, the god of Israel is savior,” he will say. “Do you not see,” he says, “that there is one god?”

57.6.2 | ἐκ τῶν τοσούτων ἡρτῶν, ὧν ὑπεδείξαμεν«, οὐ νοῶν τὰ εἰρημένα, ἀλλὰ πανούργως περικόπτων τὰς γραφάς, λοξὰ μὲν διηγούμενος, ἀνθυπερβάτως δὲ εἰσάγων τοὺς λόγους, οὐκ ἀκολούθως καὶ περὶ πόδα φθέγγεται οὔτε καθ' εἰρμὸν διηγείται ὁ Νόητος ἢ οἱ ἐξ αὐτοῦ Νοητιανοὶ [νοοῦσιν].

57.6.2 | From these many examples, which we showed, not understanding what was said, but cunningly cutting the scriptures, telling things crookedly, and introducing words beyond what is right, neither does Noetus speak consistently or follow the order, nor do the Noetians who come from him understand.

57.6.3 | ὥσπερ γὰρ κακῶ κυνὶ ὄνομα Λέων <ἐπιτιθέασιν> καὶ τοὺς μὴ σὲ ὅλως ὁρῶντας καλοῦσι πολὺ βλέποντας καὶ τὰς χολὰς γλυκείας φασὶ καὶ τὸ ὄξος μέλι τινὲς ἐπωνόμασαν καὶ τὰς Ἐρινύας Εὐμενίδας φασὶ καὶ ὠνόμασαν, οὕτων καὶ οὗτος καὶ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ, Νοήτου ἔχων ὄνομα, 57.6.3 | For just as to a bad dog they give the name Lion, and they call those who hardly see at all “far-seeing,” and some have called bile “sweet” and sourness “honey,” and they say the Furies are kindly ones and named them so, this man and those from him, having the name Noetus, do the same.

57.6.4 | ἀνόητος ὑπάρχει καὶ οἱ ἐξ αὐτοῦ ἀνοητοῦντες, μηδὲ ὅλως τὴν ἀκολούθιαν ὧν τε φάσκει καὶ ὧν προβάλλονται νοοῦντες, ὡς καὶ πληροῦσθαι ἐπ’ αὐτοὺς τὸ εἰρημένον ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου ἀποστόλου »μήτε ἃ γέγουσι νοοῦντες μήτε περὶ τίνων διαβεβαιοῦνται«.

57.6.4 | he is foolish, and those from him are acting foolishly, not at all understanding the order of what he claims and what is said against them, as if the saying of the holy apostle is fulfilled about them: “neither do they understand what happens, nor what they insist on.”

Section 7

57.7.1 | 7. Ὁρᾶτε γάρ, ὧ ἄνδρες ἀδελφοί, πῶς ἀνώτερον ἄφη ἡ θεία γραφή, μᾶλλον δὲ αὐτὸς ὁ κύριος, ὡς ἔχει Ἡ ἀρχὴ τοῦ κεφαλαίου· ὅθεν καὶ δεικτέον ἐστὶ περὶ τῆς πάσης ἐν αὐτῷ κεφαλαίῳ ἀληθείας τε καὶ ὑποθέσεως ὅτι »ἐρωτήσατε με περὶ τῶν υἱῶν μου καὶ τῶν θυγατέρων μου, καὶ <περὶ> τῶν ἔργων τῶν χειρῶν μου ἐντείλασθέ μοι. ἐγὼ ἐποίησα, φησί.

57.7.1 | You see, brothers, how much higher the divine scripture speaks, and even the Lord himself, as the beginning of the chapter shows; from this, it must be pointed out about the whole chapter the truth and the purpose, that “ask me about my sons and my daughters, and command me about the works of my hands. I made them,” he says.

57.7.2 | τὴν γῆν καὶ ἄνθρωπον ἐπ’ αὐτῆς, ἐγὼ τῇ χειρὶ μου ἐστερέωσα τὸν οὐρανόν, ἐγὼ πᾶσι τοῖς ἄστροις ἐνετειλάμην, ἐγὼ ἤγειρα μετὰ δικαιοσύνης βασιλέα καὶ πᾶσαι αἱ ὁδοὶ αὐτοῦ εὐθεῖαι. οὗτος οἰκοδομήσει τὴν πόλιν μου καὶ τὴν αἰχμαλωσίαν ἐπιστρέψει, οὐ μετὰ λύτρων οὐδὲ μετὰ δώρων, εἶπε κύριος σαβαώθ«.

57.7.2 | the earth and the man on it, i with my hand stretched out held up the sky, i commanded all the stars, i raised up a king with justice, and all his ways are straight. he will build my city and bring back the captives, not with ransom nor gifts, said the lord of hosts.

57.7.3 | εἴτα λοιπόν »ἐκοπίασεν Αἴγυπτος καὶ Ἡ ἐμπορία Αἰθιοπῶν« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς »ὅτι ἐν σοὶ ὁ θεὸς ἐστίν«.

57.7.3 | then, therefore, “egypt grew tired, and the trade of the ethiopians,” and what follows, “for in you is god.”

57.7.4 | ἐν τίνι δὲ φαίμεν ἀλλ’ ἢ ἐν τῇ ἐν τῷ πατρὶ λόγῳ: καὶ γὰρ ἀλθῶς θεὸς λόγος ὁ υἱὸς καὶ ἐν αὐτῷ Ὁ πατὴρ

57.7.4 | but in what should we say it except in the ancestral word? for truly the son is god the word, and in him the father is γινώσκεται, ὡς λέγει »ὁ ἐμρακῶς ἐμὲ ἐύρακεν τὸν πατέρα« καὶ »ἐγὼ ἐδόξασά σου τὸ ὄνομα ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς».

known, as it says, “he who has seen me has seen the father,” and “i have glorified your name on the earth.”

57.7.5 | εἶτα πάλιν »ἐγὼ ἤγειρα βασιλέα«. οὐχ ὁρᾷς ὅτι φωνὴ ἐστὶ πατρὸς ἰδιάζουσα ἢ ἐγείρασα ἐξ αὐτῆς τὸν ἀηθινὸν Λόγον βασιλέα ἐπὶ πάντας, τὸν ἐξ αὐτοῦ ἀληθινῶς γεννηθέντα ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόνως;

57.7.5 | then again, “i have raised up a king.” do you not see that it is a voice of the father, special, that i raised up from it the unusual word, a king over all, the one truly born from him without beginning and without time?

57.7.6 | ὃν καὶ ἤγειρε πάλιν, αὐτὸν τὸν βασιλέα, ὡς λέγει ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος φάσκων »εἰ δὲ τὸ πνεῦμα τοῦ ἐγείραντος Χριστὸν ἐν ὑμῖν, ὁ ἐγείρας Χριστὸν ἐκ νεκρῶν ζωογονήσει καὶ τὰ θνητὰ σώματα Ὑμῶν, διὰ τοῦ ἐνοικοῦντος πνεύματος αὐτοῦ ἐν ὑμῖν»,

57.7.6 | whom also he raised up again, the king himself, as the holy apostle says, “if the spirit of the one who raised Christ is in you, the one who raised Christ from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through his spirit living in you,”

57.7.7 | ὅπως συνάδοι τὰ προφητικά τοῖς ἀποστολικοῖς καὶ τὰ ἀποστολικά τοῖς εὐαγγελικοῖς καὶ τὰ εὐαγγελικά τοῖς ἀποστολικοῖς καὶ τὰ ἀποστολικά τοῖς προφητικοῖς· ἐκεῖ γάρ »<ἐγὼ> ἤγειρα βασιλέα«, καὶ ὧδε· »ὁ ἐγείρων Χριστὸν ἐν νεκρῶν».

57.7.7 | so that the prophetic words agree with the apostolic, and the apostolic with the gospel, and the gospel with the apostolic, and the apostolic with the prophetic; for there it says, “i raised up a king,” and here, “the one who raises Christ from the dead.”

57.7.8 | τὸ δὲ »ἐν σοὶ θεός ἐστιν« <δείκνυσιν>, ὡς μυστηριωδῶς τὰ πάντα κα]θαυμασίως διηγεῖται ἡ θεία γραφή. ὥσπερ γὰρ ἐν ναῷ ἐν σαρκὶ <κατοικοῦσα> προεωρᾶτο καὶ προκατηγγέλλετο τῇ τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἐλπίδι διὰ τῆς πρὸς τὸν θεὸν ἐπιστροφῆς ἢ θεότης.

57.7.8 | but “god is in you” shows how mysteriously and wonderfully the holy scripture tells everything. just as god living in a temple in the flesh was seen beforehand and announced as hope for people turning to god.

57.8.2 | because of this, he says that the one who came from above shows one unity of the word's joining together and becoming human, rising up in the perfection of godhood.

57.8.3 | καὶ γὰρ νῦν ὁ μὴ ὢν ποτε σὰρξ, ἀλλὰ πνεῦμα, σὰρξ γέγονεν ἐκ πνεύματος καὶ παρθόνου, ὁ προσενεχθεὶς πατρὶ τέλειος Λόγος, ὃς πρὸ τούτου ἐν οὐρανῷ οὐκ ἦν σὰρξ.

57.8.3 | and even now, the one who was never flesh, but spirit, became flesh from spirit and a virgin, the perfect word brought to the father, who before this was not flesh in heaven.

57.8.4 | τί οὖν ἦν ὁ ἐν οὐρανῷ ἀλλὰ ὁ Λόγος ὁ ἀπ' οὐρανοῦ ἀποσταλεὶς, ἔχων τὴν εἰς μίαν θεότητα ἔνωσιν κατὰ δύναμιν πατρὸς συνηνωμένην, ἵνα δείξῃ ὅτι ἐπὶ γῆς καὶ <ἐν> οὐρανῷ ὁ αὐτὸς θεὸς Λόγος ὑπῆρχεν, ἄτρεπτος ὢν καὶ ἀναλλοίωτος.

57.8.4 | so what was the one in heaven except the word sent from heaven, having the union of one godhood joined by the power of the father, to show that on earth and in heaven the same god word existed, unchanging and not altered?

57.8.5 | Λόγος γὰρ ἦν, θεὸς ἦν αἰεὶ, πνεῦμα ἦν, δύναμις ἦν, ὃς τὸ κοινὸν ὄνομα καὶ παρὰ ἀνθρώποις χωρητὸν ἀνελάμβανεν εἰς ἑαυτόν, οὕτω καλούμενος υἱὸς ἀνθρώπου, υἱὸς ὢν θεοῦ·

57.8.5 | for he was the word, he was always god, he was spirit, he was power, who took up into himself the common name, which among humans is limited, thus being called the son of man, being the son of god;

57.8.6 | καὶ ἐν προφήταις προωνομάζετο, ὑπερ οὐπω ἐν σαρκὶ ἦν, διὰ τὸ μέλλον ἐν αὐτῷ τελειοῦσθαι, ὡς καὶ Δανιὴλ ἔφη »εἶδον ὡς υἱὸν ἀνθρώπου ἐρχόμενον ἐπὶ τῶν νεφελῶν«.

57.8.6 | and in the prophets he was named beforehand, though he was not yet in flesh, because he was going to be perfected in him, just as Daniel said, “I saw like a son of man coming on the clouds.”

57.8.7 | διὸ δικαίως ἐν οὐρανῷ <ὄντα> τῷ ὀνόματι τούτῳ τὸν Λόγον, <ὄν> εἶδε πνεύματι ἁγίῳ, ὁ προφήτης υἱὸν ἀνθρώπου ἐκάλει, τὸ <μέλλον> πρὶν γενέσθαι ἀταθεωρῶν καὶ πρὶν τοῦ ἐν σαρκὶ γενέσθαι υἱὸν ἀνθρώπου ἀποκαλῶν.

57.8.7 | therefore rightly in heaven, being by this name, the word, whom the prophet saw by the holy spirit, he called the son of man, the future before it happened and before the son of man came in flesh.

57.8.8 | διὸ τὰ πρῶτα ὕστερα σημαίνων ὁ μονογενὴς φάσκει »δύδεις ἀναβέβηκεν εἰς τὸν οὐρανόν. εἰ μὴ ὁ ἐκ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ καταβάς, ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου«· οὐχ ὅτι δὲ

57.8.8 | therefore the only-begotten, meaning the first things later, says, “no one has gone up into heaven except the one who came down from heaven, the son of ἄνω ἦν σὰρξ, ἀλλὰ ὅτι ἄνωθεν κατήρχετο, τούτῳ τῷ ὀνόματι μέλλων καλεῖσθαι.

man”; not that the flesh was above, but because he came down from above, he was going to be called by this name.

Section 9

57.9.1 | 9. Ἀλλὰ τί ἐστὶν ὃ ἐρεῖς. ὦ οὗτος, ὅτι »οὗτος, φησὶν, ὁ θεὸς ἡμῶν, καὶ οὐ λογισθήσεται ἄλλος«. καὶ καλῶς πάνυ ἔφη, ὡς καὶ ὁ ἀπόστολος διαβεβαιοῦται λέγων »ὧν οἱ πατέρες καὶ ἐξ ὧν ὁ Χριστὸς τὸ κατὰ σάρκα, ὁ ὧν ἐπὶ πάντων θεός«.

57.9.1 | But what is it that you will say? “Oh, this one,” because “this one,” he says, “is our god, and no other will be counted.” And he said very well, just as the apostle also confirms, saying, “from whom the fathers are, and from whom Christ is according to the flesh, the one who is God over all.”

57.9.2 | θαυμαστῶς [ὅτι] διηγεῖται· οὗτος γὰρ ὁ ὧν ἔστιν ἐπὶ πάντων θεός· ἐπειδὴ γὰρ αὐτὸς διδάσκει ἡμᾶς λέγων »πάντα μοι παρεδόθη ὑπὸ τοῦ πατρὸς μου«, διὰ τοῦτο ἐπὶ πάντων ἐστὶ θεός.

57.9.2 | He tells wonderfully, for this one who is God over all; because he himself teaches us, saying, “all things have been given to me by my father,” therefore he is God over all.

57.9.3 | οὕτω γὰρ καὶ Ἰωάννης μαρτυρεῖ λέγων »ὃ ἦν ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς. ὃ ἠκούσαμεν καὶ τοῖς ὀφθαλμοῖς ἐώρακαρεν, καὶ αἱ χεῖρες ἡμῶν ἐψηλάφησαν«, καὶ πάλιν φησὶν ἐν τῇ Ἀποκαλύψει »ὃ ὧν ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς καὶ ἐρχόμενος παντοκράτωρ«.

57.9.3 | For so John also bears witness, saying, “the one who was from the beginning. The one we heard and saw with our eyes, and our hands touched,” and again he says in the Revelation, “the one who is from the beginning and coming, the almighty.”

57.9.4 | καλῶς κατὰ πάντα εἶπε· ἐν τῷ γὰρ εἰπεῖν »πάντα μοι παρεδόθη ὑπὸ τοῦ πατρὸς μου«, καὶ ὅτι πατέρα· ἀκριβῶς ὑπετίθετο.

57.9.4 | He spoke well in every way; for in saying “all things have been given to me by my father,” he also clearly meant the father.

57.9.5 | ἐπὶ πάντα μὲν οὖν ὧν θεός, ἔχων δὲ ἴδιον αὐτοῦ πατέρα, * ἐν τῷ λέγειν »ἀπέρχομαι πρὸς τὸν πατέρα«. εἰ δὲ ἦν αὐτὸς πατήρ, πρὸς ποῖον ἄρα πατέρα

57.9.5 | Being God over all, and having his own father, * in saying “I go to the father.” But if he himself was the father, to what ἄπεισι, ὧ ἀνόητε;

father then does he go away, foolish one?

Section 10

57.10.1 | 10. Ἡ γὰρ πάλιν λέγει »ἵνα ὧσιν ἔν, ὡς ἐγὼ καὶ σὺ ἔν ἐσμεν;« ἀεὶ γὰρ ἡ γραφὴ ἀσφαλιζομένη τὰς κατὰ τὸ ἄκρον πτώσεις τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἐκ πανταχόθεν τὸν νοῦν συνάγει ἐπὶ τὴν μέσῃ τῆς ἀληθείας ὁδόν.

57.10.1 | For again he says, "so that they may be one, just as I and you are one." For the scripture, always protecting against the greatest falls of people, gathers the mind from all sides toward the middle of the true path.

57.10.2 | καὶ πρὸς τούτους μὲν τοὺς νομίζοντας ἀλλότριον εἶται τοῦ πατρὸς τὸν υἱόν, φημὶ δὲ ὡς ὁ Ἄρειος νομίζει καὶ ἄλλαι αἱρέσεις, λέγει »ἐγὼ καὶ ὁ πατὴρ ἔν ἐσμεν«

57.10.2 | And toward those who think the son is foreign to the father, I say, as Arius and other heresies think, he says, "I and the father are one."

57.10.3 | πρὸς δὲ τοὺς νομίζοντας τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι πατέρα καὶ τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι υἱὸν διὰ τὸ εἰρηκέναι »ἐγὼ καὶ ὁ πατὴρ ἔν ἐσμεν«, λέγει »ποιήσον αὐτοὺς ἵνα ὧσιν ἔνκαθώς κάγω καὶ σὺ ἔν ἐσμεν«, ἵνα καταισχύνη Νόητον καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ σχολήν, παραγαγὼν εἰς μέσον τὴν τῶν μαθητῶν ἔνωσιν.

57.10.3 | But toward those who think the father is the same and the son is the same because of the saying "I and the father are one," he says, "make them one, just as I and you are one," so that he may shame Noetus and his school, bringing the unity of the disciples into the middle.

57.10.4 | πῶς γὰρ ἡδύνατο Πέτρος καὶ Ἰωάννης καὶ οἱ καθεξῆς εἶναι ἔν ὡς κατὰ συναλοιφήν; ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸ εἶναι ἓν μιᾷ ἐνότητι θεότητος καὶ ἓν μιᾷ γνώμῃ καὶ δυνάμει, εἰς τὸ ἀποκρούσασθαι πᾶσαν ὑπόνοιαν κατὰ θάτερον τῆς ἀληθείας ἐπανισταμένην *

57.10.4 | For how could Peter and John and those after them be one as if by joining together? But because they are in one unity of godhead and in one mind and power, to knock down every doubt rising against either part of the truth.

57.10.5 | * Φίλιππος [δὲ] ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος φάσκων ὅτι »δεῖξον ἡμῖν τὸν πατέρα σου«. ὁ δὲ εἶπεν »ὁ ἑωρακὼς ἐμέ

57.10.5 | But Philip, the holy apostle, saying "show us your father," he said, "the one who has seen me has seen the father," and ἐώρακε τὸν πατέρα», καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν »ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ πατήρ», he did not say “I am the father.”

57.10.6 | ἀλλὰ τῷ »ἐμέ« σημαίνων ἑαυτὸν ἔλεγεν· τῷ δὲ »ἐώρακε τὸν πατέρα«, οὐχ ἑαυτὸν ἔλεγεν. ἄλλο γὰρ τό »τὸν πατέρα« καὶ ἄλλο τό »ἐμέ« καὶ ἄλλο <τό> »ἐγώ«, καὶ ἕτερον τό »ἐμέ«.

57.10.6 | But by “me” he meant himself; by “has seen the father,” he did not mean himself. For “the father” is one thing, and “me” is another, and “I” is another, and “me” is different too.

57.10.7 | εἰ γὰρ ἦν αὐτὸς ὁ πατήρ, ἔλεγεν »ἐγὼ εἰμι«· ἐπειδὴ δὲ οὐκ αὐτός ἐστιν ὁ πατήρ, ἀλλὰ ὁ υἱός, ἀληθῶς λέγει »ὁ ἐμὲ ἐωρακὼς ἐώρακε τὸν πατέρα«, ἵνα ἀποκρούσῃται τὴν τοῦ Ἀρείου βλασφημίαν τὴν τὸν υἱὸν ἀπὸ τοῦ πατρὸς ἀπαλλοτριοῦσαν.

57.10.7 | For if he were the father himself, he would say “I am.” But since he is not the father, but the son, he truly says “the one who has seen me has seen the father,” so that he might reject the blasphemy of Arius, which takes the son away from the father.

57.10.8 | Διὸ τῆς πάσης γραφῆς σαφῶς περὶ ἀληθείας ἡμῖν τὴν ὁδὸν ὑποτιθεμένης <ἐνταῦθα> λήξωμεν καὶ τοῦτον τὸν Νόητον καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ αἵρεσιν, Νοητιανῶν φημι, σὺν ταῖς ἄλλαις αἱρέσεσι παρωσάμενοι, ὥσπερ ὀστρακέτην τὸν καλούμενον δράκοντα, τὸν μὴ δυνάμενον κάμπτεσθαι ἐν τῷ καταδιώκειν ἄνθρωπον, μήτε δεξιὰ μήτε εὐώνυμα, ἐκκλίναντες <τε> ἀπὸ τῆς αὐτοῦ τε καὶ τῆς αὐτοῦ σχολῆς μοχθηρίας, 57.10.8 | Therefore, since the whole scripture clearly shows us the way about truth, let us stop here about this Noetus and his heresy, which I say is of the Noetians, along with other heresies, rejecting him like a broken pot called a dragon, who cannot be bent when chasing a man, neither to the right nor to the left, turning away from both his and his school’s wickedness.

57.10.9 | ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς δυνάμει τοῦ θεοῦ τὸν νοῦν ἀκοντίσωμεν, πρὸς διήγησιν καὶ ἔλεγχον τῶν ἐν αὐταῖς ἐπινενοημένων κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας ξενολεξιῶν.

57.10.9 | Let us aim our mind at the power of God for what follows, to explain and refute the strange words thought up against the truth in them.

Book 58

Section 1

58.1.1 | Περὶ Οὐάλησίων ἀκηκόαμεν πολλάκις, οὐ μέντοι γε ἔγνωμέν που. τίς ἢ πόθεν ὠρμάτο ἢ τί λέγων ἢ νουθετῶν ἢ φθεγγόμενος <ὑπῆρχεν> ὁ Οὐάλης οὗτος.

58.1.1 | We have heard about Valens many times, but still we do not really know who he was or where he came from, or what he said, or warned, or spoke, this Valens.

58.1.2 | καὶ τὸ μὲν ὄνομα Ἀραβικὸν ὑπάρχον τινὰ ὑπόνοιαν ἡμῖν φέρεσθαι, ὡς ἐν ὑπονοίᾳ *, καθάπερ ἔφην, τινὰς ὄντας ἐν Βακάθοις τῆς Φιλαδελφηϊᾶς χώρας πέραν τοῦ Ἰορδάνου.

58.1.2 | And the name being Arabic brings some suspicion to us, as if, as I said, there were some in Bakathoi of the land of Philadelphia beyond the Jordan.

58.1.3 | καὶ οἱ μὲν ἐπιχώριοι τούτους Γνωστικούς βούλονται λέγειν, οὐκ εἰσὶ δὲ τῶν Γνωστικῶν· ἕτερα γὰρ τούτων τὰ γρονήματα. τὰ δὲ εἰς ἡμᾶς ἐλθόντα περὶ αὐτῶν τοῦτο ἔχει τὸν τρόπον.

58.1.3 | And the locals want to call these Gnostics, but they are not of the Gnostics; for their beliefs are different. But what has come to us about them is like this.

58.1.4 | Ἐν μὲν τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ οἱ πλείους συνήγοντο ἕως καιροῦ τινος, ἕως εἰς πλάτος ἤλθεν ἡ αὐτῶν ἄνοια καὶ ἀπεβλήθησαν τῆς ἐκκλησίας. εἰσὶ δὲ πάντες ἀπόκοποι πλὴν ὀλίγων, καὶ αὐτοὶ δὲ περὶ ἀρχῶν καὶ ἐξουσιῶν * καὶ ἄλλων οὕτως δοξάζουσι.

58.1.4 | In the church, most gathered together until a certain time, until their madness grew wide and they were thrown out of the church. And all are cut off except a few, and they themselves also honor rulers and authorities and others in this way.

58.1.5 | καὶ ὅταν λάβωσιν ἄνθρωπον εἰς μαθητείαν, καθ' ὅσον μὲν χρόνον οὐπω τῶν μορίων ἀπετμήθη. ἐμψύχῳ τὸ μεταλαμβάνει· ὅταν δὲ πείσωσι τὸν τοιοῦτον ἢ μετὰ ἀνάγκης αὐτὸν ἀποτέμωσι, τότε πᾶν ὅτι οὐ μεταλαμβάνει ὡς ἤδη πεπαυμένος ἀγῶνι καὶ μηκέτι

58.1.5 | And when they take a person for teaching, as long as the parts have not yet been cut off, he shares in the living spirit. But when they persuade such a one or by force cut him off, then he shares in everything as one already stopped from struggle and no longer dangerous, being ἐπικίνδυνος ὧν εἰς τὸ ἐποτρύνεσθαι διὰ τῶν ἐδεσμάτων εἰς ἡδονὴν ἤκειν ἐπιθυμίας.

urged through the bonds to come to the pleasure of desire.

58.1.6 | οὐ μόνον δὲ τοὺς ἰδίους τοῦτον ἀπαρτίζουν τὸν τρόπον, ἀλλὰ πολλάκις καὶ ξείους παρερχομένους καὶ παρ' αὐτοῖς ἐπιξενωθέντα ταύτῃ διέθεντο τῇ ἀγωγῇ. ὥς πολὺς περὶ τούτου θρυλεῖται λόγος.

58.1.6 | Not only do they separate their own people in this way, but often also strangers passing by and those who have come to them as guests, they put through this training. There is much talk about this.

58.1.7 | ἀρπάζουσι γὰρ τοὺς τοιούτους ἔνδον καὶ ὀπίσω ἐπὶ συμπελίοις δήσαντες μετὰ ἀνάγκης τὸ χειρότευκτον ἐργάζονται τῆς τῶν μελῶν ἀφαίρέσεως.

58.1.7 | For they seize such people inside and behind, tying them up at gatherings, and by force they work the cutting off of limbs with handmade tools.

58.1.8 | καὶ ταῦτά ἐστιν ἃ περὶ τούτων εἰς ἡμᾶς ἦκεν. οὐσπερ γνόντες ἐν ποίῳ τόπῳ τὴν καταμονὴν ἔχουσι καὶ ὥς τὸ ὄνομα τοῦτο πολὺ τυγχάνει ἐν τοῖς μέρεσιν ἐκείνοις. καὶ ὥς τῆς αἰρέσεως ἕτερον ὄνομα οὐ κατειλήφαμεν, εἰομίσαμεν ταύτην εἶναι.

58.1.8 | And these are the things that have come to us about them. Just as we have learned in what place they have the prison, and how this name is often used in those parts. And since we have not learned another name for the capture, we have agreed that this is it.

Section 2

58.2.1 | 2. Πολλὴ δὲ φρενοβλάβεια τῶν τοιούτων. εἰ μὲν γὰρ τὸ ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ βούλονται πληροῦν τό »ἐὰν σκανδαλίζῃ σε ἐν τῶν μελῶν σου, ἀπόκοψον ἀπὸ σοῦ, συμφέρει γὰρ σοι εἰσελθεῖν εἰς βασιλείαν οὐρανῶν ἢ χωλὸν ἢ τυφλὸν ἢ κυλλόν«, πῶς δύναται ἐν βασιλείᾳ τινὰ εἶναι ἡκρωτηριασμένον;

58.2.1 | And there is much foolishness of mind in such people. For if they want to fulfill in the gospel the saying, "If one of your limbs causes you to stumble, cut it off from you, for it is better for you to enter the kingdom of heaven lame or blind or crippled," how can there be anyone in the kingdom who is maimed?

58.2.2 | εἰ γὰρ ἡ βασιλεία τῶν οὐρανῶν τὰ πάντα ἐστὶ τελειοῦσα, οὐδὲν ἀτελὲς ἔχει ἐν ἑαυτῇ. καὶ ὁπότε τοῦ σώματός ἐστιν ἀνάστασις, πάντα τὰ μέλη ἀναστήσεται καὶ

58.2.2 | For if the kingdom of heaven perfects all things, it has nothing incomplete in itself. And whenever the resurrection of the body is, all the limbs οὐδ' ὁπότερον αὐτῶν καταλειφθήσεται.

will be raised, and not one of them will be left behind.

58.2.3 | καὶ εἰ ὅλως τὸ μέλος οὐκ ἐγείρεται, οὐδὲ τὸ πᾶν σῶμα ἀναστήσεται. καὶ εἰ τὸ ἐν μέλος τὸ σκανδαλίζον αὐτὸ μόνον καταλιμπάνεται, οὐδὲ ὅλως ἀναστήσεται οὐδὲ ὁπότερον τῶν μελῶν· πάντα γὰρ ἡμᾶς ἐσκανδάλισεν.

58.2.3 | And if any one limb does not rise at all, the whole body will not be raised. And if the one limb that causes the stumble is left behind alone, then none of the limbs will rise at all; for all of them have caused us to stumble.

58.2.4 | τίς δὲ ἀναρρήξει αὐτοῦ τὴν καρδίαν τὴν πάντη σκανδαλίζουσαν; »ἔσωθεν, γὰρ φησιν, ἐκπορεύονται πορνεῖαι μοιχεῖαι ἀσέλγεια καὶ τὰ τοῦτοις ὅμοια«. τίς οὖν ῥήξει τὴν ἐαυτοῦ καρδίαν;

58.2.4 | But who will tear out the heart that causes the whole to stumble? »For from within, he says, come sexual sins, adultery, and wild acts, and things like these.« So who then will tear out his own heart?

58.2.5 | εἰ δὲ οὐκ ἐγείρεται τὸ σῶμα κατὰ τὴν τινῶν ἄνοιαν καὶ ἀσέβειαν, πῶς οὖν ἄρα διοίσει ὁ παρὰ τούτων ὀριζόμενος λόγος; τῶν γὰρ ὅλων μελῶν ἀπάντων μὴ εἰσεχομένων εἰς βασιλείαν οὐρανῶν τίς ἔτι χρεῖα παρὰ ἐν μέλος γίνεσθαι, τῶν ἄλλων μὴ τοῦτο πληρούντων;

58.2.5 | But if the body is not raised because of some people's foolishness and godlessness, then how will the word that is judged by them last? For if not all the parts enter into the kingdom of heaven, who still needs to be just one part, when the others do not make it complete?

58.2.6 | εἰ δὲ ἐγείρεται τὸ σῶμα (ἐγείρεται γάρ), πῶς ἐνδέχεται ἔτι ἐν βασιλείᾳ οὐρανῶν ἐν σώματι λώβησις γίνεσθαι; ἢ πῶς οὐκ ἔσται ἀπρεπὴς ἡ βασιλεία τῶν οὐρανῶν ἐπισυνῆ σώματα ἔχουσα πρὸς δόξαν ὄντα τῶν ἐν αὐτῇ;

58.2.6 | But if the body is raised (for it is raised), how is it possible that there will still be shame in the kingdom of heaven in a body? Or how will the kingdom of heaven not be unseemly, having bodies on its head that are glorious among those in it?

58.2.7 | εἰ δὲ ὅλως καὶ τμηθεῖ τὸ μέλος τὸ σκανδαλίζον, ἄρα τέτμηται καὶ οὐχ ἡμαρτεν· τμηθὲν δὲ καὶ μὴ ἁμαρτήσαν, αὐτὸ ἔδει πρῶτον πάντων ἀναστῆναι μὴ ἁμαρτήσαν.

58.2.7 | But if the part that causes the stumble is cut off completely, then it is cut off and did not sin; and if it is cut off and did not sin, it must be the first of all to rise, not having sinned.

Section 3

58.3.1 | 3. Οἱ δὲ εἰς τὸ πρόχειρον τοῦτο ἔργον εὐτολμοὶ ἀπὸ πάντων ἑαυτοὺς ἠθέτησάν τε καὶ ἀπηλλοτριώσαν. οὔτε γὰρ ἔτι ἄνδρες εἰσὶ διὰ τὸ ἀφηρημένον οὔτε γυναῖκες δύνανται εἶναι διὰ τὸ παρὰ φύσιν.

58.3.1 | But those who are bold in this quick action have made themselves strangers from everyone. For there are no longer men because of what was taken away, nor can there be women because of what is against nature.

58.3.2 | προὔλαβεν δὲ καὶ ἡ τοῦ στεφάνου τοῦ ἀγῶνος καὶ βραβεῖου τούτου ἐπωνυμία. οὐδὲ ὁπότεροι γὰρ φανήσονται οὗτοι τῶν τριῶν τάξεων τῶν εὐνούχων τῶν ὑπὸ κυρίου εἰρημένων. »εἰσί, γὰρ φησιν, εὐνούχοι, οἱ ἐκ κοιλίας μητρὸς αὐτῶν ἐγεννήθησαν«.

58.3.2 | And the name of the crown of the contest and this prize came first. For it is not clear which of these three groups of eunuchs, appointed by the lord, they will be. "For," it says, "those are eunuchs who were born from their mother's womb."

58.3.3 | ἐκεῖνοι γὰρ ἀναίτιοί εἰσι τῆς αὐτῶν εὐνουχίας, οὔτε μὴν ἁμαρτίαν ἔχοντες διὰ τὸ οὕτως γεγεννησθαι οὔτε πάλιν ἔπαινον. μὴ δυνάμενοι πράττειν &τὶ τῶν τοιούτων>, τῶν ἀφροδισίων φημί, ἐπειδὴ μὴ πέφυκεν αὐτοῖς τὰ παιδοποιὰ ὄργανα τὰ ἐκ θεοῦ κεκτησμένα.

58.3.3 | For those are not to blame for their own castration, neither having sin because they were born that way, nor praise again. Not being able to do any of those things, I say the sexual acts, since the child-making organs given by god are not natural to them.

58.3.4 | ἀλλ' οὔτε μισθὸν ἔχουσιν εὐνουχίας βασιλείαν οὐρανῶν, |διὰ τὸ ἀγῶνος μὴ μεμῆσθαι.

58.3.4 | But they do not have the reward of castration, the kingdom of the heavens, because they were not initiated into the contest.

58.3.5 | εἰ δὲ καὶ ἐπιθυμιῶν μεμύηται οἱ τοιοῦτοι, μὴ δυνάμενοι πράττειν ὃ μὴ δεῖ πράττειν καὶ μὴ πράττοντες μισθὸν οὐκ ἔχουσιν. οὐ γὰρ διὰ τὸ μὴ βούλεσθαι τὸ ἔργον παρ' αὐτοῖς οὐ πέπρακται, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸ μὴ δύνασθαι.

58.3.5 | But even if such people are initiated by desires, not being able to do what should not be done and not doing it, they do not have a reward. For the work is not done by them because they do not want to, but because they cannot.

58.3.6 | καὶ αὕτη μὲν ἡ ἀγωγή τῆς πρώτης ὑπὸ κυρίου εἰρημένης εὐνουχίας, τῆς διὰ τῶν μητέρων γεννωμένης ἐν εὐνουχίᾳ, ἐξ ὧν οὐ δύνανται οὗτοι ὑπάρχειν διὰ τὸ χειρότευκτον.

58.3.6 | And this training of the first castration, said to be under the lord, is the castration born through the mothers in castration, from which these people cannot exist because of the handmade nature.

Section 4

58.4.1 | 4. »Καὶ εἰσὶν εὐνοῦχοι οἵτινες ὑπὸ τῶν ἀνθρώπων εὐνουχίσθησαν«, φησὶν ὁ σωτήρ, καὶ οὔτε ἀπὸ τούτων εἰσὶν οἱ προειρημένοι. οὗτοι μὲν γὰρ γίνονται (οἱ ὑπὲρ ἀνθρώπων εὐνουχισθέντες) ἕνεκεν χρήσεως ἢ βασιλικῆς ἢ ἀρχοντικῆς.

58.4.1 | 4. »And there are eunuchs who were made eunuchs by people«, says the savior, and the ones mentioned before are not from these. For these (the ones made eunuchs by people) become so because of use, either royal or noble.

58.4.2 | βουλόμενοι γάρ τινες τῶν βαρβάρων βασιλεῖς ἢ καὶ τύραννοι, ζηλοτυπίας χάριν καὶ ὑπονοίας τῆς πρὸς τὰς γαμετάς τὰς ιδίας, ἔτι κομιδῇ νέους τοὺς παῖδας λαμβάνουσι καὶ εὐνουχίζουσι τούτους πρὸς τὸ ἀδρυνθέντας ἐμπιστεύεσθαι τὰς ιδίας αὐτῶν ὡς ἔφην γαμετάς.

58.4.2 | For some of the barbarians, wanting to be kings or even tyrants, because of jealousy and suspicion toward their own wives, still take young boys as servants and make them eunuchs, so that they might trust their own wives more firmly, as I said, as wives.

58.4.3 | καὶ οὕτως ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ γέγονεν ἡ περὶ τούτων αἰτία. ὅθεν τάχα οἶμαι <γένονεν> καὶ τὸ εὐνοῦχον καλεῖσθαι, ἀπὸ τοῦ εὐνοεῖν δύνασθαι ἀφαιρουμένων τῶν μελῶν καὶ τοῦ μὴ ἐπεντρίβεσθαι μίξει τῶν σωμάτων ὡς τῶν ὀργάνων ἀφηρημένους.

58.4.3 | And so in the world, the cause about these things came to be. Therefore, I think the eunuch name also came to be, from being able to care well, by taking away the parts and not mixing the bodies, as if the organs were taken away.

58.4.4 | ἑτέρα τοίνυν αὕτη ἡ τάξις ἐκ παιδὸς λαμβανομένη καὶ εὐνουχιζομένη ὑπὸ τῶν ἀνθρώπων, οὐχὶ διὰ τὴν βασιλείαν τῶν οὐρανῶν.

58.4.4 | This other group, then, taken from a child and made eunuchs by people, is not for the kingdom of heaven.

58.4.5 | »Καὶ εἰσὶν, φησὶν, εὐνοῦχοι οἵτινες εὐνούχισαν ἑαυτοὺς διὰ τὴν βασιλείαν τῶν οὐρανῶν«. τίνες τοίνυν εἶεν οὗτοι ἀλλ' ἢ οἱ γενναῖοι ἀπόστολοι καὶ οἱ καθεξῆς παρθένοι καὶ μονάζοντες;

58.4.5 | “And there are,” he says, “eunuchs who made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven.” Who then are these, except the noble apostles and the virgins and those living alone in order?

58.4.6 | Ἰωάννης μὲν καὶ Ἰάκωβος, υἱοὶ Ζεβεδαίου, μείναντες ἐν τῇ παρθενίᾳ, μήτε μὴν ἰδίαις χερσὶ τὰ μέλη ἀποτεμόντες μήτε συναφθέντες γάμῳ, ἀλλὰ τῇ ἰδίᾳ καρδίᾳ ἀγωνισάμενοι καὶ θαυμασίως τὸ κλέος τοῦ στεφάνου τούτου τοῦ ἀγῶνος ἀπενεγκάμενοι.

58.4.6 | John and James, sons of Zebedee, stayed in virginity, neither cutting off their limbs with their own hands nor joining in marriage, but fighting with their own heart and wonderfully carrying away the fame of this struggle's crown.

58.4.7 | μετ' αὐτοὺς δὲ ὅσοι ἐν μυριάδων ἀριθμῷ ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ μονάζοντες καὶ ἀπὸ μοναστηρίων καὶ παρθενῶνων τουτὶ τοῦ ἀγῶνος τὸ κλέος ἀπηνέγκαντο, οἵτινες σώμασι γυναικῶν οὐκ ἐμίγησαν, ἀλλὰ ἦθλησαν ἐν ἀγῶνι τελειοτάτῳ·

58.4.7 | After them, as many as in countless numbers in the world live alone, both from monasteries and virgins, carried away the fame of this struggle, who did not mix their bodies with women, but fought in the most perfect contest;

58.4.8 | ὥς καὶ Ἠλίας ἐν παλαιᾷ διαθήκῃ εὐρίσκεται καὶ Παῦλος λέγων »λέγω δὲ τοῖς ἀγάμοις ὅτι καλὸν αὐτοῖς, ἐὰν μείνωσιν οὕτως καθὼς κάγω· εἰ δὲ οὐκ ἐγκρατεύονται, γαμησάτωσαν«. πῶς οὖν αὐτὸς ἔμεινεν;

58.4.8 | Just as Elijah is found in the old covenant, and Paul says, “I say to the unmarried that it is good for them if they stay as I do; but if they cannot control themselves, let them marry.” So how then did he himself stay?

58.4.9 | εἰ μὲν γὰρ ἀποτετμημένος ἦμ καὶ κατ' αὐτὸν ἔμειναν ὁμοιοῦμενοι αὐτῷ, ἵνα πληρώσωσι τὸ »ὥς κάγω«. πῶς ἀποτεμνόμενός τις ἡδύνατιο γῆμαι, εἰ μηκέτι ἐνεκρατεύετο, κατὰ τὸ »γαμησάτωσαν καὶ μὴ πυρούσθωσαν«; ὁρᾷς ὅτι περὶ ἐγκρατείας φάσκει καὶ οὐχὶ

58.4.9 | For if i was circumcised and they stayed like him to be like him, to fulfill the “as i do.” How could someone circumcised not be able to marry, if he no longer controlled himself, according to “let them marry and not burn”? You see that he speaks about self-control and not about περὶ μελῶν ἀφαιρέσεως.

58.4.10 | εἰ δὲ φάσκουσιν οὕτι διὰ τὴν βασιλείαν τῶν οὐρανῶν ἑαυτοὺς εὐνουχικῆναι. πῶς ἑαυτοὺς ἀπαλλοτριώσουσι τοῦ ῥήματος τοῦ εἰρημένου ὅτι »εἰσὶ τινες οἵτινες εὐνουχίσθησαν ὑπὸ τῶν ἀνθρώπων«;

58.4.10 | But if they say that they have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven, how will they take away from themselves the saying that “there are some who were made eunuchs by men”?

58.4.11 | εἰ γὰρ αὐτὸς ἰδίαις χερσὶν ἑαυτὸν εὐνουχίζει, ἄνθρωπός ἐστι καὶ αἱ χεῖρες αὐτοῦ τὸ ἀθέμιτον τοῦτο εἰργάσαντο· εἰ δὲ καὶ αὐτὸς ἑαυτῷ οὐ δεδύνηται πρᾶξαι. ὑπὸ ἄλλων δὲ εὐνουχίσθη, οὐκέτι ἔσται διὰ βασιλείαν οὐρανῶν, διὰ τὸ ὑπὸ ἀνθρώπων εὐνουχίσθαι, ἥτοι δι’ αὐτοῦ ἥτοι διὰ τῶν τοῦτο πεποιηκότων.

58.4.11 | For if he castrates himself with his own hands, he is a man, and his hands have done this unlawful thing; but if he cannot do it to himself, and is made a eunuch by others, he will no longer be for the kingdom of heaven, because he was made a eunuch by men, either by himself or by those who did this.

58.4.12 | πεσεῖται δὲ καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ στεφάνου καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ βρδαβείου, οὐκέτι χάριν ἔχων διὰ τὴν ἀποχὴν τῆς τοιαύτης χρήσεως, [ἀλλὰ] διὰ τὸ μὴ δύνασθαι χρῆσθαι ἀφηρημένων τῶν τῆς τοιαύτης ὑποθέσεως μελῶν.

58.4.12 | He will also fall away from the crown and the prize, no longer having favor because of avoiding such use, but because he cannot use the members taken away for such a purpose.

58.4.13 | ἓν δὲ καὶ τὸ αὐτὸ κριθήσεται, ὡς ὁ λυμαινόμενος ἑαυτοῦ τὸ μέλος καὶ ὡς ὁ τέμνων ἀλλότριον ἀμπελῶνα. οὐ γὰρ κατὰ θεὸν ἐπολιτεύσατο, ἀλλὰ κατὰ ἐπιβουλὴν τῷ δημιουργῷ κυρίῳ θεῷ ἀντέστη ὁ τοιοῦτος.

58.4.13 | One thing also will be judged the same: the one who harms his own body and the one who cuts another’s vineyard. For he did not live according to God, but against the creator, the Lord God, this kind of person stood in opposition.

58.4.14 | ἐπιθυμία δὲ περισσοτέρᾳ ὁ τοιοῦτος ἐνεχθήσεται. καὶ γὰρ ὁ εὐνοῦχος ἄδεται παρὰ τῷ σοφῷ οὐκ ἀπεχόμενος τῆς ἐπιθυμίας, ἀλλὰ * μὴ δυνάμενος τὴν

58.4.14 | This kind of person will be hated because of greater desire. For even the eunuch sings before the wise, not holding back desire. But not being able to carry out ἐπιθυμίαν ἐπιτελέσαι, ὡς λέγει »ἐπιθυμία εὐνούχου ἀποπαρθενεῦσαι ὡεάνιδα«.

the desire, as it says, “the desire of a eunuch is like a broken virgin.”

58.4.15 | καὶ ἐκ πανταχόθεν * ὧ τῆς πολλῆς ματαιότητος τῆς ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ πολυτρόπως ἐπινενοημένης.

58.4.15 | And from everywhere, o you of great emptiness, who has thought up many things in the world in many ways.

58.4.16 | Καὶ ταῦτά ἐστιν ἃ περὶ τούτων ἔγνωμεν. διὰ καὶ ἐν συντόμῳ περὶ αὐτῶν εἰρηκότες καὶ ὡς ἔφην ὑπονοήσαντες εἶναι τούτους τοὺς προειρημένους,

58.4.16 | And these are the things we have learned about them. Therefore, having spoken briefly about them and, as I said, having guessed that these are the ones mentioned before,

58.4.17 | καταλιπόντες τοὺς αὐτοὺς καὶ καταγελάσαντες <αὐτῶν> ὥσπερ σκορπίου δικέντρου τοῖς μὲν κέρασι καὶ χηλαῖς ἀπὸ τῶν ἀνέκαθεν τῶν πατέρων βίοις ἐναντιωθέντος, ἐν δὲ τῷ κέντρῳ τῷ τύπῳ τῆς ἁγίας τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίας ἀνθισταμένου, ὑποδήματι ἐστηριγμένῳ καταπατήσαντες τούτους [καὶ καταγελάσαντες,] τουτέστιν διὰ τῶν ῥητῶν τοῦ εὐαγγελίου, κατὰ τὸ ἔθος ἐπὶ τὰς μετέπειτα βαίνοντες ἐνταῦθα λήξωμεν τῆς τούτων ἀβελτηρίας.

58.4.17 | Leaving them and laughing at them like a scorpion’s sting, with its claws and pincers opposing the lives of the fathers from long ago, and in the sting itself opposing the holy church of God, standing on a shoe and trampling on them [and laughing], that is, through the words of the gospel, according to custom going on to what comes next, here let us end the harm of these things.

Book 59

Section 1

59.1.1 | Καθεξῆς δὲ τούτων Καθαροὶ τινες λεγόμενοι ἐφύησαν, ἀπὸ Ναυάτου τινός, ὡς πολὺς ἄδεται λόγος. οὗτος δὲ ὁ Ναυάτος ἐπὶ τῆς Ῥωμαίων ὑπῆρχεν, ἐν καιρῷ τοῦ διωγμοῦ τοῦ πρὸ τοῦ Μαξιμίου & >νοῦ γενομένου [πρώτου]· τάχα δὲ οἶμαι Δεκίου

59.1.1 | In order, some called Pure Ones appeared from a certain Nauatus, as the story is often told. This Nauatus was among the Romans, at the time of the persecution before Maximian happened [first]; but I think it was under Decius then or Aurelian.

τότε ἤμ ἡ Αὐρηλιανοῦ.

59.1.2 | ἀπὸ δὲ τῆς προφάσεως τῶν ἐν τῷ διωγμῷ παραπεσόντων ἐπάρματι ἀρθεῖς ἅμα τοῖς αὐτῷ ἐπομένοις μὴ θελήσας κοινωνῆσαι τοῖς μετανοοῦσιν ἀπὸ τοῦ διωγμοῦ, εἰς αἵρεσιν τῶν αὐτῶν τέτραπται, λέγων μὴ εἶναι αὐτοῖς σωτηρίαν, ἀλλὰ μίαν μετάνοιαν, μετὰ δὲ τὸ λουτρὸν μηκέτι δύνασθαι τινα ἐλεεῖσθαι παραπεπτωκότα.

59.1.2 | From the excuse of those who slipped during the persecution, having been lifted up with the chariot along with those following him, not wanting to share with those repenting from the persecution, he turned into such a heresy, saying there is no salvation for them, but only one repentance, and after baptism no one who has fallen can be pitied.

59.1.3 | Καὶ αὐτοὶ δὲ φάμεν εἶναι μετάνοιαν μίαν καὶ διὰ λουτροῦ παλιγγενεσίας ταύτην γίνεσθαι τὴν σωτηρίαν, ἀλλ' οὐκ ἀναιροῦμεν τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ φιланθρωπίαν,

59.1.3 | And they themselves say there is only one repentance, and through the bath of rebirth this salvation happens, but we do not deny the kindness of God.

59.1.4 | εἰδότες τὸ κήρυγμα τῆς ἀληθείας καὶ τὸν ἔλεον τοῦ δεσπότου καὶ τὸ σύγγνωστον τῆς φύσεως, τὸ εὐρίπιστον τῆς ψυχῆς, τὸ ἀσθενὲς τῆς σαρκός, τὸ πολύβλυστον τῆς τῶν πάντων ἀνθρώπων αἰσθήσεως ἐν παραπτώμασιν, διότι »οὐδεὶς ἀναμάρτητος καὶ καθαρὸς ἀπὸ ῥύπου, οὐδ' ἂν κἂν μία ἡμέρα ἢ ζωὴ αὐτοῦ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς.«

59.1.4 | Knowing the preaching of the truth and the mercy of the master and the forgiveness of nature, the weakness of the flesh, the overflowing of the feeling of all people in sins, because "no one is without sin and clean from dirt, not even if his life on earth is one day."

59.1.5 | καὶ ἡ μὲν τελεία μετάνοια ἐν τῷ λουτρῷ τυγχάνει· εἰ δέ τις παρέπεσεν, οὐ ἀπόλλει τοῦτον Ἡ ἀγία τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησία. δίδωσι γὰρ καὶ ἐπάνοδον καὶ μετὰ τὴν μετάνοιαν τὴν μεταμέλειαν.

59.1.5 | And perfect repentance happens in the bath; but if someone has fallen away, he is not lost by the holy church of God. For it gives both a return and after repentance, regret.

59.1.6 | τῷ γὰρ Κάϊν εἶπεν ὁ θεὸς ἡμαρτες, ἡσύχασον», καὶ τῷ παραλυτικῷ »ίδου, ὑγιὲς γέγονας, μηκέτι ἀμάρτανε», καὶ Πέτρον ἀνακαλεῖται ὁ κύριος μετὰ τὸ

59.1.6 | For God said to Cain, 'you have sinned, be quiet,' and to the paralytic, 'look, you have become healthy, sin no more,' and the lord calls back Peter after he denied ἀρνήσασθαι καὶ ἀντὶ τῶν τριῶν ἀρνήσεων τρὶς αὐτὸν προκαλεῖται πρὸς ὁμολογίαν »'ἀγαπᾷς με, Πέτρε; ἀγαπᾷς με, Πέτρε; ἀγαπᾷς με, Πέτρε;« καὶ φησι »ποιμαίνει τὰ προβάτιά μου«,

him, and instead of the three denials, he calls him three times to confess, 'do you love me, Peter? do you love me, Peter? do you love me, Peter?' and he says, 'take care of my sheep.'

Section 2

59.2.1 | 2. Σφάλλει δὲ αὐτοὺς τὸ ῥητὸν τοῦ ἀποστόλου τὸν εἰρημένον »ἀδύνατον γὰρ τοὺς ἅπαξ φωτισθέντας καὶ καλὸν γευσάμενους θεοῦ ῥῆμα δυνάμεις τε τοῦ μέλλοντος αἰῶνος καὶ παραπεσόντας πάλιν ἀνακαινίζειν εἰς μετάνοιαν, ἀνασταυροῦντας ἑαυτοῖς τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ παραδειγματίζοντας.

59.2.1 | But they are mistaken by the clear statement of the apostle who said, 'for it is impossible for those once enlightened and having tasted the good word of God and the powers of the coming age, if they fall away again, to renew themselves to repentance, crucifying again the son of God for themselves and putting him to open shame.'

59.2.2 | γῇ γὰρ ἡ πιοῦσα πολλάκις τὸν ἐπ' αὐτῆς ἐρχόμενον ὑετὸν καὶ τίκτουσα βοτάνην εὖθετον ἐκείνοις, δι' οὓς καὶ καὶ γεωργεῖται, μεταλαμβάνει εὐλογίας· ἐκφέρουσα δὲ ἀκάνθας καὶ τριβόλους ἀδόκιμος καὶ κατάρας ἐγγύς, ἥς τὸ τέλος εἰς καῦσιν«.

59.2.2 | For the earth that often drinks the rain falling on it and produces useful plants for those it is farmed by, receives blessings; but if it bears thorns and thistles, it is worthless and close to a curse, its end being for burning.

59.2.3 | καὶ γὰρ τῷ μὲν ὄντι τοὺς ἅπαξ ἀνακαινισθέντας καὶ παραπεσόντας ἀνακαινίζειν ἀδύνατον. οὐτε γὰρ ἔτι γεννήσεται Χριστός, ἵνα σταυρωθῇ ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν, οὐτε ἀνασταυροῦ δύναται τις τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ θεοῦ τὸν μηκέτι σταυρούμενον, οὔτε δύναται τις λουτρὸν δεύτερον λαμβάνειν·

59.2.3 | For indeed, it is impossible to renew again those who have once been renewed and then fallen away. For Christ will not be born again to be crucified for us, nor can anyone crucify again the son of God who is no longer being crucified, nor can anyone receive a second baptism.

59.2.4 | ἔν γάρ ἐστι τὸ βάπτισμα καὶ εἷς ὁ ἐγκαινισμός, ἀλλὰ εὐθὺς ἐπιφέρει τὴν τούτων ἱάσιν ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος, τὴν

59.2.4 | For there is one baptism and one renewal, but the holy apostle immediately brings healing for these, healing the church ἐκκλησίαν ἰατρεύων καὶ τῶν αὐτῆς μελῶν ἐπιμελόμενος, καὶ φησί »πεπείσαμεθα δὲ περὶ ὑμῶν, ἀγαπητοί, τὰ κρείττονα καὶ ἐχόμενα σωτηρίας, εἰ καὶ οὕτως λαλοῦμεν. οὐ γὰρ ἄδικος ὁ θεὸς ἐπιλαθέσθαι τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ ἔργου ὑμῶν«.

and caring for its members, and he says, "we are convinced about you, dear ones, of the better things that belong to salvation, even if we speak like this. For God is not unfair to forget your good work."

59.2.5 | καὶ ὁρᾷς πῶς μὲν τὸν ἐγκαινισμὸν μὴ δύνασθαι δεύτερον γενέσθαι τελείως ἀπεφῆνато, τῆς δὲ σωτηρίας οὐκ ἀπέτεμεν τοὺς ἔτι μετανοοῦντας, ἀλλὰ καὶ σωτηρίας ἐχόμενα καὶ θεὸν ἀντιλήπτορα, τῆς ἀγαθοεργίας αὐτῶν χάριν, τὸν κύριον ἔδειξε τῶν καὶ ἀπὸ παραπτωμάτων τελειότατα μετανοούντων καὶ ἐπιστρεφόντων καὶ μεταμελομένων.

59.2.5 | And you see how he showed that renewal cannot happen a second time completely, but he did not cut off those still repenting from salvation. Instead, he showed the lord as a helper of salvation and of their good work, for those who repent perfectly and turn back from their mistakes and regret them.

59.2.6 | Δέχεται οὖν ὁ ἅγιος λόγος καὶ ἡ ἀγία θεοῦ ἐκκλησία πάντοτε τὴν μετάνοιαν, οὐκ ἐξυδαρευομένη οὐδὲ ῥαθύμους τοὺς τὸν δρόμον τελοῦντας παρασκευάζουσα, ἀλλὰ θεοῦ τὴν χάριν καὶ φιланθρωπίαν μὴ ἀνακόπτουσα, γινώσκουσα δὲ τὸν τρόπον ἐκάστης ὑποθέσεως.

59.2.6 | So the holy word and the holy church of God always accept repentance, not drying it up or making lazy those who are following the path, but not stopping God's grace and kindness, knowing the way of each case.

59.2.7 | ὥς γὰρ ὁ τὴν παρθενίαν ἀπολέσας ἀδυνάτως ἔχει τήν <ἀνα>κτησασθαι σωματικῶς, μὴ ἐνδεχομένης τῆς φύσεως, οὕτω καὶ ὁ ἀπὸ τοῦ λουτροῦ ἐν μεγάλοις τισὶ παραπτώμασι περιπεσών·

59.2.7 | For just as the one who lost virginity cannot easily regain it physically, because nature does not allow it, so also the one who, after baptism, has fallen into some great sins;

59.2.8 | καὶ ὥσπερ ὁ ἀπὸ παρθενίας παραπεσὼν δευτέραν τιμὴν τὴν ἐγκράτειαν ἔχει, οὕτω καὶ ὁ μετὰ τὸ λουτρὸν ἐν παραπτώματι μείζονι γενόμενος ἔχει δευτέραν ἴασιν <τὴν

59.2.8 | And just as the one who has fallen from virginity has a second honor, self-control, so also the one who, after baptism, has fallen into a greater sin has a second healing, regret, not as virtuous as the first.

μεταμέλειαν>, οὐ τοιαύτην ἐνάρτεον κατὰ τὴν πρώτην. οὐκ ἀποβεβλημένην δὲ ζωῆς ἔχει τὴν δευτέραν ἣν κέκτηται. οὐκ ἀθετεῖ τοίνυν ὁ θεῖος λόγος τὸν μισθὸν τῶν ἐν τῇ μετανοίᾳ καμνόντων.

The second life which he has is not lost. So the divine word does not reject the reward of those who work hard in repentance.

Section 3

59.3.1 | 3 Ἐπειτα δὲ οἱ αὐτοὶ πάλιν ἀπὸ τούτου προπηδήσαντες καὶ ἄλλα τινὰ ἐφηύραντο. καὶ γὰρ καὶ αὐτοὶ τὴν αὐτήν, ἣν καὶ ἡμεῖς κεκτήμεθα, πίστιν λέγουσιν ἔχειν· οὗτοι δὲ οὐ βούλονται διγάμοις κοινωνεῖν. εἰ γὰρ τις μετὰ τὸ βάπτισμα συμναφθεῖη γυναικὶ δευτέρᾳ, παρὰ τούτοις οὐκ εἰσδεχθήσεται ἔτι.

59.3.1 | Then those same people, jumping beyond this, found some other things. For they say they have the same faith that we have; but they do not want to share in second marriages. For if someone after baptism is joined to a second wife, they will no longer accept him.

59.3.2 | καὶ τὸ πᾶν ἐστὶν ἡλίθιον, ὥς γὰρ εἴ τις θεάσαιτό τινα νηχόμενον ἐν ὕδατι καὶ ἀγνοῶν τὴν πεῖραν τῆς διανήξεως ἑαυτὸν ἐκδοτον τοῖς ὕδασι δῶη καὶ ὑποβρύχιος γένηται, μὴ ἔμπειρος ὢν μηδὲ σαφῶς γνοῦς τῶν διὰ χειρῶν τε καὶ ποδῶν τὴν σωτηρίαν ἑαυτοῖς προσπορίζομένων τὴν ἐπιστήμην, νομίζων δὲ ἀπλῶς τὸ ὕδωρ διαβαστάζειν τὸν ἄνθρωπον δίχα των ἰδίων χειρῶν·

59.3.2 | And it is all foolish, just as if someone saw a person swimming in water and, not knowing the experience of swimming, thought himself given over to the waters and became underwater, not being skilled or clearly knowing the safety that hands and feet bring to themselves, thinking simply that the water carries the person without their own hands.

59.3.3 | ἢ ὥς εἴ τις ἀκούει τὸν ἡγεμόνα τιμωροῦντα τοὺς δρῶντας φαυλότητος <ἔργα>· ἄχρι καὶ ἐλαχίστων καὶ νομίζοι μὲν τὴν δίκην ἴσην διεξιέναι κατὰ πάντων, ὥς ἐπὶ τοῦ φόνου οὕτως καὶ ἐπὶ τοῦ διαβάλλοντος τὸν πέλας ἢ * μαχεσαμένου·

59.3.3 | Or just as if someone heard the leader punishing those who do bad deeds even the smallest, and thought the punishment was the same for all, as for murder just as for someone slandering a neighbor or fighting.

59.3.4 | ἢ ὥς ἐὰν ᾗ τις παντάπασιν ἰδιώτης καὶ θεάσεται τὸν εἰληφότα ἄρχοντος τὴν ἐξουσίαν κατὰ ἀλιτηρίων ἀποσπᾶσαντα

59.3.4 | Or just as if someone were a complete stranger and saw a ruler taking power by cutting down scoundrels with a μάχαιραν ἢ κατὰ γοήτων καὶ βλασφημῶν ἢ ἀκαθοσιώτων, νομίζῃ δὲ τοὺς ἅπαντας ἐξουσίαν ἔχειν τῆς τοιαύτης αἰτίας ποιεῖσθαι τὴν δίκην, θεασάμενός τε δίκην δόντας ἀνθρώπους καὶ αὐτὸς δὲ τὰ ἴσα μιμησάμενος θελήσῃ ἀποκτεῖναί τινας, ὡς δῆθεν τοὺς ἡδικοκότας δικάζων, ἀλοὺς δὲ οὗτος αὐτὸς δίκην δώσει, sword, or against sorcerers and blasphemers or impious people, and thought that everyone had the power to punish for such reasons, and after seeing people giving punishment and copying the same, he wanted to kill some, as if judging those who did wrong, but he himself would be caught and punished.

59.3.5 | μὴ εἰληφώς παρὰ βασιλέως ἐξουσίαν τῶν τοιούτων καὶ ὅτι τὴν ἴσιν ἐνόμιζεν κατὰ πάντων ἐξίεναι ψῆφον ἀπὸ τῆς δίκης τῶν νόμων, ἑαυτὸν [δὲ] ἐν τῇ ἀδικίᾳ τῆς ἰδίας ἀπειρίας καὶ ἀπαρακολουθησίας ἔκδοτον ἀπωλείας παρασκευάσας, —

59.3.5 | not having received power from the king over such things, and thinking that the same judgment applied to all, and that the law's decision was equal for everyone, he prepared himself to be handed over to destruction because of his own wrongness, lack of experience, and failure to follow the rules, —

59.3.6 | οὕτω καὶ οὗτοι τὰ πάντων ὁμοῦ μίξαντες ἐκ πάντων ἐξέπεσαν καὶ μὴ νούσαντες τὰ ἀκριβῆ τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ διδασκαλίας ἐπὶ ἑτέραν τρίβον σφαλέντες ἐτράπησαν, οὐκ εἰδότες ὅτι οὐκ αὕτῃ ἐστὶν ἡ τῆς θείας γραφῆς παράδοσις τε καὶ ἀκολουθία.

59.3.6 | just so these men mixed everything all together and fell away from all, and not understanding the exact teachings of god, they stumbled onto another path and turned away, not knowing that it is not the same as the tradition and practice of the divine scripture.

Section 4

59.4.1 | 4 Τὰ γὰρ εἰς τὴν ἱερωσύνην παραδοθέντα διὰ τὸ ἐξοχώτατον τῆς ἱερουργίας εἰς πάντας ἐνόμισαν ἴσως φέρεσθαι. ἀκηκοότες γὰρ ὅτι »δεῖ τὸν ἐπίσκοπον ἀνεπίληπτον εἶναι, μιᾶς γυναικὸς ἄνδρα, ἐγκρατῆ«, ὡσαύτως καὶ τὸν διάκονον» καὶ τὸν πρεσβύτερον, τὸν ὅρον τῶν ταγμάτων οὐκ ἐνόησαν.

59.4.1 | For the things handed over to the priesthood, because of the highest honor of the priestly service, they thought they should apply equally to everyone. For they heard that "the bishop must be blameless, the husband of one wife, self-controlled," "likewise the deacon," and the elder, but they did not understand the rule of the orders.

59.4.2 | καὶ γὰρ τῷ μὲν ὄντι οὐ δέχεται εἰς ἱερωσύνην τὸ ἅγιον τοῦ θεοῦ κήρυγμα μετὰ τὴν τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἐνδημίαν οὐδὲ τοὺς ἀπὸ πρώτου γάμου τελευτησάσης τῆς αὐτῶν γυναικὸς δευτέρῳ γάμῳ συναφθέντας, διὰ τὸ ὑπερβάλλον τῆς τιμῆς τῆς ἱερωσύνης· καὶ ταῦτα ἀσφαλῶς ἡ ἀγία τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησία μετὰ ἀκριβείας παραφυλάττεται.

59.4.2 | For truly, the holy preaching of god does not accept into the priesthood those who come after the time of Christ's presence, nor those who, after the death of their first wife, have entered into a second marriage, because of the great honor of the priesthood; and the holy church of god carefully guards these things with exactness.

59.4.3 | ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸν ἔτι <συμ>βιοῦντα καὶ τεκνογονοῦντα, μιᾶς γυναικὸς ὄντα ἄνδρα, οὐ δέχεται, ἀλλὰ ἀπὸ μιᾶς ἐγκρατευσάμενον ἢ χηρεύσαντα διάκονόν τε καὶ πρεσβύτερον καὶ ἐπίσκοπον καὶ ὑποδιάκονον, μάλιστα ὅπου ἀκριβεῖς κανόνες οἱ ἐκκλησιαστικοί.

59.4.3 | But also, it does not accept a man who is still living with and fathering children by one wife, but only one who has kept himself chaste from one wife or become a widower, as a deacon, elder, bishop, or subdeacon, especially where the church rules are strict.

59.4.4 | Ἀλλὰ πάντως ἐρεῖς μοι, ἐν τισι τόποις ἔτι τεκνογονεῖν πρεσβυτέρους καὶ διακόνους καὶ ὑποδιακόνους. τοῦτο δὲ οὐ παρὰ τὸν κανόνα γίνεται. ἀλλὰ παρὰ τὴν τῶν ἀνθρώπων κατὰ καιρὸν ῥαθυμήσανσαν διάνοιαν καὶ τῆς τοῦ πλήθους ἕνεκεν μὴ εὐρίσκομένης ὑπηρεσίας.

59.4.4 | But you will surely say to me, in some places elders, deacons, and subdeacons still have children. This does not happen according to the rule, but because of people's lazy thinking at times and the lack of service found for the sake of the crowd.

59.4.5 | τὸ πρεπωδέστατον γὰρ αἰεὶ ἡ ἐκκλησία <ἐφ>ορῶσα ἀγίῳ πνεύματι εὖ διαταχθεῖσα ἔγνω »ἀπερὶσπάστως« θεῶ τὰς λατρείας ἐπιτελεῖσθαι σπουδάζειν καὶ τὰ πνευματικὰ τῶν χρειῶν μετὰ πάσης εὐνουστάτης συνειδήσεως τελειοῦσθαι.

59.4.5 | For the most fitting thing is always that the church, watching with the holy spirit and well ordered, has decided to serve god's worship carefully and to carry out spiritual duties with all the best care and a clear conscience.

59.4.6 | φημὶ δὲ ὅτι πρέπον ἐστὶ διὰ τὰ ἑξαπίνης λειτουργίας καὶ χρείας σχολάζειν τὸν πρεσβύτερον καὶ διάκονον καὶ ἐπίσκοπον θεῷ.

59.4.6 | I say that it is right for the elder, the deacon, and the bishop to have time free for god because of sudden services and needs.

59.4.7 | εἰ γὰρ καὶ τοῖς ἀπὸ τοῦ λαοῦ προστάσσει ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος λέγων, ἵνα »πρὸς καιρὸν σχολάσωσι τῇ προσευχῇ«, πόσῳ γε μᾶλλον τῷ ἱερεῖ τὸ αὐτὸ προστάσσει; τὸ ἀπερίσπαστον δὲ λέγω εἰς τὸ σκολάζειν τῇ κατὰ θεὸν ἐν ταῖς χρείαις ταῖς πνευματικαῖς τελεσιουργουμένη ἱερωσύνῃ.

59.4.7 | For if the holy apostle commands those from the people to “have time for prayer at the right time,” how much more does he command the priest the same? I mean undisturbed time to be free for the priesthood that is carried out according to god in spiritual needs.

59.4.8 | ἔξεστι δὲ <ἐπὶ> τῷ λαῷ <τοῦτο> δι’ ἀσθένειαν διαβαστάζεσθαι καὶ <τούς> μὴ δυνηθέντας ἐπὶ τῇ πρώτῃ γαμετῇ στῆναι δευτέρᾳ μετὰ θάνατον τῆς πρώτης συναφθῆναι.

59.4.8 | It is allowed for the people because of weakness to be excused, and for those who could not stand at the first marriage to join in a second marriage after the death of the first.

59.4.9 | καὶ ὁ μὲν μίαν ἐσχηκὼς ἐν ἐπαίνῳ μείζονι καὶ τιμῇ παρὰ πᾶσιν ἐκκλησιαζομένοις ἐνυπάρχει, τὸν δὲ μὴ δυνηθέντα τῇ μιᾷ ἀρκεσθῆναι τελευτησάσῃ <ἡ> ἕνεκέν τινος προφάσεως, ἢ πορνείας ἢ μοιχείας ἢ ἄλλης αἰτίας, χωρισμοῦ γενομένου συναφθέντα δευτέρᾳ γυναικὶ ἢ γυναῖκα δευτέρῳ ἀνδρί, οὐκ αἰτιᾶται ὁ θεῖος λόγος οὐδὲ ἀπὸ τῆς ἐκκλησίας καὶ τῆς ζωῆς ἀποκηρύττει, ἀλλὰ διαβαστάζει διὰ τὸ ἀσθενές·

59.4.9 | And the one who has had one marriage stands with greater praise and honor among all who gather in the church, but the one who could not be satisfied with one, having ended it either for some excuse, or for fornication, or adultery, or another cause, having been separated, and joined to a second wife or a wife to a second husband, is not blamed by the divine word nor rejected by the church and life, but is excused because of weakness.

59.4.10 | οὐχ ἵνα δύο γυναῖκας ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ σχῇ ἔτι περιούσης μιᾶς, ἀλλ’ <ἵνα> ἀπὸ μιᾶς ἀποσχισθεὶς δευτέρᾳ, εἰ τύχοι, ἐννόμως συναφθῇ, ἐλεεῖ τοῦτον ὁ ἅγιος λόγος καὶ ἡ ἀγία θεοῦ ἐκκλησία, μάλιστα εἰ τυγχάνει ὁ τοιοῦτος τὰ ἄλλα εὐλαβὴς καὶ κατὰ νόμον θεοῦ πολιτευόμενος.

59.4.10 | Not so that he may have two wives at the same time, still holding one, but so that, having been separated from one, he may lawfully join a second, if it happens. The holy word and the holy church of God show mercy to this man, especially if he is otherwise devout and lives according to God’s law.

59.4.11 | καὶ γὰρ ἂν ἔλεγεν ὁ ἀπόστολος ταῖς χήραις »γαμείτωσαν τεκνογονεῖωσαν οἰκοδεσποτεῖτωσαν«, οὐδὲ πάλιν ἔλεγε τῷ ἀνδρὶ τῷ ἀνδρὶ τῷ τὴν γυναῖκα τοῦ πατρὸς ἔχοντι καὶ παραδοθέντι »τῷ σατανᾷ εἰς ὄλεθρον τῆς σαρκός, ἵνα τὸ πνεῦμα σωθῇ ἐν τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τοῦ κυρίου« — οὐκ ἔλεγε πάλιν »κυρώσατε εἰς αὐτὸν ἀγάπην, ἵνα μὴ τῇ περισσοτέρᾳ λύπῃ καταποθῇ ὁ τοιοῦτος«.

59.4.11 | For the apostle also said to widows, "let them marry, have children, and manage the household," but he did not say again to a man who has his father's wife and is given to her, "to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, so that the spirit may be saved on the day of the Lord." Nor did he say again, "bind yourself to love him, so that this man may not be swallowed up by greater sorrow."

59.4.12 | ἔλεγε γὰρ πάλιν »ὧς τι χαρίζεσθε, καγὼ· διότι εἴ τι κεχάρισμαι, δι' ὑμᾶς κεχάρισμαι ἐν προσώπῳ κυρίου, ἵνα μὴ πλεονεκτηθῶμεν ὑπὸ τοῦ σατανᾶ. οὐ γὰρ αὐτοῦ τὰ νοήματα ἀγνοοῦμεν«. καὶ ὅρα πῶς δίδωσι μετάνοιαν καὶ μετὰ παράπτωμα.

59.4.12 | For he said again, "to whom you forgive, I also forgive; because if I have forgiven anything, I have forgiven it for your sake in the presence of the Lord, so that we may not be taken advantage of by Satan. For we do not ignore his plans." And see how he gives repentance even after a fault.

Section 5

59.5.1 | 5. Πάλιν δὲ ὁ κύριός φησιν »ἄφετε ἀλλήλοις τὰ παραπτώματα, ἵνα καὶ ὁ πατήρ ὑμῶν ὁ ἐν οὐρανῷ ἀφήσιν ὑμῖν ὡς ἀφήσει ὑμῖν«.

59.5.1 | 5. And again the Lord says, "forgive each other's faults, so that your Father in heaven may also forgive you."

59.5.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν ἄλλῳ τόπῳ οὕτως φησί »καὶ πενθήσω πολλοὺς τοὺς ἐν ὑμῖν παραπεσόντας καὶ μὴ μετανοήσαντας«, ὡς δεικνὺς ὅτι εἰ καὶ παρέπεσαν καὶ μετενόησαν, εἰσδεκτοὶ οὗτοι γίνονται καὶ οὐκ ἀποβληθήσονται, τοῦ κυρίου γινώσκοντος τί μεθ' ἐκπάστου ποιήσῃ.

59.5.2 | But also in another place he says, "and I will mourn many who have fallen among you and have not repented," showing that even if they have fallen and repented, these are accepted and will not be rejected, the Lord knowing what he will do with each one.

59.5.3 | Καὶ ὅτι μὲν ὁ κανὼν τῆς ἀληθείας

59.5.3 | And that the rule of truth has such τοιοῦτον ἔχει τὸν χαρακτῆρα, παντί τῳ σαφές ἐστι. μετὰ γὰρ τὴν πρώτην μετάνοιαν τὴν διὰ λουτροῦ τῆς παλιγγενεσίας, ἐν ᾗ μετανοοῖ ἡ ἀνεκαινίσθη πᾶς ἄνθρωπος Δευτέρα τις τοιαύτη οὐχ ὑπάρχει.

a character is clear to everyone. For after the first repentance through the bath of rebirth, in which every person is renewed, there is no second such repentance.

59.5.4 | οὔτε γὰρ δύο εἰσὶ βαπτίσματα, ἀλλ' ἓν, οὔτε δις ἐσταυρώθη Χριστός, ἀλλ' ἅπαξ, οὔτε δις ἀπέθανεν ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν καὶ ἀνέστη. καὶ τούτου χάριν ἐπασφαλίσασθαι δεῖ, ἵνα μὴ παραπεσόντες τὸν στέφανον τοῦ ἀνακαινισμοῦ ἀπολέσωμεν.

59.5.4 | For there are not two baptisms, but one; nor was Christ crucified twice, but once; nor did he die and rise again twice for us. And for this reason, we must be careful, so that if we fall, we do not lose the crown of renewal.

59.5.5 | ἀλλὰ ἐάν τις παραπέσῃ καὶ »προληφθῇ ἐν τινι παραπτώματι«, ὡς λέγει ὁ ἀπόστολος, »ὕμεῖς οἱ πνευματικοὶ καταρίζετε τὸν τοιοῦτον ἐν πνεύματι πραότητος, σκοπῶν ἑαυτὸν, μὴ καὶ σὺ πειρασθῇς«. ἐάν τις οὖν προληφθῇ <ἐν> παραπτώματι ἐν οἷῳ, μετανοεῖτω.

59.5.5 | But if someone slips and is caught in some sin, as the apostle says, 'you who are spiritual should restore such a one gently, watching yourself, so that you also are not tempted.' Therefore, if someone is caught in sin in pride, let them repent.

59.5.6 | δέχεται γὰρ ὁ θεὸς τὴν μετάνοιαν καὶ μετὰ τὸ βάπτισμα ἐάν τις παραπέσῃ. πῶς δὲ μετὰ τῷ τοιούτῳ ποιεῖ, αὐτὸς μόνος γινώσκει· »ἀνεξερεύνητα γὰρ τὰ κρίματα αὐτοῦ καὶ ἀνεκδιήγητοι αἱ ὁδοὶ αὐτοῦ«.

59.5.6 | For God accepts repentance even after baptism if someone slips. But how he deals with such a person, he alone knows; 'his judgments are unsearchable and his ways are beyond telling.'

59.5.7 | καὶ πρὸ τῆς παρουσίας οὐδεὶς κρίνειν »ἕως ἂν ἔλθῃ ὁ κύριος, ὃς καὶ ἀποκαλύψει τὰ κρυπτὰ τῆς καρδίας· καὶ τότε ὁ ἄπεινος ἐκάστου φανερὸς γενήσεται«. »ἡ γὰρ ἡμέρα δηλώσει ὅτι ἐν πυρὶ ἀποκλύπτεται«.

59.5.7 | And before the coming, no one should judge, 'until the Lord comes, who will also reveal the hidden things of the heart; and then the secret of each one will be made clear.' 'For the day will show that it is revealed by fire.'

Section 6

59.6.1 | 6. Ούτε οὖν ἐπαγγελλόμεθα ἐλευθερίαν παντάπασι τοῖς μετὰ τὸ βάπτισμα παραπεπτωκόσιν οὔτε ἀπαγορεύομεν τὴν αὐτῶν ζωὴν· θεὸς γὰρ »ἐλεήμων ἐστὶν καὶ πρῶτόν ἐστι σαφές,

59.6.2 | τὸ δὲ δεύτερον οἶδαμεν ὅτι ἐλεήμων ἐστὶν θεός, ἐὰν ἐξ ὅλης ψυχῆς μετανοήσωμεν ἀπὸ παραπτωμάτων. ἔχει γὰρ ἐν χειρὶ ζωὴν καὶ σωτηρίαν καὶ φιλανθρωπίαν. καὶ τί μὲν αὐτὸν ποιεῖ αὐτῷ μόνῳ ἔγνωσται, πλὴν ὅτι ζημίας οὐκ ἔνι ἀπὸ τῆς μετανοίας οὐδὲ ἀπηγόρευται ὁ μετανοῶν ἀπὸ πάντων σφαλμάτων.

59.6.3 | πὸς ὧ γε μᾶλλον ὁ κατὰ νόμον συναφθεὶς δευτέρα γυναικί; καὶ ἡ μὲν πρώτη γυνὴ ἐκ θεοῦ τεταγμένη, ἡ δὲ Δευτέρα ἐξ ἀσθενείας ἀνθρώπων, καὶ ἔτι περισσοτέρᾳ εἰ συναφθεῖη, τὸ ἀσθενὲς αἰεὶ διαβαστάζεται. φησὶ γάρ »γυνὴ δέδεται νόμῳ ἐφ' ὅσον χρόνον ζῇ ὁ ἀνὴρ αὐτῆς. ἐὰν δὲ ἀποθάνῃ ὁ ἀνὴρ, ἐλευθέρα ἐστὶν ᾧ θέλει γαμηθῆναι, <μόνον ἐν κυρίῳ>«. ἀποφηνάμενος μετὰ τελευτὴν ἀνδρὸς τὸ ἐλεύθερον ἀπὸ ἁμαρτίας χωρὶς πάσης ἀντιλογίας, διὰ τῆς προσθήκης σημαίνει * τῷ »ἐν κυρίῳ«.

59.6.5 | ὥς οὐκ εἶναι αὐτὴν ἀλλοτρίαν κυρίου τὴν μετὰ τελευτὴν ἀνδρὸς συναπτομένην ἄλλῳ ἀνδρὶ ἢ τὸν μετὰ τελευτὴν γυναικὸς συναπτόμενον δευτέρα γυναικί »μόνον ἐν κυρίῳ«, ὥς λέγει ὁ ἀπόστολος. καὶ φησὶ <μέν> »μακαριωτέρα δὲ ἐστίν,

59.6.1 | So we do not promise complete freedom to those who have slipped after baptism, nor do we forbid their life; for God 'is merciful and first of all clear,'

59.6.2 | But secondly, we know that God is merciful if we repent with all our soul from sins. For he holds life and salvation and kindness in his hand. And what he does to each one, he alone knows, except that there is no punishment from repentance, nor is the one who repents forbidden from all mistakes.

59.6.3 | How much more so the one joined by law to a second wife? The first wife is appointed by God, but the second is from human weakness, and even more so if she is joined, the weak one is always carried through. For it says, 'a wife is bound by law as long as her husband lives. But if the husband dies, she is free to marry whoever she wants, only in the Lord.' By saying this, after the death of the husband, freedom from sins without any argument is shown by the addition 'in the Lord.'

59.6.5 | That she is not another man's wife before the Lord, the one joined after the husband's death to another man, or the man joined after the death of his wife to a second wife, 'only in the Lord,' as the apostle says. And he says, 'but she is more blessed,'

59.6.6 | ἐὰν μείνη οὕτως*, * τὸ δέ »ἐν κυρίῳ« τουτέστιν τὸ μὴ ἐν πορνείᾳ μὴ ἐν μοιχείᾳ μὴ ἐν κλεψιγαμείᾳ, ἀλλ' ἐν εὐνομίᾳ ἐν παρρησίᾳ ἐν σεμνῷ γάμῳ, ἐπιμένοντα ἐν τῇ πίστει ἐν ταῖς ἐντολαῖς ἐν εὐποιίαις ἐν εὐλαβείᾳ ἐν νηστείαις ἐν εὐνομίᾳ ἐν ἐλεημοσύναις ἐν σπουσῇ ἐν ἀγαθοεργίᾳ.

59.6.6 | 'if she remains so.' And the phrase 'in the Lord' means not in prostitution, not in adultery, not in stealing another's husband, but in good law, in boldness, in a holy marriage, staying in faith, in the commandments, in good deeds, in reverence, in fasting, in good law, in giving to the poor, in eagerness, in doing good.

59.6.7 | ταῦτα γὰρ συνόντα καὶ παραμένοντα οὐκ ἀργοὺς οὐδὲ ἀκάρους καθίστησιν εἰς τὴν τοπυ κυρίου παρουσίαν.

59.6.7 | For these things joined together and continuing do not make one lazy or useless at the time of the Lord's coming.

59.6.8 | Καὶ τῇ μὲν ἱερωσύνῃ τὸ πρῶτον τάγμα καὶ ἡ περὶ πάντων ἀκριβολογία τῷ δὲ λαῷ τὸ σύμμετρον καὶ τὸ σύγγνωστον, ἵνα πάντες διδάσκωνται καὶ κατελεῶνται.

59.6.8 | And for the priesthood, the first order and careful attention to everything, but for the people, what is balanced and forgiven, so that all may be taught and corrected.

59.6.9 | ἐλεήμων γὰρ ἐστὶν ὁ δεσπότης καὶ δυνατὸς πάντας σῶζειν τῇ ἰδίᾳ αὐτῶν εὐνομίᾳ τε καὶ ἀληθινῇ πίστει τῆς τοῦ κηρύγματος καθαρότητος. αὐτὸς γὰρ μόνος ἐστὶ καθαρός.

59.6.9 | For the master is merciful and able to save all by their own good order and true faith in the purity of the preaching. For he alone is pure.

59.6.10 | οὗτοι δὲ ἑαυτοὺς φήσαντες Καθαροὺς ἀπ' αὐτῆς τῆς ὑποθέσεως ἀκαθάρτους ἑαυτοὺς ἀποτελοῦσι· πᾶς γὰρ ὁ καθαρὸν ἑαυτὸν ἀποφήνας ἀκάθαρτον ἑαυτὸν τελείως κατέκρινε.

59.6.10 | But these, having said they are pure, from this very matter make themselves unclean; for everyone who calls himself pure has completely judged himself unclean.

Section 7

59.7.1 | 7. Πολλὴ δὲ ἄνοια τῶν τοιούτων νομιζόντων διὰ ἑν'τι, εἰ καὶ ἦν ἀληθές, περὶ

59.7.1 | Great is the foolishness of those who think, because of one thing, even if it παντὸς τοῦ λαοῦ τὸ κρίμα οὕτως φέρειν. ἔδει δὲ γινῶναι ὅτι οὐ περὶ τῆς ὑποθέσεως ταύτης μόνον τὸ ἔγκλημα ὁπάρχει πάσῃ ψυχῇ were true, that the judgment about the whole people should be like this. But it was necessary to know that the blame does not exist only about this matter for every soul.

59.7.2 | ἢ [τὸ] διὰ τούτου ἐνάρτεον γενέσθαι <ἔστι> μόνον, ἀλλὰ καὶ τῷ μὴ λοιδορεῖν, μὴ ὀμνύναι ὄρκον μήτε ἐν ἀληθείᾳ μήτε ἐν ψεύδει, ἀλλὰ »ναὶ ναί«καὶ »οὐ οὐ« λέγειν, μὴ δολιεύεσθαι μὴ διαβάλλειν μὴ κλέπτειν μὴ ἐμπορεύεσθαι.

59.7.2 | Or that because of this alone one becomes virtuous, but also not to insult, not to swear an oath either in truth or in lies, but to say 'yes, yes' and 'no, no,' not to cheat, not to slander, not to steal, not to trade.

59.7.3 | ἐκ τούτων γὰρ πάντων συνάγεται ἡμῖν τὰ ῥύπη τῶν ἁμαρτημάτων· »ὥς, γάρ φησὶν, ὁ πάσσαλος ἀνὰ μέσον δύο λίθων συντριβήσεται, οὕτως ἡ ἁμαρτία ἀνὰ μέσον ἀγοράζοντος καὶ πωλοῦντος«.

59.7.3 | For from all these things the stains of sins come together for us; "just as," it says, "a stake is crushed between two stones, so sin is between the buyer and the seller."

59.7.4 | καὶ ὅτι ἐκ τοῦ πλήθους πάντῃς <τινὲς> καὶ μέθυσοι καὶ ἔμποροι καὶ πλενεέκται καὶ τοκισταὶ *, καὶ πάντως ὅτι <καὶ αὐτοὶ> τὰ τοιαῦτα ἔχουσι καὶ τὰ τούτοις ὅμοις, <καὶ> ὅτι καὶ ψεύσματα ἐκάστω αὐτῶν παρακολουθεῖ.

59.7.4 | And that from the whole crowd some are drunkards and merchants and washers and moneylenders, and certainly that they themselves have such things and things like these, and that lies follow each one of them.

59.7.5 | πῶς οὖν δύνανται ἑαυτοὺς Καθαροὺς ἀποκαλεῖν, <ὥς> διὰ τῆς μιας ὑποθέσεως τῆς πάσης κατὰ θεὸν πραγματείας περὶ πάντων τῶν σφαλμάτων ἀσφαλιζομένης; οὐκ ἔγνωσαν δὲ οὗτοι τὰ ἀκριβῆ τοῦ κηρύγματος αὐδὲ τίνι ἀφώρισε τὸ ἀκρίβασμα τοῦτο τῆς διγαμίας.

59.7.5 | How then can they be able to call themselves clean, as if through one condition of the whole business before god about all mistakes being made safe? But these did not know the exact words of the message nor what marked off this exactness of double marriage.

59.7.6 | Ἀλλὰ καὶ οἱ ἀπὸ τοῦ διωγμοῦ παραπεπτωκότες καὶ αὐτοὶ ἐὰν ἐνδείκωνται τε λείαν τὴν μετάνοιαν, ἐν

59.7.6 | But even those who have fallen away because of persecution, if they show clear repentance, sitting in sackcloth and σάκκῳ καὶ σποδῷ καθεσθέντες καὶ κλαύσαντες ἐνώπιον κυρίου, δυνατός ἐστιν ὁ εὐεργέτης καὶ αὐτοὺς ἐλεῆσαι· οὐ γάρ τι φαῦλον γίνεται ἀπὸ μετανοίας.

ashes and crying before the lord, the giver of good things is able to have mercy on them too; for nothing bad comes from repentance.

59.7.7 | δέχεται μὲν οὖν τοὺς μετανοοῦντας ὁ κύριος καὶ ἡ αὐτοῦ ἐκκλησία, ὡς ἐπέστρεψε Μανασσῆς ὁ υἱὸς Ἐζεκίου καὶ ἐδέχθη ὑπὸ κυρίου, καὶ ὁ ἀρνησάμενος πρὸς ὥραν ἅγιος Πέρτος καὶ κορυφαίωτατος τῶν ἀποστόλων,

59.7.7 | The lord and his church do accept those who repent, just as Manasseh, the son of Ezekiel, turned back and was accepted by the lord, and Peter, who denied for a time, the holy one and chief of the apostles, was accepted too.

59.7.8 | ὃς γέγονεν ἡμῖν ἀληθῶς στερεὰ πέτρα θεμελιούσα τὴν πίστιν τοῦ κυρίου, ἐφ' ἣ ὠκοδοῦνται ἡ ἐκκλησία κατὰ πάντα τρόπον·

59.7.8 | He who truly became for us a solid rock, laying the foundation of the lord's faith, on which the church is built in every way.

59.7.9 | πρῶτον μὲν ὅτι ὠμολόγησε »Χριστὸν υἱὸν τοῦ θεοῦ τοῦ ζῶντος«, καὶ ἤκουσεν ὅτι »ἐπὶ τῇ πέτρᾳ ταύτῃ τῆς ἀσφαλοῦς πίστεως οἰκοδομήσω ὅτι ἐκκλησίαν«, ἐπειδὴ σαφῶς αὐτὸν ὠμολόγησεν υἱὸν ἀληθινόν. τῷ γὰρ εἶπεῖν υἱὸν θεοῦ ζῶντος μετὰ προσθήκης »τοῦ ζῶντος« ἔδειξεν υἱὸν γνήσιον εἶναι, ὡς ἐν πάσῃ μοι σχεδὸν αἰρέσει περὶ τούτου εἴρηται.

59.7.9 | First, because he confessed, "Christ, son of the living God," and heard, "on this rock of sure faith I will build my church," since he clearly confessed him as the true son. For to say "son of the living God" with the addition "the living" showed him to be a genuine son, as almost every heresy about this has said.

Section 8

59.8.1 | 8. ἀλλὰ καὶ περὶ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος ὁ αὐτὸς ἀσφαλίζεται ἡμᾶς, λέγων τοῖς περὶ Ἀνανίαν· »τί ὅτι ἐπείρασεν ὑμᾶς ὁ σατανᾶς ψεύσασθαι τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα; οὐκ ἀνθρώπῳ ἐψεύσασθε, ἀλλὰ θεῷ«, διότι ἐκ θεοῦ τὸ πνεῦμα καὶ οὐκ ἀλλότριον θεοῦ.

59.8.1 | But also about the holy spirit the same one assures us, saying to those about Ananias, "Why has Satan tempted you to lie to the holy spirit? You did not lie to a man, but to God," because the spirit is from God and not foreign to God.

59.8.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐνταῦθα στερεὰ πέτρα οἰκοδομῆς καὶ θεμέλις οἴκου θεοῦ γεγένηται, ἐν τῷ ἀρνησάμενον αὐτὸν καὶ πάλιν ἐπιστρέψαντα εὐρεθέντα τε ὑπὸ κυρίου καταξιωθῆναι πάλιν ἀκοῦσαι »ποιῖμαινε τὰ ἀρνία μου καὶ ποιῖμαινε τὰ πρόβατά μου«.

59.8.2 | But also here a solid rock of building and foundation of the house of God has been made, in the one who denied him and then turned back and was found worthy by the lord to hear again, "Shepherd my lambs and shepherd my sheep."

59.8.3 | ὁ γὰρ Χριστὸς ταῦτα λέγων εἰς ἐπιστροφὴν ἡμᾶς ἤγαγε μετανοίας, ἵνα ἐν αὐτῷ πάλιν οἰκοδομηθεῖ ἡ ευθεμελίωτος πίστις, ἡ μὴ ἀπαγορεύουσα ζωὴν τῶν ἀνθρώπων, ὅσοι ἐμπνέουσι τῷ βίῳ καὶ μετανοοῦσιν ἐν ἀληθείᾳ καὶ διορθοῦνται τὰ ἑαυτῶν σφάλματα ἐν τῷ αἰῶνι τούτῳ.

59.8.3 | For Christ, saying these things, led us to turn back in repentance, so that in him the well-founded faith might be built again, the faith that does not forbid the life of people who live by life and truly repent and correct their own mistakes in this age.

Section 9

59.9.1 | 9. Ὡς καὶ ἐν τῷ ᾄσματι τῶν ᾠσμάτων ἔφη αὐτῇ ἡ νύμφη πρὸς τὸν νυμφίον λέγουσα »ἀποκρίνεται ὁ ἀδελφιδοῦς μου καὶ λέγει μοι· ἀάσταέλθέ, [ἡ] πληρίον μου, μαλή μου, περιστερά μου, ὅτι ὁ χειμὼν παρῆλθεν«, τὰ στυγερά τε καὶ ζοφώδη τῆς συννεφίας καὶ φοβερώτατα * ὡς εἶπεῖν * παρῆλθεν, »οὐ ἐτὸς ἀπῆλθεν, ἐπορεύθη ἑαυτῷ.

59.9.1 | 9. Just as in the Song of Songs, the bride said to the bridegroom, "My brother answers and says to me: 'Come quickly, my full one, my darling, my dove, because the storm has passed,'" the hateful and dark clouds and the most terrible, so to speak, have passed, "the rain has gone away, it has gone on its way."

59.9.2 | τὰ ἄνθη ὥφθη ἐν τῇ γῇ ἡμῶν, καιρὸς τῆς τομῆς ἔφθακε, φωνὴ τῆς τρυγόνος ἠκούσθη ἐν τῇ γῇ ἡμῶν. ἡ συκῇ ἐξήνεγκε τοῦς ὀλύνθους αὐτῆς, αἱ ἄμπελοι ἡμῶν κυπρίζουσιν, ἔδωκαν ὁσμὴν·

59.9.2 | The flowers appeared in our land, the time of pruning has come, the voice of the turtledove was heard in our land. The fig tree has brought out its figs, our vines are in blossom, they have given off fragrance.

59.9.3 | ἵνα δείξῃ πάντα τὰ παρωχημένα

59.9.3 | So that it may show all the things παρε;θόντα, ἔαρος δὲ ἄρτι ἀνθοῦντος καὶ θαλάσσης γαληνιώσης τε καὶ φόβου τοῦ ὑετοῦ διεθόντος καὶ τῶν παλαιῶν τῆς ἀμπέλου* τετμημένων καὶ τῆς πόας μηκέτι ποαζούσης μόνον,

that have passed away, now that spring is blooming and the sea is calm, and the fear of rain has passed, and the old vines have been cut, and the pasture will no longer grow alone,

59.9.4 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἄνθη ἐχβαλλοίσης καὶ τοῦ κηρύγματος τῆς φωνῆς ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ βοώσης τουτέστιν ἐν τῇ γῇ ἡμῶν καὶ συκῆς τῆς ποτε καταραθείσης ἐκβαλλούσης τοὺς όλύνθους, τοὺς καρποὺς τῆς μετανοίας ἤδη ἐπὶ τοῖς κλώνεσι καὶ δένδρεσι φαινομένους, ἀμπέλους δὲ ἤδη κυπριζοίσας τὸ εὐδομον τῆς τοῦ εὐαγγελίου πίστεως κήρυγμα.

59.9.4 | but also the blossoming of flowers and the voice of the preaching crying out in the wilderness, that is, in our land, and the fig tree once cursed now bringing out its figs, the fruits of repentance already appearing on the branches and trees, and the vines already blossoming with the good news of the gospel of faith.

59.9.5 | ἐπειδὴ δὲ εὐθὺς κέκληκε τὴν τοιαύτην καὶ εἶπεν »ἀνάστα ἐλθέ«, * ἀνάστα ἀπὸ νεκρότητος ἁμαρτημάτων καὶ ἐλθέ ἐν δικαιοσύνῃ, ἀνάστα ἀπὸ παραπτώματος καὶ ἐλθέ ἐν παρρησίᾳ, ἀνάστα ἀπὸ ἁμαρτιῶν καὶ ἐλθέ ἐν μετανοίᾳ, ἀνάστα ἀπὸ παραλύσεως καὶ ἐλθέ ἐν τελειότητι, ἀνάστα ἀπὸ λωβήσεως καὶ ἐλθέ ἐν ὑγείᾳ, ἀνάστα ἀπὸ ἀπιστίας καὶ ἐλθέ ἐν μετανοίᾳ, ἀνάστα ἀπὸ ἀπωλείας καὶ ἐλθέ ἐν εὐρέσει.

59.9.5 | and since he immediately called such a one and said, “get up, come,” get up from the death of sins and come in righteousness, get up from mistakes and come in boldness, get up from sins and come in repentance, get up from paralysis and come in perfection, get up from insult and come in health, get up from unbelief and come in repentance, get up from destruction and come in finding.

59.9.6 | ἐπειδὴ δὲ ἤδει τὸ θεῖον λόγιον ὅτι μετὰ πρώτην μετάνοιαν καὶ μετὰ τὴν πρώτην κλησιν καὶ ἴασιν, ὥς εἶπεῖν, συμβαίνει τῇ ἀνθρωπότητι πολλὰ παραπτώματα, πάλιν λέγει »ἀνάστα ἐλθέν, ἡ πλησίον μου, καλή μου, περιστερὰ μου, καὶ ἐλθέ, σὺ περιστερὰ μου«.

59.9.6 | and since the divine word knows that after the first repentance and after the first theft and healing, so to speak, many mistakes happen to humanity, he again says, “get up, come, my neighbor, my dear, my dove, and come, you my dove.”

59.9.7 | δευτέρον ταύτην καλεῖ καὶ οὐχ ἅπαξ. τὸ δὲ δευτέρον οὐκ ἴσον τῷ πρώτῳ.

59.9.7 | he calls this a second time and not just once. but the second is not the same as φησὶ γὰρ ἐν τῇ προτέρᾳ κλήσει οὕτως »άνάστα ἐλθέ, [ἡ] πλησίον μου, καλή μου, περιστερά μου«. τὸ μὲν πρῶτον »άνάστα ἐλθέ«, καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν »ἐλθέ σύ«.

the first. for he says in the earlier call like this, “get up, come, my neighbor, my dear, my dove.” the first was “get up, come,” and he did not say “you come.”

59.9.8 | καὶ τὸ δεύτερον προστίθῃσι τὸ ἄρθρον, ἵνα δείξῃ κλήσιν οὐ δευτέραν, παρηλλαγμένην μετὰ τὴν πρώτην, ἀλλὰ ἐν τῇ πρώτῃ ἀπὸ παραπτωμάτων πάλιν ὀρεγομένην χεῖρα ἐπιδέξειον καὶ ἐπουράνοιν φιλονθρωπίας.

59.9.8 | and in the second he adds the article, to show a call not second in order, changed after the first, but in the first, reaching out the hand again from mistakes, a friendly and heavenly kindness.

59.9.9 | »καὶ ἐλθέ« φησὶ »<σύ> περιστερά μου ἐν σκέπῃ τῆς πέτρας, ἐχόμενα τοῦ· προτειχίσματος«· »ἐν δέκῃ πέτρας« <τουτέστιν< ἐν φιλονθρωπία Χριστοῦ καὶ ἐν ἐλθεί κυρίου· τοῦτο γὰρ ἐστὶν σκέπη πέτρας, σκέπη ἐλπίδος καὶ πίστεως καὶ ἀληθείας.

59.9.9 | and he says, “and come, you my dove, in the shelter of the rock, holding the parapet.” “in the shelter of the rock” means in the kindness of Christ and in the mercy of the lord; for this is the shelter of the rock, the shelter of hope and faith and truth.

59.9.10 | »ἐχόμενα τοῦ προτειχίσματος«, τουτέστιν πρὶν ἢ κλεισθῆναι τὴν πύλιν, πρὶν ἢ εἴσω περιβόλων γενόμενος ὁ βασιλεὺς μηκέτι εἰσδέξῃται, τουτέστιν μετὰ τὴν ἐντεῦθεν ἀπαλλαγὴν τε καὶ θάνατον, ὅτε οὐκέτι »ἐχόμενα τοῦ προτειχίσματος«, ἀλλὰ ἀπεκλείσθησαν αἱ πύλαι καὶ οὐκέτι ἐνὶ διορθώσασθαι.

59.9.10 | “holding the parapet,” that is, before the gate is shut, before the king has gone inside the courtyard and no longer welcomes anyone; that is, after the escape from here and death, when it is no longer “holding the parapet,” but the gates are closed and there is no way to fix it.

Section 10

59.10.1 | 10. Ἐν γὰρ τῷ μέλλοντι αἰῶνι, μετὰ τὴν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἐντεῦθεν ἀπαλλαγὴν οὐ νηστείας πορισμὸς οὐ μετανοίας κλήσις οὐκ | ἐλεημοσύνης ἐπίσοις, ἀλλ’ οὔτε ἐγκλημάτων ἔργα οὐ ὀλεμος οὐ μοιχεία οὐκ ἀσέλγεια, ἀλλ’ οὔτε

59.10.1 | For in the coming age, after the escape of the person from here, there will be no fasting, no gaining of repentance, no calling, no giving of alms; but neither works of sin, nor destruction, nor adultery, nor lust, but also no justice and no repentance.

δικαιοσύνη καὶ μετάνοια.

59.10.2 | ὥς γὰρ μετὰ θερισμὸν τοῦ στάχυος οὐκ ἔνι παχυνθῆναι τὸν κόκκον, οὐκ ἀνεμόξθορον γενέσθαι * οὐκ ἔνι εὐπάθειά τις ἐτέρα.

59.10.2 | For just as after the harvest of the grain there is no thickening of the kernel, no becoming chaff for the wind, no other kind of ripening.

59.10.3 | ἀλλὰ μὴ λέγε μοι τῆς ἀποθήκης τὰ φθάρματα, τουτέστι καὶ σκώσηκας καὶ σῆτας· ταῦτα γὰρ διὰ τὰ ἐν τῷ αἰῶνι γινόμενα εἴρηται, τὸ δὲ ἀπεικονισμένον καὶ ἐν πύλαις ἡμῖν εἰργμένον καὶ ἀποθήκη ἡσφαλισμένον πίστεως ἐστὶν ὑπόδειγμα καὶ ὑπογραμμός, »ἐνθα οὔτε λησταὶ διορύττουσιν οὔτε σῆτες ἀφανίζουσιν«, ὥς ἔχει ὁ θεῖος λόγος. * οὔτε ὁ μὴν πορισμός ευσεβείας, οὔτε μετανοίας <κλήσις>; ὥς ἔφην, μετὰ θάνατον.

59.10.3 | But do not tell me about the perishable things of the storehouse, that is, the husks and the chaff; for these are said because of what happens in the age, but what is pictured and shut in the gates and locked in the storehouse is a sign and a mark of faith, "where neither robbers dig through nor chaff is destroyed," as the divine word says. Neither the gaining of piety nor the calling of repentance, as I said, happens after death.

59.10.4 | οὔτε γὰρ Λάζαρος ἄπέρχεται πρὸς τὸν πλούσιον ἐκεῖ οὔτε ὁ πλούσιος πρὸς τὸν Λάζαρον, οὔτε Ἀβραὰμ ἀποστέλλει σκύλλων τὸν πένητα πλουτήσοντα ἐς ὑστερον, οὔτε ὁ πλούσιος πένης γενόμενος ᾧν αἰτεῖται <μετα>; λαμβάνει, καίπερ μετὰ ἱκεσίας τὸν ἐλεήμονα Ἀβραὰμ παρακαλέσας.

59.10.4 | For neither does Lazarus go to the rich man there, nor does the rich man go to Lazarus, nor does Abraham send the poor man to become rich later, nor does the rich man, becoming poor, receive what he asks for, even after begging the merciful Abraham.

59.10.5 | ἐσφράγισται γὰρ τὰ ταμιεῖα καὶ πεπλήρωται ὁ χρόνος καὶ ὁ ἀγὼν ἐτελέσθη καὶ ἐκενώθη τὸ σκάμμα καὶ οἱ στέφανοι ἐδόθησαν καὶ οἱ ἀγωνισάμενοι ἀνεπάσαν καὶ οἱ μὴ φθάσαντες ἐξῆκον καὶ οἱ μὴ ἀγωνισάμενοι οὐκέτι εὐποροῦσι καὶ οἱ ἐν τῷ σκάμματι ἡττηθέντες ἐξεβλήθησαν καὶ τὰ πάντα σαφῶς τετελείωται μετὰ τὴν ἐντεῦθεν ἐκδημίαν.

59.10.5 | For the storehouses have been sealed, the time has been filled, the contest has been completed, the pit has been emptied, the crowns have been given, and those who fought have received their reward; and those who did not arrive have left, and those who did not fight no longer prosper, and those defeated in the pit have been thrown out, and all things have clearly been finished after the departure from here.

59.10.6 | ἔτι δὲ ὄντων ἐν τῷ αἰῶνι πάντων, καὶ μετὰ πτώσιν ἔνι ἀνάστασις, ἔτι ἐλπίς ἔτι θεραπεία ἔτι ὁμολογία, κἂν εἰ μὴ τελειότατα, * ἀλλ' οὕν γε <καὶ> τῶν ἄλλων οὐκ ἀπηγόρευται ἡ σωτηρία.

59.10.6 | While still in the age of all things, and even after a fall there is a resurrection, still hope, still healing, still confession, even if not perfect; but indeed, salvation is not denied for the others.

Section 11

59.11.1 | 11. Πᾶσα δὲ αἵρεσις ἀπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐξοκείλασα ἐν σκότῳ τυφλώττει καὶ μυωπάζει, ἕτερα ἀνθ' ἑτέρων διανοουμένη. ἔοικαν γὰρ οὗτοί τισιν ἀτέχνους καὶ μὴ γινώσκουσι τὰ <περὶ> ἐκάστης ποιότητος καὶ χρήσεως καὶ κόσμου ἐκάστου μέλους καὶ ὡς ἔπος εἰπεῖν (γελοιῶδές τι ὃ προβάλλομαι λέγειν, ὅμοιον <δὲ> τῆς αὐτῶν ἀνοησίας) ὡς περιτιθέασι τὰ ὑποδήματα τῇ κεφαλῇ, τὸν δὲ στέφανον τοῖς ποσὶ καὶ κλοιὸν χρυσοῦν περὶ τὴν γαστέρα·

59.11.1 | Every heresy, having turned away from the truth, blinds and shortsightedly squints in darkness, thinking different things instead of others. For these seem to some unskilled and not knowing the qualities and uses and parts of each order and universe, and, so to speak (something silly I am about to say, like their own foolishness), they put shoes on the head, but the crown on the feet, and a golden belt around the belly.

59.11.2 | τὰ δὲ ἄλλα πέδιλα ὡς εἰπεῖν, τὰ ἐξ ἱματίων γεγενῆμένα, ἃ παρὰ τισιν ὁδώνια κέκληται ἢ βράκai, χερσὶ περιτιθέασι, δακτυλίους δὲ τοῖς ποσίν.

59.11.2 | The other sandals, so to speak, made from clothes, which among some are called socks or breeches, they put on the hands, but rings on the feet.

59.11.3 | οὕτω γὰρ ἡ τῶν τὴν ἀγνοίαν κεκτημένων σφαλερὰ καὶ ἄτακτος εὐρίσκεται διαταγή. τὰ γὰρ ἐπὶ τῆς ἱερωσύνης ἡσφαλισμένα περὶ δευτέρου γάμου καὶ τῶν ἄλλων οὗτοι εἰς ἅπαντα τὸν λαὸν * νενομίκασι καὶ τὰ δι' ὑπερβολὴν στρυφνότητος ὑπὸ θεοῦ κεκηρυγμένα, ἵνα μὴ ῥαθυμήσαντές τινες παραπέσωσιν, αὐτοὶ εἰς ἀπανθρωπίαν θεῷ προσῆψαν.

59.11.3 | For thus the order of those who have ignorance is found to be faulty and disorderly. For those things established in the priesthood about second marriage and the others, they have made a law for the whole people, and those things declared by God because of excessive strictness, so that some, not being lazy, might not fall away, they themselves have added to God in inhumanity.

59.11.4 | καὶ ὡς ἐὰν εἴ τις ἀπὸ ἱματίου χειρίδα κατασχὼν [καὶ] ἕως μότον ἀγκῶνος ἀπὸ καρποῦ χειρὸς τοῦ καλουμένου σκεάζοι ἑαυτόν, προφέροι δὲ πρὸ ὀφθαλμῶν καθ' ἑκάστην ὥραν τὴν χειρίδα καὶ ἐπιτωθάζοι τοῖς ἄλλοις, ἐπιλησθεὶς ὅτι ὅλον τὸ σῶμα αὐτοῦ γυμνητεύει,

59.11.4 | And if someone, holding a piece of cloth from a garment, covers himself with it from the wrist to the elbow of the hand called a sleeve, and shows the sleeve before the eyes every hour and points it out to others, forgetting that his whole body is naked,

59.11.5 | Οὕτω καὶ οὗτοι σεμνυνόμενοι μὴ δέχεσθαι διγάμους τὰς πάσας ἐντολάς.

59.11.5 | Just so, these men boast that they do not accept all the commands about second marriages.

59.11.6 | τὰς ὁμοίας ταύτη καὶ ἔτι ὑπερβολῇ καλλίονας τῷ φυλάττειν, ἐπι θανατίους δὲ ἐν τῷ μὴ φυλάττεσθαι, * τὴν μίαν ἀπαγορεύουσι, τὰς δὲ ἄλλας καταλε λοίπασι. καὶ ἐπιλαθόμενοι ὅλον μὲν τὸ σῶμα γυμνητεύουσιν, ἀπὸ ὅλων τῶν ἐνταλμάτων ἀργήσαντες καὶ τὴν μίαν ἐντολὴν οὐχ ἀγνῶς κατασχόντες.

59.11.6 | They forbid the one command about second marriages, which is similar to this and even more strict to keep, and they leave the others behind. And forgetting, they make the whole body naked, ignoring all the commands and not keeping even the one command purely.

Section 12

59.12.1 | Καὶ ὦ τῆς πολλῆς τῶν ἀνθρώπων ματαιοφροσύνης. πᾶσα δὲ πρόφασις ἐκάστην αἵρεσιν, κἄν τε βραχεῖά τις ὑπῆρξεν, ἀπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας παρείλυσε καὶ εἰς πολλὴν φορὰν κακῶν κατήγαγεν.

59.12.1 | And oh, the great foolishness of many people. Every excuse takes away from the truth, even if it was a short one, and has led to many troubles.

59.12.2 | ὥσπερ γὰρ | εἴ τις διασφαγὴν εὐρὼν ἐν φραγμῷ παρὰ λεωφόρῳ [καὶ] νομίση διὰ ταύτης βαδίζειν καὶ καταλιπὼν τὴν ὁδὸν ἐκεῖσε τρέπηται, νομίσας ἐγγύτατον ἔχειν ὅθεν διακάμψας πάλιν τῆς

59.12.2 | For just as if someone found a gap in a fence by a highway and thought to go through it, leaving the road, and turned there, thinking he was close to where he could bend back onto the road again, not ὁδοῦ ἐπιλάβοιτο, ἀγνοήσῃ δὲ ὅτι τεῖχος ἐστὶν ὑπέρτατον καὶ μακρῶ διαστήματι ῥυκοδομημένον,

knowing that it is a very high wall built with a long distance,

59.12.3 | ἐπιτρέχοι δὲ μὴ εὐρίσκων διὰ ποιᾶς τὴν διέξοδον ποιήσεται, ἀντὶ ἐνὸς σημείου ἦτοι μιλίου προκόπτων κατὰ χεῖρα ἔτι πλέον, μὴ εὐρῶν τὴν ὁδόν, καὶ οὕτως τρέπηται ἐπὶ τὰ πλείω, κάμνων δὲ οὕτω καὶ μὴ εὐπορῶν διὰ ποίας ἐπὶ τὴν ὁδοιπορίαν ἐαυτὸν ἀγάγοι, τάχα γε μήτε εὐρεῖν δυσνηθεῖν, εἰ μὴ τι ἂν ἀνακάμψῃ δι' ἧς καὶ εἰσῆλθεν, —

59.12.3 | and he runs along it, not finding any way through, making more than a hand's length of progress instead of one sign or mile, and not finding the road, and so he turns toward the greater part, growing tired and not knowing how to bring himself back to the journey, perhaps he would not be able to find it, unless he turned back by the same way he came in, —

59.12.4 | οὕτω καὶ ἐκάστη αἵρεσις, ὡς συντομίαν τινὰ ἐφευρεῖν διανοηθεῖσα, παρεξώκειλε μὲν διὰ τῆς μακροδίας, ἠυρέθη δὲ αὐτῇ τεῖχος ἀρραγὲς ἢ τῆς ἀνοίας καὶ ἀγνοσίας παρεμπλοκῇ·

59.12.4 | just so each sect, thinking to find some short cut, has gone off course because of the long way, but found a solid wall made of the tangle of foolishness and ignorance;

59.12.5 | καὶ οὐκ ἂν εὗροι ἡ τοιαύτη ἐπὶ τὴν ἀληθινὴν ἤκειν ὁδόν, εἰ μὴ τι ἂν ἐκάστη ἀνακάμψῃ εἰς τὸ ἀρχέτυπον τῆς ὁδοῦ, τουτέστιν τὴν βασιλικήν·

59.12.5 | and such a one would not find that it comes to the true road, unless each one turned back to the original pattern of the road, that is, the royal road;

59.12.6 | ὡς καὶ ὁ νόμος διαρρήδην ἐβόα, τοῦ ἁγίου Μωυσέως λέγοντος τῷ βασιλεῖ Ἰσραὴλ· ὅτι "τάδε λέγει ὁ ἀδελφός σου Ἰσραὴλ· παρὰ τὰ ὄριά σου διελεύσομαι εἰς γῆν ἣν ὥμοσε κύριος τοῖς πατράσιν ἡμῶν δοῦναι, γῆν ῥέουσαν γάλα καὶ μέλι, τὴν γῆν τῶν Ἀμορραίων καὶ Φερεζαίων καὶ Γεργεσαίων καὶ Ἰεβουσαίων καὶ Εὐαίων καὶ Χαναναίων καὶ Χετταέων, [γῆν ῥέουσαν γάλα καὶ μέλι].

59.12.6 | just as the law shouted out clearly, when holy Moses said to king Edom, 'this is what your brother Israel says: I will cross your borders into the land the Lord promised to our ancestors to give us, a land flowing with milk and honey, the land of the Amorites and the Perizzites and the Jebusites and the Hivites and the Canaanites and the Hittites, [a land flowing with milk and honey].'

59.12.7 | οὐκ ἐκκλινοῦμεν δεφιά ἢ ἀριστερά, ὕδωρ ἐν ἀργυρίῳ πιόμεθα καὶ βρώματα ἀργυρίου φαγόμεθα· οὐκ ἐκκλινοῦμεν ἐνιεῦθεν ἢ ἐντεῦθεν, ὁδῶ βασιλικῇ βαδιοῦμεν».

59.12.7 | we do not turn right or left, we drink water in silver and eat foods of silver; we do not turn this way or that way, we walk on the royal road.

59.12.8 | ἔστι γὰρ ὁδὸς βασιλική, ἣτις ἐντὶν ἡ τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησία καὶ ἡ ὁδοιπορία τῆς ἀληθείας. ἐκάστη δὲ τούτων τὴν βασιλικὴν καταλείψασα, κλίναςα δὲ ἐπὶ τὰ δεξιὰ ἢ ἐπὶ τὰ ἀριστερά, ἐπὶ πολὺ λοιπὸν ἑαυτὴν ἐπιδιδούσα εἰς πλάνην παρελκυσθήσεται καὶ οὐκέτι μέτρον ἔχει παρ' ἐκάστη αἰρέσει ἡ τῆς πλάνης ἀνοδία.

59.12.8 | for there is a royal road, which is the church of god within and the journey of truth. but each one, having left the royal road, turning to the right or to the left, will be led far away into error and will no longer have measure in each heresy, the rising up of error.

Section 13

59.13.1 | 13. Ἄγε τοίτυν, θεοῦ δοῦλοι, υἱοὶ τε τῆς ἁγίας θεοῦ ἐκκλησίας, οἱ τὸν κανόνα ἀσφαλῆ γινώσκοντες καὶ τὴν ὁδὸν τῆς ἀληθείας βαδίζοντες, μὴ φωναῖς ἀνθελκυσθῶμεν καὶ φωνῇ ἐκάστης παραπεποιημένης ἐπιτηδεύσεως ἀχθῶμεν.

59.13.1 | come then, servants of god, sons of the holy church of god, who know the sure rule and walk the road of truth, let us not be pulled away by voices and be burdened by the voice of each false practice.

59.13.2 | σφαλεραὶ γὰρ αἱ τούτων ὁδοὶ καὶ ἀνάντης ἡ τρίβος τῆς αὐτῶν παραπεποιημένης ἐννοίας· μεγαλαυχοῦσι καὶ οὐδὲ τὰ μεκρὰ ἴσασιν· ἐλευθερίαν ἐπαγγέλλονται, αὐτοὶ δοῦλοι ὄντες τῆς ἁμαρτίας· τὰ μείζονα ἀύχοῦσι καὶ τῶν μικρῶν οὐδ' ὅλως ἐπελάβοντο.

59.13.2 | for their ways are unstable and the path of their false thinking is uphill; they boast greatly and do not even know the small things; they promise freedom, though they themselves are slaves of sin; they boast of the greater things and have not even grasped the smaller ones at all.

59.13.3 | Ἀλλὰ καὶ περὶ τούτων τῶν δὴ Καθαρῶν λεγομένων, ἀκαθάρτων δὲ εἰ δεῖ τᾷληθῇ λέγειν. ἀρκετὸν ἡγοῦμαι ἕως ἐνταῦθα ἱκανῶς εἰρησθαι.

59.13.3 | but even about these so-called Cathars, or rather unclean ones if we must speak the truth, i think it is enough to have spoken sufficiently up to this point.

59.13.4 | ταύτην δὲ παραρρίψαντες ὡς βασιλίσκου πρόσωπον, τῷ μὲν προδχήματι τοῦ ὀνόματος ἐξοχωτάτην τινὰ ἐπωνυμίαν κεκτημένου, τῇ δὲ δυντυχίᾳ θάνατον ἐμποιοῦντος. ἡμεῖς δὲ τῇ τοῦ ξύλου τοῦ σταυροῦ δυνάμει τοῦτον παίσαντες ἐπὶ τὰς ἐτέρας πάλιν ὀρμήσωμεν, αὐτὴν ἐπαγόμενοι τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ καθικιτείαν,

59.13.4 | casting this aside like the face of a little king, one having gained a most excellent name for the first part, and bringing death for the misfortune; but we, having struck this one by the power of the wood of the cross, let us rush again against the others, calling upon the coming down of god himself,

59.13.5 | εἰς τὸ συνοδεῦσαι συμπαραμεῖναι συνεῖναι συνεργῆσαι διαδῶσαι παιδεῦσαι καταξιῶσαι ἡμᾶς τάληθῇ λέγειν, ἵνα μήτε αὐτοὶ ψευδῶς τι λέγοντες τοῖς αὐτοῖς ὑποπέσωμεν, ὁποίοις αἱ μὴ τάληθῇ τὸν κόσμον διδάξασαι αἰρέδεις.

59.13.5 | to join, stay with, understand, work together, share, and teach, and to make us worthy to speak the truth, so that we ourselves do not fall under suspicion of lying to the same people to whom the heretics have taught false things about the world.

59.13.6 | Ἔτι δὲ καὶ οἱ ἐν τῇ Ἀφρικῇ τε καὶ Βηζικανίᾳ, οἱ ἀπὸ Δωνάτου τινὸς Δωνατιανοὶ οὕτω καλούμενοι. τὰ ὅμοια τούτοις φρονοῦντες [εἰσιν], ἀφηνιασται καὶ αὐτοὶ δὴθεν διὰ τὸ μὴ συγκοινωνεῖν τοῖς ἐν τῷ διωγμῷ παραπεσοῦσι, τοῖς αὐτοῖς ἀνατραπήσονται καθάπερ καὶ οἱ ἑτεροζυγοῦντες αὐτοῖς Ναυατιανοὶ εἴτ' οὖν Καθαροὶ οὕτω καλούμενοι.

59.13.6 | Also, those in Africa and Byzacena, called Donatists after a certain Donatus, thinking like these, are wild themselves, supposedly because they do not join with those who fall into persecution; they will be overthrown by the same ones, just like the Navatians who join differently with them, whether they are called Cathars or not.

59.13.7 | διὸ οὐ χρεῖαν ἐσχήκαμεν περὶ τούτων τι ἐπεργάσασθαι, ἀλλ' ὁμοῦ αὐτοὺς τοῖς ὁμοίοις αὐτοῖς συνήψαμεν.

59.13.7 | Therefore, we did not need to work on these things, but at once we joined them to those like themselves.

59.13.8 | περιττότερον δὲ οὗτοι πάλιν καὶ χεῖρον ἐξέπεσον. τὴν γὰρ πίστιν κατὰ τὸν Ἄρειον φρονοῦσιν· ἀνατραπήσονται δὲ ὡσαύτως περὶ πίστεως ἥς κακῶς φρονοῦσιν, ὥς καὶ ὁ Ἄρειος ἀνετράπη διὰ λόγων ἀληθείας, τὰ αὐτὰ τούτοις φρονῶν καὶ οὗτοι ἐκείνῳ. καὶ ταύτην δὲ πάλιν

59.13.8 | But these fell again into something more excessive and worse. For they think the faith like Arius did; and they will be overthrown in the same way about the faith they think badly of, just as Arius was overthrown by true words, thinking the same things as he did and also against παρελευσόμενοι 9 ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς βαδιοῦμεν, ὥσπερ ἔρπετὰ δεινὰ καταπεπατηκότες ἐν κυρίῳ him. And passing by this again, we go on to what follows, like terrible reptiles trampled under the Lord.

Book 60

Section 1

60.1.1 | Ἀγγελικῶν αἵρεσιν * ἀκηκόαμεν καὶ τὸ ὄνομα μόνον ἐνηχήθημεν, οὐ πάνυ δὲ σαφῶς ἴσμεν τίς ἡ τοιαύτη αἵρεσις, διὰ τὸ τάχα ποτὲ καιρῷ αὐτὴν ἐνστάσαν ὕστερον λῆξαι καὶ καταλυθῆναι εἰς τέλος. τὸ δὲ ὄνομα διὰ ποίαν αἰτίαν ἔσχεν οὐκ ἴσμεν.

60.1.1 | We have heard the heresy of the Angelic ones and only the name was sounded to us, but we do not fully know clearly what such a heresy is, because it may have come up for a time and later ended and been destroyed completely. And we do not know for what reason it had that name.

60.1.2 | For either because some say the world was made by angels (and if it is called by this name for that reason, I do not know to say), or because they boast of themselves in the order of angels and live a very noble life (I do not confirm this either), or also because they took the name from some place, since there is a region called Angelina beyond the land of Mesopotamia.

Section 2

60.2.1 | 2 Ἦδη δὲ ἐν ὑπομνήσει σου γινομένου τοῦ ἀκροατοῦ οὐκ εἰς κατὰγνωσιν <ἡμῶν> ἐν ὑπονοίαις γενήσῃ. ἐπηγγειλάμεθα γὰρ τῶν μὲν τὰς ῥίζας καὶ τὰς τροφὰς ἢ τι τῶν [ἐν τοῖς] παρ' αὐτοῖς γινομένων δηλῶσαι, ἄλλων δὲ μόνον τῷ ὀνόματι ἐπιμνημονεῦσαι·

60.2.1 | And already, in your memory as the listener, may you not come to suspect us. For we promised to show the roots and the sources of some things happening among them, and to mention others only by name.

60.2.2 | ὥς δὲ ἡ θεία δύναμις παρεσκεύασε καὶ ἐβοήθησεν, ἕως ταύτης τῆς αἰρέσεως τὰς πάσας διεξελθόντες οὐδεμίαν ἐάσαμεν ἀνερμήνευτον, πλὴν μιᾶς ταύτης.

60.2.2 | But as the divine power prepared and helped, going through all the heresies up to this one, we left none unexplained, except this one alone.

60.2.3 | τάχα δὲ διὰ τὸ ἐπαρθεῖσαν τῷ τύφῳ ἀλίγον καιρὸν [καὶ] ὕστερον λῆξαι τὴν ταύτης κατάληψιν οὐ πάνυ σαφῶς ἔγνωμεν.

60.2.3 | Perhaps because the pride raised by blindness lasted only a short time, and later the possession of this one ended, we did not know very clearly.

60.2.4 | ταύτης δὲ μόνου ἐπιμνησθέντες τῆς ὀνομασίας ἐν τάχει ὥσπερ ἐκτρώματι τῷ ταύτης ὀνόματι χρησάμενοι παρελευσόμεθα τὸν τόπον.

60.2.4 | Remembering only the name of this one, quickly, as if with a shudder, using the name of this one, we will pass over the place.

60.2.5 | ἐπὶ τὰς ἑτέρας δὴ διασκοποῦντες τὴν ὁρμὴν ποιεῖσθαι καὶ αἰτούμενοι τὸν τῶν ὅλων δεσπότην παραφανῆναι ἡμῖν καὶ τὰ ἀκριβῆ τῶν παρ' αὐτοῖς γινομένων ἐπιδείξαντα τῷ σμικρῷ ἡμῶν νῷ πάντα κατὰ ἀκρίβειαν σημᾶναι,

60.2.5 | Turning then to examine the other movements carefully and asking the master of all to appear to us and show exactly what was happening among them, to mark everything precisely to our small mind,

60.2.6 | ἵν' ἑαυτοῖς τε καὶ τοῖς πέλας τὴν διόρθωσιν ποιησώμεθα τοῦ φεύγειν τὰ φαῦλα, ἐν δὲ τοῖς ἀγαθοῖς καὶ ἀληθεστάτιος τὸ ἐδραῖον ἑαυτοῖς ἐν θεῷ προσπορίσασθαι.

60.2.6 | so that for ourselves and those near us we might make a correction to avoid the bad things, and among the good things, to gain a firm and truest foundation for ourselves in god.

Book 61

Section 1

61.1.1 | Μετὰ δὲ τούτους ἄλλοι ἑαυτοὺς Ἀποστολικοὺς ὠνόμασαν, βούλονται δὲ καὶ

61.1.1 | After these, others called themselves Apostolics, but they want to call Ἀποτακτικούς ἑαυτοὺς λέγειν· φυλάττεται γὰρ παρ' αὐτοῖς τὸ μηδὲν κεκτήσθαι.

themselves Apostate; for they keep carefully from having anything.

61.1.2 | εἰσὶ δὲ καὶ οὗτοι ἀπόσπασμα τῶν Τατιανοῦ δογμάτων, Ἐγκρατιτῶν τε καὶ Τατιανῶν καὶ Καθαρῶν, οἵτινες φύσει γάμον οὐ παραδέχονται· παρήλλακται δὲ παρ' αὐτοῖς καὶ τὰ μυστήρια.

61.1.2 | And these are also a group from the teachings of Tatian, of the Encratites and Tatianists and the Pure, who by nature do not accept marriage; and the mysteries have also been changed by them.

61.1.3 | σμενύνονται δὲ δῆθεν ἀκτημοσύνην, σχίζουσι δὲ μάτην οὗτοι καὶ βλάπτουσι τὴν ἁγίαν θεοῦ ἐκκλησίαν, διὰ τοῦ ἐθέλοθρησκεύειν ἐκπεσόντες τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ φιλανθρωπίας.

61.1.3 | They pretend to have no possessions, but these people are wrong and harm the holy church of God, because by choosing false worship they have fallen away from God's love for people.

61.1.4 | οὔτε γὰρ <παρ' > αὐτοῖς παραπεπτωκότος τινὸς εἴσδεξις ἔτι γίνεται, τὰ ὅμοια δὲ τοῖς ἀνωτέρω λελεγμένοις φρονοῦσι περὶ τε τοῦ γάμου καὶ τῶν ἄλλων πραγμάτων.

61.1.4 | For no longer is there any acceptance among them of someone who has fallen away, and they think the same things as those mentioned above about marriage and other matters.

61.1.5 | καὶ οἱ μὲν Καθαροὶ ταῖς ῥηταῖς μόνον γραφαῖς κέχρηται, οὗτοι δὲ ταῖς λεγομέναις Πράξεσιν Ἀνδρέου τε καὶ Θωμᾶ τὸ πλεῖστον ἐπερενδονται, παντάπασιν ἀλλότριον τοῦ κανόνος τοῦ ἐκκλησιαστικοῦ ὑπάρχοντες.

61.1.5 | And the Pure use only the written scriptures, but these people mostly rely on the so-called Acts of Andrew and Thomas, being completely different from the rule of the church.

61.1.6 | Εἰ γὰρ βδελυρὸς ἐστὶν ὁ γάμος, ἄρα ὅλοι ἀκάθαρτοι ὑπάρχουσι <οἱ>· διὰ γάμου γεγεννημένοι. καὶ εἰ μόνον τυγχάνει ἡ ἁγία θεοῦ ἐκκλησία τῶν τῷ γάμῳ ἀποταξαμένων, οὐκέτι ὁ γάμος ἐκ θεοῦ ὑπάρχει.

61.1.6 | For if marriage is disgusting, then all who are born through marriage are unclean. And if only the holy church of God belongs to those who have rejected marriage, then marriage no longer comes from God.

61.1.7 | καὶ εἰ οὐχ ὑπάρχει, ἡ πᾶσα παιδοποιουμένη ὑπόθεσις ἀλλοτρία ὑπάρχει θεοῦ, καὶ εἰ ἀλλοτρία ὑπάρχει θεοῦ ἡ παιδοποιουμένη ὑπόθεσις. ἄρα καὶ αὐτοὶ ἀλλότριοι θεοῦ ὑπάρχουσιν ἀπὸ τοιούτων γεγεννημένοι.

61.1.7 | And if it does not exist, then the whole idea of having children is foreign to God, and if the idea of having children is foreign to God, then those born from such are also foreign to God.

61.1.8 | ποῦ τοίνυν τὸ εἰρημένον ὅτι »ἃ ὁ θεὸς συνέζευξεν, ἄνθρωπος μὴ χωρίζετω;« |τὸ μὲν γὰρ ἐπ'ἀνάγκης † χωρίζειν [ἀπὸ] D 565 ἀνθρώπου ὑπάρχει, τὸ δὲ μετὰ προαιρέσεως ἐγκρατεύεσθαι οὐκ ἀνθρώπου ἔδειξεν, ἀλλὰ θεοῦ τὸ ἔργον.

61.1.8 | Where then is the saying, “What God has joined, let no one separate”? For one must separate from a person by force, but to control oneself by choice is not shown to be a human act, but God’s work.

61.1.9 | καὶ ἔχει μὲν ἡ κατὰ φύσιν ἀνάγκη πολλάκις μέμψιν, ὅτι οὐ μετὰ εὐλογίας τὸ ἐπ'ἀνάγκης ἐπιτελεῖται, ἀλλὰ ἐκτὸς τοῦ κανόνος βέβηκεν· οὐ γὰρ ἐπ'ἀνάγκης ἡ θεοσέβεια, ἀλλὰ ἐκ προσιρέσεως ἡ δικαιοσύνη.

61.1.9 | And the natural need often has blame, because what is forced does not happen with blessing, but it has gone outside the rule; for godliness is not forced, but justice is from choice.

61.1.10 | But the things that by nature are clearly forced into godliness are those measured by nature, like not committing fornication, not committing adultery, not being shameless, not marrying a second time while the first spouse lives, not stealing, not doing wrong, not getting drunk, not being greedy, not worshiping idols, not killing, not being deceitful, not cursing, not insulting, not swearing, being angry but calming down quickly, getting angry but not sinning, not hurting the sun when angry;

61.1.11 | τὸ δὲ γάμῳ συναφθῆναι μετὰ εὐνομίας * ἡ φύσις δηλώσει ἐκ θεοῦ κεκτισμένη καὶ ἐπιτραπεῖσα καὶ τὰ ἄλλα

61.1.11 | But to be joined in marriage with good order, nature will show as created and allowed by God, and all the other ὅσα ἐστὶ τοιαῦτα θατέρως ἔχει τῆς ἐπιτροῆς τὸ μέτρον.

things like this have the same measure of control.

Section 2

61.2.1 | 2. Ἀλλ' ὡς περὶ τούτων εἰπεῖν προειλήφαμεν, ἐν ὀλίγῳ χώρῳ οὗτοι ὑπάρχουσι, περὶ τὴν Φρυγίαν τε καὶ Κιλικίαν καὶ Παμφυλίαν.

61.2.1 | But as we said before about these things, they exist in a small area, around Phrygia and Cilicia and Pamphylia.

61.2.2 | τί οὖν; ἄρα ἐκκόπτεται ἡ ἐκκλησία ἢ ἀπὸ γῆς περάτων ἄρχι γῆς περάτων; καὶ οὐκέτι <στήσεται ὅτι> »εἰς πᾶσαν τὴν γῆν ἐξῆλθεν ὁ φθόγγος αὐτῶν καὶ εἰς τὰ πέρατα τῆς οἰκουμένης τὰ ῥήματα αὐτῶν»; οὐδὲ οὐκέτι τὸ παρὰ τοῦ σωτῆρος εἰρημένον στήσεται τό »ἔσεσθέ μοι μάρτυρες ἄχρι ἐσχάτου τῆς γῆς;«

61.2.2 | What then? Will the church, which is from the ends of the earth, be cut off from the ends of the earth? And will it no longer stand that "their voice has gone out into all the earth, and their words to the ends of the world"? Will the saying from the savior no longer stand, "You will be my witnesses to the ends of the earth"?

61.2.3 | εἰ μὲν γὰρ οὐκ ἔστιν ἐν σεμνότητι ὁ γάμος καὶ κατὰ θεὸν ὁ γάμος καὶ ζωὴν ἔχων ὁ γάμος, * γεννηθῶσιν ἄνευ γάμου· εἰ δὲ ἀπὸ γάμου γεννῶνται, ἄρα βέβηλοί εἰσι διὰ τὸν γάμον. εἰ δὲ αὐτοὶ μόνοι οὐκ εἰσὶ βέβηλοι.

61.2.3 | For if marriage is not in honor and according to God, and marriage has life, then they will be born without marriage; but if they are born from marriage, then they are unholy because of the marriage. But they themselves alone are not unholy.

61.2.4 | καίτοι γε ὄντες ἀπὸ γάμον. οὐ βέβηλος ὁ γάμος, διότι ἄνευ αὐτοῦ οὐδεὶς γεννηθήσεται ποτε ἐν κόσμῳ.

61.2.4 | And yet, being from marriage. Marriage is not unholy, because without it no one will ever be born in the world.

61.2.5 | καὶ πολλή τις ἐστὶν ἡ τῶν ἀνθρώπων πλάνη, διὰ ποικιλίας καὶ διὰ πολλῶν προφάσεων ἐργασαμένη τὸ φαῦλον τῇ ἀνθρωπείᾳ φύσει καὶ πλανήσασα ἕκαστον διὰ προφάσεως ἀπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας.

61.2.5 | And great is the error of people, working evil through many excuses and through variety, and having led each one astray by an excuse from the truth.

Section 3

61.3.1 | 3. Καὶ ἔχει μὲν οὖν ἀποταξίαν ἡ ἐκκλησία, ἀλλὰ οὐ βδελύττεται τὸν γάμον, καὶ ἔχει ἀκτημοσύνην, ἀλλ' οὐ κατεπαίρεται τῶν ἐν κτήσει δικαιοσύνης ὑπαρχόντων καὶ ἐκ τῶν ἰδίων γονέων ἐχόντων. ὅπερ ἑαυτοῖς τε καὶ τοῖς ἐπιδεομένοις ἐπαρκέσειεν.

61.3.1 | 3. And so the church has renounced, but it does not hate marriage, and it has no property, but it does not reject those who have righteousness in their possessions and who have parents of their own. This would be enough for themselves and for those in need.

61.3.2 | καὶ ἀπέχονται μὲν βρωμάτων πολλοί, ἀλλὰ οὐ φυσιοῦνται κατὰ τῶν μὴ ἀπεχομένων »ὃ γὰρ ἐσθίων τὸν μὴ ἐσθίοντα μὴ ἐξουθενείτων, καὶ ὁ μὴ ἐσθίων τὸν ἐσθίοντα μὴ κρινέτω· κυρίῳ γὰρ ἐσθίει καὶ πίνει, καὶ κυρίῳ οὐκ ἐσθίει καὶ οὐ πίνει«.

61.3.2 | And many keep away from certain foods, but they do not look down on those who do not keep away. “For the one who eats must not despise the one who does not eat, and the one who does not eat must not judge the one who eats. For the Lord eats and drinks, and the Lord does not eat and does not drink.”

61.3.3 | καὶ ὁρᾷς μίαν ὁμόνοιαν καὶ μίαν ἐλπίδα καὶ μίαν πίστιν ἐν τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ, ἐκάστῳ χαριζομένην κατὰ τὴν ἰδίαν δύναμιν καὶ κατὰ τὸν ἴδιον ἀγῶνα τοῦ καμάτου.

61.3.3 | And you see one unity and one hope and one faith in the church, given to each one according to their own strength and according to their own struggle of effort.

61.3.4 | The holy church of God is like a ship. A ship is not made from one piece of wood, but from different ones. It gets its hull from one wood, but not just one kind. The anchors come from another; the ropes and boards and hollow parts, the stops and parts of the stern and walls and beams, the sail and rudder, the oars and neck pieces, the oarsmen and all the other parts—its whole assembly is made from different kinds of wood.

61.3.5 | ἐκάστη δὲ τούτων τῶν αἱρέσεων μονόξυλός τις οὕσα οὐ τὸν χαρακτηῖρα τῆς ἐκκλησίας ὑποφαίνει· ἡ δὲ ἁγία τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησία ἔχει μὲν γάμον σεμνὸν καὶ τιμᾷ τὸν τοιοῦτον, ἐπειδὴ »τίμοις ὁ γάμος καὶ ἡ κοίτη ἀμίαντος»,

61.3.5 | Each of these heresies is like a single piece of wood and does not show the true nature of the church. But the holy church of God has a solemn marriage and honors such a thing, because “marriage is honorable and the bed undefiled.”

61.3.6 | ἔχει <δὲ> ἐγκράτειαν θαυμασιωτάτην καὶ ἐπαινεῖ τὴν τοιαύτην, ἐπειδὴ ἀγῶνα ἀγωνίζεται καὶ κατεφρόνησε τοῦ βίου, ὥς ἔτι δυνατωτέρα, ἔχει δὲ παρθενίαν καὶ ὑπερδοξάζει τὴν τοιαύτην ἐνάρετόν τινα οὕσαν καὶ περῶ κουφοτάτῳ κεκοσμημένην, ἔχει ἀποταξαμένους τῷ κόσμῳ καὶ μὴ πεφυσιωμένους κατὰ τῶν ἔτι ἐν κόσμῳ ὑπαρχόντων.

61.3.6 | It has a most wonderful self-control and praises such a thing, because it fights a struggle and despises life, as something even stronger. It has virginity and highly honors such a virtue, being adorned with a very light wing. It has those who have turned away from the world and are not angry against those still living in the world.

61.3.7 | ἀλλὰ χαίροντας τοῖς τοιούτοις εὐλαβεστάτοις οὖσι, καθάπερ καὶ οἱ ἀπόστολοι, αὐτοὶ μὲν ἀκλήμονες ὑπάρχοντες, * καὶ αὐτὸς ὁ σωτὴρ, πάντων δεσπότης ὢν,

61.3.7 | But rejoicing in those most devout people like these, just as the apostles did, they themselves were without possessions, and even the savior himself, being master of all,

61.3.8 | ἐν σαρκὶ γενόμενος οὐδὲν ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς ἐκτίησεν, ἀλλὰ οὐκ ἀπεβάλετο τὰς αὐτῷ τε καὶ τοῖς αὐτοῦ μαθηταῖς διακονούσας γυνῆκας· λέγει γὰρ »αἵτινες ἠκολούθησαν αὐτῷ ἀπὸ τῆς Γαλιλαίας, διακονοῦσαι αὐτῷ καὶ τοῖς μετ’ αὐτοῦ ἀπὸ τῶν ἰδίων ὑπαρχόντων».

61.3.8 | Becoming flesh, he gained nothing from the earth, but he did not send away the women who served him and his own disciples; for he says, “who followed him from Galilee, serving him and those with him out of their own means.”

Section 4

61.4.1 | 4. Ἐπεὶ πῶς ἄρα πληρωθήσεται τὸ εἰρημένον »δεῦτε ἐκ δεξιῶν μου οἱ εὐλογημένοι, οἷς ὁ πατήρ μου ὁ ἐπουράνιος ἔθετο τὴν βασιλείαν πρὸ καταβολῆς

61.4.1 | 4. Since how then will be fulfilled the saying, “Come, you blessed ones, at my right hand, to whom my Father in heaven set the kingdom before the world was κόσμου· ἐπέινασα γὰρ καὶ ἐδώκατέ μοι φαγεῖν, ἐδίψησα καὶ ἐποτίσατέ με, γυμνὸς ἦμην καὶ περισβάλετέ με»; made; for I was hungry and you gave me food to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, I was naked and you clothed me”?

61.4.2 | πόθεν δὲ ταῦτα οὗτοι εἶχον πράττειν, εἰ μὴ ἀπὸ δικαίων πόνων <ὦ ν> ἐπετέλουν καὶ ἀπὸ τῶν ἰδίων ὑπάρξεων ἐν δικαιοσύνῃ;

61.4.2 | But where would these people have had these things to do, if not from the righteous efforts they completed and from their own possessions in righteousness?

61.4.3 | καὶ εἰ μὲν αὐτοὶ <οἱ> ἀποταξάμενοι καὶ ἀποστολικὸν βίον βιοῦντες μετὰ τῶν ἄλλων ἦσαν μεμιγμένοι, οὐκ ἀλλότριος ἦν ὁ χαρακτήρ οὔτε ἀπὸ τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ διατάξεως ἀπεξενωμένος·

61.4.3 | And if indeed they themselves, having renounced and living an apostolic life, were mixed together with the others, the mark was not foreign nor separated from the order of God.

61.4.4 | καὶ εἰ γυναιφὶν ἀπετάξαντο δι ἐγκράτειαν, ἐπαινετὴ ἦν ἡ προαίρεσις, εἴπερ τὸν γάμον οὐκ ἐβδελύξαντο, ἀλλὰ τοῖς ἔτι ἐν γάμῳ <οὔσιν> κοινωνοῖς ἐχρήσαντο [ἄν], εἰδότες ἐκάστου τὸ μέτρον καὶ τὴν τάξιν.

61.4.4 | And if they renounced women for self-control, the choice was praiseworthy, if indeed they did not hate marriage, but would have shared with those still in marriage, knowing each one’s measure and order.

61.4.5 | ἡ γὰρ τοῦ θεοῦ ναὺς πάντα ἐπιβάτην δέχεται, δίχα ληστοῦ· γνοῦσα γὰρ ληστὴν καὶ πειρατὴν τοῦτον οὐκ εἰσδέχεται οὐδὲ φυγάδα καὶ ἀπὸ τῶν ἰδίων δεσποτῶν ἀφηνιάζοντα.

61.4.5 | For the ship of God welcomes every passenger, without a pirate; for knowing this one as a pirate and a robber, it does not admit him, nor a fugitive who runs wild even from his own masters.

61.4.6 | οὕτω καὶ ἡ ἀγία τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκκλησία οὐ δέχεται πορνείαν, οὐ δέχεται μοιχείαν, οὐ δέχεται ἐπαρνησιθεΐαν, οὐ δέχεται τοὺς ἀθετοῦντας τὴν δεσποτείαν τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ διατάξεως καὶ τῶν αὐτοῦ ἀποστόλων,

61.4.6 | So also the holy church of God does not accept fornication, does not accept adultery, does not accept denial, does not accept those who reject the authority of God’s order and of his apostles,

61.4.7 | δέχεται δὲ τὸν μὲν μεγάλην

61.4.7 | It accepts one with great πραγματεία, τὸν δὲ ἐν ἐμπειρίᾳ ναυτικῶν, τὸν δὲ κυβερνήτην καὶ * ἐπιστήμονα, τὸν δὲ ἐν πρωρικῇ, τὸν δὲ ἐν πρυμνικῇ, ἔχοντα τὸ ἐμπειρότατον τῆς ἐπισκοπῆς. τὸν δὲ καὶ ἐν μέτρῳ τινὶ ὑποστάσεως καὶ ἐνθήκης ὄντα, τὸν δὲ καὶ ἕως τοῦ διαπερᾶσαι μόνον καὶ μὴ ἐν θαλάσῃ καταποντωθῆναι.

experience, another with skill in sailing, another as a captain and expert, another at the bow, another at the stern, having the most experience in leadership. It also accepts one with some measure of endurance and courage, and another only enough to cross through and not be drowned in the sea.

61.4.8 | καὶ οὐ πάντως ὅτι τῷ μὴ τοσαῦτα κεκτημένῳ τὴν σωτηρίαν οὐ παρέχει, ἀλλὰ οἶδε μὲν πάντας σώζειν, ἕκαστον δὲ κατὰ τὴν ἰδίαν πραγματείαν. καὶ πόθεν οἱ ἐξ οἰκίας τοῦ Καίσαρος ἀσπάζονται παρὰ τῷ ἀποστόλῳ;

61.4.8 | And not at all that salvation is not given to the one who has not gained so much, but he knows how to save all, each according to his own experience. And why do those from the houses of Caesar greet the apostle?

61.4.9 | πόθεν δὲ τῷ ἀποστόλῳ τὸ εἰρημένον τό »ἐὰν νομίζῃ ἀσχημονεῖν ἐπὶ τὴν ἰδίαν παρθένον καὶ οὕτως ὀφείλει ποιῆσαι, γαμείτω· οὐχ ἁμαρτάνει«.

61.4.9 | But why was the saying given to the apostle, “If he thinks it wrong to act on his own virgin and so ought to do, let him marry; he does not sin”?

61.4.10 | οὐκ ἐκτὸς δὲ λουτροῦ δύναται πληροῦν τὸ οὐκ ἁμαρτάνειν. εἰ γὰρ »πάντες ἥμαρτον καὶ ὑστεροῦνται τῆς δόξης τοῦ θεοῦ, δικαιοῦμενοι δωρεὰν τῇ χάριτι«, δηλον <ὅτι> διὰ λουτροῦ παλιγγενεσίας. τὸ γὰρ λουτρὸν ἐκόσμησε τὴν ψυχὴν καὶ τὸ σῶμα, ἀπολοῦσαν πᾶν ἁμάρτημα διὰ μετανοίας.

61.4.10 | He cannot keep from sinning except through baptism. For since “all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, being justified freely by his grace,” it is clear that this is through the baptism of rebirth. For baptism has made the soul and body clean, washing away every sin through repentance.

61.4.11 | ἄρα γε καὶ ἐπὶ τὴν οὔσαν παρθένον τὸ χάρισμα ἐξήπλωται τοῦ βαπτίσματος καὶ ἐπὶ τὴν οὐκ οὔσαν παρθένον σφραγίζεσθαι ἐπείγεται διὰ τὸ ἁμαρτές.

61.4.11 | So indeed the gift of baptism is also spread upon the virgin who is, and it is urgent for the virgin who is not to be sealed because of sin.

Section 5

61.5.1 | 5. Ἀλλὰ μή τινες πάλιν ὑδαρευόμενοι νομίσωσιν, ἐὰν εἴπωμεν περὶ παρθένου διατάξασθαι τὸν ἀπόστολον τὸ γῆμαι, μὴ τὴν ἅπαξ ὀρίσασαν παρθενίαν θεῶ κατασπάσαι τοῦ ἰδίου δρόμου βουλόμενος ὁ ἀπόστολος ταῦτα διετάξατο.

61.5.1 | But lest some, again being confused, think that if we say the apostle ordered a virgin to marry, he wanted to take away her virginity from God's plan for her own path, the apostle did not order these things.

61.5.2 | οὐ γὰρ περὶ τούτων ὁ λόγος, ἀλλὰ περὶ παρθένων ὑπεράκμων τῶν οὐ διὰ παρθενίαν ἐν τῇ ἀκμῇ παραμειναςῶν, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸ ἠπορηκεῖν ἀνδρῶν πρὸς γάμον.

61.5.2 | For the talk is not about those, but about virgins who have grown old, not by staying pure in their prime, but because they have been unable to find men to marry.

61.5.3 | ἐξ Ἰουδαίων γὰρ ὁρμώμενοι οἱ ἀπόστολοι καὶ κατὰ τὸν νόμον πολιτευσάμενοι τὴν ἀρχὴν τοῦ κηρύγματος ἐποιήσαντο, θεσμοῖς ἔτι κατεχόμενοι τοῖς ἐν τῷ νόμῳ, οὐ κατὰ τινὰ σαρκὸς δικαίωσιν, ἀλλὰ κατὰ τὴν ἐμμελῆ τοῦ νόμου ἀσφάλειαν καὶ ἀκριβολογίαν.

61.5.3 | For the apostles, starting from the Jews and living according to the law, made the beginning of their preaching, still held by the rules in the law, not by some fleshly right, but according to the careful safety and exactness of the law.

61.5.4 | θαυμαστῶς γὰρ ἐκήρυττεν ὁ νόμος μὴ δοῦναι τὰς θυγατέρας τοὺς Ἰσραηλίτας τοῖς ἄλλοφύλοις, ἵνα μὴ ἀποπλανῶσιν αὐτὰς ἐπὶ τὰ εἰδῶλα. ἕκαστος τοίνυν τῶν πιστευσάντων τότε προσετάσσετο οὐκέτι Ἰουδαίοις ἐκδίδοσθαι τὴν ἑαυτοῦ παρθένον, ἀλλὰ Χριστιανοῖς ὁμοδόξοις καὶ ὁμογνώμοσι.

61.5.4 | For the law wonderfully preached not to give the daughters of Israel to foreigners, so that they would not lead them astray to idols. Therefore, each of the believers then was ordered no longer to give his own virgin to Jews, but to Christians who shared the same faith and opinion.

61.5.5 | νέου δὲ ὄντος τοῦ κηρύγματος οὕτω πλῆθος κατὰ τόπον καὶ τόπον Χριστιανῶν ὑπῆρχε καὶ Χριστιανικῆς διδασκαλίας. οἵτινες οὖν τότε ἔσχον θυγατέρας παρθένους, μὴ εὐποροῦντες

61.5.5 | But since the preaching was new, there was not yet a large number of Christians in every place and Christian teaching. So those who then had virgin daughters, not able to give them to ἐκδίδοσθαι Χριστιανοῖς, ἐφύλαττον τὰς ἐαυτῶν παρθένους ἄχρι πολλοῦ τοῦ χρόνου, ἐκεῖναι δὲ ὑπερακμάζουσαι περιέπιπτον πορνείᾳ διὰ τὴν κατὰ φύσιν ἀνάγκην.

Christians, kept their own virgins for a long time, and those girls, fading away, fell into fornication because of their natural need.

61.5.6 | ὁ γοῦν ἀπόστολος ὁρῶν τὸ ἐπιζήμιον <τὸ> διὰ τῆς ἀκριβολογίας συμβαῖνον ἐπέτρεψε λέγων »εἰ δέ τις βούλεται <ἐκδοῦναι> τὴν ἑαυτοῦ παρθένον«, καὶ οὐκ εἶπε »τὴν ἰδίαν παρθενίαν« οὐ γὰρ περὶ τοῦ ἰδίου σώματος ἔλεγεν,

61.5.6 | The apostle, seeing the harm that comes from strictness, allowed it, saying, "If anyone wants to give his own virgin," and he did not say "his own virginity," for he was not talking about his own body,

61.5.7 | ἀλλὰ περὶ τοῦ πατρὸς φυλάσσοντος παρθένον· εἰ δὲ καὶ τὴν ἑαυτοῦ παρθένον τὸ ἴδιον σῶμα λέγει, οὐδὲν κωλύσει.

61.5.7 | but about the father protecting his virgin daughter. And if he also calls his own virgin his own body, that does not stop it.

61.5.8 | φησὶν οὖν »<ὅς> ἔστηκεν ἐδραῖος ἐν τῷ ἰδίῳ νῷ καὶ τοῦτο ὀφείλει ποιῆσαι, γαμεῖτω, φησὶν, οὐχ ἁμαρτάνει. γαμεῖτω, ᾧ δ' ἂν εὐποροίη, οὐχ ἁμαρτάνει". καὶ διὰ τοῦτό φησιν· "δέδεσαι γυναικί, μὴ ζῆται λύσιν· λέλυσαι ἀπὸ γυναικός, μὴ ζῆται γυναῖκα". ὁ λέγων "θέλω πάντας εἶναι ὡς ἐμαυτόν" ἔλεγεν καὶ "εἰ οὐκ ἐγκρατεύονται, γαμεῖτωσαν".

61.5.8 | He says, "Whoever stands firm in his own mind must do this too: let him marry, he says, he does not sin. Let him marry whoever can support him, he does not sin." And for this reason he says, "You are bound to a wife, do not look for a way out; you are free from a wife, do not look for a wife." The one who said "I want everyone to be like me" also said "If they cannot control themselves, let them marry."

Section 6

61.6.1 | Πάλιν δὲ προτρεπόμενος τοὺς ἀγγάμους ἔλεγε "λέγω δὲ τοῖς ἀγάμοις καὶ ταῖς χήραις, καλὸν αὐτοῖς ἔαν μείνωσιν ὡς ἐγώ".

61.6.1 | Again, encouraging the unmarried, he said, "I say to the unmarried and to widows, it is good for them to stay as I do."

61.6.2 | πῶς οὖν πάλιν ἔλεγε "δέδεσαι γυναϊκί, μὴ ζῆται λύσιν"; ἢ πῶς οὐκ ἀντινομοθετῶν εὐρεθήσεται τῷ ἰδίῳ κυρίῳ τῷ λέγοντι "ὃς μὴ καταλίπη πατέρα καὶ μητέρα καὶ ἀδελφοὺς καὶ γυναῖκα καὶ τέκνα καὶ θυγατέρας, οὐκ ἔστι μου μαθητής";

61.6.2 | How then did he say again, "You are bound to a wife, do not look for a way out"? Or how will it not be found that he is going against his own master who says, "Whoever does not leave father and mother and brothers and wife and children and daughters is not my follower"?

61.6.3 | πῶς δὲ ὁ λέγων ὅτι δεῖ καταλιπεῖν γυναῖκα σεμνὴν καὶ πατέρα αὐτὸς πάλιν λέγει "ὁ τιμῶν πατέρα καὶ μητέρα" αὕτη γὰρ ἐστὶν ἐν ἐπαγγελίαις πρώτη ἐντολὴ ὑπάρχουσα" καὶ "ὁ ὁ θεὸς συνέζευξεν,

61.6.3 | But how does the one who says that a man must leave a respectable wife and father himself again say, "Whoever honors father and mother; for this is the first commandment with a promise," and "What God has joined together,"?

61.6.4 | ἄνθρωπος μὴ χωριζέτω"; ἀλλὰ πάντα τὰ θεῖα ῥήματα οὐκ ἀλληγορίας δεῖται ὡς ἔχει δυνάμεως, θεωρίας δὲ δεῖται καὶ αἰσθήσεως εἰς τὸ εἰδέναι ἐκάστης ὑποθέσεως τὴν δύναμιν.

61.6.4 | Let no man separate. But all the divine sayings do not need allegory as they have power; they need also seeing and understanding to know the strength of each case.

61.6.5 | It is also necessary to use tradition; for not everything can be taken from the divine scripture. Therefore, the holy apostles handed down some things in the writings, and others in traditions, as the holy apostle says, "As I delivered to you," and elsewhere, "This is how I teach, and this is how I delivered in the churches," and "If you hold fast, unless you believed without reason."

61.6.6 | Παρέδωκαν τοίνυν οἱ ἅγιοι θεοῦ ἀπόστολοι τῇ ἀγίᾳ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίᾳ ἁμαρτὲς εἶναι τὸ μετὰ τὸ ὀρίσαι παρθενίαν εἰς γάμον τρέπεσθαι, καὶ ἔγραψεν ὁ

61.6.6 | The holy apostles of God handed down to the holy church of God that it is a sin to turn from virginity into marriage after setting it aside, and the apostle wrote, ἀπόστολος "ἐὰν γήμη ἡ παρθένος, οὐχ ἡμαρτε"· πῶς οὖν συνάδει τοῦτο τούτῳ;

"If a virgin marries, she does not sin"; how then does this agree with that?

61.6.7 | ἀλλὰ ἐκείνην τὴν παρθένον λέγει τὴν μὴ ὀρίσασαν θεῷ, ἀλλὰ ἀστ; διὰ τὴν ἀπορίαν τῆς κατὰ τὸν καιρὸν ἐκείνον σπάνης τῶν εἰς Χριστὸν πεπιστευκότων κατ' ἀνάγκην οὕτως ἐπετελεῖτο.

61.6.7 | But he means that virgin who has not been set apart for God, but for a man; because of the lack at that time of many who believed in Christ, it was done this way out of necessity.

61.6.8 | καὶ ὅτι μὲν ταῦθ' οὕτως ἔχει διδάξει ἡμᾶς ὁ αὐτὸς ἀπόστολος λέγων »νεωτέρας χήρας παραιτοῦ. μετὰ γὰρ τὸ καταστρηνιάσαι τοῦ Χριστοῦ γαμεῖν θέλουσιν, ἔχουσαι κρίμα, ὅτι τὴν πρώτην πίστιν ἠθέτησαν«.

61.6.8 | And that these things are so, the same apostle taught us, saying, "Younger widows, refuse. For after they have grown tired of Christ, they want to marry, having judgment, because they have rejected the first faith."

61.6.9 | εἰ τοίνυν καὶ ἡ μετὰ πείραν κόσμου χηρεύσασα, διὰ τὸ τετάχθαι θεῷ γήμασα κρίμα ἔξει, ἀθετήσασα τὴν πρώτην πίστιν, πόσω γε γᾶλλον ἢ καὶ ἑαυτὴν ἄνευ πείρας κόσμου ἀναθεῖσα παρθένος θεῷ γαμήσασα;

61.6.9 | If then even she who has become a widow after trying the world will have judgment for marrying because she has been assigned to God, having rejected the first faith, how much more will she who has dedicated herself to God as a virgin without trying the world have judgment for marrying?

61.6.10 | πῶς <γὰρ> οὐχὶ μᾶλλον αὕτη ὑπερεκπερισσοῦ κατεστρηνίασε Χριστοῦ καὶ τὴν μείζονα πίστιν ἠθέτησε καὶ ἔξει κρίμα, ὥς ἀναχαλασθεῖσα τῆς ἰδίας κατὰ θεὸν προθέσεως;

61.6.10 | For how could not this one, having grown even more tired of Christ and having chosen the greater faith, have judgment, since she has broken her own vow to God?

Section 7

61.7.1 | 7. »Γαμεῖτωσαν, τοίνυν, τεκνοποιεῖτωσαν, οἰκοδεσποτεῖτωσαν«, σύντομος καὶ μέσος λόγος κατὰ τῶν τὰ φαῦλα διανοουμένων περὶ ἐκάστης

61.7.1 | "Let them marry, then, let them have children, let them manage their households," is a short and clear message against those who think badly about each ἐκκλησιαστικῆς τοῦ κηρύγματος ὑποθέσεως, παρεκβάλλων μὲν τοὺς λέγοντας ἑαυτοὺς Ἀποστολικούς καὶ Ἀποτακτικούς καὶ Ἐγκρατίτας καὶ παρεκβάλλων τοὺς ὑδαρευομένους ἐν τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ καὶ ἀναπεύθοντας γυναῖκα ἀπὸ τελείου δρόμου ἀναχαλασθέντα ἀθετεῖν τὴν τοσαύτην τοῦ δρόμου τελειότητα.

part of the church's teaching. It rejects those who call themselves Apostles, Defectors, and Self-controlled, and it also rejects the women in the church who waver and refuse to keep the perfect path, breaking the great completeness of that path.

61.7.2 | καὶ ἔχει μὲν ἁμαρτίαν καὶ κρίμα ὁ ἀθετήσας θεοῦ τὴν παρθενίαν καὶ καταισχύνας τὸν ἀγῶνα. παραφθείρας φθείρας γὰρ ἀγῶνα ἀθλητῆς μαστιχθεὶς ἐκβάλλεται τοῦ ἀγῶνος καὶ παραφθείρας τὴν παρθενίαν ἐκβάλλεται τοῦ τοιοῦτου δρόμου καὶ στεφάνου καὶ βραβείου ἀλλὰ κρεῖττον ἔστι κρίμα, καὶ μὴ κατάκριμα.

61.7.2 | And the one who breaks God's rule about virginity has sin and judgment, and he shames the struggle. For a runner who is whipped is thrown out of the race because he is corrupt, and someone who breaks virginity is thrown out of that kind of path and crown and prize. But judgment is better than condemnation.

61.7.3 | οἱ γὰρ μὴ <φανερῶς> διὰ τὸ αἰσχυνθῆναι <ἐπὶ> τοῖς ἀνθρώποις, κρυφῇ <δέ> πορνεύοντες * ποιοῦσι παρθενίας ἢ μονότητος ἢ ἐγκρατείας.

61.7.3 | For those who do not openly, because they are ashamed before people, but secretly commit fornication, they pretend to have virginity or singleness or self-control.

61.7.4 | οὐ <γὰρ> πρὸς ἀνθρώπους ἔχουσι τὴν ὁμολογίαν, ἀλλὰ πρὸς θεὸν τὸν εἰδότα τὰ κρύφια καὶ ἐξελέγχοντα πᾶσαν σάρκα ἐν τῇ αὐτοῦ παρουσίᾳ περὶ ὧν ἕκαστος ἥμαρτε.

61.7.4 | For they do not have their confession toward people, but toward God who knows the hidden things and judges every flesh at his coming about what each one has sinned.

61.7.5 | κρεῖττον τοίνυν ἔχειν μίαν ἁμαρτίαν καὶ μὴ περισσοτέρας· κρεῖττον τὸν πεζόντα ἀπὸ δρόμου φανερῶς λαβεῖν ἑαυτῷ γυναῖκα κατὰ νόμον καὶ ἀπὸ παρθενίας πολλῷ χρόνῳ μετανοήσαντα εἰσαχθῆναι πάλιν εἰς τὴν ἐκκλησίαν, ὥς παραπεσόντα καὶ κλασθέντα καὶ χρεῖαν ἔχοντα ἐπιδέματος, καὶ μὴ καθ' ἑκάστην

61.7.5 | It is better, then, to have one sin and not many; it is better for the one who has fallen openly from the race to take a wife according to the law and, after repenting for a long time from virginity, to be brought back again into the church, like one who has fallen and been broken and needs a patch, and not every day to be ἡμέραν βέλεσι κρυφίοις κατατιτρώσκεσθαι [καὶ] πονηρίας ὑπὸ διαβόλου αὐτῷ ἐπιφερομένοις.

secretly wounded by hidden arrows and attacked by evil from the devil.

Section 8

61.8.1 | 8. Οὕτως οἶδεν ἡ ἐκκλησία κηρύττειν, ταῦτα τὰ φάρμακα τῆς ἰάσεως, ταῦτα τὰ εἶδη τῆς μυρεψικῆς ἐργασίας, αὕτη ἡ κατασκευὴ τοῦ ἁγίου ἐλαίου ἐν τῷ νόμῳ, αὕτη ἡ ἀρωματίζουσα καλὴ πίστις, ἐπισφίγγουσα μὲν τὸν ἀθλοῦντα εἰς ἀγῶνα, ἐπικηρυκευομένη δὲ αὐτῷ διατεῖναι τὸν δρόμον, ὅπως δυνηθῇ στεφανωθῆναι·

61.8.1 | Thus the church knows how to proclaim these, the medicines of healing, these kinds of fragrant work; this is the making of the holy oil in the law, this is the good faith that perfumes, binding the one who struggles in the contest, and announcing to him to continue the race, so that he may be able to be crowned.

61.8.2 | αὕτη ἡ τοῦ θεοῦ πραγματεία, πάντα συνάγουσα εἰς τὴν βασιλικὴν διάταξιν, καὶ πορφύραν μὲν ἀπὸ θαλάσσης καὶ ἔριον ἀπὸ προβάτου καὶ λίνον ἐκ γῆς καὶ βύσσον καὶ σηρικὸν καὶ δέρματα ἡρυθροδανωμένα καὶ λίθον τίμιον, τὸν σμάραγδον τὸν μαργαρίτην τὸν ἀχάτην, τοῖς μὲν χρώμασι διαλλάττοντας λίθους, τῇ δὲ τιμῇ

61.8.2 | This work of God, gathering all into the royal order, and purple from the sea, and wool from the sheep, and flax from the earth, and fine linen, and silk, and skins dyed red, and precious stones, the emerald, the pearl, the agate, stones changing colors, and for honor

61.8.3 | ὁμοτίμους ὄντας, ἀλλὰ καὶ χρυσὸν καὶ ἄργυρον καὶ ξύλα ἄσκηπτα καὶ χαλκὸν καὶ σίδηρον, ἀλλὰ καὶ τρίχας αἰγείας μὴ ἀποβαλλομένη.

61.8.3 | being of equal honor, but also gold and silver and incorruptible wood and bronze and iron, but also goat hair that does not fall out.

61.8.4 | καὶ αὕτη μὲν ἦν τότε ἡ σκηνή, νῦν δὲ <ἀντι> τῆς σκηνῆς ὁ οἶκος ἡδραιωμένος ἐν θεῷ, θεμελιούμενος δὲ ἐν δυναμεί *· καὶ παυσάσθω πᾶσα αἵρεσις κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐπεγειρομένη, μᾶλλον δὲ ἑαυτὴν ἀπὸ ἀληθείας διώκουσα.

61.8.4 | And this was then the tent, but now instead of the tent the house is established in God, being founded in power. And let every heresy that rises up against the truth stop, and especially those that chase themselves away from the truth.

61.8.5 | Καὶ ἕως ὧδε ταῦτα ἐχέτω. τὴν γαῦρον δὲ ταύτην ἔχιδναν, δίκην ἀκοντίου τοῦ καλουμένου ἢ τύφλωπος ἢ μυάγρου, ξύλῳ τῷ σταυροῦ πεπαικότες καὶ καταλείψαντες, ἰὸν μὲν οὐ τοσοῦτον ἔχοντα τὰ ἐρπρωτά ταῦτα, πλὴν καὶ τῷ δρόμῳ καὶ τῷ γαυράματι καὶ τῇ ἀκοντιάσει διὰ τὴν αὐτῶν ἐπεντρίβην τούτοις καλῶς ἀπεικασθέντα, περιφρονήσαντες τῶν αὐτῶν ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἴωμεν, ὦ ἀγαπητοί.

61.8.5 | And let these things hold up to here. But this proud snake, like a spear called either blind or weak, having played with the wood of the cross and left behind, has venom not so much in these creeping things, but also in running and pride and spearing, because of their rubbing, well pictured by these. Let us disregard them and go on to what follows, oh beloved.

Book 62

Section 1

62.1.1 | Σαβέλλιός τις ἐν χρόνοις ἀνέστη οὐ πολλῷ πρότερον παλαιοτάτοις (πρόσφατος γὰρ οὗτος), ἀφ' οὗπερ οἱ Σαβελλιανοὶ καλούμενοι.

62.1.1 | A certain Sabellius rose up not long before the very ancient times (for he is recent), from whom those called Sabellians come.

62.1.2 | καὶ οὗτος δὲ παραπλησίως τῶν Νοητιανῶν <ἐδίδασκε> πλὴν ὀλίγων τινῶν ὧν ἐπεδογμάτισε.

62.1.2 | And he also taught similarly to the Noetians, except for a few things he accepted.

62.1.3 | πολλοὶ δὲ ἐν τῇ μέσῃ τῶν ποταμῶν μῶν καὶ ἐπὶ τὰ μέρη τῆς Ῥώμης τοῦ αὐτοῦ δόγματος ὑπόρχουσιν, ἀνοίᾳ τινὶ φερόμενοι.

62.1.3 | Many in the middle of the rivers and around the parts of Rome follow the same teaching, being carried away by some foolishness.

62.1.4 | Δογματίζει γὰρ οὗτος καὶ οἱ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ Σαβελλιανοὶ τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι πατέρα, τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι υἱὸν, τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι ἅγιον πνεῦμα, ὡς εἶναι ἐν μιᾷ ὑποστάσει τρεῖς ὀνομασίας,

62.1.4 | For he and the Sabellians from him teach that the father is the same, the son is the same, the holy spirit is the same, as if there are three names in one person.

62.1.5 | ἢ ὡς ἐν ἀνθρώπῳ σῶμα καὶ ψυχὴν καὶ πνεῦμα, καὶ εἶναι μὲν τὸ σῶμα ὡς εἰπεῖν τὸν πατέρα, ψυχὴν δὲ ὡς εἰπεῖν τὸν υἱόν, τὸ πνεῦμα δὲ ὡς ἀνθρώπου, οὕτως καὶ τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα ἐν τῇ θεότητι.

62.1.5 | Or as in a man there is body and soul and spirit, and the body is, so to speak, the father, the soul is, so to speak, the son, and the spirit is like the man, so also the holy spirit is in the godhead.

62.1.6 | ἢ ὡς ἐὰν ᾗ ἐν ἡλίῳ, ὄντι μὲν ἐν μιᾷ ὑποστάσει, τρεῖς δὲ ἔχοντι τὰς ἐνεργείας, φημί δὲ τὸ φωτιστικὸν καὶ τὸ θάλπον καὶ αὐτὸ τὸ τῆς περιφερείας σχῆμα.

62.1.6 | Or as if in the sun, being indeed in one person, but having three powers, I say the light-giving, the warming, and the very shape of its roundness.

62.1.7 | καὶ εἶναι μὲν τὸ θάλπον εἴπ' οὖν θερμὸν καὶ ζέον τὸ πνεῦμα, τὸ δὲ φωτιστικὸν τὸν υἱόν, τὸν δὲ πατέρα αὐτὸ εἶναι τὸ εἶδος τῆς πάσης ὑποστάσεως.

62.1.7 | And the warming is, so to speak, the hot and burning spirit, the light-giving is the son, and the father is the very form of the whole person.

62.1.8 | πεμφθέντα δὲ τὸν υἱὸν καιρῷ ποτε ὥσπερ ἀκτῖνα καὶ ἐργασάμενον τὰ πάντα ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ τὰ τῆς εὐαγγελικῆς οἰκονομίας καὶ σωτηρίας τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἀναληφθῆναι αὐθις εἰς οὐρανόν, ὥσπερ ὑπὸ ἡλίου πεμφθείσης ἀκτῖνος καὶ πάλιν εἰς τὸν ἥλιον ἀνασραμούσης.

62.1.8 | And the son, sent at a certain time like a ray, working all things in the world for the plan of the gospel and the salvation of people, was taken up again into heaven, just like a ray sent from the sun and then returning back to the sun.

62.1.9 | τὸ δὲ ἅγιον πνεῦμα πέμπεσθαι εἰς τὸν κόσμον, καὶ καθάπαξ καὶ καθ' ἕκαστα εἰς ἕκαστον τῶν καταξιωμένων· ἀναζωογονεῖν δὲ τὸν τοιοῦτον καὶ ἀναζέειν, θάλπειν τε καὶ θερμαίνειν ὡς εἰπεῖν διὰ τῆς τοῦ πνεύματος δυνάμεως τε καὶ συμβάσεως. καὶ ταῦτά ἐστιν ἃ δογματίζουσι.

62.1.9 | But the holy spirit is sent into the world, both once and again into each one of those who are worthy; and it brings life back to such a person and warms and heats, so to speak, through the power and presence of the spirit. And these things are not taught as a doctrine.

Section 2

62.2.1 | 2. Κέχρηνται δὲ ταῖς πάσαις γραφαῖς παλαιᾶς τε καὶ καινῆς διαθήκης, λέξεσι δὲ τισιν αἷς αὐτοὶ ἐκλέγονται κατὰ τὴν ἰδίαν αὐτῶν παραπεποιημένην φρενοβλάβειαν τε καὶ ἄνοιαν.

62.2.1 | 2. They have used all the writings of both the old and new covenant, but in some words they themselves choose according to their own twisted madness and foolishness.

62.2.2 | πρῶτον μὲν τῷ ρητῷ ᾧ εἶπεν ὁ θεὸς πρὸς Μωυσῆν ὅτι »ἄκουε Ἰσραήλ, κύριος ὁ θεός σου κύριος εἷς ἐστίν«, »οὐ ποιήσεις σεαυτῷ θεοὺς ἐτέρους«, »οὐκ ἔσονται σοι θεοὶ πρόσφατοι«, ὅτι »ἐγὼ θεὸς πρῶτος καὶ μετὰ ταῦτα, καὶ πλην ἐμοῦ οὐκ ἐστὶν ἕτερος«.

62.2.2 | First, to the speaker to whom God said to Moses, 'Listen, Israel, the Lord your God is one Lord,' 'You shall not make for yourself other gods,' 'There shall not be gods besides you,' because 'I am God first and after this, and besides me there is no other.'

62.2.3 | καὶ ὅσα τοιαῦτα *, κατὰ τὸν ἴδιον αὐτῶν νοῦν * εἰς τούτων [δὲ] παράστασιν φέρουσι. πάλιν ἀπὸ τοῦ εὐαγγελίου, ὅτι »ἐγὼ ἐν τῷ πατρὶ ὁ πατὴρ ἐν ἐμοί, καὶ οἱ δύο ἓν ἐσμεν«.

62.2.3 | And all such things, according to their own mind, they bring as a comparison to these. Again, from the gospel, that 'I am in the Father, the Father is in me, and the two are one.'

62.2.4 | Τὴν δὲ πᾶσαν αὐτῶν πλάνην καὶ τὴν τῆς πλάνης αὐτῶν δύναμιν ἔχουσιν ἐξ ἀποκρύφων τινῶν, μάλιστα ἀπὸ τοῦ καλουμένου Αἰγυπτίου εὐαγγελίου, ὡς τινες τούτῳ ὄνομα ἐπέθεντο.

62.2.4 | But all their error and the power of their error come from certain secret writings, especially from what is called the Egyptian gospel, as some have given this name to it.

62.2.5 | ἐν αὐτῷ γὰρ πολλὰ τοιαῦτα ὡς ἐν παραβύστῳ μυστηριωδῶς ἐκ προσώπου τοῦ σωτῆρος ἀναφέρεται, ὡς αὐτοῦ δηλοῦντος τοῖς μαθηταῖς τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι πατέρα, τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι υἱόν, τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι ὁγίον πνεῦμα.

62.2.5 | For in it many such things are mysteriously told in secret, as if from the face of the savior, showing to the disciples that the father is the same, the son is the same, the holy spirit is the same.

62.2.6 | εἴτα ὅταν συναντήσωσί τισι τῶν ἀφελεστέρων ἢ ἀκεραίων, τῶν μὴ τὰ σαφεῖ τῶν θείων γραφῶν γινωσκόντων, τὴν

62.2.6 | Then whenever some of the simpler or pure ones meet, those who do not understand the clear parts of the holy πρώτην πτύρσιν αὐτοῖς ὑφηγοῦνται ταύτην· τί ἂν εἴπωμεν, ὧ οὗτοι, ἕνα θεὸν ἔχομεν ἢ τρεῖς θεοὺς;

writings, they lead them to this first question: what shall we say, then, do we have one god or three gods?

62.2.7 | ὅταν δὲ ἀκούσῃ ὁ ἐν εὐλαβείᾳ ὢν καὶ μὴ τὰ τέλεια τῆς ἀληθείας ἐπιστάμενος, εὐθὺς τὸν νοῦν ταραχθεὶς συγκατατίθεται τῇ ἐκείνων πλάνῃ [καὶ εὐρίσκεται ἀρνούμενος τὸν θεόν] καὶ εὐρίσκεται ἀρνούμενος τὸ εἶναι υἱὸν καὶ [τὸ] ἅγιον πνεῦμα.

62.2.7 | But when someone who is respectful and does not know the full truth hears this, their mind is quickly confused and agrees with that error, and they end up denying god and denying that the son and the holy spirit exist.

Section 3

62.3.1 | 3. Ἐν πᾶσι δὲ τούτοις ἐνέπνευσεν ὁ τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἀντίπαλος ἀπ' αἰῶνος, ἵνα τὸν μὲν οὕτως, τὸν δὲ οὕτως, τοὺς πλείους δὲ ὁμοῦ ἀπατήσῃ καὶ πλανήσῃ ἀνθρώπους ἀπὸ τῆς ὁδοῦ τῆς ἀληθείας.

62.3.1 | In all these things, the enemy of humans, from the beginning, breathed into them, so that one would be like this, another like that, and most people at the same time he might trick and lead away from the path of truth.

62.3.2 | καὶ ὅτι μὲν ἀληθῶς εἷς ἐστι θεὸς καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν ἕτερος, σαφῶς ἐν τῇ ἁγίᾳ θεοῦ ἐκκλησίᾳ ὡμολόγηται, καὶ συμπεφώνηται ὅτι οὐ πολυθεΐαν εἰσηγούμεθα, ἀλλὰ μοναρχίαν κηρύττομεν.

62.3.2 | And that truly there is one god and no other, this has been clearly confessed in the holy church of god, and it has been agreed that we do not teach many gods, but we proclaim one rule.

62.3.3 | μοναρχίαν δὲ κηρύττοντες οὐ σφαλλόμεθα, ἀλλὰ ὁμολογοῦμεν τὴν τριάδα, μονάδα ἐν τριάδι καὶ τριάδα ἐν μονάδι, καὶ μίαν θεότητα πατὴρ καὶ υἱὸς καὶ ἁγίου πνεύματος.

62.3.3 | Proclaiming one rule we do not make a mistake, but we confess the triad, one unity in the triad and triad in the unity, and one godhead of father and son and holy spirit.

62.3.4 | οὐ γὰρ ὁ υἱὸς ἑαυτὸν ἐγέννησεν οὐδὲ ὁ πατὴρ μεταβέβηται ἀπὸ τοῦ πατὴρ εἶναι <εἰς τὸ εἶναι> υἱὸς οὐδὲ τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα Χριστὸν ἑαυτὸ ποτε ὠνόμασεν,

62.3.4 | For the son did not beget himself, nor did the father change from being the father into being the son, nor did the holy spirit ever call himself Christ, but the spirit ἀλλὰ πνεῦμα Χριστοῦ καὶ διὰ Χριστοῦ διδόμενον, ἀπὸ πατρὸς ἐκπορευόμενον καὶ τοῦ υἱοῦ λαμβάνον.

of Christ and given through Christ, coming from the father and receiving from the son.

62.3.5 | ἐνυπόστατος ὁ πατήρ, ἐνυπόστατος ὁ υἱός, ἐνυπόστατον τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα. ἀλλὰ οὐ συναλοιφή ἡ τριάς, ὡς ὁ Σαβέλλιος | ἐνόμισεν, οὔτε ἡλλοιωμένη τῆς ιδίας ἀιδιότητός τε καὶ δόξης, ὡς ὁ Ἄρειος κενοφωνῶν ἐδογματίσεν,

62.3.5 | The father is a real being, the son is a real being, the holy spirit is a real being.
But the triad is not a mixing together, as Sabellius thought, nor changed in its own eternity and glory, as Arius foolishly taught.

62.3.6 | ἀλλ' αἰεὶ μὲν ἦν ἡ τριάς τριάς καὶ οὐδέποτε ἡ τριάς προσθήκην λαμβάνει, μία οὔσα θεότης μία κυριότης μία οὔσα δοξολογία, ἀλλὰ τριάς ἀριθμουμένη, πατήρ καὶ υἱὸς καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα, οὐχ ὡς ἓν τι τρισὶν ὀνόμασι κεκλημένον, ἀλλὰ ἀληθῶς τέλεια τὰ ὀνόματα, τέλειαι αἱ ὑποστάσεις·

62.3.6 | But the triad always was a triad and never does the triad take on addition, being one godhead, one lordship, one glory, but counted as a triad, father and son and holy spirit, not as one thing called by three names, but truly perfect are the names, perfect are the persons.

62.3.7 | οὐδὲν δὲ παρηλλαγμένον, πατήρ δὲ αἰεὶ πατήρ καὶ οὐκ ἦν καιρὸς ὅτε οὐκ ἦν ὁ πατήρ πατήρ, τέλειος ὢν αἰεὶ πατήρ ἐνυπόστατος καὶ υἱὸς αἰεὶ τέλειος ὢν, αἰεὶ ἐνυπόστατος, ἐκ πατρὸς ἐν ἀληθείᾳ γεγεννημένος ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόνως καὶ ἀνεκδιηγῆτως, ὢν πατρί,

62.3.7 | Nothing changed, the father always was father and there was never a time when the father was not father, being perfect always, a real being, and the son always being perfect, always a real being, truly born from the father without beginning, without time, and beyond telling, being from the father,

62.3.8 | οὐκ ἀρξάμενος τοῦ εἶναι οὐδὲ διαλείπων ποτέ, αἰεὶ δὲ υἱὸς γνήσιος πατρὶ συνυπάρχων, ἐκ πατρὸς ἀχρόνως γεγεννημένος, ἴσος ὢν, θεὸς ἐκ θεοῦ, φῶς ἐκ φωτός, θεὸς ἀληθινὸς ἐκ θεοῦ ἀληθινοῦ, γεννηθεὶς οὐ κτισθεὶς, ἀλλὰ οὐκ αὐτὸς πατήρ οὐδὲ ὁ πατήρ αὐτὸς υἱός, εἷς δὲ θεὸς πατήρ καὶ υἱὸς καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα.

62.3.8 | not starting to be, nor ever stopping, always the son, truly born, existing with the father, born from the father without time, being equal, god from god, light from light, true god from true god, born not made, but the father is not the son, nor the son the father, but one god, father and son and holy spirit.

Section 4

62.4.1 | 4 Ἀεὶ γὰρ τὸ πνεῦμα σὺν πατρὶ καὶ υἱῷ, οὐ συνάδελφον πατρὶ οὐ γεννητὸν οὐ κατιστὸν οὐκ ἀδελφὸν υἱοῦ, οὐκ ἔκγονον πατρός, ἐκ πατρός δὲ ἐκπορευόμενον καὶ τοῦ υἱοῦ λαμβάνον, οὐκ ἀλλότριον πατρός καὶ υἱοῦ, ἀλλὰ ἐκ τῆς αὐτῆς οὐσίας, [ἐκ] τῆς αὐτῆς θεότητος,

62.4.1 | For the spirit is always with the father and the son, not a brother to the father, not born, not made, not a brother to the son, not an offspring of the father, but proceeding from the father and receiving from the son, not different from the father and son, but from the same being, from the same godhood,

62.4.2 | From the father and the son, with the father and the son, always a real holy spirit, a divine spirit, a spirit of glory, a spirit of Christ, a spirit of the father, (for “the spirit of the father,” he says, “is the one speaking in you,” and “my spirit stands in your midst”), equal in name to the godhood, not changed by the father and son, the bond of the trinity, the seal of the confession.

62.4.3 | ὁ γὰρ υἱὸς φησιν »ἐγὼ καὶ ὁ πατήρ, <οὶ δύο> ἐν ἑσμέν« καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν »εἷς εἰμι«, ἀλλὰ τῷ »ἐγὼ« καὶ τῷ »ὁ πατήρ« σγμαίνει ἐνυπόστατον τὸν πατέρα καὶ ἐνυπόστατον τὸν υἱόν· καὶ »οὶ δύο« εἶπε, καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν »ὁ εἷς« καὶ πάλιν »ἐν ἑσμέν«, καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν »εἷς εἰμι«.

62.4.3 | For the son says, “I and the father, the two of us are one”; and he did not say “I am one,” but with the “I” and the “the father” he shows the father as a real being and the son as a real being; and he said “the two,” and did not say “the one”; and again “we are one,” and did not say “I am one.”

62.4.4 | ὡσαύτως δὲ »ἀπελθόντες, <φησί>, βαπτίσατε εἰς τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ πατρός καὶ τοῦ υἱοῦ καὶ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος«. μέσων δὲ τιθεμένων τῶν συνδέσμων, τουτέστιν τῆς συλλαβῆς τοῦ »καί« ἐλέγχει τὸν Σαβέλλιον ματαίως τὴν συναλοιφὴν παρεισφέροντα·

62.4.4 | Likewise, “go,” he says, “and baptize in the name of the father and the son and the holy spirit.” By placing the connectors in the middle, that is, the syllable “and,” he refutes Sabellius who wrongly brings in mixing together.

62.4.5 | ὅπου γὰρ »καί« <τίθεται>, σημαίνει ἀληθῶς πατέρα, | ἀληθῶς υἱόν, ἀληθῶς ἅγιον πνεῦμα· ὁπότε δὲ ὁμόστοιχος ἡ τριάς καὶ ἐν ἐνὶ ὀνόματι τριάς καλουμένη, ἐλέγχει τὸν Ἄρειον, ὑπόβασιν τινα διανοοῦμενον ἐν τῇ τριάδι ἢ ἀλλοίωσιν ἢ παραλλαγὴν.

62.4.5 | For wherever “and” is placed, it truly means the father, truly the son, truly the holy spirit; but when the triad is placed side by side and called three in one name, it refutes Arius, who imagines some change or alteration or distortion in the triad.

62.4.6 | κἂν τε γὰρ ὁ πατήρ μέζων παρὰ υἱοῦ δοξάζοντος αὐτὸν ἀπαγγέλλεται, πρεπωδεστάτως τῷ υἱῷ τὴν <ἴσιν> δόξαν περιποιεῖται. τίνι γὰρ ἔπρεπε δοξάζειν <τὸν> ἴδιον πατέρα ἀλλὰ τῷ γνησίῳ υἱῷ;

62.4.6 | For even if the father is said to be greater than the son who glorifies him, he most fittingly gives equal glory to the son. For to whom else should the true son give glory but to his own father?

62.4.7 | But when he wants to say equality again, so that some do not fall away thinking the son is somehow less, he says, “whoever does not honor the son as he honors the father does not have life in himself,” and “all things that belong to my father are mine.” What are “the things of the father” except this: “the father is God, I am God; the father is life, I am life; the father is always, I am always; all things that belong to my father are mine”?

Section 5

62.5.1 | 5. Ὅρα δὲ ὦ Σαβέλλιε, καὶ κατανόει· διάνοιξον τὰ ὄμματα τῆς καρδίας σου καὶ μὴ ἀβλέπτει. συνελθέτω ἡ διάνοιά σου καὶ τῶν ὑπὸ σοῦ ἡπατημένων Ἰωάννη τῷ ἁγίῳ εἰς τὸν Ἰορδάνην.

62.5.1 | Look then, o Sabellius, and understand; open the eyes of your heart and do not look away. Let your mind come together with John the holy one, who was deceived by you, to the Jordan.

62.5.2 | ἄνοιγε τὰ ὦτά σου καὶ ἄκουε τῆς

62.5.2 | Open your ears and listen to the φωνῆς τοῦ προφήτου λέγοντος »ἐγὼ φωνὴ βοῶντος ἐν τῇ ἐρήμῳ«, ἄκουε τοῦ προδρόμου κυρίου, τοῦ ἀγγέλου καταξιωθέντος ὀνομασθῆναι, τοῦ ἀπὶ κοιλίας μητρὸς λαβόντος πνεῦμα ἅγιον καὶ σκιρτήσαντος τῇ πρὸς Ἑλισάβετ εἰσόδῳ τῆς Μαρίας· voice of the prophet saying, "I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness." Listen to the Lord's forerunner, the angel worthy to be named, who received the holy spirit from his mother's womb and leaped at Mary's coming to Elizabeth.

62.5.3 | ὃς ἔγνω ἔτι ἐν κοιλίᾳ ὑπάρχων εἴσοδον τοῦ ἰδίου δεσπότης καὶ ἐσκίρτα· ὧ ἐδόθη τὸ μήνυμα τοῦ προκηρύγματος καὶ ἡ ἐτοιμασία τῆς ὁδοῦ τοῦ κυρίου· πείσθητι αὐτῷ, καὶ οὐ διαπέσοις ἀπὸ τοῦ σκοποῦ τῆς ἀληθείας.

62.5.3 | He knew, still being in the womb, the coming of his own master and he leaped; to him was given the message of the proclamation and the preparation of the way of the lord; be persuaded by him, and you will not fall away from the goal of the truth.

62.5.4 | ἰδοὺ γὰρ αὐτὸς μαρτυρεῖ λέγων πρῶτον μὲν, τὸν δεσπότην ἑαυτοῦ ἐπιγνούς, ὅτι »ἐγὼ σοῦ χρεῖαν ἔχω καὶ σὺ ἔρχῃ πρὸς με«, καὶ τοῦ σωτῆρος λέγοντος »ἄφες ἄρτι, ὅπως πληρωθῇ πᾶσα δικαιοσύνη«, καὶ αὐτοῦ βαπτισθέντος ὑπ' αὐτοῦ, ὡς φησι τὸ θεῖον εὐαγγέλιον,

62.5.4 | Look, for he himself testifies, saying first, knowing his own master, "I need you, and you come to me," and the savior saying, "Let it be now, so that all righteousness may be fulfilled," and him being baptized by him, as the divine gospel says,

62.5.5 | [ὅτι] »ἐμαρτύρησεν Ἰωάννης λέγων ὅτι ἠνοίχθησαν οἱ οὐρανοί, καὶ τεθέσθαι τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον ἐν εἵδει περιστερᾶς κατερχόμενον καὶ ἐρχόμενον ἐπ' αὐτόν. καὶ φωνὴ ἐκ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ, οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ υἱός μου ὁ ἀγαπητός, ἐφ' ὃν ἠυδόκησα«.

62.5.5 | [That] "John testified, saying that the heavens were opened, and I saw the holy spirit coming down and going on him in the form of a dove. And a voice from heaven said, 'This is my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased.'"

62.5.6 | ἄνω ἦν ὁ πατήρ, ὃς φιλόνεικε, ἄνωθεν ἡ φωνὴ ἦρχετο. εἰ τοίνυν ἄνωθεν ἡ φωνή, διάκρινόν μοι τὴν παραπεποιημένην σου διάνοιαν. τίς ὁ πατήρ ἔλεγεν »οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ υἱός μου ὁ ἀγαπητός, ἐφ' ὃν ἠυδόκησα«; καὶ τίς ἦν οὗτος;

62.5.6 | The father was above, o jealous one, the voice was coming from above. If then the voice was from above, explain to me your twisted mind. To whom did the father say, "This is my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased"? And who was this one?

62.5.7 | διὰ τί δὲ ἐν εἶδει περιστερᾶς κατελήλυθε, καίτοι γε σῶμα μὴ φορέσαν, τὸ πνεῦμα; ὁ γὰρ μονογενὴς μόνος <σῶμα> ἐνεδύσατο καὶ τελείως ἐνηθρώπησεν ἀπὸ Μαρίας τῆς ἀειπαρθένου διὰ πνεύματος ἁγίου,

62.5.7 | Why then did the spirit come down in the form of a dove, even though it did not have a body? For the only-begotten one alone put on a body and fully became human from Mary the ever-virgin through the holy spirit,

62.5.8 | οὐκ ἀπὸ σπέρματος ἀνδρός, ἀλλὰ ἐαυτῷ ἀναπλασάμενος Ὁ ἀρχιτέχνας λόγος σῶμα ἀπὸ Μαρίας καὶ ψυχὴν τὴν ἀνθρωπείαν καὶ νοῦ καὶ εἴ τί ἐστιν ἄνθρωπος, πάντα τελείως ἀναδεξάμενος καὶ συνενώσας τῇ ἐαυτοῦ θεότητι, οὐχ ὡς ἐν ἀνθρώπῳ οἰκίσας, (μὴ γένοιτο), αὐτὸς δὲ ὁ ἅγιος Λόγος, θεὸς Λόγος ἐνανθρωπήσας.

62.5.8 | not from the seed of a man, but having formed himself, the master craftsman word took a body from Mary and a soul like a human's, and mind, and whatever a human is, having fully received all and joined them to his own godliness, not living as in a man (may it not be), but the holy word himself, god word, becoming human.

Section 6

62.6.1 | 6. Τὸ δὲ πνεῦμα τίνι τῷ λόγῳ ἐν εἶδει περιστερᾶς φαίνεται; ἀλλ' ὅπως πείσῃ σε μὴ βλασφημεῖν, ὃ ἐθελόσοφε καὶ μηδὲν ὀρθὸν διανοοῦμενε, ἵνα μὴ νομίσῃς τὸ πνεῦμα συναλοιφὴν εἶναι πατρὶ ἢ υἱῷ.

62.6.1 | But why does the spirit appear to the word in the form of a dove? Rather, so that it may persuade you not to blaspheme, o wise-willing one and one who thinks nothing right, so that you do not think the spirit is a partner with the father or the son.

62.6.2 | διὰ τοῦτο, καίπερ αὐτοῦ τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος σῶμα μὴ φορέσαντος, ἐν εἶδει περιστερᾶς σχηματίζεται, ὅπως δείξῃ σου καὶ ἐλέγξῃ σου τὴν πλάνην, ὅτι ἐνυπόστατόν ἐστι τὸ πνεῦμα καθ' ἑαυτὸ καὶ ἐνυπόστατος ὁ πατήρ καὶ ἐνυπόστατος ὁ μονογενής, ἀλλ' οὐ διαιρουμένης τῆς θεότητος οὔτε ὑποβεβηκυίας τῆς ἐαυτῆς

62.6.2 | For this reason, although the holy spirit does not have a body, it is shaped in the form of a dove, so that it may show you and prove your error, that the spirit is a person by itself, and the father is a person, and the only-begotten is a person, but not divided from godliness nor having taken on a different glory.

62.6.3 | καὶ ὁρᾷς πῶς ἡ τριάς ἀριθμεῖται, πατὴρ ὁ ἄνωθεν βοῶντος, υἱοῦ δὲ ἐν Ἰορδάνῃ βαπτιζομέ.

62.6.3 | And you see how the triad is counted, with the father shouting from above, and the son being baptized in the Jordan.

62.6.4 | And the mind, and the holy spirit appearing in the form of a dove? Tell me, who is the one who said, "Look, my beloved servant, in whom I am well pleased, whom my soul has chosen; I will put my spirit upon him and he will bring judgment to the nations; he will not quarrel or shout, nor will his voice be heard in the streets; he will not break a crushed reed or put out a smoldering wick, until he brings justice to victory," and what follows?

62.6.5 | μὴ δὴ ταῦτα δυνατὰ ἔχειν ἔμφασιν τριάδος, ὧ φιλόνηκε; ἄρα περὶ ἑαυτοῦ ὁ πατήρ τὰ τοσαῦτα ἐν τῷ προφήτῃ διεξῆλθε;

62.6.5 | Surely these things have the power to show the triad, you quarrelsome one? Or did the father speak all these things about himself in the prophet?

62.6.6 | τίς δέ ἐστι περὶ οὗ γέγραπται »εἶπεν ὁ κύριος τῷ κυρίῳ μου, κάθου ἐκ δεξιῶν μου«; καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν »εἰσελθε εἰς ἐμέ«.

62.6.6 | But who is the one about whom it is written, "The lord said to my lord, 'Sit at my right hand'"? And he did not say, "Enter into me."

62.6.7 | ἢ πάλιν πῶς λέγει τὸ εὐαγγέλιον »καὶ ἀνῆλθεν εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν καὶ ἐκάθισεν ἐν δεξιᾷ τοῦ πατρὸς καὶ ἔρχεται κρῖναι ζῶντας.

62.6.7 | Or again, how does the gospel say, "And he went up into heaven and sat at the right hand of the father, and he comes to judge the living"?

62.6.8 | καὶ νεκρούς; ἢ πάλιν πῶς οὐκ

62.6.8 | And the dead"? Or again, how did ἔπεισάν σε οἱ δύο ἄνδρες οἱ ἐν ἐσθήσει λευκαῖς πεφηνότες, πρὸς τοὺς μαθητὰς εἰπόντες »ἄνδρες Γαλιλαῖοι, τί ἐστήκατε εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀτενίζοντες; οὗτος ὁ Ἰησοῦς ὁ ἀφ’ ὑμῶν εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀνληφθεὶς οὕτως ἐλεύσεται ὡς αὐτὸν εἶδετε ἀναλαμβάνονμενον»;

not the two men in white clothes who appeared to the disciples persuade you, saying, “Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking into heaven? This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will come back in the same way you saw him going up”?

62.6.9 | τίνα δὲ ἔβλεπεν ὁ μακάριος Στέφανος, ὅτε ἔλεγεν »ἰδοῦ, ὁρῶ τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀνεωγμένον καὶ τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἐστῶτα ἐκ δεξιῶν τοῦ θεοῦ;« σὺ δέ, ὦ κατὰ πάντα ἰδιῶτα, μὴ νοήσας τὴν φωνὴν τῶν ἁγίων γραφῶν σεαυτὸν μᾶλλον ἔβλαψας καὶ τοὺς σοὶ ὑπακούσαντας, ἐκπεσὼν τῆς ἁγίας πίστεως τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ ἀληθείας.

62.6.9 | But what did the blessed Stephen see when he said, “Look, I see the heaven opened and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God”? But you, completely ignorant, not understanding the voice of the holy scriptures, harmed yourself more and those who obeyed you, falling away from the holy faith of God’s truth.

Section 7

62.7.1 | 7. Ἐφ’ ὧς γὰρ ὡς ἀληθῶς »ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ μετὰ ταῦτα, καὶ πλὴν ἐμοῦ οὐκ ἔστιν ἕτερος».

62.7.1 | For he truly said, “I am the first and I am the one after these, and besides me there is no other.”

62.7.2 | ὡς ἀληθῶς γὰρ οὐκ εἰσὶ πολλοὶ θεοί, ἀλλὰ εἷς θεὸς ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ μετὰ ταῦτα, πατὴρ καὶ υἱὸς καὶ ἅγιον πνεῦμα, οὐ συναλοιομένη οὐσα ἢ τριάς οὐδὲ διηρημένη τῆς ἑαυτῆς ταυτότητος, ἀλλὰ πατὴρ γεννήσας ἀληθῶς υἱὸν καὶ υἱὸς ἀληθῶς γεννηθεὶς ἐκ πατρὸς ἐνυπόστατος ἀνάρχως καὶ ἀχρόνως καὶ πνεῦμα ἅγιον ἀληθῶς ἐκ πατρὸς καὶ υἱοῦ, τῆς αὐτῆς θεότητος, ἐκ πατρὸς ἐκπορευόμενον καὶ τοῦ υἱοῦ λαμβάνον, <ἐνυπόστατον>; ἀεὶ, »εἷς θεὸς ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ μετὰ ταῦτα».

62.7.2 | For truly there are not many gods, but one God, the first and the one after these, father and son and holy spirit, not a mixture of three nor a division of the same identity, but the father truly begot the son, and the son truly born of the father is a real being without beginning and without time, and the holy spirit truly from the father and the son, of the same godhead, proceeding from the father and receiving from the son, always a real being, “one God, the first and the one after these.”

62.7.3 | ἄλλης δὲ πάλιν ἕνεκα οἰκονομίας

62.7.3 | But again, for another reason of καὶ ἀπὸ προσώπου αὐτοῦ τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἄδεται οὕτως, ἐπειδὴ πάλαι πολλάκις ὁ κύριος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦς Χριστὸς πέφηνεν ἐν τοῖς προφήταις καὶ κατήγγειλε τὴν ἑαυτοῦ παρουσίαν ἔσεσθαι, τινὲς δὲ αὐτὸν οὐκ ἐδέξαντο, προσδοκῶντες ἕτερον ἀντ' αὐτοῦ·

plan and from the face of Christ himself, it is sung like this, since long ago our Lord Jesus Christ often appeared in the prophets and announced that his coming would be, but some did not accept him, expecting someone else instead of him;

62.7.4 | καὶ πρὸς μὲν τοὺς δειλσιδαίμονας τῶν εἰδώλων καὶ πολυθεΐαν τῷ κόσμῳ εἰσαγηοχότας, ἵνα μὴ ἐκπλαγέντες οἱ υἱοὶ Ἰσραὴλ καὶ ἐκτραπέντες τὰ εἰδῶλα τῶν Ἀμορραίων καὶ Χετταίων καὶ Χαναναίων καὶ Φερεζαίων καὶ Εὐαίων καὶ Γεργεσαίων καὶ Ἰεβουσαίων καὶ Ἀρουκαίων καὶ Ἀσαναίων προσκυνήσωσιν, ὥς καὶ αὐτοῖς προεφητεύετο.

62.7.4 | And to those who fear idols and have brought many gods into the world, so that the sons of Israel would not be confused and turned away to worship the idols of the Amorites and Hittites and Canaanites and Perizzites and Jebusites and Girgashites and Jebusites and Hivites and Hivites, as it was also foretold to them.

62.7.5 | προσεκύνησαν γὰρ τῷ Βεελφεγὼρ καὶ τῷ Χαμῶς καὶ τῇ Ἀστάρτῃ καὶ τοῖς Μαζουρῶθ καὶ τοῖς νεασθῶ καὶ τῷ Βααλζεβὰθ καὶ τοῖς λοιποῖς εἰδώλοις τῶν ἐθνῶν. διὸ καὶ ἔλεγεν αὐτοῖς ὁ κύριος »ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ μετὰ ταῦτα«, ἵνα αὐτοὺς ἀποστρέψῃ τῆς τῶν ἐθνομύθων πλάνης τῶν προσκυνούντων τὴν πολυθεΐαν.

62.7.5 | For they worshiped Beelzebul and Chemosh and Astarte and the Mazuroth and the Neastho and Baalzebath and the other idols of the nations. Therefore the lord said to them, "I am the first and the one after these," to turn them away from the error of the nations who worship many gods.

62.7.6 | καὶ ἐπειδὴ ἔμελλον τὴν παρουσίαν αὐτοῦ τοῦ υἱοῦ ἀπωθεῖσθαι, τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ, ἔφη πρὸς τοὺς Ἰουδαίους »ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ μετὰ ταῦτα«, ὁ πρῶτος ἐν σαρκὶ ἐπιδημήσας καὶ ὁ μετὰ ταῦτα ἐρχόμενος κρῖναι ζῶντας καὶ νεκρούς, ἐπὶ τῷ σταυρῷ πεπονθὼς καὶ ταφείς καὶ ἀναστάς, ἐν δόξῃ μὲν ἐν αὐτῷ τῷ σώματι ἀναληφθεὶς, τῇ αὐτοῦ θεότητι εἰς δόξαν δὲ ἐνωθέντι καὶ φαιδρυνθέντι, μηκέτι ὑπὸ ἀφὴν ἐμπίπτοντι νυνί, μηκέτι

62.7.6 | And since the coming of the son, our lord Jesus Christ, was about to be rejected, he said to the Jews, "I am the first and the one after these," the first who lived in the flesh and the one coming after to judge the living and the dead, who suffered on the cross and was buried and rose again, and in glory was taken up in his own body, united with his godhood in glory and brightness, no longer touched by decay now, no longer sharing in death; "for Christ θανάτου μετέχοντι· »ἀνέστη γὰρ Χριστός«, ὡς φησιν ἡ γραφή· »θάνατος <γὰρ> αὐτοῦ οὐκέτι κυριεύει«, φησὶν ὁ ἀπόστολος.

has risen,” as the scripture says; “death no longer rules over him,” says the apostle.

62.7.7 | καὶ ὅρα πῶς ἡ ἀκρίβεια ὁδηγεῖ τὸν ἄνθρωπον, ἵνα μὴ ἐκπέσῃ κατὰ θάτερον τῶν τῆς ἀληθείας μερῶν, ἵνα, ὅταν μὲν βουλευθείῃ ὁ νοῦς πολυθείαν ἐξεργάσασθαι, ἀκούσῃ ὅτι »κύριος ὁ θεός σου κύριος εἷς ἐστίν«·

62.7.7 | And see how exactness guides a person, so that he does not fall away from the other parts of the truth, so that whenever the mind wants to work out many gods, he hears that “the lord your god is one lord.”

62.7.8 | ὅταν δὲ Χριστὸν ἕτερον παρὰ τὸν ἐλθόντα οἱ υἱοὶ Ἰσραὴλ προσδοκῇσιν, ἀκούσωσιν »ἐγὼ ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ μετὰ ταῦτα« καὶ »ἐγὼ εἰμι τὸ ἄλφα καὶ τὸ ὦ«, τὸ ἄλφα τὸ κάτω βλέπον καὶ τὸ ὦ τὸ ἄνω βλέπον, ἵνα πληρωθῇ τὸ εἰρημένον »ὁ καταβὰς αὐτός ἐστιν καὶ ὁ ἀναβὰς ὑπεράνω πάσης ἀρχῆς καὶ ἐξουσίας καὶ κυριότητος καὶ παντὸς ὀνόματος ὀνομαζομένου«.

62.7.8 | But when the sons of Israel expect another Christ besides the one who came, they hear “I am the first and the one after these” and “I am the alpha and the omega,” the alpha looking down and the omega looking up, so that what was said may be fulfilled: “he who went down is the same who went up above all rule and authority and power and every name that is named.”

62.7.9 | καὶ ἵνα ὅταν <τις> νομίσῃ διὰ τὸ εἰρηκέναι »ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ μετὰ ταῦτα« καὶ »ἐγὼ εἰμι τὸ ἄλφα καὶ ἐγὼ εἰμι τὸ ὦ« καὶ »κύριος ὁ θεός σου κύριος εἷς ἐστι« καὶ ὅτι »ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ ὢν« *, ἵνα μὴ τις ἀρνήσῃται τὸν υἱὸν καὶ τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα,

62.7.9 | And so that when someone thinks because of what was said “I am the first and the one after these” and “I am the alpha and I am the omega” and “the lord your god is one lord” and “I am the one who is,” no one may deny the son and the holy spirit,

62.7.10 | διὰ τοῦτο φησιν »ὁ πατήρ μου μείζων μου ἐστί« καὶ »ἵνα σὲ γινώσκωσι τὸν μόνον ἀληθινὸν θεὸν καὶ ὃν εἰσέτειλας Ἰησοῦν Χριστόν«· οὐχ ὅτι οὐκ ἔστιν ὁ υἱὸς ἀληθινὸς θεός, ἀλλ' ἵνα εἰς μίαν ἐνότητα ἀγάγῃ τὴν τῆς τριάδος ὀνομασίαν καὶ ἐκκλείσῃ τὴν διάνοιαν τῶν ἀνθρώπων

62.7.10 | because of this he says “my father is greater than me” and “so that they may know you the only true god and the one you sent, Jesus Christ”; not that the son is not true god, but so that he may lead the name of the trinity into one unity and shut the minds of people away from many gods ἀπὸ πολυθεΐας εἰς μίαν θεότητα.

into one godhead.

62.8.1 | 8. Ἐὰν δὲ νομίσῃ ὁ πλανηθεὶς τὴν διάνοιαν Ἄρειος τὸν ἕνα μόνον λέγεσθαι ἀληθινὸν θεὸν τουτέστι τὸν πατέρα, τὸν δὲ υἱὸν θεὸν μὲν εἶναι, οὐκ ἀληθινὸν δέ, πάλιν ἑτέρως τὸν τοιοῦτον διελέγχει, λέγων »ἐγὼ εἰμι τὸ φῶς τὸ ἀληθινόν, ὃ φωτίζει πάντα ἄνθρωπον ἐρχόμενον εἰς τὸν κόσμον«, περὶ δὲ τοῦ πατρὸς ὅτι »φῶς ὁ θεός«.

62.8.1 | But if the one who is led astray, Arius, thinks that only the father is called the true god, and that the son is god but not true god, he again argues differently about such a one, saying "I am the true light, which lights every person coming into the world," and about the father that "god is light."

62.8.2 | καὶ οὐκ εἶπε »φῶς ἀληθινόν«, ἵνα ἐκ τοῦ »θεὸν ἀληθινόν« καὶ »φῶς ἀληθινόν« τὴν ἴσην θεότητα πατρὸς πρὸς υἱὸν καὶ υἱοῦ πρὸς πατέρα νοήσωμεν καὶ * ἀπὸ τοῦ τὸν πατέρα φῶς εἶναι καὶ τὸν υἱὸν θεὸν εἶναι, μὴ ἐπικεῖσθαι δὲ ἐνταῦθα ἀληθινόν.

62.8.2 | and he did not say "true light," so that from "true god" and "true light" we may understand the equal godhead of the father to the son and the son to the father, and from the father being light and the son being god, the word "true" would not be added here.

62.8.3 | οὐ γὰρ ἦν χρεία εἰπεῖν, μηδεμιᾶς ἀμφιλογίας οὐσης· ἀπὸ γὰρ τοῦ »θεός« καὶ »φῶς« ἡ μία τελειότης τῆς αὐτῆς γνησιότητος, πατρὸς πρὸς τὸν υἱὸν καὶ υἱοῦ πρὸς τὸν πατέρα, σαφῶς ἀπεφάνθη·

62.8.3 | For there was no need to say it, since there was no doubt; for from "god" and "light," the one perfection of the same true nature, of the father toward the son and the son toward the father, was clearly shown.

62.8.4 | καὶ διαλέλυταί σου ἡ πᾶσα τῆς πλάνης φρενοβλάβεια. ἔστι γὰρ πατήρ, ἔστιν υἱὸς υἱός, ἔστιν ἅγιον πνεῦμα ἅγιον πνεῦμα, τριάς οὐσα, μία θεότης μία δοξαλογία μία κυριότης <εἷς θεός>, ὧ δόξα, τιμὴ καὶ κράτος πατρὶ ἐν υἱῷ, υἱῷ ἐν πατρὶ σὺν ἁγίῳ πνεύματι εἰς αἰῶνας αἰώνων, ἀμήν.

62.8.4 | and all the madness of your error is undone. for there is a father who is father, there is a son who is son, there is a holy spirit who is holy spirit, being three, one godhead, one glory, one lordship, one god, to whom be glory, honor, and power from the father in the son, the son in the father, with the holy spirit, forever and ever, amen.

62.8.5 | Ταύτην δὲ πάλιν τὴν αἵρεσιν ὥσπερ εἰ λίβυν ἢ μόλουρον ἢ ἔλοπα ἢ ἓν τι τῶν ἐρπετῶν τῶν φοβερωτάτων, οὐ μὴν δὲ δυναμένων διὰ δηγμάτων βλάπτειν ἀποσεισάμενοι καὶ δυνάμει τῆς ἁγίας τριάδος καταπεπατκότες, ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς πάλιν προβαίνοντες αὐτὸν ἐπικαλεσώμεθα ἄρωγόν τῆς ἡμετέρας πενίας τε καὶ βραχύτητος, <ὅπως > εἰς τὸ ἀξίως τὰ παρ' ἐκάστη λεγόμενά τε καὶ γινόμενα * καὶ τὴν τούτων ἀντίρρησιν ποιήσασθαι βοηθηθῶμεν.

62.8.5 | And again this heresy, like a Libyan snake or a viper or an asp or some other of the most terrible reptiles, though not able to harm by their bites, having been shaken off and trampled by the power of the holy trinity, let us call him as helper of our weakness and shortness, so that we may be helped to rightly oppose both what is said and what is done by each one.

Book 63

Section 1

63.1.1 | Ὡριγένιοί τινες καλοῦνται, οὐ πανταχοῦ δὲ τοῦτο γένος ὑπάρχει, καθ' ἑξῆς δὲ οἶμαι τούτων τῶν αἱρέσεων καὶ αὕτη ἡ δηλουμένη <ἀνεφύη>.

63.1.1 | Some are called Origenists, but this kind does not exist everywhere; one by one, I think this heresy shown here also grew up.

63.1.2 | καλοῦνται δὲ Ὡριγένιοι, οὐ πάνυ δὲ σαφῶς ἴσμεν τίνος ἕνεκα· εἰ ἀπὸ Ὡριγένους τοῦ Ἀδαμαντίου καλουμένου τοῦ συντάκτου ἢ ἄλλου τινὸς <ἐλάχον τὸ> εἶναι, ἀγνώω. ὅμως τοῦτο τὸ ὄνομα κατελήφθαμεν.

63.1.2 | They are called Origenists, but we do not clearly know why; whether it is because they come from Origen the Adamant, the writer, or from someone else, I do not know. Still, we have taken this name.

63.1.3 | Ἡ αἵρεσις δέ, <ἡ> παρ' αὐτοῖς νομι[σ]τεύεται, ὥσπερ ἀπεικαζομένη μένη τῇ τοῦ Ἐπιφάνους <τοῦ> ἄνω μοι προδεδηλωμένου ἐν ταῖς κατὰ τοὺς Γνωστικὸν αἱρέσεσι. γραφὰς δὲ οὗτοι ἀναγινώσκουσι διαφόρους καινῆς καὶ παλαιᾶς διαθήκης. ἀθετοῦσι δὲ γάμον καὶ οὐ παύεται ἀπ' αὐτῶν ἡ λαγνεία. τινὲς δὲ ἔφασαν αὐτὴν περὶ Ῥώμην καὶ Ἀφρικὴν

63.1.3 | The heresy, or so it is thought among them, seems like a copy of what Epiphanius showed me earlier about the Gnostic heresies. They read different writings from the new and old testaments. They reject marriage, but lust does not stop among them. Some said it started around Rome and Africa.

γεγενῆσθαι.

63.1.4 | μολύνουσι δὲ ἑαυτῶν τὸ σῶμα καὶ τὸν νοῦν καὶ τὴν ψυχὴν ἐν ἀσελγείᾳ. οἱ μὲν γὰρ εἰσι προσχήματι μοναζόντων, αἱ δὲ σὺν αὐτοῖς οὔσαι προσχήματι μοναζουσῶν. ἐφθαρμένοι δὲ εἰσι τοῖς σώμασι, τὴν μὲν ἐπιθυμίαν αὐτῶν ἐκτελοῦντες, τῷ δὲ ἔργῳ κεκρημένοι (ἵνα σεμνότερον εἴπω) τοῦ υἱοῦ τοῦ Ἰούδα τοῦ Αὐνᾶν καλουμένου.

63.1.4 | They pollute their body and mind and soul with wild lust. For some pretend to be monks, and the women with them pretend to be nuns. They are ruined in their bodies, fulfilling their desire, and using the work (to speak more respectfully) of the son of Judas called Aunan.

63.1.5 | ὥς γὰρ ἐκεῖνος τῷ σώματι μὲν τῇ Θάμαρ συνήπτετο καὶ τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν ἐξετέλει, εἰς καταβολὴν δὲ σπέρματος κατὰ τὴν ὑπὸ θεοῦ δοθεῖσαν παιδοπούσαν οὐκ ἐτελεσιουργεῖ, ἀλλὰ ἑαυτὸν ἡδίκηκε, ὥς τρόπῳ <αὐτὸς> τὸ πονηρὸν εἰργάζετο, οὕτω καὶ οὗτοι κέχρηται μὲν ταῖς νομιζομέναις *, τελοῦντες ταύτην τὴν ἀθέμιτον ἐργασίαν.

63.1.5 | For just as that man joined with Tamar in body and fulfilled his desire, but did not complete the seed's foundation given by God for childbearing, instead wronging himself, in the same way these men use what they think are [rites], performing this unlawful work.

63.1.6 | πεφλοῖται γὰρ παρ' αὐτοῖς οὐχ ἡ ἀγνεία, ἀλλ' ὑποκριτικὴ μὲν ἀγνεία τῷ ὀνόματι καλουμένη, φιλοτίμησις δὲ ἕως τοῦ μὴ ἐγκυμονῆσαι τὴν ὑπὸ τοῦ δοκοῦντος * ἐφθαρμένην γυναῖκα, ἢ κατὰ τὸ μὴ παραστῆσαι τεκνογονίαν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ ἢ ἵνα μὴ φωραθῶσιν ὑπὸ ἀνθρώπων, βουλόμενοι ἐν τιμῇ εἶναι διὰ τὴν νομιζομένην παρ' αὐτοῖς τῆς ἀγνείας ἄσκησιν·

63.1.6 | For what they love is not true purity, but a fake purity called by name, and love of honor until they do not get a woman, ruined by the one who seems to be, pregnant, or so they do not bring forth children in the world, or so they are not seen by people, wanting to be honored because of the purity practice they think they have.

63.1.7 | ὅμως τοῦτο αὐτῶν ἐστὶ τὸ ἔργον, ἕτεροι δὲ αὐτὸ τοῦτο φιλοτιμοῦνται τὸ μυσαρὸν ἐπιτελεῖν οὐχὶ διὰ γυναικῶν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐτέροις τρόποις, ἰδίαις χερσὶ μολυνόμενοι.

63.1.7 | Still, this is their work, but others want to do this filthy thing not because of women, but in other ways, polluting themselves with their own hands.

63.1.8 | καὶ ὡσαύτως μιμοῦνται τὸν προειρημένον υἱὸν τοῦ Ἰούδα, τὴν γῆν ταῖς ἀθεμίτοις αὐτῶν ἐργασίαις καὶ μυσαραῖς σταγόσιν ἐπιμολύνοντες καὶ ποσὶν ἑαυτῶν τὰς ῥύσεις ἑαυτῶν ἀνατρίβοντες ἐν τῇ γῇ, ἵνα μὴ δῆθεν ἀρπαγῶσι τὰ αὐτῶν σπέρματα ὑπὸ ἀκαθάρτων πνευμάτων εἰς ὑποδοχὴν ἐγκυμονήσεως δαιμόνων.

63.1.8 | And in the same way, they copy the son of Judah mentioned before, polluting the land with their unlawful works and filthy drops, and rubbing their own flows with their feet on the ground, so that supposedly their seeds are not taken by unclean spirits to be a place for demons to become pregnant.

Section 2

63.2.1 | 2. Κέχρηται δέ, ὡς ἔφην, διαφόροις γραφαῖς παλαιᾶς καὶ καινῆς διαθήκης καὶ ἀποκρύφους τισί, μάλιστα ταῖς λεγομέναις Πράξεσιν Ἀνδρέου καὶ τῶν ἄλλων. ἤδη δὲ κάκεῖνοι αὐτοὶ ἐκαυχήσαντο πολλάκις πεπαρρησιασμένως τοῦτο ἐπιτελεῖν.

63.2.1 | They use, as I said, different writings of the old and new covenant and some secret ones, especially those called the Acts of Andrew and the others. And already those same people often boasted openly about doing this.

63.2.2 | κατηγοροῦσι δὲ δῆθεν τῶν ἐν τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ τὰς ἀγαπητὰς λεγομένας συνεισάκτους γυναῖκας κεκτημένων, ὡς καὶ αὐτῶν τοῦτο ἐπιτελούντων, κρυφῇ & δὲ & διὰ τὴν τῶν ἀνθρώπων αἰδῶ, ἵνα * μὲν τῇ πονηρίᾳ συνάπτωνται, τῷ δὲ προσχήματι τῶν ἀνθρώπων ἕνεκα τὸ ὄνομα σεμνύνονται.

63.2.2 | They accuse, they say, those women called 'beloved' who have been brought into the church, claiming that they also do this secretly because of shame before people, so that on one hand they join in evil, but on the other hand they honor the name because of how people see them.

63.2.3 | διελέχθησαν δὲ ἡμῖν καὶ τινες περὶ τινῶν προτελευτησίντων καὶ δῆθεν ὡς καὶ αὐτῶν τοῦτο ἐπιτελούντων, ὡς ἀπὸ τῶν βεβιασμένων ὑπ' αὐτῶν γυναικῶν ἀκηκοότες.

63.2.3 | Some also spoke to us about certain last things and said that they themselves do this too, as if they had heard it from women forced by them.

63.2.4 | ἐν οἷς καὶ ὄνομα ἐπισκόπου εἰς μέσον ἔφερον, ἐν πόλει μικρῇ τῆς

63.2.4 | Among them was one who held the name of bishop in a small city of Palestine,

Παλαιστίνης τὸν τοῦ ἐπισκόπου κλῆρον ἐπὶ ἱκανοῖς ἔτεσι διοικήσαντος, ἐσχηκότες δὲ τοιαύτας γυναῖκας ἐξυπηρετούμενας αὐτῷ, φημὶ δὲ συνεισάκτους. ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐξ ὁμολογητῶν αὐτὸν τὸν τοιοῦτον ὄντα οἶδαμεν.

ruling the bishop's office for many years, and having such women serving him, I say they were brought in. But we also know he was that kind of man from those who confessed.

63.2.5 | ὅμως τοῖς εἰρηκόσι τοῦτο καὶ ἀπὸ τῶν γυναικῶν ἀκηκοέναι φάσκουσιν οὐ πεπιστεύκαμεν· ἡ γὰρ ἀνάγκη τῆς τῶν εἰρηκόντων κακοτροπίας ὑπέβαλλεν ἡμῖν ποτὲ μὲν πιστεύειν, ποτὲ δὲ μὴ πιστεύειν ἐπὶ τῇ τοῦ προειρημένου γέροντος ἐπισκόπου μετὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ τελευτὴν κακοφημίᾳ.

63.2.5 | Still, we have not believed that what was said was also heard from the women; the need caused by the bad behavior of those who spoke made us sometimes believe and sometimes not believe, especially after the bad reputation of the old bishop mentioned, after his death.

63.2.6 | ἡ γὰρ αἰτία ἢ εἰς αὐτὸν φθάσασα τοιαύτη τις γέγονεν. ἐάλω τις τοιοῦτος ἐπὶ ἀμαρτίᾳ γυναικὸς καὶ ὥς ἠλέγχετο ὑφ' ἡμῶν, ἀπολογίαν ταύτην ἔφερεν, ὥς τῆς συμφθαρείσης αὐτῷ γυναικός (καίτοι γε ἤδη πεπαλαιωμένης τὸν χρόνον καὶ ἐν ἡλικίᾳ γηραλέᾳ ὑπαρχούσης) εἰπάσης αὐτῷ τὴν τῆς κακοτροπίας ἐργασίαν, ὥς χρηῆσθαι μὲν αὐτὸν ἐδίδασκεν, ἔξωθεν δὲ τὰς μυσαρὰς αὐτοῦ ῥοιὰς ἐπὶ γῆς διασκεδάζειν.

63.2.6 | For the cause that reached him was something like this. A man was caught in a woman's sin, and when he was questioned by us, he gave this excuse: that the woman who lived with him (though already old and advanced in years) told him about her bad behavior, and taught him to use it, but outside, his filthy acts spread like streams over the land.

Section 3

63.3.1 | 3. Καὶ αὕτη μὲν ἡ τούτων μυσαρὰ ἐστὶν ἐργασία τὸν νοῦν αὐτῶν ἀπατῶσα καὶ ἐκ διαβόλου τετυφλωμένη.

63.3.1 | And this filthy work of theirs is deceiving their mind and is blinded by the devil.

63.3.2 | ὣν τὰς μαρτυρίας δι' ὧν πίπτουσιν εἰς μέσον φέρειν οὐκ ἀναγκαῖον ἡγῆμαι, ἵνα μὴ δόξωμεν δι' ὧν βουλόμεθα ἀκριβολογεῖν εἰς ἀποτροπίαν τῆς ἀθεμίτου ἐργασίας

63.3.2 | I do not think it is necessary to bring forward the testimonies on which they rely, so that we do not seem to argue too exactly about what we want, and so ἐκάστης αἱρέσεως, εἰς τὸ κακὸν μᾶλλον προτρέπεισθαι τῶν ἀστηρίκτων καὶ χαυνουμένων αἰεὶ τὴν διάνοιαν, τῶν τὸ πονηρὸν ἑαυτοῖς θηρᾶσθαι ὑπὲρ τὴν ἀγαθότητα ἐπιθυμούντων.

lead the mind of each heresy to turn away from the wrong work, but rather to encourage the weak and always confused minds, who want to hunt evil for themselves instead of goodness.

63.3.3 | εἰς ἀλέξησιν δὲ μᾶλλον τῆς δεινῆς ταύτης καὶ ἐρπετώδους αἱρέσεως ὀλίγα ἀπὸ πολλῶν παραθήσομαι.

63.3.3 | But for the defense against this terrible and creeping heresy, I will offer a few things from many.

63.3.4 | Πόθεν εἰλήφατε, ὦ οὔτοι, τὴν τῆς ἀθεμίτου ἐργασίας ὑμῶν ἐπίνοιαν; πρῶτον μὲν γάρ, ὅτι τὸ πᾶν, τίτι οὐ δῆλον ἔσται ὅτι δαιμόνων ἐστὶν ἡ ὑμετέρα διδασκαλία, ἡπατημένων δὲ τὸν νοῦν καὶ ἐφθαρμένων ἡ ἐπινενοημένη κακομηχανία;

63.3.4 | Where did you get, you people, the idea for your forbidden work? First of all, is it not clear to anyone that your teaching belongs to demons, deceiving and corrupting the mind with a wicked plan?

63.3.5 | εἰ γὰρ ὅλως πονηρὸν τὸ κυΐσκειν, οὐκ ἄρα διὰ τὸ τεκνογονεῖν ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸ συνάπτεσθαι σώματι.

63.3.5 | For if having children is completely bad, then it is not because of bearing children, but because of joining together in the body.

63.3.6 | πῶς οὖν ἡττημένοι ἡδονῇ συνάπτεσθε σώματι; καὶ εἰ οὐ πονηρὸν τὸ συναφθῆναι σώματι, οὐδὲ πονηρὸν τὸ συναφθέντα τελεσιουργεῖν τὸ γεγεννημένον. ἢ γὰρ ἀποταξάμενον <δεῖ> ἄνθρωπον μὴ γεωργεῖν τὰ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς. ὥς »ὁ Ἀβελ ἦν ποιμὴν προβάτων, Κάϊν δὲ ἐργαζόμενος τὴν γῆν«.

63.3.6 | How then, defeated by pleasure, do you join together in the body? And if it is not bad to be joined in the body, it is not bad for what is joined to bring about what has been born. For if someone refuses, he must not farm the things on the earth. As it says, “Abel was a shepherd of sheep, but Cain was working the land.”

63.3.7 | εἰ δὲ γεωργεῖ τις τὴν γῆν, ὥς ὁ Νῶς, ὃς »ἐγένετο ἀνὴρ γεωργὸς καὶ ἐφύτευσεν ἀμπελῶνα«, οὐκ ἐφύτευσεν, ἵνα βότρυν μὴ ἐνέγκῃ, ἀλλ’ ἐφύτευσε »καὶ ἔπιεν ἐκ τοῦ καρποῦ αὐτοῦ καὶ ἐμεθύσθη«, ὥς

63.3.7 | But if someone farms the land, like Noah, who “became a man who farms and planted a vineyard,” he did not plant so that it would not bring grapes, but he planted “and drank from its fruit and became γέγραπται.

drunk,” as it is written.

63.3.8 | <ἐξ>ῆν δὲ συγγνώμην τῷ γλεριβτθ ἀπονεῖμαι. εὐάρεστος γὰρ τῷ θεῷ ὑπάρχων οὐ διὰ ἀσωτίαν τὴν μέθην ὑπέστη, ἀλλὰ λύπη φερόμενος τάχα ἐκεκάρωτο καὶ μὴ φέρων ἐξ ἀμφοτέρων διὰ τὸ ἀσθενὲς καὶ γηραλέον ἀσθενεία ὑπέπεσεν, οὐχ

63.3.8 | A pardon was given to the drunkard. For being pleasing to god, he did not suffer drunkenness because of wild living, but being carried by grief, he perhaps went mad and could not bear either of them because of weak and old sickness, he fell, not...

63.3.9 | ἵνα χλευασθῇ ὑπὸ τοῦ τέκνου. ὁ δὲ καταγελάσας ἑαυτῷ εἴληφε τὴν κατάραν, ἵνα κολάζωνται οἱ ἐνσκήπτοντες τοῖς πατράσιν αὐτῶν ὄβριν καὶ οἱ ἐν ἡμῖν διαλογισμοὶ ἐπεγειρόμενοι κατὰ τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ γνώσεως καὶ καλῶς τεταγμένης διατάξεως.

63.3.9 | So that he might be mocked by his child. But the one who laughed at himself took the curse, so that those who insult their fathers might be punished, and the thoughts rising against the knowledge of god and the well-ordered law among us.

Section 4

63.4.1 | 4. Εἰ γὰρ καὶ οὐ δεδόξασται ὁ γάμος ὡς ἡ παρθενία, ὑπὲρ αὐτὸν δὲ ὑπάρχει ἡ παρθενία (παρθενία δὲ ἀληθεύουσα ἔνδοξος καὶ ἐνάρετος κέκληται, οὐ μεμολυσμένη), καὶ ὁ γάμος δὲ σεμνός, <εἴ τις> εἰς παιδοποιίαν, οὐκ εἰς αἰσχύνην τὰ ἐκ θεοῦ καλῶς κεκτισμένα † ἀπαγορεύει, ἀλλ’ οὔτε ἄλλως μεταχειρίζεται τῆς τοῦ γάμου κοινωνίας τὴν ἐκ θεοῦ τεταγμένην ἀγωγὴν.

63.4.1 | For marriage is not honored like virginity, but virginity stands above it (and true virginity is called honorable and virtuous, not defiled), and marriage is also honorable, if someone marries to have children, not to shame what is well made by god; but it does not treat the god-ordained way of marriage fellowship in any other way.

63.4.2 | παρθενία γὰρ ἐστὶν ἡλθῶς [ὡς] ἐκείνη ἡ ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου ἀποστόλου ἐπαινουμένη, ὅτι »ἡ παρθένος καὶ ἡ ἄγαμος μεριμνᾷ τὰ τοῦ κυρίου, πῶς ἀρέσει τῷ κυρίῳ, ἵνα ἡ ἁγία τῷ σώματι καὶ τῇ ψυχῇ«, ἵνα δείξῃ ὅτι οὐδεμίαν αἰτίαν ἀμπλακημάτων κἂν ὑπονοηθῆναι ἢ

63.4.2 | For virginity is truly like that praised by the holy apostle, who said, “the virgin and the unmarried woman care for the Lord’s things, how to please the Lord, so that she may be holy in body and soul,” to show that singleness cannot be blamed for any mistakes, even if it might be μονότης ἐνδέχεται.

suspected.

63.4.3 | ἀλλὰ καὶ * τὸν Ἀρραὰρ οἶδαμεν παιδοποιοῦντα, φίλον δὲ ὄντα τῷ κυρίῳ, Ἰσαὰκ δὲ καὶ Ἰακώβ καὶ τοὺς καθεξῆς· καὶ οὔτε ἑαυτοὺς ἐμόλυναν ἀθεμίτοις πράξεσι, παραπτώμενοι μυσαρῶν καὶ* οὔτε ἀντιθέτως ἔσχον πρὸς τὴν ἐκ θεοῦ καλῶς τεταγμένην διὰ σεμνοῦ γάμου παιδοποιίαν

63.4.3 | But we also know that Arar fathered children, being dear to the lord, as did Isaac and Jacob and those after them; and they did not defile themselves with unlawful acts, falling into filthy things, nor did they act against the god-ordained and well-ordered bearing of children through honorable marriage.

63.4.4 | οὔτε οἱ ἐν αὐτοῖς ἀγνείαν τε καὶ παρθενίαν ἀσκήσαντες παρέφθειραν τὸν ἀγῶνα καὶ ἑτέρως μετεποιήσαντο, ὥς διὰ κυβείας τὸν ἐνάρετον τῆς ἀθλήσεως τρόπον ὑποδύντες.

63.4.4 | Nor did those who practiced purity and virginity in them spoil the struggle and change it in another way, as if by cheating they undermined the noble way of the contest.

63.4.5 | καὶ Ἠλίας μὲν παντελπῶς ἐν πόλεσι τάχιον οὐκ εἰσῆι οὐδὲ μετὰ γυναικῶν συνόμιλος ἐγίνετο, ἐν δὲ ἐρημίαις διατελῶν ὑπῆρχε καὶ Ἐλισσαῖος καὶ Ἰωάννης καὶ πάντες οἱ τὸν μέγαν τουτονὶ χαρακτῆρα τῆς τῶν ἀγγέλων μιμήσεως <ἐνδείξαντες> καλῶς κατὰ τὴν εὐαγγελικὴν διάταξιν τοῦ κυρίου ἑαυτοὺς διὰ βασιλείαν οὐρανῶν εὐνούχισαν.

63.4.5 | And Elijah did not enter cities quickly at all, nor did he live with women; and while living in deserts, Elisha and John and all those who showed this great mark of imitating angels well, according to the lord's gospel order, they made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven.

63.4.6 | Καὶ πολλὰ μὲν οὖν ἔχοντες περὶ τούτων λέγειν καὶ ἐκ πολλῶν συστάσεων τῆς θείας γραφῆς τὴν αὐτῶν δυνάμενοι διελέγξαι διάνοιαν ὑπὸ διαβόλου ἐμπαιζομένην, ἀρκούμεθα τοῖς ὀλίγοις τούτοις.

63.4.6 | And so, having many things to say about these and being able to refute a mind mocked by the devil from many parts of the holy scripture, we are content with these few.

63.4.7 | ἐπειδὴ γὰρ παντὶ σαφές ἐστιν ὅτι οὐ συνέσεως παρ' αὐτοῖς ἢ ἐργασίακ οὐδὲ

63.4.7 | For it is clear to everyone that their work is not from understanding nor is such ἐκ θεοῦ ἢ τοιαύτη γνῶσις, ἀλλὰ <ἐκ> δαιμόνων ἐνεργείας ἢ χλεύη καὶ ἡ μτῶσις αὐτῶν τῆς ἀθεμίτου ἐργασίας γίνεται.

knowledge from god, but their mockery and scorn of the unlawful work come from the power of demons.

63.4.8 | καὶ αὐτὴν δὲ παρωσάμενοι, ὥσπερ τὴν δεινὴν σκυτάλην τὴν ἔχιδναν καλουμένην, οὔσαν μὲν τῷ σώματι βραχεῖαν, τῇ δὲ ἰοβολίᾳ δεινὸν ἄσθμα ἐμπνέουσαν καὶ εἰς τοὺς πλησιάζοντας τὴν λύμην ἐμφυσῶσαν, ταύτην συντρίψαντες ἐπὶ τὰς ἐξῆς ἴωμεν, θεὸν ἀρωγὸν ἐπικαλεσάμενοι εἰς τὴν τῆς πάσης πραγματείας ἡμῶν ἐν θεῷ ἐπαγγελίαν.

63.4.8 | And holding it forth, like the terrible staff called the viper, which is short in body but breathes a terrible poison and blows madness on those nearby, crushing this, let us go on to what follows, calling on god as helper for the promise of all our work in god.

Book 64

Section 1

64.1.1 | Ὡριγένης, ὁ καὶ Ἀδαμάντιος ἐπικληθεὶς, καθεξῆς τούτοις ἀκολουθεῖ. οὗτος παῖς μὲν ἦν Λεωνίδου τοῦ ἁγίου καὶ μακαρίτου μάρτυρος, καὶ αὐτὸς δὲ τὰ πλεῖστα διωχθεὶς ἐν τῇ νέᾳ αὐτοῦ ἡλικίᾳ, ἀνὴρ ὢν κατὰ τὴν τῶν Ἑλλήνων παιδείαν λόγιος καὶ ἐν ἐκκλησίᾳ ἀνατεθραμμένος, ἐν χρόνοις Δεκίου τοῦ βασιλέως ἐγνρίζετο ἐπὶ τῆς Ἀλεξανδρέων.

64.1.1 | Origen, also called Adamantius, follows these things in order. He was the son of Leonidas, the holy and blessed martyr, and he himself was mostly persecuted in his youth. He was a learned man by Greek education and raised in the church. In the time of Emperor Decius, he was known among the people of Alexandria.

64.1.2 | ἦν γὰρ τῷ γένει μὲν Αἰγύτιος, ἐν Ἀλεξανδρείᾳ δὲ ἐνχηκῶς τὴν οἴκησιν καὶ ἀνατροφὴν, τάχα δὲ καὶ ἐν Ἀθήναις φοιτήσας ἐν τοῖς παιδευτηρίοις χρόνῳ τινί.

64.1.2 | For he was Egyptian by birth, but in Alexandria he had taken up his home and upbringing, and soon, having studied in Athens, he spent some time in the schools there.

64.1.3 | πολλὰ δὲ λέγεται πεπονθῆναι ὑπὲρ τοῦ ἁγίου λόγου τῆς πίστεως καὶ ὀνόματος Χριστοῦ, τοῦτο μὲν ἐν τῇ πόλει πολλάκις

64.1.3 | He is said to have suffered many things for the holy word of faith and the name of Christ, this especially in the city, συρόμενος, όνειδιζόμενος, βασάνοις άνηκέστοις ύποβαλλόμενος.

often being dragged about, insulted, and put under endless tortures.

64.1.4 | καί γάρ καί καιρῷ ποτε, ὡς λόγος, ξύρησαντες αὐτόν οἱ Ἕλληνες πρὸς τῇ ἀναβάσει τοῦ Σαραπίου καλουμένου τεμένους τοῦ αὐτῶν εἰδώλου καθίσαντες αὐτόν προσέταξαν θαλλοὺς φοινίκων ἐπιδιδόναι τοῖς ἐπὶ τὸ ἀθεμιτουργεῖν καὶ προσκυνεῖν τῷ εἰδῶλῳ ἀνιοῦσι· τοιοῦτον γὰρ σχῆμα ἐπέχουσιν οἱ τῶν εἰδώλων αὐτῶν ἱερεῖς.

64.1.4 | For once, at a certain time, as the story goes, the Greeks shaved him and, sitting him down near the ascent of the place called the Serapeum, their idol's temple, they ordered him to give palm branches to those who were going to do forbidden acts and worship the idol; for the priests of their idols have such a custom.

64.1.5 | ὁ δὲ λαβὼν μεγάλη τῇ φωνῇ κῆξαι καὶ πεπαρρησιασμένη τῇ διανοίᾳ, οὐ δείσας οὐδὲ διστάσας ἐβόα λέγων »δεῦτε λάβετε οὐ τὸν θαλλὸν τοῦ εἰδώλου. ἀλλὰ τὸν θαλλὸν Χριστοῦ«. καὶ πολλὰ ἔστιν ἃ περὶ αὐτὸν ἀνδραγαθήματα ἀναφέρουσιν οἱ παλαιοὶ κατὰ παράδοσιν.

64.1.5 | But he, taking the palm branch with a loud voice and bold mind, not afraid or hesitant, shouted, saying, "Come, take not the palm branch of the idol, but the palm branch of Christ." And many brave deeds about him are told by the old ones according to tradition.

Section 2

64.2.1 | 2. Ἀλλ' οὐκ ἔμεινεν αὐτῷ τὰ τοῦ βραβείου εἰς τέλος, διὰ γὰρ τὸ ἐξοχώτατον τῆς λογίότητος αὐτοῦ καὶ τῆς προπαιδείας ἐπὶ πλείστῳ φθόνῳ διεβέβλητο καὶ μᾶλλον τοῦτο παρῶξυνε τοὺς κατὰ καιρὸν τότε τὴν ἐξουσιαστικὴν ἀρχὴν διέποντας.

64.2.1 | But the prize did not remain his to the end. For because of his outstanding learning and early education, he was slandered with great envy, and this especially angered those who at that time held the ruling power.

64.2.2 | κακομηχανία γὰρ διαβολικῇ ἐπενόησαν οἱ τῆς κακίας ἐργάται αἰσχρότητα τῷ ἀνδρὶ ἐμποιῆσαι καὶ τιμωρίαν τοιαύτην ὀρίσαι, εἰς παράχρησιν δὴ τοῦ αὐτοῦ σώματος Αἰθίοπα αὐτῷ παρασκευάσαντες.

64.2.2 | For the workers of evil, by a wicked trick, planned to bring shame upon the man and to set such a punishment, by preparing for him an Ethiopian as a misuse of the same body.

64.2.3 | ὁ δὲ μὴ φέρων τὴν τοσαύτην τῆς διαβολικῆς ἐνεργείας ἐπίνοιαν ἔρρηξε φωνήν, τῶν ἀμφοτέρων προτεθέντων αὐτῷ πραγμάτων θῦσαι μᾶλλον ἐλόμενος.

64.2.3 | But he, not accepting such a great plan of the evil plot, broke out in a shout, choosing rather to die than to offer sacrifice to both things set before him.

64.2.4 | οὐ μὴν δὲ ἐκουσίᾳ γνώμῃ τοῦτο ἐπετέλεσεν, ὥς πολὺς ᾄδεται λόγος· ἀλλ' ἐπειδὴ ὅλως καθωμολόγησε τοῦτο πράξει, βαλόντες ἐπὶ χειρὸς αὐτοῦ λίβανον εἰς τὴν τοῦ βωμοῦ πυρὰν καθῆκαν.

64.2.4 | He did not do this by his own free will, as the story is often told; but when he completely agreed to do it, they threw incense onto his hands and placed them on the fire of the altar.

64.2.5 | καὶ οὕτως τοῦ ἀρτυρίου ἀπὸ τῶν κριβάντων ὁμολογητῶν τε καὶ μαρτύρων ἀπεβλήθη τότε καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς ἐκκλησίας ἐξεώθη.

64.2.5 | And so, the man of the sacrifice was then cast out both by those who judged and by the confessors and witnesses, and was driven away from the church.

64.2.6 | ἐν Ἀλεξανδρείᾳ δὲ τοῦτο ὑποστάς καὶ μὴ δυνάμενος τὴν τῶν ὀνειδιζόντων χλεύην φέρειν ἀνεχώρησε καὶ τὴν Παλαιστίνῃν, τούτεστι τῆς Ἰουδαίας κατοικεῖν γῆν εἵλατο.

64.2.6 | But after suffering this in Alexandria and not being able to bear the mockery of those insulting him, he withdrew and chose to live in Palestine, that is, the land of Judea.

64.2.7 | ἀνελθὼν γοῦν εἰς τὰ Ἱεροσόλυμα καὶ ὡς τοιοῦτος ἐξηγητῆς καὶ λόγιος προετρέπετο ἀπὸ τοῦ ἱερατείου ἐπὶ τῆς ἐκκλησίας εἰπεῖν· φασὶ γὰρ αὐτὸν καὶ πρεσβυτερίου κατηξιῶσθαι τὸ πρὶν, πρὶν ἢ τοῦ θῶσαι.

64.2.7 | Having gone up then to Jerusalem, and as such a leader and scholar, he was urged by the priesthood to speak to the church; for they say that before, he had been made a presbyter, before he was baptized.

64.2.8 | προτρεπομένων οὖν, ὡς ἔφην, αὐτὸν ἐπὶ τῆς ἐκκλησίας εἰπεῖν καὶ πολλὰ καταναγκασάντων τῶν τὸ τηνικαῦτα ἐν Ἱεροσολύμοις τὴν ἱερωσύνην τῆς ἁγίας ἐκκλησίας διεπόντων, ἀναστὰς ἐπὶ πόδας τὸ ρῆτὸν μόνον τὸν τοῦ ψαλμοῦ τοῦ τεσσαρακοστοῦ ἐνάτου ἐπειπὼν, τὴν

64.2.8 | So, being urged, as I said, to speak to the church, and many forcing him—those who then held the priesthood of the holy church in Jerusalem—he stood up and said only the verse from the forty-ninth psalm, skipping the whole explanation, as the psalm says, πᾶσαν διαστολὴν παρελθὼν, ὡς λέγει ὁ ψαλμός,

64.2.9 | »τῷ δὲ ἁμαρτωλῷ εἶπεν ὁ θεός· ἵνα τί σὺ ἐκδγῇ τὰ δικαιώματά μου καὶ ἀναλαμβάνεις τὴν διαθήκην μου διὰ στόματός σου;«; πτύξας τὸ βιβλίον ἐπέδωκε καὶ ἐκάθισε μετὰ κλαυθοῦ καὶ δακρύων, τῶν πάντων ὁμοῦ σὺν αὐτῷ κλαιόντων.

64.2.9 | “But to the sinner God said: ‘Why do you repeat my laws and take up my covenant with your mouth?’” Folding the scroll, he gave it back and sat down with sobs and tears, all of them crying together with him.

Section 3

τῆς ὀρθῆς καὶ καθολικῆς πίστεως.

64.3.1 | After some time, many urging and forcing him, meeting with a certain Ambrose, one of the clear ones in the royal courts (some said this Ambrose was a Marcionite, others said a Sabellian), he at least instructed him to turn away from the heresy and curse it, and to accept the faith of the holy church of God; for at that time Origen himself was of the right and catholic faith.

64.3.2 | The aforementioned Ambrose, since he came from another heresy—thinking like the Valentinians and being refuted by the truth taught by Origen—became the beginning of Origen’s commentaries on the holy scriptures.
Ambrose urged him with countless exhortations, not only by words and encouragement but also by very generous gifts. More than seven scribes were present, writing down what he dictated, taking turns in set times. There were also no fewer book copyists. And since Origen was a learned and serious man about reading the holy scriptures, because of the depth of meaning in the holy books, he thought it right to explain them to Ambrose.

64.3.3 | ὁ δὲ βουλόμενος εἰς ἐκείνου καθῆκον καὶ προτροπὴν πάσης γραφῆς ὡς εἰπεῖν ἐρμηνεὺς γενέσθαι [καὶ] ἐξηγήσασθαι ἐπετήδευσε καὶ ἐν τῇ Τύρῳ τῆς Φοινίκης, ὡς λόγος ἔχει, εἴκοσι ὀκτὼ ἔτη *,

64.3.3 | But he, wanting to become a kind of interpreter and explainer of all scripture for him, practiced this for, as the story goes, twenty-eight years in Tyre of Phoenicia,

64.3.4 | πολιτεία μὲν ὑπερβαλλούσῃ καὶ σχολῇ καὶ καμάτῳ *, τοῦ μὲν Ἀμβροσίου τὰ πρὸς τροφὰς αὐτῷ τε καὶ τοῖς ὀξυγράφοις [καὶ] τοῖς ὑπηρετοῦσιν αὐτῷ ἐπαῖμα καὶ κόραις ἐπὶ τὸ καλλιγραφεῖν ἡσκημέναις· ὧν ἀπάντων τὴν δέουσαν τῶν ἐπιτηδείων ἄφθονον περιουσίαν ὁ Ἀμβρόσιος παρεστήσατο· ναὶ μὴν καὶ ἐν τῇ καὶ μάλιστα αὐτὸν προὔτρεπεν ἐπὶ τὴν τῶν ὑπομνημάτων σύνταξιν 5 vgl. de mens. ac pond. 18, 21; S. 171 2ff Lagarde ἐλθὼν δὲ εἰς Καισάρειαν τὴν Στράτωνος καὶ διατρίψας εἰς Ἱεροσόλυμα χρόνον ὀλίγον, εἴτα ἐλθὼν εἰς Τύρον ἐπὶ ἔτη κζ̅η̅ζ̅ ὡς ὁ

64.3.4 | He spent his time with great effort and study, while Ambrose provided for his food, the scribes, the servants, and even the young women trained in beautiful writing—all of whom Ambrose supplied with everything they needed in abundance. Indeed, Ambrose especially encouraged him to write commentaries. After going to Caesarea in Straton's district and spending a short time in Jerusalem, he then returned to Tyre for about twenty-eight years, as the story goes, living there and interpreting the scriptures.

64.3.5 | From where first he carefully and eagerly worked, clearer and more correct than our passage, where the name Ἑξαπλᾶ (Hexapla) seems to refer to the six Greek translations, are the other statements of Epiphanius. For he combined the six translations and the Hebrew writing with Hebrew letters and vowels on one page, placing another page opposite it with the Greek letters and Hebrew words, to help those who did not know Hebrew letters learn the meaning of the Hebrew words through the Greek. Thus, the Hexapla or Octapla he made, by placing the two Hebrew pages and the six translators' pages side by side, gave great help to those who love learning. The Hexapla arranged the Greek translations of Aquila, Symmachus, the seventy-two (the Septuagint), and Theodotion. When the fifth and sixth translations were added, it was called the Octapla. The two Hebrew texts came first, then Aquila's, then Symmachus's, then the seventy-two's, then Theodotion's, followed by the fifth and sixth. Origen, knowing the edition of the seventy-two was accurate, arranged this middle text so he could check the translations on both sides.

64.5.5 | always slipping in the meaning in the necessary parts he fell short. but since there is much volume (for it is said he made a large arrangement for each scripture, as i said), he did not refuse to say what seemed right to him.

64.5.6 | καὶ ὅσα μὲν ἐν προσομιλίαις καὶ διὰ τῶν προοιμίων εἰς ἦθη τε καὶ εἰς φύσεις ζώων τε καὶ τῶν ἄλλων παρ' αὐτοῦ εἴρηται, μέσος φερόμενος πολλάκις χαρίεντα διηγέσατο·

64.5.6 | and as for the things said in conversations and through the introductions about habits and about the natures of animals and others beside them, the middle part often carried many charming stories;

64.5.7 | ὅσα δὲ εἰς δόγματα ἐδογμάτισε καὶ περὶ πίστεως καὶ μείζονος θεωρίας, τῶν πάντων ἀτοπώτατος τῶν πρὸ αὐτοῦ καὶ μετ' αὐτὸν εὐρίσκται, πλὴν τῶν ἐν ταῖς αἰρέσεσιν αἰσχροουργιῶν.

64.5.7 | but as for the teachings he made about beliefs and about higher vision, he is found the most strange of all before him and after him, except for the shameful tricks in the heresies.

64.5.8 | ἔδοξε γὰρ αὐτὸς καὶ ἀσκητικὸν βίον ἐπανηρῆσθαι, ὥς καὶ ἄνω μοι προδεδήλωται· διὸ καὶ τὸν θώρακα αὐτοῦ φασὶ τινες ἀπὸ ὑπερβολῆς πολιτείας, ἀσιτίας τε καὶ ἀποχῆς ἐμψύχων πεπτωκέναι.

64.5.8 | for he himself seemed to reject a life of self-discipline, as has been shown above to me; therefore some say that his chestplate fell from too much living, from lack of food and from holding back from living things.

64.5.9 | φέρε δὴ οὖν αὐτὰς τὰς αὐτοῦ λέξεις παραθησόμεθα ἐκ τοῦ πρώτου ψαλμοῦ μετὰ καὶ τῶν ἐν αὐτῷ θεωριῶν, [καὶ] ὧν ἐδογμάτισεν, αὐτοῖς τοῖς λόγοις, ἵνα μὴ τινες εἰπωσι τὰ κατ' αὐτοῦ ὑφ' ἡμῶν λεγόμενα σεσυκοφαντῆσθαι.

64.5.9 | bring then those his own words we will set beside from the first psalm along with the visions in it, and those he taught, with those words, so that no one may say the things said about him by us have been slandered.

64.5.10 | καὶ οὐχ ὅτι πάντως μόνον ἐν τῷ πρώτῳ ψαλμῷ ἐξέπεσε τῆς ἀληθείας, ἀλλὰ ὥς πολλάκις εἶπον, καὶ ἐν ἐκάστη ἐξηγήσει. διὰ δὲ τὸν ὄγκον τῆς αὐτοῦ πραγματείας ἀπὸ τοῦ προειρημένου ψαλμοῦ συλλέξαντες ἐνταυθοῖ, ἀπὸ [τῆς] μιᾶς ἢ δύο ἢ τριῶν λέξεων τὸ πᾶν τῆς 3f vgl. 64.5.10 | and not that only in the first psalm did he fall from the truth, but as i have said many times, also in each explanation. and because of the size of his work, from the psalm mentioned before, we have gathered here, from one or two or three words, the whole of it. stretching out in these things, on both sleeplessness and fasting and nakedness, beating himself, he broke down so much the peak of his body that it can be seen he became completely hardened; for τοσοῦτον κατεδάμασε τὴν ἀκμὴν τοῦ σώματος ὡς ὀρᾶσθαι παντελῶς αὐτὸν ἀπεσκληκέναι· οἴνου γὰρ καὶ ἐλαίου καὶ τῶν λοιπῶν ἀπεχόμενος ἀντροπὴν τοῦ θώρακος μεγίστην ὑπέμεινεν περὶ τὴν πίστιν μοχθηρίας αὐτοῦ ἀποκαλύψωμεν κατ' αὐτῶν τε εἰπεῖν ἀναγκαίως ἐπιμελησώμεθα.

avoiding wine and oil and the rest, he endured the greatest shame of the chestplate. about the faith, let us carefully reveal his wickedness by speaking against him, as is necessary.

64.5.11 | καὶ ἔστιν εὐθὺς ἐκάστης λέξεως τὸ ἐδάφιον οὕτως, ὅπως γνῶης, ὃ φιλόκαλε ἀκροατά, ὅτι φανερώτατα τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ θεοῦ κτίσμα ἐδογμάτισε, καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς περὶ | τοῦ υἱοῦ τόλμης γνῶς ὅτι τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον κτίσμα κτίσματος εἰσηγήσατο.

64.5.11 | and the foundation of each word is just like this, so that you may know, dear lover of beauty in hearing, that very clearly he taught the son of god as a created being, and from his boldness about the son you may know that the holy spirit introduced a created spirit of a creature.

64.5.12 | ἐπ' ἀρχῆς οὖν ἀναλέξωμεν τὸν ψαλμόν, ἕως αὐτῆς τῆς λέξεως, ὡς αὐτὸς Ὡριγένης ἔφη· Τῶν Ὡριγένους εἰς τὸν α ψαλμόν ἀρχή.

64.5.12 | so then, at the beginning let us read the psalm, up to that very word, just as origen himself said: <lg> <l>the beginning of origen's commentary on psalm 1.</l> </lg>

Section 6

64.6.1 | 6. Κεκλειῖσθαι καὶ ἐσφραγίσθαι τὰς θείας γραφὰς οἱ θεοὶ φασὶ λόγοι τῇ »κλειδί τοῦ Δαυίδ«, τάχα δὲ καὶ σφραγιῖδι, περὶ ἧς εἴρηται τό »ἐκτύπωμα σφραγιῖδος, ἀγίασμα κυρίῳ«, τουτέστι τῇδυνάμει τοῦ δεδωκότος αὐτὰς δεοῦ τῇ ἀπὸ τῆς σφραγιῖδος δηλουμένη.

64.6.1 | 6. the divine words say that the holy scriptures are to be locked and sealed with "the key of david," and maybe also with a seal, about which it is said "the mark of the seal, a holy thing to the lord," that is, by the power of the one who gave them, shown by the seal.

64.6.2 | περὶ μὲν οὖν τοῦ κεκλειῖσθαι καὶ ἐσφραγίσθαι ὁ Ἰωάννης ἀναδιδάσκει ἐν τῇ Ἀποκαλύψει λέγων »καὶ τῷ ἀγγέλῳ τῆς ἐν Φιλαδελφίᾳ ἐκκλησίας γράψον· τάδε λέγει ὁ ἅγιος, ὁ ἀληθινός, ὁ ἔχων τὴν κλεῖν τοῦ

64.6.2 | about the locking and sealing, john teaches again in the revelation, saying: "and to the angel of the church in philadelphia write: these things says the holy, the true one, the one who has the key of david, the

Δαυίδ, ὁ ἀνοίγων καὶ οὐδὲς κλείσει καὶ κλείων καὶ οὐδὲς ἀνοίξει· οἶδά σου τὰ ἔργα· ἰδοὺ, δέδωκα θύραν ἐνώπιόν σου ἀνεωγμένην, ἣν οὐδεὶς δύναται κλεῖσαι αὐτήν».

one who opens and no one will shut, and who shuts and no one will open; i know your works; look, i have set before you an open door, which no one can shut.”

64.6.3 | καὶ μετ’ ὀλίγα »καὶ εἶδον ἐπὶ τὴν δεξιὰν τοῦ καθημένου ἐπὶ τὸν θρόνον βιβλίον γεγραμμένον ἔσωθεν καὶ ὀπίσθεν, κατεσφραγισμένον σφραγῖσιν ἑπτὰ. καὶ εἶδον ἄλλον ἄγγελον ἰσχυρὸν κηρύσσοντα ἐν φωνῇ μεγάλῃ· τίς ἄξιος ἀνοῖξαι τὸ βιβλίον καὶ λῦσαι τὰς σφραγίδας αὐτοῦ;

64.6.3 | and after a little, “and i saw on the right hand of the one sitting on the throne a scroll written inside and on the back, sealed with seven seals. and i saw another strong angel shouting with a loud voice: who is worthy to open the scroll and break its seals?”

64.6.4 | καὶ οὐδεὶς ἠδύνατο ἐν τῷ οὐρανῷ οὔτε ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς οὔτε ὑποκάτω τῆς γῆς ἀνοῖξαι τὸ βιβλίον οὔτε βλέπειν αὐτό. καὶ ἔκλαιον, ὅτι οὐδεὶς ἄξιος εὐρέθη ἀνοῖξαι τὸ βιβλίον, οὔτε βλέπειν αὐτό.

64.6.4 | and no one was able in heaven or on earth or under the earth to open the scroll or to look at it. and they cried, because no one was found worthy to open the scroll or to look at it.

64.6.5 | καὶ εἷς ἐκ τῶν πρεσβυτέρων λέγει μοι· μὴ κλαῖε, ἰδοὺ, ἐνίκησεν ὁ λέων ὁ ἐκ τῆς φυλῆς Ἰούδα, ἡ ρίζα Δαυίδ, ἀνοῖξαι τὸ βιβλίον καὶ τὰς ἑπτὰ σφραγίδας αὐτοῦς».

64.6.5 | and one of the elders said to me: “do not cry; look, the lion from the tribe of judah, the root of david, has won to open the scroll and its seven seals.”

64.6.6 | about the sealing only, isaiah says like this: “and all these words will be to you like the words of this sealed book, if someone gives it to a man who knows letters, saying: ‘read this,’ and he will say: ‘i cannot read, because it is sealed.’ and this book will be given into the hands of a man who does not know letters, and he will say to him: ‘read this.’ and he will say: ‘i do not know letters.’”

64.6.7 | ταῦτα γὰρ οὐ μόνον περὶ τῆς Ἀποκαλύψεως Ἰωάννου καὶ τοῦ Ἡσαΐου νομιστέον λέγεσθαι, ἀλλὰ καὶ περὶ πάσης θείας γραφῆς, ὁμολογομένως κἂν παρὰ τοῖς μετρίως ἐπαΐειν λόγων θείων δυναμένοις πεπληρωμένης αἰνιγμάτων καὶ παραβολῶν, σκοτεινῶν τε λόγων καὶ ἄλλων ποικίλων εἰδῶν ἀσαφείας, δυσλήπτων τῇ ἀνθρωπίνῃ φύσει.

64.6.7 | for these things must be said not only about the revelation of john and isaiah, but also about every divine scripture, which is agreed even by those who understand only a little, to be full of divine words, riddles, and parables, dark words and other various kinds of unclear things, hard to understand by human nature.

64.6.8 | ὅπερ διδάξαι βουλόμενος καὶ ὁ σωτὴρ φρσιν, ὡς τῆς κλειδὸς οὔσης παρὰ τοῖς γραμματεῦσι καὶ Φαρισαίοις οὐκ ἀγωνιζομένοις τὴν ὁδὸν εὗρεῖν τοῦ ἀνοῖξαι, τό »οὐαὶ ὑμῖν τοῖς νομικοῖς, ὅτι ἤρατε τὴν κλεῖδα τῆς γνώσεως· αὐτοὶ οὐκ εἰσῆλθετε, καὶ τοὺς εἰσερχομένους οὐκ ἀφίετε εἰσελθεῖν«.

64.6.8 | which the savior also wants to teach, saying, since the key is with the scribes and pharisees who do not struggle to find the way to open it, “woe to you, lawyers, because you took away the key of knowledge; you yourselves did not enter, and you did not let those who were entering go in.”

Section 7

64.7.1 | 7. Ταῦτα δὲ ἡμῖν ἐν προοιμίῳ λέλεκται, εἰς μέγιστον ἀγῶνα καὶ ὁμολογουμένως ὑπὲρ ἡμᾶς καὶ τὴν ἑξὶν ἡμῶν ἀναγκαζομένοις ὑπὸ τῆς πολλῆς σου φιλομαθείας καὶ δυσωπουμένοις ὑπὸ τῆς χρηστότητός σου καὶ τῆς μετριότητος, ἱερὶ Ἀμβρόσιε, κατελθεῖν.

64.7.1 | 7. These things have been spoken to us in the introduction, for a great struggle and, as is agreed, because of us and our habit, forced by your great love of learning and troubled by your kindness and moderation, holy Ambrose, to come down.

64.7.2 | καὶ ὅτι γε ἐπὶ πολὺ ἀναδυσόμενόν με, διὰ τὸ εἰδέναι τὸν κίνδυνον οὐ μόνον τοῦ λέγειν περὶ τῶν ἁγίων, ἀλλὰ πολλῶ πλέον τοῦ γράφειν καὶ κατὰ προτροπὴν θεότητος εἰς τοῦτο ἡγαγές [με], μάτρυς ἑσσι μοι πρὸς θεὸν μεθ’ ὅλου τοῦ βίου καὶ περὶ τῶν ὑπηγορευμένων ἐξεταζομένῳ, ποίᾳ τε προθέσει τοῦτο γεγένηται.

64.7.2 | And because I am greatly troubled, knowing the danger not only of speaking about the holy things, but much more of writing about them, and by the urging of god you have led me to this, you will be a witness for me before god throughout my whole life and as I examine the things promised, with what purpose this has happened.

64.7.3 | καὶ πῇ μὲν ἐπιτυχδῶμεν, πῇ δὲ ἦτοι βιαζόμεθα βιαίωτερον, ἢ * δοκοῦμεν * τι λέγειν. ἐξιχνεύσαμεν δὲ τὸ γεγραμμένον, οὐ καταρνοῦντες τοῦ »ὅτε λέγεις περὶ θεοῦ, κρίνη ὑπὸ θεοῦ« καλῶς εἰρημένου, καὶ τοῦ »περὶ θεοῦ καὶ τάληθῃ λέγειν κίνδυνος οὐ μικρός«.

64.7.3 | And where we succeed, and where we either force ourselves more strongly, or we think we say something. We have traced what is written, not ignoring the well-said words, "when you speak about god, you are judged by god," and "speaking about god and the truth is no small danger."

64.7.4 | Therefore we ask, since nothing can be good without god and especially the understanding of the inspired writings, that you, coming to god and father of all through our savior and high priest god, ask that it be given to us first to seek well, since the promise to those who seek is to find; perhaps even the beginning for those who seek is not counted apart from god, who leads the way to this. So far these things are from Origen.

64.8.1 | 8. Ἀρχὴ δέ μοι λέγειν πρὸς τὸν κομπῶδη καὶ δοκῇσει σοφὸν καὶ ἐρευνητὴν τῶν ἀνερευήτων καὶ ἐκβιβαστὴν τῶν ἐπουρανίων τουτονί, τὸν φλυαρὶς ἐμπλήσαντα τὸν βίον, ὡς καὶ ὁ κρείττων ἡμῶν κατ' αὐτοῦ εἶρηκε, πρῶτον περὶ γενητοῦ θεοῦ.

64.8.1 | But let me begin speaking to the proud man, who thinks himself wise and a searcher of the unsearched and a guide to the heavenly things, this one, full of nonsense in his life, as even our better one said about him, first about the created god.

64.8.2 | καὶ ὅτι μὲν ὁμολεξίαι τε καὶ ὁμωνυμίας πολλαὶ ἐν τῷ βίῳ εἰσὶν, παντὶ τῷ δῆλόν ἐστιν.

64.8.2 | And that many words that sound alike and many names that are the same are in life, this is clear to everyone.

64.8.3 | καὶ εἰ μὲν ὑπὸ ἄλλου ἢ λέξις

64.8.3 | And if the word was said by ἐλέγετο, ἦν εἰπεῖν ὅτι κατὰ ὀρθὴν διάνοιαν καὶ τοῦτο εἴρηται· ὁπότε δὲ ἐν πολλοῖς τόποις εὔραμεν αὐτὸν κακῶς τὸν μονογενῆ θεὸν ἀπαλλοτριοῦντα τῆς τοῦ πατρὸς θεότητός τε καὶ οὐσίας, ὁμοῦ δὲ καὶ τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα, τούτου χάριν τῷ γεννητὸν θεὸν εἰρηκέναι αὐτὸν σαφές ἐστιν ὅτι κτιστὸν ὀρίζεται.

someone else, it could be said that this was said with correct understanding; but when we have found in many places that he wrongly separates the only-begotten god from the father's godhead and being, and also the holy spirit, for this reason it is clear that he has called the created god one who is defined as made.

64.8.4 | Ὡς γάρ τινες ἡμᾶς βούλονται σοφίζεσθαι καὶ λέγειν ἴσον τὸ γεννητὸν εἶναι τῷ γεννητῷ, οὐ παραδεκτέον <τοῦτο>· * [δὲ] ἐπὶ θεοῦ λέγειν ἄλλ' ἢ ἐπὶ τὰ κτίσματα μόνον. ἕτερον γάρ ἐστι γεννητὸν καὶ ἕτερόν ἐστι γεννητόν.

64.8.4 | For since some want to be clever and say that the made is equal to the begotten, this must not be accepted; for he speaks about god, not just about created things. For the made is one thing, and the begotten is another.

64.8.5 | εἰς τὸ γοῦν παρ' αὐτῷ ῥηθὲν κτιστὸν ἦτοι γεννητὸν θεόν, πρῶτον ἐρωτῶμεν· ποίοις τρόποις ἔκτισται ὁ παρὰ σοῦ διὰ τῆς λέξεως ταύτης τιμώμενος θεός, πῶς δὲ ἐστι προσκυνητός, εἴ ἔστι ποιητός;

64.8.5 | At least if it is said by him that the god is created or made, first we ask: in what ways was the god honored by your word made? And how is he worshiped, if he is a maker?

64.8.6 | ἄφελε γὰρ τὴν μέμψιν τὴν παρὰ τῷ ἁγίῳ ἀποστόλῳ ἐπὶ τοῖς τὴν κτίσιν θεολογοῦσι καὶ ἐπίδος μοι θεὸν προσκυνούμενον κτιστὸν κατὰ τὴν εὐσεβῆ πίστιν, τὴν μὴ τῇ κτίσει προσκυνούσαν ἀλλὰ τῷ κτίσαντι, καὶ ἔσται παρὰ σοὶ εὐλογος ἡ τοῦ πεπλανημένου σου λόγου ἀπὸ τῆς τῶν πατέρων εὐσεβείας ἀκολουία.

64.8.6 | Take away the blame against the holy apostle for those who speak of god as created, and give me a god worshiped as made according to true faith, one who is not worshiped as a creature but as the creator; and then your mistaken teaching will be rightly judged by the faith of the fathers.

64.8.7 | ἀλλὰ οὐ μὴν δύνασαι τοῦτο παραστήσαι. εἰ δὲ καὶ ἐτόλμας ἀποσυλῆσί ποθεν καὶ βιάσασθαι, οὐδὲ ἐν τούτῳ τὸν εὐλογον λογισμὸν τῶν θεοσβῶν παρεκτρέπειν εἰς τοσαύτην φαυλότητα δυνήσῃ, ὧς θεήλατε.

64.8.7 | But you will not be able to show this. And even if you dared to steal it from somewhere and force it, you would not be able to turn the reasonable thought of those who honor god into such great foolishness, you god-hater.

64.8.8 | ἀντιμάχεται γὰρ σοι καὶ τὸ φρόνημα καὶ ὁ λόγος. πᾶν γὰρ τὸ κτιστὸν οὐ προσκυνητόν, ὡς ἔφην. εἰ δὲ ὅλως προσκυνητόν, πολλῶν ἄλλων ὑπαρχόντων κτιστῶν οὐδὲν ἂν διοίσει τὸ καὶ ἡμᾶς μετὰ τοῦ ἐνὸς κτιστοῦ τὰ ὅλα προσκυνεῖν, σύνδουλα ὄντα καὶ τῇ αὐτῇ ἀγωγῇ τῆς ὀνομασίας ὑποπεπτωκότα.

64.8.8 | For both your mind and your argument fight against you. For every created thing is not to be worshiped, as I said. But if everything were to be worshiped, then having many other created things, it would not make a difference that we also worship everything along with one created thing, being slaves together and falling under the same rule of the name.

Section 9

64.9.1 | 9. Ἰδωμεν δὲ διὰ τῶν τεσσάρων εὐαγγελίων, δι' ὧν τὴν πᾶσαν ἡμῶς ζωὴν ὠκονόμησεν ἐλθὼν ὁ θεὸς Λόγος, εἴρηκεν ὁ Χριστὸς »ὁ θεὸς με ἔκτισεν« ἢ »ὁ πατήρ μου ἔκτισέ με«. ἔδωμεν δὲ εἰ καὶ ὁ πατήρ ἀπεφύνατο ἐν ἐνὶ τῶν εὐαγγελίων ὅτι »ἔκτισα τὸν υἱὸν καὶ ἀπέσταλκα ὑμῖν«. ἀλλὰ περὶ τούτου ἕως ὧδε τὰ νῦν ἔχέτω.

64.9.1 | Let us see through the four gospels, by which god the word came and arranged all our life, whether Christ said “god made me” or “my father made me.” And even if the father said in one of the gospels, “I made the son and sent him to you,” let this be enough for now about that.

64.9.2 | περὶ γὰρ μαρτυριῶν πολλάδης κατὰ τῶν τὸ κτίσμα παρεισαγόντων πολλὰ ἐξεθέμεθα.

64.9.2 | For we have often set forth many testimonies against those who introduced the idea of creation.

64.9.3 | οὐδὲν δὲ λυπήσει καὶ ἐν τῷ παρόντι δεῖξαι τὸ εὐληπτον τοῦ λόγου καὶ εἰπεῖν πρὸς τοῦτον τὸν ἐθελόσοφον· πῶς δύναται κτιστὸς εἶναι, ὃ οὗτος, ὁ λέγων »ἐγὼ ἐν τῷ πατρὶ καὶ ὁ πατήρ ἐν ἐμοί, καὶ οἱ δύο ἓν ἐσμεν;«

64.9.3 | It will not trouble you to show now the easy-to-understand part of the word and to say to this wise man: how can the one who says “I am in the father and the father is in me, and the two of us are one” be created?

64.9.4 | πῶς δὲ δύναται ἄλλοιός εἶναι ὁ τὴν ἔσσην τιμὴν πρὸς τὸν πατέρα ἔχων; »οὐδεὶς γὰρ οἶδε τὸν υἱὸν εἰ μὴ ὁ πατήρ, οὐδὲ τὸν πατέρα εἰ μὴ ὁ υἱός« καὶ »ὁ ἐωρακὼς ἐμέ

64.9.4 | But how can the one who has the same honor as the father be different? “No one knows the son except the father, and no one knows the father except the son,” ἐώρακε τὸν πατέρα».

and “the one who has seen me has seen the father.”

64.9.5 | Πάλιν δὲ ὡσαύτως, ὅσα αὐτῷ περὶ ἀναστάσεως ἀμφιβάλλεται, ἐπιλαβόμενοι τῆς ἀκολουθίας αἱθῆς ἐροῦμεν ἐκ τῶν αὐτοῦ ῥητῶν. ἀπὸ μιᾶς δὲ λέξεως τὸ πᾶν τῆς γνύμης αὐτοῦ ἀποδείξωμεν καὶ τὸ ἄπιστον τῆς δόξης τοῦ αὐτοῦ δόγματος ἀποκαλύψωμεν.

64.9.5 | Again, just as much as is questioned about the resurrection by him, taking hold of the order, we will usually say from his own words. From one phrase, let us show all his meaning and reveal the unbelief of the teaching of the same doctrine.

64.9.6 | εἰ γὰρ καὶ διὰ πλάτους αὐτῷ εἴρηται πολλάκις περὶ τούτου καὶ ἐν πολλαῖς βίβλοις πεφλυάρηται, ὅμως τὴν ἔλεγξιν παραθήσομαι ἀφ’ ὧν ἐν τῷ πρώτῳ ψαλμῷ ἐξηγάσατο κατὰ τῶν τῶν ἀνιστασιν τῆς βεβαίας ἐλπίδος ἡμῶν πεπιστευκότων.

64.9.6 | For even though he has spoken at length many times about this and has babbled in many books, still I will set forth the proof from what he explained in the first psalm against those who have trusted in the sure hope of the resurrection.

Section 10

64.10.1 | 10. Καὶ ἔστιν οὕτως, λέγει »διὰ τοῦτο οὐκ ἀναστήσονται οἱ ἀσεβεῖς ἐν κρίσει«. εἴτα (ὡς ἔθος ἐστὶν αὐτῷ ἀπὸ τῶν ἐκδόσεων φαντάζειν). ὁμοίως, φησί, Θεοδοτίων Ἀκύλας Σύμμαχος. εἴτα ἐπιφέρει κατὰ τῶν υἱῶν τῆς ἀληθείας σκωπτωδῶς·

64.10.1 | And it is so. He says, “For this reason the wicked will not rise in judgment.” Then (as is his custom from the editions, he seems to add), similarly, he says, “Theodotion, Aquila, Symmachus.” Then he brings a mocking charge against the sons of truth.

64.10.2 | Ἐντεῦθεν, φησὶν, οἱ ἀναστάσεως τῶν πεπιστευκότων ὁρμώμενοι νομίζουσι τοὺς ἀσεβεῖς τῆς ἀναστάσεως μὴ τεύξεσθαι καὶ τῆς θείας κρίσεως μὴ καταξιοῦσθαι· τί νοοῦντες τὴν ἀνάστασιν καὶ ποταπὴν τὴν κρίσιν φανταζόμενοι, οὐ πάνυ σαφηνίζοντες.

64.10.2 | From here, he says, those who are eager for the resurrection of the believers think that the wicked will not get the resurrection and will not be worthy of the divine judgment; thinking about the resurrection and imagining the judgment as lowly, not making it very clear.

64.10.3 | καὶ γὰρ δοκῶσι περὶ τούτων

64.10.3 | For even if they seem to speak ἀποφαίνεσθαι, ἡ βάσανος αὐτοὺς διελέγξει τὸ ἐξῆς ἀκόλουθον σώζειν οὐ δυναμένους, μὴ κεκρατηκότας τὸν περὶ ἀναστάσεως καὶ κρίσεως τρόπον.

clearly about these things, the test will prove that they cannot be saved afterward, because they have not mastered the way of resurrection and judgment.

64.10.4 | ἐὰν οὖν πυθανώμεθα αὐτῶν, τίνος ἡ ἀνάστασις γίνεται, ἀποκρίνονται, φησὶν, ὅτι τῶν σωμάτων ἃ νῦν περικείμεθα. εἴτα προσεπερωτησάντων ἡμῶν·

64.10.4 | So if we ask them, whose resurrection is it, they answer, he says, that it is of the bodies that we now lie around.
Then, when we ask again:

64.10.5 | πότερον τῆς οὐσίας ὅλης ἢ οὐχί, πρὶν βασανίσαι λέγουσι, ὅτι ὅλης. ἐὰν δὲ προσαπορήσωμεν, συμπεριφερόμενοι τῇ ἀκεραιότητι αὐτῶν καὶ οὐδὲν περὶ τοῦ ῥευστῆν *, ἐξετάζοντες. εἰ συναναστήσονται τὰ ἀπορρεύσαντα ἐν φλεβοτομίαις αἵματα καὶ τὰ ἐκτακεῖσαι ἐν νόσοις σάρκες καὶ τρίχες πᾶσαι αἱ πώποτε γενόμεναι ἡμῶν ἢ μόναι αἱ ἐπὶ τῷ τέλει πρὸς τῇ ἐξόδῳ, θλιβόμενοι ὅτε μὲν προσκοπτοῦσι [καὶ] τῇ

64.10.5 | When we ask whether it is of the whole body or not, before the punishment, they say it is of the whole. But if we get stuck, carefully holding to their completeness and not at all about what has flowed away, examining whether the blood lost in vein-cutting, and the flesh and hair lost in diseases, all that has ever been ours, will rise again with us, or only those parts at the end with the exit, troubled because sometimes they stumble and...

64.10.6 | γινομένη ἐξετάσει, οἰόμενοι δεῖν ἐπιτρέπειν τῷ θεῷ ὃ βούλεται περὶ τούτων ποιεῖν, ὅτε δὲ δοκοῦντες συγκαταβαίνειν τὰς ἐπὶ τέλει ταύτης τῆς ζωῆς τρίχας φασὶν ἡμῖν συναναστήσεσθαι.

64.10.6 | When the examination happens, thinking it is necessary to allow god to do what he wants about these things, but when they seem willing to agree, they say that only the hairs at the end of this life will rise again with us.

64.10.7 | οἱ δὲ γενναιότεροι αὐτῶν, ἵνα μὴ ἀναγκάζωνται τὰ αἵματα αὐτῶν συνάγειν τῷ λόγῳ τὰ πολλάκις ἀπεκκριθέντα τῶν σωμάτων ἡμῶν καὶ τὰς μεταβαλλούσας σάρκας ἐν νόσοις <εἰς> ἰδρωῶτας ἢ οἷαν δήποτε ὕλην, φασὶ τὸ ἐπὶ τέλει ἡμῶν ἀνίστασθαι σῶμα.

64.10.7 | But the nobler of them, so that they are not forced to gather their blood with argument about the many times our bodies have been changed and the flesh changed in diseases into sweat or some other matter, say that the body at the end of us rises.

Section 11

64.11.1 | 11. Ταῦτά ἐστι τά τοῦ προειρημένου ἐθελοσόφου ἐπαπορητικὰ πρὸς τὴν ἀλήθειαν λεξίδια, ἃ ἀναγκαίως παρεθέμην εἰς παράστειν τοῖς βουλομένοις εἰδέναι τὸν πάντα νοῦν αὐτοῦ τῆς περὶ ἀναστάσεως ἀπιστίας. καὶ γὰρ καὶ ἄλλα ἔχει μεθ' ἑτερα * πολλὰ ἐν ταύτῃ τῇ τοῦ ψαλμοῦ ἀκολουθίᾳ.

64.11.1 | 11. These are the puzzling words of the previously mentioned wise man against the truth, which I have necessarily placed beside those who want to know his whole mind about disbelief in the resurrection. For he also has many other things with other words in this same psalm's sequence.

64.11.2 | φάσκει γάρ »διὰ τοῦτο οὐκ ἀναστήσονται οἱ ἀσεβεῖς ἐν κρίσει« ἔντεῦθεν δὲ ἐπιλαμβάνεται καὶ ἐπέκεινα <κατὰ> τῶν τὴν ἀσφαλῆ ἀνάστασιν ὀριζόντων καὶ τὴν βεβαίαν ἐλπίδα τῆς τῶν τὴν ἀσφαλῆ ἀνάστασιν ὀριζόντων, ὥς ἀκεραίων ὄντων, πολλὰ μοχθηρὰ ἐπειπὼν καὶ σοφιστικὴν τινα ὑπόνοιαν ὑφηγησάμενος,

64.11.2 | For he says, "for this reason the ungodly will not rise in judgment"; from here he also attacks and goes beyond those who set the sure resurrection and the firm hope of those who set the sure resurrection, as if they were perfect, saying many evil things and leading a kind of tricky suspicion.

64.11.3 | οὐτι πιστικόν, ἀλλὰ συλλογιστικὸν πᾶν ὁτιοῦν εἰς καταστροφὴν τῶν αὐτῷ πεισθέντων *, ἐν τῶν κατὰ φύσιν ἡμῖν συμβαινόντων ἀνατρέψαι ἐπειράθη τῆς αὐτῆς ἀναστάσεως ἡμῶν ἐν ἀληθείᾳ ἐλπίδος τὴν ὁμολογίαν.

64.11.3 | That every argument, not trustworthy but reasoning, tries to overturn those who believe it, in the things that happen naturally to us, and tries to overturn the confession of our resurrection in true hope.

64.11.4 | Ἐγὼ δὲ τῶν καλῶς ἤδη κεκμηκότων καὶ δικαιοτάτα ἀνατρεφάντων τὴν πᾶσαν αὐτοῦ ἐπιενομημένην ῥητορικὴν κακουρίαν μὴ ἐν τόλμῃ καλλίων βουλόμενος εἶναι. οἷα δὲ βραχὺς ὑπάρχων, ἀρκεσθῆναι ἐνόμισα καλῶς ἔχειν τοῖς ὑπὸ τοῦ μακαρίτου Μεθοδίου εἰς τὸν περὶ τῆς ἀναστάσεως λόγον κατὰ τοῦ αὐτοῦ Ὁργένους

64.11.4 | But I, not daring to be better than those who have already been well trained and rightly raised up against all his imposed rhetorical evil, thought it best to be content with what is short. So, being brief, I thought it right to be satisfied with the things said by the blessed Methodius against the same Origen about the resurrection, which I will set down here εἰρημένοις, ἅτινα ἐνταῦθα κατὰ λέξιν παραθήσομαι. καὶ ἔστι τὰ ὑπὸ Μεθοδίου οὕτως, ὡς καὶ αὐτὸς ἐτάξατο· Τῶν Ὁριγένους ἐπιτομὴ ἐκ τῶν Μεθοδίου.

word for word. And the things by Methodius are just as he arranged them: Summary of Origen from Methodius.

Section 12

64.12.1 | 12. Ἐντεῦρεν οἱ ἀπλούτεροι τῶν πεπιστευκότων ὁρμώμενοι νομίζουσι τοὺς ἀσεβεῖς τῆς ἀναστάσεως μὴ τεύξεσθαι *, τί νοοῦντες τὴν ἀνάστασιν *.

64.12.1 | 12. Here, those simpler among the believers, acting on impulse, think that the ungodly will not receive the resurrection, as they understand the resurrection.

64.12.2 | καὶν γὰρ δοκῶσι περὶ τούτων ἀποφαίνεσθαι, ἢ βάσανος αὐτοὺς διελέγξει, τὰ ἐξῆς ἀκολούθως σῶξιν μὴ δυναμένους,
*.

64.12.2 | And even if they seem to speak about these things, the test will prove them wrong, not being able to save what follows next.

64.12.3 | ἐὰν οὖν πυθανώμεθα αὐτῶν, τῶν, τίνος ἢ ἀ(??)άστασις γίνεται, ἀποκρίνονται ὅτι τῶν σωμάτων ἃ νῦν περικείμεθα. εἴτα προσεπερωτησάντων ἡμῶν· πότερον τῆς οὐσίας ὅλης ἢ οὐχί, πρὶν βασανίσαι λέγουσιν ὅτι ὅης.

64.12.3 | If then we ask them whose resurrection it is, they answer that it is of the bodies which we now wear. Then, when we ask further whether it is of the whole substance or not, before the test they say that it is.

64.12.4 | ἐὰν δὲ προσασπορήσωμεν, συμπεριφερόμενοι τῇ ἀκεραιότητι αὐτῶν *, εἰ συναναστήσεται τὰ ἀπορρεύσαντα ἐν φλεβοτομίαις αἷματα καὶ σάρκες καὶ τρίχες αἱ πώποτε γενόμεναι ἢ μόναι αἱ πρὸς τῇ

64.12.4 | But if we are puzzled, respecting their honesty, whether the blood, flesh, and hair that have flowed out in cuts will rise again, if they ever existed, or only those that are with the...

64.12.5 | ἐξόδῳ, θλιβόμενοι εἰς τὸ τῷ θεῷ <ἐξεῖναι> ποιεῖν ἃ βούλεται προστρέχουσιν· οἱ δὲ γενναιότεροι αὐτῶν, ἵνα μὴ ἀναγκάζωνται τὰ αὐτὰ αἷματα συνάγειν τῷ λόγῳ, ἃ πολλάκις ἀπεκκριθῆναι τῶν σωμάτων ἡμῶν συνέβη *, φασὶ τὸ ἐπὶ τέλει ἡμῶν ἀναστήσεσθαι

64.12.5 | At the end, troubled about what God may allow, they run to him as they wish. But the nobler among them, so they won't be forced to gather the same blood again by argument—which often happens to be lost from our bodies—say that at last σῶμα.

our body will rise.

64.12.6 | προσηπορήσαμεν δέ, διὰ τὸ τρεπτὴν εἶναι τὴν σωματικὴν φύσιν καὶ τοιαῦτα. ὥσπερ εἰς τὸ ἡμέτερον σῶμα αἱ τροφαὶ κατατάττονται καὶ μεταβάλλουσι τὰς ὁμοιότητας,

64.12.6 | But we were puzzled, because the bodily nature is changeable and such. Just as the food we eat is arranged into our body and changes its features,

64.12.7 | οὕτως καὶ τὰ ἡμέτερα σώματα μεταβάλλονται ἐν τοῖς σαρκοβόροις οἰωνοῖς καὶ θηρίοις καὶ γίγνεται μέρη ζώων ἐσθιόμενα ἀντιμεταβάλλεται καὶ γίγνεται ἀνθρώπων ἢ ἐτέρων ζώων σώματα.

64.12.7 | just so our bodies change in flesh-eating birds and beasts, and parts become animals eaten, are exchanged, and become bodies of humans or other animals.

64.12.8 | καὶ τούτου ἐπὶ πολὺ γιγνομένου ἀνάγκη τὸ αὐτὸ σῶμα πλειόνων ἀνθρώπων πολλάκις γίνεσθαι μέρος. τίνος οὖν ἔσται σῶμα ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει; καὶ οὕτως εἰς βυθὸν ἡμᾶς φλυαρίας ἀλόγου συμβήσεται ἐμπίπτειν.

64.12.8 | And because this happens so much, the same body often becomes part of many people. So, whose body will it be in the resurrection? And in this way, we will fall into the deep pit of foolish nonsense.

Section 13

64.13.1 | 13. Καὶ μετὰ ταύτας τὰς ἀπορίας ἐπὶ τὸ πάντα εἶναι δυνατὰ τῷ θεῷ καταφεύγουσι καὶ λέξεις τῶν γραφῶν δυναμένας κατὰ τὴν πρόχειρον ἐκδοχὴν ὑποβάλλειν τὸ νοούμενον αὐτοῖς προφέρονται·

64.13.1 | And after these puzzles, they turn to God, who can do all things, and offer words from the scriptures that seem able, according to the rough understanding, to support what they think.

64.13.2 | οἷον ἐν τῷ Ἰεζεκιήλ »καὶ ἐγένετο ἐπ' ἐμέ χεὶρ κυρίου καὶ ἐξήγαγέ με ἐν πνεύματι καὶ ἔθηκε με ἐν μέσῳ τοῦ πεδίου καὶ τοῦτο ἦν μεστὸν ὀστέων ἀνθρωπίνων. καὶ περιήγαγέ με ἐπ' αὐτὰ κυκλόθεν κύκλῳ. καὶ ἰδοὺ, πολλὰ σφόδρα ἐπὶ προσώπου τοῦ πεδίου, καὶ ἰδοὺ, αὐτὰ ξηρὰ

64.13.2 | For example, in Ezekiel: "And the hand of the Lord was upon me, and he brought me out in the spirit and set me in the middle of the field, and it was full of human bones. And he led me all around them in a circle. And look, there were very many on the face of the field, and look, they λίαν. καὶ εἶπεν πρὸς με.

were very dry. And he said to me.”

64.13.3 | υἱὲ ἀνθρώπου, εἰ ζήσεται τὰ ὀστέα ταῦτα; καὶ εἶπον. κύριε ὁ θεός, σὺ ἐπίστασαι ταῦτα. καὶ εἶπε πρὸς με. προφήτευσον, υἱὲ ἀνθρώπου.

64.13.3 | Son of man, will these bones live? And I said, Lord God, you know these things. And he said to me, Prophecy, son of man.

64.13.4 | καὶ ἐρεῖς πρὸς αὐτά· τὰ ὀστέα τὰ ξηρὰ ταῦτα, ἀκούσατε λόγον κυρίου. τάδε λέγει Ἄδωαῖ κύριος τοῖς ὀστέοις τούτοις· ἰδοὺ, ἐγὼ εἰσάγω εἰς ὑμᾶς πνεῦμα ζωῆς καὶ δώσω ἐφ’ ὑμᾶς νεῦρα καὶ ἐπάξω ἐφ’ ὑμᾶς σάρακας καὶ ἐκτενῶ ἐφ’ ὑμᾶς δέρμα καὶ δώσω τὸ πνεῦμά μου ἐφ’ ὑμᾶς καὶ ζήσεσθε, καὶ θήσομαι ὑμᾶς ἐπὶ τὴν γῆν ὑμῶν, καὶ γνώσεσθε ὅτι ἐγὼ εἰμι κύριος».

64.13.4 | And you will say to them: “Dry bones, listen to the word of the Lord. This is what Adonai, the Lord, says to these bones: ‘Look, I am bringing the spirit of life into you, and I will put nerves on you and cover you with flesh and stretch skin over you. I will put my spirit on you, and you will live. I will place you on your land, and you will know that I am the Lord.’”

64.13.5 | τούτῳ μὲν οὖν <ὥς> πιθανωτέρῳ χρῶνται τῷ ῥητῷ. καὶ ἄλλα δὲ <συλ>λέγουσιν εὐαγγελικά, οἷον [ὥς] τό »ἐκεῖ ἔσται ὁ κλαυρμὸς καὶ ὁ βρυγμὸς τῶν ὀδόντων« καὶ τό »φοβήθητε τὸν δυνάμενον καὶ ψυχὴν καὶ σῶμα ἀπολέσαι ἐν Γεεννῇ« καὶ τὸ ἐν τῷ Παύλῳ »ζωοποιήσει τὰ θνητὰ ὑμῶν σώματα διὰ τοῦ ἐνοικοῦντος αὐτοῦ πνεύματος ἐν ὑμῖν«.

64.13.5 | Therefore, this is used as more likely for the direct statement. And others also gather gospel sayings, like “there will be the crying and the grinding of teeth” and “fear the one who can destroy both soul and body in Gehenna” and what is in Paul, “he will give life to your mortal bodies through his spirit living in you.”

Section 14

64.14.1 | 14. Χρὴ δὲ πάντα τὸν φιλαλήθη κατὰ ταύτῃ τούτοις τὸν νοῦν ἐπιστήσαντα περὶ τῆς ἀναστάσεως ἀγωνίσασθαι, σῶσαί τε καὶ τὴν τῶν ἀρχρίων παράδοσιν καὶ φυλάξασθαι μὴ ἐμπεσεῖν εἰς φλυαρίαν πτωχῶν νοημάτων, παδυνάτων τε ἅμα καὶ θεοῦ ἀναξίων.

64.14.1 | 14. But every truth-loving person must struggle with the same mind about the resurrection, both to save the tradition handed down from the ancestors and to guard against falling into nonsense of weak thoughts, which are both powerless and unworthy of God.

64.14.2 | τοῦτο οὖν εἰς τὸν τόπον τοῦτον διαληπτέον, ὅτι πᾶν σῶμα ὑπὸ φύσεως συνεχόμενον τῆς καταταττούσης ἕξωθέν τινα δίκην τροφῆς εἰς αὐτὸ καὶ ἀπεκκρινούσης ἀντὶ τῶν ἐπεισαγομένων ἕτερα, ὥσπερ τὰ τῶν ζώων, τὸ ὑλικὸν ὑποκείμενον οὐδέποτε ἔχει ταυτόν.

64.14.2 | So, this must be explained in this place, that every body, by nature, keeps a kind of food pushed out by what it has arranged, and rejects other things brought in instead, just like the bodies of animals, the material beneath never stays the same.

64.14.3 | διάπερ οὐ κακῶς ποταμὸς ὠνόμασται τὸ σῶμα, διότι ὡς πρὸς τὸ ἀκριβὲς τάχα οὐδὲ δύο ἡμερῶν τὸ πρῶτον ὑποκείμενον ταυτόν ἐστιν ἐν τῷ σώματι ἡμῶν, καίτοι γε τοῦ οἰονεῖ Παύλου ἢ Πέτρου ἀεὶ τοῦ αὐτοῦ ὄντος, (οὐ[τοῦ] κατὰ ψυχὴν μόνον, ἥς ἡ οὐσία οὔτε ῥεῖ καθ' ἡμᾶς οὔτ' ἐπεισαγόμενόν τι ἔχει ποτέ), κἂν ῥευστή ᾗ ἡ φύσις τοῦ σώματος, τῷ τὸ εἶδος τὸ εἶδος τὸ χαρακτηρίζον τὸ σῶμα ταυτόν εἶνα,

64.14.3 | For this reason, it is not wrong that the body is called a river, because likely not even two days does the first material in our body remain the same, even though, as Paul or Peter say, the soul is always the same one (not just the soul, whose essence neither flows through us nor ever contains anything brought in). And even if the nature of the body is fluid, the form that defines the body remains the same.

64.14.4 | ὡς καὶ τοὺς τύπους μένειν τοὺς αὐτοὺς τοὺς τὴν ποιότητα Πέτρου καὶ Παύλου τὴν σωματικὴν παριστήνοντας, καθ' ἣν ποτότητα καὶ οὐλαὶ ἐκ παιδῶν παραμένουσι τοῖς σώμασι καὶ ἄλλα τινὰ ιδιώματα, <ὡς> φακοὶ καὶ ἐπὶ τούτοις εἴ τί ἐστιν ὅμοιον·

64.14.4 | Just as the forms stay the same, showing the physical quality of Peter and Paul, by which the features and marks from childhood remain on their bodies, and other traits too, like moles and, on top of those, if there is anything similar.

64.14.5 | τοῦτο τὸ εἶδος, καθ' ὃ εἰδοποιεῖται ὁ Πέτρος καὶ ὁ Παῦλος, τὸ σωματικόν, [δ] ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει περιτίθεται πάλιν τῇ ψυχῇ, ἐπὶ τὸ πρεῖττον μεταβάλλον, οὐ πάντως τόδε τὸ ἐκτεταγμένον τὸ κατὰ τὴν πρώτην ὑποκείμενον.

64.14.5 | This form, by which Peter and Paul are recognized, the physical one, which at the resurrection is put back on the soul, changes for the better, not always being the same extended material as the first one.

64.14.6 | ὥσπερ δὲ τὸ εἶδος <ταυτόν>· ἐστὶν ἐκ βρέφους μέχρι τοῦ πρεσβυτέρου, καὶ οἱ χαρακτηρὲς δοκῶσι πολλὴν ἔχειν παραλλαγὴν, οὕτως νοητέον καὶ τὸ ἐπὶ τοῦ παρόντος εἶδος ταυτόν εἶναι τῷ μέλλοντι, πλείστης ὁσῆς ἐσομένης τῆς ἐπὶ κάλλιον μεταβολῆς.

64.14.6 | Just as the form is the same from baby to old man, even if the marks seem to have changed a lot, so it must be understood that the present form is the same as the one to come, with the greatest change being the better one.

64.14.7 | ἀναγκαῖον γὰρ τὴν ψυχὴν ἐν τόποις σωματικοῖς ὑπάρχουσιν κεχρησθαι σώμασι καταλλήλοις τοῖς τόποις.

64.14.7 | For it is necessary that the soul, being in bodily places, uses bodies suitable to those places.

64.14.8 | καὶ ὥσπερ ἐν θαλάσῃ ζῆν ἡμᾶς ἐνύδρους γενομένους εἰ ἔχρην, πάντως ἂν ἡμᾶς ἔδει βράγχια ἔχειν καὶ τὴν ἄλλην ἰχθύων κατάστασιν, οὕτως μέλλοντας κληρονομεῖν βασιλείαν οὐρανῶν καὶ ἐν τόποις διαφέρουσιν ἔσεσθαι ἀναγκαῖον χρησθαι σώμασι πνευματικοῖς·

64.14.8 | And just as if we had to live in the sea as water creatures, we would definitely need to have gills and the other features of fish, so those about to inherit the kingdom of heaven and who differ in places will need to use spiritual bodies.

64.14.9 | οὐχὶ τοῦ εἶδους τοῦ προτέρου ἀφανιζομένου, καὶ ἐπὶ τὸ ἐνδοξότερον γένηται αὐτοῦ ἡ τροπή, ὥσπερ ἦν τὸ Ἰησοῦ εἶδος καὶ Μωυσέως καὶ Ἠλίου οὐχ ἕτερον ἐν τῇ μεταμορφώσει παρ' ὃ ἦν.

64.14.9 | Not the form of the former is disappearing, even if its change becomes more glorious, just as the form of Jesus was not different from that of Moses and Elijah in the transfiguration.

Section 15

64.15.1 | 15. Μὴ πρόσκοπτε τοῖνυν, εἰ τὸ πρῶτον ὑποκείμενον ἂν τις λέγοι μὴ ἔσεσθαι ταυτόν τότε, ὅπου ὁ λόγος τοῖς ἐφιστάνειν δυναμένοις δείκνυσιν ὅτι οὐδὲ νῦν δύναται δύο ἡμερῶν ταυτόν εἶναι τὸ πρῶτον ὑποκείμενον.

64.15.1 | So do not be upset, then, if someone says that the first subject will not be the same then, where the argument shows those who can understand that even now the first subject cannot be the same for two days.

64.15.2 | ἄξιον δὲ ἐπιστῆσαι καὶ τὸ ἕτεροῖον μὲν σπεύρεσθαι, ἕτεροῖον δὲ

64.15.2 | It is also worth knowing that one thing is sown, and another thing is raised ἀνίστασθαι·

up.

64.15.3 | » σπείρεται γὰρ σῶμα ψυχικόν, ἐγείρεται σῶμα πνευματικόν«, καὶ ἐπιφέρει πάλιν ὁ ἀπόστολος, σχεδὸν τὴν γῆϊνὴν ποιότητα <πᾶσαν> διδάσκων ἀποτίθεται μέλλειν ἡμᾶς τοῦ εἶδους σωζομένου κατὰ τὴν ἀνάστασιν· »τοῦτο δέ φημι, ἀδελφοί, ὅτι σὰρξ καὶ αἷμα. βασιλείαν θεοῦ κληρονομῆσαι οὐ δύνανται οὐδὲ ἡ φθαρὰ τὴν ἀφθαρσίαν«.

64.15.3 | “For a natural body is sown, a spiritual body is raised,” and again the apostle says, teaching that we will lay aside almost all the earthly nature, so that the form is saved according to the resurrection: “Now this I say, brothers, flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, nor does the perishable inherit the imperishable.”

64.15.4 | ἴσως μὲν γὰρ ἔσται περὶ τὸν ἅγιον <σῶμα> διακρατούμενον ὑπὸ τοῦ εἰδοποιούντος ποτε τὴν σάρκα, σὰρξ δὲ οὐκέτι, ἀλλ’ ὅπερ ποτὲ ἐχαρακτηρίζετο ἐν τῇ σαρκί, τοῦτο χαρακτηρισθήσεται ἐν τῷ πνευματικῷ σώματι.

64.15.4 | For maybe it will be about the holy body held together by the one who once formed the flesh, but no longer flesh; rather, what was once marked in the flesh will be marked in the spiritual body.

64.15.5 | Καὶ πρὸς τὰ ῥήματα δὲ τῶν γραφῶν, ἃ παρατέθενται οἱ ἀδελφοὶ ἡμῶν, ταῦτα ἔστιν εἰπεῖν, καὶ πρῶτόν γε <πρὸς> τὰ ἐν τῷ Ἰεζεκιήλ, ἐφ’ ὅσον ἐπὶ τούτοις βούλονται * οἱ ἀπλούστεροι. κατὰ τὰς λέξεις ταύτας οὐδὲ ἀνάστασις σαρκῶν ἔσται, ἀλλὰ ὀστέων μόνον καὶ δερμάτων καὶ νεύρων.

64.15.5 | And in addition to the words of the scriptures, which our brothers add, this is what they mean to say, especially about those in Ezekiel, since the simpler ones want this. According to these words, there will be no resurrection of flesh, but only of bones and skin and nerves.

64.15.6 | ἅμα δὲ καὶ ὑποδεικτέον αὐτοῖς ὅτι συναρπάζονται ὡς μὴ νευηκότες τὸ γεγραμμένον. οὐ γὰρ εἰ ὅστᾳ ὀνομάζεται, πάντως τὰ ὅστᾳ ταῦτα νοητέον, ὥσπερ οὐδὲ ἐν τῷ »έσκορπίσθη τὰ ὅστᾳ ἡμῶν παρὰ τὸν Ἅιδην«, καὶ »έσκορπίσθη πάντα τὰ ὅστᾳ μου« καὶ »ἴασαί με, ὅτι ἐταράχθ « ρ.η τὰ ὅστᾳ μου«, φανεροῦ ὄντος τοῦ μὴ λέγεσθαι τὰ ὅστᾳ κατὰ τὴν

64.15.6 | At the same time, it must be shown to them that they are carried away as if they have not understood what is written. For if bones are named, these bones must not be understood in every way, just as in ‘my bones were scattered beside Hades,’ and ‘all my bones were scattered,’ and ‘my bones were shaken,’ it is clear that bones are not to be taken in the κοινήν έκδοχὴν.

common sense.

64.15.7 | ἐπιφέρεται γοῦν τῷ λόγῳ ὅτι »αὐτό' λέγουσιν ὅτι ξηρὰ γέγονε τὰ ὀστᾶ ἡμῶν«. Ἄρα γε λέγουσι »ξηρὰ γέγονε τὰ ὀστέα ἡμῶν«, θέλοντες ἀνίστασθαι συναχθέντα; ἀλλὰ τοῦτο ἀμήχανον. λέγοιεν δ' ἄν.

64.15.7 | The argument is brought up that 'they say our bones have become dry.' Do they say 'our bones have become dry,' wanting them to rise together gathered?
But this is impossible. They might say instead.

64.15.8 | »ξηρὰ γέγονε τὰ ὀστᾶ ἡμῶν«, ἐν αἰχμαλωσίαις γενόμενοι καὶ πᾶσαν ζωτικὴν νοτίδα ἀποβεβληκότες. ἐπιφέρουσι γοῦν τό »ἀπόλωλεν ἡ ἐλπὶς ἡμῶν, διαπεφωνήκαμεν«. οὐκοῦν ἡ ἐπαγγελία τῆς ἀναστάσεως τοῦ λαοῦ ἐστὶν ἀπὸ τοῦ πτώματος καὶ τῆς οἰονεῖ νεκρότητος ἣν ενέκρυνται διὰ τὰ ἀμαρτήματα τοῖς ἐχθροῖς παραδοθέντες.

64.15.8 | 'Our bones have become dry,' having been taken captive and having lost all life's moisture. They bring up also 'our hope is lost, we are called dead.' So the promise of the people's resurrection is from the corpse and the kind of death they have died, handed over to enemies because of sins.

64.15.9 | καὶ οἱ ἀμκρτωλοὶ δὲ ὑπὸ τοῦ σωτῆρος λέγονται εἶναι »τάφοι γέμοντες ὀστέων νεκρῶν καὶ κπάσης ἀκαθαρσίας«. πρέπει δὲ τῷ θεῷ ἀνοίγειν τὰ μνημεῖα ἐκάστου καὶ ἐξάγειν ἐκ τῶν μνημείων ἡμᾶς ἐξωποιομένους, ὥσπερ ὁ σωτὴρ τὸν Λάζαρον εἴλκυσε ἐξω.

64.15.9 | And the sinners are said by the savior to be 'tombs full of dead bones and all uncleanness.' But it is right for god to open the graves of each one and bring us out from the graves, made alive again, just as the savior pulled Lazarus out.

Section 16

64.16.1 | 16. Τὸ δέ »ἐκεῖ ἔσται ὁ κλαυθμὸς καὶ ὁ βρυγμὸς τῶν ὀδόντων« πρὸς αὐτοὺς ἀπορητέον ὅτι ὡς ἐν τούτῳ τῷ βίῳ πᾶν μέλος εἰς τινα χρεῖαν ὁ δημιουργὸς κατεσκεύασεν, οὕτως καὶ τοὺς ὀδόντας εἰς τὸ διακόπτεσθαι τὴν στερεὰν τροφήν. τίς οὖν χρεῖα τοῖς κολζομένοις ὀδόντων; οὐ γὰρ εἰς τὴν Γέενναν ὄντες κατ' αὐτοὺς 64.16.1 | 16. But about 'there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth,' we must wonder about them, because just as in this life every body part was made by the creator for some use, so also the teeth were made to cut solid food. So what use are teeth to those who are burned? For they will not be eaten by them in Gehenna. φάγονται.

64.16.2 | καὶ δεικτέον ὅτι οὐ πάντα παραλαμβάνεσθαι δεῖ κατὰ τὸ κείμενον. »όδόντας γοῦν ἁμαρτωλῶν«, φησίν, »συνέτριψας« τὰς μύλας τῶν λεόντων συνέθλασεν κύριος«. τίς δὲ οὕτως ἡλίθιος ὥς ὑπολαμβάνειν ὅτι πηρῶν τὰ σώματα τῶν ἁμαρτωλῶν ὁ θεὸς τοὺς όδόντας αὐτῶν μόνον συντρίβει;

64.16.2 | And it must be shown that not everything should be taken according to the literal meaning. "You have broken the teeth of sinners," it says, "the Lord crushed the jaws of lions." But who is so foolish as to think that God, while paralyzing the bodies of sinners, only breaks their teeth?

64.16.3 | ὥσπερ οὖν εἴ τις θέλων ταῦθ' οὕτως ἔχειν θλιβόμενος εἴλκετο ἐπ' ἀλληγορίαν, οὕτως ζητητέον τῶν κολαζομένων τὸν βρυγμὸν τῶν όδόντων, τῆς ψυχῆς δύναμιν μασητικὴν ἐχούσης, ἥτις ἐν καιρῷ τοῦ ἐλέγχου περὶ τῶν ἁμαρτημάτων κατὰ τὸν συγκρουσμὸν τῶν † όδόντων ὧν ἐφρόνησε βρύζει τοὺς όδόντας.

64.16.3 | So just as if someone wanted these things to be taken that way, troubled, they would be drawn to an allegory, so it must be sought that the gnashing of teeth of those being punished is the chewing power of the soul, which at the time of judgment about sins, during the clash of the teeth, as it thinks, makes the teeth grind.

64.16.4 | τὸ δὲ »φοβήθητε τὸν δυνάμενον καὶ τὴν ψυχὴν καὶ τὸ σῶμα ἀπολέσαι ἐν Γέεννῃ« τάχα μὲν διδάσκει ὅτι ἀσώματος ἡ ψυχὴ, τάχα δὲ καὶ δηλοῖ ὅτι χωρὶς σώματος οὐ κολασθήσεται· περὶ οὗ φυσιολογοῦντες τὰ περὶ τοῦ εἶδους καὶ τοῦ πρώτου ὑποκειμένου εἰρήκαμεν.

64.16.4 | But the phrase "fear the one who can destroy both soul and body in Gehenna" perhaps teaches that the soul is without a body, and perhaps also shows that it will not be punished without a body; about this, those who study the nature of form and the first substance have spoken.

64.16.5 | καὶ τὸ παρὰ τῷ ἀπ[οστόλῳ δέ »ζωοποιήσει καὶ τὰ θνητὰ ὑμῶν σώματα«, θνητοῦ ὄντος τοῦ σώματος καὶ οὐ μετέχοντος τῆς ἀληθινῆς ζωῆς, δύναται παριστάνειν ὅτι τὸ σωματικὸν εἶδος περὶ οὗ εἰρήκαμεν, τῇ φύσει θνητὸν ὄν, »ὅταν ὁ Χριστὸς φανερωθῇ, ἡ ζωὴ ἡμῶν«, καὶ αὐτὸ μεταβάλλει ἀπὸ τοῦ εἶναι »σῶμα θανάτου«, ζωοποιηθὲν διὰ τοῦ πνεύματος τοῦ

64.16.5 | And the phrase from the apostle, "he will give life also to your mortal bodies," with the body being mortal and not sharing in true life, can show that the bodily form we spoke of, being mortal by nature, "when Christ is revealed, our life," also changes from being a "body of death," made alive through the life-giving spirit, ζωοποιοῦντος, ἐκ τοῦ <σαρκικοῦ> πνευματικὸν γεγονός.

having become spiritual from the fleshly.

64.16.6 | καὶ τό »ἐρεῖ δέ τις, πῶς ἐγείρονται οἱ νεκροί, ποίῳ δὲ σώματι ἔρχονται;« γυμνῶς παρίστησιν ὅτι τὸ πρῶτον ὑποκείμενον οὐκ ἀναστήσεται.

64.16.6 | And when someone says, “But how do the dead rise, and with what body do they come?” it plainly shows that the first substance will not be raised.

64.16.7 | εἰ γὰρ καλῶς ἐλάβομεν τὸ παράδειγμα, τηρητέον ὅτι ὁ σπερματικὸς λόγος ἐν τῷ κόκκῳ τοῦ σίτου δραξάμενος τῆς παρακειμένης ὕλης καὶ δι’ ὅλης αὐτῆς χωρήσας, περιδραξάμενός <τε> αὐτῆς τοῦ αὐτοῦ εἶδους, ὧν ἔχει δυνάμεων ἐπιτίθησι τῇ ποτε γῇ καὶ ὕδατι καὶ ἀέρι καὶ πυρί, καὶ νικήσας τὰς ἐκείνων ποιότητας μεταβάλλει ἐπὶ ταύτην ἣς ἐστὶν αὐτὸς δημιουργός· καὶ οὕτως συμπληροῦται ὁ στάχυς, εἰς ὑπερβολὴν διαφέρων τοῦ ἐξ ἀρχῆς κόκκου μεγέθει καὶ σχήματι καὶ ποικιλίᾳ. Πρόκλου τοῦ αὐτοῦ.

64.16.7 | For if we take the example well, we must keep in mind that the seed word, having taken hold of the grain of wheat and having filled all the surrounding matter, having gone around it with the same kind, to which it has power, it lays upon the earth and water and air and fire, and having overcome their qualities, it changes them into the one of which it is the maker; and so the ear of grain is completed, differing greatly in size and shape and variety from the original grain. Proclus, the same.

Section 17

64.17.1 | 17. Ἄ μὲν οὖν Ὡριγένης εἰς τὴν περὶ τῆς ἀναστάσεως ἐγχειρῶν πραγματεῖαν ἐσπούδασε, ποικιλωτάτην ἐπιδεικνύμενος θεωρίαν, τσαῦτα ὡς ἐν ἐπιτομῇ· ἐνθυμοῦ δὲ καὶ τὰ τούτοις ἀκόλουθα ἐφεξῆς.

64.17.1 | So then, Origen worked hard on his treatise about the resurrection, showing a very varied view, as if in a summary; and consider also the things that follow these in order.

64.17.2 | λείπεται γὰρ τὰς ἀπὸ τῶν γραφῶν ἔτι πρὸς τοῖς εἰρημένοις μαρτυρίας παραλαβεῖν, ἵν’ ὥσπερ ἀνδριάς πάντα τὰ μέρη συμμέτρως <εἴη> ἔχουσα, οὕτως <εἴη> ὁ λόγος οὗτος <εἴη> συμμετρίαν <εἴη> λαβὼν ὅλος ἐκ πλήρους ἢ κατεσκευασμένος, ἀλλὰ] μηδὲν ἔχων

64.17.2 | For it remains to add the testimonies from the scriptures to what has been said, so that just as a statue has all its parts in proper proportion, so this argument, having taken proportion, may be made whole and complete, not lacking anything of the things gathered into shape ένδεξ τῶν εἰς σχῆμα καὶ κάλλος συναγομένων.

and beauty.

64.17.3 | τί οὖν αἱ γραφαὶ συνάδουσι τούτοις, ἐπικρατύνουσαι πρὸς συμπλήρωσιν διαγωγῆς κρείττονος τὸν ἄνθρωπον, φραστέον. ταῦτα γὰρ ἂν τις οἶός τε ᾗ, μὴ παρακόπτων τοῦ δέοντος, ἀκριβῶς νοεῖν, εἴσεται τὴν ἀνάστασιν ἐπὶ τούτου μὴ χρῆναι παραλαμβάνεσθαι τοῦ σώματος, ἅτε ἀδυνατοῦντος ἀτρέπτου δι' αἰῶνος μένειν, ἀλλὰ ἐπὶ τοῦ πνευματικοῦ, ἐν ᾧ αὐτὸς ὁ καὶ νῦν ἐν τούτῳ διασωζόμενος χαρακτήρ τηρηθήσεται, ἵν' ἕκαστος ἡμῶν καὶ κατὰ τὴν μορφήν ὁ αὐτὸς ᾗ, παθάπερ ἐλέχθη καὶ Ὡριγένει.

64.17.3 | What then do the scriptures agree with these things, showing that the human is stronger for a better life? This must be explained. For if someone is able to think carefully without missing what is needed, they will understand that the resurrection does not need to take the body back, since it cannot stay unchanged forever. Instead, it is about the spiritual body, in which the very character now kept will be preserved, so that each of us will be the same in form as before, just as Origen also said.

64.17.4 | οὕτω γὰρ ἐκεῖνος ἔσεσθαι τίθεται τὴν ἀνάστασιν. ῥευστοῦ γὰρ ὄντος τοῦ σώματος τοῦ ὑλικοῦ καὶ μηδέποτε μένοντος ἐφ' ἑαυτῷ κἂν τὸ βραχύ, ἀλλὰ προσγιγνέσθαι νομένου καὶ νομένου περὶ τὸ εἶδος τὸ χαρακτηρίζον τὸν ἄνθρωπον, ὅφ' οὗ καὶ συγκρατεῖται τὸ σχῆμα, ἀνάγκη, φησί, τὴν ἀναστασιν ἐπὶ μόνου τοῦ εἶδους φύζεσθαι δεῖν προσδοκᾶν.

64.17.4 | For that one sets the resurrection to be like this. Since the material body is fluid and never stays on its own, even for a short time, but is added to and taken away around the form that marks the person, by which the shape is held together, he says it is necessary to expect the resurrection to be based only on the form.

64.17.5 | καὶ ἵνα μὴ εἴπῃς ὅτι οὐ μανθάνω· σκοτεινῶς ἐκεῖνος γὰρ τοῦτο διέλαβεν, ἐγὼ δέ σοι σαφέστερον ὥδε τὸν νοῦν τούτων ἐξηγήσομαι.

64.17.5 | And so that you do not say that i do not understand; for he spoke of this unclearly, i will explain to you the meaning of these things more clearly here.

64.17.6 | ἤδη γὰρ πάντως ἐώρακας δέρμα ἀώου ἢ ἄλλο τι τοιοῦτο γεμισθὲν ὕδατος, ὅπως ἂν πρὸς ὀλίγον κενούμενον πρὸς ὀλίγον πληροῖτο, αἰεὶ τὸ εἶδος τὸ αὐτὸ δείκνυσιν. οὐδὲν γὰρ ἂν ᾗ τὸ περιέχον, ἀνάγκη πρὸς κύτῳ καὶ τὸ ἐντὸς

64.17.6 | For surely you have already seen skin or something like that filled with water, so that when it empties a little, it fills up a little, always showing the same form.
For whatever the container is, the shape σχηματίζεσθαι.

inside must be formed according to it.

64.17.7 | φέρε γὰρ ὑπεκρέοντος τοῦ ὕδατος, εἴ τις προσβάλλοι τοσοῦτον ὅσον ἐκχεῖται, μὴ ἔων τὸν ἀσκὸν ἀθρόως κενωθῆναι τοῦ ὕδατος, εἰ μὴ τοιοῦτο ἀνάγκη φαίνεσθαι τὸ προστιθέμενον οἷον καὶ τὸ πρότερον, διὰ τὸ εἶναι καὶ τὸ περιέχον τὸ αὐτὸ περὶ ὃ εἰσρεῖ καὶ ἀπορρεῖ τὸ ὕδωρ.

64.17.7 | For imagine the water is flowing out, if someone adds as much as is poured out, not letting the skin be emptied all at once of the water, it must seem that what is added is like what was there before, because the container and what it holds are the same around what flows in and out, the water.

64.17.8 | And indeed the body will not be ashamed to copy these things by choice. For just as the parts brought in from food replace the flesh pushed out, they change into the shape of the container's form. And as much as is spread over the eyes looks like eyes, as much as over the face looks like a face, and as much as over the other parts looks like those parts; so each one seems the same, not because the original flesh is still there, but because of the form, according to which the new parts are shaped.

64.17.9 | And so if we are not the same even after a few days with the body, but only with the form inside the body (for this alone has stood since birth), much more then we will not be the same in the same flesh, but in the form that even now is always being renewed and stays in us. For what there is skin there, this form is here; and what there is water on the image, this is what is added and lost here.

64.17.10 | ὥσπερ οὖν νῦν τοῦ σώματος οὐκ ὄντος τοῦ καὶ τότε οὐκ ὄντος τοῦ σώματος τοῦ αὐτοῦ εἰς τὸ ἐνδοξότερον τὸ εἶδος αὐξηθὲν οὐκέτι ἐν φθαρτῷ, ἀλλ' ἐν ἀπαθεί καὶ πνευματικῷ δειχθήσεται σώματι, ὥσπερ οἶον τὸ Ἰησοῦ κατὰ τὴν μεταμόρφωσιν ἦν, ὅτε εἰς τὸ ὄρος ἀνέβη μετὰ Πέτρου, καὶ τὸ Μωυσέως καὶ τὸ Ἡλίου τῶν ὀφθέντων αὐτῷ.

64.17.10 | Just as now the body is not the same as then, so the form, grown into a more glorious one, will no longer be in a perishable body, but shown in an impassive and spiritual body, like how Jesus was at the transfiguration when he went up the mountain with Peter, and Moses and Elijah appeared to him.

Section 18

64.18.1 | 18. Καὶ ταῦτα μὲν οὖν μέχρι τοσούτου διεσκέφθω· οὗτος γὰρ ὡς ἐν κεφαλαίῳ τῶν Ὡριγένους δογματισμῶν ὁ νοκῦς.

64.18.1 | And so let these things be considered up to this point; for this is the main point in Origen's teachings.

64.18.2 | ἐὰν δέ τις τῶν ἀμφισβητούντων προβαλλόμενος τὸ σῶμα τοῦ Χριστοῦ, διὰ τὸ «πρωτότοκον τῶν νεκρῶν» καὶ «ἀπαρχὴν» αὐτὸν εἰρήσθαι «τῶν κεκοιμημένων», λέγοι ὅτι καθάπερ ἐκεῖνος ἀνέστη, καὶ τὰ πάντων > ὡσαύτως ἐκείνῳ δεῖν προσδοκᾶν ἀναστήσεσθαι, ἵνα ὥσπερ Χριστὸς ἐγήγερται, «οὕτως ὁ θεὸς τοὺς κοιμηθέντας διὰ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ ἄξει σὺν αὐτῷ», ἐγήγερται δὲ τὸ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ >, καὶ τὰς σάρκας ἔχον ἃς εἶχε καὶ τὰ ὀστά, καθάπερ ἐπείσθη καὶ Θωμᾶς, λέξομεν·

64.18.2 | But if someone among those who doubt brings up the body of Christ, because he is called “the firstborn of the dead” and “the first fruits” of those who have fallen asleep, and says that just as he rose, so all others must also be expected to rise like him, so that just as Christ was raised, “so God will bring with him those who have fallen asleep through Jesus,” and Jesus’ body was raised, with the flesh and bones he had, just as Thomas was convinced, we will say:

64.18.3 | ἀλλὰ τὸ τοῦ Χριστοῦ σῶμα οὐκ ἦν «ἐκ θελήματος ἀνδρός», «ἡδονῆς ὑπνω συνελθούσης», «ἐν ἀνομίαις συλληφθὲν καὶ κισσηθὲν ἐν ἁμαρτίας», ἀλλὰ «ἐκ πνεύματος ἁγίου καὶ δυνάμεως ὑψίστου καὶ παρθένου», τὸ δὲ σὸν ὕπνος ἐστὶ καὶ ἡδονὴ καὶ ῥύπος.

64.18.3 | But the body of Christ was not “from the will of a man,” “joined by the pleasure of sleep,” “conceived in lawlessness and stained in sin,” but “from the holy spirit and the power of the Most High and a virgin,” while your sleep is pleasure and filth.

64.18.4 | καὶ διὰ τοῦτο καὶ ὁ σοφὸς Σειράχ »έν γὰρ τῷ ἀποθνήσκειν ἄνθρωπον< κληρονομήσει ἐρπετὰ καὶ κηρία καὶ σκώληκας«, καὶ <Δαυ'δ > ἐν ὀγδοηκοστῷ ἐβδόμῳ ψαλμῷ »μὴ τοῖς νεκροῖς ποιήσεις θαυμάσια ἢ ἰατροὶ ἀναστήσουσι καὶ ἐξομολγήσονται σοι; μὴ διηγῆσεται τις ἐν τάφῳ τὸ ἔλεός σου καὶ τὴν σου καὶ ἡ δικαιοσύνη σου ἐν γῇ ἐπιλελησμένῃ;«

64.18.4 | And for this reason the wise Sirach says, “For when a man dies, reptiles and worms and maggots will inherit him,” and David in the eighty-seventh Psalm says, “Do not show wonders to the dead, or will the doctors raise them and they will confess to you? Will anyone tell of your mercy in the grave, and your truth and your justice in the forgotten earth?”

64.18.5 | καὶ ἕτερα δὲ ῥήματα τοιαῦτα τῷ βουλομένῳ συνάγειν ἐκ τῶν γραφῶν πάρεστιν ἅ * ἵνα μὴ πάντων ἡμεῖς εἰς πλήθος μνημονεύοντες πολυπλασίονα τῶν εἰρημένων ἀυξήσωμεν τὸν λόγον.

64.18.5 | And there are other sayings like these for anyone wanting to gather from the scriptures, but so that we do not remember all of them in great numbers and make the argument longer than what has been said.

Section 19

64.19.1 | Λοιπὸν Μεθοδίου· Ὡς πῦν ἐπαύσατο μόγις ὁ Πρόκλος καὶ σιγὴ τῶν παρόντων ἦν ἐπὶ πολὺ, καταβληθέντων ἱκανῶς πρὸς ἀπιστίαν, καὶ ἐγὼ ἡσθόμην ὅτι τῷ ὄντι πεπαυμένος εἶη, ἡρέμα τὴν κεφαλὴν ἐπάρας καὶ ἀναπνεύσας ὥσπερ οἱ πλέοντες τοῦ κύματος ἤδη λωφῶντος, ὑποτρέμων ἔτι καὶ σκοτιζόμενος ἐβεβλήμην γάρ, ὡς πρὸς ὑμᾶς εἰρήσθω, τῇ δεινότητι κατηντημένος τῶν λόγων) τρέπομαι πρὸς τὸν Αὐξέντιον καὶ καλέσας αὐτόν·

64.19.1 | So then, Methodius: When Proclus had barely stopped speaking, and there was a long silence among those present, many having been thrown into disbelief, I sensed that he had truly finished. I quietly raised my head and, breathing out like most do when the wave is already fading, still trembling and confused, I spoke (let it be said to you, struck down by the harshness of the words). I turned to Auxentius and called him.

64.19.2 | ὦ Αὐξέντιε, νομίζω, ἔφην, μὴ μάτην λελέχθαι τὸ ποιητικόν »σύν τε σύ' ἐρχομένων«. καὶ γὰρ οἱ ἀνταγωνισταὶ δύο.
»διὸ σθένος ἀμφοτέρω ἀμφοτέρων περ σχῶμεν«.

64.19.2 | “O Auxentius,” I said, “I think the poetic line ‘and you come along with them’ was not said in vain. For there are two opponents. ‘Therefore, let us both hold the strength of both.’”

64.19.3 | συναντιλήπτορα γὰρ καὶ συναγωνιστὴν αἰροῦμαί σε τῆς πρὸς αὐτοὺς μάχης, μὴ ἡμῖν ὁ Ἀγλαοφῶν μετὰ Πρόκλου καὶ Ὀριγένους τοῖς ἀνατρεπτικοῖς καθ' ἡμῶν ὠπλισμένος λογοῖς ἐκπέρσῃ τὴν ἀνάστασιν.

64.19.3 | For I choose you as my fellow fighter and companion in the battle against them, so that Aglaophon, armed with words against us along with Proclus and Origen, may not destroy the resurrection.

64.19.4 | ἄγε οὖν ἀντιπαραταξώμεθα τοῖς σοφίσμασιν αὐτῶν, μηδὲν τῶν ἀντιλογικῶν, οἷς οἱ δειλοὶ βάλλονται, φοβηθέντες· καὶ γὰρ οὐδὲν ἐν αὐτοῖς ὑγιὲς ὅλως οὐδὲ πάγιον, ἀλλὰ φαντασία μόνον εὐπρεπῆς ῥημάτων πρὸς κατάπληξιν τῶν ἀκουόντων καὶ πειθῶ κατεσκευασμένη, οὐ τῆς ἀληθείας καὶ τοῦ συμφέροντος χάριν, ἀλλὰ τοῦ δόξαι τοῖς παροῦσι σοφοὺς τοὺς λόγους.

64.19.4 | Come then, let us stand against their clever tricks, fearing none of the arguments that cowards throw. For there is nothing healthy or steady in them at all, but only a fancy dress of words made to shock those who hear and to persuade, not for the sake of truth and what is good, but to make the words look wise to those present.

64.19.5 | ἐντεῦθεν γοῦν τοῖς πολλοῖς οἱ ἐκ τῶν εἰκότων ἔσθ' ὅτε λόγοι πρὸς κάλλος καὶ ἡδονὴν πεποικιλμένοι μᾶλλον τῶν εἰς ἀκρίβειαν ἐξητασμένων νομίζονται σπουδαιότεροι, τῶν διδασκάλων οὐ πρὸς τὸ βέλτιον ἀμιλλωμένων ἔτι καὶ σεμνον, ἀλλὰ πρὸς τὸ ἀρέσαι καὶ εὐημερῆσαι, καθάπερ οἱ σοφισταί, οἳ μισθὸν αἰροῦνται τῶν λόγων, ἐπευωνιζόμενοι τὴν σοφίαν ἐπαίνοισ.

64.19.5 | From this comes that for most people, words based on guesses, decorated more with beauty and pleasure than with careful truth, are thought more important. These teachers do not compete for what is best and serious, but to please and make things easy, like the sophists, who take pay for their words, seeking praise for their cleverness.

64.19.6 | τὸ μὲν οὖν παλαιὸν βραχὺ παντελῶς τὸ περὶ τὴν ἐξήγησιν ἦν, φιλοτιμουμένων μὴ τέρπειν, ἀλλὰ ὠφελεῖν τοὺς παρόντας τῶν τότε· ἀφ' οὗ δὲ λοιπὸν εἰς ῥαστώνην ἐπετράπη πᾶσιν ἐρμηνεύειν ἐξεῖναι τὰς γραφάς, [καί] πάντες εἰς ποιῆσαι μὲν τὸ καλὸν ἡμβλύνθησαν πλησθέντες οἰήματος, περὶ τὸ λογικεύεσθαι

64.19.6 | The old way of explaining was very short, aiming not to please but to help those present at the time. But from then on, everyone was allowed to interpret the writings easily, and all grew dull in making what is good, filled with pride. Yet they improved in arguing, decorating their speech, as if they knew everything well.

δὲ προέκοψαν καλλωπιζόμενοι, ὥς πάντα γινώσκειν ὑπάρχοντες δεινοί, διδάσκεσθαι μὲν ὁμολογεῖν χρήζειν αἰδεσθέντες, φιλονεικεῖν δὲ μᾶλλον καὶ προπηδᾶν, ὥς οἱ διδάσκαλοι *.

They admitted they needed to be taught, but they loved to argue and interrupt, just like the teachers.

64.19.7 | θρασυνθέντες γοῦν ἐντεῦθεν τοῦ μὲν εὐλαβοῦς καὶ πράου καὶ πάντα δύνασθαι ποιεῖν τὸν θεὸν ὥς ἐπηγγείλατο πιστεύειν ὠλίσθησαν, εἰς δὲ ζητήσεις κενὰς καὶ βλασφημίας ἤκασι, μὴ νοήσαντες ὥς οὐ τὰ ἔργα τῶν λόγων ἐπετηδεύθη χάριν, ἀλλὰ τῶν ἔργων οἱ λόγοι, ὥσπερ <ἐπ’ > ἱατρικῆς, δι’ ἧς τοὺς κάμονοντας σώζεσθαι δεῖ τῶν λόγων ἔργοις κυρουμένων, ἵν’ ἡρμοσμένων ἡμῶν πάντα σύμφωνος ὁ νοῦς εἴῃ τοῖς ἀρίστοις λόγοις, τὰ ἦθη τῇ γλώσσει συνῶδὰ παρέχων δίκην λύρας, ἀλλὰ μὴ ἄμουσα καὶ ἀσύμφωνα.

64.19.7 | So, growing bold from here, they slipped away from believing in the god who promised to be careful, gentle, and able to do all things. Instead, they came to empty questions and insults, not realizing that the purpose was not the works of words, but the words of works, like in medicine, through which the tired are saved by works proven by words. So that our mind, joined together, might be in harmony with the best words, giving customs a kind of lyre with the tongue, but not one that is harsh or out of tune.

64.19.8 | ἐπὶ γὰρ τῷ κτήσασθαι κατὰ ἀλήθειαν ἀγωνίζεσθαι δεῖ τὸ δίκαιον ἀσκεῖν καὶ οὐκ ἐπὶ τῷ δοκεῖν, χολῶς ἐπιβαίνοντα σοφίας καὶ πρὸς δόξαν μᾶλλον ἢ πρὸς ἀλήθειαν ἀμιλλώμενον, πρόθυρα καὶ προσχήματα καὶ πᾶσαν ὑποδυσάμενον τῆς ὑποκρίσεως τὴν σκευήν.

64.19.8 | For one must struggle to gain what is true by practicing what is just, and not for what seems so, which goes lame in wisdom and competes more for reputation than for truth, putting on the masks and faces and wearing all the gear of acting.

Section 20

64.20.1 | 20. Εἰσὶ γάρ, εἰσὶν οἱ λόγων τραγικῶς κεκοσμημένων προσβολαῖς, καθάπερ γυναῖκες ἔξωθεν ὠραϊζόμεναι πρὸς ἀπάτην ἐντέχνως, * ἐὰν μὴ τις πεφυλαγμένως αὐτοῖς τῷ ἔτι νεωτέρων προσβλέψῃ τῇ πίστει καὶ νηπτικῶνς.

64.20.1 | For there are some, there are those whose words are tragically dressed up with attacks, just like women who are made beautiful on the outside by trickery, if no one carefully watches them with faith and childlike trust.

64.20.2 | ὁθεν εὐλαβητέον πρὸ τοῦ

64.20.2 | Therefore, one must be careful καταμαθεῖν ἀσφαλῶς εἰς τὴν δαρδίαν εἰσδέξασθαι τὸν τοιοῦτον λόγον· καὶ γὰρ φθάνουσιν οἱ ἐξαπατῶντες πολλάκις τοὺς διστάζοντας, καθάπερ δὴ καὶ αἱ Σειρῆνες τοὺς φεύγοντας αὐτάς, μακρόθεν τὸ μισάνθρωπον τῇ καλλιφωνίᾳ.

before fully understanding to take such a speech into the heart safely; for those who deceive often get ahead of those who hesitate, just like the Sirens do with those fleeing from them, from far away with their hateful beautiful voices.

64.20.3 | ἦ πῶς, ὦ Αὐξέντιε, ἔφην ἐγώ, <δοκεῖ > σοὶ ταῦτα τίθεσθαι; καὶ ὃς ἀπεκρίνατο· Οὕτως καθάπερ καὶ σοί.

64.20.3 | Or how, o Auxentius, i said, do these things seem to you to be put? And he answered: Just so, even to you.

64.20.4 | Οὐκοῦν πάντως τῶν ἑτεροδόξων τοὺς σοφιστὰς μιμητὰς εἰδώλων ἀληθείας εἶναι λέγωμεν, ἀλήθειαν μὴ γινώσκοντας, καθάπερ ζωγράφους; καὶ γὰρ οὗτοι μιμεῖσθαι μὲ ναυπηγοὺς καὶ πλοῖα καὶ κυβερνήτας ἐπιειροῦσι, ναυπηγεῖν καὶ κυβερνᾶν οὐ γινώσκοντες.

64.20.4 | So then, do we say that the sophists of other beliefs are imitators of true images, not knowing the truth, just like painters? For they also try to copy shipbuilders and ships and captains, not knowing how to build or to steer.

64.20.5 | οὐκοῦν ἀποξένότες <εἰ > θέλεις τὰ χρώματα πείθωμεν αὐτῶν τὰ θαυμάζοντα τὰς τοιαύτας γραφὰς παιδία, ὅτι οὔτε τὸ πλοῖον τοῦτο πλοῖόν ἐστιν οὔτε ὁ κυβερνήτης κυβερνήτης, ἀλλὰ τοῖχος ἔξωθεν πρὸς τέρψιν χρώμασι καὶ γραφαῖς κεκοσμημένος καὶ ὅτι μιμηταὶ μὲν εἰδώλου πλοίου καὶ κυβερνήτου οἱ δημιουργήσαντές εἰσιν ἀπὸ τῶν χρωμάτων ταῦτα, καὶ οὐ πλοίου;

64.20.5 | So then, do you want us to persuade the children who admire those colors that this ship is neither a ship nor is the captain a captain, but a wall outside decorated with colors and paintings for pleasure, and that the makers are imitators of the image of a ship and captain from the colors, and not a real ship?

64.20.6 | Μακρὸν τῷ ἀκοῦσαι ποθοῦντι τὸ προοίμιον. Ἄλλ' ὠφέλιμον. ἔφην, ὦ ἄριστε. τὰ γὰρ ἀπὸ τῶν θεοπνεύστων γραμμάτων ῥήματα, οἷς ἐπιχρωματίζοντες ποικίλλουσιν ἑαυτῶν πρὸς ἀπάτην οὗτοι τὴν δόξαν, δικαιοσύνην ἀνυπατάως καὶ ἀλήθειαν ὀνομάζοντες, οὐ γινώσκοντες ὅλως δικαιοσύνην, εἴ τις ἀφέλοιτο, πόσον

64.20.6 | The introduction is long for someone eager to hear. But it is useful. I said, o best one, the words from the god-inspired writings, which they color and change in many ways to trick themselves into opinion, stubbornly calling it justice and truth, not knowing justice at all—if someone took those names away, how οἷι γυμνωθέντας αὐτοὺς τῶν τοιούτων ὀνομάτων χλευασθήσεσθαι; Πάνυ πολὺ, ἔφη.

much do you think they would be mocked, stripped of such names? Very much, he said.

64.20.7 | Πότερον οὖν, ὦ Αὐξέντιε, ἦν δὲ ἐγώ, σὺ βούλει ταύτης ἡγεμονεύειν Δίκαιος, ἔφη, σὺ ἡγεῖσθαι· σὺ γὰρ καὶ κτάρχεις τοῦ λόγου.

64.20.7 | So then, o Auxentius, I said, was it right for you to lead this justice? He said, you should lead; for you also begin the argument.

Section 21

64.21.1 | 21. Οὐκοῦν ἐλέγετο — φέρε γὰρ πρὸς μέρος ἐξ ἀρχῆς ἀκολουθῶς τὸν Ἀγλαοφῶντος ἐξετάσωμεν νοῦν — ἢ Μὴ τὸ σῶμα διὰ τὴν παράβασιν ὃ περικείμεθα τοῦτο ἀνειληφέναι, χρόνοις τοῖς ἄνω χωρὶς αὐτοῦ μακαρίως διάξασα.

64.21.1 | So then it was said—bring it part by part from the start, and we will carefully examine Aglaophon's meaning—that the mother did not take up the body because of the offense we surround, but lived happily apart from it for a long time above.

64.21.2 | τοὺς γὰρ δερματνοὺς εἶναι χιτῶνας σώματα <ἔφη > εἰς ἃ ἐνεῖρχθαι συνέβη τὰς дуχάς, δικὴν ὅπως ῶν ἔδρασαν νεκροφοροῦσαι παρασχωσιν ἢ οὐ ταῦτα πρῶτον ἦν ἐν ἀρχῇ τὰ λεχθέντα ὑπὸ σοῦ ἰατρέ; ἀλλ' ἴθι, ὑπόμνησον, ἐάν τί σοι μὴ φαίνωμαι μεμνημένος.

64.21.2 | He said that the bodies were like leather tunics, into which the souls entered.
Was it first said by you, doctor, that the dead carry the punishment for what they did, or not? But come, remind me, if I do not seem to remember.

64.21.3 | Οὐδὲν νῦν ὑπομνήσεως εἰς τοῦτο δεῖ· αὐτὰ ταῦτα γὰρ ἦν ἐν πρώτοις ἡμῖν τὰ εἰρημενα.

64.21.3 | Now there is no need for any reminder about this; for these very things were said to us at the beginning.

64.21.4 | Τί δέ; οὐχὶ καὶ τοῦτο ἐν τοῖς ἐξῆς ἐλέγετο πολλαχῶς ὑπὸ σοῦ ὡς ἐμποδῶν πρὸς τὴν κατάληψιν ἡμῖν τὸ σῶμα τῶν ὄντως ὄντων καὶ γινώσιν διὰ τὰς πρὸς τὸ κοσμεῖν ἀσχολίας αὐτὸ καὶ θεραπεύειν γίγνεται καὶ τὰς ἄλλας τὰς περὶ τὴν εἰθυμίαν τῆς γαστρὸς προσβολίας, ἔτι τε

64.21.4 | What about this? Was it not also said many times by you later on, that the body of the truly living is a hindrance to us in grasping knowledge, and because of the cares it has for keeping order and healing, it causes distractions and other attacks on the desire of the stomach, and also is the βαλσφημιῶν καὶ παντοίων αἵτιον ἀμαρτημάτων διὰ τὸ μὴ δύνασθαι καθ’ ἑαυτὴν δίχα]5 σώματος ὅλως ἀμαρτῆσαι ψυχὴν·

cause of blasphemies and all kinds of sins, since the soul cannot sin completely apart from the body?

64.21.5 | καὶ διὰ τοῦτο, μετὰ τὴν ἐντεῦθεν ἀποδημίαν ἐκτὸς ἀμαρτήματος ὅπως ἔσοιτο καὶ παρακοῆς ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς, ἐνθα καὶ τὰς διατριβὰς ἔξει μετὰ τῶν ἀγγέλων, ἐλευθέραν αὐτὴν καὶ γυμνὴν χρῆναι δαμῆσαι σώματος, ἐπειδὴ περ τὸ σῶμα τοῦ χραίνεσθαι τοῦτο καὶ ἀμαρτάνειν παραίτιον αὐτῇ καὶ συνεργὸν γέγνηται;

64.21.5 | And because of this, after the departure from here, the soul should be free from sin and disobedience in the heavens, where it also spends time with the angels, having tamed the body, and using itself free and bare, since the body is the cause and partner in its being stained and sinning.

64.21.6 | ἄνευ γὰρ δώματος ἀμήχανον ἀμαρτῆσαι Ψυχὴν. ὅθεν ἵνα τὸν ἄπειρον ἀναμάρτητος αἰῶνα τηρηθῇ, οὐκέτι τὸ ταλαντεῦον αὐτὴν εἰς τὴν φθορὰν κάτω καὶ τὴν ἀνικίαν σῶμα λήψεσθαι.

64.21.6 | For the soul cannot sin without a body. So that the endless sinless age may be kept, it will no longer take a body that weighs it down to decay and defeat.

64.21.7 | Ἄλλ’ ἐλέχθη καὶ τοῦτο. Τί δέ; καὶ κ(?)λῶς σοι τοῦτο καὶ ὀρθῶς, ἔφην, ἡγησαι λελέχθαι; Καὶ τί σοι, ἔφη, τοῦτο διαφέρει; ἀλλὰ οὐκ ἐξελέγχεις τὸν λόγον.

64.21.7 | But this was also said. What then?
And did i say this well and rightly, did you think it was said? And what difference does this make to you? But you do not refute the argument.

64.21.8 | Οὐδέν, ἦν δὲ ἐγώ, ἀλλὰ δι’ ἃ εἴρηκας ὅπως ἐξετάζεται ὁ λόγος. Καλῶς καὶ ὀρθῶς, ἔφη. Καλῶς δὲ σοι δοκεῖ τίθεσθαι καὶ ὀρθῶς ὃ ἑαυτῷ τάναντία λέγων καὶ ἀσύμφωνα; Οὐδ’ ὁπωστιοῦν.

64.21.8 | Nothing, i said, but so that the argument you spoke of might be examined.
Well and rightly, he said. But does it seem right and good to you to set against yourself things that are opposite and disagreeing? Not at all.

64.21.9 | Ἀμούσως γὰρ οὕτός σοι φαίνεται τὴν ἀλήθειαν ὑποκρίνεσθαι; Πάντων

64.21.9 | Does this then seem to you to pretend the truth? Most of all, he said. So μάλιστα, ἔφη. Οὐκ ἄρα ἀποδέχη τὸν τὰς ἀρμονίας ἐντείνοντα πρὸς τὸ ψευδὲς μέλος τῶν λόγων; Οὐδ' ὅπωςτιοῦν.

you will not accept the one who draws the parts of the argument toward falsehood? Not at all.

64.21.10 | Οὐκοῦν οὐδὲ σεαυτοῦ λέγοντος ἀμούσως οὐδ' ὅτιοῦν ἀποδέξη. δοὺς γὰρ ἄσωμάτως ἡμαρτηκέναι τὰς ψυχὰς ἀποσφαλείσας τῆς ἐντολῆς καὶ φράσας διὰ τὴν ἀνομίαν τοὺς χιτῶνας αὐταῖς ὕστερον τοὺς δερματίνους δεδωκέναι τὸν θεόν, ἵνα δίκην νεκροφοροῦσαι παράσχωσι, χιτῶνας τὰ σώματα φράσας, προϊόντος τοῦ λόγου ἐπιλαθόμενος ἅ τὸ πρῶτον ὑπέθου μὴ δύνασθαι καθ' ἑαυτὴν τὴν ψυχὴν ἁμαρτῆσαι λέγεις.

64.21.10 | So you will not accept even yourself speaking without sense or reason. For you said that souls, having sinned without a body and gone astray from the commandment, and having put on tunics because of lawlessness, were later given leather ones by the god, so that, carrying punishment like the dead, they might suffer, having put on tunics for their bodies. But as the argument goes on, you forget what you first said—that the soul cannot sin by itself.

64.21.11 | οὐ πεφυκέναι γὰρ ὅλως πρὸς τοῦτο, ἀλλὰ παραίτιον αὐτῇ παντοίων κακῶν τὸ σῶμα γεγονέναι. ὅθεν πρὸς τὸ μὴ παρορμηθῆναι πρὸς ἀδικίαν αὐτὴν αὐθις, καθάπερ συνέβη καὶ πρόσθεν ὑπὸ τοῦ σώματος, οὕτως εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας αὐτὴν ἔσεσθαι χωρὶς αὐτοῦ,

64.21.11 | For it is not naturally made for this at all, but the body has become blameworthy for all kinds of evils to it. Therefore, so that it is not driven to injustice again, just as happened before because of the body, so it will be without it for all time.

64.21.12 | καίτοι πρῶτον εἰπὼν ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ πρὸ τοῦ σώματος τὴν ψυχὴν, ὁπότε ἔτι μακαρία καὶ ἀναλγὴς ἦν, ἡμαρτηκέναι· παραβάση γὰρ τὴν ἐντολήν, κεκρατυμμένης ἤδη διὰ τὴν πρὸς τὸν ὄφιν πειθῶ τῆς ἁμαρτίας, δεσμὸν αὐτῇ τὸ σῶμα δεδόσθαι τιμωρόν.

64.21.12 | And yet, first saying that the soul sinned in paradise before the body, when it was still blessed and without pain; for it broke the commandment, already mixed because of its persuasion toward sin by the serpent, the body was given to it as a punishing bond.

64.21.13 | ὥστε ἢ τὸ πρότερον ἢ τὸ ὕστερον οὐκ ὀρθῶς ἔχει. ἢτοι γὰρ πρὸ σώματος ἡμαρτε καὶ οὐδέν τι μᾶλλον κἂν μὴ λάβῃ σῶμα ἁμαρτησεται, καὶ μάταιος ἡ περὶ τοῦ μὴ ἀνίστασθαι τὸ σῶμα

64.21.13 | So either the earlier or the later is not right. For either it sinned before the body and will sin no more even if it does not get a body, and the talk about the body not rising is pointless; or it sinned after the περισσολογία· ἢ μετὰ σώματος, καὶ οὐ δύνανται σῶμα οἱ χιτῶνες νομίζεσθαι εἶναι οἱ δερμάτινοι.

body, and the leather ones cannot be thought to be the body's tunics.

64.21.14 | εὐρίσκεται γὰρ πρὸ τῆς κατασκευῆς αὐτῶν ἀθετήσας ὁ ἄνθρωπος τὴν θεῖαν ἐντολήν· οὗ καὶ χάριν οἱ χιτῶνες κατασκευάζονται, τὴν γύμνωσιν τὴν ἀπὸ τῆς ἁμαρτίας αὐτῶν προσγενομένην καλύψοντες.

64.21.14 | For man is found to have broken the divine command before their making; and for this reason the tunics are made, covering the nakedness that came from their sin.

64.21.15 | ἀλλὰ πότερον πείθω σε καὶ ὁρᾷς ὡς ἑαυτῷ μαχόμενα ὑπέθου καὶ σοὶ τοῦτο γεγένηται σαφές ἢ οὐδέπω μανθάνεις, ὦ Ἀγλαοφῶν, ἔφην, ὃ λέγω;

64.21.15 | But do I persuade you and you see that I am fighting against myself and this has clearly happened to you, or do you not yet understand, Aglaophon, what I said?

64.21.16 | Μανθάνω, ἔφη, καὶ οὐδέν τι δέομαι δεύτερον ἀκοῦσαι, ἀλλὰ ἔλαθον ἑμαυτὸν οὐκ ὀρθῶς εἰπών. ἀνάκη γὰρ μοι δεδωκότε τοὺς δερματίνου χιτῶνας εἶναι τὰ σώματα ὁμολογεῖν, καὶ πρὶν εἰς τὸ σῶμα τὴν ψυχὴν ἐληλυθῆναι ἡμαρτηκέναι,

64.21.16 | “I understand,” he said, “and I don’t need to hear anything else, but I was wrong about myself in what I said. For it is necessary to admit that the bodies are the leather tunics given to me, and that the soul sinned before coming into the body.”

64.21.17 | ἐνθ’ ὧν πρὸ τῆς κατασκευῆς αὐτῶν ἡ παράβασις ἐγένετο, — διὰ τὴν παράβασιν γὰρ οἱ χιτῶνες αὐτοῖς κατασκευάζονται καὶ οὐχ ἡ παράβασις διὰ τοὺς χιτῶνας γίγνεται — καὶ ταύτης ταύτης τῆς ὁμολογίας συγκαταίθεσθαι ὡς οὐ τὸ σῶμα τοῦτο παραίτιον κακίας ἐστίν, ἀλλ’ αὐτὴ ἡ ψυχὴ ἐν ἑαυτῇ

64.21.17 | There, before their making, the sin happened — for the tunics are made because of the sin, and the sin does not happen because of the tunics — and to agree with this very admission that it is not this body that is guilty of evil, but the soul itself within itself.

64.21.18 | διὸ κἄκ μὴ λάβῃ τὸ σῶμα, ἁμαρτψεται, ἐπειδήπερ καὶ πρόσθεν ἡμαρτεν χωρὶς σώματος. καὶ ἀνόντην τὸ

64.21.18 | Therefore, even if the body does not take sin, it will sin, since it sinned before without a body. And it is pointless to λέγειν ἀναβιῶναι μὴ δύνασθαι τὸ σῶμα διὰ τοῦτο, ἵνα μὴ παραίτιον τῇ say that the body cannot come back to life because of this, so that it is not guilty.

64.21.19 | ψυχῇ τοῦ ἁμαρτῆσαι γενηθῇ. ἁμαρτῆσεται γάρ, ὥσπερ καὶ πρὸ τοῦ σώματος ἤμαρτε, οὕτως καὶ μετὰ τὴν τοῦ σώματος ἀπόθεσιν, κἂν μὴ αὖθις τὸ σῶμα ἀπολάβῃ. ὅθεν ἀνάγκη μοι διὰ ταῦτα μήτε ἑμαυτοῦ μήτε ἄλλου ἀποξέεσθαι λέγοντος ἡ τοὺς δερματίνους χιτῶνας εἶναι τὰ σώματα. εἰ δὲ ἀποδεξαίμην, ὁμολογεῖν χρή με καὶ τὰ εἰρημένα.

64.21.19 | That the soul becomes guilty of sin. For it will sin, just as it sinned before the body, so also after the body is laid aside, even if it does not receive the body again. Therefore, it is necessary for me because of these things neither to be angry at myself nor at others when I say that the bodies are leather tunics. But if I accepted this, I would also have to agree to the things said before.

Section 22

64.22.1 | 22. Τί δὲ, οὐχὶ κάκεῖνο, ἔφην, ὦ Ἀγλαοφῶν, δοκεῖ σοι μὴ ὀρθῶς ἔχειν; Τὸ ποῖον; Τὸ λέγειν, ἦν δὲ ἐγώ, δεσμὸν καὶ πέδας τὸ σῶμα μεμνηχανῆσθαι κατὰ κατὰ τῆς ψυχῆς, καὶ ὅτι καὶ ὁ τροφῆτης »δεσμίους γῆς« ἔφη ἡμᾶς διὰ τοῦτο καὶ ὁ Δαυίδ »πεπεδημένους«.

64.22.1 | 22. But what, didn't I say that too, Aglaophon, seems to you to be not right? What is it? I said that the body is a chain and shackles, made against the soul, and that the feeder also said we are "prisoners of the earth" because of this, and David said we are "bound."

64.22.2 | Καὶ ὅς· οὐκ ἔχω σοι προχείρως ἀποκρίνασθαι, ἔφη. ἀλλὰ τί ἄλλω οὐ διαλέγῃ;

64.22.2 | And he said, 'I do not have an answer ready for you.' But why don't you talk with someone else?

64.22.3 | Καὶ ἐγώ — ἡσθόμην γὰρ ἐρυθριᾶν αὐτόν, φεύγοντα ἐλεγχθῆναι τῷ λόγῳ — γάρ με κατὰ φθόνον ἐπιχειρεῖν σε ἐλέγξαι, ἔφην, καὶ μὴ τὸ προκείμενον καταφανὲς φιλονεικεῖν ποιῆσαι; ἀλλ', ὦ ἀγαθέ, μὴ ἀποκάμῃς κάμῃς ἀνερωτώμενος.

64.22.3 | And I—because I noticed him blush, avoiding being proven wrong by the argument—I said, 'Are you trying to prove me wrong out of envy, and not to clearly argue the main point? But, good sir, don't give up asking questions and don't get tired.'

64.22.4 | ὁρῆς γὰρ ὡς οὐ περὶ μικρῶν ἡμῖν

64.22.4 | You see that these words are not είσιν οἱ λόγοι, ἀλλ' οὖν τίνα τρόπον χρῆ πεπιστευκέναι· καὶ γὰρ οὐδὲν οἶμαι τοσοῦτον κακὸν ἀνθρώπῳ γενέσθαι ὅσον ἀπὸ τῶν ἀναγκαίων, ὅποταν ψευδῇ περὶ αὐτῶν δοξάζοι.

about small things for us, but about what kind of trust we must have. For I think nothing is so bad for a person as when they believe false things about what is necessary.

64.22.5 | ἴθι οὖν προθύμως πρὸς τὰ ἐρωτώμενα· ἀποσάφει καὶ ἐάν τί σοι λέγειν ἀληθὲς μὴ δοκῶ, μῆλλον τῆς ἀληθείας φροντίσας ἢ ἐμοῦ, ἔλεγξον. μεῖζον γὰρ ἀγαθὸν τὸ ἐλεγχθῆναι τοῦ ἐλέγξει νομίω, ὅσῳ μεῖζόν ἐστι τὸ αὐτὸν ἀπαλλαγῆναι κακοῦ τοῦ ἄλλον ἀπαλλάξει.

64.22.5 | Go then eagerly to the questions asked. Even if you think I am not saying something true, test it, caring more for the truth than for me. For I think it is a greater good to be proven wrong than to prove someone else wrong, just as it is a greater good to be freed from harm than to free another.

64.22.6 | φέρε οὖν παραλλήλους παραβάλλοντες τοὺς λόγους σκεπτώμεθα εἴ τι διοίσουσιν ἀλλήλων. καὶ γὰρ τυγχάνει περὶ ὧν ἀμφισβητοῦμεν οὐ πάνυ σμικρὰ ὄντα, ἀλλὰ περὶ ὧν εἰδέναι τε κάλλιον, μὴ εἰδέναι τε αἰσχρόν. οὐκοῦν σὺ μὲν οὐ νομίζεις ἀναβιώναι τὸ σῶμα, νομίζω δὲ ἐγώ. Πάνυ μὲν οὖν, ἔφη, καὶ δι' ἃ εἴρηκα.

64.22.6 | So then, let us bring together and compare the words side by side and see if they explain each other. For it happens that what we argue about is not very small, but things it is better to know and shameful not to know. So you do not think the body comes back to life, but I do think it does.
“Very much so,” he said, “and for the reasons I have said.”

64.22.7 | Καὶ σὺ δὲ ἦν δὲ ἐγώ, δεσμὸν αὐτὸ καὶ φυλακὴν καὶ σῆμα καὶ ἄχθος καὶ πέδας εἶναι ἔφης, ἐγὼ δὲ οὐ φημί. Ἀληθεῖ, ἔφη, μοι λέγεις.

64.22.7 | And you said it was a bond and a guard and a sign and a burden and chains, but I do not say that. “You speak truly,” he said to me.

64.22.8 | Καὶ μὴν καὶ ἀκολασίας καὶ πλάδης καὶ λύπης καὶ θυμοῦ καὶ συλλήβδην τῶν ἄλλων ἀπάντων εἶναι παραίτιον αὐτὸ κακῶν ἔφης, ἃ ἐμποδίζουσιν ἡμῶν τὴν πρὸς τὸ κάλλιον ὁρμὴν τῆς χυχῆς, μὴ ἔῶντα τῶν ὄντως ὄντων εἰς κατάληψιν ἡμᾶς καὶ γνώσιν παρελθεῖν.

64.22.8 | And indeed you said it was the cause of shamelessness and recklessness and pain and anger and, in short, of all other evils, because it blocks our drive toward what is better, not letting us reach true understanding and knowledge.

64.22.9 | κἄν γὰρ ἐπιχειρήσωμεν θηρεῦσαί τι τῶν ὄντων, αἰεὶ παρεμπίπτων ζόφος ζοφοῖ τὸ λογισμὸν, μὴ ἐπιτρέπων ἡμᾶς ἐπισκοπῆσαι τὸ ἀληθὲς τρανῶς. ἀπάτης μὲν γὰρ ἡ διὰ τῶν ὠτῶν ἡμῶν πεπλήρωται σκέψις, ὡς ἔφη, ἀπάτης δὲ καὶ ἡ διὰ τῆς ὀψεως, ἀπάτης καὶ ἡ διὰ τῶν ἄλλων αἰσθήσεων.

64.22.9 | For if we try to hunt down something real, darkness always falls upon our thinking, not letting us clearly see the truth. For, as he said, our thought is full of deception through our ears, and also deception through sight, and deception through the other senses.

64.22.10 | Ὅρα, ἔφη, ὦ Εὐβούλιε, ὡς ἐγὼ ἔτοιμός εἰμί σε ἐπαινεῖν, ὁπόταν ὀρθῶς διασαφῇς τοὺς λόγους;

64.22.10 | “You see,” he said, “Eubulides, how I am ready to praise you whenever you explain the words clearly.”

Section 23

64.23.1 | 23. Ἄρα οὖν, ἵνα δὴ με κα μᾶλλον ἐπαινεσης, εἴ δεσμὸς τὸ σῶμα καθ’ ὁμᾶς δοκεῖ, οὐ δύναται κακίας υπαίτιον εἶναι νομίζεσθαι τῇ ψυχῇ, καὶ ἀδικίας ἔτι, ἀλλὰ σωφροσύνης ἀντιστρόφως καὶ παιδείας.

64.23.1 | So then, in order that you might praise me even more, the body seems to be a kind of chain for us, and it cannot be thought to be guilty of evil or injustice toward the soul, but rather the opposite, of self-control and education.

64.23.2 | ὧδε δὲ σκόπει· οὕτω γὰρ ἂν μᾶλλον ἀκολουθήσειας. ποῖ ἄγομεν τοὺς τὰ κάμνοντας; οὐ παρὰ τοὺς ἰατρούς; Δῆλον, ἔφη.

64.23.2 | Look here; for in this way you will follow more closely. Where do we take those who are sick? Not to the doctors? “Clearly,” he said.

64.23.3 | Ποῖ δὲ τοὺς ἀμαρτάνοντας; οὐ παρὰ τοὺς δικαστάς; Ἀνάγκη. Οὐκοῦν δίκην ὧν ἔδρασαν δώσοντας, ἔφην, δικαίως; Ναί. Τὸ δὲ δίκαιον πάγκαλον; Ὅμολόγει. Ὁ δὲ δικαίως κρίνων καλῶς ποιεῖ· δικαίως γὰρ κρίνει; Συνέφη. Τὸ τε καλὸν ὠφέλιμον; Φαίνεται.

64.23.3 | Where do we take those who make mistakes? Not to the judges? It is necessary. So, I said, those who give punishment for what they did, do they do it justly? Yes. And justice is beautiful? He agreed. And the one who judges justly does well; does he judge justly? He agreed. And the beautiful is useful? It seems so.

64.23.4 | Ὡφελοῦνται ἄρα οἱ κρινόμενοι. ἀναιρεῖται γὰρ αὐτῶν ταῖς βασάνοις ἡ πονηρία κωλυομένη, καθάπερ καὶ πρὸς τῶν ἱατρῶν τομαῖς καὶ φαρμάκοις αἱ νόσοι. τὸ γὰρ ἀδικοῦντα διδόναι δίκην ἐπανορθοῦσθαι τὴν ψυχὴν ἐστὶ, τὴν μεγάλην νόσον ἀδικίαν ἀποβάλλοντα. Ὡμολόγει.

64.23.4 | So those who are judged are helped. For their wickedness is taken away by punishments, just like diseases are by cuts and medicines from doctors. To give punishment to the one who does wrong is to fix the soul, throwing away the great sickness of injustice. He agreed.

64.23.5 | Τί δέ; οὐ κατὰ ἀναλογίαν τῶν ἀμαρτηθέντων τὰς κολάσεις τοῖς κολαζομένοις ζομένοις δικαίως προσφέρεσθαι ψῆς, καθάπερ καὶ τοῖς ἱατρευομένοις κατὰ ἀναλογίαν τῶν τραυμάτων τὰς χειρουργίας; Ἐπένευσεν.

64.23.5 | What about this? Are not the punishments rightly given to those being punished in proportion to their mistakes, just like surgeries are given in proportion to wounds to those being healed? He nodded.

64.23.6 | Οὐκοῦν ὁ μὲν δράσας ἄξια θανάτου τιμᾶται θανάτῳ τὴν δίκην, ὁ δὲ πληγῶν πληγαῖς, ὁ δὲ δεσμῶν δεμοῖς; Ὡμολόγει.

64.23.6 | So, the one who did something worthy of death is punished with death as justice, the one who caused wounds with wounds, the one who bound with chains? He agreed.

64.23.7 | Ζημιοῦται δὲ ὁ ὀφλήσας, ἔφην, δεσμοῖς ἢ πληγαῖς ἢ ἄλλη τινὶ τοιαύτῃ τιμωρίᾳ, ὅπως παύσῃται μεταγνοῦς τοῦ ἀδικεῖν, ξύλον καθάπερ διεστραμμένον βασάνοις εὐθυνόμενος; Ἀληθέστατα, ἔφη, λέγεις.

64.23.7 | The one who wronged is punished, I said, with chains or wounds or some similar penalty, so that he stops regretting doing wrong, like a bent piece of wood straightened by torture? He said, 'You speak most truly.'

64.23.8 | Τιμωρεῖται γὰρ αὐτὸν οὐ τοῦ παρεληλυθότος ἐγκλήματος ἕνεκα ὁ δικαστής, ἀλλὰ τοῦ μέλλοντος, ὅπως μὴ καὶ αὐτίς ποιήσῃ τοῦτο. Δῆλον, ἔφη.

64.23.8 | For the judge punishes him not because of the wrong already done, but because of the one about to come, so that he does not do it again. 'It is clear,' he said.

64.23.9 | Ὁ γὰρ δεσμὸς αὐτῷ δῆλον ὥς τὴν

64.23.9 | For the chain shows clearly that it πρὸς τὸ ἀδικεῖν ὁρμὴν ἀναιρεῖ, μὴ ἐπιτρέπων ποιεῖν ἃ θέλει. Ἀληθές.

destroys his urge to do wrong, not allowing him to do what he wants. True.

64.23.10 | Οὐκοῦν εἴργεται τοῦ ἁμαρτάνειν, τῶν δεσμῶν μὴ ἐώντων ἐλευθεριάζοντα χρῆσθαι ταῖς ἡδοναῖς, ἀλλὰ συστελλόντων καὶ τὸ δίκαιον διδασκόντων τιμᾶν ἔστ' ἂν αὐτὸς μάθῃ νουθετούμενος σωφρονεῖν. Φαίνεται, ἔλη.

64.23.10 | So he is kept from sinning, because the chains do not let him freely enjoy pleasures, but instead hold him back and teach him to honor what is right, if he himself learns self-control when warned. It seems so, he said.

64.23.11 | Οὐδὲ τοίνυν παραίτιος ὁ δεσμός γίγνεται τοῦ πλημμελεῖν. Ἔιοκε. Σωφρονίζει γὰρ καὶ ποιεῖ δικαιοτέρους ἀλεξιφάρμακον ὦν ἡ ψυχῆς, αὐστρὸν μὲν καὶ δηκτικόν, ἀλλ' ἰατικόν. Δῆλον, ἔλη.

64.23.11 | So then the chain is not to blame for the wrongdoing. Let it be so. For it teaches self-control and makes people more just, being a cure for the soul, harsh and biting, but healing. It is clear, he said.

64.23.12 | Τί γάρ; φέρε, ἐξετάζωμεν πάλιν τὰ ἔμπροσθε. οὐ δεσμὸν τὸ σῶμα διὰ τὴν παράβασιν δέδωκας εἶναι τῆς ψυχῆς; Καὶ δίδωμι, ἔφη.

64.23.12 | What then? Bring it, let us examine again the earlier things. Did you not say that the body is a chain for the soul because of wrongdoing? And I do give that, he said.

64.23.13 | Ἀμαρτάειν δὲ ψυχὴν μετὰ μετὰ σώματος, εἴπερ τὸ μοιχᾶσθαι. φονεύειν τε καὶ ἀσεβεῖν ἁμαρτία σοι δοκεῖ, ἃ μετὰ τοῦ σώματος ἡ ψυχὴ ποιεῖ; Ἐπένευσεν.

64.23.13 | Does the soul sin along with the body, if adultery is sin? Does killing and being impious seem to you to be sin, which the soul does along with the body? He nodded.

64.23.14 | Ἀλλὰ τὸν δεσμώτην ὡμολογήσαμεν μὴ δύνασθαι ἀδικεῖν; Ὁμολογήσαμεν, ἔφη. Κωλύεσθαι δὲ ἀλγμνόμενον ὑπὸ τῶν δεσμῶν; Ναί. Ἐπένευσεν.

64.23.14 | But did we agree that the prisoner cannot do wrong? We agreed, he said. And is he stopped by being hurt by the chains? Yes. He nodded.

64.23.15 | Ἀλλὰ ἁμαρτάνομεν ὄντες ἐν

64.23.15 | But do we sin while being in the σαρκί, ὁμοδοξούσης ἡμῖν εἰς τοῦτο τῆς σαρκός; Ἀμαρτάνομεν, ἔφη.

flesh, the flesh agreeing with us in this? We do sin, he said.

64.23.16 | Ὁ δὲ οὐ δύναται ἀμαρτάνειν; Καὶ ἐνταῦθα ἐπένευσεν. Ἄγχεται γάρ; Μὴ ἐώμενος ὑπὸ τοῦ δεσμοῦ;

64.23.16 | But can he not sin? And here he nodded. For is he troubled? Not being free from the chain?

64.23.17 | Ἀλλὰ τὸ μὲν σῶμα πρὸς τὸ ἀμαρτῆσαι συνεργόν; Ναί. Εἴργει δὲ ὁ δεσμός;

64.23.17 | But the body is a partner to sinning? Yes. Does the chain stop it?

64.23.18 | Οὐκ ἄρα τὸ σῶμα δεσμός, οὔτε κατὰ σὲ οὔτε κατὰ κατὰ ἄλλον, ἔφην, ὦ Ἀλγαοφῶν, ἀλλὰ πρὸς ἐκάτερον τῇ ψυχῇ συνεργόν, εἴτε πρὸς τὸ ἀγαθὸν εἴτε πρὸς τὸ κακόν. Συνεχώρει.

64.23.18 | So the body is not a chain, neither against you nor against another, I said, O Algaophon, but a partner with the soul toward each, either toward good or toward evil. It goes along.

Section 24

64.24.1 | 24. Οὐκοῦν οὕτω δὴ τούτων ἐχόντων ἀπολόγησαι, ὦ Ἀγλαοξῶν, πρὸς ἃ πρῶτον ὑπέθου. ἔφης γὰρ δεσμὸν καὶ εἰρκτὴν καὶ πέδας τὸ σῶμα τῆς ψυχῆς ἐν τοῖς ἔμπροσθεν. καὶ ὁρᾷς ὥς οὐ συνάδουσι τούτοις ἃ ἔρης;

64.24.1 | So then, with these things being so, explain yourself, O Aglaoxon, about what you said first. For you said the body is a chain and a prison and fetters for the soul before. And do you see how these things do not agree with what you said?

64.24.2 | πῶς γὰρ σὺάδοιεν, εἴπερ γε ἀνάγκη, ὦ ἄριστε, δεσμὸν μὲν τὴν σάρκα νομίζεσθαι, τὴν δὲ ψυχὴν συνεργῶ πρὸς ἀδικίαν χρῆσθαι καὶ συμπράκτορι τῷ δεσμῷ, δπερ ἀδόνατον;

64.24.2 | For how could they agree, if it must be, best one, that the flesh is called a chain, but the soul is used as a partner in wrongdoing and a helper to the chain, which is impossible?

64.24.3 | εἰ γὰρ διὰ τὴν ἀμαρτίαν βασανιστήριον ἐδόθη, πρὸς τὸ ἀλγυνθεῖαν εἰς τὸ τιμᾶν τὸν θεὸν παιδευθῆναι τὴν

64.24.3 | For if punishment was given because of sin, to train the soul by pain toward honoring the god, how does the ψυχὴν, πῶς συνεργεῖ καὶ συναγωνίζεται τὸ σῶμα αὐτῇ πρὸς τὸ ἀδικεῖν; δεσμοὶ γὰρ καὶ φυλακαὶ καὶ πέδαι καὶ συλλήβδην αἱ τοιαῦται πάσαι πρὸς ἀπανόρθωδιν τιμωροὶ μηχαναὶ ἐφεκτικαὶ τοῦ ἀδικεῖν καὶ ἁμαρτάνειν τοῖς κολαζομένοις γίνονται, οὐ γὰρ ὅπως ὁ ἀδικήσας ἀδικήσῃ πλέον, body work together and compete with it in doing wrong? For chains and guards and fetters and all such things become strict punishers and holding devices against wrongdoing and sinning for those being punished, not so that the wrongdoer does more wrong, 64.24.4 | συνεργὸς αὐτῷ πρὸς τὸ ἀδικεῖν ὁ δεσμὸς δίδεται, ἀλλ' ὅπως λήξῃ τοῦ ἀδικεῖν, βασανιζόμενος διὰ τῶν δεσμῶν. καὶ γὰρ οἱ δικασταὶ ταύτῃ πεδοῦσι τοὺς φαύλους.

64.24.4 | the chain is given as a partner to him in doing wrong, but so that he may stop doing wrong, being punished through the chains. For even the judges bind the wicked with these.

64.24.5 | κωλύονται γὰρ, κἂν μὴ βούλωνται, κακοποιεῖν ὑπὸ τῶν δεσμῶν· ἐλευθεριαζόντων δὲ κακουργεῖν ἐστὶ καὶ ζώντων ἀφυσάκτως, ἀλλ' οὐ πεπεδημένων.

64.24.5 | For they are stopped from doing evil, even if they do not want to, by the chains; but those who are free do evil and live wildly, but not bound.

64.24.6 | ὁ δὲ ἄνθρωπος πρῶτον μὲν ἐφόνευσε κατὰ τὸν Κάϊν, ἠήξήθη πρὸς ἀπιστίαν, εἰδώλοις προσέσχεν, ἀπεστάτησε θεοῦ. καὶ πῶς αὐτῷ δεσμὸς τὸ σῶμα ἐδόθη; ἢ πῶς ὁ θεὸς μετὰ τὸ πρὸ σώματος ἀνομῆσαι τὸν ἄνθρωπον συνεργὸν πρὸς ἀδικίαν αὐτῷ μείζονα τὸ σῶμα ἔδοτο;

64.24.6 | But the man first killed according to Cain, he was inclined toward disbelief, he worshiped idols, he rebelled against god. And how was the body given as a chain to him? Or how did god, after the lawless act before the body, give to the man a partner in wrongdoing greater than the body?

64.24.7 | πῶς δὲ καὶ μετὰ τὴν κατασκευὴν τοῦ δεσμοῦ τό «ἰδοὺ, πρὸ προσώπου σου» λέγεται «τέρεικα τὴν ζωὴν καὶ τὸν θάνατον, ἔκλεξαι τὴν ζωὴν, τὸ ἀγαθὸν καὶ τὸ πονηρόν, ἔκλεξαι τὸ ἀγαθόν» καὶ «ἐὰν θέλητε καὶ εἰσακούσητέ μου». ταῦτα γὰρ ὡς αὐτεξουσιάζοντι καὶ οὐχ ὡς ὑπὸ δεσμῶ καὶ ἀνάγκῃ ἀγομένῳ ἐρρήθη.

64.24.7 | But how, even after the making of the chain, is it said, "Look, I set before you life and death, choose life, good and evil, choose the good," and "If you want, listen to me"? For these things were said as to one having free will, and not as to one being led by chains and force.

64.24.8 | ὥστε ἐκ παντὸς συνίστασθαι μήτε πέδας ἢ φυλακὴν ἢ δεσμοὺς & δεῖν; νοῦν τὸ σῶμα μήτε δεσμώτιδας γῆς διὰ ταῦτα ψυχᾶς, χοῖκαῖς κατακρίνοντος αὐτάς τοῦ θεοῦ δεθῆναι πέδαις.

64.24.8 | So from all this it follows that neither chains nor prison nor bonds should make the body obey the mind, nor should souls be judged by the earth's guards and tied with god's chains because of this.

64.24.9 | πῶς γάρ, ὁπότε μὴ δύναται ἀποδειχθῆναι τοῦτο; ἄτοπον δὲ κάκεῖνο προφανῶς τὸ οἶσθαι τὸ σῶμα ἐν τῇ κατὰ τοὺς αἰῶνας διαγωγῇ μὴ συνέσεσθαι τῇ ψυχῇ διὰ δεσμὸν αὐτὸ καὶ πέδας εἶναι, ἵνα μὴ αἰώνιοι Πιώμεθα κατάκριτοι δεσμῶται κατὰ αὐτοὺς φθορᾶς, ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ τοῦ φωτὸς ἐσόμενοι.

64.24.9 | For how, whenever it is not able to be shown, can this be? And that is clearly strange, to think that the body in its life through the ages is not connected with the soul by chains and bonds, so that we might not be forever condemned prisoners tied by those chains of decay, and so be in the kingdom of light.

64.24.10 | λελυμένου γὰρ ἱκανῶς καὶ ἐξελεγχθέντος τοῦ λόγου, ἐν ᾧ »δεσμὸν τῆς ψυχῆς« ὥρισαντο εἶναι τὴν σάρκα, λέλυται καὶ τό »ἵνα μὴ δεσμῶται δε' αὐτὴν ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ τοῦ φωτὸς — ἣν ἀπολαμβάνωμεν — ἐσόμεθα, διὰ τοῦτο οὐκ ἀναστήδεται«.

64.24.10 | For the word has been fully loosened and examined, in which they decided that the "bond of the soul" is some flesh; and it is also loosened that "so it will not be bound in the kingdom of light — if we receive it — we will be, and for this reason it is not rejected."

Section 25

64.25.1 | Ποταπὸν γὰρ λοιπὸν εἰς πειθῶ τοῖς δυσχεραίνουσιν ἕτερον ἀλήθευμα χρὴ δεικνύναι τῶν εἰρημένων ἀναρέστερον, οὗ ἀνέξονται; ἀλλὰ ταύτην μὲν αὐτῶν τὴν φιλονεικίαν καὶ ἐκ τούτων ἂν τις καὶ ἐξ ἐτέρων ἐλέγχοι πλειόνων.

64.25.1 | For what other truth then should be shown to persuade those who are hard to please, more convincing than what has been said? Will they endure it? But this very quarrelsomeness of theirs, and from these things, one might also find fault with even more from others.

64.25.2 | ἀποδείξομεν γὰρ ἐν τοῖς ἐξῆς προβαίνοντος τοῦ λόγου φύσεως ἀληθείαις καὶ οὐκ εἰκασίαις μήτε τὸν Ἱερεμίαν »δεσμίους« ἡμᾶς »γῆς« διὰ τὴν πρὸν τὸ σῶμα κοινωνίαν εἰρηκέναι μήτε

64.25.2 | For we will show in the following, going forward with true facts and not guesses, that Jeremiah did not say we are "prisoners" of the "earth" because of our earlier sharing with the body, nor did David τὸν Δαυ δ κατὰ τοῦτο »πεπεδημένους«. ἄξιον γὰρ καὶ ταῦτα προφέρειν ἐν οἷς μάλιστα φαίνονται διαπίπτοντες.

say we are “bound” in this way. For it is also fitting to bring these up especially where they seem to fail most.

64.25.3 | περὶ μὲν οὖν τῶν δερματίνων χιτῶνων καὶ ὅτι πρὸ τῆς κατασκευῆς αὐτῶν οἱ πρωτόπλαστοι διῆγον μετὰ σώματος, ἀθανασίας ἀπολαύοντες, ἔτι τε καὶ ὡς οὐ δύναται τὸ σῶμα δεσμὸς καὶ εἰρκτὴ νομίζεσθαι, τὰ προσήκοντα εἰπὼν, ὧ ἄνδρες δικασταί (δικαστὰς ὁμᾶς τῶν λόγων, ὧ κράτιστε Θεόφιλε, καλῶ), τρέψομαι λοιπὸν ἐπὶ τὰ ἀκόλουθα, καθάπερ ὑπεσχόμην, τῶν προκειμένων, ἵν' εὐκρινέστερον ἰδωμεν ὃ βουσόμεθα.

64.25.3 | About the leather coats and that before they were made, the first humans lived with their bodies, enjoying immortality, and also that the body cannot be thought of as a bond or prison, having said what belongs to this, men judges (I call all judges of words, most noble Theophilus), I will turn now to the following things, just as I promised, about what has been set before us, so that we may see more clearly what we want.

Section 26

64.26.1 | 26. Ὁ τῶν ὅλων δημιουργὸς θεός, ἐπειδὴ τὸ πᾶν εὐτάκτως συνεστήσατο καθάπερ μεγάλην πόλιν καὶ διεκόσμησε προστάσων τῷ λόγῳ, ἕκαστόν τε αὐτῷ συμφώνως ἥρμοστο στοιχεῖον καὶ πάντα ζῶων πεπλήρωτο διαφοραῖς, ἵνα τελείως ὁ κόσμος εἰς κάλλος ἀύξηθῇ, παντοίας φύσεως ζωοτοκήσας μορφάς, ἄστρα μὲν κατὰ τὸν οὐρανὸν καὶ πτηνὰ κατὰ τὸν ἀέρα, τετράποδα δὲ κατὰ τὴν γῆν καὶ νηκτὰ κατὰ τὸ ὕδωρ, τελευταῖον τὸν ἄνθρωπον, προετοιμάσας ὡς οἰκίαν αὐτῷ καλλίστην τὸ πᾶν, πᾶν,

64.26.1 | The creator god of all, since the whole was ordered well like a great city and arranged by commanding with reason, fitted each element to it in harmony, and filled all living things with differences, so that the world might grow completely into beauty, giving birth to many kinds of living forms: stars in the sky, birds in the air, four-footed animals on the earth, and swimming creatures in the water, and last of all, man, preparing the whole as the finest home for him, the whole,

64.26.2 | τῆς ἰδίας εἰκόνος ἐμφερὲς εἰς τὸν κόσμον εἰσήγαγεν, ἄγαλμα ὡς ἐν ναῷ καλῷ φαιδρὸν ταῖς ἑαυτοῦ χερσὶ κατασκευάσας.

64.26.2 | brought into the world a likeness of his own image, a bright statue like in a beautiful temple, made by his own hands.

64.26.3 | ἡπέστατο γὰρ ὅτι πάντως ὅπερ ἂν τῇ τεχνήσεται χειρί, ἐξ ἀνάγκης ἔσται

64.26.3 | for it was clear that whatever a hand makes by skill will necessarily be ἀθάνατον, ἅτε ἀθανασίας ἔργον ὄν.

immortal, since it is the work of immortality.

64.26.4 | ἀθανασαὶ γὰρ ἀθάνατα τὰ ἀθάνατα γέγνηται, καθάπερ καὶ τὰ κακὰ κακίᾳ κακὰ καὶ τὰ ἄδικοι ἀδικίᾳ δίκαια. οὐ γὰρ δικαιοπραγεῖν ἔργον τὸ ἀδικεῖν ἀλλὰ ἀδικίας, οὐδ' αὖ ἀδικίας ἀντιστρόφως τὸ δικαιοπραγεῖν ἔργον ἀλλὰ δικαιοσύνης, ὥσπερ οὐδὲ ἀφθαρσίας τὸ φθείρεσθαι ποιεῖν ἀλλὰ φθορᾶς, οὐδὲ φθορᾶς τὸ ἀθανατίζειν ἀλλ' ἀφθαρσίας.

64.26.4 | for immortal things become immortal by immortality, just as bad things become bad by badness, and unjust things by injustice become just. for doing wrong is not the work of justice but of injustice, and not the other way around, doing right is not the work of injustice but of justice, just as corruption does not make something immortal but destruction, and destruction does not make something immortal but corruption.

64.26.5 | σίας. καὶ συλλήβδην οἷον ἂν ἦ τὸ ποιοῦν, κατὰ τὸν αὐτὸν οὕτως λόγον τοιοῦτο καὶ τὸ ποιούμενον ἐξ ἀνάγκης ἀπεργάζεσθαι συμβαίνει.

64.26.5 | and altogether, i think, the maker and the thing made must necessarily be produced in the same way according to the same reason.

64.26.6 | ὁ τε δεὸς ἀθανασία καὶ ζωὴ καὶ ἀφθαρσία, ἔργον δὲ ἄνθρωπος θεοῦ. πᾶν δὲ τὸ ὑπὸ ἀθανασίας ἐργασθὲν ἀθάνατον· ἀθάνατος ἄρα ὁ ἄνθρωπος. διὸ δὴ τὸν μὲν ἄνθρωπον αὐτούργησεν αὐτός, τὰ δὲ λοιπὰ γένη τῶν ζώων ἀέρι καὶ γῇ καὶ ὕδατι προσέταξε φέρειν.

64.26.6 | god is immortality and life and incorruptibility, and man is the work of god. everything made by immortality is immortal; so man is immortal. therefore he himself made man by his own work, but he ordered the other kinds of animals to be carried by air and earth and water.

64.26.7 | ἄνθρωπος δὲ ἀληθέστατα λέγεται κατὰ φύσιν οὔτε ψυχὴ χωρὶς σώματος οὔτ' αὖ σῶμα χωρὶς ψυχῆς, ἀλλὰ τὸ ἐκ συστάσεως ψυχῆς καὶ σώματος εἰς μίαν τὴν τοῦ καλοῦ μορφήν συντεθέν. ὅθεν ἐντεῦθεν ἀθάνατον δὴ τὸν ἄνθρωπον γεγενῆσθαι φαίνεται, φθορᾶς τε ἀπάσης καὶ νόσων ἐκτός.

64.26.7 | man is truly called by nature neither soul without body nor body without soul, but the one formed from the joining of soul and body into one beautiful shape. so from this it seems that man has become immortal, free from all decay and disease.

64.26.8 | μάθοι δ' ἂν τις τοῦτο καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς γραφῆς ἱκανῶς. ἐπὶ μὲν γὰρ τῶν ἄλλων, ὅποσα χρόνων μετακοσμοῦνται διαστολαῖς ἡβῶνατα καὶ γηράσκοντα, »ἐξαγαγέτω« λέγεται» τὰ ὕδατα ἐρπετὰ ψυχῶν ζωσῶν καὶ πετεινὰ πετόμενα ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς κατὰ τὸ στερέωμα τοῦ οὐρανοῦ« καὶ »ἐξαγαγέτω ἡ γῆ ψυχὴν ζῶσαν κατὰ γένος, τετράποδα καὶ ἐπετὰ καὶ θηρία τῆς γῆς κατὰ γένος«

64.26.8 | one could also learn this well enough from writing. for about the others, however many years they live through changes, growing up and growing old, it is said, "let the waters bring forth living souls of creeping things and flying birds on the earth according to the firmness of the sky," and "let the earth bring forth living souls according to kind, four-footed and winged and wild beasts of the earth according to kind."

64.26.9 | ἐπὶ δὲ τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ὡσαύτως ἐκείνοις οὐκέτι, ἐξαγαγέτω ἡ γῆ ἢ ἐξαγαγέτω τὰ ὕδατα ἢ φωστῆρες, ἀλλὰ »ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον κκτ' εἰκόνα καὶ καθ' ὁμοίωσιν ἡμετέραν, καὶ ἀρχέτωσαν τῶν ἐχθύων τῆς θαλάσσης καὶ τῶν πετεινῶν τοῦ οὐρανοῦ καὶ πάντων τῶν κτηνῶν« καὶ »ἔλαβεν ὁ θεὸς χοῦν ἅπὸ τῆς γῆς καὶ ἔπλασε τὸν ἄνθρωπον«.

64.26.9 | but for man, unlike those, no longer "let the earth bring forth" or "let the waters bring forth" or the stars, but "let us make man in our image and likeness, and let him rule over the fish of the sea and the birds of the sky and all the animals," and "god took dust from the earth and formed man."

Section 27

64.27.1 | 27. Καὶ ἵνα δὴ μᾶλλον καὶ ὑμεῖς τὴν διαφορὰν αἰσθησθε, ὡς <ἐν> ὧν καὶ παντὶ τῶν ἄλλων διαρέρων καὶ ἐν δευτέρᾳ τιμῇ τῶν ἀγγέλων ἐγκαταλεχθεῖς ὁ ἄνθρωπος εὐρίσκεται ἀθάνατος ὢν, φέρε κατὰ τὸν ἀληθῆ πάλιν καὶ ὀρθόδοφον καὶ τοῦτο διαλάβωμεν λογισμόν.

64.27.1 | and so that you may better understand the difference, how man, unlike all the others, and in second place after the angels, is found to be immortal, let us again bring forward this true and sound reasoning.

64.27.2 | τοῖς μὲν γὰρ ἀπὸ τῆς εἰσπνοῆς τοῦ κατὰ ἀέρα ἀέρα πνεύματος <τὸ> ἐμψυχῶσθαι καὶ ζῆν, τῷ δὲ ἐξ αὐτῆς ἀθανάτου καὶ διαφορῆς οὐσίας. »ἐνεφύσησε γὰρ ὁ θεὸς εἰς τὸ πρόσωπον αὐτοῦ πνοὴν ζωῆς καὶ ἐγένετο ὁ ἄνθρωπος

64.27.2 | for some, life and soul come from breathing in the spirit in the air, but for man, from an immortal and different substance. "for god breathed into his face the breath of life, and man became a living ἄνθρωπος εἰς ψυχὴν ζῶσαν».

soul.”

64.27.3 | καὶ τοῖς μὲν καὶ δουλεύειν καὶ ἄρχεσθαι προσετάγη, τῷ δὲ ἄρχειν δεσπότην. καὶ τοῖς μὲν μὲν διάφορα σχήματα φύσεως δίδονται καὶ μορφαί, ὅποσας ἡ στερεὴ καὶ ὁρατὴ φύσις κελεύσας Ὁ-εὐὸ ἐγέννηδε·

64.27.3 | and for some, it was commanded to serve and be ruled, but for man, to rule and be master. and for some, different shapes of nature and forms are given, as many as the solid and visible nature, by commanding, has produced.

64.27.4 | τῷ ὅς τὸ θεοειδὲς καὶ θεοείκελον καὶ πάντα πρὸς ἐκείνην ἀπηκριβωμένον τὴν πρωτόθεν τοῦ πατρὸς καὶ μονογενοῦς εἰκόνα. ἐποίησε γὰρ ὁ θεὸς τὸν ἄνθρωπον, κατ’ εἰκόνα θεοῦ ἐποίησεν αὐτόν·

64.27.4 | to him, the godlike and like a god, and everything exactly matching that first image of the father and only-begotten. for god made man, he made him in the image of god.

64.27.5 | διὸ καὶ ἐμέλησεν αὐτῷ τῆς τοῦ σφραγιστοῦ ἀγάλματος διαμονῆς, ἵνα μὴ εὐάλωτον ᾖ πρὸς διαφθοράν, καθάπερ καὶ τῶν ἀνδριάντων τοῖς δημιουργοῖς.

64.27.5 | therefore he cared for him to keep the royal statue safe, so that it would not be easily destroyed, just like with statues to their makers.

64.27.6 | οὐ γὰρ μόνον <τοῦ> τῶν ἀγαλμάτων αὐτοῖς καὶ τῆς εὐπρεπείας πεφρόντισται, ὅπως ὥσι περικαλλῇ μεγαλοπρεπῶς, ἀλλὰ καὶ τῆς εἰς τὸ δυνατόν σφίσι θάνατον τῶν δημιουργημάτων πρόνοιαν ποιοῦνται, εἰς τὸ μακράν χρόνον διασῆσθαι μὴ λυόμενα, καθάπερ καὶ Φειδίας.

64.27.6 | for not only have they cared for the statues themselves and their beauty, so that they may be very beautiful and grand, but also they have taken care for the creatures’ possible immortality, so that they may be kept safe for a very long time without breaking, just like Phidias did.

64.27.7 | οὗτος γὰρ μετὰ τὸ κατασκευάσαι τὸ Πισαῖον εἰσῶλον ἐξ ἐλέφαντος δὲ τοῦτο ἦν) ἔλαιον ἐκχεῖσθαι προσέταξεν ἀμφὶ τοὺς πόδας ἔμπροσθεν τοῦ ἀγάλματος, ἀθάνατον εἰς δύναμιν φυλάσσειν αὐτό.

64.27.7 | for after he made the statue of Zeus at Pisa (it was made of ivory), he ordered oil to be poured around the feet in front of the statue, keeping it immortal in power.

64.27.8 | and so, if the makers of handmade things are like this, then the god who is the best craftsman, who can do everything and make something out of nothing, surely would have made the statue that is his own, man, immortal and never-ending by all means, but instead he allowed it to be destroyed most dishonorably, given over to ruin and decay, which he especially deserved to make with his own hands, shaping it in his own image, the world of the world, by which the world came to be; it cannot be said. for it goes against reason to think this.

64.28.1 | 28. Ἀλλ' ἴσως μὴ ἐπιστήσαντες ἑαυτοὺς πρὸς τὰ λεχθέντα νῦν ὧ Ἀγλαοφῶν, λέξετε καὶ πῶς, εἰ ἀθάνατον ἦν ἐκ γενέσεως καθ' ὁμᾶς τὸ ζῶον, γεγένηται θνητόν, ὅποτε τὸ ἀθάνατον ἀμεταστρόφως τοῦτο ὃ ἔστιν εἶναι χρή, μὴ νεταπίπτον ἢ ἐξιστανόμενον εἰς τὴν αἰσχίονα κα θνητὴν φύσιν; ἀμήχανον γάρ, ἐπεὶ οὐκ ἔστιν * ἀθάνατον.

64.28.1 | but maybe, not understanding yourselves about what has just been said, you will say, 'and how, if the creature was immortal from birth in every way, did it become mortal, whenever this immortal thing that it must be is unchangeable, not falling away or turning into a worse and mortal nature?' for it is impossible, since there is no immortality.

64.28.2 | ἐπειδὴ, λέξω, γενόμενον αὐτεξούσιον πρὸς τὴν αἵρεσιν τοῦ καλοῦ καὶ τοῦτον τὸν θεσμόν εἰληφὸς ὁ μισόκαλος ἐπιστὰς ἐβάσκανε φθονῶν.

64.28.2 | since, i say, having become self-controlled toward the choice of what is good, and having taken this law, the hater of beauty, standing over it, was dying out, envying.

64.28.3 | »ὃ γὰρ θεὸς ἔκτισε τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἐπὶ ἀφθαρσίᾳ καὶ εἰκόνα τῆς ἰδίας αἰδιότητος ἐποίησεν αὐτό«. καὶ γὰρ »ὃ θεὸς θάνατον οὐκ ἐποίησεν οὐδὲ τέρπεται

64.28.3 | "for god made man to be incorruptible and made him in the image of his own eternity." and also "god did not make death nor does he delight in the

ἐπ' ἀπωλείᾳ ζώντων» »φθόνῳ δὲ διαβόλου θάνατος εἰσῆλθεν εἰς τὸν λῆπμον», καθάπερ καὶ ἡ σοφία διὰ Σολομῶνος μαρτυρεῖ. πόθεν οὖν ὁ θάνατος; destruction of the living”; “but through the envy of the devil, death came into the world,” just as wisdom also testifies through Solomon. so where then does death come from?

64.28.4 | πάλιν δὴ λέγεσθαι ἀνάγκη, εἰ μὴ θάνατον ἐποίησεν ὁ θεός. εἰ ἀπὸ τοῦ φθόνου, καὶ πῶς ὁ φθόνος τῆς βουλήσεως μᾶλλον ἴσχυσε τοῦ θεοῦ; ἀλλὰ τοῦτο λέξομεν. πόθεν πόθεν οὖν ὁ φθόνος; ὁ ἀντιλέγων ἐρεῖ.

64.28.4 | again then it must be said, if god did not make death. if from envy, and how did the envy of the will have more power than god? but we will say this. so where then does envy come from? one who argues against will say.

64.28.5 | εἰ γὰρ ἀπὸ τοῦ διαβόλου, καὶ διὰ τί διάβολος ἐγένετο; εἰ ἐγένετο, καὶ ὁ ποιήσας αὐτόν ἐστιν αἴτιος τοῦ εἶναι κακόν;

64.28.5 | for if from the devil, then why did the devil come to be? if he came to be, then the one who made him is the cause of evil existing?

64.28.6 | ἀλλὰ ἀναίτιος παντάπασιν κακῶν πᾶσιν ὁ θεός· ἀγέννητος ἄρα ὁ διάβολος, καὶ εἰ ἀγέννητος, καὶ ἀπαθὴς καὶ ἀνώλεθρος καὶ ἀνενδεής τῷ γὰρ ἀγενήτῳ ἐξ ἀνάγκης ἅπαντα ταῦτα ὑπάρχειν δεῖ, ὁ δὲ διάβολος καταργεῖται καὶ κολάζεται. τὸ δὲ κολαζόμενον ἄλλοι ὁ διάβολος.

64.28.6 | but god is completely without blame for all evils; so the devil is uncreated, and if uncreated, then without feeling, without destruction, and without lack, for all these things must exist by necessity in what is uncreated. but the devil is destroyed and punished. the one who is punished is a different devil.

64.28.7 | εἰ δὲ γενητὸς καὶ πᾶσι τὸ γεγεννημένον ἀπὸ τινος ἀρχῆς ἐγένετο καὶ ἔστιν αὐτοῦ δημιουργός, ἔστιν ἄρα τις δημιουργὸς τοῦ διαβόλου. καὶ πότερον κάκεινος ἀγέννητός ἐστιν ἢ γενητός; Μὰ τὸ ἀγέννητον ἐν εἶναι μόνον νοεῖσθαι χρή τὸν θεόν· οὐδὲ γὰρ εἶναι τὸ σύνολον ὅλως ἐκ παντὸς τὸ παράπαν ἕτερος δημιουργὸς δύναται πλὴν αὐτοῦ· »ἐγώ«, γὰρ φησιν, »πρῶτος καὶ ἐγὼ μετὰ ταῦτα, καὶ πλὴν

64.28.7 | but if created, and everything created came from some beginning and has its maker, then there is a maker of the devil. and is that one uncreated or created? but god alone must be thought to be uncreated; for no other maker at all can exist besides him; for he says, ‘I am first, and I am after these things, and besides me there is no other god.’

έμοῦ ἄλλος θεὸς οὐκ ἔστιν».

64.28.8 | οὐδὲ μετασκευάζεσθαι τι ἢ κτίζεσθαι παρὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ δύναται βουλήν. καὶ γὰρ ὁ υἱὸς »οὐδὲν ἄφ' ἑαυτοῦ δύνασθαι ποιεῖν« ὁμολογεῖ, »ἐάν μὴ τι βλέπῃ τὸν πατέρα ποιοῦντα« »ἃ γὰρ ἅν«, φησὶν, »ὁ πατήρ ποιῇ, ταῦτα καὶ ὁ υἱὸς ὁμοίως ποιεῖ».

64.28.8 | nor can anything be changed or made apart from his will. for the son admits, 'he can do nothing on his own, unless he sees the father doing it;' 'for whatever the father does, the son does the same.'

64.28.9 | οὐδὲ μὴν πολέμεόν τι ἢ ἀντίξουν αὐτῷ ἢ ἀντίθεόν ἐστιν· ἐπεὶ κἂν εἰ ἀντέπρασσέν τι τῷ θεῷ, ἐπαύσατο ἂν τοῦ εἶναι, λυθείσης αὐτοῦ τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ δυνάμει καὶ ἰσχύϊ συστάσεως. τῷ γὰρ ποιήσαντι λῦσαι μόνῳ καὶ τὰ ἀθάνατα δυνατόν.

64.28.9 | nor indeed does he fight against him or oppose him or stand against him; for even if he did something against god, he would stop being, since god's power and strength of existence would be broken. for only the one who made can destroy even immortal things.

Section 29

64.29.1 | 29. Τί οὖν ὁ διάβολος, λέφετε. πνεῦμα περὶ τὴν ὕλην ἔχον καφάρπερ ἐλέχθη καὶ Ἀθηνγόρα, γεόμενον ὑπὸ τοῦ θεοῦ, ὥσπερ δὴ καὶ οἱ λοιποὶ γεγόνασιν ὑπ' αὐτοῦ ἄγγελοι, καὶ τὴν ἐπὶ τῇ ὕλῃ καὶ τοῖς τῆς ὕλης εἵδεσι πεπιστευμένον διοίκησιν.

64.29.1 | 29. So what is the devil, you ask? A spirit tied to matter, just as was said by Athenagoras, created by god, just like the other angels were made by him, and entrusted with the care of matter and the forms of matter.

64.29.2 | τοῦτο γὰρ ἦν ἡ τῶν ἀγγέλων σύστασις, τῷ θεῷ ἐπὶ προνία γεγονέναι τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτοῦ διακεκοσμημένοις, ἵνα τὴν μὲν παν τελικὴν καὶ γενικὴν ὁ θεὸς ἔχων τῷ ὄλῳ πρόνοιαν ᾗ, τὸ κῦρος καὶ τὸ κράτος ἀπάντων αὐτὸς ἀνηρτημένος, καὶ ὥσπερ σκάφος τῷ τῆς σοφίας οἶακι διευθύνων ἀκλινῶς τὸ πᾶν, τὴν δὲ διὰ μέρους οἱ ἐπὶ τούτῳ ταχθέντες ἄγγελοι.

64.29.2 | For this was the arrangement of the angels, made by god with care for those under him, so that god alone would have final and general care over all things, holding the power and strength of everything, and like a ship's pilot guiding the whole steadily with wisdom, the angels appointed over this would manage the parts.

64.29.3 | ἀλλ' οἱ μὲν λοιποὶ ἐφ' οἷς αὐτοῦς ἐποίησε καὶ διέταξεν ὁ θεὸς ἔμειναν, ὁ δὲ ἐνύβρισε καὶ πονηρὸς περὶ τὴν τῶν πεπιστευμένων ἐγένετο διοίκησιν, φθόνου ἐγκισσήσας καθ' ἡμῶν, ὥσπερ καὶ οἱ μετὰ ταῦτα σαρκῶν ἐρασθέντες καὶ τῶν τῶι ἀνθρώπων εἰς φιληδονίαν ἐνομιλήσαντες θυγατράσιν.

64.29.3 | But the others stayed over what god made and ordered them to, while he became proud and evil about the care he was given, planting envy against us, just like those who later loved flesh and joined with the daughters of men for pleasure.

64.29.4 | αὐθαίρετον γὰρ καὶ αὐτοῖς ἔχειν πρὸς ἐκάτερα διετάξατο βούλησιν ὁ θεός, οἷα καὶ ἐπὶ τῶν ἀνθρώπων, ἵν' ἢ πειθόμενοι τῷ λόγῳ συγῶσιν αὐτῷ καὶ ἀπολαύωσι μακαριότητος ἢ μὴ πειθόμενοι κρίνονται.

64.29.4 | For god ordered their will to be free toward both sides, just like with humans, so that either by obeying the word they might be forgiven and enjoy happiness, or by not obeying they might be judged.

64.29.5 | ἧ δὲ καὶ ὁ διάβολος ἀστήρ ἐωσφόρος »πῶς ἐξέπεσεν ἐκ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ ὁ ἐωσφόρος, ὁ πρῶτ' ἀνατέλλων«, ἦν μετὰ τῶν ἀγγέλων ἀνατέλλων τοῦ φωτός, ἧ ἄστρο πρῶϊόν, ἀλλ' ἐξέπεσε καὶ εἰς εἰς τὴν συνετρίβη, ἐπὶ τροπεύσας τῷ ἀνθρώπῳ τάναντία. τὸ γὰρ θεῖον νεμεσᾷ τοῖς ὑπερηφάνοις καὶ τὰ αὐθάδη φρονήματα κολούει.

64.29.5 | And the devil was the star called morning star, "how you fell from heaven, morning star, who rose early," he was rising with the angels of light, he was a morning star, but he fell and was crushed, acting against humans. For the divine hates the proud and stops their stubborn thoughts.

64.29.6 | It also comes to me to say in measured words: "O beginning and source of all evils, sharp pain, you, heavy one, giving birth to a treasure of evils, a wandering guide of blind ignorance, rejoicing in the laments and sighs of mortals, you yourselves, you yourselves, united in arrogance, arming hateful brothers with weapons, to send Cain first with bloody ransom." You forced the earth and caused the first-born of untainted ages to fall to the ground. You gave birth to these things.

Section 30

64.30.1 | Καὶ ὁ μὲν διάβολος οὕτως· ὁ δὲ θάνατος πρὸς ἐπισπροξὴν ἠὲ πέθη, καθάπερ καὶ τοῖς ἀρτιμαθέδι γραμμάτων παιδίοις πρὸς ἐπανόρωσιν αἱ πληγαί. οὐδὲν γὰρ ἄλλο ὁ θάνατος ἢ διάκρισις καὶ διαχωρισμὸς ψυχῆς ἀπὸ σώματος. τί οὖν; παραίτιος ὁ θεὸς θανάτου; λέξετε.

64.30.1 | And the devil is like this: death was given as a punishment, just like the blows given to children who are just learning letters, to teach them. For death is nothing else but the separation and division of the soul from the body. So what? Is god to blame for death? Speak.

64.30.2 | πάλιν γὰρ ὁ αὐτὸς ἡμῖν ἤκει λόγος. μὴ γένοιτο, ἐπεὶ μὴδὲ οἱ διδάσκαλοι προκαθηγουμένως τοῦ ἀλγύνεσθαι ταῖς πληγαῖς τοὺς παῖδας αἴτιοι.

64.30.2 | For again the same argument comes to us: It must not be, since even teachers are not primarily to blame for children suffering from the blows.

64.30.3 | καλὸν οὖν ὁ θάνατος, εἰ καθάπερ παισὶ πρὸς ἐπιστροφὴν δίκην πληγῶν ἠὲ πέθη, οὐχ ὁ τῆς ἀμαρτίας, ὡς σοφώτατοι, ἀλλ' ὁ τῆς διαζεύξεως τῆς σαρκὸς καὶ τοῦ χωρισμοῦ.

64.30.3 | Death is good then, if like a punishment of blows for children to turn them back, it is not the punishment of sin, wisest ones, but of the separation of the flesh and the division.

64.30.4 | αὐτεξούσιος γὰρ ὢν καὶ αὐτοκράτωρ ὁ ἄνθρωπος καὶ αὐτοδέσποτος βούλησιν καὶ αὐτοπροαίρετον πρὸς τὴν αἴρεσιν, ὡς ἔφη, τοῦ καλοῦ λαβών, ἀκούσας τε »ἀπὸ παντὸς ξύλου τοῦ ἐν ᾧ παραδεῶ φάγεσθε, ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ ξύλου τοῦ γινώσκειν καλὸν καὶ πονηρὸν οὐ φάγεσθε ἀπ' αὐτοῦ· ἢ δ' ἂν ἡμέρᾳ φάγητε ἀπ' αὐτοῦ, θανάτῳ ἀποθανεῖσθε»,

64.30.4 | For being self-controlled and master of himself, a man has his own will and free choice for choosing, as I said, the good, having heard: 'From every tree in the garden you may eat, but from the tree of knowing good and evil you shall not eat from it; and on the day you eat from it, you shall die.'

64.30.5 | ἐνδοὺς εἰς τὸ φαγεῖν ἀέσυχῳ τῷ διαβόλῳ δεδουλευσμένη σοφίᾳ ποικίλως πρὸς παρακοὴν πείθοντι, ἠθέτησε τῆς

64.30.5 | Going in to eat, led astray by the devil's cleverly twisted wisdom persuading him to disobey, he chose to break the έντολήν τοῦ καὶ ἐγένετο τοῦτο αὐτῷ εἰς σκάνδαλον καὶ παγίδα καὶ σκῶλον.

command, and this became for him a stumbling block, a trap, and a thorn.

64.30.6 | οὐ γὰρ ἐποίησεν ὁ θεὸς κακὸς οὐδ' ἔστι τὸ σύνολον ὅλως ἐκ παντὸς τὸ παράπαν αὐτοῦ κακοῦ· ἀλλὰ πᾶν ὅπερ ἄν αὐτεξούσιον οὕτως ὑπ' αὐτοῦ γεγονὸς ἢ πρὸς τὸ φυλάσσειν καὶ τηρῆσαι νόμον, ὃν αὐτὸς δικαίως διεστείλατο, μὴ τηρῆσαν λέγεται κακόν. βαρυτάτη δὲ βλάβη τὸ παρακοῦσαι θεοῦ τοὺς ὅρους τῆς κατὰ τὸ αὐτεξούσιον ὑπερβάντα δικαιοσύνης.

64.30.6 | For god did not make evil, nor is the whole sum of it completely from all evil; but whatever is self-controlled and comes from him is to guard and keep the law, which he rightly gave; not keeping it is called evil. The very heavy harm is to disobey god's rules by going beyond justice in free will.

64.30.7 | ὅθεν ἐπειδὴ κατερρυπώθη καὶ κατεμείνανθη τῆς ἀποφάσεως ἀποστατήσας ὁ ἄνθρωπος τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ κηλίδας ἐναπεμάξατο κακίας πολλῆς, ἃς ὁ ἄρχων τοῦ σκότους ἀπεκύησε καὶ πατήρ τῆς πλάνης, πόνον κατὰ τὴν γραφὴν συλλαβὼν, ἵνα τὸν ἄνθρωπον φαντάζειν ἀεὶ πρὸς ἀδικίαν ἔχει καὶ κινεῖν, ὁ θεὸς ὁ παντοκράτωρ ἀθάνατον κακὸν ἐξ ἐπιβουλῆς τοῦ διαβόλου ἰδὼν αὐτὸν γεγεννημένον, καθάπερ καὶ ὁ διάβολος πλάνος ἦν,

64.30.7 | So when man rebelled against god and was broken and stained in his decision, he covered himself with many marks of evil, which the ruler of darkness, the father of deception, brought forth. Taking pain according to scripture, so that man would always seem to have and be moved toward injustice, the almighty god, seeing the immortal evil born from the devil's trick, just as the devil was a deceiver,

64.30.8 | τοὺς δερματίνους χιτῶνας διὰ τοῦτο κατεσκεύασεν, οἷον εἰ νεκρότητι περιβαλὼν αὐτόν ὅπως διὰ τῆς λύσεως τοῦ σώματος πᾶν τὸ ἐν αὐτῷ γεννηθὲν κακὸν ἀποθάνῃ.

64.30.8 | for this reason he made the leather coats, as if wrapping him in death, so that through the breaking of the body all the evil in him might die.

Section 31

64.31.1 | 31. Προηπόρηται δὲ ἤδη καὶ ἀπεδείχθη τοὺς δερματίνους χιτῶνας μὴ εἶναι τὰ σώματα. ὁμως δὲ καὶ πάλιν (οὐ

64.31.1 | It has already been foretold and shown that the leather coats are not the bodies. Still, again (for it must not be said γὰρ ἅπαξ ῥητέον) φράζωμεν.

just once) let us explain.

64.31.2 | αὐτὸς πρὸ τῆς κατασκευῆς αὐτῶν ὁ πρωτόπλαστος ὁμολογεῖ καὶ ὅστ᾽ ἔχειν καὶ σάρκα, ὁπότε δὴ τὴν γυναῖκα προσενηχθεῖσαν αὐτῷ θεασάμενος »τοῦτο νῦν ὅστοῦν« ἐφώνησεν »ἐκ τῶν ὀστέων μου καὶ σὰρξ ἐκ τῆς σαρκός μου· αὕτη κληθήσεται γυνή, ὅτι ἐκ τοῦ ἀνδρὸς αὐτῆς ἐλήφθη. ἔνεκεν τούτου καταλείψει ἄνθρωπος τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῦ καὶ τὴν μητέρα, καὶ προσκολληθήσεται τῇ γυναικὶ αὐτοῦ, καὶ ἔσονται οἱ δύο εἰς σάρκα μίαν«.

64.31.2 | Before their making, the first man himself admits that he had bones and flesh, for when he saw the woman brought to him, he said, “This now is bone from my bones and flesh from my flesh; she will be called woman, because she was taken from man. For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two will become one flesh.”

64.31.3 | οὐ γὰρ δὴ ἀνέξομαι φληναφώντων τινῶν καὶ βιαζομένων ἀπηρυθριασμένως τὴν γραφήν, ἵνα αὐτοῖς δὴ σαρκὸς μὴ εἶναι προχωρήσῃ ἢ ἀνάστασις, ἀστᾶ νοητὰ καὶ σάρκα νοητὰς ὑποτιθεμένων καὶ ἄλλοτε ἄλλως ἄνω καὶ κάτω μεταβαλλομένων ἀλληγορίαις·

64.31.3 | For I will not endure some people babbling and forcing the scripture, so that the resurrection might not go as far as to be of the flesh, setting aside the spiritual and the fleshly bodies as spiritual and changing them up and down at different times with allegories.

64.31.4 | καὶ ταῦτα οὕτως ὥς γέγραπται παραλαμβάνεσθαι καρτύνοντος τοῦ Χριστοῦ τῆς γραφῆς, ἐνθα πυνθανομένοις τοῖς Φαρισαίοις περὶ χωρισμοῦ γυναικὸς ἀποκρίνεται »οὐκ ἀνέγνωτε ὅτι ἀπ’ ἀρκῆς ὁ κτίσας ἄρσεν καὶ θῆλυ ἐποίησε καὶ εἶπεν· ἔνεκεν τούτου καταλείψει ἄνθρωπος τὸν πατέρα καὶ τὴν μητέρα« καὶ τὰ ἐξῆς.

64.31.4 | And these things are to be taken just as they are written, with Christ’s scripture as witness, where he answers the Pharisees who asked about divorce, saying, “Have you not read that from the beginning the one who made them made them male and female, and said, ‘For this reason a man will leave his father and mother’” and so on.

64.31.5 | πῶς γὰρ ἐπὶ ψυχῶν μόνον τό »αὐξάνεσθε καὶ πληρώσατε τὴν γῆν« παραληπτέον· ἢ τό »ἔλαβε χοῦν ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς ὁ θεὸς καὶ ἔπλασε τὸν ἄνθρωπον«, ὅκυπέως ἐπὶ τοῦ σώματος λελέχθαι φαίνεται· φαίνεται· οὐ γὰρ ἀπὸ τοῦ χοδὸς καὶ τῶν βαρυτέρων τὴν οὐσίαν ἐκτίσαστο ἢ

64.31.5 | For how can the phrase “be fruitful and fill the earth” be taken only about souls? Or the phrase “God took dust from the earth and formed man” seems to speak quickly about the body; it seems so. For the soul did not get its being from dust ψυχή.

and heavier things.

64.31.6 | ὥστε συνέστηκεν ἐκ παντὸς ἀληθέστατα πρὸ τῶν δερματένων σεσωματοποιηθῆναι χιτῶνων τὸν ἄνθρωπον. ταῦτα γὰρ πρὸ τοῦ ἐκπεσεῖν αὐτὸν ἅπαντα εἴρηται, τὰ δὲ κατὰ τοὺς κιτῶνας μετὰ τὸ ἐκπεσεῖν.

64.31.6 | So it is most true that man was made from everything before being clothed in skins. For these things were said about him before he fell, but those about the skins came after the fall.

64.31.7 | Ὅθεν ἴωμεν πάλιν ἐπισκεψόμενοι τὰ ἐν χερσίν, ἱκανῶς ἀποδείξαντες μὴ εἶναι τοὺς δερματίνους χιτῶνας τὰ σώματα, ἀλλὰ τὴν ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀλόγου τῶν ζώων ωεκρότητα κατεσκευασμένην· τοῦτο γὰρ λείπεται. ἀμέλει τῶν ὄρων ἔξω τοῦ παραδείσου κατὰ ταύτην ἐξοικίζεται τὴν αἰτίαν. οὐ γὰρ ὅτι μὴ θέλων ὁ θεὸς ἀπὸ τοῦ ξύλου δρέψασθαι τῆς ζωῆς αὐτὸν καὶ φαγεῖν ἐξέβαλεν (ἐδύνατο γὰρ εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα ζῆν, αὐθις φαγὼν ἀπὸ ζωῆς) ἀλλ' μὴ μὴ ἀθάνατον, ὡς ὑπεθέμεθα, γεννηθῇ τὸ κακόν.

64.31.7 | So let us go back again, looking closely at what is in our hands, showing well enough that the skins are not the bodies, but a covering made from the wildness of irrational animals; this is what is left out. He will take care of the limits outside the garden with this cause. For it is not that God, not wanting him to eat from the tree of life, drove him out (for he could live forever, eating again from life), but so that the evil, as we supposed, would not become immortal.

64.31.9 | ἐπεὶ διὰ τί τὸν Χριστὸν ἀπὸ τῶν οὐρανῶν ἀπέστειλεν εἰς τὴν γῆν, εἰ ὅλως ἤθελε ζωῆς τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἀγευστήσαντα ἀποθανεῖν εἰς τὸ παντελές;

64.31.9 | Since why was Christ sent down from the heavens to the earth, if he wanted man to die completely without tasting life at all?

64.31.10 | εἰ δὲ ἐκ μεταμέλου φαίη τοῦτο πεποιηκέναι τὸν θεὸν ὁ ἀντιλέγων, ἀσθενὴς αὐτῷ ὁ λόγος, μεταγινώσκοντα τὸν θεὸν εἰσάγων. ἀλλ' οὔτε οὔτε τοῦ μέλλοντος ὁ θεὸς οὔτε κακοποιός, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἄκρως ἀγαθὸς καὶ προγινώσκων τὰ μέλλοντα.

64.31.10 | But if the one who argues says that God did this out of regret, his argument is weak, because it makes God change his mind. But God is neither one who changes his mind about the future nor one who does evil, but is completely good and knows the future beforehand.

64.31.11 | ὥστε οὐκ ἄρα διὰ τὸ μὴ σῶζεσθαι εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα φαγόντα αὐτὸν ἀπὸ τοῦ ξύλου τῆς ζωῆς ἐξέβαλεν, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸ νεκρωθῆναι πρῶτον θανάτῳ τὴν ἀμαρτίαν, ἵν' οὕτως μετὰ τὸ ἀποθανεῖν ἐκτακείσης τῆς ἀμαρτίας ἐγερθεὶς ὁ ἄνθρωπος καθαρὸς γεύσῃται τῆς ζωῆς.

64.31.11 | So he did not drive him out from the tree of life because he would not be saved forever if he ate from it, but because sin had to die first by death, so that after dying and being freed from sin, the man, raised up, would taste life pure.

Section 32

64.32.1 | 32. Μηδεὶς δὲ ἀβέλτερος ὢν παρακινδυνεύτω ὡς τούτων ἐτέρως λεχθέντων. ὁ γὰρ ὅλως ὀριζόμενος τὴν σάρκα μὴ εἶναι ταύτην ἀθανασίας δεκτικὴν ὄντως ἀνοίας ὑπεύθυνος ὢν νόσῳ βλασθημεῖ.

64.32.1 | 32. And no one being less careful should risk saying these things differently.
For the flesh, being completely defined as not able to receive immortality, truly is responsible for foolishness and is cursed by disease.

64.32.2 | διὰ τί γὰρ μετὰ τὴν τῶν χιτῶνων τῶν δερματίνων ὁ Ἀδὰμ κατασκευὴν ἐκβάλλεται, κωλυόμενος μενος φαγεῖν ἀπὸ τοῦ ξύλου τῆς ζωῆς καὶ ζῆσαι, εἰ ὅλως ἀδύνατον ἦ μετὰ σώματος εἰς τὸ τὸν αἰῶνα ζῆσαι τὸν ἄνθρωπον;

64.32.2 | For why, after the skins of the garments, is Adam driven out from the place of making, being stopped from eating from the tree of life and living, if it was completely impossible for a man to live forever with a body?

64.32.3 | ὡς δυναμένου γὰρ αὐτοῦ τοῦ μὴ ἀποθανεῖν, ἐὰν ἀπὸ τῆς ζωῆς γεύσῃται λαβών, ἡ κώλυσις γίγνεται. φησὶ γὰρ »καὶ ἀποίησε κύριος ὁ θεὸς τῷ Ἀδὰμ καὶ τῇ γυναικὶ αὐτοῦ χιτῶνας δερματίνους καὶ ἐνέδυσεν αὐτούς· καὶ εἶπεν ὁ θεός· ἰδοὺ, γέγονεν Ἀδὰμ ὡς εἷς ἐξ ἡμῶν, τοῦ γινώσκειν καλὸν καὶ πονηρόν· καὶ ταὶ μὴ ποτε ἐκτείνῃ τὴν χεῖρα καὶ λαβῇ τοῦ ξύλου τῆς ζωῆς καὶ φάγῃ καὶ ζῇδεταί εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα. καὶ ἐξαπέστειλεν αὐτὸν κύριος ὁ δεὸς ἐκ τοῦ παραδείσου τῆς τρυφῆς ἀργάξεσθαι τὴν γῆν, ἐξ ἧς ἐλήφθη, καὶ ἐξέβαλε τὸν Ἀδὰμ«.

64.32.3 | For the stopping happens as if he could not die, if he tastes from the tree of life. For it says, "And the Lord God made for Adam and his wife coats of skin and clothed them; and God said, 'Look, Adam has become like one of us, knowing good and evil; and now he must not stretch out his hand and take from the tree of life and eat and live forever.' And the Lord God sent him out from the garden of delight to work the ground from which he was taken, and he drove out Adam."

64.32.4 | οὐκοῦν ἐδύνατο ζῆν εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα τὸ σῶμα καὶ ἀθάνατον ἔσεσθαι, εἴ μὴ κεκώλυτο γεύσασθαι τῆς ζωῆς. ἐκωλύθη δέ, ὅπως ἡ μὲν ἁμαρτία συναποκτανθεῖσα τῷ σώματι θάνῃ, τὸ δὲ σῶμα ἀναστῇ τῆς ἁμαρτίας ἀπολουμένης.

64.32.4 | So the body could not live forever and be immortal, unless it was stopped from tasting life. It was stopped so that sin, dying together with the body, would die, and the body would rise again, being cleansed from sin.

64.32.5 | ἵνα τοίνυν μὴ κακὸν ἀθάνατον ὁ ἀθάνατος ὡς ἄνθρωπος, ἢ, ἀείξων ἔχων ἐν ἑαυτῷ τὴν ἁμαρτίαν κρατιστεύουσιν, ἅτε ἐν ἀθανάτῳ βλαστήσασαν σῶματι καὶ ἀθάνατον ἔχουσιν τροφήν, ὁ δεὸς αὐτὸν διὰ τοῦτο θνητὸν ἀπεφίνατο νεκρότητι περιβαλὼν.

64.32.5 | So then, in order that the immortal man would not be immortal as something bad, always carrying sin strong inside him, since it grew in an immortal body and had immortal food, God made him mortal by putting death on him for this reason.

64.32.6 | τοῦτο γὰρ οἱ δερμάτινοι χιτῶνες ἐβούλντο, ἵνα δὴ διὰ τῆς λύσεως τοῦ σώματος καὶ τῆς διαίπενσεως ἡ ἁμαρτία κάτῳθεν αὐτόπεμνος πᾶσα διαφθαρεῖ, ὡς μηδὲ κἂν βραχύτατον ρίζης ἐαθῆναι μέρος, ἀφ' οὗ νέαι βλάσται πάλιν ἁμαρτημάτων βήσονται.

64.32.6 | For he wanted the coats of skin so that, through the breaking down and wearing out of the body, all sin, which comes from below, would be destroyed completely, so that not even the smallest root would be left to grow new shoots of sins again.

Section 33

64.33.1 | 33. Καθάπερ γὰρ ὅταν ἐν οἰκοδομήμασι ναῶν καλοῖς συκὴ > γεννηθεῖσα καὶ εἰς ἕκτασιν καὶ μέγεθος εὐτροξήσασα καὶ περὶ πάσας τὰς ἁρμογάς πολυκλημάτοις ρίζαις τῶν λίθων κεχυμένη, οὐ πρότερον τοῦ φύειν στέλλεται, ἴσθ' ἂν πᾶσα ἀποσπασθῇ, λυθέντων μὲν καθ' οὓς τόπους τῶν λίθων

64.33.1 | For just as when a fig tree is born in the walls of fine temples and grows strong in height and size, with many roots spread around all the joints of the stones, it is not allowed to grow until all the roots are torn out and the places of the stones are loosened,

64.33.2 | (δυνατὸν γὰρ πάλιν εἰς τοὺς αὐτοὺς αὐτοὺς τόπους τοὺς λίθους, τῆς 64.33.2 | (for it is possible again for the stones to go back into the same places, once συκῆς ἀφηρημένης, ὅπως ὁ μὲν ναὸς σώζεται, μηδὲν τῶν ἀφανιζόντων αὐτὸν κακῶν ἐν ἑαυτῷ μηκέτι φέρων, ἡ δὲ συκὴ πᾶσα προθέλυμος ἀποσπασθεῖσα ἀποθάνη),

the fig tree has been removed, so that the temple is saved, no longer carrying any of the evils that destroy it within itself, and the whole fig tree, having been completely torn out, may die),

64.33.3 | κατὰ ταῦτα καὶ ὁ καὶ ὁ θεὸς τεχνίτης ἑαυτοῦ ναὸν τὸν ἄνθρωπον, δίκην ἀγρίας συκῆς τὴν ἀμαρτίαν βλαστήσαντα, σαντα, διέλυσε θανάτου προσκαίροις προσβολαῖς »ἀποκτένων« κατὰ τὸ γεγραμμένον »καὶ ζωοποιῶν«, ἵνα πάλιν ἀπὸ τῶν αὐτῶν ἡ σὰρξ μερῶν μετὰ τὸ ξηρανθῆναι καὶ ἀποθανεῖν τὸ ἀμάρτημα δίκην ἀνακαινοποιηθέντος ναοῦ ἀθάνατος καὶ ἀπήμων ἐγερθῇ, τελέως ἐκ βάθρων ἀπο λομένης τῆς ἀμαρτίας.

64.33.3 | In the same way, god the craftsman also destroyed sin, which had grown like a wild fig tree in his own temple, the human, by timely strikes of death “killing” as it is written, “and giving life,” so that again from the same parts of the flesh, after withering and dying, sin might be raised up like a temple renewed and immortal and free from harm, completely cleansed from the depths of sin.

64.33.4 | ζῶντος γὰρ ἔτι τοῦ σώματος πρὸ τοῦ τεθνήξεσθαι συζῆν ἀνάγκη καὶ τὴν ἀμαρτίαν, ἔνδον τὰς ρίζας αὐτῆς ἐν ἡμῖν ἀποκρύπτουσιν, κἂν ἔξωθεν τομαῖς ταῖς ἀπὸ τῶν σωφρονισμῶν καὶ τῶν νουθετήσεων ἀνεστέλλετο, ἐπεὶ οὐκ ἂν ἔτι μετὰ τὸ φωτισθῆναι συνέβαιεν ἀδικεῖν, [ἄτε] παντάπασιν εἰλικρινῶς ἀφηρημένης ἀφ’ ἡμῶν τῆς ἀμαρτίας.

64.33.4 | For while the body is still alive before it dies, it is necessary for sin to live too, hiding its roots inside us, even if from outside it is cut back by discipline and warnings, since after being enlightened it would no longer be possible to do wrong, as sin is completely and truly taken away from us.

64.33.5 | νῦν καὶ μετὰ τὸ πιστεῦσαι καὶ ἐπὶ τὸ ὕδωρ ἐλθεῖν τοῦ ἀγνισμοῦ πολλάκις ἐν ἀμαρτίαις ὄντες εὐρισκόμεθα. οὐδεὶς γὰρ οὕτως ἀμαρτίας ἐκτὸς εἶναι ἑαυτὸν καυχῆσεται ὥς μηδὲ κἂν ἐνθυμηθῆναι τὸ σύνολον ὅλως τὴν ἀδικίαν.

64.33.5 | Now even after believing and coming to the water of purification, we are often found still in sins. For no one will boast that he is completely free from sins, not even if he remembers the whole amount of injustice at all.

64.33.6 | ὥστε συμβέβηκε συστέλλεσθαι μὲν καὶ κατευνάζεσθαι τῇ πίστει νῦν τὴν ἀμαρτίαν, εἰς τὸ μὴ οἶσαι καρποῦς

64.33.6 | So it has happened that sin is now drawn in and calmed by faith, so as not to know harmful fruits, but still its roots are βλαβοποιούς, οὐ μὴν ἀνηρῆσθαι καὶ τῶν ρίζων ἄχρις.

not destroyed completely.

64.33.7 | νῦν μὲν γὰρ ἐνταῦθα τὰς βλάστας αὐτῆς, οἷον τὰς ἐνθυμήσεις τὰς πονηράς, συστέλλομεν, »μή τις ῥίζα πικρίας ἄνω φύουσα ἐνοχλήσῃ«, μὴ ἐὼντες ἀναμύειν καὶ διοίγνυσθαι τὰ μεμυκῶτα στόμια πρὸς τὰς ἐκφύσεις, τοῦ λόγου δίκην ἀξίνης πρὸς τὰς ῥίζας αὐτῆς τὰς κάτω φυομένας τέμνοντος. τότε δὲ καὶ τὸ ὅλως ἐνθυμηθήσεσθαι περὶ κακίας ἀφανισθήσεται.

64.33.7 | For now here we draw in the shoots of it, like the evil thoughts, "so that no root of bitterness growing above may trouble," not allowing the closed mouths to mix and open toward the sprouts, cutting like an axe against its roots growing below.
Then also the whole remembering of evil will be destroyed.

Section 34

64.34.1 | 34. Οὐδὲ γὰρ ἀμάρτυρος ὁ λόγος γραφῶν τοῖς βουλομένοις εἰλικρινῶς τοῦτο ποιῶ, οὐκέτι ἐγὼ κατεργάζομαι αὐτό, ἀλλ' ἡ οἰκοῦσα ἐν ἀμαρτία»

64.34.1 | For the word is not without witness, writing this to those who want it sincerely: I no longer do this, but the sin living in me does.

64.34.2 | ὅτε δὲ »συνήδομαι τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ κατὰ κατὰ τὸν ἔσω ἄνθρωπον· βλέπω δὲ ἕτερον νόμον ἐν τοῖς μέλεσί μου, ἀντιστρατευόμενον τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ νοός μου καὶ αἰχμαλωτίζοντά με τῷ νόμῳ τῆς ἀμαρτείας τῷ ὄντι ἐν τοῖς μέλεσί μου«.

64.34.2 | But then I delight in the law of God according to the inner person; yet I see another law in my members, fighting against the law of my mind and taking me captive to the law of sin that is really in my members.

64.34.3 | οὕτως οὐδέπω τὴν ἀμαρτείαν αὐτόπρεμνον ἐκ ριζῶν διακοπῆναι συνέβη, ἀλλὰ ζῆν (οὐ γὰρ εἰς τέλος ἀπέθανεν· πῶς γὰρ τοῦ περιβεβλησθαι θανάτῳ τὸν ἄνθρωπον;), ἵνα αὐτῷ συμμαρανθεῖσα καὶ συμφθινήσασα αὐτὴ μὲν εἰς ἄρδην ἀπόληται καὶ διαφθαρή, καθάπερ καθάπερ φυτόν, λυθέντος <τοῦ λίθου> ἐν ᾧ κρύπτουσα τὰς ῥίζας ὡς ἔφην ἐαυτῆς διδεσφόζετο <τόπῳ>, ὁ δὲ ἄνθρωπος

64.34.3 | So not yet did the sin itself get cut off clearly from the roots, but it lived on (for it did not die completely; how could a person be wrapped in death?), so that joined and destroyed with it, the sin itself might be completely lost and destroyed, like a plant, when the stone hiding its roots is removed, as I said, it saved itself by its place; but the person again, no longer αὐτοῖς μηκέτι »ρίζαν« »πικρίας« ἔχων ἐξεγερθῇ.

having a "root" of bitterness, might rise up.

64.34.4 | ὥσπεροῦν ἀλεξιφαρμάκου γὰρ τρόπον ὑπὸ τοῦ ἀλεξητῆρος ἡμῶν ἀληθῶς καὶ ἱατροῦ θεοῦ πρὸς ἐκρίξωσιν τῆς ἀμαρτίας παρελήφθη ὁ θάνατος καὶ ἀφανισμόν, ἵνα μὴ διαιωνίζον ἐν ἡμῖν εἴη τὸ κακόν, ἀθάνατον ἅτε ἐν ἀθανάτοις ἀνατεῖλαν, αὐτοὶ δὲ λελωβημένοι καὶ ἐκστάντες νοσοῦντων τρόπον τῆς οἰκείας ἀριτῆς ἐπὶ πολὺ διατίβωμεν, ἅτε ἐν ὑφεστηκόσιν ἀεὶ καὶ ἀθανάτοις σώμασι τὴν κατὰ τὸ ἀμάρτημα μεγάλην τρέοντες νόσον.

64.34.4 | Just as an antidote truly and as a healer, our savior took away death and destruction to break sin, so that the evil would not live forever in us, since he rose immortal among the immortals; but we, wounded and sick with our own disease, live a long time in the way of our own healing, as if always carrying a great disease in our weak and mortal bodies because of sin.

64.34.5 | διὸ δὴ καλῶς καλῶς ταύτην πρὸς σωτηρίαν καὶ ψυχῆς καὶ σώματος φαρμακευτικῆς | τρόπον καθάρσεως τὸν θάνατον ὁ θεὸς ἠΰρατο, ἵνα πανάμωμοι καὶ ἀσινεῖς οὕτως ἐξεργασθῶμεν.

64.34.5 | Therefore, truly, God found death as a kind of medicine for salvation and healing of both soul and body, a way of cleansing, so that we might work out completely pure and blameless.

Section 35

64.35.1 | 35. Φέρε γάρ, ἐπειδὴ πολλῶν δεῖ τῶν περὶ τὰ τοιαῦτα παραδειγμάτων, έντεῦθεν αὐτὰ νάλιστα σκετώμεθα, μὴ ἀφιστάμενοι, πρὶν ἂν πρῶτον εἰς εὐδηλοτέραν ἐρμηνείαν ἀποτελεωτήσῃ καὶ ἀπόδειξιν ὁ λόγος.

64.35.1 | Bring, then, since many examples are needed about such things, let us consider these here plainly, not turning away, before the word finishes first with a clearer explanation and proof.

64.35.2 | φαίνεται τοίνυν ὥσπερ εἰ τις δημιουργὸς ἄκρος ἄγαλμα καλὸν ἀπὸ χρυσοῦ κατεσκευασμένον ἢ ὕλης ἐτέρας αὐτῷ καὶ πάῃ τὰ μέλη συμμέτρως εἰς κάλλος διακεκοσμημένον πάλιν χωνεῦσι, λελωβημένον ἄφρων θεασάμενος 1)710 τινος ἀνθρώπου πονηροτάτου, ὃς οὐκ

64.35.2 | It seems then, just like a skilled maker who has made a beautiful statue out of gold or some other material, with all its parts carefully shaped in balance and beauty, suddenly sees it damaged by a very bad person, who did not bring any evil eye, the statue shatters, losing its beauty, ένεγκών ὑτὸ βασκανίας | εὐπρεP550 Tzkc, εἶναι τὸ ἄγαλμα ἐσίνατο, ματαίαν ἡδονὴν καρπιζόμενος τοῦ φθόνου. πρόσσυχες γάρ, ὧ σοφώτατε Ἀγλαοξῶν, ὅτι, εἰ βούλοιτο μὴ μὴ εἶναι μένον ὅλως ὁ δημιουργὸς καὶ ψεκτὸν τὸ μετὰ τοσαύτης αὐτῷ δπουδῆς τε καὶ φροντίδος πεπονημένον, πάλιν προτραπήσεται συγχωνεύσας αὐτὸ τοιοῦτο ποιεῖν οἷον καὶ πρόσθεν ἦν.

gaining empty pleasure from envy. Pay attention, most wise Aglaoxon, that if the maker wished the statue not to exist at all, and it was blameworthy after so much work and care, he would again melt it down and turn it back into something like it was before.

64.35.4 | εἰ Τε μὴ ἀναχωνεύοι μηδὲ ἀνασκευάζοι, ἐφ' ᾧ δὲ οὕτως μένειν, <μόνον> θεραπεύων αὐτὸ καὶ ἐπανορθούμενος, δὴ πυρακτούμενον καὶ χαλκεύμενον τὸ ἄγαλμα μηκέτι δύνασθαι διατηρηθῆναι τὸ αὐτὸν, ἀλλὰ διηλλαγμένον ἔσεσθαι καὶ ὑπεσπασμένον.

64.35.4 | If he did not melt it down again or reshape it, it would stay that way, only healing it and looking over it, as if the statue, being heated and worked on with bronze, could no longer stay the same, but would be changed and pulled apart.

64.35.5 | διὰ τοῦτο εἰ βούλοιτο ὅλον καλὸν αὐτὸ καὶ ἄμωμον εἶναι τὸ ἔργον, ἀναθλᾶσθαι αὐτὸ καὶ ἀναχωνεύεσθαι δεῖ, ὅπως τὰ μὲν αἴσχη καὶ τὰ ἀλλοιώματα πάντα τὰ ἐξ ἐπιβουλῆς αὐτῷ καὶ φθόνου ὑπάρξαντα αὐτὰ μὲν διὰ τῆς ἀνασκυῆς καὶ ἀναχωνεύσεως ἀπόληται, τὸ δὲ εἰς τὸ ἑαυτοῦ εἶδος ἀσινὲς καὶ ἀκίβδηλον αὐτίς ἄγαλμα ὁμοιότατον ἑαυτῷ κατασταθῇ.

64.35.5 | Because of this, if he wanted the work to be completely beautiful and perfect, it must be melted down and reshaped, so that all the ugly parts and changes caused by envy and trickery would be lost through remaking and melting, and a new statue, pure and true to its own form, would be made again, very much like the original.

64.35.6 | τῷ μὲν γὰρ ἀγάλματι ἀπολέσθαι οὐκ ἔστιν ὑπὸ τῷ αὐτῷ τεχνίτῃ ὄντι, κἂν πάλιν εἰς ὕλην λυθῇ, ἀποκατασταθῆναι δὲ ἔστι· τοῖς δὲ αἴσχεσι καὶ λωβήμασιν ἀπολέσθαι μὲν ἔστιν τήκονται γάρ), ἀποκατασταθῆναι δὲ οὐκ ἔστι, διὰ τὸ ἐν πάσῃ τέχνῃ τὸν ἄριστον δημιουργὸν μὴ πρὸς τὸ αἴσχιον ἢ ἐπιτευχθησόμενον ὁρᾶν, ἀλλὰ πρὸς τὸ σύμμετρον καὶ εὐρὲς τοῦ δημιουργουμένου.

64.35.6 | For the statue cannot be lost by the same craftsman, even if it is broken down into material again, it can be restored; but the ugly parts and damage can be lost because they melt away, yet they cannot be restored, because in every craft the best maker does not look toward the worse or what might happen, but toward the balanced and beautiful of what is being made.

64.35.7 | ταύτὸν γὰρ φαίνεται δὴ μοι καὶ ἐφ' ἡμῶν ὁ θεὸς διωκονομηκέναι. τὸν γὰρ ἄσθθρωπον, τὸ εὐπρεπέστατον ἑαυτοῦ τέχνημαι, βασκάνοις ἐπιβουλαῖς φθόνου κεκακωμένον ἰδὼν οὐκ ἡνέσχετο τοιοῦτον καταλείψαι φιλόανθρωπος ὢν, — ὅπως μὴ δι' αἰῶνος εἶη μεμωμημένος, ἀθάνατον ἔχων ἐν ἑαυτῷ τὸν ψίγον, ἀλλὰ διέλυσεν εἰς ὕλην πάλιν, ἵνα διὰ τῆς ἀναπλάσεως ἐκτικῶαι καὶ ἐξαρφανισθῶσι πάντα τὰ ἐν αὐτῷ μωμήματα.

64.35.7 | It seems to me that the god has done the same for us. For seeing the human, the most beautiful work of his own, harmed by evil, jealous, and plotting enemies, he did not endure to leave it that way, being kind to humans—so that it would not be blamed forever, having the smallest part of immortality in itself. Instead, he broke it down into material again, so that through remaking, all the faults in it might be removed and wiped away.

64.35.8 | τὸ γὰρ ἐκεῖ ἀναχωνευθῆναι τὸν ἀνδριάντα, τοῦτο ἐνταῖθα τὸ ἀποθανεῖν καὶ διαλθῆναι τὸ σῶμα, τὸ δὲ ἐκεῖ ἀναμορφοποιηθῆναι τὴν ὕλην ἢ ἀνακοσμηθῆναι, τοῦτο ἐνταῦθα τὸ ἀναστῆναι,

64.35.8 | For there, to melt down the statue means here to die and the body to pass away; but there, to reshape or refashion the material means here to rise again.

64.35.9 | ὥσπερ καὶ ὁ προφήτης Ἰερεμίας τούτοις γὰρ] ἤδη καὶ αὐτὸς ὥδε τὰ αὐτὰ παρεγγυᾷ »καὶ κατίβην« λέγων ἑῷ τὸν οἶκον τοῦ κεραμέως, καὶ ἰδοὺ, αὐτὸς ἐποίει ἔργον ἐπὶ τῶν λίθων· καὶ διέπεσε τὸ ἀγγεῖον ὃ αὐτὸς ἐποίει ἐν ταῖς χερσὶν αὐτοῦ καὶ πάλιν ἐποίησεν αὐτὸ ἀγγεῖον ἕτερον, καθὼς ἤρεσεν ἐνώπιον αὐτοῦ ποιῆσαι. καὶ ἐγένετο λόγος κυρίου Ἰ πρὸς με λέγων· εἰ καθὼς ὁ κεραμεὺς οὗτος οὐ δύνησομαι P551 τοῦτο ποιῆσαι ὁμᾶς, οἶκος τοῦ Ἰσραὴλ; ἰδοὺ, ὡς ὁ πηλὸς τοῦ κεραμέως υμεῖς εστέ ἐν ταῖς χερσὶ μου«.

64.35.9 | Just as the prophet Jeremiah also gave the same message with these words: 'I will go down to the potter's house,' and look, he himself was making a work on the wheel; and the jar he was making in his hands broke, so he made another jar again, as it pleased him to make in front of him. And the word of the Lord came to me, saying: 'Can I not do with you, house of Israel, as this potter does? Look, you are like clay in the potter's hands.'

Section 36

64.36.1 | 36. Πρόσσχες γὰρ ὅπως, ὡς ἔφην, μετὰ τὸ παραβῆναι τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἢ

64.36.1 | Pay attention, for as I said, after the man had sinned, the great hand did not μεγάλη χεὶρ εἰς νῆκος καταλεῖψαι τὸ ἑαυτῆς ἔργον οὐκ ἠὺδόκησεν ὥς κίβδηλον τῷ πονηρῷ ἀδίκως αὐτὸ λυμνηαμένῳ βασκάνοις αἰτίαις, ἀλλὰ πρὸς τὸ ἀφανισθῆναι μὲν διὰ τῆς ἀναπλάσεως πάντα ἐν ἐν αὐτῷ αἴσχη καὶ θλάσματα, γενηθῆναι δὲ τὸ πᾶν ἄνωθεν ἀμέμπτως ἄρεστόν.

want to leave its work defeated, falsely blamed by evil enemies without cause. Instead, through remaking, all the shame and broken parts in him were to be destroyed, and the whole was to be made again from the start, blameless and pleasing.

64.36.2 | »ἢ οὐκ ἔχει ἐξουσίαν ὁ κεραμεὺς τοῦ πηλοῦ ἐκ τοῦ αὐτοῦ φυράματος ποιῆσαι σκεῦος, ὃ μὲν εἰς τιμὴν ὃ δὲ εἰς ἀτιμίαν; 6 δὴ ἐστὶ (τοῦτο γὰρ πασὶν ὁ ἀπόστολός μοι δηλοῦν φαίνεται)· μή μή τι ἐξουσίαν οὐκ ἔχει ὁ θεὸς ἀπὸ τῆς ὕλης ἐκάστου τῆς αὐτῆς ἀναπλάσας καὶ ἀνακοσμήσας ἰδίως ἕκαστον ἢ εἰς τιμὴν ἡμῶν ἀνκοσῆσαι καὶ δοῦναι ἢ εἰς ἀτιμίαν καὶ κατάκρισιν; εἰς ἀτιμίαν μὲν τῶν ἐν ἁμαρτίαις φαύλως βιωσάντων, εἰς τιμὴν τιμὴν τῷ ἐν δικαιοσύνῃ.

64.36.2 | “Does the potter not have power over the clay to make from the same lump one vessel for honor and another for dishonor?” Certainly, this is so (for the apostle seems to show this to all). Could it be that God does not have power, after remaking and reshaping each material, to make some for our honor and glory, and others for dishonor and judgment? For dishonor, those who lived badly in sins; for honor, those who live in righteousness.

64.36.3 | καθάπερ ἐδηλώθη καὶ τῷ Δανιὴλ »καὶ πολλοὶ τῶν καθευδόντων ἐν γῆς χώματι« λέγοντι »ἐξεγερθήσονται, οὗτοι εἰς ζωὴν αἰώνιον καὶ οὗτοι εἰς ὀνειδισμόν καὶ αἰσχύνην αἰώνιον, καὶ οἱ συνιέντες ἐκγάμψουσιν ὥς ἡ λαμπρότης τοῦ στερεώματος».

64.36.3 | Just as it was also shown in Daniel, “And many of those sleeping in the dust of the earth,” he says, “will rise, some to eternal life, and some to eternal shame and disgrace, and those who understand will shine like the brightness of the sky.”

64.36.4 | ἐφ’ ἡμῖν γὰρ οὐ τὸ ἀφανέσαι τὴν ῥίζαν τελείως τῆς πονηρίας, ἀλλὰ τὸ μὴ πρὸς ἕκτασιν αὐτὴν ἑᾶσα φῦναι καὶ καρποφορεῖν. ἡ μὲν γὰρ καθόλου καὶ καὶ παντελικὴ αὐταῖς αὐτῆς ἀναίρεσις τε καὶ ἀπώλεια ὑπὸ τοῦ θεοῦ κατὰ τὴν τοῦ σώματος ὥς εἴρηται διάλυσιν γίγνεται, ἡ δὲ ἐκ μέρους πρὸς τὸ μὴ οἶσαι βλαστὸν ὑφ’

64.36.4 | For it is not up to us to completely destroy the root of evil, but to not let it grow and bear fruit beyond measure. For its total and complete removal and destruction by God happens through the breaking down of the body, as has been said, but partial removal is up to us so that it does not sprout.

64.36.5 | καὶ διὰ τοῦτο τὸν ἐκθρέψαντα πρὸς αὕξησιν αὐτὴν μᾶλλον καὶ μέγεθος, ἀλλὰ μὴ στειρώσαντα τὸ ὅσον ἐπ' αὐτῷ καὶ συμπισῆσαντα ἀνάγκη διδόναι δίκην, ὅτι δυνάμενος· καὶ ἔχων πρὸς τοῦτο τὴν ἐξουσίαν εἴλατο τὸ βλάπτον πρὸ τοῦ συμφέροντος μᾶλλον τιμῆσαι.

64.36.5 | And because of this, the one who crushed it allowed it to grow more and increase in size, but did not make it barren as much as was necessary, and had to give punishment, since he was able; and having the power for this, he chose to harm before honoring what was more beneficial.

Section 37

64.37.1 | 37. Ὡστε μηδεὶς, αὐτός αἴτιος ὢν, ἀκολάστῳ γλώσσει μεμφέσθω τὴν θεῖαν φύσιν, ὡς οὐκ ἐν δίκῃ διανέμουσιν ἐκάστῳ κακίας ἢ ἀρετῆς τὰ ἀμοιβαῖα. »τίς γὰρ εἶ, ὦ ἄνθρωπε, ὁ ἀνταποκρινόμενος τῷ θεῷ; μὴ ἐρεῖ τὸ πλάσμα τῷ πλάσαντι, τί με ἐποίησας οὕτως; πῶς γάρ; γάρ;

64.37.1 | So no one, being the cause themselves, should blame the divine nature with a harsh tongue, as if it does not give out to each one justly the mutual share of badness or goodness. "For who are you, human, answering back to God? Should not the thing made say to the maker, 'Why did you make me like this?'" How indeed? How?

64.37.2 | αὐτοδεσπότης βουλῇ κακίαν εἴλατο. διὸ καὶ οὐ λέξει <ἐν> δόγμασιν ἀπαραλλάκτοις κρίνονται τῷ θεῷ, τί με ἐποίησας οὕτως κατακριθέντα εἰς τὸ ἀλγύνεσθαι;

64.37.2 | He chose evil by his own will. Therefore, he will not say in unchanging commands, judging God, 'Why did you make me like this,' after being judged to suffer?

64.37.3 | πρόσσχες γὰρ ὅπως ὥσπερ ἀκοντιστῆς ὁ ἀπόστολος δεινῶς συνεστραμμένα ῥήματα τῶν λόγων εἰς μέσον ἐμβαλὼν ἀσαφῆ μὲν καὶ ἐπικεκαλυμμένην ποιεῖται εἰς βάθος τῶν ἀναγνωσμάτων τὴν ἐξεργασίαν, ἀληθεστάτην δὲ καὶ ὀρθόδοξον καὶ μηδὲν ἔχουσιν ἀπημελημένον ἢ δύσφημον.

64.37.3 | Pay attention, for just like a javelin thrower, the apostle sharply throws twisted words into the middle, making the explanation of the readings unclear and hidden deep, but most true and right, and having nothing neglected or wrong.

64.37.4 | τοῖς μὲν γὰρ μὴ μετὰ σπουδῆς, ἀλλὰ ἀγεννῶς ἐγκύπτουσι τοῖς λόγοις ἀσυνάτρητα ἔσθ' ὅτε καὶ ἀσύμφωνα λέγειν, τοῖς δ' αὖ σπουδαίνως καὶ λογισμῷ νήφοντι ὁπόσης τάξεως ἔμπλεα καὶ ἀληθείας.

64.37.4 | For those who do not listen carefully but carelessly, the words are confusing and sometimes even contradictory. But for those who listen carefully and with clear thinking, they are full of order and truth.

64.37.5 | Δι' ἀκπτερείας μὲν οὖν περὶ τούτων διεξείναι τὰ νῦν ἱκανὸν ἂν γένοιτο αὐτὸ καθ' ἑαυτὸ μόνον ἔργον. καὶ γὰρ γελοῖον καταλείψαντάς σου τὴν σκέψιν, ἧς ἔνεκα ταύτην ἐστειλάμεθα, εἰς ἄλλα μετίναι.

64.37.5 | Because of carelessness, it would be enough now to explain these things by themselves alone. And since you left your thought behind foolishly, this is why we sent you to turn to other things.

64.37.6 | ταῦτα γὰρ ἡμῖν εἴρηται διὰ τὴν ἐθελοκακούντων τιμωρὸν τιμωρὸν δίκην. ἀποδειχθέντος τοίνυν ἐνδηλότατα τὸν θάνατον τῷ ἀνθρώπῳ μεμηχανῆσθαι μὴ ἐπὶ κακῷ τινι ἀλλὰ *, χρὴ λοιπὸν τὸν μὴ φαύλως τούτοις ἐγκύπτοντα περὶ τῆς ἀναστάσεως νοεῖν τοῦ σώματος.

64.37.6 | For these things have been said to us as a punishment for those who do wrong on purpose. Since it has been shown very clearly that death was not planned for a person for some evil, it is necessary now for anyone who does not carelessly listen to these things to think about the resurrection of the body.

64.37.7 | πῶς γὰρ οὐκ ὠφέλιμος ὁ θάνατος, διαφθείρων ἡμῶν τὰ ληΐζοντα τὴν φύσιν; εἰ καὶ παρὰ τὸν καιρὸν ἐπαχθής, καθ' ὃν προσφέρεται, <εἶναι> δοκεῖ καθάπερ αὐδτηρότατον τοῦ νοσοῦντι φάρμακον.

64.37.7 | For how could death not be helpful, destroying what steals from our nature? Even if it is hated at the time it comes, it seems to be like the bitterest medicine to the one who is sick.

64.37.8 | καὶ ἵνα μὴ πολλάκις τὰ αὐτὰ περὶ τῶν αὐτῶν διαλεγώμεθα, φέρε καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς ὥδῆς ἔτι τοῦ Δευτερονομίου βεβαιώσαντες τὸν λόγον ἴωμεν τὰ ἐξῆς διαληψόμενοι.

64.37.8 | And so that we do not talk many times about the same things, bring also from the song of Deuteronomy, confirming the word, let us go on to the following by taking them.

Section 38

64.38.1 | 38. Τὸ γάρ »ἐγὼ ἀποκτενῶ καὶ ζῆν ποιήσω, πατάξω κάγῳ ἰάγῳ ἐάσομαι, καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν ὃς ἐξελεῖται ἐκ τῶν χειρῶν μου« λεγόμενον ὑπὸ τοῦ θεοῦ τί ἄλλο διδάσκειν βούλεται ἢ ὅτι διὰ τοῦτο τὸ σῶμα πρῶτον ἀποκτεννύται καὶ θνήσκει, ἵνα αὖθις ἀνασταθῇ καὶ ζήσῃ;

64.38.1 | For the saying “I will kill and make alive, I will strike and I will heal, and no one can be taken out of my hands,” spoken by god, what else does it want to teach than that for this reason the body is first killed and dies, so that again it may be raised and live?

64.38.2 | πατάσσεται πρῶτον καὶ θραύεται, ἵνα σῶρον αὖθις πλασθῇ καὶ ὑγιές.

64.38.2 | It is struck first and broken, so that again it may be made whole and healthy.

64.38.3 | καὶ οὐδὲν ἐξελέσθαι ὅλως τὸ σύνολον τῆς μεγάλης καὶ κραταιᾶς αὐτοῦ κειρὸς πρὸς ἀπώλειαν καὶ ὄλεθρον σθένει, οὐ πῦρ, οὐ δάνατος, οὐ σκότος, οὐ χάος, χάος, οὐ φθορά.

64.38.3 | And nothing at all of the whole of his great and strong power can be taken away to destruction and ruin, not fire, not a spear, not darkness, not chaos, not decay.

64.38.4 | »τίς γὰρ ἡμᾶς« φησὶν »χωρίσει ἀπὸ τῆς ἀγάπης τοῦ Χριστοῦ« I (ὃς ἐρμηνεύεται χεὶρ τοῦ πατρὸς καὶ λόγος), »θλίψις ἢ στενοχωρία ἢ διωγμὸς ἢ λιμὸς ἢ γυμνότης ἢ κίνδυνος ἢ μάχαιρα; καθὼς γέγραπται· ἕνεκεν σοῦ θανατούμεθα ὅλην τὴν ἡμέραν, ἐλογίσθημεν ὡς πρόβατα σφαγῆς· ἀλλ’ ἐν τούτοις πᾶσιν ὑπερνικῶμεν διὰ τοῦ ἀγαπήσαντος ἡμᾶς«.

64.38.4 | “For who,” he says, “will separate us from the love of Christ” (which is explained as the hand of the father and the word), “trouble or hardship or persecution or famine or nakedness or danger or sword? As it is written: For your sake we are killed all day long, we are thought of as sheep to be slaughtered; but in all these things we overcome through the one who loved us.”

64.38.5 | ἀληθέστατα· ἵνα πληρωθῇ, καθὼς ἔφην, τό »ἐγὼ ἀποκτενῶ καὶ ζῆν ποιήσω, πατάξω κάγῳ ἐάσομαι, καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν ὃς ἐξελεῖται« »ἡμᾶς ἀπὸ τῆς ἀγάπης τοῦ θεοῦ τῆς ἐν Χριστῷ« πρὸς ἀπώλειαν. διὸ καὶ »ἐλογίσθημεν ὡς πρόβατα σφαγῆς«, ἵνα »ἀποθανόντες τῇ ἁμαρτίᾳ ζήσωμεν τῷ θεῷ«.

64.38.5 | Most truly; so that it may be fulfilled, as I said, the “I will kill and make alive, I will strike and I will spare, and there is no one who will take away” “us from the love of God in Christ” to destruction. Therefore also “we are thought of as sheep to be slaughtered,” so that “having died to sin, we may live to God.”

64.38.6 | καὶ ταῦτα μὲν μέχρι τοσούτου | διεσκέφθω· τὰ δὲ συνεχῇ τούτοις ὧδε πάλιν προχειD633 ριστεον.

64.38.6 | And these things let them be considered up to this point; but the things continuous with these, again, should be set forth like this.

Section 39

64.39.1 | 39. εἰ πᾶν τὸ γεννώμενον νοδεῖ προτείνει γὰρ οὕτως ὁ ἐξ ἐναντίας) καὶ κατὰ τὴν γένεσιν καὶ κατὰ τὴν τροφήν (ἀπὸ τῶν προσιόντων φησίν, αὖζεται καὶ ἀπὸ τῶν ἀπιόντων ἐλαττοῦται), τὰ δὲ μὴ γεννώμενα ὑγιαίνει, ὅτι μὴ νοσεῖ, μηδὲ προσδεῖται ἢ ἐπιθυμεῖ, ἐπιθυμεῖ δὲ τὰ γεννώμενα καὶ συνουσίας καὶ τροξῆς, τὸ δὲ ἐπιθυμεῖν βισεῖν ἐστὶ, τὸ δὲ μὴ δεῖσθαι Με ἐπιθυμεῖν ὑγιαίνειν, νοδεῖ δὲ τὰ γεννώμενα ὅτι ἐπιθυμεῖ, τὰ δὲ μὴ γεννώμενα μενα οὐ νοσεῖ, πάσχει δὲ τὰ νοσοῦντα ἢ κατὰ πλήθος ἢ ἔνδειαν τῶν προσγιγνομένων καὶ ἀπογιγνομένων, τὸ δὲ πάσχον καὶ φθίνει καὶ ἀπόλλυται, ται, διόπερ καὶ γεννᾶται, γεννᾶται δὲ ὁ ἄνθρωπος, — οὐ δύναται ἄρα ἀπαθὴς εἶναι ὁ ἄνθρωπος καὶ ἀθάνατος.

64.39.1 | If everything that is born grows, for it stretches out this way, both against and according to its birth and nourishment (it grows from what comes in, it lessens from what goes away), but what is not born stays healthy because it does not get sick, nor does it need or desire anything; it desires what is born, both company and food, and to desire is to be alive, but not to need is to be healthy. What is born knows it desires; what is not born does not get sick.
What is sick suffers either from too much or too little of what comes in and goes away; what suffers also wastes away and dies. This is why a human is born—so a human cannot be without feelings and immortal.

64.39.2 | καταπίπτει μὲν οὖν καὶ ἐπὶ τούτοις αὐτοῖς ὁ λόγος. εἰ γὰρ πᾶν τὸ γιγνόμενον ἢ γεννώμενον ἀπόλλυται (διαφέρει γὰρ οὐδὲν οὕτως εἰπεῖν, ἐπειδὴ καὶ οἱ πρωτόπλαστοι ἐγεννήθησαν, ἀλλ’ ἐγενήθησαν), γενητοὶ δὲ καὶ οἱ ἄγγελοι καὶ αἱ ψυχαὶ »ὁ ποιῶν, γὰρ φησιν, τοὺς ἄγγέλους αὐτοῦ πνεύματα«), ἀπόλλυνται ἄρα οἱ ἄγγελοι κατ’ αὐτοὺς καὶ αἱ ψυχαί.

64.39.2 | So the argument also falls on these very points. For if everything that comes into being or is born is destroyed (it makes no difference to say it this way, since even the first humans were born, but they came into being), then the angels and souls, which are also created (for he says, ‘he makes his angels spirits’), would also be destroyed according to this.

64.39.3 | ἀλλ’ οὔτε οἱ ἄγγελοι οὔτε αἱ ψυχαὶ ἀπόλλυνται. ἀθάνατα γὰρ ταῦτα καὶ

64.39.3 | But neither the angels nor the souls are destroyed. For these are immortal ἀδάμαστα, καθὼς ὁ ποιήσας εἶναι βεβούλευται. ἀθάνατος ἄρα καὶ ὁ ἄνθρωπος.

and indestructible, just as the maker has decided they should be. So a human is immortal too.

64.39.4 | οὐκ ἄρεστον δὲ <οὐδ'> ἐκεῖνο, τὸ λέγειν εἰς ἄρδην ἀπολεῖσθαι τὸ πᾶν, καὶ γῆν καὶ ἀέρα καὶ οὐρανὸν μὴ ἔσεσθαι. ἐκπυρωθήσεται μὲν γὰρ πρὸς κάθαρσιν καὶ ἀνακαινισμόν καταβασίῳ πᾶς ὁ κόσμος κατακλυζόμενος πυρί, οὐ μὴν εἰς ἀπώλειαν ἐλεύσεται παντελεῖ καὶ φθοράν.

64.39.4 | It is not pleasing either to say that everything will be completely destroyed, and that there will be no earth, air, or sky.
For the whole world will be burned up for cleansing and renewal by fire flooding down, but it will not come to total destruction and ruin.

64.39.5 | εἰ γὰρ κρεῖττον τὸ μὴ εἶναι τοῦ εἶναι τὸν κόσμον, διὰ τί τὸ χεῖρον ἡρεῖτο ποιήσας σὰς τὸν κόσμον ὁ θεός; ἀλλ' οὐδὲν ὁ θεὸς ματαιῶς ἢ χεῖρον ἐποίει. οὐκοῦν εἰς τὸ καὶ καὶ μένειν τὴν κτίσιν ὁ θεὸς διεκοσμήσατο,

64.39.5 | For if it is better for the world not to be than to be, why would God, the maker, choose the worse? But God does nothing in vain or worse. Therefore, God arranged creation to remain as it is.

64.39.6 | καθάπερ καὶ ἡ σοφία συνίστησιν »ἔκτισε γὰρ εἰς τὸ εἶναι« λέγουσα »τὰ πάντα ὁ θεὸς καὶ σωτήριοι οἱ γεννέσεις τοῦ κόσμου καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν ἐν αὐταῖς φάρμακον ὀλέθρου«.

64.39.6 | Just as wisdom says, “for God made everything to be,” and “the births of the world are saving, and there is no trace of ruin in them.”

64.39.7 | καὶ ὁ Παῦλος δὲ σαφῶς μαρτυρεῖ μαρτυρεῖ λέγων »ἡ γὰρ ἀποκαταδοκία τῆς κτίσεως τὴν ἀποκάλυψιν τῶν υἱῶν τοῦ θεοῦ ἀπεκδέχεται. τῇ γὰρ ματαιότητι ἡ κτίσις ὑπετάγη οὐχ ἑκοῦσα, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὸν ὑποτάξαντα ἐπ' ἐλπίδι, ὅτι καὶ αὐτὴ ἡ κτίσις ἐλευθερωθήδεται ἀπὸ τῆς δουλείας τῆς φθορᾶς εἰς τὴν ἐλευθερίαν τῆς δόξης τῶν τέκνων τοῦ θεοῦ«.

64.39.7 | And Paul clearly testifies, saying, “For the creation eagerly waits for the revealing of the sons of God. For creation was subjected to futility, not by its own choice, but by the one who subjected it, in hope, that creation itself will be set free from the slavery of decay into the freedom of the glory of the children of God.”

64.39.8 | »τῇ γὰρ ματαιότητι, φησίν, ἡ κατίσις ὑπετάγη«, ἐλευθερωθήσεται δὲ τῆς τοιαύτης δουλείας προσδοκᾷ, κτίσιν τὸν κόσμον τοῦτον βουλόμενος νῦν καλεῖν· οὐ γὰρ τὰ μὴ βλεπόμενα τῇ φθορᾷ δουλεύει, ἀλλὰ ταῦτα δὴ τὰ βλεπόμενα.

64.39.8 | “For creation was subjected to futility,” he says, and it hopes to be set free from such slavery. The world, which is creation, he wants to call now. For it is not the things unseen that serve decay, but these very things that are seen.

64.39.9 | μενα. μένει ἄρα ἡ κτίσις τὸ ἄμεινον ἀνακαινοποιηθεῖσα καὶ εὐπρεπέστερον, ἀγαλλομένη καὶ χαίρουσα ἐπὶ τοῖς τέκνοις τοῦ θεοῦ > τῇ ἀναστάσει, δι’ οὗς στενάζει καὶ συνωδίνει νῦν, τὴν ἀπολύτρωσιν ἡμῶν ἀπὸ τῆς φθορᾶς καὶ καὶ τοῦ σώματος ἐκδεχομένη,

64.39.9 | So creation remains, renewed to something better and more beautiful, rejoicing and glad over the children of God at the resurrection, for whom it groans and suffers now, waiting for our release from decay and also from the body.

64.39.10 | ὅπως ἡμῶν ἐγερθέντων καὶ ἀποτιναξαμένων τὴν νεκρότητα τῆς σαρκὸς κατὰ τὸ γεγραμμένον »ἐκτίναξαι τὸν χοῦν καὶ ἀνάστηθι καὶ κάθσον, Ἱερουσαλήμ«, ἐλευθερωθέντων τε τῆς ἁμαρτίας ἐλευθερωθήσεται καὶ αὐτὴ τῆς φθορᾶς, μηκέτι τῇ ματαιότητι δουλεύουσα, ἀλλὰ τῇ

64.39.10 | So that when we are raised and shake off the deadness of decay, as it is written, “Shake off the dust and rise, Jerusalem,” then, freed from sin, it will also be freed from decay, no longer serving futility, but serving the...

64.39.11 | δικαιοσύνη »οἶδαμεν γάρ, φησίν, ὅτι πᾶσα ἡ κτίσις συστενάζει καὶ συνωδίνει ἄχρι τοῦ νῦν. οὐ μόνον δέ, ἀλλὰ καὶ αὐτοί, τὴν ἀπαρχὴν τοῦ πνεύματος ἔχοντες, καὶ αὐτοὶ ἐν ἑαυτοῖς στενάζομεν τὴν υἱοθεσίαν ἀπεκδεχόμενοι, τὴν ἀπολύτρωσιν τοῦ σώματος ἡμῶν«.

64.39.11 | service of righteousness. For we know, he says, that all creation groans and suffers together until now. Not only that, but we ourselves, having the first part of the spirit, also groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption as sons, the release of our body.

64.39.12 | καὶ ὁ Ἡσαΐας δέ· »ὄν τρόπον γὰρ ὁ οὐρανὸς καινὸς καὶ ἡ γῆ καινὴ, ἃ ἐγὼ (φησί) ποιῶ, μένει ἐνώπιόν μου, λέγει κύριος, οὕτως τὸ σπέρμα ὑπῶν καὶ τὸ ὄνομα ὑμῶν«. καὶ πάλιν »οὕτως λέγει κύριος ὁ ποιήσας τὸν οὐρανόν, οὗτος θεὸς

64.39.12 | And Isaiah says: “Just as the new heaven and the new earth, which I (he says) make, stand before me,” says the Lord, “so your offspring and your name will stand.” And again: “Thus says the Lord, who made the heaven, this God who formed the

ὁ κατασκευάσας τὴν γῆν καὶ ποιήσας αὐτήν, αὐτὸς διώρισεν αὐτήν, οὐτήν, εἰς κενὸν ἐποίησεν αὐτήν, Μὰ κατοικεῖσθαι».

earth and made it, he himself set it, he made it empty, to be lived in.”

64.39.13 | ὅντως γὰρ οὐκ εἰς κενὸν οὐδὲ εἰς μάτην πρὸς ἀπώγειαν ἄκτισε κατὰ τοὺς φρονοῦντας μάταια τὸ πᾶν ὁ θεός, ἀλλὰ εἰς τὸ εἶναί τε καὶ οἰκεῖσθαι καὶ διαμένειν. διὲν ἀνάγκη δὴ καὶ τὴν γῆν αὖθις καὶ τὸν οὐρανὸν μετὰ τὴν ἐκθλόγῳσιν ἔσεσθαι πάντων καὶ τὸν βρασμόν.

64.39.13 | For truly God did not create everything in vain or empty, to be lost, as those who think vainly suppose, but to be, to be lived in, and to remain. Therefore, the earth and the heaven must again exist after being destroyed, along with all things and the burning.

64.39.14 | διὰ τί δὲ τοῦτο ἀνάγκη, λόγος ἂν ἐτι πλείων τῶν εἰρημμένων γίγνοιτο. οὐτε γὰρ εἰς ὕλην ἀργὴν καὶ τοιαύτην ἔτι κατὰστασιν, οἷα καὶ πρὸ τῆς διακοσμήσεως ἦν, διαλυθὲν ἀναστοιχειωθήσεται τὸ πᾶν οὐτ’ αὖ εἰς ἀπώλειαν παντελεῖ καὶ φθοράν.

64.39.14 | But why this must be, a reason would be more than what has been said. For neither into useless matter, nor into such a state as before the ordering, will everything be dissolved and put back together, nor again into complete destruction and ruin.

Section 40

64.40.1 | Ἐὰν δέ· πῶς οὖν, ἐὰν μὴ ἀπόλλυται τὸ πᾶν, οἱ ἐξ ἐναντίας εἴπωσιν, ὁ μὲν κύριος τὸν οὐρανὸν παρελεύσεσθαι ἔφη καὶ τὴν γῆν, ὁ δὲ προφήτης ἀπολείσθαι μὲν τὸν οὐρανὸν ὡς καπνόν, τὴν δὲ γῆν ὡς ἐμάτιον παλαιωθήσεσθαι;

64.40.1 | But if so, how then, if not all is destroyed, do those who say the opposite speak? One says the Lord said the heaven will pass away and the earth too, and the prophet says the heaven will be destroyed like smoke, and the earth will be worn out like a garment.

64.40.2 | ἐπεισὶ περ ἔθος ταῖς γραθαῖς, λέξομεν, τὴν εἰς τὸ κρεῖττον καὶ ἐνδοξότερον ἀπὸ ταύτης τῆς καταστάσεως τοῦ κόσμου μεταβολὴν ἀπώλειαν λέγειν, οἷον τοῦ πρόσθεν σχήματος ἀπολλυμένου κατὰ τὴν εἰς τὸ φαιδρότερον ἀπάντων ἐξαλλαγὴν· ὅτι μηδεμία ὑπεναντέωσις ἢ

64.40.2 | Since it is the custom with writings, we will say that the change to a better and more glorious state than this world’s order is called destruction, like the loss of the former form in the change of all things into something brighter; so that no contradiction or strangeness is found in ἀτοπία ἐνχοῖ; θείοις λόγοις.

divine words.

64.40.3 | »παράγει γὰρ τὸ σχῆμα τοῦ κόσμου τούτου« καὶ οὐχ ὁ κόσμος εἴρηται. οὕτως ἔθος ἀπώλειαν καλεῖν τὰς γραφὰς τὴν πρὸς τὸ ἄμεινον ἔσθ' ὅτε καὶ εὐμορφότερον τροπὴν τοῦ πρόσθεν σχήματος, οἷον ὥσπερ ὁπότεν τις ἀπώλειαν λέγοι τοῦ κατὰ τὸ νήποιον σχήματος τὴν εἰς τὸν ἄνδρα τὸν τέλειονμεταλλαγὴν, τρεπομένης εἰς μέγεθος καὶ κάλλος τῆς ἡλικίας τοῦ νηπίου.

64.40.3 | "For it says 'the form of this world passes away,' and not the world itself. So it is the custom of the scriptures to call destruction the change toward the better and sometimes more beautiful form than before, like when someone says destruction of the childish form in the change into the perfect man, as it grows in size and beauty from the age of a child."

64.40.4 | »ὅτε γὰρ ἤμην νήπιος, ὡς νήπιος ἐλάλουν, ὡς νήπιος ἐφρόνουν, ὡς νήπιος ἐλογιζόμην, ὅτε δὲ γέγονα ἀνὴρ, κατήργηκα τὰ τοῦ νηπίου«.

64.40.4 | "For when I was a child, I spoke like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child; but when I became a man, I put away the things of a child."

64.40.5 | ταραχθήσεσθαι μὲν γὰρ τὴν κτίσιν ὥσπερ τεθνηζομένην κατὰ τὴν ἐκπύρωσιν, ἵνα καὶ ἀνακτισθῇ, οὐ μὴν ἀπολεῖσθαι προσδοκητέον, ὅπως οἱ ἀνακαινοποιηθέντες ἐν ἀνακαινοποιηθέντι τῷ κόσμῳ ἄγευστοι λύπης κατοικήσωμεν, κατὰ τὸ λεχθέν »ἐξαποστελεῖς τὸ πνεῦμά σου καὶ κατισθήσονται« ἐν ἑκατοστῷ τρίτῳ ψαλμῷ »καὶ ἀνακαινεῖς τὸ πρόσωπον τῆς γῆς«, τοῦ περιέχοντος τῆς εὐκρασίας ἐπιτροπεύοπντος λοιπὸν λοιπὸν τοῦ θεοῦ.

64.40.5 | "For creation will be troubled as if dying in the burning, so that it may be rebuilt; but it must not be expected to be destroyed, as you think, but renewed in the renewed world, so that we may live free from pain, according to what is said: 'You send out your spirit and they are created,' in the one hundred and third psalm, 'and you renew the face of the earth,' which holds and governs the balance of the world by God's power."

64.40.6 | ἐσομένης γὰρ καὶ μετὰ τπῦτον τὸν αἰῶνα γῆς ἀνάγκη πᾶσα ἔσσει καὶ τοὺς οἰκήσοντας, οὐκέτι τεθνηζομένους ἢ γαμήσοντας καὶ γεννησομένους, ἀλλ' ὡς ἀγγέλους ἀμεταστρόθως ἐν ἀφθαρσίᾳ τὰ ἄριστα πράφοντας.

64.40.6 | "For after this age, the earth and all who live on it must be, no longer dying or marrying and having children, but like angels, unchanging, doing the best things in immortality."

64.40.7 | διὸ ληρῶδες τὸ ἐν ποίᾳ διαγωγῇ τότε δὴ τὰ σώματα ἔσονται λέγεσθαι, μήτε ἀέρος μήτε μήτε μήτε τῶν ἄλλων ἐσομένων.

64.40.7 | Therefore, it is foolish to say in what kind of life then the bodies will be, neither of air nor of any other things that will be.

Section 41

64.41.1 | 41. Ἄξιον Τε κάκεῖνο πρὸς τοῖς εἰρημένοις ἐπισκοπεῖν, ὥς ἔχει πολλὴν διάπτωσιν, εἰ δεῖ παρρησίαν ἄγειν περὶ τηλικούτων, ὧς Ἀγλαοφῶν, διαλεγομένους πραγμάτων.

64.41.1 | 41. It is also worth looking closely at that thing among what has been said, since it has much difference, whether we should speak openly about such matters, O Aglaophon, as we talk together.

64.41.2 | φράσας γὰρ ἀποφήνασθαι τὸν κύριον ὥς οἱ τῆς ἀναστάσεως τευξόμενοι ἔσονται τότε ὥς ἄγγελοι, ἔνθα πειράζουσιν αὐτὸν οἱ Σαδδουκαῖοι, ἐπέφερες »οἱ δὲ ἄγγελοι ἐκτὸς ὄντες σαρκὸς ἐν μακαριότητος ἀκρότητι, διὰ τοῦτο καὶ δόξης εἰσὶ, καὶ ἡμᾶς δὲ ἄρα ἐξισάζεσθαι μέλλοντας ἀγγέλοις ἀνάγκη δὴ σαρκῶν ὡσαύτως ἐκείνοις γυμνοὺς ἔσεσθαι δεῖν«, οὐκ ἐπιστήσας, ὧς ἄριστε,

64.41.2 | For having said that the lord showed that those who will have the resurrection then will be like angels, where the Sadducees test him, you brought up, “but the angels, being without flesh, are at the highest happiness, therefore they are also glorious, and so we must be made equal to angels, necessarily, having no flesh just like those,” you did not understand, O best one,

64.41.3 | ὥς ὁ ποιήσας καὶ διακοσμήσας ἐξ οὐκ ὄντων τὸ πᾶν τὴν τῶν ἀθανάτων φύσιν οὐ μόνον εἰς ἀγγέλους καὶ λειτουργοὺς διανείμας ἐκόσμησεν, ἀλλὰ καὶ εἰς ἀρχὰς καὶ ἐξουσίας καὶ θρόνους.

64.41.3 | since the one who made and arranged all things out of nothing did not only put the nature of the immortals into angels and servants, but also into rulers and powers and thrones.

64.41.4 | ἄλλο γὰρ γένος τὸ τῶν ἀγγέλων καὶ ἄλλο τὸ τῶν ἀρχῶν καὶ ἐξουσιῶν, ὅτι μὴ τάγμα ἐν καὶ μία σύστασις καὶ φυλὴ καὶ φατριὰ τῶν ἀθανάτων, ἀλλὰ γένη καὶ φυλαὶ καὶ διαφοραί. καὶ οὔτε τὰ Χερουβὶμ τῆς ἰδίας ἐξιστάμενα φύσεως εἰς τὴν τῶν

64.41.4 | For the kind of angels is different from that of rulers and powers, because the immortals are not one order and one group and tribe and family, but kinds and tribes and differences. And neither do the Cherubim, changing their own nature, turn ἀγγέλων ιδέαν μετασκευάζονται οὔτε αὖ πάλιν εἰς ἑτέραν οἱ ἄγγελοι. εἶναι γὰρ αὐτὰ χρῆ καὶ ὃ εἰσι καὶ ὃ γεγόνασιν.

into the idea of angels, nor again do the angels turn into another. For they must be what they are and what they have become.

64.41.5 | ἀτὰρ καὶ ὁ ἄνθρωπος τὸν κόσμον οἰκεῖν καὶ τῶν ἐν αὐτῷ πάντων ἡγεμονεῦειν κατασταθεὶς ἀπὸ τῆς ἐξ ἀρχῆς διακοσμήσεως, ἀθάνατος ὢν τοῦ εἶναι ἄνθρωπος οὐποτε μεταβληθῆσεται, οὔτε εἰς τὴν τῶν ἀγγέλων οὔτε εἰς τὴν τῶν ἑτέρων μορφήν, ὅτι μηδὲ οἱ ἄγγελοι εἰς τὴν τῶν ἄλλων, τῆς ἐξ ἀρχῆς ιδέας μετακοσμούμενοι, μεταβάλλονται.

64.41.5 | But also the man, having been set to live in the world and to rule over all things in it from the beginning of creation, being immortal, will never change, neither into the form of angels nor into that of others, just as the angels themselves do not change into the form of others, moving away from their original nature.

64.41.6 | ὁ γὰρ Χριστὸς ἦκεν οὐκ εἰς ἑτέραν μεταπλασθῆναι κηρύσσων ἡ μετασκευασθῆναι τὸν ἄνθρωπον φύσιν, ἀλλὰ εἰς ὃ ἦν ἐξ ἀρχῆς πρὸ τοῦ ἐκπεσεῖν ἀθάνατος ὢν.

64.41.6 | For Christ came not to change or transform the nature of man into another, but into what he was from the beginning, being immortal before the fall.

64.41.7 | χρῆ γὰρ ἐν τῷ ἰδίῳ τῆς τάξεως αὐτοῦ τόπῳ τῶν γενητῶν ἕκαστον μένειν, ἵνα πάντα πάντων ὧσι πεπληρωμένα, οὐρανοὶ μὲν ἀγγέλων, θρόνοι δὲ ἐξουσιῶν, φῶτα δὲ λειτουργῶν καὶ οἱ θειότεροι τοποὶ καὶ τὰ ακρατα καὶ ακραιφνη φῶτα τῷ Σεραφίμ, αὐτοὶ παρῆσαν τῇ μεγάλῃ βουλῇ διακρατούσῃ τὸ πᾶν, ὁ δὲ κόσμος ἀνθρώπων.

64.41.7 | For it is necessary that in the proper place of their own order each of the created things remain, so that all may be full of all: the heavens of angels, the thrones of powers, the lights of ministers, and the more divine places and the pure and clear lights of the Seraphim, standing by the great council ruling over all, and the world of humans.

64.41.8 | ἐὰν δὲ μεταβάλλεσθαι δῶμεν τοὺς ἀνθρώπους εἰς ἀγγέλους, ὥρα μεταβάλλεσθαι λέγειν καὶ τοὺς ἀγγέλους εἰς ἐξουσίας καὶ ταύτας εἰς ἄλλο καὶ ἄλλο, ἔστ' ἂν ὁ λόγος ἀναβᾷ εἰς κίνδυνον πέσει.

64.41.8 | But if we allow humans to change into angels, then it is time to say that angels change into powers, and these into something else and something else; the argument would then fall into danger.

Section 42

64.42.1 | 42. Ἄλλ' οὐτε ὡς φαῦλον τεκτηνόμενος ὁ θεὸς τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἢ διαμαρτήσας μαρτήσας αὐτοῦ περὶ τὴν διάπλασιν, ἄγγελον αὐτὸν ὕστερον ἐπενόησε ποιῆσαι μεταγνούς, ὥσπερ οἱ φαυλότατοι τῶν δημιουργῶν, οὐτε ἄγγελον κατ' ἀρχὰς θελήσας ποιῆσαι καὶ μὴ δυνηθεὶς ἄνθρωπον ἔπλασεν.

64.42.1 | But neither did God make man as a worthless craftsman, or after failing in his shaping, later decide to make him an angel, like the worst of makers, nor did he want to make an angel at first and, not being able, made a man.

64.42.2 | ἀσθενὲς τοῦτο γάρ. τί δὴ ποτε οὖν τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἄνθρωπον ἐποίει καὶ οὐκ ἄγγελον, εἴ γε ἄγγελον τὸν ἄνθρωπον καὶ οὐκ ἄνθρωπον γενέσθαι γενέσθαι ἤθελεν; ὡς οὐ δυνάμενος; βλάσφημον <τοῦτο>.

64.42.2 | For this is weak. So why then did he make man a man and not an angel, if he wanted man to become an angel and not a man? Because he was not able? This is blasphemous.

64.42.3 | ἀλλὰ ἀνεβάλλετο περὶ τοῦ κρεῖττονος τὸ χεῖρον ποιῶν; καὶ τοῦτο ἄτοπον. οὐτε γὰρ διασφάλλεται περὶ τὸ ποιεῖν τὸ καλὸν οὐτε ἀναβάλλεται οὐτε ἀδυνατεῖ, ἀλλὰ καὶ ὡς θέλει καὶ ὅτε θέλει τὸ δύνασθαι ἔχει, δύναμις ὢν.

64.42.3 | But did he put off the worse by making the better? And this is also unreasonable. For he neither fails in doing what is good, nor delays, nor is unable; but he has the power to do as he wants and when he wants, being all-powerful.

64.42.4 | οὐκοῦν εἶναι τὸν ἄνθρωπον ἄνθρωπον θέλων ἐξ ἀρχῆς ἔκτισεν. εἰ δὲ θπελων, θέλει δὲ τὸ καλόν, καλὸν δὲ ὁ ἄνθρωπος, ἄνθρωπος δὲ τὸ ἐκ ψυχῆς καὶ σώματος λέγεται συντεθέν, οὐκ ἔσται ἄρα ἔκτος σώματος ὁ ἄνθρωπος, ἀλλὰ μετὰ σώματος, ἵνα μὴ ἄλλος παρὰ τὸν ἄνθρωπον ὁ ἄνθρωπος γεννηθῇ.

64.42.4 | So then, wanting man to be man, he made him from the start. And if he wants, he wants what is good, and man is good. And man is said to be made from soul and body together. So man will not be apart from the body, but with the body, so that no other than man becomes man.

64.42.5 | δεῖ γὰρ τῷ θεῷ τὰ ἀθάνατα γένει πάντα σῶζεσθαι. ἀθάνατον δὲ καὶ ὁ ἄνθρωπος. »ἔκτισε«, γὰρ φησιν ἡ σοφία

64.42.5 | For it is necessary that god saves all immortal kinds. And man is immortal too. For wisdom says, 'god made man for »τὸν ἄνθρωπον ὁ θεὸς ἐπὶ ἀφθαρσίᾳ καὶ εἰκόνα τῆς ἰδίας αἰδιότητος ἐποίησεν αὐτόν«. οὐκ ἄρα ἀπόλλυται τὸ σῶμα· ὁ γὰρ ἄνθρωπος ἐκ ψυχῆς καὶ σώματος.

incorruption and made him in the image of his own eternity.’ So the body does not perish; for man is made from soul and body.

Section 43

64.43.1 | 43. Διὸ ἐπίστησον, ὡς καὶ ὁ κύριος τὰ αὐτὰ ταῦτα διδάσκειν θέλων, μὴ πιστευόντων Σαδδουκαίων εἰς τὴν ἀνάστασιν τῆς σαρκός — δόγμα γὰρ τοῦτο Σαδδουκαίων· ὅθεν συσκευασάμενοι τὴν κατὰ τὴν γυναικὰ καὶ τοὺς ἑπτὰ ἀδελφοὺς παραβολήν, ἵνα τὸν περὶ ἀναστάσεως τῆς σαρκός λόγον ἀποκηρύσσωσι, προσῆλθον αὐτῷ· ἀμέλει αὐτὸς ὁ εὐαγγελιστὴς ἐπεσημύνατο, »προσῆλθον δὲ αὐτῷ« εἰπὼν »καὶ Σαδδουκαῖοι, λέγοντες μὴ εἶναι ἀνάστασιν —

64.43.1 | 43. So he made it clear, just as the lord also wanted to teach these same things, because the Sadducees did not believe in the resurrection of the flesh — for this is the teaching of the Sadducees. So, having prepared the story about the woman and the seven brothers, to deny the teaching about the resurrection of the flesh, they came to him. The gospel writer carefully noted, saying, ‘and the Sadducees came to him, saying there is no resurrection —’

64.43.2 | ὁ οὖν Χριστός, εἰ μὴ ἦν ἀνάστασις σαρκός, ἀλλὰ μόνον ἐσώζετο ψυχὴ, συνέθετο ἂν αὐτοῖς ὡς καλῶς καὶ ὀρθῶς φρονοῦσι. νυνὶ δὲ ἀποκρούεται λέγων »ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει οὔτε γαμοῦσιν οὔτε γαμίσκονται, ἀλλ’ ὡς ἄγγελοι ἐν οὐρανῷ εἰσιν«, οὐ τῷ σάρκα μὴ ἔχειν,

64.43.2 | So then, Christ, if there were no resurrection of the flesh, but only the soul was saved, agreed with them as thinking well and rightly. But now he rejects this, saying, ‘in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven,’ not having a body,

64.43.3 | ἀλλὰ τῷ μὴ γαμεῖν καὶ γαμεῖσθαι, ἀλλὰ εἶναι λοιπὸν ἐν ἀφθαρσίᾳ καὶ φωσίν, ἀγγέλοις κατὰ τοῦτο παραπλησιασθέντας, ἵν’ ὥσπερ οἱ ἄγγελοι ἐν τῷ οὐρανῷ, οὕτως καὶ ἡμεῖς ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ, μήτε γάμοις ἢ εἰλαπίναις ἔτι σχολάζοντες, ἀλλὰ τῷ βλέπειν τὸν θεὸν καὶ γεωργεῖν τὴν ζωὴν πρυτανεύοντος ἡμῖν τοῦ Χριστοῦ.

64.43.3 | but not marrying or being married, but being forever in incorruption and light, made like angels in this way, so that just as the angels are in heaven, so we also are in paradise, no longer busy with marriage or children, but with seeing god and living while Christ rules over us.

64.43.4 | οὐ γὰρ εἶπεν »ἔσονται ἄγγελοι«,

64.43.4 | for he did not say ‘they will be ἀλλ' »ὡς ἄγγελοι«, οἷον »δόξη μὲν καὶ τιμῇ« κατὰ τὸ γεγραμμένον »ἐστεφανωμένοι, βραχὺ δέ τι παρὰ τοὺς ἀγγέλους διαλλάσσοντες« καὶ ἐγγὺς δντες τοῦ εἶναι ἄγγελοι.

angels,' but 'like angels,' just as 'in glory and honor' according to what is written, 'crowned, but for a short time changed a little above the angels,' and being close to being angels.

64.43.5 | καθάπερ εἰ ἔλεγεν, οὔσης εὐταξίας κατὰ τὸν ἀέρα καὶ γαλήνης νυκτὸς καὶ πάντων τῷ τῆς σελήνης αἰθερίῳ φωτὶ κεκοσμημένων· ἡ σελήνη φαίνει ὡς ὁ ἥλιος· καὶ οὐ πάντως ἂν ἥλιον εἶναι τὴν σελήνην ἀπομαρτυρεῖν αὐτὸν ἐλέγομεν, ἀλλ' ὡς ἥλιον,

64.43.5 | just as if he were saying, there is order in the air and calm of the night and everything is decorated with the moon's bright light; the moon shines like the sun; and we do not say the moon is really the sun, but like the sun,

64.43.6 | ὥσπερ καὶ τὸ μὴ ὑπάρχον χρυσός, ἐγγὺς δὲ τοῦ εἶναι χρυσὸς πεφυκὸς ὡς χρυσὸς λέγεται καὶ οὐ χρυσός. εἰ δὲ ἦν χρυσός, οὐκ ἐλέγετο ἂν ὡς χρυσός, ἀλλὰ χρυσός· ἐπεὶ δὲ μὴ ἔστι χρυσός, ἀλλὰ <ἐγγὺς> τοῦ εἶναι χρυσὸς καὶ φαντάζεσθαι χρυσόν, οὐ χρυσὸς ἀλλ' ὡς χρυσὸς λέγεται.

64.43.6 | just like something that is not gold, but close to being gold, is naturally called gold and not gold. if it were gold, it would not be called 'like gold,' but gold; but since it is not gold, but close to being gold and seems gold, it is called not gold but 'like gold.'

64.43.7 | οὕτως καὶ ὡς ἀγγέλους ἔσεσθαι λέγοντος τοὺς ἁγίους ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει, οὐκ αὐτὸ τοῦτο ἀγγέλους αὐτὸν ἐπαγγέλλεσθαι ἀκούομεν τοὺς ἁγίους ἔσεσθαι ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει, ἀλλὰ ἐγγὺς τοῦ εἶναι ἀγγέλους.

64.43.7 | just as when he says the holy ones will be like angels in the resurrection, we do not hear him saying they will be angels themselves, but close to being angels.

64.43.8 | ὥστε ἀλογώτατον τὸ λέγειν, ἐπειδὴ ὁ Χριστὸς ἀπερήνατο τοὺς ἁγίους ὀξθῆναι ὡς ἀγγέλους ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει, τὰ σώματα διὰ τοῦτα μὴ μὴ ἀνίστασθαι, καίτοι τῆς λέξεως αὐτὴν τὴν πρᾶξιν δηλούσης σαφῶς τοῦ συμβαίνοντος.

64.43.8 | so it is most unreasonable to say, since Christ asked if the holy ones will be sharp like angels in the resurrection, that their bodies will not rise because of this, even though the word clearly shows this action of what is happening.

64.43.9 | ἀνάστασις γὰρ οὐκ ἐπὶ τοῦ μὴ πεπτωκότος, ἀλλ' ἐπὶ τοῦ πεπτωκότος λέγεται καὶ ἀνισταμένου· ὥσπερ ὁπότεν λέγει καὶ ὁ προφήτης »καὶ ἀναστήσω τὴν σκηνὴν Δαυὶδ τὴν πεπτωκυῖαν«. ἔπεςε δὲ ὀκλάσασα ἡ ποθητὴ σκηνὴ τῆς ψυχῆς εἰς »γῆν χώματος«. οὐ γὰρ τὸ μὴ θνήσκον, ἀλλὰ τὸ θνήσκον κλίνεται.

64.43.9 | for resurrection is not about what has not fallen, but about what has fallen and is rising; just as when the prophet says, “and I will raise up the fallen tent of David.” the desired tent of the soul fell down broken to the “earth of dust.” for it is not the one who does not die, but the one who dies that is bent.

64.43.10 | θνήσκει δὲ σὰρξ, ψυχὴ γὰρ ἀθάνατος, καὶ τοίνυν εἴ ἡ Μὴ ἀθάνατος, σῶμα δὲ ὁ νεκρός, οἱ λέγοντες ἀνάστασιν μὲν εἶναι, σαρκὸς δὲ μὴ εἶναι, ἀρνοῦνται μὴ εἶναι ἀνάστασιν, ὅτι μὴ τὸ ἐστὸς ἀλλὰ τὸ πεπτωκὸς καὶ κλιθὲν διανίσταται κατὰ τὸ γεγραμμένον »μὴ ὁ πίπτων οὐκ ἀνίσταται ἢ ὁ ἀποστρίφων οὐκ ἀναστρεψεῖ«;

64.43.10 | flesh dies, for the soul is immortal, and so if the soul is not immortal, but the body is dead, those who say there is resurrection but not of the flesh, deny that there is resurrection, because it is not what is standing but what has fallen and been bent that rises again, as it is written, “the one who falls does not rise, nor does the one who turns back return.”

Section 44

64.44.1 | 44. Ὅτι δὲ ἀθάνατος ἡ ψυχὴ ἐδίδαξεν ἀναφανδὸν ὁ κύριος καὶ δι' ἑαυτοῦ καὶ διὰ σολομῶνος εἰπὼν· δι' ἑαυτοῦ μὲν ἐν τῇ κατὰ τὸν πλούσιον καὶ τὸν πένητα λάζαρρον ἱστορίᾳ, τὸν νὺν ἐν κόλποις Ἀβραάμ δεικνὺς ἀναπαύεσθαι μετὰ τὴν ἀπόθεσιν τοῦ σώματος, τὸν δὲ ἐν ἀλγυδίᾳ, δι' ἐκλογίαν τὸν Ἀβραάμ εἰσήγαγε· διὰ Σολομῶνος δὲ ἐν τῇ

64.44.1 | 44. That the soul is immortal the lord clearly taught, both by himself and through Solomon saying; by himself in the story of the rich man and Lazarus, showing the one resting in Abraham's bosom after the body's death, and the other in pain, having a conversation, Abraham brought him in; through Solomon in the...

64.44.2 | ἐπιγραφομένη Σοφία, ἐνθα »δικαίων αἱ ψυχαὶ ἐν χειρί« γέγραπται »θεοῦ, καὶ οὐ μὴ ἄψεται αὐτῶν βάσανος. ἔδοξαν ἐν ὀφθαλμοῖς ἀφθαλμοῖς τεθνάναι καὶ ἐλογίσθη κάκωσις ἡ ἔξοδος αὐτῶν καὶ ἡ ἀφ' ἡμῶν πορεία σύντριμμα·

64.44.2 | book called Wisdom, where it is written, “the souls of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment will touch them.” They seemed to die in the eyes of others, and their leaving was thought to be a disaster and destruction for us.

64.44.3 | οἱ δὲ εἰσιν ἐν εἰρήνῃ, καὶ ἡ ἐπὶς αὐτῶν ἀθανασίας πλήρης». ὁθεν σώματος ἢ ἀνάστασις, καὶ οὐ ψυχῆς. οὐ γὰρ τὸν ἐστῶτά τις ἀνίστησιν, ἀλλὰ τὸν κείμενον, ὥσπερ οὐδὲ τὸν ὑγιαίνοντα θεραπεύουσιν, ἀλλὰ τὸν πάσχοντα.

64.44.3 | But they are in peace, and their hope is full of immortality. Therefore, it is the body that rises, not the soul. For no one raises the one who is standing, but the one who is lying down, just as they do not heal the healthy, but the one who is suffering.

64.44.4 | Εἰ δέ τις τὴν ἀνάστασιν ἐπὶ τῆς ψυχῆς καὶ μὴ ἐπὶ τῆς σαρκὸς βιάζεται λέγειν ἔσεσθαι, πολλὴ μὲ μωρία τοῦτο καὶ ἀλογία. δεῖ γὰρ φθορὰν πρῶτον καὶ λύσιν τὸν τοιοῦτον τῆς ψυχῆς δεικνύναι, ἵνα δεόξῃ δὴ καὶ τὴν ἀνάστασιν, μὴ τοι ληροῦντά γε, ἀλλὰ σαφῶς λέγοντά τι φαίνεσθαι.

64.44.4 | But if anyone forces himself to say that the resurrection is about the soul and not the flesh, this is great foolishness and nonsense. For first, he must show that such a soul is subject to decay and dissolution, so that he may clearly prove the resurrection, not speaking nonsense, but seeming to say something clear.

64.44.5 | ὅμως γοῦν δοτέον αὐτῷ θνητὴν ὀρίσασθαι τὴν ψυχὴν. δυοῖν γάρ τοι θάτερον ἐνταῦθα θετέον, ἢ ἀληθῆ τὸν κύριον ἀποφύνασθαι ἀθάνατον τὴν ψυχὴν διδάσκοντα καὶ ψεῦδος τὸ ξθεῖρεσθαι αὐτὴν λέγοντα ἢ φθεῖρεσθαι καὶ ψεῦδος ψεῦδος τῷ ἀνώλεθρον αὐτὴν ἀθάνατον εἶναι διδάσκειν <λέγειν> τὸν Χριστόν, καὶ ἐν τῇ κατὰ τὸν πλούσιον καὶ τὸν πένητα καὶ ἐν τῇ κατὰ τὸν Μωυσέα καὶ τὸν Ἡλίαν ἀπασιῖα.

64.44.5 | Still, he must at least consider the soul to be mortal. For here, one of two things must be true: either the Lord teaches that the soul is truly immortal and it is false to say it perishes, or it perishes and it is false to say that Christ teaches the soul to be immortal and speaks falsely, both in the story of the rich and the poor, and in the story of Moses and Elijah's appearance.

64.44.6 | ἀλλ' οὐδὲν ὁ κύριος ἄλλως ἐφθέγγετο ἢ ἐψεύσατο. οὐ γὰρ εἶδωλον ἢ φάντασμα, τοὺς ἀποστόλους βουλόμενος ἀπατᾶν, ἐδείκνυνεν αὐτοῖς ἐν τῷ ὄρει τὸν Ἡλίαν καὶ τὸν Μωυσέα, ἀλλ' ὃ ἦσαν ἀψευδῶς· ὥστε, ὡς ἔπος εἰπεῖν, καὶ τὸν δυσμαθέστατον μαθεῖν ἀθάνατον αὐτὸν εἶναι καὶ ἀνώλεθρον διαβεβαιοῦσθαι τὴν ψυχὴν.

64.44.6 | But the lord said nothing else or lied. For he was not showing an image or ghost to trick the apostles, but truly showed them on the mountain Elijah and Moses, so that even the hardest to teach would be sure that the soul is immortal and cannot be destroyed.

Section 45

64.45.1 | 45. Οὐκοῦν σαρκὸς ἡ ἀνάστασις γίγνεται καὶ οὐ ψυχῆς, ὅπως ἡ πεπτωκυῖα τοῦ Δαυὶδ εἰς τὴν φθορὰν ἀνασταίῃ σκηνή, καὶ ἀναστᾶσα καὶ ἀνοικοδομηθεῖσα, καθὼς αἱ ἡμέραι τοῦ αὐῶνος, ἀπήμων λοιπὸν καὶ ἀδιάπτωτος πτωτος διαμένει,

64.45.1 | So then, the resurrection is of the flesh and not of the soul, so that the fallen tent of David may rise again into decay, and having risen and been rebuilt, like the days of the dawn, it will remain safe and unbroken forevermore.

64.45.2 | ὅτι μὴ τῷ θεῷ τὴν λιθίνην οἰκίαν δείμασθαι τοῦ Δαυὶδ ἔμελεν, ἵν' ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ τῶν οὐρανῶν οἰκίαν σχῇ καλήν, ἀλλὰ τὴν σάρκα, τὸ τῆς τῆς ψυχῆς, ἣν αὐτὸς ταῖς ἑαυτοῦ χερσὶν ἐτεκτίνετο.

64.45.2 | Because God did not care about the stone house of David, so that in the kingdom of heaven he might have a beautiful house, but about the flesh, the house of the soul, which he himself formed with his own hands.

64.45.3 | σκοπεῖσθαι δέδε, δε, ὧ σοφώτατε Ἀγλαοξῶν, οὕτως χρή. τάντως δὲ ῥᾶστα μαθήσῃ τοῦτο, ἐὰν ἐπὶ τὴν τοῦ καθεύδειν εἰκόνα προσσχῇ καὶ ἀνίστασθαι. εἰ γὰρ τὸ ὑπνοῦν τοῦ τοῦ ἐγρηγορέναι καὶ τὸ ἀνίστασθαι ἀπὸ τοῦ καθεύδειν γίγνεται καὶ τοῦτο θανάτου καὶ ἀναστάσεως μελέτη »ὑπνωγὰρ καὶ θανάτῳ διδυμάουσιν«, ἀνάγκη δὴ καὶ τὸ ἀναβιώσκεσθαι εἶναι ἐκ τοῦ τεθνάναι εἰς τὸ ζῆν τὴν σάρκα, εἴπερ καὶ τὸ ἀνεγείρεσθαι ἐκ τῶν καθευδόντων.

64.45.3 | You must look carefully, most wise Aglaoxus, for this is how it should be. And you will learn this most easily if you think about the image of sleeping and waking up. For if sleeping is like dying and waking up is like rising again (since sleep and death are twins), then it is necessary that coming back to life from death is like the flesh living again, if indeed rising up is from those who are sleeping.

64.45.4 | ὥς γὰρ ἐκ τοῦ καθεύδειν τὸ ἐγρηγορέναι γίγνεται καὶ οὐ πάντως ὁ καθεύδων ἐν αὐτῷ διαμένει σχήματι Πήματι καθεύδων ἀεὶ, ἀλλ' αὖθις ἀνίσταται, οὕτως καὶ τὸ ζῆν ἐκ τοῦ ἄποθανεῖν συμβήσεται, καὶ ὁ πάντως ὁ ἀποθανών, ἐπειδὴν ἀποθάνει, ἐν τῷ αὐτῷ μένει.

64.45.4 | Just as waking up happens from sleeping, and the one who sleeps does not always stay in the same form, always sleeping in pain, but instead rises again, so living will happen from dying, and the one who dies does not always stay in the same state after dying.

64.45.5 | εἰ γὰρ ἐκ τοῦ κοιμᾶσθαι τὸ ἐγρηγορέναι καὶ ἐκ τοῦ πεσεῖν τὸ ἀνεγερθῆναι καὶ ἐκ τοῦ καταβληθῆναι τὸ ἀνοικοδομηθῆναι, τίς μηχανὴ καὶ ἐκ τοῦ κγιθέντος μὴ οὐχὶ προσδοκᾷ τὸ ἀναστήσεσθαι καὶ ἐκ τοῦ θανόντος τὸ ἀναβιώσεσθαι; καὶ γὰρ ἡμεῖς ταῦτα οὐκ ἔξαπατῶμενοι ὁμολογοῦμεν ἐκ τῶν τεθνεώτων σωμάτων τὸ ἀναβιώσκεσθαι συμβαίνειν.

64.45.5 | For if waking up comes from sleeping, and rising up comes from falling, and being rebuilt comes from being thrown down, what trick is there not to expect rising again from being destroyed, and coming back to life from being dead? For we ourselves, not deceived, agree that coming back to life happens from dead bodies.

64.45.6 | καὶ μὴ μόνον τοῦτο, εἰ βούλει, ἀπὸ τοῦ καθεύδειν σκόπει καὶ ἀνίστασθαι, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀπὸ τῶν σπερμάτων καὶ φυτῶν ὡς ἐν πᾶσιν αὐτοῖς ἡ ἀνάστασις καταγγέλλεται. καταμάθετε γὰρ τὰ σπέρματα, πῶς »γυμνά«, φησὶν, καὶ ἄσαρκα βάλλεται εἰς τὴν γῆν καὶ τελεσφορούμενα πάλιν ἀποδίδονται. ἐπεὶ εἰ θνήσκοι μὴν καὶ σήποιτο τὰ σπέρματα, ἔκ δὲ τῶν σπερμάτων μηκέτι τὸ ἀναζῆν καὶ φύειν γένοιτο, τίς ἡ ἀποκλήρωσις μὴ οὐχὶ πάντα λαταμαωθῆναι εἰς τὸ τεθνάναι;

64.45.6 | And not only this, if you want, look at sleeping and waking up, but also at seeds and plants, how in all of them the rising again is told. For learn about the seeds, how they say they are “naked” and without flesh, thrown into the earth, and when they grow, they are given back again. Since if the seeds died and rotted, then from the seeds there would no longer be coming back to life and growing. What is the result, if not that all things would be destroyed into death?

Section 46

64.46.1 | 46. Ἀλλὰ γὰρ περὶ τούτων πλείω λέγειν τανῦν, ὧ κράτιστε Θεόφιλε, παρήσομεν, καὶ οἱ λοιποὶ κριταὶ τῶν λόγων. λάβωμεν δὲ καὶ τὰ τούτοις ἀφεξῆς ἀκόλουθα, ὡς ἀφέστηκε τοῦ δέοντος μακράν.

64.46.1 | But about these things to say more now, most noble Theophile, we will stop, and the other judges of the words. Let us take also the things that follow after these in order, as it has been left far from what is necessary.

64.46.2 | ὁ θεὸς γὰρ αὐτῷ πάλιν αὐτὰς τὰς ψυχὰς ἐν τῇ κατὰ τὸν ἐξηκοστὸν πέμπτον ψαλμὸν προφητεία βεβιασμένως αὐτὴν καὶ ἀνοικεῖως ἐκτιθεμένῳ, ὡς εἰς παγίδα <εἰς> τὴν σάρκα δίκην ὑφεξούσας τῶν ἡμαρτημένων ἐμβιβάζει, ὅπερ ἀτοπίας

64.46.2 | For god, in the prophecy of the fifty-sixth psalm, forcibly and wrongly puts these souls again to him, as if into a trap and like a punishment into the flesh, sending them down for the sinners to enter, which is more a nonsense than true μᾶλλον ἢ ὀρθοδοξίας ἐστίν.

64.46.3 | εἰ γὰρ πρὸ τῆς παραβάσεως, καθάπερ ἤδη καὶ ἐν τοῖς ἔμπροσθεν ἐξεθέμεθα, σῶμα ἐκέκτηντο αἱ ψυχαί, πῶς > εἰς παγίδα ὕστερον μετὰ τὴν παράβασιν εἰς σῶμα ἀμβιβάζονται, οὐκ ὄντος χρόνῳ ἐν ᾧ πρὶν αὐτὸς τὸ σῶμα λαβεῖ ἐξημάρτοσαν;

64.46.3 | For if before the sin, as we have already shown before, the souls had a body, how is it that later, after the sin, they are sent down into a body as if into a trap, when there was no time before the body itself took them that they sinned?

64.46.4 | οὐ γὰρ ἔμφοροτὲ ὅτε μὲν ὥς διὰ τὸ σῶμα λέγειν τὰς ψυχὰς ἡμαρτηκέναι, ἐτὲ δέ, ἐπειδήπερ ἐμάρτοσαν, διὰ τοῦτο καὶ δεσμὸν αὐτὸ καὶ παγίδα πρὸς κατάκρισιν γεγονέναι.

64.46.4 | For it is never sensible to say that souls sinned because of the body at one time, and then, since they sinned, the body became a prison and trap for punishment.

64.46.5 | εἰ γὰρ διὰ τὸ σῶμα ἤματρον, συνῆν ἄρα ἐξ ἀρχῆς αὐταῖς ταῖς καὶ πρὸ τῆς ἀμαρτίας τὸ σῶμα.

64.46.5 | For if the soul sinned because of the body, then from the very beginning the body was joined to it, even before the sin.

64.46.6 | πῶς γὰρ διὰ τοῦτο ἡμάρτανον, μὴ ἦν μηδέπω; εἰ δὲ παγὶς πάλι αὐτὸ τὸ σῶμα καὶ πέδαι νομίζεται καὶ δεσμὸς, οὐκέτι τὸ συναμφότερον αἴτιον, ἀλλὰ ψυχὴ μόνη.

64.46.6 | For how could they have sinned because of it, if it did not yet exist? But if the body itself is considered a trap and chains and a prison, then it is no longer the joined thing that is guilty, but the soul alone.

64.46.7 | ἀμαρτήσαντι γὰρ μετὰ τὸ ἀμαρτῆσαι [τῷ ἀμαρτήσαντι] δεσμὰ καὶ παγίδες καὶ πέδαι ἀλλὰ μὲν ὁ ὁμολογήσαμεν μὴ δύνασθαι δεσμὸν εἶναι τὸ σῶμα τῆς ψυχῆς, ἐπειδὴ τὸ μὲν σῶμα πρὸς ἐκάτερα, καὶ πρὸς τὸ δίκαιον καὶ ἄδικον, συνεργεῖ, ὁ δὲ δεδμὸς εἴργει τοῦ ἀδικεῖν.

64.46.7 | For after the one who sinned sinned, there are chains and traps and bonds. But we agreed that the body cannot be a bond for the soul, since the body works with both sides, with what is right and what is wrong, while the bond stops someone from doing wrong.

64.46.8 | ὥστε ὅπερ λέγω δυοῖν δάτερον· ἢ γὰρ ἐξ ἀρχῆς ἡμάρτομεν μετὰ σώματος καὶ οὐ φαίνεται χρόνος ἐν ᾧ ἐκτὸς ὑπήρξαμεν σώματος καὶ συνασιτιον τὸ σῶμα καὶ ἀγαθῶν τῇ ψυχῇ καὶ κακῶν, ἢ χωρὶς σώματος διάγοντες ἡμάρτομεν καὶ ἀναίτιον τὸ σῶμα κακίας ἐκ παντός.

64.46.8 | So what I say is one of two things: either from the start we sinned with the body, and no time appears when we existed apart from the body, which shares food and both good and bad with the soul; or living without the body, we sinned, and the body is completely innocent of evil.

64.46.9 | ἀλλὰ χωρὶς σώματος ὑπὸ ἀλόγου ἡδονῆς οὐ κρατεῖται ἡ ψυχὴ, ἐκρατήθησαν δὲ οἱ πρωτόπλαστοι ἀλόγῳ δελεασρέντες ἡδονῇ· ἦν ἄρα ἡ ψυχὴ μετὰ σώματος καὶ πρὸ τῆς ἁμαρτίας. Ἰ περὶ γὰρ δὴ τοῦ μὴ ἐγχαρεῖν αὐτὸ νομίζεσθαι διὰ τὴν παράβασιν δεσμὸν ἐπὶ τιμωρίᾳ γεγονός, ἵν' ἀκήρατον ἡ Μὴ καὶ συνεχῇ κατ' αὐτοὺς βάσανον ἔχη νεκροφοροῦσα, δοκῶ μοι πλήρης ταῦτα ἤδη μετὰ πάσης ἀποδείξεως δεδηλωκέναι.

64.46.9 | But without the body, the soul is not controlled by unreasonable pleasure; the first humans were controlled, being tempted by unreasonable pleasure. So the soul was with the body even before sin. For about the idea that the bond does not hold because it is a punishment for transgression, so that the punishment may be pure and continuous for those who carry death, I think all this has already been fully shown with every proof.

64.46.11 | ὅθεν ἀσύστατον καὶ ἀνένδεκτον τὸ μὲν σῶμα παγίδα τίθεσθαι καὶ δεσμά, τὸν δὲ θεὸν εἰσάγειν τὰς ψυχὰς εἰς τὴν παγίδα δίκην ὑφεξούσας, ἄνωθεν ἐκ τοῦ τρίτου ἐκβάλλοντα οὐρανοῦ ἄωθ' ὧν παρήδουσαν τῆς ἐντολῆς.

64.46.11 | So it is unreasonable and unacceptable for the body to be set as a trap and chains, and for god to lead souls into the trap as a punishment, driving them out from above the third heaven, since they disobeyed the command.

64.46.12 | πρὸς τί γάρ τις βλέψας πιστεύσειεν τοῖς οὕτω ὑπ' αὐτῶν προπετῶς εἰρημένοις; καίπερ οὐκ ἔχοντος οὕτως τοῦ ψαλμοῦ, κἂν βεβιασπροπετῶς μένως αὐτὸν ἐκτίθωνται. αὐτὰ δὲ προοίσω τὰ ἐγκείμενα, ἵνα δὴ καὶ τὸ μυθῶδες αὐτῶν τῆς ἐξηγήσεως φανῇ, ὀρθῶς μὴ θελόντων νοεῖν τὰς γραφάς.

64.46.12 | For why would anyone believe what they have rashly said? Even though the psalm does not say this, they forcefully put it out. I will explain these things first, so that their story will clearly show the misunderstanding of the scriptures by those who do not want to understand rightly.

64.46.13 | εἰσὶ γὰρ οὕτω πως δήπου τὰ λεχθέντα· »ἐδοκίμασας ἡμᾶς ὁ θεός, ἐπύρωσας ἡμᾶς, ὡς πυποῦται τὸ ἀργύριον. εἰσήγαγες ἡμᾶς εἰς τὴν παγίδα, ἅθου θλίψεις ἐπὶ τὸν νῶτον ἡμῶν. ἐπεβέβασας ἀνθρώπους ἐπὶ τὰς δεφאלὰς ἡμῶν. διήλθομεν διὰ πυρὸς καὶ ὕδατος, καὶ ἐξήγαγες ἡμᾶς εἰς ἀναψυχήν«.

64.46.13 | For what was said is something like this: "God tested us, he put us through fire, like silver is tested. You led us into a trap, you put heavy burdens on our backs. You made people walk over our heads. We went through fire and water, and you brought us out to rest."

64.46.14 | καὶ εὐθέως ἐπιφέρουσι· ταῦτα δὲ ὑπὸ ὑπὸ τῶν ψυχῶν τῶν εἰς τὴν παγίδα τὸ σῶμα ὡς εἰς ἀγώνισμα κατενεχθεισῶν ἐκ τοῦ τρίτου οὐρανοῦ, ἄνθα ὁ παράδεισος. τὸ γὰρ »διήλθαμεν διὰ πυρὸς καὶ ὕδατος« ἦτοι, φησί, τὴν διὰ μήτρας εἰς τὸν κόσμον τῆς ψυχῆς πάροδον δηλοῖ, ἐπειδήπερ ἐν φλογὶ τοσαύτη καὶ ὑλρασία καταγίνεται, ἢ τὴν ἀπὸ τῶν οὐρανῶν κατάπτωσιν εἰς τὸν βίον διερχομένης <αὐτῆς> τὰς πηγὰς πυρὸς καὶ τὰ ὑπὲρ τὰ νῶτα τοῦ στερεώματος ὕδατα.

64.46.14 | And immediately they say: these things mean that the souls were brought into the body as into a contest from the third heaven, where paradise is. For the phrase "we went through fire and water" means, he says, the passage of the soul through the womb into the world, since it happens in such fire and water, or the fall from the heavens into life, passing through the springs of fire and the waters above the firmament on our backs.

64.46.15 | πρὸς οὓς ἡξίουں 15 ἐνίστασθαι. φέρε γὰρ ὑπὲρ αὐτῶν, ὧ' Ἀγλαφῶν, αὐτὸς ποιήσαι τὴν ἀπόκρισιν, τί λέξουσιν.

64.46.15 | To those I thought it right to object. For you, Aglaophon, take up their cause yourself and make the reply, what they will say.

Section 47

64.47.1 | 47. Πρῶτον γὰρ <ὅτι> ὁ παράδεισος, ὅθεν καὶ ἐξεβλήθημεν ἐν τῷ πρωτοπλάστῳ, ἐπὶ ταύτης ἐστὶ τῆς γῆς προδήλως τόπος ἐξαίρετος, πρὸς ἄλυπον ἀνάπαυσιν καὶ διαγωγὴν τοῖς ἀγίοις ἀφωρισμένος, <τοῦτο> ἀπὸ τοῦ καὶ τὸν Τίγριν καὶ τὸν Εὐφράτην καὶ τοὺς λοιποὺς ποταμοὺς τοὺς ἐκεῖθεν προχέομένους ἐνταῦθα φαίνεσθαι τῷ ρευμάτων τὰς διεκβολὰς εἰς τὴν καθ' ἡμᾶς

64.47.1 | First, paradise, from where we were also cast out in the first creation, is clearly a special place on this earth, set apart for holy people for peaceful rest and life. This is why the Tigris and the Euphrates and the other rivers that flow from there appear here as the channels of streams flowing over into our continent.

ἥπειρον ἐπικλύζοντας.

64.47.2 | οὐ γὰρ ἀπὸ τῶν οὐρανῶν ἄνωθεν καταράσσονται χεόμενοι· ἐπεὶ ἐπεὶ οὐδὲ ὑπέστη ἂν ἡ γῆ ὄγκον τοσοῦτον ἀθρόως ἐξ ὕψους καταφερόμενον ἠποδέξασθαι ὕδατος.

64.47.2 | For they are not poured down as curses from the heavens above; since the earth would not have been able to hold such a great mass of water all at once coming down from above.

64.47.3 | ἀλλ' οὐδὲ ὁ ἀπόστολος ὑποτίθεται τὸν παράδεισον εἶναι ἐν τρίτῳ οὐρανῷ τοῖς λεπτῶν ἀκροᾶσθαι λόγων ἀπισταμένοις· »οἶδα« γάρ »ἄρπαγέντα τὸν τοιοῦτον & εἰς τριτοῦ« λέγων »οὐρανοῦ. καὶ οἶδα τὸν τοιοῦτον εἶτε ἐν σώματι εἶτε χωρὶς σώματος, ὁ θεὸς οἶδεν, ὅτι ἠρπάγη εἰς τὸ παράδεισον«.

64.47.3 | But the apostle does not suggest that paradise is in the third heaven for those who do not understand subtle words to hear; for he says, "I know a man caught up to the third heaven. And I know such a man, whether in body or apart from body, God knows, that he was caught up into paradise."

64.47.4 | δύο ἀποκαλύψεις μεγάλας ἐωρακέναι μηνύει, δις ἀναληφθεὶς ἐναργῶς, ἅπαξ μὲν ἕως τρίτου οὐρανοῦ, ἅπαξ δὲ εἰς τὸν παράδεισον. τὸ γάρ »οἶδα ἄρπαγέντα τὸν τοιοῦτον ἕως τρίτου οὐρανοῦ« ἰδίως ἀποκάλυψιν αὐτῷ κατὰ τὸν τρίτον ἀναληφθέντι οὐρανὸν πεφηνέναι συνίστησι·

64.47.4 | He shows that he saw two great revelations, taken up twice clearly: once to the third heaven, and once into paradise. For the phrase "I know a man caught up to the third heaven" shows that a special revelation was given to him when he was taken up to the third heaven.

64.47.5 | τὸ δὲ »καὶ οἶδα« πάλιν ἐπιφερόμενον »τὸν τοιοῦτον ἄνθρωπον, εἶτε ἐν σώματι εἶτε ἐκτὸς τοῦ σώματος, & εἰς τὸν παράδεισον« ἑτέραν αὐτῷ πεφανερωθῆναι κατὰ παράδεισον ἀποκάλυψιν δείκνυσι. δείκνυσι.

64.47.5 | But the phrase "and I know such a man, whether in body or apart from body, caught up into paradise" shows that another revelation was made clear to him about paradise.

64.47.6 | τεπετισ10 μὸς οὖν ἐστὶ καὶ τραγικολογία τὸ καταβάλλεσθαι λελειν τὰς

64.47.6 | So it is nonsense and like a tragic story to say that souls fall down from the ψυχὰς ἐκ τῶν οὐρανῶν καὶ διαβαίνειν τοῦ πυρὸς τὰς πηγὰς καὶ τὰ ὕσατα τὰ ὑπὲρ τὰ νῶτα τοῦ στερεώματος, εἰς καθ' ἡμᾶς φερομένας κόσμον.

heavens and pass through the fire's springs and the waters above the backbone of the sky, into the world that is carried along toward us.

64.47.7 | ἐπεὶ μὴδὲ ὁ Ἀδὰμ ἐκ τῶν οὐπανῶν ἐξεβλήθη, ἀλλὰ ἀπὸ τοῦ κατὰ ἀνατολὰς ἐν Ἑδὲμ πεφυτευμένου παραδείσου. οὐ γὰρ πρὸ τῆς ἐν σωματώσεως τὸ παράπτωμα, καθάπερ ἐδείξαμεν ἱκανῶνς, οὐδ' αὖ τὸ σῶμα παγίς τοῦτο ἀλλὰ μετὰ τὴν εἰς τὸ σῶμα σύμφυσιν τῆς ψυχῆς γίγνεται τὸ παράπτωμα, ὅτι τὸ συναμφοτέρων ὁ ἄνθρωπος καὶ ἡ ἐκ τοῦ παραδείσου κατὰπτωσις ἐνθάδε.

64.47.7 | Since Adam was not thrown out from the heavens, but from the paradise planted in Eden toward the east. For the fault was not before the body was formed, as we have shown enough, nor is the body the cause of this, but the fault happens after the soul is joined to the body, because the man and the fall from paradise happen together here.

64.47.8 | ὁ δὲ ὅλως οὐ προσέσχεν ἐπιμελέστερον, Ἀγλαοφῶν, τῷ λόγῳ, ἀλλὰ διετείνετο περὶ πραγμάτων διανόησιν οὐκ ἔχοντων ἀκίνδυνον, ἐπιχειρήσας κατὰ τὰς δόξας ἐξηγήσασθαι τῶν φαύλων τὸν ψαλμόν, περὶ ὧν λέγειν πλείω παρήσομεν.

64.47.8 | But what he cared about most, Aglaophon, was the argument, and he kept thinking about dangerous things, trying to explain the psalm according to wrong opinions about bad people, which we will say more about later.

Section 48

64.48.1 | 48. Βούλομαι γάρ, ἐπειδὴ ἅπαρ εἰς τὸ διευθῆναι τὴν μοχθηρίαν αὐτῶν ἠκαμην, πογυμνῶσαι καὶ ταυτὴς αὐτοῖς τῆς προφητείας τὴν προφασιν· »ἐδοκίμασας ἡμᾶς ὁ θεός· ἐπύφωσας ἡμᾶς, ὡς πυροῦται τὸ ἀργύριον«.

64.48.1 | 48. For I want, since we have once begun to explain the evil of those people, to also uncover the reason for this prophecy to them: "God tested us; he lit us up, like silver in the fire."

64.48.2 | δοκιμασθέντες διαρκῶς οἱ μάρτυρες ἐν ταῖς κατὰ τοὺς πειρασμοὺς τῶν βασάνων προσβολαῖς (τὰ πολλὰ γὰρ εἰς τὴν καθ' ἡμᾶς προφητεῖαν πίστιν πληροῦνται) καὶ εὐκλεῶς καὶ ἔρρωμενέστατα διαθλήσαντες

64.48.2 | The witnesses, tested continuously in the attacks of trials and sufferings (for many things fulfill the faith of the prophecies about us), having struggled both nobly and very strongly, give thanks, saying to God, "You tested us," εὐχαριστοῦσι, τό »ἐδοκίμασας ἡμᾶς« λέγοντες τῷ θεῷ, ὡς ἵνα τὴν δόξαν παρ' αὐτῷ κτήσωνται μείζονα, διὰ πολλῶν αὐτοὺς ἤλεγξε πόνων, τὸν ἀληθῶς Ὀλυμπιακὸν ἀγῶνα νικήσαι προθεῖς.

so that they may gain greater glory from him, having proven themselves through many hardships, aiming to win the true Olympian contest.

64.48.3 | καὶ ἐπισκέψασθε ὡς ὡς τούτοις συνῶδὰ σαφῶς τοῖς λόγοις περὶ μαρτύρων καὶ ὁ Σολομῶν ἀναφθέγγεται (οὐ γὰρ ἀμάρτητος ὁ λόγος καὶ ἄλλων γραφῶν ὅτι »ὁ ἐπείρασεν αὐτοὺς καὶ ἠὺρεν αὐτοὺς ἀξίους ἑαυτοῦ·

64.48.3 | And consider how clearly, along with these words about witnesses, Solomon also speaks out (for the message is not false, and other writings say that “he tested them and found them worthy of himself”).

64.48.4 | ὡς χρυσίον ἐν χωνευτηρίῳ ἐδοκίμασεν αὐτοὺς καὶ ὡς ὀλοκάρπωμα εὐωδίας προσεδέξατο αὐτοὺς καὶ ἐν καιρῷ ἐπισκοπῆς αὐτῶν <ἀναλάμπουσιν>· πρόσθεν εἰπὼν »καὶ γὰρ ἐὰν ἐν ὄψει ἀνθρώπων κολασθῶσιν, ἡ ἐλπίς αὐτῶν ἀθανασίας πλήρης καὶ ὀλίγα παιδευθέντες μεγάλα εὐεργετηθήσονται«.

64.48.4 | Just as gold in a furnace he tested them, and like a full harvest of fragrance he accepted them, and at the time of their inspection they will shine; before, he said, “For even if they are punished in the sight of men, their hope is full of immortality, and having been disciplined a little, they will be greatly benefited.”

64.48.5 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῷ 44^ῳ ψαλμῷ τό »εἰ μὴ ὅτι κύριος ἦν ἐν ἡμῖν, ἐν ἐπαναστῇναι ἀνθρώπους ἐφ' ἡμᾶς, ἅρα ζῶντας ἂν κατέπιον ἡμᾶς· ἅρα τὸ ὕδωρ κατεπόντισεν ἡμᾶς· χεῖμαρρον διῆλθεν ἡ ψυχὴ ἡμῶν, ἅρα διῆλθεν ἡ ψυχὴ ἡμῶν τὸ ὕδωρ τὸ ἀνυπόστατον. εὐλογητὸς κύριος, ὃς οὐκ ἔδωκεν ἡμᾶς εἰς θήραν τοῖς ὁδοῦσιν αὐτῶν. ἡ ψυχὴ ἡμῶν ὡς στρουθίον ἐρρύσθη ἐκ τῆς παγίδος τῶν θηρευόντων. ἡ παγὶς δυνετρίβη, καὶ ἡμεῖς ἐρρύσθημεν«, οἱ μάρτυρές εἰσιν οἱ ψάλλοντες.

64.48.5 | But also in the 44th psalm it says, “If the Lord had not been with us when men rose up against us, then they would have swallowed us alive; then the flood would have overwhelmed us; a torrent would have gone over our soul; then the raging waters would have gone over our soul. Blessed is the Lord, who did not give us as prey to their teeth. Our soul escaped like a bird from the snare of the hunters.
The snare was broken, and we escaped.”
The ones singing are the witnesses.

64.48.6 | δύο δὲ τῶν καλλινίκων οἱ χοροὶ ματῦρων, εἷς μὲν τῆς διαθήκης τῆς καινῆς, θάτερος δὲ τῆς παλαιᾶς, ἀντίφθογγον

64.48.6 | Two choirs of victors are the witnesses, one of the new covenant, the other of the old, singing in harmony a hymn ὕμνον συμφώνως τῷ ὑπερμάχῳ θεῷ καὶ βασιλεῖ τῶν ὅλων ἀναπέμποντες· »ἐδοκίμασας ἡμᾶς ὁ θεός, ἐπύρωσας ἡμᾶς ὡς πυροῦται τὸ ἀργύριον, εἰσήγαγες ἡμᾶς εἰς τὴν παγίδα, ἔθου θλίψεις ἐπὶ τὸν νῶτον ἡμῶν«, τὸ δικαστήριον τῶν ἐθνῶν ἢ τοὺς πειρασμούς, καθ' οὓς ἐκθλιβέντες καὶ πυρωθέντες ἰσχυρῶς ἐδοκιμάσθησαν· to the mighty God and king of all: "You tested us, God, you burned us like silver in the fire, you led us into the trap, you put pressure on our backs," the judgment of the nations or the trials, through which, pressed and strongly burned, they were tested.

64.48.7 | »δοκίμασόν με« γάρ φησι »κύριε, καὶ πείρασόν με, πύρωσον τοὺς νεφρούς μου καὶ τὴν καρδίαν μου«.

64.48.7 | "For you say, "Test me, Lord, and try me, burn my kidneys and my heart."

64.48.8 | λεγέτω δὴ καὶ ὁ Ἀβραάμ ἐπὶ τῷ μονογενεῖ πυρωθεὶς τὰ σπλάγχνα προτιμήσας τε <τοῦ παιδὸς> τὸ τοῦ θεοῦ μᾶλλον πρόσταγμα, μετὰ τὸ ἀκοῦσαι »Ἀβραάμ, φεῖσαι τοῦ παιδός σου« ἀπορρίψας τὸ εἶφος· »ἐδοκίμασας ἡμᾶς ὁ θεός, ἐπύρωσας ἡμᾶς ὡς πυροῦται τὸ ἀργύριον«.

64.48.8 | Let Abraham also speak, burning in his heart over his only son, preferring the command of God rather than the child, after hearing "Abraham, you will sacrifice your son," he threw away the wood: "You tested us, God, you burned us like silver in the fire."

64.48.9 | λεγέτω καὶ ὁ Ἰώβ μετὰ τὸ ἀπορρεῦσαι τὴν σαπρίαν καὶ ἀναιδισθῆναί τε ὑπὸ τῶν φίλων καὶ ἀλγῆσαι τὸ σῶμα, διὰ λαίλαπος ἀκούσας λαλοῦντος αὐτῷ τοῦ θεοῦ »ἢ οἶει με ἄλλως σοι κεχρηματικέναι ἢ ἵνα ἀναφανῇς δίκαιος. ἔθου θλίψεις ἐναντίον ἡμῶν, κύριε, ἵνα ἡμᾶς ὡς χρυσὸν ἐν χωνευτηρίῳ δοκιμάσῃς«.

64.48.9 | Let Job also speak, after the rot flowed out and after he was shamed by his friends and his body hurt, hearing the storm of God speaking to him: "Do you think I dealt with you in any other way than to show you are just? You put troubles against us, Lord, so that you test us like gold in a furnace."

64.48.10 | λεγέτωσαν καὶ οἱ τρεῖς ἐν τῇ καμίνῳ παῖδες, δροσιζόμενοι ἵνα μὴ καταφλεχθῶσιν ὑπὸ τοῦ πυρός· »ἐδοκίμασας ἡμᾶς ὁ θὼς, ἐπύρωσας ἡμᾶς, ὡς πυροῦται τὸ ἀργύριον. διήλθομεν διὰ πυρὸς καὶ ὕδατος, καὶ ἐξήγαγες ἡμᾶς εἰς

64.48.10 | Let the three boys also speak in the furnace, cooling themselves so they would not be burned by the fire: "You tested us, you burned us, like silver is burned. We went through fire and water, and you brought us out to rest."

ἀναψυχὴν».

64.48.11 | δὸς εἰπεῖν κάμοι τῷ Μεθοδίῳ, ὁ θεὸς ὁ παντοκράτωρ ὁ μέγας, ὁ αἰώνιος, ὁ πατὴρ τοῦ Χριστοῦ, ἐν τῇ ἡμέρᾳ σου διαβάντι τὸ πῦρ ἀναλγητὶ καὶ τῶν ὑδάτων εἰς τὴν καυστικὴν μεταβληθέν ἐξήγαγές με εἰς ἀνάψυξιν». σὴ γὰρ αὕτη τοῖ;

64.48.11 | Let me also speak, Methodius, the great almighty God, the eternal one, the father of Christ, on your day passing through fire without pain and through waters changed into burning, you brought me out to rest. For is this yours?

64.48.12 | ἀγαπῶσί σε ἡ ἐπαγγελία »ἐὰν διαβαίνης δι' ὕδατος, μετὰ σοῦ εἰμι καὶ ποταμοὶ οὐ συγκλύσουσί σε· κἂν διαβαίνης διὰ πυρός, οὐ μὴ κατακαυθῇς· φλόξ οὐ κατακαύσει σε». ἀλλὰ γὰρ περὶ τῆς κατὰ τὸν Ψαλμὸν ἐξηγήσεως ἄλλος ἔχει ταῦτα.

64.48.12 | Those who love you say this promise: "If you go through water, I am with you, and rivers will not sweep you away; and if you go through fire, you will not be burned; the flame will not burn you." But enough has been said about the explanation according to the Psalm.

Section 49

64.49.1 | 49. Ἔτι δὲ ἐκεῖνο διασκεπτέον, ἐν ᾧ πολυμόρφοις ἐμφαντίζόμενοι ἀπάταις καθευδόντων τρόπον ἀποφαίνονται τὸν ἀπόστολον εἰρηκέναι »ἐγὼ δὲ ἔζων χωρὶς νόμου ποτέ· καὶ βοῶσι, <ὅτι> τῇ πρὸ τῆς ἐντολῆς x003E; ἐν τῷ πρωτοπλάστῳ <ἐν παραδείσῳ> διαγωγὴν πρὸ σώματος ἔφη, ὡς τὰ ἐπιφερόμενα συνίστησιν »ἐγὼ δὲ σάρκινός εἰμι, πεπραμένος ὑπὸ τὴν ἁμαρτίαν«·

64.49.1 | Still, that must be considered, where, showing many kinds of tricks like those who sleep, they claim the apostle said, "I once lived without the law," and they shout that before the commandment, in the first man in paradise, he said he lived before the body, as the things brought forward show, "I am fleshly, sold under sin."

64.49.2 | ὅτι μὴ ἄλλως ὁ ἄνθρωπος ἄρχεσθαι ἡδύνατο καὶ κυριεύεσθαι ὑπὸ τοῦ κακοῦ, πραθεὶς αὐτῷ διὰ τὴν παράβασιν, εἰ μὴ σάρκινος ἦν γεγονώς. ἄληπτος γὰρ καθ' ἑαυτὴν ἡ ψυχὴ, φησί, τῇ ἁμαρτίᾳ. διὸ δριμέως ἐπήγαγεν τό »ἐγὼ δὲ σάρκινός εἰμι, πεπραμένος ὑπὸ τὴν ἁμαρτίαν«·

64.49.2 | Because a person could not begin or be ruled by evil otherwise, having been sold to it because of transgression, if he had not become fleshly. For the soul itself, he says, is free from sin. Therefore, he strongly added, "I am fleshly, sold under sin."

64.49.3 | πρόσθεν εἰπὼν τό »ἐγὼ δὲ ἔζων χωρὶς νόμου ποτέ'. θαῦμα μὲν οὖν τοῖς πολλοῖς ταῦτα λεγόντων αὐτῶν τότε ὑπεδύετο καὶ κατάπληξις, νῦν δὲ προκυψάσης εἰς τὸ φανερώτατον ἤδη τῆς ἀληθείας οὐ μόνον μακρῶ πλανώμενοι καταφαίνονται, ἀλλὰ καὶ μέχρι τῆς ἄκρας ἀναβαίνοντες βλασφημίας·

64.49.3 | Before saying, "I once lived without the law," it was a wonder and shock to many when they said these things then. But now, since the truth has become very clear, they not only show themselves to be far off the mark, but they also go as far as the worst blasphemy.

64.49.4 | δόντες γὰρ ἀσωμάτως τὰς ψυχὰς πρὸ τῆς ἐντολῆς βεβιωκέναι ἀλήπτους τε εἶναι καθ' ἑαυτὰς ἐκ παντὸς τῇ ἁμαρτίᾳ διανοηθέντες πάλιν ἀνέρεψαν τὸν λόγον, ἑαυτοὺς δὲ πολὺ μᾶλλον· τὰ γὰρ δὴ σώματα κατασκευάζουσιν αὐταῖς ὕστερον ἐπὶ τιμωρίᾳ <δοθῆναι>, διὰ πρὸ σώματος αὐτὰς ἡμαρτηκέναι. καὶ δὴ καὶ λοιδορήσεις τε ἀπῆλθον αὐτοῖς, δεσμοῖς ἀπεικάζουσι καὶ πέδαις τὸ σῶμα, ἄλλα τε ἀνόητα εἰπεῖν *.

64.49.4 | For they said that souls lived without bodies before the commandment, and that they were free from all sin by themselves. But thinking this, they turned the argument back again, and even more against themselves. For they say bodies are made later to be given as punishment, because souls sinned before bodies. And they even insulted souls, comparing the body to chains and bonds, and said other foolish things.

64.49.5 | νῦν δε ὅπερ εἴρηται, πᾶν τούναντίον ἔχει. χρὴ γὰρ πρὸ τῆς ἁμαρτίας τὴν ψυχὴν ὑπάρχειν μετὰ σώματος· ἐπεὶ εἰ ἄληπτος ἡ Ψυχὴ Μ' ἑαυτὴν τῇ ἁμαρτίᾳ, οὐκ ὄν ἡμαρτεν ὅλως πρὸ τοῦ σώματος.

64.49.5 | But now, as has been said, everything is the opposite. For the soul must exist with a body before sin; since if the soul were free from sin by itself, it would not have sinned at all before the body.

64.49.6 | εἰ δὲ ἡμαρτεν οὐκέτι ἄληπτος καθ' ἑαυτὴν τῇ ἁμαρτίᾳ, ἀλλὰ καὶ εὐάλωτος μᾶλλον καὶ εὐλήπτος. διὸ καὶ πάλι, κἂν μὴ λάβῃ τὸ σῶμα τοῦτο, ἁμαρτησεται, ὥσπερ δὴ καὶ πρὸ τοῦ λαβεῖν αὐτὸ ἡμαρτεν.

64.49.6 | But if it sinned, then it is no longer free from sin by itself, but rather more vulnerable and easily caught. Therefore, even if it does not get this body, it will sin, just as it sinned before it got one.

64.49.7 | διὰ τί δὲ ὅλως καὶ σῶμα

64.49.7 | But why then did it take a body at ἐλάμβανεν ὕστερον μετὰ τὸ ἡμαρτηκέναι; ἢ τίς αὐτῇ χρεία σώματος ἦν; εἰ μὲν οὖν ἵνα βασανίζεται καὶ ἀλγῇ, πῶς μᾶλλον ἐντρυφᾷ καὶ ἀκολασταίνει μετὰ τοῦ σώματος; all after sinning? What need did it have for a body? If it was to be punished and suffer, how much more does it enjoy itself and live wildly with the body?

64.49.8 | πῶς δὲ καὶ τὸ αὐτεξούσιον εἶναι ἐν τούτῳ φαίνεται ἔχειν τῷ κόσμῳ; ἐφ' ἡμῖν γὰρ τὸ πιστεῦσαι κεῖται ἵνα τὸ μὴ πιστεῦσαι ἐνθάδε, ἐφ' ἡμῖν τὸ κατορθώσασθαι καὶ ἁμαρτῆσαι, ἐφ' ἡμῖν τὸ ἀποποιῆσαι καὶ κακοποιῆσαι.

64.49.8 | But how does it seem to have free will in this world? For it depends on us to believe; and not to believe is here, it depends on us to do right and to sin, it depends on us to refuse and to do wrong.

64.49.9 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἡ κρίσις πῶς δὴ ἐπιφέρεισθαι ὡς μέλλουσα προσδοκᾶσθαι ἔτι δύναται, καθ' ἣν ὁ θεὸς ἐκάστῳ κατὰ τὰ ἔργα καὶ κατὰ τὰ ἐπιτηδεύματα ἀποδίδωσι, καὶ οὐχ ὡς ἤδη παροῦσα νομισθήσεται, εἴτε τὸ γεννηθῆναι με) καὶ εἰς σῶμα ἐλθεῖν τὴν ψυχὴν κριθῆναι ἔστιν ἤδη καὶ ἀνταπολαβεῖν, τὸ δὲ ἀποθανεῖν καὶ χωρισθῆναι τοῦ σώματος ἐλευθερωθῆναί τε καὶ εἰς ἀνάψυξιν ἐλθεῖν, διὰ τὸ πρὸ σώματος αὐτὴν ἁμαρτήσασαν ὡς εἰς κατάκρισιν καὶ καταδίκην εἰς τὸ σῶμα ἐμβιβάζεσθαι καθ' ὑμᾶς;

64.49.9 | But how can judgment still be expected to come, as something future, by which God will give to each according to their works and their ways, and not be thought of as already present? If the soul is to be judged already when it is born and comes into a body, and to receive back accordingly, and if dying and being separated from the body means being freed and coming to refreshment, then why is it, because it sinned before the body, that it is sent into the body by you as if for condemnation and punishment?

64.49.10 | ἀπέδειξε δὲ διαρκῶς ἐκ περιουσίας ὁ λόγος ἀνένδεκτον εἶναι νομίζεσθαι τὸ σῶμα βασανιστήριον καὶ πέδας τῆς ψυχῆς.

64.49.10 | But the word has shown clearly from the inheritance that the body is to be thought of as a place of punishment and chains for the soul.

Section 50

64.50.1 | 50. Ἦρκει μὲν οὖν ἀπὸ τῆς γραφῆς αὐτῆς ἀποδείξαντα <καὶ> πρὸ τῆς παραβάσεως τὸν πρωτόπλαστον ἐκ ψυχῆς καὶ σώματος ὄντα καταπαύειν τὸν

64.50.1 | So it is enough to show from this very scripture that before the first man sinned, being soul and body, the argument here about these things stops. And now I go περί τούτων ένταῦθα λόγον. κἀγὼ δὲ νῦν ἐπὶ κεφαλαίων αὐτὰ διεξέρχομαι, * ὅσον τὰς ἀφορμὰς τῶν ἐπιχειρημάτων αὐτῶν εὐθύναι διαμιλλώμενος, ἵνα μὴ τὴν συμμετρίαν ἐκβαίω τῶν λόγων.

through these points one by one, as I argue about the reasons for their claims, so that I do not lose the balance of the words.

64.50.2 | πάρεστι γὰρ ἤδη σκοπεῖν ὑμᾶς, ὧς δικασταί, ὅτι τό »ἐγὼ δὲ ἔζων χωρὶς νόμου ποτέ' λεγόμενον ἐν τῇ πρὸς Ῥωμαίους, οὐ δύναται πίπτειν εἰς τὴν πρὸ σώματος κατ' αὐτοὺς διαγωγὴν τῆς ψυχῆς, καθάπαρ τὰ ἐπιφερόμενα τούτοις μηνύει· κἂν ὁ γενναῖος οὗτος ἰατρός τῶν ῥητῶν τὰ ἐξῆς ὑφελόμενος πρὸς τὸ δοκοῦν αὐτῷ τὸν νοῦν ἐβιάσατο μεταπλάσαι τοῦ ἀποστόλου, ἀνιάτόν τι παθὼν λίαν καὶ παικικόν.

64.50.2 | For it is already possible to see, judges, that the saying "but I once lived without the law" in the letter to the Romans cannot mean the soul's life before the body, as they claim, just as the things said against this show. And even if this brave doctor of words forced the apostle's meaning to change, pulling down what follows to what seemed right to him, he suffered something very hopeless and foolish.

64.50.3 | ἀντὶ γὰρ τοῦ πρὸς τὰς οἰκείας συμφύσεις καὶ ἁρμογὰς τὰ μέλη τηρεῖν τῶν σωμάτων, ἵνα τὸ πᾶν ἄπρτιον ἦ κατὰ φύσιν Πῆμα τοῦ σώματος, ἡκρωτηρίασε παρελθὼν τὸν εἰρμόν τῆς γραφῆς, καθάπερ Σκύθης ἐχθροῦ τινοῦ ἀφειδῶς πρὸς ἀναίρεσιν κατατέμνων τὰ μέλη.

64.50.3 | For instead of keeping the parts of the body joined and fitting with their natural connections, he cut off the whole suffering of the body, breaking the chain of scripture, like a Scythian cruelly cutting off the limbs of an enemy to destroy them.

64.50.4 | εἶεν· πῶς οὖν ὁ ἀπόστολος, λέξουσι, ταῦτα ἀπεφήνατο, εἰ σὺ μὴ οὕτως αὐτὰ ἀπέδειξας ἔχειν; ὅτι νόμον, εἴποιμι' ἂν, θέμενος εἶναι τὴν ἐντολὴν (δεδόσθω γὰρ πρῶτον τατα τὴν ὑμετέραν ὑπόθεσιν τὴν ἐντολὴν νόμον εἰρηκέναι). οὐ παρὰ τοῦτο καὶ ἀσωμάτως πρὸ τῆς ἐντολῆς τοῦς πρωτοπλάστους ὑπέθετο βεβιωκέναι, ἀλλὰ χωρὶς ἁμαρτίας.

64.50.4 | Very well; then how, they will say, did the apostle show these things if you did not prove them to be so? For if we say that the command is the law (let your own idea first be that the command is called the law), did he not suppose that the first humans lived without a body before the command, but without sin?

64.50.5 | καὶ γὰρ ὀλίγος ὁ ἀπὸ τῆς κτίσεως αὐτῶν ἄχρι τῆς ἐντολῆς χρόνος, ἐν ᾧ

64.50.5 | For the short time from their creation to the command, during which διέζησαν χωρίς ἁμαρτίας, οὐκ ἐκτὸς σώματος, ἀλλὰ μετὰ σώματος. εὐθέως γοῦν μετὰ τὴν ἐντολὴν ἐξεβλήθησαν βραχύτατον ἐννεάσαντες ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ χρόνον.

they lived without sin, was not without a body, but with a body. At once, right after the command, they were cast out after spending a very short time of nine days in the garden.

64.50.6 | ἐὰν δέ τις λαβόμενος τῆς ῥήσεως τῆς »ὅτε γὰρ ἦμεν ἐν σαρκί, τὰ παθήματα τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν τὰ διὰ τοῦ νόμου« λεγούσης »ἐνηργεῖτο ἐν τοῖς μέλεσιν ἡμῶν«, διαβάλλειν αὐτὸν τὴν σάρκα νομίζῃ καὶ παραιτεῖσθαι παραφέρει τε ὅσα τοιαῦτα ἄλλα εἴρηται,

64.50.6 | But if someone, taking the phrase “for when we were in the flesh, the passions of sins, which were through the law,” says that the flesh is blamed and refuses, and also wrongly brings in all other things like this that have been said,

64.50.7 | οἷον <τό> »ἵνα τὸ δικαίωμα τοῦ νόμου πληρωθῇ ἐν ἡμῖν τοῖς μὴ κατὰ σάρκα περιπατοῦσιν, ἀλλὰ κατὰ πνεῦμα«, ἢ τό »οἱ γὰρ κατὰ σάρκα ὄντες τὰ τῆς σαρκὸς φρονοῦσιν, οἱ δὲ κατὰ πνεῦμα τὰ τοῦ πνεύματος. τὸ γὰρ φρόνημα τῆς σαρκὸς θάνατος, τὸ δὲ φρόνημα τοῦ πνεύματος ζωὴ καὶ εἰρήνη, διότι τὸ φρόνημα τῆς σαρκὸς ἔχθρα εἰς θεόν· τῷ γὰρ γόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ οὐχ ὑποτάσσεται· οὐδὲ γὰρ δύναται· <οἱ δὲ ἐν σαρκὶ ὄντες θεῷ ἀρέσαι οὐ δύνανται>. ὑμεῖς δὲ ἐν σαρκί, ἀλλὰ ἐν πνεύματι«, λεκτέον αὐτῷ·

64.50.7 | such as “so that the righteous requirement of the law might be fulfilled in us, who do not walk according to the flesh but according to the spirit,” or “for those who are according to the flesh think about the things of the flesh, but those who are according to the spirit think about the things of the spirit. For the mind of the flesh is death, but the mind of the spirit is life and peace, because the mind of the flesh is hostile to God; for it does not submit to God’s law, nor can it; those who are in the flesh cannot please God. But you are not in the flesh, but in the spirit,” it must be said to him:

64.50.8 | πότερον οὖν ἤδη ἀναλύσας ὁ ἀπόστολος ἦν ἐκ τοῦ βίου καὶ οἷς ταῦτα ἐπέστελλεν, εἰ μὴ τὴν κατὰ σάρκα νῦν παρηγεῖτο πολιτείαν, ἀλλὰ τὴν σάρκα, ἣ ἔτι ἐν σαρκὶ ἦν;

64.50.8 | So then, had the apostle already left this life and those to whom he was sending these things, if he was not now giving up the way of life according to the flesh, but the flesh itself, or was he still in the flesh?

64.50.9 | ἀλλὰ ἐν σαρκὶ μὴ ὄντα αὐτὸν

64.50.9 | But if he was not in the flesh when ἀπεσταλκέναι ταῦτα, οὐ λεκτέον. φανερόν γάρ ὅτι ἦν ἐν σαρκὶ καὶ αὐτὸς καὶ οἷς ταῦτα ἐπέστελλεν. πῶς οὖν »ὅτε γὰρ ἦμεν ἐν σαρκί, τὰ παθήματα τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν τὰ διὰ τοῦ νόμου ἐνηργεῖτο τεῖτο ἐν τοῖς μέλεσιν ἡμῶν« ὡς οὐκ ὦν οὔτε αὐτὸς ἔτι ἐν σαρκὶ οὔτε οἷς ταῦτα ἐπέστελλεν, λέγει;

he sent these things, it should not be said. For it is clear that both he and those to whom he sent these things were in the flesh. So how does he say, “for when we were in the flesh, the passions of sins, which were through the law, were working in our members,” as if he was no longer in the flesh, neither he nor those to whom he sent these things?

64.50.10 | οὐκοῦν περὶ τῆς κατὰ ἀκрасίαν πολιτείας διαλέγεται καὶ οὐ περὶ τῆς σαρκὸς αὐτῆς. ἔθος γὰρ αὐτῷ σαρκικὸν τὸν οὕτως ζῶντα ἄνθρωπον λέγειν, καθάπερ καὶ ψυχικὸν ἄνθρωπον τὸν ἀπηλγηκότα πρὸς τὴν ἀλήθειαν ἀτενίσαι καὶ τὸν φωτισμὸν τοῦ μυστηρίου.

64.50.10 | So then, he is talking about the way of life with weakness, and not about the flesh itself. For it is natural for him to speak of a person living like this as fleshly, just as he would call a person without understanding someone who is stubborn against the truth and the light of the mystery.

64.50.11 | ἐπεὶ λεγέτωσαν μηδὲ τὴν ψυχὴν δύνασθαι σώζεσθαι τὸ σύνολον· γέγραπται γάρ »ψυχικὸς δὲ ἄνθρωπος οὐ δέχεται τὰ τοῦ πνεύματος τοῦ θεοῦ·

64.50.11 | Since they should say that not even the whole soul can be saved; for it is written, “but a natural person does not accept the things of the Spirit of God.”

64.50.12 | μωρία γὰρ αὐτῷ ἄστιν· ὁ δὲ πνευματικὸς πάντα ἀνακρίνει«. ὥσπερ x003E; ἐκεῖ ψυχικὸς εἰσάγεται τις καὶ πνευματικὸς ἄνθρωπος, καὶ ὁ μὲν πνευματικὸς τῶν σωζομένων *, ὁ δὲ ψυχικὸς τῶν ἀπολλυμένων, καὶ οὐ παρὰ τοῦτο δὴ ψυχὴ μὲν ἀπόλυται, <τὰ>; ἄλλα δὲ παρὰ τὴν ψυχὴν οὕτω δὴ καὶ ἐνθάδε σαρκικοὺς καὶ ἐν σαρκὶ ὑπάρχοντας ἀπόλλυσθαι λέγων καὶ μὴ δύνασθαι ἀρέσαι θεῷ, οὐ τὴν σάρκα ἀλλὰ τὴν κατὰ σάρκα πολιτείαν ἀναιρεῖσθαι ἀγωνίζεται.

64.50.12 | For it is foolishness to him; but the spiritual person judges everything. Just as there, a natural person and a spiritual person are introduced, and the spiritual one is among those saved, but the natural one among those lost. And yet, the soul itself does not perish; but other things beside the soul. So here, too, he says that those living in the flesh and in their flesh perish, and cannot please God—not the flesh itself, but the way of life according to the flesh he struggles to destroy.

64.50.13 | ὑποβὰς δὲ καὶ εἰπὼν »οἱ δὲ ἐν σαρκὶ ὄντες θεῷ ἀρέσαι οὐ δύνανται« εὐθέως ἐπιφέρει »ὐεῖς δὲ οὐκ ἐστὲ ἐν σαρκὶ ἀλλὰ ἐν πνεύματι,

64.50.13 | Then going on and saying, “those who are in the flesh cannot please God,” he immediately adds, “but you are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit.”

64.50.14 | εἴπερ πνεῦμα Χριστοῦ οἰκεῖ ἐν ὑμῖν« καὶ μετ' ὀλίγον »ὅτι δὲ τὸ πνεῦμα τοῦ ἐγείραντος Ἰησοῦν ἐκ νεκρῶν οἰκεῖ ἐν ὑμῖν, ὁ ἐγείρας Χριστὸν ἐκ νεκρῶν ζωοποιήσει καὶ τὰ θνητὰ σώματα ὑμῶν διὰ τοῦ ἐνοικοῦντος αὐτοῦ πνεύματος ἐν ὑμῖν. ἄρα οὖν, ἀδελφοί, ὀφειλέται ἐσμέν οὐ τῇ σαρκὶ τοῦ κατὰ σάρκα ζῆν. εἰ γὰρ κατὰ σάρκα ζῆτε, μέλλετε ἀποθνήσκειν· εἰ δὲ πνεύματι τὰς πράξεις τοῦ σώματος θανατοῦτε, ζήσεσθε«. προσεκτέον γὰρ ὡς τὴν τοῦ σώματος πρὸς τὰς ἡδονὰς ὁρμὴν καὶ οὐχὶ τὸ σῶμα θανατοῦσθαι διεβεβαιώσατο.

64.50.14 | If indeed the Spirit of Christ lives in you,” and shortly after, “because the Spirit of the one who raised Jesus from the dead lives in you, the one who raised Christ from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through his Spirit living in you. So then, brothers, we owe it not to live according to the flesh. For if you live according to the flesh, you will die; but if by the Spirit you put to death the actions of the body, you will live.” We must pay attention, for he confirmed that it is the desire of the body for pleasures that is killed, not the body itself.

Section 51

64.51.1 | 51. Ἐὰν δὲ πάλιν ἀθυποφέρωσι λέγοντες· πῶς δὴ οὖν »τὸ φρόνημα τῆς σαρκός« εἶναι εἴρηται »ἔχθρα εἰς θεόν; τῷ γὰρ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ οὐχ ὑποτάσσεται· οὐδὲ γὰρ δύναται«, λεκτέον ὡς ἄρα καὶ ἐνθάδε διαπίπτουσιν.

64.51.1 | But if again they lose heart saying, “How then is ‘the mind of the flesh’ said to be ‘hostile to God’? For it does not submit to God’s law, nor can it,” it must be said that here too they fall into error.

64.51.2 | οὐ γὰρ τὴν σάρκα αὐτήν, ἀλλὰ τὸ φρόνημα τῆς σαρκὸς ὑποτάσσασθαι μὴ δύνασθαι τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ ὑπέθετο, ἕτερον παρὰ τὴν σάρκα ὑπάρχον.

64.51.2 | For it did not say that the flesh itself cannot submit to God’s law, but that the mind of the flesh, which is different from the flesh, cannot.

64.51.3 | καθάπερ εἰ ἔλεγεν· ὁ ρύπος τοῦ μὴ καλῶς ἀργυρίου καθαρισθέντος εἰς τὸ γενέσθαι σκεῦος ἐπιτήδειον οὐχ ὑποτάσσεται τῷ δημιουργῷ. οὐδὲ γὰρ

64.51.3 | Just as if it said, “The dirt of silver that has not been properly cleaned cannot become a useful vessel for the maker. Nor can it; for it must first be thrown out and δύναται· ἐκβληθῆναι γὰρ αὐτὸν πρότερον καὶ ἐκτακῆναι δεῖ.

removed.'

64.51.4 | καὶ οὐ παρὰ τοῦτο τὸν ἄργυρον ἀπεφαίνετο μὴ δύνασθαι εἰς σκεῦος πονηθῆναι χρήσιμον, ἀλλὰ τὸ χαλκῶδες τὸ ἐν τῷ ἀργύρῳ καὶ τὴν ἄλλην σκληρότητα.

64.51.4 | And it was not saying that the silver itself could not be made into a useful vessel, but the copper mixed in the silver and the other hardness.

64.51.5 | οὕτω καὶ τὸ φρόνημα τῆς σαρκὸς εἰπὼν οὐ τὴν σάρκα ἔφη μὴ δύνασθαι ὑποτάσσεσθαι τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ, ἀλλὰ τὸ φρόνημα τὸ ἐν τῇ σαρκί, οἷον τὸ πρὸς τὰς ἀκρασίας αὐτῆς λέγων ὄρημα· ὅπερ ἀλλαχοῦ ὅτε μὲν »παλαιὰν ζύμην« κακίας καὶ πονηρίας ἐκάλεσεν, ἐπισπέρχων αὐτὸ τελε<ί>ως ἀφ' ἡμῶν ἀιστωθῆναι, ὅτε »νόμον ἀντιστρατευόμεον τῷ τοῦ νοῦ καὶ αἰχμαλωτίζοντα«.

64.51.5 | In the same way, when it said 'the mind of the flesh,' it did not mean the flesh itself cannot submit to God's law, but the mind in the flesh, like its impulse toward its own weaknesses. For elsewhere it called this sometimes 'old yeast' of evil and wickedness, trying to be completely removed from us, and sometimes 'a law opposing the mind and taking it captive.'

64.51.6 | ἐπεὶ, εἰ αὐτὴν τὴν σάρκα ἔλεγε μὴ δύνασθαι ὑποτάσσεσθαι τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ, πρῶτον οὐδὲ μέμψιν ἀσελγαίνοντες ἢ ληστεύοντες ἢ τὰ ἄλλα ὅσ' ἄττα διὰ σώματος πράσσοντες ἢ ποιοῦντες ἔχειν ἐδυνάμεθα παρὰ δικαίῳ κριτῇ, ἀδυνάτως ἐχούσης τῆς σαρκὸς ὑποτάσσεσθαι τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ. πῶς γὰρ ἂν μεμπτέον ἐδύνατο τὸ σῶμα κατὰ τὴν προσοῦσαν αὐτῷ φύσιν βιοῦν εἶναι;

64.51.6 | For if it meant that the flesh itself cannot submit to God's law, then first we could not blame those who are immoral or robbers or all the other things they do or have done through the body before a just judge, since the flesh would be unable to submit to God's law. For how could the body be blamed for living according to its own nature?

64.51.7 | ἀλλὰ οὐδὲ ἄλλως εἰς ἀγνεῖαν ἢ ἀρετὴν ὑπαχθῆναι τὸ ὁῶμα ἐδύνατο, πεφυκὸς μὴ ὑποτάσσεσθαι τῷ ἀγαθῷ. εἰ γὰρ ἡ φύσις τοιαύτη τῆς σαρκός, μὴ δύνασθαι ὑποτάσσεσθαι τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ, νόμος δὲ θεοῦ δικαιοσύνη καὶ σωφροσύνη, ἐχρῆν Με παρθενεύειν μήτε ἐγκρατεῦεσθαι δύνασθαι τὸ σύνολον ὅλως

64.51.7 | But also the body could not be made pure or good in any other way, because it is naturally unable to submit to what is good. For if the nature of the flesh is such that it cannot submit to God's law, and God's law is justice and self-control, then the whole body would have to be able neither to be chaste nor to have self-control ἐκ παντός.

at all.

64.51.8 | εἰ Τε παρθενέουσιν καὶ ἐγκρατεύονται, ἐγκρατεύονται δὲ ὅποτε τὸ σῶμα ὑποτάσσουσιν (ἄλλως γὰρ ἐγκρατεύεσθαι ἁμαρτίας οὐκ ἄρα οὐ δύναται τὸ σῶμα ὑποτάσσεσθαι τῷ τοῦ θεοῦ νόμῳ.

64.51.8 | If they are chaste and have self-control, they have self-control when they submit the body (for the body cannot have self-control over sin if it does not submit to God's law).

64.51.9 | ἐπεὶ πῶς ἂν ὁ Ἰωάννης ὑπέταξεν ἑαυτοῦ τὸ σῶμα εἰς ἀγνείαν; ἢ πῶς Πέτρος εἰς ὁσιότητα; ἢ οἷ καθεξῆς εἰς δικαιοσύνην; πῶς Τε καὶ Παῦλος »μὴ οὖν βασιλεύτω ἡ ἁμαρτία ἐν τῷ θνητῷ ὑμῶν« λέγει »σώματι εἰς τὸ ὑπακούειν ταῖς ἐπιθυμίαις αὐτοῦ μηδὲ παριστάνετε τὰ μέλη ὑμῶν ὄπλα ἀδικίας τῇ ἁμαρτίᾳ, ἀλλὰ παραστήσατε ἑαυτοὺς τῷ θεῷ ὥσει ἐκ νεκρῶν ζώντας καὶ τὰ μέλη ὑμῶν ὄπλα δικαιοσύνης τῷ θεῷ«

64.51.9 | Since how did John submit his body to purity? Or how did Peter submit it to holiness? Or how did Paul in order submit it to justice? And Paul says, 'So sin must not rule in your mortal body,' he says, 'do not obey the body's desires, and do not offer your members as weapons of wrong to sin, but offer yourselves to God as those alive from the dead, and your members as weapons of justice to God.'

64.51.10 | καὶ πάλιν »ὑπερ γὰρ παρεστήσατε τὰ μέλη ὑμῶν δοῦλα τῇ ἀκαθαρσίᾳ καὶ τῇ ἀνομίᾳ εἰς τὴν ἀνομίαν, οὕτως νῦν παραστήσατε τὰ μέλη ὑμῶν δοῦλα τῇ δικαιοσύνῃ εἰς ἁγιασμόν«;

64.51.10 | And again, 'Just as you once offered your members as slaves to uncleanness and lawlessness for lawlessness, so now offer your members as slaves to righteousness for holiness.'

Section 52

64.52.1 | 52. Οὐκοῦν ἐγίγνωσκεν δύνασθαι διευθύνεσθαι τὸ σκῆνωμα τοῦτο καὶ νεύειν πρὸς τὸ ἀγαθόν, ἵνα νεκρωθῶσιν ἐν αὐτῷ τὰ ἁμαρτήματα.

64.52.1 | So then, he knew that this body could be controlled and turned toward good, so that sins might die in it.

64.52.2 | ἐπεὶ πῶς ἐτέρως δουλωθῆναι τῇ δικαιοσύνῃ δύναται ἄνθρωπος καὶ ἐφ' ἡμῶν, ἐὰν μὴ πρότερον ὑποτάξας ἑαυτοῦ

64.52.2 | Since how can a person be enslaved to righteousness and to us, if first he has not put his body's members under τὰ μέλη τῆς σαρκὸς εἰς τὸ μὴ ὑπακούειν αὐτὸ τῇ ἁμαρτίᾳ, ἀλλὰ τῇ δικαιοσύνῃ, πολιτεύηται κατ' ἀξίαν τοῦ Χριστοῦ; ἐπειδὴ τὸ ἁμαρτῆσαι καὶ τὸ μὴ ἁμαρτῆσαι διὰ τοῦ σώματος αὐτῶ.

control to not obey sin, but to obey righteousness, and live worthily of Christ? Because to sin and not to sin happens through the body to him.

64.52.3 | εἰ γὰρ »οὔτε πόρνοι οὔτε εἰδωλόατραι οὔτε μοιχοὶ οὔτε μαλακοὶ οὔτε ἀρσενικοῖται οὔτε κλέπται οὔτε πλεονέκται οὔτε μέθυσοι οὔτε λοῖδοροι οὔτε ἄρπαγες βασιλείαν θεοῦ κληρονομήσαι δύνανται»,

64.52.3 | For neither prostitutes nor idol worshipers nor adulterers nor soft men nor men who lie with men nor thieves nor greedy people nor drunkards nor slanderers nor robbers can inherit the kingdom of God.

64.52.4 | πληροῦνται δὲ ταῦτα καὶ κρατύνονται διὰ τοῦ σώματος, δικαιοῦται δὲ οὐδεὶς, ἐὰν μὴ πρῶτον κρατήσῃ τούτων, κρατεῖ Τε τούτων ὁ ἀκνεύων πρὸς σωφροσύνην καὶ πίστιν, ὑποτάσσεται ἄρα τὸ σῶμα τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ· ὁ νόμος γὰρ θεοῦ σωφροσύνη.

64.52.4 | These things are fulfilled and controlled through the body, but no one is made right, if first he does not control these. He controls these who struggles toward self-control and faith, so the body is then put under the law of God; for the law of God is self-control.

64.52.5 | ὥστε ὁ ἀπόστολος οὐ τὴν σάρκα μὴ ὑποτάσσεσθαι τῷ ἀγαθῷ ἔφη, ἀλλὰ τὸ φρόνημα τῆς σαρκός, οἷον τὴν ὁρμὴν αὐτῆς αὐτὴν] τὴν πρὸς τὰς ἀκρασίας ἀναιρῶν, ὥσπερ δὴ καὶ τῆς ψυχῆς τὴν πρὸς τὸ ἄδικον ἔκκλινειν. ἐκκαθαίρεσθαι γοῦν ἄχρι καὶ τῆς γαστριμαργικῆς ἀκρασίας διαμιλλώμενος, διδάσκων τε τὰς τοιαύτας ὀρέξεις καὶ ἡδονὰς ἐξαπόλλυσθαι καὶ κατασχύνων τοὺς τὸ τρυφᾶν τοῦτο καὶ πολυτελεύεσθαι ζῆν εἶναι νομίζοντας, οἱ »θεὸν ἡγοῦνται τὴν κοιλίαν», <φάσκοντες> καὶ πίνωμεν· αὐριον γὰρ ἀποθνήσκομεν», καθάπερ ἀδηφάγα θρέμματα κάτω περὶ βορὰν μόνον καὶ τὰς τραπέζας ἀσχολούμενα, εἰπὼν τε »τὰ βρώματα τῇ κοίᾳ καὶ ἡ κοιλία τοῖς

64.52.5 | So the apostle did not say that the flesh should not be controlled by what is good, but the mind of the flesh, like its desire, should be destroyed, the desire toward excess, just as also the soul's turning away from what is wrong. He even fights to cleanse away the desire for gluttony, teaching that such cravings and pleasures must be destroyed and shaming those who think living in luxury and indulgence is right, who 'think God is the belly,' saying 'let us eat and drink; for tomorrow we die,' like greedy animals focused only on food and tables, saying 'food is for the stomach and the stomach is for food.'

βρώμασιν·

64.52.7 | ὁ Τε θεὸς καὶ ταύτην καὶ ταῦτα καταργήσει· ἐπήγαγε »τὸ δὲ σῶμα οὐ τῇ πορνείᾳ, ἀλλὰ τῷ κυρίῳ, καὶ ὁ κύριος τῷ σώματι.

64.52.7 | But God will also destroy this and these things. He brought the body not under lust, but under the Lord, and the Lord under the body.

64.52.8 | ὁ δὲ θεὸς καὶ τὸν κύριον ἤγειρε καὶ ἡμᾶς ἐξεγερεῖ διὰ τῆς δυνάμεως αὐτοῦ. ἢ οὐκ οἶδατε ὅτι τὰ μέλη ἡμῶν μέλη Χριστοῦ ἐσιν; ἄρα οὖν τὰ μέλη τοῦ Χριστοῦ ποιήσω πόρνης μέλη; μὴ γένοιτο. ἢ οὐκ οἶδατε ὅτι ὁ κολλώμενος τῇ πόρνῃ ἐν σῶμά ἐστι; ἔσονται, γὰρ φησιν, οἱ δύο εἰς σάρκα μίαν. ὁ δὲ κολλώμενος τῷ κυρίῳ ἐν πνευμᾷ ἐστιν. φεύγετε τὴν πορνείαν. πᾶν ἀμάρτημα ὃ ἐὰν ποιήσῃ ἄνθρωπος ἐκτὸς τοῦ σώματός ἐστιν. ὁ δὲ πορνεύων εἰς τὸ ἴδιον σῶμα ἀμαρτάνει. ἢ οὐκ οἶδατε ὅτι τὰ σώματα ὑμῶν ναὸς τοῦ ἐν ὑμῖν ἁγίου πνεύματος ἐστιν, οὗ ἔχετε ἀπὸ θεοῦ; καὶ οὐκ ἐστὲ ἑαυτῶν· ἡγοράσθητε γὰρ τιμῇ. δοξάσατε οὖν τὸν θεὸν ἐν τῷ σώματι ὑμῶν·

64.52.8 | But God raised up the Lord and will raise us up by his power. Don't you know that our bodies are members of Christ? So if I take the members of Christ, will I make them members of a prostitute? Never! Don't you know that the one joined to a prostitute is one body? For it says, 'the two will become one flesh.' But the one joined to the Lord is one spirit. Flee from sexual immorality. Every sin a person does is outside the body, but the one who commits sexual immorality sins against their own body. Don't you know that your bodies are temples of the holy spirit who is in you, whom you have from God? And you are not your own, for you were bought at a price. So honor God in your body.

Section 53

64.53.1 | 53. Πρόσσχες γὰρ ὅτι ἐπειδὴ τὸ σῶμα τοῦτο δύναται τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ <ὑποτάσσεσθαι> καὶ τὴν ἀθανσίαν ὑποδέξασθαι, ἐὰν τῆς ἀκρασίας τῶν ὑπεκκαυμάτων, μὴ χραινόμενον ἀθέσμοις ὅλως οἷστρων παρατριβαῖς, ὁ ἀπόστολος ταῦτα ἀπεφθέγγετο.

64.53.1 | Pay attention, for since this body can be subject to the law of God and receive immortality, if it is not worn out by unlawful passions of excess, the apostle spoke these things.

64.53.2 | ποῖον γὰρ »τὸ κολλώμενον« ἕτερον »τῇ πόρνῃ« καὶ πλησιάζον καὶ σὰρξ μετ' αὐτῆς κατὰ τὴν σύνερξιν τῶν μελῶν

64.53.2 | For what does it mean to be 'joined' to a prostitute, and to be near and flesh with her, by the joining of the

καὶ τὴν κοινωίαν μία γιγνόμενον παρὰ τοῦτο τὸ ὥμα τὸ ἔξω, δι' οὗ ταῦτα πάντα πληροῦνται τὰ πρὸς μίξιν καὶ ἔκκαυσιν ἀμαρτήματα; members and the sharing, becoming one, except this body outside, through which all these sins of mixing and burning are fulfilled?

64.53.3 | ὁθεν καὶ »πᾶν ἀμάρτημα ὃ ἐὰν ποιήσῃ ἄνθρωπος ἐκτὸς τοῦ σώματός ἐστιν, ὃ δὲ πορνεύων εἰς τὸ ἴδιον σῶμα ἀμαρτάνει.«

64.53.3 | Therefore, every sin a person might do is outside the body, but the one who commits sexual immorality sins against their own body.

64.53.4 | τυφὸς μὲν γὰρ καὶ ἀπιστία καὶ θυμὸς καὶ ὑπόκρισις ψυχῆς ἀμαρτήματα, πορνεία δὲ καὶ οἷστρος καὶ τρυφή σώματος· μεθ' ὧν οὔτε ψυχὴ πρὸς ἀλήθειαν ἀναπτήσεται οὔτε σῶμα σωφροσύνης ὑποταχθήσεται δόγμασιν, ἀλλὰ ἅμφω διολισθήσουσι τῆς βασιλείας τοῦ Χριστοῦ.

64.53.4 | For pride and unbelief and anger and hypocrisy are sins of the soul, but sexual immorality and lust and luxury are sins of the body; with these, neither will the soul be raised to the truth, nor will the body be brought under the rules of self-control, but both will slip away from the kingdom of Christ.

64.53.5 | καὶ τοίνυν εἴ τὰ σώματα ἡμῶν ἐν ἁγιασμῷ διακρατούμενα »ναὸς ἐστὶ τοῦ ἐν ἡμῖν οἰκοῦντος πνεύματος« καὶ »ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ αἵματι«, καὶ τὰ μέλη ταῦ αἵματος »μέλη Χριστοῦ«, ὑποτάσσεται τὸ σῶμα τῷ ὡμῶι θεῷ καὶ »κλγρονομήσαι δύναται τὴν βασιλείαν τοῦ δεοῦ«.

64.53.5 | And so, our bodies, kept in holiness, are the temple of the Spirit living in us, and the Lord is in the body, and the members of this body are members of Christ; the body obeys the divine body and is able to inherit the kingdom of God.

64.53.6 | ὁ «ὃ γὰρ ἐγείρας Χριστὸν ἐκ νεκρῶν ζωοποιήσῃ» φησί »καὶ θνητὰ αἰμάτια ὑμῶν διὰ τοῦ ἀνοικοῦντος αὐτοῦ πνεύματος ἐν ὑμῖν«, »ἵνα τὸ θνητὸν τοῦτο ἐνδύσῃται τὴν ἀθάνασιν καὶ τὸ φθαρτὸν τὴν ἀφθαρσίαν, νῖνκός τε καταποθῇ ὁ θάνατος«.

64.53.6 | For he who raised Christ from the dead will give life to your mortal bodies through his Spirit living in you, so that this mortal will put on immortality and the perishable will put on imperishability, and death will be swallowed up in victory.

64.53.7 | οὐ γὰρ περὶ διελάμβανεν καθ'

64.53.7 | For the apostle was not talking ἡμᾶς ἐνταῦθα οἴματος ὁ ἀπόστολος, ἀλλὰ περὶ τούτου τοῦ ἀποθνήσκοντος καὶ νεκρουμένου, δι' οὗ καὶ πορνεῦσαι καὶ ἄλλως ἁμαρτῆσαι δυνατόν.

here about our bodies, but about this one who dies and is dead, through whom it is possible to commit fornication and other sins.

Section 54

64.54.1 | 54. Ἐὰν δὲ διαφορὰν εἶναι σώματος πρὸς σάρκα ὑποτοπάζωσιν ἵνα δὴ καὶ ταῦτα αὐτοῖς ἐπιτρέψωμεν λογικεύεσθαι) καὶ σῶμα μὲν ἄλλο νομίζοιεν, οἷον αὐτῆς τῆς ψυχῆς <τὸ ἴδιον>, ὃ μὴ βλέπεται, ἀρκα δὲ τοῦτο τὸ ἔξω τὸ βλέπόμενον, λεκτέον, ὡς οὐ μόνον ὁ Παῦλος καὶ οἱ προφῆται σῶμα γινώσκουσι τὴν σάρκα ὀνομάζεσθαι ταύτην, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἄλλαι Ε; φιλόσοφοι, παρ' οἷς δὴ μάλιστα καὶ ἡ τῶν ὀνομάτων ἀκρίβεια παρατετήρηται.

64.54.1 | If there is a difference between body and flesh, I will try to explain it so that we may think about these things. They might consider the body to be different, like the soul's own body, which is not seen, but this visible body is the one we live in. It should be said that not only Paul and the prophets know the body as flesh, but also other philosophers, among whom the meaning of these names has been most carefully observed.

64.54.2 | τετήρηται. ἀρξὲς γὰρ ὅλως, εἰ βούλονται καὶ περὶ τούτων ἐπιστημόνως ἐπισκέφασθαι, πᾶς ὁ ογκὸς οὗτος τοῦ σκηνώματος ἡμῶν κυρίως οὐ λέγεται, ται, ἀλλὰ τι μέρος τοῦ ὅλου, καθάπερ ἡ ὀστᾶ ἢ ὠεῦρα ἢ φλέβες, σῶμα δὲ τὸ ὅλον οθεν καὶ ἰατροί, οἳ δὴ καὶ περὶ φύσεως σωμάτων δυσρίγως διειλήφαι, σῶμα γινώσκουσι τοῦτο τὸ βλέπόμενον.

64.54.2 | For in general, if they want to examine these things carefully, this whole mass of our flesh is not called the body itself, but only a part of the whole, like bones or lungs or veins. The body is the whole, and so doctors, who have studied the nature of bodies carefully, know this visible thing as the body.

64.54.3 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ὁ Πλάτων καὶ αὐτὸ <τὸ σῶμα> σῶμα καὶ αὐτὸς ἐπίσταται. ἐν γοῦν τῷ Φαίδωνι ὁ Σωκράτης «ἅπα μὴ ἄλλο τι τὸν θάνατον ἡγούμεθα εἶναι» ἔφη »ἢ τεθνάναι, χωρὶς με) ἀπὸ τῆς ψυχῆς ἀπαλλαγέν αὐτὸ καθ' ἑαυτὸ τὸ σῶμα γεγονέναι, Χψρις δὲ τὴν ψυχὴν <ἀπὸ> τοῦ αἵματος;

64.54.3 | But even Plato himself knows the body as body. In the Phaedo, Socrates says, 'Let us think that death is nothing else than this: to be dead, the body having been separated from the soul by itself, but the soul not separated from the body.'

64.54.4 | ὁ γάρ Μωυσῆς ὁ μακάμος (ἤκομεν γὰρ ἐπὶ τὰς κυριακὰς ἤδη γραφά) οὐ τοῦτο ὀνομάζειν ἐπίσταται, ὃ βλέπομεν· »καὶ πλυνεῖ τὰ ἱμάτια« λέγων ἐν τοῖς καθαπισμοῖς ὁ ἐπιμαύσας τοῦ ἀκαθάρτου »καὶ λούσεται τὰ σῶμα ὕδατι« »καὶ ἀκάθαρτος ἔσται ἕως ἑσπέρας· τί δὲ καὶ ὁ Τώβ;

64.54.4 | For Moses the blessed (we have come to the Lord's writings already) does not know to call this what we see; and saying 'he will wash his clothes' in the washings, the one who touched the unclean, 'and he will wash his body with water' and 'he will be unclean until evening.' What about Tobit?

64.54.5 | οὐ σῶμα ἐπίσταται καὶ αὐτὸς τοῦτο τὸ νεκρούμενον καλεῖν, »φύθρεται δὲ μου τὸ σῶμα ἐν σαπρίᾳ ακωλήκων« λέγων;

64.54.5 | He does not know the body and to call this thing that is dying 'my body decays in rotten worms,' he says?

64.54.6 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ὁ Σολομῶν ὅτι »εἰς κακότεχνον ψυχὴν οὐκ εἰσελεύσεται σοφία, αὐδὲ κατοικήσει ἐν σώματι καταχρίῳ ἁμαρτίας«/ καὶ ἐν Δαντὴλ ἐπὶ τῶν μαρτύρων »οὐκ ἐκυρίευσεν αὐτῶν τὸ πῦρ σώματος« λέγεται, »καὶ ἡ θριξ τῆς κεφαλῆς αὐτῶν οὐκ ἐφλονᾶτε καὶ ὁ κύριος ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελῳ »διὰ τοῦτο λέγω ὑμῖν·

64.54.6 | But also Solomon says that 'wisdom will not enter a wicked soul, nor dwell in a body full of sin'; and in Daniel about the martyrs it is said, 'the fire of the body did not rule over them,' and 'the hair of their head was not harmed,' and the Lord in the gospel says, 'because of this I tell you:'

64.54.7 | μὴ μεριμνᾶτε τί φάγητε ἢ τί ενδύσηθε. αὐχὶ ἡ ψυχὴ πλεῖον ἐστὶ τῆς τροφῆς καὶ τὸ σῶμα τοῦ ἐνδύματος;«

64.54.7 | 'Do not worry about what you will eat or what you will wear. Is not the soul more than food, and the body more than clothing?'

64.54.8 | καὶ ὁ ἀπόστολος δὲ »μὴ οὖν βασιλενέτω ἡ ἁμαρτία ἐν τῷ θνητῷ ὑμῶν σώματι« λέγων, σῶμα γινώσκειν ὅχο ὃ περιεείμεθα οὐκ ἴσθησιν, καὶ πάλιν »εἰ δὲ τὸ πνεῦμα τοῦ ἐγείραντος Ἰησοῦν αἰκεῖ ἐν ὑμῖν, ὁ ἐγείρας Χριστὸν ἐκ νεκρῶν ζωοποιήσῃ καὶ τὰ θνητὰ ὠματα ὑμῶν« καὶ

64.54.8 | And the apostle says, 'Let not sin rule in your mortal body,' meaning to know the body, not as a place for sin to live; and again, 'If the Spirit of the one who raised Jesus lives in you, the one who raised Christ from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies'; and again, 'If the foot says:'

πάλιν »ἐὰν εἴπη ὁ πούς·

64.54.9 | ὅτι οὐκ εἰμι χεῖρ, οὐκ εἰμι ἐκ τοῦ σώματος οὐ παρὰ τοῦτο οὐκ ἔστιν ἐκ τοῦ σώματος», καὶ πάλιν »καὶ μὴ ἀσθενήσας Ἀβραὰμ τῇ πίστει οὐ κατενόησε τὸ ἑαυτοῦ σῶμα νεκρωμένον«. καὶ πάλιν »τοὺς γὰρ ἅπαντας ἡμᾶς φανερωθῆναι δεῖ ἔμπροσθεν τοῦ βήματος τοῦ χριστοῦ, ἵνα κομίσηται ἕκαστος τὰ διὰ τοῦ σώματος πρὸς ἃ ἔπραξε«, καὶ πάλιν »αἱ μὲν ἐπιστολαὶ βαρεῖαι καὶ ἰσχυραί,

64.54.9 | 'The foot says, "I am not a hand, I am not part of the body," but is not part of the body for that reason'; and again, 'Abraham did not weaken in faith when he thought about his own body as dead'; and again, 'For we all must appear before the judgment seat of Christ, so that each one may receive what was done through the body'; and again, 'The letters are indeed heavy and strong,'

64.54.10 | ἡ δὲ παρουσία τοῦ σώματος ἀσθενής», καὶ πάλιν »οἶδα ἄνθρωπον ἐν Χριστῷ πρὸ ἐτῶν δεκατεσσάρων, εἴτε ἐν σώματι οὐκ οἶδα εἴτε ἐκτὸς τοῦ σώματος οὐκ οἶδα« καὶ πάλιν »οὕτως ὀφείλουσιν οἱ ἄνδρες ἀγαπᾶν τὰς ἑαυτῶν γυναῖκας, ὡς τὰ ἑαυτῶν σώματα«, καὶ πάλιν »αὐτὸς δὲ ὁ θεὸς τῆς εἰρήνης ἀγιάσαι ὁμᾶς ἡλοτελεῖς, καὶ ὁλόκληρον ὑμῶν τὸ πνεῦμα καὶ ἡ ψυχὴ καὶ τὸ σῶμα ἀμέμπτως ἐν τῇ παρουσίᾳ τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ τηρηθεῖη«.

64.54.10 | 'But the body's presence is weak'; and again, 'I know a man in Christ fourteen years ago, whether in the body or out of the body I do not know'; and again, 'In the same way, men ought to love their own wives as their own bodies'; and again, 'Now the God of peace himself make you holy completely, and may your whole spirit and soul and body be kept blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.'

64.54.11 | οἱ δέ, ἀσφαλῶς οὐ νοήσαντες τούτων οὐδέν, ἐν σάλῳ καὶ ταραχῇ φέρεσθαι τὸν ἀπόστολον ὑπέλαβον, ὡς στάσιν αὐτοῦ τὰς διανοήσεις τῶν λόγων καὶ ἔδαραν οὐκ ἐχούσας, ἀλλὰ ἀναπλεούσας ἄνω καὶ κάτω καὶ ὀμισούσας παλίμφημα, ὅτε μὲν τὴν σάρκα ἀνίστασθαι, ὅτε δὲ οὐκ ἀνίστασθαι.

64.54.11 | But they, clearly not understanding any of these things, took the apostle's words in a storm and confusion, as if his thoughts were their own rebellion, and tore them apart, not holding them, but twisting them up and down and hating them like a palimpsest, sometimes saying the flesh will rise, and sometimes saying it will not rise.

Section 55

64.55.1 | 55. Ὅθεν ἵνα μὴ παραλειφθῇ τῶν

64.55.1 | 55. So that nothing of what was προταθέντων μηδὲ ἔν, ὅπως τελε<ί>ως ὡς ἐκτέμνωμεν <τὴν> ὑδραν, εἰς τὸ προκείμενον ἐφεξῆς γάρ, καθάπερ ὑπεσχόμεν, καὶ τὰ ἄλλα ἃ προσαποροῦσι κεφάλαια θεῖς καὶ ἃ χρὴ πρὸς αὐτὰ λέγεσθαι ἀποδείξας, ἀκόλουθα παραστήσω αὐτὸν καὶ σύμφωνα εἰς τὴν περὶ τῆς ἀναστάσεως τῆς σαρκὸς πίστιν καὶ αὐτὰ εἰρηκότα.

said before may be left out, and so that we may cut the water completely, as I promised, I will set down in order the other difficult chapters and explain what must be said about them, and I will also present what has been said in agreement with the faith about the resurrection of the flesh.

64.55.2 | ἴδωμεν δὴ οὖν ἃ τὸ πρῶτον εἰς τὸν ἀπόστολον προήχθημεν εἰπεῖν. τὸ γάρ »ἐγὼ δὲ ἔζων« λεχθὲν αὐτῷ »χωρὶς νόμου ποτέ« ἄνω τὴν ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ, καθάπερ ἐξ ἀρχῆς ὑπεθέμεθα, πρὸ τῆς ἐντολῆς, οὐκ ἐκτὸς σώματος, ἀλλὰ μετὰ σώματος ἡμῶν ἐν τοῖς πρωτοπλάστοις διαγωγὴν παρεγγυᾷ,

64.55.2 | So then, let us see what we first set out to say about the apostle. For when he said, “But I lived,” and it was said to him “once without law,” he means above, in paradise, just as we assumed from the start, before the commandment, not outside the body, but with our body, he shows a life among the first-created.

64.55.3 | ἐπειδὴ πρὸ τοῦ δοθῆναι τὴν ἐντολὴν »χοῦν ὁ θεὸς ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς λαβὼν ἔπλασε τὸν ἄνθρωπον«. ἐκτὸς δὲ ἐπιθυμίας διήγομεν, οὗ γινώσκοντες ὅλως ἐπιθυμίας ἀλόγου προσβολάς, βιαζομένης ἡμᾶς ἐλκτικαῖς ἡδονῶν περιαγωγαῖς πρὸς ἀκρασίαν.

64.55.3 | Since before the commandment was given, “God took dust from the earth and formed man.” But we lived outside of desire, truly knowing that desires are completely unreasonable attacks, forcing us with pulling pleasures toward excess.

64.55.4 | τὸ γὰρ μὴ ἔχον διορισμὸν καθ’ ὃν δεῖ πολιτεύεσθαι μηδὲ ἐξουσίαν αὐτοδέσποτον λογισμοῦ, ποίῳ χρῆσθαι αἰρεῖται πολιτεύματι, ἵνα δικαίως ἢ τιμηθῇ ἢ ψεχθῇ, ἀνυτπεύθυνον παντὸς λεκτέον ὑπάρχειν τοῦτο ἐγκλήματος, ὅτι μὴ δύναται τούτων ἐπιθυμῆσαι ὧν μὴ κεκώλυται. κἂν ἐπιθυμήσῃ δέ, οὐκ αἰτιαθήσεται.

64.55.4 | For not having a set rule by which one must live, nor a self-ruling power of reason, to choose which way to live, so that one may be rightly praised or blamed, this fault must be said to exist, that it cannot desire these things because it is not stopped. And if it does desire, it will not be blamed.

64.55.5 | τὸ γὰρ ἐπιθυμῆσαι οὐκ ἐπὶ τῶν

64.55.5 | For to desire does not fall on παρόντων καὶ ὑποκειμένων ἐν ἐξουσίᾳ πίπτει, ἀλλ' ἐπὶ τῶν παρόντων μὲν, μὴ ὄντων δὲ ἐν ἐξουσίᾳ. πῶς γὰρ οὐ μὴ κεκώλυται τις μηδὲ ἐνδεής ἐστι, τούτου ἐπιθυμεῖ καὶ ἐρᾷ; ὅθεν διὰ τοῦτο »τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν οὐκ ᾔδειν«, <ἔφη,> »εἰ μὴ ὁ νόμος ἔλεγεν, οὐκ ἐπιθυμήσεις«.

things present and under control, but on things present and not under control. For how could someone desire and long for what is not stopped or lacking? Therefore, because of this, "I did not know desire," he said, "if the law did not say, you shall not desire."

64.55.6 | ἀκούσαντες γάρ »ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ ξύλου τοῦ γινώσκειν καλὸν καὶ πονηρόν, οὐ φάγεσθε ἀπ' αὐτοῦ· ἢ δ' ἂν ἡμέρα φάγητε ἀπ' αὐτοῦ, θανάτῳ νάτῳ ἀποθανεῖσθε«, τίτε τὸ ἐπιθυμῆσαι συνέλαβον καὶ ἐνεκίσθησαν. οὐ γὰρ ὧν ἔχει καὶ ὧν ἐξουσιάζει καὶ κέχρηται αὐτοῖς, ὁ ἐπιθυμῶν ἐπιθυμεῖ, ἀλλὰ ὧν κεκώλυται καὶ ἀφήρηται καὶ οὐκ ἔχει.

64.55.6 | For hearing, "But from the tree of knowing good and evil, you will not eat from it; and on the day you eat from it, you will die," they understood and were stopped from desiring. For what someone has and controls and uses, the desiring one desires, but what is stopped and taken away and not had, he does not.

64.55.7 | διὸ δὴ καλῶς »τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν οὐκ ᾔδειν« ἐλέχθη, »εἰ μὴ ὁ νόμος ἔλεγεν, οὐκ ἐπιθυμήσεις«, ὃ δὴ ἐστίν, εἰ μὴ εἴρητο »οὐ φάγεσθε ἀπ' αὐτοῦ«. ἐντεῦθεν γὰρ ἐκτήσατο τόπον καὶ ἀφορμὴν εἰδελθεῖν εἰς τὸ διαπαῖξαι με καὶ παρατέψασθαι ἢ ἁμαρτία.

64.55.7 | Therefore indeed, it was rightly said, "I did not know desire, if the law did not say, you shall not desire," which means, if it had not been said, "you will not eat from it." For from this point, sin gained a place and a reason to tease me and to tempt me.

Section 56

64.56.1 | 56. Δοθείσης γὰρ τῆς ἐντολῆς ἔσχε λαβὴν διὰ τῆς ἐντολῆς ὁ διάβολος κατεργάσασθαι ἐν ἐμοὶ τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν, παρορμήσας με καὶ προσκαλεσάμενος μενος ἐντέχνως εἰς ὄρεξιν παταπσεῖν τῶν κεκωλυμένων.

64.56.1 | For when the command was given, the devil took hold through the command to work desire in me, urging me on and cleverly calling me to fall into craving for what was stopped.

64.56.2 | »χωρὶς γὰρ νόμου ἁμαρτία νεκρά«· οἷον οὐ δοθείσης γὰρ οὐδὲ οὐσης οὐδέπω τῆς ἐντολῆς ἀπρακτος ἦν ἡ

64.56.2 | "For without law, sin is dead"; for as if the command had not been given and was not yet, sin was powerless; "but I was ἀμαρτία· »ἐγὼ δὲ ἔζων« ἀμέμπτως πρὸ τῆς ἐντολῆς, οὐκ ἔχων ἔχων διορισμὸν καὶ διαταγάν, καθ' ἣν ἔδει πολιτεύσασθαι, ἧς καὶ διολισιήσας ἀμαρτήσομαι.

alive” blameless before the command, not having a limit or rule by which I should live, which I will also break and sin.

64.56.3 | »ἐλθούσης δὲ τῆς ἐντολῆς ἡ ἀμαρτία ἀνέζησεν, ἐγὼ δὲ ἀπέθανον, καὶ ηὐρέθη μοι ἡ ἐντολή ἡ εἰς ζωὴν αὕτη εἰς θάνατον«, ὅτι μετὰ τὸ νομοθετῆσαι τὸν θεὸν καὶ διαστείλασθαι ὃ ποιητέον καὶ μὴ ποιητέον, πατεργάσατο ἐν ἐμοὶ τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν ὃ διάβολος.

64.56.3 | “But when the command came, sin came alive, but I died, and this command, which was for life, was found to be for death,” because after God gave the law and set apart what must be done and what must not be done, the devil worked desire in me.

64.56.4 | ἡ γὰρ παραίνεσις τοῦ θεοῦ καὶ παραγγελία ἡ δοθεῖσα μοι αὕτη ζωὴν καὶ ἀξθαρσίαν, ἵαν πειθόμενος αὐτῇ καὶ κατ' αὐτὴν βιοῦς ἀπήμονα καὶ μακαριστότατον δι' αἰῶνος καὶ αἰὲ θάλλοντα πρὸς ἀθανασίαν βίον ἔχω καὶ χαράν, ἀθετήσαντι αὐτὴν εἰς θάνατον ἀπέβη καὶ καταδίκην,

64.56.4 | For the encouragement of God and the command given to me are life and incorruption, so that by obeying it and living by it, I have a safe and most blessed life forever, always growing toward immortality with joy; but by rejecting it, it turned to death and condemnation.

64.56.5 | ἐπειδὴ ὁ διάβολος, ὃν ἀμαρτίαν νῦν οὕτως ἐκάλεσε διὰ τὸ δημιουργὸν αὐτὸν ἀμαρτίας ὑπάρχειν καὶ εὐρετὴν, καὶ τῆς ἐντολῆς ἀφορμὴν λαβὼν πρὸς παρακοὴν ἐξηπάτησέ με καὶ ἀπατήσας ἀπέκτεινεν, ὑπεύθυνον τῷ »ἢ δ' ἂν ἡμέρᾳ φάγητε ἀπ' αὐτοῦ, θανάτῳ ἀποθανείσθαι« κατακρίματι γενέσθαι κατεργασάμενος.

64.56.5 | Since the devil, whom sin now called this way because the creator made him to be sin and a worker of sin, took the command as a cause for disobedience, he tricked me and deceived me and killed me, working so that I would be judged guilty by the sentence, “on the day you eat from it, you will die.”

64.56.6 | »ὥστε ὁ μὲν νόμος ἅγιος καὶ ἡ ἐντολή τοῦ θεοῦ ἁγία καὶ δικαία καὶ ἀγαθή«, ὅτι μὴ ἐπὶ τῷ βλάψαι, ἀλλ' ἐπὶ τῷ σῶσαι ἐδόθη. μὴ γὰρ οἴωμεθα ὅλως ἀνωφελές τι ποιεῖν ἢ βλκβερόν τὸν θεόν. τί οὖν;

64.56.6 | So the law is holy, and the command of God is holy and just and good, because it was given not to harm, but to save. For we should not think that God does anything useless or harmful. What then?

64.56.7 | τὸ ἀγαθὸν ἐμοὶ ἐγένετο θάνατος», ὃ τοῦ μεγίστου ἐμοὶ ὡς ἀγαθοῦ νομοθέτημα ἐδόθη; »μὴ γένοιτο«. ὅτι μὴ ἡ ἐντολὴ τοῦ τὸ καταδουλωθῆναί με ἐγένετο τῇ φθορᾷ καὶ ἐναπομάξασθαι κῆγρας ὀλέθρου αἰτία, ἀλλ' ὁ διάβολος, ἵνα φανερωθῇ διὰ τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ τὸ κακὸν ἐμοὶ κατασκεάσας, ἵνα γένηται καὶ ἐλεγχθῇ »καθ' ὑπερβολὴν« ὁ εὐρετὴς καὶ τέκτων τῆς ἁμαρτίας »ἁμαρτωλός« καὶ διορισθῇ ἀπὸ τοῦ καλοῦ ὁ τὰναντία τῆς ἀντολῆς θεοῦ #x003E; ἐπιτροπεύσας.

64.56.7 | “Good became death to me,” was the greatest law given to me as good? “May it never be.” For the command was not the cause of my being enslaved to decay and wiped out as the cause of ruin, but the devil, so that evil might be shown through the good, made me this way, so that the “finder” and builder of sin might become “sinful” beyond measure and be judged by the good one who rules over what is against God’s command.

64.56.8 | »οἶδαμεν γὰρ ὅτι ὁ νόμος πνευματικός«, διὸ καὶ οὐδὲν αἴτιος βλάβης οὐδενί· πόρρω γὰρ ἐπιθυμίας ἀλόγου ἁμαρτίας ἐσκήνωται τὰ πνευματικά. »ἐγὼ δὲ σάρκινός εἰμι, πεπραμένος ὑπὸ τὴν ἁμαρτίαν«, οἶον·

64.56.8 | For we know that the law is spiritual, so it is not the cause of harm to anyone; far from it, the spiritual things live far from foolish desire and sin. But I am fleshly, sold under sin, as if—

64.56.9 | ἐγὼ δὲ σάρκινος ὢν καὶ ἐν μέσῳ τοῦ πονηροῦ καὶ ἀγαθοῦ κατασταθεὶς ὡς αὐτεξούσιος, ἵν' ἐπ' ἐμοὶ <τὸ> ἐλέσθαι ὃ βούλομαι ἢ »τέθεικα« γάρ φησι »πρὸ σου τὴν ζωὴν καὶ τὸν θάνατον«, νεύσας πρὸς τὸ παρακοῦσαι μὲν τοῦ πνευματικοῦ νόμου οἷον τῆς ἐντολῆς, ὑποκοῦσαι δὲ τοῦ ὑλικοῦ οἷον τοῦ ὄφεως τῆς συμβουλίας, πέπραμαι διὰ τὴν τοιαύτην αἵρεσιν, πεσὼν ὑπὸ ἁμαρτίαν, τῷ διαβόλῳ.

64.56.9 | But I, being fleshly and placed in the middle of evil and good as if self-ruling, so that what I want may be chosen in me (for it says, “I have set before you life and death”), nodding to disobey the spiritual law, as if the command, but obeying the material, as if the profit of advice, I am sold because of such a choice, having fallen under sin, to the devil.

64.56.10 | ὅθεν ἐντεῦθεν πολιορκῆσάν με τὸ κακὸν καὶ ἐνιζάνει καὶ ἐμπολιτεύεται εἰσοικισθὲν ἐν τῇ σαρκί μου, καθάπερ κηφὴν ἐν κηρίῳ μελίσσης περιποτώμενος πολλάκις περὶ αὐτὸ καὶ βομβῶν, δίκης ἐπιτεθείσης μοι τὴν ἐντολὴν ἀθετήσαντι

64.56.10 | Therefore, from here the evil has surrounded me and holds me fast and lives inside my flesh, just like a drone buzzing many times around a bee’s hive, and when judgment comes against me for breaking the command, I am handed over to the evil.

πραθῆναι τῷ κακῷ.

64.56.11 | διὸ καὶ »οὐ γινίσκω ὃ κατεργάζομαι«, λογιζόμενος ὃ μὴ θέλω· τὸ γάρ ὃ κατεργάζομαι οὐ γινώσκω, καὶ »ποιῶ ὃ μισῶ« λεγόμενον οὐκ ἐπὶ τοῦ τελεσιουργῆσαι τὸ φαῦλον καὶ δρᾶσαι παραληπτέον, ἀλλ' ἐπὶ τοῦ μόνον ἐνθυμηθῆναι, λογισμῶν ἀνακείων ἡμῖν προσιπταμένων πλεονάκεις καὶ ἐμφανταζόντων ἡμᾶς πρὸς ἃ μὴ θέλομεν, τῆς ψυχῆς τοῖς λογισμοῖς περὶ πολλὰ περιανομένης.

64.56.11 | So also, "I do not understand what I do," thinking about what I do not want; for what I do, I do not understand, and "I do what I hate" should not be taken as meaning to complete the bad or to do it, but only to think about it, with thoughts coming to us often and showing us things we do not want, the soul being led around by many thoughts.

Section 57

64.57.1 | 57. Οὐ γὰρ ἐφ' ἡμῖν ὅλως τὸ ἐνθυμεῖσθαι ἢ μὴ ἐνθυμεῖσθαι καῖται τὰ ἄτοπα, ἀλλὰ τὸ χρῆσθαι ἢ μὴ χρῆσθαι τοῖς ἐνθυμήμασι. κωλύσαι μὲν γὰρ μὴ ἐμπίπτειν εἰς ἡμᾶς τοὺς λογισμοὺς οὐ δυνάμεθα, πρὸς δοκιμὴν ἡμῶν ἔξωθεν εἰσπνεομένους, μὴ πεισθῆναι μέντοι ἢ μὴ χρῆσθαι αὐτοῖς δυνάμεθα.

64.57.1 | For it is not at all up to us whether we think or do not think strange things, but whether we use or do not use those thoughts. We cannot stop thoughts from coming into us, since they come from outside to test us, but we can choose not to believe or to use them.

64.57.2 | ἐπεὶ πῶς ὁ ἀπόστολος τὸ μὲν κακὸν οὐχ ἡκιστα ᾧ ἀπηρέσκετο ἐποίει, τὸ δὲ καλὸν ᾧ ἡρέσκετο ἡκιστα, εἰ μὴ περὶ τῶν ὀθνείων ἐνθυμημάτων ἔλεγεν, ἃ ἐνθυμούμεθα ἔσθ' ὅτε καὶ μὴ βουλόμενοι, ἐξ οἷας οὐ γινύσκοντες αἰτίας;

64.57.2 | Since how the apostle was not at all pleased to do the bad, but was least pleased to do the good, if he was not talking about harmful thoughts, which we think even when we do not want to, from causes we do not understand?

64.57.3 | ἃ ἀνατρέπεσθαι χρὴ καὶ ἐπιστομίζεσθαι, ἵνα μὴ εὐρυνόμενα τῶν περάτων κρατήσωσι τῆς ψυχῆς. ἀμήχανον γὰρ τούτων ἐνευκαιρούντων ἐν ἡμῖν ἐπανατεῖλαι τὸ ἀγαθόν.

64.57.3 | These must be turned back and silenced, so that by spreading beyond limits they do not take control of the soul. For when these things take hold in us, it is impossible for the good to rise up again.

64.57.4 | ὀρθῶς ἄρα »ὃ γὰρ κατεργάζομαι οὐ γινώσκω« ἔλεγεν, »οὐ γὰρ ὃ θέλω πράσσω, ἀλλ' ὃ μισῶ, τοῦτο ποιῶ«. θέλομεν γὰρ τὰ μὴ προσήκοντα καὶ ἃ μὴ θέμις μηδ' ἐνθυμεῖσθαι, ἐπειδὴ ἐπειδὴ τοῦτο ἀγαθὸν τέλειον, μὴ μόνον τοῦ ποιῆσαι αὐτὸ ἐγκρατεῦεσθαι, ἀλλὰ καὶ τοῦ ἐνθυμηθῆναι.

64.57.4 | So he said rightly, "What I do, I do not understand, for I do not do what I want, but what I hate, this I do." For we want things that are not proper and things that are not right to even think about, since this is the perfect good—not only to control ourselves from doing it, but also from thinking about it.

64.57.5 | καὶ ὃ θέλομεν, τοῦτο ἀγαθὸν οὐ γίγνεται, ἀλλ' ὃ οὐ θέλομεν, πονηρόν. ἐπιφοιτῶσι γὰρ ἐπὶ τὴν καρδίαν ἡμῶν καὶ ἐπιβαίνουσιν καὶ μὴ βουλομένων ἡμῶν πολλάκις μυρία τε περὶ μυρίων <ἐνθυμήματα,> περιεργίας ἡμᾶς καὶ φιλοπραγμοσύνης πιμπλάντα.

64.57.5 | And what we want does not become good, but what we do not want becomes evil. For countless thoughts come upon our heart and take hold, even when we do not want them, filling us with endless busy thoughts and nosiness.

64.57.6 | διὸ τὸ θέλειν αὐτὰ μὴ ἐνθυμεῖσθαι παράκειται, τὸ δὲ κατεργάζεσθαι εἰς τὸ ἀφανίσαι, ἵνα μὴ καὶ αὐθις περὶ τὸν λογισμὸν ἀνέλθωσιν, #x003E; ὅτι μὴ κεῖται τοῦτο ἐφ' ἡμῖν, ὡς ἔφην, ἀλλὰ τὸ χρήσασθαι μόνον αὐτοῖς Πως ἢ μὴ χρήσασθαι.

64.57.6 | Therefore, the wanting is to not think about them, but the working is to make them disappear, so that they do not come back again to the mind, because this does not lie with us, as I said, but only using them or not using them.

64.57.7 | ὡς ὡς εἶναι τὸν νοῦν τοιοῦτον τοῦ ῥητοῦ »οὐ γὰρ ὃ θέλω ποιῶ ἀγαθόν« θέλω γὰρ μὴ ἐνθυμεῖσθαι ἃ βλάπτει με, ἐπειδὴ τοῦτο ἀγαθὸν πανάμωμον, κατὰ τὸ λεγόμενον »ἄνευ ψόγου τετυγμένον χερσὶ τε καὶ νόῳ τετράγωνον«. καὶ τοῦτο μὲν »ὃ θέλω ἀγαθὸν οὐ ποιῶ, ὃ Τε μὴ θέλω κακὸν πράσσω« οὐ θέλω ἐννοεῖσθαι καὶ ἐννοοῦμαι ὅσα μὴ θέλω.

64.57.7 | The mind is like this in what is said, "For I do not do the good I want." For I want not to think about what harms me, since this is perfect good, without fault, as it is said, "made square without blame by hand and mind." And this is, "What I want, I do not do good; what I do not want, I do evil." I do not want to think, and I do think, about what I do not want.

64.57.8 | καὶ ἐπισκέψασθαι #x003E; εἴ μὴ

64.57.8 | And consider this: is it not for this διὰ ταῦτα αὐτὰ καὶ ὁ Δαυὶδ ἐνετύγχανε τῷ θεῷ, δυσχεραίνων ἐπὶ λογίζεσθαι καὶ καὶ αὐτὸν ἃ μὴ ᾔθελεν· »ἀπὸ τῶν κρυφίων μου καθάρισόν με καὶ ἀπὸ ἁλλοτρίων φεῖσαι φεῖσαι δούλου σου. ἐὰν μὴ μου κατακυριεύσωσι, τότε ἄμωμος ἔσομαι καὶ καθαρισθήσομαι ἀπὸ ἁμαρτίας μεγάλης».

reason that even David came before God, struggling to think about things he did not want? “Cleanse me from my hidden faults, and keep your servant from willful sins. If they do not rule over me, then I will be blameless and clean from great sin.”

64.57.9 | καὶ αὐτὸς Τε ὁ ἀπόστολος ἐν ἐτέρῳ »λογισμοὺς καθαιροῦτες καὶ πᾶν ὑψωμα ἐπαιρόμενον κατὰ τῆς γνώσεως τοῦ θεοῦ, καὶ αἰχμαλωτίζοντες πᾶν νόημα εἰς τὴν ὑπακοὴν τοῦ Χριστοῦ».

64.57.9 | And the apostle himself said in another place, “casting down imaginations and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing every thought captive to the obedience of Christ.”

Section 58

64.58.1 | 58. Εἰ δέ τις ὁμόσε τῷ λόγῳ ἵεναι τολμῶν ἀπορίνοιτο ὡς ἄρα διδάσκει ὁ ἀπόστολος ὡς οὐ μόνον ἐν τῷ λογίζεσθαι τὸ κακὸν ὃ μισοῦμεν καὶ ὃ οὐ θέλομεν πράσσομεν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἐν τῷ ποιεῖν αὐτὸ καὶ κατεργάζεσθαι, διὰ τὸ »οὐ γὰρ ὃ θέλω ποιῶ« λελέχθαι »ἀγαθόν,

64.58.1 | 58. But if someone dares to swear by the word and gets confused, then the apostle teaches that not only in thinking do we do the evil we hate and do not want, but also in doing it and working it out, because it is said, “For I do not do the good I want.”

64.58.2 | ἀλλ’ ὃ οὐ θέλω κακόν, τοῦτο πράσσω«, ἀξιῶσομέν που, εἰ ἀληθῆ λέγει ὁ ταῦτα λέγων, διασαφῆσαι τί ἦν τὸ κακόν, ὃ ἐμίσει ὁ ἀπόστολος καὶ ὃ οὐκ ἐβούλετο μὲν ποιεῖν. ἐποίει δέ, καὶ ἁγαθόν, ὃ ἐβούλετο μὲν ποιεῖν, οὐκ ἐποίει γε, ἀλλὰ ἀντιστρόφως ὅσάκις μὲν ᾔθελε ποιῆσαι τὸ ἀγαθόν, τοσαυτάκις οὐ τὸ ἀγαθὸν ὃ ᾔθελεν, Μὰ τὸ πονηρὸν ὃ μὴ ᾔθελεν ἐποίει.

64.58.2 | “But what I do not want, that I do,” we might ask, if the one who says this is telling the truth, to explain clearly what the evil was that the apostle hated and did not want to do. But he did do it, and the good he wanted to do, he did not do at all.
Instead, as many times as he wanted to do the good, so many times he did not do the good he wanted, but the evil he did not want, he did.

64.58.3 | ἄρα γὰρ οὐ θέλεω εἰδωλολατρεῖν ἀλλὰ θεολαττεῖν, ὃ μὲν ᾔθελε θεολατρεῖν

64.58.3 | For he did not want to worship idols but to worship God; what he wanted, οὐκ ἠδύνατο, ὃ δὲ μὴ ἤθελεν εἰδωλολατρεῖν ἠδύνατο, ἢ σωφρονεῖν μὲν ὃ ἤθελεν οὐκ ἐποίει, ἀκολασταίνειν δὲ ὃ ἤχθετο ἐποίει; to worship God, he could not do, but what he did not want, to worship idols, he could do. Or to be self-controlled, which he wanted, he did not do, but to be wild, which he hated, he did.

64.58.4 | καὶ συλλάβηδιν κραιπαλᾶν, ἀλλὰ ἀσωτεύεσθαι καὶ θυμοῦσθαι, ἀδικεῖν καὶ τὰ ἄλλα ὅσα πονηρίας ἔργα, ἃ μὴ ἤθελε μὲν ἐποΐει, ὃ δὲ ἤθελε, δικαιοσύνην καὶ οσιότητα, οὐκ ἐποίει;

64.58.4 | And to get drunk little by little, but to live wildly and get angry, to do wrong and all the other evil deeds, which he did not want to do, but he did; and what he wanted, justice and holiness, he did not do?

64.58.5 | καὶ μὴν αὐτὸς ἐν ταῖς ἐκκλησίαις προτροπάδην ἐξεγείρων πάντας τας τὸ μὴ ἀνομεῖν οὐ μόνον τοῦς ποιοπυντας καὶ ἐπιτηδεύοντας τὰ ἄτοπα ὀλέθρῳ τηρεῖσθαι καὶ ὀργῇ παρεγγυᾷ, ἀλλὰ καὶ τοῦς συνευδοκοῦντας αὐτοῖς εἰς ταῦτα, ἀμιγῆς ἀμαρτίας ἐν ἡμῖν τὸ δίκαιον ἀσκεῖσθαι διαμιλλώμενος. πᾶν γὰρ ἀμάρτημα καὶ ἐπιτήδευμα τὸ συμπέρασμα κτᾶται διὰ τῆς σαρκός.

64.58.5 | And indeed he himself, in the churches, openly urging everyone not only those who do and practice wrong things to keep away from destruction and warns with anger, but also those who agree with them in these things, arguing that justice cannot be practiced purely among us because of sin. For every sin and practice gets its power through the flesh.

64.58.6 | πολλάκις τοῦν ἐν ταῖς ἐπιστολαῖς ἀναφανδὸν αὐτὰ δὴ ταῦτα διδάσκων ἡμᾶς ὑπεκτρέπεσθαι καὶ μισὶν φησί »μὴ πλανᾶσθε· οὔτε πόρνοι οὔτε εἰδωλολάτραι ο//υτε μοιχοὶ μαλακοὶ οὔτε ἀρσενικοῖται οὔτε κλέπται οὔτε πλεονέκται οὔτε μέθυσοι οὐ λοῖδοροι οὐχ ἄρπαγες βασιλείαν θεοῦ κληρονομήσουσι«

64.58.6 | Many times in the letters, openly teaching these things, he tells us to turn away and says, "Do not be fooled: neither the immoral, nor idol worshipers, nor adulterers, nor the soft, nor men who lie with men, nor thieves, nor greedy people, nor drunkards, nor slanderers, nor robbers will inherit the kingdom of God."

64.58.7 | καὶ τὸ κορυφαϊότατον, εἰς τὸ πανταπασιν ἡμᾶς ἐκ παντὸς ἀποδρᾶναι καὶ ἀποτινάξασθαι τὸ ἀμαρτάνειν προοῦτως οὐ τὸ ποιεῖν ἃ μὴ ἤθελε καὶ πράττειν

64.58.7 | And the very top point is that he wants us completely to run away and shake off sin, not just to avoid doing it if we don't want to, and to suppose that the things said ὑπέθετο τὰ προειρημένα, before are done.

64.58.8 | ἀλλὰ τὸ μόνον λογίζεσθαι· ἐπεὶ πῶς ἂν ἦν μιμητὴς ἀκριβῆς τοῦ Χριστοῦ; νυνὶ δὲ ἐπειδήπερ ἐμπίπτουσι θηριώδεις πολλάκις λογισμοί, ἐπιθυμίας ἡμᾶς ἄλλοτε ἄλλως ἐμπιπλάντες καὶ πρτριτήσε ἀλόγου, ἢ ὅτε μυιάων ἀδινάων ἔθνεα πολλά, ἔφη »τὸ γὰρ ὃ οὐ θέλω, τοῦτο ποιῶ«· ἃ χρὴ τῆς ψυχῆς εὐθαρσπως ἀποσοβεῖν, σοβεῖν, μηδὲν ὅλως εἰς τὸ ποιῆσαι τὰ ὑπ’ αὐτῶν ὑπηχούμενα νεύοντας.

64.58.8 | But to think only this: how could one be a true follower of Christ? Now, since wild thoughts often come upon us, filling our desires in different ways and making us act without reason, like swarms of many thick flies, he said, “For what I do not want, this I do.” This is something the soul must boldly push away and drive off, not at all nodding to do the things suggested by those thoughts.

64.58.9 | ἵνα γὰρ ἐγκριθῶμεν εἰς τὴν βασιλείαν τῶν οὐρανῶν, ἐν πάσαις ἡδοναῖς καὶ λύπαις δοκιμασθέντες, εἰ μὴ μεταβαλλοίμεθα ἀλλὰ πανταχοῦ καθάπερ ἀκήρατος χρυσὸς διὰ πυρὸς βασανιζόμενος οὐκ ἐξιστάμεθα τῆς οἰκείας ἀρετῆς, συμβαίνει &τὸ& διοχεῖσθαι τὸν νοῦν ὑπὸ πολλῶν.

64.58.9 | For we may be accepted into the kingdom of heaven, tested in all pleasures and pains, if we do not change but everywhere, like pure gold tested by fire, we do not turn away from our own virtue. It happens that the mind is troubled by many things.

64.58.10 | ὅθεν δὴ γενναίως ὥσπερ στρατιώτας ἀρίστους ἀντιπαρατάσσεσθαι δεῖ, οἱ ἐπειδὴν ὑπὸ τῶν ἐχθρῶν αἰσθωνται πολιορκούμενοι, τοξείας οὐδὲν φροντίσαντες καὶ τῶν ἄλλων αὐτῶν ἀκοντισμάτων, ὑπὲρ τοῦ σῶσαι τὴν προθύμως ἐπ’ αὐτοὺς ἵενται, μηδὲν ἐλλείποντες σπουδῆς, ἔστ’ ἂν τὸ στιφος αὐτῶν εἰς φυγὴν ἀνατρέψαντες ἀπώσωνται τῶν ὄρων ἕξω.

64.58.10 | Therefore, bravely, just like the best soldiers, we must stand against them, who, when they sense they are being surrounded by enemies, do not care about arrows or other thrown weapons, but eagerly rush forward to save their own, missing no effort. Their crowd could even push back the enemy and drive them outside the borders.

64.58.11 | ὁρᾷς γὰρ ὡς οἱ λογισμοὶ διὰ τὴν ἐνοικοῦσαν ἁμαρτίαν ἐν ἡμῖν ἕξωθεν ἐπισυνίστανται, καθαπερὶ κύνες λυσσῶντες ἢ ἄγριοι καὶ θρασεῖς λησταὶ καθ’ ἡμῶν αἰεὶ παρορμώμενοι ὑπὸ τοῦ

64.58.11 | You see how our thoughts, because of the sin living in us, gather around from outside, just like dogs barking madly or wild and bold robbers always attacking us, driven on by the ruler and τυράννου καὶ ἄρχοντος τῆς ἀδικίας, δοκιμάζοντος ἡμᾶς εἰ ἀνθίστασθαι αὐτοῖς ἀρκοῦμεν καὶ ἀντιπαράτασσεσθαι.

lord of injustice, testing us to see if we can stand against them and fight back.

Section 59

64.59.1 | 59. Ἄγε οὖν, μή ποτε ὑπενδοῦσα ἄρπασθῇς, ὦ ψυχὴ, πρὸς αὐτῶν, καὶ οὐχ ἔξομεν ὑπὲρ σοῦ δοῦναι λύτρα. »τί γὰρ ἀντικατάλλαγμα δώσει, φησὶν, ἄνθρωπος τῆς ψυχῆς αὐτοῦς«;

64.59.1 | Come then, soul, so that you are not suddenly snatched away to them, and we will not have to pay a ransom for you.
“For what price,” he says, “can a man give in exchange for his soul?”

64.59.2 | καλὸν μὲν οὖν, εἰ μὴ εἴχομεν, ἦν ἂν καὶ χαρμιώτατον, τοὺς ἀντιπράσσοντας ἡμῖν καὶ μαχομένους· ἐπεὶ δὲ τοῦτο ἀδύνατον, καὶ ὃ θέλομεν οὐ δυνάμεθα θέλομεν δὲ μὴ ἔχειν τοὺς ἐξέλκοντας ἡμᾶς εἰς πάθη) — ἦν γὰρ ἀνιδρωτὶ σωθῆναι — καὶ ὃ θέλομεν τοῦτο οὐ γίγνεται, ἀλλ’ ὃ οὐ θέλομεν δεῖ γὰρ ἡμᾶς δοκιμάζεσθαι, ὥς ἔφη), μὴ ἐνδιδῶμεν, ὦ ψυχὴ, μὴ ἐνδιδῶμεν τῷ πονηρῷ,

64.59.2 | It would be good, even most joyful, if we did not have those fighting and opposing us; but since this is impossible, and we cannot do what we want, and we want not to have those dragging us into suffering — for it is impossible to be saved without sweat — and what we want does not happen, but what we do not want must happen, for we must be tested, as I said, soul, let us not give in, let us not give in to the evil one.

64.59.3 | »ἀλλὰ ἀναλαβόντες τὴν πανοπλίαν τοῦ θεοῦ« ὑπερασπίζουσιν καὶ προαγωνιζομένην ἡμῶν »ἐνδυδόμεθα τὸν θώρακα τῆς δικαιοσύνης καὶ ὑποδησώμεθα πόδας ἐν ἐτοιμασίᾳ τοῦ εὐαγγελίου, ἐν πᾶσί τε ἀναλάβωμεν τὸν θυρεὸν τῆς πίστεως, ἐν ᾧ δυνησόμεθα πάντα τὰ βέλη τοῦ πονηροῦ τὰ πεπυρωμένα σβέσαι καὶ τὴν περικεφαλαίαν τοῦ σωτηρίου καὶ τὴν μάχαιραν τοῦ πνεύματος, ὃ ἐστὶ ρῆμα θεοῦ, πρὸς τὸ δύνασθαι στῆναι πρὸς τὴν τοῦ διαβόλου«, »λογισμούς τε καθαιρεῖν καὶ πᾶν ὑψωμα ἐπαιρόμενον κατὰ τῆς γνώσεως τοῦ θεοῦ«· »ὅτι μὴ ἐστὶν ἡμῖν ἡ

64.59.3 | “But putting on the full armor of God,” protecting and fighting for us, “let us put on the breastplate of righteousness and have our feet ready with the gospel, and in all things take up the shield of faith, with which we can put out all the fiery arrows of the evil one, and the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God, so that we can stand against the devil,” “and take down every thought and every proud thing raised against the knowledge of God,” “because our fight is not against flesh and blood.”

πάλη πρὸς κίμα καὶ σάρκα».

64.59.4 | τούτου δὲ ἕνεκα τοῦτα λέγω, ὅτι οὗτος ὁ τρόπος τοῦ ἀποστόλου τῶν συνταγμάτων. πολλὰ μὲν γὰρ ἔστι καὶ περὶ ἐκάστου τῶι ἐν τῇ ἐπιστολῇ ταύτῃ εἰρημένων ἀποδείξει, ὡς ὀρθοδόξως καὶ μεμελετημένως ἔχει· μακρὸν ἂν εἴη ἕκαστον αὐτῶν οὕτως διελθεῖν.

64.59.4 | For this reason I say these things, because this is the way of the apostle's writings. There are many things about each one of the points said in this letter to show how they are held rightly and carefully studied. It would be too long to go through each one like this.

64.59.5 | γὰρ τύπον αὐτοῦ δεῖξαι μόνον καὶ τὴν βούλησιν προηργμαὶ νῦν »οὐ γὰρ ὃ θέλω, τοῦτο πράσσω, ἀλλ' ὃ μισῶ, τοῦτο ποιῶ. <εἰ δὲ ὃ οὐ θέλω > σ' λυμφημι τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ ὅτι καλός· νυνὶ δὲ οὐκέτι γὰγὼ κατεργάζομαι αὐτό, ἀλλ' ἡ οἰκοῦσα ἐν ἐμοὶ ἁμαρτία. οἶδα γὰρ ὅτι οὐκ οἰκεῖ ἐν ἐμοὶ, τουτέστιν ἐν τῇ σαρκί μου, τὸ ἀγαθόν», ὀρθῶς λέγων.

64.59.5 | For I only want to show his example and his will now: "I do not do what I want, but I do what I hate." And "if I do what I do not want," I agree with the law of God that it is good. But now I no longer do it, but sin lives in me. For I know that what is good does not live in me, that is, in my flesh," he says rightly.

64.59.6 | μέμνησθε γὰρ ἐν τοῖς ἔμπροσθεν ὡς ὠριζόμεθα· εἰ καὶ σπεύδων ἐγὼ ταχὺ πάντα διεξελεῖν μᾶλλον βραδύνων, μακροτέρας μοι τῶν λόγων τῆς περιόδου ἢ προσεδ' ἵκησα γεγεννημένης, ἣν προθυμητίον δὴ διανῦσαι. ἄλλως γὰρ τοῦ προκειμένου οὐποτε ἤξομεν ἐπὶ τέλος.

64.59.6 | Remember that we agreed before: even if I hurry to go through everything quickly, I am rather slow, and my words about the whole matter are longer than I expected, if I really want to finish. Otherwise, we will never come to the end of what is before us.

Section 60

64.60.1 | 60. Οὐκοῦν ἐλέγομεν· ἀφ' οὗ τὸν ἄνθρωπον, εἴ μνημονεύετε, πλανηθέντα τὴν ἐντολὴν ἀθετῆσαι συνέβη, ἐντεῦθεν ἐκ τῆς παρακοῆς τὴν ἁμαρτίαν λαβοῦσαν γένεσιν εἰς αὐτὸν εἰσφικέναι.

64.60.1 | So then we say: from the time the man, you remember, was led astray and broke the command, from there sin, having taken its origin from disobedience, entered and settled in him.

64.60.2 | οὕτως γὰρ πρῶτον στάσις

64.60.2 | For so first a conflict came in, and ένέπεσε σφαδασμῶν τε καὶ λογισμῶν άνοικείων ἐπληρώθημεν, κενωθέντες με) τοῦ ἐμφυσήματος τοῦ θεοῦ, πληρωθέντες δὲ ἐπιθυμίας ὑλικῆς, ἣν ὁ πολὺπλοκος ένέπνευσεν εἰς ἡμᾶς ὄφιν, βραχυπορησάντων ἡμῶν τῆς παραγγελίας τοῦ θεοῦ τὸν κύκλον.

we were filled with struggles and strange thoughts, emptied of the breath of God, but filled with fleshly desire, which the crafty serpent breathed into us, as we failed to keep the command of God fully.

64.60.3 | διὸ καὶ τὸν θάνατον ὁ θεὸς πρὸς άναιρεσιν τῆς ἀμαρτίας ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν άνεύρατο, ἵνα μὴ ἐν ἀθανάτοις ἡμῖν ἀνατείλασα, ὡς ἔφην, ἀθάνατος ᾤ.

64.60.3 | Therefore God found death to destroy sin on our behalf, so that it would not rise among us, who are mortal, as I said, to be immortal.

64.60.4 | ὅθεν ὁ ἀπόστολος »οἶδα γὰρ ὅτι οὐκ οἰκεῖ ἐν ἐμοί, τουτέστιν ἐν τῇ σαρκί μου, τὸ ἀγαθόν« λέγων τὴν ἀπὸ τῆς παραβάσεως διὰ τῆς ἐπιθυμίας εἰσοικισθεῖσαν εἰς ἡμᾶς ἀμαρτίαν βούλεται μηνύειν, ἥς δὴ καθάπερ βλαστήματα νέα νέα καὶ κλώνες οἱ φιλήδονοι περὶ ἡμᾶς ἀεὶ λογισμοὶ στανται. δισσὰ γὰρ ἐν ἡμῖν λογισμῶν γένη, τὸ μὲν ἀπὸ τῆς ἐπιθυμίας τῆς ἐνθωπευούσης ἐν τῷ σώματι συνιστάμενον, ἥτις ἐξ ἐπιπνοίας, ὡς ἔφην, ἐγενήθη τοῦ ὑλικοῦ πνεύματος, τὸ δὲ ἀπὸ τοῦ κατὰ τὴν ἐντολήν, ὃν ἔμφυτον ἐλάβομεν ἔχειν καὶ φυσικὸν νόμον, πρὸς τὸ καλὸν ἡμῶν ἐξεγείροντα καὶ ἐπανορθούμενον τὸν λογισμόν.

64.60.4 | Therefore the apostle, saying “for I know that good does not live in me, that is, in my flesh,” wants to show the sin that came to live in us from disobedience through desire, of which, like new shoots and branches, the pleasure-loving thoughts always grow around us. For two kinds of thoughts have come into us: one from the desire that flatters in the body, made up of breath, as I said, born from the material spirit; the other from the command, which we received as an inborn and natural law, waking up and correcting the mind toward what is good for us.

64.60.6 | ὅθεν τῇ μὲν νομοθεσίᾳ τοῦ θεοῦ κατὰ τὸν νοῦν »συνηδόμεθα« (τοῦτο γὰρ ὁ ἔσω ἄνθρωπος), τῇ δὲ νομοθεσίᾳ τοῦ διαβόλου κατὰ τὴν ἐνοικοῦσαν ἐπιθυμίαν ἐν τῇ σαρκί· ὁ γὰρ νόμος »ἀντιστρατευόμενος καὶ ἀντιπράσσων τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ«, οἷον τῇ πρὸς τὸ ἀγαθὸν ὁρμῇ, τῇ ἐπιθυμίᾳ τοῦ νοός, οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ τοὺς ἐμπαθεῖς ἀναφύων ἀεὶ καὶ ὑλικοὺς

64.60.6 | Therefore, to the law of God according to the mind, we “agree” (for this is the inner person), but to the law of the devil according to the desire living in the flesh; for the law “fights against and acts against the law of God,” like the desire of the mind that moves toward what is good.
This is the one who always stirs up the passions and material distractions toward πρὸς ἀνομίαν περισπασμούς, παντάπασιν πρὸς ἡδονὰς ὧν ἐλκτικός.

lawlessness, being completely drawn to pleasures.

Section 61

64.61.1 | 61. Τρεῖς τὰρ νόμους ὑποτιθέμενος ἀναφανδὸν ὁ Παῦλος ἐνταῦθά μοι καταφαίνεται· ἓνα μὲν τὸν κατὰ τὸ ἐμφυτον ἐν ἡμῖν ἀγαθόν, ὃν καὶ νόμον σαφῶς νοὸς ἐκάλεσεν, ἓνα δὲ τὸν ἐκ προσβολῆς συνιστάμενον τοῦ πονηροῦ καὶ εἰς τὰς ἐμπαθεῖς ἐξέλκοντα πολλάκις φαντασίας τὴν ψυχὴν, ὃν ἀντιστρατεύεσθαι τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ νοὸς ἔφη,

64.61.1 | For Paul clearly shows here to me that there are three laws: one is the good law according to the natural good in us, which the mind clearly called a law; another is the law set up by the attack of the evil one, which often drags the soul into passionate fantasies, and he said it fights against the law of the mind;

64.61.2 | καὶ ἕτερον τὸν κατὰ τὴν ἀμαρτίαν ἐκ τῆς ἐπιθυμίας ἐνσκιρρώσαντα ἐν τῇ σαρκί, ὃν ἀμαρτίας νόμον οἰκοῦντα ἐν τοῖς λέεσιν ἐκάλεσεν· ὃ ἐπιβαίνων ὁ πονηρὸς καὶ ἐποχούμενος πολλάκις καθ' ἡμῶν ἐγκελεύεται, πρὸς ἀδικίαν ἡμᾶς καὶ πράξεις συνελαύνων κακάς.

64.61.2 | and a third, which sprang up in the flesh from sin through desire, which he called the law of sin dwelling in the members; upon which the evil one often rides and holds fast to us, urging us on toward injustice and evil deeds.

64.61.3 | ὁ γὰρ ἔξωθεν εἰσπνεόμενος ἀπὸ τοῦ πονηροῦ νόμος καὶ διὰ τῶν αἰσθήσεων καθάπερ ἀσφαλτῶδες ῥεῦμα ἔνδον εἰς αὐτὴν ἐκχεόμενος τὴν ψυχὴν ὑπὸ τοῦ ἐν τῇ σαρκὶ κατὰ τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν ὑπάρχοντος κραταιοῦται νόμου.

64.61.3 | For the law breathed in from outside by the evil one, and through the senses like a dangerous stream poured inside, controls the soul under the strong law in the flesh according to desire.

64.61.4 | φαίνεται γὰρ ὡς ἐν αὐτοῖς ἡμῖν τὸ μεῖν βέλτιον τὸ δὲ χεῖρον ὅν, καὶ ὅταν μὲν τὸ βέλτιον φύσει τοῦ χείρονος ἐγκρατέστερον γεννηθῇ, φέρεται ὅλος πρὸς τὸ ἀγαθὸν ὁ νοῦς· ὅταν δὲ τὸ χεῖρον ἐπιβρίσῃ πλεονάσας, ὃ ἀντιστρατεύεσθαι τῷ ἐν ἡμῖν λέγεται ἀγαθῷ, ἄγεται πάλιν ἀθιστρόφως πρὸς φαντασίας παντοδαπὰς ὁ ἄνθρωπος

64.61.4 | for it seems that in us the better is present and the worse, and when the better by nature becomes stronger than the worse, the mind is carried wholly toward the good; but when the worse grows stronger beyond it, which is said to fight against the good within us, the person is again led the other way toward all kinds of καὶ λογισμοὺς χείρονας.

wild imaginations and worse thoughts.

Section 62

64.62.1 | 62. Οὕτως δὲ καὶ κάριν ὁ ἀπόστολος εὐχεται ῥυθῆναι, θάνατον αὐτὸ καὶ ὄλεθρον εἶναι ἡγούμενος, ὥσπερ δὲ καὶ ὁ προφήτης »ἀπὸ τῶν κρυφίων μου« λέγων »καθάρισόν με«.

64.62.1 | So indeed the apostle prays for the flesh to be set right, thinking it to be death and destruction, just as the prophet also says, "from my hidden things, cleanse me."

64.62.2 | αὐτὰ γοῦν τὰ ῥήματα τοῦτο παρίστησιν »συνήδομαι γὰρ τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ θεοῦ κατὰ τὸν ἔσω« λέγοντος »ἄνθρωπον, βλέπω τε ἕτερον νόμον ἐν τοῖς μέλεσί μου ἀντιστρατευόμενον τῷ νόμῳ τοῦ νοός μου καὶ αἰχμαλωτίζοντά με τῷ νόμῳ τῆς ἁμαρτίας, τῷ ὄντι ἐν τοῖς μέλεσί μου. ταλαίπωρος ἐγὼ ἄνθρωπος, τίς με ῥύσεται ἐκ τοῦ σώματος τοῦ θανάτου τούτου«;

64.62.2 | These very words show this: "For I delight in the law of God according to the inner person," he says, "but I see another law in my members fighting against the law of my mind and capturing me by the law of sin, which is really in my members. Wretched man that I am, who will rescue me from this body of death?"

64.62.3 | οὐ τὸ σῶμα θάνατον ἀποφηνάμενος, ἀλλὰ τὸν νόμον τῆς ἁμαρτίας τὸν ἐν τοῖς μέλεσι τοῦ σώματος & δια τῆς παραβάσεως ἐν ἡμῖν ἐμφωλεύοντα καὶ πρὸς θάνατον αἰεὶ αἰεὶ τῆς ἀδικίας τὴν ψυχὴν ἐμφαντάζοντα.

64.62.3 | He is not showing the body to be death, but the law of sin in the members of the body, dwelling in us through transgression, and always leading the soul to death by injustice.

64.62.4 | ἐπιφέρει γοῦν εὐθέως, ἀμέλει διαλυόμενος ἀπὸ κποιου θανάτου ἐγλίχeto ῥυσθῆναι καὶ τίς αὐτὸν ὁ ῥυόμενος ἦι· »χάρις τῷ θεῷ διὰ Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ«. προσεκτέον γὰρ ὅτι, εἰ τὸ σῶμα θάνατον τοῦτο, ὧς Ἀγλαοφῶν, ὡς ὑπειλήφατε, ἔλεγεν, οὐκ ἂν τὸν Χριστὸν ὡς ῥυόμενον αὐτὸν ὕστερον ἐκ τοῦ τοιοῦτου κακοῦ παρελάμβανεν· ἐπεὶ τί παραδοξότερον ἢ πλεον ἀπὸ τοῦ Χριστοῦ τῆς παρουσίας

64.62.4 | He immediately adds, careless, as if he were escaping from some death and wondering who was saving him: "Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ." You must pay attention, for if this body were death, O Aglaophon, as you understood, he would not later have taken Christ as the one saving him from such harm. For what is more strange than that we have gained more from Christ's coming?

έσχήκαμεν;

64.62.5 | τί δὲ καὶ ὁ ἀπόστολος ὅλως, ὡς διὰ τῆς παρουσίας τοῦ Χριστοῦ δυνάμενος ἐκ τοῦ θανάτου ὑπὸ θεοῦ ἐλευθερωθῆναι τούτου ἐφθέγγετο, ὁπότε πᾶσι καὶ πρὸ τοῦ τὸν Χριστὸν ἐλθεῖν εἰς τὸν κόσμον συνέβαινε θνήσκειν;

64.62.5 | And what about the apostle in general, who, by the coming of Christ, was able to be freed from death by God, spoke of this, whenever it happened to everyone to die before Christ came into the world?

64.62.6 | ἐρρύοντο γὰρ χωριζόμενοι πάντες τῶν σωμάτων κατὰ τὴν ἀπὸ τοῦ βίου τούτου ἐξοδον, ἀλλὰ καὶ ὡσαύτως δὲ πᾶσαι αἱ ψυχαί, [καὶ] αἱ τῶν ἀπίστων καὶ πιστῶν καὶ τῶν ἀδίκων καὶ δικαίων, ἐχωρίζοντο τῶν σωμάτων κατὰ τὴν ἡμέραν τῆς τελευτῆς.

64.62.6 | For all were separated from their bodies at the exit from this life, but also all souls alike, both of the unbelievers and believers, and of the unjust and just, were separated from their bodies on the day of death.

64.62.7 | τί οὖν ὁ ἀπόστολος πλέον παρὰ τοὺς ἄλλους λαβεῖν τοὺς ἐν ἀπιστίᾳ διατρίψαντας ἐσπούδαζεν; ἢ διὰ τί ῥυσθῆναι ἀπὸ τοῦ σώματος ἠύχετο, ὃ καὶ εἰ μὴ ἠθέλε, πάντως ἂν συνέβαιεν αὐτῷ, καθάπερ δὴ καὶ πᾶσι κεῖται τὸ τελευτῆσαι καὶ χωρισθῆναι τὰς ψυχὰς αὐτῶν ἀπὸ τῶν σωμάτων, εἴ γε θάνατον τὸ σῶμα τῆς ψυχῆς ὑπετίθετο;

64.62.7 | What then was the apostle eager to gain more than the others who lived in unbelief? Or why did he pray to be saved from the body, which, even if he did not want it, would still happen to him, just as it happens to everyone to die and have their souls separated from their bodies, if indeed death meant the body was given over to the soul?

64.62.8 | ὥστε οὐ τὸ σῶμα τοῦτο, ὃ Ἀγλαοφῶν, θάνατον, ἀλλὰ τὴν ἁμαρτίαν τὴν κατοικήσασαν <ἐνδον>; διὰ τῆς ἐπιθυμίας ἐν τῷ σώματι λέγει, ἧς ὁ θεὸς αὐτὸν διὰ τῆς παρουσίας τοῦ Χριστοῦ ἐρρύσατο.

64.62.8 | So it is not this body, Aglaophon, that he calls death, but the sin that lived inside through desire in the body, which God saved him from by the coming of Christ.

64.62.9 | »ὁ γὰρ νόμος τοῦ πνεύματος τῆς ζωῆς ἐν Χριστῷ Ἰησοῦ ἠλευθέρωσεν ἡμᾶς

64.62.9 | “For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has set us free from the law of ἀπὸ τοῦ νόμου τῆς ἁμαρτίας καὶ τοῦ θανάτου», ὅπως »ὁ ἐγείρας Ἰησοῦν ἐκ νεκρῶν διὰ τὸ ἐνοικοῦν αὐτοῦ πνεῦμα ἐν ἡμῖν ζωοποιήσῃ καὶ τὰ θνητὰ σώματα ἡμῶν», sin and death,” so that “he who raised Jesus from the dead, because his Spirit lives in us, will give life to our mortal bodies.”

64.62.10 | »τῆς ἁμαρτίας τῆς ἐν τῷ σώματι κατακριθείσης« πρὸς ἀναίρεσιν, »ἵνα τὸ δικαίωμα τοῦ« κατὰ τὴν ἐντολὴν πρὸς τὸ ἀγαθὸν ἡμᾶς ἐφελκομένου φυσικοῦ »νόμου« φανερωθῇ ἐξαφθέν, ὃ ἀσθενήσαν, τῆς σαρκὸς κακρατημένης τῇ ἁμαρτίᾳ, πρὸ τῆς παρουσίας τοῦ χριστοῦ ταῖς ὑλικάϊς φροντισιν τὸ γὰρ ἀδύνατον τοῦ ἐν ἡμῖν φυσικοῦ νόμου,

64.62.10 | “Of the sin judged in the body” for destruction, “so that the right of the” natural “law” pulling us toward good by command might be shown to be destroyed, weakened by the flesh having been overcome by sin, before the coming of Christ, with worldly cares—for the natural law in us was powerless,

64.62.11 | ἐν ᾧ ἡσθένει« ὑπὸ τῆς ἐπιθυμίας ἡττώμενον τῆς ἐγκειμένης ἐν τῷ σώματι, ὃ θεὸς ἀνερρώσατο, πέμψας τὸν υἱὸν ἑαυτοῦ, τὴν ὁμοίαν τῇ σαρκὶ τῆς ἁμαρτίας ἀνελιηφότα ἀληθεῖα γὰρ καὶ οὐ δοκῇσιν ἦν ὃ ἐφάνη),

64.62.11 | in which it was weak, being defeated by desire lying in the body, God made it strong again, sending his son, who took on a body like sinful flesh, truly and not just in appearance, as he appeared.

64.62.12 | ἵνα τῆς ἁμαρτίας κατακεκριμένης πρὸς ἀναίρεσιν »εἰς τι« μηκέτι »καρποφορησαί« ἐν τῇ σαρκὶ τὸ ζικαίμα τοῦ φυσικοῦ νόμου πληρωθῇ, πλεονασαν τῇ ὑπακοῇ τοῖς μὴ τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν τῆς σαρκὸς περιπατοοῦσιν, ἀλλὰ κατὰ τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν τοῦ πνεύματος καὶ τὴν ὑφήγησιν.

64.62.12 | so that sin, judged for destruction, might no longer “bear fruit” in the flesh, the requirement of the natural law would be fulfilled, growing through obedience by those who do not walk according to the desire of the flesh, but according to the desire of the spirit and its guidance.

64.62.13 | »ὁ γὰρ νόμος τοῦ πνεύματος τῆς ζωῆς«, ὃ δὴ ἐστὶ τὸ εὐαγγέλιον, ἕτερος ὢν τῶν προειρημένων νόμων, διὰ τοῦ κηρύγματος πρὸς ὑπακοὴν τεθεῖς καὶ αφεσιν ἁμαρτημάτων, »ἡλευθέρωσεν ἡμᾶς ἀπὸ τοῦ νόμου τῆς ἁμαρτίας καὶ τοῦ

64.62.13 | for “the law of the spirit of life,” which is the gospel, being different from the laws mentioned before, through preaching was set for obedience and forgiveness of sins, “has freed us from the law of sin and death,” having defeated sin

64.62.14 | since these things are brought up even from the words of the apostle, not being explained correctly, i said clearly, o god-loving one; but i will turn also to the other things, if indeed we find help for us toward the way out of the argument.

περὶ τοῦ προειρημένου Ωριγένους καὶ τῆς αὐτοῦ διὰ σοφιστικῆς πλάνης κακοπιστίας ἐν τῷ αὐτῷ περὶ ἀναστάσεως λόγῳ *, ἃ ἐνταῦθα παραθέμενοι ἱκανῶς ἔχειν ἐνομίσαμεν πρὸς τὰς ἐκείνου φλυαρίας καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ ἀνατροπὴν τῆς τῶν ἀνθρώπων ζωῆς δι' ἐπιπλάστου ἐξ Ἑλληνικῆς δεισιδαίμονίας κακοηθείας.

64.63.1 | 63. These things are what we took in part, line by line, from the late Methodius, also called Eubulus, about the aforementioned Origen and his bad faith through sophistical error in the same speech about the resurrection, which we have set down here, thinking they are enough against his nonsense and his overturning of human life by a false evil made up from Greek superstition.

64.63.2 | πολλὰ γὰρ καὶ ἕτερα ἐν τῇ περὶ τῆς ὑποθέσεως ἀκολουθίᾳ τῷ προειρημένῳ Μεθοδίῳ, ἀνδρὶ λογίῳ ὄντι

64.63.2 | For many other things also, in the continuation about the subject, have been said by the aforementioned Methodius, a καὶ σφόδρα περὶ τῆς ἀληθείας ἀγωνισαμένῳ, εἴρηται, πάντως που καὶ ἐπὶ τοσαῦτα ἕτερα.

wise man indeed and one who struggled strongly for the truth, surely also about many other such matters.

64.63.3 | ἀλλ' ἐπειδὴ ἐπηγγειλάμεθα καθ' ἐκάστην αἵρεσιν ὀλίγα πρὸς τὴν αὐτῆς ἀνατροπὴν λέγειν οὐ γὰρ εἰσιν ὀλίγαι), ἕως ὥδε ἐκ τῆς αὐτοῦ πραγματείας παραθέμενοι ἠρκέσθημεν.

64.63.3 | But since we promised to say a little about each heresy to overturn it (and they are not few), we have been satisfied so far by setting down this much from his treatise.

64.63.4 | ὀλίγα δὲ καὶ ἐκ τῆς ἡμῶν πτωχείας εἰς τὴν αὐτὴν τοῦ ἀνδρὸς φλυαρίαν ἔτι προσθέμενοι καταπαύσομεν τὸν κατ' αὐτοῦ ἀγῶνα, τῷ θεῷ ἀποδεδωκότες τὸ βραβεῖον τῷ νικοσποίῳ καὶ τὴν αὐτοῦ ἐκκλητῇ ἰδίᾳ αὐτοῦ αὐτοῦ φιλανθρωπία πάντοτε στέμμασιν ἀμαραντίνοις κατακοσμοῦντι τοῖς τῆς ἀληθείας κηρύγμασιν. λέξομεν τοίνυν καὶ αὐτοὶ πρὸς αὐτὸν κατὰ δύναμιν.

64.63.4 | And a little also, from our own weakness, adding still to the man's nonsense, we will stop the fight against him, having given the prize to God, the conqueror, and to his church, adorned always with unfading crowns by his own kindness. So we ourselves will speak against him as best we can.

64.63.5 | Φάσκεῖς, ὦ οὖτος, ὥς καὶ ἄνω μοι προδεδήλωται ἐπισκώπτων· μὴ ἄρα βυρσοδέψης ἦν ὁ θεός. ἵνα χιτῶνας δερματίνους τοῖς περὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ ποιήσῃ, μηδέπω ζώων τεθυμένων; εἰ εἰ καὶ ἐτύθη ζῶα, * οὐκ ἦσαν, φησί, χιτῶνες δερμάτινοι, ἀλλὰ τὸ γήϊνον ὃ περικείμεθα σῶμα.

64.63.5 | You say, oh you, as if it has been shown to me above, mocking; so god was not a tanner. To make leather coats for those around Adam, before any animals were killed? Even if animals were killed, he says, they were not leather coats, but the earthly body that we wear.

64.63.6 | καὶ πανταχόθεν ἐλέγχῃ τῇ τοῦ διαβόλου ἐπι<π>νοίᾳ καὶ τῇ τοῦ ὄφeos δολιότητι παρακολουθῶν, φθορὰν ἀπιστίας τῇ ἐργαζομένου καὶ τὴν Εὐάν ἐξαπατήσαντος καὶ αἰεὶ τὰς διανοίας τῶν ἀκεραίων ψυχῶν τῇ πανουργίᾳ † ἐν ταῖς αὐτῶν διανοίαις παραφθείροντος.

64.63.6 | And everywhere, following the devil's evil plan and the snake's trickery, he exposes the ruin of unbelief working, and the one who deceived Eve, always corrupting the minds of pure souls with cunning in their thoughts.

64.63.7 | ἴδωμεν τοίνυν εἰ δύναται τὰ ὑπὸ σοῦ εἰρημένα ἔχειν στάσιν, ὡ τοσαῦτα μοχθήσας καὶ εἰς μάτην ἐλάσας τὸν περὶ τῆς τοσούτων βίβλων συγγραφῆς ἀγῶνα.

64.63.7 | Let us see then if what was said by you can stand, oh you who have struggled so much and run in vain the fight about writing so many books.

64.63.8 | εἰ γὰρ ἐστὶν ἀληθές, ὃ περὶ σοῦ ᾄδεται, ὅτι ἑξακισχιλίους βίβλους συνεγράψω, ὡ ματαιόπονε, καὶ] τὸν πάντα κάματον εἰς ψόγους καὶ δόλους ματαιότητος ἀναλώσας φραοῦδως καὶ κενὴν τὴν σὴν ἐργασίαν καταστήσας, διὰ τῶν ἀναγκαίων πταίσας δι' ὧν παρεχάραξας τὴν ἀνάστασιν, τὴν τῆς ἐμπορίας σου καματοουργίαν περιποιήσω.

64.63.8 | For if it is true, as is sung about you, that you wrote sixty thousand books, oh you vain worker, and wasted all your toil on blame and tricks of emptiness foolishly, and made your work empty, having stumbled through the necessary things by which you carved out the resurrection, I will make the hard work of your trade.

64.63.9 | εἰ γὰρ οὐκ ἀνίσταται τὸ σῶμα, οὐδὲ ἡ ψυχὴ τι κληρονομήσει. μία γὰρ κοὶ ἡ αὐτὴ κοινοῦνία τοῦ τε σώματος καὶ τῆς ψυχῆς καὶ μία ἐργασία. κάμνουσι δὲ πιστοὶ ἐν σώματι καὶ ψυχῇ διὰ τὴν μετὰ ἀνάστασιν τῆς κληρονομίας ἐλπίδα, ἥτις κατὰ σὲ οὐ γενήσεται. ἄρα ἡ πίστις ἡμῶν <κενή>, κενὴ δὲ καὶ ἡ ἐλπίς ἡμῶν κατὰ τὸν ἐκ πνεύματος ἀποστολικὸν καὶ ἀληθῆ λόγον.

64.63.9 | For if the body does not rise, neither will the soul inherit anything. For the fellowship of the body and the soul is one, and the work is one. The faithful toil in body and soul because of the hope of inheritance after the resurrection, which according to you will not happen. So our faith is empty, and our hope is empty too, according to the apostolic and true word from the spirit.

64.63.10 | ἀνάστασιν δὲ παλιμβόλως καὶ αὐτὸς ὁμολογῶν, πεφαντασιασμένην δ' ὀκνησιν καὶ οὐκ ἀληθινῶς ἔχων ἀναγκάζῃ μόνον τὸ ὄνομα λέγειν. ἀνάστασις γὰρ ποία ψυχῆς δύναται λέγεσθαι τῆς μὴ πιπτούσης μηδὲ θαπτομένης;

64.63.10 | And even you yourself confess the resurrection again, but as an appearance and a falsehood, and not truly having it, you force yourself only to say the name. For what kind of resurrection can be called of a soul that does not fall or get buried?

64.63.11 | ἀλλὰ δῆλον ἐστὶν ἐκ τοῦ ὀνόματος ὅτι τοῦ πεσόντος σώματος καὶ

64.63.11 | But it is clear from the name that the resurrection is of the fallen and buried ταφέντος ἢ ἀνάστασις πανταχοῦ τε καὶ ἐν πάσῃ γραφῇ ἐστὶν κηρυττομένη ὑπὸ τῶν υἱῶν τῆς ἀληθείας. εἰ δὲ οὐκ ἀνίσταται, οὐκ ἔστι ἢ διὰ πασῶν γραφῶν κηρυττομένη ἀνάστασις.

body, and it is preached everywhere and in every scripture by the children of truth.
And if it does not rise, then the resurrection preached through all the scriptures does not exist.

64.63.12 | εἰ δὲ ἀνάστασις οὐχ ὑπάρχει, ματαία ἡ τῆς τῶν νεκρῶν ἀναστάσεως προσδοκία. οὐ γὰρ ψυχῶν ἀνάστασις ἐστὶ τῶν μὴ πεσουσῶν, ἀλλὰ σωμάτων τῶν τεθαμμένων.

64.63.12 | But if there is no resurrection, the hope of the resurrection of the dead is empty. For the resurrection is not of souls that do not fall, but of bodies that are buried.

64.63.13 | εἰ δὲ καὶ μέρος τοῦ σώματος ἐγείρεται, μέρος δὲ ἀποτίθεται, ἄρα τοῦτο τὸ μέρος πῶς ἔσται; οὐ γὰρ δύναται ἐν σώματι εἶναι μέρη ἐγειρόμενα καὶ μέρη ἀποτιθέμενα καὶ καταλιμπανόμενα.

64.63.13 | But if part of the body is raised, and part is laid aside, then how will that part be? For parts that are raised and parts that are laid aside and left behind cannot be in one body.

64.63.14 | Ὅτι δὲ ἔστι σῶμα ψυχικὸν καὶ ἔστι σῶμα πνευματικόν, οὐκ ἄλλο σῶμα πνευματικόν καὶ ἄλλο ψυχικόν, ἀλλ' αὐτὸ ψυχικὸν αὐτὸ πνευματικόν, *.

64.63.14 | That there is a natural body and there is a spiritual body, not one body that is spiritual and another that is natural, but the same body is natural and the same is spiritual.

64.63.15 | ὅτε μὲν γὰρ ἐσμεν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ καὶ τὰ σαρκὸς πράττομεν φθαρτὰ ἔργα, σώματα ἔχομεν φυσικά· δουλεύομεν γὰρ τῇ ψυχῇ ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ ἐν ἀτοπίαις, ὥς καὶ σὺ ἔφης ἀπὸ μέρους.

64.63.15 | For when we are in the world and do the perishable works of the flesh, we have natural bodies. For we serve the soul in the world in weakness, just as you said in part.

64.63.16 | ὅτε δὲ ἐγειρόμεθα, οὐκέτι τῆς ψυχῆς ἡ δουλεία, ἀλλὰ πνεύματος ἡ ἀκολουθία, ἀτ' ἐντεῦθεν ἤδη ἔχουσα τὸν ἄρραβῶνα διὰ τοῦ εἰρημένου »εἰ ζῶμεν πνεύματι, πνεύματι καὶ στοιχῶμεν· εἰ δὲ καὶ πνεύματι στοιχῶμεν, τὰς πράξεις

64.63.16 | But when we are raised, no longer is the service of the soul, but the following of the spirit, which already has the guarantee through what was said, 'if we live by the spirit, let us also follow the spirit.' And if we follow the spirit, killing σώματος θανατοῦντες ζήσομεν(οὐκέτι γὰρ γάμοι.

the deeds of the body, we will live. No more marriages.

64.63.17 | οὐκέτι ἐπιθυμίαι, οὐκέτι ἀγῶνες τοῖς ἐγκράτειαν ἐπαγγελλομένοις, οὐκέτι παραπτώματα ἀγνείας ἀντίπαλα, οὐκέτι ἐνέργειαι αἱ ἐνταῦθα πραττόμεναι, ἀλλ', ὡς φησιν ὁ κύριος, οἱ καταξιοθέντες ἐκείνης τῆς ἀναστάσεως οὔτε γαμοῦσιν οὔτε γαμίσκονται, ἀλλ' ὡς ἄγγελοί εἰσιν.

64.63.17 | No more desires, no more struggles for self-control promised, no more sins opposing purity, no more actions done there. But, as the lord says, those worthy of that resurrection neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels.

Section 64

64.64.1 | 64. Ὡς καὶ μετετέθη Ἐνὼχ τοῦ μὴ ἰδεῖν θάνατον, καὶ οὐχ ἠὺρίσκετο. οὐ μετετέθη δὲ καὶ κατέλιπε τὸ σῶμα ἢ μέρος τοῦ εἰ γὰρ κατέλιπε τὸ σῶμα, εἶδεν ἄρα θάνατον· ὁ δὲ σῶματι μετατεθείς οὐκ εἶδε θάνατον. ἐν σῶματι γὰρ ζῶντι ὑπάρχει, Πνευματικῶς φερόμενος καὶ οὐ ψυχικῶς διὰ τὴν μετάρθωσιν, καίτοι γε ἐν σῶματι ὢν πνευματικῶς.

64.64.1 | Just as Enoch was changed so that he would not see death, and he was not found. But his body was not changed or left behind; for if the body had been left, then he would have seen death. But being changed in body, he did not see death. For he exists living in a body, carried by the spirit and not by the soul because of the change, even though he is in a spiritual body.

64.64.2 | ἀλλὰ καὶ περὶ τοῦ Ηλίας ὡσαύτως *, ὅτι ἀνελήφθη ἐν ἄρματι πυρίνῳ, καὶ ἐστὶν ἔτι ἐν σαρκί, σαρκὶ δὲ πνευματικῇ καὶ οὐκ ἐπιδεομένη τοῦ ἀεί, #x003E; ὅτε ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ τούτῳ ὑπῆρχε, διὰ κοράκων τρέφεσθαι καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ Χορράτ χειμάρρου πίνειν μὴλωτήν τε ἐνδύεσθαι, ἀλλὰ τρέφεται ἐτέρᾳ τινὶ τροφῇ πνευματικῇ, ἣς ἐστὶ χορηγὸς ὁ τὰ κρύφια γινώσκων καὶ ἀόρατα κτίσας θεός, ἀμβροσίαν τινὰ καὶ ἀκήρατον ἔχων τὴν ἐδωδήν.

64.64.2 | But also about Elijah it is the same, that he was taken up in a fiery chariot, and he is still in the flesh, but in a spiritual flesh and not needing food. When he was in this world, he was fed by ravens and drank from the torrent of Cherath and wore a garment, but now he is fed by some other spiritual food, which the god who knows hidden and unseen things and made them is the giver of, having some kind of immortal and pure nourishment.

64.64.3 | Καὶ ὁρᾷς αὐτὸ αὐτὸ τὸ σῶμα τὸ ψυχικὸν αὐτὸ πνευματικόν, ὡς καὶ ὁ

64.64.3 | And you see that same soul body itself becoming spiritual, just as our lord κύριος ἡμῶν ἀνέστη ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν, οὐκ ἄλλο σῶμα ἐγείρας, ἀλλ' αὐτὸ τὸ ὄν, καὶ οὐχ ἕτερον παρὰ τὸ ὄν, αὐτὸ δὲ τὸ ὄν εἰς λεπτότητα μεταβαλὼν πνευματικὴν καὶ πνευματικὸν ὅλον συνενώσας, εἰσερχόμενος θυρῶν κεκλεισμένων , rose from the dead, not raising another body, but the very one that was, and not a different one from what was, but that very one changed into a fine spiritual form and fully joined together, entering through locked doors, 64.64.4 | ὅπερ οὐκ ἐνδέχεται κατὰ τὰ ἡμέτερα σώματα ἐνταῦθα ὑπάρχειν τοῦτο] διὰ τὸ παχυμερὲς καὶ οὐπω εἰς λεπτότητα συνενωθὲν πνευματικὴν.

64.64.4 | which is not possible for our bodies to be here because they are thick and not yet joined into a fine spiritual form.

64.64.5 | τί οὖν ἦν τὸ εἰσελθὼν θυρῶν κεκλεισμένων; ἄλλο παρὰ τὸ ἐσταυρωμένον ἢ αὐτὸ τὸ ἀσταυρωμένον; πάντως που οὐ δυνήσῃ, Ὡρίγενες, μὴ ὁμολογῆσαι αὐτὸ τὸ ἐσταυρωμένον.

64.64.5 | What then was the one entering through locked doors? Was it anything other than the one who was crucified or the very one not crucified? Surely, Origen, you cannot deny that it was the one who was crucified.

64.64.6 | ἐλέγχει σε γὰρ διὰ τῆς τοῦ Θωμᾶ ἀκριβολογίας, ἐπειπὼν αὐτῷ μὴ γίνου ἄπιστος, ἀλλὰ πιστός«. ἔδειξε γὰρ ἥλων καὶ τύπον λογχῆς, καὶ αὐτὰς τὰς οὐλὰς ἀφῆκεν ἐπὶ τοῦ σώματος, καίπερ συνενώσας τὸ σῶμα εἰς μίαν ἐνότητα πνευματικὴν.

64.64.6 | For he proves you wrong by Thomas's exact words, saying to him, 'Don't be unbelieving, but believing.' For he showed the nails and the mark of the spear, and he left those very wounds on the body, even though he joined the body into one spiritual unity.

64.64.7 | ἡδυνατο οὖν καὶ τὰς οὐλὰς ἀπαλεῖψαι, ἀλλ' οὐκ ἀπαλείφει, ἵνα ἐλέγξῃ δέ, ὡς θεήλατε. ἄρα οὖν ἦν τὸ σῶμα τὸ ἐν τῷ μνημείῳ ταφὲν τὸ τριήμερον καὶ σὺν αὐτῷ ἀναστὰν ἐν τῇ ἀναστάδει. ἔδειξε γὰρ καὶ ὅστᾳ καὶ δέρμα καὶ σάρκας, ὡς εἴρηκεν ὅτι »ἴδετε ὅτι πνεῦμα σάρκα καὶ ὅστᾳ οὐκ ἔχει, ὡς ὁρᾷτέ με ἔχοντα«.

64.64.7 | So he was able to wipe away the wounds, but he did not wipe them away, in order to prove a point, O God-given one. Therefore, the body that was buried in the tomb for three days also rose with him in the resurrection. For he showed bones and skin and flesh, as he said, 'See that a spirit does not have flesh and bones, as you see me having.'

64.64.8 | πῶς οὖν εἰσῆλθε θυρῶν κεκλεισμένων; ἀλλ' ἵνα ἵνα δείξῃ σῶμα μέν ἐστὶ καὶ οὐ πνεῦμα τὸ ὁρώμενον, ἀλλὰ σῶμα πνευματικὸν καὶ οὐχ ὑλικόν, καίτοι γε σὺν ψυχῇ καὶ θεότητι καὶ ὅλῃ τῇ

64.64.8 | How then did he enter with the doors locked? But in order to show that what was seen was a body and not a spirit, a body that is spiritual and not physical, and yet with soul and divinity and the whole...

64.64.9 | ἐνανθρωπήσει, αὐτὸ ὃν ἀλλὰ πνευματικόν, αὐτὸ τὸ ποτὲ παχυμερὲς λεπτομερὲς, αὐτὸ τὸ ἐσταυρωμένον * καὶ αὐτὸ τὸ κεκρατημένον ἀκράτητον, συνενωθὲν καὶ συγκραθὲν τῇ θεότητι καὶ μηκέτι λυόμενον, ἀλλ' εἰς αἰὶ διαμένον, μηκέτι ἀποθνήσκον.

64.64.9 | In the incarnation, it is itself spiritual, itself once thick and thin, itself crucified and itself held together unbreakably, joined and held by divinity and no longer being undone, but remaining forever, no longer dying.

64.64.10 | ἀνέστη γὰρ Χριστὸς ἐκ νεκρῶν, ἀπαρχὴ τῶν κεκοιμημένων» <ἀναστὰς δὲ> οὐκέτι ἀποθνήσκει, θάνατος αὐτοῦ οὐκέτι κυριεύει».

64.64.10 | For Christ rose from the dead, the first-fruits of those who have fallen asleep; and having risen, he no longer dies, death no longer rules over him.

Section 65

64.65.1 | 65. “Ἴνα δὲ γινῶς καὶ τοῦτο, δι’ ἣν αἰτίαν »ἀπαρχὴ τῶν κεκοιμημένων« λέγεται ὁ Χρωτός — καίτοι γε οὐκ αὐτοῦ ἀρξαμένου ἀνίστασθαι· πρὸ αὐτοῦ γὰρ ἀνέστησαν δι’ αὐτοῦ Λάζαρος καὶ ὁ υἱὸς τῆς χήρας, καὶ ἄλλοι καὶ διὰ Ηλία καὶ διὰ Ἐλισσαίου.

64.65.1 | 65. And so that you may also know this, for what reason Christ is called “the first-fruits of those who have fallen asleep” — even though he did not begin to rise; for before him, Lazarus and the son of the widow rose through him, and others also through Elijah and through Elisha.

64.65.2 | ἀλλ' ἐπειδὴ ἐκεῖνοι πάντες ἀναστάντες πάλιν τεθνήκασιν, οὕτω καὶ ὁ Χριστὸς ἀπαρχὴ τῶν κεκοιμημένων. ἀναστὰς γὰρ οὐκέτι ἀποθνήσκει», ὥς † ἡ ἀνάστασις εἶναι διὰ τῆς αὐτοῦ ζωῆς καὶ φιλανθρωπίας.

64.65.2 | But since all those who rose again later died, so Christ is the first-fruits of those who have fallen asleep. For having risen, he no longer dies, because the resurrection is through his life and love for people.

64.65.3 | εἰ δέ ἐστιν ἀπαρχὴ τῶν κεκοιμημένων καὶ ἀνέστη ὅλον τὸ αὐτοῦ σῶμα σὺν τῇ θεότητι, φαίνεται > ἡ αὐτοῦ ἐνανθρώπησις ἀναστᾶσα, καὶ] μηδενὸς ἐξ αὐτῆς καταλειφθέντος, οὔτε σώματος οὔτε ἐτέρου τινός· »οὐ γὰρ ἐγκαταλείψεις τὴν ψυχὴν μου εἰς Ἄιδην, οὐδὲ δώσεις τὸν ὅσιόν σου ἰδεῖν διαφθοράν«.

64.65.3 | But if he is the first-fruits of those who have fallen asleep and his whole body rose with the deity, then his becoming human also rose, with nothing left behind, neither body nor anything else; for “you will not leave my soul in Hades, nor let your holy one see decay.”

64.65.4 | καὶ τὸ μὲν περὶ ψυχῆς ἐν τῷ Ἄιδῃ σημαίνει τὸ μὴ καταλελειφθαι, τὸ δὲ τὸν ὅσιον, ἵνα δείξῃ τὸ ὅσιον σῶμα τὸ] μὴ ἐωρακὸς διαφθοράν, ἀλλὰ ἀναστὰν ἄφθορον τριήμερον καὶ τῇ ἀφθαρσίᾳ συνηνωμένον εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα.

64.65.4 | And the part about the soul in Hades means not being left behind; and the part about the holy one shows the holy body not seen in decay, but risen without decay after three days and joined to incorruptibility forever.

64.65.5 | Σὺ δὲ φάσκεις, ὦ οὗτος, ταῦτα τὰ σώματα εἶναι τοὺς δερματίνους χιτῶνας, οὐδαμοῦ τῆς ἀκολουθίας τοῦτο ἐχούσης, ἀλλὰ διὰ τὰ ἐν σοὶ ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς σπέρματα καταβληθέντα τῆς ἀπὸ τῶν Ἑλλήνων ἐθνομέθου διδασκαλίας καὶ διὰ τὸν ἐκεῖθεν παροξυνθὲ σοὶ κακότροπον λογισμόν τῆς περὶ τῆς ἀναστάσεως ἀπιστίας, φημί δὲ τῶν Ἑλλήνων σε εἰς τοῦτο ἀγαγόντων καὶ διδαξάντων.

64.65.5 | But you say, oh you, that these bodies are just skins, with no following of this, but because of the seeds planted in you from the start by the teaching of the Greeks’ unbelief, and because of the bad thought stirred up in you from there about the resurrection, I say that the Greeks led you to this and taught you.

64.65.6 | »ὁ γὰρ ψυχικὸς ἄνθρωπος« φησὶν »οὐ δέχεται τὰ τοῦ πνεύματος· μωρία γὰρ αὐτῷ ἐστίν, ὅτι πνευματικῶς ἀνακρίνεται«.

64.65.6 | “For the natural man,” he says, “does not accept the things of the spirit; for they are foolishness to him, because they are judged spiritually.”

64.65.7 | εἰ μὲν γὰρ πρὸ τῆς παρακοῆς οἱ χιτῶνες τοῖς περὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ ἐγένοντο, πιθανὸν | ἂν ἦν σου τὸ ψεῦσμα καὶ

64.65.7 | For if the skins were made before the disobedience for those around Adam, your lie might be believable and able to δυνάμενον ἐξαπατῆσαι· ὅτε δὲ φαίνεται κατὰ τὸ τὴν Εὐάν πλασθῆναι *. πόθεν δὴ ἄρα ἐπλάσσετο; ἀλλὰ ἀπὸ σώματος δῆλον· »ἐπέβαλε« γάρ φησιν »ἔκστασιν ἐπὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ, καὶ ἔλαβε μίαν ἐκ τῶν πλευρῶν αὐτοῦ«.

deceive; but since it appears to be made according to Eve, where then was it made?
But it is clear from the body; for it says, “he put a deep sleep on Adam, and took one from his ribs.”

64.65.8 | πλευρὰ δὲ οὐδὲν ἕτερον τυγχάνει ἀλλὰ ὠκοδόμησε ὠκοδόμησε γὰρ σάρκα ἀντ’ αὐτῆς· σαρκὸς δὲ ὀνομαζομένης πῶς ἔτι προσδοκᾶται ἡ ταύτης ποίησις;

64.65.8 | But a rib is nothing else, but he built flesh instead of it. And if it is called flesh, how can the making of this still be expected?

64.65.9 | καὶ ἀνωτέρω φησί ποιήσωμεν ἄνθρωπον κατ’ εἰκόνα ἡμετέραν καὶ καθ’ »καὶ ἔλαβε« φησί »χοῦν ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς, καὶ ἔπλασε τὸν ἄνθρωπον«.

64.65.9 | And above, he says, ‘let us make man in our image,’ and about ‘and he took’ he says, ‘dust from the ground, and he formed the man.’

64.65.10 | ὁ δὲ χοῦς καὶ σὰρξ οὐδὲν ἕτερόν ἐστὶν ἀλλὰ σῶμα. εἴτα μετέπειτα καὶ ἀναστὰς Ἀδὰμ ἀπὸ τοῦ ὕπνου εἶπε, τοῦτο ὅστοῦν ἐκ τῶν ὀστέων μου καὶ σὰρξ ἐκ τῆς σαρκὸς μου.«

64.65.10 | But dust and flesh are nothing different, but body. Then afterward, when Adam got up from sleep, he said, ‘this is bone from my bones and flesh from my flesh.’

64.65.11 | οὐπω δὲ χιτῶνες δερμάτινοι, οὐπω τὸ παρὰ σοῦ ψεῦσμα ἀλληγορούμενον ὑπῆρχεν. ὅστοῦν τοίνυν ἐκ τῶν ὀστέων μου καὶ σὰρξ ἐκ τῶν σαρκῶν μου, δῆλον ὅτε σώματα ἦσαν καὶ οὐκ ἦν ἄσώματος ὁ Ἀδὰμ καὶ ἡ Εὐα.

64.65.11 | Not yet were there leather tunics, not yet was the false story told by you. So, ‘bone from my bones and flesh from my flesh’ is clear, since they were bodies and Adam and Eve were not without bodies.

64.65.12 | καὶ ἔλαβεν ἀπὸ τοῦ ξύλου καὶ ἔφαγεν«, ὡς ὑπενοθεύθη ὑπὸ τοῦ ὄφeos καὶ γέγονεν ἐν παρακοῇ, »καὶ ἤκουσε τὴν φωνὴν τοῦ θεοῦ περιπατοῦντος ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ τὸ δειλινόν, καὶ ἐκρύβη ὁ Ἀδὰμ καὶ ἡ Εὐα ἐν τῷ ξύλῳ«. καὶ ὁ θεός φησι τῷ 64.65.12 | And he took from the tree and ate, as was suggested by the serpent, and it became disobedience. And he heard the voice of god walking in the garden in the evening, and Adam and Eve hid in the tree.

And god said to Adam, ‘where are you?’

Ἀδάμ ποῦ εἶ; ὁ δὲ ἐλεγχόμενος ἀποκρίνεται τὴν φωνὴν σου ἤκουσα καὶ ἐκρύβην, ὅτι γυμνός εἰμι».

But, being blamed, he answered, 'I heard your voice and I hid, because I am naked.'

64.65.13 | γυμνὸν δὲ ἄρα ποῖον ἔλεγε; τὴν ψυχὴν ἔλεγεν ἢ τὸ σῶμα; τὰ δὲ φύλλα τῆς συκῆς τίνα ἔσκεπε, τὴν ψυχὴν ἢ τὸ σῶμα;

64.65.13 | But what did he mean by naked?
Did he mean the soul or the body? And the leaves of the fig tree, what did they cover, the soul or the body?

64.65.14 | καὶ τίς σοι εἶπε« φησὶν »ὅτι γυμνὸς εἶ εἰ μὴ ἀπὸ τοῦ ξύλου οὗ ἐνετείλάμην σοὶ τούτου μόνου μὴ φαγεῖν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ, ἔφαγες; καὶ φησιν ἡ γυνὴ ἦν ἔδωκάς μοι δέδωκέν μοι, καὶ «. πόθεν δὲ ἐδόθη ἡ γυνὴ ἀλλὰ ἀπὸ τῆς πλευρᾶς τουτέστιν ἀπὸ τοῦ σώματος, πρὶν ἢ τοὺς χιτῶνας αὐτοῖς δοθῆναι; καὶ τῇ γυναικί φησι τί ὅτι τοῦτο ἐποίησας;

64.65.14 | And who told you, he says, 'that you are naked, if not from the tree which I commanded you alone not to eat from, you ate'? And the woman says, 'the one you gave me, he gave me.' And where was the woman given but from the rib, that is from the body, before the tunics were given to them? And he says to the woman, 'what is this that you have done?'

64.65.15 | ἡ δὲ εἶπεν ὁ ὄφεις ἡπάτησέ με καὶ ἔφαγον καὶ ἔδωκα καὶ τῷ ἀνδρί μου». ὁ δὲ θεὸς τῷ ὄφει ἐπιφέρει τὴν κατάραν καὶ τῇ γυναικὶ τὴν ὀδύνην καὶ τῷ ἀνθρώπῳ τὸ ἐν ἰδρώτι φαγεῖν τὸν ἄρτον.

64.65.15 | But she said, 'the serpent tricked me, and I ate, and I gave to my husband.' And god brings the curse on the serpent, and pain to the woman, and to the man that he will eat bread by the sweat of his face.

64.65.16 | καὶ μετὰ ταῦτα λέγει »ἰδού, Ἀδὰμ γέγονεν ὡς εἷς ἐξ ἡμῶν· μὴ ποτε ἐκτείνει χεῖρα καὶ ἅψηται τοῦ ξύλου τῆς ζωῆς καὶ ζήσεται εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα».

64.65.16 | And after these things he says, 'Look, Adam has become like one of us; let him not stretch out his hand and touch the tree of life and live forever.'

64.65.17 | καὶ μὴ ὑπολάβῃς δέ, ἀκροατά, ὅτι ἀποφαντικῶς εἶπεν ὁ κύριος ὅτι »ἰδού, Ἀδὰμ γέγονεν ὡς εἷς ἐξ ἡμῶν». ἐλεγκτικῶς γάρ, τοῦ Ἀδὰμ πεισθέντος τῇ πλάνῃ τοῦ ὄφεως μεμφόμενος λέγει· μὴ ὁ ἐνόμισε γενέσθαι ἐγένετο, τουτέστιν μὴ Ἀδὰμ

64.65.17 | And do not think, listener, that the lord said plainly, 'Look, Adam has become like one of us.' For he says this to blame Adam, who was fooled by the serpent's trick; he means, 'It did not happen as he thought,' that is, 'Adam has γένονεν ὡς εἷς ἐξ ἡμῶν· ἐπιθυμήσας γὰρ Ἀδὰμ ὑψηλότερος γενέσθαι εἰς τὸ ἥττον ἐξέπεσε.

not become like one of us.’ For Adam, wanting to become higher, fell to a lower place.

64.65.18 | τὸ δέ »ἐκβάλωμεν αὐτόν, μή ποτε ἐκτείνῃ τὴν χεῖρα εἰς τὸ ξύλον τῆς ζωῆς καὶ φάγῃ καὶ ζήσεται εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα« οὐ φθονῶν ὁ θεὸς λέγει, ἀλλὰ ἐπεμέλετο τοῦ ἐλαττωθέντος σκεύους δι’ αὐτοῦ, ἵνα μὴ μείνῃ ἡλαττωμένον εἰς τὸ διηνεκές·

64.65.18 | But when he says, ‘Let us send him out, so that he does not stretch out his hand to the tree of life and eat and live forever,’ god does not say this out of envy, but he cares for the weakened creature for himself, so that it does not remain weakened forever.

64.65.19 | ἀλλ’ ὡς ἄριστος κεραμεὺς τὸ βλαβὲν δέ αὐτοῦ ἀγγεῖον ἐπιστρέψας εἰς τὸ ἴδιον φύραμα τὴν γῆν, ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει ἀναπλάσῃ ἐν μηδενὶ ἡλαττωμένον τὸν δίκαιον, ἐν δόξῃ ἀθάνατον καὶ δυνάμενον ἀπολαύειν τῆς βασιλείας, καὶ τὸν ἄδικον ἐν τῇ τελείᾳ ἀναστάσει δυνάμενον ὑποφέρειν τῆς κρίσεως τὴν τιμωρίαν.

64.65.19 | But like a skilled potter who takes back a broken jar of his own and turns it into clay, so in the resurrection he will remake the just one without any harm, immortal in glory and able to enjoy the kingdom, and the unjust one, in the perfect resurrection, able to endure the punishment of judgment.

64.65.20 | οὐ γὰρ πονηρόν τι ἐφύτευσεν ὁ θεός· μὴ γένοιτο, ἀλλὰ καὶ αὐτὸ τὸ ξύλον ἐφύτευσε, καιρῷ δεκτῷ] δέοντι διὰ τοῦ ἰδίου προστάγματος ἐπιτρέπων αὐτῷ λαβεῖν ἀπ’ αὐτοῦ.

64.65.20 | For god did not plant anything evil; far from it. But he also planted the tree, and at the right time, by his own command, he allowed him to take from it.

64.65.21 | ἀλλ’ ἐρεῖς δέ ἐναντίας· πῶς οὖν πληροῦται τό »ἐν ᾗ δ’ ἂν ἡμέρᾳ φάγησθε ἀπ’ αὐτοῦ, θανάτῳ ἀποθανεῖσθε«, εἴπερ εἶχε ἐξ αὐτοῦ; πάντως γὰρ φαγὼν οἶω δὴ ποτε καιρῷ ἐπλήρου τό »θανάτῳ ἀποθανεπισθε«.

64.65.21 | But you will say against this:
how then is fulfilled the ‘on the day you eat from it, you will die the death,’ if he had taken from it? For surely, having eaten, at some time he fulfilled the ‘you will die the death.’

64.65.22 | πρὸς δὲ τὸν τοῦτο λέγοντα πάλιν φημί »ὁ θεὸς <ὁ> εἰδὼς τὰ μέλλοντα

64.65.22 | To the one who says this, I say again: ‘God, knowing the things that would πρὶν γενέσθαι, γινώσκων πρὸ τοῦ προστάγματος ὅτι ἀπατηθεὶς ἤσθιεν ἀπ’ αὐτοῦ, αὐτοῦ, τὸν θάνατον διὰ τὴν μέλλουσιν ὑπ’ αὐτοῦ παράβασιν γενέσθαι.

happen before they came to be, knowing before the command that he would eat from it by being deceived, made death come because of the future breaking of the rule by him.’

64.65.23 | ἐν τούτῳ γὰρ πλανώμεναι αἱ αἱρέσεις βλασφημοῦσι τὸν θεὸν λέγουσαι »καλὸς ὁ θεὸς τοῦ νόμου ὅτι ἐφθόνησε τῷ Ἀδὰμ καὶ ἐξέβαλεν αὐτὸν ἐκβάλωμεν αὐτόν, μή ποτε ἐκτείνει τὴν χεῖρα καὶ λάβῃ τοῦ ξύλου τῆς ζωῆς, καὶ ζήσεται εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα«.

64.65.23 | In this, the heresies, being led astray, blaspheme God, saying, ‘God is cruel in the law because he envied Adam and threw him out, let us throw him out, so that he might not stretch out his hand and take from the tree of life, and live forever.’

64.65.24 | ἐλέγχεται δὲ αὐτῶν ἡ ἄνοια συκοφαντοῦσα. καὶ γὰρ οὐ μόνον οὐκ ἐκώλυσε φαγεῖν ἀπὸ τοῦ ξύλου τῆς ζωῆς ἀπ’ ἀρχῆς, ἀλλὰ καὶ προετρέψατο φήσας »ἀπὸ παντὸς ξύλου τοῦ ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ βρώσει φάγη«. ἣν δὲ καὶ τῆς ζωῆς ἀπὸ ἀπὸ πάντων τῶν ξύλων τοῦ παραδείσου > πρὸ ἀφθαλμῶν τοῦ Ἀδὰμ.

64.65.24 | Their foolishness is proven false.
For not only did he not stop him from eating from the tree of life at the start, but he also urged him, saying, ‘From every tree in the garden you may eat.’ And the tree of life was one of all the trees in the garden before Adam’s eyes.

64.65.25 | μόνου δὲ τοῦ ξύλου τοῦ εἰδέναι γνωστὸν ἀγαθοῦ τε καὶ κακοῦ εἶπε μὴ φαγεῖν. ἡ δὲ τοῦ Ἀδὰμ ἄπληστος διάνοια ἀκέραιος οὐσα καὶ * τῆς γυναικὸς αὐτοῦ Εὕας ἀπὸ τοῦ διαβόλου ἀπατηθείσης μᾶλλον ἐναντίον τῆς ἐντολῆς εἰργάσατο.

64.65.25 | But only of the tree of knowing good and evil did he say not to eat. And Adam’s greedy mind, being innocent, and his wife Eve, having been deceived by the devil, acted more against the command.

64.65.26 | ἐπειδὴ οὖν ἐν ἐλαττώματι γένονεν δι’ ἑαυτοῦ ὁ Ἀδὰμ, οὐκ ἠθέλησεν αὐτὸν ὁ θεὸς ζῆν εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα ἐν ἐλαττώματι, ἀλλ’ ὥς ἄριστος κεραμεὺς εἰς τὸ ἔδιον φύραμα τὸ ἀφανισθὲν σκεῦος δι’ ἑαυτοῦ ἠήδόκησε μεταβαλεῖν, ἵνα ἐν τῇ παλιγγενεσίᾳ ἐκ τοῦ ἐδίου φυράματος πάλιν ὥς ἐπὶ τὸν τροχὸν μεταβάλλοι,

64.65.26 | Since Adam became flawed through himself, God did not want him to live forever in that flaw. But like a skilled potter with a broken pot, he chose to change it himself, so that in rebirth, from the broken pot, he might turn it again like on a wheel, repairing and renewing the pot ἀνασκευάσας καὶ ἀνακαινίσας τὸ σκεῦος ἄνευ ἐλαττώματος εἰς τὸ δύνασθαι διηνεκῶς ζῆν.

without flaw, to be able to live forever.

64.65.27 | ἔνθεν τὸ πρῶτον μὲν ἀπειλεῖ θάνατον, τὸ δὲ δεύτερον οὐκέτι θάνατον λέγει, ἀλλὰ »γῆ καὶ εἰς γῆν ἀπελεύση«, μὴ παραδεδωκὼς θανάτῳ τὸν ἄνθρωπον.

64.65.27 | From there, the first one threatens death, but the second no longer says death, but “earth and to earth you will go,” not handing over the man to death.

64.65.28 | * * καὶ μεθ’ ἕτερα καὶ ἐποίησεν ὁ θεὸς χιτῶνας δερματίους καὶ ἐνέδυσσε τοὺς περὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ καὶ ἐξέβαλεν αὐτοὺς ἐκ τοῦ παραδείσου«. ὁρᾷς ὅτι μάταιος ἡ σοὺ σοῦ καινοτομουμένη κενοφωνία, Ὡρίγενες. πρὸ πόσου γὰρ χρόνου ἦσαν σώματα τοῖς περὶ τὸν Ἀδὰμ.

64.65.28 | And then God made leather coats and dressed those around Adam and drove them out of the garden. You see that your new empty talk is useless, Origen. For how long ago were the bodies around Adam?

Section 66

64.66.1 | 66. Εἰ δὲ τοῦτό σε ἀνακρίνει καὶ οὐ δύνασαι, ψυχικῶς διανοούμενος, τοῦ πνεύματος δέξασθαι τὴν χάριν, χάριν, ἄπιστε καὶ ἐπέκεινα τῶν ἀπίστων τυγχάνων, λεγε μοι ἐκάστην ὑπόθεσιν ἐκ θεοῦ γεγονυῖαν, πόσῃν τὴν τὴν θαυματουργίαν καὶ ἐκπληξιν;

64.66.1 | But if this question troubles you, and you cannot, thinking naturally, accept the grace of the spirit, grace, unbeliever, and even beyond the unbelievers, tell me each story that has come from God, how great the wonder and amazement?

64.66.2 | πόθεν ἐξ οὐκ ὄντων οὐρανὸς τέ ταται ἐν μετεώρῳ ἀναπεπετασμένος; πόθεν ἐστιλβώθη ἡλίοις καὶ ἐκτίσθη ἡ σελήνη καὶ τὰ ἄστρα; ἐκ ποίου πρωτοτύπου ὕλης ἐλήφθη ἡ γῆ, ἐξ οὐκ ὄντων γινομένη; ἀπὸ ποίων φύσεων ἐτμήθη τὰ ὄρη;

64.66.2 | From where, out of nothing, was the sky spread out high in the air? From where were the sun and moon made to shine, and the stars? From what first model of matter was the earth taken, coming into being out of nothing? From what kinds of things were the mountains cut?

64.66.3 | πόθεν ἡ σύστασις ὅλου τοῦ κόσμου, ἡ ἐξ οὐκ ὄντων θεῶ πορισθεῖσα;

64.66.3 | From where is the formation of the whole world, provided by God out of πόθεν τῶν νεφελῶν ἡ σύστασις, ἢ ὑπὸ θῆξιν σκέπει τὸν οὐρανόν; nothing? From where is the formation of the clouds, which cover the sky like a roof?

64.66.4 | πόθεν τοῦ κώνωπος καὶ τῆς σκνιφὸς διὰ προστάγματος θεοῦ τῷ θεράποντι αὐτοῦ Μωυσῇ ὁ πορισμός; πῶς τὴν ξυλινὴν > εἰς ὄφιν μετέβαλεν ἐψυχωμένον καὶ ἔρποντα; πόθεν τῇ χειρὶ τοῦ Μωυσέως τὸ εἰς χιόνα μεταβάλλεσθαι;

64.66.4 | From where did the mosquito and the gnat come by the command of God to his servant Moses? How did the wooden staff change into a living, crawling snake?
From where did Moses' hand change into snow?

64.66.5 | οὕτω καὶ τότε ἠθέλησεν ὁ θεός, ὡς ἄπιστε, καὶ δερματίνους φύσει χιτῶνας ἄνευ ζώων ἄνευ τέχνης τινὸς ἀνθρωπίνης καὶ πολυμόρφου ἐργασίας, ἅμα > θέλων ἐποίησε τοῖς περὶ τὸν Ἀδάμ, ὡς ἀπ' ἀρχῆς ἅμα ἠθέλησε οὐρανὸς καὶ τὰ πάντα γεγένηται. καὶ περὶ τούτων πολλάκις ἔφημεν καὶ ἐν ἄλλοις τόποις καὶ ἀνωτέρω.

64.66.5 | So then God wanted, o unbeliever, and made leather coats by nature without animals, without any human skill or many-shaped work, at the same time wanting, for those around Adam, just as from the beginning he wanted the sky and all things to come into being. And about these things we have often spoken, both in other places and above.

64.66.6 | καὶ τοῖς μὲν βουλομένοις * τὸ ζῆν σύντομος ἢ σωτηρία καὶ εὐθυέλεγκτος ἢ κακοπιστία, τοῖς δὲ μὴ θέλουσι τὸ τῆς σωτηρίας καταδέξασθαι διδασκαλεῖον οὐδὲ ὁ πᾶς αἰὼν πρὸς διαλογὴν ἐξαρκέσειε, κωφευούσης αἰεὶ τῆς ἀκοῆς δίκην ἀσπίδος <κωφῆς> καὶ τὰ ὠτα βουούσης, τοῦ φωνῆν ἐπάδοντος φαρμάκου τε φαρμακευομένου παρὰ σοφοῦ κατὰ τὸν θεῖον λόγον· τοῖς δὲ υἱοῖς τῆς ἀληθείας, οἵμαι, ὡφέλιμος οὐκ ὀλίγως, κἄν τε <οὐ> διὰ πλάτους ὁ λόγος εἰρημένος κεῖται.

64.66.6 | And for those wanting, disbelief is a short life, salvation, and easy to expose; but for those not willing to accept salvation, no teaching nor all time for discussion would be enough, since hearing is always deaf like a silent shield, and the ears are closed, while the voice sings a spell and is bewitched by a wise man according to the divine word. But for the children of truth, I think it is not a little helpful, even if the word is not spoken at length.

Section 67

64.67.1 | 67. Ἐλεύσομαι δὲ εἰς τὸν περὶ ἀναστάδεώς σου ἐκ τοῦ πρώτου ψαλμοῦ

64.67.1 | I will come to the word about your resurrection from the first psalm. For λόγον. ὅταν γὰρ ἐξαπατήσης τοὺς ἀγνοοῦντας, τὸ φρόνημα ὑποβαλλόμενος, ὡ ματαιοπόνε, καὶ εἴπῃς, <ὅτι> τινὲς ἀπλουστέρων νομίζουσι τοὺς ἀσεβεῖς μὴ τεύξεσθαι ἀναστάσεως, καὶ ὕστερον δείξης τοὺς αὐτοὺς ἀπλουστέρους πάλιν ἐρωτωμένους ὑπὸ σοῦ ὅτι ποίου σώματος ἔσται ἡ ἀνάστασις καὶ ὡς ἀντεπαπορήσεις διὰ σεαυτοῦ ἐκ προσώπου τῶν ἀπλουστέρων κατὰ σὲ λεγομένων * καὶ γὰρ τοῦτο ἀνάγκη σαφῶς λέγειν), ἀγαθοὺς ἀποκαλεῖν τοὺς ἀπλουστέρους παρὰ σοὶ λεγομένους·

when you deceive the ignorant, putting thoughts into their minds, o vain worker, and say that some simpler people think the ungodly will not have a resurrection, and later you show those same simpler people again asking you what kind of body the resurrection will be and how you will be puzzled yourself by the simple people's questions about you, (and this must be said clearly), you call good those simple people who are called simple by you.

64.67.2 | οὐ <γὰρ> διὰ σεαυτοῦ ὁ λόγος οὐδὲ τῷ λόγῳ σου ἡ χάρις, ἀλλὰ τῇ ἀληθείᾳ τῇ ἀναγκαζούσῃ σε λέγειν τῶν δούλων τοῦ θεοῦ βελτιότητός τε καὶ ἀγαθότητος τεκμήρια.

64.67.2 | For the word is not for yourself, nor is your grace for the word, but for the truth that forces you to speak of the servants of God as proof of betterment and goodness.

64.67.3 | καὶ γὰρ καὶ ὁ ἐκτὸς λέγει »ἀπλοῦς ὁ μῦθος τῆς ἀληθείας«. ἀπλοῦς δὲ εἰώθαμεν τοὺς ἀκάκους λέγειν, οἷς ἔπαινος παρὰ τῷ σωτῆρι ἐμφέρεται ἐν πολλοῖς τόποις, <ὥς> τῷ »γίνεσθε ἀκέραιοι ὡς περιστεραί« καὶ τῷ »ἄφετε τὰ παιδιά ἐλθεῖν πρὸς με· τῶν γὰρ τοιούτων ἐστὶν ἡ βασιλεία τῶν οὐρανῶν, τουτέστι τῶν ἀπλουστάτων.

64.67.3 | For even the outsider says, "simple is the story of the truth." But we are used to calling simple those who are innocent, to whom praise is given by the savior in many places, like "become pure as doves" and "let the children come to me; for the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these," that is, to the simplest.

64.67.4 | ἀπεκρίθησαν δέ σοι οἱ ἀπλούστεροι, ὡς λέγεις, τούτου τοῦ σώματος οὐ περικείμεθα εἶναι τὴν ἀνάστασιν. ἀνταπορούμενοι δὲ ὑπὸ σοῦ καὶ ἐρωτῶμενοι· ὅλου ἢ μέρους; αὐτοὶ ἀνταποκρίνονται λέγοντες ὅτι ὅλου τοῦ σώματος.

64.67.4 | But the simpler ones answered you, as you say, that the resurrection is of this body that surrounds us. And being puzzled by you and asked, whole or part?
They themselves answer, saying it is of the whole body.

64.67.5 | σοῦ δὲ κατὰ τὴν μέθοδον τῆς σου πολλῆς πολλῆς ρίας φάσκοντος, μηδὲν τοῦτο δύνασθαι διὰ τὰ ἐκ τῶν σωμάτων ἐκρέυσαντα αἷματά τε καὶ σάρκας καὶ τρίχας καὶ τὰ ἄλλα τὰ διὰ πτυέλων ἐξ ἡμῶν ῥέοντα καὶ μυκτῆρων καὶ σκυβάλων, πολλή σου τῆς ἰατροσοφιστικῆς κακοπίστου γνώμης μαγγανεία, ὥς καὶ ἤδη διὰ πολλῶν ἐξήλεγξέν σου τὴν μυθοποιίαν ὁ καλλίων ἡμῶν πρεσβύτης καὶ μακαριστὸς ἀνὴρ Μόδιος.

64.67.5 | But according to your method of much, much reasoning, you say that this cannot happen because of the blood and flesh and hair and the other things that flow from us through spit and mucus and waste, coming from the bodies. Much of your medical and clever disbelief is trickery, as our better elder and blessed man Modius has already refuted your storytelling many times.

64.67.6 | ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀφ' ἡμῶν τῶν σμικρῶν ὀλίγα ἀκούσῃ. πᾶν γὰρ αἰεὶ τὸ ζητούμενον καθαρώτατον ζητεῖται, τὰ δὲ περιττὰ ἐκ τοῦ καθαροῦ ἀποβαλλόμενα ἀκαταζήτητά ἐστιν.

64.67.6 | But also hear a little from us, the small ones. For what is always sought is the purest, and the extra things are thrown away from the pure and are not sought after.

64.67.7 | τὸ γὰρ ἱμάτιόν ἐστιν ὅλον, ἐξότε τῆς ὑφῆς ἔσχεν τὴν ἰστουργίαν, καὶ αὐτὸ μὲν ἐστὶ τὸ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἱστοῦ τεμνόμενον, οὔτε <τινὸς> προστιθεμένου οὔτε ἀφαιρουμένου. κναφεῖ δὲ διδόμενον οὐχ ἡσσόνως παρὰ τοῦ κναφέως ἀπαιτηθήσεται, ἀλλὰ παρ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ κναφέως τελειότατόν ἐστι κομιζόμενον·

64.67.7 | For the whole garment is one piece, having the weaving from the fabric, and it itself is cut from the cloth, neither adding nor taking away anything. But the fleece, when given, will be demanded no less by the fuller, but it is brought to the fuller most perfectly by the fuller himself;

64.67.8 | ὥς δῆλον πᾶσι καθέστηκεν ὥς αὐτὸ μὲν ἐστὶν ἐν τελειότητι, οὐδὲν δὲ μεῖον σῶμα γεγένηται πλὴν τῆς τῶν ῥύπων ἀποβολῆς καὶ τῆς ἀκαθαρσίας· καὶ οὐ πάντως· οὐ γὰρ ἐπειδὴ τὸν ῥύπον ἀπέβαλεν, τούτου ἕνεκα μετὰ τοῦ ῥύπου ἀπαιτηθήσεται παρ' ἡμῶν ὁ τεχνίτης, ἀλλὰ αὐτὸ τὸ ἱμάτιον σῶον καὶ ὑγιὲς καὶ καθαρώτατον.

64.67.8 | As it is clear to all, it stands that it itself is in perfection, and no less body has come to be except for the throwing away of dirt and impurity; and not always, perhaps, since it threw away the dirt, because of this the craftsman will demand from us along with the dirt, but the garment itself is safe and healthy and very clean.

64.67.9 | ἕτερον δὲ πάλιν ὑπόδειγμα· παρὰ

64.67.9 | Another example again: for with σοὶ μὲν γὰρ περὶ τῶν ἐκκρινομένων διὰ φλεβοτομιῶν καὶ νοσημάτων καὶ σκυβάλων καὶ ἐκκρίσεως πτυέλων τε καὶ μυκτῆρων τὸ ζήτημα παρηνέχθη, ἀπ' αὐτῶν δὲ ὧν ἔφη ἀνατραπήσῃ.

you, the question was raised about the discharges through vein-cutting and diseases and scabs and the flow of spit and mucus, but you said you would overturn it from those.

64.67.10 | οὐ μόνον γὰρ τοῦτό ἐστιν ἐν ἑνὶ σώματι, ἀλλὰ καὶ κνῶδαλα ἐξ ἡμῶν φύεται ὥς εἰπεῖν, φθειρες καὶ κόνεις, οὔτε ἐκτὸς τοῦ σώματος ὄντα οὔτε ἀπὸ τοῦ σώματος λογιζόμενα.

64.67.10 | For not only is this in one body, but also scabs grow from us, so to speak, lice and dust, neither being outside the body nor counted as from the body.

64.67.11 | καὶ οὐδεὶς ποτε ἐπεζήτησε κόνιν τὴν ἐκ τοῦ σώματος ἐκκριθεῖσαν εἰς περιποίησιν, ἀλλὰ μᾶλλον εἰς ἀναίρεσιν οὐδὲ φθειρα τὴν ἐξ αὐτῆς τῆς σαρκὸς γεγεννημένην, οὐδὲ ζημίαν τὴν ταύτης ἀπώλειαν ἡγήσασαί τις.

64.67.11 | And no one ever sought dust that was discharged from the body for care, but rather for removal, nor lice born from that flesh, nor would anyone consider the loss of it a harm.

64.67.12 | καὶ τὰ ἀφ' ἡμῶν ῥυέντα, εἰ καὶ ἴσως ὕπάρχει κατὰ τὸν σοῦ λόγον, οὐ μωρῶς παρ' ἡμῶν ζητηθήσεται οὐδὲ θεὸς ταῦτα εἰς ἡμῶν σύστασιν ἀγάγοι, ἀλλὰ δίκην ῥύπου ἐξ αὐτοῦ τοῦ ἱματίου ὑπάρχοντος, ἀπ' αὐτοῦ δὲ δι' εὐκοσμίαν ἀποβληθέντος ἐν εὐτέρῳ καταλείψειεν, ἐκεῖνο δὲ σαφῶς τὸ ἐντελὲς ἱμάτιον μῆτε λεῖπον μῆτε περιττὸν τῇ αὐτοῦ ἀγαθότητι τῆς τέχνης ὁ δημιουργὸς ἀγάγοι πάντα γὰρ αὐτῷ δυνατό.

64.67.12 | The things flowing from us, even if they exist that way according to your word, will not foolishly be sought from us, nor would a god bring these into our makeup, but like dirt on a garment, existing from it, and thrown away for neatness, would leave it cleaner; and clearly the perfect garment, neither lacking nor extra to its own goodness, the maker would not bring, for all things are possible to him.

64.67.13 | εἰ δὲ οὐχ ὅτως ἦν, ὡς τὰς φρένας ἀδικηθεὶς ἐκ τῆς πολυλόγου σου ἐπινοίας, εἶχεν ἄρα ὁ σωτὴρ ἡμῶν καὶ κύριος, ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ θεοῦ, ὁ ἐλθὼν διὰ <τὸ> πᾶσαν τῆς ἡμετέρας ζωῆς ποιήσασθαι, τὴν ἡμῶν ἐλπίδα ἐν ἑαυτῷ τε ἀνατυπώσας εἰς τὴν τῆς ἀληθείας

64.67.13 | But if it were not so, oh, my mind wronged by your many-worded idea, then our savior and lord, the son of god, who came to make all our life, having reprinted our hope in himself into the truth of himself toward us, would have had to put down part of himself and raise up part according αὐτοῦ πρὸς ἡμᾶς σύστασόν, μέρος αὐτοῦ εἶχεν] ἀποθέσθαι, μέρος δὲ ἐξεγεῖραι κατὰ τὴν μυθώδη σου ἀνασκευὴν καὶ πλήθους λογισμῶν ματαίων συλλογὴν, ὡ φιλόνεικε.

to your fanciful argument and your collection of many empty thoughts, oh quarrelsome one.

64.67.14 | αὐτὸς γὰρ εὐθὺς διελέγχων σου τὸν τρόπον φάσκει λέγων ὅτι »ἐὰν μὴ ὁ κόκκος τοῦ σίτου πεσὼν εἰς τὴν γῆν μόνος μένει· ἐὰν δὲ πέσῃ καὶ ἀποθάνῃ, πολλοὺς κόκκους φέρει«.

64.67.14 | For he himself immediately refuting your way says this: "If the grain of wheat does not fall into the earth, it remains alone; but if it falls and dies, it bears many grains."

64.67.15 | καὶ τίνα ἄρα ἔλεγε κόκκον; παντί τῷ σαφές ἐστὶ καὶ ὠμολόγηται παντὶ τῷ κόσμῳ ὅτι περὶ ἐαυτοῦ ἔλεγε, τουτέστιν περὶ τοῦ σώματος τῆς σαρκὸς τῆς ἁγίας ἧς ἀπὸ Μαρίας εἴληφε καὶ ὅλης αὐτοῦ τῆς ἐναθροπήσεως.

64.67.15 | And what then was he saying by "grain"? It is clear to everyone and agreed by all the world that he was speaking about himself, that is, about the body of the holy flesh which he took from Mary and about his whole becoming human.

64.67.16 | τὸ δὲ πεσεῖν καὶ ἀποθνεῖν, ὡς λέγει ὅπου τὸ πτώμα, ἐκεῖ συναθροῖσονται οἱ ἀετοί, περὶ τῆς αὐτοῦ τριημέρου τοῦ σώματος κοιμήσεως ἔλεγεν, ὡς καὶ αὐτὸς ὁμολογήσεις· ἡ γὰρ αὐτοῦ ἀκοίμητος ἄπτωτος ἀκράτητος ἄτρεπτος.

64.67.16 | But the falling and dying, as he says in the place "where the dead body is, there the eagles will gather," he was speaking about the three-day sleep of his body, as you yourself will admit; for his body is sleepless, unburned, unconquered, and unchanging.

64.67.17 | ἀπέθανε τοίνυν ὁ κόκκος τοῦ σίτου καὶ ἀνέστη. ὅλος οὖν ὁ κόκκος ἀνέστη ἢ λεῖμμα αὐτοῦ; ἀνέστη ἄλλος κόκκος παρὰ τὸν ὄντα ἢ αὐτὸς ὁ ὢν εἰς τὸ εἶναι; * τὸ διὰ τοῦ Ἰωσήφ κεκηδευμένον ἐν σινδόνι καὶ ἐν μνήματι καὶ νῦν τεθὲν ἀνέστη, πάντως ὅτι οὐκ ἀρνήσῃ.

64.67.17 | So then the grain of wheat died and rose again. Did the whole grain rise or only a part of it? Did another grain rise besides the one that was, or did the very one that was rise into being? * The one buried by Joseph in a linen cloth and placed in a new tomb rose, certainly he will not deny it.

64.67.18 | τίνα τοίνυν εὐηγγελίζοντο

64.67.18 | So what were the angels ἐγγερόθαι οἱ ἄγγελοι ταῖς γυναῖξιν; ὥς φασι »τίνα ζητεῖτε; Ἰησοῦν τὸν Ναζωραῖον; ἀνέστη, οὐκ ἔστιν ὧδε. δεῦτε, ἔδετε τὸν τόπον. ὥσεί ἔλεγε· δεῦτε, ἔδετε τὸν τόπον καὶ συνετίσατε τὸν Ὡριγένην, ὅτι οὐκ ἔνι λείμμα κείμενον ἐνταῦθα, ἀλλὰ ὅλον ἀνέστη.

announcing to the women? They said, "Who are you looking for? Jesus of Nazareth? He has risen, he is not here. Come, see the place." It was as if they said, "Come, see the place and understand Origen, that there is no part lying here, but the whole has risen."

64.67.19 | καὶ ὅπως γινῶς ὅτι ἀνέστη, ἀνέστη, > »ἀνέστη, οὐκ ἔστιν ὧδε«, ἵνα ἀποκρούσῃ σου τὴν φλυαρίαν, ὅτι λείμμα αὐτοῦ οὐκ ἐγκατελείφθη, ἀλλ' αὐτὸ τὸ ἡλωθένν, αὐτὸ τὸ νυχθὲν τῇ λόγχῃ, αὐτὸ τὸ κρατηθὲν ὑπὸ τῶν Φαρισαίων, αὐτὸ τὸ ἐμπτυσθὲν <ἀνέστη>.

64.67.19 | And so that you may know that he rose, he rose, "he is not here," so that he may silence your nonsense, because no part of him was left behind, but the very one who was captured, the very one who was pierced by the spear, the very one held by the Pharisees, the very one spat upon, rose.

Section 68

64.68.1 | 68. Καὶ τί μοι τὰ πλήθη λέγειν πρὸς ἔλεγχον τούτου τοῦ ἐλεεινοῦ τῆς > ἐν αὐτῷ γενηθείσης φλυαρίας; ἄρα οὖν ὥς ἀνέστη καὶ ἑαυτοῦ τὸ σῶμα ἡγειρεν, οὕτως καὶ ἡμᾶς ἐγερεῖ.

64.68.1 | And why should I tell the crowds to prove this miserable nonsense that happened in him? So then, just as he rose and raised his own body, in the same way he will raise us.

64.68.2 | ἀπὸ τούτου γὰρ ἔδειξεν ὁ ἅγιος ἀπόστολος τὴν ἡμῶν ἐλπίδα, φήσας ὅτι πῶς λέγουσί τινες ἐν ὑμῖν ὅτι ἀνάστασις νεκρῶν οὐκ οὐκ εἰ δὲ ἀνάστασις νεκρῶν οὐχ ἔστι, οὐδὲ Χριστὸς ἐγήγερται. εἰ δὲ Χριστὸς οὐκ ἐγήγερται, κενὸν ἄρα καὶ τὸ κήρυγμα ἡμῶν, ματαία καὶ ἡ πίστις εὐρισκόμεθα δὲ καὶ ψευδομάρτυρες τοῦ θεοῦ, ὅτι εἵπαμεν ὅτι ἡγειρε τὸν Χριστὸν ὃν οὐκ ἡγειρε« καὶ τὰ ἑξῆς.

64.68.2 | For from this the holy apostle showed our hope, saying, "How do some among you say that there is no resurrection of the dead? If there is no resurrection of the dead, then Christ was not raised. If Christ was not raised, then our preaching is empty, and our faith is also empty. We are even found to be false witnesses of God, because we said that we raised Christ, whom he did not raise," and so on.

64.68.3 | καὶ ὕστερον ἐπιφέρει λεγων »δεῖ τὸ φθαρτὸν τοῦτο ἐνδύσασθαι ἀφθαρσίαν

64.68.3 | And later he adds, saying, "This perishable must put on imperishability, and καὶ τὸ θνητὸν τοῦτο ἐνδύσασαθαι ἀθανασίαν· καὶ οὐκ εἶπε τὸ θνητὸν μόνον οὐδὲ τὸ φθαρτὸν μόνον οὐδὲ τὴν ἀθάνατον ψυχὴν, ἀλλὰ τὸ φθαρτὸν τοῦτο μετὰ προσθήκης τοῦ τοῦτο καὶ τὸ θνητὸν τοῦτο μετὰ προσθήκης τοῦ τοῦτο.

this mortal must put on immortality.” And he did not say only “the mortal,” nor only “the perishable,” nor the immortal soul, but this perishable with the addition of “this,” and this mortal with the addition of “this.”

64.68.4 | αὐτὸς οὖν ὅλος ὁ κόκκος αὐτοῦ ἀνέστη καὶ οὐ μέρος ἀνέστη ἀλλὰ ὅλος ἀνέστη καὶ οὐκ ἄλλος κόκκος παρὰ τὸν ὄντα ἀνέστη ἀλλὰ αὐτὸς ὁ πεσὼν ἐν τῷ μνήματι ὅλος καὶ πῶς ἰσχύει σου ἡ κενοφωνία;

64.68.4 | So the whole grain itself rose, and not part of it, but the whole rose, and no other grain besides the one that was, but the one that fell in the grave rose whole.
And how can your empty talk have power?

64.68.5 | δύο γὰρ κόκκους οἶδεν ἡ θεία γραφή εἰρημένους, ἓνα ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ καὶ ἓνα παρὰ τῷ ἀποστόλῳ.

64.68.5 | For the divine scripture knows two grains spoken of, one in the gospel and one by the apostle.

64.68.6 | καὶ ὁ μὲν τὴν τὴν πᾶσαν σαφήνειαν δηλοῖ κατὰ τὰ τελείως ἐν αὐτῷ ἐνεργηθέντα, ὅπερ ἐστὶ πρωτότυπον τῆς > ἀναστάσεως. τοῦτο γὰρ καὶ διδάσκων καὶ ποιῶν ὁ σωτὴρ τὰ πάντα ἡμῖν εἰς βεβαίως εἰργάσατο.

64.68.6 | And he shows the complete clarity about all things fully worked out in him, which is the pattern of the resurrection. For the savior, both teaching and doing this, has firmly done everything for us.

64.68.7 | εὐθὺς γὰρ ἔλεγε περὶ τοῦ κόκκου καὶ ἤγειρε τὸν κόκκον, ἵνα ἡμῖν τὴν πίστιν τῆς ἐλπίδος βεβαιώσῃ τῆς ἡμῶν ἀναστάσεως | ἐν ἀληθείᾳ.

64.68.7 | For he immediately spoke about the grain and raised the grain, so that he might strengthen for us the faith of the hope of our resurrection in truth.

64.68.8 | ἀπὸ τούτου διαδεξάμενος ὁ ἀπόστολος, πνεύματι ἁγίῳ φερόμενος, τὴν μετὰ τὴν ἀνάστασιν ἐσομένην δόξαν τῶν ἁγίων διηγούμενος ἡμῖν καὶ τὴν <ἐλπίδα> τῆς ἀπολαύσεως ἀγαθῶν δείκνυσι πάλιν διὰ τοῦ κόκκου τοῦ σίτου,

64.68.8 | From this, the apostle, carried by the holy spirit, tells us about the glory of the saints that will be after the resurrection and again shows the hope of enjoying good things through the grain of wheat.

64.68.9 | κατὰ τῶν ἀπίστων ἐπικηρυκευόμενος· »ἀλλὰ ἐρεῖς μοι, πῶς ἐγείρονται οἱ νεκροί; ποίῳ δὲ σώματι ἔχονται; καὶ φησι πρὸς τὸν τὰ τοιαῦτα λέγοντα »ἄφραν«. ὁ γὰρ ὅλως περὶ ἀναστάσεως ἀμφιβάλλων ἄφρων ἐστὶ καὶ ἀσύνετος.

64.68.9 | Being proclaimed against the unbelievers, he says, “But you will say to me, how do the dead rise? And with what kind of body do they come?” And he says to the one who says such things, “fool.” For the one who doubts completely about the resurrection is foolish and senseless.

64.68.10 | εἰτά φησιν »ἄφρων, σὺ δὲ σπείρεις οὐ ζωογονεῖται, ἐὰν μὴ ἀποθάνῃ, καὶ δὲ σπείρεις, οὐ τὸ γεννησόμενον σῶμα σπείρεις ἀλλὰ γυμνὸν κόκκον εἰ τύχοι σίτου ἢ τῶν ἄλλων σπερμάτων, καὶ οὐ ζωογονεῖται, ἐὰν μὴ ἀποθάνῃ. ὁ δὲ θεὸς δίδωσιν αὐτῷ αὐτῷ ὡς ἠθέληδε, καὶ ἐκάστω τῶν σπερμάτων ἴδιον σῶμα.

64.68.10 | Then he says, “fool, what you sow does not come to life unless it dies, and what you sow, you do not sow the body that will be, but a bare seed, whether of wheat or of other seeds, and it does not come to life unless it dies. But God gives it its own body as he wants, and to each of the seeds its own body.”

64.68.11 | καὶ ὁρᾷς ὅτι οὐκ ἀλλάσσεται τὸ σῶμα. οὐδεὶς γὰρ σπείρας κριθᾶς καιθᾶς σῖτον οὐδὲ μελάνθιον τις ἔσπειρε καὶ εὗρε κριθὴν ἀλλὰ τὸ σπειρόμενον αὐτό ἐστι τὸ ἐγειρόμενον.

64.68.11 | And you see that the body does not change. For no one who sowed barley sowed wheat, nor did anyone sow melanthion and find barley, but what was sown is the very thing that is raised.

64.68.12 | ἐὰν δὲ καὶ καταλειφθῇ &τι> ἐξ αὐτοῦ κάτω ἐν τῇ γῇ καὶ ἀναστῇ ἐξ αὐτοῦ τὸ βλάστημα, ὥδε μὲν ἐν τούτῳ τῷ φθαρτῷ σίτῳ καὶ μὴ εἰς κρίσιν ἐρχομένῳ τὸ μὲν καταλειφθὲν ἄχρηστον, τὸ δὲ ἐξ αὐτοῦ ἐγειρόμενον κάλλιον.

64.68.12 | And if something is left from it down in the earth and the sprout rises from it, then in this perishable seed that does not come to judgment, what is left is useless, but what rises from it is better.

64.68.13 | ἡθέλησε δὲ δεῖξαι τὴν φαιδρότητα διὰ τὴν ἀπιστίαν τῶν μὴ τὴν ἐλπίδα τοῦ θεοῦ καραδοκούντων. τάληθῃ μὲν γὰρ ὁ κόκκος τοῦ σίτου λεπτότατος. δὲ ἐν τῷ τοιούτῳ κόκκῳ τῷ σμικροτάτῳ καὶ ρίζαι καὶ βάσεις καὶ κάλαμοι καὶ αἱ]

64.68.13 | He wanted to show the foolishness because of the unbelief of those who do not watch for the hope of God. For the true grain of wheat is very small. But in such a very small grain there are roots and stalks and knees and so many tubes and γονατίδες καὶ αἱ τοσαῦται σύριγγες καὶ κεφαλίδες καὶ θῆκαι καὶ ἀνθήρικες καὶ κόκκοι πολυπλασιάζοντες; heads and husks and flowers and grains multiplying.

Section 69

64.69.1 | 69. Ἵνα δὲ καὶ σαφέστερον εἴπωμεν τὰ ὅμοια τούτοις διηγούμενοι· πόθεν τῷ Μωυσῇ, υἱῷ τῆς Ἰωχαβέθ. υἱῷ τοῦ Ἀμράμ, πέτραν ἐν ῥάβδῳ καὶ προ[σ]ενεγκεῖν ὕδωρ ἐξ ἀπόρου ὕλης, τὸ ξηρὸν εἰς ὑγρὸν μεταβαλεῖν; τὸ πατάξει θάλασσαν καὶ διαιρεῖν εἰς δώδεκα ὁδοὺς ὁδοιπορίας ἐν θαλάσῃ τῷ κελεύσματι <θεοῦ>; τὸ εἰς αἷμα μεταβαλεῖν; τὸ βάτραχον ὑπὸ θῆξιν συναγαγεῖν τοσοῦτον;

64.69.1 | 69. And to speak more clearly, telling things like these: why did Moses, son of Jochebed, son of Amram, bring water from a dry rock with a rod from barren wood, changing the dry into wet? Why did he strike the sea and divide it into twelve paths for traveling in the sea by the command of God? Why did he change it into blood? Why did he gather so many frogs under one cover?

64.69.2 | τὸ τὴν σκνίφα ἐπιπέμψαι Αἴγυπτίοις; τὸ σάλαζαν μῖξαι μετὰ τοῦ πυρός; τὸ νύκτα μέλαιναν καὶ σκοτομήνην Αἴγυπτίοις ἐπικεράσαι ζοφώδη;

64.69.2 | Why did he send the gnats upon the Egyptians? Why did he mix hail with fire? Why did he bring a night, black and dark, upon the Egyptians, full of gloom?

64.69.3 | τὸ τὰ πρωτοτόκια κτεῖναι τῶν Αἴγυπτίων ἐν θανάτῳ; τὸ στύλῳ πυρὸς καθοδηγεῖν λαὸν δι' αὐτοῦ ποιμαινόμενον; τὸ ἄρτον ἀγγέλων ἐπενέγκαι εὐχῇ καὶ ἱκεσίᾳ; τὸ ὀρτυγομήτραν ἀνιέναι καὶ κορεννύειν τοσαύτας μυριάδας ἀνδρῶν διὰ προστάγματος θεοῦ;

64.69.3 | Why did he kill the firstborn of the Egyptians by death? Why did he lead the people with a pillar of fire, guiding them as they were being shepherded? Why did he bring bread of angels by prayer and supplication? Why did he send down the quail and feed so many thousands of men by the command of God?

64.69.4 | τὸ ἀκοῦσαι φωνὴν θεοῦ; τὸ καταξιοθῆναι ἀνὰ μέσον τοσούτων μυριάδων θεοῦ φωνῆς ἀκούειν καὶ συνομιλεῖν θεῷ; τὸ διὰ τεσσαράκοντα ἡμερῶν καὶ διὰ τεσσαράκοντα νυκτῶν μὴ ἐπιζητῆσαι καὶ χρειώδη τῶν κατὰ τὴν φύσιν τῆς ἡμετέρας πλάσεως; τὸ

64.69.4 | Why did he hear the voice of God?
Why was he made worthy to hear the voice of God among so many thousands and to speak with God? Why did he not seek the needs of our natural body for forty days and forty nights? Why did his flesh change into the brightness of the sun and a shining μεταβληθῆναι τὴν σάρκα εἰς φαιδρότητα ἡλίου καὶ ἀκτῖνα φωτεινὴν, στροβοῦσαν λαὸν πρὸς τὸ μὴ δύνασθαι ἀτενίσαι τοὺς υἱοὺς υἱοὺς Ἰσραὴλ εἰς τὸ πρόσωπον

αὐτοῦ;

ray, turning the people so they could not look at the sons of Israel in his face?

64.69.5 | τὸ τὴν χεῖρα σαρκίνην οὖσαν μεταβληθῆναι εἰς χιόνα; τὸ κελεῦσαι τῇ γῇ χᾶναι τὸ στόμα πρὸς ὑποδοχὴν τῶν περὶ Κορὲ καὶ Δαθὰν καὶ Αβειρώων καὶ Αὐνᾶν;

64.69.5 | Why did the fleshly hand change into snow? Why did he command the earth to open its mouth to receive those around Korah, Dathan, Abiram, and On?

64.69.6 | τὸ ἐπὶ τέλους ἀκοῦσαι »ἀνάβηθι εἰς τὸ ὄρος, κάκεῖ τελεύτα«; τὸ μὴ γινώκειν ἄνθρωπον τὴν αὐτοῦ ταφὴν; σημαίνοντος τοῦ Μου γράμματος ὡς] ὑπὸ ἀνθρώπων τὸ σῶμα Μωυσέως μὴ κεκηδεῦσθαι, ἀλλά, καθὼς ὑποτίθεται ἡ διάνοια, ὑπὸ ἁγίων ἀγγέλων·

64.69.6 | Was it to hear at last, “Go up to the mountain, and there you will die”? Was it that no one knew the place of his burial?
The meaning of the letter is that Moses’ body was not buried by men, but, as the mind suggests, by holy angels.

64.69.7 | καὶ πάντα ταῦτα ἔτι ὄντος αὐτοῦ ἐν τούτῳ τῷ κόσμῳ, ἔτι ἐν τῷ ψυχικῷ τούτῳ σώματι καὶ πνευματικῷ ἅμα τελείως γενομένῳ. λαβόντες δὲ ἀπ’ ἐντευθεν τὸν ἀρραβῶνα * εἰς ὑπόδειγμα τῆς τελείας τότε βλαστήσεως, ὅτε πληροῦται τὸ εἰργμένον »σπείρεται ἐν ἀτιμίᾳ, ἐγείρεται ἐν δόξῃ·

64.69.7 | And all these things, while he was still in this world, still in this natural body and at the same time fully made spiritual.
And having received from here the first part as a pledge, as a sign of the perfect growth then, when what is sown in dishonor is filled and rises in glory.

64.69.8 | σπείρεται ἐν ἀσθενείᾳ, ἐγείρεται ἐν δυνάμει·

64.69.8 | It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power.

64.69.9 | πῶς γὰρ οὐκ ἀσθενὲς τὸ σπειρόμενον καὶ μὴ γινώσκον ποῦ σπείρεται; πῶς οὐκ ἄτιμον τὸ ἐν μνήματι βαλλόμενον καὶ κόνιν ἐπαμώμενον, λακίζόμενόν τε καὶ θρυπτόμενον καὶ

64.69.9 | For how is not weak what is being sown and does not know where it is sown?
How is it not dishonored, what is thrown into the grave and covered with dust, being broken and crushed and losing feeling?

άναισθητοῦν;

64.69.10 | πῶς οὐκ ἔντιμον τὸ ἐγειρόμενον καὶ εἰς αἰῶνα διαμένον καὶ ἐν ἐλπίδι τῆς τοῦ θεοῦ φιланθρωπίας ἐν οὐρανῷ βασιλείαν κτῶμενον, ὅπου λάμπουσιν οἱ δίκαιοι ὡς ὁ ἥλιος, ὅπου ἔσονται »ἰσάγγελοι«, ὅπου μετὰ τοῦ νυμφίου χορεύουσιν, ὅπου οἱ περὶ Πέτρον »καθέζονται ἐπὶ δώδεκα θρόνων, τὰς δώδεκα φυλὰς κρίνοντες Ἰσραὴλ«, ὅπου λήψονται οἱ δίκαιοι »ἃ ὁφθαλμὸς οὐκ εἶδε καὶ οὐς οὐκ ἤκουσε καὶ ἐπὶ καρδίαν ἀνθρώπου οὐκ ἀνέβη, ἃ ἡτοίμασεν ὁ θεὸς τοῖς ἀγαπῶσιν αὐτόν«;

64.69.10 | How is not honored what is raised and remains forever, and in hope of God's kindness gains a kingdom in heaven, where the righteous will shine like the sun, where they will be equal to angels, where they will dance with the bridegroom, where those around Peter will sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel, where the righteous will receive what no eye has seen, no ear has heard, and no human heart has imagined, what God has prepared for those who love him?

64.69.11 | ἡμῶν τοίνυν ἡ ἀνάστασις ἐν θεῷ καὶ παντὸς ἀνθρώπου, δικαίου τε καὶ ἀδίκου, ἀπίστου τε καὶ πιστοῦ, τῶν μὲν ἐγειρομένων ζωὴν ζωὴν αἰώνιον, τῶν δὲ εἰς κρίσιν κρίσιν

64.69.11 | Our resurrection then is in God and all people, both just and unjust, unbelieving and believing, some being raised to life, life eternal, and others to judgment, judgment.

Section 70

64.70.1 | 70. Καὶ σιώπα Βαβυλῶν, ἡ ἀρχαία πάλιν ἡμῖν ἀνακαινιζομένη σύγχυσις· πεφίμωσο Σόδομα καὶ ἡ τῆς πολλῆς σου δεινότητος πρὸς θεὸν κραυγὴ ἀνερχομένη·

64.70.1 | And be silent, Babylon, the ancient confusion being renewed for us again; silence Sodom and the cry rising to God because of your great wickedness.

64.70.2 | »ἥξει γὰρ ἐκ Σιών ὁ ρυόμενος καὶ ἀποστρέψει ἀσεβείας ἀπὸ Ἰακώβ« καὶ σαλπίσει, καὶ οἱ νεκροὶ καὶ »ἡμεῖς ἄρπαγησόμεθα εἰς συνάντησιν αὐτῷ εἰς ἀέρα« ὡς καὶ ὁ καλλίων ἡμῶν πρεσβύτερος > μακάριος εἶπε Μεθόδιος, τοῖς δὲ αὐτοῖς καὶ αὐτοὶ οικοδομοῦντες προσεθήκαμεν.

64.70.2 | "For the one who saves will come from Zion and will turn away ungodliness from Jacob," and he will blow the trumpet, and the dead and "we will be caught up to meet him in the air"; as our better elder, blessed Methodius, said, and we ourselves, building on the same, have added.

64.70.3 | ἀπὸ γὰρ τῶν συνεζευγμένων ἐκάστης λέξεως ἔστιν ἰδεῖν τὰ ἐπίχειρα. διαιρῶν γὰρ ὁ ἀπόστολος τῶν δύο τρόπων τὸ εἶδος εἰς μίαν ἐλπίδα συνήγαγεν ἀπὸ τοῦ »ἡμεῖς ἀρπαγησόμεθα ἐν νεφέλαις εἰς συνάντησιν δείξῃ ὄντως τοῦτο τὸ σῶμα καὶ οὐχ ἕτερον παρὰ τοῦτο <ἀνιστάμενον>·

64.70.3 | For from the joined words of each phrase, it is possible to see the meaning. For the apostle, dividing the two kinds, gathered their form into one hope from the phrase “we will be caught up in the clouds to meet,” truly showing this body and not another besides this one rising.

64.70.4 | ὁ γὰρ ἀρπαγείς οὐπω τέθνηκε. δεικνὺς δὲ ὅτι »οὐ φθάσομεν τήντων νεκρῶν ἀνάστασιν«, ἕνα τὸ παρὰ ἀνθρώποις ἄπορον θεῶ εὐπόριστον καὶ δυνατὸν δυνατὸν ἀποδείξῃ γὰρ οἱ ζῶντες οὐ μὴ φθάσωμεν τοὺς κεκοιμημένους καὶ τὴν αὐτῶν ἀνάστασιν«), ἔδειξε τοὺς ζῶντας καὶ ἀρπαζομένους, ἵνα ἀπὸ τῶν ζώντων δείξῃ τὰ ἐκείνων σώματα ὁλοσχερῇ ἐγειρόμενα καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ ἐκείνους πρωτεύειν τῶν περιλειπομένων ζώντων τὸ δυνατὸν τοῦ θεοῦ ἀποδείξῃ.

64.70.4 | For the one caught up has not yet died. Showing that “we will not precede the resurrection of the dead,” he proves one thing impossible for humans but easy and possible for God. For “the living will not precede those who have fallen asleep and their resurrection,” he showed the living and those caught up, so that from the living he might show the complete rising of their bodies and prove that God’s power allows those caught up to come first among the remaining living.

64.70.5 | »Ἀναστήσονται γὰρ οἱ νεκροὶ καὶ ἐγερθήσονται οἱ ἐν τοῖς μνημείοις«. φησὶν ὁ προφήτης. ἵνα δὲ καὶ τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ Ἰεζεκιὴλ προφήτου ἐν τῷ ἰδίῳ ἀποκρύφῳ ῥηθέντα περὶ ἀναστάσεως μὴ παρασιωπήσω, καὶ αὐτὰ ἐνταῦθα παραθήσομαι.

64.70.5 | “For the dead will rise and those in the tombs will be raised,” says the prophet. And so that I do not leave out what was said by the prophet Ezekiel in his own secret book about the resurrection, I will also put those here.

64.70.6 | αἰνιγματῶδῶς γὰρ διηγούμενος λέγει περὶ τῆς δικαίας κρίσεως ἥ κοινωνεῖ ψυχῇ σῶμα, ὅτι βασιλεύς τις ἐν τῇ αὐτοῦ βασιλείᾳ πάντας εἶχεν ἐστρατευμένους, παγανὸν δὲ οὐκ ἄλλ’ ἄλλ’ ἢ μόνον δύο, ἵνα χῶλὸν καὶ ἕνα τυφλόν, καὶ <αὐτῶν> κατ’ ἰδίαν ἐκαθέζετο καὶ κατ’ ὥκει.

64.70.6 | Speaking in riddles, he tells about the just judgment where soul shares with body, that a certain king in his kingdom had everyone at war, but only two enemies, one lame and one blind, and he sat with them alone and lived with them.

64.70.7 | γάμους δὲ ποιήσας ὁ βασιλεὺς τῷ ἰδίῳ υἱῷ ἐκάλεσε πάντας τοὺς ἐν τῇ αὐτοῦ βασιλείᾳ, περιεφρόνησε δὲ τῶν δύο παγανῶν, τοῦ τε χωλοῦ καὶ τοῦ τυφλοῦ· οἱ δὲ ἡγανάκτησαν ἐν ἑαυτοῖς καὶ ἐπιβουλήν ἐργάσασθαι τῷ βασιλεῖ ἐπενόουν.

64.70.7 | The king made a wedding for his own son and called everyone in his kingdom, but he looked down on the two enemies, the lame and the blind; and they were angry inside themselves and planned to work a plot against the king.

64.70.8 | παράδεισον δὲ εἶχεν ὁ βασιλεὺς, καὶ ἀπὸ μήκοθεν ὁ τυφλὸς ἐλάλει τῷ χωλῷ λέγων πόσον ἦν ἡμῶν τὸ κλάσμα τοῦ ἄρτου μετὰ τῶν ὄχλων τῶν κληθέντων εἰς τὴν εὐφρασίαν; δεῦρο τοίνυν, καθὼς ἐποίησεν ἡμῖν, ἀμυνώμεθα αὐτόν». ὁ δὲ ἕτερος ἡρώτα ποίῳ τρόπῳ;

64.70.8 | The king had a garden, and from a distance the blind man spoke to the lame man, saying, 'How big was our share of the bread with the crowds called to the feast? Come then, just as he made for us, let's defend him.' The other asked, 'How?'

64.70.9 | ὁ δὲ εἶπεν »ἀπέλθωμεν εἰς τὸν παράδεισον αὐτοῦ καὶ ἀφανίσωμεν ἐκεῖ τὰ τοῦ παραδείσου«. ὁ δὲ εἶπεν καὶ πῶς δύναμαι, χωλὸς ὢν καὶ μὴ δυνάμενος ἐπισαίνειν; ὁ δὲ τυφλὸς ἔφη αὐτὸς ἐγὼ δύναμαί τι πράττειν μὴ ὁρῶν ποῦ ἀπέρχομαι; ἀλλὰ τεχνασώμεθα».

64.70.9 | He said, 'Let's go into his garden and destroy the things in the garden.' The lame man said, 'And how can I, being lame and not able to follow?' The blind man said, 'I myself said, I can do something without seeing where I go; but let's plan tricks.'

64.70.10 | τίλας χόρτον τὸν πλησίον καὶ πλέξας σχοινίον ἠκόντισε τῷ τυφλῷ καὶ εἶπεν κράτει, καὶ δεῦρο πρὸς τὸ σχοινίον πρὸς με». ὡς δὲ ἐποίησεν ὁ προετράπη, ὅτε ἔφθασε λέγει δεῦρό μοι γενοῦ πόδες καὶ βάστασόν με, καὶ γίνομαί σοι ὀφθαλμοί.

64.70.10 | He pulled some grass from the neighbor and, having twisted a small rope, threw it at the blind man and said, 'Hold on, and come here to the rope toward me.' When he did as he was urged, when he arrived, he said, 'Come to me, be my feet and carry me, and I will become your eyes.'

64.70.11 | ἄνωθεν ὁδηγῶν σε δεξιὰ καὶ εὐώνυμα». τοῦτο δὲ ποιήσαντες κατέβησαν εἰς τὸν παράδεισον· εἴτα λοιπὸν εἴτε ἠδίκησαν εἴτε καὶ οὐκ ἠδίκησαν, ὅμως

64.70.11 | Leading you from above on the right and with a good name. Having done this, they went down into the garden; then afterward, whether they did wrong or did not do wrong, however, they left tracks in τὰ ἵχνη πέφηνεν ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ.

the garden.

64.70.12 | καταλύσαντες δὲ ἐκ τῶν γάμων οἱ φύφρανθέντες κταβάντες εἰς τὸν παράδεισον ἐξεπλάγησαν τὰ ἵχνη εὐρόντες ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ καὶ ταῦτα ἀνήγγειλαν τῷ βασιλεῖ, λέγοντες ἅπαντες στρατιῶται ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ σου καὶ οὐδεὶς ἐστὶ παγανός. πόθεν τοίνυν ἵχνη παγανῶν ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ;

64.70.12 | Having broken up from the wedding, those who had been caught went down into the garden and were amazed to find tracks in the garden. They reported these to the king, saying, 'All the soldiers in your kingdom are not lame. So where then are the tracks of the lame in the garden?'

64.70.13 | ὁ δὲ ἐθαύμασε, καὶ ὥς μὲν ἡ παραβολὴ δηλονότι τοῦ ἀποκρύφου λέγει ὡς πρὸς τὸν ἀνθρώπον αἰνιττομένη, ὁ θεὸς δὲ οὐδὲν ἀγνοεῖ. ἡ δὲ διήγησις λέγει ὡς μετεστείλατο τὸν χωλὸν καὶ τὸν τυφλὸν καὶ ἠρώτησε τὸν τυφλὸν μὴ σὺ κατήλθες εἰς τὸν παράδεισον; ὁ δὲ ἔφη ἔφη κύριε ὁρᾷς ἡμῶν τὴν ἀδυναμίαν, οἶδας ὅτι οὐκ ὁρῶ ποῦ βαδίζω.

64.70.13 | He was amazed, and since the story clearly is a riddle about the hidden, it speaks as if to a person, but god knows nothing. The narrative says that he sent the lame and the blind and asked the blind, 'Did you not go down into the garden?' He said, 'Lord, you see our weakness; you know that I do not see where I walk.'

64.70.14 | εἴτα ἐλθὼν ἐπὶ τὸν χωλὸν καὶ αὐτὸν ἠρώτα σὺ κατήλθες εἰς τὸν παράδεισόν μου; ὁ δὲ ἀποκριθεὶς εἶπεν ὡς κύριε, πικρᾶναί μου τὴν ψυχὴν ἐν τῷ μέρει τῆς ἀδυναμίας καὶ λοιπὸν ἡ κρίσις ἀργεῖ. τί οὖν ποιεῖ ὁ κριτὴς ὁ δίκαιος;

64.70.14 | Then coming to the lame man, he also asked him, 'Did you go down into my garden?' He answered, 'Oh lord, you make my soul bitter in the place of weakness, and now the judgment is slow. So what does the just judge do?'

64.70.15 | ἀναγνοὺς ποίῳ τρόπῳ ἀμφοτέροι ἐζεύχθησαν ἐπιτίθησι τὸν χωλὸν τῷ πηρῷ καὶ τοὺς ἀμφοτέρους ἐτάζει μάστιγι, καὶ οὐ δύνανται ἀρνήσασθαι. ἑκάτεροι ἀλλήλους ἐλέγχουσιν, ὁ μὲν χωλὸς λέγων τῷ τυ.

64.70.15 | Having read how both were yoked together, he put the lame man on the crippled one and ordered both to be whipped, and they could not deny it. Each one blamed the other, the lame man saying to the blind...

64.70.16 | φιλῶ ὡς οὐ σύ με ἐβάστασας καὶ

64.70.16 | The lame man said, 'Didn't you ἀπήνεγκας»; καὶ ὁ τυφλὸς τῷ χωλῷ οὐκ αὐτὸς ὀφθαλμοὶ μου γέγονας; carry me and bring me back?' And the blind man said to the lame man, 'Aren't I your eyes?'

64.70.17 | οὕτως τὸ σῶμα τῇ ψυχῇ καὶ ἡ ψυχὴ τῷ σώματι εἰς ἔλεγχον τῆς κοινῆς ἐργασίας συνάπτεται, καὶ ἡ κρίσις τελεία γίνεται περὶ ἀμφοτέρων, σώματός τε καὶ ψυχῆς, * τῶν ἔργων τῶν] γεγενημένων εἴτε ἀγαθῶν εἴτε φαύλων.

64.70.17 | So the body with the soul, and the soul with the body, are joined together for the test of their common work, and the judgment becomes complete about both, body and soul, of the works that have been done, whether good or bad.

64.70.18 | Καὶ ὁρᾶτε οἱ τῆς ἑαυτῶν ζωῆς ἐπιμελόμενοι ὅτι πάντες οἱ κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐνεχθέντες ἑαυτοῖς τὴν ἀδικίαν προσεπορίσαντο. ὥς καὶ ὁ ἅγιος προφήτης Δαυὶδ λέγει »συνέλαβε πόνον καὶ ἔτεκεν ἀνομίαν«.

64.70.18 | And you see those who take care of their own life that all who have brought injustice against the truth have added trouble to themselves. As the holy prophet David also says, 'He took pain and gave birth to lawlessness.'

64.70.19 | πᾶς γὰρ ὁ συνάγων συνάγων τὸν πόνον τῶν ἀλλοτρίων διανοημάτων ἑαυτῷ τίκτει τὴν ἀδικίαν καὶ τοῖς πειθομένοις· λάκκον ὥρυξε καὶ ἀνέσκαψεν αὐτόν, καὶ ἐμπεσεῖται εἰς βόθρον ὃν εἰργάσατο«.

64.70.19 | For everyone who gathers the pain of other people's thoughts for himself brings forth injustice to himself and to those who obey him; he dug a pit and dug it up, and he will fall into the pit he made.

64.70.20 | ἀλλὰ πρὸς ταῦτα πάντα εἴ τις ἔχει ἀντιλέγειν, ἢ κέτω· εἴ τις <θέλει>; ἀντιπράττειν, τολμάτω. θεὸς γὰρ ἰσχυρὸς »οὐ κοπιάσει οὐδὲ πεινάσει οὐδὲ διψήσει, οὐδὲ ἔστιν ἐξέ'λυρες τῆς φρονήσεως αὐτοῦ «, ἐν ᾗ τὰ λελυμένα σώματα ἐγείρει, ἐν ᾗ τὸ ἀπολλύμενον σώζει,

64.70.20 | But against all these things, if anyone has something to say, let him come; if anyone wants to fight back, let him dare. For God is strong: 'he will not grow tired, nor hunger, nor thirst, nor is there any loosening of his mind,' by which the freed bodies are raised, by which the lost one is saved,

64.70.21 | ἐν ᾗ τὸ τεθνηκὸς ζωογονεῖ, ἐν ᾗ τὸ φθαρτὸν ἀφθαρσίαν ἀμφιέννυσιν, ἐν τὸν κόκκον τὸν πεσόντα εἰς ἀνάστασιν

64.70.21 | in which the dead is made alive, in which the perishable puts on imperishability, in which the seed that fell φέρει, ἐν ᾗ τὸν σπαρέντα καὶ ἀποθανόντα εἰς περισσοτέραν φαιδρότητα ἄγει ἀνακαινίζων· ὡς ἐν πολλαῖς γραφαῖς ἐμφέρεται, αἰνιττομένης τῆς ἡμῶν ἀναστάσεως.

brings about resurrection, in which the one scattered and dead leads to greater brightness, renewing; as it is shown in many scriptures, hinting at our resurrection.

Section 71

64.71.1 | 71. Ἐν δὲ τῷ <τοῦ> Δαυὶδ περὶ τοῦ ἐγκαινισμοῦ τοῦ οἴκου Δαυὶδ ψαλμῷ ὡς καταδοκῶν ὁ προφήτης καὶ πνεύματι ἁγίῳ σκοπῶν τὸ μέλλον εὐλόγως περὶ ἀναστάσεως ἔφη· »ὕψώσω σε, κύριε, ὅτι ὑπέλαβές με, ἀνακαινίζων μου τὸν οἶκον«, τουτέστιν τὸ σῶμα τὸ πεσόν, καὶ οὐκ ἠϋφρανας τοὺς ἐχθρούς μου ἐπ' ἐμέ«.

64.71.1 | 71. And in the Psalm of David about the renewal of the house of David, the prophet watching carefully and looking with the Holy Spirit to what is coming said rightly about the resurrection: 'I will raise you up, Lord, because you have taken me back, renewing my house,' that is, the fallen body, 'and you did not let my enemies rejoice over me.'

64.71.2 | καὶ ὁ Σολομὼν ἐν παροιμίαις ὡσαύτως εἰς τὴν ἐκεῖσε ἐτοιμασίαν τὰ πάντα τῆς ἐλπίδος παρασκευάζων προύτρεπε φάκων »ἐτοιμάζε εἰς τὴν ἔξοδον τὰ ἔργα σου. ἔξοδον λέγων τὴν ἀπ' ἐντεῦθεν ἀπαλλαγὴν) καὶ ἐτοιμάζου« φησὶν εἰς τὸν ἀγρόν«, ὁμοῦ πᾶσι τὴν νοουθεσίαν ἐπεκτεινόμενος κατὰ κατὰ ἀγρόν τε καὶ κατὰ ἄστυ, λογίοις τε καὶ τοῖς τὰς βαναύσους τέχνας ἐπιχειροῦσιν, οἷς οὐδεμία ἐργασία κατὰ ἀγρόν ἐπιζητουμένη·

64.71.2 | And Solomon in Proverbs also, preparing everything for that readiness of hope, urged saying, 'Prepare your works for the departure.' Departure meaning the release from here, 'and prepare yourself for the field,' extending the advice to all, both for the field and for the city, to the wise and to those who do manual crafts, for whom no work is sought in the field.

64.71.3 | πόθεν γὰρ λινουργοῖς καὶ ἀργυροχόοις, ποιηταῖς τε καὶ λογογράφοις ἢ κατὰ τὴν ἄρουραν ἐτοιμασία; συλλήβδην γὰρ ὁμοῦ ἡ φωνὴ ἀδιακρίτως τοὺς πάντας κέκληκεν ἐπειποῦσα »ἐτοιμάζου εἰς τὸν ἀγρόν«, <τί> ἀλλ' τοῦτο αἰνιττομένη, ὅτι παντὶ ἀνθρώπῳ πολίτῃ τε καὶ ἀγροίκῳ ἀπόθεσις τοῦ σώματος ἀγρός, τὸ διὰ τὴν

64.71.3 | For where is the preparation for the field for linen workers and silversmiths, poets and writers? For the voice together calls all without distinction, saying 'prepare yourself for the field,' hinting at this: that for every person, both city-dweller and countryman, the field is the resting place of the body, the end because of burial.

ταφήν τέλος;

64.71.4 | εἶτα μετέπειτα πείτα τὴν αὐτὴν τῆς ἀναστάσεως σημαίνων ἐλπίδα φάσκει φάσκει καὶ ἀνοικοδομήσεις τὸν οἶκόν σου.. οὐκ εἶπεν »οἰκοδομήσεις τὸν οἶκον«· ἅπαξ γὰρ ὠκοδομήθη ἐν τῇ πλάσει τῇ κατὰ τὴν γαστέρα, ὅτε μητέρες ἐκύϊσκον ἕκαστον ἡμῶν ἐν τῇ πλάσει· ἀπὸ ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς ἢ ἀνάστασις ἢ ἀπὸ ἀγροῦ, οὐκέτι οἰκοδομουμένη ἀλλὰ ἀνοικοδομουμένη, διὰ τὴν ἐπενεχθεῖσαν αὐτῇ καθαίρεσιν ἐν τῷ τῆς ταφῆς πτώματι·

64.71.5 | ὥς καὶ ὁ σωτὴρ ἴφη »λύδατε τὸν ναὸν τοῦτον, καὶ ἐν τρισὶν ἡμέραις ἐγείρω αὐτόν· ἢ οἰκοδομῶ αὐτόν, σοφία ὦν καὶ ἐν τοιαύτῃ »φρονήσει«·*, ἥς οὐκ ἔστιν«· ὑπὸ ἀνθρώπων ἐξεύρεσις, ἐν ᾗ ἐξ ἀπόρων τόπων διαχυθέντων ἡμῶν τῶν σωμάτων, τῶν μὲν τέφραν τῶν δὲ ἐν θαλάσῃ τῶν δὲ ὑπὸ σαρκοβόρων οἰωνῶν τῶν δὲ ὑπὸ θηρίων τῶν δὲ ὑπὸ σκωλήκων φθαρέντων, * φέρει.

64.71.6 | Εἰ γὰρ τὰ ὄντα; ἐξ οὐκ ὄντων ἐποίησεν εἰς τὸ εἶναι, πόσῳ δὴ μᾶλλον τὸ ὄν εἰς τὴν ἰδίαν κατάστασιν εὐχερῶς ἀποκαταστήσει; ἵνα δίκαιαν ὁρίσῃ κρίσιν, ἵνα μὴ ἕτερον ἀνθ' ἑτέρου κρίνῃ, ἵνα μὴ ἀποστερήσῃ τὸ καμὸν.

64.71.7 | εἰ γὰρ ψυχῆς ἢ ἀπόλαυσις καὶ οὐρανῶν βασιλείας κληρονομία, μετασχέτω τὸ σῶμα ὡς βούλεται· τρυφάτωσαν οἱ περὶ τὸν Γεδεὼν καὶ μὴ κακουχείσθωσαν ἐν μηλωταῖς καὶ αἰγείοις

64.71.4 | Then afterward, meaning the same hope of the resurrection, he says, 'and rebuild your house.' He did not say 'build the house'; for it was built once in the formation in the womb, when mothers carried each of us in the womb. The resurrection is from the earth or from the field, no longer being built but rebuilt, because of the clearing away brought to it in the corpse of burial.

64.71.5 | Just as the savior said, 'Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up,' not 'I will build it,' being wise and in such 'thought,' which has no discovery by humans, in which from the scattered places of our bodies, some turned to ashes, some in the sea, some eaten by flesh-eating birds, some by wild beasts, some by worms, it carries on.

64.71.6 | For if he made things that are not from things that are not, how much more easily will he restore what is, to its own state? So that he may set a fair judgment, so that he does not judge one thing instead of another, so that he does not take away what has worked.

64.71.7 | For if the enjoyment of the soul and the kingdom of the heavens is the inheritance, let the body share as it wants. Let those around Gideon live in luxury and not be ashamed in goat and sheep skins. Let δέρμασι», μὴ μάτην καμνέτω Ἰωάννης ἐκ καμήλων ἔχων τὸ ἔνδυμα, μὴ ἐν ἀναχωρήσει τὴν σάρκα ὑπωπιάσωμεν, μὴ τὰ σώματα ἡμῶν δαμάσωμεν ἐν ἀγνείᾳ.

John not work in vain wearing clothes made from camels. Let us not bruise the flesh by running away. Let us not control our bodies by being pure.

64.71.8 | εἰ δὲ ἄρα κοινωνεῖ σῶμα ψυχῇ ἐν πολιτείαις ἐν ἀγνείᾳ ἐν νηστείᾳ καὶ ταῖς ἄλλαις ἀρεταῖς, »οὐκ ἄδικος ὁ θεός. ἀποστερεῖν τὸν κάματον τοῦ κεκμηκότος καὶ μὴ ἀποτῖσαι τὴν μισθαποδοσίαν τῷ ἅμα τῇ ψυχῇ κεκμηκότι σώματι.

64.71.8 | But if the body shares with the soul in citizenship, in purity, in fasting, and in other virtues, God is not unjust. To take away the work of the tired one and not to pay the reward to the body worn out together with the soul is not right.

64.71.9 | εὐθὺς γὰρ εὐρεθήσεται ἀργὴ ἡ κρίσις· εἰ γὰρ ἡ ψυχὴ μονωτάτῃ εὐρεθήσεται, ἀντιλέξειεν κρινομένη ὅτι οὐκ ἀπ' ἐμοῦ τὸ αἷτιον τῆς ἁμαρτίας, ἀλλὰ ἀπ' ἐκείνου τοῦ φθαρτοῦ καὶ γήινου σώματος τὸ πορνεῦειν τὸ μοιχεύειν τὸ ἀσελγαίνειν· ἐξότε γὰρ ἀπ' ἐμοῦ ἀπέστη, οὐδέν μοι τούτων πέπρακται, καὶ ἔσται εὐαπολόγητος καὶ παραλύουσα τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ κρίσιν.

64.71.9 | For the judgment will be found to be lazy right away; for if the soul is found to be all alone, it will argue when judged that the cause of sin is not from me, but from that corrupt and earthly body, the one who commits fornication, adultery, and wickedness; for it has turned away from me, none of these things have been done by me, and it will be excused and will weaken the judgment of God.

64.71.10 | εἰ δὲ καὶ τὸ σῶμα καθ' ἑαυτὸ ἀγάγοι ὁ θεός — δύναται γάρ, ὡς καὶ ἄνω μοι διὰ τοῦ Ἰεζεκιὴλ δεδήλωται· εἰ καὶ διὰ παραβολῆς τὸ ἔργον γεγένηται, ἀλλὰ τὸ εἶδος εἰς ἀλληγορίαν τῆς τότε παραβολευθείσης ἀληθείας ἐτελειώθη, ὡς συνήχθη ὅστέον πρὸς ὅστέον καὶ ἁρμονία πρὸς ἁρμονίαν, καὶ ξηρῶν ὄντων τῶν ὀστέων καὶ οὐδέπω ψυχῆς οὐδὲ πνεύματος τοῦ κινούντος ἐν αὐτοῖς ὄντος, καὶ] εὐθὺς τὰ σώματα συνήχθη καὶ κατὰ τὸν τοῦ προφήτου λόγον ἐστερεώθη.

64.71.10 | But if God also leads the body by itself — for he is able, as it has been shown to me above through Ezekiel; even if the work happened through a parable, yet the form was completed into an allegory of the truth then parabled, as bone was joined to bone and harmony to harmony, and the bones were dry and there was not yet a soul or spirit moving in them — and immediately the bodies were joined together and were made firm according to the prophet's word.

64.71.11 | ρεώθη. καὶ εἰ θέλει ὁ θεός, δυνατός ἐστι τοῦτο ποιῆσαι ἄνευ ψυχῆς

64.71.11 | It was poured out. And if God wants, he is able to do this without a soul, παρεῖναι τε καὶ κινεῖσθαι, ὥς καὶ τὸ τοῦ Ἰβελ αἷμα σῶμα ὃν μετὰ θάνατον ἐφθέγγετο καὶ οὐ ψυχὴ· οὐ γὰρ ψυχὴ ἐστὶ τὸ αἷμα, ἀλλὰ σῶμά ἐστὶ τὸ φαινόμενον.

to be present and to move, just like the blood of Abel, which spoke after death and was a body and not a soul; for blood is not a soul, but what appears is a body.

64.71.12 | ἀλλ' οὐ δυνήσεται σῶμα ἄνευ ψυχῆς κριθῆναι. ἀντιλέξει γὰρ καὶ αὐτό, λέγον ὅτι οὐκ ἐγὼ ἥμαρτον, ἀλλὰ ἡ ψυχὴ· μή, ἐξότε ἀπεκρίθη ἀπ' ἐμοῦ, μὴ ἐμοίχευσα, μὴ ἐπόρνευσα, μὴ εἰδωλολάτρησα; καὶ ἔσται ἀντιλέγον τὸ σῶμα τῇ τοῦ θεοῦ δικαιοκρίσι· καὶ εὐλόγως ἀντιλέγον.

64.71.12 | But the body will not be judged without the soul. For it will argue back, saying that it was not i who sinned, but the soul; no, it will answer me, 'I did not commit adultery, I did not fornicate, I did not worship idols.' And the body will argue against the judgment of God, and rightly so.

64.71.13 | τούτου τουτου τοίνυν καὶ δι' ἄλλα πολλὰ καὶ ἀναγκαῖα ὁ θεὸς ἐν τῇ αὐτοῦ σοφίᾳ τεθνεῶτα ἡμῶν σώματα καὶ τὰς ψυχὰς εἰς παλιγγενεσίαν φέρει ἐν αὐτοῦ ὑποσχέσει τῆς φιланθρωπίας, εἰς τὸ τὸν κεκτηκότα ἐν ὁσιότητι ἀπολαβεῖν τὴν πᾶσαν ἀπὸ θεοῦ καλὴν ἀνταπόδοσιν καὶ τοὺς τὰ μάταια πεποιηκότας ὡσαύτως κριθῆναι, σῶμα ἅμα ψυχῇ καὶ ψυχὴν ἅμα σωματι.

64.71.13 | Therefore, for this reason and many other necessary ones, God in his wisdom brings our dead bodies and souls to rebirth, by his promise of love for mankind, so that the one who has suffered may receive in holiness the full good reward from God, and those who have done worthless things may also be judged, body together with soul and soul together with body.

64.71.14 | Καὶ εἰς περισσοτέραν πληροφορίαν τῆς ἡμετέρας ζωῆς παραγενόμενος ἐν σαρκὶ καὶ ἐνανθρωπήσας τελειότατα * εἰς τὸ στηρίξαι τὴν αὐτοῦ πίστιν ἐν ἡμῖν, προγινώσκων τὴν μέλλουσαν ἐν σοί, Ὡρίγενες, ἀπιστίαν γίνεσθαι * τὸ ἀμφιβαλλόμενον μᾶλλον παρὰ σοὶ καὶ ἐν πολλαῖς αἰρέσεσι, ταῖς τῆς ἀπιστίας σου ὁμοίαις Μανιχαίων καὶ Μαρκιωνιστῶν, καὶ λοιπὸν τὰ πάντα ἐν ἑαυτῷ τελειώσας εἰς βεβαίωσιν καὶ στερέμνιον τῆς πίστεως αὐτοῦ καὶ ἀληθείας ἐναργῶς ἐποίησεν.

64.71.14 | And coming to give us more full knowledge of our life, and becoming human in the flesh most perfectly, to strengthen his faith in us, knowing beforehand that there would be unbelief in you, Origen, the doubting one more than you and in many heresies, like your unbelief, those of the Manichaeans and Marcionites, and finishing everything in himself, he made clear proof and a firm foundation of his faith and truth.

64.71.15 | ἀναστὰς γὰρ ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν ἤγειρε σὺν αὐτῷ πολλὰ σώματα τῶν ἁγίων καὶ εἰσῆλθον μετ’ αὐτοῦ εἰς τὴν ἁγίαν πόλιν, ὡς καὶ ἐν ἄλλοις τόποις διηγησάμην.

64.71.15 | For rising from the dead, he raised with him many bodies of the holy ones, and they entered with him into the holy city, as I have also told in other places.

64.71.16 | καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν· ἀνέστησαν ἅγιοι, ἵνα μὴ δῶ πρόφασιν τῇ μεθόδῳ τῆς κακοτροπίας, ἀλλὰ φύσει αὐτὸ τὸ παρὰ τοῖς ἀπίστοις ἀμφιβαλλόμενον ἐκεῖνο ἐσπούδασεν εἰς εἰς βεβαίωσιν τῆς ἡμῶν περὶ ζωῆς γνώσεως, σώματα εἰπὼν τῶν ἁγίων.

64.71.16 | And he did not say, ‘the holy ones rose,’ so that I would not give a reason for the method of wrongdoing, but by nature that thing which is doubted by the unbelievers there was eager for a firm proof of our knowledge about life, saying ‘bodies of the holy ones.’

64.71.17 | καὶ οὐ μόνον ὅτι ἤγειρεν, ἀλλὰ καὶ ὅτι ἐνεφάνισαν > πολλοῖς ἐν τῇ πόλει, ἐφ’ οἷς ἐπληροῦτο διὰ τῆς αὐτοῦ δυνάμεως τὸ ἐξάγων πεπεδημένους ἐν ἀνδρείᾳ, ἕνα εἶπη τὰς ψυχὰς τῶν ἐγηγεμένων σωμάτων. οὗτοι γὰρ ἦσαν οἱ δέδμιοι τῆς οἱ ἐν Ἄιδῃ πεπεδημένοι·

64.71.17 | And not only that he raised them, but also that many appeared in the city, on whom was fulfilled by his power the ‘bringing out of those bound in courage,’ to say one thing, the souls of the raised bodies. For these were the prisoners who were bound in Hades.

64.71.18 | καὶ φησιν ὁμοίως τοὺς παραπικραίνοντας, τοὺς κατοικοῦντας ἐν τάφοις, ἵνα εἴπῃ τὰ σώματα τῶν ἀναστάντων, καὶ οὐκ εἶπεν· τοὺς παραπικρανθέντας ἢ παραπικραινομένους, ἀλλὰ τοὺς παραπικραίνοντας.

64.71.18 | And he likewise says ‘those who make bitter, those dwelling in tombs,’ to say the bodies of the risen, and he did not say ‘those who were made bitter’ or ‘being made bitter,’ but ‘those who make bitter.’

64.71.19 | ὁφθέντες γὰρ ἐν τῇ πόλει πολλοῖς οἱ πρόσφατον τελευτήσαντες μετὰ τῶν παλαιοτάτων — νομίζω γὰρ ὅτι ἀπὸ τοῦ Αδάμ ἤρξατο τὴν ἀνάστασιν ποιεῖσθαι, οἱ δὲ πρόσφατοι * τῶν αὐτῶν σωμάτων, * τεθαμμένους αὐτοὺς ἐν τῷ Γολγοθᾷ τόπῳ ἐπ’ αὐτὸν * σταυρωθεὶς καὶ πληρῶν τὸ γεγραμμένον »ἔγειρε ὁ καθεύδων καὶ ἀνάστα ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν καὶ ἐπιφαύσει σοι ὁ Χριστός«, ὁ ἐπάνω σου ἐσταυρωμένος, —

64.71.19 | For they were seen in the city by many, those who recently died along with the oldest ones — for I think that the resurrection began from Adam, and the recent ones of the same bodies, buried in the place of Golgotha, on him who was crucified and fulfilling what was written, ‘the one who was sleeping, raise and rise from the dead, and Christ will shine on you,’ the one crucified above you — and καὶ ἄλλων μετ' αὐτῶν ἐκ τῶν ιδίων <αὐτοὺς > ἐπιγινωσκόντων πρῶτον μὲν ἐξέπληττον τοὺς τας.

others with them from their own, recognizing them first, they were amazed.

64.71.20 | εἰ γάρ τις συνέτυχε πατὴρ τέκνω ἀναστάνται ἢ ἀδελφὸς ἀδελφῷ ἢ <συγγενὴς> συγγενεῖ πρὸ ἐτῶν εἴκοσι ἢ δέκα τελευτήσαντι, καὶ τοῦ θαύματος ἐρωτῶντες· οὐκ εἶ σὺ ὁ δεῖνα ὁ ἐν τῷδε τῷ τόπῳ ὑφ' ἡμῶν; πῶς ἀνέστης καὶ ἦλθες;

64.71.20 | For if someone met a father risen to a child, or a brother to a brother, or a relative to a relative who died twenty or ten years ago, and they asked about the wonder: 'aren't you the one who was here in this place under us? How did you rise and come?'

64.71.21 | ἀντερωτῶμενοι δὲ ὑπὸ τοῦ τοῦ ἀναστάντος πάλιν ὅτι· τί ἐπράχθη ἐνταῦθα πρὸ τριῶν ἡμερῶν παρ' ὑμῖν, ὅτε ἡ γῆ ἔκλονεῖτο, καὶ λέγοντες ὅτι πλάνον τινὰ ἀπατῶντα λαὸν Ἰησοῦν ὀνόματι κρατήσαντες ἐσταυρώσαμεν καὶ ἐπαύσατο ἡ πλάνη,

64.71.21 | But when they were asked again by the one who had risen, 'what happened here three days ago with you, when the earth was shaking?' and they said that 'a certain deception was holding the people, claiming Jesus by name, and we crucified him, and the deception stopped.'

64.71.22 | ἐκείνου δὲ λοιπὸν ὁμολογοῦντος τὴν χάριν τοῦ κυρίου καὶ τὴν ἀλήθειαν καὶ λέγοντος »οὐαὶ ὑμῖν ὅτι τὸν ἀρχηγὸν τοῦ κόσμου τῆς σωτηρίας ἠρνήσασθε καὶ ἐσταυρώσατε· ἀκεῖνος γὰρ ἡγείρεν ἡμᾶς ἐν τῇ αὐτοῦ ἰσχυρᾷ δυνάμει τῆς θεότητος καὶ ἐνανθρωπήσεως«, ἐκεῖ λοιπὸν ἐπληροῦτο ἡ θεία γραφή, τό ὁμοίως τοὺς τοὺς κατοικοῦντας ἐν τάφοις'.

64.71.22 | Then he confessed the grace of the lord and the truth, saying, "woe to you, because you denied and crucified the leader of the world's salvation; for he raised us by his strong power of godhead and becoming human." There the divine scripture was fulfilled, "in the same way those who live in the tombs."

64.71.23 | ἀκούοντες γὰρ παρὰ τῶν ἐγγεγεμμένων ὅτι διὰ τοῦ κυρίου Ἰησοῦ ἀνέστησαν παρεπικραίνοντο, ἕως θανάτου ἐπιχειρήσαντες τὸν ἀρχηγὸν τῆς ζωῆς ἀρνήσασθαι τε καὶ σταυρῶσαι.

64.71.23 | For hearing from those risen that they rose through the lord Jesus, they were very angry, trying to the point of death to deny and crucify the leader of life.

64.71.24 | τάχα δὲ καὶ τοῦτο εἰς ὠφέλειαν τῶν θεασαμένων τοὺς ἐγηγερμένους εἰργάσατο ὁ φιλόανθρωπος κύριος. νομίζομεν γὰρ ὅτι θεασάμενοι τοὺς ἐγηγερμένους καὶ κατανυγέντες ὠφελήθησάν τε καὶ ἐπίστευσαν πολλοί. διὸ καὶ ὑμεῖς, Ὡριγενιασταί, πείσθητε καὶ πιστεύσατε καὶ μὴ πολλοὺς ἀπολέσητε τῇ ὑμῶν πλάνῃ.

64.71.24 | But quickly the loving lord worked this also for the benefit of those who saw the risen ones. For we think that seeing the risen and being moved, many were helped and believed. So you too, followers of Origen, be convinced and believe, and do not lose many because of your error.

Section 72

64.72.1 | 72. Ἀλλὰ ἀρκέσει μοι ταῦτα πρὸς τὸν ἐθελόσοφον Ὡριγένην, τὸν ματαίως ἐαυτῷ ἐπιθέμενον ὄνομα Ἀδαμαντίου καὶ πρὸς τὴν αὐτοῦ ἀτοπίαν κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐν πολλοῖς μέρεσι τῆς πίστεως κακῶς ἐπινενοημένον ὀλεθρίαν διδασκαλίαν.

64.72.1 | But this will be enough for me against the self-willed Origen, who wrongly gave himself the name Adamantius, and against his nonsense, which in many parts of the faith is a badly thought-out, destructive teaching against the truth.

64.72.2 | παρελθὼν δὲ καὶ τούτου τὴν ἀἔρεσιν καθεζῆς τὰς ἄλλας διαοκέψομαι, ἐπιπόθητοι, θεὸν συνήθως ἐπικαλούμενος ἀρωγὸν τῆς ἡμῶν ιδιωτείας, πρὸς τὸ δυνηθῆναι ἀντισχεῖν πρὸς πᾶσαν κατὰ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐπεγειρομένην φωνὴν μάταιον καὶ ἡττῆσαι κατὰ τὰ ὑπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου Ἡσαΐου ῥηθέντα ὅτι »πᾶσα φωνὴ ἐπαναστήσεται ἐπὶ σέ, πάντας αὐτοὺς ἡττήσεις,

64.72.2 | And having passed over this teaching, I will consider the others, dear ones, usually calling on God as helper of our weakness, so that I may be able to oppose every voice raised against the truth in vain and defeat it, as it was said by the holy Isaiah: "Every voice will rise up against you; you will defeat them all."

64.72.3 | οἱ δὲ ἔνοχοι ἔσονται ἐν αὐτῇ, ἵν' οὕτως ἐν θεῷ τὸ ἐπάγγελμα περαιωσάμενοι τοῖς βουλομένοις νουνεχῶς ἐντυγχάνειν εἰς γυμνάσιον ἀληθείας καὶ φάρμακον ἰάσεως περὶ ἐκάστου θηρὸς καὶ ἰοβόλου ἐρπετοῦ, τῶν προσώπων τῶν αἰρέσεων φημι, δίκην ἀντιδότου καὶ ταυτησὶ τῆς τῶν Ὡριγενιαστῶν, φρύνου δίκην μεμορφωμένης ἐκ νοτίδος πολλῆς κυκῶντος καὶ φωνῇ

64.72.3 | And the guilty will be in it," so that having completed the promise in God, those who want to may wisely come to a training in truth and a healing medicine against every beast and poisonous serpent, whose faces I call heresies, as a punishment given back and like the punishment of the Origenists, shaped like a toad croaking from much mud and with a voice

64.72.4 | μείζονι ἐπικραυγάζοντος, λαβόμενοι τὴν τοῦ κυρίου ἀνάστασιν προπότιον ὡς εἶπεῖν, ἀποβλύσωμεν τὸ γλισχρῶδες τοῦ ἰοῦ τοῦ φρύνου καὶ ἐρπετώδους μοχθηροῦ τὴν ἀδικίαν.

64.72.4 | shouting louder, having taken the resurrection of the Lord as a kind of first drink, let us spit out the slimy injustice of the poisonous toad and the evil serpent.

64.72.5 | συμβέβηκε γὰρ αὐτῷ καὶ τοῦτο μετὰ πάντων τῶν πειθομένων αὐτῷ πάσχειν, δι' ὃ καὶ στενάζω ὑπὲρ αὐτοῦ. ὅτι οἵμοι πῶς ἐβλάβης, πόσους δὲ ἄλλους ἐβλαψας, ὡς ὑπὸ δεινῆς ἐχίδνης δηχθεῖς, ὑπὸ τῆς κοσμικῆς προπαιδείας φημί, καὶ ἄλλοις δηλητήριον γέγονας.

64.72.5 | For this also happened to him, to suffer along with all who obey him, for which I groan on his behalf. Oh no, how you were harmed, and how many others you harmed, as if bitten by a terrible viper, I say, by worldly ignorance, and you have become poison to others.

64.72.6 | Φασὶ γὰρ οἱ φυσιολόγοι τὸν μυωξὸν ἐμφωλεύειν κοὶ τὰ γεννήματα αὐτοῦ ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ πολλὰ τίκτειν, ἕως πέντε καὶ ἔτι, τὰς δὲ ἐχίδνας τούτους θηρᾶσθαι.

64.72.6 | For the naturalists say that the slowworm lives in a burrow and its young are born many at once, up to five or more, and that these hunt vipers.

64.72.7 | καὶ ἐὰν εὕρῃ ὅλον τὸν φωλεὸν ἢ ἐχίδνα, μὴ δυναμένη τοὺς ὅλους καταφαγεῖν, ὑπὸ ἔν ἐσθίει εἰς κόρον ἓνα ἢ δύο, τῶν δὲ λοιπῶν κατακεντήσασα τοὺς ὀφθαλμοὺς σιτία φέρει καὶ ἀνατρέφει τυφλὰ γεγονότα, ἕως ὅτε βούλεται ἕκαστον αὐτῶν προφέρειν καὶ τοῦτον ἐσθίειν.

64.72.7 | And if the viper finds the whole burrow, not able to eat all the slowworms, it eats one or two to fullness, but having pierced the eyes of the rest, it brings food and feeds those who have become blind, until it wants to bring out each of them and eat that one.

64.72.8 | ἐὰν δὲ συμβῇ τινὰς ἀπείρους περιτυχεῖν τοῖς τοιούτοις καὶ λάβωσιν αὐτὰ εἰς ἐδωδὴν, δηλητήριον ἑαυτοῖς λαμβάνουσιν > ἀπὸ τοῦ τῆς τῆς ἐχίδνης ἀνατεθραμμένα.

64.72.8 | But if some inexperienced people meet such things and take them for food, they take poison for themselves from the venom born of the viper.

64.72.9 | οὕτω καὶ σύ, ὦ Ὠρίγενες, ἀπὸ τῆς

64.72.9 | So you too, Origen, blinded in your

Indexes

The person and place indices have been generated based on named entity recognition of the Greek text. As the text was translated, person names and place names were algorithmically identified in the text using the machine learning (ML) model UGARIT/grc-ner-xlmr. Entries are sorted by transliteration, with the Greek form of the name in parentheses. Locations in the text are referred to using book-section-paragraph citations, which are standard for editions of this work. Some people or places will have more than one entry as the entries are based on forms found in the Greek text, which may be inflected or have varying accentuation. The transliterated form found in these indices may also be different than the spelling of the person or place name as it is rendered in the text. On the whole, despite these infelicities, it seemed better to be able to include person and place indices even if the names are not in complete agreement with the text of the translation.
